BJP and Congress close to announcing joint candidate as 'democratic compulsion': Naidu

Naidu, who has been holding bilateral talks with the opposition parties, told the media that it was a democratic compulsion to save the country from the ruling NDA. "It is a democratic compulsion to save the country from the ruling NDA," Naidu said. Naidu said that the "democratic compulsion" is seen as tactical move in the run-up to the Lok Sabha elections. Naidu said that he was "very clear" on the issue of allies and was not "married to any" particular party. However, Naidu was not clear on the issue of allies and was not "married to any" particular party. However, Naidu was not clear on the issue of allies and was not "married to any" particular party.
Yogi govt may dole out separate quota for MBCs

Parliament in New Delhi on Wednesday night that the Rajya Sabha has been adjourned sine die and then placed before the state government a report to the government on Backward Classes after chairmanship of Sant Paramhans, who has been associated with activities, with plain-vanilla tactics.

Sources say that the committee has been constituted to examine the issue of reservation for the MBCs in many constituencies. In UP’s population, the MBCs are about 30 per cent, MBCs and most backward communities together account for about 50 per cent of the population.

Aparna also said that she had no acrimonious with Hinduism. She has been agitating for the last six years in a case on behalf of my community. We are not against any conversion. Outside the court, we are uniting in a fight between a temple and a mosque and not between Hindus and Muslims. We have been fighting for the past few years.

The approval is a part of a Centrally-sponsored scheme Lucknow includes setting up of Kendra, implementing safety measures at railway stations, setting up of mobile police units in select cities namely, Mumbai, Ahmedabad and Lucknow.

Meanwhile, Aparna was immense satisfaction that Yogi Adityanath will attend an assembly meeting on November 28 in Ayodhya. Aparna came up with a strong statement during the meeting. She also said that the year has started with Lord Ram and not with the BJP over the matter.

The young lawyer, who had contended before the Ram Janmabhoomi-Babri Masjid verdict, presented a strong case. He said that the Chief Minister and other leaders told the people that no one would have to worry about the temple at Ayodhya.

Yogi govenor said that Sherali’s family had a case to make to Lord Ram and not with the BJP over the matter. Later, the locals raked the situation of Ayodhya to the extraordinary press meet and informed the people that the day-to-day running of the temple has been expedited.

New Delhi: A man gunned down a student leader of Allahabad University in a Glasgow college here on Sunday night, alleging that the student leader had insulted him.

The incident took place in the premises of the Glasgow School of Art in Scotland's largest city. The student leader, identified as Arun Kumar, a second-year student studying in the School of Architecture and Design, was allegedly shot seven times by a miscreant in the college. The victim was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

The police said that the miscreant had entered the college premises and opened fire on the student leader. The student leader was rushed to the hospital but could not survive. The police have launched a probe into the incident.

The Glasgow School of Art is one of the leading schools in Scotland and attracts students from all over the world. The incident has triggered a massive outpouring of grief and condemnation from the academic and political community.

The Glasgow School of Art is known for its innovative and collaborative approach to education and research. It offers undergraduate and postgraduate programmes in architecture, design, and fine art. The school is widely regarded as a leader in the field of design education and is home to a diverse and international student body.

The incident has also sparked a debate on the safety and security of students in international campuses. Many students have expressed concern over the lack of adequate security measures in the college.

The Glasgow School of Art has promised a full investigation into the incident and has expressed its grief and condolences to the victim's family. The school has also announced a reduction in tuition fees for all students in the wake of the tragedy.

BJP candidate pulls out 2 days ahead of Karnataka election

Announces support to CM’s wife

KARNATAKA (31st Oct, 2018)

A day after it was learnt that bypoll candidate from Varadharajapuram, Rupali Bagchi, had been returned unopposed, the Karnataka unit of the BJP has announced its support to the wife of CM, Basavaraj Bommai.

The step has come ahead of the third phase of bypolls in the state where two seats are going to polls. The two seats are Mudhol and Varadharajapuram.

BJP state unit president, N Gopalakrishna, reiterated party’s support to Basavaraj Bommai’s wife Kiran. The support was given following a meeting of the party’s high command and the state unit.

In a statement, the state unit said, “The decision to support the CM’s wife is a clear indication that the party is on a mission to fortify the state government in the face of the opposition’s challenge. It is a clear signal that the party is ready to fight against the forces of opposition.”

The state unit also said that the decision to support Kiran Bommai is in line with the party’s commitment to strengthen the state government and to ensure a stable government in the state.

On the other hand, the party’s decision to support Kiran Bommai has been widely applauded by the opposition parties. The Congress, who is currently leading the opposition in the state, has welcomed the decision and said that it is a clear indication that the party is ready to fight against the forces of opposition.

The decision to support Kiran Bommai is also seen as a strategic move by the party to strengthen its position in the state. The party is currently leading in the polls and is expected to win a majority in the forthcoming elections.

No.77. This is a 65 point monumental programme which has been designed by the Government of India, during the ten years in the second plan. It is designed on the lines of the National Industrial Development Plan, the National Industrial Policy, and the National Industrial Development Plan. It is a programme for the development of the economy, which is designed to bring about a more rapid and greater increase in the production of all important goods, both essential and non-essential, in order to meet the requirements of the people of the country.

The national capital's air pollution is a serious problem. Authorities have taken several measures to tackle the issue. In recent years, the Government has implemented several initiatives to reduce pollution in the city. These include promoting electric vehicles, banning the sale of high-sulphur fuel, and improving the public transport system.

Waste of money

Earlier this week, Rahul Gandhi had asked the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) to return the Rs 316 billion loan it had given to Japan for a liquefied natural gas (LNG) project in India.

This is not the first time the Congress leader has asked the RBI to return the loan.

The ongoing multi-starrer soap opera within the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) has resulted in multiple investigations being conducted on the same case, which has caused a significant amount of confusion. The organization seems to be plagued by internal conflicts, with the leadership struggling to maintain control over the investigation teams.

Nationalist with a political idea

The Chinese government has announced that it is invalidating the 1969 China-India border agreement, which had been in force for decades. This move is seen as a significant challenge to India's national security, particularly in the context of ongoing border disputes with China.

The India-China border dispute has been a contentious issue for decades, with both countries accusing each other of violating territorial boundaries. The latest move by China is likely to escalate tensions between the two nations and could lead to a conflict.

Political cabinet crisis

The political landscape in India has been characterized by frequent cabinet crises in recent times. The government has been struggling to maintain a cohesive and stable administration, with several ministers resigning or being dismissed from their posts.

The failure of the government to address these issues could have serious implications for India's national security, as well as its economic and social development.

The political instability in India has also affected the country's relations with other nations, particularly China, which is a major trading partner. The government's inability to manage the situation could lead to a loss of confidence among international investors and could negatively impact India's economic growth.

In conclusion, the current political crisis in India is a matter of grave concern, and the government needs to take urgent steps to address the situation and restore stability. The situation is likely to have far-reaching implications for India's national security and economic development.

Chef MARCELLO TULLY tells Arvind Shama that Indian cuisine features high on his list of favourites because they are similar to those of his home country.

When you taste or food, you may think you are tasting something that you already know. But that is not absolutely true. You are just tasting something that your mother or grandmother has taught you to eat. I learned that from my grandmother. When I was a child, I used to live in Brazil with my grandmother. The food that she cooked was very different from the food that I was used to. I used to eat a lot of beans and rice, and a lot of fish. But when I went to live with my mother in London, I had to eat a lot of food that was different from what I was used to.

A few months back would have thought that the revolutions and the fight for justice would not lead us to anything that would have been a practical norm in India. But that became a reality and that was true for every single breath that we have breathed under the cup. And with sacrifices still running and doing nothing at all, actions like those of Nuns, Artists, Bikers, Activists, Essayists, Gunjanvanshi, Yash Bhal, Cheeta Macarg, Zara Khan, Chhavi CherREW, and 15-year-old Ahsaan’s taking up Twitter, space, a discussion on the right of the people of separate communities against generations was certainly necessary.
