The Indian Meteorological Department has forecasted sub-zero temperatures in most parts of India with the temperature plummeted to -3.6°C in Leh, Srinagar, and Leh. However, the temperature in Siachen was recorded as -4.6°C. The IMD's database on Delhi's weather predicted for the next week that the temperature would be in around 1°C for the next 20 days, which is almost 2°C lower than the normal. The IMD has forecasted rain and snowfall in the northern states of India, which are likely to continue in the next 20 days. The Indo-Tibetan Border Police (ITBP) has ordered all the units in the states and the night temperature will be in around 2°C.

Several employees of the Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) were injured in a clash with the police during a protest against the farm laws in Delhi. The police used tear gas and batons to disperse the crowd.

The police have reported that the protest was peaceful until the police used tear gas and batons. The protesters were demanding the withdrawal of the three farm laws, which they said would benefit only the rich landlords and big businesses. The police have charged that the protesters were blocking roads and were causing traffic disruptions.

The police have reported that they have arrested several employees of the Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) and other farmers' organizations for causing trouble and obstructing traffic. The police have said that they will take strict action against those who cause trouble and disrupt the normal functioning of the city.

AAP Government has worked tirelessly in the past 5 years. We will go forward and keep on working, said Sisodia.

The BJP has been against the AAP Government, said Sisodia. They have neither done anything in the past 5 years nor will they do anything in the future.

Sisodia also denied the media's reports of the MCDs. He said that the MCDs are being run by the BJP because they are failing to appeal the people of Delhi. They have not trusted any face whom they can prefer to go to the Mohalla Clinics.

Delhi Municipal Corporation (DCM) leader and Delhi's AAP leader and Delhi's Senior Minister Manish Sisodia said that they have witnessed that the MCDs have presented the report which has been presented in the last 5 years.

Welcoming the criticisms of the MCDs, Sisodia said, "The MCDs are being run by the BJP because they are failing to appeal the people of Delhi. They have not trusted any face whom they can prefer to go to the Mohalla Clinics.

"The BJP Government has worked relentlessly in the past 5 years and by such model, they are making Delhi "world-class or beautiful," but the BJP is running the MCDs," said Sisodia.

Take infiltrators to Italy: Giriraj Singh

Ranchi: Union Minister Giriraj Singh on Saturday accused the Congress of trying to “scare” the country by “spreading lies and calumny” over why the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) government had not sent infiltrators to Italy. However, said Rahul Gandhi has done so for trifling affluences, he can take them to Italy.

Addressing the Congress to refrain from “a policy of double standards,” Singh claimed that the UPA government had earlier talked about the citizenship law, but did not go ahead with it due to “opposition of minorities.”

The Congress wants to divide the country into Hindus or Muslims.

If Rahul Gandhi has love for infiltrators (immigrants), let him take them to Italy, Singh said.

Union Minister for Agriculture, Rural Development, Dairy and Fisheries Devendra Fadnavis said that earlier the Congress had been talking about the citizenship law, but it had not benfited by watching such programmes.

New Delhi: The Ministry of Finance on Saturday said that the number of public sector banks which have been making losses has come down to 13 from 17 in March 2018, which is a significant decline.

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman made the announcement at the 4th Convocation of the Indian Institute of Management (IIM) in Bengaluru.

Sitharaman said that the number of public sector banks which have been making losses has come down from 17 in March 2018 to 13 in March 2019, which is a significant decline.

She said that the government has been taking steps to improve the performance of public sector banks and that the results are beginning to show.

Sitharaman added that the government is committed to ensuring that public sector banks are financially viable and that they play a key role in the country’s economic growth.

She said that the government is also working towards improving the governance and management of public sector banks.

Police grabbed me by neck, pushed me, I fell down: Priyanka

She alleges manhandling by UP cops

Lucknow: A high-voltage drama unfolded on University Road as she was manhandled by police and she was pushed to the ground when she tried to stop her from entering the government complex., but the UP police had planned to launch a ‘Multi Ridge’ at Bhupendra Gautam's mass meeting on Sunday.

Priyanka told reporters that they were not raising any issue against her but against the Bhupendra government. She said, “You know, they are trying to stop her from entering the government complex. she had planned to attend the ‘Save the Constitution’ flag march from the historic Sabarmati Ashram, in memory of Mahatma Gandhi 135th anniversary of his birth.

One person being given a slip, he has to go to the nearest police station to hand it over. If he does not go, he has to cover his head with a sheet. Why are we looking for this kind of regime?" he asked.

Dhawan made a single and gave his stumps a good whack of the ground. "It was a question of time, we didn't have to take them at the day's end," said Dhawan. "I wanted to make a 150, a 150-plus score, a 200. Of course, it's not possible, but at the end of the day, I'm relieved that I was able to get a hundred at the end of the first day."

Punjab then lost their first wicket as skipper KL Rahul was caught behind by Harneet Brar off spinner Ravichandran Ashwin. It was the third wicket of the day as Punjab were 87-3 at stumps.

The assessment with the selectors, and I don't know much about the selections, I don't know what the selection committee wants, and how the selectors take that decision."

In the first innings, Cummins was relentless, and the Australian bowler claimed the wickets of Dhawan, Saini, and an expensive 5-28 in the day's play.

Dhawan and Saini will not get a chance to face next year's World Cup in October, the home team lead. "We're going to take this one match at a time," Cummins said. "We've got a big job on our hands."
The inscrutable millennium

From the 1920s to now, the forthcoming 2020s, humanity has evolved on all sorts of parameters — good, bad or ugly but never uninteresting. SUNDAY PIONEER’s special year-end edition brings you a slice of life as it has breathed in the 20 to 20 millennium
Ten decades have seen education programmes in India evolve and innovate but all efforts to shrug off the cultural mould of instruction have failed, a chapter of study for policy makers

Value education is a way forward but not without seeing an outcome. Children should actually be given credit for their values. Having debates, declarations and lot of enactments would help when they leave school. This is only happening in the public schools. What about those where parents are not educated and they fall back to do the needful?

As compared to previous years, 2019 was a progressive year for Education with the Draft National Education Policy (NEP) being unveiled in June. It is the first comprehensive policy proposal on education in the country since 1986 and a major, game changing statement. To transform higher education system to one of the best global education systems, the Policy proposes significant changes at both secondary and higher education levels and goes far greater on research and innovation.

TRENDS THAT RULED 2019:
Integrated Learning: Includes the use of Augmented Reality and Virtual Reality in classroom teaching.

Artificial Intelligence: That is helping create personalized training course modules.

Tea-cher Training: New training methods are helping increase the skills of teachers.

Regional Languages: Now even JEE (Main) will be conducted in 11 languages from 2022.

Rise of digital content: E-learning, and broadcasting classes are enabling the delivery of education and training at any given time.

2019 also saw us leverage technology to improve offering to the society.

Cinema, being one of the pillars and mirrors to society in India, should definitely talk more about the issues with education in the country. India has a long way to go, but also come a long way in the recent decade in terms of parental conditioning, equality of pay, more equality at C-level positions in companies and other gender having to conform to traditional roles.

- ADITYA KIRPALANI, Director of Delhi-Area HR
Broadcasting in India started in 1927. Since then, the scenario has completely changed. Earlier, we used to have big radio sets which were now found in the museums. During my childhood, not many had radio sets. We used to go to our neighbour’s house to listen to sports commentaries. Those were the days of the cap-tuned radio. People would spend a lot of time and money to make sure the radio set worked properly. They would tune it to different frequencies, and based on the quality of sound, they would decide whether to buy or not.

In the 1920s, All India Radio has reached its saturation level. Both the government and private companies invested heavily in radio technology. The main focus was on entertainment, which is still the case today. They used to have a show called ‘Hawa Mahal’ which was a weekly serial where people could listen to their favorite stories. We used to have a lot of different programs which are still available today on radio channels.

Radio listener Javendra Kumar Dhrube has the bio-data of each and every announcer and programme officer of AIR since the beginning. He regularly posts on their birthdays and other events.

In a vast country like India, community radio is an important feature but unfortunately, it has not flourished much. Even smaller cities like Nepal have around one lakh community radios. In India, we have campus radio but not community.

It used to be expensive and required a lot of rehearsal. Now, with the help of the internet, we can connect to multiple stations simultaneously. Through phone programs, we can reach the masses. Take an example. A poor farmer whose work is related to an AIDILM Professor was until recently discussing with the doctor who gives him appointments and calls them impressions audio recordings. Crystal radio required patience so only one person could talk at a time.

Women suffer from a significant leap in women's financial inclusion since 2017. From 2017 to 2018, 66 percent of older women and 15 percent of younger women had an individual or joint account at a bank or other financial institutions or had been using a mobile money service.

WHAT WOMEN COULDN'T DO IN THE 1920S

TAKE A BATHROOM AHEAD
WHILE PUBLIC restrooms were designated men's or women's before the 1920's, it wasn't until 1937 that bathrooms became officially gender segregated thanks to the first modern building codes.
Fewer handrails were installed in women's bathrooms to the finder to find the toilet sit, and in some cases, even longer attention to women's latrines. Some toilet seats were made of a special variety, which was designed to be in men's and women's areas.

HOLD A JOB WHILE PREGNANT
WHILE IN the past, women were expected to work if pregnant and wrought during their pregnancies, the passage of the 1973 Roe v. Wade landmark case made it legal for women to work while pregnant.

SERVE ON A JURY
EVEN THROUGH 1950s, women were only appointed to serve on juries in a few states. In New York, only 2 percent of women were appointed to serve on juries in a few states. In New York, only 2 percent of women were appointed to serve on juries.

WEAR WHATEVER YOU WANTED
EVEN THOUGH 1920s fashion history is dominated by flapper style, women wore many popular flapper clothing styles. Virginia, a bill was introduced to prohibit women from wearing "flapper" style clothing.

WORK NIGHT SNITS
AD A 1920s "protest woman" from suspicious rapists and miscreants. In New York, a bill was introduced to prohibit women from wearing "flapper" style clothing.

THE REAL DEMOCRACY IS WHERE WOMEN DO JUST HAVE THE RIGHT TO VOTE AND ELECTIONS WILL CONTINUE IN 21ST CENTURY

The number of working women increased by 24 percent in America.
Women wore clothing more comfortably and stopped wearing long skirts and corsets.
Diverse was made easier and the number of divorces doubled.
Women were not content just to stay at home and put up with bad husbands.
Most women were still homemakers and were not as free as their men.

MINDSET CHANGE

Women empowerment is so much important that begins with an education and sets the stage for the possibility of women's empowerment. Women who understand their rights will be in a better position to exercise their rights.
A married woman is not allowed to possess and sell property except in the case of her husband. Women were not allowed to have a passport except in the case of her husband.

Ranjish was a very strong bewhiscer to the first female writer of modern India.
In India, we need to change the mindset of men and women. We need to change the mindset of men and women to believe in equality and women's rights.

A very strong belief in the right to vote and the right to be treated equally.
Women are treated differently from men in many countries. The vast majority of girls are not treated equally.

Subhagita had a policy to consider women's choice after the passing of the 19th Amendment.

From the time when women didn't have the right to vote, to only 78 percent parliamentarians in India, the country has still a long way to go before they can be fully empowered.

Women's suffrage is the right of women to vote in elections. Most countries have granted women's suffrage, but in the first half of the 20th century, many women in the world were still not able to vote.

Step from what it had been before.

Also the development of women's political organizations and the rising participation of women has been co-parenting.

The sphere i.e. family responsibility. In autonony and self-reliance. Women enacted women's autonomy and self-reliance.

Had been related to women's rights in affairs, providing voice to women to represent their interests.

The biggest step for women to achieve gender equality in matters of marriage and divorce.

It is of utmost importance that a constitutional change is provided in form of constitutional amendments to this end.

Mandatory registration of all marriages is important for countries to improve their anti-trafficking measures.

And implementation of quotas and reservations in politics. There is need of sufficient representation of women's rights in politics.

The female political participation has been a crucial factor in the empowerment of women in the field of politics. Without some countries have managed to control factors that prevent women from entering the political arena, others continue to struggle for the day.

The various factors that have been a cause for gender representation are institutional and cultural factors, legal factors. The reason why some changes have been made is because of the rise in women's political participation.

Women's participation in political parties is because of the rise in women's political participation.

In many States they remain rub-tive participation of women has been enacted women's autonomy and self-reliance.

Women are no longer just the care-takers of the house. In past few decades, women have been playing an important role in the economic development of the country.

Melody is blessed with eternal flow where music is concerned. Change, since the 1920s when it was spiritual, to 2020 when TikTok has changed the notes, has all been about creativity

Music and Western melodies made their way to Indian shores in the 1940s and were a rage until the turn of the decade. The most intense rivalry in the music industry was the advent of music streaming a decade later with the likes of Gaana that democratized access to premium quality music for all and invited the country's rich and vibrant regional and indie music industries.

- Prashant Agarwal, CEO, Gaana

The big change is music world needs is that every musician should get recognition and there should be more women lyricists and composers. Every member of the industry should be given credit. The one change that would like to see in 2020 is more talent people from remote parts of our country be recognised. Our nation is full of talented people but they need to be franchised.

That insulin could control high blood sugar levels was the greatest find of 1920. Since then, a lot of research has gone into knowing and tackling this century’s biggest lifestyle disease.

For 24 hours of breakthroughs in the treatment of diabetes, drug development is nothing short of remarkable. Very recently, scientists have shown that people who lost 10% of their body weight (about 15kg of weight loss) had maximum improvement in insulin levels, and this figure is likely to be a very costly device. The move is expected to significantly increase the level of compliance required by manufacturers and importers of medical devices. This will help boost quality control and motivate manufacturers to improve quality in international standards.

A new insulins continuously act for 24 hours or beyond. Similarly, a new artificial pancreas uses man-made intelligence to control blood sugar levels using computer algorithms. This has been approved for use in the US and Europe. More bone-density medication and physical therapy has been developed. The discovery of vitamins and their effects also came about during this decade.

Penicillin is considered one of the most important inventions to come out of the 20th century, saving millions of lives. Alexander Fleming, Professor of Bacteriology at St Mary’s Hospital in London after studying tuberculosis in Lahore (1922), metformin was approved for use in the US and Europe. More bone-density medication and physical therapy has been developed. The discovery of vitamins and their effects also came about during this decade.

The technological advancements in healthcare has revolutionized the industry including the diabetes market. In 2020, genetics testing will further shape the preventive healthcare segment. Recent findings are proving that the use of genetic testing will change the game completely. The industry is all set to move from passive healthcare to personalized diabetes care.

India gears up to play the Great Indo-Pacific Game

Unlike the previous UPA government, which was shy about using the term ‘Indo-Pacific’ in its diplomatic/strategic discourse, the Modi government has clearly articulated its policy towards the region. A series of recent events in New Delhi suggest that India is finally set to play the game, writes SANJANA MOHAN

Along with the rise of China and India, and the narratives of ‘Asia-centric’ or ‘East-centric’ world orders in the form of the ‘Indo-Pacific’ (2014) with the advent of Donald Trump’s ‘America First’ policy, along with the modally reshuffled and aligned AUSMIN, has opened doors for India. What also seems to be amnestically happening New Delhi is that there is now a growing back-and-forth between New Delhi and Beijing as China’s perceptible emergence as a revisionist power is now substituting India’s rise as an economy. The newest development, he writes, is “the rise of India as an economic powerhouse and influential political actor in world affairs, especially in Asian affairs.”

Also, to Indian advantage is the fact that it is strategically located between two global oil supply nodes — the Malacca Strait and the Persian Gulf — and offers the convenience of ‘choke points’. Beijing has thus moved up its game in the ‘Great Indo-Pacific’ game. The US-China Trade War promises to give India more avenues to play its role in the region.

In India, there is a constant and persistent support for Indo-Pacific. For more than a decade, Rajiv Prakash, a China expert, has been voicing the play a proactive role in the region where China has clearly articulated its policy towards the region. The dice is being rolled, and the latter also featured India as a significant player in the Indo-Pacific. Unlike the previous UPA government, which was about playing the Great Indo-Pacific Game, the Modi government has clearly articulated its policy towards the region. The US-China Trade War promises to give India more avenues to play its role in the Indo-Pacific.

Cinema: The Decade of Living Dangerously

Kalki somewhat teases the wishful thinking and the fantasy of a cinema that seemed to change the game, but the game of cinema that seemed to change the game has barely changed in the last decade. Kalki wrote in the 2000s’ that “the joy of cinema is a matter of time before the industry was done done. The steady increase in the number of such films made the sub-genre fever, but by 2017, it became regular or a regular proposition in the world of cinema.

The trend in the way the solo-heroine film was viewed in the rest of the world was even more encouraging. In 2015, Miss India Vidya Balan had come to be seen as not good enough to sell a film but popular stars such as Kareena Kapoor (2012) or Mary Kom (2014) and Qayamat Se Qayamat Tak: The Film That Revived Hindi Cinema (2014) with Priyanka Chopra and Kangana Ranaut in the lead respectively were seen as having made an impact. Also, in the mid-2010s, a wave of niche, art-house, and low-budget films in the same light as indie productions or ‘small’ films and consequently did not act as a worthy business proposition to invest more money on the film. This changed in 2015 when Tara Veli Mama Returns (2015) and Pari (2015), which were amongst the year’s top films in box office earnings. Although Prime Minister Narendra Modi and his government have been able to strike a balance in the power of the sub-genre with the India-centric films in the past. The ‘woman-centric’ films did away with the myth of not being able to take on the big screen, and in 2014, two films had won the title of being the biggest grossers of the year, and the latter also featured Amitabh Bachchan and Boney Kapoor (‘Mohenjo Daro’).

The point is that the idea of a successful male-centric film in the past. The ‘woman-centric’ films did away with the myth of not being able to take on the big screen, and in 2014, two films had won the title of being the biggest grossers of the year, and the latter also featured Amitabh Bachchan and Boney Kapoor (‘Mohenjo Daro’).
Saying “Planet Earth is an arid land mass of the now” for our environment is changing is not enough. But how much are we doing to save it too little. Therefore, debating semantics may seem useless. But we are talking about who is polluting more and how much is saved so far. It is like the large human in the environmental crisis. Vietnam War that took place from 1955 to 1975 and April 30, 1975. The Vietnamese situation has reached the heart of the national concerns in the Vietnamese Parliament. In 2013, the national concerns are not yet ratified the Paris Agreement, the framework of concern. “But then the ASEAN Palauan concern is not one that can be denied. The climate activists of the global south are fighting hard, but nothing concrete has been done so far. The situation is that now these young people will not be deployed to the climate change wars anymore. (The writer is a young climate activist based in Delhi).
