Doctors require Mamata's pledge

Medicos end strike as CM assures zero tolerance against assault on them

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

The junior doctors of West Bengal on Monday called off their week-long strike following a "fruitful discussion" with Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, who accepted all their demands, including stringent action against perpetrators of crimes against on-duty medicos.

"We are satisfied with the talks being held in an extremely cordial atmosphere," said one of the 31 delegates of doctors from all over Bengal who were escorted by a Government vehicle to the State secretariat Nabanna, where the Chief Minister met them for more than an hour and a half.

"This discussion was very fruitful as both the sides reciprocated to each other's views in a very positive manner," the Chief Minister said, adding, she was "grateful to the doctors as they responded to my call for discussion and came all the way to Nabanna. The talks with them were constructive and I hope the doctors will go back and announce their withdrawal of strike as we have accepted all their demands."

Drawing a loud applause from the doctors' delegation, the Chief Minister further said, "These are like our children. It is their right to make justified demands and the Government will always stand by them, including in their times of distress, as they are serving the society against all odds."

West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee conducts a meeting with doctors in Howrah on Monday

Hours later the doctors formally told reporters at Nil Ratan Sarkar Medical College and Hospital (NRSMCH) that they are ending the strike and "will join our work as soon as possible," adding "we are now convinced that the Chief Minister will take action if any doctor is assaulted in future."

One of her representatives iterated, "No doctor or nobody from any profession can be assaulted physically or verbally. We assume after our conversation with the Chief Minister that the State will have zero tolerance against assault on doctors. This has to be remembered by the entire population not only of Bengal but the entire country. If there is violence then that will come with consequences. The Chief Minister has told us that there will be stringent legal action that the meeting be held at Nabanna. The doctors, however, said they would go to the secretariat only if the meeting was shown live on television. Her stance was a climb-down from her Thursday's position when she told a large gathering of striking doctors at the SSKM Hospital to join duty in four hours or face consequences. She subsequently held out threats of invoking Essential Services Maintenance Act (ESMA) and cited how the State Governments of Gujarat, Rajasthan, Haryana, J&K and Tamil Nadu had taken striking actions against striking doctors.

Fresh from an unimpressive show in the parliamentary elections and under pressure from all quarters to stand by the doctors, Mamata invited the doctors to a meeting where she was accompanied among others by Minister of State for Health Chandrima Bhattacharya, Chief Secretary Malay De, Principal Secretary Health Rajiv Sinha, State DGP Virendra. Kolkata commissioner of Police Anuj Sharma and others.

Pulwama-II bid foiled; Major martyred in raid

9 soldiers injured in Pulwama IED blast; 3 jawans hurt in Anantnag search on attack

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

The sinister design of terrorists to enact the February 14 like Pulwama terror attack on Monday evening in Arhal area of Pulwama by triggering an IED blast on a patrol party of 44 Rashtriya Rifles was foiled and damage minimised due to the alertness of the security forces and the troops travelling in the hardened ALS (a fortified truck).

However, in another incident earlier, an Army Major was martyred and a terrorist killed, while another officer and two troopers were injured on Monday in an encounter between security forces and the ultras in Jammu & Kashmir's Anantnag district, officials said.

An intelligence report about terrorists' attempt to use an IED blast on an Army convoy in South Kashmir districts and subsequent alertness obviated the crisis.

Terrorists had used a similar strategy while targeting a CRPF convoy on the Jammu-Srinagar National Highway on February 14 in which 40 para-

Army soldiers cordon off the area near the house where terrorists were hiding during an encounter in which an Army Major was martyred and a terrorist killed at Achabal in Anantnag on Monday military troopers were killed. The area, where Army vehicle was targeted by the terrorists was roughly 25 kms away from the site of the Pulwama terror attack. A Ministry of Defence spokesperson in Srinagar claimed a "failed" attempt was made to attack a mobile vehicle patrol in the general area of Arhal in Pulwama.

Police spokesperson in Srinagar said, "All troops are safe with minor injuries." Police spokesperson in Srinagar said, "Six Armymen have sustained injuries in the terror incident while two civilians also sustained injuries due to powerful explosion." "The entire area has been cordoned off and search in the area is going on," he added.

In another anti-terrorist operation, a Major of the Indian Army on Monday attained martyrdom in Badura area of Anantnag while one terrorist, believed to be a foreign national, was neutralised during the day-long operation.

Police spokesperson in Srinagar said, "During a search and cordon operation by the joint forces at Badura in Achabal area of Anantnag, terrorist fired on the search party."

Healthcare paralyses; SC to hear today plea for cops at hospitals

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

As the medical fraternity's nationwide strike hit healthcare services and left patients and their relatives high and dry across States, the Supreme Court on Monday said it will hear on Tuesday a plea seeking safety and security of doctors in Government hospitals in the country.

The Indian Medical Association (IMA), the apex body of medical practitioners, had called for a three-day nationwide strike in protest against the assault on doctors in West Bengal allegedly by the relatives of a patient who died on June 10 at NRS Medical College Hospital in Kolkata. A large number of patients and their relatives, caught unaware of the strike, were seen waiting outside various hospitals, appealing to authorities for help. In many Government and private hospitals across the country, out-patient departments (OPDs) remained closed and scheduled surgeries were postponed. However, emergency services remained operational.

A patient and his attendant wait doctors at AIIMS OPD as doctors stopped work on Tuesday in protest against the assault on their Bengal colleagues, in New Delhi on Monday at healthcare facilities. For its part, a vacation Bench of Justices Deepak Gupta and Surya Kant of the SC agreed to list the matter for Tuesday after the counsel for the petitioner, advocate Alakh Alok Srivastava, sought urgent hearing.

The petition has also sought directions to the Union Ministries of home affairs and health and the West Bengal Government to depute Government-appointed security personnel at all State-run hospitals to ensure safety and security of doctors.

JP Nadda to step into Shah's shoes in Jan

To work as BJP working president under Shah till Assembly polls

DEEPAK K UPRETI ■ NEW DELHI

Senior BJP leader and former Union Health Minister Jagat Prakash Nadda was on Monday appointed the working president of the BJP with Amit Shah to continue as the party chief until December by when Assembly polls in Maharashtra, Haryana and Jharkhand are slated for completion. Sixty-year-old Nadda is expected to become the full-fledged BJP president overseeing the 11-core-strong party after Shah completes his extended tenure in January 2020.

The announcement was made after the BJP Parliamentary Board, the party's highest decision-making body, met here at its headquarters with Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Shah and Home Minister Rajnath Singh, among others, in attendance.

Shah, who is saddled with the heavy responsibility of Ministry of Home Affairs, would ensure continuity and see the party through the three Assembly polls.

MHA seeks report on police-driver clash, 3 cops suspended

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Having taken cognizance of the attack on a policeman by a Sikh tempo driver with a sword and his subsequent thrashing by police personnel on Sunday evening, the Union Home Ministry on Monday sought a report from the Delhi Police on the issue after a video of the incident went viral.

With the issue snowballing into a major political row, the Delhi Police has suspended three policemen posted with Mukherjee Nagar police station in northwest Delhi for "unprofessional behaviour" and initiated a probe.

Union Minister of State for Home G Kishan Reddy said he spoke to Delhi Police Commissioner Amulya Patnaik and asked him to take immediate action.

"BJP delegation led by Shri@pringshahsai ji called on me today regarding the incident under Mukherjee Nagar Police station in New Delhi. I spoke to CP Delhi, instructed for immediate action and to submit a detailed report," Reddy tweeted.

Police said the altercation took place after a Gramin Sewa tempo driver's vehicle collided with a police van. Eight police personnel were injured in the scuffle, police said. In one of the videos, the tempo driver identified as Sarbjit Singh, with sword in hand, was seen chasing policemen. In another video, cops were seen thrashing the driver after overpowering him.

An ACP-ranker officer could be seen being chased by protesters. He had gone there to pacify the mob.

Cloud, wind, shower rain relief on Delhi

Weather comfort till June 20

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The week in the national Capital started on a pleasant note with cloudy sky and moderate wind. Cloud cover, gusty winds and intermittent rain protected Delhi from the sweltering heat, with the weatherman predicting the temperatures will remain below normal for another three-four days.

Drizzle in some parts of the Capital and its adjoining areas brought mercury down with maximum temperature being recorded at 36.3 degrees Celsius while minimum stood at 28.

According to the India Meteorological Department (IMD)'s Delhi region weather warning forecast, more rain and thunderstorm activities are expected on June 18, 19, 20.

"A cyclonic circulation is persisting over Haryana and adjoining areas. Also, the humid wind from the Arabian Sea is increasing moisture over the northern plains, including Delhi. This moisture incursion from the Arabian Sea is expected to continue for the next two to three days. Thus, we expect scattered rain and thunder-shower activities to continue over Delhi and NCR until June 19," Skymet, a private weather forecast agency, said.

In the past 48 hours, rain has been witnessed in isolated pockets of Delhi and adjoining areas of Noida, Gurgaon, Faridabad, and Ghaziabad. The Safdarjung observatory said the city received 0.6mm rainfall during the past 24 hours. The humidity recorded at 8.30 am was 54 per cent. On Sunday, the maximum temperature settled at 36.3 degrees Celsius and the minimum at 28.02 degrees Celsius.

On Monday, the maximum temperature was recorded 33 degrees Celsius and minimum 27. At Palam observatory the maximum temperature was recorded 32 degrees Celsius and minimum 28. The heatwave is not yet over in Delhi as from June 23 onwards temperature will increase again, said weather experts. The maximum temperature for June 23 has been forecast 41 degrees Celsius by the IMD. This summer, Delhi-NCR witnessed spell of severe heatwave for prolonged period. In fact, on June 10, the mercury soared to 48 degrees, the highest in Delhi's history.

Bihar Govt shuts door on killer heatwave

As toll mounts to 180, Section 144 imposed, schools closed, all public activities put off

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Despite respite in northern States, including Punjab and Haryana, from heatwave, Bihar continues to reel under a searing heatwave which has swept most parts of the State, killing around 180 people in the State.

The prevailing situation has prompted the Nitish Kumar Government to order closure of academic activities in all schools till June 22, officials said on Monday.

Though the MeT Department on Monday said rain and thunderstorm have brought down the mercury and there will be no heatwave conditions this week in northern States, including Punjab and Haryana, an alert has been issued by the Bihar Government in the wake of the rising death toll. People have been advised to take care while stepping outside. The administration in Gaya, Aurangabad and Nawada districts has imposed Section 144 of the CrPc to force the public to stay indoors so that they don't fall victim to the killer heatwave. Even works under the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA) have been stopped after 10.30 am. The Gaya district administration banned any cultural programme or gathering in open spaces, between 11 am and 4 pm. Majority of heatwave deaths have been reported from Aurangabad, Gaya and Nawada districts, where temperatures hovered around 45 degrees Celsius for the past three weeks.

Thousands converge in Prashar Lake in Himachal

KISHORI LAL ■ MANDI
 Thousands of devotees converged on the 9000-feet high valley of Prashar falling in Mandi district to commemorate the meditation of Sage Prashar who is believed to have meditated at this very place, according to mythology and local customs and beliefs.
 In the two-day fair, devotees come from the adjoining six districts along with gods and goddesses with hill music instruments and an enjoy glimpses of flower valleys and sprawling grazing lands.
 Three fairs are held in Prashar round the year. Located on the lap of the great Himalayas amidst lush green forests, flower valleys and pastures where herds of animals from the plains of Punjab, Haryana and Rajasthan come with their cattle and spend three months and breath the cool healthy air of the green hills.

 Legend has it that the high altitude lake was built by the Pandavas during their 14-year exile on their way back after the Mahabharata War accompanied by Bara Dev Kamru Nag.
 The entire valley since then is known to be the valley of Kamru Nag, revered by the people.
 Prashar lake is also known for another wonder of its floating islands. The Bara Dev Kamru Nag was so much enchanted by the captivating valley that he made Prashar Valley his permanent abode. On the premises, there exists a wooden temple in pagoda style.
 Raja Ajber Sen of Mandi is said to have built this wooden temple. Thousands of tourists from home and abroad visit this place every year mostly from Russia, USA, Europe, China and other countries.
 They are intrigued to observe that how could such a beautiful spot on earth had remained neglected for centuries.
 An English movie, The Frog was shot at Prashar. They camped in Munish resorts and used to go for shoots everyday.

Gita Jayanti at London from August 9

SOURABH CHOWDHURY ■ KURUKSHETRA
 Kurukshetra Development Board (KDB) and GIEO GITA (Global Inspiration and Enlightenment) Organisation (Organisation of Gita) would jointly organise the Gita Jayanti Samaroh at London in UK from August 9 to 11 in its effort to propagate the teachings of holy Bhagwad Gita at the international level.
 This was stated by Swami Gyan Nand Maharaj, head of the GIEO GITA organisation while presiding over a meeting of advisory committee to chalk out the plan for the Gita Jayanti to be celebrated at Kurukshetra from November 22 to December 10.
 Besides representatives of various religious and social organisations of the area, the Member of Parliament, Nayab Singh Saini, DC Kurukshetra, SS Phulia and honorary Secretary of KDB, Madan Mohan Chhabra and members of KDB attended the meeting here.
 Gyan Nand said that with the help of Haryana Government, we are trying to restore the sanctity of many religious places in the 48 'Kos' area of holy Kurukshetra.
 He said that in this regard that Haryana Chief Minister Manohar Lal had personally visited 41 important religious places during the past to take stock of the situation for their improvement.
 Haryana Government is taking steps to propagate the message of Gita to the extent that whenever someone comes to India for tourism, they must visit Kurukshetra, the birthplace of Gita, he said.

DOCTORS ON STRIKE: Healthcare services in hit in Punjab, Hry

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Healthcare services at several government and private hospitals in Punjab, Haryana and Chandigarh were affected on Monday as scores of doctors stayed away from work in solidarity with their colleagues in West Bengal.

The doctors stayed away from non-emergency services in response to a call for a 24-hour strike by the Indian Medical Association (IMA) against an attack on two junior doctors at a hospital in Kolkata last week.

At several places, including Ludhiana, Patiala, Bathinda, Hisar, Faridabad, Gurgaon and Chandigarh, the doctors also took out protest marches.

A protesting doctor said the frustration is deeply saddened and disappointed by the ongoing impasse in West Bengal and the "lack of genuine initiatives on part of the administration there".

Doctors work for 15-18 hours every day and all they are demanding is a secure work environment, he said.

Dr Uttam Kumar Thakur, president of Association of Resident Doctors at the Postgraduate Institute of Medical Education and Research (PGIMER) here, said doctors at the hospital will stay away from all non-emergency services till the time the demands of their colleagues in West Bengal are accepted by the state government.

"We have decided to stay away from all non-emergency services for an indefinite period, till the time the West Bengal administration fulfils the demands of the striking doctors there and resolves the matter amicably with them. All services except emergency and ICUs will be restricted from Monday," he said.

"We stand united with our fellow doctors in West Bengal and request the administration to not underestimate our cause and movement," he added.

Patients were left exasperated as out-patient departments (OPDs) remained closed across hospitals. Those patients or their relatives who take the law into their hands should be strictly dealt with. While we understand the pain of the doctors, it is justified that patients who travel hundreds of kilometres to get treatment at the PGI suffer like this," an elderly patient visiting the OPD at the PGIMER said.

A middle-aged man who accompanied his ailing wife to a hospital in Hisar, Haryana, said, "Why should patients have to suffer like this. I have been waiting here for hours, but no one is giving any proper response. The central government must intervene in the matter as patients across the country should not be made to suffer."

Junior doctors in West Bengal have been on strike since June 11 after two of their colleagues were attacked and seriously injured allegedly by relatives of a patient who died at the NRS Medical College and Hospital.

In a show of solidarity, medical practitioners across the country choose not to work on Monday.

The IMA, the apex medical body, has demanded a comprehensive central law to deal with violence against doctors and healthcare staff.

BEATING OF SIKH AUTO DRIVER, HIS SON IN DELHI

All Punjab parties demand action against guilty

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

A day after a Sikh auto driver and his son were brutally thrashed by Delhi Police personnel after their vehicle allegedly bumped into the police van in New Delhi's Mukherjee Nagar area, the issue was heard loud and clear some 250 kms away by all major political players in Punjab, cutting across party lines demanding strict action in the matter.

Punjab Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh on Monday sought the Union Home Minister Amit Shah's intervention in the matter, while the SAD has demanded dismissal of the cops responsible for "brutal" attack.

Aam Aadmi Party (AAP), which is running the government in Delhi and is main opposition party in Punjab, has sought judicial probe into the incident.

Hitting out at the Delhi Police for the alleged assault on a man at Mukherjee Nagar in the national capital, Capt Amarinder tweeted, "Shameful incident of @DelhiPolice ruthlessly beating up Sarabjeet Singh and Balwant Singh on a petty issue. Request HM @AmitShah to ensure justice."

SAD president Sukhbir Badal also urged the Union Home Minister Amit Shah to take strict action against the police personnel responsible for brutal attack by dismissing them from service and registering an attempt to murder case against them.

"Delhi police personnel behaved like animals yesterday by brutalizing an old Sikh man and his son in front of the Mukherjee Nagar police station. The old man was beaten up and dragged on the streets despite pleas of his son to defuse the situation. Later the son was also attacked and beaten up mercilessly," he said.

Urging the Home Minister to award exemplary punishment to the cops involved in this dastardly act, Sukhbir said that this was necessary to send the right message to society that atrocities by men in uniform would not be tolerated under any circumstances.

Besides urging for immediate dismissal for all the police personnel involved in the incident, he also urged the Home Minister to register an attempt to murder case against the cops.

Severely criticizing the Delhi police's "dastardly" party's senior leaders and MLAs Kulwant Singh Sandhwan, Prof Baljinder Kaur, Kulwant Singh Pandori, Jai Kishan Rori and Manjit Singh Bilaspur, sought dismissal of the police officials behind this dastardly act.

They demanded that the Modi-led government at the Centre should show a little sensitivity towards the minority communities across the country and protect their religious identities and sentiments to send out a clear message that those behind such acts against minority communities won't be spared no matter how high and mighty they were.

AAP leaders have also demanded a judicial probe into the barbarous act of beating and pulling hair of the auto driver and his son and their turbans in the public, which they said, was a case of highhandedness on the part of Delhi police, which had been reduced to a mere 'jungle raj' during the tenure of the saffron party and its NDA partners ruling the country.

Expressing their grave

concern over the apathetic stance of the government toward the minority communities, AAP legislators said that if the Sikhs and others in minority across the country were not safe to protect their religious identities and sentiments in their own country, how the government would be able to protect the communities in other countries of the world. Modi government should immediately intervene in the matter and secure justice for the victims as police dispensation was directly under the control of BJP-SAD alliance government lorded over by Union Home Minister Amit Shah instead of the Delhi government led by Kejriwal, they said.

SAD to approach Home ministry for action against Kamal Nath

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) would approach the Union Home Minister to demand action against senior Congress leader and Madhya Pradesh Chief Minister Kamal Nath for allegedly leading a mob which attacked Sikhs during the 1984 genocide committed against the Sikh community.

Announcing this, the SAD president Sukhbir Badal on Monday said that a delegation of Delhi Sikh Gurudwara Management Committee (DSGMC) led by its president Manjinder Singh Sirsa would call on the Home Secretary Rajiv Gauba on Tuesday and hand over a memorandum in this regard to him.

"SAD will urge the Home Ministry to direct the SIT to record the statements of noted personalities like Sanjay Suri and Mukhtar Singh, who are prime witnesses against Kamal Nath," he said.

Sukhbir said that other pending issues would also be taken up for resolution. "We also stand for formation of a special court for day-to-day trial of all cases of 1984 genocide in Delhi so that justice is delivered in a time bound manner. A request for appointment of the President of the Sri Hazur Sahib, Nanded, through election by members of its Board will also be put forward to the Home Ministry," he added.

He said that SAD will also formally urge for grant of clemency to Balwant Singh Rajoana, main accused in former Chief Minister Beant Singh assassination case, by commencing his sentence to life imprisonment, formation of a time-bound committee for release of "Bandi Singhs" (Sikh political prisoners) and award of compensation to Sikh "Dharmi Fauji" (who resigned from the forces in protest against Operation Blue Star).

The party will also urge for compensation to all Jodhpur Sikh detainees as only 40 out of 365 detainees have been paid compensation, he said.

Besides, the delegation will urge for giving formal permission for the DSGMC's Nagar Kiran to Nankana Sahib in Pakistan on the occasion of 550th parkash purv of Sri Guru Nanak Dev Ji.

It will also urge for grant of citizenship to thousands of Afghani Sikhs living in India besides urging that Jammu and Kashmir Sikhs be given minority status in J&K and immediate redevelopment of Punjabi Colony, Mumbai which has been declared as dangerous.

IPS trainee officers meet Haryana Governor

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Haryana Governor Satyadeo Narain Arya on Monday interacted with 22 officer trainees of Indian Police Service who visited on an educational and cultural tour of India from Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel National Police Academy, Hyderabad.

The Governor learnt about their experiences related to their training. Five of these officers were of Royal Bhutan Service. The officers of Bhutan's police and civil service are also trained in Hyderabad and Dehradun academy.

Arya first spoke with Aishwarya Sagar of Thiruvananthapuram

(Kerala), who got the West Bengal cadre. She said that she selected IPS considering the duty and commitment of police officers.

On this, the Governor congratulated her and said that due to the apt policies of women empowerment, the women are showing their mettle in every field. This shows the prosperity and progress of the country at the grade level.

Arya said that today, Haryana is the leading state in the field of cleanliness, education, health and safety and they are very fortunate to have got the opportunity to come to Haryana during their India tour.

The Governor also presented souvenirs to the officer trainees.

AAP demands review of Govt's decision to allow admission to outsiders in Pb medical colleges

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Accusing the Congress-led Punjab Government of succumbing to education mafia by providing admission to outsiders in state's medical colleges, Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) on Monday demanded immediate review of the decision.

AAP MLA and the Leader of Opposition in Punjab Assembly Harpal Singh Cheema slammed the Capt Amarinder Singh Government for allowing floodgates of admissions to students from other states in medical colleges in Punjab. "The decision would not only provide instrumental to students pursuing careers in medicines but would also to the interests of the people of the state for many reasons than one," he said.

He said that the decision needed to be reconsidered sooner than later. He demanded that a review committee of technical experts comprising members of all political parties be constituted to look into the entire both up.

"The state government has not only reneged on its own decision earlier taken on January 21, 2000, but has also thrown the clear-cut directives of the apex courts - The Supreme Court of India and Punjab and Haryana High Court - to the winds," he said.

Cheema alleged that the government had bowed down to the education 'mafia' active in the state which was calling the shots at the behest of their political masters. The recent decision by the government was in continuation of its anti-student move, which would not be allowed to continue for long, he said.

THE STATE GOVERNMENT HAS NOT ONLY RENEGED ON ITS OWN DECISION EARLIER TAKEN ON JANUARY 21, 2000, BUT HAS ALSO THROWN THE CLEAR-CUT DIRECTIVES OF THE APEX COURTS - THE SUPREME COURT OF INDIA AND PUNJAB AND HARYANA HIGH COURT - TO THE WINDS

Maintaining that that the scheme would not only pose roadblocks for the students of Punjab origin but also prove disastrous to the people, which would impair the health services in the state, he said that the students from other states would return to their respective states after achieving medical degrees in the state of Punjab.

He demanded that the government should immediately review decision for the larger interest of a vast majority of the students who have been left to suffer in silence.

Sidhu could get bigger role in Congress

MONIKA MALIK ■ CHANDIGARH

With no sign of end to the prevailing hostility between Punjab Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh and his Cabinet Minister Navjot Singh Sidhu, the Congress high command is considering the options of giving a "bigger role" to the former cricketer.

Sidhu, the four-time MP and currently the Minister in Punjab, was the Congress' star campaigner during the recently-concluded Lok Sabha elections, and a leader which the party could not afford to lose in any way, especially at this point of time.

But on the other side is the party's veteran Capt Amarinder, who has defied the Modi tsunami across the country to secure eight, out of the total 13 seats, in Punjab.

Capt Amarinder, who defeated the BJP stalwart Arun Jaitley in his first ever electoral hustings in 2014 general elections despite nationwide Modi wave, is currently ruling Punjab enjoying two-third majority in the State.

What exactly the Congress means by "bigger" is yet to be ascertained, but it has been learnt that the party is juggling between three options. First, to appoint him as the state Congress chief as the incumbent Sunil Jakhar has already submitted his resignation after he failed to secure his seat and lost to greenhorn Sunny Deol in Gurdaspur.

Secondly, there are talks of appointing Sidhu as the deputy to the Chief Minister which seems unlikely as the party high command could not afford to challenge Capt Amarinder's authority by appointing a Deputy Chief Minister a post which he had refused to retain in the first place.

After the Congress swept the Punjab assembly polls in 2017, speculations were rife that the party would appoint Sidhu as Deputy Chief Minister to Capt Amarinder. But, Capt Amarinder had reportedly refused to have a post of Deputy Chief Minister in his Cabinet.

Another alternative that the party high command is considering is to appoint Sidhu as one of the four vice-presidents in case the party decides to replace party president Rahul Gandhi, who is adamant to step down from the coveted post, with four in-charges by grouping the country into four segments.

In case it happens, the party is considering Sidhu's name for the northern region. In the recently-concluded elections, Sidhu had addressed several rallies in the northern states, except his home state Punjab, and received tremendous response.

However, a senior

Congress leader, while taking with The Pioneer "off the record", maintained that giving Sidhu power which, in any way, would mean building a parallel power centre to Capt Amarinder may prove harmful for the party as a whole, where the Congress has managed to maintain its stronghold.

Even after 10 days of re-allocation of portfolios done by Capt Amarinder, Sidhu has not assumed the charge of the Power Department. Sidhu was divested of Local Government and Tourism Departments after the Chief Minister blamed him for party's poor performance in the urban pockets as he failed to perform well as the Minister.

Sidhu, on the other hand, had argued that the Congress has won 64 per cent in the purely urban assembly segments by winning 16 out of 25 seats, and in rural areas, Congress bagged 35 out of 63 seats, making it 55 per cent.

Sidhu, making the re-allocation of portfolios as an issue of prestige, has taken the issue right up to the party high command, which has reportedly asked the former cricketer to continue working for the party. Despite that, Sidhu has not taken over his Department. In fact, no effort was being made to appease Sidhu by the state leadership with no leader or even the Chief Minister contacting him.

Saksham Haryana makes 86 per cent students grade level competent

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

The Saksham Haryana, a state-wide educational program being implemented in the state for the last five years, has yielding positive results with 86 per cent students in the State now Saksham or grade level competent.

Project Director, Chief Minister's Good Governance Associates Programme, Rakesh Gupta on Monday said that 13 more blocks have been announced for Saksham taking the total number of such blocks to 107 after eight rounds of assessment. He said that 14 districts in the State are 100 per cent Saksham after eight rounds of assessment over 18 months.

He said multiple state level initiatives have been adopted including focus on remedial education through a Learning Enhancement Program, strengthening the academic review and monitoring mechanism in the state and improving the technology systems (Management Information System and Academic Monitoring System) of the Education Department. Assessment reforms are being carried out by administering centralised exams, improving data collection and data analysis and reducing cheating.

He said that the State aims to become Saksham that is to achieve grade level competencies for 80 per cent students in the state. Grade level competencies means that a student in a particular grade knows all the competencies or skills defined for that grade. He said that for a block to be Saksham, more than 80 per cent of its students need to be grade level competent and for a district to become Saksham, all its blocks need to become Saksham. Similarly, for Haryana to become Saksham, all its districts need to become Saksham.

The 14 districts which are now fully Saksham included Jhajjar, Charkhi Dabri, Kaithal, Bhiwani, Panchkula, Mahendragarh, Karnal, Sonapat, Panipat, Gurugram, Sirsa, Rewari, Hisar and Jind. The 13 new blocks which have been declared Saksham today included Agroha, Babain, Barwala, Behal, Jagadhri, Kalamna, Mustafabad, Pinjore, Raipur Rani, Rati, Siwan and Siwani. Similarly, the eight newly Saksham blocks are Barara, Ballabgarh, Ferozepur Hirka, Ladwa, Nagina, Punhna, Rohak and Tohana. Apart from this, four non Saksham blocks are Ambala - I (City), Ambala - II (Cantt), Chhachhrauli and Hathin.

Gupta said that for blocks that have become Saksham/grade level competent in Hindi and Math, an assessment in English was conducted to vie for Saksham plus title. Five blocks were tested in February 2019 of which one turned Saksham plus. In May 2019, 26 more blocks were tested and four have become Saksham plus.

Gupta said that the state now aims to make all classes from 3 to 8, Saksham across all blocks, sustain the Saksham status of all blocks and improve quality of education in secondary classes. The next round of assessments would be conducted in 2019. The NITI Aayog on national level is also recognising the learning from the state so that other states can also improve their learning levels.

Your every word is valuable to Govt: PM to Opp

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Having returned to power with a bigger mandate, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Monday sought to reach out to the Opposition parties on the first day of Parliament's monsoon session saying they need not "bother about their numbers" as their every word is "valuable" to the Government.

"When we come to Parliament, we should forget 'paksh' (treasury) and 'vipaksh' (Opposition) and instead think about issues with a 'nishpaksh' (impartial) spirit and work in the larger interest of the nation," he told the media outside Parliament before the first session of the first session of the 17th Lok Sabha.

about their numbers. I hope they speak actively and participate in House proceedings. Their every word, every feeling is valuable to us," he said even as he urged all MPs to be impartial in the House and address issues related to the larger interest of the nation.

Inside the House, many of the newly-elected members were seen in colourful and saffron attire, traditional shawls and headgears even as two Union Ministers from Bengal were greeted with chants of 'Jai Shri Ram' when they were called to take oath as Lok Sabha members.

Outlining the importance of an active Opposition in a parliamentary democracy, Modi said he hoped the Opposition will speak actively and participate in House proceedings. "I am hopeful that this session will be productive," he maintained.

"The role of an Opposition and an active Opposition is important prerequisite in a parliamentary democracy. The Opposition need not bother ed with a clear majority after several decades," he said.

Later, Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who is also the leader of the House, took oath as Member amid thumping of desks by the ruling NDA MPs and slogans such as 'Modi Modi' and 'Bharat Mata Ki Jai'.

The panel of presiding officers — K Suresh, Brijbhushan Sharan Singh and B Mehtab — took oath as Members after the Prime Minister. Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, Home Minister Amit Shah, Transport and Highways Minister Nitin Gadkari, and Chemical and Fertilisers Minister DV Sadanand Gowda also took oath. Union Minister Smriti Irani, who defeated Congress President Rahul Gandhi in Amethi, received the longest applause when she took oath. Rahul, who was missing from the House in the first phase, took oath in the second half.

When Union Ministers Babul Supriyo and Debashree Choudhury, who are from West Bengal, were called to take oath they were greeted by fellow BJP MPs with 'Jai Shri Ram' slogans apparently as a dig at West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee who had objected to uttering the slogan during some incidents.

Hope trend of using Parl as 'rubber stamp' is reversed: Cong

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Responding to the PM's call, the Congress on Monday alleged that the Modi Government used Parliament as a 'rubber stamp' during its previous tenure and hoped this trend is reversed and key Bills are not pushed without legislative scrutiny using 'brute majority'.

"Legislation through ordinance is a very unhealthy practice in a democracy. It should only be used in extreme cases where there is an emergency requirement otherwise the due processes of lawmaking must be followed by the Government in office," senior Congress leader Anand Sharma said.

"We will now wait for the Prime Minister's assurance in this regard and whether the practice that was followed in the last five years is reversed, because in the last five years what we have seen is disrespect to Parliament, where the bills were brought by the government and because of its brute majority in the Lok Sabha, Parliament was treated as a rubber stamp," he said.

Most of the bills were not sent to the standing committee for legislative scrutiny which is important for any law to be made, Sharma said. Congress hopes that now this practice will be honoured and dependence of ordinance and pushing through the bills without scrutiny will not be repeated by the Government, he said.

Earlier in the day, addressing the media outside parliament before the commencement of the first session of the 17th Lok Sabha, Modi said,

"When we come to Parliament, we should forget 'paksh' (treasury) and 'vipaksh' (Opposition). We should think about issues with a 'nishpaksh' (impartial) spirit and work in the larger interest of the nation."

"The role of an opposition and an active opposition is important prerequisite in a parliamentary democracy. The opposition need not bother about their numbers. I hope they speak actively and participate in House proceedings... Their every word... Every feeling is valuable to us," he said.

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

BJP MP from Bhopal Sadhvi Pragya Singh Thakur's oath taking on Monday created a controversy after Congress MPs objected to her adding her spiritual Gurus' name along with her name. Amid protests, Thakur said that it was her full name and she had mentioned her full name in the form she had filled for oath taking.

After Ganjendra Umarao Singh Patel (BJP) completed his oath with 'Bharat Mata Ki Jai' slogan, NK Premchandran (RSP) urged the Pro-tem Speaker to maintain the prescribed format of the oath. The Pro-tem speaker Viendra Kumar sought to know from the Lok Sabha Secretary General, the full name. Amid noise and objections, Kumar ruled that only the name written in her election certificate issued by the returning officer would go on record. BJP MPs accused the Congress MPs of unnecessarily targeting the BJP MP.

Thakur took oath in Sanskrit and ended it with 'Bharat Mata Ki Jai' slogan. Later, BJP members continued to raise 'Bharat Mata Ki Jai' slogans.

The mention of Swami Purana Chetana and Avdeshanand Giri as suffix to her name Sadhvi Pragya Singh Thakur evoked sharp reaction from the Opposition members who said that such a thing was not permitted. She insisted that the suffix was part of her full name, resulting in an uproar from Opposition and slogan shouting in her favour from the ruling benches.

ENCEPHALITIS DEATHS IN MUZAFFARPUR

Case filed against Union, State Health Ministers on charges of negligence

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

With the death toll crossing the 100 mark due to Acute Encephalitis Syndrome (AES), a case has been filed against Union Health Minister Dr Harsh Vardhan and Bihar Health Minister Mangal Pandey in Muzaffarpur. Chief Judicial Magistrate's (CJM) court for not creating awareness about the deadly disease. The plea by the social activist Tamanna Hashmi will be heard on June 24.

Harsh Vardhan also said that Ministry of Earth Science will be requested to upgrade its IMD weather data to improve monitoring of climate related parameters such as temperature, humidity, rainfall, heat waves, etc, and share it with the State Government. A high-level central team has been sent to Muzaffarpur to set up a state-of-the-art multi-disciplinary research centre in the wake of the children death due to suspected encephalitis.

"The central government will provide all possible help including financial to the state to control the situation, provide proper treatment and develop infrastructure needed for it," Health Minister said.

Social activist Tamanna Hashmi in his petition has alleged that Harsh Vardhan and Mangal Pandey failed to fulfill their duties to control the outbreak of AES, while both had done nothing to create awareness and sensitise people in the affected areas despite the fact that AES had been killing children for years.

Harsh Vardhan, who had visited the district on Sunday to review the situation in the hospitals there, has denied any negligence saying teams were stationed in Muzaffarpur from the very first day and were working too. Meanwhile, a video surfaced wherein Pandey is seen asking for latest score of the India-Pakistan cricket match during the State Health Department meeting over the AES deaths on June 16 adding to the prevailing anger among the people against the Government.

Hashmi said that he has filed the case against the accused Union Health Minister Mangal Pandey, under 323, 308 and 504 of the Indian Penal Code (IPC).

"Large number of children died due to negligence and lack of infrastructure to give timely proper treatment," he said.

The National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) too has issued notices to the Union Health Minister and the Bihar government over reports of increasing deaths of children due to the deadly disease, a senior official said.

According to official data, 85 children have died in Sri Krishna Medical College and Hospital (SKMCH), while 17 have lost their lives in Kejriwal hospital in the city in the past fortnight. Most of the casualties affected by the Syndrome are between the age group of 1-10.

AES is a viral disease, which causes mild flu-like symptoms such as high fever, convulsions, and headaches. According to reports, more than 290 children are still admitted in the ICU of the Sri

IAS-IPS cadre allocation policy of 2017: SC seeks Centre's reply on fresh pleas

New Delhi:

The Supreme Court on Monday asked the Centre to file its response on a batch of pleas of over two dozen trainee IAS and IPS officers of the 2018 batch, who have sought parity in the government's cadre allocation scheme with 20 of their colleagues, who were granted relief by the top court last month.

The Supreme Court had, on May 17, granted relief to 20 trainee IAS and IPS officers, who had challenged the government's cadre allocation process for the 2018 batch, by asking the Centre to accommodate them by increasing one post each in the state cadres of their preference this year. After the May 17 order, now two sets of 2018-batch trainee IAS and IPS officers have moved the apex court — one group of 20 candidates has challenged the Delhi High Court verdict that had quashed the entire cadre allocation process and the other group of five officers has filed a fresh writ petition seeking parity with 20 of their colleagues.

Several other trainee IAS and IPS officers have also sought implementation in these two petitions.

A vacation bench of justices Deepak Gupta and Surya Kant said prima facie it did not agree with the High Court's view. PTI

Nath seeks over ₹800 crore Central grant to tackle crime against women in MP

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Madhya Pradesh Chief Minister Kamal Nath has met Home Minister Amit Shah seeking over ₹800 crore as central grant to check crime against women and children in his State more effectively. In his meeting with the Union Home Minister on Sunday, the Chief Minister also sought for more funds for the police infrastructure from the central schemes.

Nath, who took over as the chief minister in December, has also written a letter to the home minister in this regard. In the letter, he drew the home minister's attention towards one of the sensitive issues of the crime against women and children.

"Considering the sensitivity of this issue, the state government is proposing a project for comprehensive set up of investigating officers/legal advisors/prosecutors and counselors apart from DNA laboratories and mobile forensic teams exclusively for dealing with the crime against women and children. The Budget outlay required is ₹880 crore," Nath said.

He requested the home minister to support this initiative as "this will help in dealing with one of the most sensitive issues in the state".

CBI books Army techie for bribery

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The CBI has booked a Military Engineering Service (MES) engineer for taking bribe from the employee of an air conditioning plant maintenance contractor at Army Command in Udhampur.

Complainant Kuldeep Kumar alleged in his complaint, now part of the FIR, that Junior Engineer Mohammad Khurshed Ansari posted at Garrison Engineer (Utility), MES, Udhampur allegedly took bribe of ₹4,000 per month from his salary of Rs 10,000 per month.

Kumar was working on behalf of contractor Manjeet at the AC plant of the Army Command in Udhampur under the supervision of Ansari.

The CBI has booked Ansari for alleged corruption under Jammu and Kashmir Prevention of Corruption Act. Ansari had allegedly threatened Kumar that he will be removed from service if he does not pay the bribe and will be murdered if he disclosed it to anyone. Ansari allegedly took the bribe amount of ₹4,000 per month for the last five months, according to the FIR.

In his complaint, Kumar said that his wife remains ill and he has two children and unable to run his family with his meagre income and the bribe amount being taken by Ansari is leading to immense financial hardship.

The complainant also stated that he never wanted to pay the bribe to Ansari but continued doing so due to not being highly educated and was unaware of the legal remedies available. He lodged the complaint after coming to know of the CBI.

The CBI conducted a discreet enquiry following a complaint from Kumar and the verification by the agency revealed the allegations to be true and genuine, added the FIR.

IAF AN-32 CRASH

Black box damaged in air crash

Investigation to ascertain cause to be delayed

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The probe to find out the cause leading to the AN-32 plane crash may get delayed as its black box or flight data recorder is damaged. The black box was brought from the crash site three days back and the investigators are trying to retrieve the data from the instrument. Meanwhile, operation is in full swing to recover the mortal remains of all the 13 on board. Scores of helicopters are flying sorties for this purpose.

It is feared that the plane hit a mountain top leading to the crash. However, the data from the black box and the court of inquiry will establish the cause of the mishap, sources said here on Monday. As regards the damage caused to the black box, they said the Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL) help will be sought for retrieving the data or may be sent to some other agency. It was also learnt that Eastern Command chief Air Marshal R K Mathur's scheduled visit to Bangladesh was postponed as he is supervising the salvage operations.

The plane had gone missing on June 3 while on a flight from Jorhat in Assam for Mechuka advanced landing ground in Arunachal Pradesh and the wreckage was spotted eight days later near the landing ground at a height of 12,000 feet amidst dense jungles atop a steep ridge. Teams of IAF, Army and civilian mountaineers trekked in the rugged terrain to reach the spot to recover the black box and look for any survivors.

Given the nature of terrain and inclement weather, the search operation is facing a major challenge for the mountaineering team and the IAF has deployed more than eight helicopters for retrieval of mortal remains, sources said. They also said more than 200 sorties were carried out since the search and rescue effort commenced on June 3 over an area of 1,000 sq.km. The debris of the ill-fated plane was finally spotted by a MI-17 helicopter in Lipo.

There are more than 100 AN-32 twin-engine turbo-prop transport planes with the IAF. These Russian origin planes were inducted in the mid 1980s. After a crash in 2009 near Mechuka killing all 13 passengers, a contract was inked for 400 million dollars with Ukraine for upgrade. So far, 50 planes have been retrofitted. However, the plane which crashed on June 3 was non-upgraded.

Mechuka advanced landing ground located at an altitude of 6,000 feet is the lifeline for troops deployed on the Line of Actual Control (LAC) facing China in Arunachal Pradesh. The planes and helicopters ferry personnel, food and ammunition from Mechuka which is about 30kms from the LAC as the crew flies.

Trinamool Congress' Nowsara, North 24 Parganas, MLA Sunil Singh along with 12 councillors join the BJP in New Delhi on Monday in presence of leaders Kailash Vijayaragav and Mukul Roy. Singh is brother-in-law of BJP's Barakpore MP Arjun Singh, who had himself switched sides from the TMC ahead of the Lok Sabha elections. Sunil Singh is also the chairperson of TMC-run Garulia municipality. North 24 Parganas is at the centre of mass exodus from TMC. PTI

PAPER WITH PASSION

Not worth the hype

While India should be grateful that it played Pak despite the weather, its two points in World Cup were never in doubt

Freshly minted member of the Lok Sabha and a hero of India's 2011 World Cup run, Gautam Gambhir mentioned in a post-match television show that Pakistan is not the cricket team it once was and the essence of the India-Pakistan rivalry in cricket is not quite the same anymore. Looking at the evidence of the recent past, with the exception of the Champions Trophy finals loss to Pakistan, India has become so much better as a cricket team that it has left its neighbour way behind. A whole generation of Indians grew up traumatised by Javed Miandad's last-ball six of Chetan Sharma in Sharjah. The names of Pakistan's greats were on our tongues and beating powerful teams in that era was an achievement. We all celebrated when a teenager Sachin Tendulkar emerged on the scene, smashing four sixes of Abdul Qadir, announcing himself to the world. The 1992 World Cup win over Pakistan, where the antics between Kiran More and Miandad could not be forgotten by those who witnessed it, India's legendary victory in Bengaluru in 1996 and the 2011 win at Mohali are matches whose memory will live long. Sunday's match at Old Trafford, Manchester, though will not join that pantheon of amazing World Cup matches between the two nations, it will just be India's seventh straight victory at the global tournament.

Of course, the Pakistani establishment's antipathy towards India and support to terrorists have led to a suspension of India-Pakistan sporting ties. So any current contest between these two nation states, forged in the violence of the Partition of pre-independence India, tends to be hyped up. That is also in small part due to the rise of political forces who have made nationalism their main plank in both nations. Yet, despite the serendipitous rise of India as a cricketing powerhouse over the past decade, there was in many Indian fans a feeling of regret at the decline of Pakistan. Yes, our errant neighbour played and won a great match against pre-tournament favourites England but the World Cup hosts contributed immensely to their own decline in that match. There is no doubt that Pakistani cricket has suffered immensely from the effective global boycott of tours in their nation, with most tours being played in the United Arab Emirates. The Pakistan Super League is but a poor imitation of the Indian Premier League (IPL) and with a fraction of the monetary riches. The IPL, despite its detractors, has played a critical role in identifying and grooming domestic talent in India, gradually building a second line of talent. Players like Hardik Pandya and Ravindra Jadeja are gems formed in that competitive and literally hot cauldron. This should be evidence to the powers that be in Pakistan that their isolation is not just leading to a declining economy but also impacting their sporting prowess. Once upon a time, the world trembled at the Wasim Akram and Waqar Younis duo, the elegance of Saïed Anwar and lackadaisical charm of Inzamam u-Haq. Now no Pakistani player is mentioned in the same breath as most members of the Indian playing XI, with the exception of Mohammad Amir, an exceptional fast bowler but also a convicted match-fixer. Pakistan should pursue for peace and dismantle its terror network not just for economic reasons but to revive its moribund cricket scene. And even if Imran Khan does not understand the economy, he, more than anyone else, should be able to see the decline in Pakistani cricket.

Another tiger crisis

The odd killing of elephants by tigers at Corbett is not just aberrant behaviour, it is about survival

Tigers tend to get maligned every time they display aberrant behaviour and become the subject of alarmist headlines that make them a feared monstrosity rather than the endangered species that they could become. Yet the fact of the matter is we need to study the conditions and reasons for their uncharacteristic behaviour and mutations and factor them in future wildlife conservation policies. The latest Government study, done with the Corbett National Park authorities, which has found that park tigers have killed and eaten elephants, at first sounds incredible and unbelievable. Considering the different physical dimensions of both creatures and the fact that elephants move in herds, a tiger's kill potential indeed seems microscopic. But it is not impossible, considering the tiger is remarkably agile, adaptive, has penetrative canines and claws and is extremely intelligent, isolating stray members of any pack animal before the hunt. Elephant calves can become its prime target, even born out by the study which says that carcasses of the young were the maximum among the 60 per cent deaths because of tiger attacks. Besides, the big cat attacks the trunk, the major food conduit of the elephant which usually dies on its own subsequently, unable to eat and nourish itself back to health. Also, as the Sundarbans tiger has shown, the big cat can alter hunting behaviour according to its location. For example, African leopards have taken down the largest antelopes as elands, greater kudus and wildebeests, though they are more than five times heavier than their own size. Lions, too, there have taken down elephant calves. Which is why the study is worrying wildlife experts as tigers usually don't eat elephants and this could be the beginning of a new intra-wild species conflict.

Not that the alerts haven't been there. Instances of tigers charging at elephants have been fairly videographed in Corbett. We also seem to have not learnt our lessons despite isolated cases settling down into a patterned behaviour. In 2017, six elephants died in Kerala's Wayanad wildlife sanctuary in tiger attacks, triggered as they were by bitter turf wars over scarce water in a drought year. Tigers are already bearing the brunt of over-population, reduced roaming territories and prey base, broken habitats and migration corridors as well as human encroachment. All this is challenging their primal instincts and forcing them into evolving survival tactics given the context they find themselves in. So cattle-lifting and man-eating are not just about an old territorial tiger anymore but regulars who are getting accustomed to easy prey options. Even Corbett in-charge Sanjiv Chaturvedi admitted that tigers "need comparatively less amount of efforts and energy in killing an elephant as against that needed in hunt of sambar and cheetal. It is large quantum of food for them too." He said the national park has a unique ecosystem with more elephants than tigers, 1,100 against 225, unlike other national parks like Ranthambore, Kanha and Bandhavgarh. Does this mean that Corbett tigers are working out their own kill choices depending on easy availability of a stray calf or a sick pachyderm? That they are feeding on elephants, which were killed in herd infighting, also proves that they are changing the rules of hunt and game. Does it mean they are prioritising easy availability as evidenced in tiger attacks on elephants in Kaziranga too? If this is an emergent crisis, then we need to develop strategies to save both species. Buried in the report is also the fact that most tiger deaths are because of infighting over mating and territorial rights. Has the tiger then been literally pushed into a corner?

The declining fortunes of the two communist parties, CPI and CPI(M), which started from West Bengal, have been a body blow to the communist movement

A SURYA PRAKASH

Friedrich Engels had said that one of the principal outcomes of the proletarian revolution would be the withering away of the State. In India, post-2019, the State has emerged stronger than ever before and it is the communist parties which are actually withering away. While much of the focus after the recent Lok Sabha election has been on the disastrous performance of the Congress, the real big story is the declining fortunes of the two communist parties in India.

The Left parties had a decent presence in several States in the early decades after independence. The undivided Communist Party of India (CPI) won 16 seats in the first Lok Sabha election in 1951-52. It rose to 29 seats in 1962 and got around nine per cent of the votes polled. After the party split, the CPI and the Communist Party of India (Marxist)-CPI(M) bagged 42 seats in 1967 but their vote share hovered around nine per cent. This trend continued for three decades. The two parties put up their best performance in 2004 when they together secured 53 seats in the Lok Sabha, although their vote share had dropped to around seven per cent. Thereafter, their fortunes crashed. In 2014, the two parties could win just 10 seats and their national vote share dropped to just four per cent. This time around, they are well below the danger mark having secured just five seats and about two per cent of the national vote.

The decline of the two communist parties and their fellow travellers in the Left Front can be traced to the loss of popularity in their strongholds in West Bengal and Tripura and their fluctuating fortunes in Kerala. The Left's fall is most noticeable in West Bengal where its vote share has crashed from 50.70 per cent and 32 seats in 2004 to 6.28 per cent and zero seats in 2019. While most political parties around the world, including communist parties, reinvent themselves to stay afloat and win popular support, the CPI and the CPI(M) have stubbornly stuck to the theories and slogans that defined them decades ago. Their ideas about the working class and organised labour and about the capitalist-proletariat binary remain unchanged, even though the world has moved on.

This writer found examples of this during the Lok Sabha poll in West Bengal, where during the road shows, CPI(M) cadres kept chanting "Inqilab Zindabad" while waving their red hammer and sickle flags. Which revolution were they talking about in this day and age when the market economy rules the roost? The best example of how these two parties are completely out of sync with today's reality is their refusal to acknowledge the advantages accruing to the poorest of the poor through many innovative schemes like the Pradhan Mantri Mudra Yojana, the Pradhan Mantri Ujjwala Yojana, Pradhan Mantri Jan Dhan Yojana and the direct benefit transfer scheme. Mudra is an innovative programme launched by Prime Minister Narendra Modi to kindle the entrepreneurial spirit among poorer sections of society and to bring about a dramatic shift in their social and economic conditions.

Under the scheme, the Government provides loans to individuals from poorer sections of society to establish their own businesses and pursue entrepreneurship. The idea is to "fund the unfunded." They get loans ranging from ₹50,000 to ₹10 lakh. These small entrepreneurs and businessmen in turn employ five to 10 people to run their enterprise — be it a small eatery, a bakery, a garment or leather-goods-making micro unit or a tea stall. These Mudra beneficiaries can be found all over the country and the programme has the potential to bring about noticeable change in the living conditions of the under-privileged classes. This writer met many beneficiaries during travels in several States recently. Available data on the Mudra scheme is indeed heartening. Women entrepreneurs are the major beneficiaries of Mudra loans across sectors and constitute 70 per cent of those who have taken advantage of this scheme. Early this year, the Government announced that it had disbursed loans amounting to ₹7.23 lakh crore.

Under the Ujjwala programme, the Government provides free cooking gas connection to families below the poverty line. Thus far, over 70 million families have benefited from it. Another such scheme with far-reaching impact is the aim to build homes for the poor and toilets in every home. Though some of these schemes were initiated by previous Governments, their implementation was sluggish in the absence of motivation and commitment. Delivery of these schemes has picked up pace after Modi became the Prime Minister in 2014.

All these schemes are aimed at ensuring the dignity of women and children, improving their living environment and health and offering them incentives to better the quality of lives. One would have thought that programmes of this kind would be hailed by the communists, but that has not happened. The spokespersons of these two parties have been consistently running down the Mudra Yojana and all other schemes meant exclusively to better the lives of the poorer classes, simply because they were launched by Prime Minister Modi and he is the driving force to ensure their completion within the shortest possible time. The election results show that this kind of negativity has not gone down well with the people.

There are many other factors which have rendered the two communist parties unpopular. The first of these is their approach to secularism. The two parties have moved far away from the Shah Bano days when Somnath Chatterjee, Saifuddin Choudhury and several others took on the Muslim clergy and strongly opposed the Rajiv Gandhi Government's decision to bring in a law to prevent Muslim women from taking benefit of a civil law and a Supreme Court judgement providing maintenance to divorced women. That was in 1986. However, over the last three decades, the Left has become the standard-bearer of the pseudo-secular brigade, become hostile to the Hindu majority in the country and is pretending as if radical Islam is not an issue at all. The most recent example of its contempt for Hindu sentiment is the way it handled the Sabarimala issue and encouraged individuals to deride Hindus, their customs and way of life. Where will they go from here? Will they do what the British Labour Party did some decades ago and change the way they think and work? If they again turn left, it's a dead-end. If they turn right, they will cease to be left. Where are they headed? The nation says to know.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Matter of public health

Sir — This refers to the editorial, "Needed, a healing touch" (June 15). Opposition leaders of different parties, including West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, have always been united on various aspects in agitating against the ruling Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP). All those leaders have maintained a curious silence over the lawful agitation by doctors of Government hospitals in Bengal, which affected healthcare services in other parts of the country as well, with doctors standing united with their counterparts in West Bengal.

Leaders of other political parties should have exhibited their loyalty to national and public interest by going to Kolkata to persuade Banerjee to mend her ways and help in ending the strike by Government doctors earlier. She should take strict action against those guilty of beating doctors in Government hospitals. It is praiseworthy that Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan made a humble appeal to Banerjee to ensure an immediate end to the

Save our children

The deaths of children hit by encephalitis in Bihar are being underplayed by the Government and it is understandable. But the under-reporting of this unprecedented health crisis by the media is puzzling. They have not made front-page news or produced editorials. Nor have they become a topic for "panel discussions" on prime-time television. May be, it is still a "developing story." Anyway, they are a sad commentary on the abysmal state of food security and health care systems in the State. It would be a betrayal of humanity to ignore the mostly young deaths, develop a sort of mental resistance to them or accept them as normal state of affairs in our country. The Central Government has a convenient excuse — the State machinery could not undertake awareness drives because of election-related work. Clearly, the victims were under-nourished infants from impoverished families. These were all avoidable deaths caused by chronic malnutrition and woefully inadequate healthcare. Much was promised under food secucontroversial, creating panic and forcing people from all walks of life to come out on the streets to protest. Nearly two million people have taken part in a mass protest. It is clear that most people in Hong Kong fear this proposed law as it is a matter of historical conflict between China and Hong Kong. The Bill itself was ill-conceived, flawed and open to abuse. Had it got a rity and healthcare but little has been delivered. In a State like Kerala, with high human development indices, mass infant deaths like that in Muzaffarpur do not occur. There is no reason why Bihar cannot take Kerala as a model and improve its public healthcare delivery system. Saving the lives of children is an enormous task in the present social and economic context. Needless to say, it must get priority.

Special status mania

Sir — Former Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister Chandrababu Naidu had locked horns with Prime Minister Narendra Modi on the issue of special status to his State. Now new Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister Jagannathan Reddy is toying his predecessor's line. Odisha and Bihar, too, are in the queue demanding special status. Special status will ensure that 90 per cent of the Central funds for State projects, routed through the National Development Council under the Planning Commission, will be given as grants. The Special status pitch, if considered by the Centre, will lead to other States demanding the same.

Competitive federalism will be a non-starter if States keep demanding Central largesse. Instead, they must focus on implementing wider reforms and more equitable investment throughout the State.

A new route to Central Asia

For India, the SCO's significance lies in enhancing peace and security and accelerating economic ties in the Eurasian region

ABHISHEK PRATAP SINGH

The recently concluded Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) summit in Bishkek marked a key development towards "strengthening multi-lateral cooperation" in the vast Eurasian region. The summit holds importance given the much media hype and speculation surrounding India and Pakistan, unilateral US sanctions against Iran following the former's withdrawal from the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action and the ongoing trade war between China and the US. The summit was set to advance a wide-ranging multi-lateral agenda as agreed under the Bishkek Declaration (May 2019). Discussions around global security, multilateral economic cooperation, people-to-people exchanges and issues of regional importance were key highlights of the meet.

As an important trans-regional grouping, the idea of SCO was envisioned by China in 2001 to address its peripheral concerns and traces back its origin to Shanghai Five (1996). Over the years, the group has evolved itself as a "primary political and security organisation" in the Eurasian region. The SCO has evolved its agenda for cooperation on security, trade and investment, connectivity, energy and culture among partner countries. The "added space" which SCO membership provides, also makes for good show of political stamanship. For Russia, India and China, the SCO provides an expansive platform for engagement beyond the BRICS framework. Ever since it got the role of observer status in SCO (2005), India has been keenly displaying its desire "to play larger, wider and more constructive role in the SCO." After becoming a full-time member in 2017, it emphasised its key role to advance its "Connect Central Asia" diplomacy. Crucially, India had bilateral meetings with Russia and China at the sidelines of the summit. The "wide-ranging discussions" meeting between Prime Minister Modi and Russian President Putin was significant to boost the India-Russia strategic relationship with a focus on next year's summit. Both countries seek to capitalise on concerns about China and it exercising disproportionate influence in Central Asia. The combined trade share of both countries with Central Asian states is far less in comparison to $100 plus trade between China and Central Asia. India also received invitation to be the "main guest" at the Eastern Economic Forum, 2019 hosted by Russia. Both nations reiterated wider cooperation in energy sector, Arctic region, transfer of technology and joint projects under "Make in India" initiative and also aimed to attract Indian manpower in resource-rich far East Russia.

The bilateral meeting between Prime Minister Modi and President Xi noted the gains of strategic communication as agreed upon last year in the context that both have been able to resolve long-pending issues like opening of the Bank of China branch in India and the listing of Masood Azhar as a global terrorist. The warmth of the "Wuhan Spirit", based on broader understanding, was well evident as both leaders had fruitful delegation level meeting and President Xi accepted the offer of second informal summit in India this year. The inauguration of "India Kyrzyz Business Forum" was the key development during the summit as both states noted the developments on Double Taxation Avoidance Agreement and the bilateral investment treaty. Almost 15 agreements were signed.

The summit endorsed India's efforts to build global consensus to "fight terrorism" and exposed state sponsors of terror. All member countries came to a consensus on a statement against terrorism, which was reflected in the joint declaration. During his address, Modi emphasised that "countries will have to come out of their narrow purview and unite." On other issues of concerns, India pushed for flexible visa norms for SCO countries, stability in Afghanistan for the establishment of regional peace and acceleration of economic ties. The Prime Minister's speech highlighted the importance of "security and peace" as a key concern.

India has always looked upon SCO as a key platform towards fostering "constructive engagement" among partner states. Its main goal is to enhance economic cooperation with Eurasian states and benefit from security frameworks. The geographical and strategic spaces, which SCO covers, remain critical for India's interests. The historic visit of Prime Minister Modi to five Central Asian states in July 2015 had called for wider cooperation with the region, which proved how India enjoys "immense goodwill" and "soft power appeal" among Central Asian states. Given the rising US protectionism and constraints in the international economy, India will have to navigate the US-China situation, as noted by Indian Foreign Minister, which also impacts SCO countries. The economic component of SCO still remains at "nascent stage" and the summit did make some forward moves in this direction. It is necessary that SCO remains attached with its consequent economic role for the Eurasian region in a more open, balanced and multi-lateral framework by forging developmental cooperation in areas such as economy, trade, investment, energy, connectivity and capacity development.

Glimmer of hope

The draft New Education Policy intends to introduce broad reforms. But for it to be successful, the objectives of teacher preparation must be achieved effectively

JS RAJPUT

I was indeed very encouraging that on the very first day of his taking over the charge of the Indian education system, the new Human Resource Development Minister released the much-awaited draft of the New Education Policy (draft NEP-19). In a welcome move, the draft — both in English and Hindi — was promptly put on the Ministry's website. This is an outcome of nation-wide consultations that extended over three-and-a-half years. It must be appreciated across the board that the MHRD has again invited inputs that people, institutions, organisations, experts and others may like to submit after going through the draft. The MHRD shall be considering these before the final policy is announced. The draft report clearly indicates how relevant it has become in the globalised world to ensure active dynamism in education policy formulation to ensure it remains relevant to absorb challenges that are emerging before nations at an unprecedented pace.

The deliberations — before and after the finalisation of the policy — shall invariably make references to the earlier education policies, particularly those of 1968, 1986 and 1992. The contents of these earlier reports — at least in academic and professional circles — shall be scrutinised in the context of what was proposed and to what extent it was really achieved in actual implementation. Chapter five of the draft NEP-19 on "teachers" begins with the objective: "Ensure that all students at all levels of school education are taught by passionate, motivated, highly qualified, professionally trained and well-equipped teachers." Indeed, this is a very well thought out comprehensive policy statement that encompasses every aspect of what a child, community or society could expect from a teacher.

It will be relevant to recall the initial statement of the National Policy on Education of 1986/92 (NPE 86/92): "The status of the teacher reflects the socio-cultural ethos of the society. It is said that no people can rise above the level of its teachers. The Government and community should endeavour to create conditions, which will help motivate and inspire teachers on constructive and creative lines. Teachers should have freedom to innovate, to develop appropriate methods of communication and activities relevant to the needs and capabilities of and the concerns of the community." The NPE-86/92 made a very strong statement that "the system of teacher education will be overhauled." It went ahead to recommend the reorganisation of the methods of recruitment of teachers to ensure "merit, objectivity and conformity with spatial and functional requirements." One was apt to see in the deliberations of the 1992 policy revision and formulation and it was agreed upon that there was no need to make any changes in what was already stated in the NPE-86 on teachers and teacher education.

It is understood that that was envisaged in earlier policies finds a place again in the new draft, which has comprehensively captured the teacher-education scenario as it exists today. It has given indications for formulating a well-thought out plan of action in preparation of teachers, who are supposed to be "passionate, motivated and well-qualified, and well trained in content, pedagogy and practice." The NPE-92 had assured overhauling of the system of teacher education and in pursuance of the same, several schemes were launched by the Union Government. One of these was the enactment of the National Council for Teacher Education (NCTE) Act and also the formulation of a scheme of restructuring and revisiting teacher education.

Let us take up NCTE first. It was the fulfillment of demand of senior and sincere teacher educators for over 20 years to create a regulatory body for teacher education institutions as they were not satisfied with the manner universities were handling recognition and regulation of teacher education institutions. There were serious concerns about the restructuring and renewal of programmes, content and pedagogy, which had become out of date. It was inadequate and unable to respond to fast-changing scenarios in school education with the advent of computers, internet and universalisation of the accessibility of the Information and Communication Technology. The demand for the creation of a statutory NCTE was also accentuated by the mushrooming of correspondence courses that were initiated by some universities to clear the backlog of large number of untrained teachers in schools. State Governments had begun to squeeze the grants to universities, some brilliant minds converted correspondence courses into degree-awarding resource generating adventures. Every policy implementer in education must comprehend that the decline in the quality of teacher education began mainly because of gross misuse of the distance education mode by university dons, vice chancellors and the University Grants Commission (UGC). The UGC was granting "yearly" permission to continue the BE courses through correspondence, without in any way assessing the quality of courses and products. The NCTE became functional around 1994-95 and in spite of serious hurdles, could discipline the truant universities. Things changed within five-six years, the NCTE decided to sail along with the tide, the number of private BE colleges mushroomed and today it is touching 20,000. It will be a tough task to create a regulatory mechanism that will enjoy credibility among the aspiring teachers. Comprehension of "Why the NCTE; or other regulatory bodies could not attain and maintain credibility" will determine the fate of the success or otherwise of the proposed mechanism that separates funding, standard setting, regulation and accreditation.

Education policy-makers were knowledgeable enough to include in the NPE-86 that: "Teachers form the very heart of the education process — all teachers will have academic and professional support within a motivating environment and culture." Towards this, the Government of India offered extensive financial and professional support to State Governments to re-energise their teacher education institutions. The scheme of establishing a District Institute of Education and Training (DIET) had the potential to transform the very face of school education in India. It had all the potential to create a vibrant professional community of teachers. However, most State Governments did not make regular appointments to academic positions even against posts for which the Union Government provided full financial support. They preferred to bring in people on deputation.

Similar was the fate of colleges of Teacher Education and Institutes of Advanced Studies in education. These and similar schemes were revisited — and redesigned — a couple of times but the originally expected vibrancy always evaded actual implementation. When private entrepreneurs witness Government institutions "do not even attempt to provide a good education; instead many are functioning as commercial shops." And hundreds of thousands of young people with BE degrees from such institutions are either already in the system or are ready to enter it. When the Teachers Eligibility Tests were conducted during the initial years, those who could clear it ranged from one to seven per cent.

But there is a ray of hope. The objectives of teacher preparation could indeed be achieved effectively if everyone learns sincerely and seriously from the success of the past and more than that from the failures encountered so far. One wonders how long teachers in sarkari schools shall continue to be assigned non-teaching functions by district administrations in spite of repeated recommendations not to do so and even court judgments being in support of it. Is it not cruel to children in a two-teacher school if both teachers are sent out for months together for census, cattle-head counting, vaccination or elections being held rather regularly? States have shunned their responsibility for decades together by not appointing regular teachers. One simply hopes that official hypocrisy will vanish in future and recommendations made (once again) regarding teacher recruitment will sincerely be implemented within a time-frame. The Indian teacher education system still has — though in a small proportion — dedicated institutions and academics who are convinced that they are lucky enough to get an opportunity to prepare teachers for tomorrow. Thus, they are making the future of India. Let them be identified, given the responsibility, inspire and encourage others to become partners in building new India. India can learn a lot from how Japan — a highly demoralised nation after World War II — could achieve an unprecedented transformation through its teachers: Known for producing worst products in 50s, the best of the products now come from Japan. Yes, teachers did it. It was the teacher community that convinced young impressionable children that anything they do must be for the welfare of their country. That they owe it to Japan to work hard, never waste time and equip them continuously to perform better. India has the experience. It can achieve a real change after the new education policy is formally announced.

Devaluation of care labourers

We are all receivers as well as givers of care, acted upon as well as agents. This is a difficult position to understand politically, but strength and human cooperation can arise only from our recognition of our mutual interdependence

SURAVI SHARMA

The Indian healthcare sector, mostly comprising Government hospitals, saves more lives, relieves more pain and suffering with available resources (India's healthcare GDP percentage is 2.5 in contrast to 11.2 in Europe and 17.9 in North America) than any other country in the world. Yet, the sector has become a public punching bag. Care-related work has metamorphosed into a notion of seva, allowing room to curtail the rights of health workers (skilled and unskilled like the ASHA workers and the like) and their resistance is being labelled as "immoral".

As per Joan Tronto's theorisation of "care ethics", it is an approach to personal, social, moral and political life that starts from the reality that all human beings need and receive care and also give care to others. Care relationships among humans are part of what mark us as human beings; we are always inter-dependent. In today's context, we can argue that care work in India has been normalised as "voluntary". A moral tone has been given to the highest skilled worker and the unskilled care-giver all alike.

In recent times, health and allied policies have resulted in a major restructuring of the healthcare system. However, the structural transformation most visible to us is the "privatisation" of healthcare, coupled with hardline nationalist language. If we trace history, we will see that changes during the first few decades after independence were at least at the level of planning and there was some commitment to public health. But by the 1990s, health investments were at the lowest and public-private partnerships took over.

Fundamental deficiencies of the country maintain status quo, which are the lack of provision for safe drinking water, sanitation, basic medical care along with lack of civic sense and ethical behaviour in "care receivers". This is a reflection of the lack of attention to the state of healthcare in a country that touches millions of lives in the corridors of an over-populated Government hospital, resulting in outbursts and breakdown of the health ecosystem at the grassroots level as well as in tertiary care centres. This unsettles the morale of healthcare professionals, who invest a whole decade or more acquiring degrees and experience and in the process, losing the larger picture of the society they belong to. Incidents of assaults on health practitioners demoralise them and degrade the noble profession of medical care giving.

It is understood that such intolerant behaviour is not seen in other professions like the police, who also deal with agitated people or one's overwhelmed with emotions. This is simply because people are aware of the dire consequences of misbehaving with the trained individual who is equipped with arms and trained in legal affairs. Can the Government provide the doctors' community with similar training? Can our policy-makers mandate a physical fitness training, push a law and create a legal cell for frontline medical staff? The other option, of course, is to provide a healthy environment in Government hospitals in spite of overcrowding so that doctors (and healthcare providers) can apply their minds to the best of their capability instead of staying alert, anticipating assaults and threats from a care-seeker from among the crowd that encircles him/her waiting around his/her table, jostling and pushing one another as they wait for their turn to treat.

The social aspect of the state of affairs hindering medical care delivery calls for a public health approach around the perspective that provision of basic needs is the key to good health. And it includes sanitation, safe drinking water, right to treatment, security for care providers and mandatory good civic sense among care receivers at the hospital interface. A healthy working climate allows a practitioner to re-commit to caring, continue the professional's tradition of guarding the dignity of people and shape the social climate within which they practise. A healthcare provider can become a powerful advocate for a climate of caring because of unique perspectives. A lack of it may lead to a collapse of healthcare services, pushing many to the death hole or complicate the state of diseases, leading to prolonged sufferings.

Social movements have also fuelled new problems, namely de-personalisation of the patients and violation of the right to self-determination, as witnessed in the disability rights movement, AIDS movement, queer movement and campaign against clinical trials among others. De-personalisation is reflected in all spheres of healthcare and in the context of Government hospitals with corridors and doctors' chambers choking with patients — there is hardly a culture of courtesy and social grace. In these over-populated set-ups, the first casualty is basic human empathy — all we get is brusqueness, negligence of good manners or the right words, disregard for bed-side manner, which to a patient means bringing him/her hope and comfort to his/her recumbent or expiring patient. The much-needed bed-side manner is nothing but a sneering jibe in today's state of healthcare system where every patient is eagerly awaiting his turn and competing with one another for the doctor's attention when they are compelled to complete/accomplish care-giving with optimal use of time and exchange of words.

Patients argue that healthcare providers fail to recognise that illness and disability are states charged with personal meaning. Instead of communicating with patients, they often establish distance that diminishes them. They withhold information in a manner that precludes hope, use aloof manners and misuse powers. These discourage patients. Patients appreciate the care-provider to value interactive reasoning and thereby enact a climate of caring. It is important to realise that we are all receivers as well as givers of care, acted upon as well as agents. This is a difficult position to understand politically, but strength and human cooperation can arise only from our recognition of our mutual interdependence.

ICICI moves NCLAT to seek early hearing on JAL

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Private sector lender ICICI Bank on Monday approached the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT), seeking a direction to NCLT Allahabad to hear urgently its insolvency petition against Jaiprakash Associates Ltd (JAL) and pass the order without any further delay.

In its plea before the appellate tribunal, ICICI Bank submitted that there has been no progress in its insolvency petition filed against JAL, which was filed in September last year. The bank alleged that Jaiprakash groups flagship firm is delaying admission of the insolvency plea by approaching several judicial forums.

ICICI Bank also said that hearing before the Allahabad bench of National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) was adjourned almost 12 times from September 10, 2018, to May 27, 2019, and such adjournments were "unfairly delaying" the resolution process.

Hearing the matter, a single-member NCLAT bench of Justice Bansilal Bhat directed to list ICICI Bank's plea on July 1 for hearing.

JAL owes around ₹1,296 crore and the bank had approached NCLT to recover the dues by filing an insolvency plea against the company under section 7 of the Insolvency & Bankruptcy Code (IBC). However, JAL challenged the ICICI Bank petition before the Allahabad High Court but the same was rejected. Later, JAL moved Supreme Court, which too refused to stay the application.

"However, despite this, there is no development in this matter," said ICICI Bank counsel on Monday.

"We want direction to NCLAT to expedite the matter," the counsel said, alleging that the proceedings before NCLAT are being played into the hands of the JAL promoters.

JAL has requested the appellate tribunal to "direct NCLT, Allahabad Bench to hear the (matter) ... On an urgent and day-to-day basis and pass final order of disposal ... Expediently and without any further delay."

ICICI Bank also alleged that JAL is delaying the insolvency resolution process by approaching several judicial forums "only to prolong and delay the admission of the Insolvency Application".

"It is submitted that the Respondent (JAL) has been deliberately abusing insolvency resolution process by approaching different forums to stay or set aside the Insolvency Application", it added.

JAL was in the RBI's second list of 26 defaulters, against which banking sector regulator had directed to initiate insolvency process.

Jet Airways shares dip 18%

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Shares of Jet Airways plunged 18 per cent on Monday as stock exchanges last week decided to impose restrictions on its trading from June 28.

The scrip tumbled 16.76 per cent to close at ₹68.30 on the BSE. During the day, it plummeted 19.56 per cent to hit a multi-year low of ₹66.

At the NSE, shares plunged 18 per cent to close at ₹66.95. On the traded volume from 26 lakh shares were traded on the BSE and over two crore shares on the NSE during the day.

In 11 trading days since May 30, the scrip tumbled 54.72 per cent from ₹150.85 on the BSE. The company's market valuation has fallen by ₹937.13 crore in these 11 trading days.

Stock exchanges will impose restrictions on trading in Jet Airways shares from June 28 as part of preventive surveillance measures to curb excessive volatility, according to a circular issued last week.

The cash-starved airline suspended operations in April. In a circular on Wednesday, the NSE said shares of the company would be shifted from "Rolling Segment to Trade for Trade Segment, wherein the settlement in the scrip will take place on gross basis with 100 per cent upfront margin and 5 per cent price band."

There are restrictions in trading of shares that are under Trade for Trade Segment.

Financial stability a key metric for monetary policy now: Das

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Financial stability has emerged as a key consideration for monetary policy formulation in the post-2008 financial crisis world beyond the imperatives of inflation and growth, Reserve Bank Governor Shaktikanta Das said Monday.

A healthy financial sector is a pre-requisite to improve growth prospects, he said, and expressed confidence that the end of political uncertainty with the recent polls and continuation of economic reforms may lead to a reversal of the current weaknesses.

The comments come amid a slew of troubles plaguing the NBFCs which account for a fifth of the credit market.

The central bank is taking a "fresh look" at shadow banking regulation and supervision, and is also monitoring the activities of large NBFCs with a view to ensure financial stability, Das said.

He said while a "delicate balance" is necessary between inflation and growth in setting the monetary policy in a flexible inflation targeting framework like the one we adopted since the past two years, financial stability is also important in the present context.

"Financial stability has emerged as another key consideration for monetary policy, though the jury is still out as to whether it should be added as an explicit objective of monetary policy." Das told a group of senior IAS officers at the Lal Bahadur Shastri National Academy of Administration in Mussorie.

"The fact remains that though the focus of monetary policy is mainly inflation and growth, the underlying theme has always been financial stability," he added.

The RBI will focus on effective communication and coordination to "achieve broader macroeconomic objectives of price stability, growth and financial stability," he said, adding a healthy financial sector is a must to "reinvigorate" the sagging growth by improving investment climate.

Das said the Reserve Bank has accorded high policy attention to reform both banking and non-banking sectors, and expanded confidence that the new NPA guidelines will "sustain the improvements in credit culture."

On the crisis-hit NBFC sector, he said RBI has issued draft guidelines for liquidity framework and is "taking a fresh look at its regulatory and supervisory framework."

"His arduous endeavour to have an optimal level of regulation and supervision so that NBFCs are financially resilient and robust," he said, and reiterated that RBI will not hesitate to take any step to maintain financial stability.

The governor also said a number of steps were taken to improve commercial viability of urban co-operative banks like a proposal to establish an umbrella organisation and a centralised fraud registry for them and governance reforms.

"We are also encouraging voluntary merger and consolidation in the sector to help reduce operating costs, diversify risks and economise on capital," he added.

Pointing to the 2013 taper tantrum experience, he said market volatilities in emerging markets could have been avoided through clear advance communication on calibrated withdrawal of monetary policy accommodation.

Das said even after more than a decade since the global financial crisis and six years after the taper tantrum, the "global economy is still not on a stable growth path."

"India has continued to exhibit robust growth driven by consumption and investment demand in recent past. However, we have seen a loss of speed since the second half of FY19 as some drivers of growth, notably investment and exports, slowed down," he said, adding activity in agriculture and manufacturing moderated sharply.

It is expected that the end of political uncertainty associated with an election season and continuation of economic reforms would lead to a reversal of the current weaknesses in some of the indicators in our economy.

Banks give up on Jet Airways revival, choose to send it to NCLT

PTI ■ MUMBAI

State Bank of India-led consortium of lenders Monday decided to send the grounded Jet Airways to the National Company Law Tribunal.

The decision was taken after a meeting of the lenders.

"After due deliberations, the lenders have decided to seek resolution for Jet Airways under the bankruptcy code since only a conditional bid was received," SBI said in a statement.

The statement further said the move was necessitated as the prospective investor wants some SBI exemption deal the deal which can be worked out better under the IBC.

The bank said lenders have been taking efforts to find a resolution for the grounded carrier outside IBC but now have decided to seek a resolution within the IBC.

Impose green cess on polluting vehicles to support EVs: SMEV

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Electric vehicle makers' body SMEV Monday called for imposition of 'green cess' on polluting vehicles besides seeking putting of EVs in priority lending sector to accelerate creation of a robust ecosystem.

In its Budget wish list, the Society of Manufacturers of Electric Vehicles (SMEV) also asked the government for a dedicated allocation for 'clean air' campaign, which could be integrated under the Swachh Bharat Mission.

"We strongly advocate the imposition of a notional green cess on the polluting vehicles and use it to accelerate electric mobility," SMEV Director General Sohinder Gill said in a statement.

He further said funds generated from such a cess can help reduce burden on the Government exchequer.

"This fund could be utilised in the frontloading of incentives to customers and bring electric two-wheelers prices down to the level of petrol two-wheelers," Gill said.

UAE assures supply of oil, LPG to India despite tanker attacks: Pradhan

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Oil cartel OPEC member UAE has assured India of uninterrupted supply of oil and LPG despite disruptions in the Strait of Hormuz, Oil Minister Dharmendra Pradhan said Monday.

India is 83 per cent dependent on imports to meet its oil needs and is reliant on nations like the UAE to meet half of its cooking gas (LPG) needs.

Pradhan in Twitter posts said he held telephonic discussions with UAE Minister and Abu Dhabi National Oil Company (ADNOC) Group CEO Sultan Ahmed Al Jaber over tensions in the Gulf region following attacks on two oil tankers last week.

"Expressed concern at the supply disruptions in the Strait of Hormuz. Dr. Jaber assured me of oil and LPG supplies to India despite the disruptions," he tweeted.

Fitch lowers India's FY20 growth forecast for a 2nd time

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Fitch on Monday cut India's growth forecast for the fiscal year for a second time in a row to 6.6 per cent as manufacturing and agriculture sectors showed signs of slowing down over the past year.

The global rating agency had earlier in March lowered the growth estimate for 2019-20 to 6.8 per cent, from 7 per cent projected earlier, on weak momentum of the economy.

The cut in growth forecast comes ahead of the presentation of the Union Budget on July 5.

Indian economy grew at its slowest pace in five years at 6.8 per cent in 2018-19. In the January-March quarter, the growth slumped to a five-year low of 5.8 per cent. Following this India lost the fastest growing economy tag to China, which grew at 6.4 per cent in the same quarter.

"We see growth for FY2019-2020 printing at 6.6 per cent, before stepping up to 7.1 per cent in FY 2021-2022," Fitch Ratings said in its latest Global Economic Outlook.

RBI has projected a growth rate of 7 per cent for the current fiscal.

State and Group CEO of ADNOC re-affirmed India as an important partner for OPEC and expressed keen interest to further strengthen the India-OPEC partnership," he said.

Pradhan has been making calls to leaders of oil-rich nations ever since the BJP came back to power and he was re-appointed petroleum minister.

"Reviewed current developments in oil markets and ongoing supply disruptions. Expressed concern over significant oil price volatility and resulting challenges to Indian consumers," he said in his discussions with OPEC Secretary General.

India, he said, "will continue to work with OPEC membership on responsible oil pricing, which is the best interests of both producers and consumers."

Also, it was decided to work towards an early convening of the 4th India-OPEC high-level institutional dialogue, he added.

Encephalitis death toll rises to 103

Patna: Six more children died in Bihar's Muzaffarpur district on Monday, taking the toll due to suspected Acute Encephalitis Syndrome (AES) to 103 and prompting the state government to announce a slew of measures to tackle the situation.

According to a release issued by the district administration, 18 deaths were reported from the Kejrival hospital and 85 from the Sri Krishna Medical College and Hospital (SKMCH), where Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan had visited the patients on Sunday and assured their families of all possible help from the Centre.

While doctors have maintained that the deaths occurred due to AES, State officials claimed that most of the victims, below the age of 10, have died due to hypoglycaemia — a condition caused by low level of blood sugar, electrolyte imbalance due to high temperature and extreme humidity.

On Monday, five more children died at the SKMCH and one at the Kejrival hospital, while the condition of 12 patients at the two hospitals was stated to be serious, the release said.

Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan visited the hospitals at a high-level meeting in New Delhi, which was attended

A view of an over-crowded ward with children showing symptoms of Acute Encephalitis Syndrome (AES) as they undergo treatment at a hospital in Muzaffarpur on Monday by senior officials of the Health Ministry, Indian Council of Medical Research and the AIIMS.

Vardhan directed another high-level team to immediately visit the district and undertake necessary groundwork for the setting up of a state-of-the-art multidisciplinary research centre, according to a statement.

The National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) sent notices to the Union Health Ministry and the Bihar

Government over the deaths. It observed that despite reported measures taken by the Government agencies, deaths of children in such large number indicated a possible flaw in the implementation of vaccination and awareness programmes.

Chief Secretary Deepak Kumar said no clear cause of deaths could be ascertained so far and indicated that one of the reasons could be that no rainfall, even pre-monsoon rain, occurred in the district this year.

The chief secretary said the Government had also decided to send a team to each household, where children died due to suspected AES cases, in order to find out their social and economic background.

The purpose, he said, was to find out whether the deaths had any link with the background of the deceased families.

The official was speaking to reporters after a meeting chaired by Chief Minister Nitish Kumar on deaths from suspected AES cases and people dying due to heatwave.

The State Government would bear the cost of treatment of the affected children and reimburse the people reaching hospital by private vehicles if they do not get the ambulance facility, which is free, the official said.

The chief secretary stated that all the primary health centres (PHC) had been activated, adding that the units were equipped with administering saline and glucose.

He emphasised on the need to create awareness to prevent the disease and said children should be given ORS, should not be made to sleep with an empty stomach and reach the PHC as soon as possible.

The chief secretary, however, clarified that the percentage of deaths vis-a-vis the number of admissions of children in hospitals had declined to 26 per cent this year, which he said was 35-36 per cent in earlier years.

He added that the India Meteorological Department had said the heatwave conditions would continue for the next two days in various parts of the State. The department has forecast rainfall and thunderstorm on Wednesday in parts of the State. PTI

Yogi directs Education Dept officials to not hold files for more than 3 days

Lucknow: Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Monday directed officials of the Basic and Secondary Education Department to not hold files for more than three days otherwise strict action will be initiated against them.

He asked the officials to form 'Shiksha Seva Ayog' for recruitment of teachers.

Adityanath was holding a meeting with the officials of the state's Basic and Secondary Education Department.

"If any file stays for more than three days in the department, strict action will be taken against the officer concerned," he told the officials, reminding them for the delay in providing textbooks, bags and uniforms to children.

According to an official release, the chief minister said that selection to the post of principal should be done under the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission and Shiksha Seva Ayog should be formed to maintain transparency in the recruitment process.

During the meeting, he directed the officials to take measures to improve the quality of education in schools and asked them to conduct surprise visits at the educational institutions.

He also asked them to link Akshay Patra of Lucknow and Mathura with Aadhaar cards under the mid-day meal scheme.

According to the official release, instructions have also been issued to upgrade the Kasturba Gandhi Balika Vidyalaya up to secondary level and to check the quality of milk which is distributed once a week in the schools.

Adityanath said teachers in the state should be awarded and the criteria for honouring them fixed.

He added that 'Basic Shiksha Adhikari' (BSAs), who are serving at one place for many years, should be transferred.

The Chief Minister has asked the officials to visit the schools and communicate with the principals, teachers and employees twice in a year.

Deputy Chief Minister Dinesh Sharma, Minister of State for Basic Education and Child Development Anupama Jaiswal and UP Chief Secretary Anup Chandra Pandey were also present in the meeting. PTI

Akademi rejects Left Govt's decision to review cartoon award

Thiruvananthapuram (Ker): A State-run Akademi on Monday rejected the Left Government's decision to review its decision to honour a cartoon, depicting Bishop Franco Mullaik as a rooster and alluding to the rape charge against him, saying the jury's decision was final and Akademi would stand by it.

The decision was taken unanimously at the executive committee and the general council of the Kerala Lalithakala Akademi, which met at its headquarters here.

An autonomous cultural organisation of the government, the Akademi also turned down the criticism that the cartoon, titled 'Viswasam Rakshathi' (protection of faith) drawn by K K Subhash of Chengalam, had hurt the sentiments of the Christian community.

"We have unanimously decided not to intervene into the decision of the expert jury which had selected the cartoon for the award.

Their decision is final and we will not make any change in it," Akademi chairman Nemang Pushaparaaj told PTI.

"Last time, the award was given to a cartoon criticising Chief Minister Pinarayi Viyanan. We had never attempted to change that decision also," he said.

The cartoon 'Viswasam Rakshathi' had appeared in a Malayalam magazine last year after Mullaik was accused of rape by a nun.

Showing Mullaik as a rooster, it also has a pink coloured lingerie in the crozier (staff), carried by a bishop as a symbol of the pastoral office, while a group of nuns is shown fleeing.

Pushaparaaj, however, made it clear that no religious symbol was shown in a poor light in the award-winning cartoon.

"What had been depicted in the cartoon was the symbol of power and not any Christian symbol.

When the staff is carried by a person, whom we can describe even as an anti-social, it is just a symbol of power, there is no need to attach any holiness to it," he said.

Two members of the akademi's general council objected to the same church denomination, which had raised objection to the cartoon and they were also of the opinion that there was no need to review the jury's decision, he said. PTI

Fresh efforts on to push Myanmarese refugees back

Aizawl: After the proposed deportation of over 200 Myanmarese refugees from Mizoram were deferred two days ago, the administration has taken up fresh initiative to repatriate them, State Home Minister Lalchamliana said Monday.

A total of 219 Myanmarese refugees belonging to 54 families are staying in four villages of southernmost Mizoram's Lawngtlai district since November 2017.

"The Centre instructed us to deport the foreigners who were in Lawngtlai district's Hmawngbuhchhuah village and even use force if necessary," the minister said. Lalchamliana said identification of the refugees was being conducted again as the figures given by the Lawngtlai district administration and the Assam Rifles authorities did not tally. Inspector General of Police John Nehthia told PTI that the government took firm stand on the issue of foreigners entering the state illegally and that stringent action would be taken against illegal immigrants.

The district administration on Saturday deferred the proposed repatriation of the refugees to Myanmar on 'humanitarian ground, Lawngtlai district officials said. PTI

Court said poetic justice needs to be done in Kathua case, rejected defence pleas on defective probe

Pathankot: The special court, which convicted six people in the murder case of an 8-year-old nomadic girl in Kathua in Jammu region, has termed the crime 'devilish and monstrous' committed in the most 'shameful, inhumane and barbaric manner' for which "poetic justice" needs to be done to its perpetrators.

District and sessions court here, hearing the matter on the direction of the Supreme Court, convicted six people on June 10 in the case which included Sanji Ram, dismissed policeman Deepak Khajuria and Parvesh Kumar, who have been sentenced to life in jail.

"Heaven and hell are no geographical locations, and thoughts, actions and character create the situation of heaven or hell for us," judge Dr Tejwinder Singh wrote in the beginning of his 432-page judgment, a copy of which is with PTI.

He said it was needless to say the commission of this "devilish and monstrous crime has sent shockwaves across the society and the actual guilty needs to be brought under the sword of justice."

He also observed the crime committed against the minor is "shameful, inhumane and barbaric" but said the evidence brought on record has to be tested on a "touchstone in order to find out the real culprits, so that no innocent person is crushed under the wheels in an unjust manner."

After hearing prosecution lawyers, comprising S S Basra, J K Chopra, Harminder Singh and Bhupinder Singh, as also a battery of 57 defence lawyers, the judge said, "There is nothing on record which could show that there is a false implication (as contended by defence lawyers) of accused persons in this case." PTI

Man abducts, sells relative's boy for ₹20,000; arrested

Saharanpur (UP): A man was arrested on Monday for allegedly abducting and selling a five-year-old boy to a couple for ₹20,000 in Uttar Pradesh's Saharanpur district, police said.

The boy, however, was rescued within an hour and ₹19,000 cash recovered from the accused, they said.

Senior Superintendent of Police (SSP) Dinesh Kumar P said, the accused, Praveen, is a relative of the boy. The boy's parents worked as labourers.

The child's parents were on work when Praveen along with his wife Renu came to their house in Saloni village of Sarvasa area here and took Saaurabh to nearby Sultanpur village, he said.

Praveen then sold the boy to the couple. The couple had three girls, the officer said.

As the child's parents reported the matter to the police, Praveen was questioned. He later confessed to the crime.

The accused was taken to Sultanpur village where the police rescued the boy, but the couple who had bought the child managed to flee. PTI

Payal Tadvi suicide: Police oppose bail of accused doctors

Mumbai: The Mumbai Police on Monday opposed the bail plea of three women doctors, arrested for allegedly abetting the suicide of a junior colleague, saying recording of statements of eye witnesses was underway.

The Mumbai crime branch, probing the suicide of Payal Tadvi, filed its reply to the bail plea before special Judge P B Jadhav on Monday.

The police said that since Tadvi belonged to a Scheduled Tribe, the three accused doctors tortured her mentally, ragged her and forced her to commit suicide.

The accused were absconding for about five days after the incident and during this period, they planned on how to tackle police interrogation, they said.

Stressing that they were awaiting the forensic report of the mobile phones of the accused as well as the victim, the police said that if the accused were released on bail, they will hamper the probe.

The accused — Hema Ahuja, Bhakti Meher and Anika Khandelwal, attached to the BYL Nair hospital here, were arrested on May 29 and are currently in judicial custody.

They have been charged under relevant sections of the IPC, the Maharashtra Prohibition of Ragging Act as well as the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act.

Meanwhile, the prosecution moved an adjournment application saying it was not in their hand to arrange the equipment required for video-recording of the court's proceedings. PTI

Imbibe Gandhian values: Ghehot to youths

Jaipur: Amid the ongoing celebration of Mahatma Gandhi's 150th birth anniversary, Chief Minister Ashok Ghehot on Monday urged youths to imbibe Gandhian values of truth, non-violence, peace and simplicity in their lives.

He also called upon them to spread these values around them.

Addressing the concluding session of 10-day National Unity Camp here in which youths from different states had come to participate, Ghehot said the celebrations of Mahatma Gandhi's birth anniversary would continue for a year even after October 2 this year.

Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi was born on October 2, 1869 at Porbandar in Gujarat.

Ghehot also urged youths attending the National Unity Camp here to carry the spirit of the country's unity and integrity to their respective states and impress it upon the people around them. PTI

Guj man booked for giving triple talaq to wife on WhatsApp

Ahmedabad: A man in Gujarat's Valsad district has been booked for allegedly giving triple talaq, prohibited by law, to his wife through a WhatsApp message, police said on Monday.

An official identified the accused as Julian Javed Kalia (27) and said he has sent the divorce message to his father Javed Kalia a few days ago.

"The victim, a 25-year-old woman now residing with her parents in Umargam town in Valsad, filed a complaint on Sunday. Julian, a resident of Sanjan, works in a shipping firm and is currently abroad," said Inspector PM Parmar of Umargam police station.

"Upon getting the divorce message from his son, Javed Kalia took a print-out and approached a cleric to formalise the separation," he said.

The couple were married four years ago and have a three-year-old son, he said, adding that the victim has complained that she was tortured in her marital house. PTI

Kudos to IIT students: Hritik

Actor HRITHIK ROSHAN, who will be essaying the role of Anand Kumar in his forthcoming film Super 30, is elated upon the recently announced results of IIT entrance exams.

The superstar took to social media, "Super 30 is a reality which takes place every year. It's not a celebration of the past. Kudos to this year's students. I would love to meet all of them."

The film hits the theatres on July 12.

'Vicky Kaushal is one of the most talented actors and it's lovely working with him. It's a genre that both of us haven't explored but I was quite thrilled to experiment with this film, Bhoot Part One. As an actor, I love to experiment. I like taking more challenging roles and love to take risks.' —Bhumi Pednekar

Actor APURVA KHURANA says if he had to be in a same-sex relationship with someone, it would be with Kabir Singh star Shahid Kapoor.

"I love the way he dresses up. I love his body language. He looks 25 to me," he said. He also spoke about being compared to his brother and actor Ayushmann Khurrana.

The Dangal actor said, "I don't think I am equal to him right now and hence there's no comparison. If people want to say that I look like him — of course, as we are brothers. I will take it as a compliment."

Why Chris opened about his anxiety

Actor CHRIS HEMSWORTH says he feels more comfortable about showing his real self to the world now and that is what propelled him to open up about his anxiety woes.

"I think the more comfortable I got just doing press in general over the years and interviews... You feel more comfortable about showing a bit more of yourself."

Hemsworth said, "But for me, it was a part of the journey and being able to talk about what I have learnt. I remember when I started acting, hearing Anthony Hopkins in an interview saying that he thinks that each job will be his last... I found great comfort in that. It was like, maybe there is something which brings anxiety and (is) just part of the process," he added.

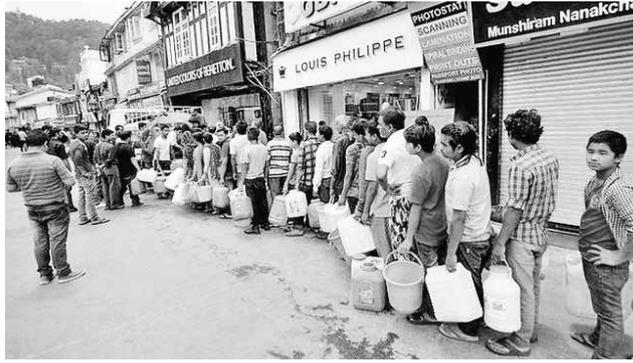

The hills go under

As tourists make a beeline for mountain retreats, the hill economy is collapsing and resources are being stretched. Is it time to end overtourism, asks TEAM VIVA

A five-hour traffic jam in Dalhousie, hotels displaying 'full in red' on travel booking websites; internet flooded with pictures of tourists spending the night under the open sky; and residents left without adequate resources due to overtourism — incidents like these have become commonplace this summer as the temperatures shoot up. But if one thinks about it, even Everest hasn't been spared the evils of tourism. Naturally, the hill stations being more accessible are easier prey.

With weather forecasts unable to keep pace with the rising temperature, people are scrambling to find an escape from the scorching heat and sweaty metro rides in the city. And while tourists flock to the Himalayas and other hill stations to find refuge, these places have descended into chaos. While tourists come here to absorb the serenity of the place, they become victims of the travel bug. In short, the hill economy is stressed and bursting at seams.

CONGESTED ROUTES

Nainital can accommodate 2,000 four-wheelers but more than 4,000 vehicles are pouring into the city on a daily basis. To counter this, the police put up "Nainital Houseful" flexi-banners at Bhimtal Chauraha, Kathgodam Police Chowki Crossing and Nariman Square, to discourage tourist arrivals, but to no avail.

Following this, the Nainital administration decided to restrict the entry of tourists in the hill station if the parking lots are full and only let them in when the traffic has cleared out.

Shimla, which has witnessed a 6.2 per cent rise in tourist footfalls over the past three years. This year it has seen the highest space crunch as temperatures hit more than 40 degrees in the surrounding areas of Delhi NCR, Punjab and Haryana.

Ravi Kumar, general manager at RS Sarovar Fortico, Palampur, says, "The whole of Punjab, Mumbai and Delhi is rushing to Dharamshala to get some relief from the heat. However, this has resulted in massive over-tourism and traffic on the roads to such an extent that it is taking two hours to travel over seven kilometres. And once you reach there, where will you put up?"

A major factor that comes to the fore is the affordability of personal conveyance, which in turn, leads to the space crunch. "Earlier, people travelled in buses or trains, but now they have switched to their own cars. This leads to congestion. Parking space is a major challenge. While the Kullu-Manali highway is getting broadened, the hill station itself has no such provision for it," says Sharad Sharma, hotelier, Apple Country Gulmarg Resort, Manali.

He adds that since Manali doesn't have enough parking space, tourists have no choice but to park their vehicles on the road. "This in turn, results in long cars queues which prolongs the hours on the road. The holidays are turning into a tedious exercise rather than an enjoyable one."

POLLUTION OVERLOAD

Following the vehicle rush, the rise in pollution level each year calls for an inspection of human-driven global warming. And those wired to ignore sustainable development options which would halt climatic changes and offer some respite from the choking heat?

Sandeep Sharma, owner of Shivirama Hotel in Bir, Himachal Pradesh, says, "When people flock to the hills in large numbers, it not only leads to overtourism but also uneducated tourism. Even when they see a place is overbooked, they still keep checking the availability of accommodations rather than wait for some days. Some even reach here without bookings and are fine with spending the night in the open and littering around."

Sanjay Austa, owner of the Meena Bagh Resorts, who has two eco-friendly resorts in Himachal one each in Shimla and Ratnari, says, "The hill station is choking up because it was built only for 30,000 people but there are 2,00,000 people living here currently. And with tourists adding to the place's population constantly, it has made it difficult even for its residents."

WATER SCARCITY

Along with the tourists, the residents in Himachal Pradesh and Uttarakhand are also saddled with the baggage that overtourism brings including a pressure on resources.

Prachi Ratnari Mishra, a resident of Landour in Uttarakhand, shares her experience of acute water shortage in the area. "Due to overlooked hotels and roads, it's hard for the kids to reach their schools in the morning. Water is diverted to hotels, which leaves the local residents without water. I've never seen this happen," she says and goes on to add that in order to save water, the two children in the house bathe on alternative days.

Deepak Sharma, owner of Sim Sim Hotel in Himachal Pradesh, says, "The steep rise in the number of tourists is a major concern. We are booking more than our capacity and hence, do not have adequate resources, especially water. The authorities should have planned tourism in an efficient and systematic manner."

Austa further highlights the knee jerk reaction of the authorities and says, "The government has come up with a band aid measure to curb the water scarcity issue by pumping water from a rivulet. This cannot be a long term solution or a sustainable one as it is depleting water. Rainwater harvesting, which government is not enforcing at all, is what needs to be done. This in turn is leading to resource crunch." The situation right now in the hills demands drastic changes rather than the illusion of the same. Is it time to have a sustainable hill development policy?

Feel the breeze

Beat the scorching heat by experimenting with colours and natural fabrics. By TEAM VIVA

WHITE REFLECTS LIGHT

People mostly prefer to wear white dresses as the colour reflects light. Designer Reynu Taandon apprises us that she prefers a lighter palette, especially whites. "It's better to wear a white dress in order to keep the body temperature cool and normal. A white linen kurta or a Chanderi top with a multi-colour work are the perfect options to look cool and trendy. Poly fabrics and skin-fitted jeans are difficult to wear during the scorching heat," advises Reynu. The colours which, according to her, have a great deal of spirit and energy include ivory, white, beige, mustard and gold. However, she points out, "One should prioritise materials that are lightweight and breathable."

SHADES OF PASTEL

While talking about her preference for colours, Tara recommends pastels in stripes and polka dots. She says that pastels and a sorbet palette in tie-dye work very well in summers, be it for formal or casual wear. She further explains, "One can pair up a white linen trousers with a pastel stripe shirt. A polka dotted tee with some bohemian accessories can be carried off well by everyone for a stylish yet casual look. The idea is to wear breathable fabric, which is also affordable, yet popular."

CONTEMPORARY SILHOUETTES

Unlike previous year when women's wardrobe was full of elegant, feminine and flattering contours, this year, the outfits are moving towards a simpler approach to dressing. For Rahul, this year has witnessed a lot more individuality in fashion. People are moving towards international trends while holding onto tradition in prints. We are seeing a play of pastels and statement hues because nobody wants to look similar to last year or even another person. So in order to give it a fun and bold look, he recommends one to go with a hybrid of contemporary silhouettes.

PAIR UP WITH RIGHT JEWELLERY

Additionally, there's one thing which Tara wants to stress upon — the selection of right accessories. She feels that the right ones can create multiple looks if teamed up with the same garments. "During summers, the accessories that work well are nude cream/nude blush open footwear and handbag teamed up with Eri cotton blend and linen short scarf and a floppy headgear. Pearl jewellery creates a cool yet formal look. With dark big shades and a bottle of sunscreen, even one is ready to face 40 degrees or even more," she concludes.

Konkona questions audience choices

Actress-director Konkona Sen Sharma says though a set of niche audience members and filmmakers are encouraging a new wave of Indian cinema which breaks stereotype, in the larger picture, the investment still happens for formula films as opposed to alternative narratives.

Konkona said, "Every year there is a handful of good films coming as a ray of hope but the bulk of the money is invested in films that are mediocre, which is just upholding the same stereotype. Look, I am not saying that people have to like the kind of films I like. There are certain films that are made and people consuming them, producers are making money so it is a matter of demand and supply. It is all great. I only have a problem with the fact that a small budget film has to fight for a number of screens and right show time with those films that are 10 times of its budget."

She said the audience needs to question itself about the kind of films that they want to watch in a scenario where in most cases, box office result is an indicator of success. "The audience has shown that for them, it is 'okay' to make fun of homosexuals, to have item numbers, to project a woman who is serving the desire of a man and his agenda. Here the question arises that if they even want to watch a different kind of the film. Do they really want choices?" questioned Konkona.

That is why she believes that film appreciation should be taught to children from the school level to develop their taste for a variety of global cinema.

After having worked in films like Page 3, Wake Up Sid and Talvar, she says she is getting a lot of acting and directing offers for the digital medium but not accepting offers from Bollywood. She will next be seen in her Lipstick Under My Burkha director Alankrita Shrivastava's Dolly Kitty Aur Wohi Chaalki Sitara. "I like Alankrita's work very much because of the kind of scenes she writes as her female characters are usually the ones who get to see in our cinema. We have shown women the way they are expected to be seen in the society — responsible, sacrificing, morally right but in real, they have a colourful life," she said. —AINS

A seminal game

Olga Bogroff's small suite is testament to the genesis of Indian contemporary art in Paris. By UMA NAIR

Picture this, artist Ram Kumar arrives in Paris at the end of 1949. He has a few works with him, which were done in India. Among them is a work titled Twins. The price of this gouache on paper is ₹65. Another is called Why Can't I Get Sleep, which has a romantic reverie about it as you see a young maiden reclining with a woman who is sitting next to her in companionship, perhaps presiding over the travails of the world. The work belongs to Olga Bogroff, a gallery persona in Paris, who used her home as a gallery for young unknown artists. It was called Galerie Olga Bogroff and these works today form Grosvenor's stunning South Asian Modern Art exhibition.

ROMANCING THE FIGURATIVE

Kumar's works are a reflection of an early romance with the figurative and a study on female studies that unraveled like jewels from the yesteryear. Twins and Why Can't I Get Sleep are two succinct works steeped in history. This is perhaps the best time to go back in 1993 to Ram Kumar's work as he recalled, "Perhaps every artist starts with the figurative because when we go to an art school, there is a model and we have to do drawings, learn anatomy and all that. So perhaps it is a very natural thing, along with landscape, at least for me. The reason I made these sort of paintings, was that I was a bit inspired by the left politics at that time and I was inclined towards the tragic side of life. It all started here, becoming more mature in Paris. And even if I had not been inspired by poltics, perhaps I would have made the same kind of paintings because that is a part of my nature some sort of sadness, misery or whatever it is. Also my short stories are always towards people who have suffered."

'AS A YOUNG ARTIST, RAM KUMAR WAS CAPTIVATED BY THE HUMAN FACE BECAUSE OF THE EASE AND INTENSITY WITH WHICH IT REGISTERS THE DRAMA OF LIFE'

MODERN WOMEN

Twins has two female figures, their saris billowing in the breeze, while Why Can't I Get Sleep has a reclining young woman with a bare midriff, eyes wide open resting in leisure while another sits next to her. The division of the space into a grill and the foreground textured with small strokes speaks of both simplicity and sophistication. In this composition, Kumar creates a tableau vivant. This painting combines the realism and cultural symbolism of a social construct with the contrast of two complexions — the bronze skin and the fair toned lass, who is unable to get sleep. Indeed it also reflects a romantic dalliance in the features that Kumar created with a softness and feminine aura that sparks hope, and the subtle play of pensive poise.

The third figurative is another head turner from 1949. Sorrow has a number of women with the elongated dark faces and hollow eyes. The drapes on these women are indeed a testimony to modernism and the beauty of weaving in a language that was ahead of its time. Even when he created figurative, Kumar had a deep understanding of fluid lines, fervour and creating an expression in his triangular faces that was unique to its time and place. Kumar was acutely aware of his urban surroundings and the sense of togetherness in sorrow is the mood that he binds in this historic image. It is an insight to both technique and treatment. In this range of women in sorrow, Kumar treats the feminine figures with a sombre tenderness, invoking the idioms of both sympathy and sorrow. It is the mood of the gathering and the grace in sadness that transcend their own circumstances.

While looking at these epic early works one recalls the words of India's greatest abstract guru, the thinker, the critic and the genius J Swaminathan who wrote in an essay on 'Trends in Indian Modernism, for the Lalit Kala Contemporary published in 1995.

"Ram Kumar, an artist born and brought up in the atmosphere of the city middle class, looking into the empty souls of people ground down by the gruelling run of the daily mill, looking into eyes that have lost their animation, eyes that are windows opening into nothingness, is again a painter who has relied on his personal vision for his artistic endeavors, sad drooping figures, rendered with childlike directness, lingering like shadows in gloomy surroundings of gaunt and empty streets and houses."

And then there is the brilliant observation of Shyam Lal who wrote, "As a young artist, Ram Kumar was captivated by or rather obsessed with the human face because of the ease and intensity with which it registers the drama of life. The sad, desperate, lonely, hopeless or lost faces which fill the canvases of his early period render with pathos his view of the human condition." This small suite belonging to Olga Bogroff is the stuff of history, the testament of Indian contemporary art's genesis in Paris and the connection of great French ambassadors and diplomats who played such a seminal game in the growth of Contemporary Indian art's matters The Progressives.

A MIRROR OF SOCIETY

Dastango NUSRAT ANSARI, through Dastan Alice Ki, presents Alice in a way that she is a dreamer and digs her own path through her struggles rather than being seen as an escapist. By TEAM VIVA

Imagination has no restrictions. Who would know this better than Lewis Carroll? When Alice stepped through the looking glass one summer afternoon and fell down a rabbit hole, a tale replete with mystery, magic, twisted poetry, rhymes, confusion and logic came to the fore, where rabbits could talk and caterpillars would smoke hookah.

As artists Nusrat Ansari and Alices Farooqui present the classics — Alice in the Wonderland and Through the Looking Glass — through the art of dastangoi, Nusrat explains how the duo brought out Alice's story's essence through the art form. She says, "Dastangoi has been picking up a lot recently. It's written in a way that it naturally brings out the essence of a story. It is such a natural art form that it stays alive within the audience too as much as the performers."

She says the art form involves a lot of improvisations and voiceovers, since this time they had kept it very interactive as well. But how? Nusrat explains with an instance. "When Alice has to goode the age of the queen, she tries to transfer the questions to the audience. So this way it is interactive. And it was so good to see that the audience was also actively participating in giving the answers and making the guesses."

The artist says that such classics remain timeless and ever-relevant, and hence are narrated time and again. Hence, while Carroll's classics had been penned in the 19th century, they remain relevant and ever-engrossing even today.

There are multiple interpretations of a character. When it was first presented by dastango Poonam Girdhani and Ankit Chadha, they had their own interpretation of her, she says. Chadha had once said that the reason he chose Alice's stories to begin their journey in dastango is because her adventures are tilsim (magical) in nature, and the flavour of fantasy is similar to what they find in traditional dastans. Nusrat says, "My understanding and interpretation of Alice is that she is a very smart woman and one of those who knows that they are smart people. Even though she is being called an escapist and a lonely person, I see her as someone who finds her own way through her struggles, is a dreamer and believer, and has vivid ideas and imagination. She is a strong woman who can find out her ways."

The dastan, based on Carroll's classics, starts with Alice entering the fantasy land and discovering the world through the looking glass. After her size changes multiple times, Alice begins her journey on the chessboard to become a queen. Talking about how the art form has evolved over the years, which had lost its charm among the audience in the late 1920s and brought back to life by Mahmood Farooqui during 2005, "People were amazed by what they saw and wanted to continue it after that. They saw it as an art form and an engaging form of storytelling."

This is the first time, she says, that the classic is being presented even to the adults when it is mostly labelled as children's tales or literature. "We did not just focus on children but kept in mind the adult audience too. And even they were equally engaged throughout."

In Manhattan Federal Court, there's a trial taking place that has highlighted just how murky the business of art authentication has become.

After suddenly closing in 2011 in the wake of massive lawsuits, Knoedler Gallery and its former director, Ann Freedman, are currently faced with a civil lawsuit by collector and Sotheby's chairman Domenico de Sole, who thought he had bought an US$8.3 million Rothko from the gallery. It was actually painted by Pei-Shen Qian, a Chinese immigrant living in Queens.

But the collapse of the Knoedler, New York's oldest art gallery, was much more protracted and complex.

A HISTORY OF QUESTIONABLE DEALINGS

When Michael Knoedler arrived in New York in 1946, the city had virtually no art dealers to speak of. He sold inexpensive prints from Paris. By the turn of the century, the gallery advanced into the field of original old masters.

But the ongoing court case isn't the first time the gallery has been embroiled in nefarious dealings. In 1931, representatives of Knoedler purchased 21 masterpieces from Russia's Hermitage Museum for Andrew Mellon in a set of secret sales sanctioned by Joseph Stalin. The works included van Eyck's Annunciation and Botticelli's Adoration of

Art world's murky secret

The collapse of the Knoedler Gallery, New York's oldest, was a much more protracted and complex process than an ongoing law suit the Magi, which sold for roughly $900,000. The deal was brokered by Armand Hammer, an American with close business ties to the Soviet Union.

Not is the recent case their first brush with forgery. In the 1958 edition of Art News Annual, the gallery took out a full-page ad with a 1948 Matisse that turned out to be a fake.

A GALLERY REBORN

Soon after Knoedler found itself teetering on bankruptcy. In 1971, the gallery was sold for $2.5 million — to their old partner in the Hermitage deals: Armand Hammer. Hammer appointed his business partner Maury Leibovitz to run the operation. Leibovitz, in turn, hired a well-connected art world figure, Lawrence Rubin, as gallery director.

Leibovitz and Rubin reversed flagging revenues by switching back to mid-century and contemporary art.

THINGS FALL APART Armand Hammer died in 1990, and his grandson, Michael A Hammer, assumed control of the gallery. When Leibovitz died in 1992, the gallery's relationship with Neiman deteriorated. Then, in 1994, Michael Hammer dismissed Rubin which caused an exodus of artists led by Rauschenberg. The gallery needed to find a source of income. Enter: an obscure Long Island gallery named Glafira Rosales, who represented undiscovered 'Abstract Expressionists' belonging to an anonymous "Mr. X," which he was willing to sell below-market prices.

In 1993 the estate of Richard Diebenkorn claimed two drawings from his Ocean Park series were fakes. Without the profits from these sales, however, Knoedler would have likely collapsed.

In fact, much of the argument for Ann Freedman's culpability in the ongoing trial comes from the unlikely profitability of these sales. Many had achieved resale values five to eight times their purchase price from Rosales.

Yet despite some more red flags — including a Pollock sold in 2002 that the International Foundation for Art Research (IFAR) couldn't find support for the claimed provenance — Knoedler continued to sell works coming from the collection of Rosales' mysterious Mr. X.

The full scale of the alleged conspiracy, however, became apparent only through two concurrent cases.

One was a Robert Motherwell painting from the artist's Elegy to the Spanish Republic series sold by Julian Weissman, a former Knoedler employee.

The Dedalus Foundation (which publishes the authoritative compendium of Motherwell's body of work) first wrote in 2007 that it would be included in the upcoming edition. However, it wrote back two years later to say it would not as the piece had not been tested and found to contain materials not yet patented at the time the painting was purported to have been made.

The other case involved another Pollock that Knoedler sold to hedge fund manager Pierre Lagrange with an assurance, apparently, that it would be included in the updated edition of Pollock's catalogue raisonné. In fact, the artist's authentication board had been disbanded since 1995. When no major auction house would accept the painting for sale, Lagrange filed a suit in 2011, and the gallery promptly closed.

The biggest indictment, however, may concern the abstract expressionist art movement. The current court case surrounds a Mark Rothko forgery that Art Basel founder Ernst Reyer described as "sublime." After all, if a Chinese immigrant in Queens could do them all quite convincingly, one has to wonder how many other abstract expressionist fakes have been bought and sold.

And if a high-profile gallery was willing to sell them, can anyone really trust the authentication process that's in place — for abstract expressionist works and beyond? —AP

BHUVI OUT

India pacer Bhuvneshwar Kumar has been ruled out of at least the next two World Cup games after picking up a hamstring niggle during the clash against Pakistan. The paceman walked off the field without completing his third over and India skipper Virat Kohli confirmed that he will be replaced by Mohammed Shami in the following games. 'Slight niggle (in his left hamstring) for Bhuvi, he slipped on one of the footmarks. He's out for two, maybe three games, but he should come back for us at some stage during this tournament. He is very important for us,' Kohli said at the post-match presentation ceremony. Kohli added that 'Shami was raring to go.'

TWO-DAY BREAK

A jubilant Indian team, led by skipper Virat Kohli, will take a couple of days off to relax and rejuvenate after their dominating win over Pakistan. Two-time former champions India dished out yet another professional performance on Sunday to oust arch-rivals and 1992 winners Pakistan by 89 runs to stay on course for a semifinal spot. 'Indian team will now have a two-day break,' the Indian team management said. India will next take on Afghanistan on June 22 at Southampton.

NOT SO COOL

Pakistan's humiliating defeat to India was due to feud among players and their unhappiness with captain Sarfaraz Ahmed, local media from Karachi reported on Monday. A defeat to arch-rivals India is always difficult to digest for the passionate Pakistani cricket community anywhere in the world and particularly when it is in a World Cup. A day after the defeat in Manchester, the media here ran stories about groupings in the team and how some players wanted to topple the captain. The Samaa channel reported that soon after he got out, Sarfaraz allegedly lost his cool in the dressing room and accused some players including Imad Wasim and Imran-ul-Haq, of forming a group against him and not supporting him. The Dunya channel did a similar report about how there were different groups in the team — one led by Mohammed Amir and another led by Imad — which were letting Sarfaraz down.

AS GOOD AS OVER

Former Pakistani players have come down heavily on all-rounder Shoaib Malik for his first-ball duck, saying the veteran is over the hill in his career over after the debacle. Malik, 37, had said early this year that the World Cup would be his last ODI assignment with Pakistan as he would retire and focus on the World T20 next year in Australia. But with just eight runs under his belt in three matches, many former players believe that Malik might just have played his last one-day international for Pakistan in Manchester on Sunday. 'He himself has announced before the World Cup that he would retire from ODIs after the event. Given his performance in the tournament so far I don't see him playing again in the remaining four matches,' former test spinner Iqbal Qasim said. The former captain, who appeared in 35 Tests before announcing his retirement from the format in 2015, has played in 287 ODIs and 111 T20 internationals as well.

LOVELY GESTURE

Steve Smith has appreciated Virat Kohli's 'lovely gesture' after the Indian skipper asked fans to stop jeering the former Australian skipper during their encounter on June 9. During the clash with India, which Australia lost by 36 runs, the Indian fans booed Smith and chanted 'cheater, cheater' when the defending champions were fielding. Kohli, who was batting at the time, urged them to calm down and instead cheer his batting. 'It was a lovely gesture by Virat,' Smith told reporters after Australia's victory to Sri Lanka. Smith said the frequent booing and heckling by the English crowd doesn't affect him but appreciated Kohli's gesture nonetheless. 'It doesn't really bother me what the crowds do to be perfectly honest. I am just blocking it all out but it was a lovely gesture from him,' Smith said.

India's brick & mortar bowler

Kuldeep emerges as strike spinner in the middle

PNM ■ MANCHESTER

For his winning smile, petite body structure, young age and rosy cheeks, Kuldeep Yadav is quite a combative person. He throws the temperament of a quick at you, albeit with disarming simplicity. Not surprising, as he initially aspired to be and wanted to train for pace bowling but was luckily spotted by his Kanpur coach as a better physique for spin, an art he has since perfected.

He does not take things lying down, is fearless in challenging even the stalwarts of the bat from any part of the world in any ground of the world with his flighted deliveries. Ask him why he has not been very successful in taking wickets recently and he is instantly up in vocal disagreement.

'It's not as if I have not been performing. As a bowler my job is not just to take wickets. Often I am given the responsibility of containing the opponent and I have been doing that just fine,' he said at the Old Trafford after the eventful match against Pakistan where his contribution broke the partnership that was beginning to worry India.

Old Trafford was also the ground where this son of a brick kiln owner from Kanpur bowled a beauty to get Babar Azam out at a crucial time. The ball to Azam turned in the air, first to deceive the batter to commit on his leg before mischievously drifting out and then stealthily but smoothly gliding into the stumps from a narrow gap between the bat and the pad.

Some decades back, the ground had hosted a then young Shane Warne's ball of the century as it is called, bowled as it was to an experienced Mike Gatting.

Yadav's astonishing delivery was equally befuddling if not as celebrated, yet. By all counts, it was the ball of the tournament.

'Getting Azam out was the best delivery for me in this tournament. I got him out in the Asia Cup as well. In the rain I had watched that delivery. It had drift and turn, so any spinner will love that delivery. It's a proper dream

IT'S NOT AS IF I HAVE NOT BEEN PERFORMING. AS A BOWLER MY JOB IS NOT JUST TO TAKE WICKETS. OFTEN I AM GIVEN RESPONSIBILITY OF CONTAINING THE OPPONENT AND I HAVE BEEN DOING THAT JUST FINE

Pakistan could have made to stand up to India's 336, or later as it turned out, 302 in 40 overs. In the end, Yadav sported a handsome 2-32 figure with his left-arm wrist spinning a win for his team even as a more lionised Chahal struggled unusually at the other end.

'Both Azam and Zaman play spin well. They were rotating the strike and were attacking, so it was important to break that partnership. Getting Babar out and then another wicket put them under pressure and according to DLS they needed a very high run-rate and that was a plus point for us,' he points out to bring in the relevance of his achievement into context.

His place in the Indian squad for the World Cup was mired in scepticism but he had done enough to cement his position in the squad for some time to come.

For a disastrous IPL season which finished for him with giving away a 27-run last over last season, many questioned his place in the World Cup but the small town spinner has held his own with 1-46 against South Africa and a breakthrough performance against Pakistan.

'Everyone is talking about my rhythm. I don't think I lost my rhythm. It happens when you don't pick wickets but the last three games I have bowled really well. In the game against Australia, they were struggling to hit me and that's important for any spinner,' he said.

Yadav is one of the few spinners to have a five wicket haul in all formats of the game, a talent under Kohli's eye. Even vice-captain Rohit Sharma is all praise for Yadav's efforts and said the team always gets around him to keep his confidence up.

'He's our match-winning bowler in the middle overs and today you saw how important those crucial wickets were. Both the batsmen were set. Of course, he didn't start the tournament the way he would like to, but for us as a group around him, our job is to just make sure that he gets that confidence, he gets that backing from the team,' Sharma added.

Yadav has claimed 90 wickets from 47 ODI matches since his debut in 2017. That's no mean achievement. Just the beginning for this containment bowling wicket-taker with a big heart and big self-confidence as he understands the game quite well.

Virat Kohli on Cloud 24 Tables have turned

PTI ■ MANCHESTER

Calmness has always been Rohit Sharma's biggest asset and the bliss of fatherhood has only enhanced his composed personality, something which has reflected in his stellar performances in the World Cup.

The Indian vice-captain has hit the high notes with hundreds against South Africa and Pakistan along with a half-century against Australia.

For him, more than planning and preparation, it is the 'head space' that has made all the difference. 'I think it's just the space I am in right now. It's a very good phase in my life. Having a daughter in my life actually has put me in a good space. So, yeah, I think I'm enjoying my cricket,' Rohit said after his match-winning 140 off 113 balls against Pakistan here on Sunday.

'I think as a team we're heading in the right direction. For us, it is important to just keep ticking all the boxes, and I think, as a team, we have done that most of the time,' Virat Kohli's deputy echoed his skipper's sentiments.

In every match so far, Rohit's risk assessment has been immaculate in the initial phase of the innings. 'The last two days we were here, the pitch was under the covers, and it was a little soft when we started. When the conditions are like that, it becomes more of a new ball game and then the opposition can put pressure if you lose a few wickets,' he said.

His captain had termed Rohit's hundred against South Africa as his best ODI innings.

So when asked where he would rate his match-winning effort against Pakistan, Rohit responded nonchalantly: 'I'm sure if I get 100 in another game, you'll ask me the same question. Was this satisfying,' he laughed.

'I don't know. It's hard to put any knock on the top because all those knocks you play for your country are very, very important,' he said.

Pakistan captain Sarfaraz Ahmed has reconciled to the fact that they 'were a better team than India in the 90's' and now the tables have turned.

The soft-spoken Pakistan captain was literally hounded by his country's media with a host of uncomfortable questions following the team's heavy defeat against India here on Sunday.

Asked if the Indo-Pak rivalry has fizzled out over the years, Sarfaraz said: 'We are not handling pressure well. The team that handles pressure in these games win. The Pakistan teams of the 90's, used to enjoy upper hand but now India is better than Pakistan. That's why they win matches.'

Prime Minister Imran Khan's advice was 'bat first even if the pitch is damp' but Sarfaraz Khan doggedly defended his decision, saying the reason for defeat was 'failure in all three departments'. The Pakistan Prime Minister and an iconic World Cup winning captain, in a series of tweets on the marquee clash, had spoken about the right approach for the high-pressure game.

'The whole team is not performing well in all three departments. If you talk about fielding, even Virat Kohli had said that he would have fielded. We haven't seen the pitch for two days. There was some moisture and hence I decided on fielding. We won a good toss but didn't hit the right length,' said Sarfaraz.

A defeat against India inevitably gives rise to conspiracy theories and the post match media interaction was no different.

'Why is it that the players' body language is so negative?' asked one of the scribes. The manner in which Sarfaraz kept his counsel was remarkable.

'Maybe you guys have seen something in the body language but players are trying their best. Their has been fielding lapses. Rohit could have been run out twice and had we availed those chances, it could have been a different result.'

Another one asked, 'Have all

IT'S A VERY GOOD PHASE IN MY LIFE. HAVING A DAUGHTER IN MY LIFE ACTUALLY HAS PUT ME IN A GOOD SPACE. SO, I THINK I'M ENJOYING MY CRICKET

Against Pakistan, Rohit scored 30 runs through cuts and 28 through pull shots which included seven fours and three sixes.

Was he pleasantly surprised that Pakistan bowlers, especially Hasan Ali and Wahab Riaz, bowled short and wide to him?

'I don't know what happens in their team meeting, whether it's to bowl up (fuller) or bowl short. The first 10 overs, they bowled pretty well. Of course, we know in England, once you are in, it's very hard for the bowlers to come back, and there's not enough room for error. That is pretty simple,' said the second highest aggregator in the competition (319 runs) behind Aaron Finch (343 runs).

But he did agree that Pakistan bowled to his strength as the innings went on.

'They did bowl up (fuller) a fair amount, but then, again, as a batsman you are ready to just pounce on it when given or bowl to your strength. So I think it is my strength when someone bowls short to me,' he added.

The best response to a question was the one with which he signed off. A Pakistani journalist asked, what would be his advice for Pakistan team which is in a crisis situation, he said: 'Jab main Pakistan team ka coach banaonga tab jawab doonga (I will answer when I become 'Pakistan coach').'

players been physically and mentally fit to take on India?'

'There are no issues with anyone. Imad Wasim (gastric problem) had an issue but everyone had passed the fitness test. Now that we have lost, you can raise the issue.'

The third person's query was about what happened to agitated Mohammed Amir gestulating to media manager Raza Kitchlew.

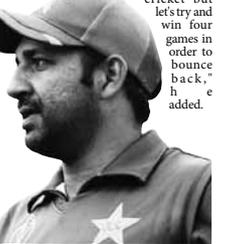

'I didn't see anything. Maybe he was angry because he was trying to get wickets which he didn't get,' Sarfaraz reasoned.

He also clarified on the alleged rift in the dressing room with seniors like Mohammed Hafeez and Shoaib Malik being unhappy with his leadership.

'There are no ill-feelings in the dressing room. The boys are backing each other. As far as why I didn't give Hafeez and Shoaib more than an over, it is because I felt there was no need for that. The batsmen were set and they went for runs (11 each) in the only over that they bowled.'

Although it's a Herculean task for a team placed ninth among the 10 competing nations but he said that the endeavour is to win the remaining four games, said Sarfaraz.

'We should try to be positive and think like, okay we didn't play good cricket but let's try and win four games in order to bounce back,' he added.

Leave cricket

Pakistan's crushing defeat to India in their crucial World Cup fixture has left many Pakistani fans disappointed, with questions being raised about the fitness level of the players and demands for them to give up cricket. In a 15-second video which is doing rounds on social media, a disappointed Pakistani fan claims that Pakistani players were having pizza and burgers prior to Sunday's marquee. "I just came to know that the Pakistani players were having pizza and burgers last night. The Pakistani players should go for wrestling instead of cricket. Look at their fitness. We had so many hopes pinned on them and they were having pizza and burgers," said the dejected fan.

Nihari to IMF loan

As various social media platforms went berserk after India's historic win, the unanimous winner was twitterati from the other side of the border that created jokes, memes, GIFs and one-liners on the Sarfaraz Ahmed-led team. The moment the rain-hit match at the Old Trafford in Manchester on Sunday went into final overs, users from Pakistan began bashing their team, although keeping the humour intact — be it Ahmed's yawning face on the field or Shoaib Malik being dismissed for a duck. "Don't call me a traitor, but look at the Indian players, they look like proper athletes, our players look like they've eaten two plates of waris nihari with fezqay kharssi and benazir kuffa, all at once," tweeted one user. The tweet immediately went viral and Indian users started retweeting it. Another tweet from across the border read: "Dear India thora hath hola rakhen... Hamary Sarfraz ne ro dena ha abi." As the skipper returned to the pavilion after scoring just 12 runs in 30 balls, a user posted: "When I die I want Sarfraz to lower me into my grave so he can let me down one last time". "Aree humari toh team hai, toh hum dekh rahe hai. Apko kina aur time pass karna hai in nikam ko haarta dekh ke," a user wrote to an Indian follower. Aleena from Lahore wrote: "Na partition hoti na hum zaleel ho rahe hote." "Dollar ka rate aur India k runs control karna hamare bas ki baat nahi," one Twitter user posted from Pakistan. Another strike

Home Minister Amit Shah Monday congratulated Indian cricket team for its victory saying it was "another strike" on the neighbouring country and the "result is same". "Another strike on Pakistan by #TeamIndia and the result is same. Congratulations to the entire team for this superb performance. Every Indian is feeling proud and celebrating this impressive win. #INDVPAK (sic)," he tweeted. By mentioning "another strike", the home minister referred to the surgical strike carried by the Indian Air Force on a terror camp at Balakot in Pakistan on February 26 after terrorists exploded a CRPF bus at Pulwama in Jammu and Kashmir killing 40 personnel.

Win as our own

Mehran Marri, one of the prominent Baloch human rights activists, has congratulated Team India and said the people of Balochistan are celebrating the victory as their own. "Congratulations to India from the people of Balochistan for their outstanding defeat of Pakistan. We Baloch are celebrating your victory as if it was our very own. Jai Hind. Jeeay Balochistan," tweeted Marri on Sunday night. Banuk Zarina Baloch, another Baloch activist, also congratulated the Men in Blue in a tweet and hoped "India will repeat 1971's history for Balochistan's freedom to remind the world that defeat is Pakistan's destiny," she said. Former skipper Wasim Akram led Pakistan's cricket community in lambasting the team for "going down without a fight" against arch-rivals India. The 1992 champions were then restricted to 212 for six in 40 overs in 37 run chases when rain stopped play, paving the way for India's comprehensive 89-run win via D/L method. "The team selection to me is not right and I don't see any planning going into this World Cup," Wasim said. "Win or lose is part of the game but not this way we just went down without a fight." Under-fire Sarfraz, however, defended his decision to bowl first but many former stalwarts said it was a poor decision and reading of the pitch. "Virat Kohli basically played mind games by saying he would have bowled first and we fell into his trap," former Test batsman Basit Ali said. He noted that Kohli was showing himself to be a more shrewd captain and better planner than Sarfraz. Former captain Muhammad Yousof too slammed Pakistan's poor show, saying the team's body language was not positive. "When we played against India it was the premium match for us and we never wanted to lose but yesterday the body language of our captain and players was just not positive and energetic enough," he said. Yousof said that everyone

Clap for opener Rahul

Everyone knows how good a batsman Rohit Sharma is but for me the more important innings against Pakistan was from KL Rahul.

Going into the game, the biggest question mark about this India team was how they would cope without Shikhar Dhawan. The fact the top three all got runs, that Sharma and Rahul put on more than a hundred for the first wicket and that Virat Kohli got more runs, is huge for India going forward in the tournament.

Every team that comes up against India will know that the top three are going to be a real danger and give them the perfect platform, especially with Rohit's tendency to score big hundreds.

That is now three straight wins against three good teams and puts India in a great position to reach the semi-finals.

Prior to this, the one bowler who had been a little bit of a concern was Kuldeep Yadav, who didn't seem to have found his form.

However he was brilliant in this game, particularly the dismissal of Babar Azam which was a sensational delivery.

That leaves India with Jasprit Bumrah, Bhuvneshwar Kumar, Yuzvendra Chahal and Kuldeep all bowling well, what more can they ask for?

It is a little like England, at the moment everything seems to be going right and the fans should be very happy.

TEAMS ARE WORRIED ABOUT FACING INDIA AND HOW THEY WILL COPE WITH THEM, WHICH IMMEDIATELY PUTS THEM ON THE BACK FOOT

like the West Indian teams of the 1970s, where the opposition would start the game with a psychological disadvantage. Teams are worried about facing India and how they will cope with them, which immediately puts them on the back foot.

In this game I felt that Pakistan made a mistake bowling first. Traditionally they are not a chasing team, and we saw how well they played against England batting first.

That was a blessing in disguise in many ways and India were able to take the game away from them with their batting.

It felt like there was more pressure on Pakistan, who had built this up to be a huge game, whereas India and Rohit, in particular, were able to treat it like any other match. That is vital in an ICC Men's Cricket World Cup. You cannot put too much pressure on yourself because of who the opposition is.

The one slight worry was Bhuvneshwar's injury but they have six days before the next game against Afghanistan so that will give him the chance to get back fit again.

In the moment it was obviously a blow for India, but in some ways it worked out well for them because it meant we got more of a look at Vijay Shankar.

He did well in his first game of the tournament and took his opportunity, first with the bat and then later on with the ball.

Shankar's performance increases India's options, and as when Dhawan returns, it will make for an interesting selection dilemma.

That is a debate for another time though, for now India should be very happy with how they have performed so far and long may it continue.

Dazzling first ball

PTI ■ MANCHESTER

Vijay Shankar made his presence felt on his World Cup debut with two crucial Pakistani wickets and the Tamil Nadu all-rounder is backing himself to play an important role in India's campaign.

If someone had told him six months back that his bowling would become crucial to India's plans at the quadrennial event, it would not have been a surprise for him.

His "three dimensional" ability was put to test against Pakistan and he responded with wickets of opener Imad ul Haq and rival captain Sarfraz Ahmed.

"I knew that I was batting well but my handy bowling makes me useful," Shankar told reporters during a mixed zone interaction.

He got a wicket with his very first World Cup delivery after Bhuvneshwar Kumar hobbled off the field due to a hamstring injury.

"I need to keep on improving on all aspects of game and that's how I look at things, so that when situation comes I am ready to face it. I was always focused on my preparation," Shankar said after returning impressive figures of 2/22 in 5.4 overs.

Although he is designated for the number four slot in the batting order, Shankar is now ready to bat at number six or seven since the team management is expected to promote Hardik Pandya up the order in case top three go on to play till 35th over.

"First few innings during Australia series, I batted at Nos 6 or 7. When playing for your country, you should be ready to adapt yourself to different situation," said Shankar, who got a run-a-ball 15 in India's 336 for 5.

But getting a wicket off the first ball was a "pleasant surprise". "That was a surprise for me as it's rare for someone to get injured and I come in as a replacement. Getting a wicket off first ball is special thing for me.

"It was a great opportunity for me to make my World Cup debut against Pakistan as a lot of people would have watched the game. I just wanted to enjoy the moment as you don't get to experience this often," he said.

Akhtar calls it brainless captaincy

PTI ■ ISLAMABAD

Former pacer Shoaib Akhtar has slammed Sarfraz Ahmed's "brainless captaincy" after Pakistan's humiliating 89-run loss to India.

"I don't understand how can a captain be so brainless, couldn't Sarfraz think that we don't chase well. Square of the wicket is dry, the wicket is not wet. Knowing the fact and your strength is not batting it's bowling," Akhtar said on his official YouTube channel.

Pakistan added one more defeat to their already dismal record in the World Cup against India, taking it to 7-0 in favour of the arch-rivals.

Skipper Sarfraz won the toss and opted to field first allowing India to set an imposing target of 337 on the back of a brilliant 140 by opener Rohit Sharma and half-centuries by KL Rahul (57) and Virat Kohli (77). According to Akhtar, winning the toss was crucial aspect of the game and half the match was won had Sarfraz decided to bat first.

"Now when you had won the toss, you had won half the match there. But what did you do? You tried that we should not win spirit that won us so many games against India. Now it is different. I see more energy and desire to win on part of Indian players compared to us."

Former allrounder Abdul Razaq felt it was the responsibility of captain and coach to give a plan to the players and ensure they had the game sense and skills to execute them.

"If some player is not skillful enough to execute plans he should be sacked. India lost Kumar early on but they didn't feel his absence as the other bowlers knew what their job was," he said.

not making use of the conditions unlike their Indian counterparts.

"There was no thinking, one-dimensional players came to bat, but the toss was very crucial to win it and in that even if Pakistan scored 260 they would have done it because the pressure is on required run rate. But who would tell them?"

"I think it's a very sad and disheartening performance by Pakistan team captain and that's why I was saying that your head but he tried to not use his brain."

Akhtar singled out pacer Hasan Ali — who went for 84 off his 9 overs — as one of the architects of the defeat.

Yet again, our bowling, Hasan Ali, he can jump on Wagah border but when there is time to exert force, do here. All these things look good if you take 6-7 wickets, you come here and give 82-84 runs. What mindset is this?"

"I think his mindset is that he wants to be a T20 player, this is his 4th or 5th match for Pakistan and see the conditions, neither there is any pace or swing. I'm failing to understand what he wants to achieve."

Meanwhile, Sachin Tendulkar feels Sarfraz Ahmed was a "confused" man and his team lacked "imagination".

"I thought he (Sarfraz) was confused because when Wahab (Riaz) was bowling he had a short mid-wicket. And when Shadab (Khan) came on to bowl he had a slip for him," Tendulkar said.

"In these conditions it becomes difficult for a leg-spinner to grip the ball, especially when he's not getting the right line and length. That is not the right way to approach a big game," he added. "They lacked imagination, lacked out of the box thinking."

PTI ■ MANCHESTER
Struck by a series of injury setbacks, England will look to get the combination right when they take on the low-ranked but spirited Afghanistan in their bid to get closer to a semi-final berth today.

The hosts are struggling with fitness issues, the latest being captain Eoin Morgan having to leave the field with a back spasm during the game against the West Indies.

Opening batsman Jason Roy was also forced off the field during the same match due to a tight hamstring and has been ruled out of the game today and on Friday (against Sri Lanka).

Himself in doubt for the Afghanistan game, Morgan insisted there is no need to hit the panic button just yet. His fitness will be monitored over the next 24 hours before the final call is taken on his participation today.

"It is sore. I have had back spasms before and it normally takes a few days to settle down. It is unclear, we will know more in the next 24 hours. You normally get a good indication of the following day," Morgan said after the victory against West Indies.

In case Morgan isn't fully fit, vice captain Jos Buttler is likely to lead the team which boasts of a strong bench strength that includes the likes of Tom Curran and Moeen Ali.

After suffering a shock loss to Pakistan, England have got their act together, excelling in all three departments and the hosts will want to continue riding on the winning momentum.

On the other hand, Afghanistan will be eager to post their first win in the ongoing 50-over showpiece.

Playing in their second World Cup, the bottom-placed Afghanistan lost all four of their matches till now to South Africa, Australia, Sri Lanka and New Zealand respectively.

However, the players from the war-torn nation can take confidence from the fact that they almost pulled off a win against Sri Lanka.

The main concern will be batting as Afghanistan is yet to play out 40-plus overs in any of their games.

They made an encouraging start against South Africa, with openers Hazratullah Zazai and Noor Ali Zardari watchfully negotiating the early overs but failed to capitalise on that.

The rest of the team couldn't reach double digits apart from Rashid Khan, who once again showed that he is shaping up to be a talented all-rounder.

The conditions, and whether the wicket supports spin, will play a crucial role for the Afghans who rely heavily on their tweakers Rashid and Mohammad Nabi to get them the breakthroughs.

Liam Plunkett, Adil Rashid, Joe Root, Jason Roy, Ben Stokes, James Vince, Chris Woakes, Mark Wood.

Afghanistan: Gulbadin Naib (c), Noor Ali Zardari, Hazratullah Zazai, Rahmat Shah (wk), Asghar Afghan, Hashmatullah Shahidi, Najibullah Zadran, Samiullah Shinwari, Mohammad Nabi, Rashid Khan, Dawlat Zadran, Aftab Alam, Hamid Hassan, Mujeeb ur Rahman, Ikram Ali Khiloo.

Bat for success

In the next few years, Afghanistan must work on their batting if they are to bridge the gap and improve.

Right now, that's the difference when you compare them with other teams in the World Cup.

Batting was always going to be the main problem for Afghanistan, particularly in English conditions, and we still haven't seen out 40-plus overs in a game, which makes it very tough to achieve.

It's hard to be competitive when the batting is not clicking. You can't just depend on fielding and bowling all the time, so that's where the improvement needs to come.

For me, it all comes down to preparation.

This is a big stage, playing in England against the world's top sides means the level is very high, so you have to get the preparation just right.

In the last two games, the openers Hazratullah Zazai and Noor Ali Zardari have at least started better, but instead, the collapses have come further down the order.

These are not simple issues to resolve as most are technical, but they are important if Afghanistan are to improve as a cricketing nation.

It's now about working very hard on skills and shot selection. Mentally, the focus needs to be just right.

Next up for the team is England, and that's obviously not going to be easy. In my opinion, they are the hot favourites to win the competition just ahead of India.

It's always about playing England in English conditions, so it's about playing good, respected cricket to create a close match.

Beating them here would create history, but to do that it'll take more than just good bowling.

The conditions, and whether the wicket supports spinners, will be crucial. Equally, Afghanistan must also work hard and show passion for the country.

If these things happen and everyone contributes, maybe then we can make history.

Whatever happens in this World Cup though, the future is still bright for Afghanistan. We have lots of young talent, particularly in the U15 and U19 sides.

In Rashid Khan and Mohammad Nabi, we have talented players who have played all over the globe and can be key to our bright future.

Rashid once again showed South Africa that he is a very talented all-rounder on top of his spin bowling, which everyone already knows about.

Don't forget that we are still new to European conditions. Day by day we will improve, and next time we will be better.

Caribbean wicket-keeper's 96, Hetmyer's 26-ball 50 & Lewis' return to form with 70 guide Windies to 321-7

PTI ■ TAUNTON

West Indies took control of their World Cup clash with Bangladesh as Shai Hope's 96 and the joint-fastest fifty of the tournament from Shimron Hetmyer inspired an imposing 321-8 at Taunton on Monday.

It seemed Bangladesh captain Mashrafe Mortaza might be rewarded for his decision to bowl first when the West Indies were contained to a sedate 94-1 from the first 22 overs.

But the Windies couldn't be held in check in the second half of the innings as Hope laid the foundations for his country's fourth highest World Cup score with a resolute 121-ball innings.

Hitting around Hope, Evin Lewis made 70 from 57 balls before Hetmyer smashed 50 in 26 balls, featuring four fours and three sixes.

It was the equal fastest 50 in this year's tournament and the third quickest by a West Indies batsman in World Cup history.

Bangladesh will need the second highest successful run chase in World Cup history to take maximum points.

"The pitch flattened out a bit more at the end and I was pretty pleased with 321," Hope said.

"We've got a bit more pace and height so hopefully we can extract a bit more."

West Indies opener Chris Gayle was expected to wreak havoc in the tournament, but the big-hitting 39-year-old has only managed scores of 50, 21 and 36.

Once again Gayle looked out of sorts and he went 12 balls without scoring before dangling his bat limply at Mohammad Saifuddin's seaming delivery on the 13th, with the edge held low down by wicket-keeper Mushfiqur Rahim.

Lewis kept grinding away and reached his first World Cup fifty from 58 balls.

That was the signal for the opener to step on the gas and he smashed a six and two fours in quick succession.

But Lewis paid the price for his sudden aggression when he was caught off Shakhb Al Hasan going for one more blast with the score on 122.

Lewis's partnership of 116 with Hope was the West Indies' first century stand of the World Cup.

But Pooran, on 25 from 30 balls, perished when he tried to slog-sweep Shakhb and miscued to Soumya Sarkar at long-on.

Urgency finally injected into the innings, Hetmyer followed Pooran's gung-ho example with a sublime display of hitting.

Blasting boundaries to all parts of the ground, Hetmyer passed 1,000 ODI runs in his 27th innings.

His flamboyant display was curtailed when he holed out off Mustafizur Rahman.

Skipper Jason Holder's 33 from 15 balls — including four fours and two sixes — filled in admirably for Hetmyer to ensure the Windies went past 300.

Bangladesh have had the upper hand against the West Indies in recent meetings, winning six of the last seven, including all three games in the Tri-nation series in Ireland last month.

Both the West Indies and Bangladesh have won one of their four group matches, with two defeats and one no result apiece.

Suarez, Cavani score again as Uruguay crush 10-man Ecuador 4-0

AFP ■ BELO HORIZONTE

Luis Suarez and Edinson Cavani were on target as Uruguay thumped 10-man Ecuador 4-0 in their opening Group C match at the Copa America on Sunday.

Nicolas Lodeiro opened the scoring after just six minutes before Ecuador full-back Jose Quintero was dismissed for a falling arm.

With a numerical advantage, Uruguay ran riot at the Mineirao stadium in Belo Horizonte as Cavani and Suarez netted before the break. The rout was completed 12 minutes from time with an Arturo Mina own goal.

"We had chances in the first half, we managed to take them and that gave us the tranquility to manage the game," said Cavani, who finally scored his first Copa America goal in his fourth participation.

"It was an important step." It was the ideal beginning for Uruguay in a tough Group C alongside champions Chile and guests Japan, who meet on Monday in Sao Paulo.

Uruguay were off to a dream start.

Suarez crossed from the right and Lodeiro proved the coolest customer in the Mineirao stadium as he beat one defender with his chest control, flicked the ball over another and then hit a crisp, low volley into the bottom far corner.

Uruguay were rampant and had the ball in the net soon afterwards only for Cavani to be given offside in the build-up.

Ecuador brought a physicality to the contest that upset the Uruguayan players and Quintero was perhaps lucky to escape punishment when catching Diego Laxali with an elbow in an aerial challenge.

But moments later, his arm made contact with Lodeiro's face when challenging for another header, this time drawing blood.

Brazilian referee Anderson Daronco — whose bulging arm muscles put even Ecuador's strapping players to shame — initially showed the full-back a yellow card but after consulting VAR he changed that to red.

That left Ecuador with a mountain to climb.

On 27 minutes, Alexander Dominguez made a brilliant low save to turn behind Cavani's half-volley from 15 yards.

Paris Saint-Germain forward Cavani was denied again when Dominguez stunningly tipped his clever back-flick onto the post one-handed.

But it was third time lucky on 33 minutes as Diego Godin headed the ball into the danger area and Cavani acrobatically rasped a bicycle kick from seven yards past a helpless Dominguez, his 47th international goal.

PATIENT URUGUAY

Nahitan Nandez wasted a good chance, shooting straight at Dominguez but Suarez put the game to bed a minute before the break, stealing in at the back post to poke home a flick-on from Martin Caceres.

With the game all but over as a contest, the second half was a damp squib of an affair.

The fourth came in calamitous fashion as Gaston Perero tried to pick out Suarez from Cavani's cross even though he was only six yards from goal. His header dropped to Ecuador center-half Mina, who inadvertently volleyed into his own goal.

"The important thing was that the team won and now we'll prepare for the next match," against Japan on Thursday, said Suarez, who notched his 57th goal for Uruguay.

Maria Sharapova said on Sunday that she has "expectations" for herself ahead of her return from a five-month injury absence in Mallorca next week.

The five-time Grand Slam champion has not played since withdrawing from the St Petersburg event in January to have surgery on a long-standing shoulder injury.

Sharapova has struggled to find top form since coming back from a 15-month doping ban in 2017.

"When you go out in a tournament, anything can happen," the 32-year-old former world number one told wta.com.

"You want to go out on the court and you want to show the world that you can produce. I certainly have expectations for myself... And I enjoy getting better every day."

"The injuries are very frustrating... But then the next day, you start feeling better."

"The next day, you get better and you get a little more optimistic. A few months later, even though it's a long process, here you are and you're excited to compete again."

Sharapova will face Slovakia's Viktoria Kuzmova in the first round of the grass-court Wimbledon warm-up event and could play three-time Grand Slam title winner Angelique Kerber in round two.

The Russian star beat former world number one Caroline Wozniacki at the Australian Open earlier this year, but has only reached one major quarter-final since being suspended for taking meldonium.

Sharapova thinks that, due to the injury, she was not enjoying her tennis six months ago.

"I've been through it before. My shoulder has been troublesome for a majority of my career," she said.

"In January, I wasn't really enjoying playing because after every match I would think about what we would do to help my shoulder."

"I wasn't really thinking about being excited about the way I was playing, even though there were some great matches that I played in the start of the year."

Sharapova has slipped to 86th from 29th in the rankings during her lay-off.

"I took this time in order to come back to my first event and feel like I have a really good chance at it."

"Being away from the game for a few months is always challenging, because you miss a lot of things, but from a shoulder perspective, I'm giving it a really good chance here. Every match is going to be a really good test."

Berrettini win Stuttgart final

Canadian rising star Felix Auger-Aliassime's wait for a maiden ATP title was extended on Sunday as the teenager was beaten by Italian Matteo Berrettini in the Stuttgart final.

The 18-year-old has risen to 21st in the world rankings this season, but fell to his third defeat from as many finals, as Berrettini won 6-4, 7-6 (13/11).

The victory in the grass-court Wimbledon warm-up was the 30th-ranked Berrettini's third title, after triumphs on clay in Gstaad last year and Budapest in April.

The Italian won all 50 of his service games in Stuttgart, and didn't face a break point in the final.

"On grass, beating these unbelievable guys... there were a lot of tough moments," said Berrettini, who did not lose a set during his run, ousting second seed Karen Khachanov in the second round.

Auger-Aliassime is one of a number of Canadian youngsters climbing through the tennis ranks, including Denis Shapovalov and Bianca Andreescu.

Conversion rate needs to improve: Marijne

Tackling a lower-ranked Fiji should not be a problem for the Indian hockey team at the FIH Women's Series Finals but chief coach Sjoerd Marijne says the job will get easier if his side could improve its "conversion rate".

At number nine, India is top ranked side in the tournament and has conceded just one goal in two matches played so far. India beat Uruguay 4-1 before blanking Poland 5-0.

A victory against World No 44 Fiji in their last Pool A match will ensure a semi-final place for the Rani Rampal-led Indian side on Tuesday.

"There is no doubt that the team has played well in the first couple of matches, but we want to be performing at the highest level possible, and I believe that there is still room for improvement. Our conversion rate can definitely be higher and if that happens, it will be easier for us to win the matches," said Marijne.

"What has impressed me in the first two matches has been the fact that we have created good field opportunities, and have also been able to earn more penalty corners. The team is enjoying themselves on the pitch, and that is good to see as a coach that your players are enjoying each other's company," he added.

The 45-year-old

Dutchman said his team is now gelling well.

"The most important aspect for me, is to see how the players enjoy playing together, and how they combine on and off the field. When you keep trying to combine on the field, it results in everybody getting an opportunity to play and perform as well," he said.

The chief coach said the team is focused on winning all the matches and won't take any opponent lightly.
