State delays Rs 2,500cr incentives to industry

Under pressure from KTR to release funds: Harish

The Telangana state government, which plans to offer Rs 2,500 crore incentives to industries in the state, has delayed releasing Rs 2,500 crore due to the AP government's delay in giving Rs 18,000 crore. Harish Rao, the state's chief minister, has written to KTR to release the funds immediately. The AP government has already released Rs 18,000 crore to industries in the state, while Telangana has not released any funds. Harish Rao has written to KTR to release the funds immediately, saying that the state needs the funds urgently. Harish Rao has also written to the Centre to release the funds immediately, saying that the state needs the funds urgently.

The Chief Minister is playing politics with the water crisis. The 3,600 km long river, which was once the life line of Telangana, is now dying. The Telangana Ganga has a potential to mount $35 billion worth of GDP in 10 years if fed with the water from the Himayatsagar, which provides 80% of the water to Hyderabad. The government has failed to do anything, said the Chief Minister.

The state government has been facing a severe water crisis, with many areas facing water shortages. The government has been criticized for its lack of planning and management of the river.

The government has also been accused of failing to act on the recommendations of the Himayatsagar Committee, which submitted a report in 2015, calling for the construction of a dam on the river to regulate its flow.

The government has been accused of not taking the report seriously, and has been criticized for its failure to act on the recommendations of the committee.

The government has also been accused of not taking adequate steps to ensure the flow of water into the city, and has been criticized for its failure to act on the recommendations of the Himayatsagar Committee.

Licious raises USD 30 million in Series ‘E’ funding

Licious, online meat and seafood brand, has announced on Monday that it has raised USD 30 million in Series ‘E’ funding from India-based investment firm Tiger Global Management. The round was led by Tiger Global, along with existing investors Kativa Ventures, India’s Internet Capital, Bertelsmann India Ventures, and Third Rock Ventures. According to the company, the funding will be used to expand its supply chain and build a brand in the country.

"We are proud to lead the round and believe the investment in Licious is a powerful testament to the future of Indian food industry. We see tremendous growth potential in the online meat and seafood market in India and are excited to partner with Licious to scale their business," said Gunjan Tandon, Managing Director of India and Emerging Markets, Tiger Global. The company said it would be focusing on building a brand in the country.

"This investment will enable us to expand our supply chain and build a brand in the country," said Vishal Sood, Co-founder and CEO, Licious.

"We are excited to partner with Tiger Global and our existing investors to significantly scale our operations and build a brand in the country. We believe that the online meat and seafood market in India has tremendous growth potential and Licious is well-positioned to lead this growth," he added.

"Our company’s mission is to make meat and seafood accessible and affordable to the masses. With this investment, we will be able to scale our operations, build a brand and bring innovation to the Indian market," said Vishal Sood.

Quality value, money factors behind brand loyalty

Product quality, consistency and value for money are the most important factors driving brand loyalty in India, according to a recent survey by AC Nielsen. The survey revealed that 67% of Indian consumers prefer to buy from a brand they can trust, while 39% said they would continue to buy from their favourite brand even if it has run out of stock.

"We found that the top 55 per cent of consumers in India say ‘buy from a trusted brand’ is the most important factor driving loyalty. Similarly, 67 per cent of the respondents said they would continue to buy from their favourite brand even if it has run out of stock," said Manoj Desai, Managing Director of AC Nielsen India. The survey also showed that 29 per cent of consumers said they were willing to try a new product from a trusted brand.

"The survey indicates that consumers in India are willing to try new products from a trusted brand. This is a positive sign for the industry," said Desai.

Frasier Mills targets 15% corporate tax rate for services cos in SEZs

A 15 per cent corporate tax rate for service companies in SEZs, setting them up for deep tax advantage, is necessary to demonstrate to manufacturing companies that the tax benefits for the sector are the real thing, senior official said.

"The manufacturing companies are at the moment seeing that there is a tax differential but it needs to be demonstrated to them that when a consumer is loyal and continues to purchase, they have made a strategic decision to stay with the SEZ companies in India," said the official.

"We have been told that the government is willing to look at the proposal of a 15 per cent corporate tax rate for service companies in SEZs, with certain conditions. The government is also willing to look at the case of the SEZs as a separate industrial area," he added.

"When a consumer is loyal and continues to purchase, they have made a strategic decision to stay with the SEZ companies in India," said the official.

"When we talk to the government, they say they will give us 5-10 per cent stake sale. We are still in the middle of negotiations," he added.

"The industry is in a very difficult situation. It is not only the industry that is in a very difficult situation, but the economy as well," he added.

"The government said that they will give us 5-10 per cent stake sale. We are still in the middle of negotiations," he added.

When I see these people work hard, I just have a drive in me to help them out. I came to know that we can make at least a few colours of our own at home, so I decided I'd give it a try even if it's for a good cause anyway. This is the same case with my paintings.

"When it comes to my art, I never thought of it that way. I portray the significance of the happenings of life. That's how I portray the significance of the butterfly in my art," said Ravi Chunchula.

"The butterfly is my artwork's significant element of nature which is circumstantial. They are witnesses, mute spectators to the everyday happenings of life. That's how I portray the significance of the butterfly in my art," said Ravi Chunchula.

SOUTH AFRICA | MONDAY | DECEMBER 17, 2019

Kohli retains top spot

India skipper Virat Kohli reclaimed the top spot on the International Cricket Council’s Test batting rankings on Wednesday after scoring a century in the opening Test against South Africa. Kohli, who scored 254 in the first innings, added 49 on Wednesday and moved to 1149 Test runs in the campaign which has led to an impressive 7th position.

Among the bowlers, Bavuma, who has been out since the start of the tour, remains at No. 17 against South Africa A. Jadhav, in his first Test, dropped to 13th, but was joined by fellow newcomers Paschim Pathak and Bumrah in the top 10. Pathak, who had a couple of wickets in the first innings, moved into 10th and Bumrah climbed to 11th with his first Test wicket haul.

"It’s a situation where as a captain you’ve got an opportunity to go there and score hundred," Kohli said. "Hopefully, it doesn’t do too much damage but it still belongs to India. I think it was a very good lesson to learn."

"We are going to take it and improve and when we go to Australia, it’s going to be a similar thing."

India’s batsman Ranjot Singh has ascended to No. 77 with his 124. India’s Rishabh Pant, right, bats during the first day/night international cricket match between India and West Indies at Eden Gardens in Kolkata on Tuesday.
