Ex-FM evades arrest after HC dismisses bail plea, SC refuses instant relief in INX Media case

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Former Finance and Home Minister P Chidambaram is on the run from the law after the Supreme Court on Tuesday refused to come to his rescue following the Delhi High Court's dismissal of his bail plea in the INX Media bribery case. Soon after the apex court's denial of relief, sleuths of Enforcement Directorate and CBI landed at Chidambaram's home in Jor Bagh, but the senior Congress leader could not be traced. Chidambaram, who enjoying interim protection from arrest from March 2018 onward, suffered a major setback on Tuesday afternoon after the Delhi High Court dismissed his anticipatory bail plea, paving way for CBI and ED to arrest him. The former Minister was on the Supreme Court complex throughout the day, awaiting the HC order, to approach the SC. The High Court held that he was "prima facie the kingpin" in the INX Media bribery and money laundering cases and "simply because he is a Member of Parliament it would not justify grant of pre-arrest bail to him". Holding that the former Union Minister's custodial interrogation was required for an effective investigation, the High Court said, "granting bail in cases like the instant one will send a wrong message to society". Justice Sunil Gaur, who is due to retire on Thursday, said this court cannot permit the prosecution in this "sensitive case to end up in smoke like it has happened in some other high-profile cases." "Facts of the case prima facie reveal that petitioner is the kingpin, that is, the key conspirator in this case. Law enforcing agencies cannot be made ineffective by putting legal obstacles," the judge said. The High Court also said this was a "classic case of money laundering" and the twin facts which have weighed to deny pre-arrest bail to him are "gravity" of the offence and "evasive" replies given by him to questions put to him while he was under protective cover extended to him by this court.

In the Supreme Court, all Congress lawyers were present before the Registry for urgent hearing. However, the apex court did not grant any relief, asking Chidambaram to mention the case on Wednesday morning before a

The High Court said, "It cannot be forgotten that the petitioner (Chidambaram) was the Finance Minister at the relevant time and he had given FDI clearances to INX Media Group for receiving overseas funds to the tune of ₹305 crore."

The 24-page judgment said the gravity of offence committed in this case amply justifies denial of pre-arrest bail and it was of the prima facie opinion that it was not a fit case for granting the relief to him.

It said, "Economic offences constitute a class apart and

PMO puts road projects on hold over finances

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Due to fiscal implications, the PMO has put on hold all new projects as well as "in-principle approvals" already given to several State roads and national highways' projects. A high-level inter-ministerial panel headed by Cabinet Secretary PK Sinha will now prepare a new set of comprehensive guidelines for approving and announcing projects.

Sources said the PMO has acted to enforce fiscal discipline to avoid any burden on the exchequer at a time when the Ministry is facing fund constraints. The fund constraint has prevented private developers from bidding for projects. Bids have not been invited for at least seven projects in last one month, sources said.

The Road Transport and Highways Ministry recently expressed its desire to become the primary agency to manage the Central Road and Infrastructure Fund (CRIF or the erstwhile Central Road Fund). In the past, the funds were disbursed by the Finance Minister.

In an effort to strengthen the finances of Road Ministry, Gadhari went for raising resources through borrowings, including bringing in up to ₹60,000 crore from the National Infrastructure Investment Fund for Delhi-Mumbai Expressway, ₹25,000 crore from SBI, ₹7,000 crore from ADB, and a similar amount from World Bank, LIC, pension fund and Labour Ministry.

Road and Transport Minister Nitin Gadhari has taken steps to declare

New panel to prepare norms for approval

State Highways as National Highways, which means roads being maintained or developed by States will directly fall under the jurisdiction of the Centre.

The PMO has asked the Road Ministry to review the whole process and seek approval from the PMO before making any further decisions. There are no guidelines for declaring a State road as NH and it happens after the States request the Centre for taking over their roads as NH.

Following a meeting in March, Nripendra Misra, Principal Secretary to the PM, had also directed the expenditure secretary to conduct an inquiry into the role played by the road transport Ministry's financial advisers in deviating from the existing system of declaring national highways.

Earlier in March this year, sources said, Principal Secretary in the PMO, Nripendra Misra, had asked the expenditure secretary to order a probe as to how the existing system of declaring NHs was violated. The probe is still on.

Sonia persuades Hooda to close ranks

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

A week after taking over as Congress' interim chief, UPA chairperson Sonia Gandhi swung into action on Tuesday reaching out to veteran Bhopinder Singh Hooda, who seemed determined to break away from the grand old party in the run-up to the forthcoming Haryana Assembly polls.

Sources in AICC said Sonia rang up Hooda in the afternoon and discussed the prevailing political turmoil in the poll bound State. After their telephonic conversation, sources said senior leaders of the party requested Hooda to postpone his scheduled Press conference in Chandigarh on Thursday.

AICC sources said Hooda wants to have a free hand in managing the Assembly polls and was fed up with State Congress leaders like Ashok Tanwar, who were not letting him have his way. "It was a routine call from Soniaji to Hooda to talk about State Assembly elections. Nothing should be read in between as Hooda was present at the AICC headquarters for the flag-hoisting by Sonia Gandhi on Independence Day," said the party sources.

Hooda and his son Deepender Hooda, along with a dozen MLAs, have been reportedly planning to leave the Congress to form a new party and tie up with NCP, AAP, and Dushyant Chautala's Jannayak Janata Party (JJP) for Haryana and Delhi Assembly polls.

In Haryana, elections are scheduled to be held before November 2019, while in Delhi, it is due in February 2020.

On Sunday while appreciating the Modi Government's stand on abrogation of Article 370, Hooda indicated that he was getting ready to break free from the mother organisation.

With Hooda forming a committee and clarifying that he would do whatever the com-

Hooda's main contention is that State Congress president Ashok Tanwar should be replaced immediately with a new one ahead of elections. He has been demanding this for more than a year.

IANAS ■ NEW DELHI

A Pakistani commando who was behind the capture of Commander Abhinandan Varthaman when his IAF jet crashed in Pakistani territory in February this year, and had reportedly tortured the IAF pilot, has been killed in firing by Indian forces along the Line of Control (LoC).

In photos released by Pakistan after Abhinandan's capture on February 27, the bearded Khan can be seen behind the IAF officer. Abhinandan was captured after his MiG 21 was shot down by Pakistani forces when he went chasing after a Pakistani jet in the aftermath of the Balakot airstrike.

It is reported that Ahmed Khan used to facilitate infiltration in the Nowshera, Sundarbani and Pallan Wala sectors. He was specially roped in by the Pakistan Army to facilitate infiltration. Sources said that Khan

DMRC collects ₹53.77L in fine

Penalises 41K passengers for travelling without tickets

GAYATHRI MANI ■ NEW DELHI

Despite Delhi Metro Rail Corporation (DMRC) and Central Industrial Security Force (CISF) joining hands and putting up a robust system to regulate entry and exit at Metro stations across the city, there are passengers who have been beating this system nonchalantly and travelling ticketless. According to a reply by the DMRC in response to an RTI query, the Delhi Metro has collected ₹53.77 lakh from the 41,366 passengers for commuting without tickets.

An RTI was filed by the activist Zeeshan Haider in this regard and he also sought information on number of people caught walking on the metro tracks from June 2018 to June 2019.

According to the break-up of challans issued by the DMRC shows that from June 2018 to June this year, it has issued challans to a total number of

DATA FROM JUNE 2018 - JUNE 2019

41,336 commuters and collected a total of ₹53,77,580 for commuting without tickets in the Metro.

"These are especially students and parents carrying kids. Some make a pair and enter the station and there are many parents who enter stations with tickets and cleverly make their children to crawl under the AFC gates to enter the stations. But,

DMRC catch these people during the exit and also observing this breach on a regular basis, staff members have deployed near the AFC gates to keep an eye on such people and now AFC gates remains open after the passenger enters, however gates close when passengers reach near to it.

It opens only after a valid coupon or token is used," said an official posted in a station. As per the data, the largest number of ticketless travelers were caught in the month of January, May and June this year. A total of 4,040 were caught in June, while it was 3,609 and 3,557 in May and June this year.

Further, as per data, a total of 2,548 passengers have been fined for walking on the metro tracks and the DMRC has collected ₹38,22,00 from them.

"If we see the number of people violating the rules of DMRC by doing such activity is very low as compared to the total ridership per day but the DMRC has deployed staff and CISF also keeps an eye on the commuters to prevent such activities that violate rules. Moreover, Delhi metro stations are built in a way that no one can enter without a ticket.

The entire metro network is highly secured with CCTV cameras, but even after that, there are people who commit such offences quite frequently.

But they get caught by the CISF personnel or DMRC staff who counsel them about the rules and regulations and in extreme cases impose penalty," said a senior DMRC official.

PLAINT AGAINST KASHYAP FOR HURTING RELIGIOUS SENTIMENTS

Two prominent Sikh leaders of Delhi have filed police complaints against Bollywood director Anurag Kashyap for allegedly hurting religious sentiments of Sikhs.

On Tuesday, Manjinder Singh Sirsa, the president of Delhi Sikh Gurdwara Management Committee (DSGMC) and legislator from Rajouri Garden filed a complaint against Kashyap for allegedly "disrespecting" Sikh and Hindu sentiments through portrayals in the web series directed by him.

Sirsa said he had complained to the Information and Broadcasting Minister against Kashyap demanding strict action against him.

"We cannot let Bollywood stars play with our religious faiths & sentiments. I warn Anurag Kashyap; he should at least study the scriptures of Sikhs & Hindus before he portrays the characters so negatively in his projects just for entertainment or sensationalisation," Sirsa stated.

Sirsa said that he will also explore options for initiating legal actions against Kashyap. "Spreading communal content, hurting religious sentiments and faiths of people and creating disharmony in the society is a criminal offence. I have filed a criminal complaint against #AnuragKashyap for doing all these in his serial #SacredGames," Sirsa said in a tweet.

Meanwhile, Tajinder Bagga, the spokesperson of Delhi Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), has also filed a complaint against Bollywood director Anurag Kashyap for intentionally hurting Sikh sentiments by adding a scene in 'Sacred Games-2' series which disrespects Sikh religious symbol 'Kada'.

In his complaint given to Station House Officer (SHO), Parliament Street police station in New Delhi district Bagga stated that in Sacred Games - 2 there is scene in which actor Saif Ali Khan, who is playing the character of a Sikh cop in the series, takes off his Kada and throws it into the sea.

"Kada is considered as a revered and integral part of Sikh religion and it is treated with utmost respect and faith," Bagga said in his written police complaint adding that it was treated disrespectfully by the director in the series.

He further stated that Kashyap deliberately and intentionally depicted the scene in his web series with sole intention of insulting and outraging religious feelings of the people belonging to the Sikh community to promote disharmony, enmity, hatred and ill-will between different religious groups to provoke breach of peace by giving provocation and to severally insult the religious beliefs of the Sikhs.

Bagga further wrote in his complaint that a First Information Report (FIR) should be registered against Anurag Kashyap under section 295-A (damaging sacred object), 153, 153-A (attack on religion), 504 (provocation to break peace) and 505 (spreading rumours) of Indian Penal Code (IPC) and Information Technology Act.

Director Anurag Kashyap has been at the centre of controversies on social media as he is among the most vocal celebrities. Last week, he deleted his Twitter account after his parents and daughter allegedly received threats.

DCW issues notice to cops after woman set ablaze by in-laws

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The Delhi Commission for Women (DCW) on Tuesday issued a notice to the Delhi Police in connection with a case wherein a woman was allegedly set ablaze by her in-laws in the national Capital's Nizamuddin area.

The incident occurred on Friday. According to police, the victim, Yasmeen, sustained 80 per cent burns and is undergoing treatment at Safdarjung Hospital.

The woman is a widow and has three daughters, who were at a tuition class when the incident occurred, they said. DCW chief Swati Maliwal and commission member Kiran Negi met the victim in the hospital on Tuesday. The woman is admitted in the ICU and continues to be in a critical condition, the commission said.

The DCW chief has issued a notice to the Delhi Police in the matter as only one arrest has been made so far in the case, it said. Police have not requested a metropolitan magistrate to visit the woman for recording her statement under Section 164 of the Criminal Procedure Code, it added.

Police had on Sunday said the woman was not medically fit to give a statement.

The DCW said urgent recording of the statement is very crucial for the case as doctors fear that the woman may not survive because she has suffered 80 per cent burns.

"She (Yasmeen) has gone through so much pain and is presently battling for her life. She is deeply worried whether she will get justice and also about the future of her three little girls. We also seek police protection for the daughters of this woman," Maliwal said.

Yasmeen told Maliwal that her three brothers-in-law and their wives poured kerosene on her and set her ablaze, the DCW said.

The victim's daughters were somehow able to douse the fire after they returned home from their class, but by then she had been severely burnt, the commission said, adding that the six accused fled after the incident.

Since the death of her husband five years ago, Yasmeen was being harassed by the accused who wanted her to leave her in-laws place in southeast Delhi's Nizamuddin area, the DCW claimed.

NGT seeks report on garbage dumping outside Jahangirpuri metro station

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The National Green Tribunal has taken cognisance of a news report about choking of drains and dumping of garbage outside the Jahangirpuri metro station and sought a report on the issue within a month.

A bench headed by NGT Chairperson Justice Adarsh Kumar Goel formed a committee comprising the Delhi Pollution Control Committee, North Delhi Municipal Corporation and the Public Works Department.

The DPCP is the nodal agency for compliance and coordination, the tribunal said. "Footpath outside Gate No.1 is covered with human and animal excreta. The Delhi Metro Rail Corporation informed the local civic agencies including the PWD and North Delhi Municipal Corporation but with no result. There is also problem of water logging. Let a factual and action taken report be furnished by a joint committee," the bench said in a recent order. The matter is posted for next hearing on November 5.

The tribunal's direction came after taking cognisance of a news report by The Times of India about choking of drains outside the Jahangirpuri metro station.

"If choked drains, human excreta and garbage dumped right outside the station are not enough to assault your senses, the knowledge that things may not change anytime soon surely will nauseate you, what with agencies responding to the mess with their typical 'not our problem' stance," the news article said.

The article further highlights that drag-up footpaths and laying drainage pipes in the middle of the monsoon season add to the woes. "And while problems of last-mile connectivity in the city are well documented, the wait for buses or Gramin Sewa in this stinking mess is surely a test of patience. Oblivious to a notice board that warns of a ₹200 fine for urinating on the walls, one can see someone doing just that," the article said.

Rising Yamuna ruins farmers' only source of livelihood

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Several farmers, who do small farming near the Yamuna Khadar and Kisan colony area in national Capital, said they were deeply concerned as how to support their families after the rising water level of Yamuna River destroyed their crops. Several people living in the area also refused to move at relief camps set up by the Delhi Government. Though the Delhi Government agencies are leaving no stone unturned to protect people from natural calamity.

The water level in Yamuna Khadar and Kisan Colony had reached a level where several jhuggies were seen half drowned. An official told The Pioneer that people are coming to relief camps but after having their meals they are returning back to their houses which are half drowned. Though the Delhi Development Authorities (DDA) claimed that the people living in the area have constructed unauthorised houses and they don't even own land on which they are cultivating crops. Most of the people living in JJ cluster area, which have around 400 jhuggies, either work as a labourer and they do farming on a small scale to feed their families. In Yamuna Khadar market, a large number of women sell vegetables in the evening.

Devendra Kashyap (32),

Pradhan of Yamuna Khadar area said that around 200 farmers live here who are dependent on the farming. "Now due to water level rise in Yamuna they have lost their standing green vegetables crops" said Kashyap.

Sharmila (54), who is a farmer and has seven other family members, has left her house and standing crops near the river on Monday night. "I am growing vegetables in the Yamuna Khadar from past several decades. Earlier, my husband used to do this work, but after his death four years ago, I have been doing this work along with my daughters and son," she said.

Om Kumar (32), who is a driver by profession, said that the government had given lands to Yamuna Khadar for green vegetables. "The Government had given lands to Yamuna Khadar farmers for growing green vegetables only. My father Bal Krishan (60) is a farmer and he has been doing this work since his childhood. We had spent around ₹25,000-30,000 and no official has come to meet us regarding our lost till now," he said.

"We vacated our houses after the authorities told us about the situation. I had been living for last five years near Old Yamuna Bridge. Due to rise on sudden water level we have lost many things in our house which were made by hard earned money," said Hemawati (34).

Residents find ways to quench thirst from submerged taps

CHANDAN PRAKASH ■ NEW DELHI

With flood water inundating low lying areas of North Delhi on Tuesday, residents are faced with hardship with some being shifted to relief camps. However, among them there are some who are reluctant to move to other places have taken shelter on the top floor in the hope that water will not increase further. They have continued to reside in their submerged houses.

Residents of Yamuna Bazar were seen struggling to get drinking water as taps on ground floor were submerged in water. Ramadhar, a resident of Yamuna Bazar got out with innovative solution by adding a plastic pipe to the tap installed on road side to get the drinking water. In these areas, usually taps are installed at ground floor and all have gone under water and even not visible.

Around 600 jhuggis on the bank of Yamuna River near Shastri Park and Kisan Colony and several people living in unauthorised constructed houses in Yamuna Bazaar, which on bank of Yamuna River vacated their homes and moved to safer places on Tuesday.

Many among them were still not prepared to leave their homes even after water entered in their houses, hoping that the level of water will not increase further. They were also seen shifting their belongings to the top floor of their houses.

"We do not have any other option other than facing the situation every year. I cannot even move out from here under any circumstances as we have accumulated hard earned valuables. Where should we go leaving everything behind?" said Menu Kumari.

Sharing the plight, Hemlata (50), a resident of Kisan colony said that despite the government agencies requesting them to move to secure relief camps, all the residents of Kisan colony refused and opted to stay in their homes. "We have shifted our furniture and other household items on the top floor of our house. We will not leave our things behind as it can be robbed. The water is going to recede so now no point in shifting," she added.

The Yamuna River flows through six districts of Delhi whose low-lying areas are prone to flooding. The administration has taken all the precautionary measures to tackle any eventualities.

AAP to protest against demolition of Ravidas temple

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Aam Aadmi Party's (AAP) has decided to stage a protest against DDA (Delhi Development Authority) at Jantar Mantar for "demolishing" Sant Ravidas temple in South east Delhi's Tughlakabad area. The party MLAs will raise the issue in the Delhi Assembly session starting Thursday.

Delhi Social Welfare Minister Rajendra Pal Gautam said that AAP workers from Haryana and Punjab will be also participating in the protest. Gautam also alleged that the BJP-led central government had stopped the entry of passenger trains into Delhi from Haryana and Punjab in order to prevent people from coming to the national capital to lodge their protest against the demolition.

"Despite my letter to the Prime Minister on August 12 and two days of protests at the BJP headquarters, the central Government has not taken any proactive measure to solve the issue of the demolition of the Sant Ravidas temple," he said.

Gautam also said "The BJP government is trying to subdue the voices of Dalits on this issue. The union government has resorted to repressive steps like stopping buses and nearly 15 passenger trains from Punjab, Haryana, Uttar Pradesh and Rajasthan in order to prevent people from joining the protest."

The protest will be held in a peaceful manner, the minister said, adding that Union government breached the trust of Dalits and failed to take everyone on board as it always claims.

The DDA in a statement issued earlier said the "structure was removed as per the orders of the Supreme Court". "The standing semi-permanent structure was dismantled peacefully without any resistance or use of force in the presence of Guru Ravi Das Jayanti Samaroh Samiti members," the DDA had said in the statement.

The DDA had said the Apex court in a case titled 'Guru Ravi Das Jayanti Samaroh Samiti vs Union of India', had on August 9 observed that "serious breach" has been committed by the Samiti by not vacating the forest area as earlier ordered by the court.

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The Delhi Government has finally flagged off the first lot of 25 new buses of the 1,000 standard floor buses fitted with hydraulic lifts to facilitate disabled persons.

The buses were flagged off by the Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal and he said that in next seven-eight months, 3,000 new buses, including 1,000 e-buses, will be rolled out in the city. "In the last seven-eight years no new buses were added to the public transport system. But, in the coming seven-eight months, 3,000 new buses will be delivered," he said.

The ceremony was also attended by the Transport

Minister Kailash Gahlot and Delhi Chief Secretary Vijay Dev. "Who had ever thought that there would be petitions filed against increasing the bus fleet for improving public transport of Delhi? We had to fight till the Supreme Court, but we are happy that finally the buses are here," said Gahlot.

The 25 new disabled friendly buses are equipped with three CCTV cameras, GPS, and 16 panic buttons.

The lot of 125 buses will be arriving in September and the entire 100 buses will be rolled by end of this year. The vehicles will add to the fleet of 1,679 buses under the cluster scheme of Delhi Integrated Multi Modal Transit System (DIMTS). The chief minister said that the delivery of 1,000 e-buses, being procured by the government, will begin from February.

Roll out of first batch of 385 e-buses is expected in February 2020. The remaining 615 e-buses will be procured in next phases, said the official.

The tenders for 1000 low floor air conditioned buses for Delhi Transport Corporation (DTC) have been floated. The government is also moving to induct 1,000 low floor air conditioned buses under the cluster scheme. AAP rebel MLA Sandeep Kumar disqualified

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Rebel Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) MLA and former Minister Sandeep Kumar was disqualified under the anti-defection law by Delhi Assembly Speaker Ram Niwas Goel on Tuesday. Kumar, who faced the action for supporting the Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) in the Lok Sabha elections, is the fourth legislator of Delhi's ruling party to be disqualified in less than a month.

"Sandeep Kumar, the respondent in this case, an elected member of the sixth Legislative Assembly of the National Capital Territory of Delhi, elected from Sultanpur Majra, Assembly Constituency No.10, has become subject to disqualification under Paragraph 2 (1) (a) of the Tenth Schedule of the Constitution," the statement said. The Speaker announced his decision on a petition by AAP MLA and party spokesperson Saurabh Bharadwaj. "Suspended MLA Sandeep Kumar, a disgrace, finally disqualified," Bharadwaj said in a tweet, sharing a copy of the Delhi Assembly statement. "This itself is sufficient proof to disqualify him from the Delhi Assembly. Rest all are stories cooked up by him. He is good at imagining stories and making his own films," Bhardwaj had said.

The strength of legislators in the 70-member House has reduced to 66 after the disqualification of the four AAP MLAs. Earlier, rebel AAP MLAs Kapil Mishra, Anil Bajpai and Divinder Sehrawat were disqualified from the Delhi Assembly for supporting the BJP in the general elections.

Conduct awareness drive on water conservation, Govt directs schools

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The Delhi Government has directed schools in the national Capital to conduct awareness activities for students on water scarcity and importance of conserving water resources.

"Recent studies and reports by various agencies and institutes have indicated scarcity of water resource is increasing day by day in most parts of the country.

In order to mobilize the community at large regarding the importance of conserving water resource, 'Jan Andolan' for various activities related to water conservation will be held in each school on August 23," the Directorate of Education (DoE) said in a letter to schools.

Students of all schools from class 6 onwards have to be roped in as "awareness ambassadors" to carry out mass awareness creation and community education activities including rallies, nukkad natak, plantation drives, workshops and seminars as a part of "Jal Shakti Abhiyan".

"All works and projects which are to be undertaken under Jal Shakti Abhiyan to be geotagged and data or pictures before and after of the same are to be taken and a record of the same is to be maintained at school level," the DoE letter said.

State BJP registers 15L members under membership drive so far

SAPNA SINGH ■ NEW DELHI

In final lap of its membership enrolment drive, Delhi Bhartiya Janta Party (BJP) has registered 15 lakh members so far and with this number, the national Capital is on top achieving the target on the basis of membership percentage.

Buoyed by the ground swell for the Delhi BJP, the state leaders feel that party's chances at the hustings would be far better with the increasing number of members who have joined the party in the ongoing 'membership drive'.

Talking to The Pioneer at state BJP office at Pt Marg, leaders said the numbers are game changer for the upcoming high decibel Delhi Assembly elections as the remarkable increase in the numbers will further enhance the vote percentage upto 36 percent which is now 33 percent.

A swing of three percent in overall polled votes will brighten the chances of the BJP in winning the crucial assembly polls which are due in February, 2019.

On the successful completion of membership drive, Delhi BJP President Manoj Tiwari said that several Congress and Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) leaders have joined BJP as primary members of the party.

"BJP party is transparent, effective and leaders of BJP are open for booth level workers," said Tiwari. "For the large number of participation, credit should go to workers who visited door to door and contact Delhi people," Tiwari added.

In Delhi, the new membership drive was launched on July 7, and the deadline was set for August 11. The deadline was extended later keeping Monsoon session of the Parliament.

"At times when Congress is faced with the leadership crisis after the sad demise of former chief minister and Delhi Congress president Sheila Dikshit and chances of outsiders are emerging to lead the beleaguered party, the increase in number of BJP members may favor the party in upcoming elections," said Harshdeep Malhotra, the co-incharge of BJP's membership drive in the National Capital.

This may be recalled that the national membership campaign was launched by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in Varanasi district of Uttar Pradesh on the birth anniversary of Syama Prasad Mukherjee on July 6.

Malhotra also said that 22000 members also enrolled with the party as active members.

"Membership drive is cost free, earlier it was decided that people registering with BJP may pay ₹5 to ₹1000 as donation, later it was decided that membership should be free," said the BJP leader.

Meanwhile, BJP has initiated election process and will decide names for important party posts.

To counter Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal and Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) National convener, BJP will decide the names of MLAs.

ABVP criticised for installing Savarkar's statue in DU without permission

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Ahead of the Delhi University students' union polls, the RSS-affiliated ABVP on Tuesday installed statues of Veer Savarkar, Subhash Chandra Bose and Bhagat Singh 'without due permission' outside the gate of the varsity's Arts Faculty in north campus. The move has been criticised by the Congress-affiliated NSUI and Left-backed AISA which said Savarkar cannot be kept on the same pedestal as Bose and Singh.

ABVP-led Delhi University Students' Union president Shakti Singh said they had approached the varsity administration repeatedly for permission to install the statues but there was no response from it.

"We had been approaching the administration for permission since November last year but there has been no response. I requested them for permission again on August 9 but to no avail. Their silence forced us to take the step," he said.

Singh said they will protest

if the administration tries to remove the statues. National Students' Union of India's Delhi unit president Akshay Lakra criticised the ABVP move, saying, "You cannot put Savarkar on the same pedestal as Bhagat Singh and Subhash Chandra Bose."

"If the statues are not removed within 24 hours, we will launch a strong protest," he added.

All India Students' Association's Delhi unit president Kawalpreet Kaur too concurred with Lakra. "In the garb of Bhagat Singh and Subhash Chandra Bose, they are trying to give legitimacy to Savarkar's ideas. This is not acceptable.

The place they have put up the statue is not a private property but a public land," she said.

The land falls under the jurisdiction of the North Delhi Municipal Corporation (NDMC).

No immediate reaction was available from the varsity. The DU students' union polls will be held next month though the dates for the same have not yet been announced.

₹4.4K cr aid to natural calamity-hit States

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Centre has released Rs 4,432 crore to Odisha, Karnataka and Himachal Pradesh as financial assistance for the damage caused by natural calamities — cyclone Fani and drought in these states during the last financial year. Of these, Rs 3338.22 crore is for Odisha for the damage caused by the cyclone Fani, Rs 1029.39 crore is for Karnataka for drought and Rs 64.49 crore is for Himachal Pradesh for avalanches and hailstorm during 2018-19.

A high-level committee headed by Union Home Minister Amit Shah approved the release of the amount.

The Home Ministry has also set up a high an Inter-Ministerial Central Team (IMCT) to assess the damages in Assam, Meghalaya, Tripura, Bihar, Uttarakhand, Himachal Pradesh, Gujarat, Rajasthan, Maharashtra, Karnataka and Kerala due to recent floods. At present, the IMCT visits the affected state only once after the receipt of memorandum from the state. Cabinet Secretary P K Sinha on Tuesday chaired a high-level meeting of top officials and reviewed the prevailing flood situation in Himachal Pradesh, Punjab, Haryana, Uttarakhand and Delhi.

As many as 1300 people have died and over 60,000 villages are affected across the country due to flood since the onset of the monsoon from June. While the southern states of Karnataka and Kerala are still dealing with the destruction, northern India is now bracing for the worst. A flood alert has also been sounded in parts of Delhi, Haryana, Punjab, and Uttar Pradesh with the Yamuna and other rivers in spate.

In a statement, the Home Ministry said the funds will be disbursed from the National Disaster Response Fund (NDRF). This additional assistance is over and above the funds released by Centre in the State Disaster Response Fund (SDRF) already placed at the disposal of states. The decision was taken at meeting of the Shah-chaired committee and attended by Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar and senior officers of the Ministries of Home, Finance, Agriculture and NITI Aayog.

"The Centre had released Rs 9,658 crore to all states in 2018-19. This year till date, it has released Rs 6,104 crore to 24 states from the State Disaster Response Fund (NDRF). This additional assistance is over and above the funds released by Centre in the State Disaster Response Fund (SDRF) already placed at the disposal of states," it said. The committee has decided that the IMCT will henceforth be constituted immediately in the aftermath of any natural calamity of severe nature, which will visit the affected areas in the state so as to have first hand assessment of damages caused and relief work carried out by the state administration.

The IMCT will again visit the state after submission of the memorandum for detailed assessment of the damage and relief operations conducted for making final recommendations for allocation of additional funds.

Days after Prime Minister Narendra Modi gave a clarion call for making the country free from plastic nuisance, the Lok Sabha Secretariat banned the use of non-reusable plastic water bottles and other plastic items within the Parliament complex with immediate effect.

All officers and staff of the Secretariat and other allied agencies working in the Parliament House Complex have been asked to comply with the directions, the secretariat said in a statement here.

They have also been advised to use environment friendly biodegradable bags and other material, it added. "This initiative by the Lok Sabha Secretariat is a step towards the call by the Prime Minister to the nation to make the country free from plastics," it said.

In his Independence Day speech from the Red Fort ramparts recently, the Prime Minister had urged citizens to abandon the use of single-use plastic and take significant steps to achieve this objective by October 2, when the country celebrates the 150th birth anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi.

As per the 2017-18 CPCB report, Gujarat generated the highest 2.69 lakh TPA (tonnes per annum) plastic waste followed by Uttar Pradesh at 2.06 lakh TPA.

India, France to clear roadmap for cyber security during Modi visit

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

India and France are expected to finalise a roadmap to ensure closer cooperation in digital and cyber security sphere during Prime Minister Narendra Modi's two-day visit to Paris beginning Thursday.

The two sides will also explore new areas of cooperation such as artificial intelligence, super computing and developing digital technology among others, informed sources said.

However, the main focus during Modi's visit will be to further strengthen strategic ties in key sectors such as defence, nuclear energy and maritime security, they said.

France is expected to look for supply of more Rafale fighter jets to India, the sources said. India and France signed an Euro 7.87-billion (Rs 59,000 crore approximately) deal on September 23, 2016 for 36 Rafale jets. The delivery of the aircraft will start from next month.

The sources said ways to deepen cooperation to check flow of funds for terror activities will be another key area of discussion.

Modi will pay a two-day

State visit to France from August 22 during which he will hold talks with French President Emmanuel Macron.

From France, the prime minister will proceed for bilateral visits to the UAE and Bahrain, and will return to the French city of Biarritz on August 25 to attend the G7 Summit, where India has been invited as a partner country.

Modi will arrive in France on Thursday evening and straightaway head for talks with Macron, who will also host a working dinner for the PM.

The next day, Modi will meet French Prime Minister Edouard Charles Philippe, address an event of Indian community at the UNESCO headquarters in Paris, and also inaugurate a memorial in Nid D'Aigle for Indian victims of two tragic air crashes of Air India flights in 1950 and 1966.

The two sides are likely to adopt a specific roadmap for cooperation in the areas of digital and cyber security besides deliberating on data protection, the sources said.

The discussions are expected to broadly focus on reaffirming France and India as the key strategic and like-minded partners, strengthening of defence partnership, including future defence acquisitions, Secretary (Economic Relations) in the External Affairs Ministry T S Tirumurti said on Monday.

Strengthening bilateral engagement in key areas of strategic cooperation such as defence, nuclear energy, space, counterterrorism, maritime security, cyber security, International Solar Alliance, and joint development projects will also be deliberated upon, he said at a media briefing.

Will take Kashmir to ICJ, says Pak Minister Qureshi

Islamabad: Pakistan on Tuesday said it will approach the International Court of Justice (ICJ) over the Kashmir issue, weeks after India revoked the special status to Jammu and Kashmir.

Pakistan's decision comes days after a rare closed-door consultations on Kashmir by the UNSC which ended without any outcome or statement, dealing a huge snub to Islamabad and its all-weather ally China to internationalise the issue. An overwhelming majority in the UNSC stressed Kashmir is a bilateral matter between New Delhi and Islamabad.

"An in-principle decision has been taken to take the issue of Kashmir to the International Court of Justice," Foreign Minister Shah Mehmood Qureshi told ARY News TV. "The decision was taken after considering all legal aspects," he added.

He said the law ministry would soon issue more details. Separately, the Special Assistant to the Prime Minister on Information, Firdous Ashiq Awan, told reporters that the Cabinet in-principle granted approval of the decision to take the Kashmir issue to the ICJ.

The case will be filed on the basis of alleged violation of human rights in Kashmir, she said, adding that the government has also decided to hire services of lawyers of international repute to file and pursue the case.

Earlier this month, Prime Minister Imran Khan told a rare joint sitting of Pakistan's Parliament that he will raise the Kashmir issue at every forum including the UN Security Council and also take the matter to the ICJ.

Tensions between India and Pakistan spiked after India abrogated provisions of Article 370 of the Constitution to withdraw Jammu and Kashmir's special status and bifurcated it into two Union Territories, evoking strong reactions from Pakistan.

India has categorically told the international community that the scrapping of Article 370 of the Constitution to revoke the special status of Jammu and Kashmir was an internal matter and also advised Pakistan to accept the reality.

Yamuna to witness peak & trough today

More than 14,000 people living in low-lying areas along the Yamuna in the city have been evacuated by the Government agencies till Tuesday.

The East district administration has deputed SDMs, senior district administration official, civil defense volunteers, district disaster management authority personnel besides divers and mechanised boats at sensitive locations in the districts.

The authorities also claimed that unlike 1978, there is no danger of the Yamuna breaching its embankments. The water level in 1978, September, 2010 and June, 2013 (the year in which Kedarnath deluge) had crossed the level of 207 meters.

In June 2013, when there were many districts along the coastline of Yamuna in National Capital were seen flooded, Haryana had released 8.1 lakh cusecs of water that had resulted in raising the water level to 207.3 meters.

Similarly on August 18 this year, Haryana had once again released 8.3 lakh cusecs of water, which is the highest till date, due to heavy rain in upstream areas of Uttarakhand.

Since 2014, the Road Transport and Highways Ministry approved approximately 72,000 km of State roads to be declared as national highways. While 19,000 km have been notified, remaining 53,000 km has been given "in-principle approval".

As per information shared by Nitin Gadkari in Parliament, from 91,287 km in March 2014, the total length of NH has increased to 1,32,500 km as of 22 July 2019. This figure, however, does not include the 53,000 km of State roads, which were given "in-principle" approval to be declared as NHs, and the 19,000 km that were notified as NH.

For 2019-20, the Ministry has projected a revenue deficit of over Rs 37,000 crore to the Finance Ministry.

According to a National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) official, currently developing of a two-lane highway per kilometer stands between Rs 11 crore to Rs 12 crore, while for a four-lane highway, it is approximately Rs 30 crore per km.

Before 2014, an inter-ministerial group comprising the Planning Commission, and the Finance and Road ministries used to discuss and decide if the road was fit to be declared a National Highway.

Now in the absence of rules, the decision to declare a State road as NH was being done arbitrarily ultimately making a dent in finances of Road Ministry.

Nath's...

The Court, however, said it will pass the orders after hearing arguments from both the sides.

The agency had on Monday told the court that Puri was evading from the case.

Puri was already under the probe scanner of the agency in connection with the high-profile AgustaWestland VVIP chopper scam and was facing a non bailable warrant issued by a court after the ED submitted to it that the businessman might try to tamper with the evidence and influence witnesses "as he already did earlier".

However, the Delhi High Court had on August 14 granted interim protection from arrest to Ratul Puri till Tuesday.

The latest PMLA case against Puri is an outcome of the CBI FIR of August 17, where Ratul Puri, his father Deepak Puri, MD of Moser Baer, mother Nita (MP CM Kamal Nath's sister and Whole Time Director of Moser Baer) and others were booked in connection with a Rs 354 crore bank fraud case filed by the Central Bank of India.

The CBI had carried out multiple searches in pursuance of this FIR on Sunday.

The Puri family, other Moser Baer directors Sanjay Jain and Vineet Sharma were booked by the CBI for alleged criminal conspiracy, cheating, forgery and corruption. Ratul Puri was booked in this case in his capacity as the then Executive Director of Moser Baer India Limited (MBIL), a firm promoted by his father Deepak Puri.

The company is involved in the manufacture of optical storage media like compact discs, DVDs, solid state storage devices.

In its complaint, the bank claimed that the company and its directors forged and fabricated documents to induce the Central Bank of India to release funds to the company.

"MBIL has caused unlawful loss to our bank to the tune of Rs 354.51 crore as on November 29, 2014 and interest thereon by getting unlawful gains," said the bank's complaint which is now part of the CBI FIR.

Ratul Puri is facing criminal investigation by ED, CBI and the Income Tax department.

The tax department has attached a number of his alleged 'benami' assets in the recent past and has charged him with benefiting from the purported kickbacks generated in the Rs 3,600 crore VVIP choppers deal that was scrapped by the Government in 2014 on charges of corruption.

Meanwhile, the Delhi High Court on Tuesday dismissed anticipatory bail plea of Ratul Puri in the PMLA case relating to AgustaWestland chopper scam.

Rajnath calls US Def Secy, raises Pak terrorism

ABROGATION OF ARTICLE 370 FOR J&K INTERNAL MATTER: ESPER

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

A day after Prime Minister Narendra Modi flagged the issue of Pakistan's rhetoric over Jammu and Kashmir during his telephonic conversation with US President Donald Trump, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh on Tuesday held talks with his US counterpart Mark T Esper on the phone and raised the issue of cross-border terrorism. The US Defence Secretary termed abrogation of special status under Article 370 for Jammu and Kashmir as internal matter of India.

Congratulating Esper over his appointment as the new Defence Secretary, Singh raised the issue of cross-border terrorism directed against India, officials said. Singh also conveyed to Esper that issues relating to abrogation of provisions of Article 370 of the Constitution are internal matters of India.

He also said the steps to remove Article 370 are aimed at improving growth and economic development, democracy and prosperity for the people of Jammu and Kashmir.

"The US secretary of defence appreciated India's position that the recent developments in Jammu and Kashmir are internal matter of India. He hoped that any issue between India and Pakistan will be resolved bilaterally," defence ministry officials said later.

Both the Ministers expressed happiness at the significant progress in bilateral defence cooperation and reaffirmed their commitment to strengthen and deepen the relations further. They exchanged views on a range of issues related to military-to-military cooperation, defence policy, R&D cooperation, defence trade, technology and industrial cooperation.

The IAF had carried out the strikes in February in retaliation after 40 Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF) personnel were killed in a suicide attack in Pulwama.

"We are all aware that the Indian (Air) Force is a technologically advanced and extremely potent force. The recent offensive strikes against terrorist outfits in our neighbourhood speak volumes about the reach and lethality of the formidable arm of the Indian armed forces," Singh said in his address at an IAF seminar here on indigenisation and modernisation.

IAF chief stresses on modernisation, says force still flying 44-yr-old MiG

New Delhi: Stressing the need for faster modernisation of the IAF, Air Chief BS Dhanoa on Tuesday said the force is still flying the 44-year-old MiG-21 fighter jets when "nobody is driving cars of that vintage". He said this in the presence of Defence Minister Rajnath Singh during a seminar on modernisation and indigenisation. The Air Chief said the basic version of the fighter jet will be phased out this year. "Hopefully, I will fly the last sortie in September, subject to visibility," he said. The aircraft was in service for decades because of the overhauling using Indian-made components. "Over 95 per cent of components required in overhauling is made in India. The Russians are not flying the MiG but we are because we have overhaul facilities," he said. The MiG-21s were inducted into the IAF in the early 70s and several aviation experts besides services personnel were for last many years stressing the need for phasing out the jet. More than 100 MiG-21s were upgraded in 2006 to MiG-21 Bison with powerful multi-mode radar, better avionics and communications systems. Dhanoa has flown the MiG-21. In May 2017, he led a four-aircraft 'Missing Man' formation in honour of the servicemen killed during the Kargil conflict.

said a formal government order will be issued shortly to various bottlenecks in the way of using testing facilities by private entities.

RSS CHIEF'S RESERVATION REMARK

Athawle, Paswan dismiss Bhagwat's comment, say quota constitutional right

There is no need to discuss it: RPI, LJP leaders

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

In the backdrop of RSS head Mohan Bhagwat again stirring the reservation debate, the chiefs of the ruling National Democratic Alliance (NDA) constituents, Republican Party of India (RPI)'s Ramdas Athawale and Lok Janshakti Party (LJP)'s Ram Vilas Paswan, on Tuesday, dismissed any discussion on the issue saying "there is no need for it".

Both the Dalit leaders, who are also Union Ministers, asserted that reservation was a "Constitutional right" and there was no case for re-visiting the subject.

Dalit group Bhim Army leader Chandrashekhar Azad also joined issue challenging the RSS chief to an open debate on the issue of reservation even as he sought a discussion on the abolition of caste system which, he said, has "hollowed out" the country.

Catering to the exclusive Dalit constituency, Paswan said that Prime Minister Narendra Modi has reiterated it many times that it cannot be tampered with. "There is no need for any debate on reservation. This is now available even to the upper castes poor so it is impossible that it will be ended," he told reporters. Paswan, however, did not react directly to Bhagwat's comments, saying he had not got details of his remarks.

"Opposition parties are trying to fuel a controversy. But I believe their lies are not going to cut ice with the people," Paswan claimed.

Union minister and RPI leader Ramdas Athawale also rejected the need for a debate on reservation in the country and said the Modi government should not be perceived as anti-Dalit.

Addressing a press conference in Kolkata, Athawale also said reservation has been pro-

RSS has dangerous intentions, says Priyanka Gandhi

New Delhi: The RSS' clarification notwithstanding, Congress leader Priyanka Gandhi Vadra on Tuesday accused the Sangh of having "dangerous intentions", and said its chief Mohan Bhagwat pitching for a debate on reservation was just an excuse but the real target of the RSS-BJP is social justice. "The confidence of the RSS is high and intentions are dangerous. At a time when the BJP government is throttling pro-people laws, the RSS has also raised the issue of debate on reservation," she said in a tweet in Hindi.

vided by the Constitution and no one can take it away from the backward section of the society. "Whatever Mohan Bhagwatji had said the RSS has clarified it. I want to assure the Dalits of this country that there is no question of debate or rethinking on the issue of reservation.

The RSS on Monday dismissed as "needless" the row over Bhagwat's remarks, asserting that he merely stressed on the need for mutual talks in harmony within society to address any issue.

Azad claimed that 54 per cent of the people belonging to Scheduled Castes do not own any land in the country, while a particular caste dominates and enjoys all privileges. "He (Bhagwat) wants the issue to be discussed among those who are against reservation. I challenge him to hold a debate in front of the media and all concerned. We want to tell people about all that we (Dalits) have suffered because of the caste system. He should come armed with all statistics," Chandrashekhar said.

Bhagwat on Sunday said there should be conversation on reservation between those who are in its favour and those who are against it. The RSS head hit a similar controversy when BJP was in the thick of Bihar electoral contest in 2015.

'Housing for All' target under PMAY-Urban will be achieved in 2020: Hardeep Singh Puri

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Union Minister for Housing and Urban Affairs Hardeep Singh Puri on Tuesday said the target of 'Housing for All' under Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana-Urban (PMAY-Urban) will be achieved in 2020, two years before the deadline. The Minister said that under the PMAY-Urban, 24 lakh houses have so far been handed over to beneficiaries and the number will soon reach 50 lakh.

There are 48 lakh houses which are currently grounded, but this number will also rise to 75 lakh, Puri told reporters on the sidelines of an event.

"We had decided to build one crore houses by 2022. We have already sanctioned around 84 lakh houses and I am fully confident that by the end of this year, the entire one crore houses will be sanctioned," the minister said.

"We have also received additional assessment demand of constructing 12 lakh more houses...The target of 2022 will be achieved in early 2020," he added.

The minister exuded confidence that government will be able to fast track completion work of houses under the PMAY (Urban). Addressing the 15th National Convention of NAREDCO, Puri said the enactment of real estate law -- RERA, "builder-politician nexus" has been broken, and that home-buyers will no longer be at the mercy of anyone.

Linking profile with Aadhaar: SC to hear FB's plea for transfer of cases

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Tuesday agreed to hear a plea of Facebook Inc for transfer of cases related to demands for linking of social media profiles of users with Aadhaar number, pending before the high courts of Madras, Bombay and Madhya Pradesh to the apex court.

The top court issued notice to the Centre, Google, Twitter, YouTube and others and sought their response by September 13.

A bench of justices Deepak Gupta and Aniruddha Bose said the notices to unserved parties should be sent through e-mail.

The bench said the hearing in cases related to linkage of social media user profiles with 12-digit Aadhaar number, the Biometric Unique Identity, pending before the Madras

High Court will continue but no final order will be passed.

Attorney General KK Venugopal, appearing for the Tamil Nadu government told the bench that the Madras High Court has conducted 18 hearings so far and it should be allowed to conclude the argument and deliver the verdict in the cases.

Senior advocates Mukul Mohatgi and Kapil Sibal, appearing for Facebook and instant messaging app WhatsApp, respectively, said whether service providers can be asked to share data with probe agencies to help them in criminal investigation needs to be decided by the apex court as it will have a global effect.

They said that both in Facebook and WhatsApp are international companies having their operation in over 150 countries and any findings by the Madras High Court would have a bearing on their global operations.

Venugopal referred to the Blue Whale game and said several young lives were lost due to directions given by the curator.

He said governments did not get any clue about the curator in the Blue Whale game and therefore it is necessary to find out who is the originator of such messages on social media which are defamatory, terror-oriented or fake news.

Both Facebook and WhatsApp told the bench that Blue Whale game has nothing to do with their platforms and if data is shared with third parties, it will be a breach of privacy.

To this, the bench said it seems to be a conflict between right to privacy and right to govern the country and the court has to maintain a balance between the two.

Home Ministry allays fears on Assam NRC non-inclusion

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Seeking to allay apprehensions, the Union Home Ministry on Tuesday said non-inclusion of a person's name in the final list of NRC does not by itself amount to him or her being declared a foreigner. It assured that adequate arrangements have been made for appeal against it.

The ministry also said it will amend the rules to increase the time limit of filing of appeals in foreigners tribunals (FTs) from 60 to 120 days for those who would be excluded from the final National Register of Citizens, a list of Assam's residents to be published on August 31.

The decisions were taken at a high-level meeting chaired by Union Home Minister Amit Shah and attended by Assam Chief Minister Sarbananda Sonowal and others here on Monday. In a statement, the ministry said under the provisions of Foreigners Act 1946 and Foreigners (Tribunals) Order 1964, only foreigners tribunals are empowered to declare a person foreigner. "Thus, non-inclusion of a person's name in NRC does not by itself amount to him/her being declared as a foreigner," it said.

In order to facilitate the persons excluded from NRC, adequate number of such tribunals is being established at convenient locations. "It has been decided that state government would also make arrangements to provide legal aid to the needy people amongst those excluded from NRC. As it may not be possible for all those excluded from final NRC to file the appeal within the prescribed time, the MHA will amend the rules to increase the present time limit of filing of appeals in FTs from 60 days to 120 days regarding exclusion from final NRC," the statement said.

At the meeting, it was also decided that adequate arrangements will be made by the state government to provide full opportunity to people excluded from the NRC list to appeal. "Every individual, whose name does not figure in the final NRC, can represent his/her case in front of the appellate authority i.e. Foreigner tribunals," it said. The Citizenship (Registration of Citizens and Issue of National Identity Cards) Rules, 2003 are also being amended accordingly.

When the draft NRC was published on July 30, 2018, there was a huge controversy over the exclusion of 40.7 lakh people from it. The draft NRC included the names of 2.9 crore people out of the total 3.29 crore applications. In the list published in June 2019, over a lakh more people were excluded. The final list of the NRC will be published on August 31.

The Supreme Court-monitored NRC exercise, aimed at identifying illegal immigrants in the state that borders Bangladesh, was carried out only in Assam, which faced influx of people from Bangladesh since the early 20th century. When the NRC was first prepared in Assam in 1951, the state had 80 lakh citizens. According to the 2011 census, Assam's total population is over 3.11 crore.

Yadav and Mather are poll in-charges for Maharashtra and Jharkhand respectively.

BJP working president J P Nadda and its newly appointed general secretary (organization) B L Santosh also attended the deliberations.

BJP general secretary Anil Jain, also the organisational in-charge for Haryana, said the leaders reviewed strategy and programme for the elections.

Amend discriminatory laws against leprosy patients, urges Min

Harsh Vardhan writes letter to Law & Social Justice Mins respectively

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

While on the one hand the Centre is taking all efforts to ensure early detection of leprosy cases given that the disease is 100% curable, on the other, there still exists at least 108 discriminatory laws--three Union Laws and 105 State Laws--against persons affected by the disease. Though the number of leprosy cases have steadily declined worldwide, an estimated 2,00,00,000 cases continue to be reported every year, with India accounting for more than a half mainly because of the prevalent stigma associated with the disease.

Taking the matter with the Union Ministers of Law and Justice and Social Justice and Empowerment, Ravi Shankar Prasad and Thaawarchand Gehlot respectively, Dr Harsh Vardhan, Union Minister for Health and Family Welfare on Tuesday wrote a letter to the two Union Ministers as well as to the States urging them to amend the existing discriminatory laws against persons affected with leprosy.

"A leprosy affected person after treatment does not hence, transmit the disease agent. Hence, there exists no justification for the continued stigmatisation of the persons affected by leprosy," Dr Harsh Vardhan pointed out.

"It will be a befitting tribute to the Father of the Nation on his 150th Birth Anniversary if we can expedite the process and introduce in Parliament the Elimination of Discrimination against Persons Affected by Leprosy (EDPAL) Bill, which was drafted by the Law Commission of India," the Minister said as he recalled that the Global Leprosy Strategy, 2016 - 2020 target is to reduce the number of countries with laws allowing discrimination on the ground of leprosy to zero.

The Minister's letter comes months after the Lok Sabha passed a Bill doing away with leprosy as grounds for divorce.

Gandhi Peace Prize winner and the World Health Organization Goodwill Ambassador for Leprosy Elimination Yohei Sasakawa too had recently stressed that discriminatory laws against people with leprosy that still exists in India need to go immediately.

Dr Harsh Vardhan has also shot off a letter to the Chief Ministers of 23 States/UTs including Andhra Pradesh/Telangana, Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, Odisha, Goa/Daman & Diu, Kerala, Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh, Sikkim, Meghalaya, Haryana, West Bengal, Uttar Pradesh, Gujarat, Assam, Maharashtra, Bihar, Puducherry, Delhi, Rajasthan and North Eastern Region and Governor of J&K to work for the amendments of the existing discriminatory laws against the sector.

On its part, the Union Health Ministry has initiated various measures under the National Leprosy Eradication Programme (NLEP) to control leprosy such as Leprosy Case Detection Campaign (LCDC) (specific for high endemic districts), Focused Leprosy Campaign (for hot spots i.e., rural and urban areas), special plan for case detection in hard to reach areas, ASHA based Surveillance for Leprosy Suspects (ABSLS) that have contributed to early case detection.

"Moreover, leprosy has become fully curable by Multi-Drug Therapy (MDT), being available free of cost at all the government health care facilities," said Dr Harsh Vardhan.

Welcoming the Ministry's initiative, Sasakawa - India Leprosy Foundation (S-ILF) Executive Director, Dr Vineeta Shanker said that the passage of the Edpal bill will be a huge step forward in removing any legal basis for discrimination and will also help to change mindsets and social perception about the disease which is fully curable.

Allegations of Extortion During Terror Funding Case Probe

NIA begins enquiry against agency's three officials

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The NIA has initiated an enquiry into allegations of attempted extortion by three officials of the agency during a probe into the terror funding by Pakistan-based Falah-e-Insaniyat Foundation, a front run by Lashkar-e-Tayyaba chief Hafiz Sayeed of 26/11 Mumbai terror attack infamy.

"In this matter, a complaint of misconduct was received by NIA. An enquiry into the allegations is being conducted by a DIG rank officer. In the meantime three concerned officials have been transferred out to ensure a fair probe," NIA spokesperson said in a statement.

The three officials under the scanner include an SP rank officer, one Assistant Sub-Inspector of BSF on deputation to the NIA and a finger print expert National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB) also on deputation to the counter-terrorism probe agency.

The allegation against them is that they had demanded Rs two crore bribe from a Delhi-based businessman under the NIA scanner in the FIF terror funding case for not naming him as a conspirator in the case, sources said.

The complaint against the trio was received by the NIA about a month back and they were transferred out on August 14, the sources said.

The complaint originated from an agency official who was contacted by a friend of the businessman who was allegedly being sought to be blackmailed, they added.

This is the first instance wherein such an instance of alleged blackmailing by the premier counter-terrorism probe agency has come to the fore.

The Parliament recently empowered the NIA by enacting amendments to the Act strengthening the powers of the agency. The Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act was also amended recently wherein the NIA is empowered to declare individuals as terrorists.

Azad returned to Delhi from Jammu airport

Jammu/New Delhi: Senior Congress leader Ghulam Nabi Azad was stopped at the Jammu airport on Tuesday and sent back to Delhi, a party leader said, the second time in a month the former Chief Minister was not allowed to visit Jammu & Kashmir.

PTI

Azad sahib had arrived from Delhi at around 2.45 pm and was not allowed to move out from the airport and forcibly sent back in a return flight to Delhi at 4.10 pm, state Congress chief spokesperson Ravinder Sharma told PTI. The leader of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha was not allowed to go home or attend the party meeting at state Congress headquarters either, Azad's close aides said. The Congress leader will return back to Delhi in the evening through a GoAir flight. Earlier on August 8, Azad was briefly detained and sent back from the Srinagar airport after the administration imposed restrictions following the Centre's move to scrap the state's special status and bifurcate it into Union territories. "It is unfortunate that he (Azad) is not allowed into his home state in the past two weeks," Sharma said. "He is the former Chief Minister of Jammu and Kashmir, member of Rajya Sabha from the state and leader of the Opposition in Rajya Sabha."

The Congress spokesperson said Azad just wanted to come and meet some people to know about the prevailing situation.

"Denying him permission shows that how the mainstream national party is not being allowed to interact and discuss the current situation," he said, adding that the Congress and its leaders were not "trouble-makers" that the State was behaving like this. PTI

BSY 'gets' Cabinet, 17 MLAs join as Ministers

KESTUR VASUKI ■ BENGALURU

After 25 days of uncertainty, Karnataka Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa on Tuesday expanded his Cabinet by inducting 17 members with a major share to his Lingayat community, a BJP voter base in Karnataka. Apart from Chief Minister Yediyurappa, there were seven MLAs from the Lingayat community who took oath as Cabinet Ministers in the hour-long ceremony held at Rajbhavan with Governor Vajubhai Vala administering the oath of secrecy to the new Cabinet Ministers. In this, Lakshman Savadi is not a member of any house.

In his Cabinet, Yediyurappa has kept the caste matrix in mind with seven out of 17 belonging to Lingayats and 3 to Vokkaligas. There are 4 Ministers from the SC/ST community, 2 OBCs and 1 Brahmin Minister. 4 MLAs from Bengaluru have also been allotted ministerial berths.

Staunch RSS worker Suresh Kumar, a Brahmin from Bengaluru, made it to the Cabinet. Three Vokkaligas, R Ashok, CN Ashwathnarayanan and CT Ravi have also been inducted into the new Cabinet. Govind

M Karjol, Prabhu Chavan and Independent legislator H Nagesh are from the Dalit community in the Ministry and account for nearly 25 per cent of the State's 6.5 crore population. B Sreeramulu, from the Valmiki community, is also part of the Ministry. MLA Shashikala Jolle is the lone woman Minister in the Cabinet.

Now 16 seats out of 34 are vacant as the BJP had assured the disqualified MLAs from the Congress and JD(S) that they would be rewarded for their help in forming the Government. However, it was not a smooth affair for Yediyurappa who had to face the wrath of some senior MLAs in the party who have abstained and openly expressed their dissatisfaction.

BJP MLAs, including ministerial aspirants Balachandra Jarkhiholi, Muruges Niran, MP Renukacharya, Basangouda Patil Yatnal, Umesh Katti, GH Thippareddy, and Goolihatti Shekhar have missed the swearing-in ceremony and openly expressed their displeasure. The coastal region of the state where the BJP has a big following has one representative in the cabinet with MLC Kota Srinivas Poojary a member of the large backward caste Billava community.

In a clear sign of the BJP rewarding legislators who helped the party pull down the coalition Government last month, Bangalore MLA Dr C N Ashwathnarayan, a Vokkaliga, who played a key role in moving rebel Congress and JD(S) MLAs to Mumbai for defection has been given a Cabinet berth. The Independent MLA from Mulbagal in Kolar H Nagesh, a Dalit, who has also defected to the BJP by quitting his Cabinet position in the coalition Government is being inducted.

The BJP veterans in the Cabinet are Basavaraj Bommai, Jagadish Shettar (former chief Minister), V Somanna, CC Patil, Laxman Savadi. The former JDU leader JC Madhuswamy, a Lingayat, who played a crucial role in the legislature to guide the BJP to a trust vote victory, is also in the cabinet. The Dalit leader Govind Karjol, KS Eshwarappa a backward caste Kuruba leader, R Ashoka and C T Ravi both Vokkaligas, Suresh Kumar a Brahmin, and Bellary's B Sreeramulu from a Scheduled Tribe are the other BJP veterans in the Yediyurappa Ministry. Prabhu Chavan, a Dalit MLA is a new inductee along with the lone woman Minister Shashikala Jolle.

Supporters of Hosadurga BJP MLA Goolihatti Shekhar staged protest at Hosadurga in Chitradurga district over denial of the ministerial berth to their leader. Meanwhile, another senior BJP MLA Umesh Katti expressed displeasure over missing out on Cabinet berth. He said he was ignored even though he was a senior party leader. BJP MLA S Angara from Sullia (Dakshina Kannada) is one among several sulking leaders upset over not considered for ministerial berth.

Expressing his displeasure he said that the people of his constituency had hopes of him becoming a Minister. "I have worked hard for the party and followed all set principles but if those would not turn meritorious, then I don't know what to do," he said. The six-time MLA was speculated to become Minister, filling in the slot for a Dalit Minister.

Yediyurappa, who took oath as Chief Minister on July 26 and proved his Government's majority on the floor of the Assembly on July 29. Narayan, Swamy, Chauhan and Jolle have become Ministers for the first time.

Yediyurappa became the BJP's first Chief Minister in south India after the party came to power for the first time on its own with a simple majority in May 2008. He, however, was forced to resign on July 31, 2011 after being indicted by the Lokayuktha, the State anti-corruption body, for his alleged role in the multi-crore mining scam that rocked the southern state for a decade between 2001-11. Jagdish Shettar was the BJP's third Chief Minister from September 2012 to May 2013, when the party was in power for the first time between 2008 and 2013. He has also been inducted as a Cabinet Minister.

Union Minister of Chemicals and Fertilisers DV Sadananda Gowda was the second BJP Chief Minister in the State from August 2011 to September 2012. Gowda is a two-time Lok Sabha member from Bangalore North constituency.

Kerala nun accuses catholic priest of 'humiliating' her on social media

Kochi: A Kerala nun, who supported a protest against a Bishop accused of rape, Tuesday accused a Catholic priest of Mananthavady diocese of using social media platform to "humiliate" her.

Sister Lucy Kalappura alleged that the priest, who is part of PRO team of the Mananthavady diocese of the Catholic Church, posted the CCTV visual of media persons visiting her in the convent in the social media platforms to "humiliate" her.

The nun was expelled by the Aluva-base Franciscan Clarist Congregation (FCC) early this month for her lifestyle 'in violation' of the proper law of the FCC.

Following her expulsion, the congregation had asked the nun to leave the nunnery.

The nun had on Tuesday alleged that the priest collected the CCTV visuals of media persons visiting her at the convent and made a video aiming to humiliate her in public.

She alleged the CCTV visuals were collected with the help of her fellow nuns in the FCC convent at Karackamala in Wayanad.

"In the video, he (the priest) used vulgar language to humiliate me. He did so to disgrace me, to humiliate me," Sister Kalappura told reporters outside her convent.

The nun said she would lodge a police complaint against the priest.

The Mananthavady diocese disowned the views expressed by the priest in the video, saying it was his personal views.

"Whatever the priest said in the video are his personal views. We were not consulted before posting such a video in the social media," PRO of the Diocese, Fr Jose Kocharachack, told PTI.

He said the priest, who often reacts through social media platform on issues happening in his surroundings, is a member of the PRO team of the diocese.

The issue came to light a day after the Vellamunda police registered a case against the FCC convent authorities at Karackamala following a complaint of illegal confinement by the nun.

Sister Kalappura had alleged that she was locked up in the Karackamala convent by the convent authorities to prevent her from attending the mass at the church in the neighbourhood.

The Church authorities have rejected the allegations by the nun.

The nuns who went for the holy mass had locked the doors of the convent to ensure that the safety of one of their fellow nuns who had stayed back due to her illness. PTI

Time to free Bengal from TMC: Former Didi aide

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

Former Kolkata Mayor and close Mamata Banerjee aide Sovan Chatterjee who last week left the Trinamool Congress to join the BJP on Tuesday said that an opportune time had come to liberate Bengal from the yoke of Mamata Banerjee Government which was even worse than the oppressive Left Front.

The former senior Trinamool leader said, "I worked with Mamata Banerjee since the inception of the TMC and did whatever she said without a question because we all had a dream of making a new Bengal but our dreams have shattered."

Banerjee's regime is "worse than of Left Front," he said adding "during the CPI(M) we did not see such organised violence being perpetrated on the opposition. All the Opposition parties and even those within the Trinamool Congress feel threatened and suffocated."

Chatterjee was so close to the Chief Minister at one point in time that he was given to handle three important Cabinet port-folios along with the Mayoral post apart from being entrusted with heading the South 24 Parganas district party unit.

"This is not the same Mamata Banerjee we started our journey with and this is not the same Trinamool Congress which it used to be," he said adding the party and the Government was perpetrating organised violence in the regions and "a time has come when the people should work together to liberate Bengal for the second time just as they did to free it from the Left rule in 2011."

The former Mayor had earlier said that he had raised questions "at the appropriate level" regarding rampant rigging in the rural elections where the TMC won 35 per cent of the seats unopposed.

VIOLENCE IN BENGAL

Bengal's personalities write open letter to Mamata

Kolkata: Ten personalities of West Bengal, including filmmaker Aparna Sen have written an open letter to West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee expressing anxiety over the recent violent incidents in the State.

It also noted with concern that the administration has been resorting to undemocratic means of quashing protests by the use of police brutality.

The signatories of the letter were among the 49 who had written an open letter to Prime Minister Narendra Modi on July 24 in which they had voiced their concerns over alleged rise in incidents of mob lynching across the country triggering questions on their silence during incidents of violence in West Bengal.

Actor Kaushik Sen, who is one of the signatories to the letter, told PTI on Tuesday, "We condemn the incidents of violence in West Bengal."

The letter, which was sent to Banerjee on Monday, said, "We would like to draw your attention to some extremely violent incidents that have recently taken place in West Bengal."

It referred to the police lathicharge on the demonstration by para-teachers at Kalyani in Nadia district on August 17 to press for increase in their salaries and urged her to resolve their agitation.

Some of the demonstrators had also been arrested by the police.

The letter written by 'Citizens Speak India' said, "We strongly condemn this attack by the police on educa-tionists and earnestly request you to resolve the issue in a democratic manner at the earliest."

"We have been noticing with a great deal of anxiety that instead of trying to resolve the peaceful democratic protests of teachers of this state through sane dialogue and debate, the administration has been resorting to undemocratic means of quashing these protests by the use of police brutality," the letter read.

The other signatories of the letter to Banerjee were actors Parambrata Chatterjee, Riddhi Sen, the youngest to have won the national award for the best actor, activist Bolan Gangopadhyay, commentator and social worker Mudar Patherya and theatre personality Sohag Sen. PTI

DMK lands in soup after leader's remark on J&K

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ CHENNAI

The DMK, Tamil Nadu's principal Opposition party finds itself in an unenviable situation following the remarks made by the party spokesman in a channel debate. S Saravanan, the DMK's national spokesman said during a channel discussion that Jammu & Kashmir was not an integral part of India. The party spokesman found himself at the receiving end during the debate as DMK president MK Stalin has already declared his Opposition to the BJP-led Government's decision to revoke Art 370 of the Constitution which had granted special status to Jammu & Kashmir.

The BJP saw red in the statements made by Stalin as well as Saravanan and has demanded legal action against the Dravidian party for its "anti-national" stance. Interestingly, the DMK leader Stalin has made it clear many times that his party was for a separate Dravidian nation incorporating Tamil Nadu. "It is there in the DMK constitution and it is a live issue," Stalin had said many times since 2018.

The DMK's stance on a separate Tamil nation and the party's sustained campaign for the immediate release of the assassins of former Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi has put the Congress in a spot. While the Congress party has been attacking the BJP over the abrogation of the Article 370, it is silent on the DMK's demand for the release of the seven assassins.

Schools in Muzaffarpur buying dry fruits for ₹1 per kg, eggs for ₹16 a piece!

Muzaffarpur (Bihar): Cashew nuts and raisins are being procured at a dirt cheap rate of ₹1 per kg, in sharp contrast to the prevailing market cost, for more than a dozen girls residential schools in this north Bihar district.

The prevailing market price of the two is about ₹750 per kg and ₹450 a kg respectively.

These expensive dry fruits, however, seldom find their way into the kitchens of the 16-odd Kasturba Gandhi Balika Vidyalaya units in Muzaffarpur where items consumed in bulk come overpriced.

On the other hand, Chana (Bengal gram) is purchased at an exorbitant rate of ₹199 per kg and so is chana dal while eggs come at ₹16 apiece.

Chana and chana dal are available at a price of ₹80-90 per kg in the open market, while an egg could be procured for ₹6.

This is a huge scam and, if properly investigated, may turn out to be bigger and more bizarre than the infamous fodder scam, says local resident Rajesh Kumar Singh whose RTI query on the expenses incurred by these schools blew the lid off the irregularities.

Officials have been left red-faced and ordered a probe. We have taken a serious note of the anomalies. An inquiry committee has been set up and based on its report, action will be taken against those found at fault, Amarendra Kumar Pandey, district program officer, Muzaffarpur, told reporters Tuesday.

He added only those who were part of the purchase committee which approved the agency for supply of the items can shed more light on the matter.

Singh, meanwhile, is livid and has threatened if action is not taken within two days I will refer the matter to the vigilance department.

This is organised loot and I believe similar irregularities must be taking place in all the districts across Bihar. PTI

Raj urges party supporters to keep calm after ED notice

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

Having taken in stride the notice served on him by the Enforcement Directorate in a loan default probe case, MNS chief Raj Thackeray said here on Tuesday that he would "honour" the summons issued to him and advised his party supporters to maintain calm and restraint.

A day after MNS workers threatened to storm the ED office on August 22 when he would have to remain present for questioning in connection with a probe into an alleged IL&FS loan default case, the MNS chief said that he would honour the summons and asked his supporters not to come anywhere near the investigation agency's office on Thursday.

In a statement put out in Marathi and English through his official Twitter handle, Raj said: "Right since the time of inception of Maharashtra Navnirman Sena, there have been numerous cases registered against you all and me. Each time, we have honoured the notices sent by the investigating agencies and courts of law. This time too we must honour the summons sent by the Enforcement Directorate."

"The past years have made us accustomed to cases and notices coming our way. Keeping that in mind, I earnestly request that peace and harmony is maintained on August 22," he wrote.

"No harm or damage should come upon any public property and common man should not suffer in any way. Kindly ensure that this is followed diligently. Also, do maintain calm and peace even if provoked," the MNS chief stated.

Expressing his deep gratitude towards his party workers for their "constant love and care", Raj noted: "I would like to firmly state that no party worker or Maharashtra sainik should come or assemble near the ED office" on August 22.

Through a notice, ED has summoned the MNS chief for inquiries on August 22 in connection with a probe into an alleged IL&FS-related case.

Groom fails to provide NRC credentials, wedding called off

Guwahati: A family in Silchar in Assam has called off the wedding of their daughter when the groom failed to provide his citizenship credentials.

Dilwar Hussain Laskar, of Nayagram village near Silchar was in love with a local girl and the two families had agreed to their marriage.

But trouble arose when the girl's family wanted to know from his family on August 15 whether his name was in the citizens register. "We wanted to check whether the person seeking to marry the daughter of the family is a genuine Indian citizen or an illegal foreigner staying in the country as the matter would impact her future", said a member of the girl's family. But Dilwar's name was not in the draft NRC. He was among the 40 lakh people whose name was omitted from the draft citizens register which was published in July last year.

Dilwar's family claimed that the names of all his family members are in the NRC and were hopeful that his name would be included in the final NRC to be published on August 31. The girl's family was not convinced and called off the wedding.

The final NRC is set to be published on August 31 and little is known about what happens to those whose name do not figure in it.

They can appeal at the foreigners tribunal, move the Gauhati High Court and the Supreme Court but what happens to them in the interim period is again unknown.

According to villagers the couple has eloped and the police said the woman's family has filed an FIR at Silchar police station alleging Dilwar has kidnapped her.

Investigations are on, the police added. PTI

DOCUMENT NAMING SCRIBES, OTHERS AS 'ANTI-NRC' PROPAGANDISTS

NRC authority denies any involvement

Guwahati: The NRC State Coordinator's office in Assam clarified on Tuesday that it has nothing to do with the creation or circulation of a document on social media which names journalists and human rights activists who are allegedly involved in "anti-NRC propaganda".

"It has come to the notice of the NRC authority that a document naming some journalists as being involved in anti-NRC propaganda is being circulated in social media since August 17," the National Register of Citizens (NRC) Coordinator Prateek Hajela's office tweeted. It said the clarification was issued in public interest. "It is clarified that NRC authority has nothing to do with its creation or circulation".

PTI

A document titled 'NRC: The Other Story- Truth, Reality and Conspiracy' contained several chapters on people allegedly involved in such propaganda. A chapter had the names of journalists and news organisations, while social and human rights activists and some organisations figured in other chapters. The document, which had the NRC logo, was not attributed to any organisation or authority but was circulated on various social media platforms, including Facebook, Twitter and Whatsapp.

The NRC logo on the document led to the confusion that it was issued by the NRC authority.

The final NRC is to be published on August 31. It is being updated for the first time in Assam after 1951. The Supreme Court is monitoring the exercise aimed at identifying genuine citizens of the state, which has seen influx of illegal migrants from Bangladesh over decades.

In July last year, 40,07,707 people were excluded from the complete draft of the NRC, which contained 2,89,83,677 eligible persons out of a total 3,29,91,384 applicants.

An additional 1,02,462 people were added to the list of excluded people in June.

In an effort to allay fears, the Union Home Ministry on Tuesday said non-inclusion of a person's name in the final NRC does not by itself amount to him or her being declared a foreigner, and assured that adequate arrangements have been made for appeal against it.

The ministry also said it will amend the rules to increase the time limit for filing appeals in foreigners tribunals (FTs) from 60 to 120 days for those who would be excluded from the final National Register of Citizens to be published on August 31.

The decisions were taken at a high-level meeting chaired by Union Home Minister Amit Shah and attended by Assam Chief Minister Sarbananda Sonowal and others in New Delhi on Monday. PTI

Chandrayaan-2 enters Moon orbit

Focus now on soft-landing

Bengaluru: India's Chandrayaan-2 mission, aimed at soft landing a rover in the unexplored south pole of the Moon, achieved a major milestone as the ISRO successfully injected the spacecraft into the lunar orbit on Tuesday.

"Today, the Chandrayaan-2 mission has achieved a major milestone. The precise lunar orbiter insertion manoeuvre was carried out at 9 am for about 30 minutes, precisely... injected the Chandrayaan-2 in the designated orbit," Indian Space Research Organisation chief K Sivan said here.

The insertion manoeuvre reduced the velocity of the Chandrayaan-2 from 2.4 km per second to 2.1 km per second, he added.

"For 30 minutes, our heart almost stopped," he told a press conference where he briefed about the crucial operation.

Chandrayaan-2, launched on July 22 by India's most powerful rocket GSLV MkIII-M1, had entered the Lunar Transfer Trajectory on August 14, leaving the Earth orbit. It comprises an Orbiter, Lander (Vikram) and Rover (Pragyaan).

The rover is set to make the soft landing on the Moon on September 7 and if successful the mission would make India the fourth country after Russia, the US and China to achieve the feat.

After Tuesday's exercise, the ISRO chief said the Chandrayaan-2 will go around the moon with an orbit of 140 km perigee (closest point) by 18,000 km apogee (farthest).

He added that four more

Manoeuvres will be carried out to achieve the perigee and apogee of 100 km X 100 km on September 1.

Giving an insight into the complexity involved, Sivan said there was a unique requirement for soft landing near the south pole of moon with an inclination of 90 degree, which no other missions in the past had ever achieved.

He said 'Vikram', the lander, will be separated from moon orbiter on September two.

From there onwards, the focus of ISRO will be towards the lander as all major operations will revolve around the moon lander.

A small retro orbit manoeuvre of about three seconds will be carried out on September 3 and on the next day another similar exercise of 6.5 degree will be taken up to put the lander in an orbit of 35 km perigee and 97 km of apogee.

From September 4 onwards, various parameters would be checked to ensure that all the systems were perfectly alright, Sivan added.

"Next three days, we will be taking the various parameters of the lander to ensure that everything is right and to check and verify again and again, the system is perfectly alright", he said. "On September 7 at 1.15 am the lander will be landing at a site 71 degree of moon's equator with 22.8 degree East", the ISRO chief said.

Underlining the significance of moon lander, Sivan said the landing will be a terrifying moment for him as well as the entire ISRO team given the challenges involved.

"Looking at what happened to the soft landing around the world, we are saying that the soft landing success rate is only about 27 per cent. But we have the confidence about our mission," Sivan said.

This is the second time that the ISRO has successfully carried out Lunar orbiter insertion.

Earlier in 2008, the Chandrayaan-1 spacecraft, India's first moon mission, was injected into the lunar orbit and it scripted history by making more than 3,400 orbits around the Moon. PTI

10 districts of Valley yet to attain normalcy

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

On the 17th day of continuous lockdown in most parts of Kashmir Valley, the Jammu & Kashmir Government on Tuesday admitted life is yet to return to normalcy in at least 10 districts, mostly in Kashmir valley.

At the same time, the administration is struggling to reopen the schools as majority of parents have declined to send their wards to join class rooms under the prevailing security situation in different parts of Srinagar.

The situation on ground zero is showing no signs of improvement in South Kashmir districts as well.

Compared to Monday, the Government authorities claimed the attendance in primary schools showed signs of improvement on Tuesday but ground reports suggested several schools remained locked down as they reported zero or thin attendance in parts of Srinagar.

The network services also remained suspended across Kashmir valley while strict security restrictions remain in place in vulnerable pockets of downtown Srinagar.

Addressing a routine press conference late Tuesday evening in Srinagar, Principal Secretary, Planning & Development, Rohit Kansal, who is also Government's spokesperson, said normal functioning of large parts of the State was reported today with 12 out of 22 districts functioning normally".

He also maintained that out of 197 police stations across J&K, 136 police stations have no day time restrictions. Referring to Kashmir alone he said 50 out of 111 police stations have no day time restrictions.

Commenting on the situation of Kashmir valley, Kansal said that middle level schools would start functioning from Wednesday in the areas where primary schools resumed functioning from Monday.

He said public transport has also started plying in areas where relaxations have been provided and inter-district transport has also started functioning, adding that National Highway and Airports are functioning normally.

Pak violates ceasefire along LoC, 1 jawan martyred

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

Situation along the Line of Control in frontier Rajouri and Poonch remained grim with fresh exchange of heavy firing in Krishna Ghati sector of Poonch on Tuesday. One Indian soldier attained martyrdom when Pakistan Army violated ceasefire agreement in Mendhar. Hitting back, Indian Army caused heavy damage to Pakistan Army posts and casualties to Pakistan soldiers.

Defence PRO in Jammu, Lt-Col Devender Anand said, "Pakistan Army initiated ceasefire violation in the Krishna Ghati sector around 11.00 a.m using small arms fire and shelling with mortars".

He said, in the exchange of fire in Mendhar sector, Naik Ravi Ranjan Kumar Singh attained martyrdom.

He said Indian Army gave befitting reply and retaliated strongly and effectively.

Naik Ravi Ranjan Kumar Singh, aged 36 years belonged to Village Gope Bigha, Tehsil Dehri, District Rotasa, Bihar and is survived by his wife, Rita Devi.

Death sentence for one, life for seven in Bihar court blast case

Ara (Bihar): A court in Bihar's Bhojpur district on Tuesday gave death sentence to a man and life imprisonment to seven others in connection with the 2015 Ara civil court bomb blast case.

Additional District and Sessions Judge Tribhuvan Yadav gave capital sentence to Lambu Sharma after holding him guilty under various sections of IPC including 302 (murder), 307 (Attempt to murder), 326 (voluntarily causing grievous hurt), 353 (Assault public servant from discharge of his duty) and under some sections of Explosive Substance Act.

The court also imposed a fine of ₹22,000 on Sharma.

The seven sentenced to life imprisonment were Chand Miyan, Naem Miyan, Akhilesh Upadhyaya, Rinku Yadav, Pramod Singh, Shyam Vinay Sharma and Anshu Kumar.

The judge held them guilty under IPC section 302 (murder).

The court imposed a fine of ₹42,000 on Akhilesh Upadhyaya and ₹40,000 on the other six convicted persons.

The court on August 17 had convicted the eight persons in the civil court bomb blast and acquitted former JD(U) MLA Narendra Kumar Pandey alias Sunil Pandey along with two others — Sanjay Sonar and Vijay Sharma — for lack of evidence.

Pandey is currently in the Lok Janshakti Party (LJP). Chand Miyan surrendered in the court on Tuesday as he did not appear in the court on August 17. The court had issued warrant against him and had also ordered attachment of his properties for not appearing before it on August 17.

On January 23, 2015, a woman, identified as Nagina Devi, had come to the court premises as a suicide bomber with a design to set notorious criminal, Lambu Sharma, free from custody.

As the prison van reached the court premises, the woman triggered a blast. Taking advantage of the blast, Sharma, along with two others had fled.

The woman died on the spot, while a police constable, Amit Kumar, succumbed to his injuries.

The police had filed a charge sheet against 11 persons, including Pandey and had produced 39 witnesses in the case. PTI

Woman given 'triple talaq' for refusing chewing gum from husband: Police

Lucknow: A man allegedly gave 'triple talaq' to his wife right inside the civil court premises here in presence of her advocate after she refused to accept a chewing gum from him, police said on Tuesday.

Thirty-year-old Simmi of Amrai village was divorced by her husband Syed Rashid on Monday inside the Lucknow civil court premises where she had gone for the hearing of her case of dowry harassment she had lodged earlier against her in-laws, said the Indira Nagar police station SHO S B Pandey.

The woman was talking to her advocate when her husband offered her a chewing gum which she refused, said the SHO, citing the woman's complaint.

This threw Rashid in a fit of rage and he divorced his wife, uttering talaq-talaq-talaq, said the SHO. Simmi, married to Rashid in 2004, had lodged a case of dowry harassment against her husband and in-laws earlier, said SHO Pandey.

There have been several instances of men divorcing their wives with this outlawed oral diktat on queer pretexts. PTI

POST ABROGATION OF ARTICLE 370

First encounter in Baramullah under way

Srinagar: The gun battle between security forces and militants in Baramulla district of Jammu and Kashmir continued till late in the night on Tuesday.

Army authorities said there was heavy exchange of gunfire between both sides even as they refrained from divulging the exact number of terrorists that were involved in the encounter.

Security agencies, including the Jammu & Kashmir police, were fighting the militants in the encounter.

"Firing began at 5 p.m. with the terrorists in Old Baramulla. The operation is under way," said a Army official.

The area was cordoned off for the public as soon as the gunfight began.

Ever since the Union Government abrogated special category status to Jammu & Kashmir on August 5 by abrogating Article 370 of the Constitution, this is the first encounter between security forces and terrorists in the Valley.

As per sources around 2-3 terrorists were engaged in a gunfight as the joint operation between the Army, Jammu & Kashmir police and other secu-city agencies was launched. Baramullah is located around 54 km from Srinagar.

Kashmir Valley has been by and large peaceful barring stray incidents of stone-pelting and protests since August 5. The number of ceasefire violations by Pakistan across the LoC have increased, however, over the past week after a lull in the first fortnight of August. IANS

Camels in police station keep Assam cops on toes

Dhula: Six camels, seized from a local market in the Darrang district and a custody battle that the seizure triggered, are keeping the police on their toes for about two weeks in Assam.

While the animals were seized from the Dhula market on August 11, a day ahead of the Eid al-Adha (locally known as Bakrid), and were "saved" from being slaughtered, they are awaiting a court order to be repatriated safely to their home State — Rajasthan.

"It's difficult for us to maintain them, because we have no knowledge about them. We are also concerned about the impact of Assam's climate on them," said a senior police officer of the Darrang district on Tuesday.

"However, we are consulting veterinarians to ensure that they remain in good health," he said.

Meanwhile, Samatullah, the camel trader from whom the police seized the animals, has moved the court seeking their custody.

"There was a claim by one individual. But we moved the court on Tuesday for giving the custody to the Animal Welfare Board of India. It can ensure safety and welfare of the animals and take them back to Rajasthan with due process," he said.

"Being a law enforcing agency, we deal with a variety of cases every day. There are investigations, crime cases and VIP movements too. And these days we also have to depute our staff to ensure the welfare of camels," said the officer.

While five camels are being kept at the Dhula police station, one is at the Mangaldai police station.

Camel was declared the state animal of Rajasthan in 2014 and the state Assembly enacted the Rajasthan Camel (Prohibition of Slaughter and Regulation of Temporary Migration or Export) law, which banned slaughter as well as illegal transportation of the animal to other states.

"It's a crime. The camels were illegally smuggled to Assam, probably for slaughter," said Sujeet Choudhury, member of the Animal Welfare Board of India, who visited Mangaldai on the intimation of the Darrang police.

"We, in association with the Assam Police, are trying our best to repatriate the animals to Rajasthan. We hope the court will rule in our favour to take the animals to Rajasthan," Choudhury said. IANS

India to launch 8-10 satellites with France as part of a 'constellation' for maritime surveillance

Whatever be the domestic apprehensions about the many controversial moves of Modi 2.0, particularly over the revocation of Article 370 and reorganisation of Jammu and Kashmir, diplomatically it has managed to keep the opinion of the big power players on its side. Considering 14 of the 15 members at the UN Security Council were largely dismissive of Kashmir as a matter to be settled bilaterally and with China having no locus standi in the matter as it has been reorganising its own territories and legitimising PoK, India is moving to now matters maritime. And in a direct challenge to China's "string of pearls" approach in the Indian Ocean Rim (IOR), one that has its military and commercial facilities dotting our littoral states, from the Chinese mainland to the Horn of Africa, India is looking to France to narrow down its hawk's eyes. India's new space endeavour with France, where the two countries will launch 8-10 satellites as part of a "constellation" for maritime surveillance, will help safeguard strategic interests at sea. This new venture, to be finalised during Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to Paris, will provide an inside-out information about developments over, on and under the sea surface and coastal areas. This has become almost a necessity considering China is known to have built artificial islands over the last decade or so. Besides, its interest in the Scarborough Shoal near the Philippines and its military fortification of islands in the South China Sea have complicated the security environment. Considering that France has been supportive of India's position and has even spearheaded resolutions to protect it from Pakistan-sponsored terrorism in the UN, there could be no better ally in this project of a larger national security.

The Chinese belligerence on our waters is worrisome simply because sea lines run through several major maritime choke points such as the Strait of Mandeb, the Strait of Malacca, the Strait of Hormuz and the Lombok Strait as well as other strategic maritime centres in Pakistan, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, the Maldives and Somalia. Right now, China has effectively encircled India and reinforced its superiority by setting up outposts and ports in countries which are beholden to it courtesy the economic projects under the Belt and Road Initiative. Apart from military muscularity, such control also bodes ill for the ease of trade in these waters. India itself conducts nearly 40 per cent of its trade with littoral nations along IOR and has been consistently working with some of them to preserve the integrity, inviolability and freedom of oceanic channels. While we have been conducting joint naval exercises, fact is our Navy is not as cutting edge as China's, hence the need for pre-emptive surveillance. The new age of conflicts means that we are as prone to the dangers of maritime terrorism, smuggling, transnational crime, drug trafficking, illegal immigration besides climate change issues. This satellite cluster will, therefore, monitor sea traffic management. While the IOR is of concern to India, France, too, has its territories spread across the Indian, Pacific and Atlantic Oceans and is seeking cooperation on its vigil campaign. India was a natural choice as a partner because France has had space cooperation with us for about six decades and is now involved even in ISRO's human mission programme, Gaganyaan. This alliance is expected to continue in our future interplanetary endeavours. Of late, India has found a strategic and technological sounding board in France as its relations with others have their own set boxes — Russia remains our oldest defence partner and despite leaning towards China for practical reasons, still honours the legacy of a shared past. China, despite everything that is disputed, remains our key trading partner and the US is a new-found ally. Over the decades, India and France have emerged as true democratic partners, who honour the spirit of international law, and have been developing cooperation in counter-terrorism, intelligence-sharing and cooperation on investigations and judicial processes. Despite global outcry over the nuclear tests in 1998, France was the first to resume nuclear talks with India and among the first to push nuclear trade in later years. One area that remains unexplored is that of bilateral trade between the two. On the basis of this trust, India may even become a middle power with its own bargaining chips.

Squatters have no rights

The poor often get unfairly tarnished for squatting on public property whereas the worst culprits are entitled politicians

At the memorial of the late great Sushma Swaraj, many mourners noted how the former Foreign Minister had vacated her official accommodation soon after leaving the Government. Her actions are in direct contrast to the shameful and thuggish behaviour of Jat leader Ajit Singh, who tried to hold on to his official quarters even after being trashed at the hustings. He further tried to hire goons to threaten the Government back in 2014. Thankfully, Singh realised that he could not muster any public sympathy for his squatting, which he tried to rationalise calling it a "matter of Jat pride" and left his house in a huff. But others like Adhir Ranjan Choudhury of the Congress, who refused to give up his ministerial quarters after his party's defeat in 2014, had to be physically evicted. Now in 2019, the Modi Government is taking it upon itself to ensure that Members of Parliament (MPs) do not overstay their welcome in Government housing. It has given errant MPs and former Ministers, several of them members of the BJP, a week to vacate their houses.

Frankly, this move was long overdue and there should be no quarter given. Several MPs have used all sorts of excuses to overstay their welcome. Some have moved the courts to get stay orders but after the Supreme Court ordered a cleanup in 2013, that avenue was closed. However, some high-security individuals, who are in the 'Z+' security category, such as LK Advani and Priyanka Gandhi, might be allowed to remain in exclusive housing because they are easier to protect. Government housing is a privilege that parliamentarians enjoy only for their term and this rule has to be enforced. If previous occupants do not leave, how will new MPs and Ministers function? Just because a person wants to retain a fancy New Delhi address, he/she should pay the same market rentals in private colonies that ordinary citizens do. Nobody should have an extremely inflated sense of self like Ajit Singh, a man now reduced to being a political nobody, ignored by the community for whom he said he wanted to keep his house. At the same time, the shortage of housing in central Delhi is also evidence of the need to build new and better housing facilities for Government servants, defence personnel and parliamentarians in the centre of the city. Several older Government colonies and many bungalows built in 'Lutyens Delhi' are showing signs of age. They are in desperate need of repair if not outright reconstruction. Old rules do not apply to housing anymore and old structures must be removed.

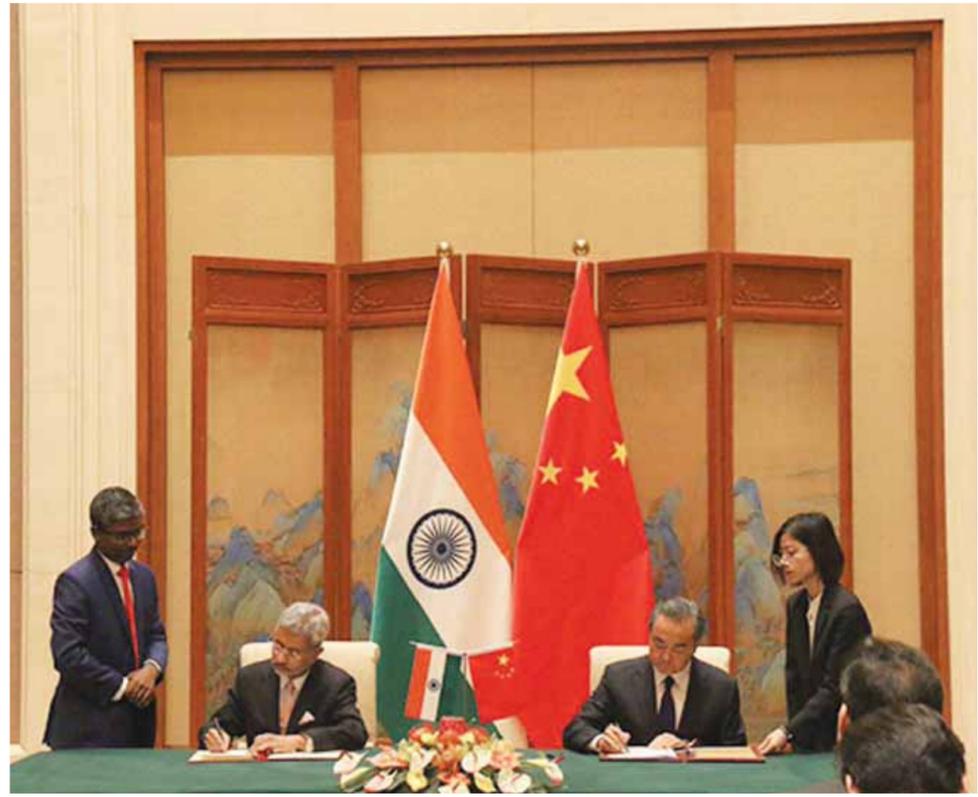

RK PACHAURI

The outcome of External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar's visit to China has been positive, not only in terms of India explaining its stand but also clearing the air for future exchanges. The External Affairs Minister is not only a distinguished diplomat but having been India's Ambassador to China, he knows the system and personalities whom he has to deal with. One major point made by him to China's Foreign Minister Wang Yi was to emphasise that the future of the India-China relationship will depend on "mutual sensitivity" to each other's "core concerns." In return, Minister Wang Yi emphasised "the five principles of peaceful co-existence", which have "fundamental interest and long-term interest of our two peoples and also contribute to world peace and human progress." As an immediate measure, India and China signed four agreements covering cultural exchanges, healthcare, sports and cooperation in museum management. In particular, both Jaishankar and Yi emphasised the importance of cooperation in the field of traditional medicine, wherein both China and India, the two most ancient civilisations in the modern world, have cumulative knowledge.

The time has come now to provide a new orientation in China-India relations. In the economic field, bilateral trade between the two countries touched almost $90 billion in 2017-18 but trade deficit increased to $62.9 billion in China's favour. China must follow Lao Tzu: "If you do not change direction, you may end up where you are heading." It clearly has interests which are long term, given its ancient history and traditions and it is unlikely that it would think in terms of mere short-term benefits that could lead to friction and disputes. Our External Affairs Minister clearly mentioned that any bilateral differences should not become disputes.

China has major ambitions to emerge as the largest and most influential global power in the world. Its growth rate has been phenomenal and poverty, which was widely prevalent, has more or less been completely eliminated. This writer first visited China in 1981 and today, the country represents progress which most other nations have achieved in almost a century. Yet, China cannot ignore the fact that it shares a large border with India and the latter is a rising power in a complex world. There is every need for the two nations to come together and work towards the establishment of global peace and security.

One major area where the two countries must cooperate is in respect of promoting a pattern of sustainable development which deviates substantially from the Western model. Unfortunately, both nations have been following this model. China in particular has adopted it much too rapidly with major economic success but with some adverse consequences both at the global and national levels. Gandhiji was not in any way exaggerating when he predicted that for the civilised West "a time is coming when those who are in the mad rush today of multiplying their wants, will retrace their steps and say; what have we done.... Modern civilisation is such that one has only to be patient and it will be self-destroyed." What we find across the entire world, which is mindlessly aping the Western model, is human-induced climate change resulting from the burning of fossil fuels, a loss of biodiversity and destruction of the earth's ecosystems. China and India are large countries, which are also suffering from the consequences of these disastrous trends. As the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) has projected and as is becoming increasingly evident today, the frequency and intensity of extreme events is rapidly on the increase. These take place in the form of heat waves, extreme precipitation events and several sea level related disasters. There are areas which are suffering from prolonged drought, which at the same time, witness floods during certain seasons. China already has a major problem of water scarcity, particularly in its western region. India, too, is suffering from the consequences of global climate change, which clearly makes this a "core concern" for both societies. It is also important for the population of China and India to set a new path of development which is relevant not only for the two countries but also for the rest of the world. Together, China and India are close to three billion people in a world which holds today an estimated 7.7 billion. Clearly, therefore, whatever path is set by the two countries will have a major influence on the world as a whole.

An area in which cooperation is needed would be to develop and use renewable sources of energy. The IPCC has clearly assessed the reasons for the world to keep within the 1.5°C limit by the end of the century. It has also defined the implications of land use, including massive consumption of meat, which is totally unsustainable. Today, China has increased its consumption of all forms of meat to a huge level. However, fortunately, it is one of the leaders in the use of renewable energy where in both countries would derive mutual benefits from working together.

In Prime Minister Modi's Independence Day speech, he emphasised the need for water conservation, including precision agriculture, rainwater harvesting and waste water treatment. He also highlighted the indiscriminate use of plastic. Additionally, he addressed the need for cutting down on the use of chemical fertilisers in agriculture by up to 25 per cent. He stated: "This would be a great service to the nation. This would be a great step in saving our Mother Earth."

China and India can work towards the use of bio-fertilisers, which would enable us to do away with chemical fertilisers. "Saving our Mother Earth" is clearly a core concern for both societies. This writer has interacted with those responsible for conceptualising a facility called "Science City", which is to be established outside Beijing over an area of 100 square kilometres.

The ambition behind this initiative is to see that China addresses global problems of a long-term nature. Perhaps India could also join hands with China, with delineation of principles governing intellectual property and clear areas of common endeavour to cooperate in "Science City" so that we work towards developing global solutions for a sustainable future.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Strengthen data law

Sir — Agro-chemical products take a long time to grow. In addition, new molecules at present take about six to seven years to be registered. The bureaucratic process delays the delivery of the products to farmers, leaving them with no option but to buy cheaper, low-quality products. It is recommended that the Government look into this issue at the earliest.

Also, while Indian formulations are mostly generic products as research and development (R&D) is expensive, overseas companies frequently spread their assortment and are eager to invest in India on product R&D and marketing. Data selectiveness in the agrochemicals sector will not only delay the entry of generics by creating an additional period of legal monopoly but will also make agrochemicals or pesticides unaffordable to Indian farmers. Data protection or selectiveness will obstruct growth of indigenous manufacturers and will work against the Government's vision of "Make in India."

Schools cannot foster divisiveness

It was a crying shame that in some schools in Tamil Nadu, students were made to wear colour-coded wrist bands as "caste markers" as distinct from religious threads. The wrist bands — which came in hues of red, yellow, green and saffron — were giveaways of the wearers' caste identity. How students were looked at and treated (with respect or contempt) depended on the wrist bands they wore. To be branded like this is the ultimate humiliation. There can be nothing more dehumanising and degrading than designating pupils as lower castes and higher castes. The practice underlines that there is no hope of escape from caste even for school kids. It widens the rifts between castes. It is a stain on the so-called proud culture of Tamil Nadu.

We are at loss to understand how it became possible for the All India Anna Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam (AIADMK), a party with roots in the Dravidian movement, to validate the naked display of caste discrimination. The humiliation of lower caste people is accepted as a social

Nurture ties with Bhutan

Sir — In the backdrop of China's propensity to open diplomatic ties, Prime Minister Narendra Modi's second visit to Bhutan not only weighed heavily on the bilateral front but was also an opportunity to woo the youth over there. The Prime Minister's grand welcome on the streets from Paro to Thimpu spoke volumes about his popularity among the Bhutanese people.

India's long-term commitment to foster economic and cultural ties with Bhutan has been vital in developing a strong bond with the neighbouring country. This visit marked a new chapter in relations between the two countries. A total of 10 Memoranda of Understanding (MoUs) were signed and the Prime Minister did not miss the opportunity to narrate the Indian story to the youth over there. However, it is also a fact that with the world growing, and more strategic powers courting Bhutan, much remains to be done to retain ties. Both India and Bhutan must address each other's concerns.

Challenging times

Sir — Internet services have again been suspended in the Jammu and Kashmir region. Post the abrogation of Article 370, the Government was bound to face challenges in restoring normalcy in the Valley. We will also need to continue engaging with the world community over current and past issues over Jammu & Kashmir with alacrity and less reservation. This, too, will be a challenge. So, the need for the Government is to remain transparent across the aisle. More so when this historical step is bound to entail far-reaching socio-political connotations.

The Government must also realise that a strong Opposition is needed to sustain our democratic ethos. And, hence, it needs to be nurtured. Tide and times will constantly impact and test our mettle — the J&K issue is but one of them. The strife to add incremental value and strength to our polity will never cease.

Reunification of India a necessity

The idea of Indian reunification is one whose time has come though there's no doubt that it will take a long time to achieve. However, it must be under a strong, liberal leadership

MARKANDEY KATJU

For a long time, I have been propagating the idea that India, Pakistan and Bangladesh should reunite under a secular government for their mutual good (see the Mission Statement and articles on indianreunificationassociation.co.in). I have long said that India, Pakistan and Bangladesh are really one country, with a common culture, and were one for centuries.

Many people have criticised this idea, more so in light of the recent developments in the subcontinent. Many Pakistanis, including Pakistan Prime Minister Imran Khan, say that recent developments in the region prove that the founder of Pakistan, MA Jinnah, was right in insisting that Muslims get their own homeland otherwise atrocities (e.g. lynching, attacks and incarceration of Muslims for long periods on trumped-up charges) would be committed on them in a united India. So these developments prove that Partition was good for Muslims, and the idea of Indian reunification is only a pipe dream, they point out.

My reply is as follows: Our aim must be to create a highly industrialised country, because only then can we generate the wealth needed for the welfare of our people and give them decent lives. Only a high level of industrialisation can create millions of jobs to wipe out unemployment.

The Partition of India in 1947, and creation of an Islamic state, which was a historical British swindle on the basis of the bogus two-nation theory, was aimed at preventing this growth. If India emerges as another China, then, with its cheap labour, our industries will undercut their rivals from developed countries. Who will buy their costly goods then and won't their industries shut down? One China has become a headache for the West. Will they permit another?

So the secret understanding among developed countries is that India must not be allowed to emerge as a modern industrial giant like China. To prevent that, Indians must remain divided on the basis of religion, caste, region etc.

All this talk of improving relations between India and Pakistan (such as that touted by the campaign Aman ki Asha) is unrealistic and nonsense. The very purpose of creating Pakistan as an Islamic state was that there shouldn't be peace but hostility between the two neighbors and Hindus and Muslims. If there are good relations then the very purpose of creating Pakistan will be defeated.

Our common enemy is massive poverty, record unemployment, appalling child malnourishment, farmers in distress, spiralling prices, ignorance, lack of healthcare, unabated corruption, atrocities on minorities, etc. We waste our scant and precious resources fighting each other instead of joining hands and fighting against these problems that are our real enemies.

To say that Partition was necessary to safeguard Muslims is puerile. First, there are as many Muslims in India as in Pakistan (about 200 million in each). Second, Muslims in Pakistan may be safe from Hindu bigots, but are they safe from Muslim bigots? Are Ahmadis, Shias safe? Are Bareilvis safe from Deobandis? They often bomb mosques, dargahs, etc. And are the Muslims there free from the evils of unemployment, price rise, malnourishment, ignorance, lack of healthcare, corruption, etc? It was a stupid idea that creation of Pakistan will keep Muslims safe. In fact Partition has increased the problems of Muslims, Hindus, Sikhs, Christians there.

So, unless we reunite, we will keep wasting our scant resources fighting each other, and will never become a highly industrialised country, and thus remain poor with many social evils. As mentioned earlier, we are really one nation with a common culture, and were befooled by the British into thinking we are each other's enemies. But how are we to reunite?

This can only be done peacefully and voluntarily, and will take a long time, maybe 10-20 years. The communal venom which was injected into our body politic by vested interests for over a century, will take a long time to be expelled. During this period, we must patiently explain to the masses the truth that we are really one nation, were one for centuries, and spread the idea of Indian reunification among them.

As Victor Hugo said, "There is one thing more powerful than all the armies in the world, and that is an idea whose time has come." The idea of Indian reunification is one whose time has come though it will no doubt take a long time to achieve.

We will be called daydreamers by many. But when Giuseppe Mazzini spoke of Italian unification, he too was called a daydreamer, though the dream became a reality thanks to the efforts of Count Cavour and Giuseppe Garibaldi. West and East Germany reunited in 1990 after partition in 1945. North and South Vietnam reunited in 1975 after a partition of over 21 years.

At present, all that needs to be done is to spread the idea of reunification, as is being done by the Indian Reunification Association. Later, when the idea has gripped the imagination and minds of the masses, then people will use their creativity and find ways to make a peaceful reunification a reality.

However, it's vital that such a reunification is under a liberal leadership, which while ensuring religious freedom does not tolerate religious bigotry from any quarter and crushes it with an iron hand. Such progressive leaders will rapidly ensure industrialization of the nation, provide for the welfare of the people and catapult India into the front ranks of the world community. How and when such a historic transformation will take place, who these leaders would be, is impossible to predict. But it is a necessity.

The overleverage fix

More research must be done as to why firms become hooked to high debt. As they say about addiction, admitting you have a problem is the first step towards solving it

HIMA BINDU KOTA

The recent suicide by Café Coffee Day owner jolted every coffee lover in the country and brought to the fore the grim reality that high debt can be dangerous for a company. A business is said to be overleveraged when it carries too much debt and is unable to make interest payments on loans and meet other expenses.

Overleveraged companies are often unable to pay operating expenses because of the burden brought on by debt in the form of interest payments and principal repayments. Overleveraging can sometimes lead to a downward financial spiral where the company cannot generate enough revenue to make the debt payments and pay its usual operating expenses. This leads to the company having to borrow more to stay in operation, and the problem gets worse. This spiral usually ends when the company closes its doors or files for bankruptcy protection.

A less leveraged company can be better positioned to sustain drops in revenue because they do not have the same expensive debt-related burden on their cash flow. Businesses that borrow money to add to a product line, expand internationally, or upgrade their facilities are often better able to offset the risk they take on when borrowing.

Leverage can be measured by financial leverage ratios, sometimes called equity or debt ratios, which measure the value of equity in a company by analyzing its overall debt picture. These ratios either compare debt or equity to assets as well as shares outstanding to measure the true value of the equity in a business.

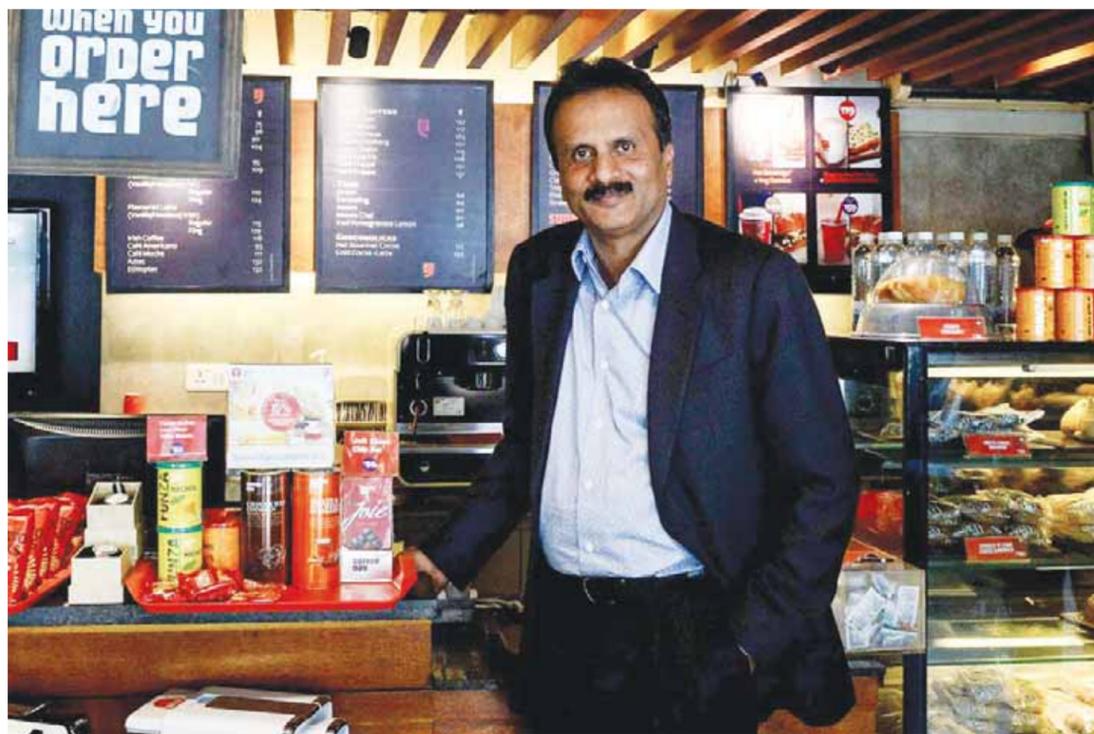

This shows how much of the company assets belong to the shareholders rather than creditors. When shareholders own a majority of the assets, the company is said to be less leveraged. When creditors own a majority of the assets, the company is considered highly leveraged. All of these measurements are important for investors to understand how risky the capital structure of a company is and if it is worth investing in.

The most common financial leverage ratios are debt ratios, debt-equity ratios and equity ratios. Debt ratio is a solvency ratio that measures a firm's total liabilities as a percentage of its total assets. In a sense, the debt ratio shows a company's ability to pay off its liabilities with its assets. In other words, this shows how many assets the company must sell in order to pay off all its liabilities.

The debt to equity ratio is a financial, liquidity ratio that compares a company's total debt to total equity. The debt to equity ratio shows the percentage of company financing that comes from creditors and investors. A higher debt to equity ratio indicates that more creditor financing, i.e., bank loans, is being used than investor financing, i.e., shareholders.

The equity ratio is an investment leverage or solvency ratio that measures the amount of assets that are financed by the owner's investments by comparing the total equity in the company to the total assets.

In fact, some years ago, a team of financial scholars at Stanford Graduate School of Business and at Germany's Max Planck Institute studied banks and found that they have become "addicted" to increasing their debt levels steadily. According to them, "leverage begets leverage". However, it was further analysed that other corporations have become addicted to debt, even when it reduces the total value of the enterprise. Once a company begins to take on debt, they say, the leverage becomes almost "irreversible." Shareholders will generally oppose measures that reduce debt and support moves to increase it whenever the opportunity arises.

According to Paul Pfeleiderer, a professor of finance at Stanford, taking leverage is like eating potato chips. One cannot stick to the commitment of eating just a few chips. So, if one cannot stop after eating just one chip, one might be better off not eating them at all.

The authors argue that since reducing debt entails a transfer of risk - and wealth - from shareholders to creditors, there is a clear disincentive for shareholders to cut back on borrowing. If a company buys back its bonds, for example, bondholders will demand a premium above the current market price for those bonds. That's because bondholders will insist that the buyback price reflect the fact that the remaining debt will be at less risk of default.

In other words, bondholders get all the benefits of debt reduction and shareholders have to foot the cost upfront. Government tax policy makes companies even more biased toward higher debt, because it allows companies to deduct interest payments from their taxable income.

In theory, creditors can protect themselves by insisting on contracts or "covenants" that restrict a company's ability to increase its leverage in the future. Among other things, covenants can restrict a company from selling additional bonds or making big payouts to shareholders, which reduce the company's equity.

In practice, the authors argue, covenants are difficult to enforce. Most covenants give companies at least some discretion to take on more debt, because companies need flexibility in dealing with new opportunities and problems. On top of that, the creditors are often dispersed and unable to take a unified position.

The most obvious risk of high debt is the increased danger of falling into financial distress or even bankruptcy. But on the other hand, rising leverage can also make companies reluctant to invest in promising new projects.

That's because part of the increase in value generated by an investment would flow not to the shareholders but to the creditors, because their bonds and loans would become more secure. Corporate boards take a hard new look at how much they compensate management through stock options and other grants of equity in the company. The more money managers earn from grants of stock and options, rather than from their salaries, the more they will align their self-interest with shareholders rather than creditors.

As bad as it may seem, at some point, almost all businesses must take out loans. Debt financing can be attractive to business owners because banks won't dictate how they should spend the money and they don't have to split up company ownership. Highly leveraged companies are very sensitive to economic declines and at higher risk for bankruptcy.

There are several problems of a highly leveraged company. First, the lenders require borrowers to pay back their loan in a timely manner. This becomes a problem for fledgling companies that borrow money for projects with long-term returns. If payments come due before the company starts seeing returns, loan repayments can be a crippling expense.

Paying back the loan on a regular basis means less money to finance operations and invest in growth opportunities.

Second, substantial loan payments can easily cripple a highly leveraged company. A company doesn't have an obligation to repay capital from equity sources.

However, banks and lenders have top seniority when it comes to repayment in the event of a bankruptcy. This means that lenders will get paid out before anyone else, including the company owner. If the company has a secured loan, the bank can repossess company assets. Depending on the business structure and the terms of the loan, the owner of the company may also be personally liable for the loan repayment.

Third, just like with individual lending, banks scrutinize corporate credit reports before doling out more loans. Banks are unlikely to provide further funding to highly leveraged organizations. Not only are these companies at high risk for bankruptcy, the new lender might not get paid back if the company goes under.

Older loans typically carry higher seniority compared to newer loans, so lenders are hesitant to put themselves at the bottom of the list for recouping their investment. In the event a bank does issue a loan, the interest rate will be high enough to account for that increased risk.

Fourth, one of the options a company has to reduce its financial leverage is to increase the amount of equity capital.

However, investors rarely give money to highly leveraged businesses. Investors avoid highly leveraged companies for all the same reasons lenders do, plus they're the last in line to get repaid.

If an investor is willing to invest in a highly leveraged company they'll expect to receive an especially large percentage of ownership in exchange for their money.

It's important that further research should be done to shed light on why companies can become hooked to high debt. As they say about other forms of addiction, admitting you have a problem is the first step towards solving it.

Time to defuse population bomb

While Modi talked about India's demographic dividend in his first term, in his second term he has realised that though a large population may not be a bad thing, it has to contribute to the country's growth

KALYANI SHANKAR

Eyebrows were raised when Prime Minister Narendra Modi expressed concern about the population explosion in the country in his recent Independence Day speech. There was a feeling of surprise that the Prime Minister chose to bring up an issue that has been a 'No-No' for many politicians from the days of Emergency when the Indira Gandhi government used coercive population control measures. Her Family Planning programme received widespread condemnation and effectively never realized its purpose. Later the ministry's name was changed to Family Welfare.

India's population is 1.34 billion, which is nearly a four-fold increase since Independence. Modi has reasons for concern as according to the World Population Prospects 2019 of the United Nations, India is expected to add nearly 273 million people between 2019 and 2050. Inevitably, with these figures, "India is projected to surpass China as the world's most populous country around 2027," the report said. The biggest challenge for India is its unpreparedness to accommodate such a huge population. Looking at these figures, "The time has now come that we should take such challenges ahead," Modi said.

Interestingly, while Modi talked about India's demographic dividend in his first term, in his second term he has realised that though a large population by itself may not be a bad thing, it has to contribute to the growth of the country. This needs to be supported by capital, technology and infrastructure, as well as skills. That is why the Prime Minister is now talking of education as a means of both moderating the rising population and making it productive.

The country is already facing an acute drinking water crisis, garbage disposal and sewage treatment problems, inadequate rainfall, climate change, increased levels of pollution, high infant and child mortality rate and poor standard of living in the economically weaker sections.

The Prime Minister's speech was mainly targeted towards these poorer sections of society and his appeal to them for keeping the family small was aimed at improving their standard of living.

He is aware that the poor are missing out on opportunities to climb up the economic and social ladder because they have too many mouths to feed. Making it a nationalistic issue, he said, "Those who follow the policy of a small family also contribute to the development of the nation; it is also a form of patriotism."

Why did Modi talk of population explosion now? It obviously stems from the fact that his hands are strengthened after the massive mandate he received in the 2019 polls.

Politically, Modi is much stronger today, while the Opposition is weak like never before. Add to that the Prime Minister's recent success in Parliament in getting controversial Bills like Triple Talaq and abrogation of Article 370 pertaining to the special status of Jammu and Kashmir passed, despite being in a minority in the Rajya Sabha.

Second, the Indian Right-wing, including the BJP, has always expressed concerns about the increasing minority population. They feel that the Muslims are trying to overtake Hindus in the country by multiplying fast. The Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) chief Mohan Bhagwat, during his annual Dussehra address some time ago, noted, "We need to rise above vote bank politics to formulate a holistic approach, equally applicable to all citizens, towards the population policy."

In Parliament too, BJP members have raised this issue. Recently Rakesh Sinha, a BJP Member of Parliament, introduced a Private Member's Bill to regulate population. Earlier, another BJP member Sanjeev Balyan, who is now a minister, had also introduced another Bill with the backing of 124 members.

The late BJP stalwart Atal Bihari Vajpayee too had made such an attempt in 2000 by bringing a forward-looking National Population Policy. However, it made the two-child norm a voluntary commitment for individuals. The Modi Government has also followed the same approach that the family planning programme in India is target-free and voluntary in nature.

Modi's speech has triggered speculation that a mild interventionist population policy is not far off. It is a very sensitive issue both at the state level as well as the religious level.

The North-South divide and the Hindu-Muslim divide are the two issues that raise their heads whenever the spotlight is on population control. While the southern states feel that their great success in bringing down the population is costing them in terms of resources devolved from the Centre, the Minority Affairs Minister Mukhtar Abbas Naqvi has claimed this week that it is a social reform.

The Prime Minister is not one to waste words and he has used the Independence Day speech to prepare the country for population regulation, going forward. There is an urgent need to aggressively push concepts like the two-child policy, child spacing, increased use of contraceptives and voluntary sterilisation. The two-child norm should be made a uniform criterion for government jobs, getting aid and subsidies and other benefits. Perhaps incentives and disincentives might work better in containing the size of the family. The health ministry is already implementing many of these schemes, but much more will be needed to create awareness and to make an impact in the long run.

As India aspires to become a major economic power, it's time to define whether a growing population is an opportunity or a danger.

No interim relief to Deloitte, BSR Associates in IL&FS case

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) on Tuesday declined to give any interim relief to auditing firms Deloitte Haskins & Sells LLP and B S R Associates LLP with regard to a ban imposed on them in the IL&FS case.

The NCLT Mumbai will continue its scheduled hearing in the case of their alleged role in the IL&FS fraud matter, a three-member bench headed by Chairperson Justice S J Mukhopadhyaya said.

The NCLAT, however, said that the NCLT will not pass any final order till its next hearing on September 20.

Listing the matter for September 20, the NCLAT also issued a notice to the Ministry of Corporate Affairs to file its reply within two weeks.

The NCLAT was hearing appeals filed by Deloitte and BSR against the order of the Mumbai bench of the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT), which on August 9, rejected their pleas of challenging its jurisdiction to ban them from the business for five years for their omissions and commissions in the IL&FS Group scam.

The NCLT will hear the matter on September 5. The court had allowed the corporate affairs ministry to pro-cut them along with 21 others in the same case, though the implementation of the same has been stayed after they sought time to challenge the order at the appellate tribunal NCLAT.

The ministry in June moved NCLAT seeking a five-year ban on these auditors in the IL&FS fraud case.

The auditors — the local arm of the England-based Deloitte Haskins & Sells, which is one of the big four accounting firms, and BSR & Associates, which is the local affiliate of another big four, the US-based KPMG — had challenged the jurisdiction of the NCLAT to ban them under Sec 140(5) of Company's Act.

They had challenged the jurisdiction of the NCLAT to ban them, saying section 140(5) of the Companies Act pertains to auditors who are still auditing the company in question while they have already resigned from the service and thus cannot be banned under the given provisions.

While Deloitte had stopped auditing IL&FS Group, which owes over Rs 95,000 crore to lenders and other financial institutions, by the end of FY2017-18, BSR was the statutory auditor of IL&FS Financial Services (IFIN) and resigned only in June this year-nine months after the company was sent to the bankruptcy court.

The Serious Fraud Investigation Office (SFIO) in its investigation found them guilty of painting a rosy picture of IFIN despite being aware of the poor financial health of the company, triggering the ministry to seek ban on the auditors.

Hyundai launches i10 NIOS

Third-Generation of popular i10 hatchback, company still feels market sentiments weak

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Korean auto-major and car manufacturer Hyundai Motors on Tuesday took the wraps off their new hatchback the i10 NIOS, the third-generation of their compact vehicle. The carmaker which has also seen a decline in sales along with the rest of the industry, believes that new launches ahead of the festive season alongside attractive new offers will entice customers.

The i10 NIOS is the first launch of several new cars in the coming few days including Hyundai's sister company Kia's entry into India with the Seltos, Maruti-Suzuki's new XL6, Renault's Tribler and BMW launching the latest iteration of its iconic 3-series. The i10 NIOS has been priced between ₹4,99,990 to ₹7,13,950 for the petrol model and between ₹6,70,090 to ₹7,99,450 for the diesel model, ex-showroom, all-India. Hyundai India managing Director, SS Kim said that 2019 has been a 'big year' for Hyundai with the launches of the second-generation Santro, the Venue SUV, the first electric SUV in the Kona and now the new i10. "We have become India's leader in the SUV segment after the Venue and have the most comprehensive SUV range," Kim told The Pioneer, "and we expect that our hatchback customers will also be excited with this fascinating patible and the diesel engine will be made BS6 compatible in early 2020.

Speaking to The Pioneer, Je-Ruk Chun, Head of Engine Performance Test Group, Hyundai Motor Company said that this is because of pricing reasons, as meeting BS6 emission norms requires significant modifications to engines. To keep costs down, the new NIOS will also feature a new Automated Manual Transmission (AMT) option instead of a traditional automatic transmission (AT). Hyundai executives admitted that an AT is better than an AMT, but the AMT is significantly cheaper and their experience with the AMT on the Santro has been generally positive and the company expects that reaction to the AMT on the NIOS will be positive as well.

₹ hits fresh 6-mth low of 71.71; dives 28 paise

PTI ■ MUMBAI

The Indian rupee on Tuesday furthered its loss by another 28 paise to close at a new six-month low of 71.71 against the US dollar as economic uncertainties continued to weigh.

Investors remained risk averse considering a host of factors including fast-spreading economic slowdown, outlook on foreign fund outflows and weakness in most emerging market currencies, according to forex traders.

However, there are expectations that the government will soon come out with stimulus measures to arrest slowdown in consumer demand in various sectors.

Meanwhile, higher crude oil prices also had its impact on rupee's trading pattern.

Brent crude futures, the global oil benchmark, rose 0.07 per cent to trade at $59.78 per barrel.

Starting off on a weaker note, the rupee fell to a day's low of 71.80 against the US dollar before settling at 71.71 against the US dollar, down 28 paise over the previous close.

This is the lowest level for the local unit since February 4, when it closed at 71.80 a dollar.

On Monday, the Indian rupee had settled at 71.43 against the US dollar.

Meanwhile, the dollar index — which gauges the greenback's strength against a basket of six currencies — rose 0.06 per cent to 98.40.

The 10-year Indian government bond yield was steady at 6.58 per cent on Tuesday.

"Indian rupee declines for a second day as importers and foreign banks rush for the dollar amid recovery in crude oil prices. Market is also expecting fund outflows of around ₹102 million on the back of Shell selling stake in Mahanagar gas," said V K Sharma, Head PCG & Capital Markets Strategy, HDFC Securities.

The dollar Index hovered near a three-week high as expectations of fresh stimulus drove an improvement appetite for riskier assets and lifted US government bond yields, he said, adding that the next support for the rupee is seen at 72.5 odd levels.

Govt allows airlines to use Jet slots till end Dec

PTI ■ MUMBAI

The civil aviation ministry has allowed domestic airlines to operate the slots vacated by the now-defunct Jet Airways at various airports till December 31, said an industry source Tuesday.

Jet Airways, which is under insolvency proceedings, stopped flying from April 17, leaving hundreds of slots vacant at both domestic and international airports.

The government had allocated some of these slots to local carriers and allowed them to operate up to September 30 to overcome the capacity deficit.

It can be noted that a day after submitting the EoI, Volcan Investments, an investment company funded Vedanta chairman Anil Agarwal's family trust, withdrew the same.

Resolve stressed assets on time in your interest: RBI to banks

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Reserve Bank deputy governor NS Vishwanathan Tuesday exhorted bankers to ensure timely resolution of stressed assets under the new framework to extract the best value and underlined the need for dealing only in "genuine" cases.

The central bank will be coming out with the final guidelines for private and foreign bankers' compensation soon, he said, speaking at the annual industry event Fibac.

Vishwanathan said the RBI's revised framework on resolution of stressed assets introduced on June 7 is "less intrusive" as it gives banks the leeway to draft their own resolution plans for a particular case.

"Timely resolution is very important. I'd request you to ensure that the resolutions are done in time, not just for the regulatory requirement but also because it will result in better valuation going forward," he said. "We've given a lot of freedom to banks to determine various contours. We are making less intrusive regulations and hope that banks will use this to deal with genuine stress in their balance sheets to address the problem," he added.

The RBI issued the new NPA recognition and resolution guidelines on June 7 after the Supreme Court had in April declared the earlier one issued on February 12, 2018 as ultra vires.

The new framework lays focus on better coordination between banks while dealing with a stressed assets by mandating them to sign inter-creditor agreements and decide on a resolution strategy in 30 days, which will have to be implemented in 180 days.

Meanwhile, Vishwanathan also said the RBI will soon be coming up with the final guidelines for top management compensation.

Media & entertainment set for slowdown, may grow 12% in FY20

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Rapid growth in digital users, combined with growing regional demand and better monetisation, the media and entertainment industry grew 13 percent to reach ₹1,63,100 crore in FY19, and is likely to clip at a slower rate of 12 percent in FY20, says a report.

The report by KPMG, however, noted that it not been for the uncertainties created by Trai's new tariff order and the signs of economic slowdown, the industry would have grown by 1-2 percent more. In FY20, the industry is likely to grow at a slower 12 percent to ₹1.88 trillion, as it expects another round of regulatory changes.

"The growth would have even lower than 12 percent had not been for the gains from the higher ad spends during the April-May general elections and the cricket World Cup.

"TV faced major headwinds in FY19 and in fact grew at a lower rate than projected last year primarily on account of the delay in implementation of the new tariff order.

Oriental Bank of Commerce launches Repo Rate linked Home Loan & Vehicle Loan

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Oriental Bank of Commerce has launched new variant of Home Loan and Vehicle Loan products linked to Reserve Bank of India's repo rate.

The new Home Loan and Vehicle Loan product will directly link interest rate to an external benchmark, which in this case is the Repo Rate and thereby build a direct link to ensure fair and transparent transmission of the monetary policy rate immediately to the customers.

Customers will have the option to select between MCLR linked rate, which is indexed to the bank's cost of funds or a Repo Rate linked to the external benchmark. With the new variant, Home Loans and Vehicle Loans will also be available at repo rate linked interest rate starting 8.35% and 8.70% respectively, thus passing on further benefit of 20 basis points and 25 basis points respectively to the current MCLR rated pricing.

SBI announces home, auto loans at cheaper rates during festival season

New Delhi (PTI): State Bank of India (SBI), the country's largest lender, on Tuesday announced a number of offers including cheaper rates for home and auto loan borrowers, to cash in on festival fervour. Customers can avail the cheaper loans with added benefits such as waiver in processing fees, pre-approved digital loans and loans with no escalation in interest rates spread across various categories, SBI said in a statement.

The bank has not specified the time period for which this festival offer would be valid. However, the move would be followed by the other lenders as well. "SBI has waived processing fees on car loans during festival season. The bank is offering lowest interest rate starting from 8.70 per cent to customers opting for car loan, with no escalation in interest," it said. No escalation will ensure that the customer will not have to face fluctuation in the interest rate. The salaried customers can also avail the loan up to 90 per cent of the car's on-road price, it said. Currently, the bank offers cheapest home loan with an interest rate of 8.05 per cent as repo rate-linked home loan and this rate will be applicable to all existing and new loan from September 1, it said.

Central Bank to raise upto ₹3,000cr core capital from mkts

PTI ■ MUMBAI

State-run Central Bank of India is planning to mop up around Rs 3,000 crore in core capital from markets in the next two months, a top official said.

This capital is excluding the fund infusion that is likely to come from the government, Pallav Mohapatra, managing director and chief executive, told reporters on the sidelines of the annual industry conference Fibac here Tuesday.

"We want to raise Rs 2,000-3,000 crore from markets apart from what we get from the government," he said, adding the money will be raised in the next two months either through a follow-on offer or a qualified institutional placement.

The bank has also made a funding request to the government from the Rs 70,000-crore it has budgeted, Mohapatra said, refusing to disclose how much they have asked for.

He said the bank expects the money from the government to flow in by September and added that its capital raising plan from the market does not hinge on it. The money will be raised in tranches from the market.

The city-based bank is targeting a credit growth of 10 percent during the fiscal, he said, adding the demand is expected to pick up in the second half. It is expecting a credit growth of up to 15 per cent in the retail, agriculture and small businesses, while corporate will be slower, he said.

"As of now, credit growth coming from retail. There is demand in MSMEs, roads, renewables. In a few months from now, manufacturing also will be there," he said.

Mohapatra said the bank will be coming out with repo-linked loans by September end in the retail segment for new loans and existing borrowers can also switch to the new lending benchmark for a fee.

On the government commitment of state-run banks buying out Rs 1 trillion worth of loan portfolios from the troubled NBFCs, Mohapatra said he will move the board with a request towards this next month.

Samsung India Senior Vice President and Head of Marketing, Mobile Business Ranjivjit Singh told PTI. He added that by the year-end, the company is confident of expanding

Apart from the Note series, the company's lineup in the premium category includes Samsung Galaxy S series and A80. He said the Note 10 series has powerful flagship devices that will take the productivity and creativity of millennial users to the next level. "For the first time ever, Galaxy Note10 comes in two sizes, so consumers can find the Note that's best for them. It has an enhanced S Pen that converts handwriting to digital text, and enhanced Samsung DeX for PC and link to Windows for all meeting productivity needs of the customers," Singh added.

US tests cruise missile after INF treaty exit

AFP ■ WASHINGTON

The US Defence Department announced on Monday the test of a medium-range ground-launched cruise missile, just weeks after tearing up the Cold War-era pact with Russia that eliminated such nuclear-capable weapons.

The missile was launched on Sunday from the US Navy-controlled San Nicolas Island off the coast of Los Angeles, California.

"The test missile exited its ground mobile launcher and accurately impacted its target after more than 500 kilometers of flight," the Pentagon said in a statement.

"Data collected and lessons learned from this test will inform the Department of Defense's development of future intermediate-range capabilities."

While the missile was described as "conventionally configured," meaning not nuclear-equipped, the launch was a sign of Washington beefing up its nuclear war-fighting capabilities in the wake of the collapse of the Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces Treaty on August 2.

The INF had banned all land-based missiles, conventional and nuclear, that could travel between 500 and 5,500 kilometers (310 and 3,400 miles), in an effort to abolish a class of nuclear arms deployed across Europe by the United States and the then-Soviet Union.

Many fear the end of the INF, which Washington accused Moscow of having

Cameroon anglophone separatist leader gets life sentence

AFP ■ YAOUNDE

A military court in Cameroon on Tuesday handed a life sentence to the head of the country's anglophone separatist movement, Julius Sisiku Ayuk Tabe, in a move that analysts said could inflame the 22-month-old revolt.

Ayuk Tabe, a charismatic leader widely deemed as a moderate in the separatist movement, was convicted with nine others of charges including "terrorism and secession", the state's lawyer, Martin Luther Achet, told AFP.

They were given life terms.

The sentences were confirmed by a lawyer for the separatists, Joseph Fru, who added the 10 had also been fined 250 billion CFA francs (USD 422 million, 381 million euros).

Fru condemned what he called a "parody of justice" and said the defendants refused to recognise the right of the military tribunal in Yaounde to try them. Their lawyers have yet to say whether they will file an appeal.

Johnson issues backstop Brexit ultimatum, EU rebuffs

London: British Prime Minister Boris Johnson has issued an ultimatum to the European Union (EU) over what he has branded an "anti-democratic" Irish border backstop, which must be scrapped to negotiate a new deal before the October 31 Brexit deadline.

But the ultimatum was rejected by the EU as it restated its stand on the backstop being non-negotiable.

In a letter to European Council President Donald Tusk on Monday night, Johnson reiterated his "highest priority" was to achieve an agreement to avert a chaotic no-deal exit from the 28-nation economic bloc, but not with any kind of backstop - designed to avert a post-Brexit hard border between EU member-country Ireland and British region Northern Ireland.

"The changes we seek relate primarily to the backstop. The problems with the backstop run much deeper than the simple political reality that it has three times been rejected by the House of Commons," writes the prime minister in his letter.

"The truth is that it is simply unviable... it is anti-democratic and inconsistent with the sovereignty of the UK as a state," he notes.

Tusk took to Twitter on Tuesday to rebuff the claims, accusing the British prime minister of not proposing realistic alternatives to the backstop.

He said: "The backstop is an insurance to avoid a hard border on the island of Ireland unless and until an alternative is found."

"Those against the backstop and not proposing realistic alternatives in fact support reestablishing a border. Even if they do not admit it."

Johnson, who has been a vehement critic of the clause in the withdrawal agreement negotiated by his predecessor Theresa May, told Tusk that it locks the UK, potentially indefinitely, into an international treaty which will bind Britain into a customs union. PTI

Gunman in Brazil holds 16 bus passengers hostage

Rio de Janeiro: A gunman is holding at least 16 bus passengers hostage in Rio de Janeiro on Tuesday, officials said, as police negotiate with the hijacker to try to end the standoff.

At least six people -- four women and two men -- have been freed so far from the vehicle that is stopped on heavily transited bridge connecting Rio with neighboring city Niteroi.

Heavily armed police including military and snipers have surrounded the bus as they negotiate with the gunman, who G1 news reported is armed with a gun, a tazer and gasoline. A live broadcast of the scene shows five ambulances parked near the bus, receiving hostages as they are released.

A series of gunshots have been heard, Globo TV reported. The gunman reportedly boarded the Rio-bound bus at 5:30 am (0830 GMT) and began threatening passengers.

Several lanes of traffic on the busy Rio-Niteroi bridge spanning Guanabara Bay have been paralysed during the ongoing hostage situation. AFP

PUTIN, MACRON SPAR OVER 'YELLOW VEST'

Bornes-les-mimosas: Russian President Vladimir Putin on Monday vowed to prevent the emergence of any mass demonstrations in Moscow like the "yellow vest" anti-government protests that erupted in France late last year. "We would not want such a thing to happen in the Russian capital," Putin said after talks with French counterpart Emmanuel Macron at the Bregancon fortress on France's Mediterranean coast.

REBELS WITHDRAW FROM KEY BASTION IN SYRIA

Damascus: Rebel groups were on Tuesday forced to withdraw from their key bastion of Khan Shaykhun town in Syria's Idlib province as a result of a military offensive in the region, a war monitor reported.

IMRAN ORDERS TO EXPEDITE CPCEC WORK

Islamabad: Pakistan Prime Minister Imran Khan has directed authorities to expedite work on half a dozen projects of the China-Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC) that have been facing significant delays. On Monday, Khan took a detailed briefing on the delayed energy and infrastructure projects of the multi-billion dollar CPEC, reports The Express Tribune.

Russia, China blast US missile test

Moscow: Russia and China warned Tuesday that a new US missile test had heightened military tensions and risked sparking an arms race, weeks after Washington ripped up a Cold War-era weapons pact with Moscow.

The US and Russia ditched the Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces (INF) treaty this month after accusing each other of violating the accord.

Washington said the agreement also tied its hands in dealing with other powers such as China. The US Department of Defense announced on Monday it had tested a type of ground-launched missile that was banned under the 1987 INF agreement, which limited the use of nuclear and conventional medium-range weapons. AFP

Trump seeks to sue Google for 'manipulating votes' in 2016 polls

Washington: US President Donald Trump on Monday sought to sue multinational technology company Google for allegedly manipulating up to "16 million votes" in favour of Democratic presidential candidate Hillary Clinton in the 2016 elections.

The election results had surprised many as Clinton was tipped to win by the media and pollsters.

"Wow, Report Just Out! Google manipulated from 2.6 million to 16 million votes for Hillary Clinton in 2016 Election! This was put out by a Clinton supporter, not a Trump Supporter! Google should be sued," Trump tweeted.

"My victory was even bigger than thought!" he said.

Trump was apparently referring to the work of Robert Epstein, a researcher with the California-based American Institute for Behavioral Research and Technology.

Epstein had testified in a Senate hearing in June that his research shows Google's search results pushed at least 2.6 million people to vote for Clinton in 2016.

Google CEO Sundar Pichai was asked about Epstein's work

Seoul to fine Volkswagen over 'illicit' emissions devices

Seoul: South Korea said Tuesday it would issue fines and file criminal complaints against Volkswagen and its luxury arm, Porsche, for installing "illicit" devices that helped multiple diesel vehicles cheat pollution standards.

The environment ministry said over 10,000 vehicles sold in South Korea by Volkswagen and Porsche from May 2015 to January 2018 were fitted with the devices, resulting in 10 times more nitrogen oxide emissions than standard levels.

The certifications for eight models -- including Audi A6, Volkswagen Touareg and Porsche Cayenne -- will be revoked and the carmakers will face an estimated fine of 11.5 billion won (US$9.5 million), the ministry said.

"We plan to continue responding firmly to manipulation of gas emissions in future," a ministry official said. AFP

Toll from attack on Burkina military base rises to 24

AFP ■ OUAGADOUGOU

The death toll from an attack Monday on a military base in northern Burkina Faso rose to 24, the military said, in an unprecedented blow to the army in its campaign against jihadist insurgents.

Seven people were wounded and five others missing, armed forces headquarters said in a statement Tuesday.

The previous toll from the attack, at Koutougou in Soum province near the border with Mali, had been given late Monday as "more than a dozen".

An "extraordinary meeting of the defence council" was underway at the presidential palace in the capital Ouagadougou, a security source told AFP.

The country's main opposition party, the Union for Progress and Change (UPC), said the government appointed by President Roch Marc Christian Kabore had "completely failed".

It called for a "new team, whose prime task will be to defend territorial integrity and protect the public."

Monday's attack came four days after suspected jihadists raided a village in the restive north, killing 15 people, plundering and burning shops.

A former French colony that ranks among one of the poorest countries in the world, Burkina Faso has been struggling with an Islamist revolt since 2015, which began in the north but has since spread to the east, near the border with Togo and Benin.

Epstein signed will 2 days before jailhouse suicide

AP ■ NEW YORK

Jeffrey Epstein signed a will just two days before he killed himself in jail, new court records show, opening a new legal front in what could be a long battle over the financier's fortune.

Court papers filed last week in the US Virgin Islands list no details of beneficiaries but valued the estate at more than $577 million, including more than $56 million in cash.

The existence of the will, first reported by the New York Post, raised new questions about Epstein's final days inside the Metropolitan Correctional Center, where he was awaiting trial on federal sex trafficking and conspiracy charges.

Epstein signed the document Aug. 8. Less than 48 hours later, he was found dead in his cell, prompting an investigation that has cast a harsh light on staffing shortages at the Manhattan detention center.

'Good revision strategy is key'

With less than one month left for the JE CBT-2, students often start panicking. AKHAND SWAROOP PANDIT shares tips that will help them ace the exam

After the result declaration of RRB CBT — 1, the students are left with a very short period of time around twenty days to prepare for CBT — 2. Smart preparation and incorporating few techniques the students can ace the CBT — 2 exam as well. Here are seven tips and techniques to crack the RRB JE CBT — 2 exam.

Analyse the syllabus: First things first, it is advised that the students should first analyse the syllabus which is classified and concise. The preparation of RRB JE CBT-2 differs from SSC/GATE OR IES preparation. So, the students should stick to the syllabus and prepare smartly.

Practice direct questions: Students should focus on practicing direct questions rather than giving too much time to theory. Compared to reading theory, it will be beneficial for the students if they do solve direct questions as it may increase their efficiency also. Level of questions are expected to be moderate so high level questions should not be considered.

Prepare a proper time table: Student should make a proper time table including two-three subjects daily. It's always advised to study two-three subjects daily in loop than going for only one subject to maintain the efficiency. And, direct question should be practiced on a daily basis at least hundred to two hundred questions.

Don't ignore the non-technical part: Nontechnical part covers 50 marks and it needs to be practiced daily. Students to dedicatedly devote at least an hour daily to practice it, students who ace this section will definitely score well and get at the edge.
Revision strategy: A good revision strategy is also important because without revision whatever the students study will be futile. So at least every third day student should revise whatever they have studied in past two days. This cycle of revision must continue till the exam.
Formulas are very important: For RRB JE CBT-2, the numericals will be mostly based on direct formulas and thus students must remember them. A simple hack to remember all the formulas are that they can write all the formulas on a chart paper and paste them in front of their study table which will help them in daily revisions. This is an important step as in CBT-2 exam virtual calculator is allowed and mostly all the numericals will be formula-based and those formulas must be on your tips.

Short notes and flash cards: Students should revise from the short notes and flash cards to save time. The exam is all about smart preparation thus short notes & flash cards are always a better option.

Since the gap between CBT-1 and CNT-2 is very short the exam is expected to be easy. So, it is all about right preparation at the right time and you can score well.

Medals for doctors at AIIMS Rishikesh

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The United States of America (USA) based NRI — Hersh Kumar has offered to award Gold medals to graduating doctors at AIIMS Rishikesh in Uttarakhand. A former IIT-Roorkee product and a Gold medalist himself, Hersh has also created a corpus fund for such awards and scholarships and vows to extend this program to other medical institutes across the country in near future.

The students with highest commitment to the ethics of profession and compassion in patient care will be awarded the Gold medal christened as Hersh and Rita Kumar Golden Heart Award to be instituted from current academic session only. This was announced by Hersh and his wife — Rita during his visit to the AIIMS campus in Rishikesh last week to conduct a mentoring session for MBBS students in the presence of institute Director — Dr Ravi Kant.

"While giving scholarships, financial aids and awards, something focus remains on academic excellence and financial condition of recipients. However there is a serious decline in the passion for profession, compassion, desire to serve with ethics. The focus remains on mind but not on heart. The Gold medal program consists of mentoring sessions to emphasise on ultimate wisdom of involving heart along with mind in the profession," said Hersh Kumar.

While mentoring the students at AIIMS, Hersh said there should be a 'four wheel drive system' which means that if we involve mind as the front wheel and heart as real wheel or vice versa, it will make a four wheel drive system that is genuinely more powerful.

"It will allow professionals to tap to their true hidden potential and enable them to be high achievers professionally with more job satisfaction. It will also help them in their holistic development as a human being," Kumar adds.

People are looking for comfort today, increasing their dependence on technology. This has opened doors for plenty of opportunities in IoT, says MUBEEN JUKAKU

Be Smart

Everyone wants a comfortable lifestyle. Wouldn't you love it if you could switch on the air conditioner before reaching home or turn off the lights even after leaving your home? Everyone is busy catching up with the work that they might miss out on a few things at home in a hurry. Here the Internet of Things (IoT) helps us wonderfully in connecting us with the devices and notifying us about everything at home even when we are at work or anywhere else. We can say that IoT makes our lives simpler and more convenient. It helps you to manage your home more smartly. You can water your garden by sitting in an office with just one tap in your mobile application.

What is IoT?

It is an ecosystem of connected physical devices/objects that are accessible through the internet. IoT is a system of interrelated devices, digital products, objects, people or animals that are provided with unique identifiers (UIDs) and the ability to transfer data over a network without requiring any human interaction.

The IoT is big and real in terms of everything. However, technologies and standards are still evolving, expected to change more in the coming years. IoT will connect 4 billion people on the planet through multiple devices and applications.

By connecting "things", IoT will make our lives easier. The new wave of connectivity is going beyond smartphones and laptops by thriving towards connected cars, smart homes, wearables, health care, smart cities, and many more. IoT helps these devices to bridge the gap between physical and digital worlds to improve the quality and productivity of industries, society, and life.

Overview of IoT

With the potential to increase the connectivity of everything, the Internet of Things is changing the way we do things nowadays. The increased pace of IoT adoption in the country will make many sectors like industrial manufacturing, energy, agriculture, utilities, transport, and logistics lead the market.

The Indian market potential of the Internet of Things is likely to reach $ 9 billion by 2020. The IoT units in India can see rapid growth of 31 times to reach $1.9 billion by 2020.

As per the GlobalData, the data and analytics company, the global market potential of the Internet of Things is expected to reach $318 billion at compound annual growth rate of 20 per cent by 2023.

Opportunities

The rise in the number of IoT devices in use has led to a significant increase in the number of IoT jobs as well. The candidates require a combination of skills to ensure a promising career in IoT.

Train in IoT

Knowing the growing need of IoT based skills in the market, the Electronics Sector Skills Council of India (ESSCI), which is set up under the Ministry of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship (MSDE), skill the youth of the country specifically in the electronics domain.

The council has been working with the subject matter experts across India to create Qualification Packs (QPs) in accordance with the rising demand of IoT based skills in the market. Therefore, if you are looking forward to making your career in this domain, you can simply take training from the registered training partners of ESSCI that are available pan India.

Understanding the perspective of both Electronics Hardware and Embedded Software, the council has prepared two job-oriented courses (QPs) in which the candidates can take training and get the job easily in the IoT domain. They are:

IoT Hardware Analyst: This QP primarily takes a complete hardware perspective. For Engineers coming from Electronics and Electrical background, this is an ideal QP if you want to have your career in the hardware aspect of IoT. The QP is designed as a pack of skills that includes Circuit design, Hardware realisation in terms of PCB, Optimisation, Verification and Validation, and System thinking aspects.

The National Skill Qualification Framework level for this job role is five and the minimum educational qualification required to enroll in this job role is Bachelor's degree in Engineering, Technology, Statistics, Maths and Computer Science.

Embedded Full-Stack IoT Analyst: This QP primarily takes the software perspective. With a primary focus on Embedded Software design, this QP focuses on skill-building in areas like Embedded programming, Operating Systems, UI development, Debugging, Testing and release of quality software.

This QP also gives very good focus to inculcate engineering best practices. For engineers who are willing to have a career as Design Engineers, this QP would serve as an ideal skill pack.

This job role is covered under the NSQF Level 5 and the minimum educational qualification required is a Bachelor's Degree in Engineering/Technology/Statistics/Mathematics/Computer Science.

The future of IoT is virtually unlimited due to advances in technology and consumers desire to integrate devices such as smartphones with household machines. Networking and connectivity protocols have made it possible to connect people and machines on all platforms. Also, there is so much data travelling from device to device, so security is another key concern that needs to be addressed to keep up with demands.

From an individual's perspective, IoT will offer excellent career opportunities which need to be harnessed. Only it requires to have the necessary skills that are going to be the key differentiator.

'Aim's to facilitate knowledge transfer'

PROFESSOR ANURAG S RATHORE tells DEEPAK KUMAR JHA how they have created an industry-academia partnership

How do you look at IIT-Delhi's contribution towards furthering India's competitiveness among global economy evolution?

The Indian Institute of Technology-Delhi is one of the 15 IITs created to be centers of excellence for training, research and development in science, engineering and technology. Since its inception, over 35,000 have graduated from IIT-Delhi in various disciplines including Engineering, Physical Sciences, Management and Humanities and Social Sciences.

Of these, nearly 11,970 have graduated with BTech degrees, 3,541 received PhD degrees, and the remaining obtained Master's Degree in Engineering, Sciences and Business Administration. These alumni today work as scientists, technologists, business managers and entrepreneurs. They have contributed significantly to building of this nation, and to industrialization around the world. In fact, of the top twenty Indian Unicorn founders, eleven have been founded by IIT Delhi alumni. Besides, IIT-Delhi has 12 centers of excellence and three dedicated Research Parks which act as power house for technology and engineering research in partnership with Industries.

How are you fostering culture of collaboration among stakeholders?

We have been actively working with its corporate partners since decades. In 2017-18 alone we worked on more than 450 consultancy and research sponsored collaboration projects worth over ₹175 crore. In the last 5 years, we have partnered with more than 200 industry partners with the goal of providing scalable solutions. The modality of the relationships is in the form of multi-faceted transactional, operational and strategic collaborations like sponsored projects, technical consultancies, philanthropic activities, skill development programs and more.

What is the aim?

To break the silos and support strategic, catalytic and capacity-building programmes, and research across all academic domains. Our team actively engages in fostering industry engagements to facilitate the transfer of knowledge and emerging technologies from academia to industry. We strive to build bridges through these collaborative activities to provide a platform for our faculty and research scholars to transform academic research that commences from classrooms and laboratories into technologies and products that can make a difference to the society. There has been a sea-change in Corporate interactions at the Institute which goes beyond the traditional model of funding discreet research projects, to more interactive and equal partnerships, a model better suited for today's technological landscape.

Professor Anurag S Rathore
Associate Dean, Corporate Relations, IIT-Delhi

How are you mobilising resources for the research community? What kind of enabling environment you have created for industry-academia partnership?

The resources can be in form of funding, complementary technology expertise and infrastructure. Our efforts are directed to create awareness about the conducive environment at IIT-Delhi for industry-academia partnership. Based on the 'need' or 'aspiration' of every potential partner, a customised proposal is worked upon by us in conjunction with the interested faculty. We proactively reach out to the industry and are instrumental to facilitate a seamless experience right from the beginning of the relationship till the MoU (memorandum of understanding) is signed off. Thereafter we have a robust mechanism in place to monitor progress.

What are the focus areas for industry-academia partnerships in next few years?

Some of the focus areas of our industry partners include Healthcare, AI, ML and Cognitive, Smart materials, Electric mobility, Clean and Green energy, and Sustainability. The third edition of Industry Day at IIT-Delhi today (September 21, 2019) will showcase our collaborative research work in these fields.

The large numbers of young Indians can be a demographic dividend if they are educated well and have the skills to work in jobs likely to arise in the 21st century. Conversely, they may become a demographic nightmare if they don't have such skills. But what kinds of skills will students need to be successful in the 21st century?

Understanding three kinds of skills

As an answer to this question first consider that there are three kinds of skills people have, namely internal skills, interpersonal skills, and effectiveness related skills. Internal skills include analytical skills, self-management skills, and planning and organization skills. Interpersonal skills are used to interact with internal teams and external customers. Collaboration, networking, teamwork, and negotiation are components of interpersonal skills. Effectiveness skills make people effective at their job.

People with good effectiveness skills are good at their work. Effectiveness skills include virtual productivity. Because so much work is done online, people productive in the virtual world are more effective at their jobs. Critical thinking, problem-solving, and the ability to research and analyse data are also components of effectiveness skills. The ability to research and analyse data is important because there is a plethora of data, yet using data to gain insights and derive intelligence requires considerable skill. Finally, presentation skills and communication skills are important skills as well because they help people produce better results crucial for success.

Other crucial skills

All the above-mentioned skills to some extent are essential for young people to be employable yet young people need other skills as well. To see why consider that today large and small companies are impacted by global events. Every large company has a global footprint while smaller companies are also impacted by events on the other side of the globe. Hence the employees of tomorrow need to be attuned to a worldview that they are global citizens. A feeling of global citizenship needs to be inculcated within them. Young people also need to be inculcated with environmental skills. The environment is in a precarious state, yet too many even now remain unaware of the harm they are causing the environment and of steps they can take to eliminate such harm.

Ethics and compassion will play an increasingly important role in the future. Leaders need to be instilled with a sense of ethics and compassion so they can lead effectively. Being compassionate and having a solid ethical framework makes for sound leadership and allows leaders to make ethical decisions when faced with moral conundrums.

Why these skills are necessary

Today the journey of many professionals is one paved largely with chance. There is little or no structure in place to ensure that a good education leads to commensurate life outcomes. Rather usually even highly educated professionals fail to reach their fullest potential.

Career progression is in effect a roll of the dice in which winners and losers are decided not by merit but mere happenstance. Because career progression depends on the roll of the dice, meritorious individuals often don't reach upper echelons of organizations and don't make decisions that could produce benign and wide-reaching results that benefit more people.

Each of the skills mentioned should be taught at appropriate ages before students turn 16. When internal skills, interpersonal skills, effectiveness related skills, and awareness of global citizenship, the environment, and ethics and compassion are coded into individuals at a young age, their life outcomes will happen not by chance but design. This is why the mentioned skills are so essential to the success of young people today and for society to prosper in the future.

IN BRIEF

QUEENSLAND VARSITY PARTNERS WITH INDIA

The University of Queensland (UQ) has identified India as an integral market for research collaboration, corporate partnership and student mobility. The UQ shares a valued relationship with India, strengthened by decades of academic and industry partnerships and student mobility opportunities.

Dr Jessica Gallagher, Director of Global Engagement and Entrepreneurship at UQ, said: "We have identified India as a priority country to strategically engage with under the University's Global Strategy (2018-2021). For sustainable growth and success, we aim to operate with an overarching, holistic and long-term strategy that aligns the university with the Indian Government, academia and industry, and supports PhD and collaborative research with strategic partners."

CONVERSION OF HEAT INTO ELECTRICITY

The Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Mandi researchers are developing thermoelectric materials that can convert heat into electricity. While solar power has received a lot of attention, other alternative sources are equally promising, even if less known. A research team led by Dr Ajay Soni, Associate Professor (Physics), School of Basic Sciences, IIT Mandi, is studying materials that can convert heat into electricity. About 70 per cent of energy in the world is wasted as heat, one of the key players of global warming. The conversion of waste heat into electricity can serve the dual purpose of energy-self-sufficiency and environmental preservation.

CYBERSECURITY PROGRAMMES BY AISECT

AISECT, a social enterprise working in the area of skill development in semi urban and rural India, has launched Cybersecurity programmes in collaboration with iZen, a Silicon Valley-based talent empowerment and education technology company. Under this partnership, certificate courses in Cybersecurity Basics and Network Attack Detection will be offered on AISECTOnline.com.

These courses are well-suited for anyone interested in enhancing cybersecurity awareness — students seeking employment in the field, teachers who want to become cybersecurity trainers, executives and public/private sector employees seeking a career in cybersecurity through re-skilling. Each course offers a training of 45-75 hours, which can be completed in 8 weeks or more based on his understanding.

INCLUSIVE SCHOOLING

Teacher education experts at the International Conference titled "Journey of Teacher Education: Local to Global" organized by National Council of Teacher Education (NCTE) made a strong pitch for creation of a more inclusive school education system in India, focussed on the needs of children belonging to minorities and disadvantaged groups and students with special needs.

Speaking at the valedictory session, R Subrahmanyam, Secretary, Department of Higher Education, Ministry of Human Resource Development, said: "While problems today are interlinked and global in scale, the solutions have to be local and rooted in one's own ethos and realities on the ground." Around 40 experts from India and abroad deliberated for two days upon key areas related to teacher education in India.

RECORD FOR CI

The popularity of Cambridge International (CI) qualifications continues to grow this year, with a record number of entries in India and many other countries. It released the results of its June 2019 exam series globally, revealing that entries have risen by 5% internationally and by 6% in India.

The number of students taking Cambridge exams in June 2019 in India has increased by 8%, and there has also been a rise in the number of Cambridge IGCSE entries, with an increase of 3% on last year.

The popular IGCSEs in India are English, Physics and Chemistry. The popular Cambridge International AS & A Level subjects are Maths, Physics and Business.

India's selection dilemma

Team management to decide between Rahane, Rohit or a fifth bowler for 1st Test

Ravindra Jadeja and Rohit Sharma rest during India's practice session in Antigua ahead of 1st Test

PTI ■ ANTIGUA

The Indian team management will be fretting on possible team combinations for the first Test against the West Indies with a difficult choice between senior pros Rohit Sharma and Ajinkya Rahane if it opts for a fifth specialist bowler.

Unless India go with a safety-first four bowler strategy which allows both Test and ODI vice-captain to figure in the scheme of things, one among the two would be cooling heels and it could be Rahane going by his wretched form in red-ball cricket.

India will be returning to the longest format after a good seven and

INDIA WILL BE RETURNING TO THE LONGEST FORMAT AFTER A GOOD SEVEN AND HALF MONTHS AND THE MOOT POINT OF THE PLAYING XI WILL BE WHETHER TEAM GOES FOR AN ADDITIONAL SIXTH BATSMAN OR AN EXTRA BOWLER FOR THE FIRST TEST STARTING ON THURSDAY

half months and the moot point of the playing XI will be whether Kohli-Ravi Shastri duo goes for an additional sixth batsman or an extra bowler for the first Test starting on Thursday. If the Indian team's think tank employs conservative strategy, KL Rahul and Mayank Agarwal should be opening the innings but Rahul it may be recalled was dropped for the last two Test matches in Australia with Hanuma Vihari opening the innings.

While Vihari didn't score too many runs, he blunted the new ball attack which helped Agarwal and Cheteshwar Pujara to consolidate without much trouble.

If one looks at the pattern of playing XI selections, Vihari, who batted No 3 and scored a fifty in the warm-up game against West Indies A, could once again open in the first Test if Rahul's poor Test record during past one year is taken into account.

Cheteshwar Pujara and Virat Kohli are the two pillars at No 3 and 4 respectively but the problem starts after that.

With Rishabh Pant expected to come in at No 6 and Ravindra Jadeja with his all-round skills bringing in the necessary balance at No 7 in the absence of an injured Hardik Pandya, Kohli may be left with an unenviable task of putting either Rahane or Rohit on the chopping block.

Rohit's last Test knock was an unbeaten half-century and he also scored a first-innings half-ton in the practice game.

While Rahane got a few runs in the second innings, his form has been on the downhill and even a county stint with Hampshire has not done anything to bolster his confidence.

The only option to include both is to go for a four-bowler strategy with three pacers in Jasprit Bumrah, Mohammed Shami, Ishant Sharma along with Ravichandran Ashwin or Kuldeep Yadav as the lone spinner.

The extra batsman then will take Jadeja out of equation but there will always be a chance of fatigue in sultry conditions and the case of maintaining proper over-rates with three out and fast bowlers in operation.

Skipper Kohli has always been a big advocate of playing five bowlers as the key to winning Test matches is 20 wickets.

If the track is lively, Kohli perhaps wouldn't even mind playing a fourth pacer in Umesh Yadav (along with lone spinner), who had a good game against the Windies A.

However a lot will depend on the kind of track that the local curators provide at the Sir Vivian Richards Stadium here.

There is a perception that this Indian team can take 20 wickets with four bowlers but will Kohli take that risk in their World Test Championship opener?

Jason Holder receives Windies Test Player of the Year award

Holder, Hope bags top WI honours

Jason Holder, West Indies skipper in Test and ODIs, has bagged the West Indies Test Player of the Year award at the seventh CWI/WIPA Awards 2019.

Under Holder's captaincy in 2018, West Indies drew the three-match home Test series against Sri Lanka 1-1 and later defeated Bangladesh in the two-match Test series 2-0. During the said period, the star all-rounder also scored 405 runs and picked up 21 wickets in ODIs. He will now be leading the side in the two-match Test series against India beginning on Thursday.

At the annual CWI Award ceremony which took place on Monday, Shai Hope was named West Indies' ODI Player of the Year. The right-handed batsman scored 875 runs at 67.30 in 2018, including three centuries and three half-centuries.

Oshane Thomas was named as the West Indies Emerging Player of the Year while Rahkeem Cornwall, who is in line to make his Test debut against India this week, was adjudged West Indies Championship Player of the Year. Andre Russell bagged the Caribbean T20 player award.

DULEEP TROPHY OPENER ENDS IN DRAW

BENGALURU: The rain-marred Duleep Trophy opener here between India Blue and India Green ended in a draw on Tuesday after three days were washed out. The match ended without even the first innings being completed, and both teams got a point each. After the opening day's proceedings started late on Saturday owing to overnight rain and saw 49 overs being bowled, play on the other days were called off without a ball being bowled. Only 49 overs were bowled in the entire match. On a truncated opening day, India Green had reduced India Blue to 112 for six. India Red play India Blue in the next match beginning on August 23 at Alur.

PRIYAM NAMED INDIA U-23 CAPTAIN

NEW DELHI: Priyam Garg will captain the India U-23 team in the home series beginning against Bangladesh U-23 beginning September 19 in Raipur. All the five games of the series will be played in Raipur. Garg had captained the India U-19 squad in the recently held youth ODI series in the UK. Yashasvi Jaiswal too was part of the U-19 squad. The squad also includes Arshdeep Singh and Harpreet Brar who were part of the Kings XI Punjab squad in IPL 2019. Bengal's U-23 captain Ritwik Roy Choudhary, considered a handy all-rounder, has also been included for leading the team to National U-23 final. The selectors picked the squad after considering the performances of the U-19 series in the UK and CK Nayudu Trophy.

DEMBELE ADDS TO BARCA'S WOES

BARCELONA: Barcelona forward Ousmane Dembele will miss five weeks after suffering a hamstring injury, the club said. The club said in a statement that tests showed a "fibrillary lesion in the left thigh femoral biceps." If Dembele is out for that long, he could miss five matches in La Liga as well as France's Euro 2020 qualifiers against Albania on September 7 and Andorra on September 20. He suffered a similar problem in May at the end of an injury-ravaged first season in Barcelona. He is the latest casualty in a depleted Barcelona strike force. Lionel Messi missed the Liga opener with a calf problem. Luis Suarez limped off after 37 minutes in Bilbao, also with a calf problem, and is expected to be absent for a month.

KANE, AKILA REPORTED FOR ACTION

DUBAI: New Zealand captain Kane Williamson and Sri Lanka's Akila Dananjaya have been reported for suspect bowling action after the first Test between the two sides in Galle, the International Cricket Council (ICC) said on Tuesday. Both the players are right-arm off-break spinners and their bowling actions came under scrutiny during the opening Test which ended on Sunday. Williamson and Dananjaya will now undergo testing within 14 days from the reporting date (August 18), and, during this period both will be permitted to continue bowling in international cricket until the results of the testing are known. Williamson bowled just three overs during the second innings of the game while Dananjaya claimed six scalps in the Galle, including a five-wicket haul in the first innings.

Prannoy stuns Lin Dan

PTI ■ BASEL

Indian shuttler HS Prannoy stunned multiple-time Olympic and world champion Lin Dan in a hard-fought match while Sai Praneeth outplayed Lee Dong Keun to enter the pre-quarterfinals of the World Championships here on Tuesday.

Prannoy, unseeded in the tournament, beat the highly-decorated Chinese 21-11, 13-21, 21-7 in a second round match that lasted one hour and two minutes.

In the pre-quarterfinals, Prannoy faces an uphill task against top seed Kento Momota of Japan, who downed Luis Enrique Penalver of Spain 21-10, 21-7.

In five meetings between the two, Prannoy has emerged victorious thrice. The Chinese won in the last meeting, at the Australian Open in June.

"I started and ended well but the strategy in the second game went completely opposite for me. Thanks to coaches I could make a few changes in crucial moments. I am happy I was patient and was ready for a long match. Shuttles were not very fast but I am happy with my game," Prannoy said.

Later on Tuesday, 16th seed Sai Praneeth completed a comprehensive 21-16, 21-15 win over Dong Keun of South Korea in the second round.

In the women's doubles, the Indian pair of Ashwini Ponappa N Sikki Reddy got a walkover from Chinese Taipei's Chang Ching Hui and Yang Ching Tun in their opening match. They will face seventh seeded Chinese pair of Du Yue and Li Yin Hui in the second round.

The men's doubles pairing of Manu Attri and Sumeeth Reddy beat the French duo of Thom Gicquel and Ronan Labar 21-13, 21-13 in a first round match.

Pogba fails in Wolves draw

AFP ■ WOLVERHAMPTON

Manchester United were forced to settle for a 1-1 draw against Wolves after Paul Pogba's penalty was saved by Rui Patricio at Molineux on Monday.

Ole Gunnar Solskjaer's side took the lead through Anthony Martial's second Premier League goal of the season in the first half. Ruben Neves hit a brilliant equaliser for Wolves after the interval before France star Pogba was denied by Patricio.

It was a curious decision for Pogba to take the spot-kick as Marcus Rashford had scored a penalty in last weekend's 4-0 victory over Chelsea and also memorably netted the Champions League last-16 winner from the spot against Paris Saint Germain last term.

Pogba has now missed four Premier League penalties since the start of last season.

United would have gone top of the table with a win, but instead they were left to reflect on an inconsistent performance that underlined why Solskjaer still has a lot of work to do to turn his team into title contenders.

While there were moments of promise in attack and defence, United didn't take their chances and crumbled too easily when they came under pressure in their second game of the season.

At an average of 24 years and 173 days, Solskjaer had picked United's youngest Premier League starting line-up since the final day of the 2016-17 campaign.

Daniel James made his maiden start for United after the close-season signing from Swansea.

There was no place in the matchday squad for Chile forward Alexis Sanchez, who has been linked with Inter Milan.

Smith out of Headingley Test

AFP ■ LEEDS

Australia's star batsman Steve Smith has been ruled out of the third Ashes Test beginning on Thursday after suffering concussion, Cricket Australia announced on Tuesday.

The 30-year-old — who has scored two centuries and 92 in his three innings in the first two Tests — was felled by a Jofra Archer bouncer on Saturday in the first innings of the second Test at Lord's.

Smith's absence will be a huge blow to Australia who hold a 1-0 lead in the five Test series and victory at Headingley would ensure they retained the Ashes.

Their other batsmen have not looked convincing — experienced opener David Warner has totalled just 18 in his four innings — with Smith being the lynch-pin.

"Steve Smith has been ruled out of the third Ashes Test at Headingley, with coach Justin Langer confirming the news after the batsman sat out Australia's training session on Tuesday," Cricket Australia announced on their website.

The team doctor Richard Saw had the final say on whether Smith played or not and he was seen speaking with him during team training on Tuesday.

According to the website vice-captain Pat Cummins patted Smith on the shoulder and coach Justin Langer wrapped his arm round the former captain as the rest of the squad trained without him.

Smith — who has risen to number two in the world batting rankings — was pictured with his head in his hands and Langer looking glumly at the ground.

Smith now has two weeks to be ready for the fourth Test in Manchester, which starts on September 4, with a three-day tour match in Derby from August 29-31.

Sushil earns world c'ship ticket

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Struggling star Sushil Kumar sealed a berth in India's squad for the World Championship, pipping a spirited Jitender Kumar 4-2 in a bitterly-fought 74kg final of the selection trials here on Tuesday.

Consistent attacks from both the wrestlers in the fast-paced final bout had the fans on the edge of their seats. Close to 1500 gathered at the IGI stadium to watch their favourite star in action.

Sushil opened up a 4-0 lead in the first period and ended up inflicting an eye injury on Jitender early in the second period.

Sushil, whose return to the mat after a year at an event in Belarus met with a disappointing end, apologised immediately.

Later, another attacking move from Sushil had Jitender wincing in pain as he suffered an elbow injury.

Nevertheless, Jitender did not give up and thrice he had got hold of Sushil's right leg but lack of proper grip meant he could not convert them into points.

The two-time Olympic medallist was feeling the heat and to the discerning, it seemed the two medical breaks he took was a ploy to catch some breath.

With two push-out points, Jitender reduced the margin of defeat.

It still is not over for Jitender as the federation has given him the option to book a World Championship berth in 79kg by challenging Tuesday's winner Virdev Gulia.

Mandeep's hat-trick take India to final

PTI ■ TOKYO

Striker Mandeep Singh struck a fine hat-trick to help the Indian men's hockey team beat hosts Japan 6-3 and book a summit clash berth in the Olympic Test Event here on Tuesday.

The Indian team bounced back from their 1-2 loss against New Zealand with an impressive display in their third match at the Oi Hockey Stadium here. India again face New Zealand in the summit clash today.

Mandeep found the target in the 9th, 29th and 30th minutes while Nilakanta Sharma (3rd), Nilam Sanjeep Xess (7th) and Gurjant Singh (41st) were the other scorers for India.

Kentaro Fukuda (25th), Kenta Tanaka (36th) and Kazuma Murata (52nd) scored the goals for Japan.

Nilakanta gave India an excellent start through a field goal in the third minute. Buoyed by the early lead, the Indian team put tremendous pressure on the Japan defence as Gurjant Singh took a shot on goal, but saw his effort going wide of the post.

However, a penalty corner

Indian players return to dugout after beating Japan 6-3 in the final league game was awarded to India in the seventh minute which was converted brilliantly by Nilam Sanjeep to help the team take a 2-0 lead.

India continued to take the aggressive approach and Mandeep found the back of the net with an excellent field goal in the ninth minute.

Japan managed to open their account through a field goal through Kentaro Fukuda in the 25th minute, but Mandeep scored two field goals in quick succession to help India take a big 5-1 lead. The Indian vice-captain scored just before the half-time whistle in the 29th and 30th minutes.

Japan started the third quarter on an aggressive note and kept putting pressure on the Indian defence and found a field goal through Kenta Tanaka in the 36th minute.

India did not let the momentum shift towards the Japanese side as forward Gurjant found the back of the net in the 41st minute to make it 6-2 which put the world number 5 side in a dominant position at the end of the third quarter.

Japan attacked the Indian defence in the fourth quarter and scored their third goal through Kazuma Murata in the 52nd minute.

The win put India in the second spot in the points table and they face toppers New Zealand in the summit clash.

EVES TOP THE TABLE

Following an impressive performance against Australia, the Indian women's hockey team also secured its place in the final by playing out a 0-0 draw against China.

China needed the victory to make sure that they progress to the final but India's defense was up to the task, and seemed determined to consolidate their position at the top of the points table.

With a tally of five points from their three matches, India topped the points table, and will now face hosts and World No 14 Japan in the final today.

Many visitors are fascinated by the exotic cultural exhibits including hand-painted Turkish ceramics, old Japanese porcelain, and Vietnamese aloes wood, Indonesian coral jade displayed in the No. 2 Hall at the 2019 Creative Yunnan Cultural Industry Expo.

"How much is the hand-painted table lamp?" In front of the booth of Turkish hand-painted ceramic crafts, a variety of colorful hand-painted table lamps, floor lamps and chandeliers attracted the attention of many visitors.

Zhang Xiling, who is attending the exhibition for the third time, brought thousands of hand-painted crafts from Turkey to the Expo this year. She said that with the deepen of the Belt and Road Initiative and the Yunnan Cultural Industry Expo, many Chinese have knew and love Turkish hand-painted handicrafts.

At the Expo, antique porcelain from Japan also attracted much attention. According to an exhibitor named Zhao Ling that Yunnan people all like to drink Pu'er tea, and the taste of Pu'er tea is rich with different utensils and serving ways. After years of traveling, she discovered that the Japanese tea ceremony can transform the taste of Pu'er tea into something special. That's why she brought more than 3,000 pieces of unused old Japanese porcelain made before 1980 and bought on auction to the Expo, hoping that there could be more exchanges between Yunnan tea culture and Japanese tea ceremony culture.

"This agarwood bracelet is made in Quang Nam. That bracelet is made in Nha Trang and the price is a little higher."

In front of the Vietnam Nha Trang Aloes Booth, Ye Shujuan, a Vietnamese girl who studied at Yunnan University of Finance and Economics and speaks fluent Chinese, was busy introducing the exhibits to visitors. Their factory is located in Quang Nam Province in Vietnam. They came to Kunming each year to participate in the Cultural Industry Expo in the past few years. Through the platform, more and more people have experienced the aloes culture from Vietnam, and more and more aloes cultural products from Vietnam entered the Chinese market.

Yunnan Cultural Industry Expo has built a bridge of cultural exchanges and friendship between Yunnan and foreign countries. (Wu Ping)

POVERTY ALLEVIATION

Confidence-building and education let Jingpo shake off poverty

Editor's Note: In Yunnan, 9 ethnic groups—the Derung, De'ang, Jino, Nu, Bulang, Jingpo, Lisu, Lahu and Wa—have directly moved from primitive or slave societies into modern societies. In poverty alleviation, Yunnan focuses on the areas inhabited by these ethnic groups and other minorities. The province has taken creative, targeted measures and formulated special poverty alleviation plans in recent years. This issue, we continue to publish stories on how Jingpo ethnic groups shakes off poverty.

There are more than 12,000 people in Xishan Township of Mang City, Yunnan Province, and Jingpo ethnic group accounts for 92.8% of its total population. The average person has 0.34 hectare of arable land and 1.1 hectare of forest land. That means its endorsement of resources is good. However, due to a long-term social development retardation and backwardness, the poverty rate in Xishan Township was 23% in 2014.

Mulepao, an old Jingpo man in Maojiang Village of Xishan Township, had lost confidence in life. He and his wife had been ill for a long time and their two sons had no productive skills. His family lived in poverty by farming.

In 2014, the poverty alleviation team came to his home to explain the poverty alleviation policy. And finally, the poverty alleviation team members took his two sons to attend skill training courses and then sent them to Zhejiang, a more developed coastal province in China to work. The old couple are now raising 7 beef cattle and 16 pigs. With the rising of their income, since 2017, Mulepao's family has been out of poverty and their life has been getting better and better.

In the Yingpan Ethnic Primary School, there are students from 9 ethnic groups, among which the Jingpo students accounts for 85%. In order to inherit Jingpo traditional culture, the school adopts bilingual teaching, and folk dance becomes the students'

"No one drops out of school here. Parents are actively sending their children to school," said Yang Anjia, the school master.

Boost the poor with the confidence first and help them with skills. In targeted poverty alleviation, local party committee and government promote the support in both ambition and wisdom, stimulate the endogenous drive of the local people, block the transmission of poverty across generations, and take precise measures to solve the problem of quality that caused poverty. Now, the poverty rate has decreased to 5.8% in Xishan Township. (Xinhua News)

ECOLOGY

Diqing Tibetan Autonomous Prefecture ranked first in ecological environment in Yunnan with a satisfaction rate of 94.3% from local public, according to a recent survey on Yunnan's ecology in 2018.

Embracing the philosophy of "lush mountains and lucid waters are invaluable assets" in recent years, Diqing has put into practice the provincial decision of "building Yunnan into the most beautiful province in China".

In 2018, Diqing Party committee and government decided to step up eco-protection in an effort to be a most beautiful Tibetan area in China. The prefecture in northwest Yunnan has taken rounds of actions to beautify local cities, towns, villages and households. At the same time, Diqing focused on pollution prevention, ecological protection and living environment that features blue sky, fresh air, clean surroundings, clear rivers and lush vegetation. (Diqing Daily)

Yunnan and India work together on the golden Silk Road

"Muga silk, could be treated as treasure by both Chinese and Indian people for it built up a bridge that connects Yunnan with India," said Xu Jianchu, a doctor of plants, who now works in Kunming Institute of Botany, Chinese Academy of Sciences.

Mr. Xu, also known as an internationally renowned ethnobotanist, had rich experience in working with other countries scholars and experts, and working in India.

He referred that when he made investigation in India several years ago, a kind of gold cocoon, also called muga silk, produced by the silkworm Antheraea assamensis, attracted his eyes. He took out a picture of the silkworm that changed into a golden butterfly, called amber silkworm. It lives in the northeast of India, where it's called Assam or Muga silkworm, and it's characterized by its spinning out golden silk thread.

According to the research of a German professor Jacoby, Chinese silk was already sold to India in 325 BC. Professor Haraprasad Ray, a contemporary Indian scholar, thinks that Chinese silk was widely used among the Indian aristocracy around the 4th century BC, based on his analysis of the ancient Indian books. India's most distinctive national sari is a garment made mainly of silk.

Among all kinds of silk in India, mulberry silk accounts for about 91% of the total, castor silk about 6.9%, tussah silk and Muga silk accounts for 1.5% and 0.6% respectively. Even in India, Muga silk is quite precious and its price is at least three times of ordinary silk, the annual output is only 120 to 150 tons, mainly used for weaving high-grade belt and sari, enjoys a high reputation in the world.

Xu Jianchu, who has been engaged in a research of South Asia for more than 30 years, was especially given silkworm babies by the Indian side due to an opportunity, hoping to make use of China's silk weaving technology to renew the cultural heritage of Assam in the field of science and technology and fashion. With the wishes of the Indian side, Xu Jianchu started a Yunnan and India golden silkworm cooperation project. In the study of Yunnan mountain ecosystem, Yu Jianchu's team actually found the "amber silkworm" in the mountains of Yunnan which is the same as Indian golden silkworm and can also spit golden silk thread. They went to the silk development laboratory of Suzhou University in east China's Jiangsu province and started to study how the golden silkworm from India and Yunnan could improve its quality through Chinese technology to enter the international high-end silk market.

It is reported that the trade between Yunnan and India can be traced back to the pre-Qin, Han and Jin dynasties. Myitkyina in Myanmar and Baoshan in Yunnan Province were both important international commercial cities at that time. After the founding of People's Republic of China, officially recorded trade between Yunnan and India began in 1959 and the trade volume was only $13,200 that year. Since the beginning of the 21st century, the economic and trade relations between Yunnan and India have been developing continuously. In 2001, the trade volume between Yunnan and India was 57 million USD. By first 7 month of 2019, it reached 2.46 billion USD. India is now an important trading partner of Yunnan. (Compiled by YDPG)
