Erdogan speaks to Saudi king after no-show at Mecca OIC summit

AP NEWS

Turkey's President Recep Tayyip Erdogan spoke to Saudi Arabia's King Salman after missing a key summit at the kingdom's holy city this week, according to a report based on a Turkish official.

Erdogan was reportedly invited to the weekend summit in Mecca but could not attend due to "unforeseen" circumstances, according to the Turkish newspaper Hurriyat.

The two leaders held a conversation on the phone on Friday, Hurriyat said, offering no further details.

The official said the two leaders discussed "regional and international issues," including the conflict in Yemen, a war being waged by the Saudi-led coalition.

Turkey has long been a critic of the Saudi-led coalition in Yemen, which has been accused of targeting civilians and violating international law.

The official also said the two leaders discussed "other issues," without elaborating.

Erdogan is on a scheduled visit to the kingdom this week to attend the OIC summit, which was held in Mecca.

The summit is an annual gathering of the OIC, a group of 57 Muslim-majority countries, aimed at discussing issues such as the situation in Yemen and the Middle East peace process.

Pakistan coach Mickey Arthur has asked his team to "play with the belief and intensity" when they take on Sri Lanka on Monday, just three days after crashing to a seven-wicket defeat against the hosts by 14 runs at Trent Bridge on Saturday.

"We just need to stay consistent and play with the belief and intensity," Arthur said. "When we put all three disciplines right, we are a very good side. When we are not, we are a team that need to work hard."

Arthur praised his team’s resolve in Saturday’s match, and the way they had played against Afghanistan, pointing out that the capability was there among the current crop of players. But he also warned that if the side continued to fall apart, they could find themselves in uncharted territory.

"If you are not focused, you can be the winning side. Pakistan did not enjoy this, but I think it is quite exciting to watch. You have played a few World Cups and you know what it is about. You enjoy this," Arthur said.

"But you have to play games in order to get the wins. It’s my fifth year. I would say it’s a bit of grass. It’s a fact that we got that rather nicely."

For the time being. I don't have a say in the team. We just need a win for - it always gives us the confidence if you get a win, any team, we are going to be feeling strong."

"We are not over-confident as well. And we need another batsman, so we might make some changes."

The match will be Pakistan’s third in the day-night game format, and captain Mohammad Hafeez has said the team will use the first one to work out the balance of their team and the roles of the players.

"We need to get the balance right and get our middle-order batsmen in position."

Pakistan will be tempted to bring in Babar Azam, the ODI captain, against Sri Lanka after he was left out against Afghanistan. Hafeez, Shoaib Malik, Wahab Riaz, Haris Sohail, and Inzamam-ul-Haq.

AB again? Not this time

South African Board refuses De Villiers offer of making return for WC 2019

By JOHN WILSON

AB de Villiers seemed to want one last and unquenchable taste of cricket as he announced his retirement earlier this month. But South Africa's cricket board would not be swayed.

According to reports in South Africa, the board rejected the offer of a recall for the batsman, who last played for his country in the 2018 World Cup.

De Villiers announced his retirement in a statement released through his social media accounts.

"I am announcing my retirement from international cricket," he said. "I have loved every moment of it, but it is time to call it a day."

But the Proteas, who have struggled in recent years, want him back.

"We had players who put in the hard work, who put their hands and heart to be given the opportunity. I have been there for years and I believe the boys can still get it all," said the Proteas' batting coach, Justin Langer.

The decision, which was finalised and confirmed, was based on personal reasons, according to reports.

De Villiers made 175 not out against West Indies during the World Cup in 2015 and helped the Proteas claim a 12th place finish. He has scored over 13,000 runs in international cricket and has represented the country in 114 matches.

The Proteas, who are looking for a new coach after the departure of Ottis Gibson, are still searching for a replacement for de Villiers.

NEW or never for SA

A spanner in the works for the West Indies

Germany's all-rounder Jacques Kallis has called India 'cool customers' for the World Cup title after they sustained South Africa but argued his struggling team's defeat to Bangladesh was for real.

"The Dressing room is a tough place to be, but they have to be afraid," Kallis said in his column for the ICC. "For Faf du Plessis and the other's energy more than ever.

"New guys. And they have to be about themselves. It's a collective team, they need to think hard before they can deliver a consistent performance."

"I don't think it's any surprise that Ireland had a world-class side. It was recently running for their first win and didn't know how that would work for them, whether that's the team or they're some new, think we got the answer, they were very impressive," Kallis said in his column for the ICC. "I don't think it's any surprise that Ireland had a world-class side.

"From the disappointing result to the convincing win in the last game. Now or never for SA"

"In that case, the match would be a turning point at the end of the group stages. It's a tough game but we're going to go out and try and do the best that we can against India."
Chris Gayle became the third West Indian and 18th batsman overall to complete 10,000 runs in one day internationals.

It will be an interesting selection dilemma for the selectors as to who should be the next in the team to anchor a successful chase against South Africa.

Vinod Raman said Rohit Sharma’s ability to accelerate in an opening spell is something which is non-negotiable and he must be ready to do his share when the situation demands.

The trio of Shikhar Dhawan, Sharma and Rohit scored an unbeaten 144.

Africa will help in creating positive vibes for me, was the top of the pile because of the way he handled the pressure of the first game. There were a few loose shots, but he handled them well.
