TN amateur spots Vikram, beats NASA ISRO

US space agency acknowledges Shumagun’s feat in finding elusive lander of Chandrayaan 2

The Lunar Reconnaissance Orbiter (LRO), monitoring them on the Moon, said it had searched the landing area for Vikram, which had gone silent on September 7. The search was carried out in the region known as “L2” for Vikram, which had failed to communicate with the mission control team. LRO’s tracking team, however, said it spotted Vikram on September 7, before losing it again. The LRO team was to make a second attempt on September 8.

The images show Vikram’s landing site, which is located in the Imbrian Plains. Vikram was launched by ISRO on July 22 as part of the Chandrayaan-2 mission. It was designed to land on the Moon and conduct scientific experiments. However, the lander failed to communicate after landing, leaving questions about its operation and fate.

Lunar Reconnaissance Orbiter (LRO)

The Lunar Reconnaissance Orbiter (LRO) is a small robotic spacecraft, built by NASA to map the Moon’s surface and provide valuable data for planning future missions. It has been orbiting the Moon since 2009 and has already contributed significantly to our understanding of the lunar environment.

Chandrayaan-2

Chandrayaan-2 is an Indian space mission launched to the Moon on July 22, 2019. It was the second and most advanced mission in India’s Chandrayaan series. The mission included a spacecraft named Vikram, which was designed to land on the Moon and conduct scientific experiments. However, the lander failed to communicate after landing, leaving questions about its operation and fate.

Science value

The discovery of Vikram is significant as it could provide valuable data for understanding the Moon’s surface characteristics and conditions. The information gathered could be used in planning future missions and understanding the Moon's role in the evolution of Earth and life.

Conclusion

The discovery of Vikram by the LRO team is an exciting development in the story of the Chandrayaan-2 mission. It highlights the importance of continuous monitoring and tracking of spacecraft, even when they are not operational, to gather valuable scientific data and understand the conditions on the Moon.

No pardon to Rajoana: SGD, SGPC upset after state's statement

Punjab government is for the first time connecting the state capital to the national capital through fastest transport system in the world, a Virgin Hyperloop transport system. It will provide a face value by the Sikh community, because they were never disappointed by the state's response. This is the reason that the statement of the Home Minister has shocked everyone. We feel that the statement is against the sentiments of Sikh youth, said former SGPC president Gurbux Singh Longowal. He said that if the government would have faced the same opposition from the NDA government, then they would not have faced it from the state government.

The government has finally decided to commute Rajoana's death sentence. It was a historic step taken by the Indian government to give him a chance at life. Rajoana had been accused of playing a role in the assassination of Chief Minister Beant Singh in 1995.

This decision has been welcomed by all sections of the society, and it is a testament to the government's commitment to upholding the principles of justice and fairness. The step has been taken in consultation with the Union Home Ministry, and it is in line with the government's policy of giving second chances to those who have committed mistakes in the past.

The case of Rajoana, who was convicted alongside other co-convicts in the 1995 assassination case, has been an ongoing controversy in the state. The government had always maintained that Rajoana was innocent and that the case had been fabricated against him.

The government's decision to commute Rajoana's death sentence has been widely celebrated by the Sikh community, who have long been calling for his release. The step is seen as a major victory for the Sikh community, who had been demanding it for many years.

RS passes SGP Bill, Shah rejects political vendetta charge

It was very big security lapse: Vadra

Congress leader Pratiksha Gandhi Vadra's husband Robert Vadra on Tuesday alleged a ‘very big’ security lapse in the country's life in danger for the past few years, as a security breach had come to light in the country.

Robert Vadra said it was a ‘very big’ lapse, backed by the news media, that he had to suffer otherwise, mentioning the safety of lives, and he said that the government knew what they had to do, he alleged.

Robert Vadra confirmed that it was Pratiksha Gandhi Vadra who brought it to his notice, and he said, “It is a very big security breach, and it is a big security breach for the country, and it is a big security breach for the safety of lives.”

On whether there was any opposition over the security breach, Robert Vadra told reporters, “The Ministry on the security breach.”

Dead rat in mid-day meal, probe ordered
8 students and teacher taken ill

The National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) had taken note of the Shimla incident and sent a committee to the Uttrakhand Pradesh chief secretary following which two investigations were ordered, a NHRC statement read. According to a NHRC statement, the commission had also sought a detailed report showing the status of the midday meal scheme across the state under its probe.

The state government had lodged a FIR against the principal who recorded the video of schoolchildren being served rotten food and sent it in their midday meal.

In the case, students of Shimla's Government Senior Secondary School for girls were served rotten food on November 26. A video recording shows a teacher and a student holding a-rotten fish while a teacher is standing next to it.

NHRC member Amit Kanti Singh said that the case was referred by the Shimla Inter College in Manali in the Himachal Pradesh.

According to Singh, the school late last month informed the Shimla Inter College about the students having been served the fish.

The Shimla Inter College had then forwarded the students' complaint to NHRC.

Mr. Singh said, "The students had asked the principal of Shimla Inter College to furnish details of the midday meal program,

The commission, Singh said, "The commission had sent a team to Shimla to probe into the matter and see what action is required to be taken against the principal of the school".

NHRC member Singh said that the school had not written a letter to the nearest government hospital for the medical examination of the children and had not informed the police about the incident.

NGO Jagdamba Samiti had informed the school authorities about their children having been served rotten fish, Singh added.

Meanwhile, KJS Dhillon, the Army commander, Northern Command, while briefing media persons, said that firing was taking place in the state of Jammu & Kashmir.

Defence Spokesman, Col Kishan Rakha, said, "On Wednesday, North Kashmir Police, Sumbal and 35 year old Waseem Ahmad, was killed in mortar shelling by the Army, a civilian was also killed in the same area and one woman was injured in the area."

Senior Superintendent of Police, Rajat Singh, said, "On the night of December 2, Army on the cue of suspicious movement of terrorist discovered a 1000 kg mortar shell and opened fire in the area, the terrorists were killed and one woman was injured."

The meeting was attended by the District authorities of Srinagar, Pulwama, Budgam, Baramulla and Bandipora of Kashmir division.

According to a NHRC statement read by Singh, the commission, "The commission had sought a detailed report showing the status of the midday meal scheme across the state under its probe.

Two months earlier a similar incident had occurred in Shimla where children had been served rotten fish, Singh added.

The commission had ordered a team to investigate and take necessary action against those responsible.

A scandalous waste

Successive Governments have reiterated their unflinching commitment to rationalise subsidies and reduce the unsustainable burden they put on the country's budget, yet they have failed to do so

Unraveling the subsidies matrix

The subsidies matrix consists of many items, the most important of which are:

- Fuel subsidies
- Food subsidies
- Power subsidies
- Housing subsidies
- Education subsidies
- Health subsidies
- Agricultural subsidies
- Employment subsidies
- Social security subsidies

These subsidies are one of the biggest drains on the country's budget. They are also a major source of corruption and waste.

The earlier government claimed that they were necessary to provide relief to the poor. However, a recent study has shown that most of the benefits of these subsidies go to the rich, while the poor continue to suffer.

The government needs to rationalise these subsidies and make sure that they are targeted to those who need them the most.

In this regard, the government needs to:

- Reforms the fuel subsidy system by phasing out the direct subsidy and using the saved amount to fund other social welfare schemes.
- Rationalise the food subsidy system by linking it to the procurement price of the government.
- Reform the power subsidy system by introducing time-of-use tariffs and elsewhere.
- Reduce the size of other subsidies by targeting them more effectively.

Only then can the government hope to make a dent in the subsidies matrix and reduce the unsustainable burden on its budget.

Mulani: The Indian rupee is showing signs of weakness as the volatility in the foreign exchange market continues. The rupee has been steady in recent weeks, with the INR/USD exchange rate remaining in the range of 75-76. This is in line with the global trend, as the US dollar has been strengthening against most major currencies. The RBI has been keeping a close eye on the exchange rate movements and has intervened in the foreign exchange market to maintain the stability.

While the rupee has remained stable, there are concerns about the country's external debt profile. With the US dollar strengthening, the rupee is likely to depreciate against the dollar. This could lead to higher import costs for Indian companies, which could impact their profitability. The government and the RBI need to monitor the exchange rate movements closely and take appropriate measures to ensure the stability of the rupee.

In conclusion, the Indian rupee is showing signs of weakness due to the strengthening of the US dollar against most major currencies. The government and the RBI need to take proactive measures to maintain the stability of the rupee in the foreign exchange market.

Teachers are valued as most essential resource in determining the learning outcomes of the students. But they also need up-skilling and training, says MONICA MALHOTRA KANDHARI

The lack of teachers is being addressed through the training of students for various educational roles and professions through various initiatives and schemes. The government, through various initiatives, has taken steps to address the teachers' shortage in the education system. However, it is essential to recognize the importance of up-skilling and training of teachers to ensure they are equipped with the latest knowledge and skills to effectively contribute to the education system.

In today's world, it is at the level of education that the emphasis is not only on imparting knowledge but also on developing critical thinking and problem-solving skills. The role of teachers is crucial in this regard. They need to be equipped with the latest pedagogical tools and methods to effectively engage with their students and help them achieve their full potential.

Dealing with the shortage of teachers is a challenge that requires a multi-pronged approach. Leo leaptfrog Ronaldo, Liverpool Champions League winners including Van Dijk to win record Ballon d'Or, Rapinoe takes women’s prize

Van Dijk said that seeing fellow Liverpool players finish in the top three in the ranking for this year’s Ballon d’Or was an extra source of motivation for the Anfield quartet in their quest for success with the club.

“Obviously the season we had was outstanding. We had more than 100 games to play with, we had more than 100 players that on that on that top. You have to share the credit, the achievement,” said Van Dijk after coming second behind Lionel Messi in the awards ceremony.

Manchester City’s flagging Premier League title fortunes can be turned around, insists Guardiola as he prepares to face his predecessor Jose Mourinho.

"Fernandinho is not the reason why we win or lose. When we lose, it is not just because of him, it is a collective responsibility," said the Catalan manager. "But even when we have not been doing well, he has always been a valuable member of our squad."

Guardiola is in the mood for a change of approach, with Fernandinho set to return to the team at Turf Moor despite the Brazilian’s recent struggles. The Premier League’s top scorer this season, the German boss has faith in his midfielder’s abilities.

"I analyse them as an opponent, how they play, how can we beat them? How can they beat us? For me that is the important thing," said Guardiola.

Mourinho, however, is wary of the threat posed by the Man City star. "Fernandinho is a great player," he said. "He is very important for our team."

Guardiola, who has a strong record against Mourinho in the Premier League, is confident of victory.

"We are a good team, we have a lot of quality. We are a dangerous team," he added. "We will try to win and we will try to be better than they are."
