India to raise its own SEALs

Armed Forces Special Operations Division to start up in November

RAHUL DATTA ■ NEW DELHI

India will have soon an elite unit of commandos drawn from the three Services to conduct special missions of strategic interest to the country. Named Armed Forces Special Operations Division, the unit will be on the line of the US Special Operations Command, which was responsible for taking out Osama Bin Laden.

The Armed Forces Special Operations Division will start functioning from November first week this year initially with a small team of commandos selected from the Special Forces of the Army, Marine Commandos (MARCOS) of the Navy, and Garud commando force of the Indian Air Forces (IAF).

The special division having 3,000 commandos will be headed by a Major General. The Government recently gave the clearance for the setting up of the squad along with creation of a Cyber Agency to be headed by a Navy officer of the equivalent rank. On the lines of the Commando Division, the Cyber Agency will also have experts from the three Services to fight the fast emerging threat of cyber warfare, officials said here on Thursday.

Both the specialised units will function under the Integrated Defence Staff (IDS) responsible for enhancing coordination and enabling prioritisation across different branches of the armed forces. The IDS will also oversee the setting up of the proposed Space Agency to be headed by an IAF officer for space-based missions.

The Naresh Chandra Committee in 2012 had recommended setting up three commands, namely Special Operations, Cyber, and Space to deal with new challenges facing national security. The committee was asked by the Government to give recommendations on fine tuning higher defence management to enable the armed forces to fight in a fast changing warfare scenario.

As regards the Special Operations Division, officials said here on Thursday besides having commandos from the three Services with the Army playing an eminent role as it has the most experienced professionals for such missions, the unit will have its own dedicated helicopters, transport planes and specialised weaponry besides surveillance equipment for carrying out strategic missions.

Elaborating upon the nature of the proposed Division, they said the specialised teams will be responsible for conducting missions within and outside the country. The missions include targeting strategic installations, high value targets in terms of terrorists and cripple the war fighting capabilities of the enemy. The missions no doubt will be high risk given the strategic importance, sources said.

Once the Division becomes functional in November, plans are already in place to bring together the commandos from the three Services to a central place or station for joint training to conduct special missions during peacetime and war, they said.

Explaining the objective of the Division, officials said the stress is on synergising special operations amongst the three forces. At present, the Special Forces of the Army, MARCOS and Garuds function separately.

Once the Division comes into being, the special talents and assets of the three Services will be pooled.

The idea to have such a Division, which was earlier to be known as Special Operations Command, was mooted by the Naresh Chandra committee and several military officials after the US Special Operations Command carried out the raid to kill Osama Bin Laden. Officials said that the Indian forces too have similar capabilities and a combined command of commandos of three Services should be formed to conduct sensitive missions within and outside the boundaries of the country, officials said.

Naresh Chandra panel had also recommended forming of Special Operations Command as India needs to enhance its unconventional and special warfare capabilities to execute politico-military and connected operations to meet unconventional challenges.

The panel also felt at present the full potential of the Special Forces was not exploit-

Dera chief gets life for murder of journalist

Gurmeet's 3 aides too get life behind bars

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

A special CBI court in Panchkula on Thursday awarded life imprisonment to Dera Sacha Sauda chief Gurmeet Ram Rahim and three others in the murder case of journalist Ram Chander Chhatrapati.

Along with Ram Rahim, his close aide Dera manager Krishan Lal and carpenters at Dera -Nirmal Singh and Kuldeep Singh - have been awarded life imprisonment by the CBI court.

Special CBI Judge Jagdeep Singh also imposed a fine of Rs 50,000 each on all the four accused.

The same judge had earlier convicted 51-year-old Dera head Ram Rahim in the rape case of two female disciples on August 25, 2017 and sentenced him to 20 years of rigorous imprisonment.

Sirsa-based Dera chief Ram Rahim is already lodged in Rohtak's Sunaria jail after his conviction in 2017 in the rape case had appeared before the court through video conferencing. Other three convicts, Kuldeep Singh, Nirmal Singh and Krishan Lal were present in the court through video conferencing from Ambala jail.

CBI counsel HPS Verma, while talking to the mediapersons said that Ram Rahim will have to remain in prison for life following Thursday's judgment. All four convicts have been sentenced to life imprisonment," Verma said.

Ram Rahim and the three others were convicted by the CBI court on January 11. All the four were convicted under Section 302 (murder) and 120 B (criminal conspiracy) of the Indian Penal Code. Nirmal Singh and Krishan Lal were also convicted under the Arms Act.

Navy divers find body in flooded Meghalaya rat-hole coal mine

PNS ■ NEW DELHI/SHILLONG

Weeks after 15 miners got trapped in a flooded rat-hole coal mine in Jaintia Hills district of Meghalaya, the Navy divers, engaged in rescue mission on Thursday, found the body of one of the miners.

The miners were trapped in the illegal mine on December 13 last year after water flooded it. The State Government then launched a multi-agency rescue effort.

"The Navy divers detected the body using underwater remotely operated vehicles (ROV) at a depth of approximately 160 feet and 210 feet inside the rat-hole mine," Navy spokesperson DK Sharma said in New Delhi on Thursday and attached video grabs of the operation on the Twitter.

The body has been pulled up to the mouth of the mine.

A team of doctors has been rushed to the site to advise the rescuers on how to pull the body out of the mine, officials said. It was also learnt that some skeletons were also sighted in the mine.

The Navy spokesperson said, "Divers are not able to go down due to the conditions in the mine. So a Remotely Operated Vehicle (ROV) has been employed by the divers for the search. One body detected by Navy divers using ROV at a depth of approximately 160 feet and 210 feet inside a rat-hole mine."

He also said "the depth is 160 feet and the body has been pulled up to the mouth of rat-hole mine and shall be extracted out of the mine under the supervision of doctors."

Meanwhile, sources also said the Navy, which was pressed into the rescue mission on December 25, has deployed ten divers. The search in the rat hole mine has been on for over three weeks.

On Wednesday night, a ROV located a body and some skeletons. Forensic experts are expected to reach the site on Thursday evening. They will give directions on how to proceed forward. The bodies have been decomposed due to high sulphur content there which has converted into acid due to presence of water, they added.

CBI tenure of Asthana, three others clipped

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Government on Thursday curtailed the tenure of CBI Special Director Rakesh Asthana, who was earlier sent on forced leave, with immediate effect, according to an official order issued on Thursday.

The tenures of three more IPS officers in the CBI — Joint Director Arun Kumar Sharma, Deputy Inspector General Manish Kumar Sinha and Superintendent of Police Jayant J Naiknavare — have been curtailed, reads the order.

The development comes days after Alok Verma was shunted out of the post of CBI Director and appointed Director General of Fire Services, Civil Defence and Home Guards by a high powered committee headed by Prime Minister Narendra Modi and comprising Justice AK Sikri of the Supreme Court and leader of the Congress in the Lok Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge.

Verma had resigned after being removed as CBI chief. It is not known if his resignation letter has been accepted. The shake up comes days ahead of the January 24 meet for picking a new CBI Director.

SC lowers bar for dance licence in Maharashtra

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Standards of morality in a Society changes with time, the Supreme Court said on Thursday while setting aside certain provisions of a 2016 Maharashtra law which restricted licensing and functioning of dance bars.

The SC, which paved the way for grant of licences and reopening of dance bars in Maharashtra, said the State can neither exercise "social control" with its own "notion of morality" nor take exception to staging dance performances per se.

"It needs to be borne in mind that there may be certain activities which the society perceives as immoral per se. It may include gambling (though that is also becoming a debatable issue now), prostitution, etc. It is also to be noted that standards of morality in a society change with the passage of time," said a Bench of Justices AK Sikri and Ashok Bhushan.

The SC quashed several provisions of the Maharashtra Prohibition of Obscene Dance in Hotels, Restaurant and Bar Rooms and Protection of Dignity of Women (working therein) Act, 2016, including installation of CCTV cameras in dance bars, saying it was "totally inappropriate and amounts to invasion of privacy".

The court said a particular activity which was treated as immoral few decades ago may not be so now as societal norms keep changing with time. "Social change is of two types, continuous or evolutionary and discontinuous or revolutionary. The most common form of change is continuous. This day-to-day incremental change is a subtle, but dynamic, factor in social analysis," the Bench said.

The court said it cannot be denied that dance performances, in dignified forms, are socially acceptable and nobody takes exceptions to it.

Pipili rape, murder verdict challenged in HC

PNS ■ CUTTACK

Less than a month after a trial court in Bhubaneswar absolved the two accused in the 2011-12 gruesome rape and murder of a 19-year-old girl in Pipili, the State Crime Branch police here on Thursday moved the Orissa High Court challenging the acquittal verdict of the lower court.

High Court sources confirmed the filing of the criminal appeal petition, but said the matter has not been listed for adjudication yet. The Crime Branch moved the High Court after due consultations with the State Director of Public Prosecutor and the State Advocate General. However, a Special Public Prosecutor appointed by the Crime Branch will conduct the case on its behalf. Crime Branch Additional DG Santosh K Upadhaya had earlier indicated about the Government's decision to challenge the acquittal verdict stating that the investigations into the case were done properly. "The prosecution had argued the case touching every possible angle, clearly establishing involvement of the accused persons in the case," the ADG had said.

One Prashant Pradhan of Pipili, who reportedly had a relationship with the victim, and his younger brother Sukant were arrested in connection with the case. The girl was allegedly raped and an attempt was made to kill her by strangulation on November 28, 2011.

When the incident triggered massive public outcry following allegations that local BJD MLA and the then Minister Pradeep Maharathy was sheltering the accused, the Government handed over the case to the Crime Branch and Maharathy was asked to resign from the Cabinet.

The rescued rape victim then slipped into a comatose state while undergoing treatment at the SCB Medical College Hospital in Cuttack and finally died on June 21, 2012 after battling against death for nearly seven months.

Soon after the lower court verdict was pronounced, Maharathy again as a Minister made some distasteful observations denigrating the victim and her family. Like previously, following a massive public backlash, he was forced to tender his resignation from the Cabinet for a second time.

Anti-party activity Congress suspends MLA Jogesh Singh

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR

A day after Naba Kishore Das resigned from the Congress, the party suspended its Sundargarh MLA Jogesh Singh on Thursday for making anti-party statements.

The decision followed Singh's comments which triggered speculations that he, along with Salepur MLA Prakash Behera, might join the ruling Biju Janata Dal (BJD).

OPCC Disciplinary Committee convener Ananta Prasad Sethi said, "Sundargarh MLA Jogesh Singh has been suspended from the party for his recent statements before the media. The suspension order was issued following necessary approvals of All India Congress Committee (AICC). Singh was issued a show-cause notice on Wednesday to give a reply within 24 hours, but he did not reply."

The development came hours after PCC Disciplinary Committee chairman Hemananda Biswal indicated that stringent action would be taken against the leaders who instead of raising several issues at appropriate party forums are making irresponsible statements in the media.

However, in reaction, Singh said, "I did not get any show-cause notice. I don't know why he has been suspended from the party. But since they have suspended me, I will resign from the MLA post. Is it a crime to praise the Chief Minister?" he questioned. When asked whether he would join the BJD, Singh said he has never said he would join the BJD. But in future, he would decide.

Senior Police Officers' Meet

2019 elections biggest challenge for police: DGP

SAROJ MISHRA ■ BHUBANESWAR

The forthcoming 2019 general elections will be one of the biggest challenges for the Odisha police. "We have already started preparations for it," said DGP Dr RP Sharma inaugurating a three-day 61st Senior Police Officers' Conference here on Thursday. Sharma said that if the previous panchayat polls are any indicator, the atmosphere would be highly volatile and charged for the general elections. "But we should anticipate situations to avoid any law and order situations. Preventive measures like identifying and rounding up of antisocial and disruptive elements before the elections has begun," he said. The DGP urged the police officers to ensure that the elections are conducted in a free, fair and transparent manner. Training sessions on elections for field officers would be held in cooperation with Election Commission officials to prepare them to conduct smooth polls. Mentioning about the Maoist problem, the DGP said police had 25 instances of face-off with the ultras in 2018, in which 19 times they had achieved success. The Maoists suffered many casualties in these encounters. The intelligence network would be strengthened further in the extremist-infested regions to improve intelligence gathering. He further said stress should be laid on the computerisation and digitisation process. Once the officers have sufficient data or information it would help the officers in solving crimes effectively.

In today's dynamic and fast changing world, new forms of crime like cyber crime, cyber security have come to centre-stage and police need to upgrade their skills in use of modern gadgets and technology.

The social media outreach of the police has improved significantly and e-system has been introduced in the State police headquarters.

The DGP urged the officers to be abreast with the development around them as technology is developing fast.

He said the previous year has been successful for the State police. The Crime branch solved many sensational cases like the Balangir gift explosion case. The Commissionerate police was highly praised for managing the Orissa Hockey World Cup in an efficient and professional manner.

The DGP urged the officers to be highly empathetic while dealing with women and children and also asked to expedite the setting up of women and child help desks in the districts where they are yet to be set up. Overall he asked the officers to ensure good governance and be people-friendly.

Sharma said the conference is a platform where the officers can exchange ideas and issue-based deliberations on cyber crime, Maoist problem, crime control, handling mass agitations, handling major events and other issues would be held.

The DGP on the occasion offered his condolences to the families of the police personnel, who have been martyred in the line of duty.

'BJD Govt has failed to provide women safety'

PNS ■ JAIPUR

BJP State Mahila Morcha vice-president Dr Aiswarya Biswal on Wednesday severely criticised the State Government, saying it has failed in providing safety to women at every level.

Addressing a Press meet at Sukinda, Biswal alleged that incidences of sexual violence targeted at women have increased in the State during the 19 years of BJD rule. She said the Pipili gangrape victim didn't get justice and all accused were acquitted due to botched up investigation.

CDA Chief Executive Office Susanta Nanda and a team of dedicated officers and officers are coordinating the entire job.

According to information, the teams would survey across the length and breadth of the lagoon from 6 am to 12 pm to find out the number, range and distribution of Irrawaddy dolphins, new areas of bird congregation, sponges that are appearing again after 1985 in parts of Chilika, extent of sea grass and reconstruction of evicted gharries, if any.

While the lake witnessed more than a million birds for the first time after 2004, the new areas of bird congregation need to be mapped out, said an official.

BJP Krushak Morcha alleges Min-miller nexus

- Holds demo before Secretariat
- BJD says BJP shedding crocodile tears

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR

Members of the State BJP Krushak Morcha scuffled with police personnel while trying to barge into the premises of the State Secretariat here on Thursday protesting Cooperation Minister Surjya Narayan Patro's statement challenging the Opposition to propagate allegations that paddy is being procured at prices below the minimum support price (MSP) at the mandis across the State.

Shouting slogans and holding placards, hundreds of members of the BJP's farmer

ing up further. "The paddy should be procured at the MSP of Rs 1,750 per quintal. But millers are charging rates less than MSP leading to losses for farmers. We suspect that the millers are hand in glove with Minister Patro," alleged a protestor.

Another agitator said Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik should take immediate action against the Minister for his comments.

In reaction, BJP State vice president Samir Mohanty said, "As mandis have not opened farmers are going for distress sale. Millers are taking undue advantage of this and collecting paddy from farmers at Rs 1,200-1,300 per quintal. Today our people had gone with evidence to meet the Minister at the Secretariat."

Earlier, Patro had stated in a Press conference that the BJP and other Opposition parties are levelling false allegations without any proof that paddy is being sold at prices lower than the MSP in the State.

However, BJD spokesperson Sasmit Patra said the BJP has no moral right to speak on farmers' issues. Before coming to power, he had said they would hike the paddy MSP by one and a half times and also implement the Swaminathan Committee recommendations. They are only shedding crocodile tears for farmers and indulging in melodrama.

KALIA Scheme

Can charity relieve State's growing farm distress?

NADIYA CHAND KANUNGO

Now, the peasants of Odisha are very much encouraged for cultivating lands with the financial assistance given by the State Government under the Krushak Assistance for Livelihood and Income Augmentation (KALIA) scheme. Specially, the marginal farmers and those who have negligible or no land can survive through the scheme. The Planning Commission has heaped praises on the State Government for taking such a forward-looking scheme.

Agriculture is the mainstay of the Indian economy and by all accounts, the sector does deserve the prime importance. Agriculture, agro-horticulture and agro-forestry are therefore important areas which have to be given a lot of focus both in the country and in Odisha. These three departments should therefore be under one Secretary for smooth and careful management.

Now lots of money is spent in forestry and soil conservation measures by the Forest Department under the Rehabilitation of Degraded Forests (RDF) scheme. Without agro forestry or soil conservation measures, the KALIA scheme is meaningless. Specially, the hilly terrains like foot hills of Eastern Ghat, western-southern and northern-west districts of Odisha are having such types of cultivable lands, which need intensive cultivation with soil conservation measures. Without soil conservation measures and irrigations no crop raising can be assured.

Allotment of Rs 10,000 crore is not sufficient to bring under plough all the fragmented cultivable lands of Odisha.

In Odisha as well as in whole of India, agricultural land gives social status to a man. So the entire landmass of Odisha as well as of India will be further fragmented on the rise of population. A big chunk of land falls fallow due to legal disputes. Now in many districts major crop raising lands become practically useless and unproductive for the reasons. The villagers, especially the crop growers of our State, raise different crops as per their individual needs in their lands.

We must admit that our cultivable lands are not properly and intensively utilized for social causes. The raising of crops by a peasant, although directly benefits the crop raiser himself, it also helps the society for meeting the food requirements. So the State Government as well as the Government of India should realize that a poor peasant not only works for his livelihood, but also works for feeding the society. So the intensive cultivations of fallow lands of our State and country should be done to satisfy the hungry mouths. It is a fact that, the present State Government allowed some 'seedless remunerations' like non-refundable loans to the agricultural labourers and all types of agricultural workers for sustainable living. But the question remains, is it sufficient to fulfill his professional needs?

Is it not a pseudo and lollypop yojana for the peasant class as a whole? Why interest free and non-refundable loans to agricultural peasants and the labourers only?

There are large numbers of forest labourers and other types of artisans of wood, bamboo, cane, horn, hides etc. including ivory workers. When the raw materials of forest resources are dwindling very fast, such labourers are deprived of employments and spending their time helplessly. Such things should be intensively studied and remedial measures are to be taken for their social upliftment. The Government of a democratic State should work for upliftment of all class citizens of the country.

Our peasants generally grow cereals like rice, ragi, millets, maize, wheat, jawar, bajra, pulses, grams, with other varieties of pulses.

Varieties of such crops are grown in different grades and quality of lands throughout the State. Now, we need most rapid development in irrigation, payment of due minimum support price (MSP) to the growers, development of storage, etc. As it is observed, the traders of MP are collecting agricultural produce of Odisha peasants of bordering districts of the State at a very low cost, cashing in on their financial vulnerability. But the Government despite all tall claims has failed to stop distress sale of different farm produces.

The State Government should go forward to strengthen the cooperative movement for proper intensive utilisation of cultivable lands, including community lands and fallow lands, for socio-economic growth of the hapless farmers, rather than concentrating on charity. In co-operative movement few types of selected crops can only be cultivated for gross productions.

CS reviews scheme's progress

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR

Chief Secretary AP Padhi on Thursday directed district Collectors to ensure that names of large farmers, retired Government employees and Government and PSU employees are not enrolled in the KALIA scheme, a list of which would be published on January 22. Reviewing execution of the KALIA scheme through video-conferencing, Padhi directed the Collectors to complete data entry of green and red forms and publish the first-phase list of eligible farmers by January 22.

It was revealed that about 66 lakh green forms have been received from farmers of the State for inclusion and about one lakh forms received for exclusion of names from the KALIA scheme. Data entry operators with adequate computers have been deployed at GP block and district levels for conducting data entry works. About 10.50 lakh forms can be linked to computers. While Data Entry Operators will work in three shifts, observers have been sent to each district for inspection.

Agriculture and Famers' Empowerment Secretary Sourav Garg said assistances would be credited in accounts of eligible farmers under the KALIA scheme by January 25. The second phase of application submission would be held from January 25 to February 5. Among others, Development Commissioner Ashit Kumar Tripathy, Revenue and Disaster Management Secretary Nikunja Dhal, Information and Public Relations Secretary Sanjay Singh, Cooperation Secretary Kishan Kumar were present.

IAY 'corruption': Khordha youth ends life

--Video shot before suicide goes viral; DM orders probe
--It's State Govt-sponsored murder: Dharmendra

PNS ■ KHORDHA

A youth of the Nirakarpur area's Patanasahi in the district allegedly ended his life on Wednesday after failing to get benefits under the rural housing scheme Indra Awas Yojana (IAY) due to corruption and bribery at the block-level.

The deceased was identified as Laxmidhar Behera.

However, Laxmidhar had shot a video narrating his woes just before he took the extreme step and the video has now gone viral on social media.

In the video, Laxmidhar has alleged that block employees demanded bribe of Rs 15,000 to Rs 20,000 for sanctioning a pucca house under the Indra Awas Yojana.

"From BDO to sarpanch and even ruling-BJD leaders, I had approached everybody. But nobody listened to me. The officials asked me to pay Rs 15,000 to Rs 20,000. From where I can arrange the money as I work as labourer. Many may have got benefits from Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik and BJD, but I have not got any help," Laxmidhar is seen saying in the video.

Sources said Laxmidhar's body was recovered near the Gahiradia Canal; and it was suspected that he committed suicide.

Khordha district Collector

Nirmal Mishra said the entire incident would be investigated. "We would look into the matter. But preliminary investigations reveal that a house was sanctioned to the beneficiary. Had there been allegations of bribery, we would have definitely taken action," said Mishra.

He further said a detailed probe would be initiated to ascertain who demanded bribe from the youth.

Meanwhile, Union Minister Dharmendra Pradhan alleged that Laxmidhar's death was sponsored by the State Government as he committed suicide after failing to pay bribe to get a house under the IAY.

"It is very shocking that a precious life was lost for bribe. It is a real picture of the PC practice in Odisha. It is not a case of suicide; rather it is a Government-sponsored murder," Pradhan posted in social media after meeting Laxmidhar's family members at his village.

The BJP extended its support to the bandh call with its workers blocking roads at several junctions holding party flags.

The demands of the agitators included resignation of SC and ST Development Minister Ramesh Majhi and Women and Child Development Minister Prafulla Samal, transfer of the district Collector, a judicial probe into the incidence, suspension of the District Welfare Officer, compensation of Rs 50 lakh and provision of safety of the girl.

AIBOC opposes bank amalgamation move

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR

The All India Bank Officers' Confederation (AIBOC) has strongly opposed the Union Cabinet's decision to amalgamate Vijaya Bank and Dena Bank with Bank of Baroda.

The Finance Ministry notification has made it amply clear that the amalgamation would obliterate Vijaya Bank and the Dena Bank, which were in existence for over 87 and 80 years, respectively, said an AIBOC release.

Merging the banks brings in more trouble as the organisation becomes too huge to pay attention to ailments they have. The assurance of protecting the pay and allowances of officers and employees in the amalgamation scheme rings hollow, pointed out the release. The AIBOC called upon the bank customers and all sections of the people to protest against this "unilateral" and "retrograde" decision by the Union Cabinet.

The court pronounced the quantum of punishment under section 42 of POCSO act and 376(d) of IPC after cross examining the witnesses and going through the evidences and relevant documents, said Panda.

Leaders, officials or laymen, Kansa spares none

--Bargarh Dhanu Yatra's uniqueness

RAKESH K JOSHI ■ BARGARH

There is no excuse for offence in Kansa Maharaja's Kingdom. Be it the district Collector or the SP or a layman, everyone has to obey Kansa even as the man who dons the attire of Kansa and utters words in a royal style like the mythical king is just an ordinary person.

This is the specialty of the Bargarh Dhanu Yatra which has begun here on January 11 and will continue till January 21. The festival has lent a religious aura to the whole of the town.

The fun and frolic goes on in the biggest open air theater of the world nonstop for the whole length of the yatra speaking volumes as to how much tradition bound the denizens here are.

Where the Kansa Maharaja moves on the elephant's back, it turns into a pandal. It could be an open market, a jail or the national highway.

The Maharaja takes stock of the situation of his kingdom by moving from place to place. From a resplendent pandal in the vening, the Maharaja asks the district officials to ensure smooth functioning of his kingdom and directs them to solve the problems of the residents.

The unique festival is celebrated after the harvesting season. The tired farmers get a lot of pleasure during the event. It is a rich and vibrant source of entertainment for the people of the locality and all others who visit the town.

The play enacted during the festival comprises three mythological episodes Krishna

Leela, Mathura Bijaya and Kansa Baddha.

It is believed that the Dhanu Yatra in its present form started in 1948. During the post-Independence period, the performance was charged with a nationalistic fervor. Kansa symbolized the imperialist British Government of its way out and Lord Krishna stood for the nationalistic aspiration of the people.

MP Swain repeats Central apathy slur

Slams Union Govt for its 'no' to Odisha's pleas

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR

Rajya Sabha BJD Member Narendra Swain sought to know from Union Minister of State Shiva Prasad Shukla in the Finance Ministry, whether the Centre has considered reducing the GST on Kendu leaves from 18 per cent to 5 per cent as Kendu is the financial lifeline of the tribal people of Odisha and a large section of the people of the State depend on it for their livelihood.

This is to be mentioned here that CM Naveen Patnaik in a letter on 29.11.2018 had requested the Union Finance Ministry for reduction of GST from 18 per cent to 5 per cent to restore the social and financial security of the tribals of the State.

Speaking to The Pioneer, the octogenarian Swain told with a heavy heart that the Centre has taken a step-motherly attitude and put a wet blanket on the hopes and aspirations of the people of the State

In his reply, Minister Shukla however denied having considered on the reduction at the recent GST Council meet.

Swain further inquired to know from the Union Minister of Civil Aviation if the Ministry has taken up the necessary steps for introduction of direct flight services between Bhubaneswar and Surat as per the proposal of the CM of Odisha. Minister Jayant Sinha replied that as per winter scheduled 2018, no scheduled direct flights are available between Bhubaneswar and Surat.

In his further query, Swain demanded to know from Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment whether any decision has been taken by the Centre on the request of CM Patnaik to restore the original funding pattern of 90:10 share of Centre and State for smooth implementation of Post-Matric Scholarship programme for SC and ST students of Odisha.

Replying, the Minister said that for the past many decades it is operating based on the concept of "Committed Liability" of the State Government/UT administration rather than on a fixed sharing ratio between the Centre and the State/UT. Thus the Minister drew a blank to earlier request of CM Patnaik. The BJD leader further demanded to know from the Minister of Railways, whether any action has been taken to establish a concrete sleeper plant at Kantabanji and a railway apprentice training centre in the backward KBB region to promote skill development and employability of the workforce, which in turn would contribute to the National Skill Development Mission. The Minister replied that such request of the Odisha Government was examined and was not found justified.

Speaking to The Pioneer, the octogenarian Swain told with a heavy heart that the Centre has taken a step-motherly attitude and put a wet blanket on the hopes and aspirations of the people of the State. He further rued that the Union Railway Ministry has said "no" to CM Patnaik's request for introduction of two new daily trains from Brahmapur to Surat.

'Let quality edu get priority in poll manifestos'

--SMC members to persuade parties

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR

Quality education should be prioritised in the manifestos of all the parties in the coming elections and if they don't focus on this, we will boycott casting our votes, warned members of the School Management Committee (SMC) Federation here on Thursday.

At a State-level SMC Federation meeting, the representatives from nearly 25 districts alleged that due to apathetic attitude of the State Government towards State-run schools, the quality of education is deteriorating and the sufferers are the children.

The federation has listed nearly 15 demands to put forth before all parties to include these in their election manifesto.

Federation convener Anupama Pradhan said, "We demand that in State run schools education standards should be improved. For, this a detail education policy should be framed; teachers should be appointed through Staff Selection Board; MLE (multi-lingual education) programme should be implemented in fully tribal schools and 25 per cent should be allotted in State Budget for education."

--Officials, ruling party men demanding PC: Cong

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR

Even as the Naveen Patnaik Government has been announcing schemes one after another in the name of development, but it has failed to curb the massive corruption in them, alleged PCC president Niranjan Patnaik.

the deceased before his death has gone viral. He has blamed the State Government and the Government machinery for driving him to take the extreme step, told Patnaik.

He charged that party men and elected peoples' representatives of BJD are demanding bribe and PC for Indra Awasi and toilets.

Swine Flu deaths: Punjab Govt sets up isolation wards

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Alarmed after seven Swine Flu deaths and 60 positive cases so far, Punjab Government has set up isolation wards at three Government Medical Colleges, 22 district hospitals and 41 sub-divisional hospitals, besides announcing that the treatment of all suspected and confirmed cases is being provided free of cost.

Swinging into action in view of an acute upsurge in cases of Influenza A H1N1, the state Health Minister Brahm Mohindra on Thursday held a high level meeting with the senior officers of the Health Department to review the state's preparedness and actions being taken for management of swine flu.

Mohindra said that the guidelines for management of Influenza A H1N1 have already been circulated to all the districts. Separate isolation wards for management of Influenza A H1N1 have been established at three Government Medical Colleges, 22 District Hospitals and 41 Sub-divisional Hospitals of the State, he said.

He said that testing of the cases is being done at GMC Amritsar, Patiala and PGIMER Chandigarh and this test is free of cost. Moreover, all the treatment of Influenza A H1N1 is being provided free of cost to all the suspected and confirmed cases in these government hospitals, he added.

"In 2019, 140 suspected cases were tested free of cost for Influenza A H1N1, and out of these, 60 cases have been found to be positive. Seven patients with complications and ongoing other illnesses have died in the State," he said.

UP offers surplus potatoes to Jharkhand

MRITUNJAY KUMAR ■ RANCHI

One of the most consumed vegetables, potato, will soon make inroads to Jharkhand not from West Bengal but from the north-west neighbor Uttar Pradesh. Uttar Pradesh' marketing institution Horticulture Cooperative Federation (HOFED) held a buyer-seller meet in Ranchi on Thursday to promote its surplus potatoes to buyers of Jharkhand on lower prices.

Speaking on the occasion Deputy Director Horticulture Uttar Pradesh said, "It is well known that UP is largest producer of potato in the country. It produces 35 per cent of total production of potato in the country. Total production of the State is 150 lakh metric tonnes and after total consumption by itself, the State has to sell 40 to 45 lakh metric tonnes of potatoes every year on lower prices. Farmers of the State are even not getting prices equal to production cost."

"With a view to provide proper price to the farmers the Horticulture Department of the Uttar Pradesh has held the buyer-seller meeting in the State capital as Jharkhand is not producing potatoes equal to its requirement. It has to import potatoes from outside of the State. Jharkhand brings potatoes from West Bengal and many times the import is halted by the West Bengal. Now UP is biggest exporter of potato. It is clear that Jharkhand is neighbouring State of UP and there will be no transporting problem," Yadav added.

Director, the State Vegetable Marketing Federation, Jharkhand, Surendra Singh said, "Jharkhand is one of the largest producer of green vegetables and it is not producing potato as much as its requirement. At present, the proposal of the HOFED is very good as the State is totally dependent on import of potato. I would inform about the Secretary of the department and seek her advice on the issue."

In a major move to decongest Delhi, the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways (MoRTH) has approved a 155-km six-lane highway project worth ₹4,405 crore under the Bharatmala scheme.

The roads include Akshardham to Loni Border at Delhi-UP Border (14.75 kms), Delhi-UP Border -Mandola-Eastern Peripheral Expressway (EPE) intersection (16.57 kms), EPE junction to start of Shamlu bypass (61.4 kms) and start of Shamlu bypass to Saharanpur bypass (62.7 kms).

In a letter to Delhi BJP President Manoj Tiwari, Union Road Transport and Highways minister Nitin Gadkari announced that the four projects have been approved by the ministry worth ₹4405 crore to decongest the national capital.

The project Akshardham to UP Border and Mandola in Delhi-UP Border to EPE intersection will cover 31.32 kms and it will cost ₹2900 crore. Currently, commuters from Western UP have to pass through the east Delhi areas such as Shastri Park, New Usmanpur, Khajuri Khas and Bhajanpura to reach Saharanpur highway that starts at Loni. The new highway will allow commuters to avoid the congested areas of east Delhi and reach the Saharanpur-bound national highway NH709B near Loni from the NH-24 directly.

The new roads will connect northeastern parts of the Delhi and facilitating those travelling to Shamlu, Mandola and Saharanpur in western UP.

The road would start from the NH-24 near the Akshardham flyover and touch the Delhi-Saharanpur NH-709B near Garhi Jassi in Loni Dehat. The proposed road would be aligned along the Noida Link Road and the Marginal Bund Road in Delhi and Baghat Road in Uttar Pradesh (UP). In Delhi, the road would pass through Ramesh Park, Geeta Colony, Shastri Park, Sonia Vihar Extension and West Karawal Nagar. While in UP, it would pass through Ankur Vihar, Welcome City and Indrapuri before ending at the Pooja Pusta Police Chowki in Loni.

The stretch connecting Akshardham to Khajuri Khas is known for traffic bottleneck in the national capital.

"The development of Akshardham-Geeta Colony-Shastri Park-Khajuri Khas-Delhi-UP Border at Loni have been approved to decongest the national Capital under Bharatmala projects", Gadkari said adding that this road project has now been declared as National Highway no 709 B.

"The project is being given top priority. This road will be developed as six lane access controlled road with service roads on both sides", he said. "Further, from Akshardham to EPE intersection, there is a provision of 19 kms of elevated section which would help in minimizing acquisition of land and segregation of local traffic," the letter read.

According to the ministry, the bids for the Akshardham to UP Border and Delhi-UP Border-Mandola to EPE intersection projects are being invited by next week. The work has been awarded for the project EPE junction to Shamlu bypass that will cost ₹725 crore. The project connecting Shamlu bypass to Saharanpur bypass will cost ₹780 crore.

ISRO set to launch satellite to help MHA secure borders

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

A satellite will be launched by the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) exclusively for the Home Ministry to help it further strengthen its frontiers. The move is part of recommendations made by a task force on the use of space technology in improving border management which have been accepted by Home Minister Rajnath Singh.

Later speaking to media, Union Minister for State for Space Jitendra Singh and ISRO Chief K Sivan said that India has developed a border management technology. Speaking at the launch of a programme called UNNATI, an initiative of the Indian Space Research Organisation, Singh said, "I was amazed the other day that we have actually started a technology the integrated comprehensive border management — which is a pioneer project started in the international border of Pakistan.

You can virtually enter inside the house of a person living across the border. So such minute precision has been made by the camera."

He said space technology is used in infrastructure works, construction of roads, intersection of Railway network, manning of railway lines and disaster management. UNNATI (UNISpace

It provides opportunities to the participants from developing countries to strengthen their capabilities in assembling, integrating and testing of nanosatellites, ISRO said in a statement. UNNATI programme is planned for three years in three batches and will target to benefit 90 delegates from 45 countries, the space agency said.

Each batch will be for 8-week duration and will comprise theoretical course work on nanosatellite definition, utility, laws governing their impact on space debris, design drivers, reliability and quality assurance and hands-on training on assembly, integration and testing of nanosatellites.

To execute the project in a time bound manner, a short, medium and long-term plan has been proposed for implementation in five years in close coordination with the ISRO and the Defence Ministry. "Major recommendations of the report are to build capacity in border guarding forces to use space resources for security, operational planning and border infrastructure development," the statement issued by the Home Ministry said.

In short term, immediate needs of border guarding forces will be met by procurement of high resolution imagery and hiring of bandwidth for communications, it said. "In mid-term, one satellite is being launched by the ISRO for exclusive use of the MHA," the statement said.

The task force headed by Joint Secretary (Border Management), having members from the BSF, the Department of Space and BM division of the Home Ministry, consulted all stakeholders including border guarding forces, the ISRO, National Security Council Secretariat (NSCS) and the Ministry of Defence to finalise the report.

Cong alleges Doval's son started Cayman Islands hedge fund after DeMo

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Congress on Thursday alleged National Security Adviser Ajit Doval's son Vivek started a hedge fund in Cayman Islands days after demonetisation and demanded a probe by the Reserve Bank (RBI) into FDI inflows from the tax haven.

Senior Congress leader Jairam Ramesh also asked the RBI to make public details of FDI inflows from Cayman Islands since demonetisation, which he claimed were to the tune of ₹8,300 crore during 2017-18 and equalled total funds flowing into India between 2000 to 2017. Ramesh, however, did not substantiate his allegations with any documentary evidence.

For his part, CPI-M leader Sitaram Yechury also tweeted demanding answers from Doval citing a media report on the issue to allege that the role of the PMO and its top security official was under a "dark shadow". He said it was the prime minister's responsibility to ensure the NSAs accountability as he was not accountable to Parliament being an unelected official, and asserted "silence amounts to culpability".

Yechury said, "The role of Modi's PMO and its top security official is under a dark shadow. Serious questions of probity and propriety get more weight due to NSA Doval's role in the ₹59,000 crore Rafale scam, where he was illegally negotiating in Paris with the French. Doval, who has grabbed more and more power for himself under Modi, can't be above the rule of law."

Ramesh at a Press conference alleged that a hedge fund GNY Asia was opened in Cayman Islands on November 21, 2016, 13 days after demonetisation, with Vivek Doval as one of its directors. The former Union Minister also alleged that while there are three more directors of GNY, one of them is Don W Ebanks whose name appears in Panama's 'Paradise papers' also referred as 'Panama papers'.

Alleging that "there is certainly a link between demonetisation and FDI inflows from Cayman Islands", he said this is a "round tripping of money" and demanded a probe. "This is not FDI, it is round tripping of demonetised money and has a direct link to black money. There should be a probe into the FDI that came into the country from Cayman Islands after demonetisation," he demanded, saying, "GNA owes an explanation to the country."

"What is the role of GNY Asia in FDI inflows. We demand that the Reserve Bank makes public all funds from where money has come into the country from Cayman Islands," Ramesh said. He said the RBI should publish details of all those who brought in money from Cayman Islands. "There should be complete information on this made available to the public," he said, adding "the RBI should probe the identity of funds who brought in ₹8300 crore in one year."

"It is not natural that we raise this question. A Prime Minister of a neighbouring country had to resign after his name appeared in the Panama papers," he said, alleging that the name of a former chief minister's son also appears in these papers. Ramesh also sought to know what are the relations between Vivek Doval's fund GNY Asia and Zeus Capital, another company in which his brother Shaurya Doval has business interests.

Cayman Islands are an autonomous British Overseas territory in the western Caribbean Sea, which is considered a tax haven.

CBI registers cases against 6 more shelter homes in Bihar

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The CBI has registered six fresh cases on connection with the alleged abuse of inmates in shelter homes in Bihar, taking the tally to nine.

The cases were registered on the basis of details given in the Tata Institute of Social Sciences (TISS) audit report of shelter homes in Bihar. The TISS report brought sordid state of mismanagement, abuse and unlivable conditions. Following the TISS report, the Supreme Court had also directed the CBI to probe all the 17 cases of abuse at the various shelter homes.

In its May 2018 report, TISS had expressed "grave concerns" on the management of 17 shelter homes, including 'Balika Grih' in Muzaffarpur where 34 girls had reported abuse at the hands of office-bearers and outsiders.

The audit report was submitted to the State Government and later became the basis of a SC directive for a CBI probe into the Muzaffarpur shelter home case. The apex court later handed over the remaining 16 cases to the agency.

The CBI, which had on Wednesday booked two shelter homes in Bhagalpur and Gaya, registered six new cases against Novelty Welfare Society, which ran a short-stay home in Munger district; Panaah shelter home, also in same district; Gram Swaraj Sewa Sansthan which ran a short-stay home in Kaimur; Om Sai Foundation which ran sewa kutir in Muzaffarpur; and short-stay home run by Ikdard and Kaushal Kutir run by Don Bosco Tech Society in Patna.

Director of Novelty Welfare Society and others used to lock the room of a mentally-sick woman inmate causing wrongful restraint and confinement and ill-treated other inmates.

The NGO also sublet a portion of the shelter home for a rent of Rs 10,000 and did not provide proper ventilation or sanitation facilities for the inmates, the FIR alleged.

In the case of 'Panaah', it is alleged that office-bearers of the home "physically exploited" the inmates forcing them to do manual work including cooking and cleaning, the FIR stated.

The FIR said the shelter home was being run from a building meant for an observation home and was not "livable" for young children.

The CBI has booked Sudarshan Ram, Pintu Pal and Tara Devi, all office-bearers of Gram Swaraj Sewa Sansthan, which ran the short-stay home at Lalpur in Kaimur district.

It is alleged that the security guard was sexually abusive, passing lewd comments and physically assaulting women and girls inmates.

Submit panel of names for Lokpal by Feb end: SC

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Thursday requested the search committee on Lokpal to recommend by the end of February a panel of names for appointing the country's first anti-graft ombudsman.

A bench headed by Chief Justice Ranjan Gogoi asked the Centre to make available requisite infrastructure, manpower, secretarial assistance and others to enable the committee, which is headed by former apex court judge Ranjana Prakash Desai, to commence its work immediately and conclude it within the time frame.

The Bench, also comprising justices LN Rao and SK Kaul, ordered this after Attorney General KK Venugopal apprised the court that due to certain difficulties like lack of office space, infrastructure, manpower and secretariat, "possibly, the search committee has felt handicapped in convening its meetings and in holding its deliberations". It also noted in its order that the eight-member committee, which was constituted by a Government notification of September 27 last year, had not undertaken any deliberations till January 16 and a meeting was held only on Wednesday.

SC to hear plea for security of women who entered Sabarimala

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court will hear on Friday a plea of two women seeking round-the-clock security after they recently entered the Sabarimala temple in Kerala despite protests right-wing Hindu groups.

A Bench of Chief Justice Ranjan Gogoi and Justices LN Rao and S K Kaul said that it would hear the plea filed by two women — Kanakdurga and Bindu — on Friday after senior advocate Indira Jaising contended the matter should be heard urgently as one of the women was assaulted by her mother-in-law.

The plea sought round-the-clock security to both the women due to threat to their life for entering into the hilltop shrine.

The plea sought directions to all authorities to allow women of all age groups to enter the temple without any hindrance and to ensure security and safe passage, including police security to women wishing to enter the temple in future.

cular said.

Cut down on meat, sugar intake to save world: Scientists

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

To prevent unavoidable environmental catastrophe in the wake of burgeoning population, climate change and biodiversity loss, scientists have called for change in the current diet trends across the globe — cut down consumption of red meat and sugar by half and double your intake of nuts, fruits, vegetables, and legumes by 2050.

The EAT-Lancet Commission study released on Thursday also said that fossil fuels should be eliminated in agricultural production, which should prevent further losses to biodiversity, and bring about improvements in fertiliser and water use efficiency.

The study which was funded by the Wellcome Trust and EAT (specifically funding from the Wellcome Trust and Stordalen Foundation) said that daily dietary pattern of a planetary health diet should consist of approximately 35% of calories as whole grains and tubers, protein sources mainly from plants — but including approximately 14g of red meat per day — and 500g per day of vegetables and fruits.

Consumption is expected to increase as the global population grows to 10 billion by 2050 while it will also become wealthier, with an expectation that more animal-based foods will be consumed as a result.

But without change, current trends will lead to climate change, biodiversity loss, increased pollution, and unsustainable changes in water and land use.

"The food we eat and how we produce it determines the health of people and the planet, and we are currently getting this seriously wrong," says one of the study's authors, Professor Tim Lang of the City, University of London.

"We need a significant overhaul, changing the global food system on a scale not seen before in ways appropriate to each country's circumstances."

The findings represent the first scientific targets for healthy diets via sustainable food production systems, which operate within the planet's ability to produce food and promotes diets consisting of a variety of plant-based foods, with low amounts of animal-based foods, refined grains, highly processed foods, and added sugars, and with unsaturated rather than saturated fats.

Using these targets, the report's authors modelled various scenarios to develop a sustainable food system and deliver healthy diets by 2050.

They found that major dietary changes, improved food production processes and reduced food waste are needed for planet to continue to be sustainable, and added that no single measure on its own would be enough to stay within the limits.

They added that global collaboration would also be required, such as changes to the agriculture industry to focus on more varied nutrient-rich crops and increased governance of land and ocean use.

threat to the stability of the planet. Sustainability of the food system must therefore be defined from a planetary perspective," said the study's co-lead, Commissioner Professor Johan Rockstrom.

"There is no silver bullet for combatting harmful food production practices, but by defining and quantifying a safe operating space for food systems, diets can be identified that will nurture human health and support environmental sustainability." The Stockholm Resilience Centre was the scientific coordinator of the report.

BATTLE TIGHTENS UP FOR LS POLLS

Regional parties will be kingmaker: Didi

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

In a significant statement made barely hours before she goes to host one of the biggest mega rallies Bengal has ever seen in the history of free India, Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Thursday said regional parties would play a crucial role in forming the next Government in Delhi.

With the BJP unlikely to win more than 125 seats in the coming general elections the "federal parties" will play the decisive role in forming the new Government, Banerjee said even as she visited the Brigade Parade Ground to oversee the preparations of January 19 mega rally being hosted by her party Trinamool Congress.

The rally is likely to break all the previous records Banerjee has already gone on record saying even her party colleagues expect an attendance of more than 30 lakh. "So much so that not all people will be able to come at the Brigade Ground and so we have arranged for them giant screens at the other corners of the city," said a senior party leader.

Banerjee said "the Opposition mega rally will sound the death knell for the BJP which will not get more than 125 seats," adding the "regional or federal parties will make the decision regarding who will form the Government in New Delhi."

"BJP will not get more than 125 seats, the Congress will make an estimate of their own tally," Banerjee said adding the federal parties will be in a decisive position to form the Govt. Insisting that she "would not impose our views on other parties," Banerjee said "we will listen to what the other leaders say as it is a meeting of the all parties and not our own party."

Senior leaders like former PM HD Deve Gowda, NCP chief Sharad Pawar, K'taka Chief Minister HDK, his Andhra Pradesh counterpart N Chandrababu Naidu, former Arunachal CM Gegong Apang, NC leaders Farooq Abdullah, Omar Abdullah, SP chief Akhilesh Yadav, RJD leader Tejaswi Yadav, Delhi CM Arvind Kejriwal, DMK leader Stalin and "even a BSP representative would attend the mega rally," Banerjee said.

10% EWS quota due to political will of my Govt: Modi

Ahmedabad: Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday said the Constitutional amendment to provide 10 per cent reservation to economically poor in the general category was achieved due to the political will of his Government and would be implemented from this academic year.

Addressing a gathering after inaugurating the 1500 bed Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel Institute of Medical Science and Research, Modi said the economic reservation has been given without impacting the existing social reservations.

"The new reservation will be implemented in 40,000 colleges across 900 universities in the country from this academic year. The number of seats will be increased by 10 per cent," he said.

Modi said his Government was committed to provide equal opportunities to all sections of the society. The Institute will be linked to the Ayushman Bharat scheme so that poor people can avail medical facilities free of cost, he said. Magnitude 6 quake jolts Nicobar Islands region

Port Blair: A strong earthquake of magnitude 6 hit the seismically active Andaman and Nicobar Islands Thursday, the National Centre for Seismology (NCS) said.

There was no report of loss of life or damage to property.

The earthquake hit the region at 8.43 am and its epicentre was Nicobar Islands region, the NCS, an institute under the Ministry of Earth Sciences (MoES) tracking seismological activities, said.

No tsunami alert was issued as sea levels around the Andaman Nicobar archipelago showed no major rise, said SPS Sheno, Director, Indian National Centre for Ocean Information Services (INCOIS).

The INCOIS is an institute under the MoES and it has a network buoys and other apparatus to check rise in the sea level in case of a tsunami. It alerts not only the Indian authorities, but also its neighbours in case of a tsunami.

All of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands lie in Zone V. The entire island chain is also prone to tsunamis both from large local quakes and also from massive distant shocks. PTI

RTI applicants allegedly sent condoms in response to queries, probe on Bikaner: Rajasthan's Hanumangarh district administration on Thursday began a probe into allegations that two RTI applicants were sent envelopes containing condoms in response to their queries, an official said.

RTI applicants Vikas Chaudhary and Manohar Lal, residents of Chani Badi in Bhadra tehsil of the district, had sought information related to development work done there in 2001.

After their second appeal, the Rajasthan Information Commission had directed the gram panchayat to provide information to the applicants. They had received two separate envelopes.

The inquiry was initiated after a video purportedly showing applicants finding condoms inside RTI envelopes had gone viral.

"RTI applicants have reiterated their allegations during investigation and gram sevak had submitted in written that he did not put any objectionable material in any RTI envelope and information was provided to the applicants against the application they had filed," SDM Bhadra Raj Kumar Kaswa

BJP gen secy urges AGP to reconsider decision to snap ties

Guwahati: BJP general secretary Ram Madhav appealed to the Asom Gana Parishad on Thursday to reconsider its decision to snap ties with the party over the contentious citizenship bill last week.

Madhav, who is also the incharge of the Bharatiya Janata Party in the Northeast, sought to allay apprehensions regarding the bill, saying it was not only for Assam or the Northeast, but for the entire country.

Among those opposing the bill, there are some who are genuinely concerned "whom we respect", but there are also some who are opposing only for their "political interests", Madhav said at a press conference here.

There are others like the United Liberation Front of Assam (ULFA), who are opposing the bill to "disturb" peace and create unrest, he added.

The AGP had on January 7 pulled out of the BJP-led coalition government in Assam, after its "last-ditch attempt" to convince the Centre to withdraw the proposed legislation failed.

The Citizenship (Amendment) Bill, 2019, which was passed in the Lok Sabha on January 8, seeks to provide citizenship to non-Muslims from Bangladesh, Pakistan and Afghanistan. Three AGP ministers had resigned from the Assam cabinet the next day.

"We appeal them (AGP) to reconsider their decision to leave the alliance as we went together to the people before the elections and also fought the assembly polls together."

"That is why Chief Minister Sabananda Sonowal has not forwarded the three AGP ministers' resignation letters to the governor for acceptance as the mandate of the people was for an alliance. We respect the people's mandate and appeal the AGP to reconsider its decision,"

Madhav said.

On some of the state BJP legislators coming out publicly against the bill, Madhav said, "They have a genuine concern. They will go to Delhi and we will explain to them to allay their apprehensions."

The civil society, student unions and regional political parties are protesting against the bill in northeastern states, fearing that their identities would be affected.

"A situation has been created in Assam by creating a fear psychosis to stall the work of the high-level committee set up by the Centre to go into Clause 6 of Assam Accord."

"We understand that under such circumstances it is normal to be concerned. I assure that all measures will be taken so that the identity of Assam is not affected," he said.

Clause 6 of the Assam Accord, 1985, envisages constitutional, legislative and administrative safeguards to protect, preserve and promote the cultural, social, linguistic identity and heritage of the Assamese people.

"There is no need for the uncalled for concerns among the people as legislative and administrative measures are being taken to protect the identity, language and culture of Assam and the other northeastern states," the BJP leader asserted.

"I want to remove the lie that is being spread... I am confident that after telling the truth to the people, they will understand our standpoint," he said.

"The Government will keep in view its obligation to the refugees, the minorities of erstwhile Pakistan, as well as the interests of the people of Assam and the northeast region... That is why I appeal to those spreading misinformation to stop it," Madhav said. PTI

Congress lines up series of protests against Citizenship Bill

Guwahati: The Opposition Congress on Thursday announced a series of programmes till January 31 across Assam to protest against the Citizenship (Amendment) Bill.

Assam Pradesh Congress Committee Spokesperson Rihituparna Konwar said the BJP-led state and central governments are "imposing" the Bill, which will completely nullify the Assam Accord of 1985.

"This Bill will endanger the very existence of Assamese community. To protest this, we have decided to launch our second series of agitation under 'Jagao Asom, Bachao Asom' programme from January 21 to 31," Konwar said in a statement.

As per the programme, all district and block Congress units would light lamps and hold 'Sarba dharma' (all religion) prayer in the evening of January 21 so that the BJP government "gets its wisdom back".

On January 23, 'Sankalp Divas' will be organised coinciding with birth anniversary of Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose to get inspired by the secular ideology of the freedom fighter to fight the communal Bill, Konwar said.

The following day, a five-hour sit-in will be held, while human chains will be formed on January 30 across the state, he added.

"On the last day, which is January 31, a two-hour torch light procession will be taken out to protest against the Bill.

The Congress has decided to strongly oppose any move to pass the Bill," Konwar informed.

The Citizenship (Amendment) Bill, which was passed by the Lok Sabha on January 8, provides for according Indian citizenship to Hindus, Jains, Christians, Sikhs, Buddhists and Parsis from Bangladesh, Pakistan and Afghanistan after six years of residence in India instead of 12 years, which is the norm currently, even if they do not possess any document.

Massive protests broke out across the state and other parts of North East after Prime Minister Narendra Modi announced in Silchar on January 4 that the controversial document would be passed as soon as possible in Parliament. PTI

Raje Govt got distracted over useless issues, says Rajasthan Governor

Jaipur: In his address at the first session of the new State Assembly, Rajasthan Governor Kalyan Singh on Thursday accused the former BJP Government of getting "distracted" from more important issues as it tried to find flaws with the Congress-led regime before it.

The customary address — in which the Government of the day lays out its agenda — was marred by disruptions by Rashtriya Loktantrik Party chief Hanuman Beniwal who climbed on to a platform near the assembly secretary's desk.

Speaking for the recently elected Congress Government led by Ashok Gehlot, the Governor said economic growth rate dropped during Vasundhara Raje Government's term.

"The former Government got distracted over useless issues like finding flaws of its previous Government," Kalyan Singh said.

"As a result of which the annual average economic growth rate, which was 8.16 per cent in 2009-10 to 2013-14 reduced to 7.19 per cent in 2014-15 to 2017-18. The average increase in per capita income was 14.95 per cent from 2009-10 to 2013-14 but it reduced to 9.68 per cent during 2014-15 to 2017-18," he said in his address, which was tabled in the House.

Similarly, the growth rate in the agriculture sector which was 4.19 per cent in 2008-09 increased to 8.94 per cent in 2013-14," he said. But with the "wrong policies" of the Vasundhara Raje Government, which followed, the growth rate in the sector dropped to 3.95 per cent in 2017-18, according to the address. PTI

Omar questions Army officials boasting about number of militants killed in J&K

Srinagar: Former Jammu & Kashmir Chief Minister Omar Abdullah on Thursday questioned Army officials boasting about the number of militants killed in the State last year, saying it would have been a "great year" if no youth had joined militancy.

"I beg to differ, a great year would be one in which no young man would join militancy, no terrorists would be killed & no security personnel would lose their lives in encounters. The compulsion of killing militants/terrorists shouldn't be treated as a cause for celebration," Omar wrote on Twitter.

He was responding to the remarks of Northern Army Command chief Lt Gen Ranbir Singh in which he reportedly said that 2018 has been a great year for the security forces as more than 250 terrorists were killed, 54 caught alive and four surrendered to the forces. PTI

BJP leader compares Rahul to Aurangzeb

Says he is 'last emperor' of Cong

Jaipur: Rajasthan BJP vice president Gyan Dev Ahuja on Thursday compared Congress president Rahul Gandhi with Mughal emperor Aurangzeb, suggesting that the Congress "empire" was coming to an end.

He said the Congress president is the "last emperor" of the Congress "sultanate", just like Aurangzeb.

"Like Aurangzeb who was the last emperor of the Mughal sultanate, Rahul Gandhi is the last emperor of this sultanate. In the past, Ahuja has courted controversy by likening cow smugglers as "terrorists". He said on Thursday the concern for cows displayed in the Congress is nothing more than a sham.

He claimed the Bharatiya Janata Party will win the by-election for the Ramgarh assembly seat, where polling was called off due to the death of Bahujan Samaj Party candidate Laxman Singh.

The Congress won 99 of the remaining 199 Rajasthan assembly seats where elections were held last month. The bypoll for Ramgarh will take place on January 28. In the last Assembly, Ahuja was an MLA from Ramgarh. PTI

SHEENA MURDER CASE

Mikhail was not tortured during psychosis treatment: Doctor

Mumbai: A doctor who had treated Indrani Mukerjee's son Mikhail Bora for psychosis told the special CBI court here on Thursday that he was not confined or put under physical restraint, as alleged, during the treatment.

Mikhail had earlier told the court, which is conducting trial in the Sheena Bora murder, that he was tortured during the treatment at the behest of his mother Indrani, the main accused.

He had alleged that he was put in confinement, given electric shocks and tortured during the treatment for psychosis because his mother wanted to prove that he was "insane". He also said that he did not take drugs. Dr Yusuf Machiswala, who treated Mikhail at Masina Hospital here, said Mikhail was referred to him for "substance-induced psychosis" in 2006. "To the best of my knowledge, he was abusing tobacco and cannabis," the doctor told Judge J C Jagdale, adding that he was transferred to another hospital after two months.

"Indrani (again) called sometime in the month of April 2012 and said that Mikhail was behaving aggressively and she also mentioned the name of Sheena," the doctor said, adding that he suggested an anti-psychotic medicine and asked to bring Mikhail to hospital.

To a defence lawyer's question whether Mikhail was admitted to hospital against his wish (in 2006), Machiswala said, "At that time he was a minor, so there was no question of his wish or consent."

"I didn't ask Mikhail Bora about his wish. He was cooperating with treatment. I don't remember whether Mikhail told me he doesn't want to be in hospital," the doctor added.

"As far as I remember, he was not physically restrained," he said to another question. Sheena (24), Indrani's daughter and Mikhail's sister, was allegedly killed by Indrani with the help of others in April 2012 over a financial dispute. PTI

N-E needs more funds to catch up with rest of India: FC

Agartala: The 15th Finance Commission (FC) has endorsed the view of 'North East Vision 2020' document that says the region needs more funds to catch up with the rest of the country, the panel's chairman N K Singh said on Thursday.

A 15-member team of the commission, headed by Singh, on Thursday received a memorandum from the State Government and held a meeting with the Council of Ministers headed by Chief Minister Biplab Kumar Deb.

"We endorse the view recorded in the document of the North East Region Vision 2020 that the region needs ample funds to catch up with the rest of the country. We will consider the view while recommending funds," Singh said.

He said that the commission shares the vision of Chief Minister and Governor of Tripura to make it a model State.

The FC team had arrived yesterday and held deliberations with different stakeholders.

"The new leadership of Tripura is committed to make it a fair contributor in development of the nation. Tripuras growth trajectory is sound, he said. A statement from the state Government said that it has made a strong pitch for increased devolution to set up better infrastructure, especially in health, IT, power, education, tourism, disaster mitigation and other sectors.

The Government has laid importance on four points including access to Chittagong port in neighbouring Bangladesh to make Tripura a maritime hub for NE India, improve road connectivity to boost tourism, capitalize on Tripuras comparative factor advantages in skilled manpower and agro-related industries and granting a host of specific projects aimed to fulfil aspirations of the states tribal communities.

However, when asked about plans of revising the tax base for erstwhile special category states in NE India, Singh said that he feels all northeastern states will have to become more reliant on their own resources in future.

Singh said that the state government during the last ten months has taken very important initiatives for development and laid importance in several important areas concerning the economy of Tripura.

"Finance Commission fully shares the vision of the Government and Chief Minister to make Tripura a model State at the end of the Government's tenure. I think they have an HRD plan to improve the overall HRD sector in the State. The Chief Minister also said the health sector in Tripura has a huge opportunity not only in health services here but to set up health institutes where a lot of people from Bangladesh can receive benefits," he said. PTI

Singh said he finds it important to improve land and air connectivity which is necessary to give further boost to tourism.

Singh also said the commission had a very detailed discussion yesterday with three tier panchayats and district parishes.

Singh said the commission received a memorandum from Tripura Tribal Areas Autonomous District Council (TTAADC), who explained their plans and informed about different projects.

The TTAADC constitutes two thirds of the State's territory and is home to the tribals, who constitute a third of the States population.

Singh said the commission would submit a report to the Government at the end of this year. PTI

TIT-FOR-TAT ACTION

5 Pak troops killed along LoC: Report

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

A top commander of the Indian Army, heading strategic Northern Command headquarters in Udhampur, Lt-Gen Ranbir Singh on Thursday confirmed that Pakistani army has suffered heavy damages in the recent retaliatory strikes along the Line of Control in Rajouri and Poonch sectors.

Unofficial reports had earlier claimed that at least five Pakistan army personnel were killed and three others seriously injured when the Indian troops launched major retaliatory action to silence the roaring Pak guns on the LoC, which had been targeting forward posts of Army and civilian areas in twin border districts of Poonch and Rajouri.

The Line of Control witnessed strong retaliation close on the heels of a statement made by the Army chief Gen Bipin Rawat that the Army won't hesitate from taking strong action against inimical designs of Pakistan on the LoC.

On Thursday when media persons posed a straight query to Lt-Gen Ranbir Singh, GOC-In-C Northern Command, to confirm media reports related to elimination of five Pakistani soldiers by Indian forces in retaliation in the last few days, Lt-Gen Singh said, "in the last few days, as you mentioned in your question, 5 Pakistanis were killed, it shows that Indian Army is always ready to give them a befitting reply. "We are one step ahead of Pakistan and are giving befitting reply to them", he added.

Lt-Gen Singh was talking to media after inaugurating a bridge at Kalai in Poonch district. In response to another question he said, "2018 has been a great year for the security forces, more than 250 terrorists were killed, 54 were caught alive, and 4 surrendered to the forces".

Meanwhile, on Thursday,

Pakistani army again resorted to heavy firing in Jhangar, Laam, Pukhemi and Peer Bhadrashwar areas of Rajouri district, prompting the Indian Army to retaliate in equal measure.

On Tuesday, Pakistan killed BSF's assistant commandant in sniper firing on the international border in Hiranagar sector of Kathua district on Tuesday.

Last Friday, a Major rank army officer, soldier and a porter were martyred in Nowshera and Sunderbani sectors of Rajouri district.

Indian Army, meanwhile, continued to maintain high alert all along the LoC in view of reports that Pakistani troops could try to push infiltrators into the Indian side.

HAL-built LCH completes weapon trials

KESTUR VASUKI ■ BENGALURU

Amidst controversy, the Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL), a Defence Public Sector Undertaking has achieved a milestone on its desi built Light Combat Helicopter. The LCH carried out air to air missile firing on a moving aerial target. According to a press release issued by HAL in Bengaluru on Thursday the tests conducted in integrated test range at Chandipur, Odisha recently.

target, destroying it completely," the release added.

The Light Combat Helicopter (LCH) is indigenously designed and developed by HAL and proved its capabilities to the requirements of the defence forces.

R Madhavan, CMD-HAL said "this is the first time in the country that a helicopter has carried out air to air missile engagement. None of the helicopters with the military services in the country has demonstrated such a capability. With this, LCH has successfully completed all weapon integration tests and is ready for operational induction".

Other weapons on LCH include a 20mm Turret gun and 70 mm Rockets, the firing trials of which have already been completed last year.

The release said "LCH is the only attack helicopter in the world capable of operating at altitudes as high as Siachen glacier. Designed and developed by Rotary Wing Research & Design Centre (RWRDC) of HAL in response to the operational needs of Indian Armed Forces and its capabilities far exceed that of contemporary attack helicopters of its class".

Equipped with Helmet mounted sight and a forward looking infrared sighting system, LCH pilots can now detect and destroy any target on ground or in the air. Using these sights, pilots can now launch a missile onto any target without having to turn the helicopter. The fire and forget missile is effective against all types of aerial threat, including UAVs and micro light aircraft. Capable of operating from dispersed locations and flying at ultra-low levels, LCH can now effectively provide a protective umbrella from all aerial threats.

The DAC has accorded approval for procurement of initial batch of 15 LCHs (10 for IAF and 5 for Army).

20 lakh B'deshi Hindus to become Indians if Citizenship Bill is passed: KMSS

Guwahati: Krishak Mukti Sangram Samiti (KMSS), which is spearheading the protests against the Citizenship (Amendment) Bill, on Thursday claimed that around 20 lakh Hindu Bangladeshis would become Indians if the controversial Bill is passed.

Addressing a press conference, KMSS Adviser Akhil Gogoi slammed the BJP-led Government for its attempt to get the Bill passed despite widespread protests across the North East.

"The BJP and Himanta Biswa Sarma is saying that only eight lakh Hindu Bangladeshis, who are already staying here, will get citizenship. But our assessment is that 20 lakh people are present in Assam at this moment and they will get citizenship as soon as the Bill is passed," he added.

Elaborating on his claim, the prominent RTI activist said that a report of former Assam Governor Lt Gen S K Sinha had mentioned that over one crore people have entered India.

"When I met former Assam Assembly Deputy Speaker Dilip Kumar Paul, who is from BJP, he said around 15-20 lakh Hindu Bangladeshis are in Assam. Himanta Biswa Sarma himself had said that out of the 40 lakh excluded from the complete draft of NRC (National Register of Citizens), 22 lakh were Hindus.

"Saugata Roy had said in Parliament that 28 lakh Hindu Bangladeshis are excluded from NRC. So, these different figures by various sources clearly say that around 20 lakh Hindus from Bangladesh are living in Assam, not eight lakh as claimed by BJP," Gogoi said.

He further claimed that as per Bangladesh Bureau of Statistics, there are around 1.7 crore Hindus, which is 10.7 per cent of that country's total population.

"If the Bill is passed, this will pave the ways for these 1.7 crore people in Bangladesh to come to Assam and get Indian nationality as there is no cut-off date in the Bill.

So, there is a possibility that a total of 1.9 crore people are likely to get Indian citizenship in coming years," Gogoi said.

He claimed that if that happens, the entire demography of Assam will change irreparably.

Gogoi accused the BJP-led government for garnering votes in the forthcoming Lok Sabha polls by bringing in three sensitive issues one after another. PTI

Goa Congress dubs State's tourism policy as 'disastrous'

Panaji: The Congress party on Thursday said Goa's Draft Tourism Policy 2018, which has been put in the public domain for suggestions, was "disastrous" for the State and its residents.

The Opposition party said the socio-economic and socio-cultural impact of the policy has not been studied, and encourages privatisation of assets of the state-run Goa Tourism Development Corporation (GTDC).

Tourism Minister Manohar Ajaonkar on Wednesday chaired a meeting of MLAs to discuss the Draft Tourism Policy 2018. Talking to reporters in Margao on Thursday, Congress MLA and party spokesperson Alexio Reginaldo Lourenco said he has written a letter to Ajaonkar in which he has objected to certain provisions in the policy.

"The policy is disastrous for Goa and Goans...The report (policy) is silent on the exact income or revenue generated by the tourism industry in Goa and how much of it percolates to local Goans," Lourenco said.

"The socio-economic and socio-cultural impact of the master plan or policy has not been assessed. How much and what kind of employment will accrue to Goans and the extent of in-migration to fill up the rest has not been studied at all," he added. PTI

Bru refugees seek LS polling stations in Tripura relief camps

Aizawl: An umbrella organisation of the thousands of Bru refugees living in Tripura has appealed to Chief Election Commissioner Sunil Arora to set up polling stations for the Lok Sabha election in their relief camps.

Many of the refugees could not vote during the election to the Mizoram Assembly held on November 28 last as polling stations for them were erected 70 kilometres away near the state border, the organisation said in a letter to Arora.

Around 35,000 Bru refugees living in six relief camps at Kanchanpur sub-division of North Tripura district are originally from Mizoram.

Elderly and ailing people, pregnant women and even many able-bodied persons could not vote as they had to travel 70 km by vehicles to reach Kanhmun village to vote, leading to low poll percentage at those temporary polling stations, MBDPF president A Sawibunga, vice-president R Laldawngliana and general secretary Bruno Msha said in the letter. The State election department had set up 15 temporary polling stations at Mizoram-Tripura border village of Kanhmun to facilitate over 12,000 Bru voters lodged in the relief camps to cast their votes.

The letter submitted to Arora in Delhi on Tuesday also claimed that the Bru voters were provided lunch at the polling stations only after casting their votes, leaving many of them extremely hungry while standing in the queue to exercise their franchise.

The MBDPF also claimed that no revision of voters' lists have been conducted in the relief camps.

They appealed to Arora to give directions to the state election department to expedite conduct of electoral roll revision in the relief camps.

The Mizoram election department had conducted revision of voters lists of Bru refugees in their camps before the repatriation last year, despite opposition from the civil societies.

However, enlistment forms duly filled in by inmates of the relief camps were stolen at the election office of Mizoram's Mamit district on August 23, two days before the month-long repatriation of Bru families from Tripura to Mizoram was to start from August 25.

However, out of 5,000 odd refugee families, only 150 members of 42 families returned to Mizoram during the exercise.

Thousands of Bru refugees from Mizoram fled to Tripura during an ethnic violence in 1997. The clashes broke out after a forest official was killed by Bru National Liberation Front (BNLF) militants.

The Centre, in association with the Governments of Mizoram and Tripura, was repatriating the displaced Bru in phases. PTI

Mizoram bans import of pigs to prevent swine disease

Aizawl: Mizoram Government has banned import of pigs and piglets to prevent outbreak of a disease that has cost the lives of thousands of swines in the State.

The Mizoram Government has instructed deputy commissioners of all the eight districts to issue prohibitory orders banning the import from other countries to stop, Animal Husbandry and veterinary Minister Dr K Beichhua said on Thursday.

The porcine reproductive and respiratory syndrome (PRRS) has cost the lives of over 10,000 swines in Mizoram since 2013 and it is believed that it happened due to import of pigs and piglets from Myanmar where the disease was known to be prevalent, officials said. Beichhua said the ban of import of pigs from other countries was the only way to prevent outbreak of the PRRS in the State. The PRRS is a disease affecting domestic pigs. The symptoms include reproductive failure, pneumonia and increased susceptibility to secondary bacterial infection, the sources said. PTI

Manipur to oppose Citizenship Bill if clause to protect natives not included: Biren Singh

Imphal: Manipur Chief Minister N Biren Singh has said that the BJP-led Government in the State would not support the passage of Citizenship (Amendment) Bill unless there was a provision for protecting the indigenous people of the northeast.

Singh also stressed that his Government would want President's assent to Manipur People's (Protection) Bill, 2018 before passage of the Citizenship (Amendment) Bill, 2016.

The Manipur People's (Protection) Bill, passed unanimously by the Assembly last July, aims to grant the status of "natives" to Meiteis, Pangal Muslims, scheduled tribes and others who moved to the state before 1951.

The rest, categorised as "non-Manipuris", will have to register themselves within one month of the notification of the law.

"Unless there is a provision for protecting the indigenous people of Manipur as well as the other northeast states, the state government would not support the Citizenship (Amendment) Bill," the chief minister said after inaugurating several development projects in Chandul district on Wednesday.

He had earlier sent a memorandum to Union Home Minister Rajnath Singh, seeking President's nod for Manipur Peoples' (Protection) Bill.

"The stand of the Manipur government is very clear. Before the Citizenship (Amendment) Bill is passed by the Rajya Sabha, the President should give his assent to the Manipur People's Bill," he asserted.

The Citizenship (Amendment) Bill, which was passed in the Lok Sabha last week, provides for according Indian citizenship to Hindus, Jains, Christians, Sikhs, Buddhists and Parsis from Bangladesh, Pakistan and Afghanistan after six years of residence in India instead of 12 years, which is the norm currently, even if they do not possess any document. PTI

PAPER WITH PASSION

Cyber problems

Lax data protection norms and callous understanding of security are making India a prime target for cyber criminals

Data has been declared as the new oil. Much like the early days of oil exploration by companies, there is a rush to secure the most valuable data as soon as possible and extract, or rather mine it, for enrichment. But because data is not a physical asset, protecting it is a lot more complicated than safeguarding oil, gold or anything physical. Data, by its very nature of being amorphous, can reside anywhere and everywhere in the world. One's data on social networks is based in the United States, or possibly Ireland and maybe even Iceland. But it should not matter where one's data resides as long as it is safe. Unfortunately, many Governments and intelligence agencies think otherwise. This is why the Indian Government has been insisting that online companies — from social media networks, email service providers and even e-commerce majors — host their data within India. But the fact is that Indian agencies and companies, with possibly the exception of Indian financial services firms, have been very callous with data. Breaches have led to copious amounts of Aadhaar information being inadvertently released. Besides, several Indian mobile applications have had their data stolen. Phishing attacks, which are not quite data breaches, are extremely common in India, given low levels of digital literacy in a nation that is rapidly going online. The recent Global Risks Report released by the World Economic Forum (WEF) highlighted this fact. Of course, this is not to downplay other major risks that India faces, such as the tremendous fear of population displacement due to global warming, but data breaches in our country are extremely disturbing.

In the aftermath of the right to privacy that the Supreme Court upheld, the Government should have urgently come up with a set of laws to enshrine that right. Instead, it is moving after a more draconian set of laws that will intercept and store information, potentially violating the apex court's ruling. Sure, there is an urgent need to control the spread of malafide information on social media, and there might be the need for the Government to control and register applications available on mobile phones. But it also needs to establish a set of laws that protects user data. While companies should be allowed to make money from user data, these laws should outline what is kosher and what is not. Unfortunately, it appears that there has been no urgency to introduce them unlike the triple talaq Bill simply because, as mentioned above, low levels of digital literacy have meant that most Indians shrug off data breaches. This needs to change and advocates for data privacy should work towards greater digital literacy programmes across the country instead of being talking heads. Because only when millions of Indians demand that their personal information be protected, will it be secured. Instead, India remains the Wild West when it comes to the internet. And until that changes, stories of data breaches and personal information being compromised will remain far too common.

Let justice prevail

The swift elevation of two Supreme Court judges is raising more questions about probity

If last year's press conference by four senior-most judges of the Supreme Court, including current CJI Ranjan Gogoi, had compromised the pristine institutional worth of the judiciary over its capacity to be transparent and neutral, the latest elevation of two Supreme Court judges has further aggravated that issue. For while that dealt with the system of allocation of case files, which some senior judges felt were not as part of due processes and seemed opaque and motivated, this calls into question the wisdom and functioning of the collegium. Many questions remain with regard to the out-of-turn elevations of Justice Dinesh Maheshwari, Chief Justice of Karnataka High Court, and Justice Sanjiv Khanna of Delhi High Court to two of the five vacancies in the Supreme Court. Technically, there is nothing wrong with supersession based on weightage to merit and excellence of capabilities, something which has been honoured before and has had precedents. But when the supersession concerns 32 judges, then questions are raised. Like why the collegium, headed by none other than Gogoi, overturned decisions taken by it in December about elevating two other competent names and the government rushed to appoint the new nominees? And why five names were not cleared together instead of a staggered format? Agreed, internecine matters pertaining to the highest court of the land must be kept within a certain framework of civility, decorum and not laid open to public speculation but considering the rumblings are now galloping with a frequency and the judiciary is in the end the most public of institutions, a fair amount of procedural transparency is but expected. Naturally, everybody would want to know why 32 judges, who have been considered good enough for their courts, were overlooked en bloc and had there been a fair bit of reasoning, nobody would be attributing ulterior motives to the process of appointment. Also, it would not have demoralised Chief Justices and judges of High Courts, who have worked hard to ascend tiers of seniority, to suddenly find that criterion being set aside arbitrarily instead of being aligned with merit as it is with all other public services. Such ambiguity leads to theories of pressure from the executive or charges of favouritism and encourages more speculation about the impartiality of a verdict.

Although the Congress may be joining the demand for transparency now, fact was judicial appointments were known to be politically expedient through the 70s, the establishment patronage mattering more than individual capability. That process has come a long way since with ex-chief Justice Dipak Misra making it mandatory for the collegium members to list their reasons for choosing candidates in the public domain, thereby streamlining the selection process. Perhaps it is the objective questionnaire of ticking off and crossing boxes on a judge's reputation, integrity and appreciation that makes this exercise a numerical rather than a comparative assessment of strengths. Though the Supreme Court rejected the National Judicial Appointment Commission, arguing how widening the purview of selections by including politicians and civil society notables violated the constitutional requirement of separating the judiciary and maintaining its independence, the collegium, as it appears today, is clearly at risk of being seen as an oligarchical rather than a fair entity. The Supreme Court, by virtue of being at the peak of the judicial pyramid, has to appear just and inspire public confidence in its probity, not fuel public doubts.

The Trump possibility

Aesthetically repugnant as he may be, many of the US President's policies, if he walks the talk, represent an opportunity for India to further its national interest

ISHAN JOSHI

Of all the speeches, tweets and off-the-cuff remarks which together constitute President Donald J Trump's articulation of the US' global policy priorities and ideological positions (or lack thereof), there has never been one that defines his presidency more than his address to the United Nations in end-2017.

It was the most unambiguous speech by a world leader to the globe's most ambiguous institution in recent history. In a sense, it was a rather effective exercise in showing the mirror to the UN. He started off by putting the cat firmly among the pigeons by reminding the gathering that President Harry S Truman was instrumental in establishing the UN as an organisation specifically for post-WW II nation-states to help build democratic institutions in their respective countries that would strengthen member-states' sovereignty and help them serve their citizens better.

It was a timely intervention. After all, someone needed to juxtapose what was intended with what the UN has become — a sinecure for the elite of various nations which passes ineffective and often unimplementable resolutions, an illiberal club which has ended up bestowing legal rights to groups at the cost of the individual and an organisation that happily tolerates grotesque aberrations of a Libya or Sudan finding a place on its human rights council, for example.

Trump also laid out his doctrine for America's place in the world which, over the past year and a bit since his speech, seems to have been broadly accepted by the American establishment though his style of doing things is, perfectly understandably, unacceptable to many, including the simpatico. But let us not confuse style with substance. This doctrine emphatically underlines the supremacy of the nation-state in global interaction and/or cooperation while championing sovereignty, security and prosperity for them individually.

Crucially, he was careful to emphasise the demonstration effect of robust, liberal, democracies even as he iterated that Washington was not in favour of imposing a way of life on others and was accepting of diversity in governance models across the globe which may not albeit be ideal. Where he was explicit was in calling out Iran/Yemen, as corrupt, despotic (Islamist) dictatorships and Cuba/Venezuela as corrupt, totalitarian (Socialist) dictatorships. He did, of course, take a swipe at Russia and China, without naming them, for their expansionist moves in the Ukraine and the South China Sea respectively as well. But there was a qualitative difference in the latter criticism, rooted as it was more in fighting both countries as global power competitors as opposed to the "bogus internationalism" of the so-called Islamist/Socialist countries which are ideologically committed to undermining the global order premised on nation-states or blocs thereof as the primary unit of interaction. (North Korea and Syria, also attacked by Trump, represent proxy threats for the US and are a discussion for elsewhere.)

His definition of such rogue nations as the "wicked few" and his exhortation to "decent nations not to become bystanders" were just sound and fury signifying American strategic interests, so they need not detain us here. But his frontal attack on bogus internationalism and exhortation to all UN member nation-states to put their country first just as he was putting America first provides India the opportunity it needs to recalibrate its own place in the world at a time of geo-strategic flux.

In calling for a renewal of the founding principle of the UN, which is its member-states' sovereignty, focussing on outcomes not ideology and adhering to what may be termed principled realism, the US, if it continues down this path, has opened up space for India to attempt and secure its strategic interests in a substantial manner. To be facile, all we need is to replace Iran with Pakistan in the countries listed by Trump at the UN and we are good to go! The reality, of course, is more complicated than that; for example, Saudi Arabia should in an ideal world make it to any list of despotic Islamic regimes but it is neither in the US' nor India's interest to proffer such a suggestion. The situation, however, is not so complicated as to not provide New Delhi enough leverage to make space for itself at the high table, provided we keep our domestic internal security situation under control, economic growth robust and democratic institutions ticking over despite the odd setback or two. Especially, given Washington's targeting as articulated by Trump in his UN speech of those nations which support and promote the aims of "Al Qaeda, Hezbollah, Taliban and others", the last-mentioned presumably keeping the door open for inclusion of terrorist tanzeems operating in the Indian State of Jammu and Kashmir in this list.

Of course, in isolating pseudo-socialist totalitarian regimes and repressive Islamic theocracies — though that does not mean one doesn't deal with them in one's national interest even if with a pinched nose — Trump is focussed on US interests; the trick for New Delhi to pull off is to see how far our interests align with Washington's given this once-in-a-generation opportunity. It is not only about meta-narratives but also the smaller issues on which there is an emerging convergence of views.

For example, Trump was emphatic in telling the UN that pressure by its refugee organisation on the US to allow refugees stateside was in effect dictatorial, chipped away at sovereignty and untenable. At the cost of resettling one refugee in the US, we can help 10 make a better life in their own countries, he said. New Delhi, grappling with similar pressure despite not having the economic wherewithal of the US in regard to, say, accommodating Rohingya refugees, should obviously take note. It is the citizens of low-income neighbouring countries who bear the cost both of refugees fleeing conflict and oppression or plain economic migrants.

US emphasis on result/outcome-orientated global actions, however, does require a fundamental reform of the United Nations itself. That is where the real opportunity for India lies if it can find common ground with the US. For example, given his transactional approach, President Trump has been quick to articulate the long-standing grouse of the American conservative establishment that the US' contribution to the UN budget is 22 per cent of the total despite the US being just one of the UN's 193 member-states. But he was quick to add even while encouraging other members to contribute more that the investment was worth it if peace and global order could be delivered. The disproportionate military/financial contribution of the US in terms of the influence it has on the world body is a sentiment India is in a good position to exploit if it is adroit in the steps it needs to take to secure its strategic objectives.

The US President's paeon to the nation-state and advocacy of independent, strong, prosperous countries guiding the UN as the best way to secure peace in our time as opposed to letting far-off, faceless bureaucracies such as the UN have the deciding say is in consonance with the approach of the Indian deep state. It's better to have people taking ownership of their future rather than be led by a paternalistic global elite that in the name of seeking mutual bliss-points ignores the oppressive nature of the regimes that push this line.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Choose wisely

Sir — This refers to the editorial, "Karnataka drama" (January 16). The turmoil that has brewed in Karnataka makes it amply clear that our leaders, irrespective of the party they belong to, are hungry for power and money. Given the ugly scenes in Karnataka as also in other States, it is now understood that split election verdicts only fan more political games played by political parties. It's high time voters cast their mandate decisively and get themselves a stable and good Government they all deserve.

Criticise with logic

Sir — This refers to Congress leader Mallikarjun Kharge's demand to make public the findings of the Central Vigilance Commission (CVC) that led to the sacking of Alok Verma. Kharge's demand isn't surprising given that the Congress, being the main Opposition party, never ever generated any constructive idea or extended friendly cooperation to the Government during its term. On the contrary, it frequently indulged in Modi baiting and hating without caring about the nation's interest. Alok Verma, formerly the director of the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI), was sacked on a majority decision taken by the high-level selection committee. No comment in this regard deems appropriate, both morally and logically. Did Kharge not protest against the selection of Verma as the CBI director? Undoubtedly, fair, sound and logical criticism is an imperative for democratic politics but arrogant demeanour, errant behaviour and vicious rant are considered as vile practices that demean the democratic spirit. Treading the right path on Citizenship Bill

This refers to the article, "Historical injustice" (January 15) by A Surya Prakash. The writer has rendered a great public service by highlighting an important issue of minority communities, namely, Hindus, Sikhs, Jains, Zoroastrians, Buddhists and Christians of Pakistan and Bangladesh, who had to leave their motherland in the face of persecution. They had no other option but to take shelter in India, mostly in Jammu, after Partition and later after the birth of Bangladesh in 1971. Ever since independence, Indian Governments, beginning with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, under the plea of the policy of secularism, refused to grant citizenship to these unfortunate migrants, who were forced to flee their places of birth because of their radical Islam-centric policies. These refugees somehow managed to survive, thanks to local people's generosity.

Thanks to the broad-mindedness of Prime Minister

Narendra Modi and his Government refugees are now being granted their citizenship rights. There was no way these non-Muslim minorities could have gone back to their original homes and survived. To look at this human problem from the prism of secularism would be tragic and lunatic.

Political upheaval

Sir — This refers to the editorial, "What next for Britain" (January 17). Britain Prime Minister Theresa May's withdrawal plan from the European Union suffered a historic defeat in the House of Commons and was overwhelmingly rejected by a margin of 230 votes. Post this debacle, May should have ideally resigned, like former Prime Minister David Cameron did, but that was not to be. In fact, she has survived the no-confidence motion as well.

May's victory has, however, given her temporary respite. She will have to come up with an alternative Brexit plan in no time. By agreeing to leave the EU, Britain had inflicted upon itself self-harm. With such a massive divide among people across the society, no one knows what lies ahead and what should be done. Some support no deal at all, others want no Brexit at all. The best option, however, is to get back to the EU and seek better terms. But then, where is the time? March 29 will be the deciding day.

There are around 1.3 million people living in 27 European countries, while 3.8 million EU citizens are residing in the United Kingdom. The interest of both sides needs to be taken into account. Indeed, Britain is going through one of its worst political crises.

Hidden yet impending risk

Greater corporate leverage means firms are less able to withstand negative shocks to income or asset values, say MEGHA JAIN and AISHWARYA NAGPAL

One of the underlying problems faced by firms is to finance assets. As per key principles of financial management, a proper mix of debt and equity capital is the foremost financing decision towards an assertive governance framework. Interestingly, despite seminal concerns against value creation through debt financing, debt has been an integral part of a typical corporate leverage. Leverage refers to lever action. In the capital structure, debt is a bar to move greater Returns on Equity. Corporate debt of non-financial firms across major economies rose from around four trillion dollar in 2004 to over $18 trillion in 2014, thereby indicating rapid acceleration of debt growth. Average emerging market corporate debt-to-GDP ratio, too, widened by 26 per cent in the same period but with marked heterogeneity. As per the IMF (2014), the debt-to-equity ratio of India's corporate sector stood at 83 per cent, the highest among emerging market peers. Although rising emerging market corporate leverage can bestow significant benefits, such as expediting productive investment and economic growth, reflecting a healthy financial system, but ultimately, it raises concerns related to sensitivity to imminent shocks and crisis situation.

High debt levels, relative to equity in corporate balance sheets, create leverage, which can accentuate losses to owners and generate elevated debt service requirements. This can in turn lead to exacerbated cash flow stress, deteriorating credit worthiness and debt rollover risks. Moreover, if credit risk is under-priced, spikes in default rates may permeate through the financial system as investors and creditors, including the banking system, will incur losses. One of the important alterations in the corporate leverage structure in emerging markets like India is its ever-changing composition.

Though loans still constitute the largest component of the corporate debt, the proportion of bonds has been rapidly increasing — from nine per cent of overall debt in 2004 to 17 per cent of overall debt in 2014 — with a majority of the increase materialising after the global financial crisis of 2008. However, the acceleration of corporate issuance since the crisis is largely explained by global push factors. The growth and changing composition of corporate leverage can mainly be attributed to an unprecedented monetary expansion in advanced economies and a shift in the global financial landscape. A preponderant factor has been the accommodative global monetary policy that has jolted emerging markets.

Through these channels, expansionary global monetary conditions can facilitate greater corporate leverage through relaxation of emerging market borrowing constraints, owing to widespread availability of lower-cost funding and appreciated collateral values. To cite an example, as monetary policy becomes expansionary in developed countries, Central banks will have to respond in part by keeping their rates lower in order to alleviate pressures on their currencies. Thus, the key risk associated with mounting emerging market corporate leverage is reversal of post-crisis accommodative global financial conditions. Firms, that are most leveraged, stand to endure the sharpest rise in their debt-service costs, once monetary policy rates in advanced economies rise. Furthermore, interest rate risk can be aggravated by rollover and currency risks. Although bond finance tends to have longer maturities than bank finance, it exposes firms to more volatile financial market conditions. In addition, local currency depreciation associated with rising policy rates in advanced economies would make it increasingly difficult for emerging market firms to service their foreign currency-denominated debts if they are not hedged adequately.

In the backdrop of recent occurrences, the contraction of global bank lending (mainly via deleveraging in certain banking systems) has been replaced by expansion of capital market lending via bond issuance. These shifts from bank lending to capital markets, and the shift of foreign exchange risk from bank balance sheets to corporate balance sheets, are aggravated by the recent phase of exceptional low interest rates and quantitative ease in developed economies. In non-financial sectors, leverage can symbolise a source of systemic financial instability as it can amplify changes in fundamentals and make households, Governments and non-financial businesses more responsive to shocks.

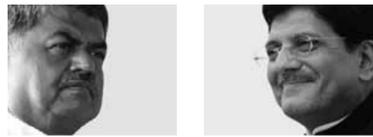

Mounting debt burden in developing economies is certainly endangering prospects for global growth. Finally, corporate distress could readily be transmitted to the financial sector and contribute to adverse feedback loops. Greater corporate leverage can render firms less able to withstand negative shocks to income or asset values. This vulnerability has implications on the financial system partly because corporate debt constitutes a significant share of emerging market banks' assets. Shocks to the corporate sector could quickly spill over to the financial sector and generate a vicious cycle as banks curtail lending. From a policy-making outlook, it only reflects the value of the Government stepping up to the plate on public investment.

Unsung human rights for women

It is imperative that access to quality family planning information and services is easy and women are given the power of choice and decision-making

SWAPNA MAJUMDAR

When 17-year-old Suguna Devi, a resident of Khagaria district of Bihar, had her first child within a year of her marriage, celebrations were short-lived. Born prematurely and underweight, the infant died a couple of days later. Within a month of this tragedy, Suguna became pregnant again. Fortunately, this time, her daughter survived. But giving birth in quick succession had made Suguna weak. After three months of struggle to take proper care of her baby, Suguna realised that she was going to be a mother again.

According to the National Family Health Survey (NFHS-4) statistics, 13 per cent of currently married women are not using contraception. Yet, they either want to stop having children or want to wait for two or more years before having their next child. Access to contraception can help the woman take this decision. She can decide how many children she wants and will not be compelled by circumstances. Providing contraceptive information, services and supplies so as to allow women and girls take their own decision was what India had promised seven years ago at the 2012 London Summit on Family Planning (FP2020). India had pledged to expand access to contraceptive choices to its 45 million women, who do not use any modern contraception method, by 2020.

But as statistics show, this goal is unlikely to be reached. The 2015-16 NFHS data showed that huge gaps still exist. Of the 45 million women, 31 million are not using any contraception. Further, the report found 14 million women used unreliable traditional methods, which enhanced the risk of pregnancy by three times when compared to using modern methods (birth control pills, condoms, sterilisation and intrauterine devices).

What is surprising is that despite a decline in India's total fertility rate (the average number of children that would be born per woman in her life) — from 2.7 children per woman in 2005-06 to 2.2 in 2015-16 — there was also a drop in contraceptive use (any method) — from 56.3 per cent in 2005-06 to 53.5 per cent in 2015-16 (NFHS-4). There has also been a decline in the use of modern methods of contraception — from 48.5 per cent in 2005-06 to 47.8 per cent in 2015-16 — even though more contraception methods are now available for free under India's family planning programme.

But Khagaria's high Total Fertility Rate (TFR) of four is a clear indication that contraceptive services still elude women. Moreover, this high TFR has not only remained unchanged over the last decade but surpasses both State and national TFR, which stands at 3.3 and 2.2 respectively. Therefore, not much has changed in terms of usage of contraceptive services over the last 10 years. Incidentally, Bihar retains its position as the State with the highest TFR in India of 3.3 children per woman, according to UN Fund for Population Activities' report titled, 'The State of World Population 2018'.

One of the reasons for this is that nearly 41 per cent of the population in Bihar has an unmet demand for modern contraceptive methods. This is the highest in our country. Coupled with unmet need in the State is the fact that teenage birth rate stands at 12.2 per cent. This is the third highest among 20 States in the country after West Bengal (18.3 per cent) and Assam (13.6 per cent). While adolescent pregnancy raises the risk of mother and child death, what further increases the risk for these teenage births is their low Body Mass Index (BMI). Approximately, 45.2 per cent of the girls, aged 15-18 years in the State, have a BMI less than 18 kg/m, indicating that they are underweight. Further, 60.3 per cent of the women aged between 15 and 49 years suffer from anaemia. This means that the chances of post-partum haemorrhage, especially for these 3.5 lakh teenage births in Bihar, are higher and expose the women and girls to maternal mortality and morbidity. The survival of children, who are underweight, and that of anaemic mothers is also bleak. Bihar's infant mortality rate (IMR) is 38 per 1,000 live births compared to 34 for the rest of the country.

High-risk births occur because girls and women are unable to understand the risks of early pregnancy. Nor are they empowered to delay or space their pregnancies. Bihar has the lowest spacing time duration (44.4 per cent) with approximately 15 lakh high-risk pregnancies, compared to the national average of 51.9 per cent. Less than three years between pregnancies enhances the risk of maternal and child mortality. This is also a big reason for high Maternal Mortality Rate (MMR) in Bihar, which stands at 208 per 100,000 live births, as per Sample Registration System survey 2015. This is way above the national MMR of 130.

Every woman should be able to decide whether, when and how many children she wants to have. But several factors prevent her from doing so. Early marriage is one of the major reasons why girls are unable to exercise agency. Bihar not only has the highest number of child marriages in India (39.1 per cent) — the national incidence of child marriage among girls aged between 10 and 18 years is 4.5 per cent, according to NFHS-4 — the State also has the maximum number of districts (20 out of 38) in the country that remains plagued by child marriage.

So, in Khagaria district, which has the highest prevalence of child marriage in the State, it is not uncommon to see early marriage that is followed by quick motherhood. The percentage of girls marrying below the legal age of marriage in Khagaria is 34.4 (NFHS-4).

Not only is the high percentage of early marriage in rural Bihar (91.4 per cent) worrying but the fact is also that 78.9 per cent of the marriages in the age group between 15 and 19 occur among the poor households (2018 NCPDR-Young Lives study). Poverty often means that education remains out of reach for these girls. A 2017 Population Council study found that two in three unmarried girls and less than one in seven married girls were currently in school. Families appeared to invest less in girls with 41 per cent of unmarried girls not attending school regularly.

Once they are married, fertility for women like Suguna begins too young. Lack of information, coupled with inability to access reproductive and sexual health services, means too many and frequent pregnancies. But by ensuring that adolescents are aware of the services available to them and educating them about their sexual and reproductive health, the Government can help them plan their pregnancy.

This is where family planning corners located at public health centres in Bihar have a pivotal role to play. By providing information about reproductive and sexual health as well as on contraceptive choices, trained counsellors at these family planning counselling desks can help couples space their children. Since unmet contraceptive needs lead to unwanted fertility, an increased use of temporary methods to stop child-bearing may lower total fertility significantly. Family planning counselling corners can give women the freedom to defer having children by using temporary contraceptive methods. And counselling is a crucial component in decision-making.

If couples are educated and allowed to make an informed choice, based on the advantages and disadvantages of contraceptives available, they will want family planning services. There is a clear relationship between TFR and contraceptive prevalence rate. Data has shown that where there is very low contraceptive prevalence, fertility is very high as is in Bihar. In States like Tamil Nadu and Andhra Pradesh, fertility is lower because contraceptive prevalence is much higher.

By providing an appropriate range of contraceptive services, India can avert 23.9 million births and prevent one million infant deaths and over 42,000 maternal deaths by 2020. It has been proven that as contraceptive use rises, maternal and infant deaths decline. It is estimated that MMR could be reduced by a third through spacing of births. A Lancet study has shown that India would save $18.2 billion in consumption expenditure in 2020 if the FP2020 goal were to be achieved. This would also improve the chances of achieving the Sustainable Development Goal (SDG) 3.7 goal of eliminating unmet needs by 2030. But it is imperative that access to quality family planning information and services is ensured and women are given the power of choice in planning their families.

Essentials for a progressive alliance

Given their recent experiment during the by-elections in Uttar Pradesh, where the SP and BSP registered a combined victory, they are confident that their alliance at the national level will be a success. But both elections are different and the deal needs some fine-tuning to emerge victorious

BISWAJEET BANERJEE

After the demolition of the Babri Masjid in 1992, the then Chief Minister of Uttar Pradesh, Kalyan Singh, resigned because his Government failed to protect the disputed structure despite having given an assurance in the Supreme Court that the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) Government will ensure protection and security of the mosque. This incident led to another bout of State elections in Uttar Pradesh. The BJP was confident that it would return to power, riding high on the Hindutva wave that swept the country then. Kalyan Singh emerged as the Hindu mascot and the 1993 election was contested around him and Ram Mandir. Amid this political cacophony, Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) founder Kanshi Ram and the then Samajwadi Party (SP) supremo Mulayam Singh Yadav joined hands. The BSP and SP contested the 1993 Uttar Pradesh elections as allies. Uttar Pradesh once again became a crucible of political experiments, to see whether 'caste' could get the better of religion, because in local parlance, it is believed that religion is the glue that binds all castes. The result was an eye-opener for all. The alliance decimated the BJP and its count came down from 221 to 108 and Mulayam Singh Yadav became the Chief Minister.

In the last 26 years, much water has flown down the Gomati river and the BSP and SP have once again decided to join hands. This time, the mantle is in the hands of BSP chief Mayawati and SP president Akhilesh Yadav. On January 12, they made the silhouette of this alliance public with both parties deciding to contest 38 seats each and leaving four seats for other parties, which include Amethi and Rae Bareilly for the Congress and two others for the Rashtriya Lok Dal (RLD). Later, developments showed that SP was ready to give another seat to RLD from its quota. So it will contest on 37 seats.

Plain arithmetic shows that the alliance between the SP and BSP can give jitters to the BJP because in 2014, the saffron party and its allies got 43 per cent votes, which translated into 73 seats in Uttar Pradesh. The party won 71 seats on its own — the highest tally in Uttar Pradesh — and its ally, Apna Dal, won two seats. On the other hand, SP got 22 per cent votes and BSP, 20 per cent, while the Congress secured six per cent. SP won five seats — all of them in the so-called Yadav belt, while the Congress was victorious only in Amethi and Rae Bareilly which are the party's pocket boroughs.

Interestingly, all these parties contested elections against each other. Moreover, in 2014, the then Congress-led UPA Government, which was supported by SP and BSP from the outside, was facing massive corruption charges and the mood of the people was against the ruling regime.

In this scenario, the BJP played a shrewd political card by projecting the then Chief Minister of Gujarat, Narendra Modi, as the party's prime ministerial candidate. The BJP sold the Gujarat model as a precursor of development and promised acheche din to the people. Just four to five months before the 2014 elections, signals were clear that the Congress would not return to power and this time, Narendra Modi would head the country. Even in Uttar Pradesh, the BJP gained ground after the Muzaffarnagar pogrom, which divided western Uttar Pradesh along sharp religious lines. Reports of exodus of Hindu families from Kairana and Shamli further added fuel to an already communalised atmosphere.

The situation in 2019, however, is different. The BJP is now facing anti-incumbency. Decisions like demonetisation and the haphazard implementation of the Goods and Service Tax have made the BJP Government unpopular among the masses. The Centre for Monitoring Indian Economy in its recent study said that over 35 lakh people have lost jobs because of demonetisation when high-value currency notes were called in one go in 2016. Issues of lack of employment and alleged corruption in the Rafale deal gave the Opposition parties a hammer to beat the Modi Government. To top it all, the agrarian crisis, including non-payment of cane arrears and stray cattle menace in Uttar Pradesh, has made the BJP unpopular among the masses.

In this scenario, the SP-BSP alliance seems to be a potent combination to take on the BJP. Even as the Congress will not be a part of the alliance, and its leaders have declared that the grand old party will contest the election separately, theoretically, it seems that the SP-BSP alliance will sweep the 2019 Lok Sabha election and will win around 50 seats out of a possible 80 in Uttar Pradesh. Yogendra Yadav, the psephologist, has claimed that if the BJP, BSP and SP are able to retain their vote percentage of 43 per cent, 20 per cent and 22 per cent, respectively (which these parties got in 2014), the BJP will win 41 seats, which is 32 less than its tally of 2014, while the BSP-SP alliance will get 41 seats, up by 36 seats, compared to the last elections.

But then, elections are not a game of psephology. They are based on permutations and combinations that vary every passing day and can impact the result, which can be unexpected sometimes. A sitting lawmaker of the SP said that on the face of it, party workers are happy that the SP entered into an alliance with the BSP but results cannot be depicted merely on the basis of the 2014 election. "In 2014, there was a wave in favour of Modi but in 2019, there is no wave either for or against the BJP. People are angry with the ruling party but that anger needs to be transformed into votes. This is a tedious job and needs to be meticulously worked on," he said.

What has given the Opposition confidence is the results to by-elections in various States. In Uttar Pradesh itself, a united Opposition defeated the BJP in Gorakhpur, Phulpur and Kairana parliamentary elections. Gorakhpur was said to be the BJP's citadel, where Chief Minister Adityanath Yogi had won five times in a row. Deputy Chief Minister Keshav Prasad Maurya, too, won the Phulpur constituency in 2014. Both leaders vacated their seats after they joined the State Cabinet. Kairana in western Uttar Pradesh was represented by BJP stalwart Hukum Singh. In all these seats, SP, BSP and RLD contested unitedly.

But in politics, people say, by-elections cannot predict the outcome of the general elections. This holds true for the 2019 elections too. One thing is clear that in Uttar Pradesh, where caste plays an important role, selection of candidates will be of paramount importance. A leader, who is popular and is working with the people, can turn the situation in favour of the alliance. But if a candidate is given a ticket merely because he is rich but has no roots among the masses, could prove catastrophic for the alliance.

Second, merely announcing alliance will not unite caste base of both parties at the ground level. Both leaders need to chalk out a strategy to bring a thaw between intermediary castes like the Yadavs, Kurmis and Dalits, who otherwise are always at loggerheads at the village level. If the sense of unity does not percolate down, it will be a requiem for the alliance.

Naresh Goyal offers to invest ₹700 crore in Jet Airways

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Jet Airways Chairman Naresh Goyal has offered to invest up to ₹700 crore in the crisis-hit airline as well as pledge all his shares on the condition that his stake does not fall below 25 per cent, according to a letter.

Amid the full-service carrier grappling with financial woes, Goyal has written to SBI Chairman Rajnish Kumar with reference to the resolution plan under discussion and in view of Etihad's position, "despite the significant cash crunch and imminent grounding, which the airline is facing".

The letter also comes against the backdrop of strategic partner Etihad reportedly putting forward strict conditions, including that Goyal should give up control, for infusing funds into the airline.

Goyal said he is committed to an "infusion of funds into the company to the extent of ₹700 crore" and pledging all his shares.

This is subject to the condition that his shareholding post such infusion is at least 25 per cent, he said in the letter.

"Should this not be possible, then I would not be able to infuse any funds or pledge my shares, unless Sebi accords me an exemption permitting me to increase my reduced stake (if it is to be below 25 per cent) without triggering the Takeover Code," Goyal, who currently holds 51 per cent stake in the airline, said.

When shareholding of an entity in a listed company goes beyond a certain threshold, then the open offer requirement is triggered under Sebi's Takeover Code.

State Bank of India (SBI) is the lead lender of a consortium of Indian banks that has provided loans to the airline, and the stakeholders are considering a resolution for Jet Airways that is facing acute financial problems.

On December 31, 2018, the carrier defaulted on a loan repayment to the consortium.

"I am informed that under Indian law, amounts payable by the company to promoter group entities, should be treated at par with the other overdue creditors of the company and the same, upon conversion into equity is considered as cash," Goyal said in the letter.

He has also sought a fair and equitable resolution in the best interests of the airline and all its shareholders.

"I respectfully submit that unless my shareholding goes below 10 per cent and/or my group is not represented on the board, I would continue to be held out as a promoter, and be faced with the attendant exposures/risks of being a promoter," Goyal said in the letter dated January 16.

Hence, it is only fair and equitable that "our shareholding be at least 25 per cent", Goyal said.

Shares of the airline rose over 5 per cent to close at ₹284.80 on the BSE.

"As part of a continuous engagement with SBI, Naresh Goyal has communicated his position on the resolution plan to SBI, which is under consideration," the airline said in a filing to the BSE.

The filing was in response to a clarification sought from Jet Airways on Goyal's proposal to infuse ₹700 crore into the airline subject to certain conditions.

On Thursday, the SBI said lenders are considering a resolution plan for Jet Airways to ensure long-term viability of the debt-laden company.

The airline, on Wednesday, said discussions are "progressing well" with stakeholders on a comprehensive resolution plan that also contemplates equity infusion and consequent changes in its board of directors.

Jet Airways shares zooms over 5%

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Shares of Jet Airways erased early losses and ended over 5 per cent higher on Thursday after Chairman Naresh Goyal offered to invest up to ₹700 crore in the airline on the condition that his stake does not fall below 25 per cent.

The scrip bounced back and ended 5.09 per cent higher at ₹284.80 on the BSE. During the day, the stock had plunged 5.31 per cent to ₹256.60.

At NSE, shares of the company soared 5.28 per cent to close at ₹283.95.

In terms of equity volume, 48.12 lakh shares of the company were traded on BSE and over 6 crore shares changed hands at NSE during the day.

Goyal said he is committed to an "infusion of funds into the company to the extent of ₹700 crore" and pledging all his shares. This is subject to the condition that his shareholding post such infusion is at least 25 per cent, he said in the letter which was seen by PTI.

Jet Airways Chairman Naresh Goyal has told the State Bank of India (SBI) that he is ready to invest up to ₹700 crore in the airline on the condition that his stake does not fall below 25 per cent.

Goyal's offer comes against the backdrop of strategic partner Etihad reportedly putting forward strict conditions, including that Goyal should give up control, for infusing funds into the crisis-hit carrier.

In a letter to SBI Chairman Rajnish Kumar, Goyal said he is writing with reference to the resolution plan under discussion and in view of Etihad's position, "despite the significant cash crunch and imminent grounding, which the airline is facing".

Ghoshn appeals against Japan bail rejection

Appeal came as the French Government called for him to be replaced at the head of Renault

AFP ■ TOKYO

Lawyers for former Nissan boss Carlos Ghosn on Thursday appealed against a decision by a Tokyo court to refuse him bail, as he faces charges on three counts of financial misconduct.

Since his stunning arrest on November 19 the auto tycoon has languished in a Tokyo detention centre, facing questioning over allegations he under-reported his salary and tried to shift personal losses onto the company.

On January 11 he was formally charged on two of the counts and his request for bail refused again. Even his own lawyer has admitted he is likely to be kept behind bars until a trial — which could take six months.

The court has previously refused to release the 64-year-old Franco-Lebanese-Brazilian businessman on the grounds that he could present a flight risk and destroy evidence.

The appeal came as the French Government called for him to be replaced at the head of Renault, the only one of the three companies he used to head that has retained him.

Japanese firms Nissan and Mitsubishi Motors jettisoned him as boss almost immediately after his arrest, but Renault was more cautious and appointed an interim leader while Ghosn fought the charges.

If the bail appeal is turned down he faces at least a two-month period in pre-trial detention. This can be extended almost automatically by one month at a time.

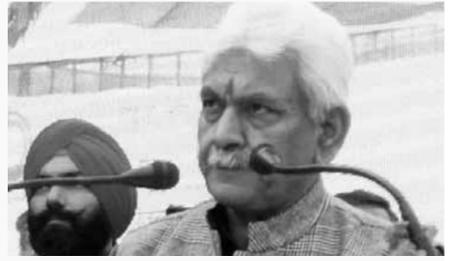

His wife Carole has appealed to Human Rights Watch over his detention, saying he was being held in "harsh" conditions and subjected to round-the-clock interrogations in an attempt to extract a confession.

Ghosn has been seen only once in public since his detention, in a dramatic court appearance.

He had clearly lost a lot of weight but seemed otherwise in good health. He passionately proclaimed his innocence and his love for Nissan, a company he is widely credited with saving from the brink of bankruptcy.

"I have been wrongly accused and unfairly detained based on meritless and unsubstantiated accusations," Ghosn told a packed courtroom.

BHEL to set up EV chargers along Delhi-Chandigarh Highway

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Bharat Heavy Electricals Limited (BHEL) will set up a network of Solar-based Electric Vehicle Chargers (SEVC) on the Delhi-Chandigarh Highway. The project is covered under the FAME scheme (Faster Adoption and Manufacturing of (Hybrid &) Electric Vehicles in India) of the Department of Heavy Industry (DHI), Government of India.

The establishment of EV chargers at regular intervals over the entire 250 kms stretch between Delhi and Chandigarh would allay range-anxiety among the Electric Vehicle users and bolster their confidence for inter-city travel.

BHEL's scope of work in the project includes design, engineering, manufacturing, supply and installation of the EV charging stations along with a Central Monitoring System. Each SEVC charging station will be equipped with a rooftop solar power plant to supply green energy to fast and slow chargers planned to be installed at the location.

Netherlands to sign 10 MoUs at Vibrant Gujarat Summit

PTI ■ AHMEDABAD

The Netherlands said on Thursday it is signing 10 MoUs at the Vibrant Gujarat Global Summit starting on Friday with focus on sectors like smart city and waste management, health-care and agricultural cooperation.

The European country is being represented by a delegation, which has more than 100 members, at the three-day business conclave being held at Gandhinagar.

The delegation, led by Netherlands' Minister of Finance for Taxation and Customs, Menno Snel, consists of representatives from 45 companies, three trade associations and government agencies.

"We met Chief Minister (Vijay) Rupani... We have 45 companies, out of which 10 are signing MoUs. Our delegations have been growing. Lots of MoUs are on strategic cooperation," Snel told reporters here Thursday.

Out of 10 MoUs, five were signed Thursday and the rest will be inked during the summit, he said.

The MoUs deal with mobility management, waste-to-energy conversion, delivery system in diagnostics, saline farming, and protected cultivation of horticultural crops.

A Dutch company, Pal-V, which makes flying cars, is also participating in the summit. Pal-V plans to deliver its first vehicles, which will have seating capacity for two persons, to customers in Europe by 2019 or early 2020.

₹ logs 1st gain in five sessions, rises 21 paise against dollar

PTI ■ MUMBAI

The Indian rupee reversed its four-day losing streak by recovering 21 paise to close at 71.03 against the US dollar on Thursday on increased selling of the greenback by exporters and lower crude oil prices.

Besides, liquidity infusion by central banks through open market operations and unveiling a RBI new policy for overseas borrowings, allowing all eligible entities to raise foreign funding under the automatic route and removing sectoral curbs, supported the rupee.

At the Interbank Foreign Exchange, the rupee opened stronger at 71.15 a dollar against the previous close of 70.24. The local unit moved in a range of 70.92 to 71.40, before finally ending at 71.03, showing a gain of 21 paise.

The rupee Wednesday plunged by 19 paise to close at 71.24 against the US dollar.

"Indian rupee has broken the four days losing streak, after liquidity infusion by central banks through open market operation. Central bank eased overseas borrowing rules for companies, which also helped rupee to recover from the lower levels," said V K Sharma, Head PCG and Capital Markets Strategy, HDFC Securities.

Meanwhile, the dollar index, which gauges the greenback's strength against a basket of six currencies, was trading lower by 0.01 per cent at 96.04.

Furthermore, losses in crude oil and gains in domestic equities also supported the trading sentiment in the forex market.

Brent crude, the global benchmark, was trading at $60.56 per barrel, lower by 1.21 per cent.

"The Brent crude rally halted today on the face of strongly rising crude oil production coming out of the US. The news on Brent reflected in the INR movement which rose after depreciating for four straight days. The rupee was among the top five best performing EM currencies today," said Sunil Sharma, Chief Investment Officer, Sanctum Wealth Management.

Adani to foray into petrochemicals

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Billionsaire Gautam Adani-run Adani Group will partner German chemical giant BASF to foray into the petrochemicals sector with a ₹16,000 crore factory at Mundra in Gujarat.

Besides investing in the chemical factory, BASF will also invest in wind and solar power plant at the site to meet the electricity requirement of the unit, the two companies said in a statement.

The BASF will hold a majority controlling stake in the new venture. It will, however, hold a minority interest in the power venture.

The BASF SE and Adani Group signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) on the eve of the Vibrant Gujarat Global Summit 2019 "to evaluate a major joint investment in the acrylics value chain", they said.

"This would be BASF's largest investment in India to date, it said without giving details. A feasibility study will be completed by the end of 2019.

"According to the MoU, BASF and Adani want to establish a joint venture with an investment totalling about Euro 2 billion (about ₹16,000 crore), in which BASF will hold the majority," it said.

"The companies did not give details of the joint venture.

The potential investment comprises the development, construction and operation of production plants, including propane dehydrogenation (PDH), oxo C4 complex (butanols and 2-ethyl hexanol), glacial acrylic acid (GAA), butyl acrylate (BA) and potentially other downstream products.

"The products are predominantly for the Indian market to serve a wide range of local industries, including construction, automotive and coatings, whose growing demand is currently supplied via imports, thus supporting the 'Make in India' initiative," the statement said.

Headquartered in Ahmedabad, Adani Group is one of India's largest integrated infrastructure conglomerates with interests in resources (coal mining and trading), logistics (ports, logistics, shipping and rail), energy (renewable and thermal power generation, transmission and distribution), agro (commodities, edible oil, food products), cold storage and grain silos), real estate, public transport infrastructure, consumer finance and defence sectors.

Gautam Adani, chairman of the GAA Group, said, "India continues to be a very large importer of petrochemicals given the rapid expansion of the middle class, and this leads to a significant outflow of precious foreign exchange. Our partnership with BASF is a big step forward in enabling our country's 'Make in India' program, as this partnership will allow us to produce in Mundra several of the chemicals along the C3 chemical value chain that we are currently importing."

Mundra's infrastructure is ideally suited to enable chemicals production, and Adani Group's ability to deliver renewable power makes this a unique partnership on several fronts, he said. "BASF's intention to invest in a major new site for the acrylics value chain in India clearly demonstrates our strong and long-term commitment to our Indian customers.

"Together with the Adani Group, we would have the opportunity to provide our customers with high-quality chemicals and support them in growing their business. With our production powered by renewable energy, we would be able to minimize our impact on the environment," said Martin Brudermüller, chairman of the Board of Executive Directors, BASF SE.

Flipkart India raises ₹1,431 cr from Singapore-based parent firm

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Flipkart India, the wholesale arm of Walmart-owned e-commerce company Flipkart, has received about ₹1,431 crore from its Singapore-based parent firm, according to documents filed with the Corporate Affairs Ministry.

The parent entity was issued 4.86 lakh shares in Flipkart India at a price of about ₹29,400 per share, the documents showed. Flipkart had invested ₹2,190 crore in Flipkart India in December last year.

The latest fund infusion comes at a time when Flipkart faces challenges on the regulatory front in the form of new policy norms for e-commerce firms with foreign investment.

The new rules — effective from February 1 — bar online marketplaces with foreign investments from selling products of the companies where they hold stakes, and ban exclusive marketing arrangements.

Another provision states that the inventory of a vendor will be seen as controlled by a marketplace, if over 25 per cent of the vendor's purchases are from the marketplace entity, including the latter's wholesale unit.

Both Amazon and Flipkart have approached the government seeking extension on the deadline.

Larsen & Toubro Infotech acquires Ruletronics for $7.48 mn

New Delhi (PTI): Larsen & Toubro Infotech (LTI) on Thursday said it had acquired Ruletronics for an enterprise value of USD 7.48 million (about ₹53 crore). Ruletronics enables businesses to transform and evolve digitally by providing innovative business process management and customer relationship management solutions leveraging 'Pega' Platform. The enterprise value payable for the acquisition of 100 per cent share capital of Ruletronics is USD 7.48 million, including up-front consideration and earn-outs, LTI said in a BSE filing. "The acquisition will strengthen the company's rapidly growing digital business with a suite of capabilities in Pega implementation in establishing BPM roadmap and strategy, customer services, RPA and decisioning," it added.

Ruletronics, whose current industry strength lies across insurance, banking, health care and retail segments, had reported revenue of USD 3.35 million in FY18. The closing of the transaction — paid in cash — is expected to get completed within eight weeks.

Indo-US trade below potential, restrictions should be eased: USIBC chief

PTI ■ AHMEDABAD

A bilateral trade tensions, USIBC President Nisha Biswal said Thursday that the trade between India and the US is much below its potential, and both the sides should ease restrictions and put in an "overarching" framework.

Biswal, a former Assistant Secretary of State for South and Central Asia, is leading a delegation of the US-India Business Council (USIBC) at the Vibrant Gujarat Summit (VGS) which will begin Friday. The US, which was a partner country for two earlier editions of the biennial investor summit, refused to be a partner this year, citing pending bilateral trade disputes.

"The biggest challenge to US-India trade relations is we have not done the hard work of creating an overarching framework for trade," Biswal, who was born and brought up in Dahod in Gujarat, told PTI in an interview.

"We do not have a trade agreement, we do not have an investment treaty, we do not even have a mini agreement," she said, adding that every time the two countries negotiate, it is highly transactional and there is no real incentive to compromise.

India announced retaliatory tariffs on 29 US products six months ago after US President Donald Trump imposed heavy tariffs on imported steel and aluminium items.

However, despite the announcement, India is the only major country which has been postponing the implementation of retaliatory tariffs.

"What, I think, the two governments have sought to do in the last few months is to take a small basket of issues that have been irritants... And tried to resolve those so that it could become a kind of mini-agreement," Biswal said.

"The issues included tariffs on steel and aluminium from Indian side and from the US side it was tariffs on ICT and the policy of price control on medical devices. Both sides wanted more market access for some of their products," she said.

"Unfortunately they have not been able to get a conclusion on that. Our hope was that two governments will sit together and decide this issue," she said.

The two countries should rather create a much more "ambitious framework of trade," she said, adding that "we should be best trading partners".

"While US-India trade continues to grow... It is not where near the potential of what it should be. And that really requires both sides to take significant steps to ease restrictions or access to flow of investments and flow of trade in both directions," she said.

Around 500 US companies have significant business relations with India, against 6,000 to 7,000 US companies doing serious business with China, Biswal pointed out.

Asked if the US decided not to be a partner for the VGS due to trade disputes, she said, "I can't speak for the US government, but I can say that there have been some disappointments that these issues have not been resolved."

US Consul General in Mumbai Edgar Kagan, when asked about his country's refusal to be one of the partner countries, had said the Indian government needed to resolve the outstanding trade issues first.

Biswal, however, asserted that the US government and industry "continue to prioritise India as very important trade and economic partner".

The bilateral trade was USD 20 billion in 1980s, which grew to USD 100 billion in 2014-15, and now the target is to take it to USD 500 billion, she said.

H-1B holders get poor working conditions in US

THINK-TANK

PTI ■ WASHINGTON

H-1B workers are "frequently" placed in poor working conditions and "vulnerable to abuse", a US think-tank claimed Thursday...

In a report, the South Asia Center of the Atlantic Council also sought safeguards like providing fair working conditions, and greater employment rights for those working under the visa programme.

The report comes days after US President Donald Trump said he is soon coming out with reforms that will give H-1B visa holders certainty to stay in America and an easy pathway to citizenship.

"H-1B holders in the United States can rest assured that changes are soon coming which will bring both simplicity and certainty to your stay, including a potential path to citizenship. We want to encourage talented and highly skilled people to pursue career options in the US," Trump had tweet Friday.

The report has been authored by Ron Hira from Howard University and head, South Asia Center of the Atlantic Council, Bharat Gopalaswamy.

The current system not only harms Americans, but it also enables H-1B workers to be exploited, according to the report.

be exploited, according to the report.

"H-1B workers themselves are underpaid, vulnerable to abuse, and frequently placed in poor working conditions. Adopting safeguards to ensure H-1B workers are paid appropriate wages, provided fair working conditions, and given greater employment rights would not only improve their lives, but would also better protect US workers," it said.

The report said adopting adequate safeguards would also ensure the H-1B programme contributes to the US economy by filling genuine shortages in the labour market with foreign workers who possess rare skills and can be rightly characterised as the "best and brightest".

The think-tank suggested three key reforms and said these should apply to all employers and not simply a subset of them.

"The first, and most important, reform is to substantially raise the wages of H-1B workers. If the United States is going to invite in the "best and brightest" workers, they ought to be paid in the top quartile," the report said.

Second, employers should demonstrate they have actively recruited US workers, and offered positions to qualified people, prior to turning to the H-1B programme, it said.

Trump taps 3 Indian-American experts for key admin posts

PTI ■ WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump has nominated three influential Indian-Americans including a woman nuclear expert to powerful administration positions. Rita Baranwal was nominated for the post of Assistant Secretary of Energy (Nuclear Energy), Aditya Bamzai for member of the Privacy and Civil Liberties Oversight Board and Bimal Patel as the assistant secretary of Treasury.

The nomination of Baranwal, Bamzai and Patel was sent to the Senate Wednesday.

So far, Trump has nominated or appointed more than three dozen Indian-Americans in key positions.

Nikki Haley, the first cabinet ranking Indian-American and Raj Shah, the first Indian-American deputy Press Secretary, have left the Trump administration.

Baranwal holds the post of Director, Gateway for Accelerated Innovation in Nuclear (GAIN) initiative.

If confirmed by the Senate, she will be heading the powerful Office of Nuclear Energy. She will also be responsible for the department's nuclear technology research and the development and management of the department's nuclear technology infrastructure. Previously, Baranwal served as director of the Technology Development and Application at Westinghouse and was a manager in Materials Technology at Bechtel Bettis, where she led research and development in nuclear fuel materials for US naval reactors.

May wins confidence vote, calls on MPs to work together to deliver Brexit

PTI ■ LONDON

British Prime Minister Theresa May has called on MPs to "put self-interest aside" and "work constructively together" towards Brexit after surviving a no confidence vote and averting a general election.

The Prime Minister won by 325 votes to 306 - a majority of 19 - on Wednesday, a day after her Government suffered a historic parliamentary defeat over her Brexit divorce deal with the European Union.

Speaking outside 10 Downing Street after the voting, May said the Government has won the confidence of Parliament. This now gives "us all the opportunity to focus on finding a way forward on Brexit", she said.

"Overwhelmingly, the British people want us to get on with delivering Brexit, and also address the other important issues they care about," the Conservative leader said.

This is now the time to put "self-interest aside", May said. "Now MPs have made clear what they don't want, we must all work constructively together to set out what parliament does want."

"That's why I am inviting MPs from all parties to come together to find a way forward. One that both delivers on the referendum and can command the support of Parliament. This is now the time to put self-interest aside", she said.

The prime minister said she believes it was her duty to deliver on the British people's instruction to leave the European Union. "And I intend to do so," May said in the television interview after the winning vote of no confidence.

Britain's Labour Party leader Jeremy Corbyn after his speech during a visit to Hastings, south east England, on Thursday

Jeremy Corbyn argued that May's "zombie" administration had lost the right to govern during a six hour debate on his motion.

His party has not ruled out tabling further no-confidence motions.

After her victory, May told MPs that she would "continue to work to deliver on the solemn promise to the people of this country to deliver on the result of the referendum and leave the European Union".

She invited leaders of all parties to have individual meetings with her on the way ahead for Brexit, starting tonight, but called on them to approach them with a "constructive spirit".

"We must find solutions that are negotiable and command sufficient support in this House," she added.

During her address for 10 Downing, the prime minister said she has held "constructive" meetings and will be meeting MPs along with senior Government officials in the coming days.

May also reiterated a promise to return to the Commons on Monday to give MPs another vote on her plans.

"The House has put its confidence in this government," she said in the House of Commons.

"I stand ready to work with any member of this House to deliver Brexit and ensure that this House retains the confidence of the British people." The Democratic Unionist Party, which props up May's minority government, also voted to keep her administration in power despite their strong opposition to the Brexit deal.

May's divorce deal to leave the EU was overwhelmingly rejected by MPs on Tuesday, triggering a no-confidence motion against her government and leaving the country with no plans for Brexit on March 29.

Pak SC asks Govt to lift travel ban on Bilawal

PTI ■ ISLAMABAD

Pakistan's Supreme Court on Thursday ordered the Government to lift the travel ban imposed on opposition leader Bilawal Bhutto-Zardari and the Sindh CM, and asked the country's anti-corruption body to probe their involvement in the $35 billion 'fake accounts' case.

As many as 172 suspects were placed on the Exit Control List (ECL) on the recommendations of a JIT formed by the apex court. A person cannot fly abroad if his name is placed on the ECL.

The Supreme Court, in a detailed judgement, ordered the government to remove the names of opposition Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) chairman Bilawal and Sindh Chief Minister Murad Ali Shah from the ECL. It, however, referred the report and material collected by the JIT in the Rs 35 billion 'fake accounts' case to the National Accountability Bureau (NAB), Dawn news reported.

The JIT probe focused on "32 fake accounts" which were allegedly used to give massive financial benefits to former president Asif Ali Zardari, his sister Faryal Talpur and several others. "Removing of the names will not prevent (the) NAB to probe and in case sufficient material is found connecting these individuals with cognisable offences, it will not be precluded from making an appropriate request to the federal Government to place their names on (the) ECL again or take any appropriate action provided by law," according to the judgement authored by Justice Ijaz-ul-Ahsan.

Model claiming Trump secrets deported from Thailand

AFP ■ BANGKOK

A Belarusian model who claimed she had evidence of Russian efforts to help Donald Trump win office was deported from Thailand on Thursday after being convicted of participating in a "sex training course".

Anastasia Vashukevich, known by her pen-name Nastya Rybka, was held with several others in a police raid last February in the sleazy seaside resort of Pattaya.

In a case that veered between salacious and bizarre, Vashukevich said she had travelled to Thailand after becoming embroiled in a political scandal with Russian aluminium tycoon Oleg Deripaska -- a one-time associate of Trump's disgraced former campaign director Paul Manafort.

She then set tongues wagging by promising to reveal "missing puzzle pieces" regarding claims the Kremlin aided Trump's 2016 presidential election victory.

But the material never surfaced and critics dismissed the claims as a publicity stunt. In the risqué Pattaya seminar led by Alex Kirillov, a self-styled Russian seduction guru, some participants wore shirts that said "sex animator" -- though one person at the time described it as more of a romance and relationship course.

Dutch journalist deported from Turkey over alleged terror links

AFP ■ ISTANBUL

A Dutch journalist based in Turkey was deported from the country on Thursday, a day after she was arrested, on suspicion of links to terrorism, Turkish officials said.

Fahrettin Altun, communications director at the Turkish presidency, confirmed her expulsion but said it "was in no way related to her journalistic activities during her stay in Turkey".

our friends and allies, including the Netherlands, and rely on their insights to identify and neutralise threats against Turkish and European security," Altun said.

The officials said Ans Boersma's deportation was not related to her journalistic activity but that Ankara had received a tip-off from the Dutch police that she had links to a terror group.

Boersma, a freelance journalist based in Istanbul who has contributed articles to the financial newspaper Het Financieel Dagblad, had announced she had been expelled.

Until now, the Turkish authorities, with help from their international partners, have blacklisted tens of thousands of individuals with links to terrorist organisations as part of an ongoing effort to combat extremism, he noted.

Boersma, a freelance journalist based in Istanbul who has contributed articles to the financial newspaper Het Financieel Dagblad, had announced she had been expelled.

"I got arrested yesterday (Wednesday), got deported this morning. Flying out now," she said in a messaging group for foreign journalists in Turkey.

It was not immediately clear to which terror group the journalist had alleged links.

A number of groups including the outlawed Kurdistan Workers' Party (PKK) and the Islamic State have carried out a spate of attacks in Turkey in recent years.

"Due to the seriousness of the threat, we work closely with our friends and allies, including the Netherlands, and rely on their insights to identify and neutralise threats against Turkish and European security," Altun said.

Another Turkish official, who wished to remain anonymous, said Boersma's press credentials were valid until January 31, 2019. Human rights defenders have raised concerns over a clampdown on freedom of expression in Turkey under President Recep Tayyip Erdogan, with dozens of journalists and civil society activists put behind bars.

N Korea yet to take concrete steps to dismantle nukes: Pence

PTI ■ WASHINGTON

The US awaits "concrete steps" by North Korea to dismantle its nuclear weapons that threaten America and other countries in the region, Vice President Mike Pence has said.

Pence's statement came during his address to the global chief of mission conference on Wednesday and gains significance as the White House is preparing for another summit between President Donald Trump and the North Korean leader Kim Jong-un.

The two leaders have recently exchanged letters. Kim and Trump held a historic meeting in Singapore on June 12 last year where they issued a vague goal for the "complete denuclearisation" of the Korean Peninsula without describing when and how it would occur.

Pence said that the US awaits North Korea to dismantle its nuclear weapons. "While the president has started a promising dialogue with Chairman Kim, we still await concrete steps by North Korea to dismantle the nuclear weapons that threaten our people and our allies in the region," Pence said.

SAS soldier saved lives in Nairobi attack: reports

AFP ■ LONDON

A heavily-armed man seen working with Kenyan forces and helping victims during the Nairobi attack this week was a member of Britain's special forces, British media reported on Thursday, citing officials.

"Without this British special forces soldier, many more lives would have been lost," the Daily Mirror quoted a senior British military source as saying.

"His selfless action will be remembered by those he rescued and privately celebrated and acknowledged by his colleagues," the military source said.

"The journey (in Bollywood) has been very rewarding. I have been blessed with opportunities to deliver my best and work with some of the biggest names," Jacqueline said. She says she has learnt a lot through the journey. "Meeting new people and coming across new experiences have given me several lessons which have been fruitful in not just dealing with the challenges in the industry. The love and support of the audience is my biggest asset that I have earned in my professional career," added she.

Boutique windows are the next big interior trend. TEAM VIVA picks up a few ideas from the experts

'I don't have any plans for marriage as of now. Wedding season is not like a cricketing season which should be continued for an entire year. There is still a lot of time for my marriage to happen, but when it will happen, I will be ready for that in a Rohit Bal outfit.'

As actress SONI RAZDAN awaits the censor board's green signal for her film No Fathers In Kashmir, her daughter and actress ALIA BHATT has come out in support of the film. Alia wrote on social media, "Was so looking forward to mom's No Fathers In Kashmir... The team worked super hard for this honest teens love story in Kashmir. Really hope the CBFC would lift the ban. It's a film about empathy and compassion. Let's give love a chance." The film is directed by Ashvin Kumar, who has been struggling to get a U/A certificate for it.

Miley denies rumours

Singer MILEY CYRUS has denied rumours that she is pregnant. The singer wrote on social media to dismiss speculation surrounding a potential pregnancy. "I'm not 'Egg-xpecting' but it's 'Egg-celent' to hear everyone is so happy for us' we're happy for us too! 'Egg-cited' for this next chapter in our lives," the star joked alongside a photo of her "baby belly", which was covered with the egg meme. Now that the musician has had the last laugh, she told people "everyone leave me alone and go back to staring at an egg." The recently married star sparked rumours that she was pregnant when she was spotted in Miami with what some tabloids alleged was a baby bump.

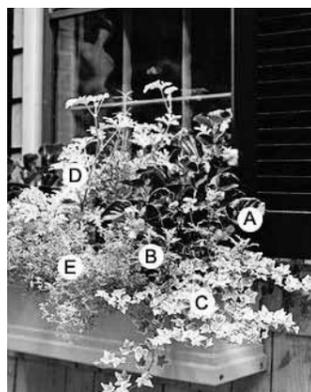

So far lumped together as part of interior decor and may be as a backdrop of luscious curtains, windows — from their shape, size, frames, shades and faux recesses — have emerged as the statement piece of your home in 2019. They are the perfect prop for the blend of functionality and art, depending upon the space, position and lighting. Designers and trend forecasters are now working on windows as the pivot of spaces and an anchor of your personality, your personal perch as you let the outer world drift in and shape your worldview.

WOOD AND ECO-FRIENDLY COATINGS
Living as we do in environmentally-challenged times, architects are working on ecologically-friendly and sustainable alternatives in keeping us comfortable and close to Mother Nature. So wooden windows are back in homes and workplaces with bold painted frames. Companies like Gorlini Bespoke Windows is increasingly using water-based paints as a conscientious choice. Using renewable organic waste materials that are unfit for human consumption, its team has developed bio coatings that help reduce the greenhouse effect caused by CO2 emissions. In line with the latest green policies adopted worldwide, their exceptionally-low environmental impact makes it worthwhile. Such coatings are also "high performance" and while other paints might take longer to dry and lesser time to fade away, this one has a faster drying record and greater non-yellowing properties.

Wooden shutters are making a comeback because they are classic and add a graphic feature to your home either open or shut. They allow natural light to filter through in a pleasant sort of way and allows light to stream around in dots and blobs.

GIVE NATURE A CHANCE
Experts believe that it doesn't matter about whether or not there is enough space for the window. As long as it is in the room, there is always a chance to make it attractive. No matter what the size, the sill can be highlighted by stacking an array of plants. Or there could be a wall formation of planters on either side of the window to lend a bit of character. "Plants are essential when it comes to decorating a small balcony or window sill. Avoid using too much floor space of the balcony, do not overcrowd it," says Punam Kalra, creative director of I'M. She further suggests placing small potted plants below the window sill on the outside for that refreshing feel and brightness.

For those who live in apartments and crave for gardens, putting themed plant and flower pots on window extensions is the next best thing. Says Kalra, "One can also place vines and planters in bottles. Waste bottles of soft drinks can be decorated and painted as per the colour scheme of your interior and can be used to skirt your windows."

GREEN FABRIC
Amita Kanwar, design director at Window Passions, says, "As we are increasingly moving towards sustainable fashion, curtains in organic fabrics like cotton and linens are the best to go by. The focus is on nature-inspired and eco-friendly materials to create an elegant and earthy atmosphere."

You can replace draperies with matchstick blinds. Especially if you've got a small space for your windows, opting for slim blinds will let the natural light in. Use botanical-printed blinds to create a vibe of a wood-meadow. Or go extravagant with Roman and European prints. Experts suggest that the newest and best way to give your room a dramatic look is to incorporate floor-length windows and tall curtains.

Bamboo roll-up blinds may give you a tropical freshness and can block out the harsh light during the peak of summer. If it's opulence, then there are silk shades, subtle, lush and luminescent.

ACCESSORISE YOUR WINDOW
Experts suggest that according to the colour and decor of the room, one can also use different accessories to decorate windows. Hanging dream-catchers and wind chimes, for instance, is a way to give it a more boho-chic appearance. Another idea is to string rice lights around the window frames to make it glow in the dark. Or arrange wooden photo frames and portraits in symmetry with square windows, especially if your room colour hovers around pastels. Installing a translucent art panel in front of a window creates a unique screen while lending an aura to a painting or glass work.

SQUARES OVER ARCHES
Likewise, while shapes remain popular, they're decidedly rectilinear. Arched-top and similar curved shapes may appear dated for some of today's more popular home styles. Squared-off edges and crisp lines are definitely the way to go.

EXPANSIVE GLASS
The growth in outdoor living has driven demand for opening glass walls and lift-and-slide doors, as well as larger windows mulled together. From dramatic views to increased daylight, the benefits are appealing to both buyer and builder alike.

As a modern iteration of what is new and fiercely unique, the 14th edition of the Blenders Pride Fashion Tour celebrates the self and the individual through its new concept — Pride. Fashion designer Rohit Bal showcased his collection 'Gul-Dastari', curating a magical affair with his designs. Showstoppers Sidharth Malhotra and Diana Penty, looked stunning in his pieces.

The collection was an ode to the beauty of flowers, dedicated entirely to the treasures of the natural world and inspired by botanical paintings and works by some of the great masters of the renaissance period. It renders a vintage feel and has been done on both traditional and contemporary silhouettes on organic fabrics using thread embroidery to gold wire and zardozi.

Talking about his curation 'my heritage, my pride', Rohit said, "I am a traditionalist and that too, a pure, classic, undiluted traditionalist. I am deeply rooted in my culture, my origins and the incredible heritage of India. From the Lotus to the Peacock, I live my heritage. There is mystery, mysticism and sheer magnificence in our heritage and it has become an essential part of my soul."

The SUV conundrum

Once upon a time car companies clearly defined line-ups of products but nowadays everything is a bit more confusing

So you want to buy a luxury Sports Utility Vehicle? It might never go off-road in its life. Heck, it might never leave metalled roads all its life but you like the commanding seating position high off the ground even if that involves a clumsy climb into your seat. And you also think that it is safer, at least when you have an accident where some idiot in a two-wheeler runs into you. You could ignore the fact that these cars are big and heavy, usually not the most economical but you know what, at least they do drive a lot better than they used to.

If you remember early SUVs, where a company suddenly had an idea to put plush seats into an off-roader and make them less capable at the same time, they were not quite stable in a turn. Those of us old enough remember the Maruti Gypsy when it came out were warned of the fact that these cars could roll over if you went into a corner too fast. And they did.

But things are different now. SUVs still ride way above the earth, yet even though they have a softer suspension, most of them can handle very well. A few companies have started to manufacture 'sporty' SUVs such as BMW's X4 and X6, of which I drove the former in America and was stunned at the way the car went around a race track. Sure, it was no BMW M5 but it was still incredible. Then there is Mercedes' GLC 43 AMG Coupe, which is no slouch either, and it looks rather good. Audi has been putting bigger and bigger engines in their SUVs and then there are the Porsches and the latest from Lamborghini which redefines 'Sporty SUV' into 'Super SUV' like a supercar.

But let us bring this back to another manufacturer, Jaguar Land Rover. Yes, it has its performance SUVs as well, although in India you can only get the madcap Range Rover SVR, which redefines physics in my opinion because I have never seen something else that massive move so fast, so quickly. Even the Saturn V rocket lumbered off the launch pad. This thing does not and it ensures that everyone in a 10-km radius can hear it. But that is a different story. Because, once upon a time Land Rover produced only the Land Rover, what we call the 'Defender' nowadays, that kept the British Army mobile as it gradually withdrew from every corner of the world. Then one day, the idea of making a slightly nice version came to mind and the Range Rover was born and the Queen of England loved it. For those a bit less rich, the Land Rover Discovery came out, which could go over pretty much anything. And that is the way it was in the 80s and 90s, three types of vehicles, which were not the most reliable, but that is the way things were.

Now, it is a different story. Heck, even Jaguar makes a SUV, the rather good-looking F-Pace, and Land Rover makes quite a few. There is the Discovery Sport, Evoque, Evoque Convertible, Discovery 5, Velar, Range Rover Sport and the range Rover, the last named of which is also available in an ultra-premium Autobiography specification. But which one of these should you buy? Sure, at the top and the bottom, they are fairly well defined, but when I look at the middle I get rather confused, and I guess anybody who walks into a JLR showroom would. They are all rather nice cars as I have driven several of them over the past year. While I do have some niggles, the three-screen set-up on the top-end cars is very confusing because you get the same function on both central screens but it appears they use two different user interfaces, and then the others have their own small problems. The Range Rover is massive, it is the car that Audi and BMW are targeting with the Q8 and X7 respectively.

The overlaps are a bit jarring, and not just because the engines are similar, because that is the same case with all the luxury manufacturers. Between the Evoque and F-Pace, both stunning cars, slightly different on the handling front but only if you push it. The Velar and Discovery 5 are different, but pricing overlaps and you are trying to figure out what you want for a car. When you are spending that kind of money, a car is not so much functional as it is a display of wealth and influence. So maybe the Velar, but if you spend a little bit, and in percentage terms just a little bit more you could get the range Rover Sport, maybe one with an exciting engine. It is rather confusing.

SUVs RIDE WAY ABOVE THE EARTH, YET EVEN THOUGH THEY HAVE A SOFTER SUSPENSION, MOST OF THEM CAN HANDLE THE ROAD BUMPS WELL. A FEW COMPANIES HAVE STARTED TO MANUFACTURE 'SPORTY' SUVs

I would personally choose the Discovery 5 though. Sure its lopsided registration plate panel is a bit jarring to the eye, but it is quite nice inside and a little bit easier to work your way through the controls. And there is the fact that if you did need to go on the sand dunes of Rajasthan, or ford a raging torrent near Corbett or deal with the slushy western Ghats in the monsoon, it can do all that very easily. Sure, a Range Rover can do most of those things, but you would think a few times before taking a two crore car off-road, even if it is a tester. I have a soft spot for the F-Pace, but for me Jaguar is still a car company. I cannot make peace with the Lamborghini Urus.

Next week onwards, a whole set of new launches starts with the Toyota Camry Hybrid, the third-generation Maruti WagonR, the Tata Harrier, the new Mahindra TUV300. 2019 will be a brand new year. All these new cars will meet the coming safety norms that are mandatory from the middle of the year and should be exciting to drive.

AN IMPROPER ADAPTATION

The dishes at the UNO Chicago Bar and Grill, named after the famous Boston pizzeria, didn't match the levels of the original. In fact they need to work on both the freshness of the ingredients as well as the preparation, says CHAHAK MITTAL

Love the Chicago-styled deep-dish pizza? You can thank UNOs pizzeria for that but only if you are in Boston where it set up its first outlet in 1943. But if you think that the same quality has been replicated in the capital region, you are bound to be disappointed as it doesn't seem to reach up to that level or make a mark anywhere close to it.

As I made my way to the UNO Chicago Bar and Grill, at the Gardens Galleria, Noida, along with a companion, we were remembering that the place had been a legacy for almost 80 years and we hoped to be treated with its authentic taste. The interiors were a retro throwback especially with their orange and black tiles and the checkered floor.

Without much ado we decided to start with the Muchos Nachos, which were baked yellow and blue corn chips served with fresh salsa and sour cream and Mexican bean chilli as its toppings. The presentation looked inviting but the taste was something else. As we bit in, a pungent taste was certainly not what we expected. I wondered if it was flavoured with blue cheese, which could account for the sharp smell, but that wasn't the case.

Next up were the cottage cheese skewers. Bits of capsicum, red and yellow bell peppers and cottage cheese or paneer were strung on a long wooden pick. Properly cooked and roasted, this one tasted just right.

The skewers were followed by the bruschetta duo which featured finely-chopped tomato with olives and chopped mushroom. The Italian antipasto was served with grilled garlic bread, topped with olive oil and salt. The bite-size of the bread kept us wanting for more as the flavours were perfectly balanced. Then came the wild mushroom chipotle poppers which were as crispy as the ideal chicken wings. However, one bite into the poppers and we realised that the filling with cheese and mushroom didn't agree with our tastebuds as the pungent taste again came to the fore. We savoured the outer crispy layer but couldn't agree with its filling.

Despite our frequent run-ins with the caustic taste, we still hoped that something would elevate the experience. So we decided to order the Mexicano extra thin-crust pizza. Well, extra thin is always in, no? Here, the pizza, layered with double cheese and topped with mixed peppers, cilantro, red onions and cajun cottage cheese, did try to make up for all the other flaws scoring overall in taste. But here too there was a slip, it was slathered with what they called pesto sauce but which tasted more like a mint chutney. It was this flavour which seemed to overpower the other more pleasing ones. When we wondered aloud as to when and why was a pizza topped with pesto sauce, the server told us that it featured as a recipe on the original menu. We felt that they need to work on their recipes and add some of their own unique elements rather than just blindly following some rule book.

Despite the disappointments, we ploughed on and ordered a triple chocolate fudge brownie, that described itself as 'gooey on the inside and crusty on the outside'. It was served with vanilla ice cream, chocolate sauce, whipped cream and a cherry on top. This one did seem to rejuvenate our tastebuds that had just been battered by a bunch of flawed dishes. The brownie tasted like a blast of chocolate in our mouths and lived up to the description. My score for the place would be two point five. And point five here is for their constant efforts of presenting their best.

Orange is the new black

From boosting digestion to detoxifying the body, as the temperature falls, the fruit rules the chart as a life-giving force. By TEAM VIVA

Only a few things in life come with multiple benefits. An orange is one of them. It not only appeals to the tastebuds but is healthy. It is said that of all the citrusy and tart fruits we consume, orange is the king, especially during winters.

SS Ghosh, Chef De Partie, Cold Kitchen, The Ashok, says, "These are one of the key ingredients in any kitchen, be it commercial or household. With oranges handy, one can whip up a range of recipes starting from breakfast juice to a soup to a healthy salad and a rich butter and cream cake. Oranges are not only a rich source of Vitamin C and antioxidants but also provide the body with Vitamin A and D which other citrus fruits don't. They impart a sweet as well as a tangy taste."

HELPS DE-STRESSING

The fruit is essential to de-stress one's mind. The refreshing aroma opens up the olfactory nerves and relieves the mind. Add a few drops of essential oil extracted from oranges in warm water and soak your feet. Feel your nerves detangling and releasing all the bad vibes. Oranges are mood boosters as they help to release endorphins and make you happy in gloomy winter weather. Besides being a rich source of anti-oxidants, they are also low on calories.

BOOSTS IMMUNITY

Cold is the most common condition which hits the immune system of the body during harsh winters. Being one of the citrusiest fruits, orange boosts up pathogens to build up resistance against foreign germs and allergy. According to a research, published in the Harvard Health Publishing by Harvard Medical School, vitamin C is beneficial when it comes to common cold. Another research published in Science Daily by the American Heart Association, says that consuming citrus fruits, especially oranges and grapefruits, may help to lower heart risk as they provide protection against heart diseases by improving the functioning of the blood vessels. They also have anti-inflammatory properties.

ENSURES HEALTHIER SKIN Winters leave the skin dry and deprive it of its glow which in turn adds years to your face. Consuming natural vitamin C though a pulpy source like, orange provides hydration making the skin look fuller and healthy. Anti-oxidants protect the skin from the harmful effects of UV rays which damage the skin. Orange peel skin-masks are perfect to clear your skin and get the glow back.

HELPS IN WEIGHT LOSS

As a rich source of fibre, orange is a perfect low calorie snack. It is a rich source of anti-oxidants while the soluble fibers keep the hunger pangs away. Adding it to your diet makes one feel full though not stuffed, thus preventing overeating. The pulp also helps in clearing the intestinal tract effectively, thus aiding a healthy digestive system. The added bonus is that a health gut is directly related to a healthy glow on the face.

ROASTED BELL PEPPER AND BLACK OLIVE PASTA SALAD

WHAT YOU NEED

- Del Monte whole wheat Penne Rigate: 225 gm
- Ripe tomatoes, medium-diced: 200 gm
- Del Monte black olives, sliced: 1 cup
- Fresh Mozzarella, chopped to bite-sized pieces: 1 cup
- Red bell pepper: 1

For dressing

- Balsamic vinegar: 1 tbsp
- Del Monte extra virgin olive oil: 3 tbsp

- Garlic clove: 1
- Salt and pepper, to taste
- Fresh grated Parmesan: 1/4 cup
- Fresh parsley, chopped: 1/2 cup

METHOD

● Preheat oven to 200 C. Line a baking sheet with foil. Coat the bell pepper with some olive oil and place on a baking sheet. Put it in oven and allow the bell pepper to roast for 40 minutes, rotating them half way through baking. Once the skin is charred on all sides and the bell peppers are soft, remove from oven. You could also roast them on the gas over a flame, like you roast eggplants. When cool to touch, peel skin off and chop into thin strips.

- Cook the pasta in a large pot of boiling salted water. Drain well and allow to cool.
- Place the pasta in a bowl and add the tomatoes (alternatively, you can grill the tomatoes for that smokey flavour in the pasta salad along with the bell pepper), black olives, mozzarella, chopped roasted bell pepper.
- For the dressing, combine the balsamic vinegar, olive oil, garlic, salt and pepper in a food processor until almost smooth. You can also whisk by hand.
- Pour the dressing over the pasta, add parmesan and parsley and mix well.
- Serve immediately or cover with plastic wrap, refrigerate and serve later.

DJOKER RACES PAST TSONGA; SERENA, HALEP TRIUMPH

Novak defeats '08 finalist to step forward for record seventh title in Australia

AFP ■ MELBOURNE

Serena Williams stepped up her drive for a record-equalling 24th Grand Slam on Thursday by swatting aside Eugenie Bouchard, as world number one Novak Djokovic won an emotional 2008 Australian Open final rematch with Jo-Wilfried Tsonga.

But women's top seed Simona Halep and young gun Alexander Zverev had to dig deep to make the third round on a day of epic battles and the latest start to a match ever at the tournament.

American great Williams followed up her first round 49-minute romp by spending just 70 minutes on Rod Laver Arena to dispose of the Canadian 6-2, 6-2.

"It wasn't an easy match tonight," said the 37-year-old, seeded just 16.

"So I knew Serena, you've got to come out hot, you've got to come out firing, she's a really good player and I haven't had many matches since last year," Williams is bidding to match Margaret Court's record of 24 Grand Slams, and win an eighth in Australia, on her first return to Melbourne Park since lifting the trophy in 2017 while pregnant.

Serbian top seed Djokovic is also looking to make history by winning a seventh title. He was too good again for France's Tsonga, who he beat in the 2008 final, rolling through 6-3, 7-5, 6-4. "You could feel the tension on court at the beginning. We felt a lot of emotion and tried to play a great game," said Djokovic as the memories of that tense final came flooding back. In contrast, world number one Halep staggered through against American Sofia Kenin 6-3, 6-7 (5/7), 6-4 — her second three-set test in a row.

"I have no idea how I won this, it's so tough to explain what happened on court," said the French Open champion, who now meets Venus Williams after the 38-year-old rolled back the years to beat France's Alize Cornet.

In another titanic battle, Canadian Milos Raonic ousted 2014 champion Stan Wawrinka in four tightly-contested sets that all went to tie-breaks, while eighth seed Kei Nishikori was stretched to a draining five sets against Ivo Karlovic.

Seventh seed Dominic Thiem limped out when he retired while losing 7-5, 6-4, 2-0 to young Australian wildcard Alexei Popyrin.

Zverev, hailed as a flag-bearer for the next generation, also struggled against veteran world number 36 Jeremy Chardy, before putting him away 7-6 (7/5), 6-4, 5-7, 6-7 (6/8), 6-1.

Amid rain delays and drawn-out matches, Spain's Garbine Muguruza and Britain's Johanna Konta didn't get on court until half-past midnight — the latest start to a match in the event's history.

US Open champion and fourth seed Naomi Osaka had it relatively easy, sweeping past Slovenia's Tamara Zidansek 6-2, 6-4 with the roof closed on Margaret Court Arena due to the rain.

The 21-year-old's breakthrough at Flushing Meadow over Serena Williams last year made her a new standard bearer for tennis in her Japanese homeland and Asia, and she is working hard on living up to the hype.

"I thought I served alright, this was my first time playing her and I'm just happy to win to be honest," Osaka said after setting up a clash with Taiwan's Hsieh Su-wei.

In contrast, Asia's top-ranked men's player Nishikori needed an energy-sapping 3hr 48min to get past big-serving Croat Karlovic 6-3, 7-6 (8/6), 5-7, 5-7, 7-6 (10/7) in humid conditions.

Sixteenth seed Raonic emerged the victor against Wawrinka, a three-time Grand Slam champion who is on the comeback trail from injury.

The Swiss, unseeded for the first time since his debut in 2006, fell 6-7 (4/7), 7-6 (8/6), 7-6 (13/11), 7-6 (7/5).

Despite being seeded six and seven respectively, neither Elina Svitolina or Karolina Pliskova has progressed further than the last eight at the Australian Open.

But self-assured Svitolina is bubbling with confidence after dismantling Victoria Kuznetsov 6-4, 6-1, while Pliskova woke up after losing the first set to race past Madison Brengle 4-6, 6-1, 6-0.

Other women through included Italy's Camila Giorgi and China's Wang Qiang. Men still in the hunt included Croat Borna Coric and Spain's Pablo Carreno-Busta.

Vinesh nominated for Laureus World Sports Awards

PTI ■ MONACO

As Indian wrestler Vinesh Phogat has become the first Indian to receive a nomination in the prestigious Laureus World Sports Awards to be held here on February 18.

The 24-year-old Indian, who made a sensational comeback after battling a long injury lay-off to win a Gold medal at the Gold Coast Commonwealth Games and Jakarta Asian Games, has been nominated for the Laureus World Comeback of the Year.

The Haryana wrestler, who was stretchered off after dislocating her knee during the quarterfinals of 50kg freestyle event at the 2016 Olympic Games, has been nominated alongside US Tour Championship winner Tiger Woods, who won his first tournament in five years.

Also nominated are four inspirational Winter Olympic athletes: Japanese figure skater Yuzuru Hanyu, Canadian snowboarder Mark McMorris, US ski racing legend Lindsey Vonn and Dutch Paralympic champion Bibian Mentel-Spee.

The last time an Indian sporting feat made its way to the Laureus World Sports Awards was in 2004 when the Indian cricket team and Pakistan cricket team shared the Laureus Sport for Good Award for playing an International match despite political tensions between the two countries.

Most recently, Magic Bus from India won the Laureus Sport for Good award in 2014. However, Vinesh makes history as the first Indian athlete to be nominated in one of the seven main categories at the Laureus World Sports Awards.

DEMBELE COMPLETES GUANGZHOU MOVE

LONDON: Mousa Dembele made the latest high-profile name to swap Europe for China when he left English Premier League side Tottenham Hotspur and joined Guangzhou R&F on Thursday. The 31-year-old Belgian international will cost the Chinese Super League (CSL) club about 12 million euros ($13.5 million) and he can expect to receive a significant hike in wages. Dembele, who could soon be joined in China by West Ham United's Marko Arnautovic, is regarded as one of the finest midfielders in the Premier League when fit. But his appearances have become increasingly limited in recent seasons because of injury. "Now it feels like my family, part of my family," Dembele told Spurs TV, reflecting on his departure after six-and-a-half years at the Premier League title challengers. "I go away with an unbelievable feeling and with a certain love for the club." Dembele, who has more than 80 caps for Belgium, joined Tottenham in August 2012 from Fulham.

STONE RULED OUT OF WEST INDIES TOUR

LONDON: England pace bowler Oly Stone will miss the tour of the West Indies after suffering a back injury. Stone has been hampered by stiffness in his lower left back since taking part in a practice session on Sunday. The 25-year-old went for scans in Barbados that confirmed the extent of the injury was serious enough to rule him out of the Tests against the West Indies. Stone had hoped to make his Test debut in the three-match series, but the Warwickshire seamer will have to wait for his maiden five-day appearance. "Following the result of scans, Oly Stone has sustained a bone stress injury to the left lower back. He will return home from the Caribbean later this week and have further tests in the UK," a statement from the England and Wales Cricket Board said on Wednesday. Stone impressed with his speed and hostility during four appearances in England's one-day series win against Sri Lanka in October.

DERBY WIN FA CUP SHOOT-OUT

LONDON: Southampton's dismal season hit a new low as the Premier League strugglers were dumped out of the FA Cup by second tier Derby after a penalty shoot-out. In a third round replay heavily influenced by the latest controversy over the use of VAR, Ralph Hasenhuttl's side blew a two-goal lead in the closing stages at St Mary's. The tie finished 2-2 after extra-time on Wednesday, with Derby winning 5-3 on penalties. Having avoided falling behind when VAR dubiously ruled out a goal from Derby's Craig Bryson in the first half, Saints went ahead through Stuart Armstrong's 68th minute header. Nathan Redmond doubled their lead with a cool finish two minutes later. Derby got one back with 14 minutes left when Harry Wilson's free-kick went straight in and was allowed to stand by VAR despite Southampton's claims that several Rams players were offside. Just six minutes later, Marlyn Waghorn headed Derby's equaliser from Wilson's superb cross to force extra-time.

INJURED WARNER TO RETURN AUSTRALIA

NEW DELHI: Australian opener David Warner, who is working towards a return to international cricket after serving a ball-tampering ban, has picked up an elbow injury during his ongoing stint with the Bangladesh Premier League. Warner will leave the tournament early to have his injury assessed, joining his former skipper Steve Smith in the injured list. "While the extent of the injury remains unknown, Warner will continue to play for the Sylhet Sixers before he departs, meaning he will feature in matches on the 18th and 19th," Cricket Australia's official website cricket.com.au said in its report. Warner will be returning to Australia next Monday to have his injury assessed. The opener looked close to his best in the BPL, scoring two half-centuries in five innings, including a whirlwind unbeaten 61 on Wednesday night.

Saina, Srikanth enter Malaysia quarters

PTI ■ KUALA LUMPUR

Top Indian shuttlers Saina Nehwal and Kidambi Srikanth produced yet another fine display to progress to the quarterfinal of the Malaysia Masters here on Thursday.

Saina, seeded seventh, took 39 minutes to tame Hong Kong's Pui Yin Yip 21-14, 21-16 in her second round women's singles encounter.

The London Olympics Bronze medallist will play second seed and 2017 world champion Nozomi Okuhara of Japan in the last-eight stage of the first Super 500 tournament of the year on Friday.

World No 9 Saina holds an 8-4 overall head-to-head record against Okuhara, which includes back-to-back wins over the current world No 2 in the last two tournaments — last year's Demark Open and the French Open.

In men's singles, Srikanth continued his unbeaten run with a hard-fought 23-21, 8-21, 21-18 win over Hong Kong's Wong Wing Ki Vincent to set up a fight with fourth seeded Korean Son Wan Ho.

The seventh seeded Indian, who had a title-less run last season, has a 4-5 head-to-head count against the Korean world No 5.

Former Commonwealth Games champion Parupuli Kashyap, however, bowed out of the tournament after his fight ended with a 17-21, 23-25 loss to Anthony Sinisuka Ginting of Indonesia.

Women's doubles pair of Ashwini Ponnappa and N Sikki Reddy also suffered 18-21, 17-21 loss to Indonesian combination of Ni Ketut Mahadewi Istarani and Rizki Amelia Pradipta.

Ronaldo heads Juve to Supercoppa glory

AFP ■ JEDDAH

Cristiano Ronaldo scored the only goal to hand Juventus their first trophy of the season with a 1-0 win over ten-man AC Milan in the Italian Super Cup on Wednesday in Saudi Arabia.

Ronaldo — signed by the Italian giants last year from Real Madrid as they target a first Champions League title since 1996 — headed in a 61st-minute winner.

AC Milan played the last quarter of an hour a man down after Ivorian midfielder Franck Kessie saw red for a bad tackle on Emre Can.

"I have my first title with Juventus so I'm happy," said the Portuguese star who now has 28 trophies including five Champions League and league titles from England and Spain, and a European Championship with Portugal.

"I really wanted this, to get off to a good start in 2019. This is only the start, we'll take it one step at a time. We've got this cup, now we must keep working hard to achieve the next trophy," warned Ronaldo.

The match had been overshadowed by controversy with calls for it to be relocated over human rights issues in Saudi Arabia with women only allowed to attend the game if they were accompanied by a man.

On the pitch the players suffered in the heat with temperatures hitting 25 degrees Celsius amid freezing conditions in northern Italy.

In the end Juventus came away with a record eighth Super Cup title, one more than AC Milan who have won seven.

"It was very hot and the important thing was to win," said coach Massimiliano Allegri who won the trophy for the second time, having lost to AC Milan in 2016 and Lazio last year.

"Ronaldo? We always say the same thing... that's why we signed him. He is decisive and scores big goals, but the whole team put in a good performance."

AC Milan forward Gonzalo Higuain only played the final 20 minutes against his parent club, ahead of a touted move to Chelsea, having moved away from Turin to make way for Ronaldo last summer. Coach Gennaro Gattuso said the Argentine was suffering from a fever and missed the team photo because they were afraid he would infect other players.

"It might seem like a joke, but it's true. Higuain wasn't in the picture when the Saudi Prince came to visit because I was afraid the virus would spread among the other players, so that was my decision.

"He had a fever last night, we did everything to get him better, but he didn't play much, so I preferred a fresher player."

Milan's best shot on goal was a Patrick Cutrone effort after the break with their hopes dwindling after Kessie's sending off.

Atletico out on away goals

AFP ■ MADRID

Antoine Griezmann scored one and set up another but could not prevent Atletico Madrid tumbling out of the Copa del Rey as Girona progressed on away goals after a thrilling 3-3 draw.

Real Madrid and Sevilla each avoided upsets on Wednesday, their first-leg victories proving enough despite losses to Leganes and Athletic Bilbao respectively.

Defeat for Real, however, means they have now won only two of their five matches this year while Santiago Solari's frosty relationship with Isco shows no signs of improvement.

Isco started, but struggled, and was replaced in the 68th minute.

For Atletico, Griezmann came off the bench in the second half and turned the tie in their favour on Wednesday, teeing up Angel Correa and then scoring himself to give his team a 3-2 lead at a rocking Wanda Metropolitan.

But Girona pulled out one more surprise to go through to the quarter-finals as Seydou Doumbia's shot found the corner in the 88th minute, snatching a 4-4 draw on aggregate after last week's first leg finished 1-1.

Griezmann had scored then ished. With Girona still progressing on away goals, Atletico had just over 20 minutes to find a winner.

Santiago Arias thought he had it but VAR showed him just offside. So did Griezmann, as he latched onto Thomas Lemar's scopped ball through and smashed it into the roof of the net.

He celebrated like he had won the tie but there was one more sting in the tail. Borja Garcia raced clear down the right and his cut-back landed at the feet of Doumbia. His shot flew through the legs of Legendary boxer Mary Kom, the only woman to clinch six world championship titles, is now eyeing the elusive Olympic Gold medal next year as her crowning glory.

The 35-year-old pugilist from Manipur said winning Gold at the 2020 Tokyo Olympics will be a big challenge.

"Muhammad Ali was my inspiration when I learned boxing. After all these years, I feel there's nothing much to achieve. I already (have) all the medals in the game.

"I have medals from the Olympics, Asian Games, six World titles, Commonwealth Games. But I am still hungry to achieve only one (medal), that is the Gold at the Olympics," Mary Kom said on Thursday.

"Being an athlete, I am dreaming (hoping) for that one chance," added "Magnificent Mary", who is the event ambassador of the January 20 Tata Mumbai Marathon.

But the star boxer admits that the 2020 Olympics, to be held in Tokyo, will be a big challenge.

"It is a very big challenge. Even London 2012 was also a big challenge for me. It was the first time I fought in the 51kg category. After that, I missed the qualification for Rio (Olympics).

"This time I am trying (to qualify). If there is possibility, I will get young boys (who are) stronger than me (for training).

Mary Kom said she wasn't surprised that she was the number one boxer. "I am not surprised that I am ranked No 1. I am so happy that my performances have been recognised. I am grateful for the love and support that I have received from the entire country. Your prayers have helped me win a lot of medals," she added.

Arias and snuck into the corner. Madrid were beaten 1-0 by Leganes, Martin Braithwaite giving hope to the hosts, who failed to take a number of chances to launch an unlikely comeback. Real had won the first leg 3-0.

"We got through but the performance was weak," Solari said.

His team now turns their attention to Saturday's crunch La Liga game against Sevilla, who slipped to a 1-0 defeat at home to Bilbao. Gorka Guruzeta scored the winner for a rejuvenated Bilbao side but Sevilla still progress 3-2 on aggregate.

INDIA EYE PERFECT FINISH TO HISTORIC TOUR

After maiden glory in Tests, Men in Blue look to seal first ever bilateral series in Australia

PTI ■ MELBOURNE

Bouyant and self-assured in equal measure, India would be eyeing a maiden bilateral ODI series triumph on Australian soil after the path-breaking Test conquest when they take on the home team in the tour finale here on Friday.

The three-match series is level at 1-1 after Australia won the first ODI in Sydney by 34 runs and India won the second in Adelaide by six wickets.

The Men in Blue have never won a bilateral ODI contest on Australian soil, and their only two series' wins in this format have come in 1985 (World Championship of Cricket) and 2008 (CB Series).

In fact, this is only the second bilateral ODI series India have played in Australia, losing 4-1 in 2016 when they toured here last.

Also, by winning this third ODI in Melbourne, India will finish the current 2018-19 tour without having lost a series here.

While India will take winning momentum into this third ODI, their only worry at the moment is the fifth bowling option.

So far in the series, senior pacers Bhuvneshwar Kumar and Mohammed Shami have been impressive, while the two left-arm spinners Kuldeep Yadav and Ravindra Jadeja have provided control and breakthroughs in the middle overs.

In the absence of Hardik Pandya, India have used a full-time seamer as their fifth bowling option both at the Sydney Cricket Ground and the Adelaide Oval.

Khaleel Ahmed (0-55) and Mohammed Siraj (0-76) though failed to impress in their singular outings.

It becomes a particularly crucial aspect considering that India will go in with the same batting line-up as in the first two matches. With Virat Kohli not keen on bowling Ambati Rayudu again in the series, they need to get their five-bowler attack right on the money.

Seam bowling all-rounder Vijay Shankar and leg spinner Yuzvendra Chahal are in contention and both had a rigorous workout during the optional training session on Thursday at the MCG. Shankar provides the third seam bowling option, and as an extra batsman, elongates the batting line-up.

However, the argument against Shankar is whether the Indian team management can trust him enough to deliver 10 overs on ODI debut.

Siraj struggled to do so and Kohli was left wondering how he would bowl him for a last three-over spell. This is where Chahal might prove to be a more reliable option, even if India have to play two pacers and three spinners.

The bigger boundaries at the MCG, and Chahal's ability to bowl economical and attacking spells as well as use the new ball within the first 10 overs, might be a factor in his favour.

If Kohli does pick Shankar for his ODI debut, it would disturb the set batting line-up and make space for Kedar Jadhav. The fifth bowler's 10 overs can then be divided between Jadhav and Shankar. This move would mean one of Ambati Rayudu or Dinesh Karthik will be left out.

Karthik was handy in finishing the second ODI, while Rayudu has been rusty but seen as India's favoured number four option, making this a tough decision for the Indian captain. Rayudu was part of the small group that took part in optional training on Thursday, along with Shankar, Chahal, Jadhav, Mahendra Singh Dhoni and Shikhar Dhawan.

Dhoni's form, which has been a constant concern for a while now, has been decent so far and he has two consecutive half centuries to draw confidence from.

Australia, on the other hand, will be worried about lack of runs from their opening duo, Finch and Alex Carey, with their middle-order having to do the bull work in the last two matches.

The home team made two changes from Adelaide. Leg-spinner Adam Zampa came in for off-spinner Nathan Lyon, who couldn't pick a wicket in the first two ODIs, while pacer Jason Behrendorff was ruled out owing to a sore back.

Billy Stanlake is his replacement, while all-rounder Mitchell Marsh has been ignored again.

Hardik is crucial for team's balance: Dhawan

PTI ■ MELBOURNE

Indian opener Shikhar Dhawan on Thursday said suspended fast-bowling all-rounder Hardik Pandya is "crucial" for the team's balance but rejected suggestions that the side was struggling for a fifth bowler in the ongoing ODI series against Australia.

India take on Australia in the series-decider on Friday. There are bound to be changes to the team composition in the light of Khaleel Ahmed and Mohammed Siraj failing to impress in the first two matches.

Dhawan came out in support of the two young pacers, but added that the presence of an all-rounder in the side is imperative for balance.

"The balance that Hardik (Pandya) creates when he's in the team is very crucial for our team," Dhawan acknowledged in the pre-match press conference.

"Even when Kedar (Jadhav) plays, the overs of off-spin he bowls are very beneficial for us...I would say he is our golden arm, and he always takes wickets when he comes on. So often, he's broken a big partnership. An all-rounder in Tests and limited-overs' cricket is equally important," he added.

Talking about Ahmed and Siraj, Dhawan said the youngsters will mature and get better with time.

"It's not a worry (about the bowling). They just came in. They are young blokes. We will back them. That's how they're going to learn, when they play against a good side," he said. "If they go for runs, that's where they have to lift themselves up and think more about their game and strategies. That's how they'll become more mature players. It's good that they are getting chances over here," he added.

Dhawan said the team is looking to make history by winning the first ever bilateral ODI series on Australian soil, following up on the 2-1 Test series' win here. He felt the batting line-up, including veteran Mahendra Singh Dhoni, finding form only bodes well for their preparations ahead of the 2019 ODI World Cup.

"Winning the series will mean a lot to us. Winning both Tests and if we win tomorrow, it is going to be a big achievement for us. We are going to value it and cherish it," he said.

NZ announce squad for India ODIs

PTI ■ WELLINGTON

New Zealand on Thursday brought back Tom Latham and Colin de Grandhomme for the ODI series against India starting next week in Napier, fielding the strongest possible squad to take on the world No 2 side.

Both Latham and de Grandhomme were rested during the 3-0 clean sweep of Sri Lanka, but were included in the 14-member squad for the first three ODIs of the five-match series against India starting next on Wednesday.

Skipper Kane Williamson and pacer Trent Boult, who were rested for the lone Twenty20 against Sri Lanka last Friday, are too named in the squad alongside fit-again Mitchell Santner.

Santner made his comeback in the lone Twenty20 against Sri Lanka after being sidelined by injury for 10 months.

New Zealand coach Gary Stead said the squad had been selected keeping in mind two priorities — first planning for the World Cup and secondly to give the Kiwis the best possible chance of winning the series against world No 2 India.

"Our two main priorities have been to select and prepare a squad capable of winning what is shaping as a massive series against India, and gathering as much information as possible ahead of the World Cup," Stead said.

"Tom and Colin are experienced players in this format and will offer quality in their respective roles."

Finch promises natural aggressive game

PTI ■ MELBOURNE

Australia captain Aaron Finch on Thursday declared that he will return to his "natural" aggressive game in the series-deciding third ODI against India after being left "frustrated" by a cautious approach while searching for runs.

Finch has been going through a bad patch for a long time and the sword is literally hanging over his head.

After a below-par showing in the Test series, Finch's struggle with the bat continued in the ODIs as he scored just 12 runs in the first two games.

"I am a little bit frustrated. I am trying to bat a little bit longer for one thing. When you are searching for runs, you can be searching for the right recipe, and over the last couple of days, I have had a look at footage. I have seen things that have worked out when I got a hundred for Australia last, and what didn't," Finch said ahead of Friday's final ODI.

"I want to give myself the best chance. Maybe, I have been too tentative in the last couple games and letting pressure build up."

Finch, who scored just 97 runs in six innings in the Test series against India before being dropped for the final game, has admitted that he has spent the last few days in reminding himself he is "still a very good player".

"That's always a fine balance between attack and hanging in there, waiting for the right time to be aggressive and take on the opposition. I still feel I am a very good player," he said.

"I think 13 international hundreds suggest I do know what is required. It is about seeing through the initial part and putting pressure back on the bowlers. It is just about going back to my natural game, letting it flow and finding the right rhythm."

With the series evenly poised at 1-1, Finch said Australia is keen to come out victorious on Friday to register their first ODI series triumph since January 2017.

"We are very keen to win the series. It has been a while since we have won one," he said.

"Coming up against a real powerful Indian line-up, there have been some positives particularly with the bat and there has been a lot of improvement in the last 8-10 months to be really proud of in the two games. It's 1-1 also because our bowlers have been outstanding."

"A lot of improvement can be made but a lot to be proud of in this series as well. Winning the series is our main focus," he signed off.

GANGULY BACKS PANDYA-RAHUL TO LEARN FROM MISTAKES

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Former Indian captain Sourav Ganguly on Thursday said "we should move on" from the controversy surrounding Hardik Pandya and K L Rahul's sexist comments because he is sure the two will learn from it and become better persons.

Speaking at an event here, Ganguly said he hasn't seen the 'Koffee with Karan' episode in which Pandya and Rahul's misogynistic comments on women led to a provisional suspension on them. But he offered a sympathetic view on the under-fire duo.

"People make mistakes, let's not go too far here. I am sure, whoever has done it will realise and come out a better person. We are human beings not machines that we will always be perfect. We should move on and make sure it doesn't happen again," Ganguly said on the raging controversy.

Rajasthan Royals owner set to sell stakes

NEW DELHI:

Indian Premier League franchise Rajasthan Royals' owners are all set to sell half of their stakes in order to give the side a much needed financial boost ahead of the 12th edition of popular league.

It has been learnt that the current franchise owners have approached key BCCI officials and intimated their decision to sell around fifty percent of their stakes. Manoj Badale is the principal owner of Rajasthan Royals.

"Yes, Rajasthan Royals are selling a major part of their stakes and the highest bidder will be getting it. What we have heard is that it is around fifty percent and some of the biggest business houses in the country are apparently interested in buying stakes," a senior BCCI official privy to the development said.

While there are no confirmations as of now but Sanjeev Goenka, former IPL franchise Rising Pune Supergiants' owner is keen on buying stakes. Another big industrialist based out of Western India with multiple business interests is also in the mix.

Goenka, who is also the principal owner of Indian Super League (ISL) team ATK, had bought the Pune franchise (Rising Pune Supergiants) for the two seasons when Rajasthan Royals and Chennai Super Kings were banned for their involvement in spot-fixing scandal.

"Mr Goenka has always been interested in coming back after he had a fairly good but short stint in the IPL. His team made it to the finals in one of the years. Let's wait and watch how it all pans out," the official said. PTI

KERALA MAKE MAIDEN SEMIFINAL ENTRY

PTI ■ WAYAND

Scripting history, Kerala stormed into the semifinals of the Ranji Trophy for the first time with a 113-run win over Gujarat on the third day of the quarterfinal on Thursday.

This is the first time that the Kerala team has entered the last four stage of the prestigious tournament in over five decades. In the last season, the state made its maiden entry into the quarterfinal, but lost to Vidharbha.

Requiring 195 to win the match, Gujarat was shot out for 81 in 31.3 overs as Basil Thampi (5 for 27) and Sandeep Warrier (4 for 30) wrecked the strong rival batting line-up.

Gujarat didn't have the best start, losing opener Kathan D Patel in the sixth over. Patel was bowled by Thampi, who struck a big blow in the last ball of the same over, trapping the prolific Priyank Panchal (3) to leave the visitors at 10 for 2.

Left-hander Rahul Shah was the only batsman to offer resistance with a fighting knock of 33 not out (70 balls, 4X4).

Gujarat skipper Parthiv Patel, probably the biggest threat for Kerala, was run out for a duck, by his opposite number (Sachin Baby). Dhruv Raval (17) was the only Gujarat batsman other than Rahul Shah to get into double figures as the visiting side struggled on a pitch with variable bounce.

The fifth-wicket partnership of 39 between Rahul Shah and Raval was the highest of the Gujarat second innings as the rest of the batting line-up struggled against the impressive Thampi and Warrier.

Thampi, who was named man of the match and Warrier finished with eight wickets each.
