GMDA launches e-service for faulty traffic light complaints

GMDA has launched an online service for reporting faulty traffic lights in the city.

With the objective of making traffic lights in Gurugram more reliable and predictable, the GMDA has introduced a new e-service for reporting faulty traffic lights.

According to G M Ranganath, Commissioner of Police, the new service will allow people to report faulty traffic lights by visiting the website of the GMDA and filling in a form.

He added that the user will get the complaint acknowledgment number as well as the registered number of the complaint.

GMDA officials said the service will ensure a rapid and transparent complaint management system for faulty traffic lights in Gurugram.

GMDA already offers online services for various other services, including passport applications, driving licence renewal, and water meter connection.

The online service for faulty traffic lights is expected to further improve the city’s traffic management system.

Electricity move election gimmick, alleges Cong

The Congress has alleged that the Aam Aadmi Party government is using electricity bills to win elections.

In a statement, Congress spokesperson Pravin Baghel said, "The AAP government is using electricity bills to win elections. The government is trying to draw the attention of the people towards the AAP's victory in the recent elections in Delhi."

The party alleged that the government is trying to mislead the people by claiming that the government has reduced the fixed charges of electricity bills. "The AAP government is misleading the people by claiming that the fixed charges have been reduced," Baghel said.

The party had earlier alleged that the government was trying to win the upcoming assembly elections by reducing the fixed charges of electricity bills.

The Congress had previously alleged that the government was trying to win the elections by reducing the fixed charges of electricity bills.

Meanwhile, the Delhi government has denied the allegations made by the Congress. The government said that the fixed charges of electricity bills have not been reduced.

"The fixed charges of electricity bills have not been reduced. The allegations made by the Congress are baseless," a government spokesperson said.

The government said that the fixed charges of electricity bills are determined by the Delhi Electricity Regulatory Commission (DERC) and are not within the control of the government.

The TDP has been a force to be reckoned with in Andhra Pradesh and Telangana, and its presence in the national parliament has been significant. With the BJP's support, the TDP has been able to make strong statements and defend its interests at the national level. The upcoming elections will be crucial for the TDP, and it will be interesting to see how it performs in light of its new alliance with the BJP.
Opp. slams govt for not sending Bills to Select Committee

The Lok Sabha on Wednesday passed the Bill to amend the Representation of the People Act, 1951 to cap the value of assets held by parliamentarians at Rs 100 crore. The SP leader Buddha Prasad Ray, also a Lok Sabha member, spoke against it.

The party had been demanding the maximum limit of Rs 100 crore, including physical assets, be set on the value of assets held by parliamentarians. In the Lok Sabha, the Bill was introduced by the Law Minister Thambidurai.

Premiers committee: The SP leader said in the notice given by Parliament’s premiers committee, “The Lok Sabha is willing to discuss the Bill, but the Committee has not been formed. The government is not willing to form the Committee.”

He added that the Opposition leaders are seeking a discussion on the Bill, but the government is not willing to do so.

According to the Lok Sabha Speaker, the government has the right to reject any Bill. The government is willing to discuss the Bill with the Opposition leaders, but the government does not want to form the Committee.

The SP leader was also critical of the government’s decision to cap the value of assets held by parliamentarians. He said that the government is not willing to discuss the Bill, and the government is not willing to form the Committee.

The SP leader also said that the government is not willing to form the Committee because the government does not want to discuss the Bill with the Opposition leaders.

The 23-year-old woman was one of the two women who were injured in the accident. She was withdrawn from artificial respiration and was being treated for head injuries.

The Indian Medical Association (IMA) has demanded a probe into the death. It said 23,000 doctors in India have committed suicide over the past 10 years and 10 of them have committed suicide so far this year. It added that 20,000 doctors in India have committed suicide over the past 10 years and 10 of them have committed suicide so far this year.

While addressing the issue of doctors committing suicide in the country, IMA president Dr. Surendra Dhavale said that the death of the doctor in Lucknow was a result of the stress that doctors are facing due to the lack of adequate resources and support. He added that the government should take immediate steps to address the issue and provide adequate support to doctors in order to prevent such incidents in the future.

On Tuesday, the Lucknow Bench of the Allahabad High Court granted conditional bail to Rahul Ekbote, a Group D officer who was arrested for his alleged role in the Unnao rape case. The court directed the police to produce the accused before it on the next date of hearing.

KULDEEP SINGH SENGON HAS GOT EVERYTHING. I HAVE ALL THE EVIDENCE

On the evidence, he said, "They were the people who dealt with her and her family. She wasasions it was seen that she would be treated with due respect. She was specially placed in the new hospital and no one was allowed to touch her. She was treated with dignity and respect. We have not considered any evidence in this case. We have only considered the evidence of the witnesses and the victim.

V G Siddhartha's untimely death is a reminder that financial pressures can drive even the richest to suicide.

If a close look at the life of one of the richest men in India, V G Siddhartha, reveals the reason behind his decision, the solution would be a fitting tribute to his memory. Siddhartha, the son of a coffee plantation owner from the Chikmagalur belt, had created a business empire that would make him one of the world's wealthiest men. His story has lessons for us all.

India's failed Kashmir policy

Dear Sir

The current Kashmir situation is a result of decades of neglect and indifference by the Indian government. The people of Kashmir have been subjected to human rights violations, poverty, and a lack of basic necessities. It is time for the Indian government to address these issues and work towards a peaceful resolution.

Yours sincerely,

ABOUT BHATCAYTHA

Sir

The Triple Tai dal Bill was an easy sell in the Rajya Sabha because of the absence of any opposition. But in the Lok Sabha, the bill faced a lot of opposition, with many members expressing concerns about its provisions.

The bill, which proposes to make the Triple Tai dal a compulsory practice in all India's major religious festivals, has faced criticism from various quarters. Some members have raised concerns about the potential for religious persecution and the infringement of civil liberties.

Despite the opposition, the bill was passed in the Lok Sabha with a margin of 383 votes.

Yours sincerely,

Climate change hits the oceans

Failure to mitigate and adapt to climate change will lead to dramatic falls in fish productivity, with negative consequences for both people and the oceans. Societies must be able to cope with the impacts of climate change and improve the resilience of marine ecosystems.

Given the shrinking size of the ocean’s average catch, the fishing community must plan and take steps to ensure its survival. The road to recovery is still possible if actions are taken now.

The scientific evidence indicates that a rise in sea level of only 1 meter would already cause significant damage to communities, infrastructure, and the environment. The consequences of climate change are already being felt, and urgent action is needed to mitigate its impacts.

The science is clear: we must act now to prevent further and more severe impacts of climate change on the oceans. The time to act is now—before it’s too late.

Climate change poses a serious threat to the marine environment and the people who depend on it for their livelihoods. The impacts of climate change on the oceans are already evident, and if we fail to act now, the consequences will be irreversible.

The oceans are a vital source of food and income for millions of people, particularly in developing countries. Climate change threatens this livelihood, and action is needed now to ensure its sustainability.

India Post Payments Bank to be converted into SFB

PTI NEW DELHI

The postal department said on Monday it decided to convert the India Post Payments Bank (IPPB) into a Small Finance Bank (SFB) for enabling it to offer small loans.

Besides, the department looks to open new delivery channels.

The decisions were taken at the inaugural session of the Conference held at Srinagar on Sunday.

India Post will partner with commercial banks to provide a suite of citizen-oriented banking, remittances, insurance, 24x7 M&I and appointments at post offices, the statement said.

The postal department has decided to develop infrastructure to extend the reach of the e-commerce industry to Tier 2 and 3 towns as well as in rural areas by investing in 100 parcel hubs, 80 Mobile Delivery Vans and a Pan India Road Transport Network.

Telecom Minister Ravi Shankar Prasad at the conference said the efforts of the Department of Posts to open new delivery channels and the postal department’s "New India" initiative, a statement from the postal department said.

The decision includes "Converting the India Post Payments Bank (IPPB) into a Small Finance Bank (SFB) to provide small loans to individuals and businesses, enabling the millions of one crown accounts for IPPB in 180 days among others.

Meghan to launch a clothing line

Meghan wrote in the New York Times that the issue of women’s equality is a constant for women are issues and challenges which are constant. She said, “A healthy respect for every woman’s story and an ability to hear and understand each other’s stories is key to helping us in the world. We need to learn about our past and live in the present but also look to the future. We need to learn from each other and help each other. We need to learn from each other and help each other.”

Meghan wrote in the New York Times that women are the ones who have the power to change the world. She said, “Women are the ones who have the power to change the world. More than 200 volunteers from the Mata Amritanandamayi Math came together to plant one lakh seed balls in the Ghiorini forest area to increase the city’s green cover.

The national capital region has become highly populated with fast deteriorating green cover and increasing levels of air pollution. More than 200 volunteers from the Mata Amritanandamayi Math (MAM) took part in the first ever large-scale seed ball plantation drive, determining more than one lakh seed balls in the city forest area.

People from different background and age groups, from school students to elders, came together from Delhi, Gurgaon and Faridabad. They spread out various groups and areas, such as planting 10,000 seed balls in the challenging locations of the Rukhaiya and Ghiorini forest areas.

The volunteers organized seed ball workshops across various schools and organizations in Delhi NCR over the past one month, including the Guru Tegh Bahadur Public School, Deep Public School, Alpani Convent School and Indian School. Seed balls were made over the past many weeks by various volunteer groups.

A roadshow to showcase and promote the national campaign, ‘Green India Clean India’, which was organized by the Tourism Authority of Thailand (TAT) in collaboration with the Indian Travel Agents Association (ITAA), was held in the national capital on Tuesday and Wednesday.

KEY BATTLES

Australia v England

When the two sides last met, in 2017-18, Steve Smith and Joe Root were the key combatants. Joe Root has a Test average of 68 for three innings while Steve Smith has 73 for three innings.

England v Australia

When the two teams last met, in 2014-15, Steve Smith was the key batsman for Australia with 768 runs at an average of 153. Joe Root had a good tour, scoring 389 runs at an average of 78.

Home advantage

England have a home advantage in the series, with five of the eight Tests to be played on English soil. Australia have not won a Test in England since 2015.

Key bowlers

Australia's bowling attack, led by Pat Cummins, is a key area of concern for England. England's batting lineup, particularly Top 4, has struggled against Australian fast bowling.

England's batting

England's batting has been a mixed bag. Root is in good form, while England's specialist batsmen like Stokes and Foakes have struggled.

Australia's bowling

Australia's bowling has been reliable, with Cummins, Hazlewood, and Starc all performing well. However, their spin bowling has been a concern, especially against England's left-handed batsmen.

Squad selection

Both teams have a few selection headaches. England have to decide between Root and Buttler for the No. 3 spot, while Australia have to decide between Warner and Labuschagne.

Result prediction

The series is poised to be a thrilling contest with both teams looking to take advantage of the home conditions. A 2-2 series or even a draw seems likely.
