Director General, ACB and one of the marshals, a hearing was held and the council decided to fine the marshal Rs 10,000.

The incident took place on Sunday night when the complainant was riding a scooter and two men who arrived on a two-wheeler approached him and said they were carrying out a vigilance operation. When he resisted, they said he was a known criminal and demanded his money. When he refused, they asked him to stop. The complainant then took his mobile phone and started recording their activities, adding that when the accused tried to stop him, he told the marshal that he would file a complaint against him with the police.

As per the agriculture ministry data, till November this year, 9.34 lakh farmers have received the benefit of Samman Nidhi Yojana (PM-KISAN) scheme. This includes beneficiaries who had been transferred to the scheme due to the death of the original beneficiary or because of any other reason.

For the first time in the country, in a move to attract more students to English medium education, the government has released funds to develop over 45,000 state schools and colleges. The Bill also specifies that 25 per cent of the pupils in government schools and colleges be from the Scheduled Castes, and that there should be no caste-consciousness in the medium of education or classes.

PMC Bank depositors’ worries to be taken up with RBI: Min

The Maharashtra government will take up the concerns of troubled PMC Bank depositors with Reserve Bank of India (RBI) to ensure that their fund is protected, said state Finance Minister Eknath Shinde today.

Speaking to reporters in Mumbai, Shinde said "the government will take this up with RBI in a systematic way so that the depositors’ funds are not lost. We will try our level best to make sure that this happens, no deposits are lost. We will take up this matter with the RBI and see how we can find a solution."

The PMC Bank, which has its headquarters in Pune, was placed under an RBI administrator on February 25, 2019, after the deposits had been frozen for over a year.

"We will also go to the court and seek a solution and will do everything we can to make sure the depositors’ money is safe. The government is ready to take up this issue with the RBI and the court," Shinde said.

Shinde also said that the depositors’ who have lost their money will be able to get the money back. He added that the government is taking all possible steps to ensure that the depositors’ money is safe. The government is also trying to find a solution to the current situation.

"The government is aware of the situation and is working on a solution," he added.

Shinde further said that the government is also discussing with the RBI and the PMC Bank to find a way to ensure that the depositors’ money is safe.

"The government is working on a solution and will do everything to ensure that the depositors’ money is safe," he added.

He also said that the government is also discussing with other banks to find a way to ensure that the depositors’ money is safe.

One of the most interesting of the women in the news recently is 16-year-old Swedish student, Greta Thunberg. Her school strike against climate change triggered a worldwide campaign of children and young people in 145 countries. Since Thunberg started her first school strike on August 20th 2018, she has been questioned establishments and demanding action. Her speeches and actions have inspired a new generation of environmental activists, including millions of young people who are mobilizing to demand action to address the crisis. Thunberg’s focus on the need for immediate and radical action, and her ability to communicate complex scientific ideas in a clear and accessible way, have made her a powerful voice for the climate movement.

The Citizenship (Amendment) Act, 2019, was passed by the Rajya Sabha and becomes a de facto law. It allows non-Muslim refugees from Afghanistan, Bangladesh, and Pakistan to seek citizenship if they can prove that they were persecuted on religious grounds in their countries. The Act is a reaction to the refugee crisis in South Asia, and some have seen it as a way to limit the number of Muslim refugees who can enter India.

However, the Act has been widely criticized. Many countries, including the United States and Canada, have revoked citizenship for people who have been persecuted or who have committed human rights abuses. The CAB seeks to make a fresh attempt to gain citizenship under the Citizenship (Amendment) Act.

Pakistan hypocrisy

Sir — It is true that the CAB Government should have avoided impeding reactions on the Citizenship (Amendment) Bill passed in the Parliament. The Pakistan newspapers published the remarks of Foreign Secretary Khawaja Asif as a reaction to the CAB. It is not just about “popularity” or “positivity” but also about the kind of “influence” he has had towards the world. Coming in the time of the world where global influence and leadership is at stake, the Pakistan leadership should have avoided being “narcistic” or “atrocious” in their reaction to the CAB.

Voters’ politics

Sir — In an amazing display of lack of self-awareness and arrogance, the Election Commission on International Rights of Persons with Disabilities held a meeting to invite international human rights organisations and national human rights institutions of the United Nations Human Rights Council (UNHRC) to send representatives to the upcoming election. What the Election Commission failed to realize is that Pakistan has had a strong track record of human rights violations, and that it is not a democracy in the true sense of the word. Pakistan has a long history of military rule and authoritarianism, and its human rights record is abysmal. The elections in Pakistan are often marred by violence, corruption, and intimidation of candidates and voters.

Data Uncertainty in a Digital World

It refers to the ongoing “digital gold rush” December 12, 2019. Privacy rights have been temporarily abandoned as the tech companies rush to monetize the data from their users. The European Union recently passed a new law, the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), that requires companies to obtain explicit consent from users before collecting and using their data. The GDPR is considered one of the toughest data protection laws in the world.

The move is part of a broader effort to protect personal privacy and ensure that individuals have control over their own data. The GDPR applies to any company that processes personal data of EU citizens, regardless of where the data is stored or processed. The law is intended to give individuals more control over their personal data and to ensure that companies are transparent about how they collect and use that data. The GDPR includes a range of measures to protect personal privacy, including the right to access, the right to be forgotten, and the right to data portability.

The other perspective

Sir — As a layman, I cannot understand why everyone, including the media, is so hyped about the CAB and the NRC. I have been following the news closely, and I think it is important to understand that the CAB and the NRC are not new policies, but rather they are attempts to address a long-standing issue in India’s immigration law.

With the help of his team of 1000 strong volunteers, Vikhil talks to V SATEESH REDDY about the hardships he faced in life, his achievements till date and his NGO’s goal going forward.

About how they manage funds for their events, Vikhil informs, “Every event, we visit our requirements on social media and ask for help from people. After collecting money, we get back to them and show where we’ve spent the money.”

Vikhil concludes, “Everyone must come forward and contribute towards making our organisation help young people in need.”

Speaking to V SATEESH REDDY, cyber security consultant Rupesh Mittal shares the initiatives taken by Cyber Jagrithi where he explains to students, through his workshops, the various cyber crimes prevalent, and the steps to be taken not to fall prey.

FIND A MEANING IN LIFE TO STAY HEALTHY, LIVE LONG

If you see some people around you, who are always happier and healthier, despite not being wealthy, they must have found a meaning in their lives. According to researchers, many think about the meaning and purpose in their lives, and the results show that people who have a philosophical perspective, but meaning in life is associated with better health, wellness, and, perhaps, longevity.

Two latest studies have added weight to this notion.

A study by researchers at the University of California and the National Institute of Medicine found that the presence of and searches for meaning in life are important for health and well-being, though the relationship differs in middle-aged and older people.

“[Middle-age and older people] are more likely to think about meaning in life and are more contented if their search for it is unsuccessful,” said senior author Delphi St. John, senior associate dean for the Center for Healthy Aging and Distinguished Professor of Neurosciences.

The study, published in the Journal of Clinical Psychiatry, found the presence of meaning in life is associated with better physical and mental well-being, while the search for meaning in life may be associated with worse mental well-being and cognitive functioning.

The results also showed that middle-age and older people, who were both long sleepers and nappers, were 85 per cent more likely to have a stroke than people who were neither long sleepers nor nappers, and could be targeted for interventions.

He said, "I am very happy with the work I have done so far, and I am looking forward to the future. I have a lot of projects in my kitty, and I am sure they will be received well by the audience."

On working with Chay

Venkatesh said, "Chay is a very talented actor, and I am sure he will do justice to the role. I am looking forward to working with him and believe that the film will be a success."

On teaming up with youngsters

Venkatesh said, "I have always been associated with young talents, and I am proud to have worked with them. They are talented and have a bright future in the industry. I believe that their performance in the film will be memorable."
India spinner KL Rahul admits it is difficult to be at peace when one’s place is under threat. Calling up to the side for the first time in nearly two months, the man who has been bowling a bit of a bowling (or) for anybody that matter is becoming a bit of a problem, not as much problem, many much how so much can you or how much you put in the rain when you go in it is completely different,” he said.

“It is important that we keep playing cricket in the middle, that’s helped us in the above scores of 200, 170, 170-odd, has been a must for a team that often happens, 230 against South Africa, we chased a big total here in 2016, 220 has been chased at this stage, the safety of the players and setting a target that often happens, the series, we have been consistent. Again here in 2016, 220 has been chased at this stage. We have been consistent.”

The left-arm spinner was ably supported by off-spinner Sandeep Akhtar (2-1) and medium pace Akshar Patel (2-1), as Maidenfield bowlers batted in their first knock.

In past, we tried to over play at the times. At these times, we have to try and sort out the things that we are trying to do as a team. It’s a difficult situation. We know that when you are in a position to try and get into the game.”

While acknowledging the importance of the occasion, the Karnataka left-arm spinner said he would be looking to use the opportunity to build his confidence and work on his bowling for the future.

“We have been advised by the ICC to replace the Proteas with their bowling in the past. We have been advised by the ICC to replace the Proteas with their bowling in the past. Therefore, the team is looking to build on its recent success.”
