Irked at CBI leaks, SC defers hearing

Publication of CBI DIG's affidavit, Verma's reply to CVC upsets court; hearing on Nov 29

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Tuesday expressed serious displeasure over the purported leak of CBI Director Alok Verma's reply to the CVC's findings against him over corruption allegations as also the publication of sensational charges levelled by the agency's DIG Manish Kumar Sinha and told their lawyers none of the parties "deserved" any hearing.

Making it clear that the court is not a "platform" where people can come and express "whatever they want", an anguished Bench headed by Chief Justice Ranjan Gogoi heard the matter twice during the day and said it would not hear any party, including the CVC, and confine itself to the purported leak and publication of Sinha's allegations in the media.

The court was apparently irked over the publication of contents of Sinha's petition in newspapers and Verma's reply to a questionnaire to the CVC in a news portal. The court had earlier directed all the parties to maintain the practice of submitting report and replies in sealed cover in order to protect the credibility of the institution of the CBI.

The Bench that included Justices SK Kaul and KM Joseph vent its ire at the start of the hearing and reminded the parties that its earlier order asking them to maintain confidentiality of the CVC's preliminary enquiry report and Verma's response to it was intended to ensure "respect" and the integrity of the CBI.

As soon as the hearing commenced, the Bench referred to an article published by a news portal and solicited response from senior advocate Fali S Nariman, representing Verma, by saying, "It is only for you Mr Nariman and not as a counsel for Alok Verma. We have given this to you as you are one of the most respected and senior members of the institution. Please help us."

After going through the news report, Nariman asserted it was totally "unauthorised" and he was very "disturbed and shocked" by the "leak". He also questioned the move by lawyer Gopal Shankaranarayanan, who is also representing Verma, to mention the matter in the court on Monday to seek additional time to file the reply on behalf of the CBI Director.

• CJ heard the matter twice during the day and said it would not hear any party, including the CVC, and confine itself to the purported leak and publication of Sinha's allegations in the media

• The SC had earlier directed all the parties to maintain the practice of submitting report in sealed cover to protect the credibility of the CBI

the news report to Nariman, the Bench adjourned the hearing to November 29 on Verma's plea challenging the Centre's decision to divest him of duties and sending him on forced leave, saying, "We do not think any of you deserve any hearing."

Nariman, however, re-entered the courtroom after a few minutes and mentioned the case seeking re-hearing which was allowed.

When the hearing recommenced, Nariman told the court that the news article in question was published by the portal on November 17 and it was related to Verma's reply given to the CVC during the preliminary enquiry proceedings. The SC order asking the CBI chief to respond to the vigilance probe's finding was passed only the previous day, Nariman contended.

During the first round of hearing of the day, Nariman while referring to the media report said, "This gives a new twist to the word responsible press and freedom of press." Nariman also said the news portal and its journalists concerned by the summons by the court.

"How can this come? It's a leak. I myself am shattered the way it has been done," he said.

The Bench also referred to Nariman about the news articles published based on the allegations levelled by CBI's DIG Sinha in his separate plea challenging his transfer to Nagpur following the shake-up in the agency after Verma and his deputy Rakesh Asthana were benched.

"Yesterday, we had refused the mentioning (seeking urgent listing of Sinha's plea) and we had expressed that highest degree of confidentiality was to be maintained. But here is a litigant who mentions it before us and then goes out to distribute the petition to everyone," miffed Gogoi said.

"Our efforts to maintain the respect of this institution are not shared by these people. They are giving it to everybody," the CJ added.

When Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, appearing for the CVC, stood up to argue, the Bench tersely told him, "We will not hear anything. We will not hear anybody."

The Bench then told Nariman about the news articles on Sinha's plea and said, "This is yesterday's article. We want to know what is going on. This court is not a platform for people to come and express whatever they want. This is a place where people come for adjudication of their legal rights. This is not a platform and we will set it right."

When the matter was being re-heard, Shankaranarayanan referred to the arguments advanced by Nariman and said that he wanted to "clear his name" which has come under the "cloud".

Shankaranarayanan said Nariman has submitted that he was not authorised to mention the matter and seek time for filing Verma's reply without the consent of the senior lawyer.

"We are not prepared to hear Mr Gopal Shankaranarayanan. We are prepared to hear Mr Nariman only. We want this place clear. As far as this court in concerned Mr Shankaranarayanan, nobody is under any cloud," the CJ said.

Sinha on Monday dragged the names of National Security Adviser Ajit Doval, Union Minister Haribhai Parthibhai Chaudhary and CVC KV Chowdhary over alleged attempts to interfere in the probe against CBI Special Director Rakesh Asthana.

The Union Minister named by Sinha has termed the allegations as baseless and malicious.

Sushma: Won't fight elections

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Citing health reasons, External Affairs Minister Sushma Swaraj on Tuesday made a major announcement saying she will not contest next Lok Sabha polls.

The senior BJP leader told reporters at Indore that she has "made up her mind" not to contest the elections.

"It is the party which decides, but I have made up my mind not to contest the next (Lok Sabha) elections," she said in Indore. Sushma, 66, has been elected to the current 16th Lok Sabha from Vidisha, Madhya Pradesh. She represented Vidisha in the 15th Lok Sabha as well.

Until 2014, Sushma was one of the contenders for the Prime Ministerial post and even skipped the Parliamentary Party meeting when Narendra Modi's name for the Prime Minister's post was about to be announced by the party ahead of the 2014 elections. She was Leader of Opposition in the 15th Lok Sabha in place of Lal Krishna Advani and retained this position till May 2014.

Though inducted as External Affairs Minister in Modi's Cabinet at the Centre, she was seen to be on the margins in terms of decision making, with the PMO itself playing lead role in the matter of foreign affairs.

According to sources, if the party puts its seal of approval on Sushma's decision to retire from the Lok Sabha contest, she may still be brought to Parliament through the Rajya Sabha route.

Man throws chilli powder at Kejriwal, arrested

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal had a narrow escape on Tuesday after a 40-year-old man threw chilli powder at him outside the Chief Minister's chamber on the third floor of the high security Delhi Secretariat when the CM was leaving for lunch.

The man, Anil Kumar, was detained, said police, adding that he was later handed over to IP Estate police station of Central district. A case has been filed against him.

Addressing the media immediately after the incident, the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) leader termed the attack as politically motivated. Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia said it would not be cowed down by these petty tactics by the BJP.

Delhi BJP unit president Manoj Tiwari said, "Such incidents cannot be tolerated or justified by anybody and called for a high-level probe."

Kumar was targeting the bespectacled CM's eyes, officials said. His spectacles broke but his eyes seemed to have been spared any damage, they added.

Kumar, whose Aadhaar card has been recovered, brought the chilli powder to the secretariat in packets of 'khaini' (chewing tobacco), they said. After throwing chilli powder at Kejriwal, Kumar threatened to shoot him after he comes out of jail, an official recounted.

AAP's national spokesperson Raghav Chadha, who was behind Kejriwal when the incident took place, tweeted, "Was right behind CM @ArvindKejriwal at the Secretariat when he was suddenly attacked on 3rd floor right outside his office."

Shocking lapse of security. Is Delhi Police's incompetent to protect an elected CM?

"While today just the CM's glasses fell to the floor and broke, an unacceptable security lapse nonetheless. Imagine if attacker were to be wielding a more dangerous weapon. Who were to have prevented a tragedy from occurring?" Sisodia told reporters.

"Recently BJP Delhi chief Manoj Tiwari reached near stage during the inauguration of signature bridge."

Court awards first death in 1984 riots probed by SIT

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Justice delayed is justice denied" goes the saying and it was amply manifested on Tuesday when a city court pronounced first ever "death sentence" in a 1984 anti-Sikh riots case probed by a Special Investigation Team (SIT). A Delhi court awarded death penalty to Yashpal Singh for killing two men during the riots. Additional Sessions Judge Ajay Pandey awarded life-term to co-convict Naresh Sherawat in the case.

On November 1, 1984, Hardev Singh and Avtar Singh were attacked and killed by a mob in Mahipalpur in South Delhi. It is the first conviction in the cases reopened by the SIT of the Central Bureau of Investigation. The Delhi Police had closed the case in 1994 for want of evidence. However, a SIT reopened it.

The verdict was pronounced on Tuesday in Tihar

Jail after the local police moved a petition in the High Court citing security reasons and possibility of attack on the convicts on the premises of the Delhi court, said police.

The SIT is investigating nearly 60 cases related to the riots, while it has filed "untraced report" in 52 cases. While this is the first death penalty after the SIT was formed, one Kishori was earlier given the death penalty by a trial court in a related case.

72% turnout in Chhattisgarh poll; Cong, BJP claim victory

Chhattisgarh recorded 72 per cent polling on Tuesday in the second and concluding phase for 72 Assembly seats across 19 districts amid allegations of EVM tampering and malfunctioning in several areas. Amid higher turnout, BJP, Congress and JCC-BSP alliance claimed victory ahead of results on December 11.

The Election Commission said that polling percentage could go up to 76-78 per cent as it was still in the process of compiling data. Ultra who killed CID officer in J&K held

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

In a major breakthrough, the Delhi Police Special Cell arrested a 28-year-old operative of terrorist organisation Hizbul-Mujahideen (HM) on Tuesday from Indira Gandhi International (IGI) Airport. The accused, Ansar Ul Haq, was involved in the murder of a 30-year-old intelligence officer from the Crime Investigation Department (CID) of Jammu & Kashmir Police.

Police stated that they received information that Ansar would be arriving in Delhi from Bengaluru before leaving for Srinagar.

Deputy Commissioner of Police (Special Cell) Pramod Singh Kushwah revealed that on October 28, this year, a 30-year-old intelligence officer Sub-Inspector (SI) Imtiyaz Ahmad Mir, working with CID was found shot dead in Chewa Kalan area. He was reportedly abducted by terrorists and murdered in cold blood.

"SI Mir was moved to CID department in March this year and was known for his dedication towards his work. He was leaving for his village Puwana when he was waylaid and kidnapped by armed terrorists. He was warned against venturing into his village as there was a possibility of attack by militant groups, who have been targeting policemen in the state recently," said the DCP.

When he was on his way, he was entrapped by the accused and his girlfriend who were also from the same village. The girlfriend identified as Syed Saika asked Imtiyaz to drop her enroute to Puwana and leaked his location to Ansar, who further tipped off

HM terrorists. On crossing Karimabad, he was intercepted by terrorists and killed.

During interrogation, it was revealed that Ansar was a post graduate in English and was recently married. He was a political worker but was later influenced by a HM commander Wajid, and he came in contact with the HM operatives.

"He was in regular contact with other HM terrorists Liaqat, Shau Cable, Shahid Ahmad Baba, Zahid Tiger and Zahur. He used to pass information to the HM commanders about the movement of security forces and local police officers," said the DCP.

"In October, 2018, he was directed by Zahur Thokar, an HM commander to provide movement details of Imtiyaz. Accused roped in his girlfriend Syed Saika for this task as she had acquaintance with the deceased Sub Inspector. On learning that he was traveling toward Pulwana, she requested him to drop her.

She then informed Ansar, who informed HM militants who intercepted him and killed him," said the DCP.

No relief for Delhiites from very poor air

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The overall air quality in the National Capital was in the 'very poor' category on Tuesday, while some areas in the city experienced 'severe' pollution due to low wind speed, which is unfavourable for dispersion of pollutants, authorities said.

According to the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB) data, the overall air quality index in the city was recorded at 372, which falls in the 'very poor' category.

Ashok Vihar, Anand Vihar, Bawana, Mundaka, Rohini, Sonia Vihar and Wazirpur, all recorded 'severe' air quality while 21 areas recorded 'very poor' air quality, it said.

At 396, the overall air quality of Ghaziabad was the worst in the National Capital Region (NCR), just points below severe category. Gurgaon, Faridabad, Noida and Greater Noida too recorded 'very poor' overall air quality.

On Tuesday, the PM2.5

particles in the air with a diameter of less than 2.5 micrometres level was recorded at 220, while the PM10 level was recorded at 369, the CPCB data said. According to the Centre-run System of Air Quality and Weather Forecasting (SAFAR), air quality in the national capital is expected to remain in the 'very poor' category for the next two to three days.

"At present, winds are unfavourable for dispersion but it may increase slightly to favour dispersion. Humidity is still high which is unfavourable. Fire counts from stubble burning declined and will have marginal impact," the SAFAR said in a report.

Authorities are mulling to use to artificial rain to clear the toxic air but cloud seeding would require certain meteorological conditions which are currently not favourable.

A senior official said, "For artificial rain, we need clouds and currently the meteorological conditions are not favourable for inducing an artificial rain."

He also said the method of artificial rain is used only in severe-plus emergency situation.

FAKE DEGREE ROW

The Delhi Police on Tuesday registered a First Information Report (FIR) against Akhil Bhartiya Vidhyarthi Parishad's (ABVP) ex-Delhi University Student Union (DUSU) president Ankiv Baisoya, for allegedly furnishing a fake degree to get admission in the Delhi University.

The complaint was filed by KTS Sarao, the head of the Buddhist Studies department in which Baisoya had appeared in the entrance examination conducted nationally by the University for admission in the masters course.

According to complaint, after qualifying in this examination, Baisoya took admission in MA Buddhist Studies, Part I, and submitted six mark sheets of six semesters of Bachelor of Arts degree from Thiruvalluvar University.

"The basic qualification for admission to MA (Buddhist Studies) is a bachelor's degree from any recognised university," Sarao said in the complaint. According to the complaint, in a written response to a request from Sarao for verification of these mark sheets, the controller of examinations of Thiruvalluvar University has said that each of these mark sheets submitted by Baisoya is not genuine.

On the basis of verification report received from the Controller of Examinations Thiruvalluvar University, admission of Baisoya was cancelled on November 14," said Sarao in his complaint.

Baisoya, who was elected the DUSU president in September, resigned from his post on November 15 after ABVP reportedly asked him to do so. He has also been suspended from the students' outfit till an inquiry into the allegations is complete.

AFTER CS ANSHU PRAKASH'S TRANSFER

Three top bureaucrats are in the reckoning in the race of Delhi Chief Secretary (CS) after the incumbent CS Anshu Prakash was transferred to Union Ministry of Telecommunications amidst the ongoing tussle between the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) dispensation and bureaucrats.

Manoj Parida of the 1986 batch Indian Administrative Service (IAS) of Arunchal, Goa, Mizoram and Union Territories (AGMUT) cadre and currently posted as the additional Chief Secretary (Home) is among the three front runners.

Naresh Kumar the Chairman of New Delhi Municipal Council (NDMC) and 1987 batch IAS officer and SN Sahai of the 1986 batch and posted as Additional Secretary in Union Ministry of Power are also in the race. Sahai who held important Home and Finance departments in Arvind Kejriwal Government is a serious contender to occupy the top job with Delhi Government.

Incidentally, Parakash who was in news for being allegedly attacked by AAP leaders at CM residents' in odd hours had been transferred in the Department of Telecommunication as additional secretary. Prakash has been appointed after a vacancy was created by the appointment of another IAS official - N Sivasailam as Special Secretary (Logistics), Department of Commerce. He was 1986 batch officer.

Sahai had worked as Finance Secretary with Delhi Government and was transferred to Centre in May of this year, Power.

Meanwhile, senior AAP leader raised questions on the sudden transfer of Prakash "What was the reason to transfer the Chief Secretary now? When the court is due to give its verdict, this decision could have been taken later. The Delhi Government has not received any official communication on this yet. The Centre neither informed nor consulted us about the transfer of Anshu Prakash and also about appointing his successor," said Nagendar Sharma, media adviser to Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal.

Meanwhile, on Tuesday, CM Kejriwal and Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia approached the Delhi High Court Tuesday challenging a trial court's order directing that prosecution in the Chief Secretary Anshu Prakash assault case be conducted by an officer of Delhi Police not below the rank of ACP.

Kejriwal and Sisodia, who were summoned as accused in the assault case, also challenged the order permitting two advocates to conduct the prosecution on behalf of the officer of Delhi Police, instead of regular public prosecutor.

Fix shortcomings on various stretches of roads, PWD told

Submit certificate after necessary inspections, says Sateyendra Jain

GAYATHRI MANI ■ NEW DELHI

After Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal directed the officials of Public Works Department (PWD) to repair its potholed arterial roads, the Minister of PWD Sateyendra Jain has asked the department to repair all shortcomings in the various stretches by end of this month. Jain has also directed to submit a certificate after conducting necessary field inspections.

The decision was taken in a recent meeting held by the PWD Minister and Puneet Kumar Vats, Engineer-in-Chief of PWD, for proper repair of roads under the department.

Executive Engineers (civil & electrical) should ensure all shortcomings in the various stretches should be attended by the 30 November 2018 and shall submit the certificate after conducting the necessary field inspections.

Further, the concerned officers such as the Assistant engineers, executive engineers and the chief engineers have been directed to submit the directed the department that all the shortcomings should be met out soon. He also ensured that painting should be done after all the repairing works done and a FoB should be constructed at Multan Nagar," said an official.

Earlier, on Tuesday Kejriwal had directed officials of the PWD to ensure that all road repair work is completed by the December 15 deadline. The Chief Minister warned that the PWD engineers will be held "personally responsible" if roads are found to be in a bad condition after the deadline.

Several teams of citizens will be formed to inspect these roads on December 16. Each team will be headed by the members of the legislative assembly (MLAs) which will report any potholes and State of disrepair after the repairing of road work done," he had said.

According to the official data, the PWD owns around 1,260-km roads in the national capital and maintenance of these roads is the responsibility of the PWD, some roads belong to the three municipal corporations while national highways passing through the national capital are owned by the Centre.

PWD asked to install hoardings with message 'Dilli Sarkar Aapki Sarkar'

GAYATHRI MANI ■ NEW DELHI

The Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) ruled Delhi Government will have a tagline "Dilli Sarkar Aapki Sarkar" on the lines of Bharatiya Janata Party's tagline 'Ab ki Baar Modi Sarkar'. Sensing an opportunity to win seven Lok Sabha seats of Delhi, the AAP Government has decided to give impetus to its campaign ahead of the high decibel 2019 General Elections.

In a recently held meeting by the Public Works Department (PWD) for repair of road across the city, the PWD Minister Sateyendra Jain directed the department to install hoarding displaying the message 'Dilli Sarkar Aapki Sarkar'. "The Minister has also directed that hoardings displaying message 'Dilli Sarkar Aapki Sarkar' and PWD at work banners should also be fixed at various locations to highlight the time bound action being taken the Public Works Department," said a Senior PWD official.

The officials further said that the minister has further directed the department to submit the photographs of work before and after the repair should be documented and submitted to ensure the completion of work as well as evidence. "The department is currently working on to identifying the locations and other modalities to install the hoarding boards," added the official.

However, the Opposition party leaders claimed that it was nothing more than publicity ahead of the upcoming Lok Sabha elections.

"It is clearly visible that the AAP is using public money for its own publicity, election strategy and campaigning. The party has been ruling the city for the past three years why they felt such hoardings need to be installed across the city now. The move is part of election strategy as you can notice that the board carries the name of AAP MLA Amanatullah Khan. In spite of using public fund for its own publicity, the government should work for the welfare of people," said Chattar Singh, senior Congress leader.

Reacting to AAP Government's push to have hoardings all over the city, Leader of Opposition in Delhi Assembly Vijendra Gupta said the party has adopted such strategy to promote itself ahead of upcoming Lok Sabha election. "Instead of spending money to develop the basic amenities for Delhiites, the Government is busy in getting publicity, the LOP said.

MADHYA PRADESH RALLY

Don't elect any Cong candidate: Modi

Jhabua/Rewa: Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday asked people to vote "intelligently" in the Madhya Pradesh Assembly polls, ensuring that "not even a single Congress candidate" is elected.

Addressing a poll rally for the November 28 elections, Modi said the people of Madhya Pradesh have an opportunity to crush the Congress party's "ego".

Targeting the Nehru-Gandhi family, Modi said, "History has shown us that however big a sultanate in Delhi is, its rule ends after four generations. Congress has also met the same fate."

"Congress is a party whose leaders are confused and the party is fused. They can't pass current (power) to you," he said.

People in various states who knew what Congress did haven't allowed it to return to power there, Modi said, citing Uttar Pradesh, Bihar and West Bengal as examples. "In these states, the Congress was struggling for over 30 years but people didn't bring it to power, he added.

Modi also said he used the "bitter medicine" of demonetisation to bring back money into banking system and to give "proper treatment to deep-rooted corruption system" in the country.

"We use poisonous medicine to eradicate termite. Similarly, I used note ban as a

'tez' (bitter) medicine to treat corruption in the country," he said. "People who used to hide their money under beds, in their houses, offices and factories are now paying tax of every single penny and we are using this money for the right schemes for the common man," Modi said.

Modi said ballots have prevailed over bullets in Jammu & Kashmir civic elections and in Chhattisgarh Assembly polls despite threats by terrorists and Maoists.

"The previous Governments feared violence in holding elections in Srinagar," Modi said, adding civic polls were held there with "no trace of violence".

"Despite terrorists calling for a bandh, elections were held three days ago in Kashmir valley. The polling percentage there was 65," he said. "People having faith in democracy proved their point," he added.

"In Chhattisgarh, naxals threatened that if people did not boycott polls, their fingers would be chopped off. Around 70 per cent voting took place in the first phase of elections and a large voter turnout is seen for the second phase there today," Modi said.

Cong cadre march to Parrikar's home, demand resignation

Panaji: Hundreds of people, including some Congress leaders, Tuesday evening marched to the private residence of ailing Goa Chief Minister Manohar Parrikar, demanding his resignation, and a "full-time" CM in his place.

The people, who came together under the banner of 'People's March For Restoration of Governance', marched for about 1 km, and gave an "ultimatum" of 48 hours to Parrikar to step down as the CM.

Apart from the Congress, other political parties including NCP and Shiv Sena also extended support to the protest march, which was initiated by social activists and NGOs.

The protesters demanded Parrikar step down as the chief minister as he has been unwell.

They said the governance in the state had suffered as Parrikar was ill and remained hospitalised for more than nine months.

The police stopped the protest march 100 metres from the chief minister's private residence. Talking to reporters, Deputy Collector Shashank Tripathy said the CM refused to meet the protesters due to his ill-health.

On behalf of the protesters, Aires Rodrigues, social activist and the leader of the protest march, publicly gave an "ultimatum" of 48 hours to the CM to step down. "We need a full-time CM. For the last nine months, the state administration has collapsed. The CM is not meeting his own ministers and MLAs," Rodrigues said.

He said the people who marched to the CM's residence had also come to check on his health condition.

Rodrigues warned of launching a state-wide agitation in case Parrikar does not step down within 48 hours. PTI

Geeta India's daughter, won't be sent back to Pak: Sushma

Indore: External Affairs Minister Sushma Swaraj on Tuesday said Geeta, a hearing and speech impaired person who was brought to India from Pakistan three years ago, would never be sent back.

"Geeta is the daughter of India. Even if she does not meet her family, she will never be sent back to Pakistan. The Indian Government will foster her," Sushma told reporters here.

"I am also toiling to find her parents as she has attained marriageable age, and efforts are on to get her married," the minister added.

Swaraj said DNA tests were carried out on eight couples who had claimed that they were Geeta's parents but the efforts did not bear fruit.

A centre here has been given special responsibility of taking care of Geeta after she returned from Pakistan on October 26, 2015.

LS MP Konda Vishweshwar Reddy quits TRS

Hyderabad: In a setback to the Telangana Rashtra Samithi ahead of the December seven Telangana Assembly polls, the party's Lok Sabha member, Konda Vishweshwar Reddy quit the party on Tuesday.

In a letter to the TRS president and caretaker Chief Minister K Chandrababtu Naidu, Reddy, who was elected from the Chevella constituency, said he was disappointed with the party at various levels.

He was forced into a position of contemplating leaving the party despite the fact that today TRS enjoys significant goodwill in the 'social circles that we are in,' Reddy said in the letter, shared with the media.

"I thought long and hard about this step before deciding to take this major decision and analysed the scenario by listing my disappointments at various levels," he said.

Reddy listed disappointments at five levels — personal, injustice to karyakarthas (those) who worked for Telangana statehood, constituency, state and party — in the letter.

"I fought for the party in 2014 when the party needed me. However, the party has induced people who were against Telangana and our ideology into the cabinet and given them more power and prominence.

I feel people who were fighting for Telangana and share a common ideology including me are no longer needed in the party," Reddy said.

He said he feels that the best possible path for him is to resign from the party as he is unable to acquiesce with the current scenario.

The organ was harvested from a living unrelated donor. One of the high points of Swaraj rise in the BJP ranks was her high-voltage contest against Congress supremo Sonia Gandhi in Lok Sabha polls in 1999 from Bellary in Karnataka.

She also raked controversy by opposing Sonia's candidature as Prime Minister and threatened to shove off her head if Sonia became the PM.

Swaraj began her political career with Akhil Bharatiya Vidyarthi Parishad in the 1970s. Her husband, Swaraj Kaushal, was closely associated with the socialist leader George Fernandes.

Sushma became a part of George Fernandes's legal defence team in 1975. She actively participated in Jayaprakash Narayan's Total Revolution Movement. After the Emergency, she joined the BJP.

Swaraj has also served as Delhi's Chief Minister from October 13 to December 3, 1998 and was its first woman Chief Minister.

Video of cat nibbling at woman body in Kerala hospital goes viral Coimbatore: A video of a cat purportedly nibbling at the body of a woman at the Government hospital here has gone viral triggering outrage, even as the management on Tuesday said the cat was only trying to lick the leg of the deceased.

The woman was admitted to the hospital on November 16 after she was found lying at the bus-stand at Mettupalayam in the district, police said on Tuesday. According to the police, the doctors said she was mentally disturbed and had poor health parameters before she died Monday night.

An attendant at the hospital noticed the woman's body nude and lying on the floor with the cat trying to bite the lower part of a leg, they said.

On information, the hospital staff shifted the body to the mortuary, the police said.

When contacted by reporters, the hospital dean B Asokan said the cat was only trying to lick the body and not nibbling at it. Asked why the body was not attended to, the dean said there could be some delay in shifting it to the mortuary.

Incidents of stray dogs and cats roaming in the hospital premises have been raised with the health department and a private agency appointed by the Corporation has been put in charge of maintenance and cleaning. Asokan said. PTI

Police said Sunil has confessed to the crime. He said he murdered the girl as she could have identified him.

A team of 15 police personnel led by sub-inspector (SI) Raj Kumar had gone to Gwalior on Friday after a tip-off that accused might visit his relative's house.

On Sunday, police got CCTV footage from Gwalior where the accused was seen having dinner at a religious community kitchen near a temple on Friday. On Monday, they received a tip-off from a person who claimed to have spotted Sunil having lunch at a religious community kitchen around 2 pm in Jhansi.

Later the accused was arrested on Monday afternoon from a village in his native Jhansi district.

"Sunil used to eat at community kitchens, sleep on the roads and did not use mobile phone, the police said, adding that he also did not contact his family over this period.

"We recovered some money from his possession and we are investigating the source of the money," said Sumit Kumar, Deputy Commissioner of Police (Crime). "He was also involved in five cases of rape and murder in which two he committed in Gurugram and four in Delhi. He used to target minor girls who came to community kitchens without their parents."

A case under relevant section of the Indian Penal Code, and POCSO Act had been registered at Sector 65 police station. Police had launched a massive manhunt for the accused with 70 teams comprising 1,200 police personnel round-the-clock on combing operations and raids in Delhi and Uttar Pradesh.

72% turnout in Chhattisgarh poll; Cong, BJP claim...

Chhattisgarh Chief Minister Raman Singh who is heading the BJP Government in the mineral-rich State since December 2003, claimed that the BJP would form Government for the record fourth successive term.

"Voters are coming out in large numbers from their houses to exercise their franchise to keep the BJP in power to spur growth in the State," Singh remarked at Kawardha town after casting his vote along with his spouse Veena Singh.

The Congress which is desperate to return to power, too claimed that people voted against BJP regime to get rid of corruption. A Congress delegation led by Congress national general secretary PL Punia met the EC in the national Capital over the alleged "attempts to misuse and tamper with the EVMs in Chhattisgarh".

Punia said the BJP "wary of losing the polls, was trying to influence the polling process through malpractices".

"People want a Congress Government. There are reports coming in from majority of areas about heavy polling against the BJP Government, Congress is all set to form the next Government," remarked Charandas Mahant after casting his vote with family members in Korba. The former Union Minister Mahant is one of the top contenders for the chief ministerial post if the Congress is voted to power.

Meanwhile, the former Chief Minister Ajit Jogi, who made the 2018 polls a three-way fight in Chhattisgarh after having an alliance with the BSP, announced that people have cast votes in bulk only to see him as the next Chief Minister.

"Don't be in confusion the JCC-BSP alliance is going to produce shocker for the Congress as well as for the BJP on December 11 when results to be announced" Jogi told reporters.

Chhattisgarh has total 90 Assembly seats and polling for 18 seats was held on November 12.

CONSTRUCTION OF TWO STEALTH FRIGATES

India, Russia ink $500-mn deal

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

India and Russia on Tuesday inked a 500-million-dollar deal for construction of two stealth frigates in Goa for the Navy. Russia will provide design, technology and some material to public sector Goa Shipyard Limited (GSL) for construction of these Grigorovich class ships.

Incidentally, the two countries signed another one billion dollar deal some weeks back for two more stealth frigates of the same class. Russia will build these ships at Yantar Shipyard, Kaliningrad and are expected to be delivered to the Indian Navy by 2022-23. India and Russia had agreed in 2016 for a deal to build two frigates in India and two to be imported from Russia.

As regards the two frigates to be built here, officials said here the agreement for the project was signed between GSL and Russia's state-run defence major Rosoboronexport under the government-to-government framework for defence cooperation. Construction of the ships will begin in 2020 and the first one will be ready for induction in 2026 while second one will be ready by 2027.

In another development, Russia emerged as the lowest bidder for a 1.5 billion dollar deal for supplying very short range air defence systems to the Indian Army. These missiles are shoulder fired to take down aerial targets and the proposed deal envisages supply of around 5,180 missiles and about 800 launchers, officials said. The other two contenders in the race were France and Sweden.

The firming up of the agreement to build two frigates here came nearly six weeks after India signed an agreement with Russia to buy a batch of S-400 air defence missile systems at a cost of around 5 billion dollars.

India is going ahead with mega defence deals with Russia disregarding warnings by the US of sanctions. The Trump administration has put several Russian firms under sanctions under Countering America's may also face actions under CAATSA. India has been hoping to get a waiver from the US on the deals it was signing with Russia.

Russia is time tested strategic and defence partners of India and is the largest weapon supplier to the Indian forces. The defence and security cooperation has been on an upswing between the two countries in the last few years.

NAGROTA ARMY CAMP ATTACK CASE

NIA files chargesheets against JeM deputy chief, Masood's brother, 13 others

New Delhi: The NIA on Tuesday filed a chargesheet against Maulana Abdul Rouf Asgar, deputy chief of Pakistan-based Jaish-e-Mohammad terrorist group and brother of Maulana Masood Azhar, and 13 others in connection with a case pertaining to the attack on an Army camp in Nagrota in Jammu & Kashmir in November 2016, officials said.

The spokesman of the NIA said in a statement that the charge sheet was filed under various sections of Ranbir Penal Code (substitute of IPC in Jammu & Kashmir), Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act and the Foreigners Act against the accused.

"Investigation conducted by the NIA revealed that four local Kashmiri JeM members, namely Mohd. Ashiq Baba alias Mohd. Ashaq, Syed Munir-Ul-Hassan Qadri, Tariq Ahmad Dar and Ashraf Hamid Khandey (all arrested by NIA) had facilitated a group of three heavily armed Pakistani terrorists and transported them from International Border in Samba-Kathua sector to Hotel Jagdamba in Jammu and subsequently to Nagrota in their vehicles for the attack on the November 28, 2016 on Officers' Mess Complex, 166 Medium Regiment of Indian Army in Nagrota Cantonment (near Jammu)," the spokesman said.

The three Pakistani JeM terrorists — Khalid alias Abu Hissam, Numan and Aadil, who were highly trained and equipped with AK-47 rifles and explosives carried out the attack in which seven Army personnel were killed and three were injured. All the three terrorists were killed.

The NIA said the probe showed that Maulana Abdul Rouf Asgar, Deputy Chief of Jaish-e-Mohammad and brother of Jaish chief Maulana Masood Azhar, was the mastermind of the Nagrota attack.

"He worked out the plan of Fidyen (suicide) attack and provided training to above three Pakistani JeM terrorists. He also directed Mufti Asgar (launch commander of JeM in Kashmir region) to provide training, funds, equipment and mobile and other logistics to local JeM member Mohd. Ashiq Baba.

Mohd Ashiq Baba had visited Pakistan many times and met JeM terrorists Waseem (Operational commander of JeM), Abu Talha alias Doctor (deputy commander in Jammu region) and Qari Zarar (launch commander of JeM for Jammu region).

He was taken for a meeting with Mufti Asgar at Muzaffarabad in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir. On reaching there he was received by Abdullah alias Al Hijama and Tariq Mir, both JeM terrorists who are close associates of Mufti Asgar.

"During meeting with top leadership of JeM commanders Mufti Asgar chalked out a detailed plan including the modus operandi to be adopted for infiltration of JeM terrorists and he asked Ashiq to activate local JeM network in Jammu & Kashmir for Jehadi cause. Ashiq Baba was given training at Manshera in Pakistan and handed over money for arranging logistics along with a GPS enabled Huawei mobile phone for communication with JeM leaders in Pakistan," the spokesman said.

Army chief to visit Vietnam

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Army Chief General Bipin Rawat will hold delegation-level talks with his counterparts on military-related issues during his four-day visit to Vietnam starting November 22. Incidentally, the Army Chief's visit to Vietnam comes two days after President Ram Nath Kovind paid a three-day visit to that country.

During the bilateral visit, Rawat will also interact with senior military hierarchy of Vietnam besides visiting key military formations and establishments.

The Army Chief is scheduled to meet and interact with Defence Minister General Ngo Xuan Lich and Deputy Chief of General Staff Senior Lieutenant General Pham Hong Huong, Deputy Chief of the General Staff during the visit. Rawat will visit Headquarters of an Infantry Division near Hanoi and Headquarters of 7 Military Region at Ho Chi Minh, officials said here on Tuesday.

During the visit of Prime Minister Narendra Modi to Vietnam in 2016 the relationship between the two countries was upgraded to comprehensive strategic partnership. Defence cooperation has increased exponentially over the last few years amongst all services including exchange programmes, training assistance and cooperation on various service specific issues.

Rawat's visit will be yet another milestone in giving impetus to the strategic partnership between India and Vietnam and taking forward the military to military cooperation to the next level, they said.

Writing very clear on wall, SC's final warning to Amrapali Group

New Delhi: "Writing is very clear on the wall", the Supreme Court warned the embattled real estate firm Amrapali Group on Tuesday over its repeated non-compliance and "hoodwinking" of the court's order.

The top court asked the realty firm to reveal by December 3 the details of all its properties in the name of directors, their family members, relatives, Chief Financial Officers and statutory auditors in India and abroad. It gave one last opportunity to Amrapali Group and its directors and promoters to comply with each and every direction passed by the court since May last year.

A bench of Justices Arun Mishra and U U Lalit said that Amrapali Group will have to disclose each and every detail and activity including financial transactions by which homebuyers' money was transferred.

"We make it very clear that Amrapali Group should disclose each and every activity in clear terms it took since 2008 onwards related to the construction of residential, commercial, personal, official and financial where the money was transferred. If all the disclosures are not made by Amrapali Group and its directors then the writing is very clear on the wall," the bench said.

The AMRUT scheme was launched by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in 2015 with a focus to establish infrastructure that could ensure adequate, robust sewage networks and water supply for urban transformation by implementing urban revival projects.

As per Ministry's data, 963 projects worth ₹2008 crore have been completed. "At least 3,123 projects worth ₹50,350 crore are under progress. "The detailed projects report (DPR) of 487 projects worth ₹7,999 cr

CBI officer's corruption charges crime thriller episode: Rahul

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Congress on Tuesday said CBI DIG M K Sinha's allegations of corruption against senior Government officials in his affidavit to the Supreme Court are the latest episode of a crime thriller 'Chowkidar is thief' playing out in Delhi. Congress president Rahul Gandhi again used the "chowkidar" jibe to attack Prime Minister Narendra Modi which he has been doing for past many months.

"A crime thriller titled 'Chowkidar is thief' is playing out in Delhi. In the new episode, a CBI DIG has levelled serious charges against a Minister, the NSA, Law Secretary and Cabinet Secretary," the Congress president said on Twitter. "On the other hand, his partner from Gujarat is busy collecting crores..." he added.

The party alleged that Prime Minister as usual has maintained a 'Maun Vrat' on the entire petition. "Officers are tired, trust is broken and democracy is crying," the Congress president said, a day after Sinha dragged the names of several officials, including National Security Advisor Ajit Doval, Union Minister Haribhai Parthibhai Chaudhary and CVC KV Chowdhury, over alleged attempts to interfere in the probe against CBI Special Director Rakesh Asthana. Asthana has been divested of his duties and sent on leave along with CBI director Alok Verma.

Congress spokesman Abhishek Singhvi said that a naïve Modi Government which is a master in enforcing the 'Gujarat Model' to deal with bureaucrats, senior officers and treat them as their puppets, did not realise their deliberate denigration in undermining the authority of CBI—would now reach the doorsteps of the Prime Minister.

"The turmoil created by a despotic Modi government within the CBI when reached the Supreme Court, has now unleashed a 'Corruption Tsunami' which has hit the top most powers of the country. The plank of anti-corruption on which the Modi Sarkar came to power lies in tatters. The prima facie inference of Manish Kumar Sinha's affidavit in the Supreme Court points out to a 'Corrupt Cabal' being in-charge of premier institutions like — CBI, NSA, ED, RA&W & the PMO," Singhvi, also a Rajya Sabha member, said.

The party questioned what the PM has to say about a Minister of State for Personnel, Public Grievances and Pensions, in-charge of the PMO, being involved to 'settle' a matter for MOS Haribhai Choudhary. It also asked who was the person in the PMO who "fixed things" for Samant Goel of RA&W, post which CBI officers were transferred in the Midnight Coup.

"There are only two Ministers in the Ministry of Personnel, Public Grievances and Pensions, one the PM himself and then a Minister of State, in either case this is corruption of the highest degree as its at the doorsteps of the PM himself. Ajit Doval in his capacity as NSA has not only interfered in matters such as the Rafale negotiations, but has almost derailed the integrity of the investigation in the CBI. Why is NSA Ajit Doval even involved in this matter? What constitutional or legal authority does he have," queried Singhvi.

"The protracted silence of the current dispensation is an insult to our democracy which mandates a government to be transparent in its dealings. This silence of the BJP, broken only by outlandish blog posts or Press Conferences by their Union Ministers who are in no way connected to the matter at hand, is an affront to the collective intelligence of the nation," Singhvi said.

Institutions like CBI, RBI losing credibility because of NDA Govt: Sharad Yadav

New Delhi: Opposition leader Sharad Yadav on Tuesday alleged that institutions like the CBI and RBI are losing their credibility because of the NDA dispensation's "stubbornness" and "wrong intention". He said it was "very unfor-fortunate" that people have started saying that the high ups in the key institutions on which they have confidence have been witnessing battles within and levelling charges of corruption, resulting in losing of their credibility.

Vijayan Govt treating Ayyappa devotees as Gulag inmates: Shah

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

BJP president Amit Shah on Tuesday hit-out at the Pinarayi Vijayan Government's handling of the situation in Sabarimala as "disappointing" and charged it with treating pilgrims as "Gulag inmates" in the forced labour camps in the erstwhile Soviet communist regime.

"If Pinarayi Vijayan thinks he can rise against people's movement to preserve Sabarimala by arresting K Surendran, our Thrissur District president and 6 others, then he is mistaken. We stand firmly with every Ayyappa devotee, who holds the Sabarimala tradition close to his heart," Shah said in a series of tweets.

The BJP president said his party will not let the LDF "crush people's faith with impunity".

"If several reports of flushing resting places for devotees and them having to spend nights next to pig droppings & dustbin are true, then Pinarayi Vijayan must realise that he can't treat Ayyappa devotees like inmates of Gulag. We won't let LDF crush people's faith with impunity", he said.

Gulag was a system of forced labour camps established during Communist leader Joseph Stalin's rule in the Soviet Union who ruled Soviet Union after the death of leader of Soviet revolution V I Lenin.

Shah has been extending open support to devotees in Kerala protesting the State Government's move to implement a Supreme Court order lifting the bar on women of menstruating age from visiting the temple. The Left Democratic Front (LDF) has accused the BJP of politicising the court order with the Chief Minister asserting that it is the job of a Government to implement the apex court's order.

SABARIMALA ROW

Chant curbs fuel rage against Kerala Govt

Kerala Police asks pilgrims not to recite Ayyappa hymns, devotional songs

They have been also asked to complete the trekking to the shrine and return to the base camp in six hours whether they get the chance to worship or not

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ KOCHI

Ayyappa devotees en route to Sabarimala shrine have been asked by the police not to recite Ayyappa hymns and devotional songs. They have also been asked to complete the trekking to the shrine and return to the base camp in six hours whether they get the chance to worship or not at the Sabarimala temple. This is the sum total of the series of guidelines issued to the devotees by the police since Tuesday.

The resentment against the Kerala Government has spread to other south Indian States by Tuesday because of the stringent restrictions.

The situation in Sabarimala and nearby areas got aggravated as Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan blamed the BJP and the RSS for the current unrest in Sabarimala. "The RSS and BJP have entrusted hundreds of criminal elements to foment troubles at Sabarimala. The persons who have been arrested from Sabarimala during the last two days are leaders of the BJP and RSS with criminal records," said the Chief Minister while addressing a specially convened media meet at Thiruvananthapuram on Tuesday.

The Police continued its crackdown in devotees who recite Ayyappa hymns and devotional songs in the temple premises. Though the Kerala High Court had on Monday expressed its displeasure over the cruelty committed on devotees, there was no let up in brutalities by the cops on Tuesday. Monday night itself saw police throwing out devotees who were reciting hymns and did not allow them to perform the customary Abhishekam (sacred offering to the deity).

Hundreds of disappointed Ayyappa bhakts including women and children who had thronged the shrine from all over the country came out of the temple premises sobbing uncontrollably because of the police brutality. Devotees on their way to the temple have to sigh in police stations at Nilackel allowed to recite Ayyappa hymns. The pilgrims have been told not to speak to the media.

"Those reciting hymns and Ayyappa songs were taken by the police to closed toilets which were overflowing with human waste and asked us to recite the hymns standing there," said Jagannathan, a devotee from Tamil Nadu who had to suffer the humiliation. Former Chief Minister Oommen Chandi led a delegation of Congress leaders to the Sannidhanam on Tuesday challenging the Section 144 slapped by the police in the temple premises.

"These restrictions is a ploy to cover up the failures of the Government to provide basic amenities to the devotees. The September 28 Supreme Court verdict which allowed the entry of women of all ages to the shrine was a result of the changes made by the present Government in the earlier affidavit submitted by us. The CPM is responsible for the impasse in Sabarimala," said Chandi while addressing a meeting at Pamba.

Though the police officials told the former Chief Minister that he would not be allowed to address the meeting because of Section 144, the Congress leaders reminded him about a verdict by the apex court that banned the imposition of Section 144 in temple premises which made the police to make a hasty retreat.

K Ramkumar, senior lawyer and an authority on human rights told The Pioneer that he would move the High Court on Wednesday challenging the Section 144 as well as the restrictions slapped by the police. "Their actions will not stand scrutiny in any court of law," said Ramkumar.

T G Mohan Das, another lawyer, said that the High Court had given directions to the Government that they should ply buses between Pamba and Sabarimala at the rate of a bus per minute, the Government by Wednesday cancelled more than 60 schedules.

Congress, BJP up ante against CPM

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ KOCHI

Government doctors and medical professionals describe Sabarimala shrine as a ticking time-bomb which may explode anytime causing pandemic diseases like cholera, typhoid, jaundice and chicken pox. "This is because the entire network of sanitation, sewage system, toilets and other basic amenities have gone haywire in the holy shrine and nearby areas," said a medical doctor who did not want his name to be quoted for fear of reprisal from the authorities.

There is a drastic fall in the number of devotees undertaking the pilgrimage this year because of the uncertainties and tense atmosphere prevailing at Sabarimala. "Usually, there will be 600 devotees packing their Irumudyketu (the sacred bag in which offerings to deity are packed under the supervision of a priest) from our temple every day. This time the number has not crossed the 200 mark," K Ashok, executive committee member, Mahalingapuram Ayyappa Temple at Chennai, told The Pioneer. He said the tense situation at the Sabarimala has frightened the devotees.

Scathing attack on the CPI-M came from Amit Shah, the BJP chief who reminded Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan of the repercussions created by the Stalinist policies of the Communist parties. "The way Pinarayi Vijayan's Govt is handling the sensitive issue of Sabarimala is disappointing. Kerala police is treating young girls, mothers and aged inhumanly, forcing them to take the arduous pilgrimage, without even basic facilities like food, water, shelter & clean toilets," tweeted the BJP national president on Tuesday.

Responding to reports about police high handedness at Sabarimala, Shah said: "If several reports of flushing resting places for devotees and then having to spend nights next to pig droppings & dustbin are true, then Pinarayi Vijayan must realize that he can't treat Ayyappa devotees like inmates of Gulag. We won't let LDF crush people's faith with impunity."

The charge by Chief Minister Vijayan that the "trouble makers" (those reciting hymns and songs) at Sabarimala were RSS and BJP "criminals" was shattered when the rally by the UDF leaders led by former Chief Minister Oommen Chandi at Sabarimala echoed with hymns and songs praising Lord Ayyappa sung by devotees as well as the UDF leaders. PS Sreedharan Pillai, Kerala chief of the BJP told reporters that his party would stand by the devotees irrespective of the issues for which they are agitating.

"The CPI-M Government has a hidden agenda over the Ayyappa temple as well as other places of worship. We will not allow their evil designs to seize places of worship," said Pillai. V Muralaeeharan and Nalin Kattil, Members of Parliament, visited the shrine on Tuesday and found to their astonishment the thoroughly inefficient basic amenities at Sabarimala. "The Kerala Government has banned devotees from reciting Ayyappa slogans and hymns. How is it possible to complete the pilgrimage without reciting the devotional songs and hymns?" asked Muralaeeharan.

Didi's Minister resigns citing personal reason

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

Key Mamata Banerjee aid and Bengal Fire and Emergency Services and Housing Department Minister Sovan Chatterjee on Tuesday resigned from his posts for personal reasons, sources at State secretary Nabanna said adding Chatterjee was also likely to resign as Kolkata's Mayor following instructions from the Chief Minister.

The resignation comes following months of widening distance between the Trinamool Congress chief and the Minister who was allegedly been so "pre-occupied" with his personal issues that he was unable to discharge his official responsibilities.

The ex-Minister-cum-Mayor who was entangled in a marital suit with his wife Ratna Chatterjee had earlier been relieved of his key organisational posts in the party. He was divested from the post of Trinamool Congress district president of South 24 Parganas and Kolkata.

The Minister who was on Tuesday seen being rebuked by the Chief Minister at a public programme of Fire Department and the State Assembly tendered his resignation hours later expressing his inability to discharge his responsibility on account of personal grounds.

Banerjee reportedly pulled up the Minister for failing to discharge his duties properly, sources said adding the Minister subsequently went to the Chief Minister's cabin and offered to tender his resignation. He submitted his resignation with Gautam Sanyal Principal secretary to the Chief Minister which was summarily accepted and forwarded to the Governor.

Bihar ex-Min Manju Verma surrenders

Muzaffarpur shelter home case co-accused Madhu also surrenders

FAIZAN AHMAD ■ PATNA

Tuesday was the day of much awaited surrenders in Bihar. First it was high-profile Kumari Manju Verma, a former Minister, who surrendered in a court at Manjhaul in Begusarai district and then in Muzaffarpur the highly-connected Madhu appeared before the CBI. Both of them are somehow connected to the infamous Muzaffarpur shelter home sex scandal.

Verma was missing when CBI team laid hands on illegal ammunitions at her ancestral home in a Begusarai village. She had to resign from the Nitish Kumar Cabinet in which she was Minister of Social Welfare department after the name of her husband Chandeshwar Prasad Verma cropped up in the shelter home case. He allegedly was in contact with main accused Brajesh Thakur and had been visiting the shelter home.

Madhu, said to be a close confidante of Thakur, went underground soon after the FIR was lodged for then sexual exploitation of minor girls on May 31. Thakur was arrested and now lodged in Patiala jail but she could not be traced for almost six months.

A warrant had been issued against Verma for keeping ammunition of different bores, some of them not allowed to be used by civilians. Her husband surrendered in the same court over a fortnight back. The MLA from Cheria Bariarpur was sent in judicial remand for ten days and the hearing of the case for the couple will be held on December 1. The Supreme Court had harshly admonished Bihar Government, its DGP and Chief Secretary for the failure in arresting her and even summoned the two top officials to explain the reasons. This had caused great embarrassment for the Nitish Government.

Ahead of Ayodhya visit, Uddhav targets BJP over Ram mandir

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

Ahead of his visit to Ayodhya during the weekend, Shiv Sena president Uddhav Thackeray on Tuesday singled out the BJP for an attack over the Ram Mandir issue, seeking to know if the principal ruling party's promise of constructing Ram temple was another "jumla" like its "₹15 lakh bank deposit" promise.

"It is only during the election time that the BJP remembers the construction of Ram Mandir. Once the elections are over the BJP forgets the issue. Just like ₹15 lakh deposit and Ache Din promises, should we look at the BJP's promise of Ram Mandir as another jumla?" Uddhav asked.

Uddhav, who is due to visit Ayodhya during the weekend to press for the early construction of the Ram temple, hit back at the Opposition parties for criticising him for his plan to visit Ayodhya in the run-up to Lok Sabha elections.

"I am being criticised for visiting Ayodhya now. Since I have raised the Ram Mandir issue in the run-up to the elections, let the Opposition parties criticise me. All I can tell them that the Ram Mandir definitely becomes an issue during the elections," the Sena president said.

Four terrorists, paratrooper, Hurriyat activist killed in Kashmir

KHURSHED WANI ■ SRINAGAR

Four local Hizbul Mujahideen terrorists and an Army paratrooper were killed in a fierce gun-battle in Nadigam village of south Kashmir's Kulgam district while a separatist worker was shot dead by unknown assailants in Anantnag region. The violent incidents occurred on a day when polling was held in several districts of the Valley in the second phase of the panchayat elections.

A police spokesman said that security forces had "credible input" about the presence of militants in Nadigam area of district Shopian before a cordon and search operation was launched in the predawn hours on Tuesday.

"As the search operation was going on, the search party was confronted with bullets fired by the hiding militants. The fire was retaliated leading to an encounter. In the initial exchange of fire one army jawan identified as HC Vijay of 23 Para sustained injuries and was evacuated to the hospital for medical treatment where he succumbed," police said.

During the encounter four terrorists were shot dead and the bodies were retrieved from the site of encounter. The slain terrorists were identified as Abid Nazir Chopan, Basharat Nengro, Mehrajuddin Najar and Malikzada Inamul Haq, all local cadre of banned Hizbul Mujahideen outfit.

Rohingyas resisting data collection fearing deportation from Jammu

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

Under pressure from different quarters to gather details of exact number of Rohingyas — illegal immigrants from Myanmar — settled in and around different pockets of Jammu, the Jammu & Kashmir police has initiated special drive to collect their personal details in a proper format.

The drive was launched on the directions of the Central Government to gather 'biometrics' of Rohingyas ahead of their deportation to their native country. According to the State Home Department record, "a total number of 6523 Rohingyas are settled across 39 different locations across five districts of Jammu region".

Most of these settlements are located close to the vital security installations in and around Jammu.

While collecting personal details of these Rohingyas the State policemen are facing lot of resistance from these immigrants on ground zero.

"Majority of Rohingyas are not willing to come forward to share their personal details. We are coming here for last two three days to convince them to share their personal details in a proper format but they are reluctant to do so" a senior police officer supervising the special drive told The Pioneer at one such location in Narwal Bala area of Bhatindi on Tuesday.

BJP to support sugarcane farmers' protest in Karnataka

KESTUR VASUKI ■ BENGALURU

The day after sugarcane farmers surrounded IT city Bengaluru demanding Minimum support price for their crop, the issue now has become political. The blame game also started between the coalition Government and the Opposition BJP. State BJP president BS Yeddyurappa extended his party's support to the farmers' protest but also blamed Kumaraswamy for insulting farmers in the State. At a Press conference in Bengaluru on Tuesday Yeddyurappa attacked both Chief Minister Kumaraswamy and his father former Prime Minister HD Devegowda as opportunists.

He also called for a State wide agitation on Wednesday against the apathy of the Government in dealing with the farmers. He also hit out against Chief Minister for insulting a woman farmer who was protesting demanding support price for sugarcane at Belagavi. He came down heavily against JDS-Cong coalition govt and alleged that the State Govt has failed to fix FRP for sugarcane even after the Union Govt announcing Fair Remunerative Price (FRP) three months back. He said the State should fix State Advisory Price (SAP) but Chief Minister HD Kumaraswamy has failed to take the issue seriously.

MARATHA QUOTA BACKLASH

Muslim MLAs demand reservation, create ruckus in Maha Assembly

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

The Devendra Fadnavis Government's decision to accord reservations to Marathas had its first major backlash on Tuesday, as aggressive Muslim MLAs from different political parties created ruckus in the Maharashtra Assembly, clamouring for reservations to their community and even tried to spirit away with the Speaker's mace.

The State Assembly plunged into turmoil, as Muslim MLAs from the Congress, MIM and Samajwadi Party rushed to the well of the House and raised vociferous slogans against the BJP-led saffron alliance Govt for not granting quota to the Muslim community.

The protesting MLAs, a few of whom carried placards demanding reservations to Muslims, disrupted the proceedings in protest against the Maha Government's failure to address the genuine concerns of the Muslim community in the State. Mocking at Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis' recent statement asking the Marathas to prepare themselves for celebrations on December 1 over reservations, the placards that two of MIM MLAs read: "Ami Kadhi celebration karachye, Mukya mantri Tariq saangha (When should we celebrate, please tell us the date)".

An armistice

The Reserve Bank of India and the Ministry of Finance have declared a truce. The Government is the winner

A century ago this month, an armistice was declared between the Allied Powers and the Central Powers, an armistice that ended the first 'war to end all wars'. And a couple of days ago, an armistice was declared between the Union Finance Ministry and the technocrats at the helm of the Reserve Bank of India (RBI). The distrust between New Delhi and Mumbai has never been greater. The Government is desperate for funds after the crunch that recently hit the non-banking financial company (NBFC) sector. The RBI, on its part, made it harder and harder for small and medium companies to access funds from banks as it sought to repair the damage after years of 'phone banking' by previous regimes, wherein loans on favorable terms were doled out to industrialists close to the powers-that-be. The problem is that while the RBI is taking extreme measures to repair the damage to public sector banks, the fact is that many Indian firms are still scrambling to access working capital requirements.

The Government did have a point that the RBI was tightening the rules far too much. But its threats to go nuclear, as it were, and use a provision of the law that allowed the Government to effectively take over the RBI just because the Government needed more money, would have been the last nail in the coffin for the independence of India's institutions. That would have been a complete over-reaction. The fact that the RBI stood up to the Government is a sign that it remains independent and the fact that it isn't under the control of a pliant Governor, who does the Government's bidding right, is evident. Opposition leaders, particularly Rahul Gandhi and P Chidambaram, were keen for the RBI to show some 'spine' since more liquidity in the economy ahead of elections can only be beneficial for the incumbent Government.

There is no doubt that this Government inherited an economy that had been laid waste by years of bad loans and crony capitalism. The public banking sector remains in a state of disrepair, some banks are just slightly better off than others. While the Narendra Modi Government has done some good things — it chose not to use all the political capital at its disposal to make fundamental changes to the Indian economy and instead chose to go down the curious path of demonetisation does raise eyebrows. And the move two years ago might have had a role to play in the current crisis, with the RBI unable to pay the Government the dividend it thought would be coming its way because of the costs imposed by demonetisation. However, this armistice is more in the nature of a temporary truce, with contentious issues put on the back-burner until the next Board meeting of the RBI in December. After all, the war to end all wars did not stop Europe from erupting again two decades later dragging the world down into a conflagration. What happens next remains to be seen. But ahead of the election in 2019, the outcome of the December meeting and the decisions of the committees that have been set up to look into the issues of contention may yet lead to a nuclear winter for the Indian economy.

Joining forces

The Mamata-Naidu meet is a step to building an Opposition alliance that can take on BJP and engage with Congress

Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister Chandrababu Naidu's nearly two-hour meeting with his West Bengal counterpart Mamata Banerjee in Kolkata on Monday is significant not only because the Trinamool Congress chief's original interlocutor in aid of a 'federal front' from South India, Telangana Chief Minister K Chandrashekhara Rao, is busy campaigning for the Assembly election in that State and not currently in the thick of Opposition confabulations nationally, but also because it is an attempt by regional leaders to ensure that regardless of immediate priorities in their respective States, there are enough strong regional leaders wedded to the idea of a forming a mahagathabandhan (grand Opposition alliance) to unseat the BJP from power. But while the focus is, naturally, on trying to ensure one-on-one contests against the BJP in upwards of 350 Lok Sabha seats for the 2019 General Election first mooted by Mamata-KCR at their meeting earlier this year, there is also, now that we are approaching the business end of the election cycle, an effort to shore up the alliance between all powerful regional parties so they can negotiate as a single entity the terms on which this grouping will join forces with the only pan-India political party in the Opposition's ranks, the Congress. That the Congress will have to play a major role in a putative mahagathabandhan is not seriously questioned by any regional player, whatever the public posturing. But, parties like the Trinamool Congress, Telugu Desam Party, Telangana Rashtra Samithi, Aam Aadmi Party and the like do have genuine concerns about Congress ambitions in their respective States.

The reason for this are not far too seek. Unlike, say, in States such as Tamil Nadu, Uttar Pradesh and Bihar where the DMK, Samajwadi Party-Bahujan Samaj Party alliance and the Rashtriya Janata Dal are the dominant players in the Opposition space and the Congress seems to have accepted that its renewal will have to be a long-term project, to put it politely, with its immediate concern being limited to ensuring that a handful of their frontline leaders contesting the Lok Sabha poll from these States are assured support by the regional behemoths, in States such as Telangana, Andhra Pradesh, and Delhi, for example, it believes that its support base is still large enough for it not to have to concede an overwhelming number of seats to the anti-BJP regional parties dominant there. West Bengal, though, with Mamata's ascendancy seemingly unstoppable, seems to have slipped from latter to the former category of States for the Congress. Where the regional parties and the Congress are in concord, however, is on the need to sharpen their line of attack on the ruling dispensation which is trying to paint them as political opportunists out to oust Narendra Modi at any cost. To that end, the Mamata-Naidu meet highlighting the BJP's alleged undermining of institutions and promotion of the politics of division is likely to be the combined Opposition's campaign template.

The Afghan quagmire

On the battlefield in Afghanistan, the Taliban has the upper hand. The stalemate will prevail at least till the presidential elections. India would do well to scale up its military assistance

ASHOK K MEHTA

There is no respite from Taliban assaults in the killing fields of Afghanistan, from Kandahar in the east to Farah in the west. On the battlefield, the Taliban has the upper hand. The killing, in October, of the most powerful Afghan police chief in Kandahar, Lt Gen Abdul Raziq, also the most formidable political voice in the Taliban heartland, while he was holding a meeting with the new US Field Commander, Gen Scott Miller, who miraculously escaped the attack, reflects the ascendancy of the Taliban. That Taliban suicide bombers could penetrate the concentric rings of the US and Afghan security around his stronghold affirms their military superiority.

But it also reflects the worst ever security situation in Afghanistan, 17 years after the Taliban was ousted from Kabul. Today, they hold/control and have influence over nearly half the country's space. The drubbing the Afghan National Security Forces (ANSF) are taking is unprecedented, averaging daily killings of 62 to 80 ANSF. That they are holding out under such attrition is remarkable.

When the Special Inspector General for Afghanistan Reconstruction in 2014 gave his report on the combat capability of ANSF, just before US troops ended their combat mission, it gave ANSF sufficiency in capability to independently withstand Taliban offensive, but added that it would require US Air support and logistic assistance. It ruled out any strategic collapse. Then, Konduz, a provincial capital, fell in 2015 and since then, district and provincial capitals have been overrun by the Taliban. In the August attack on Ghazni, Pakistan-based terrorists were involved, prompting Afghan President Ashraf Ghani to call it Pakistan's undeclared war against his country.

US President Donald Trump's warning to Pakistan, repeated several times by US Secretary of State Mike Pompeo, and the famous "last chance" missive by Defence Secretary Jim Mattis, demonstrate the failure of the US' military strategy. It is a miracle that the ANSF is holding out despite desertions. The US focus is, therefore, now on reconciliation and kick-starting the peace process after Taliban supremo Mullah Akhtar Mansour, who let down the US on talks, was drowned down in an attack in 2016.

The Trump team stepped up the tempo of talks, and for the first time, engaged in direct talks with the Taliban's Qatar office at Doha at two levels: With US Assistant Deputy Secretary of State, Alice Wells in July; and with Special Envoy of the State Department on Afghanistan, Zalmay Khalilzad, in October. The Taliban rejected outright talks with the Kabul Government, which they call US stooges.

The Afghan-led and Afghan-owned peace process is only notional despite offering unconditional talks. The Taliban has indicated it will continue talks with the US on terms and conditions for a full and final withdrawal of foreign forces from Afghanistan.

Surprisingly, Inter-Services Public Relations (ISPR) Maj Gen Asif Ghafoor has said that Pakistan does not want foreign forces to leave Afghanistan till peace is restored. This is a sharp contradiction of the Taliban's stand, and one which Rawalpindi cites to prove that the Taliban is not under its influence, leave alone control.

So far, the Americans have called the shots on dialogue with the Taliban. Their diktat has prevailed with Kabul. This month, Russians jumped in for the second time this year with a conference to kick-start talks. Kabul had turned down Russia's earlier attempt to begin a dialogue. Russians are keen that they have a key role in dousing the fires in Afghanistan. China has also dabbled in orchestrating talks which will inevitably end with too many cooks spoiling the broth.

The most visible change is in China's policy towards Afghanistan which until recently, was circumscribed by four Noes: No boots on the ground; No interference in Afghanistan's internal affairs; No criticism of the US; and No use of northern distribution network. Policy shift is from development to security.

China worries about access from Afghanistan via the Wakhan panhandle to its Xinjiang Province by Uighur (ETIM) militants. For the first time Beijing is training and equipping an Afghan Brigade to be deployed in the mountainous reaches of Wakhan Corridor with joint patrolling in the area. China has signed a MoU with Afghanistan to connect Kabul with the China-Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC) as well as some joint Afghanistan-Pakistan energy projects.

Kabul is extremely disappointed that the joint India-China project for Afghanistan is merely training diplomats instead of being a big infrastructure project. While Beijing is pound foolish in Pakistan and Sri Lanka, in Kabul, it is seen as being penny wise in holding back its investments.

For Trump, his Afghanistan-Pakistan strategy is in tatters. Still, Pompeo hopes that the reset in US-Pakistan relations will lead to Rawalpindi cooperating in acting against Taliban sanctuaries on its soil.

According to Afghanistan expert Barnett Rubin, there are limits to the use of US military force against a nuclear-armed Pakistan. He added that as long as the US and Nato troops are deployed in Afghanistan, the Karachi-Kabul lifeline will render Washington hostage to Rawalpindi, especially after the US sanctions against Russia and China, which make the use of the northern distribution network untenable.

Pakistan Army Chief, Gen Qamar Bajwa is upset that Trump is encouraging India to acquire strategic depth in Afghanistan at Pakistan's cost. This had never happened before because the US always looked at Afghanistan through Pakistan's prism.

The prevailing theory is that the US will not leave Afghanistan in order to monitor activities of Iran, Pakistan, Russia and China from its strategic bases in Afghanistan. The stalemate on the ground in which the Taliban has a clear upper hand, will prevail not the least till after presidential elections in Afghanistan in April 2020. The campaigning season will soon come to a close but already, the Taliban has inflicted fatal damage on ANSF and the reputation of US forces in preventing wholesale attacks across the country.

India has focussed so far on economic assistance and capacity-building with an investment of two billion dollar, coupled with a commitment to another one billion dollar. This has earned it considerable goodwill and popularity in Kabul but not the scale of influence that Pakistan enjoys with contiguous borders. It is time that New Delhi scales up its military assistance, including supply of military hardware and more specialised training. India will not put boots on the ground — on which Trump queried Modi — but it can forward deploy at its Aynee Air base in Tajikistan, a full-fledged training centre as well as a field hospital. Both are urgently needed by the ANSF with its back to the wall.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Never-ending debate

Sir — The Sabarimala row has become a cause for concern. While the State is piling police forces in and around the temple, political leaders on the other side of the divide appear to be trying to gain political mileage. They are hell-bent to ensure that the situation becomes more volatile. It appears to be a case of who will blink first. Adding to this is the 'call' by certain social activists to visit the temple by surprise. The Supreme Court needs to take cognizance of the situation and ensure that the issue is settled soon.

Exercise in futility

Sir — This refers to the editorial, "Quota question" (November 20). Bringing more castes into the reservation category will only take the development clock backwards. Even as the previous regime in Maharashtra, headed by the Congress-NCP, brought in an order to extend reservation to the Marathas and Muslims, it was

Merit matters in quota debate

This refers to the editorial, "Quota question" (November 20). Undoubtedly, reservation is not an absolute solution to uplift the downtrodden. The fundamental reason for quota is indigence and this is a global phenomenon that exists in every human race, irrespective of religion, caste et al. Therefore, religion/caste wise segregation of citizens for preferential treatment in Government jobs and admission to premier educational institutions, compromising their academic qualifications, is a brazen violation of the secular clauses of the Constitution.

Employing mediocre personnel solely on caste/religion related grounds and ignoring genuine meritorious candidates will jeopardise the bonafide development of the country. Incidentally, political parties are primarily concerned about their unassailable ascendancy. Security or progress of the people and the country is only a secondary issue. This is an era summarily rejected. It could not stand the scrutiny of the court. The present BJP-Shiv Sena Government, too, promised quota to the Marathas for vote-bank. But this is an exercise in futility as it would meet the same fate as met by the previous regime. In fact, Marathas do not need reservation because they are a progressive community. The Government, knowing it of competition, and in the global arena, India is bound to struggle against world giants of science and technology. We cannot expect any form of compromise from the opponents. Unfortunately, our political intelligentsia, including the Opposition and apex judicial highbrows, are well-aware of this blatant controversy and yet neglect such key issues or feign ignorance ostensibly for vested interests.

Jeopardising merit

Sir — This refers to the editorial, "Quota question" (November 20). There should be no provision of this unequal system named reservations. Only meritocracy, based on academic qualifications and performance, should be allowed to flourish in all sectors of society.

Poverty is a burning issue in India. Those who are financially not well-off miss opportunities for higher education despite the fact that they are no less inferior than their privileged counterparts in terms of quality or merit. So, the cases of the underprivileged should be undertaken with utmost compassion.

But poverty is not the sole bastion of any particular demographic group. Underprivileged children should be facilitated with free education, coaching services and study materials so that they can be brought at par with the privileged ones to compete with them.

Not only does meritocracy gets assaulted through these discriminatory system, Indian society is also getting psychologically disintegrated, following the muscle-flexing between the reserved and the unreserved leading to a caste war. If a crucial sector like education gets tarnished by caste factors, can unity ever be achieved? The answer is known to all.

Look beyond politics on N-issue

Nuclear weapons cannot be a panacea for tackling security challenges to India's sovereignty

DEEPAK SINHA

More than 2,000 years ago, Aristotle remarked, "One swallow does not a summer make." Obviously, Prime Minister Narendra Modi didn't give this proverb the thought it deserves; otherwise he would have been far more circumspect before waxing eloquent about the successful deployment of India's nuclear 'triad' — the capability to launch nuclear weapons from land, air and sea. For the uninitiated, if nuclear weapons were to act as a deterrent against any adversary, the capability to launch them from land, air and sea would be inescapable. However, given the proliferation of surveillance devices, land-based missile sites and air bases — from where suitably armed aircraft can operate — are extremely vulnerable to being targeted in a pre-emptive attack. This makes sub-surface capability vital as it is difficult to locate or target. It, thus, provides the ideal platform to launch retaliatory strikes, which in the parlance of "mutually assured destruction", are referred to as second strike capability.

Amongst various classes of submarines, nuclear-powered ones are ideal platforms for this task as they are far more difficult to detect than conventional diesel-electric ones. They are far more silent and can remain submerged and at sea for a much longer duration. The nuclear-powered and indigenously developed submarine, INS Arihant, does, therefore, provide us with this capability; though at a very nascent stage as only a handful of nations have this capability. While there is much to be proud of, the truth is that one submarine, equipped with a missile of limited range, will have very marginal impact on our deterrence capability, something our adversaries, nuclear-armed states, are fully conversant of. To be effective, as Admiral Arun Prakash, former Chief of Naval Staff, had suggested, there is a need for three additional submarines with far superior capabilities if we are to deploy one submarine on deterrence patrol at all times. This is something that is presently at least a decade away given the delays the 'Advanced Technology Vessel' (ATV) project has faced over the years.

Add to that the necessity for a far more sophisticated and robust command and control system, which if our higher defence management is any indication, has a long way to go. The very fact that we have not yet been able to put in place joint theatre commands or appoint a Chief of Defence Staff, not forgetting the disastrous state of our civil-military relations, doesn't do much for our credibility. It is, therefore, inconceivable that the Prime Minister was unaware of the implications of the induction of the INS Arihant. Obviously, his reference to the subject was clearly aimed at a domestic audience and an attempt to show himself off as a strong and decisive leader. One cannot help but get the impression that this is just another attempt to use the military to advance his and the BJP's political agenda, just as he had done earlier during the run-up to the Uttar Pradesh State elections when he used the so-called 'surgical strikes' to his party's advantage.

Any Government that wishes to emphasise its strength of purpose or leadership against inimical actions by an adversary, has the option to respond with conventional force, especially if it finds itself under extreme public pressure due to an adverse political climate. Nuclear weapons, however, are a completely different kettle of fish and cannot be treated to threaten an adversary, unlike what Pakistan has been attempting to do over the years. Whatever analysts may suggest, the use of nuclear weapons spells utter disaster and implies a last desperate attempt to deliver a death blow when faced with an existential crisis. The fact is that even our most well-trained and elite units are unlikely to be able to continue fighting cohesively if they suffer around 30 per cent casualties. What to talk of the country's condition having to deal with millions dead in the event of a full-scale nuclear war? Nuclear weapons are the last resort and should only be used in time of emergency, when our very survival is at stake. It will certainly leave no winners.

The last thing we would need is our nuclear capabilities being used to gain brownie points with a domestic audience. In any case, the ATV Project commenced in the 1980s and can hardly be claimed as an achievement of this Government, though mistrusts in such matters are hardly uncommon. More importantly, politicians in general and this Government in particular, must understand that nuclear weapons are not a panacea for tackling security challenges to our sovereignty. Conventional military has to be given the necessary support if it is to be successful in its mission. Unfortunately, this Government, like the previous ones, has been grossly negligent in this regard, primarily out of a lack of self-confidence to provide governance and a unsubstantiated fear that a strong military may push it aside and take control.

India begins galloping

Reforms undertaken by the Modi regime have helped India improve its ease of doing business rankings. Modinomics has unlocked our infrastructure potential

SANJU VERMA

The World Bank's Ease of Doing Business (EODB) ranking, that saw India's spectacular rise by 65 places from 142 in 2014 to 77 in 2018, has been one of the highest points of the Narendra Modi dispensation. The ranking is further buttressed by the Paris-based International Energy Agency (IEA), which in its 2018 report said that 100 per cent electrification of all villages in India is the biggest success story this year in terms of providing universal energy access. Undoubtedly, India's dramatic jump in global rankings in the last four years is a manifestation of holistic improvement on the ground. For instance, till April 2014, under the erstwhile Congress-led coalition, the average construction rate of highways stood at barely 11.67 km per day. The current BJP-led regime, however, more than doubled the rate to a solid 27 km per day in fiscal 2017-18. The Modi Government built 9,829 km the last fiscal; 8,231 km in 2016-17; 6,061 km in 2015-16; 4,410 km in 2014-15.

For 2018-19, the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways is set to achieve an ambitious target of 45 km per day by building more than 16,400 km of roads. It is worth noting that the first four years of the Modi dispensation saw 73 per cent more highways being built, versus the last four years of an inept Congress-led UPA-II. With close to 200 road projects worth more than ₹1.5 lakh crore heading towards completion by mid-2019, the BJP-led coalition has given infrastructure push a whole new dimension. Again, 416 ongoing and residual projects worth ₹3.26 lakh crore that are being implemented by the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) and are in various stages of completion, will boost the GDP numbers dramatically in the next few years. Around 28 ongoing projects in Rajasthan worth ₹21,292 crore and 26 projects in Madhya Pradesh worth ₹16,245 crore stack up the numbers.

The Indian cement industry expects a robust volume growth of eight to nine per cent in the current fiscal, thanks to projects from the Railways, like the mega station development initiative worth one lakh crore rupees, dedicated freight corridor projects, Mumbai metro rail, Bullet Train project, among others. Work on the re-development of 400 railway stations into world-class facilities at a cost of ₹96,000 crore has already started with the commissioning of work on Gomti Nagar Station; while work on other stations, like Thane, Lucknow, Kota, Nellore, Ernakulam, Madgaon, Delhi Sarai Rohilla and Pudukcherry among others will be taken up soon.

In May 2014, when the BJP dispensation took charge, highway projects worth over one lakh crore rupees were languishing for either want of funds or failure to get regulatory clearances. Under the Congress regime, trust deficit, policy paralysis, cost and time over-runs, flawed risk sharing practices, poor governance, stark misuse of funds and failed supervision led to a complete collapse of public-private partnership (PPP), which relied largely on build operate transfer model.

True, while the old PPP model has not been entirely discarded due to past contractual obligations, in a clear and decisive break from past hackneyed economic conventions, Modinomics largely opted for Engineering, Procurement and Construction (EPC) model to fast-track infrastructure projects. EPC is a far more efficient model with better supervision, single nodal point of responsibility, guaranteed price, timeline, delivery schedules, higher accountability and in the long run, more value for money.

Again, steps to revive commercial vehicle and truck segments, streamlining the exit policy, easier land acquisition norms, as also the 'hub and spoke' model of distribution, that is now being followed by more businesses in the consumption-driven sectors due to the new GST law that came into effect in July 2017, are factors that have all combined to create a virtuous cycle that has fostered a blistering pace of speedy project execution in the last four years.

In October 2017, in what can generate 142 million man days of employment, the Modi Government approved the ₹6.92 lakh crore 83,677 km ultra mega road and highways plan that includes 34,800 km of Bharatmala Pariyojana, that will cover 500 districts from the current 300, thereby aiming to raise the number of corridors to 50 from the current six, moving 80 per cent of the freight traffic to national highways from the 40 per cent currently, by connecting 24 logistics parks, 66 inter-corridors, 116 feeder routes and seven North-East multi-modal waterway ports.

That Modinomics has walked the talk in terms of unlocking India's infrastructure potential can be gauged by the commissioning of the country's first ever multi-modal terminal on the Ganga river in Varanasi as part of a larger plan to build multi-modal terminals in Sahibganj and Haldia too. November 12, 2018, will go down in the history of India as a landmark day that saw the country's first inland voyage after India gained independence in 1947. For the first time ever in post-independent history, after 70 long years, a container ship on India's very own inland vessel, MV Rabindranath Tagore, carrying 16 containers of PepsiCo, successfully docked in the holy city of Kashi.

What a pity that the Congress, that ruled India for much of the last 70 years, left India's rich 7,500 km coastline completely underdeveloped, with the share of goods transported via India's inland waterways, at less than one per cent. In sharp contrast, the 1,390 km Ganga water course is only one of the 111 waterways spanning 20,276 km that the Modi Government is either planning to revive or build.

Ditto goes for Sikkim that became a State in 1975 but got its first airport, the Pakyong airport spread over 201 acres, at a height of 4,500 km above the sea level, only in 2018. Thanks to the vision of the current BJP-led Modi dispensation. To cut to the chase, it is undeniable that the spectacular push to India's infrastructure story under Prime Minister Narendra Modi laid the foundation for India scaling 10 per cent GDP growth.

As a rule of thumb, to achieve 10 per cent GDP growth, India's tax-to-GDP ratio would have to rise by at least another three to four per cent, public investment to GDP would need to go up from the current 32 per cent to 40 per cent and infrastructure investment ratio would need to rise to eight per cent. Is this possible? Of course, yes! Demonetisation has not only led to financialisation of savings but widened the tax base meaningfully in the last four years, with the number of tax filers going up by 80.53 per cent from 3.8 crore to 6.86 crore between 2014 and 2018. Equally, GST collections of ₹6.8 lakh crore between April-October 2018, translating into a monthly run rate of a solid ₹97,143 crore, is great news.

Tax collections always see a disproportionate spike in the last quarter of ever fiscal year and if the Government collects ₹6.2 lakh crore between November and March 2018, chances of which look very bright, on the back of a laudable ₹1.01 lakh crore collected in October 2018 alone, the budgeted target of ₹13 lakh crore for fiscal 2018-19 will be easily met.

For example, tax to GDP ratio at 11.9 per cent in fiscal 2017-18 was the highest ever since fiscal 2007-08. A target of 12.1 per cent in fiscal 2018-19 may again well be exceeded. In the next four to five years, even at the current run rate, getting to a tax to GDP figure of 18-20 per cent is pretty much par for the course, with the number of direct tax payers likely to double to almost 14 crore, maybe more. Speaking of public investment, getting to 40 per cent of GDP is possible only if more resources are made available, which in turn mean banks have to be willing to lend to investible projects.

The ₹2.11 lakh crore bank recapitalisation plan announced last October, which includes ₹1.35 lakh crore of recapitalisation bonds, ₹18,000 crore of budgetary support and ₹58,000 crore of share sales, coupled with the pathbreaking Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, will go a long way in recoveries and upgrades for the banking sector, besides, of course, boosting credit inflow into commercially viable infrastructure projects.

Last but not the least, recent measures to empower India's 36 million odd MSMEs, the backbone of Indian economy, including a turnover based classification, mandatory 25 per cent procurement by PSUs and Government agencies, in-principle approval for a one crore rupee loan in flat 59 minutes, compulsory onboarding of CPSUs and corporates with a turnover in excess of ₹500 crore, on the trade receivables and e-discounting system platform and, increase in interest rebate for MSMEs from three per cent to five per cent, in both the pre-shipment and post-shipment periods, are all measures which will set the stage for a 10 per cent GDP growth for India, which is there for the taking.

How digitalisation tears economies apart

Digital technology is leading to a global crisis in productivity, market monopolies and higher debts. While the supposed game-changer is boosting profits for big firms, it has hit poorer countries and deepened inequities

SHIVAJI SHANKAR

The most coveted digitalisation and hyper-globalisation have come for severe criticism by the UN. This phenomenon helps big firms, big countries and leads to concentration of financial and economic power. Worst sufferers are poor emerging economies. Trade wars and monopolisation are creating mammoth and distorting markets. Digital technology is prying into smaller economies and tearing them apart. Digitalisation leads to decline in demand for physical goods, ongoing decline in their price, long-term decline in the demand fixed capital formation as a share of GDP and jobless growth, said the UN Conference for Trade and Development (UNCTAD) in its 2018 report.

The global trade war is running towards a deeper economic malaise at a time when many countries are growing below their potential, even as the BRICS nations are doing better, thanks to domestic demand. Among them, only Russia is doing better than others because of rising oil prices. The US and China have indulged in a bitter trade war, with both the countries slapping higher tariffs on each other's imports. This year is unlikely to see a change of gear, the report said. The US Government will gain $280 billion in tariff revenues.

Digitisation affects production through computer-aided design and any other 3-D software or artificial intelligence, which creates digital models. Jobs are being outsourced to low-wage regions. This has caused stagnation of wages and hit job creation. The report said: The world economy is again under stress. The immediate pressures are building around escalating tariffs and volatile financial flows but behind these threats to global stability is a wider issue, accoe global financial crisis, accos and volatile financial flows. Behind these threats to global stability is a wider failure, rding to the report, the five largest exporting firms on an average accounted for 30 per cent of a country's total exports and the 10 largest exporting firms for 42 per cent. Since 2008, global debt has soared from $142 trillion to $250 trillion, which is three times the combined income of every nation. Situation is worse than expected as global incomes failed to keep pace with rising debt levels. The situation looks so familiar in the Indian conditions even though the country is yet to realise that digitalisation is not the solution.

The report even quoted IMF's 2018 observation that said that available evidence suggests that the digital sector is still less than 10 per cent of most economies if measured by value added income or employment. It found that the ratio of global debt to GDP is one-third higher than before the 2008 crash. Situation is worse in the developed countries that have borrowed heavily in recent years from Western banks that offered cheap short-term loans.

It quotes anns another estimate of digital economy being just five per cent of the global output and three per cent of the global employment. The growing mountain of debt, more than three times the size of global output, is symbolic of that failure. "Private debt has risen, especially in emerging markets and developing countries, whose share of global debt stock increased from seven per cent in 2007 to 26 per cent in 2017," the report said.

Over the same period, the ratio of debts, racked up by non-financial businesses in the emerging markets, increased from 56 per cent in 2008 to 105 per cent in 2017. While the public sector in advanced economies has been obliged to borrow more since the crisis, it is the rapid growth of private indebtedness, particularly in the corporate sector, which needs to be monitored closely. The growing corporate debt syndrome has almost burst into a political crisis. It also calls for a rethinking on the bankisation of society.

The UNCTAD said developing countries will not be able to digitally leapfrog on their own. "While many developing countries are striving to develop their national e-commerce policies for linking their domestic producers and consumers to the e-commerce platforms, there is a need to reconceive the associated risks." This reduces the domestic markets and poor economies lose out on valuable data. This forces flooding of goods from mighty powers and helps thrive unethical corporates.

The UNCTAD was critical of WhatsApp and Google. It cited how the European Commission fined Google Euro 2.42 billion for abusing its market dominance as a search engine by demoting shopping service of its competitors and denying European consumers a genuine choice of service and benefits of innovation. Is India not falling prey to Google and monopolisation of groups like Amazon?

The corporate rent seeking is leading to market concentration. The UNCTAD wants a break-up of the large firms to prevent the concentration. The US had applied the anti-trust law to break monopolies, including the giant AT&T. The UN wants a check on national data transfer and wants the WTO to restrict the Government's outflow of data of their producers and consumers. It is propagating for a strong regulatory regime, lack of which is creating global disparity. Gains from e-commerce for developing countries can become a reality only if they protect national e-commerce platforms. This will improve the domestic and international market access of their producers. A Chinese e-commerce platform, Kikuu, operates in six African countries, selling only Chinese goods.

The UN does not support robotics and artificial intelligence. Robots are concentrated in a few countries, including China, but does not invalidate the role of industrialisation as a development strategy. The use of computers and telecom is estimated to be less than one per cent for most countries between 2000-2014. Strong regulations are needed in a digital world to create anti-trust laws. Vietnam, Indonesia and the Philippines have introduced regulations, but they are not wide. This is leading to a global crisis in productivity, market monopolies and high debt. A supposed game-changer is bestowing the world with untold difficulties.

BREXIT: WHAT NEXT FOR MAY?

By deliberately running the negotiations so close to the wire, Theresa May has limited everyone's options, including her own. The key to resolving her dilemma would be movement by the EU on the issue of the Irish backstop. Under the deal, the UK could be locked indefinitely into a set of arrangements without ever being able to unilaterally withdraw from them.

Renault, Nissan prepare to turn page, heat rises on Ghosn

AFP ■ PARIS

French and Japanese officials scrambled on Tuesday to reassure investors about the stability of the Nissan-Renault-Mitsubishi alliance, after fresh claims emerged following the arrest of auto industry titan Carlos Ghosn on financial misconduct charges.

Nissan and Mitsubishi shares plunged Tuesday after Ghosn, chairman at both carmakers, was arrested in Japan for allegedly failing to report all his Nissan pay and for inappropriate use of corporate assets.

Ghosn has not been heard from since his arrest, though sources confirmed he was being held by Tokyo prosecutors.

Nissan's board has already said it will seek to oust the architect of the three-way alliance, which combined sells more cars worldwide than any other automaker.

Sources told AFP in France that Renault too intends to strip Ghosn of his CEO title and hand over control to his number two, Thierry Bollere, in tandem with the board's lead independent director.

In a statement Tuesday, French Finance Minister Bruno Le Maire and his Japanese counterpart Hiroshige Seko reaffirmed their "strong support" for "one of the greatest symbols of Franco-Japanese industrial cooperation."

Le Maire had told French radio earlier that Ghosn was "de facto no longer in a position to lead the group".

Yet investors have been unloading shares in the three carmakers since the charges emerged against Ghosn, the architect of an alliance he has held together since 1999.

The three companies are joined through a series of cross-shareholdings and share factories in order to benefit from economies of scale.

Nissan shares dropped 5.5 per cent in Tokyo and Mitsubishi was off 6.8 per cent, while in Paris Renault was down a further 3.1 per cent after tumbling 8.4 per cent on Monday.

Ratings agency Standard and Poor's said Tuesday that Nissan is facing a downgrade after Ghosn's arrest, since "rebuilding its management culture swiftly will not be easy".

Andre Spice, a business professor at City University of London, told AFP that "with him out of the picture, old differences between the companies could come to fore. The alliance could fall apart."

The arrest of 64-year-old Ghosn, the superstar executive credited with rescuing both Renault and Nissan and then fusing them into a behemoth which sold 10.6 million cars last year, sent shockwaves through the auto industry and beyond.

Japanese prosecutors have said Ghosn is being held on suspicion of under-reporting his income by around five billion yen (USD 44.5 million) over five years.

Nissan CEO Hiroto

Public broadcaster NHK reported that Nissan had provided Ghosn with houses in four countries "without any legitimate business reason," paying "huge sums" for residences in Rio de Janeiro, Beirut, Paris and Amsterdam.

It was a stark indictment of the Brazilian-born executive known as a hard-nosed workaholic willing to take drastic measures, including shuttering factories and cutting thousands of jobs.

Nissan's representative director Greg Kelly, who was arrested along with Ghosn, reportedly ordered other executives to "hide salaries," the Yomiuri Shimbun said.

It also reported that some compensation due to other executives ended up going to Ghosn, without specifying how the process had worked.

Local media reported that prosecutors had negotiated a plea bargain for only the second time since Japanese law changed this year, potentially allowing Nissan executives who are cooperating to receive lesser charges or lighter penalties.

In France, Le Maire said officials had found no evidence of wrongdoing by Ghosn, though the government has clashed with him before over what it termed "excessive" pay.

Saikawa said a months-long investigation prompted by a whistleblower had uncovered years of financial wrongdoing, including the misuse of company assets.

I-T dept does away with mandatory quoting of father's name for PAN applications

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The committee proposed by the RBI Board for examining the Economic Capital Framework (ECF) to determine the appropriate levels of reserve the central bank ought to hold will be constituted soon, official source said on Tuesday.

After a day-long meeting, the Central Board of the RBI had decided on an expert committee to look into the ECF.

It was also agreed that the membership and terms of reference of the panel will be jointly determined by the Government and the Reserve Bank of India.

Currently, the capital base of the RBI is ₹9.69 lakh crore, and independent director and Swadeshi ideologue S Gurumurthy and the finance ministry have been wanting it to be lowered in line with global practices. The sources further said that guidelines for restructuring of loans for the medium, small and micro enterprises (MSME) will also be released shortly with a view to help the cash-starved sector.

The central board headed by RBI Governor Urjit Patel, which met amid the on-going tussle between the Finance Ministry and the central bank over various issues, also discussed the Basel regulatory capital framework, a restructuring scheme for stressed MSMEs, and bank health under Prompt Corrective Action (PCA) framework.

The income tax department on Tuesday said quoting of father's name in PAN application forms will not be mandatory in cases where mother of the applicant is a single parent.

The Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT) through a notification amended the income tax rules and said the application forms would give an option to the applicant as to whether mother is a single parent and the applicant wishes to furnish the name of mother only.

Currently, furnishing father's name is mandatory for the allotment of Permanent Account Number (PAN).

The new rules would come into effect from December 5.

Nangia Advisors LLP Partner Suraj Nangia said that through the notification, the tax department has addressed the concerns of those persons whose mother is a single parent and, hence, would want to get their mother's name printed on PAN cards instead of the estranged/ deceased father.

The notification has also made it mandatory for entities that have made financial transactions worth ₹2.5 lakh or more in a financial year to apply for a PAN card. The application has to be filed on or before May 31 of the assessment year for which such income is assessable.

Nangia said that now, the resident entities shall have to obtain PAN even if the total sales/ turnover/ gross receipts are not or are not likely to exceed ₹5 lakh in a financial year.

"This will help the income tax department track financial transaction, broaden its tax base and prevent tax evasion," Nangia added.

NTPC SIGNS MOU WITH ELECTRIC VEHICLE AGGREGATORS

NTPC signed MoUs with Vehicle Aggregators Ola, Lithium, Shuttli, Bikixie, Bounce, Electric and Zoom Car for development and utilization of public charging infrastructure Tuesday. This collaboration with Aggregators, having presence in the entire spectrum of e-mobility across India, will lead to development of charging infrastructure for the various vehicle segments as well as effective utilisation of public charging infrastructure. The arrangement would thus provide a win-win situation for all stakeholders. Senior leaders from IOCL and HPCL were also present during the event.

ICAI SIGNS MOU WITH CPA CANADA

The Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI) has signed the Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with the Chartered Professional Accountants of Canada (CPA Canada) on November 17, 2018 in Toronto, Canada. Signing of the MoU between ICAI & CPA Canada would facilitate mutual recognition of each other's qualification and admit the members in good standing by prescribing a bridging mechanism between the two Institutes. While signing the MoU, CA Naveen ND Gupta, President, ICAI mentioned "Canada is one of the most favoured destinations for Indian professionals looking to explore global opportunities. The MoU will lead to greater mobility of professionals at either end and herald a new dimension of professional opportunities for Chartered Accountants of both the countries thus benefiting more than 1000 Indian CAs in Canada and other ICAI members in India who wish to get International qualification."

₹ gains for 6th straight session, rises 21 paise

PTI ■ MUMBAI

The ₹ rose by 21 paise to end at 71.46 against the US dollar on Tuesday on increased selling of the greenback by exporters amid softening crude oil prices, and persistent foreign fund inflows.

This is the sixth straight session of gains for the domestic unit as the US dollar weakened against some currencies overseas. In the last six trading sessions, the rupee has gained 143 paise.

"Domestic currency strengthened for a sixth day after RBI's OMOs supported rupee's rise that has been set off by declining oil prices and continued capital inflows. The appreciation has happened even as Dollar fell to a two week low following Fed's cautious comments over a potential global slow down," Anand James, Chief Market Strategist at Geojit Financial Services, said.

The Reserve Bank Monday said it will inject ₹8,000 crore into the system through purchase of government securities on November 22.

At the Interbank Foreign Exchange (forex), the rupee opened on a firm note at 71.39. It gained further ground to hit a high of 71.27, following dollar selling by exporters.

Iran to cap petrol sales to curb smuggling

AFP ■ TEHRAN

Iran is reintroducing fuel cards that will cap petrol purchases in a bid to combat rampant smuggling, state media reported on Tuesday.

Smuggling has boomed in recent months as the rial has plummeted against the dollar in the face of the reimposition of crippling US sanctions following Washington's withdrawal from a landmark 2015 nuclear deal between major powers and Tehran.

The Islamic republic has some of the most heavily subsidised petrol in the world, with a pump price of around USD 0.08 per litre (less than two US cents per gallon).

Low fuel prices have led to high consumption, with Iran's 80 million population buying an average of 90 million litres (20 million gallons) per day, according to state news agency IRNA.

They have also fuelled very high levels of smuggling — estimated at around 10 to 20 million litres (2.2 million - 4.5 million gallons) per day, IRNA said. Much of it heads across the border to Pakistan, where petrol costs 10 times, and diesel around 40 times, as much as in Iran.

Fuel cards were first introduced in 2007 with a view to reforming the expensive subsidised system. High limits were set — 180 litres (40 gallons) per day for the average driver — since the focus was on curbing large-scale smuggling.

Sensex, Nifty snap 3-day rally on global selloff

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Breaking its three-day rising streak, the BSE Sensex Tuesday fell over 300 points on heavy selling by market participants, in step with a global selloff despite strengthening rupee and easing crude prices.

Besides, profit-booking in recent gainers too fuelled the downward trend.

The 30-share Sensex, after starting off lower at 35,730.77, continued to slide as selling pressure picked up momentum and hit a low of 35,416.18, before settling 300.37 points, or 0.84 per cent, down at 35,474.51. The index had risen 633 points in the last two sessions on the back of increased foreign fund inflows.

The 50-share NSE Nifty too dropped by 107.20 points, or 1 per cent, to 10,656.20. Intra-day, it traded between 10,640.85 and 10,740.85.

According to Sunil Sharma, Chief Investment Officer, Sanctum Wealth Management, European indices opened lower as investors continued to monitor developments on Brexit.

"Technology companies had been leading the charge in the US and concerns about slowing growth and regulatory overhang, along with concerns around energy sector profitability, alongside rising interest rates led to the sell off in the US," he said.

Markets are reacting to slowing US economic growth and all eyes remain focused on commentary out of the Fed, he added. Reflecting the bearish mood, all the sectoral indices, led by metal, teck and healthcare, ended in the negative zone. Yes Bank shares saw the sharpest fall among Sensex components, tumbling 6.10 per cent after independent director Rentala Chandrashekar resigned from the board Monday.

Other big losers were Tata Steel falling 3.21 per cent, Vedanta 2.89 per cent, NTPC 2.42 per cent, Bharti Airtel 2.09 per cent, SBI 1.79 per cent, HDFC 1.31 per cent, ICICI Bank 1.24 per cent and Maruti Suzuki 1.18 per cent.

Also, ONGC fell 1.17 per cent, RIL 0.95 per cent, Sun Pharma 0.95 per cent, PowerGrid 0.90 per cent, Coal India 0.83 per cent, Bajaj Auto 0.71 per cent, Tata Motors 0.54 per cent, Hero MotoCorp 0.50 per cent, HUL 0.43 per cent, Asian Paint 0.40 per cent, Axis Bank 0.37 per cent, L&T 0.24 per cent and ITC 0.11 per cent.

Stocks of software services exporters also bore the brunt on stronger rupee, with TCS, Infosys and Wipro falling up to 2.59 per cent.

Sectorwise, the BSE metal index dropped 2.82 per cent, followed by IT 1.74 per cent, teck 1.58 per cent, healthcare 1.57 per cent, PSU 1.15 per cent, consumer durables 1.08 per cent, power 1 per cent, auto 0.83 per cent, bankex 0.78 per cent, FMCG 0.71 per cent, infrastructure 0.62 per cent, capital goods 0.37 per cent and oil & gas 0.35 per cent.

Broader markets, too, reflected a similar trend. The BSE mid-cap index fell 0.92 per cent while the small-cap shed 0.86 per cent.

Meanwhile, the rupee continued its rising spree for the sixth straight day, and strengthened by another 20 paise to trade at nearly three-month high of 71.47 against the dollar in late afternoon trade after the outcome from Monday's RBI board's meet removed uncertainty over a growing rift over policy decisions between the government and the central bank. Elsewhere in Asia, Shanghai Composite Index plunged 2.13 per cent, Hng Kong's Hang Seng fell 2.01 per cent, Japan's Nikkei down 1.09 per cent and Singapore index down 1.24 per cent. Korea's KOSPI and Taiwan index fell 0.86 per cent each.

RBI board decision 'credit negative': Moody's

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Moody's Investors Service on Tuesday said RBI board's decision to extend the timeline for banks to implement Basel 3 guidelines is "credit negative" for public sector lenders.

Also, the decision to restructure stressed micro, small and medium enterprises (MSME) loans of up to Rs 25 crore also has the potential for having negative implications for the credit profiles of Indian banks, the US-based rating agency said in a statement.

Amid growing tension between the government and the central bank, the RBI board met Monday and discussed issues to boost funding to MSMEs and ease capital pressure on banks.

At the nine-hour long marathon meeting, the board advised that the RBI should consider a scheme for restructuring of stressed standard assets of MSME borrowers with aggregate credit facilities of up to ₹25 crore, subject to such conditions as are necessary for ensuring financial stability.

"While more details are awaited, this approach has the potential for negative implications for the credit profiles of Indian banks," Moody's Investors Service Vice President (Financial Institutions Group) Srikanth Vadlamani said in a statement.

The RBI board, while deciding to retain the capital adequacy requirement for banks at 9 per cent, agreed to extend the transition period for implementing the last tranche of 0.625 per cent under the capital conservation buffer (CCB), by one year - up to March 31, 2020.

CCB currently stands at 1.875 per cent and remaining 0.625 per cent was to be met by March 2019, as per the deadline fixed by the RBI.

"The decision to extend the timeline for the full implementation of Basel 3 guidelines by a year is a credit negative for Indian public sector banks," Vadlamani said.

It expects that all public sector banks would have a core equity tier 1 (CET1) ratio of at least 8 per cent by the end of March 2019, based on the government's commitment that it would capitalise all these banks to a level sufficient to meet the minimum regulatory capital norms. "With the regulatory timelines now extended, it may be a case that at least some of the rated public sector banks' CET1 ratios over the next 12 months would be lower than what we currently expect," he said.

On restructuring of stressed MSME loans, Moody's said the track record of such asset classification, when seen over the last few years in India, has shown that they have "largely been unsuccessful in addressing the underlying stress".

On the contrary, keeping stressed loans in the standard category has led to an underestimation of the extent of underlying asset quality issues by bank managements, and consequently the severity of the actions that they need to take to address the issue, Vadlamani added. The RBI central board, headed by RBI governor Urjit Patel, comprises 18 directors, including 4 RBI deputy governors. It also has two government nominees - Economic Affairs Secretary Subhash Chandra Garg and Financial Services Secretary Rajiv Kumar - and 10 independent directors including S Gurumurthy and Tata Sons Chairman N Chandrasekaran.

MARUTI RAMPES UP PRODUCTION OF VITARA BREZZA

New Delhi: The country's largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki India (MSI) Tuesday said it has ramped up the production of its compact SUV Vitara Brezza to reduce waiting period of the model. The company has increased production of the vehicle by 10 per cent to 94,000 units during April-October period of the current fiscal as compared with same period of 2017-18. "With the Suzuki Motor Gujarat plant operational at its full capacity of 2.5 lakh units annually in Gujarat, we are able to increase the output," MSI senior executive Director (Marketing and Sales) RS Kalsi said in a statement. At present, the model has a waiting period of four-six weeks. The auto major is confident that with the reduced waiting period, it will be able to enhance the car buying and ownership experience of its customers, he added. Last fiscal, MSI sold over 1.48 lakh units of Vitara Brezza. During the first seven months (April-October) of 2018-19, the company has clocked sales of around 95,000 units of the compact SUV. The company has sold over 3.57 lakh units of Vitara Brezza cumulatively since its launch in March 2016.

INDIA SLIPS TWO PLACES TO 53RD POSITION ON GLOBAL TALENT RANKING; SWITZERLAND ON TOP

New Delhi: India has slipped two places to rank 53rd on a global annual talent ranking released by IMD Business School Switzerland on Tuesday, while the top slot has been retained by the Alpine nation itself. Within Asia, Singapore has topped the charts with a global 13th place on the list that ranks 63 countries in developing, attracting and retaining talent. China is ranked lower at 39th "because of its difficulties in attracting foreign skilled workers paired with a level of public expenditure in education that is below the average of other advanced economies". Regarding India, the renowned business school said its position has declined from 51st in 2017 to 53rd this year. "On one hand, the country performs above the average in terms of the quality of its talent pool (Readiness factor, 30th position). On the other, the quality of its educational system and the lack of investments in public education heavily penalise the talent potential of the country (Investment and Development factor, 63rd)," it said. The rankings are based on three factors: Investment and Development, Appeal, and Readiness. These factors include indicators that capture the resources invested in developing local talent, the extent to which a country attracts and retains talent, and the quality of skills available in the talent pool. While Switzerland has topped the global ranking for the fifth year in a row, it is followed by Denmark, Norway, Austria and the Netherlands in the top-five. At 6th place, Canada is the only non-European nation in the top-ten, which also includes Finland (7th), Sweden (8th), Luxembourg (9th), and Germany (10th). The Slovak Republic (59th), Colombia (60th), Mexico (61st), Mongolia (62nd), and Venezuela (63rd) are the last countries in the ranking. Among BRICS nations, Brazil is ranked 58th, South African 50th and Russia 46th.

China slams Dalai Lama for 'separatist activities'

Beijing: China on Tuesday hit out at the Dalai Lama who is on a visit to Japan, saying that countries should not facilitate the Tibetan spiritual leader's "separatist activities". On the Dalai Lama's reported comments that China and Tibet should co-exist and prosper together, Chinese foreign ministry spokesman Geng Shuang said here that the Tibet issue is an internal matter of Beijing. PTI

US migrant caravan: Judge halts Trump's asylum ban

AFP ■ WASHINGTON

A federal judge on Monday put a temporary halt to a Trump administration order denying the possibility of asylum to people who enter the US illegally.

President Donald Trump issued the proclamation earlier this month as a matter of what he called national security as a caravan of thousands of Central American migrants made its way through Mexico toward the US border.

US District Judge Jon Tigar in San Francisco issued a temporary restraining order against the Trump proclamation, thus granting a request from human rights groups who had sued shortly after the order was announced.

Under the proclamation, Trump said only people who enter the US at official checkpoints — as opposed to sneaking across the border — can apply for asylum. Judge Tigar wrote that the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1965 states that any foreigner who arrives in the US, "whether or not at a designated port of arrival," may apply for asylum.

"The rule barring asylum for immigrants who enter the country outside a port of entry irreconcilably conflicts with the INA and the expressed intent of Congress," Tigar wrote.

"Whatever the scope of the President's authority, he may not rewrite the immigration laws to impose a condition that Congress has expressly forbidden," Tigar added.

The judge's restraining order remains in effect until the court decides on the case. Trump's administration has argued that he has the executive power to curb immigration in the name of national security — a power he invoked right after taking office last year with a controversial ban on travelers from several mostly Muslim countries.

The final version of the order was upheld by the US Supreme Court on June 26 after a protracted legal battle.

When the new policy was announced by the Department of Homeland Security on November 8, a senior administration official said it would address what he called the "historically unparalleled abuse of our immigration system" along the border with Mexico.

Suicide bomber targets clerics in Kabul, 50 killed

AP ■ KABUL

A suicide bomber targeted a gathering of hundreds of Islamic scholars in the Afghan capital on Tuesday, killing at least 50 people as Muslims around the world marked the birthday of the Prophet Muhammad.

Public Health Ministry spokesman Wahid Majroh said another 83 people were wounded in the attack, with 20 of them in critical condition and the toll likely to rise. The suicide bomber was able to sneak into a wedding hall in Kabul where hundreds of Muslim religious scholars and clerics had gathered to mark the holiday.

No one immediately claimed the attack, but both the Taliban and a local Islamic State affiliate have targeted religious scholars aligned with the government in the past.

"The victims of the attack unfortunately are all religious scholars who gathered to commemorate the birthday of Prophet Muhammad," said Basir Mujahid, spokesman for the Kabul police chief. He said police had not been asked to provide security for the event, and that the bomber had easily slipped into the hall. Most wedding halls have private security.

Mohammad Muzamil, a waiter at the wedding hall, said he had gone into the back to fetch water for the guests when he heard the explosion.

"Everything was covered with smoke and dust," he said. "There were dead bodies all around on the chairs, in large numbers."

Police sealed off roads leading to the scene of the attack. Hundreds of family members and relatives gathered at local hospitals, looking at lists of those killed and wounded that were posted outside.

Britain's Prime Minister Theresa May is due to sign a treaty with EU leaders to leave the bloc on Sunday, but Spain's warning over the contested British territory on Spain's southern tip may add another complication.

White House imposes curbs on reporters after Trump's confrontation with CNN scribe

Washington: Though the White House lost the legal fight with the CNN over the suspension of the press credentials of its journalist Jim Acosta, it has used the opportunity to rein in the media from raising more than one question to President Donald Trump or senior officials at future press conferences.

The White House on Monday restored the press credentials of CNN's chief White House correspondent Acosta, less than two weeks after withdrawing them over a tetchy exchange with President Trump during a news conference on November 7. PTI

Xi visits Philippines to cosy up to historical US ally

AFP ■ MANILA

Chinese President Xi Jinping called his visit on Tuesday to long-time US ally the Philippines a "milestone", as he aims to boost blossoming ties on the promise of billions of dollars in backing for mega-projects.

Philippine President Rodrigo Duterte has proven a willing recipient of Beijing's attentions, declaring shortly after his election in 2016 his nation's "separation" from former colonial master the US.

Since then Beijing, which is competing with Washington for supremacy in the Pacific, has promised $24 billion in investment and infrastructure loans that the developing nation of 105 million deeply needs. But over two years later, only a trickle of funding has arrived, prompting critics to question whether Duterte has been duped into pivoting toward China and giving too much ground on the South China Sea dispute.

Xi landed in Manila to a red-carpet welcome for the first state visit from a Chinese president in 13 years, which Manila hopes will finally net those investment deals.

"For the Philippines, this is more than a reciprocal visit. It is an historic occasion," Duterte said in welcoming Xi to the presidential palace for the two-day visit.

The Chinese leader offered similarly sweeping remarks, saying: "My visit will be a milestone in the history of exchange between our two countries." Few details were released on the deals inked on Tuesday, including an agreement to cooperate on oil and gas development.

China has disbursed tens of billions of dollars in loans since 2013 as it expands its political influence globally, countering the American hegemony that characterised the post-World War II order, especially in Asia. However, even before Xi's arrival, hundreds of protestors descended on the Chinese embassy to voice opposition to closer ties with Beijing.

Under fire, UN environment chief resigns

United Nations: UN environment chief Erik Solheim resigned on Tuesday after an audit questioning his huge travel expenses triggered an outcry, UN officials said.

The former Environment Minister of Norway had been at the helm of the Nairobi-based UN Environment since June 2016.

A UN audit found that Solheim had spent nearly $5,00,000 on travel and that he claimed unjustified expenses at a time when the world body is struggling with shrinking budgets.

His globe-trotting raised accusations that he showed little regard for the environment and efforts to reduce carbon emissions generated by air travel. Solheim's resignation comes ahead of crucial talks opening in Poland on December 2 on implementing the Paris climate deal.

A formal UN announcement on the resignation was expected later Tuesday. AFP

'RETAINING GOOD FACULTY IS THE CHALLENGE'

DR H VINOD BHAT, Vice-Chancellor, Manipal University, talks to MUSBA HASHMI about how the university got the status of Institution of Eminence, its advantages and what are the milestones in Indian education system

How did Manipal University get the status of Institution of Eminence?

The Institutions of Eminence scheme which was announced by the Ministry of Human Resource and Development in September 2016, aimed at selecting 10 institutions, each in public and private sector, on the basis of their overall performance and other factors. More than 110 institutions had applied. The committee, headed by former Chief Election Commissioner Gopal Swami, asked us to make a presentation with a looking forward vision of 15-year for the university in terms of academic, financial and expansion. Three universities were selected in the private and three in the public sector. So, that's Manipal Academy of Higher Education (MAHE) got the status.

What does this translate into?

There is a lot of liberty given to us. Universities will be deregulated from University Grants Commission (UGC) and they will also have the autonomy to create their own content for curriculum based on what is needed for the university. They will have the freedom to hire international faculty and set-up scientific method of the fee structure that is very open and transparent but not governed by any agency of State Government. They will also have the autonomy to take 30 per cent of their students as international students.

How will the students benefit?

One of the advantages is that it will make a need-blind admission process for the student which means any student, who meets the merit criteria set by the university, is admitted into the programme irrespective of his ability or inability to pay the fees. There should be a robust scholarship programme in place to enable admitting every student who meets the criteria. Thus, any student, who wishes to join Manipal, money should not be a constraint. Second, making the curriculum contemporary. Earlier, the regulatory body gave us a schedule that this subject should be taught for this much of time period and so, there was no way we can innovate and go outside the framework of what is regulated. But now we can make the course contemporary, value-creating and centered around recent happenings across the world so that the students will be globally employable.

Every year, a large number of students go abroad for higher education...

Students need not have to go abroad for any kind of education, be it schooling or higher education because there are enough opportunities here. Every year, institutes in India are getting better and new institutes are introduced. So it depends a lot on the mindset of the people. Having said that, the focus on research that is laid in abroad is much more than our country.

So, Indian universities have been lagging behind in research which perhaps is a deterrent for serious students who are looking at masters and PhD and not just first degree and jobs. So, the students, who want to take their degrees in research, are the ones who are likely to go abroad and we can see it happening unless Indian universities invest in research.

How does MAHE plan to achieve the goals set up by the Center?

Our 15-year-old goals are well laid out. We are looking at building three more campuses — two in India and one overseas. We are looking at consolidating our research even more. Although we have set up the target of publications by our faculty to 500 by 2028, I'm confident that we will be able to do it by 2022.

What are the challenges faced by private universities in India?

The challenge is how to have the right faculty. The best of students don't become teachers, researchers or academician. Instead they go for corporate jobs with high pay package. If we correct this, we can retain the skilled

26TH CONVOCATION

MUSBA HASHMI ■ NEW DELHI

The 26th convocation of Manipal Academy of Higher Education (MAHE), at its campus, saw a total of 5,084 students receiving their UG, PG, and PhD degrees. The university also awarded Dr TMA Pai Gold medals to 11 of its students for excellence in their fields and their overall performance throughout the year.

This three-day gala ceremony was graced by the chief guests Dr H Sudarshan Ballal, chairman, Manipal Health Enterprises on day one; Prof Souvik Bhattacharya, VC, Birla Institute of Technology and Science Pilani, on day two and Krishnakumar Nataraja, co-founder and executive chairman, Mind Tree, Bengaluru, on day three.

While addressing the graduating students, Ballal said: "You, as the future generation, need to tackle several issues that are plaguing the country and make it a better world. We, as a society, has to change and there should be unbiased education for all, irrespective of their gender or economic status. Nowadays, even the toddlers have to go through interviews for admission, this system should be modified." It is payback time, he told the students, adding: "Please give back something to the society in return for what the society has given you. One great idea is to give quality education to the youngsters, who will be our future. It would be a great idea to set up an endowment at the university to help the less privileged."

people in teaching. Moreover, a good researcher is a good teacher, though there are exceptions that non-researchers are good teachers and good researchers are not good teachers. Teaching and research go hand-in-hand.

How difficult is to retain a good faculty?

For private universities, it is not that hard, especially for us because the kind of environment we create for our teachers is perhaps unique, empowering and liberal. Our teachers are paid reasonably well. We have made the Government pay structure as a benchmark but we don't follow that pay scale. Our teachers get a quality life and

Act to empower

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Sarthak Educational Trust, a non-profit organisation, in collaboration with the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, organised the 5th National Conference on Disability 2018 in New Delhi. Supporting its theme 'Act to Empower', chief guest Secretary, Department of Empowerment of Persons with Disability, Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, Shakuntala Gamlin, said: "Nearly 2.67 crore children in the country are in need of institutional support for rehabilitation, inclusive education, skill development, reducing intensity of disability and optimisation of abilities. The Department has taken several steps and welfare measures to empower the disabled in the country and there is a need to scale up the efforts to enlarge the scope. We need to change our attitude and perception towards the most marginalised section of society."

Dr Jitender Aggarwal, founder-CEO of Sarthak Education Trust, said: "Till date, we have placed over 14,000 PwDs with the support from 1050 hiring partners. As per 2011 census, the number of PwDs was nearly three crore people in seven types of disability and now the Government has added 14 more types of disability. Hence, with 21 types of disability, the number of PwDs is expected to go beyond eight crore and we need to scale up measures, schemes and efforts."

reforms over the past four years have metamorphosed the economic and business scenario in a way that there is a legal structure in place, the regulatory mechanism is functioning and in order, and yet none of them is suffocating.

While the doing business index covers the initiation of business to the resolution of insolvency and everything in between, the idiom 'Well begun is half done' is taken quite seriously. Single forms for company incorporation Permanent Account Number (PAN), Tax Deduction and Collection Account Number (TAN) and Document Identification Number (DIN) to online single window for obtaining construction permits come across as some of the biggest contributors towards reducing the time taken, the cost involved and hence, the riding up in the global ladder of achievement.

Talk of international business and what matters or rather holds utmost significance is the value of time, timely deliveries and minimal procedural and transit legalities. Reduced inspections, e-filing of documents, electronic sealing of containers have all played their part in simplifying international trades and strengthened bonds basing them on trust and self-governance in the business and corporate arena.

That coupled with introduction of laws like Goods and Services Tax (GST), continuous amendments in the Company Law, pan-India coverage of reforms, a hands-on approach to understand the World Bank ideologies and ways and areas of improvement have each played a fetching part in remodelling the entire business culture and ethnicity.

The words of Alvin Toffler, an American writer, futurist, and businessman, "The great growing engine of change - Technology" find relevance and absolute relativity if the 'dramatic' change in the Indian ranking is to be studied, observed and pondered over. The elimination of personal interface, online single windows, online registrations, mandatory e-payments, digital filings, have all made the delivery of public service at the touch of a few buttons and clicks.

Though the process of easing of doing business seems like a completely Government and regulator-oriented activity, the hidden roles of professional bodies in providing realistic feedback, the practical issues and difficulties facing the corporates, the possible corrective measures and their appropriate implementation, can't be left aside. If the role of the Institute of Company Secretaries of India (ICSI) is to be mentioned, not only is ICSI, the nation's GST partner, but is a constant support in national reformative endeavours on a variety of fronts.

The ICSI Institute of Insolvency Professionals (IIP) has been acting as the perfect ground for developing and training Insolvency Professionals covering an area which has witnessed a 28 point improvement in the last two years on the index, that is, Resolving Insolvency.

The ICSI has been continuously striving to analyse and address the issues faced by corporates in incorporation as well as post-incorporation related activities. It is understandable that any regulatory authority, while putting across a legislative structure, requires the comfort of the fact that such laws, rules and regulations are adhered to and the intended purpose of such laws is accomplished. And it is for this impetus that the role and responsibility of professionals like Company Secretaries pursuing the role of Governance Professionals is heightened.

Understanding the true intent of the lawmakers and policy framers, Company Secretaries, along with other professionals, not only have been playing but shall continue to pursue a noteworthy role in strengthening the nation and its various pillars.

Irrefutably, with a target of 50, as present by Prime Minister, Narendra Modi, the road yet to be travelled further is equally long and demanding. What matters and is required for this 27 point ascend is a combined effort from not just the law making bodies or the professional bodies alone but the corporates and businesses as well to play their part and adhere to the legal structure in true letter and spirit, thus strengthening the governance scenario and paving way for a simplified legal gastronomy.

Future of learning

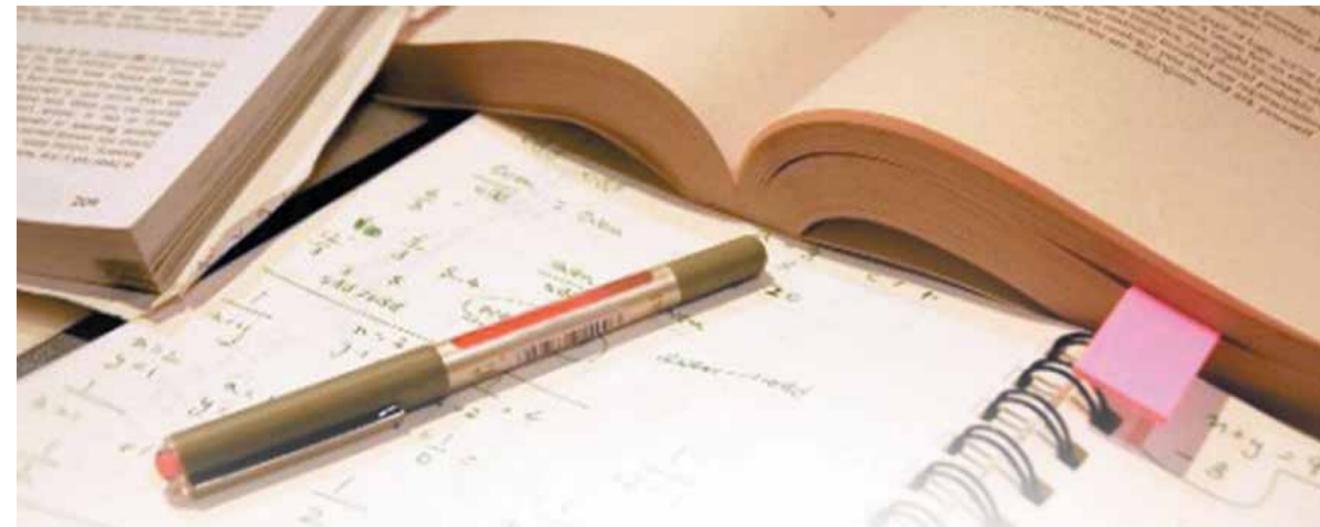

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Cognizant has released a Future of Learning report based on a global survey of 601 top business executives at leading companies and 262 higher education institutions. The research reveals the following key trends, the impacts of which will soon ripple throughout businesses and across the higher education industry:
■ Preparing the workforce for future jobs is a matter of survival for both businesses and Higher Education Institutions (HEIs): Businesses and HEIs in India estimate that 50% and 52% of their total staff and students, respectively, will be prepared to handle new types of work driven by emerging digital technologies in the next five years. However, a whopping 83% and 50% of Indian HEIs and businesses are presently unable to deliver.

■ Businesses are beginning to bear the burden of learning: Skills have become like mobile apps that need frequent upgrades. While 42% of businesses in India currently update their learning content on an annual or biannual basis, 65% of HEIs only update their curriculum every two to six years. Globally, businesses are intent on speeding the pace of curriculum updates, with 75% planning to move to a one- to five-month or even continuous refresh schedule in the next five years. In contrast, only 30% of HEIs plan to increase update frequency, from today's two- to six-year cycle to an annual one by 2023.

■ The work ahead means working together. Preparing the current and future workforce for the work ahead cannot take place in a vacuum. Three-quarters of both businesses and HEIs globally view collaboration as critical to successfully managing the transformative and disruptive impact of the new machine age. Both businesses and higher education in India seem less confident to prepare workforce and students to handle new work driven by emerging digital technologies—only 60% of businesses see collaboration as critical compared to 75% of HEIs.
■ Emerging technologies such as AR/VR and AI will supercharge learning by focusing on "how to learn" over

"what to learn". New modes of education delivery will emerge, with Netflix-style, on-demand digital assets allowing for anytime, anywhere self-learning. AI-driven learning platforms will personalise learning, and AR/VR systems will become mainstream, with a 220% increase in the take-up of the technology by HEIs and businesses globally in the next five years. It requires the following elements of change:
■ More accurate skills identification to align with actual workplace needs.
■ Overhauling the approach of curriculum and training to be more immersive and personalised.
■ Provide an environment supportive of self-learning, with access to multiple content sources like open educational resources.

PRE-BOARDS PREP

For most schools, pre-Boards will either be by end December or beginning of 2019.

RAJSHEKHAR RATREY shares a few last minute tips for the students

If you are a student who is gearing up to appear for Board exams next year, chances are, your school has organised pre-Board exams in December or January. Most schools advise that you should take these pre-Board exams extremely seriously, despite the fact that these marks are not counted anywhere in the future.

This is true as these exams are important. They provide a Board exam like setting and help you manage your stress and time. Pre-board exams also show you where you stand. Depending on your marks, you know whether you should buck up, or continue at the same pace. If you are someone who hasn't started planning for these exams, here is a strategy to help you.

Manage competitive exams and board exams: At this point, you have a fair idea whether you will be attempting any competitive exams or Olympiads. If you are keen on scoring well in these exams, you should start preparing these subjects beforehand. Give them more importance than others.

Focus on subjects that need practice: If you are not studying for any competitive exam, you should focus on subjects that need extensive practice. These usually include subjects with numericals or diagrams like Maths, Science, Accounts, and Computer Science. Use this excess time to prepare each type of numerical and practice your diagrams at length.

Use other interesting subjects to your advantage: Don't forget that you have other subjects to study as well. If you like studying the languages or enjoy Social Studies, study these subjects between the practice-heavy subjects. In short, if you have spent almost six hours studying Maths, try giving yourself a break with English or Hindi.

This also has a lot to do with the fact that you're using your left brain for calculations and your right brain for languages and art. This saves you from overloading yourself and feeling fatigue since you have been studying just one subject for days on end.

Study what is left: If you have

PRE-BOARD EXAMS PROVIDE A BOARD LIKE SET-UP. THIS HELPS A STUDENT TO MANAGE STRESS AND TIME. MOST IMPORTANTLY, IT SHOWS YOU WHERE YOU STAND IN TERMS OF MARKS time till January for your pre-Boards, the second month is when you study what you have left of the other subjects like Languages, Environmental Studies and Social Studies. Here's what you need to know and do:

Use the power of flashcards: For any memory-based subject, start with making notes and flashcards of important dates, movements, and events. For example, you can create a timeline for the Indian freedom struggle on a chart paper and put it up.

Don't forget what you studied earlier: Just like last month, introduce breaks in your schedule by solving questions from subjects that you have already studied. This will not only refresh your mind but also give you a fair idea of how much you remember.

Keep calm and keep studying: This time can get very stressful for you. You probably have three different sets of exams to take — pre-Board, Board and competitive.

Taking healthy breaks, continuing your hobbies, and maintaining a good sleep cycle will help you study with a fresh mind. Don't feel demotivated or intimidated, but just focus on giving it your best shot.

During your pre-board exams: Ideally, you should have finished your exam portion by now. If you have, then spend the days of your pre-boards solving previous years' question papers and mock tests. After solving each test, go back to your mistakes and make notes about where you had gone wrong.

If you have not finished your exam portion, don't fret: Remember that you still have time before the Boards. Before every pre-Board paper, try to read and understand the portion that you haven't studied yet, even if you don't memorise it 100 per cent. This will help you when you start studying it for Boards.

Keep your mind calm, maintain a healthy lifestyle, and always be motivated. Focus on your syllabus and previous year question papers and put in as much effort as you can.

'Go for virtual internship'

Today, internship adds value to the CV. If you can't find a full-time internship, SARVESH AGRAWAL lists five virtual profiles which can be pursued to make resumes stand out

Students who find it hard to find and pursue full-time internships can go for virtual internships and add the value of work experience to their resume. This not only makes their resumes stand out to the employers when they are applying for full-time jobs in future but also, help with the application process when they decide to pursue higher education. To help understand about the internship opportunities you can take up, below are five popular profiles in which you can pursue a virtual internship.

Content writing: Content, being an immense part of almost every business, is high in-demand. This brings a profusion of opportunities for students in content writing. To do this internship, all you need to have are good research and writing skills since as a content writer, you have to research on the concerned topics and write content in a creative and comprehensive manner. Also, with billions of topics to write on, learning opportunities are abundant in content writing like in Abhisha's case, she got to learn about various interesting topics while writing articles on them.

Social media marketing: In the last one decade, social media has seen a significant boom. People across demographics are actively using various social media platforms to communicate with their friends and family, to make new friends and connections, and to convey their messages to the world. Scaling on the same, businesses have found an effective way of marketing over time, called social media marketing. This opens up a considerable number of exciting opportunities for the students. As a social media intern, you are expected to think of creative and feasible ideas to market a company and engaging its customers over various social media handles including Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, and Snapchat.

Graphic designing: In this era of high competition between companies, customer experience is prioritised rather high. And, since most of the companies are serving through their online products, a substantial part of good customer experience is through a quality user experience of the product thus putting graphic designers high in-demand. So, if you have a knack for creativity, then you can do an internship in graphic designing. As a graphic designer, you might get to work on different aspects of design like UI design, UX design, logo designing, and website designing.

Programming: From the continuous technological advancement in different areas like mobile technologies and web technologies, it is clearly evident that the field of computer science and information technology is constantly on a rise. This provides the students who have an interest and aptitude for coding with a bunch of opportunities in diverse areas ranging from software development and web development to mobile app development.

Volunteering: There are several NGOs aiming to help with a diverse number of societal issues and make a change. Creating numerous volunteering opportunities for students, these NGOs provide them with a chance to give back to the society by working for environmental conservation, teaching the underprivileged, and helping the elderly. Volunteering internships can help you develop your soft skills, try your hands on different tasks, and most importantly, give you a sense of achievement while you give back to the society.

Most of us spend our time and energy on achieving goals, isn't it? But even the same goal can be reached with different costs by different people. It happens because all of us have different personal effectiveness. Our effectiveness depends on our innate characteristics - talent and experience accumulated in the process of personal development. Talents first are needed to be identified and then developed to be used in a particular subject area (science, literature, sports, politics, etc.). Experience includes knowledge and skills that we acquire in the process of cognitive and practical activities. Knowledge is required for setting goals, defining an action plan to achieve them and risk assessment. Skills also determine whether real actions are performed in accordance with the plan. If the same ability is used many times in the same situation, then it becomes a habit that runs automatically, subconsciously. In this way you will make yourself ever ready for success.

The seven mantras of success:
Determination: It allows you to focus only on achieving a specific goal without being distracted by less important things or spontaneous desires. It may be developed with the help of self-discipline exercise.

Self-confidence: It appears in the process of personal development, as a result of getting aware of yourself, your actions and their consequences. Self-confidence is manifested in speech, appearance, dressing, gait, and physical condition. To develop it, you need to learn yourself and your capabilities, gain positive attitude and believe that by performing right actions and achieving the right goals you will certainly reach success.

ART AND DESIGN WORKSHOP ON ORIGAMI

The Indian Institute of Art and Design (IIAD) organized a special creative workshop on Origami — Japanese paper folding art at their Okhla Campus. Students from Communication Design, Fashion Design and Interior Architecture & Design programmes participated in the workshop conducted by the co-founder and Design Director Hexagram Design, Ankon Mitra. During the workshop, the students went on to create an assortment of 3D objects from textured paper. The major learning outcome was to help students explore the innumerable avenues of incorporating the art of Origami to infinite design problems they might face as designers. This traditional technique of paper folding not just unleashes the creative aspect of an artist but is also widely known to augment hand-eye coordination, logical reasoning, spatial skills and synchronisation ability.

Mary's punches perfect

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The celebrated Mary Kom on Tuesday became the most successful pugilist in the Women's World Championships history by assuring herself a seventh medal while three more Indians reached the semifinals to be assured of their maiden medals here.

The 35-year-old Mary, a mother of three, defeated China's Wu Yu 5-0 in the light flyweight (48kg) category quarterfinals to enter the last-four stage and be assured of at least a Bronze.

Lovlina Borgohain (69kg), Sonia Chahal (57kg) and Simranjit Kaur (64kg), part of India's young brigade in the boxing team, also reached the semifinals to be assured of medals in their debut World Championships.

The 21-year-old Borgohain, an Asian Championships Bronze medallist last year, beat Scott Kaye Frances of Australia in the quarterfinals in a unanimous decision while Sonia, also 21, was a 4-1 split decision winner against Maecela Yeni Castenada of Colombia.

Simranjit, 23, had a difficult fight against Amy Sara Broadhurst of Ireland but eventually won the quarterfinal bout 3-1. In fact, the Punjab boxer lost the first and third rounds while winning the second. She, however, won in overall points which read 27-29, 28-28, 29-27, 30-26, 29-27.

Eight Indians took the field on Tuesday but four of them lost their bouts.

Pinki Rani lost her 51kg quarterfinal bout against Pang Chol Mi of North Korea in a unanimous decision while Manisha Maun was beaten by top seed and last edition's Silver winner Stoyka Petrova of Bulgaria in a 4-1 decision in 54kg.

Kachari Bhagyabati (81kg) lost 3-2 on split decision against Jessica Sinisterra of Columbia. The Indian was leading in the first round but the Columbian fought back to do better in the next two to clinch the bout.

Seema Poonia (+81kg) was the last Indian to take the ring but she was no match for her formidable opponent from China, Yang Xiaoli, who was the defending champion as well as 2014 Gold winner.

With less number of boxers competing in the weight category, Seema was directly competing at the quarterfinals in her first bout of the tournament but she lost in a unanimous decision.

With four medals assured, India's performance is set to be the best in recent times. The country's best performance ever was the eight medals, including four Gold, it won in 2006.

After that, India won four medals in 2008, two in 2010, one in 2012, two in 2014 and one in 2016.

Mary Kom entered the event with a remarkable tally of five Gold medals and a Silver to her credit. She last won a world championship medal in 2010 — a Gold in the 48kg category.

"It was a tough bout. Not very tough but not very easy also. There are a lot of good Chinese boxers who keep coming. I have faced a lot of them but this opponent I have not faced earlier," the diminutive star boxer said after her bout.

"But once I got her game I thought out what to do and I had not much of a problem after that," she added. The Olympic Bronze-medallist next faces North Korea's Kim Hyang Mi in the semi-final on Thursday. The Indian had beaten her in the Asian Championships last year.

"So, I am confident of winning but not overconfident," she said.

In a bout which saw little action, Mary Kom was the better boxer with clean punches. More importantly, the local favourite rarely allowed Wu to get a clean shot at her. The five judges ruled in her favour with the elaborate scoreline reading 30-27, 29-28, 30-27, 29-28, 30-27.

Mary Kom was tied with Irish legend Katie Taylor on the number of medals won before this edition.

But with Tuesday's win, the Manipuri became the most successful boxer in the marquee tournament. Taylor now plies her trade in the professional circuit.

Borgohain from Assam produced a dominating performance to beat her Australian opponent, who won a Silver in the 81kg category in the 2016 edition but competing in the 69kg here.

Scott also won a Bronze in the Gold Coast Commonwealth Games in 69kg. "It was a tough fight but I think I handled my opponent well. I am happy to be assured of a medal in my first World Championships," Borgohain said.

"I want to win a Gold and that is my target. I will not be satisfied less than a Gold," she added.

Borgohain next faces Chen Nien-Chin of Taipei in the semifinals on Thursday.

"I had faced her once earlier and I lost. But at that time I was younger and inexperienced. But I am confident I can beat her this time," she added.

Sonia began with a solid first round but seemed to be in the backfoot in the second. With coach Raffaele Bergamasco yelling at the ringside, she went on an attacking mode in the final round and clinched the bout.

"Raffaele sir told me you are leading and why you are stepping back. He told me to attack in the third round which I did and won the bout. A medal is assured but I want to win the Gold," she said.

Sonia next faces Son Hwa Jo of North Korea in the semifinals on Friday while Simranjit takes on Dan Hou of China in the last four stage on the same day.

India start as favourites against Aussies

Filled up with confidence after thrashing World champions West Indies, Men in Blue eye another series win

PTI ■ BRISBANE

An Australia in turmoil both on and off the field has made India the firm favourites in the compelling rivalry's latest battle which begins with a T20 International series here on Wednesday.

In a bid to assert themselves as favourites for the Test series, which starts December 6 in Adelaide, India will be hoping to dominate the three T20s.

The touring side has won its previous seven T20I series dating back to November 2017, and its last defeat in the format was against West Indies in July last year.

Not to mention, on their last visit here, the Men in Blue won the T20I series 3-0. So, they will be riding high on a wave of confidence and eager to make an early mark on this trip.

Australian cricket, in contrast, has been dogged by structural reform in the wake of the ball-tampering saga in South Africa in March and it has resulted in turbulence on the field as well.

In the absence of Smith and Warner, Australia's results have fallen off a cliff.

Since the ban, they are yet to win a T20I series against an opposition of note since March.

They lost to England in a one-off game in June, then lost to Pakistan in the T20I tri-series final in Zimbabwe, lost 3-0 to Pakistan again in the bilateral series in the UAE, and then lost to South Africa in a rain-curtailed one-off match.

It remains to be seen whether being on home turf would raise the spirits for the once invincible Aussies.

The one significant change for India ahead of this series is the return of skipper Virat Kohli, who was rested for the three-match contest against West Indies at home.

While it undoubtedly strengthens the visitors, all eyes will be on how the Aaron Finch-led Australian side deals with the best batsman in world cricket at the moment.

While there are calls from all quarters for Australian cricket to keep a check on aggression and play the game in right spirit, Kohli has always garnered Rishabh Pant, both of whom have proven to be more consistent and explosive in recent times compared to Rahul, have also been included in the final 12. The team has instead left out Manish Pandey, continuing his run of limited opportunities of late.

Pant will don the keeping gloves, something that was amply clear during the net session as well. He practised glove-work under the watchful eyes of coach Ravi Shastri, while Karthik only did some out-fielding.

The bigger concern for India is to find a balance in their bowling attack in Hardik Pandya's absence.

With ample bounce anticipated on the Gabba pitch, three pacers — Bhuvneshwar Kumar, Jasprit Bumrah and Khaleel Ahmed — are certain starters.

Washington Sundar, who played the last T20I against West Indies, has expectedly made way for Bumrah.

The spin duo of Kuldeep Yadav and Yuzvendra Chahal have been retained in the final 12 but remains to be seen if both make the playing XI on Wednesday.

Krunal Pandya was the all-rounder against West Indies, and is expected to continue playing after making the final 12.

Australia are also considering fielding a spinner, after taking the field against South Africa with a full-pace attack on Saturday.

Glenn Maxwell was the lone spinner then, but it is understood that the hosts will alter their plans keeping in mind the conditions and bigger dimensions of the ground here.

Starting off with the aggressive shortest format is Australia's best bet to upset India's plans for this summer of cricket, wherein unlike their prior trips here, the visitors are already considered the better side in all departments.

Xi hails ties with Pacific island nations

Renew friendship, explore new ways of development and chart the course for future growth of relations between China and the Pacific island countries

China is ready to deepen strategic trust and expand pragmatic cooperation with Pacific island countries for an even brighter future for their relations, Chinese president Xi Jinping said in a signed article published by local newspapers in Papua New Guinea recently.

Xi hailed relations between China and Papua New Guinea in the article titled "Set Sail on a New Voyage for Relations between China and Pacific Island Countries". He said the relationship has stood the test of a changing international situation and stayed as strong as ever.

"The rapid growth of China-Papua New Guinea relations is an epitome of China's overall relations with Pacific island countries," he said in the article.

Xi recalled his meeting with leaders of the eight Pacific island countries that have diplomatic ties with China four years ago in Fiji, saying the meeting heralded a new dynamic stage in the relations between China and the countries, featuring mutual respect and common development.

In developing their relations, China and the Pacific island countries take each other as true friends and good partners, he said, adding that deeper economic and technological cooperation have made the pie of common interests between China and the countries even larger.

Xi expressed hopes to renew friendship, explore new ways of development and chart the course for future growth of the relations between China and the Pacific island countries through meeting with the leaders of the countries during his visit to Papua New Guinea.

He highlighted the importance of people-to-people exchanges, saying this will help deepen mutual understanding and friendship between peoples of China and Pacific island countries and carry forward the friendship from generation to generation.

The relations between China and the Pacific island countries are now better than ever and face important development opportunities, he said. "China will work with Pacific island countries to brave the wind and waves and set sail for a brighter future in their relations."

Peter O'Neill, prime minister of Papua New Guinea, said in a recent interview that he looked forward to building stronger ties with China. Under Xi's leadership, China plays an active role in coping with common challenges the world is facing such as climate change, and resolutely upholds free trade, O'Neill said. He added that his country stands firmly with China.

[Editor's note] In July of this year, the CPC Yunnan Provincial Committee and the provincial government vowed to build Yunnan into the most beautiful province in China. In this edition, Mr. Phonethavy Boudara, who worked in the province for nine years and now acts as the Lao ambassador to Brunei, shares his views on "building Yunnan into the most beautiful province in China".

"I'm very optimistic about the prospects of Yunnan building itself into the most beautiful province in China. That's because it has many potential advantages," said Mr. Boudara. He related that the news immediately brought back his memories of Yunnan. "Yunnan fascinates me," he said.

When Mr. Boudara first arrived in Yunnan, he was impressed by the fresh air. "The air is as sweet as that in Laos, so I knew Yunnan must be a beautiful place," he said. "Yunnan has diverse weather and abundant natural resources. From the tropical rainforests in Xishuangbanna to Meili Snow Mountain in Shangri-La, the natural beauty is simply enchanting."

"Yunnan should give full play to its ecological advantages. It should protect and utilize its natural resources rationally and effectively. To build itself into the most beautiful province in China, Yunnan must mobilize its people. Additionally, it should vigorously develop tourism," Mr. Boudara suggested.

Yunnan accelerates railway construction

In recent years, Yunnan has been accelerating the building of its railway network. In the first half of 2018, the province invested 12.529 billion yuan in such work. This total accounts for 52.3 percent of the annual investment plan. Investment increased by 2.343 billion yuan over the same period last year, a rise of 23 percent year-on-year.

The Dali-Ruili Railway is an important part of the China-Myanmar Railway scheme. It is 330 kilometres long and starts from the city of Dali. Trains call at Yangbi, Yongping, Baoshan, Shidian, Longling and Mangshi before terminating in Ruili on the China-Myanmar border. When the line goes into operation, one can travel from Kunming to Ruili by train in six hours.

"The Dali-Ruili Railway is a long-cherished dream for people of all ethnic groups in Dehong. In the past, Dehong did not have a single inch of railway. As our country has become stronger over the past 40 years of reform and opening up, railway construction has progressed smoothly. In the future, with the completion of the Dali-Ruili and China-Myanmar railways, Dehong will become a major international land port along Belt and Road Initiative. It will be a key node of the pivot of China's opening to South and Southeast Asia. The region will also act as a gateway for the China-Myanmar economic corridor," said Shu Zhendong, deputy director of the Dehong Prefectural Railway Construction Office.

Railway building is in full swing all over the province. To raise the speed of trains, the province is overhauling the existing Mile-Mengzi and the Dali-Lijiang railways. Other projects, such as the Yuxi-Mohan Railway, the Dali-Lincang Railway, the Dali-Ruili Railway and the Lijiang-Shangri-La Railway, are also progressing in an orderly manner. (Hu Xiaorong)

POVERTY ALLEVIATION

Amomum tsao-ko lifts valley people out of poverty

Yaping Village is tucked away in Gaoligong Mountains. It belongs to Lumadeng Township, Fugong County, Nujiang Lisu Autonomous Prefecture in Yunnan Province. In the past, the villagers grew corn to eke out their livelihoods.

The corn, golden as it was, did not make the valley people rich. Instead, it intensified soil erosion and increased the likelihood of landslides, mudslides and other geological disasters. No matter how hard they worked, the villagers could not shake off the trappings of persistent poverty.

Then China launched a strategy of targeted poverty alleviation, and the battle to end poverty is now in full swing. A large number of officials came to help people in the valley find new ways of making money.

The poverty alleviation officials brought Amomum tsao-ko seedlings. They convened a meeting and told the villagers that the government offered subsidies for them to grow Amomum tsao-ko—a ginger-like plant known in English by the transliterated Chinese name "caoguo".

Cultivation of the plant would bring in more money to the region. After the meeting, however, most of the villagers kept tending their corn fields.

Since the villagers were unwilling to act, Party members took the lead. The Amomum tsao-ko growers received not only government subsidies, but also were taught new growing techniques. After the first harvest, the Amomum tsao-ko farmers earned five times more than those cultivating corn, when measured by unit of acreage.

Serious changes have taken place in the village. Corn acreage has decreased,

A villager washing tsao-ko villagers have begun to eat rice instead of corn, everyone now has three meals a day when they used to only have two, and sturdy concrete buildings have replaced old-fashioned houses that were shared by both people and animals.

Jie Qiuye was a big corn grower in the village. In the past, by growing corn all year round, his six-person family earned only 8,000 yuan a year. He was one of the last villagers to start growing Amomumtsao-ko. Now his family grows 50 mu of Amomum tsao-ko. Although not all the plants have fruited, his family earned more than 48,000 yuan last year.

The village cooperatives purchase Amomum tsao-ko fruits from Yaping Village and other nearby towns so that the villagers can earn more. Today, besides 12,500 mu of Amomum tsao-ko, Yaping Village also grows 10,000 mu of Coptis chinensis, 300 mu of Paris polyphylla and 1,000 mu of tea. (Xinhua, photo by Gongxia)

40 YEARS OF REFORM AND OPENING-UP

'China has done things right'

Editor's note: This year marks the 40th anniversary of the launch of China's reform and opening-up policy. From this issue on, we will profile people who experienced or witnessed the important drive.

When Goh Chok Tong made his first trip to China in 1971, he described the experience as like "going to an alien country".

Singapore's emeritus senior minister and the man who succeeded Lee Kuan Yew to become the country's second prime minister (1990-2004) said, "China was a totally different country back then."

Sitting in the West Drawing Room of The Istana, the ornate colonial home of former British governors set in lush green gardens and now the office of Singapore's president, Goh described how it took three to four days to get from Singapore to Beijing in the past.

"You flew from Singapore to Hong Kong, stayed overnight. Then took a train to Guangzhou where you also stayed overnight, before flying to Beijing if the weather permitted," he said.

He described how men and women wore Mao suits, how workers were assigned places of work, and bicycles ... bicycles everywhere. Cities were run down and the people poor.

Since Deng Xiaoping introduced his reforms 40 years ago, the opening-up of China has had "a big impact on the world, positively", Goh said.

"Men and women wear the latest fashions and cars have replaced bicycles. Cosmetic sales flourish. People now travel freely in search of jobs, motivated by profit and wages rather than being bound to assigned places of work. Social habits have changed."

In terms of education, Goh said the biggest change has been in the large number of students now going overseas to study.

"English is now more widely spoken. Admission to university is now based on academic merit rather than ideology," he said.

"This has raised the standard of education, intellectual discourse and research."

He said in diplomacy, China is now more active and has a presence in "all parts of the world".
