MPs must respect popular mandate to let House run

An election campaign in India is a very long and exacting affair. Although the formal campaign began much later, the past six months of 2019 has been preoccupied with the people's ultimate verdict. Now that the voters have spoken and given Narendra Modi's Government an unambiguous verdict to govern India for the next five years, it may be time to take a step back, stop the slugfest and devote our attention to the more pressing task of governance.

This week, following the oath-taking by the elected members of the Lok Sabha and the President of India's address to the joint session of Parliament, normal business is expected to resume. The previous session of Parliament was exceptionally acrimonious, with the Opposition doing its utmost to stall both Houses. Its success in the Lok Sabha was limited because the Government had a clear majority. However, it succeeded in completely disrupting proceedings in the Rajya Sabha so much so that neither the debate on the President's address nor any discussion on the Interim Budget could be held. As for legislation, apart from a stray Bill on Leprosy, the Opposition did not allow any other Bill to be moved. For all practical purposes, except for Money Bills, Parliament has been dysfunctional since the end of 2018.

The list of Bills passed in the Lok Sabha but failed to be either discussed or voted upon in 2019 in the Rajya Sabha is very long: they total up to 33. They include controversial legislation such as the Triple Talaq Bill and the Citizenship (Amendment) Bill. But they also include relatively non-contentious legislation such as Indian Medical Council Bill, the Extension of Municipalities Bill, the Seeds Bill, the Pesticides Management Bill, the Archaeological Monuments Bill and the Motor Vehicles Bill. At least three of the Bills had even been referred to Select Committees that had submitted their reports. To reintroduce these Bills will call for the entire process to be repeated in the Lok Sabha and then brought to the Rajya Sabha.

At one level, the environment for transacting normal parliamentary business looks encouraging. The BJP is of course quite buoyant after its electoral success. Simultaneously, the Congress, the largest Opposition party — which, however, narrowly missed securing the requisite number of Lok Sabha seats to get its leader formally recognised as Leader of Opposition — is dispirited and demoralised after an election it hoped to do much better in. As of now, the party hasn't chosen its floor leader and there is strategic uncertainty in its ranks. Likewise, the regional parties in north India suffer from the same demoralisation. The three southern parties — DMK, TRS and YSRCP — are however, quite enthused by the results, although their intervention in national politics has been modest.

This leaves the two regional parties from the east — the BJD and the TMC. The electoral showing of both these groups has been mixed. The BJD regained control over the State Government quite comfortably but lost some ground in the Lok Sabha. The TMC, however, suffered electoral reverses, although it is still the largest party in West Bengal. But the TMC is in an extremely combative mood because of the twists and turns in local politics. It doesn't have the numbers to make a mark in the Lok Sabha. However, in the smaller Rajya Sabha, it has the requisite lung power to disrupt proceedings. It may be recalled that on different occasions in the previous session, a small clutch of AIADMK and TDP members had successfully disrupted proceedings for over a week.

Although I would like to be proved wrong, it is my belief that the TMC is unlikely to play the role of a constructive and responsible Opposition in the Upper House. Its leader Mamata Banerjee is in a belligerent mood and this is likely to impact the behaviour of its MPs in the Rajya Sabha. Symbolic protests and fiery speeches are a normal feature of parliamentary performance and it would be legitimate for the Opposition to proceed along that route. The more problematic issue is disruption. How should the Chairman or Deputy Chairman respond to the provocations?

In the Westminster tradition, the Speaker's command is sacrosanct and unruly behaviour is viewed as a horrifying and unacceptable aberration. Unfortunately, over the years, wilfully disobeying the chair has become the norm and led to the breakdown of the consensus that should, ideally, surround the workings of Parliament. The temporary suspension of disruptive MPs, far from injecting good sense, has been seen as additional provocation and has worsened matters.

This situation cannot continue indefinitely. The paralysis of Parliament will erode popular faith in democracy and encourage governments to try and bypass Parliament as much as possible. Political sparring is fine but a dysfunctional democracy is completely unacceptable.

It is to be hoped that the presiding officers of both Houses and the Government take the initiative to address the larger questions of dysfunctionality that gripped Parliament in the first half of 2019. The voters did their job and reposed faith in democracy as the most effective instrument of decision-making. Now it is for the MPs to live up to the popular faith. The alternatives are truly horrifying.

India needs more parliamentary time and more work for its MPs. But for that to happen, faith in parliamentary rules and conventions have to be immediately restored. The quality of Indian democracy is at stake, as is effective governance.

Docs reject parley offer at CM office

Mamata says ready to fulfil demands, asks them to resume duty, but says no ESMA yet

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

Even as the striking junior doctors defied Mamata Banerjee for the second time on Saturday turning down her offer for talks, the Bengal Chief Minister swore by her "patience" saying like the other State Governments she had all the legal means to invoke the coercive Essential Services Maintenance Act (ESMA) but had thus far desisted from taking the extreme step on humanitarian grounds.

"The Government is showing patience, sympathy for the doctors but now it is time for them to act and resume duty. We have conceded to all the demands that the doctors had made," she said, wondering why the doctors refused to meet her at the State Secretariat.

In Kolkata, a representative of the striking doctors said, "This is an issue relating to thousands of doctors who are being attacked every day. The Government is calling a few of them to hold closed-door meeting. We are not ready to accept that. We want the CM to come here at the NRS Hospital and see for herself the condition we work in and give assurances in public to rectify them."

"We are eagerly waiting to start our duty, but from the Chief Minister's side there is no such honest initiative to find a solution (of the ongoing problem)," a spokesperson of the joint forum of junior doctors told reporters.

Meanwhile, after giving a 48-hour ultimatum to West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, doctors of Delhi's AIIMS said they have resumed work for now but they will go on an indefinite strike if no action is taken against the attack on the doctor in Kolkata. "We condemn the hostile and unapologetic attitude of the Government of West Bengal. Our protest at AIIMS, New Delhi continues until justice is meted out," they said.

In what the striking doctors of NRS Medical College and Hospital saw a "veiled threat", the Chief Minister said, "Though we have Supreme Court verdict in our favour and though we have previous instances of other State Governments invoking the ESMA, we have desisted from taking such strong actions as we do not want to take any coercive actions on the young boys and girls who are like our Mamata's renewed appeal to doctors to resume duty came close on the heels of a letter from West Bengal Governor KN Tripathi, who directed the Government to take adequate security measures for the doctors and restore normalcy in the health sector.

Referring to the earlier instances of ESMA being invoked, Mamata said, "In 2008/2009 the Narendra Modi Government of Gujarat had enforced ESMA and even arrested 150 doctors while in 2015 the AAP Government of Delhi too invoked the same

Govt asks States to enact law to prevent assault on doctors

Bengal Govt asked to report on strike

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Centre on Saturday sought a report "urgently" from the West Bengal Government on the ongoing strike by the doctors even as it wrote to all State Governments to consider enacting a specific legislation for protecting the medical professionals from any form of violence. The Centre also asked all the States to take strict action against any person who assaults doctors.

In its advisory to the West Bengal Government, the MHA said it has received a number of representations from doctors, healthcare professionals and medical associations from different parts of the country for their security in view of the ongoing strike by doctors. "It is requested that a detailed report be sent urgently on the representations and ongoing strike by the doctors," it said.

not take any action. Any other person in my place would have taken strong action as they did in the other States earlier."

The doctors' campaign earlier spread like wildfire after on-duty junior doctors of NRS Medical College were on Monday night brutally beaten up by hooligans following the death of a patient.

Even as the NRSCH doctors struck work demanding adequate security measures and arrest of all the 200 people who had attacked the hospital, the protest spread and their colleagues from other hospitals and medical colleges struck work.

'Concerned' Centre seeks Bengal's ATR on political violence

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Centre on Saturday sought a report from the Mamata Banerjee dispensation on the measures it took in light of the "unabated" and "increasing" incidents of political violence and resultant deaths since 2016 in the State.

The Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) said according to reports it received, the number of incidents of political violence in West Bengal increased from 509 in 2016 to 1,035 in 2018. While as many as 773 incidents have already occurred in 2019 till date, correspondingly, the death toll has risen from 36 in 2016 to 96 in 2018. In 2019, 26 deaths have been reported, it stated.

The MHA said the continued trend of political violence from 2016 through 2019 is indicative of the "failure" on the part of the law-enforcement machinery of the State in maintaining the rule of law and inspiring a sense of security among the people.

The "unabated violence over the years is evidently a matter of deep concern", the Centre said, pointing out the growing number of election-related and political violence.

"It is requested that a report may be sent to this Ministry on the steps taken by the State Government and its law enforcement machinery to investigate the incidents of violence to bring the culprits to book as also the measures taken to contain and curb violence," the MHA's advisory to the Trinamool Congress Government said.

While violence marred the recently-concluded Lok Sabha elections in the State, in the post-poll scenario too the TMC and the BJP, which has emerged as the principal challenger to the ruling party, have been at serious loggerheads with both sides accusing each other of unleashing violence against each other's workers.

West Bengal Governor Kesharinarth Tripathi recently met Union Home Minister Amit Shah and Prime Minister Narendra Modi, apparently to brief them about the current situation in the State.

Help make India $5tn economy: PM to States

Modi asks States to raise GDP by recognising their core competence

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Against the backdrop of the ongoing debate over India's Gross Domestic Product (GDP) growth rate and unemployment besides his Government's aim to make India a five-trillion economy, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday asked the States to pitch in with their contribution by recognising their respective core competence and working towards raising the GDP targets and per capita incomes.

In his opening remarks at the fifth meeting of the Governing Council of NITI Aayog, the Prime Minister said, "The goal to make India a five-trillion-dollar economy by 2024 is challenging but can surely be achieved. The States should recognise their core competence and work towards raising GDP targets right from the district level." The Modi Government has faced criticism over rising joblessness and slow GDP growth rate.

According to the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation (MoSPI), unemployment in the country is at a four-decade-high while the Government's former Chief Economic Adviser, Arvind Subramanian, recently brought the focus back on the GDP growth rate saying between 2011-12 and 2016-17 it was over-estimated by 2.5 per cent (should have been about 4.5 per cent instead of the official estimate of close to 7 per cent). The Centre has denied it and said it will come up with a point-by-point rebuttal.

While Modi spoke of a collective fight against poverty, unemployment, drought, flood, pollution, corruption and violence, he stressed that NITI Aayog has a key role to play in fulfilling the mantra of 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas, Sabka Vishwas'. After winning the 2019 Lok Sabha polls, Modi has given a new slogan 'Sabka Vishwas' to win the trust of the minorities.

With several parts of the country facing drought-like situation, Modi called for effective steps to tackle it by adopting 'per-drop, more-crop' strategy. He said attention has to be given to water conservation and raising the ground-water table.

Defiant Didi, busy KCR skip NITI meet

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

After skipping Prime Minister Narendra Modi's swearing in ceremony, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee and her Telangana counterpart K Chandrashekhara Rao on Saturday gave a miss to the fifth meeting of the Governing Council of Niti Aayog chaired by the PM.

Punjab Chief Minister Amarinder Singh could not attend the meeting due to health reasons, sources said, adding the State was represented by its Finance Minister. Mamata, KCR, and Amarinder had skipped Modi's swearing-in ceremony on May 23.

In a letter to Modi, the Mamata had expressed her inability to attend the Niti Aayog meeting on June 15, saying it is "fruitless" as the body has no financial powers to support State plans.

Sources said the Telangana CM is busy with preparations for the launch of his ambitious ₹80,000-crore Kaleshwaram lift irrigation project that would end water woes in the State.

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

More Central assistance to deal with farm sector distress and natural calamities, and compensation against loss of revenue on account of GST implementation beyond the five-year period were among the key demands raised by the states during the fifth Governing Council meeting of Niti Aayog here on Saturday.

At the meeting, Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister YS Jaganmohan Reddy made a strong pitch to grant special category status to the debt-ridden state and urged Prime Minister Narendra Modi to be "gracious" in fulfilling the promise made in Parliament and also in the BJP's 2014 poll manifesto.

The central forces were required to keep a check on Naxal activities. He also suggested that the loan facility under the Kisan Credit Card Scheme should be based on the crop, instead of land area.

Patnaik raises spl category issue in NITI Aayog meet

Odisha Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik raised the Special Category Status issue before the Niti Aayog on Saturday, four days after pushing for the 'Special Focus State' status for the state in view of its vulnerability to natural calamities. Attending the fifth meeting of the Governing Council of the NITI Aayog chaired by the Prime Minister Narendra Modi in New Delhi, Patnaik demanded that natural calamity be included as a criterion for according Special Category Status to Odisha.

"As an interim measure, states hit by major natural calamities may be declared as Special Focus States and granted benefits of Special Category Status for a specific period," the chief minister said.

Patnaik had raised the same demand during a meeting with Modi on June 11.

Kejriwal rakes up full statehood issue

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal on Saturday raked up the issue of full statehood to Delhi due to the Centre's interference.

"Delhi government wants Centre's cooperation in its mega-project for natural storage of water in the Yamuna flood plains. Important studies, including from IIT Delhi, show in case this is done, water storage during a single Monsoon will be sufficient to end water shortage in Delhi for two years," the chief minister said.

Kejriwal also lamented that Delhi was not getting its share in central taxes.

"According to 14th Finance Commission, states get 42 per cent share in central taxes. Whereas Delhi gets a paltry ₹325 crore," the Chief Minister said.

The ruling Aam Aadmi Party had made the full statehood issue its poll plank in the recent Lok Sabha election, saying it has been unable to carry out its schemes effectively in Delhi due to the Centre's interference.

"Delhi government wants Centre's cooperation in its mega-project for natural storage of water in the Yamuna flood plains. Assam CM seeks enhanced assistance for people hit by calamities

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Chief Minister Sarbananda Sonowal on Saturday sought enhanced assistance to the people affected by natural calamities like floods, which hit the state every year. Addressing the 5th governing council meeting of the NITI Aayog here, he raised key issues pertinent to the state's development and underlined the future roadmap for state and central government's partnership.

He stressed on the need for effective management of flood and erosion problems afflicting a large part of Assam every year, a state government release said. Sonowal pointed out that the norms of relief and rehabilitation provided to the flood-affected people according to Disaster Relief Fund guidelines are low.

He also vouched for NITI Aayog's intervention to include river erosion in the admissible list of calamities for funding under National Disaster Relief Fund or State Disaster Relief Fund so that quick steps can be taken to counter erosion.

Thanking Prime Minister Narendra Modi for setting up a high-level committee for proper management of water resources in the Northeastern region under the chairmanship Vice-Chairman of NITI Aayog, Sonowal said suggestions made in the draft report of the committee would go a long way in finding a permanent solution to the problems of flood.

Heatwave continues; rain predicted in some northern States today

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Heatwave conditions persisted in several parts of the country on Saturday with Patna recording its highest maximum temperature in 10 years, though there may be some respite in the northern states by Sunday evening as dust storms and rains have been forecast.

Some places in Rajasthan received light rain, bringing respite from the sweltering heat, even as Churu recorded the state's highest maximum temperature of 45.8 degrees Celsius. Sri Ganganagar recorded a high of 44.5 degrees Celsius, followed by Bikaner (42.6 degrees) and Jaisalmer (42 degrees). The weather department has predicted light to moderate rainfall in isolated places of the desert state till Sunday. The maximum temperature in Uttar Pradesh's Allahabad was 47.4 degrees Celsius, followed by Sultanpur at 46.4 degrees, nine notches above normal.

Sweltering heat persisted in Delhi on Saturday with the city experiencing a maximum temperature of 43.4 degrees Celsius, four notches above the season's average. The meteorological department has, however, forecast dust storm and very light rains in the national capital on Sunday.

The Bihar government has ordered the closure of said all schools in Patna till Wednesday in view of the heatwave conditions for the past several days. The state capital on Saturday recorded its highest maximum temperature in 10 years at 45.8

degrees Celsius, nine degrees above normal.

Sweltering heat continued unabated in Odisha too, with the temperature soaring above the 40-degree mark in at least eight places. Titlagarh and Malkangiri were the hottest places in the state with the mercury touching 43 degrees Celsius.

Meanwhile in Gujarat, a weakened Cyclone Vayu is likely to reach coastal Saurashtra and Kutch as a depression by Monday evening, the India Meteorological Department said. The entire state received scattered rainfall Saturday due to the cyclone, with Sutrapada taluka of Gir Somnath receiving 108 mm of rain till Saturday morning, while Talala in the same district getting 102 mm of rain.

Extend GST compensation beyond 2022: Karnataka CM

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Karnataka Chief Minister KHD Kumaraswamy on Saturday asked the Centre to extend GST compensation beyond five years, saying that the state will face "severe financial crunch" after the re-compense period ends in 2022.

He was speaking at the first meeting of the Governing Council of Niti Aayog chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi here.

While implementing the Goods and Services Tax (GST), the Centre had assured the states to compensate them for loss of their revenue for five years till 2022.

PTI ■ VADODARA

Dushanbe: Terrorism poses the "gravest threat" to the people in Asia and terrorists and their victims must never be equated, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar said here on Saturday, as he sought support for India's proposal for a comprehensive strategy to combat terrorism. Addressing the fifth Conference on Interaction and Confidence Building Measures in Asia (CICA) Summit in the Tajik capital, Jaishankar said that the CICA members are the victims of terrorism.

Terrorism is the gravest threat that we face in Asia today. Many CICA members are victims of terrorism and should be clear that terrorists and their victims must never be equated," he said.

"CICA has always shown a strong commitment to combat terrorism and extremism and adopt a comprehensive strategy to combat terrorism. Early finalisation of the Comprehensive Convention on International Terrorism, proposed by India," he said.

Seven die while cleaning hotel sewer in Vadodara

Seven persons, including four sanitation workers, died on Saturday after inhaling toxic fumes while cleaning sewer of a hotel in Vadodara district of Gujarat, officials said.

The incident happened shortly after midnight at Darshan Hotel in Partikui village of Dabhoi tehsil, around 30 kms from Vadodara city, police said. Three employees of the hotel were also among those killed.

"The sanitation workers had been roped in to clean the sewer. When one worker failed to come out of the manhole, others went inside to check, but all of them died of asphyxiation," in-charge district collector Kiran Zaveri told PTI.

"We rushed to the site soon after learning about the incident and teams of the fire brigade from Vadodara Municipal Corporation and Dabhoi civic body launched rescue work. They took out the bodies of the deceased after three hours of efforts," he added.

After the post-mortem, the bodies were handed over to the kin of the deceased.

The owner of the hotel, Hassan Abbas Ismail Boraniya, is absconding.

Talking to PTI, BJP MLA Shailesh Mehta, who represents the Dabhoi Assembly constituency, said the four sanitation workers were from the nearby Thuvavi village and they were hired to clean the sewer lines. He added that the incident shows sheer disregard for the safety of the workers. Police said the incident took place around 12.30 am.

Due to inhalation of toxic fumes inside the manhole, the workers fell unconscious and died, police said.

Meanwhile, the Gujarat government announced financial assistance of Rs 4 lakh each to the kin of the deceased.

In a statement, the government said that it has directed the police to take strict action against the hotel owner.

water by 2020. Against the backdrop of intensifying international trade war, Modi said India's falling exports needed attention. He asked the States, especially the North-Eastern one, to tap their untapped potential. He noted that the export sector was an important element in the progress of developing countries and that the Centre and the States should work towards growth in exports, in order to raise per capita incomes.

Reiterating his Government's commitment to double incomes of farmers by 2022, PM Modi said this requires focus on fisheries, animal husbandry, horticulture, fruits and vegetables. He said that the benefits of PM-KISAN - Kisan Samman Nidhi - and other farmer centric schemes should reach the intended beneficiaries well within time.

Turning to aspirational districts, the Prime Minister said that the focus should be on good governance. He said that many aspirational districts are affected by Naxal violence, which is now in a decisive phase.

On the health sector, the Prime Minister said that several targets have to be kept in mind, to be achieved by 2022. He also mentioned the target of eliminating TB by 2025. The Prime Minister urged those States who have not implemented PMJAY under Ayushman Bharat, so far, to come onboard this scheme at the earliest.

Recalling the recent general elections as the world's largest democratic exercise, the Prime Minister said that it is now time for everyone to work for the development of India.

Describing Swachh Bharat Abhiyan and Pradhan Mantri Awaas Yojana as illustrations of what the Centre and the States can accomplish together, the Prime Minister urged the States to focus on collective responsibility for achieving short-term and long-term goals.

law enforcement agencies," he emphasised.

The Inter-Ministerial committee, in its report, had recommended that the Health Ministry shall suggest to all State Governments which do not have specific legislation to protect doctors and health professionals, to consider one to strictly enforce the provisions of special legislation wherever they exist or enforce the IPC/CrPc provisions with vigour.

"The IMA has raised this concern many a times. Since 'police' and 'public order' are State subjects, the Government of India, on many occasions has drawn attention of State Governments for an urgent need for a robust criminal justice system with emphasis on prevention and control of crime," Vardhan said.

The draft of the Protection of Medical Service Persons and Medical Service Institutions (Prevention of Violence and Damage or Loss of Property) Act, 2017, circulated to the States, includes clauses on penalty and recovery in case of loss/damage to property.

"Our doctors rank among the best in the world and work for long hours under stressful conditions, grappling with a huge load of patients. It is the duty of State to ensure safety and security of doctors who assure that the healthcare needs of the society are met," he highlighted.

Vardhan had on Friday written to West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee too on this matter.

Govt paying for women's free travel should make Delhi Metro happy: Sisodia

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

A day after former Delhi Metro Rail Corporation (DMRC) Chairman E Sreedharan wrote to Prime Minister Narendra Modi requesting him not to agree to Delhi Government's proposal of free rides for women, Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia said that Delhi Metro has already been running in losses and Government's proposal to pay for women commuters should make the Metro rail authorities happy.

Notably, in the letter, Sreedharan said that the move would make Delhi Metro bankrupt. Reacting to Sreedharan's letter to PM Modi, Sisodia said that he, too, has written to Sreedharan regarding the proposal.

"I have written to Sreedharan sahib and told him that Delhi Metro is running in losses. It has a carrying capacity of 40 lakh passengers every day but presently, it is carrying only 25 lakh passengers," Sisodia said.

The Delhi Deputy Chief Minister also said that the Government's proposal to provide free travel to women will be beneficial to the Delhi Metro.

"Its ridership will increase and fares will come down. If the Delhi Government is paying for the women commuters, Delhi Metro should be happy with it," Manish Sisodia said.

Woman, paramour held for husband's murder, juvenile detained

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The Delhi Police has arrested a woman with her lover and a juvenile was detained after they had murdered a 52-year-old man in Delhi's South Avenue last week. Police said the woman, who was married with the deceased Suresh, was having extra marital affair and along with her lover she had hatched a conspiracy to kill her husband.

The accused have been identified as Anju (34), a resident of South Avenue, Shivam Thakur (21) and his brother who is a juvenile both resident of Meerut in Uttar Pradesh (UP).

According to Madhur Verma, the Deputy Commissioner of Police (DCP), New Delhi district, a Police Control Room (PCR) call was received by the South Avenue Police Station on June 7, regarding a murder.

"During the investigation, the wife of the deceased Suresh told police that she was out of the home for walk along with her children when the incident occurred. Police found her statement suspicious," said the DCP.

"During scanning of the phone of Suresh's wife and on specific inputs it was revealed that she was in regular contact with someone in Meerut," said the DCP. "Simultaneous raids were conducted and the accused Shivam and his minor brother were apprehended from Delhi's Burari area and subsequently Anju was also arrested", said the DCP adding that the accused during interrogation confessed to the killing.

BJP begins preparations for early Delhi polls

SAPNA SINGH ■ NEW DELHI

The Bharatiya Janata Party has begun preparations for the early Assembly Polls in the national Capital. Sources in the BJP said Assembly elections, scheduled for February, 2020, could be rescheduled for October-November this year along with Assembly polls in States like Maharashtra, Haryana and Jharkhand.

Preparing the ground for the elections, the BJP has roped in a leading private agency to carry out surveys before beginning with the electioneering. The surveys will be conducted in three phases. In the first phase, the BJP will be focusing on the constituency-specific issues while in the later stage, the party will assess the performance of the incumbent AAP Government and individual performance of the AAP MLAs in each of the constituencies. In the final phase of the survey, the party will assess the popularity and acceptability of its own leaders in each of these assembly segments in order to finalise the candidates for the elections.

The upcoming Assembly polls assume great significance for the BJP which is out of power in the national Capital since 1998. The party had lost miserably to AAP in 2015, despite the Modi wave sweeping the country in 2014 Lok Sabha polls.

A senior BJP leader said selection of candidate would be crucial as almost all BJP leaders had lost the 2015 Assembly polls. While some senior leaders have been elected to the Lok Sabha, the party must field new candidates with strong ground support and acceptability among public as well as party workers.

"The survey also aims at assessing the mood of the voters and their response to the present government. Almost all promises made by the Kejriwal government have turned out to be false and people are disenchanted by the ruling party. Their anger with the AAP was also evident with results of the Lok Sabha polls where the AAP was pushed down to the third position in five of the seven parliamentary constituencies. During the elections, the BJP will build a strong narrative against the AAP Government which has failed on all fronts," the BJP leader said.

Similarly, the agency will also list out the key issues concerning people in every assembly constituency in Delhi. Accordingly, the BJP will chalk out its poll strategy prominently highlighting these issues. Sources said the BJP might come up with separate manifesto for each of the 70 assembly constituencies.

Sources said early elections in Delhi might be an advantage for the BJP which is riding high on the Modi wave which won the party 303 seats in the Lok Sabha polls. However, the party is also treading cautiously keeping in view the poll debacle it faced in 2015 polls where the AAP bagged 67 seats and the BJP was reduced to merely 3 seats. The Congress party was completely wiped out in the elections and could not win a single seat.

The Lok Sabha polls results come as a huge setback for the Arvind Kejriwal-led AAP whose vote share decline to a meager 18.1 per cent as compared to 54 per cent votes in 2015 Assembly polls. Four AAP candidates ended up losing their security deposits. The Congress, on the other hand, secured 22.5 per cent votes in Lok Sabha polls and finished second in five of the seven seats in Delhi. The BJP won the highest ever 56 per cent votes in the Lok Sabha polls.

Manmohan briefs Cong CMs ahead of Niti Aayog meeting

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Former Prime Minister Manmohan Singh on Saturday held a meeting with the Chief Ministers of States ruled by the Congress and allied parties ahead of the crucial Niti Aayog meeting. They discussed the proposed agenda of the Niti Aayog and issues of the Congress and its allies governed States.

Congress leaders — Madhya Pradesh Chief Minister Kamal Nath, Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot, Karnataka Chief Minister HD Kumaraswamy and Puducherry Chief Minister V Narayansamy and Chhattisgarh CM Bhupesh Baghel — attended the meeting at the All India Congress Committee (AICC) headquarters. Punjab Chief Minister Amarinder Singh skipped the meeting due to his health reasons.

Among the issues discussed were injecting life back in water bodies, fresh efforts needed from the Centre in the agricultural sector and amendment in the Forest Act to bring about change and prosperity in the lives of the tribals.

Kamal Nath said at the AICC that all the Chief Ministers were briefed by Manmohan Singh. He said that the Gross Domestic Product (GDP) figures are out and the Government should suggest measures in view of the grave economic situation. Kamal Nath also said that the severe drought conditions are prevailing in large parts of the country, rivers have dried up and so contingency measures are needed. The CM said agricultural distress also needs to be addressed urgently, adding that all these issues will be taken up during the Governing Council meeting.

The fifth meeting of the Niti Aayog's Governing Council focused on issues like the drought situation, farm distress, rain water harvesting and preparedness for kharif crops. It was the first meeting of the governing council of Niti Aayog since the formation of the Modi 2.0 Government.

Earlier in the day, Baghel, Kumaraswamy and Narayansamy also separately called on the Prime Minister Narendra Modi. On Friday, Madhya Pradesh Chief Minister Nath had hosted a dinner at his residence where Gehlot, Baghel and Narayansamy were present. Punjab Chief Minister Amarinder Singh could not make it for the dinner and skipped the Niti Aayog meeting.

The five-point agenda for the meeting also includes aspirational districts programme, transforming agriculture, drought and security related issues with special focus on left wing extremism (LWE) districts, an official statement said.

CM Rupani meets Union Agriculture Minister, discusses farmers' issues

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Gujarat Chief Minister Vijay Rupani on Saturday called on Union Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar to discuss issues relating to farmers' welfare such as the Kisan Kalyan Nidhi Yojana and Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojana.

A delegation led by Rupani, Gujarat Agriculture Minister R C Faldu, Chief Secretary JN Singh, Chief Principal Secretary to CM K Kailashnathan, Additional Chief Secretary (Agri) Sanjay Prasad and officers of the agriculture department met Tomar.

Union Minister of State for Agriculture Parshottambhai Rupala was also present at the meeting. According to a statement, the issues on pending claims of interest subvention of crop loan advance by banks of the state and extension of date to purchase of mustard in the Price Support Scheme were also discussed in the meeting.

It was decided in the meeting that the last date for purchase of mustard under the Price Support Scheme shall be extended up to June 30. The Government also decided to expedite payment of interest subvention to the cooperative banks and nationalised banks so that farmers do not face any inconvenience, according to the statement.

The discussion also focused on measures being jointly undertaken by the Union and State Governments to increase agriculture productivity to improve farmer income as well as on strengthening measures for farmer welfare.

Thiruvananthapuram airport's privatisation: Pinarayi meets PM

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan on Saturday called on Prime Minister Narendra Modi and cited the State's reservation on the privatisation of Thiruvananthapuram international airport. Vijayan was meeting Modi for the first time after the latter assumed the Prime Minister's office for the second time following the BJP-led NDA's victory in the Lok Sabha polls. Vijayan is here to attend the Niti Aayog meeting.

During the brief meet, attended by State PWD Minister G Sudhakaran and Chief Secretary Tom Jose, Vijayan submitted a memorandum citing various demands including further aid for rebuilding the flood-hit State.

Official sources said the Chief Minister requested the Centre to retain the airport in the public sector and not to hand over its management to any private company.

Kerala's concern over its reported exclusion from the priority list of the national highway development and the need to get more central assistance for various projects also figured in the discussion, which lasted for around 15 minutes, they added.

The Adani group had, in February, won the bid to operate five out of six airports, including the one at Thiruvananthapuram, proposed for privatisation by the Central Government.

The State Government had earlier appealed to the Centre to reconsider its decision to lease out Thiruvananthapuram aerodrome for operation, management and development under the public-private partnership (PPP).

"Without the co-operation of the State Government, no private company can develop the airport properly," Vijayan told the state Assembly earlier this week.

In a letter to the prime minister in March, Vijayan had demanded that the airport's operation be handed over to the Thiruvananthapuram International Airport Ltd (TIAL) floated by the government-run Kerala

State Industrial Development Corporation (KSIDC).

The airport was established in 1932 on 258.06 acres of land owned by the princely state of Travancore, of which the state is the successor. The 258.06 acres of land had been entered into the revenue records as Government land.

Impasse over RaGa resignation holding Cong back

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The deadlock over the resignation of Rahul Gandhi as the Congress president following the Lok Sabha debacle is affecting the day-to-day functioning of the grand old party.

In the last few days, all the important notifications, which were earlier issued by the approval of the Congress president, are being released stating "by the approval of AICC".

On Friday, the notification regarding the appointment of MLAs and MLCs to the Maharashtra Biennial Assembly was approved by the AICC and marked to party General Secretary in-charge of State Mallikarjun Kharge and State Unit chief Ashok Chavan.

"All the orders which were issued within the jurisdiction of the party chief are now being done at AICC office bearer level. This is for the first time the organisation is functioning on such a mode," said an AICC source.

On the other hand, crisis is deepening within the organisation with AK Antony turning down an offer to be the party's interim president. Antony, a trusted man for the Gandhi family, has cited health issues as a reason for not taking up the job.

Antony, a trusted man for the Gandhi family, has cited health issues as a reason for not taking up the job

Senior party leaders Ahmed Patel and Ghulam Nabi Azad, who have been tasked to look for a face outside the Gandhi family to lead the party, had asked Antony to take up the job. Antony informed Patel and Azad that he has full respect for the Gandhi family but could not accept the post.

AICC sources said that in the given circumstances, AICC General Secretary K C Venugopal too has declined to accept the post of Working President offered to him citing his other role of strengthening the party.

Senior leaders are in tizzy as UPA Chairperson Sonia Gandhi and daughter and General Secretary AICC Priyanka Gandhi have spoken their minds at a rally in Rae Bareilly recently against the party's system which led to the drubbing in the last two General Elections.

The search for the new leader was initiated after Rahul Gandhi decided to resign from the party's top post, following the dismal performance in the recently-held general elections. Although the Congress Working Committee, the party's highest decision-making body, had rejected Rahul's resignation, he has remained steadfast on giving up the post.

Govt needs to draft new Naxal policy: Cong

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Congress on Saturday sought the Government to draft a new Naxal policy to deal with left-wing-extremism (LWE) in the backdrop of the recent attack on a police team in Jharkhand.

Dr Manmohan Singh as Prime Minister of the Congress-led government at the Centre had time and again described the LWE as one of the biggest threats to the National Security even though incidents linked to Maoist violence did not see a let-up in 10 years of UPA regime.

Condemning the attack in the Seraikela-Kharsawan area near the Jharkhand-Bengal border on Friday in which five police personnel were killed in an ambush by Maoists, Congress spokesperson Randeep Surjewala Surjewala said the act was highly condemnable.

"The cowardly face of Naxalism has been spreading in Jharkhand. The government of this country needs to draft afresh its policy to deal with naxalism," he tweeted.

Two assistant sub-inspectors and three constables came under attack while patrolling the Tiruhdi police station area of the LWE.

The LWE in several states including Chhattisgarh, Telangana, Andhra Pradesh, Odisha and Maharashtra had kept the police and para-military forces on their toes and even though many top Naxal leaders have been eliminated in the past and several others surrendered themselves before the authorities, the strikes from the underground groups have continued to take many a lives of police and para-military personnel.

From 2005 to 2011, Congress had experimented with 'Salwa Judum' (peace march or purification hunt) which involved countering Maoists by providing armed training to tribals. The so-called experiment carried out by Congress leader Mahendra Karma later turned highly controversial with alleged forcible evacuation of tribals from the land and their shift to armed camps.

Human rights' group criticized the move saying the 'Salwa Judum' has turned poor tribals more vulnerable to Maoist attacks rather securing them. Subsequently, the 'Salwa Judum' was declared illegal by the Supreme Court. Karma himself got killed in a Maoist attack in 2013.

There has not been a marked change in Modi-government's policy towards LWE with the former also seeing LWE as one of the biggest challenges to the National Security and insisting on 'zero tolerance' against it.

Development work across the LWE infested lands has not made speedy progress as Maoist repeatedly thwart it by perpetuating violence and try foiling the government attempts to bring tribals into the 'mainstream'. The corruption in developmental projects initiated by the central and state governments and alleged 'extortion racket' by LWE groups have further complicated the scenario which gets time and again alive with the burst of gain from both sides.

By-elections for 6 vacant Rajya Sabha seats on July 5

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The by-elections to six vacant Rajya Sabha seats from Bihar, Odisha and Gujarat will be held on July 5, the Election Commission said on Saturday.

Six senior leaders from the Rajya Sabha, including Amit Shah, Ravi Shankar Prasad and Smriti Irani have moved to the Lok Sabha with their recent election to the lower house, thus necessitating election for the said seats for the Upper house.

Irani's seat is the second from Gujarat apart from Amit Shah's which needs to be filled. Irani had defeated Congress president Rahul Gandhi from Amethi.

Of the six seats, two are from Gujarat, one from Bihar (Prasad) and three from Odisha- Achyutananda Samanta, Pratap Keshari Deb and Soumya Ranjan Patnaik (all from Biju Janta Dal). Congress had demanded that election to the two seats of RS from Gujarat be conducted on the same time as resignations of the two BJP leaders from the Upper House on different dates sought to create conditions that election to the two seats are conducted on different dates thereby giving an advantage to the ruling BJP there.

Congress spokesperson Abhishek Manu Singhvi, at a press conference on June 13, said they came to know that there could be a bid to hold elections for the two seats separately. The party will approach the Election Commission EC with its demand of holding elections for the two Rajya Sabha seats in Gujarat together, he said. Singhvi pointed out that simultaneous voting can bring one of the two Rajya Sabha seats to Congress. He alluded without naming the party that election to the two seats on different dates could help BJP pocket both the seats.

J&K Bank now under RTI, CVC

Srinagar: The Jammu & Kashmir Bank will now come under the purview of Right to Information Act and Central Vigilance Commission (CVC) guidelines, an official spokesman said on Saturday.

He said the decision was taken by the Board of Directors of the Jammu & Kashmir Bank. The move will ensure greater transparency and accountability, the spokesman said here.

"J&K Bank Board of Directors today (Saturday) decided to bring the bank under the purview of CVC guidelines & J&K RTI Act-2009 to ensure greater transparency & accountability," he said.

On June 11, Chief Secretary B V R Subrahmanyam had said the bank has no choice but to be under RTI as it is a government-owned bank.

"It is registered under the companies act as a government company. By the end of June, the bank will be brought under the RTI and CVC guidelines," he said. The decision comes days after Parvez Ahmed was removed as the Chairman of the J&K Bank for alleged corruption, nepotism and favouritism.

Vayu likely to hit Gujarat coast on Monday: IMD

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The India Meteorological Department (IMD) on Saturday said that cyclonic storm "Vayu", which has weakened, is likely to reach coastal Saurashtra and Kutch in Gujarat as a depression by Monday evening. In its latest update, the IMD said that "Vayu" was spotted at 355 kms west-southwest of Porbandar coast, 380 kms west Veraval and 470 kms west of Diu.

The Met said that the cyclone is likely to be accompanied by strong winds speed of the order of 40-50 kmph gusting to 60 kmph off Gujarat coast. "The system is very likely to move westwards during next 24 to 36 hours with gradual weakening and recurve northeastwards thereafter and reach coastal Saurashtra and Kutch as a depression by the evening of June 17," it further said. The sea conditions are likely to remain rough till June 17.

In a fresh warning, the IMD said that a fresh warning to fishermen not to venture into the Arabian sea and along the coast of Gujarat as Cyclone Vayu storms over the northeast and adjoining east-central Arabian Sea. The IMD said that the impact of Vayu had led to heavy to very heavy rainfall in isolated places in Saurashtra, while the entire state received scattered rainfall Saturday.

In a tweet, Gujarat Additional Chief Secretary Pankaj Kumar said, "Cyclone Vayu is still maintaining its intensity. Rainfall activity is set to decrease along the coast and the interior parts of Gujarat, while the western parts of the state will continue to receive light to moderate rains."

Cyclone Vayu, which was to make landfall on Thursday near the Gujarat coast, changed course on the intervening night of Wednesday and Thursday. It skirted the Gujarat coast affecting Gir, Somnath, Diu, Junagarh and Porbandar. On Friday, the Ministry of Earth Sciences has stated that Vayu is likely to recurve and come close to Gujarat coast.

Earlier, the cyclone, while not making landfall in Gujarat, brought moderate-to-heavy rains to 114 tehsils, the highest rainfall of 6.5 inches (160mm) being recorded in Talala tehsil of Gir-Somnath district since Thursday, a Met department release said.

The development comes a day after Gujarat Chief Minister Vijay Rupani declared that the "danger over the state has ended." However, the cyclone recurved coming close to the Indian coast.

Fadnavis Cabinet expansion today

To induct 8-10 new Ministers • Erstwhile Cong leader, LoP Vikhe-Patil, Ex-NCP leader Kshirsagar set to join Cabinet • CM may drop tainted HSG Min Prakash Mehta from Cabinet

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

Ahead of the Monsoon Session of the Maharashtra Legislature beginning on Monday, Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis will expand his Ministry on Sunday by inducting "eight to ten" new Ministers, including most probably the erstwhile senior Congress leader and leader of the Opposition Radhakrishna Vikhe-Patil and erstwhile NCP leader and now a Shiv Sena leader Jaydutta Kshirsagar, into his Cabinet.

Among other things, Fadnavis may drop from his Cabinet State Housing Minister Prakash Mehta of the BJP, who is facing allegations of irregularities in the permissions given by a slum rehabilitation authority (SRA) project at MP Mills compound at Tardeo in south Mumbai. Lokayukta M L

Tahaliyani, who looked into the allegations against the minister, has reportedly passed strictures against Mehta.

Sunday's expansion, which has been scheduled at 11 am at Raj Bhavan on Sunday, will be the last Cabinet restructuring that Fadnavis will undertake ahead of the State Assembly polls to be held in October this year.

Following the exit of State Food, Civil Supplies and Legislative affairs minister who resigned last week from the State Cabinet in the wake of his election to the Lok Sabha, the number of vacancies in the State Cabinet has gone up to seven.

The current strength of the Maharashtra Cabinet is 36, seven short of the stipulated 43 Ministers — a number that accounts for 15 per cent of 288 members in the State Assembly. Fadnavis may drop from his Cabinet at least three ministers, including Mehta, taking the number of vacancies to be filled to 10.

Fadnavis, who is expanding the State Cabinet after a gap of three years, may accommodate in his Cabinet "two or three" MLAs from the Shiv Sena, which is a constituent of the BJP-led saffron alliance Government.

Informed sources in the BJP said that Radhakrishna Vikhe-Patil, whose son Sujay quit the Congress in March this year and won the Lok Sabha polls by a margin of 2.81 lakh votes from Ahmednagar constituency on a BJP ticket, would join the Devendra Fadnavis Cabinet in Sunday's Cabinet expansion.

Similarly, influential leader from Marathwada region Jaydutta Kshirsagar who quit the NCP and joined the ruling Shiv Sena on May 22, will be inducted into the State Cabinet.

Three other names that are making round as contenders for ministerial berths are BJP's Mumbai unit president Ashish Shelar, Atul Save and Anil Bonde, both from the BJP, and Avinash Mahatekar of the RPI (Athavale).

Fadnavis had met BJP's national president and Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Thursday to seek clearance for his Cabinet expansion scheduled for Sunday.

Fadnavis had earlier expanded his Cabinet on July 8, 2016, by inducting 10 more ministers and promoting one existing Minister to Cabinet rank.

The current strength of the Maharashtra Cabinet is 39, six short of the stipulated 43 ministers — a number that accounts for 15 per cent of 288 members in the State Assembly.

Earlier, IT raids were conducted on the premises of Sheikh Imran on June 11 and several files pertaining to investments were seized.

Yogi Govt to hold global investors' summit next year

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

After the success of UP Investors' Summit in February 2018 that fetched investment proposals worth Rs 4.68 lakh crore, the Yogi Adityanath Government is now contemplating organising its maiden 'Global Investors' Summit' early next year.

The 2018 summit resulted in big investment as a fair share of MoUs matured into actual investment in the state.

The proposed 'Global Investors' Summit' would be held on a grand scale and position Uttar Pradesh as an ideal investment destination not only in India but globally.

While reviewing the progress of Industrial Development department this week, Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath asked officials to start preparing for the 'Global Investors' Summit', proposed to be held in February 2020.

He also directed the officials to hold the second groundbreaking ceremony for the pending industrial and infrastructure projects next month. During the two-day UP Investors' Summit in Lucknow on 21-22 February, 2018, the UP government had signed 1,047 memoranda of understanding (MoUs) worth Rs 4.68 lakh crore with private and public sector companies. The summit was inaugurated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in the presence of honchos of corporate world, including Mukesh Ambani, Gautam Adani, Kumar Mangalam Birla, N Chandrasekaran, Subhash Chandra, GM Rao, Shiv Nadar and many others.

The State also hosted delegates from Mauritius, Japan, the Netherlands, Finland, Czech Republic, Thailand and Slovakia to explore investment opportunities in UP.

Foul weather hampers op to retrieve bodies of IAF aircraft crash victims

PTI ■ ITANAGAR

Inclement weather on Saturday hampered rescue efforts to retrieve the mortal remains of 13 air-warriors who were on board the Indian Air Force aircraft that crashed in the mountains of Arunachal Pradesh, an IAF spokesman said.

Shillong-based IAF spokesman Ratnakar Singh said the rescue operation, which commenced early Saturday morning, could not progress further due to inclement weather at the crash site.

Cheetah and ALH helicopters are on standby and are waiting to commence operations once the weather improves. At present there are low clouds accompanied with rain in the area, the spokesman said in a statement.

The IAF is making all efforts to retrieve the mortal remains of the deceased air-warriors. IAF personnel are in constant contact with the families of these air-warriors and they are being updated regularly about the ongoing rescue operations. They are also being explained the challenges being faced by the rescue team, he added.

The rescue team on Friday recovered the cockpit voice recorder (CVR) and flight data recorder (FDR) of the Russian-origin AN-32 aircraft.

The aircraft was going from Jorhat in Assam to Mechuka advanced landing ground in Shi-Yomi district in Arunachal Pradesh, near the border with China, on June 3 when it lost contact around half-an-hour after taking off.

The wreckage of the plane was spotted by an IAF chopper on Tuesday at a height of 12,000 ft near Gatte village on the border of Siang and Shi-Yomi districts, after eight days of a massive search operation involving a fleet of aircraft and choppers as well as ground

'Jungle raj' prevailing in UP, says Akhilesh

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

Alleging that "jungle raj" was prevailing in Uttar Pradesh, Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav met Governor Ram Naik on Saturday to discuss the poor law and order situation in the state and submitted a memorandum.

Akhilesh Yadav along with senior SP leader Ahmad Hassan submitted a memorandum to the Governor and urged him to intervene and "wake up" the state government as he did during the SP regime.

Yadav said, "During SP regime, it was said that there were only Yadav officers. Now there is hardly any district police chief or district magistrate from the Yadav community. We have requested the Governor to wake up the state government and direct it to control the prevailing jungle-raj."

The SO chief further said, "Criminals are having a free hand and they are doing whatever they want in this regime. UP Bar Council president Darvesh Singh Yadav was shot dead inside the chamber of a lawyer in Agra court while criminals were shot dead inside jail. How can people take firearms inside the lawyer's chamber or inside the jail?"

Holding the present Yogi Adityanath government responsible for the deteriorating law and order in the state, the SP president said that the state government had failed to instil confidence among people of the state.

Akhilesh also tweeted: "Incidents of rape, killings and political attacks have been increasing in the state. The CM is busy in meetings but the law and order is getting worse. The firing at chairperson of Bar Council in Agra has proved that the situation is now out of control."

Akhilesh Yadav also raised the issue of alleged harassment of senior SP leader Mohammad Azam Khan by Rampur district administration and said, "The Governor should look into the matter immediately as fake criminal cases are being registered against the SP leader by officials to harass him."

Recently, a couple of senior Rampur district officials had sought protection from Azam Khan while cases were lodged against the leader for illegally grabbing government land for Ali Jaubar University owned by Khan.

4 youths who wanted to cross LoC to join militancy arrested

Srinagar: Four youths, who wanted to cross the Line of Control (LoC) to join militant ranks, were taken into custody in Uri sector of Jammu & Kashmir and later handed over to their families, the Army said on Saturday.

Addressing a Press conference in north Kashmir's Baramulla district, Commander 79 Mount Brigade

Girish Kalia said the youths were taken into custody by the Army near the LoC on Friday and were handed over to their respective families on Saturday.

He said the Army had received information that they were going to join the path of violence after being "misguided" by local militants and their accomplices.

"We acted swiftly to prevent them from choosing the wrong path and apprehended them along the LoC in Limber area of Boniyar on Friday," he said.

The Army officer said the youths were handed over to their respective families after proper counselling. He appealed to the youths to not get misguided by the propaganda of militants. PTI

Will go into AN-32 crash, ensure such incidents don't recur: IAF chief Hyderabad: The Indian Air Force would ascertain the cause of the recent crash of an AN-32 aircraft in Arunachal Pradesh and take steps to ensure that such incidents do not recur, IAF chief BS Dhanoa said on Saturday.

His comments came days after the wreckage of the aircraft was found in a remote area in Arunachal Pradesh, more than a week after it went missing with 13 people on board.

"We have recovered the flight data recorder and the cockpit voice recorder... We will go into the detail (to ascertain) as to what happened and how do we make sure that it does not happen again," he told reporters on the sidelines of the Combined Graduation Parade at the Air Force Academy in Dundigal near here.

"In Arunachal Pradesh, the way we fly, the terrain is very treacherous and most of the time, it is cloudy... When you are flying in that terrain, in that cloudy weather, there have been many, many, not only Air Force, even otherwise, Pawan Hans and all, lot of accidents, because of controlled flight into terrain," he claimed.

Noting that there were procedures to make sure such accidents do not recur, he said, "... Need to review what happened and we don't have such an accident again." PTI

BALGANGA IRRIGATION PROJECT

Maha to move tribunal to stop ₹287-crore loss to exchequer

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

Facing the prospect of paying a sum of Rs 287 crore to a private contractor and getting quashed its crucial resolution of terminating the Balganga construction contract, the Maharashtra Government will belatedly file an appeal before Raigad district court on Monday, challenging the ruling given by a Bombay High court-appointed Arbitration Tribunal in favour of a private firm.

The BJP-led Maharashtra government, which has come under severe flak for its failure to appear before the high court-appointed Arbitration Tribunal hearing a payment-related dispute, has delayed inordinately in moving the Tribunal in appeal against the tribunal's order passed in April awarding Rs 287 crore for the State Water Resources department's "deliberate" failure to appear at the hearing before the tribunal.

The tribunal had set a 90-day deadline for the state government to file an appeal against its order. "It is shocking that the Maharashtra government has not bothered to move the Arbitration Tribunal even 70 days after the tribunal passed an order against it. It is only after I obtained the tribunal's order through an RTI query and shot off a letter to State Chief Secretary Ajoy Mehta that the State Water Resources department has woken up and is moving the tribunal in appeal on Monday," RTI activist Pravin Wategaonkar said.

"My information is that the State Principal Secretary, Water Resources Department, deliberately absented himself from the tribunal's hearing in the payment related matter. This prompted the tribunal to pass an order against the State government," Wategaonkar said.

While awarding Rs 287 crore to private firm M/S F A Construction for the state water department's failure before it during the hearing, the Arbitration Tribunal — headed by retired high court judge V G Palshikar — had on April 6 quashed the State government resolution dated September 23, 2016 terminating the contract awarded to M/S FA Construction for the construction of Balganga dam in Raigad district.

"Despite service of notice, the State government has chosen not to appear in the present proceedings. In the circumstances, we have no hesitation in holding that both, the GR dt. 23.06.2016, and the Notice dt. 28.10.2016 (by KIDC), suffer from the vice of non-applica-

'In dock' water resources dept to contest quashing of GR terminating construction contract large-scale irregularities surfaced in them.

On August 24, 2016, the State Anti Corruption Bureau had registered the first FIR in the irrigation scam, booking 11 people in connection with alleged irregularities in awarding the contract for Balganga dam to FA Enterprises.

The names of former deputy chief minister and NCP leader Ajit Pawar and former Water Resources Minister Sunil Tatkar — also of the NCP are being investigated for alleged irregularities in 12 major irrigation projects undertaken during the previous Congress-NCP regime.

The multi-thousand irrigation scam, it may be recalled, had come to light in September 2012. Ajitdada had resigned from the deputy chief minister's post on September 25, 2012, attributing his decision to the media reports on the alleged irregularities in the awarding of 38 irrigation contracts worth Rs 20,000 crore in Vidarbha region during 2009, without seeking the mandatory clearance from the governing council of the Vidarbha Irrigation Development Corporation (VIDC).

Ajitdada was the State Irrigation Minister between 1999 and 2010, before he was elevated as the deputy chief minister and handed the portfolios of Finance and Energy. The irrigation scam had allegedly taken place during his tenure as the State Irrigation Minister. After Ajitdada took over as the deputy chief minister, Tatkar assumed charge as the Irrigation (Water Resources) Minister.

No water to fall back on for farmers in Ujani's backwater area

PTI ■ PUNE

Narayan Lawand, a 45-year-old farmer in Pune district, died of electrocution while using a submersible water pump to irrigate his fields last month. His death has brought into focus the plight of people living in the area around Ujani dam in western Maharashtra which was overflowing last monsoon.

Rui, Lawand's village in Pune's Indapur tehsil, falls in the backwater region of Ujani dam across the Bhima river. As the backwater spreads through hundreds of small inlets and streams in the area, it is common for farmers to draw water from them using submersible pumps.

But the water level in the reservoir has depleted to such a precariously low level this year that small rivers and streams which flow off the main water-body have gone dry.

Submersible pumps and pipes which draw water from them, thus, lie exposed.

In many places, farmers, who mainly grow sugarcane, have pooled money to dig trenches or shallow wells alongside the parched streams. The water that percolates into these trenches is then pumped out.

"Rivers and streams have dried up. Our crops are withering," said Lawand's brother Tukaram. It forced his brother to lift water from a trench dug near a river. "He suffered electric shock while using a submersible pump and died," he said.

"The water level in the dam has gone down to an unprecedented level. But last monsoon the dam was full," said Sharad Kale, a farmer from nearby Palasdeo village.

"Mismanagement" of the reservoir is responsible for the situation, he claimed. Water for drinking purposes was released to Solapur and parts of

Rui, Lawand's village in Pune's Indapur tehsil, falls in the backwater region of Ujani dam across the Bhima river. As the backwater spreads through hundreds of small inlets and streams in the area, it is common for farmers to draw water from them using submersible pumps

Marathwada through rivers instead of pipelines, and a lot of water was wasted in the process, he said.

The wall of Ujani dam is in Solapur district. The backwater is spread across Daund and Indapur tehsils of Pune district, Karmala and Madha of Solapur and Karjat in Ahmednagar district.

"Water level is going down day by day. Electric pumps of farmers are out of action for last three months," Kale said. An irrigation department official denied that flawed distribution of water of mismanagement was the reason.

The total capacity of the dam is 123.28 TMCft (thousand million cubic feet) and last year the dam received 119 TMCft water, he said.

"There are many reasons why the water level went down so much. Water was released for drinking purpose to Solapur and parts of Marathwada. Water was also released for crops. Evaporation is another factor. But an important reason is uncontrolled water lifting in the backwater region," he said.

The dam was built to provide irrigation only for eight months, but unauthorised lifting, mainly for sugarcane fields, goes on all-year-round, he said.

With the water level falling, the thousand-year-old Palasdeo Shiva temple near Palasdeo village is now clearly visible. Built in the 'Hemadpanthi' architectural style, most of it was submerged when the dam was built. "Now the entire temple is visible. Tourists are flocking here to see it," said a local farmer.

Don't regulate us for the sake of it: Pichai

PTI ■ WASHINGTON

Google's Indian-American CEO Sundar Pichai has said that it is "perfectly fine" for big companies to be scrutinised but cautioned against doing it just "for the sake of regulating" them amid reports that the US is initiating an anti-trust violations probe against the internet giant.

Pichai made the comments for the first time after reports emerged earlier this month that Google's search business and advertising practices may come under scrutiny during the potential anti-trust violations probe by the US Department of Justice (DOJ).

The DOJ and Federal Trade Commission are said to be dividing up responsibility for oversight of Google, Facebook, Apple and Amazon to probe their market dominance.

Pichai told CNN Business on Friday that it's "perfectly fine" for companies like Google to be scrutinised when they get big enough.

"Scrutiny is right, and we will participate constructively in these discussions," he said.

"I worry that if you regulate for the sake of regulating it, it has a lot of unintended consequences" he said, focusing on the issue of artificial intelligence in particular.

Pichai said, "it will have implications for our national security and... For other important areas of society. Having leadership ends up being really critical."

This is not the first time Google has come under scrutiny. The company was under investigation by the Federal Trade Commission in 2013, but emerged relatively unscathed after the firm pledged to change certain aspects of its business, such as how it handles content from third-party travel or shopping sites.

India tops tech visa applications for UK: Report

PTI ■ LONDON

India along with the US are among the countries with the highest number of visa applications for the UK's technology sector, according to the latest data from Britain's leading network for digital tech entrepreneurs.

Tech Nation, a UK Home Office designated body for tech visas, found that applications from India covered a wide range of sectors, as the Tech Nation Tier 1 Exceptional Talent Visa for Digital Technology experienced a 45 per cent increase in applications in 2018-19, up to 650 from 450 the previous year.

"The countries with the highest amount of visa applications continue to be India and the US, from Software Engineers and Business Developers in Software Development, AI & Machine Learning, FinTech and Enterprise/Cloud sectors," a Tech Nation report said this week.

"Nigeria, Russia, Canada, Australia, China and South Africa also top the list for number of applications," it added.

Tech Nation is one of just five designated competent bodies (DCB) appointed by the UK Home Office for the Tier 1 Exceptional Talent Visa, in the fields of digital technology, engineering, medicine, science, the arts and media.

India's flat May fuel demand points to sluggish economy

AGENCIES ■ NEW DELHI

India's fuel demand in May was unchanged from a year earlier, preliminary Government data showed on Saturday, indicating a continued slowdown in various sectors including industrial output.

Fuel consumption, a proxy for oil demand, was 18.61 million tonnes in May, data from the Petroleum Planning and Analysis Cell (PPAC) of the oil ministry showed on Saturday.

India's economy grew 5.8% in March quarter, its slowest pace in more than four years, falling behind China's pace for the first time in nearly two years.

Several indicators — automobile sales, rail freight and domestic air traffic — indicate a slowdown in domestic consumption. India has not yet released industrial output data for May.

Sales of gasoline, or petrol, rose by a robust 11.32% to 2.73 million tonnes in May as the narrowing price gap with diesel is pushing motorists to opt for petrol-driven vehicles. Diesel sales rose 2.84% to 7.78 million tonnes.

Cooking gas, or liquefied petroleum gas (LPG), rose marginally to 2.06 million tonnes. Naphtha sales increased by 7.73% to 1.09 million tonnes and sales of bitumen, used for making roads, were down by 8.4%.

India revised down its fuel consumption for April to 17.67 million tonnes, a decline of 0.6% from a year earlier, the data showed.

Trade unions seek ₹6K minimum pension, ₹20K minimum wages

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Representatives of trade unions on Saturday pressed the government to raise the minimum wage to ₹20,000, provide 200 days of assured work under the rural employment guarantee scheme and ensure minimum monthly pension of ₹6,000.

The unions during a pre-budget meeting also demanded hiking slabs for exemption of income tax for salaried persons and pensioners to ₹10 lakh per year. They asked for ₹8 lakh income tax slab for senior citizens and exemption of all perks and fringe benefits like housing, medical and education facilities and running allowances from income tax.

Besides, the representatives of around a dozen central trade unions expressed their reservation against the privatisation and divestment in profit-making public sector undertakings and stressed on increasing investment for job creation in the pre-budget meeting with Minister of State for Finance &

Corporate Affairs Anurag Thakur.

After the meeting, some of trade union leaders also expressed their unhappiness over the absence of Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman in the meeting. Thakur chaired the meeting as Sitharaman had to attend the NITI Aayog's Governing Council meeting held around the same time.

All India Trade Union Congress (AITUC) General Secretary Amarjeet Kaur said, "Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman had invited us for pre-budget consultations. But we had a discussion with Minister of State. They tried to limit the discussion on four broad points protection of labour, skill development, jobs and wages."

However, she said, "We, the 10 central trade unions group, put up all of our points. We have demanded for ₹20,000 minimum wage, ₹6,000 minimum monthly pension and guaranteed employment of 200 days under MNREGA (100 days at present)."

Tanker attack jolts oil-import dependent Asia

Seoul: The blasts detonated far from the bustling megacities of Asia, but the attack this week on two tankers in the strategic Strait of Hormuz hits at the heart of the region's oil import-dependent economies.

While the violence only directly jolted two countries in the region — one of the targeted ships was operated by a Tokyo-based company, a nearby South Korean-operated vessel helped rescue sailors — it will unnerve major economies throughout Asia.

Officials, analysts and media commentators on Friday hammered home the importance of the Strait of Hormuz for Asia. AP

IT industry meet Thakur to discuss data protection, tax issues

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Ahead of the Budget, representatives of tech sector and industry bodies like Nasscom, IAMAI and MAIT met Minister of State for Finance Anurag Thakur Saturday to discuss various issues, including tax structure, and share their views on strengthening digital economy.

The Pre-budget consultation meeting also focussed on data issues such as use of Big Data technology in improving the forecasting of economic, financial, climatic etc phenomena by analysing large data sets.

It's mushrooming

MUSBA HASHMI catches up with 28-year-old Hotel Management graduate, PRANAV BAHL who left his job and took over his father's business to grow an exotic variety of mushroom in an indoor vertical farm

Out of the box is the new norm today. From pearl farming to mushroom farming, the agriculture industry is now attracting the youth like never before. There are many reasons why Gen Z is getting hands dirty. The most important — it gives room to different cost-effective farming ideas.

Pranav Bahl, a 28-year-old Delhi-based, Hotel Management graduate, who left his job to take forward his father's legacy of mushroom farming says that he was always interested in exploring different varieties of mushroom.

"In 2014, I decided to leave my hotel industry job and explore variety of mushrooms and how to grow them. My father, Arun Bahl, came up with this idea in 1987 and his first project was to grow button mushrooms. He named it Swadeshi Mushroom Spawn. Swadeshi because he had read an autobiography of Mahatma Gandhi — My Experiments With Truth. He was influenced by the Swadeshi Movement that happened in the early 90s. Spawn means mushroom seeds. We also harvest spawns and sell them. Hence the name," he explains.

Though Bahl didn't face many challenges to set up his business, back in 1987, it did not come easy to his father. "Back then, not many knew about mushrooms. Coming up with the idea of mushroom farming was challenging for him. With every business venture there are some risks," he tells you.

But young Bahl who has tasted different mushrooms from around the world felt there was something missing in them. That is when he came up with the idea of organic farming and decided to take his father's business ahead by growing King Oyster (a variety which is high in protein and other nutrients).

The process consists of several steps. A piece of wood is taken and wrapped into a polythene bag. A fungi — mycelium (Pleurotus eryngii) is then put into the wood and left for 20 to 25 days under cold temperature, certain amount of pressure and humidity. The fungi then starts spreading and later develops into a bulb like structure. After five to 10 days these bulb like structures develop into a fully grown mushroom.

He tells you that King

Oyster is an exotic variety and cost ranges between ₹1,200 to ₹1,500 per kg. The texture and shape of this variety differs from the common button mushroom. The upper half of it is slightly brown in colour while its stem or the lower half is usual white.

When Bahl started his venture, he was only supplying to big hotels but his aim is to enter the niche market now. "Our aim is to sweep into this market and reach the consumers directly. Though, these mushrooms are a bit expensive, but once people will try it there is no reason they will not like it. This mushroom is an alternative for non-vegetarians who are now vegetarians," he tells you.

Bahl wants to challenge the age-old perception that farming can only be done in large fields. "I want to let people know that if you want to do something unique, there can be many reasons which will restrain you from doing it but there is an adage: Where there is a will, there is a way. I have started this project in a small room. The best part of this type of farming is that it can be done in vertical space. This way more space can be utilised. I do it on vertical shelves. Each column is divided into five shelves and each shelf can occupy up to 20 to 22 pieces of wood (in which the mushroom grow)," he tells you.

Everyone who want to try their hands at mushroom farming must be willing to go a step ahead. "It requires a lot of patience and hardwork. It is not rocket science but it requires knowledge and expertise. Once you have this, you are good to go," he says.

Fishing for diseases

Another improvisation in the farming industry is FarmMojo, a tool that uses Artificial Intelligence (AI) to detect diseases in shrimps and fish. The organisation Aquaconnect, run by a 38-year-old IIT alumnus Rajamanohar Somasundaram, aims to help farmers in increasing productivity and employment by promoting sustainable shrimp and fish farming.

The idea came when Rajamanohar met a shrimp farmer. "I met Sanjai (cofounder of Aquaconnect), the shrimp farmer during a train journey. He told me everything about the shrimp farming industry and the challenges like high production cost and diseases. This got me interested and I came with an idea that could help the farmers," he tells you.

This was not the only idea that has struck Rajamanohar due to his IIT background. "I started three technology ventures in the past. When I met Sanjai, I sensed an opportunity to use AI to help these farmers. My research pointed to the fact that lack of data driven farming is one of the biggest challenges that was yet to be addressed by this industry to achieve sustainability. That is when we started Aquaconnect — to encourage data-driven farming in Indian shrimp farming ecosystem," he explains.

But coming up with FarmMojo came with its share of challenges. "To begin with, we did on-ground research to understand the challenges. Our team found implementing data-driven approach in culture operations will help farmers to achieve sustainability and solve the problems. However, launching a tech-based product is not easy. Lack of awareness on technology and data-driven farming among farmers was an issue. It requires continuous workshops and awareness programmes. There is a steep learning curve that exists in farmers and other ecosystem players to adopt new technology. Initial adoption requires hand holding. To overcome this, we deployed field assistants to help the farmers," he tells you.

Rajamanohar has a piece of advice for the tech-aspirers. "I learnt many things while building tech businesses. The most important — it isn't difficult to come up with something unique. What is difficult is to stick to the idea you choose and provide the time and effort it needs to make it work. Some days you're smiling. Then the next day a pipe breaks and you think of quitting. Success is a matter of holding on tightly on your ideas, not losing confidence and keeping your focus right," he says.

MEN IN BLACK: INTERNATIONAL

Starring: Chris Hemsworth, Tessa Thompson, Rebecca Ferguson, Kumail Nanjiani, Rafe Spall, Laurent Bourgeois, Larry Bourgeois, Emma Thompson, Liam Neeson
Rated: 6.5/10

While the latest Men in Black (MIB) may not be a patch on the earlier movies in the series and definitely not on Tommy Lee Jones and Will Smith, it doesn't mean that everything is lost here.

The film has several moments which will make you

Fun element in parts

laugh as also melt your heart with cute aliens and shudder at the ugly aliens.

Then there is Chris Hemsworth as Agent H (replacing Will Smith). To see him step out of his Thor character is strange. One keeps hoping to see him beat the baddies to pulp rather being beaten up.

A scene where he is trying to reach out for a small hammer to beat the alien who has him by the scruff, he funny. As is the reference to him wearing pink pants.

Second, the gadgets are cool. The car and the bike that takes off at the press of a button will take you on a roller coaster ride. The CGI used to create the cute and ugly aliens is great too.

Finally, the NYC head of ops who is a woman (Emma Thompson) not only looks natty in black but has wit makes this one watchable.

The kiddies will love this one

THE SECRET LIFE OF PETS 2

Starring: Patton Oswalt, Eric Stonestreet, Kevin Hart, Jenny Slate, Tiffany Haddish, Lake Bell, Nick Kroll, Dana Carvey, Ellie Kemper, Chris Renaud, Bobby Moynihan, Harrison Ford
Rated: 7/10

Usually movies that involves animals are cute and sweet even though Hollywood is known to make gruesome films with them. Anaconda, Lake Placid and Croc are only some of the horror films that have been made over familiar with the characters and the relationship they share.

There are three independent tracks running at the same time — this can be a tad confusing for the young minds, but the good is that they all converge and tie up in the end. All's well that ends well.

There are enough moments of furry cuteness, laughs and energy that will keep even the adults happy. More so if you love cats and dogs.

Over all, the film is perfect for kids' day out!

'Mental strength is key'

SHANTANU MAHESHWARI speaks with MUSKAN BAKSHI about his journey thus far

■What is Medically Yours about?

It is a web-series based on a group of students studying medicine. There is a perception that they are fine but they have problems. The show also highlights the relationship between students and teachers. We have tried to keep it as real as possible.

■What is your character.

I play Abir Basu who is fun loving and cheerful. He loves music as well. But he is from a medical family and believes in solving problems.

■What made you step into the digital space?

I used to do youth-centric shows. But nobody makes these shows any more. Therefore, I decided to step into the digital space. I am happy to be a part of the digital space because it is giving me the space to play characters that I love. I can relate to youth content. There is more to explore in this space.

■You are a dancer. What does it mean to you?

I am very passionate about it. Though, I started my career as an actor with Dil Dosti Dance, the reason I signed the show was because my character — Swayam Shekhawat — was an avid dancer. Dancing is my first love.

■What inspires you?

Many things — people I have met and those I see on the streets. I try to learn from them.

■How was your experience being a part of Khatron Ke Khiladi 8?

It was wonderful. It was different from any show that I have done in the past. I realised that mental strength and stability is the key. If your will power is strong then you can do anything. You have to stop restraining yourself from doing things because you are scared.

■What made you say yes?

I was a fan of Fear Factor since childhood. I have always acted and danced. This transition was much needed. I always wanted to be a part of the show. Fortunately, I got to do it. There was no reason I would say 'no' to it. I was excited to go on an adventurous journey and explore more. Moreover, I got a chance to go alone abroad which otherwise I wouldn't have. (laughs)

■Was there a moment when you felt out of place?

No. The environment was good and all the contestants were supportive. I bonded well with them. They always motivated me. I loved doing all the tasks and stunts. I had a great time.

■How has your journey been thus far?

I have learnt a lot. I have grown up — both mentally and physically. I have got to do a lot of varied characters. This is the best part of my journey. I have evolved as an actor.

From Crime Patrol to Savdhaan India, there is no stopping when it comes to crime shows on TV. While these two are the longest running, there were others too which came and went. The success of these shows suggests that the audience is in love with the concept. The sense of realism, storyline and the connectivity of the hosts with the audience is what makes these shows a success.

However making crime shows isn't easy. "Brought up with the morality of three wise monkeys, embodying the proverbial principle 'See no evil, hear no evil, speak no evil', the audience need a social justification to see a crime show. Tales of crimes need to have a moral lesson attached to them. In a paradoxical way the crime show has to make the viewer secure, while he watches the violent stories," Umesh Bist, show runner and creative director, Big Synergy says.

According to a study conducted, the majority of viewers watching crime shows are women, who feel secure in their home space, watching a crime show, as they feel it forewarns them of the bad things happening to others and prepares them with the knowledge to protect themselves in case of any unforeseen eventuality.

"Here in lies the challenge and the secret of designing a crime show. The stories selected have to be from their relatable world. The characters in the story have to be familiar. The social, economical issues the characters deal with in the story have to be their very own. But there is a catch. With few exceptions, in the real world the stories of crime are dry and boring. We have to face the challenge of narrating them in an entertaining way. It requires craft, experience and talent to come out with a package of entertaining crime stories with a moral lesson which seem to be real," Bist tells you.

The USP of Savdhaan India is that

Be alert, always

Crime shows have now become an option for the makers to experiment with due to wide acceptance from the viewers. MUSBA HASHMI tells you more

Whatever shows we make — we always show the story of how the criminal is brought to justice. Crime never pays — in reel or real life

it not only highlights the crime but also put light on how the survivor/victim fights back the crime.

Rabindra Choubey, Director and Producer, Crime Patrol, Gaonwala Creation says that creating a show from the scratch is a challenging task.

"Creating a show from the scratch is challenging and with crime shows, the difficulties of the makers doubles," he says.

First, the niche and loyal audience for crime shows on TV and those who binge on similar crime series on web are mostly the same. Our priority is to make concepts at par with those n number of series available on web. But on the hind-side, we also have to abide by the rules and regulations of TV as all TV shows, even crime, are served for family viewing. Second big challenge for any crime show concept is relevance. Crime doesn't touch all normal peoples' lives, while romance and drama touches everyone. As crime show makers live in an extra pressure to make our concept relevant to the audience.

There has been a visible and obvious change that is still ongoing in the history of crime shows. From the kind of shows that were available five years back — if you look at the plethora of options available today, the change is nothing but drastic.

Choubey has a say on the controversy around whether the crime shows inspires the criminals to commit crime.

"Whatever shows we make — we always show the story of how the criminal is brought to justice. Crime never pays — in reel or real life. Does watching a 'rags to riches' movie make every viewer a millionaire? The answer is no. The seed of crime is in the individual's mentality. The intent of any crime is a personal motive — developed by an individual himself. No maker ever intends to inspire criminals. We try and bring reality to our viewer's screen and show them the ugly side of humanity, in hope that these crimes are not repeated," Choubey says and tells you that though a PRO of Gurugram police said that the culprits they apprehended accepted that they took inspiration from crime shows.

But blaming the shows for inspiring criminals to commit a crime is never a good idea. The one who wants to commit a crime, he will, regardless of the medium of his inspiration. If not TV shows, he will take inspiration from news channels, newspapers or just from his surroundings.

Trump blames Iran for tanker attacks but calls for talks

Washington: President Donald Trump has blamed Iran for attacks on oil tankers near the strategic Strait of Hormuz, but he also held out hope that implicit US threats to use force will yield talks with the Islamic Republic as the Pentagon considers beefing up defenses in the Persian Gulf area.

President Donald Trump speaks in the Rose Garden of the White House on Friday AP

A day after explosions blew holes in two oil tankers just outside Iran's territorial waters, rattling international oil markets, the administration seemed caught between pressure to punish Iran and reassure Washington's Gulf Arab allies without drawing the US closer to war.

"Iran did it," Trump said Friday on Fox News Channel's "Fox & Friends."

He didn't offer evidence, but the US military released video it said showed Iran's Revolutionary Guard removing an unexploded mine from one of the oil tankers targeted near the Strait of Hormuz, suggesting Tehran wanted to cover its tracks.

By pointing the finger at Iran, Trump was keeping a public spotlight on an adversary he accuses of terrorism but also has invited to negotiate.

The approach is similar to his diplomacy with North Korea, which has quieted talk of war but not yet achieved his goal of nuclear disarmament. Iran has shown little sign of backing down, creating uncertainty about how far the Trump administration can go with its campaign of increasing pressure through sanctions.

Iran denied any involvement in the attacks and accused Washington of waging an "Iranophobic campaign" of economic warfare.

A US Navy team on Friday was aboard one of the tankers, the Japanese-owned Kokuka Courageous, collecting forensic evidence, according to a US official who spoke on condition of anonymity to discuss a sensitive operation.

Apparently alluding to the US video, Trump said Iran's culpability had been "exposed." He did not say what he intended to do about it but suggested "very tough" US sanctions, including efforts to strangle Iranian oil revenues, would have the desired effect.

"They've been told in very strong terms we want to get them back to the table," Trump said.

Just a day earlier, the president took the opposite view, tweeting that it was "too soon to even think about making a deal" with Iran's leaders. "They are not ready, and neither are we!" Trump last year withdrew the United States from an international agreement to limit Iran's nuclear program that was signed in 2015 under his predecessor, President Barack Obama.

Hong Kong Govt suspends divisive extradition bill

Hong Kong: Hong Kong's embattled leader on Saturday said a divisive bill that would allow extraditions to China would be "suspended" in a major climbdown from her government after a week of unprecedented protests.

The city's pro-Beijing leader Carrie Lam has come under huge pressure to abandon the controversial legislation, including from her own political allies and advisers.

"The Government has decided to suspend the legislative amendment exercise, restart our communication with all sectors of society, do more... Work and listen to different views of society," Lam told reporters on Saturday.

"We have no intention to set a deadline for this work and promise to report to and consult members of the legislative council on security before we decide on the next step forward." The international finance hub was rocked by the worst political violence since its 1997 handover to China on Wednesday as tens of thousands of protesters were dispersed by riot police firing tear gas and rubber bullets.

As criticism mounted, signs also emerged of a growing discomfort among Communist Party leaders in Beijing, and Lam held her press conference on Saturday at the same Government complex that was besieged by protesters earlier in the week. The South China Morning Post said Lam held an emergency meeting on Friday night with her advisers while Chinese officials were also meeting in the nearby city of Shenzhen to map a way out of the impasse. "I feel deep sorrow and regret that the deficiencies in our work and various other factors have stirred up substantial controversies and disputes in society following the relatively calm periods of the past two years," Lam said.

On Friday she found herself facing growing calls from within her own political camp to reverse course and tamp down spiralling public anger — including from headline pro-Beijing lawmakers. "Shouldn't (we) cool the citizens down? I think to postpone it for a little bit is not a bad thing. At this moment, the Government should self-examine," Ann Chiang, a hardcore pro-Beijing lawmaker, told i-Cable News.

But others have warned against Lam bending to the protesters. "If the Government caves in to violence and external influences, in the long run that would also make Hong Kong ungovernable," pro-Beijing lawmaker Regina Ip told reporters.

Hong Kong braces for huge rally after leader climbdown

Hong Kong: Hong Kong is bracing for another mass rally Sunday as public anger seethes following unprecedented clashes between protesters and police over a controversial extradition law, despite a climbdown by the city's embattled leader.

Organisers are hoping for another mammoth turnout as they vowed to keep pressure on chief executive Carrie Lam, who suspended work on the hugely divisive bill on Saturday after days of mounting pressure, saying she had misjudged the public mood.

Critics fear the Beijing-backed law will tangle people up in China's notoriously opaque and politicised courts as well as hammer the city's reputation as a safe business hub.

The international finance hub was rocked by the worst political violence since its 1997 handover to China on Wednesday as tens of thousands of protesters were dispersed by riot police firing tear gas and rubber bullets.

China supports suspension of Hong Kong's controversial bill

Beijing: China on Saturday said it supports the Hong Kong leader's decision to suspend a controversial bill that would allow extraditions to China, following massive protests.

About an hour after Hong Kong Chief Executive of Carrie Lam announced the suspension of the Fugitive Offenders and Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters Legislation (Amendment) Bill 2019, Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Geng Shuang said in statement.

China also expressed Beijing's backing for the beleaguered Lam who faced heavy criticism from local people, specially students, for attempting to push the bill disregarding massive protests.

"The Chinese Central Government expresses its support, respect and understanding for the SAR government's decision and will continue its Special Administrative Region (SAR) government decided to suspend work on the Fugitive Offenders and Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters Legislation (Amendment) Bill 2019," Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Geng Shuang said in statement.

China also expressed Beijing's backing for the beleaguered Lam who faced heavy criticism from local people, specially students, for attempting to push the bill disregarding massive protests.

"The Chinese Central Government expresses its support, respect and understanding for the SAR government's decision and will continue its staunch support for Chief Executive Carrie Lam and the SAR government in governing Hong Kong in accordance with law and upholding the SAR's prosperity and stability with people from all sectors," Geng said.

He said China continued to respect and faithfully implementing the "one country, two systems" policy under which Hong Kong was returned from British rule to China in 1997.

The former British colony is being governed a high degree of autonomy and the rights and freedoms of Hong Kong residents have been fully guaranteed according to law, he said.

Nepal's ethnic Newaris protest against Guthi bill

Kathmandu: Thousands of people belonging to the Newar community staged anti-government protests on Saturday, demanding withdrawal of a controversial bill, which they say has provisions in favour of land mafias and could jeopardise Sanatan Hindu culture and tradition.

Around 10,000 people from Newar community rallied in the major parts of the city Saturday morning raising slogans against the Oli Government demanding that the Government withdraw the Guthi bill from the Parliament.

The K P Sharma Oli-led Communist Party Government has tabled the bill in Parliament to amend the Guthi Act and nationalise both public and private guthis and regulate all religious sites under a powerful commission.

Guthis are socio-economic institutions (trusts), both public and private, that fund their obligations from incomes from cultivated or leased land assets. Depending on their obligations, guthis fulfil religious, public service or social roles and could either involve members from a common lineage, or several.

"Don't destroy heritage," "scrap Guthi Bill", "Our culture our identity", "down with KP Oli government," "stop invasion of Sanatana Dharma", read the placards the protesters carried during the rally.

"Our Sanatan Dharma and culture could be jeopardised if the Bill, tabled by the Communist Party led government in Parliament, gets endorsed," said Pavitra Bajaracharya a Newar activist and central member of Federal Socialist Party Nepal, which is also part of the ruling coalition.

The aim of the bill is to snatch the public and private land allocated for cultural trusts and distribute to others encroaching our age cultural heritages, he said.

Thousands of people also organised torch lit rallies in neighbouring Lalitpur and Bhaktaur districts on Friday night to oppose the Government's move to endorse the Bill that would destroy centuries old Sanatan culture.

Syria flare-up kills 35 fighters

Beirut: At least 35 combatants including 26 pro-regime forces were killed on Saturday in clashes and air strikes that erupted at dawn in northwestern Syria, a war monitor said.

The flare-up came as Russian-backed regime forces tried to retake two villages seized by jihadists and allied rebels earlier this month, the Britain-based Syrian Observatory for Human Rights said.

"Since this morning, the Syrian regime and allied fighters have launched five failed attempts to regain control of Jibine and Tal Maleh in northwestern Hama province," said Observatory head Rami Abdel Rahman.

Syrian regime and Russian air strikes killed nine jihadists and rebel fighters, the war monitor said.

Ensnared in the north of Hama province left 26 pro-regime forces dead, including eight who were killed in a mine explosion, the Observatory said.

The Idlib region of some three million people is supposed to be protected from a massive regime offensive by a buffer zone deal that Russia and Turkey signed in September.

But it was never fully implemented, as jihadists refused to withdraw from a planned demilitarised zone.

In January, the Hayat Tahrir al-Sham alliance led by Syria's former Al-Qaeda affiliate extended its administrative control over the region, which includes most of Idlib province as well as adjacent slivers of Latakia, Hama and Aleppo provinces.

The Syrian Government and Russia have upped their bombardment of the region since late April, killing more than 360 civilians, according to the Observatory.

Turkey said Friday that it did not accept Russia's "excuse" that it had no ability to stop the Syrian regime's continued bombardments in the last rebel bastion of Idlib.

"In Syria, who are the regime's guarantors? Russia and Iran," Foreign Minister Mevlut Cavusoglu told state news agency Anadolu in a televised interview.

"Thus we do not accept the excuse that 'We cannot make the regime listen to us'," he said.

His comments came as Turkey disagreed with Russia earlier this week after Moscow claimed a new ceasefire had been secured in the province following weeks of regime bombardments — a claim that was denied by Ankara.

Iraq gets new extension for Iran energy sanctions waiver

Baghdad: Two Iraqi officials say the United States has given Iraq a new 90-day extension for an Iran sanctions waiver allowing Baghdad to import electricity and natural gas from Tehran.

An Iraqi official told The Associated Press on Saturday that Baghdad was informed about the waiver during a call the previous day between U.S. Secretary of State Mike Pompeo and Iraqi Prime Minister Adel Abdul-Mahdi.

Another official confirmed the waiver, saying it will start June 19.

Both officials spoke on condition of anonymity as they were not authorized to speak to the media.

Iraq's power sector is in disrepair and doesn't generate enough electricity to meet domestic demand, especially during the scorching summer months.

10 Kenyan police officers killed in blast near Somalia

Nairobi: Kenyan officials say at least 10 police officers are dead after their vehicle struck an improvised explosive device near the Somali border in a suspected extremist attack.

The officials, who spoke on condition of anonymity because they were not authorised to share the information, said those killed on Saturday in Wajir County were among 13 officers who were pursuing extremists who had kidnapped police reservists.

Police on Friday said an unknown number of gunmen stormed Konton center in Wajir East and kidnapped three reservists.

There was no claim of responsibility for the latest attack.

The Somalia-based al-Shabab extremist group often targets Kenyan security forces, vowing retribution after Kenya deployed troops to Somalia in 2011 to combat the extremists.

Journalists resign after pro-Russia MP buys Ukraine TV channel

Kiev: A Ukrainian MP with ties to Russia has bought a national Ukrainian news channel, prompting a round of resignations from journalists who fear his ownership will mean coverage influenced by Moscow.

Taras Kozak of the pro-Moscow party "Opposition Platform" already owned two national TV stations before he took over the channel ZIK this week.

Kozak is a close ally of politician Viktor Medvedchuk, a controversial figure in Ukraine because of his close ties to Russian President Vladimir Putin while Kiev is fighting a Moscow-backed separatist war.

Journalist Roman Nedzelskiy, one of five journalists to resign from the channel along with its CEO, said Medvedchuk now essentially controls ZIK. "Tomorrow I will be on the air with the last broadcast of the weekly show 'Details' and then I will start looking for a job," he said on Facebook late Friday.

"Medvedchuk is an enemy of my country, a murderer of both the past and the future," his colleague Vakhtang Kipiani wrote as he announced his resignation. Mustafa Nayyem, a Ukrainian MP, wrote on social media that the takeover would be a challenge for new President Volodymyr Zelensky.

Husband says British woman held in Iran begins hunger strike

London: A British-Iranian woman jailed in Tehran for more than three years has begun a hunger strike to protest her detention, her husband said on Saturday.

Richard Ratcliffe said Nazanin Zaghari-Ratcliffe has told judicial officials she will refuse food but will drink water until she is granted "unconditional release." Ratcliffe said he would hold a vigil outside Iran's London embassy, and would fast in support of his wife.

Ratcliffe said his wife "had vowed that if we passed (daughter) Gabriella's fifth birthday with her still inside, then she would do something — to mark to both Governments that enough is enough. This really has gone on too long," Zaghari-Ratcliffe, who worked for the charity arm of news agency Thomson Reuters, was detained at Tehran airport in April 2016 on charges of plotting against the Iranian Govt. Her family denies the allegations. High-level diplomatic attempts to secure her release have so far failed. Foreign Secretary Jeremy Hunt granted 40-year-old Zaghari-Ratcliffe diplomatic protection in March, but Iranian officials refuse to recognize her dual nationality. The hunger strike comes amid heightened tensions between the West and Iran, which the U.S. and U.K. Blame for attacks on two oil tankers in the Gulf of Oman this week. Iran denies involvement.

'We are trapped': Zimbabwe's economic crunch hits passports

Harare: With Zimbabwe's economy in shambles and political tensions rising, leaving the country seems the best option for many who are desperate for jobs. But those dreams often end at the passport office, which doesn't have enough foreign currency to import proper paper and ink.

A passport now takes no less than a year to be issued. An emergency passport can take months amid a backlog of 280,000 applications, never mind recent ones.

Zimbabweans at the main office in the capital, Harare, have taken to sleeping in line for any chance at being served the following day — and that's just to submit an application.

Several million Zimbabweans already left for neighboring South Africa and other countries during years of economic turmoil under former leader Robert Mugabe. The hardships have only deepened under current President Emmerson Mnangagwa, who took over after Mugabe's forced resignation in late 2017.

The new Government's slogan "austerity for prosperity" now has a bitter ring. Unemployment is rampant and inflation is at 75%, the highest since 2009, when Zimbabwe's currency collapsed under the weight of hyperinflation.

Rapid devaluation of the local currency against the US dollar — also used as official currency — has seen basic items such as cooking oil changing prices several times a day. The health sector is collapsing, forcing those who can afford it to seek treatment abroad.

At the passport office, the desperation to escape is all too clear. "Guys, it's either we jump the queue or we will have to jump the border," one teenager told a group of friends plotting to sneak to the front of the line. Another teen, 19-year-old Brian Ndlovu, said coming to the office makes him "feel like there is really no way out of this country. We are trapped." The teen's plot to jump the queue failed, in large part because those at the front had camped there for days and knew each other by name. Emma Chirwa said she only reached the front of the line because she had been sleeping outside the office since June 5. "I was No. 34 on Friday. They served no one. On Thursday, they served 12 people," she said, huddled in a blanket on Sunday night.

People wait in a queue to submit an application for a passport at the main office in Harare on Friday AP

In the biting cold of the Southern Hemisphere's winter, dozens of people, including women with toddlers, slept on cardboard boxes or in the dust, holding their places. Around midnight, one man parked his motorbike and joined his wife in blankets on the line. People laughed.

Some huddled around a fire of scrap wood taken from the grounds of an adjacent school. A small enterprise has emerged, with some young men holding places in the line for a fee. Others sell pens, food items and foreign currency while a generator powered a photocopy machine. By daylight, the line snaked for more than a kilometer and included school children in uniform. A preacher holding a Bible took advantage of the crowd to deliver sermons about resilience and hope. But for many, the spirit is slipping.

For those seeking an emergency passport, the task requires multiple lines and a week of sleeping outside the office. One applies for an ordinary passport, then waits for a chance to upgrade the application to an emergency passport. Those who are booked for a date in 2020 have to join another line to plead for an earlier date.

The delays are due to a lack of foreign currency to import special paper, ink and other materials, as well as machine breakdowns, according to the national passport agency's registrar-general, Clemence Masango. The Zimbabwe Human Rights Commission, a government body, has described the passport crisis as "a major human rights challenge" and launched an investigation. In response, officials are promising change. "We have sourced the foreign currency, and the machine is now working, so the backlog will be cleared soon. We have to bring dignity to our people," Home Affairs Minister Cain Mathema told The Associated Press on Wednesday, vowing "a return to normalcy" in a month.

But for those badly in need of a legal way out of Zimbabwe, such official statements count for little without action. In a busy, cramped corridor, people clutching envelopes waited in yet another line outside what they mockingly called the "mercy office." It is where they plead with senior officials that their situations are dire enough for their emergency passport applications to be processed in days, not months.

One woman said the date she can upgrade her passport application to an emergency one is May 2020. "My mother needs an urgent medical operation in India," she said. "She will be dead by then." AP

Only rain can douse flying fireworks at India-Pak clash

PNS ■ OLD TRAFFORD (MANCHESTER)

Yeah... no pressure at all, only 1.5 billion people waiting for you to win," said Hardik Pandya the other day in his usual laconic manner. But that quite well summarises the traditional frenzy around any high voltage India-Pakistan clash, more so in the World Cup, even if emerging statesman Virat Kohli refuses to rise to the bait and add some of his own banter to the occasion.

With the match rated as big as Football World Cup Final with a 1.5 billion viewership count, it is quite unusual — and unfortunate — that all the mid-field contest, combination, chirping, strategizing and what not kind of exciting talk has taken a backseat to the more mundane and entirely unrequired chance of rain cutting short the proceedings today when a well sorted India high on self-belief, performance and wins, meet a relatively new, cornered and edgy Pakistan facing near ouster from the tournament.

Kohli says that a 50-over both sides match would be outstanding for combination and strategy, but flexibility would be required if the rain cuts it short, of which chances are high. As per the latest on the weather chart — which has been changing stance since morning — there is now a 53 per cent rain chance at 10 am and 11 am with a 51 per cent chance and an equal chance at 3 pm, for at least an hour. All through, there will be a cloud cover over the venue, with gentle wind. The match is slated to begin at 10.30 am local time.

How much of a truncated contest it will become remains to be discussed in emergent morning huddles in both the dressing rooms, but with the kind of conditions in the air, a three-man pace battery with the inclusion of Mohammed Sami is a distinct possibility. "Bumrah and Bhuvni are bowling well. It is important for them to stay in prime condition and the mental side of things will take care of itself, more so where conditions are like this, they'll get a lot more help than the first two games," skipper Virat Kohli said at his pre-match Press conference.

Statistics tell you, and the entire world quotes them with joy and concern depending on which side of the border the chirp is coming from, Pakistan is yet to record a victory against India in a World Cup. They broke this traditional ICC event barrier in the Champions Trophy Final which they won, but as their coach Mickey Arthur says, "that was a long time ago."

More than anything in a game of this proportion, where emotions get overly stoked, especially in young dressing rooms on either side, the need is to draw from focus more than precedent, calm more than passion and self-belief over all else.

Kohli knows that Aamir is in top gear having torn through the Australians with his fifer and Wahab comes with his own brand of pace and risk. But he, like Arthur, has also seen that the three disciplines of batting, bowling and fielding are yet to come together for the green brigade. While Arthur is looking at creating havoc upfront to unsettle the famed Indian batting order, Kohli is confident that the shock of a seasoned Shikhar Dhawan being unavailable would be duly dealt with by KL Rahul who is in keen nick.

The regimen is the same as always: See through the first 10 overs, build up a score that the bowlers can defend and then wait for the excellence of the arm department to play through the opponents. On a brown top, there are brownie points for the likes of Rohit Sharma and Kohli himself who scored a scintillating ton the last time the two met in the World Cup at Adelaide. Neither has picked up niggles or rust in the contravening four years. Add to that the fast and furious Hardik Pandya, who fired away in the nets on match eve, and master finisher in M S Dhoni, and all one needs is a plan that works, a belief that propels it and conditions that give India the wings to fly to another two points.

Hype or not, in the end, it is just about two points, like from any other game, isn't it? The tournament will go on and tomorrow will be yet another day for Kohli. For Pakistan skipper Sarfaraz Ahmed though, a defeat would mean, well, Gone With The Wind, without the Scarlet O Hara kind of optimism in defeat and misery.

RAIN RULES OF THE GAME

MANCHESTER: Now that it is official that rain is the biggest factor in this World Cup, tumbling broadcast profits, team points and fan spirit in equal measure, here is a lowdown on the Cup's rain rules:

1. A match can be cut short to a minimum of 20 overs each due to weather conditions.
2. Match time is from 10.30 am to 6.30 pm local time. Umpires have the discretion to extend by another 75 minutes and yet another hour if conditions permit.
3. If the match is abandoned, the two teams share a point each.
4. If not a single ball is bowled, the tickets get fully refunded, barring service fee, and the refund amount goes down on the number of overs bowled. Anything within 15 overs gives you a 50 per cent refund and beyond that no refund.
5. The D/L method will come into force for a truncated match.
6. There are no reserve days for the matches in the league stage.
7. In the semi-finals and the Final, rain allows an extra day.
8. If both the days get rained out in a semi-final, the team ranked higher in the league stage goes through to the Final.
9. If the Final two days get washed out, the trophy gets shared by the two teams.
10. All matches are, reportedly, insured by the official broadcaster and ICC, to high premiums. But sums that they would get back by claiming the insurance due to rain would be far lesser than the profit that Star TV is expecting to garner from the high voltage India-Pakistan clash, selling last-minute 10-second spot ads on a high premium. PNS

Pakistan players attend an indoor training session ahead of their match against India

That's how big it is for Pak

PNS ■ MANCHESTER

How big an occasion it is for the Pakistani team to seek a win against India came through in their coach Mickey Arthur's pre-match Press conference.

"I'm telling our players in the dressing room, you could be a hero tomorrow. Your careers are going to be defined by a moment in the game. You do something incredible tomorrow, you'll be remembered forever. Our kind of mantra is how do you want to be remembered? We've got 15 incredible cricketers in that dressing room, and we keep stressing to them, how do you want to be remembered? You're the Class of 2019. What are they going to say about you in history? And tomorrow presents an unbelievable opportunity for these guys to really make a mark," he said.

He also talked about the youngest team in the World Cup yet to put their three disciplines together. Which means, Pakistan has had a bad match with fielding, something that their skipper blamed the defeat against Australia on; when their bowlers performed, their batsmen fizzled out. And the rest went down the drain due to rain.

In their opener, they were bowled out for 105 by the West Indies and lost their fourth match in the tournament to Australia by 41 runs. They carry 3 points from four matches which has pushed them into familiar do or die corner. In four matches played thus far, one was rained out and only one won, the one against the hosts England.

"The opportunities have all been there. We are yet to grab them," Arthur said, hoping that it all comes together on Sunday when they meet eternal rivals India in their bid to stay in the tournament. Only, Arthur knows but ignores the fact that India has moved to the top of the ladder in cricket even as Pakistan has struggled to stay in the big game with a convulsive administration and a high attrition rate, not to mention the squeezed resources, as compared to India which has gained superpower status with a cash-rich Cricket Board.

For us, no one is a threat: Kohli

Despite more than a dozen questions thrown at him about the high tension around an India-Pakistan clash, skipper Virat Kohli refused to rise to the bait and said he would not say anything at all to push the TRPs. He insisted that the team would be treating it as any other game in World Cup cricket, giving their 100 per cent because that's the only thing that wins matches. Excerpts from the Press conference:

PNS ■ OLD TRAFFORD (MANCHESTER)

□ How tough is it for India to prepare and plan for an unpredictable side like Pakistan?

We know they have talent, but we play well as a team. In the first two games we gave clinical performances and focused on what we need to do. We're not focusing too much on what the opposition has to do or what it will bring to the table. We need to believe in our strengths. If we play well as a team we can beat any side in the world. That's the type of confidence we have carried in the first two games and we want to continue in the same manner in the next whatever coming games we have.

□ Considering Pakistan's proficiency against spinners and the wicket, any strategic changes needed?

The conditions and the length of the game will make us think about a few combinations. The kind of spinners and the kind of bowlers we have, it's difficult for any team to just come out and attack these guys. There's a certain level of risk involved when you have world class bowlers bowling at you.

We need to focus on the combination we're comfortable with because we bat all the players in our team and expect them to put in performances and execute what they are best known for. The length of the game and looking at the conditions, we will definitely think of a few combinations.

□ Do you have to plan something different for Pakistan?

We have to be flexible. We can't be rigid in our approach because if the conditions are different from what we played in the last game then we'll have to think of different combinations, areas to strengthen in the bowling attack. If pace becomes a more important option, we'll look to explore that. If not, if the length of the game is going to be full and we expect the game to be 50 overs both sides, then we'll probably think of another combination. We'll have to see how today pans out, how tomorrow the conditions are. All players are in a zone to be ready to play, so that helps in selecting the combination you need, depending on the conditions.

□ Who's the real threat in

the Pakistan team for you considering the weather? We're not focusing on the opposition, so for us no one's a threat. No one player matters more than the other. It's about going into the park as the Indian cricket team and taking on whichever team is in front of you. If we play well, we can beat any side in the world. If you don't, teams are going to beat you. That's how simple the game of cricket is, and should be. In our minds, nothing changes according to the opposition. We're only

MY MOST TENSE MOMENT AGAINST PAKISTAN WAS CHAMPIONS TROPHY 2009. YUVI FRACTURED A FINGER AND I WAS LITERALLY FLOWN IN. IN TWO DAYS' TIME I WAS PLAYING AGAINST PAKISTAN AT CENTURION. I PLAYED A VERY BAD SHOT AND COULDN'T SLEEP UNTIL 6 AM. I WAS LOOKING AT THE CEILING AND THINKING, THAT'S IT, I'VE FLOWN IN AND NOW I'M FINISHED. THE FUNNY INCIDENT HAPPENED DURING THE WORLD CUP IN MOHALI. I CAN'T ELABORATE BUT IT WAS QUITE FUNNY. IT WAS INVOLVING SHAHID AFRIDI AND WAHAB. I WAS STANDING WITH THE STRIKERS, AND I HEARD A CONVERSATION WHICH, IN VERY HIGH-PRESSURE GAME, MADE ME LAUGH focused on playing the type of cricket we're known for, not singling out any player from the opposition.

□ Any message for the fans? For us, a professional approach is most important. We can't get too emotional or excited. But for the fans, looking at the atmosphere and frenzy around the game, I wouldn't say it's easy to think like a player. The fans' should enjoy the atmosphere, the occasion the way they want to and the way it's been enjoyed for years, but the players obviously have to maintain the mindset which we have for years approaching any game, whether it's against Pakistan, Australia, England or South Africa. We need to go out, be professional and execute what we're expected to.

□ We have not played this team very often. How much of a challenge that is?

I don't see it as a massive challenge because even the teams that you know well, you have to play good cricket against. If you play good cricket, if you do the basics better than the opponent, then invariably you win, (Turn to page 2)

REGALING TALES

India skipper Virat Kohli might call it just another game to calm the nerves of his players ahead of Sunday's blockbuster meeting between India and Pakistan at the World Cup, but everyone knows that a clash between the arch-rivals on the cricket field is nothing short of a carnival. Emotions run high, players look to seize the moment and make a statement and even the fans want boasting rights till the two teams face-off next time. And who better to speak on what it means to take on Pakistan in a World Cup game than Sachin Tendulkar. The legend has been a part of five India-Pakistan games in the showpiece event and his scores read 54 in 1992, 31 in 1996, 45 in 1999, 98 in 2003 and 85 in 2011. In fact, apart from winning the coveted trophy in 2011, the little master rates the 2003 game against Pakistan in Centurion as one of his favourite memories from playing in six World Cups for India. This in itself speaks volumes of what an India-Pakistan encounter means, not just to the fans, but also for the 22 bravehearts fighting it out in the middle. "The best memory apart from lifting the World Cup has to be the 2003 match against Pakistan in Centurion. The kind of build-up that was there for that match and the way we played and the way we won. Also, the way we celebrated after the game and the way we progressed in the tournament after that was spectacular. Without any doubt, that has to be a special memory," he told IANS.

RAP FOR CARLOS

West Indies all-rounder Carlos Brathwaite has received an official reprimand and received one demerit point for breaching the Level 1 of the ICC Code of Conduct during the England-West Indies game in the ongoing World Cup at the Hampshire Bowl on Friday. He was found to have breached Article 2.8 of the code of conduct for players and player support personnel, which relates to showing dissent to an umpire's decision. The incident occurred in the 43rd over of the West Indies innings when Brathwaite made his displeasure at being given out clear to the umpires. Brathwaite admitted to the offence and accepted the sanction proposed by match referee David Boon. There was no need for a formal hearing.

NUMBERS SPEAK

A Kerala-based numerologist who predicted India's victory at the 2011 World Cup, on Saturday said India would do it again this time. MK Damodaran, a retired government official based in the Kannur district, has correctly predicted several events in the sporting and political arena through numerology. Damodaran had told IANS in 2011, numbers 2, 6 and 7 played a prominent role in the scheme of things of MS Dhoni, whose "fate number is 33." "Indian captain Virat Kohli's birth number is 5 and occult number also 5. Interestingly, Dhoni and Kohli are numerological birds of the same feather. The fate number of Kohli also is 33. Dhoni and Kohli have an amazing chemistry," said Damodaran. He said Kohli's date of birth is 5/11/1988 and Sun sign Scorpio, which is related to number 9. Hence, numbers 3, 6 & 9 are lucky for him. Kohli's fate number is 33 and the age the luckiest 30 (3+0=3). "These factors indicate Kohli and Dhoni will lift the 3rd World Cup for India," said Damodaran. Drawing a parallel to Kapil Dev, he said, numbers 3, 6 & 9 were lucky for him, whose birth number is 6 and occult number 30 (3+0=3). IANS

'Cash in on India's middle-order vulnerability'

PTI ■ MANCHESTER

Pakistan bowlers should go after a vulnerable Indian middle order when the two teams clash in the marquee World Cup game on Sunday, says former Pakistan captain Wasim Akram.

Akram, hero of many Indo-Pak cricketing battles, is hopeful that Mohammed Amir led attack would do well to find the chinks in the Indian middle-order.

"India have a solid top order. Not only there is Virat (Kohli) but there's also Rohit (Sharma). But I have a feeling that middle order isn't that settled. Pakistan bowlers should try to cash in on that aspect," Akram said.

Amir's presence in the side is a big positive feels Akram. The left arm pacer took 5 for 30

Imad Wasim, Shaheen Afridi and Wahab Riaz attend an indoor training session against Australia albeit in a lost cause.

"I don't know why did they drop Amir in the first place. His presence even when he is not at his best is important. He is a senior bowler now and I believe he has a duty to guide the youngsters," Akram said. He has confidence in Babar Azam but wouldn't like comparisons with Virat Kohli.

"Babar Azam is a very talented batsman and it's good to see his consistency. He shouldn't be compared to Virat and let him play freely."

The 'Sultan of Swing' is however disappointed that young fast bowlers these days don't know the use of wrists.

"Aajkal ke ladke wrists kahaan maarte hain. (Bowlers nowadays don't use their wrists). How do you even expect bowlers to get swing?" he questioned.

Two new balls from both ends have been quite a deterrent for bowlers but the legendary Wasim Akram is of the opinion that the white Dukes used during the 1999 edition was better for seamers.

Akram, Shoaib Akhtar, Abdul Razzaq and Azhar

Mahmood made life difficult for the opposition during that World Cup in England where Pakistan reached the finals.

"The seam of the kookaburra ball is not pronounced and I have always found Dukes to be the best ball. I don't know why the ICC had done away with the Duke Whites. Those balls would have certainly swung more," Akram said.

India must not entertain thoughts that they would start favourites in the marquee World Cup clash against Pakistan, warned stalwarts Sourav Ganguly and Sachin Tendulkar. Ganguly said the Indian team perhaps made the mistake of taking Pakistan lightly in the 2017 Champions Trophy final and had to bite the dust.

"India needs to be very careful, don't go into this game thinking they are the favourites.

I think they did that the last time in 2017 in the ICC Champions Trophy finals, and Pakistan beat them hands down. It's going to be a great game of cricket," commented Ganguly as an expert for Star Sports ahead of the game.

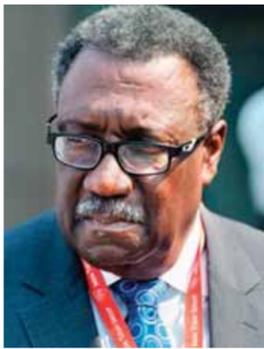

Tendulkar also said that India cannot afford to take the traditional rivals lightly.

"Pakistan has always been unpredictable, and they are a dangerous side - so there is no way the Indian team is going to take them lightly. Every step that the Indian team takes forward, we would want to be 100% sure of what we are doing, and it is well thought and well planned," he said.

The hype and interest an India-Pakistan cricket match generates is surreal and both Tendulkar and Ganguly agreed that "it is more than just a cricket match".

Stand up and be counted

CARIBSE

By CLIVE LLOYD Former West Indies captain

If the West Indies want to win this World Cup then now is the time for them to come out fighting and show what they are made of.

Defeats and bad days are always going to happen in a tournament like this, and now we just have to hope that the West Indies have got all of theirs out of the way.

I still think they have got the firepower in both their batting and bowling to go all the way but the pressure is building.

They need to win nearly every group game from here on in if they are to have a chance of making the semi-finals.

Eleven points will probably be enough to get a Team into the top four, and considering they still have the likes of New Zealand and India to play, it is now or never.

The defeat to England will have disappointed them because that was a huge game.

They picked a bad time to have their worst batting display of the tournament so far.

Once you have got past the best of the England bowling attack, you really shouldn't be giving your wickets away to a part-timer like Joe Root. He is someone you should be looking to milk all day long.

The two youngsters Shimron Hetmyer and Nicholas Pooran had to try and rebuild the innings and gave it a pretty good effort.

Pooran in particular has really impressed me so far this tournament, but we shouldn't be asking two young guys to do it all.

The rest of the batsmen left them high and dry, and there was ample opportunity there on a Southampton pitch that didn't have too much devil in it.

There is a lot of power in that batting line-up but maybe we are missing someone who can stick around. In my day we had Larry Gomes who could play that role.

Maybe they missed a trick by not choosing someone in the squad with the all-round skills who can play the role like Moeen Ali plays for England and filling that extra batting place which West Indies sorely needs.

Royston Chase would fill that role for West Indies because he can also offer a bit of spin as well and can anchor an innings with the bat.

I STILL THINK WINDIES HAVE GOT THE FIREPOWER IN BOTH THEIR BATTING AND BOWLING TO GO ALL THE WAY BUT THE PRESSURE IS BUILDING. THEY NEED TO WIN NEARLY EVERY GROUP GAME FROM HERE ON IN IF THEY ARE TO HAVE A CHANCE OF MAKING THE SEMI-FINALS

One for the future

■ SOUTHAMPTON

Shimron Hetmyer insists his fledgling partnership with Nicholas Pooran could bear fruit for years to come after the West Indies duo dug deep against an England onslaught.

The pair put on 89 for the fourth wicket in the West Indies' eight-wicket defeat, batting maturely and patiently while under the cosh.

Hetmyer, 22, has four ODI centuries already and guided the West Indies through a difficult 16 overs alongside Pooran — with the pair coming together at 55-3.

He undid all his hard work by playing a loose shot to Joe Root on 39, while Pooran went on to make 63 in the Windies' overall 212.

But the signs were still encouraging and Hetmyer believes the pair can score plenty together again.

"Bating with Nicholas is very comfortable for me because we played in the under-19s together and then in the CPL [Caribbean Premier League] we played together too, so I have got to know him a little better at the crease," he said.

"I think I was trying to hit the ball at one stage and he just came up to me and said let's just try to time it, not muscle it and from there it came out a bit better.

"For me, my role does not change. I have to go out and whatever role I need to play, it is there for me. I will try to execute as much as possible.

"Today did not come off like I would have liked or the team would have liked but we had some positives, we had a partnership and went from strength to strength in the middle overs,

"We did come out on the wrong end of today's game but I just tried to play my role and pick up the slack if we had a good start and build a partnership."

The West Indies have now lost two of their four matches, while Monday's game with South Africa was washed-out, leaving their win against Pakistan as their sole success so far.

The semi-finals are not yet out of reach but Monday's clash with Bangladesh in Taunton is pivotal to their chances and Hetmyer insists they will deliver.

"I am very confident. It happens in these types of competitions, you go down and it is all about how you pick yourself up for the next game," he said.

"All the guys are in good spirits and we are looking ahead and looking forward to the next game."

Change of fate

■ TAUNTON

Bangladesh fast bowling coach Courtney Walsh expects his team to come back strongly as they take on West Indies in their fifth game of the ICC Men's World Cup in Taunton on Monday.

Bangladesh had a promising start in the tournament, beating South Africa first and then nearly pulling off a close finish against New Zealand at The Oval. However, the Mashrafe Mortaza led side went down by 106 runs against England, before their next game against Sri Lanka got washed out. Walsh seemed confident of his team putting up a collective effort against West Indies - a side they defeated thrice in the recently concluded tri-series in Ireland.

"We were very consistent in every department right throughout that tri-nation [series]," Walsh told reporters in Taunton. "We have been hampered a little bit by the weather here. It is out of our control. If we can get the consistency in the next couple of games, who knows what can happen?"

Walsh viewed Chris Gayle and Andre Russell as potential threats for the Monday's clash. "We are coming up with some ideas and plans looking at their current game. They are two dangerous players we have to try to restrict, and get them out at the same time to have more control of the game. We will be focused on their team itself, because they have very good players in their team as well. I am sure we can perform as a team against West Indies."

Bangladesh have had the better of West Indies in recent times, winning seven of the last ten games including a bilateral series triumph last July.

"We have to do it all over again. We will be looking in the context of the game itself. We will be seeing players who didn't come to Bangladesh or play against us in the West Indies. They are probably full strength. We have been playing consistently well against West Indies."

The former West Indian fast

bowling great who took 746 international wickets in a career spanning nearly two decades, said that consistency and discipline are the keys to success, after Bangladesh conceded 386 runs against England.

"You have to have pace sometimes but for me, consistency, control and execution is more important. If you don't have the 140-150kph [pace], then you have to compensate [for] that. We have certainly been consistent, hitting the right areas and getting good variation. The guys have been working hard but you will have bad games here and there. Consistency is the key for us, and try to get good variation," he concluded.

For us, no one is a threat: Kohli

Unless someone creates a match-winning magical performance all by himself. Familiar oppositions, unfamiliar oppositions don't matter because you understand that if you don't play well, you don't win, and if you play well, you win against anyone. If we do our strengths well it will be good enough for anyone in the world. We need to have that belief.

When it is a game against Pakistan what do you tell your young camp?

We have discussed nothing different from the time we came to England. The mood in the dressing room hasn't changed. We understand that any game you play for your country can be emotional, adrenaline filled, so no one game is more important or more special for us than the other. We are a top side in the world because of the cricket we play and we always need to remember that.

You have had outstanding success under pressure. But how difficult is it as a captain to keep the youngsters away from the hustle-bustle of an Indo-Pak meet?

The best way to approach something like this is to understand that the game starts tomorrow at a certain time and it finishes at a certain time, it's not going to last a lifetime, whether you do well or don't. The tournament goes on. As a unit, 11 guys share responsibility. That's been our message from day one.

If it rains, then what?

It's in no one's hands. We've been in these situations many times. We'll just have to wait and see how the weather pans out. Whatever amount of game we get - a full game would be outstanding - we have to be mentally ready to go in there and do what we need to do.

Fast bowlers haven't had an ideal preparation for this big game....

They are in a good head space and have bowled well in the first two games. If physically they can stay fresh and their bodies are feeling good, mentally they're just fine. They should take care of their bodies, recovery and energy levels. Bumrah and Bhui are bowling well. It is important for them to stay in prime condition and the mental side of things will take care of itself, more so where conditions are like this, they'll get a lot more help than the first two games.

Can you take us through some tense and funny moments against Pakistan on field?

Tense was Champions Trophy 2009 where Yuvi fractured a finger and I was literally flown in and in two days' time I was playing against Pakistan at Centurion. I hadn't experienced anything like that before and I played a very bad shot. I couldn't sleep until 6 am. I was looking at the ceiling and thinking, that's it, I've flown in and now I'm finished. There have been many funny moments over the years. The incident happened during the World Cup in Mohali I can't really elaborate here. That was quite funny. It was involving Shahid Afridi and Wahab. I was standing with the strikers, and I heard a conversation, which as I say, I can't elaborate here, but in a high-pressure game, that made me laugh.

Australia's captain Aaron Finch celebrates scoring a century

Starc Oz & Big Finch clinch

Skipper Finch's 153, Starc's 4/55 lead Aussies fightback to beat SL by 87 runs

PTI ■ LONDON

Skipper Aaron Finch stroked his way to a majestic century as defending champions Australia inched closer to the semifinal berth with a crushing 87-run win over Sri Lanka in their World Cup fixture here Saturday.

Finch forged two crucial partnerships -- 80 with his opening partner David Warner (26) and 173 with Steve Smith (73 off 59) for the third wicket -- in his 132-ball 153 knock. It was his 14th ODI hundred which was laced with 15 fours and five sixes, two of them gigantic.

Glenn Maxwell then provided the late charge with an unbeaten 25-ball 46 as Australia posted a challenging 334 for 7.

Chasing the total, Sri Lanka were 115 for no loss at one stage but they squandered the superb start to be eventually dismissed for 247 in 45.5 overs.

Skipper Dimuth Karunaratne (97) was the top-scorer for Sri Lanka, while his opening partner Kusal Perera (52) also scored a fifty.

Mitchell Starc took four wickets, while Kane Richardson claimed three and Pat Cummins scalped two.

This is Australia's fourth win in five matches, having beaten Afghanistan, the West Indies and Pakistan while losing to India in the 10-team tournament.

Sri Lanka, who came into the match with one win from four games after their previous two matches were washed out, are however running out of time after suffering their second defeat.

Sri Lanka were off to a flying start to their run chase with Karunaratne and Kusal Perera helping the team post 87 for zero in 10 overs, the highest total in the powerplay in the tournament so far.

The Island nation scored 100 in 12.4 overs before Mitchell Starc produced a breakthrough, cleaning up Perera in the 16th over.

Lahiru Thirimanne (16), who survived a couple of run-out chances, brought up the team 150 with a square drive but he was caught behind in the next ball by Jason Behrendorff as Sri Lanka slipped to 153 for 2.

Runs dried up after that as Australia tightened the screws. With pressure mounting, Karunaratne ended up giving a straight catch to Maxwell at gully, just three runs short of his hundred.

Two quick wickets next saw Sri Lanka further slump to 209 for five and they never recovered after that.

Smith too dealt in boundaries as the duo brought up the 200 in 35.3 overs.

The former skipper completed his fifty in 46 balls, while Finch smashed Perera over deep square for his fifth six of the innings.

Finch and Smith started Perera for 18 runs in the 41st over with each smashing a couple of fours. Smith then deposited Malinga over deep mid-wicket in the next over.

Udana finally broke the partnership when he had Finch caught at cover by Karunaratne off a slower delivery as Australia slipped to 273 for 3 in 42.4 overs.

Malinga then dismissed Smith with a cracking yorker in the next over, while Udana showed great athleticism to run out Alex Carey and Pat Cummins to stem the run flow.

Earlier, Finch played some exquisite shots to keep the runs flowing even as his opening partner Warner found the going tough.

Nuwan Pradeep was first in the firing line as he was hit for two fours by Finch.

The Australia skipper then blasted Lasith Malinga for a couple of fours in the seventh over before welcoming Thisara Perera with successive boundaries as Australia scored 53 in the first powerplay.

In the 17th over, Dhananjaya de Silva cleaned up Warner when he tried to make room for himself for a cut shot.

Afghans collapse

PTI ■ CARDIFF

Leg-spinner Imran Tahir snared four wickets to trigger Afghanistan's dramatic batting collapse as South Africa bundled them out for 125 in yet another rain-affected World Cup match here Saturday.

Sent into bat, Afghanistan were slow and steady to reach 69 for 2 at the end of the 20th over when rain came for the second time and when play resumed after a break of one hour, they lost four quick wickets for the addition of just eight runs.

They were reduced to 77 for 7 in the 26th over, losing five wickets in the space of 4.4 overs.

Earlier, the Afghanistan innings was also halted for 25 minutes in the sixth over due to rains. After the second rain interruption, the match was reduced to a 48-over side.

The Afghans did not even last the full 48 overs as they were shot out in 34.1 overs.

South Africa will now chase 127 from 48 overs to get their first win in the tournament after the target was revised under Duckworth/Lewis method.

Chris Morris chipped in with three wickets while his pace colleagues Andile Phehlukwayo and Kagiso Rabada took two and one wicket respectively as the Afghans gave little fight against the Proteas.

Phehlukwayo removed a struggling Hashmatullah Shahidi (8 off 22 balls) in the fourth ball after the long rain interruption before Tahir took two wickets in the next over, dismissing well-set Noor Ali Zadran (32 off 58 balls) and Asghar Afghan (0) in the space of five deliveries.

Phehlukwayo then had Mohammad Nabi (1) in the next over -- 23rd -- before Tahir got his third wicket of the day in the 26th over in the form of captain Gulbadin Naib (5) to leave Afghanistan innings in disarray.

After a competition among Afghan batsmen to return to the dressing room, it was number 9 and top-scorer Rashid Khan, who delayed the end of Afghan innings and take them past 100-mark with a 25-ball 35 but his late fight was too little too late.

He stitched a 34-run stand with wicketkeeper Ikram Alikhil (9 off 33 balls) for the eighth wicket before he was out in the 34th over.

David Warner presents autographed Australian jersey to net bowler Jaykishan Plaha who was hit by Warner's shot during practice session

One for you mate!

PTI ■ LONDON

David Warner on Saturday presented a signed team shirt to the Indian origin net bowler Jaykishan Plaha who was struck on the head by a powerful drive from the Australian opener.

Warner met Plaha ahead of Australia's game against Sri Lanka and presented him with an autographed team shirt.

"Last week, Jaykishan Plaha was hit on the head by a David Warner drive during an Australia training session," said a post on the official World Cup Twitter handle.

"Today, Warner met both Jaykishan and his mum before play, presented Jaykishan with an Australia shirt and wished him a speedy recovery."

"Hope you recover well. I appreciate your understanding," Warner said in the video.

The incident took place ahead of Australia's clash with India on Sunday. Australia had immediately stopped their training session as the team's medical staff and paramedics rushed to attend an injured Plaha. The 22-year-old spent four nights in a London hospital.

Plaha, who was seen happily chatting with Warner in the video, thanked the explosive opener for his gesture.

"Warner gave me his match shirt from the World Cup. Really appreciate it. What happened was that I got hit on the head by David Warner on the front drive," Plaha said in a video posted on Twitter.

"Glad to be standing here actually. Hope to be back on the field soon. My dream is to be a professional cricketer as well," he added.

Professional, clinical & ruthless win

KNIGHTWRITER

By HEATHER KNIGHT
England women's captain

Joe Root is one of the best one-day players in the world and he proved it again in England's eight-wicket win over the West Indies with another brilliant century.

His recent record is outstanding and having him as that rock in the batting line-up helps the more attack-minded guys because they know Joe is there to steady the ship.

It just seems a formality at the moment he's going to score 50-plus and quite often turn that into a century.

He had to open the batting at short notice due to Jason Roy's injury but he took it all in his stride.

Joe went about his innings brilliantly and scored as quickly as Jonny Bairstow at other end — he looked great and it was a very low-maintenance knock. He kept it simple and played proper cricket shots.

Eoin Morgan might've thought about potentially opening with Jos Buttler and it wouldn't have been the worst shout because he's a player who can score at a strike-rate of above 200 even when there are five fielders on the boundary.

But Morgs probably wanted to make the most of having Jos at back-end of the chase if needed, that's a key spot.

And you want to keep your batsmen in the position where they will be playing for most of the tournament.

It was an awesome England

In an ideal world, England will want to play their best team and get as close to qualifying for the semis as they can. But it's a long tournament and if there's any risk involved with playing them, they won't take it performance — very professional, clinical and ruthless. It was a really good display with the ball to restrict West Indies to 212 and that set the tone.

Pre-game, it was being billed as a battle of the pacemen, so to see the English bowlers hitting consistently good lengths was great.

Jofra (Archer) and Chris (Mark Wood) got going together, while Ben Stokes can hit 145 kph as well which is so exciting to watch.

You always feel like something will happen with that trio's pace and a wicket is just round corner.

There will be a bit of a nervous wait for news on Eoin Morgan and Jason Roy's injuries ahead of the Afghanistan game on Tuesday.

In an ideal world, England will want to play their best team and get as close to qualifying for the semi-finals as they can.

But it's a long tournament and if there's any risk involved with playing them, they won't take it.

It doesn't matter that England will be considered heavy favourites for the Afghanistan contest — you prepare in the same way as any game, make sure you're ready for their bowlers and keep yourselves on your toes.

Morgs and the coaches will make sure there are no signs of complacency and it's about trying not to think of opposition as a lesser nation because then you get in trouble — just play it like any other match. We've already seen some great catches in this ICC Men's Cricket World Cup from the likes of Ben Stokes and Sheldon Cottrell but in our match against West Indies Women on Thursday, Fran Wilson took the best live catch I've ever seen.

I couldn't stop watching it the morning after — I saw someone had superimposed a cape on Fran on Twitter, which was fitting.

It was absolutely outstanding and everyone has been asking me about it, which is an amazing sign — moments like that go viral and it's a great advert for women's cricket.

Take a chill pill

Eoin Morgan, second right, hobbles off the field of play with an injury, next to Joe Root

PTI ■ SOUTHAMPTON

By his own admission, England captain Eoin Morgan is doubtful for the next World Cup game having suffered a back spasm while Jason Roy undergoes a scan for hamstring strain but the skipper insisted it is not a 'panic station' yet.

During their World Cup match against the West Indies here on Friday, Morgan left the field in the 41st over of West Indian innings, joining Roy on the treatment table, who had earlier hobbled off with a hamstring strain.

"It is sore. I have had back spasms before and it normally takes a few days to settle down. It is unclear, we will know more in the next 24 hours. You normally get a good indication the following day. If it settles down then the improvement is there straight away.

"Jason had a tight hamstring and will go for a scan, it will be 48 hours until we know more. I think when any two players go down it is a bit of a worry but it is not panic stations yet," Morgan said while addressing the post-match media interaction standing because of discomfort due to back spasm.

Chasing 213 for victory against the West Indies, England did not require the services of either Morgan or Roy as Joe Root stepped into Roy's shoes at the top of the order, scoring an unbeaten 100 of 94 balls to help the hosts post a comfortable eight-wicket win.

"Like everybody, we have to see how it pulls up. We will see how risky it is and do a risk assessment going into that game, baring in mind we will have two games in a few days," said Morgan.

England skipper Eoin Morgan has heaped praise on Joe Root, describing the star batsman as the 'glue' that holds the team together.

Root hit his second century of the World Cup on Friday to steer the injury-depleted England to a convincing eight-wicket win over the West Indies and captain Morgan could not have been more impressed.

"I am exceptionally pleased," Morgan said after the match.

"He's such an important player for us, he is the glue that holds everything together and probably a side of his batting that's got better over the last two or three years that people haven't seen a lot of his expansive game.

"He never seems to be scoring at less than a run a ball. You look up and he's going at more than a run a ball. It's exceptional to see him come out and be in this form," he said.

Morgan further added that Root was the man with a 'golden arm' as his part-time off-spin helped England pick up two key West Indian wickets — Shimron Hetmyer and captain Jason Holder — before his 94-ball unbeaten 100 made the hosts' run chase look like a stroll in the park despite the absence of two key players in Morgan himself and Jason Roy due to injuries. "Adil (Rashid) had got it to turn so much, Jos said 'it's turning more than you think here' so we discussed it and then went with it for one, possibly two overs but Joe started brilliantly; he's got a golden arm," said Morgan.

Having also scored a century against Pakistan, Root has now amassed 279 runs in four matches, becoming the first England player to score two hundreds in a single edition of the World Cup since Kevin Pietersen 12 years ago.

He has also become the first in history to compile three in total, as the hosts moved to second position in the points table. Yet Root insisted that there was still room for improvement.

"It's not about the number of runs you score, and being the one that stands out in terms of individual accolades," said Root.

"It's about building those substantial partnerships that win you games and collectively getting the job done. I feel like I'm playing all right. I don't feel like I'm playing exceptionally well at the moment but I feel like I'm playing some good stuff and there's still loads of things that I want to keep working on and keep improving," said a modest Root.

"It was important we didn't panic and kept it together. We managed to get across the line and did it really convincingly in the end so it's a really good sign and will fill the dressing room with a lot of confidence in knowing that we don't have to go about things in just one way to be successful," he added.

Root, who ended up taking 2/27 off five overs, was surprised with his all-rounder status. "I didn't really expect (to get so many overs). I got the opportunity and it was nice to pick up a few wickets. I probably burgled them rather than out-skilled them. I'm not the most skilful off-spinner, so I was just trying to be as unpredictable as possible," Root said.

Coutinho's 2nd half brace powers Brazil to 3-0 win against Bolivia in Copa opener

Philippe Coutinho celebrates after scoring from spot

But surprisingly their greatest threat came from set-pieces with Coutinho's corner delivery causing panic in the Bolivian backline.

Bolivia's goalkeeper Carlos Lampe made an instinctive block from a Roberto Firmino flick that came straight at him.

And a few minutes later, towering center-half Thiago Silva was left unmarked eight yards out to meet another Coutinho delivery, but he inexplicably headed well wide.

Brazil, wearing white shirts and blue shorts, weaved almost geometric patterns around their unambitious visitors but struggled to test Lampe.

Their best chances came from Bolivian mistakes and Richarlison should have scored into an open goal when a woeful Lampe clearance went straight to him, but the Everton forward failed to lift the ball over defender Adrian Jusino, who headed clear from the edge of the 18-yard box.

BARRAGE OF JEERS

Tite's team were treated to a barrage of jeers from the 67,000 crowd when the half-time whistle went.

Bolivia's best moment had perhaps been a cheeky nutmeg of Casemiro by Raul Castro on the edge of his own 18-yard box. It had been slim pickings. Fans' spirits were quickly lifted after the restart, though, as Coutinho fired home from the spot on 50 minutes after a contentious penalty award.

Bolivia were stunned and just three minutes later their defence went missing as Firmino reached the bye line and chipped the ball to the back post for Coutinho to head home from barely two yards out.

Reluctant to push men forward, Bolivia never looked like getting back into the match.

"If you want to qualify (for the knock-out stages) you have to attack a little more," admitted Villegas.

And Coutinho's corners continued to present Brazil with their best chances, as Marquinhos headed straight at Lampe from seven yards with 15 minutes left.

India win FIH Series Finals

PTI ■ BHUBANESWAR

India lived up to their billing and thrashed South Africa 5-1 in the summit clash to win the FIH Series Finals hockey tournament here on Saturday.

Coming into the tournament as overwhelming favourites, world No 5 India played like champions and remained unbeaten throughout the tournament.

Dragflickers Varun Kumar (2nd and 49th minutes) and Harmanpreet Singh (11th and 25th) scored a brace each, while Vivek Sagar Prasad (35th) was the other goal scorer for India.

South Africa's lone goal was scored by Richard Pautz in the 53rd minute.

India and South Africa have already qualified for the final round of the Olympic qualifiers before Saturday's summit clash.

Earlier in the day, Asian Games champion Japan defeated USA 4-2 to finish third in the competition.

The top two finishers of this tournament make it to the final round of the Olympic qualifiers to be held later this year.

Going by world rankings, the Indians were expected to control the proceedings and they exactly did that from the word go.

India secured their first penalty corner as early as in the second minute and Varun made no mistake in converting the opportunity into goal.

In the 11th minute, India got another penalty corner and this time Harmanpreet slammed home to make the scoreline 2-0 in favour of the hosts.

Indian players pose with the winners trophy after beating South Africa in the FIH Series Finals

Seconds before the end of the first quarter, South Africa got a rare opportunity but Nqobile Ntuli's reverse hit was kept away by Krishan Bahadur Pathak in front of the Indian goal.

Five minutes from half time, India were awarded a penalty stroke when Birendra Lakra was stick-checked inside South Africa's 'D' by Jethro Eustice and Harmanpreet made no mistake to make the scoreline 3-0.

The flow of the match continued in the same vein after the change of ends with India dominating the proceedings.

Five minutes into the third quarter, India extended their lead when Vivek Sagar Prasad scored from close range after being set up by Simranjeet Singh.

India secured their third penalty corner in the 41st minute but this time Amit Rohidas' try was saved by the South African goalkeeper.

India kept up the pressure and earned their fourth penalty corner in the 49th minute and Varun scored from a variation to make the scoreline 5-0 in the home team's favour.

South Africa finally had something to cheer about when they secured back-to-back penalty corners in the 53rd minute and from the second chance, Pautz deflected in Eustice's flick to reduce the margin to 5-1.

Four minutes from the final hooter, India secured two more penalty corners but failed to utilise the opportunities.

South Africa too got a last chance to pull another goal back in the form of their third penalty corner but to no effect.

FROM THE INSIDE

An all-too-possible future
In Yudhanjaya Wijeratne's new book, Numbercaste, people's importance is distilled into an all-powerful number

The paradox called life
We are all aware of the concept of death, but it is still difficult to bear with the loss of a loved one

MANY A SLIP BETWEEN THE CUP AND THE LIP

With an impressive squad comprising maverick ex-captain Dhoni, the phenomenon called Captain Kohli, all-rounders like Pandya and Jadhav, and destroyer-in-chief bowler Bumrah, Team India's chances in the 12th edition of the ICC Cricket World Cup 2019 look bright. Could this be the third time the Men in Blue will lift the Cup? Only time will tell

This is it. We've come full circle. We're back to where our journey as a cricket crazy nation began: England. Lord's. Here we go again. From complete underdogs then to absolute world dominators and financial powerhouses now. We've come a long way since that fine day in 1983 when Kapil Dev — an all-rounder from Punjab with an erstwhile ordinary individual record — lifted that trophy and ushered in an era of frantic following to the point of raising the status of the sport to that of a religion and its most revered son, Sachin Tendulkar, to that of a God.

A lot has happened between that iconic moment in the balcony of Lord's to the iconic six hit by Mahendra Singh Dhoni to win India's second World Cup in 2011. But all of that later. First, let's celebrate the fact that our Sharma ji ka laadka, Rohit Sharma, is living up to expectations, and that Koffee With Karan came way before the World Cup and IPL and is a thing of the past. If only it will serve to ignite the fuel to perform better for Hardik Pandya and KL Rahul. And we still have our maverick ex-captain, Dhoni, albeit for most likely the last tournament of his stellar trophy-laden career.

So let's get down to business and examine with utmost scrutiny our beloved Team India's chances in the 12th edition of the ICC Cricket World Cup 2019. Starting with our very own captain furious, Virat Kohli. He has come a long way since leading India to the U19 Cricket World Cup in 2008, and being a part, but not a key man, of the 2011 World Cup winning squad. He was handed over the ODI captaincy in 2017 and has only taken India to newer heights since. His personal accolades are a statistician's dream. In ODIs, he holds the world record for the fastest batsman to 10,000 runs in 205 innings. He has the highest number of centuries in run chases in the world and is only nine centuries away from breaking Tendulkar's record (49) in style, which I'm sure all us thought would never be broken.

But as the adage and some commentator's favourite line goes: "Records are made to be broken." We should, in fact, consider ourselves fortunate that we are seeing the cricket version of Messi and Ronaldo — albeit not in the same era — and both of them are Indians. And they are broken and keep getting broken in every department, which makes you wonder what the reason for that could be. The reasons are aplenty, namely smaller cricket boundaries, new improved thicker bats, different balls (Dukes v Kookaburra), changed power play rules, and pitches generally favouring batsmen etc.

So it's only natural that India would feature heavily amongst those records being a batting heavy team predominantly. But recently, trends have changed and for the better. India has become a force to reckon with when it comes to the ball. The destroyer-in-chief being Jasprit Bumrah, who is atop the ICC world rankings for bowlers. He is supported by Kuldeep Yadav (7), Yuzvendra Chahal (8), Bhuvnesh Kumar (17) — who are all amongst the top 20. While amongst the top 20 batsmen, only three Indians feature, namely Kohli (1), Rohit Sharma (2), and Shikhar Dhawan (14). The next best batsman is Dhoni at number 24.

Talking of the all-rounders, they are what many believe to be the X factor in India's chances for progressing to the last four. Pandya is fresh off a Koffee controversy and fresher off an IPL showing he should be proud of — he ended the tournament with 402 runs at a strike rate of over 190, smashing 38 boundaries and 29 sixes in 15 matches. He also claimed 14 wickets in 16 games. He has so far played 45 ODIs and has taken 44 wickets with an economy of 5.53 and batting lower down the order, he has scored 731 runs in 29 innings. He can field well too and can bowl six to seven crucial overs, picking up wickets. His role is akin to that of Yuvraj Singh in the 2011 World Cup. And if he can channelise that embarrassing, unnecessary media scrutiny and a wonderful IPL showing, he can very much be the most important player of the team and a potential Man of the Tournament just like Yuvraj Singh.

The other player who could be as effective is Kedar Jadhav. He might not be as exuberant and controversial but he has proved himself many a time not just with the bat but also with the ball. A solid middle order batsman and good finisher, he is also the man with the "golden arm". His side arm action and the angle at which he delivers makes it difficult for batsmen to pick the ball.

KL Rahul has also shown his mettle and not let controversies affect him. It's good to see that both Pandya and Rahul took the negative media attention in a positive way and came out of it stronger and more determined. Rahul looks confident and reliable to call upon in any situation. He has made the crucial number 4 position his own. And being an opener originally, it's an advantage when the ball is moving around and causing problems. Talking of how the controversy affected him, he said: "In life, in cricket, you make mistakes. You have bad days, you learn from them and try to be a better person. I never doubted myself, my personality, never doubted who I am. I was strong in my head, I got through it and am happy to be back and enjoying my cricket." I think we all have something to learn from him in the sense that it's not the blow that gets you down, it's the mettle to get back up and fight for what you believe in.

This is the fifth time that cricket's most prestigious tournament is being held in England and Wales. The previous winners of those editions have been West Indies (1975, 1979), India (1983), and Australia (1999). The format for the tournament is quite different from the previous editions we are used to seeing. It's played in a round-robin manner in a single group of 10 teams, with each team playing the other nine once, and the top four at the end of the group phase progressing to the semi-finals. The 1992 World Cup in Australia and New Zealand was also played in a round-robin format, with nine teams participating. The 10-team tournament this time has gained criticism due to the lack of Associate teams in the tournament. Given the increase of the Test-playing nations from 10 to 12, with the admission of Ireland and Afghanistan in June 2017, it is the first World Cup to be contested without all of the Test playing nations being present. After the elimination of all Associate teams at the qualifying tournament, this is also the first World Cup to feature no Associate members.

There's no tournament without a bit of controversy. A few days ago, Dhoni was asked by the ICC to remove the dagger insignia from his wicket-keeping gloves despite the Indian cricket board's assertion that it was not a military symbol. The BCCI had sought permission for the star wicketkeeper batsman from the world governing body (ICC), but it was denied citing regulations that no individual message or logo can be displayed on any item of clothing or equipment. In addition, the logo also breaches the rule that allows only one sponsor's logo on the wicket-keeping gloves. In Dhoni's case, he already sports an SG logo on his gloves.

Another talking point is the big match for all Indians — cricket fans or not — at Old Trafford, Manchester, on June 16. It's the one game that brings every Indian together (if cricket didn't do a good enough job of it already). It's India v Pakistan. With the same old rivalry and passion, but with renewed verve and political context. Following the 2019 Pulwama attack, several former Indian players and the BCCI called for the boycott of this group match fixture, wanting to ban the Pakistan team from playing in the tournament. However, after conducting a board meeting in Dubai, the ICC rejected the BCCI's proposal and confirmed that the scheduled match would go ahead as planned, despite the ongoing stand-off between the two nations. The match being held today will most likely be viewed the world over by a record audience as is usually expected for an India-Pakistan encounter, but made extra tense by the recent political relationship of the two nations.

Talking of India, Pakistan and the many reasons this cannot be viewed as just a sport. It's an extension of everything we stand for and believe in — personally, politically, morally. Ever wondered why Team India's jersey colour is blue and not the usual suspected patriotic colours, saffron or green? It had to be taken from the Indian Flag as a symbolic gesture for patriotism. While saffron stands for courage and selflessness, green signifies faith, fertility, and prosperity. The blue in the Ashoka Chakra stands for the colour of the sky and ocean. The selection of saffron or green colours for the jerseys would have created controversies of religious or political favoritism as saffron is heavily associated with Hinduism, Jainism, and Buddhism as well as the political parties we all know by now, while green is affiliated with Islam. Thus, it wouldn't have been a wise decision to choose those to represent a nation which prides itself to be secular. The blue colour then automatically became the first choice to represent the nation and its warriors on the field with its symbolic meaning of the "most truth of the universe". And "Bleed Blue" has recently become an anthem of the youth, again symbolically signifying the passion and dedication of battling till you bleed and staying true to your talents and virtues. And nobody embodies that never-say-die attitude and fighter mentality than our current and former captains, Kohli and Dhoni.

In the 2011 World Cup hosted by India, we were one of the favourites and definitely one with the most pressure to perform on our home ground with the final being in Mumbai. This time, that mantle is taken by England with the final being at the Mecca of cricket — Lord's. And unlike India, they're not that adept at handling the undue pressure of expectations, with the 2013 Champions Trophy final being a case in point. India sure has good memories of playing finals at the Mecca of cricket (cue Sourav Ganguly's shirt waving at Lord's balcony), the NatWest Series Final in 2002, and, of course, the 1983 World Cup win. But for that to happen again, India will have to beat the best of the best to first come in the top four and then it's all down to the semi-finals and the finale at Lord's.

England, meanwhile, will be looking to win their first ever World Cup, which is ironic since they're the inventors of the game. They have been losing finalists in 1979, 1987, and 1992. In the 2015 World Cup, Bangladesh knocked out England from the group stage, which raised questions on the latter's relevance as an ODI team. Since then, they have completely turned over a new leaf and have become the number 1 ranked team in the world in ODIs. They have defeated several top teams, including India and Australia, this year and their batsmen also broke the record for the highest total in an ODI innings. With a plethora of match winners in their squad, they are certainly not the team they were in the previous World Cups and are viewed by most as 'the' team to watch out for. But whether or not they have shed their choker status and weak mentality remains to be seen. Lord's save the Queen!

A MANIFESTO FOR CHANGE

In India Positive, CHETAN BHAGAT reflects on what we can do right to move forward and become a truly modern and progressive country. He believes that if we want to see reform, we — as citizens — need to be the solution. An excerpt:

For India to truly change, there needs to be a change in our society and culture. The internet is playing a big part in it. The rise of internet penetration also means that things are now more equal, since people who didn't have a voice before now do. 'The Great Opinion Wars' talks about how social media has allowed aspirational Indians to voice their opinions on topics that have always been the domain of the privileged class.

However, social media has also birthed a strange new phenomenon in India — the *bhakt*s, and there is advice for both the *bhakt*s and those at the receiving end of their abuse in 'Anatomy of an Internet Troll'. Another phenomenon that social media has caused is 'virtue signallers' — those people who have to show that they are so virtuous, so noble and so good that they sense communal intolerance in a statement even when others don't. 'Look, I'm so Secular!': The Rise of Virtue Signallers on Social Media' talks about this and how it distorts national public debate on a range of important issues.

But do these phenomena indicate that India is getting more intolerant? There are endless debates about this, but I think that we are a mixed society, tolerant and intolerant at the same time, as explained in 'Fifty Shades of Intolerance'. I don't believe that intolerance has anything to do with the request from Hindus that a temple be built in Ayodhya, and 'Why We Need a Ram Temple in Ayodhya' talks about why restoring the temple on its original site and building an even grander mosque nearby will be a great act of religious cooperation.

A crucial aspect of what makes India the country it is, is the fact that we are a democracy, and any attempt to undermine that is dangerous. The essay on blind *bhakt*s talks about how unquestioning support of a leader, rather than the country, can actually harm that leader. The essay on the Supreme Court's order regarding the playing of the National Anthem before a movie screening ('Anthem Order: The Intention's Good but Imposition Isn't') argues that authoritarianism can never create patriotism. The Government ban on pornography is a similar curtailment of basic freedoms, as explained in 'Hypocritical and Impractical: With the Porn Ban, the Government Has Flaunted Its Control Freak Instincts'. I think that the key to becoming an awesome nation is to defend individual liberties. Related to this is the need to stop mixing religion and law, and 'Too Many Holy Cows' talks about how it is time to discuss what it means to be a secular republic, and revise the Constitution to reflect it.

Social change means that we need to look at the infrastructures in our cities, and the essay on Mumbai rains talks about this and what needs to be done so that the country's financial capital does not come to a grinding halt every monsoon. This overriding indifference that seems to inflict Indians is also reflected in our views on corruption, and our don't-care attitude to corruption is addressed in the essay on the 2G 'non-scam'.

It's important for one to be proud of the country we live in, and 'Will You Spend ₹80 to See India Win a Dozen Olympic Golds?' suggests ways that we can improve our gold medal tally at the Olympics at the micro and macro level. Finally, 'Creaming the People' suggests a move from caste-based reservations to economic-based ones in order to create a truly fair society.

HOW BLIND BHAKTS CAN ACTUALLY HARM INDIA'S DEMOCRACY
If you are a true nationalist, put the nation before individuals, even if that individual happens to be your favourite leader.

I recently conducted a Twitter poll to test the hypothesis that Narendra Modi enjoys an insane amount of support among his fans. The poll asked this question: If Modi wanted to declare a national emergency to eliminate corruption, would you support it? Out of nearly 10,000 participants, 57 per cent said they would support such a decision.

The usual Twitter poll disclaimers apply: It's a highly skewed sample, polls aren't scientific, etc. Also, the poll does not indicate my own views in any way, nor does it claim that such a proposal is on the Government's anvil. However, the results do give us a sense of what some of Modi's hardcore fans (the *bhakt*s) feel. It is worth noting that the participants were almost all young, educated, digitally savvy people who understand English. Yes, a significant number of progressive young Indians are apparently happy to give up democracy, and vote themselves voteless.

Stunned? Well, I admit that the question was a tad unfair. After all, there is nothing in the air that suggests an emergency is in the offing. Nor does one need to make such harsh choices in order to proclaim their support, or lack of it, for a leader. Still, the numbers do show (a) the enormous popularity of Modi in his core fan base and/or (b) a possible ignorance of what a national emergency and giving up democracy could mean. They also indicate a huge lack of confidence in the current political system and the kind of leaders it generates.

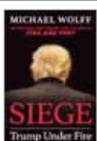

The reason for Modi's appeal is obvious. After all, he is a leader who has created some hope. He speaks a language that connects us. Modi takes steps — big, bold ones — to fix India. Whether or not they solve problems is a separate story. Making the effort and having good intentions counts for a lot. Demonetisation is a case in point. Many experts have questioned the benefits of the move. They diligently quote numbers and facts to show that the actual advantages of demonetisation could be marginal. Of course, these are wasted efforts. All this economic mumbo-jumbo is irrelevant to the Modi fan. If fans are ready to support an emergency in their leader's name, do you really think they give a damn about falling GDP or actual data about black money being back in circulation?

No, we are talking about love here. Love doesn't, and is not meant to, see reason. And speaking of demonetisation, the experts, though not wrong, miss a key point. A huge intangible benefit of the note ban has been its unifying effect on an otherwise divided country. Imagine a bickering joint family.

Hachette, ₹699

Michael Wolff, author of Fire and Fury, once again takes us inside Trump presidency to reveal a White House under siege. In Siege, he has written an equally essential and explosive book about a presidency that is under fire from almost every side. A stunningly fresh narrative that begins just as Trump's second year as President is getting underway and ends with the delivery of the Mueller report, Siege reveals an administration that is beleaguered by investigations and a President who is increasingly volatile, erratic, and exposed.

THE DEATH OF HITLER

Jean-Christophe Brisard and Lana Parshina
Hodder, ₹399

On April 30, 1945, Hitler committed suicide in his bunker as the Red Army closed in on Berlin. Within four days, the Soviets had recovered his body. But the truth about what the Russian secret services found was hidden from history, when, three months later, Stalin officially declared to Truman and Churchill that Hitler was still alive and had escaped abroad. Reckless rumours about what really happened to Hitler began to spread like wildfire and, even today, they have not been put to rest. Until now.

RAIN DROPS AND CATERPILLARS
Anuradha Prasad
Leadstart, ₹199

This book is dedicated to all those who have created a paradigm shift for others. To those too, who are standing at the helm ready to jump to make bigger changes possible. A pet is lost! Was it stolen or has it just wandered? Her owner is searching. Is it in the wilderness or dead? What life throws at a 13-year-old girl during her search; he is tall, dark, handsome a proverbial 'bachelor'. But he has a dark secret. What is it; his life was charted and planned. Till he found something about his love that turned it all upside down. The stories run on sublimity, acceptance, courage, compassion, devotion, and deceit.

The James Bond movies of the 1960s genre were our first exposure to science fiction. At a time when television or satellite television channels were unheard of and even telephones and cars were rare items (at least in Kanjirakkadu in Ernakulam district where I grew up), the scenes which portrayed Sean Connery — who immortalised Bond — speaking to his sources at far away places through the contraption attached to his wrist watch and driving around in that Aston Martin still linger in the mind. Sridhar, a theatre at Ernakulam, was the window to this world of sci-fi for my generation. Sridhar theatre has given way to a shopping mall and the interest in James Bond movies, too, came to an end with Connery leaving the field and making way for the new generation actors.

But interest in science fiction continued because of television series like Cosmos: A Personal Voyage anchored by Carl Sagan and the works penned by Arthur C Clarke whose 2001: A Space Odyssey remains fresh in the mind. Through his science writings, Clarke told us that the world would use space science and satellites from the geostationary orbit for communication services. He had written in one of his science papers in 1945 about the "extra-terrestrial relays" that would revolutionise the world of communication. Conventional science teachers had scoffed at such ideas and told us not to be carried away by such prophecies! See what has happened to the telecommunication sector, which has transformed the world into a global village.

In Ramayana, the great Indian epic which is portrayed by progressive elements as a work of fiction, the war between Lord Rama and the demon king Ravana is described by author Sage Valmiki as a spot report from the theatre of war. Valmiki gave an account of the myriad arrows deployed by the Lord and his enemy, Aagnayam, Varuna, Kauber, Indrastram, Nairyathaastram, Yaamyaastram, Gandharvastram, Gauhyakamastram, Aasuramastram, Vaishnavastram are some of the arrows used by the Lord and his rival in the war, which lasted many days. It was Brahmastra, provided by Lord Indra through Matali, the charioteer, which came to the rescue of Lord Rama in finishing off Ravana once and forever.

Rationalists may laugh at the names of arrows deployed in the great Ramayana war. But the truth is that modern missiles developed by Indian scientists and which could be categorised based on their properties (surface to air or SAM, Agni, Prithvi, Akash etc) were all inspired by the arrows mentioned in the great epic. This underlines the role played by science-fiction in developing the technological know how. Science fiction is what strengthens the foundation for strong and robust science and technology sector. Scientific temper should not be used to demean and ridicule the facts mentioned in India specific epics and great literary works. The dreams espoused by the great science fiction authors are slowly but steadily becoming a reality. Recent news coming out of China is that scientists in that country have succeeded in developing the Invisible Coat, a subject that has inspired many books and films.

Looking into the future

Numbercaste talks of a world where how much a man means depends on not just his money, but his worth as a member of the species, writes KUMAR CHELLAPPAN

Numbercaste, authored by Sri Lanka-born Yudhanjaya Wijeratne, is an exciting piece of work. We are mute witnesses to the role played by Artificial Intelligence and Information Technology in moulding the new world. These technological marvels are like double-edged swords, similar to the internet as well as mobile phones. How the internet and cellphones cause disasters and development in human lives is a part of modern folklore.

We live in an era where human beings have lost their relevance and identity and have been compressed into 10 or 12 digit numbers. The Aadhaar number controversy is raging all over India, with people debating heatedly about personal privacy being violated with the help of Aadhaar numbers, making the humans "niraadhaar".

What Wijeratne portrays in this work of fiction is how a technology developed by Numbercaste, a digital startup launched in Silicon Valley by Julius Common, an entrepreneur with strange habits, takes on IT giants like Facebook, Google, and other social media outlets and emerges as the global monopoly. The events unfold in our immediate future, say in 2030 or so.

The Twitter is dead and gone. Numbercaste starts from where Twitter ends. "People used hashtags, 140 characters, and you send a message out and the people who follow you could read it. We are building something like that. The plan is you are in the area and people are talking about it, then you know it. It could be anything from a revolution to armed robbery to a party happening two lanes away. It doesn't matter. If it's something you can benefit from, we'll point you that way. Numbercaste's got you covered," Common, owner of Numbercaste, tells Patrick Udo, the main protagonist who has been hired by Common for the job.

Common explains to Patrick his idea of the perfect world. "A world where you can name a man and I can tell you exactly how much he means to us... Not just the money in his bank, but his actual worth, as a member of this species. You can drive your expensive cars and roll out your stupid make-up, but in 10 years' time, none of that will matter. I am going to take this world and I am going to goddamn grind it into something more real," declares Common. He lives up to his word. It is a thrilling mission. If the reviewer reveals more, the suspense associated with the book would vanish. Since this book is a must-read for all who are interested in the future of the world, it is not advisable to disclose more than this.

The Numbercaste brought back memories of 1984, the dystopian novel authored by George Orwell in 1949. Though 1984 has come and gone, possibilities of the chances of the scenario portrayed by Orwell continue to haunt us. If there are some similarities between 1984 and Numbercaste, it could be coincidental. Time to go for a re-read of 1984 too. Sir Arthur Clarke spent a big part of his life in Sri Lanka and crafted some of the best sci-fi works while staying in the island. Who knows, Wijeratne may have a lot to offer the readers in the coming days. The climate and ambience of the island nation could be ideal for such literary pursuits.

DU a guinea pig for UG curriculum reforms

Higher education in general and Delhi University in particular have witnessed a lot of changes in undergraduate study pattern during the last eight years. Starting with a shift from annual mode to semester mode in 2010, semester mode to four-year undergraduate programme (better known as FYUP) in 2013, FYUP to again semester mode in 2014, and semester mode to "choice based credit system" (CBCS) in 2015. Latest in the loop is ongoing revision of all undergraduate courses in Delhi University based on UGC's learning outcome-based curriculum framework (LOCF) for the 2019-20 academic session. All the departments concerned have been given three months to complete this process. Interestingly, all these "reforms" have been announced all of a sudden and implemented in the very next year of the announcement.

However, the purpose of this article is to draw the attention of Delhi University's undergraduate curriculum revision committee (2019) towards some issues related to ongoing CBCS pattern that requires immediate attention.

As per the University Grants Commission (UGC), CBCS provides "a 'cafeteria' type approach in which the students can take courses of their choice, learn at their own pace, undertake additional courses and acquire more than the required credits and adopt an interdisciplinary approach to learning".

As CBCS enters its fourth year, a critical evaluation of the programme is in order, especially when the first batch of the CBCS passed out last year. Delhi University can be the best institution for the purpose of evaluation since it has been treated as guinea pig for all experiments related to "reforms" in higher education.

CBCS and implications of interdisciplinary approach

Unlike all previous pattern of the undergraduate programme, CBCS is different due to its infusion of compulsory interdisciplinary approach in papers apart from compulsory language courses. The generic elective (GE, hereafter) is a course that needs to be compulsorily chosen from an unrelated discipline/subject. Every discipline is entitled to offer some papers as generic elective for honours students for the first four semesters and for non-honours students in the last two semesters.

CBCS necessitates all honours students to choose one generic paper from discipline other than their own in each of first four (1 to 4) semesters. Similarly students of non-honours courses are supposed to choose one generic paper from discipline other than their own in each of last two semesters i.e. 5th semester and 6th semester. For instance every student of B.Com (Hons.) is required to opt a generic paper each for first four semesters out of a pool of disciplines other than commerce i.e. maths, economics, business economics, history, political science, psychology, Hindi, English, etc.

In order to understand the problem, let us take an example of generic paper offered by department of commerce at undergraduate level in Delhi University. According to CBCS syllabus, department of commerce of Delhi University offered following papers for generic elective: microeconomics in the first semester, macroeconomics in the second semester, business statistics in the third semester and Indian economy in the fourth semester. These papers can be taken by students enrolled in any honours course other than B.Com (honours).

The experience of last three years of CBCS indicates that commerce generic was mostly opted by the students of Bachelor in Business Economics (BBE). There is an astonishing co-incidence that all those BBE students who opted for commerce discipline as generic paper were studying same papers as their core papers in same semester for first three semesters, and one in the fifth semester. Similarly, the students of BA(Hons.) Economics, BBA(FIA) and BMS were studying almost similar compulsory core paper(s) as they were studying (or studied) in their commerce generic.

In this way opting commerce as generic paper by the students of BBE and many other courses will not add anything to their knowledge but the repetition of same papers in the same semesters. Interestingly, students of BBE opt commerce generic mainly to lessen their burden. While preparing for one paper, other automatically gets prepared. However the question still remains: Will lessening burden at the cost of the other paper be helpful in long run?

Teaching a group of heterogeneous students

Other significant problem lies in the fact that when students of different disciplines opt generic elective of a particular discipline, it brings together students of highly heterogeneous nature in terms of attitude, knowledge, aptitude and exposure. This makes teaching and learning even more challenging. For instance teaching generic of commerce discipline to the students of economics and BBE requires different skills than teaching the same to the students of Hindi journalism, English, History, Sanskrit, etc. Unfortunately, these students of different disciplines are taught commerce generic together in the same class, where it is easier for some to grasp and very difficult for others.

It is not the case that commerce raised here are being faced only by commerce discipline, while offering its generic paper to the students of different disciplines or when students of commerce discipline are opting generic elective offered by other disciplines. But more or less similar problems are being faced by many disciplines since inception of CBCS pattern in 2015-16.

CBCS and synchronisation of papers

The provision of introduction of a generic paper may have been with a noble cause but the lack of synchronization between various disciplines during syllabus formulation is going to have a far-reaching impact on teaching learning process. For instance, prior to the introduction of CBCS, four compulsory papers of economics were being taught to the students pursuing B.Com(Hons), but post CBCS, there is no compulsory paper of economics to be studied by them. However, students can opt economics as their generic paper if they wish so, and they can also drop it anytime in the upcoming semester if they wish so.

Problem might arise when a student doesn't opt for economics as his generic elective, as in that particular case he will be graduating without gaining any knowledge in the field of economics. In the absence of basic knowledge of economics, how fruitful that degree in commerce would be for the student is all together another matter of concern.

However, problems do not get over by avoiding economics by commerce students as they are required to study a compulsory core paper, Business Mathematics in their fourth semester. Interestingly this paper covers various mathematical tools related to maximisation and minimisation i.e. differentiation, integration, linear programming, simplex, input-output, etc. The application of differential calculus is used to find out maxima of revenue, output and profit functions, utility maximisation, minimisation of costs, marginal propensity to consume (MPC), marginal propensity to save (MPS), etc. Similarly integral calculus is used to obtain consumer's surplus, producer's surplus, etc. All these concepts are related to either microeconomics or macroeconomics, which were earlier compulso-rily being taught to students of commerce before they were introduced the paper of Business Mathematics and Statistics. Since studying economics has been left on the choice of student in CBCS, they are being exposed to mathematical applications on various concepts related to economics without being acquainted with related basic concepts of economics. This has resulted in mechanical way studying business mathematics without knowing the reason for using a particular application.

However, irrespective of the people responsible for poor formulation of syllabus while ignoring harmonisation of the syllabus offered by various departments, the ultimate loser are the students who lost the opportunity to study one additional paper by studying two same papers for four semesters or study some papers mechanically or the teachers who are required to teach a paper which is simultaneously being taught in other classroom to the same students.

This is the high time any new change in the CBCS format carried out homework with due consultation with all stakeholders rather than doing another exercise in haste.

Erasing Tiananmen memories

China justifies its brutal Tiananmen actions in the name of maintaining stability. The Communist Party has used both algorithm and human editors to erase every sign of the massacre from China's history. Even posting a photo of the 1989 to commemorate the anniversary can land a person behind bars in China

MAKHAN SAINI

Just before the 30th anniversary of the Tiananmen Square protests on June 4 this year, the Chinese State — considered by many as world's biggest censorship authority — removed all references of the historic event from the web pages in the country.

The moot point is whether the Communist leadership is wary of the revival of such democratic uprisings in the mainland. Many political experts opine that deep inside Communist China, the fear of the explosion of the myth of the Socialist State remains high.

What led to the bloody Tiananmen Square crackdown? How the Communist bosses in Beijing responded? And how the international community wanted them to deal with this democratic awakening? The immediate cause of this uprising was no other than the demise of isolated Communist Party leader Hu Yaobang in April 1989. The main reason for his isolation was his strong views about economic and political liberalisation in China.

In fact, Yaobang was the one who helped navigate China away from orthodox Marxism and led the world's largest Communist Party for six years. His death triggered a spontaneous outpouring of public grief, with millions of youth coming out in protests seeking to restore his reputation and legacy for wide ranging reforms in areas such as free press, freedom of assembly and an end to official corruption across China.

However in a remarkable twist, this simple demand of the youngsters and ordinary people gradually transformed into a massive protest movement not only in the heart of capital city Beijing but across China. As many as one million people occupied the Tiananmen Square on June 4, 1989, making it one of the largest protests in the history of modern China. The demonstrators refused to leave the Square for nearly seven weeks, until their demands for democratic reform were met by the authority. Throughout the day i.e. on June 3, the Government warned the protesters that it would do whatever is required to quell, what it described, the "social chaos".

The Communist bosses reacted by rolling Army tanks over these unarmed young protesters in the Tiananmen Square. According to a secret diplomatic cable, as many as 10,000 were killed on that fateful day. Many of the leading young leaders of the movement are now living in the US, according to information compiled by human rights in China, an NGO, based in Hong Kong and New York that promotes fundamental rights and freedoms in China.

No event like the Tiananmen Square protests has stirred such emotional outpouring from all walks of life around China and no event like it has brought so vehement condemnation upon China from the international community then and even now.

The Tiananmen Square protests remain a permanent taint on China. Then US President George Bush had said he deplored the use of force. And then UK Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher said she was shocked and appalled by the shootings.

While the entire world commemorated the 30th anniversary of this horrible clampdown on non-violent human rights activists in Beijing, China keeps online mention of the historic incident within the country virtually non-existent.

"horrible force". Kevin McCarthy, the current House Minority leader in the US House of Representatives, expressed his deep concern which truly symbolises what took place in China on June 4, 1989: "Thirty years later, the horrors of the Tiananmen Square Massacre continue to symbolise the Chinese Communist Party's inhumane grip on power. Today, the citizens of China have less freedom and their leadership remains opposed to the most basic of human rights. China suppresses the truth by attempting to sanitise its dark history. It runs concentration camps for religious minorities and political dissidents. And it boasts of its imperial designs for global trade and disputed territory. That is what the generations of Chinese leadership is continuously doing to make the party precisely the only affair in every citizen's life.

However, unfortunately, it is not happening and many are not responding to its machinations today.

The secrecy and grand censorship machine of the Communist State makes it difficult to know even how many actually died in the Tiananmen Square movement. The party has used both algorithm and human editors to erase every sign of the massacre from China's history.

Commemorating the anniversary, even by reposting a photo can land a person in detention across China. One of those memorable photos is that of "Tank Man" who played a game of chicken with an Army tank on June 5, just one day after the dreaded massacre in Tiananmen Square. But his fate is unknown as of today. The most recent imprisonment related to the Tiananmen movement occurred on April 4 this year. A court in the South Western city of Chengdu sentenced activist Chen Bing to three and half years in prison for picking quarrels and provoking trouble. His main offence was that he labeled bottles of "baijiu" alcohol with the iconic image of the lone protester who stared down tanks near the Tiananmen Square.

Much more than this, what the Chinese State does to the relatives and families of activists of this movement is really surprising and terrible. Each year, when the Tiananmen anniversary approaches, these families and their dear ones are placed under strict surveillance or taken on enforced tours outside the town.

Besides killing thousands in the Tiananmen Square protests, many thousands were put behind bars across China.

However, the authorities never acknowledged that the arrests were part of the "counter revolutionary" drive.

Ironically, this month also, China defended the crackdown on the 1989 Tiananmen protesters in a rare public acknowledgement of events. Defence Minister Wei Fenghe told in a regional forum in Singapore that the "incident was a political turbulence and the Central Government took measures to stop the turbulence, which is a correct policy". He further said, "The past thirty years have proved that China has undergone major changes because of the Government's action at that time. China has enjoyed stability and development."

The statement from the Government functionary epitomises the brutal face of China that can do anything in the name of maintaining "stability" and "development". How far this madness of urbanisation and inhuman development would take China to is nobody's guess. Development bereft of basic freedoms may not boost the Communist regime. Even iron curtains fall when its time comes.

The historic Tiananmen Square protests tarnished the image of the Communist Party like never before. Equally it undermined the legitimacy of its rule both within and outside China. Beijing needs to undertake democratic reform at the earliest. And it should embrace a new system based purely on "rule of law".

After decades of economic reform, Chinese people could realise their dream of national rejuvenation only when basic political freedoms are guaranteed to them.

The problem with China today is that they do not want to change as the liberal West wanted it to be. The successive Chinese leaders want the West to believe that they rule China with willful acceptance by the majority of people.

The nationalist Chinese autocracy, currently consolidated under Xi Jinping, would be a real terror both for its populace and for the rest of the world. When their revered leaders boast about China preaching and practicing "peaceful rise", why they are not allowing its own people to speak up against the party in non-violent manner? Crushing innocent and unarmed civilians do not qualify China to a dignified seat in the comity of global leadership.

Life is nothing but paradoxical

Life in its usual run is subject to twists and turns — sometimes pleasant and at other times full of pains. It is ever on its run, continuously undergoing change, as the conditions within and beyond keep varying. There is no scope for having a perfect situation in life. There comes a time when the gross body loses its dynamism and turns into a dead matter. It is true about every finite existence. The duration of stay may, though, vary from person to person. There is no standard of measure worth the name to account for one's life span in finite terms. We all are aware of this existential truth. Yet, it is difficult to bear with when a near and dear one departs from the world. It is still more shocking if it comes about at a young age. Life, therefore, is paradoxical. The other day, a grieving father sent a heart touching message: "Big brother, my dear son left us today. Feeling totally lifeless. Prayer and everything failed to keep him alive." The message left me shivering for a few moments. If this news could knock me down so badly, one can only imagine the plight of the grieving father who lost his only son at the young age of 23. I knew that no pep talk could assuage the feelings of someone faced with such a devastating happening. So, I thought of trying to refresh him with existential truth. Even that may not so easily calm down his emotional volatility. It may, however, offer him grounds that may help him come out of this sooner than later. Remember my friend, going by ancient India's philosophic perception, the run of life doesn't end with gross body becoming a dead matter. In fact, death is an opportunity to shed the incapacitated body and reincarnate with a fresh encasement in all strength. Your son had to bear with excruciating pain during the last one year of his chronic ailment. You need to appreciate that with his death, having discharged his Karmic debt of being faced with such a harrowing ordeal, he has moved beyond, and so stands relieved. Bear in mind: A jeevatma (a live being) with form and name is structured in three layers — gross, subtle, and causal bodies, the three driven by soul (the element of consciousness). On death, it is just the gross body, which is nothing but agglomeration of matter, disintegrates. Its five constituents — space, air, fire, water, and earthly matter — merge with their primal source. The subtle and causal bodies that are pure energy platforms do not wither away, as would the laws of conservation of energy mean. The soul carries along the causal and subtle bodies, having in store all the memory imprints picked up during live existence, to reincarnate with a fresh gross body encasement. So, life needs to be seen in succession. Should you grieve, the jeevatma's attention is drawn, which may disturb its onward journey. Better pray for his smooth transition. "I appreciate your point and shall try to follow your advisory. But don't you think that this unforeseen happening puts a question mark on the very relevance of Astrology? For, with whatever knowledge of Astrology I have, Jupiter being the 6th lord was just indicative of health issues but not death as it doesn't happen to be a maraka. I am just curious to know, not questioning you, could you see in his chart the possibility of departure from the world so early?" the man asked. Well, going by the traditional norms of Astrology, his death didn't seem likely. But the death-inflicting 8th cusp's sub-lord Saturn (as per Krishnamurthy system) did indicate the possibility of death during Jupiter's period. For, Jupiter occupying the nakshatra owned by Saturn, would act as latter's agent, potent enough to make it happen. Even the progressed Sun having become square (adverse 90 degrees placement) to natal Moon, carries the probability of losing life. Even transit Saturn conjunct unpredictable Neptune, and also square to its dire enemy Mars did not augur well for his survival either. Here again, Jupiter simultaneously signified recovery from ailment in strong terms. For, Jupiter's nakshatra lord Saturn happens to be the 5th lord, which being 12th from the 6th, will serve as latter's antidote. With such contrasting indicators in place, what would one be tempted to lay importance to — raise the hope of survival so that one tries to combat the situation in all strength, or indicate death and make the person lose the battle much before it even happens?
