Rahul resurrects garibi hatao

In 'surgical' strike on poverty, Cong pledges ₹72k/yr to each poor family

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Forty-eight-year after Indira Gandhi came to power in 1971 on the ear-catching slogan of "Garibi hatao", her grandson Rahul Gandhi has reinvented the same theme by announcing his own version of "surgical" strike on poverty to revive the Congress fortune in the Lok Sabha elections.

As part of the Congress manifesto for general elections, Congress chief Rahul Gandhi said 20 per cent families in poorest of the poor category will be given ₹72,000 each annually as a minimum income.

Making the announcement at a Press conference post the Congress Working Committee meeting, the Congress chief said, "The time for change has come. This will be a 'final assault' to eradicate poverty in the country."

The party manifesto is being framed by a committee headed by former Finance and Home Minister P Chidambaram.

Citing the examples of farmers' loan waiver schemes in three States — Rajasthan, Chhattisgarh and Madhya Pradesh — the Gandhi scion said if the party is voted to power the Congress will identify such families who live below the poverty mark and help them to live decent life. He said the scheme is part of the party's plan to ensure minimum income guarantee to every person in the country.

GROUND BREAKING

- The final assault on poverty has begun. We will wipe out poverty from the country, said Rahul
- I promise that there will be justice for the poor. The Congress guarantees that 20 per cent families belonging to poorest of the poor category in India will be given ₹72,000 each annually
- This is a historic scheme which has not happened anywhere in the world. It is an extremely powerful, ground-breaking and well-thought through idea. We have consulted many economists on the scheme, said the Congress president through idea. We have consulted many economists on the scheme. It will be a fiscal prudent scheme," Rahul said

Accusing the Prime Minister of giving money to the rich and not the poor, Rahul alleged the poor have suffered in the last five years and "We are going to provide justice to them."

"If Narendra Modi can give money to the rich people in the country, then Congress can give the poor this money," he said.

"Narendra Modi is creating two Indias in the country and we will not allow it, there will be only one India," he said.

Asked where the money will come from and whether it will affect the economy, Rahul claimed there is enough money in India and the Congress guarantees that 20 per cent poorest families will be given ₹72,000 per year.

"Remember that in Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh and Rajasthan, I had promised that in 10 days farmers will be given a loan waiver. I am promising you today that justice will be done. Scheme will be on a phase basis. First a pilot project will be run then scheme will run," he said. He claimed that everyday your money is being taken away and "we will show you what is happening. We have been studying this for the last 4-5 months."

The working committee, which is the party's highest decision-making body, will give a final go-ahead to the manifesto. The meeting was chaired by Rahul and attended by former PM Manmohan Singh, Priyanka Gandhi, Ahmed Patel, Ghulam Nabi Azad, Mallikarjun Kharge, and AK Antony.

Leaders leave it to Rahul to take final call

PRAMOD KUMAR SINGH/CHANDAN PRAKASH ■ NEW DELHI

Senior leaders of the Delhi Congress, including its Delhi unit president Sheila Dikshit, discussed the possibility of an alliance with the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) in Delhi with party president Rahul Gandhi and other senior leaders on Monday. The meeting has gained importance in the light of the Congress and the AAP finally agreeing to form an alliance to prevent the BJP from retaining all the seven Lok Sabha seats in Delhi.

Though the much awaited meeting ended without an unanimous decision, the party insiders said alliance between the Congress and the AAP will take place irrespective of the inherent difference between their ideologies.

Finally the leaders left it on the Congress president to take the final call on pre-poll alliance with the AAP in Delhi.

Meanwhile, the sources said six leaders in the party — Sheila, three working presidents Devender Yadav, Rajesh Liloitha, Haroon Yusuf, and former Delhi Congress presidents JP Agarwal and Tajdar Babar — are opposed to the alliance, while former Delhi presidents Ajay Maken, Subhash Chopra and Arvinder Singh Lovely are in the favour of a pre-poll alliance with the AAP. Congress general secretary and Delhi incharge PC Chacko has backed Lovely, Maken and Chopra contention.

According to a senior party leader, Maken strongly supported an alliance with AAP saying the Congress would not be able to win any seat in Delhi on its own. Reacting to Maken's reasoning, Rahul asked him what the party under his stewardship has done in the last four-and-a-half-year if it cannot contest on its own.

According to a senior party leader present in the meeting, Chacko handed over signed letters of 12 district Congress presidents, leaders of the party and party councillors in all three municipal corporations, to buttress the demand for alliance with the AAP.

The AAP has been dangling olive branch to the Congress for an alliance in the Lok Sabha polls Delhi to stop the BJP from certain victory on all seven seats.

People won't buy Cong's chhal, kapat, says Jaitley

Congress plan will create incentives against work: NITI Aayog's vice chief

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Union Finance Minister Arun Jaitley on Monday described as "fraud" and humbug Rahul Gandhi's announcement to provide ₹72,000 yearly to the 20 per cent of the poorest of the poor in the country saying the poor are receiving one and half times more in the Modi regime. People won't be taken in by "chhal kapat" of the Congress, said Jaitley.

Niti Aayog Vice-Chairman Rajiv Kumar and the Economic Advisory Council to the Prime Minister (EAC-PM) too criticised the pre-poll announcement by Rahul.

Addressing a Press conference here, Jaitley said the Congress regimes have defrauded poor in the name of "Garibi Hatao" but only "redistributed poverty" in the country. He said UPA's ten-year rule was replete with "chhal, kapat and dhokha". He said Congress promised only one time waiver of ₹70,000 crore to farmers but actually gave only ₹52,000 crore. Similarly, in MNREGA, Jaitley said, the Congress announced it will spend ₹40,000 crore but spent only ₹28,000 crore.

Jaitley said the Congress which opposed the Modi Government's Direct Benefit Transfer (DBT) is now saying it would use the same in providing money to poor and without any financial burden. This is juggling, he said. The Finance Minister said the Modi Government was already providing ₹5.34 lakh crore to poor. "We are giving much more to poor and the total amount would exceed ₹7 lakh crore," he said.

"The Congress is misleading poor in the name of removing poverty in 50 years... but poor would not be trapped in the fraudulent trap of the Opposition party," the Finance Minister said, adding, the Modi Government has built "assets" (sadhana) for the poor in forms of road, money in banks, house, electricity. "Narebaji se garibi nahin jayegi, sadhano se jayegi," said the BJP leader.

Meanwhile, Niti Aayog Vice-Chairman Rajiv Kumar on Monday said Rahul Gandhi's promise of providing ₹72,000 annually to five crore families will create strong incentives against work and bust fiscal discipline. "True to its past record of promising the moon to win elections, the Congress president announced a scheme that will bust fiscal discipline, create strong incentives against work and which will never be implemented," Kumar said in a tweet.

In another tweet, he said the cost of the minimum income guarantee scheme at 2 per cent of the gross domestic product and 13 per cent of the budget will "ensure" that real needs of people remain unsatisfied.

Naresh Goyal, wife deboard Jet; lenders take cockpit control

PTI ■ MUMBAI/NEW DELHI,

Giving up chairmanship after more than 26 years, embattled Jet Airways founder Naresh Goyal on Monday quit as a board member, with the lenders taking control of the cockpit and deciding to infuse ₹1,500 crore immediately into the ailing airline.

Struggling to stay afloat amid a debt burden of over ₹8,000 crore, the board of the country's first private full service carrier also approved conversion of banks' debt into equity and induction of nominee directors of the lenders, who would become majority stakeholders.

Expressing happiness over the lenders' decision, Finance Minister Arun Jaitley said India needs more airlines, "otherwise airfares would rise". "Banks have kept self interest in mind by trying to keep it as a going entity so that they can recover their dues," he said in Delhi hours after the airline's board cleared the debt resolution plan.

Bringing an end to weeks of uncertainty over the future of the cash-strapped carrier, the board has approved immediate fund infusion of up to ₹1,500 crore by lenders as well as conversion of debt into equity.

Naresh Goyal, his wife Anita Goyal and Etihad Airways' nominee director Kevin Knight have quit the board.

Gulf carrier Etihad, a strategic partner, holds 24 per cent stake in Jet Airways while Naresh Goyal has a shareholding of 51 per cent.

Goyal's stake would come down to 25 per cent while that of Etihad would reduce to 12 per cent. The consortium of Indian lenders, led by State Bank of India (SBI), would become the majority shareholders of Jet Airways, the airline said in a statement.

Manoj Tiwari woos Sapna Chaudhary to dance to BJP's tune

SAPNA SINGH ■ NEW DELHI

A day after famous Haryanavi singer and dancer Sapna Chaudhary claimed that she has not joined the Congress, Delhi BJP president Manoj Tiwari met her and said he will be happy if she campaigns for the BJP in the Lok Sabha elections. Sapna's much hyped news of joining the Congress was circulated with her pictures with Priyanka Gandhi Vadra.

Tiwari accused the Congress of using the Haryana performer's picture without her consent. "The Congress has used her old pictures to spread the rumour that she has joined the party and will contest from Mathura. She is the biggest superstar and the Congress has stooped to such a low. This was not expected from Priyanka," Tiwari said.

His reaction came after Sapna was seen with him in pictures on the social media. When asked about the possibilities of Sapna joining the BJP, Tiwari replied, "Only time will tell."

Earlier, Sapna said she is not harbouring any dream to join the Congress at all. And if she is ever interested in joining a political party, she herself will announce it. She claimed that she never signed any membership form of the Congress and cleared that the photograph with Priyanka was an old one.

Kailash Mansarovar not Ganga's source?

ARCHANA JYOTI ■ NEW DELHI

An investigation by scientists of Roorkee-based National Institute of Hydrology (NIH) has concluded that as "per current scenario" Mansarovar Lake in Tibet is not the origin of the Ganga River and there is no connectivity between the two water systems.

Hindu religious texts believe that the Ganga descended from the locks of Shiva, and therefore, has a connection with Kailash Mansarovar. There is also perception that Gomukh, (snout of the Gangotri Glacier) is the source of the Ganga. But the present study has refuted claim by China as well some foreign scientists that the Ganga emanated from Mansarovar Lake.

Considering the hydrological and religious significance in India of the Ganga and the Mansarovar Lake, the present study was initiated at the behest of then Union Water Resources Minister Uma Bharti in 2015 to investigate the data related to the place of origin of the Ganga (Mansarovar Lake and Gomukh) and to find the likely connection between waters of the two systems. The linear distance between the two is approximately 230 km.

The scientists had used water isotope tracer technology and satellite data. "It was found that there were significant variation in isotopic and physiochemical properties of the water collected from the two systems, suggesting no possibility of surface or sub-surface connectivity between the two," said the study which will be published in the forthcoming science journal Current Science.

Satellite data was employed to develop maps and find out the possibility of surface connectivity, whereas isotopic and chemical data, obtained from the field samplings and the published research literature were used to investigate the possibility of subsurface connectivity of the Gangotri Glacier water with that of Mansarovar Lake.

"Topographically, both the water systems are located in different catchment zones, separated by high mountain ridges, rejecting any possibility of the surface connectivity. Similarly, there are significant variation in isotopic and physiochemical properties of the water suggesting no possibility of surface or sub-surface connectivity between water of the two systems," said the study.

The scientists had drawn a longitudinal cross-section (L-section) line between the Gomukh and Mansarovar Lake to see how the pattern in relief changes with distance from the Gomukh to the lake.

The Gangotri Glacier, the largest glacier of the Garhwal Himalaya, is located at an altitude of 4,000 meters in the Uttarkashi district of Uttarakhand.

SC seeks status of CBI investigation into Mulayam, Akhilesh's assets

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Monday directed CBI to apprise it within two weeks of the status of probe in alleged disproportionate assets case against SP leaders Mulayam Singh Yadav and Akhilesh.

The SC rejected the submission of Yadav's counsel that the notice to the CBI be kept at abeyance in the wake of upcoming general elections. The SC said, "There was a status report (of 2007 by CBI) saying that prima facie case is made out. We are entitled to know what happened to the investigation."

Company to unplug dialysis machines

NephroPlus operates under PPP mode for dialysis of BPL patients; 350 BPL patients are at present availing dialysis

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

In a decision which could send hundreds of poor patients with chronic kidney ailments into jaws of death, NephroPlus, the company, entrusted with conducting dialysis by the Government under Public Private Partnership (PPP) mode, has decided to discontinue its services to the Below Poverty Line (BPL) patients in Uttarakhand.

NephroPlus has been providing dialysis to BPL category patients at Deen Dayal Upadhyaya (Coronation) Hospital, Dehradun and Soban Singh Jeena Base Hospital, Haldwani since February 2017 under PPP mode.

Addressing the media persons here on Monday, the vice-president operations of the company, Sukaran Singh Saluja said that from March 31, the company would not be able to provide dialysis service to the BPL patients with the government sitting over its dues for the past 15 months. He claimed that the Uttarakhand government owes a sum of Rs 5.93 crore to the company.

The state health department has not paid a sum of Rs 1.82 crore for dialysis done at Coronation Hospital, Dehradun and Rs 4.11 crore at Base Hospital Haldwani to the company.

"We received regular payments until December 2017. Thereafter, the bills have been withheld without providing any valid reason whatsoever. It was only after the issue was raised before the director general health services that we were informed that payments related to BPL patients' needs to be authorised by the mission director (MD) National Health Mission (NMM)," he said.

"Bills towards our services are vetted at several levels before being cleared. It is distressing that a vendor supplying such crucial services is being forced to undergo such financial distress without any error on its part," Saluja added.

The VP Operation further said that the company has so far done a total 76870 sessions in 2018 and 350 patients are at present availing the benefit of the dialysis.

He added that the fate of 66 highly committed employees hangs in balance as they run the risk of losing their livelihood because the NephroPlus is unable to bear the salary expenses now.

Saluja said that the company is now left with no other option but to discontinue its service and take the matter to the court. He added that as per the provisions of the memorandum of understanding (MoU), the government would have to pay an interest of 18 percent to the company for the delay in the payments.

When contacted, the mission director (MD) of NHM, Yugal Kishore Pant said that the process of the payment of the bills of the NephroPlus company is currently on.

Jhanda fair, nomination rallies trigger traffic jams in Doon

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

Monday marking the start of the Jhanda Fair and the last day of filing of nomination for the general election saw huge traffic congestion on the roads of the city.

The roads which pass through the Darbar Road and going up to Saharanpur Chowk were closed for vehicles due to the traffic issues. Things were compounded even further as this was the final day of filing nomination. The rallies of the candidates with the presence of the hundreds of party activists made the traffic crawl near Prince Chowk.

A visitor near Saharanpur Chowk Garima Singh said, "I came with my mother in a two-wheeler, but the police did not allow us to use the lanes. We have walked our way to the market as it is urgent. My mother has difficulty in walking, but we are helpless. Police have stopped the movement of the two-wheelers and the four-wheelers through Darbar Road. The parking facility is also very poor."

A student near Prince Chowk Abhinav said, "I was stuck in an auto-rickshaw for a very long time as the rally of a candidate was passing. Later, I decided to walk instead of waiting in the traffic jam. I did not know when it would clear."

A trader near Prince Chowk said, "The party supporters walk right on the roads. Sometimes, they park their vehicles in front of our shops. Our customers face difficulties to reach us thanks to such haphazard parking of vehicles."

Good winter rainfall to help agriculture in U'khand

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

As per the data provided by the State Meteorological Centre, the volume of rainfall received this winter is much more than that of the previous year which is going to help the farmers in many ways. Such a volume of rain the state received last in 2013, the Met officers said.

State Meteorological Centre director Bikram Singh said, "The amount of rainfall received in this winter season is good for agriculture. It is also good as it keeps the mercury down. What usually happens is that the mercury starts to rise by the middle of March, but this time the temperature is dropping in the evening. The cases of forest fire start from March, but as the soil is holding good moisture this time no big case has come to light as yet. The rain activity is likely to continue till the end of March. The temperature will start rising from the first week of April."

Talking more about it, a scientist working in the State Meteorological Centre Rohit Thapliyal said, "The amount rainfall received this winter is good enough for the farmers. The apple growers would be benefitted the most."

In Dehradun, before filing his papers, Congress candidate Pritam Singh held a meeting at Rajiv Bhawan, the state party office, where a large number of Congress leaders and supporters were present. Addressing the meeting, he said that the people have made up their minds for a change of guard at the Centre and in the state, the state Congress chief said that his party would highlight the anti-people policies of the Centre and the state government. One of the notable features of the meeting was the presence of the former PCC president Kishore Upadhyaya on the stage. Kishore incidentally was also in the race for the Lok Sabha ticket from Tehri. Besides, he is considered as the bête noir of Pritam Singh.

After the public meeting, Pritam Singh accompanied by leaders and hundreds of supporters marched to the collectorate where he filed his nomination papers. The former ministers- Matbar Singh Kandari, Dinesh Agarwal and Surveer Singh Sajwan besides Purota MLA Rajkumar, state Congress vice-president Surya Kant Dhasmana, Vijay Pal Sajwan and Garima Dassauni were present in the rally.

Former CM of the state and All India Congress Committee (AICC) general secretary Harish Rawat filed his nomination papers at Rudrapur collectorate on the day. He was accompanied by the former minister Tilak Raj Behed, Sumit Hridayesh, son of the Leader of Opposition Indira Hridayesh, former MP K C Singh Bawa aside from a large number of Congress leaders and supporters. ## Rawat faces twin challenge of BJP, party detractors

Dehradun: Despite Congress stalwart and the former chief minister Harish Rawat having managed the party's ticket from the Nainital-Udham Singh Nagar constituency, he has an uphill task ahead of him, given the intense opposition from a number of prominent state Congress leaders of the region comprising the constituency.

The vigorous opposition of Indira Hridayesh for the candidature of Harish Rawat from Nainital had resulted in an inordinate delay in the release of the Congress list for Uttarakhand. Indira was said to be supported by the PCC president Pritam Singh and the in-charge of Uttarakhand Congress Anugrah Narayan Singh.

However, the towering stature of Harish Rawat helped him overcome the stiff opposition finally.

Political analysts point out that an astute politician that he is, Rawat had kept his options open from both Haridwar- the seat he had won in 2009- and Nainital- US Nagar till the last minute.

“When BJP denied ticket to the sitting MP Bhagat Singh Koshiyari from Nainital and field-ed Ajay Bhatt instead Harish Rawat smelled his chance and opted for Nainital as he found this seat an easier bet than Haridwar. The presence of the BSP candidate in Haridwar and its sway over the Muslim/ Dalit voters leaves the seat vulnerable for the Congress,” said an analyst.

In Nainital- US Nagar, Harish Rawat faced opposition not just from Indira Hridayesh but from the former MP and scion of Chandra dynasty of Kumaon, K C Singh Bava, former MP Mahendra Singh Pal and Terai strongman Tilak Raj Behed. However, the presence of K C Singh Bava and Tilak Raj Behed during the nomination filing of Harish Rawat on Monday indicated that the wily leader has mollified his detractors within the party. Interestingly, his bête noire Indira Hridayesh was not present on the occasion, though his son Sumit was there as her representative.

Observers opine that with Harish Rawat and BJP state president Ajay Bhatt locked in the fray, Nainital- US Nagar seat would be the most keenly contested seat in the state. In the 2017 Assembly election, despite the presence of a strong Modi wave, Ajay Bhatt had suffered an ignominious defeat at the hands of Karan Mahra from Ranikhet Assembly constituency. Similarly, Harish Rawat who was then chief minister of the state had lost from both Haridwar rural and Kiccha Assembly seats he had contested.

“There is no doubt that Harish Rawat stands head and shoulders above Ajay Bhatt in terms of political stature in the state and he would pull out all the stops to be triumphant in the electoral battle. On the other hand, Ajay Bhatt would have to rely on the party organisation and Modi magic to rise up to the daunting challenge of humbling the redoubtable Harish Rawat,” said a political commentator Jai Singh Rawat.

The Bharatiya Janata Party state president and party candidate from Nainital-Udham Singh Nagar parliamentary constituency, Ajay Bhatt, filed his nomination paper here on Monday. The Udham Singh Nagar district election officer and district magistrate Neeraj Khairwal informed that a total of six candidates filed their nomination papers on Monday while four candidates had filed their nominations earlier. The BJP candidate, Ajay Bhatt reached the collectorate to file his nomination with sitting MP and former chief minister Bhagat Singh Koshiyari as the proposer. They were accompanied by cabinet minister Yashpal Arya and local MLAs Rajkumar Thukral and Pushkar Singh Dhama.

Before reaching the collectorate, Bhatt's procession began from Galla Mandi amidst slogans in support of prime minister Narendra Modi, the party and its candidate.

Passing through various localities and the Nainital Road, the procession reached the collectorate where Bhatt filed his nomination paper.

Nishank confident of BJP's return to power

'The victory margin will be bigger'

Haridwar: Bharatiya Janata Party candidate from Haridwar who is also the incumbent MP from the constituency Ramesh Pokhariyal Nishank has claimed a thumping victory of his party this time too. He also expressed the hope that his victory margin would even cross the 2014 margin of over 1.75 lakh votes. He said this while addressing a rally of the BJP activists on Monday. Seeking to strike a chord with the people, the former chief minister of the state said that Haridwar was his family and every member of the family was his own.

Recalling the 2014 Lok Sabha election in which he had contested for the first time, he said that it had been a neck and neck fight then. “I fought against the wife of the then chief minister Harish Rawat, but the people reposed faith in me and I won with a margin of 1.75 lakh votes. But now, the scene had changed,” he said and added that his confidence had stemmed from the good works he had done over the past five years. “I have nursed my constituency to the best of my ability,” he averred. Speaking to the media persons before filing his nomination papers, Nishank said that he had not just been the chief minister of the state but the Union minister twice before Uttarakhand had been carved out of Uttar Pradesh.

“In 2014, the BJP high command asked me to resign from the Vidhan Sabha and fight the LS poll. That time it was a tough fight, but the people elected me. Over the past five years, I firmed up a developmental map for the district. Development quantum has broken the record of the past 50 years. Different welfare initiatives have benefitted 10,000 families,” he said.

He claimed that Rs 226 crore had been given to the gram panchayats at his initiative over the past five years. “I envisioned a smart city for Haridwar with ring road and flyovers which is yet to take shape. Besides, industries are in a good shape here and they are generating employment opportuni-

Ambrish stresses on local pick to represent Haridwar in LS

Haridwar: Congress contestant from Haridwar constituency Ambrish Kumar said that Haridwar should not be muddled with other districts. “The district has problems which are different from the problems other districts of the state are facing,” he said. “This is why a local person should be elected from here to the Lok Sabha who can find out local solutions to the local problems,” he said while addressing a public meeting at Nehru Yuva Kendra on Monday.

Kumar said that the people are demanding a report card of the works done by the MP Haridwar Ramesh Pokhariyal Nishank. “His output for the development of Haridwar over ties for the people,” he said.

Before filing his nomination, he paid obeisance at the fabled Mayadevi temple. He was accompanied by the chief minister Trivendra Singh Rawat, cabinet ministers-Madan Kausik and Prakash Pant-and Khanpur legislator Kumwar Pranav Singh Champion among others during the filing of nomination.

Quizzed over his earlier remark, dubbing Nishank as 'Pravasi', a barb which kicked up a row in the state, Champion said that the remark had been made before the polls.

“Now, I am solidly with the party and the candidate. I would stop at nothing to ensure that Nishank wins,” he said. In a barb flung at Harish Rawat, he said that the Congress leader gets elected as an MP,” he said. Dwelling on his election agenda, Ambrish said that the crumbling health facilities in the district should be brought on the right tracks. “Besides, the plight of the sugarcane farmers is miserable. They are impatient to know when they would be paid their dues. The MP from here turned a deaf ear to their pleas,” he said. He also referred to the demonetisation and said that the move had crippled business here. “The MP chose to be silent though,” the Congress candidate said.

Ambrish coined a slogan “Sthaneya lao, bahari hatao,” to hook the people to his campaign pitch.

Meanwhile, a huge election rally was organised by BJP at Prem Nagar ashram to felicitate Nishank on the day.

Electioneering items being brought from outside

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

As the election season is on in full swing and the posters and banners are being used as part of the electioneering. Yet, those in the city who are engaged in making posters, banners and flexes say that their business is down by nearly 70 percent this time.

"We are in dire straits as the items we make for electioneering are not being used. They are being brought from outside. The trend started during the last election and things are even far worse now. Our income is dwindling and we wonder how we can manage things," said a trader.

Sashi Shrestha, an owner of a printing unit, said, "During the time of the elections, we used to get advance orders of making hoardings, posters and flexes for the parties and the candidates. But this time the business has been dismal. We are not getting any order. We are facing very hard days this time around."

When asked what has led to such a dismal state of things for them, she said, "These materials are being brought from other cities like Delhi and Saharanpur. This is what is leaving us in the lurch."

Another shopkeeper near Ghusi Gali Vikas said, "We used to get orders for printing shirts and caps in bulks. Making of a single shirt cost ₹300 in bulk. Similarly, it was ₹100 to ₹150 each respectively when it came to making a single cap and headband. This time, the business is down. Even during the civic body election, things were better for us.

We received far more orders than we are getting during the generation election. Very few of us are now making posters and banners in the absence of orders. Such items are being brought here from Delhi and Saharanpur in bulk. We are being left high and dry."

Another trader from Prince Chowk said, "It is difficult to imagine that we are amidst the Lok Sabha election now. Earlier, things were different.

Party activists used to come to us to order supply of the electioneering materials like flexes and banners. This time we are running after them and things still are uncertain. About 70 per cent of our business has finished and we are struggling for survival. Nobody is thinking of our plight as the electioneering items are being brought here from outside the city."

HC seeks progress report in PIL on polythene waste & sewer draining into Ganga

PNS ■ NAINITAL

Hearing on a petition regarding plastic waste and draining of sewer water in the Ganga river at Har ki Paudi in Haridwar, the High Court of Uttarakhand has directed the municipal corporation of Haridwar to submit a progress report by April 28. The next hearing on this petition will be held on April 28.

The public interest litigation in question was taken up for hearing by the division bench of chief justice Ramesh Ranganathan and justice NS Dhanik. As per the case details, Meerut (Uttar Pradesh) resident Narendra had filed a public interest litigation in the high court stating that the high court had ordered a complete ban on polythene in the state. However, despite this, the banned polythene is still being used openly at Har ki Paudi in Haridwar even as sewer water is being drained directly into the Ganga river here. In the past, the municipal corporation of Haridwar had been directed to ensure that sewer water is not drained directly into the Ganga river. The municipal corporation had been directed to set up sewage treatment plants to prevent the untreated sewage from entering the Ganga river here. However, till date the authorities have not been able to stop polythene waste and sewer from being drained into the Ganga, the petitioner stated.

It is pertinent to mention here that nearly three years after the high court of Uttarakhand banned polythene

Some measures for raising public awareness and routine drives have been undertaken in parts of the state by the local authorities with limited success.

Cane growers protest in Punjab

AAP, SAD demand immediate release of dues

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Taking the ongoing protest by Punjab's sugarcane growers to another level on Monday, four sugarcane farmers climbed on the roof of Dhuri SDM's office carrying a bottle of petrol to stage a protest for the release of their dues.

One of the farmers, Harjeet Singh Bugra, said that they had started an indefinite hunger strike, and in case the police would try to remove them forcibly, they would consume celphos.

This is the third such protest by sugarcane farmers. Already, two protests have been going on for the release of Rs 80 crore of cane-growers' dues in Dhuri. Cane growers with their families have been sitting on an indefinite dharna on the Sangrur-Dhuri road near Benra village since March 7.

BKU (Lakhnowal) leader Ujagar Singh, with the support of various organisations, including BKU (Rajewal), Kul Hind Kisan Sabha Punjab, Kisan Mukti Morcha and Aam Aadmi Party, has started an indefinite hunger strike in front of the sugar mill.

Meanwhile Thousands of farmers in Punjab staged 'dharanas' in their respective districts on Monday to protest against 'anti-farmer' policies of the State Government. Besides, the farmers were demanding paddy sowing from first of June instead of June 20.

BKU Ekta president Joginder Singh Ugrahan and general secretary Sukhdev Singh Kokary said that in all the districts, the farmers submitted memorandum to the Deputy Commissioners of their district demanding paddy sowing from first of June instead of June 20 as directed by the State Government.

GOVT SHOULD ISSUE CHEQUES INSTEAD OF 'NOTICES': AAP

Taking offence on the way Punjab Government had been going overboard by issuing notices to gag the voice of the cane growers up in arms against the non-payment of their whopping dues pending with certain private mill owners in the state, AAP on Monday demanded that the Government should immediately review its dictatorial decision and null a rollback sooner than later.

"In case the Government failed, AAP would be left with no choice but to 'gherao' the sub-divisional magistrate (SDM)," said AAP MLA and the Leader of Opposition in Vidhan Sabha Harpal Cheema, adding that sugarcane growers were already over-stressed due to non-payment of their arrears worth more than Rs 80 crore to be paid by the private sugar mill owners in the state.

Cheema pointed that notices were served on the agitating farmers by Dhuri SDM in the area. "It is a dictatorial decision on part of the government that smacked of infringement in their right to free expression...These draconian decisions show the anti-farmer face of both the preceding governments changing hands in power by denying their rightful claim on the pending dues," he said.

He accused the Government of confounding the issue as a major chunk of the private mill owners in the state were either the kin of influential leaders of both the SAD and Congress parties, or themselves, which, he said, were running the show without an iota of fear of the law of the land.

SAD WANTS GOVT TO PAY 20% INTEREST ON LATE PAYMENTS

Accusing Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh of denying sugarcane farmers their dues after promising to clear pending payments, SAD on Monday said that it was this constant backstabbing of the farm community that had led to farm suicides crossing 900 figure in the last two years in Punjab.

Demanding that all late payments be cleared along with 20 percent interest, the former minister and SAD Kisan Wing president Sikander Singh Maluka said that it did not behove a Chief Minister to give promises to farmer unions and not implement them.

"Farmers are paying as much as 24 percent interest for loans taken by them due to the Congress government's failure to pay their dues and they should be adequately compensated for the same," he said.

Maluka said that even till now farmer dues of 2017-18 crushing season had not been cleared in entirety. "As much as Rs 790 crore has been accumulated till January this year. Nothing is being done to clear these dues even as the Congress government has point blank refused to compensate farmers by paying them interest on late payments," he said.

"Farmers owe around Rs 400 crore from eight cooperative sugar mills...The government also failed to expedite payments from the seven private sugar mills who owe farmers Rs 950 crore," he said.

He said that the SAD Kisan Wing and its associate organizations would strengthen the stir to make the "deaf" Congress Government listen to the plight of the sugarcane farmers.

CHAMPUA ASSEMBLY SEAT BJD, BJP yet to decide as aspirants vie for tickets

PNS ■ CHAMPUPA

Although the Congress has declared the name of Jadumani Barik as its candidate for the Champua Assembly seat but the BJD and the BJP are yet to do it resulting in uncertainty among the aspirants.

After the visit of Champua Independent MLA Santatan Mahakud to Naveen Niwas some days back, it was speculated in the political circle that either Sana himself or Meenakshi Mahanta as his protégé may be made BJD nominee for the minerals rich Champua seat but situation changed the next day when Naltu Mahanta, one of the close aids of Sana and hundreds of Sana followers led by Kusha Apat joined the BJD in protest against the decision of the Sana to lobby for Meenakshi.

Sources close to supporters of Sana said the candidature of Sana in BJD is opposed by local Minister Badri Narayan Patra who is rather projecting Kusha Apat while former Champua MLA Jitu Patnaik is lobbying for Reena Barik, who is working president of BJD, Keonjhar unit.

Out of total seven Assembly constituencies in the Keonjhar Parliamentary constituency, the BJP has declared the names of six constituencies except Champua.

Although ShreeManta Kumar Tripathy and Murali Kumar Sharma are two strong contenders of BJP for the seat, but the possibility that Kusha might join BJP if he is denied ticket in the BJD is not ruled out.

'Haryana AAP to take call on alliance with JJP by March 30'

NISHU MAHAJAN ■ CHANDIGARH

As all political parties are embracing up for a fierce multi-cornered electoral battle in Haryana, two political players—Aam Aadmi Party and Jannayak Janta Party—are struggling to forge an alliance for ensuing Lok Sabha polls.

Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal's AAP and Hisar MP Dushyant Chautala's JJP have been holding parleys for more than a month now to form an alliance to contest on 10 Lok Sabha seats in the state but have so far failed to resolve the deadlock on seat-sharing formula.

While the AAP has now announced to take a final call on forming an alliance by March 30, the JJP is keeping its doors open for an alliance with the AAP and also, exploring a possibility to tie up with Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD).

AAP's talks with the fledgling outfit—JJP—regarding the alliance had hit a roadblock last month with both parties failing to reach a consensus on seat-sharing formula for 10 parliamentary seats in Haryana.

Both parties are, however, keen on joining hands to take on national parties—BJP and Congress—in the polls.

Haryana AAP chief, Naveen Jaihind while talking to The Pioneer said, "We will take a final call on forming an alliance with the JJP in next three-four days. By March 30, we will announce whether AAP will go it alone in polls or tie up with another political party."

A meeting is scheduled to be held this week to discuss the issue. We are positive about forming an alliance in Haryana, he said. JJP, a splinter group of Indian National Lok Dal was formed in December last year and had performed well in Jind bypolls with its candidate finishing at second spot leaving behind other mainstream parties in Haryana. AAP had extended its support to JJP in the bypoll.

AAP had in 2014 polls unsuccessfully contested on all 10 Lok Sabha seats in Haryana while JJP will contest for the first time in 2019 parliamentary polls.

The prospective alliance between the AAP and JJP was pushed into uncertainty with JJP offering just two seats out of 10 to AAP in the state. The offer was rejected by AAP, which had demanded equal representation to contest the polls.

The JJP, which had earlier expressed willingness to sacrifice a seat to form any pre-poll alliance, is playing hardball, unwilling to give up its status as a dominant regional party in Haryana.

Hisar MP and JJP leader Dushyant Chautala had a day before announced that the names of the candidates for contesting the parliamentary elections in Haryana and other states would be announced before April 16 and party is ready to contest on its own on all seats.

Naveen has BJP's Pitambar as Hinjili rival

PNS ■ BHUBANESWAR/BARGARH

Even as Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik on Monday filed his nomination papers as the BJD candidate for Bijepur in Bargarh district, his second seat, for the coming Assembly elections, the BJP announced its State vice-president and spokesperson Pitambar Acharya as the party nominee to contest against Patnaik in the latter's old Hinjili seat in Ganjam district, for which the BJD supreme has already filed his nominations last week.

Acharya, who is an outsider in Hinjili, was earlier expected to be the BJP's candidate for the Cuttack Lok Sabha constituency. But the situation changed after Director General of Police (DGP) Prakash Mishra, who joined the party on Sunday, was declared as the party nominee for this Parliamentary seat.

Acharya's nomination as the BJP rival against Patnaik and not as a candidate in any of the constituency sprang surprise in view of Hinjili known as a BJD stronghold, from where the Chief Minister has been elected in the last four elections since 2000 by vast margins of votes with his rivals losing their deposits.

Acharya's claim that "the BJD fortress in Hinjili has crumbled by now" has no buyers except diehard BJP members.

Naveen Patnaik, accompanied by several western Odisha BJD leaders, filed his nomination papers at the Padampur Sub-Collector's office.

Notably, the Congress has declared Ripunath Seth as its candidate for Bijepur while the BJP is yet to announce its nominee for the constituency.

Former DG of Odisha Police Prakash Mishra, who joined the BJP on Sunday and was given the party ticket to contest from the prestigious Cuttack Lok Sabha seat, on Monday said he was highly impressed by Prime Minister Narendra Modi's commitment to build a strong and prosperous India.

"Having watched the prime minister very closely during my New Delhi tenure, I thought of getting associated with him and assisting him in accomplishing his vision," Mishra, said here.

Mishra was very unceremoniously removed as DGP in July 2014 by the Naveen Patnaik Government.

The State Government also registered a fake graft case against him, which, however, was quashed by the Orissa High Court.

But by then, he lost the race as a top contender for the post of CBI Director.

Post-Pulwama CRPF to get anti-mine vehicles

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Waking up from slumber post-Pulwama, the CRPF is going to procure a new fleet of mine protected vehicles (MPVs) and the small 30-seater bullet-resistant buses to ensure safety of its convoys in Jammu & Kashmir.

The Motor Transport branch of the paramilitary had been pressing for procurement of these vehicles for the last many years but confusion prevailed owing to lack of clarity from the top leadership that keeps changing stance after the change of the Force's chief, sources said.

The paramilitary has also decided to increase the number of its bomb detection and disposals squads (BDDS) for the 65 battalions of the CRPF deployed in Jammu & Kashmir for anti-terror and law and order duties. The move comes against the backdrop of Pulwama suicide bombing by Jaish-e-Mohammad (JeM) that ripped a bus killing 44 personnel on February 14.

The MPVs are expected to ramp up the counter-IED capabilities of the paramilitary as there have been Intelligence inputs that the terror groups could resort to more and more IED attacks.

Earlier, about a dozen MPVs were diverted from the Naxal-hit States to Jammu & Kashmir.

Bullet-resistant armour plating of smaller buses is more feasible than the standard sized buses with a capacity to carry 52 passengers. Armour-plating significantly enhances the weight of the buses and speed is significantly hit due to additional weight of the armour plates.

The additional BDDS squads with more equipment will help detect IEDs on the ground. As the armours will only give protection from firing, new standard operating procedures for convoy movement have been put in place to avoid any Pulwama-type attack.

The new SOP entails convoy movement by restricting the movement of civilian vehicles and regularly changing halting points.

facility for one year while going in to join duty or for tour and while proceeding on leave.

The CRPF cavalcade that came under attack on February 14 had 78 vehicles and the bus hit by the suicide bomber was fifth in line. The convoy was carrying over 2,500 CRPF personnel.

Cong moves EC to stall Modi biopic

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

A day after Maharashtra Navnirman Sena (MNS) threatened to stall the biopic on Prime Minister Narendra Modi in Maharashtra, the Congress on Monday moved the Election Commission (EC) to get the release of the biopic deferred till the final phase voting in the Lok Sabha polls (May 19), contending that it violates the code of conduct.

While MNS chief Raj Thackeray has accused the BJP of propagating their welfare schemes through moves like Toilet Ek Prem Katha and Padman and now PM Narendra Modi, the Congress has demanded that the release be deferred till the last phase of voting.

Opposition parties are contending that it would violate the model code of conduct and influence voters.

The model code of conduct is in place across India since March 10, when the EC announced dates for general elections and Assembly polls in four States. Earlier, the DMK and the CPI has already moved the EC seeking banning of biopic on PM Modi till election is over.

Ever since the movie was announced, the Opposition has accused it of being political propaganda of the saffron party. In the movie, Vivek Oberoi will be seen in the lead essaying Prime Minister Modi. While actors like Boman Irani, Barkha Bisht Sengupta, Rajendra Gupta, Zarina Wahab, Darshan Kumar, Prashant Narayanan, and Yatin Karyekar, will be in supporting role.

The movie was recently marred in a controversy regarding credits to for its lyrics being attributed to Javed Akhtar and Sameer Anjaan, who refused to have anything to do with the movie.

More political leaders joined the BJP on Monday as the party announced the names of candidates for two Lok Sabha seats, including that of former party MP Kharvela Swain, and 19 Assembly constituencies in Odisha.

Former RJD Jharkhand president Annapurna Devi and paralympian Deepa Malik also joined the party. Malik is the first Indian woman to win a medal in Paralympic Games.

Devi, a one-time close aide of RJD leader Lalu Prasad formally joined the BJP at the party headquarters in presence of party president Amit Shah. She was denied the Lok Sabha ticket by the RJD in Jharkhand.

Swain was keen on contesting the general election from Balasore seat, but the party has already fielded Pratap Sarangi from the coastal constituency.

Malik, a famous para athlete, joined the BJP with the party asserting that her presence will strengthen the organisation. With the BJP yet to announce all its candidates in Haryana for the Lok Sabha elections, Malik may be in the reckoning for one of the seats, sources said.

She joined the BJP in the presence of the party's Haryana unit chief Subhash Barala and general secretary Anil Jain, who is in charge of its affairs in

EC to deploy more spl expenditure observers

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Election Commission (EC) is set to increase the number of special expenditure observers to monitor illegal cash and inducements being given to voters during the Lok Sabha polls as it has identified about 120 expenditure sensitive constituencies till now in the country. The EC's special expenditure observers also reviewed the poll preparedness with the two special observers for the subject, Shailendra Handa (Maharashtra) and Madhu Mahajan (Tamil Nadu).

Earlier, the EC has appointed two retired Indian Revenue Service (Income Tax) officers as special expenditure observers for Maharashtra and Tamil Nadu. This is the first time that such observers have been appointed for any polls in the country.

They said few more such observers could be appointed by the next week to oversee the work of about 800 Central expenditure monitoring teams and observers who track black money, liquor, drugs and other freebies given to voters illegally.

The maximum number of election expenditure observers are drawn from the Indian Revenue Service (Income Tax), while others belong to the IRS (Indirect Taxes and Customs). Officials said the Election Commission, till now, has identified about 120 expenditure sensitive constituencies in the country for general elections and it is awaiting the report of some state Chief Electoral Officers (CEOs) to identify more such segments.

The identified expenditure sensitive constituencies are in the States of Telangana, Andhra Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Haryana, Gujarat, Bihar, Jharkhand and Uttarakhand, among others, while a similar report from states like Maharashtra and few others are awaited.

An expenditure sensitive constituency is identified as a seat which is prone to high expenditure and corrupt practices. For such a constituency, the EC rules mandate, there shall be two assistant expenditure observers, a similar number of flying squads, static surveillance teams and video surveillance teams.

EC observers meet CRPF, police officials in J&K

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The three special observers appointed by the Election Commission (EC) to help it decide on holding Assembly elections in Jammu & Kashmir on Monday met top officials of the CRPF and the State police. Sources said since the CRPF is the principal security agency in the State, the observers wanted a feedback on how early the Assembly polls can be held in the State. The CRPF, the sources said, is of the view that elections should first be held in the "most difficult" parts of the State so that the force gets adequate time to dominate the area.

But, the State administration is learnt to be of the view that areas which have previously witnessed high voter turnout should go to polls first to avoid a "drag down" effect on other constituencies.

The sources said the EC will now take a comprehensive view before taking the next call on the subject. Since the Jammu & Kashmir Assembly has been dissolved, the EC is bound to hold fresh polls there as well within a six-month period, which will end in May. The Government is of the view that the security situation is complex in the State given the heightened tension along the India-Pakistan border.

The three special observers are Vinod Zutshi and Noor Muhammad and retired IPS officer A S Gill. The observers have been tasked with making a real-time assessment of the situation by meeting political parties, district and State authorities and other stakeholders to enable the poll watchdog take a call on the issue.

The J&K Assembly's six-year term was to end on March 16, 2021, but it got dissolved after a ruling coalition between the Peoples Democratic Party (PDP) and the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) fell apart. The other State Assemblies and the Lok Sabha have five-year terms.

Cong announces 10th list, 26 names cleared

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Congress on Monday fielded Sanjay Nirupam from the North West Mumbai as it released its tenth list, clearing 26 names for the Lok Sabha elections. The announcement of Nirupam's candidature came on a day he was removed as the Mumbai Regional Congress Committee chief (MRCC). Former Union Minister Milind Deora replaced Nirupam as MRCC chief.

Out of the 26 candidates announced by the party on Monday, 25 were for West Bengal. Mohammad Alam from Barrackpore, Mita Chakraborty from Kolkata Dakshin, Suvra Ghosh from Howrah, and Pratul Saha from Hooghly were among those named in the list. With this, the party has announced a total of 253 candidates so far. The Congress also named four candidates for Assembly polls in Odisha.

It's homecoming for Sukh Ram

New Delhi: Former Union Minister Sukh Ram on Monday rejoined the Congress along with his grandson Aashray Sharma ahead of the Lok Sabha polls, with the party's saying his entry would boost its poll prospects in Himachal Pradesh.

"For me, it is like home-coming," said 93-year-old Sukh Ram who returned for the second time to the Congress which he had last left ahead of the 2017 Assembly elections to join the BJP. The Congress had sacked him in 1997 following his conviction in the telecom scam which occurred when he was a Union minister in the PV Narasimha Rao Government, but he returned in 2004.

SC for more VVPAT matching in polls

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Monday favoured increasing the random physical verification of VVPAT slips in the upcoming Lok Sabha and assembly polls and told the EC that "no institution should insulate itself from improvement, including the judiciary".

It was not the question of "casting aspersions", rather a matter of "satisfaction" of the electorate, the top court said.

It asked the EC to file response as to whether it can increase the number of sample surveys of VVPAT slips from one in each Assembly segment for the upcoming General and Assembly elections.

The court was hearing a plea filed by 21 Opposition leaders, led by Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister N Chandrababu Naidu, seeking the VVPAT slips of at least 50 per cent of voting machines in each Assembly constituency be checked randomly in the Lok Sabha elections next month.

A Bench of Chief Justice Ranjan Gogoi and Justice Deepak Gupta asked the EC to file its reply on affidavit indicating the reasons of its satisfaction that purity of elections can be maintained and is being maintained.

"The Election

Commission of India (EC) is fully satisfied that the purity of the elections can be maintained and is being maintained. The Election Commission of India shall indicate the above in an affidavit the basis of satisfaction," the Bench said.

It added, "The Election Commission of India shall also indicate that if the sample survey can be extended to a higher level...The affidavit shall be filed by 4 pm on March 28. The matter is listed for further hearing on April 1."

At the outset, the Bench told the Deputy Election Commissioner Sudeep Jain, appearing in person, whether the poll panel can increase the number of random physical verification of VVPAT slips with EVMs from the existing stipulation of only one polling station per Assembly segment. Jain replied that the ECI has adequate reasons to believe that there was no requirement for changing the present arrangement of random matching of VVPAT slips with Electronic Voting Machine for one polling per Assembly segment.

SC DISMISSES PLEA SEEKING BAN ON ROADSHOWS, BIKE RALLIES

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Monday refused to entertain a petition filed by a former DGP of Uttar Pradesh and an environmentalist seeking a direction to the Election Commission of India (ECI) to ban roadshows and bike rallies during polls. "We are not inclined to entertain this," a bench of Chief Justice Ranjan Gogoi and Justice Deepak Gupta told advocate Virag Gupta, who was appearing for petitioners Vikram Singh and environmentalist Shaivika Agrawal. Singh, a former Director General of Police (DGP) of Uttar Pradesh, and Agrawal had said in their plea that roadshows and bike rallies violate the ECI's instructions and cause damage to the environment.

The petitioners had said that roadshows and bike rallies during the election period cause air, noise pollution and traffic jams, which result in inconvenience to the general public.

The plea had said that instructions issued by the ECI with regard to roadshows and political processions mandate that vehicles must be registered and a convoy cannot have more than 10 vehicles. PTI

HAL meets Tejas deadline

Rolls out 16th Tejas LCA fighter jet for IAF

KESTUR VASUKI ■ BENGALURU

The Fighter jet will be inducted into 'Flying Daggers' an air force squadron of the IAF. "We have produced 16th LCA as per the target till March 31. The customer flights are expected to be completed by the end of March," HAL said in a statement.

The defence behemoth has an order from IAF for 40 LCAs (16 each in IOC and final operational clearance (FOC)). "The first aircraft in FOC configuration may roll out by the end of this calendar year (2019)," HAL said. Production of the fighter began in 2014 with a capacity of eight aircraft per annum. A second production line has been set up at Aircraft Division in this aerospace hub, which carries out structural assembly, final assembly and equipping of the aircraft.

The production of LCA commenced in 2014 with a current production capacity of eight aircraft per annum. A second production line has been established at Aircraft Division (Bangalore Complex), which is carrying out structural assembly, final assembly and equipping of the aircraft.

Recently HAL had received drawings and documents related to FOC with limited clearance for LCA (Tejas) from CEMILAC and ADA. With this HAL can start working towards productionisation of FOC standard fighter aircraft.

The first aircraft in FOC configuration may roll-out by the end of this calendar year.

"LCA demonstrated its combat capability in the IAF's 'Gagan Shakti' exercise by firing the Air-to-Air BVR Derby missile. # TMC, MNM forge alliance for Andaman and Nicobar

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

In an apparent bid to consolidate the Bengali and Tamil votes of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands and with Mamata Banerjee deciding to field her party's candidate in the island constituency, Trinamool Congress on Monday struck an alliance with film star Kamal Haasan's MNM for the island constituency.

Haasan who came calling to Bengal's State secretariat at Nabanna in Howrah said after an hour-long meeting, the Chief Minister, that his party would back the TMC in Andaman.

Banerjee said, "we have formed an alliance with Kamal Haasan's party for the Andaman. # NCP corporator's husband hacked to death by mob in Beed

Mumbai: The husband of an NCP corporator was on Monday hacked to death in Maharashtra's Beed district allegedly by a mob which suspected he was helping members of the Shikalgar community in a kidnapping case, police said.

Pandurang Gaikwad (50) was attacked with swords, sickles and sticks in Phule Nagar area of Parli-Vajinath town in the district, over 470 kilometres from here, an official said.

"Gaikwad sustained serious injuries in the attack in the early hours of Monday. He was rushed to a nearby hospital but was declared dead on arrival," the official said.

Police said the attack might be a fallout of the kidnapping of a 16-year-old boy four months ago allegedly by members of the Shikalgar community as the minor was in love with a girl

11 people, including two women, attacked and killed Gaikwad, 5 of whom have been arrested and charged with murder from that community.

A kidnapping case was registered at the time with Purna police station, and the boy's body was found a few days later, enraging local residents and kin, an official said.

"The mob, which included the mother of the kidnapped minor boy, attacked Gaikwad suspecting he was helping the Shikalgar community members in the kidnapping case," said Inspector Balasheeb Pawar of Sambhajinagar police station.

He said 11 people, including two women, attacked and killed Gaikwad, five of whom have been arrested and charged with murder.

Efforts are on to nab the rest of the accused, he added.

The Shikalgar community is spread across the state and are traditionally engaged in making and sharpening weapons made from iron.

The community's name is derived from an Arabic word for sharpening. PTI

CONTROLS OF SERVICES IN DELHI

AAP Govt moves SC seeking larger Bench

New Delhi: The AAP Government on Monday moved the Supreme Court seeking constitution of a larger Bench to expeditiously decide the issue of control over administrative services in Delhi.

A Bench headed by Chief Justice Ranjan Gogoi told the Delhi Government counsel that it will look into the matter.

The apex court had on February 14 referred the issue of control of services to a larger Bench after delivering a split verdict.

The two-judge Bench had said the Centre should have the final word on posting and transfer of bureaucrats in the national Capital administration, but their disagreement finer details resulted in a split verdict and the matter got referred to a larger Bench.

The Bench, which was called upon to decide on six vexatious issues pertaining to a long-running feud between the Central and the national Capital Governments, had given a unanimous verdict on the remaining five counts and had ruled that the Delhi Government's Anti-Corruption Branch (ACB) cannot probe the Centre's employees in corruption cases. Out of six contentions issues, the Delhi Government had won in three and lost to the Centre on two critical aspects of investigating power to probe central government employees and for setting up of enquiry commissions.

While it left for a larger bench to conclusively decide who will have control over administrative services in the national Capital, the apex court had unanimously ruled that the power to appoint enquiry commissions would rest with the Centre as "there is no 'State Government' in the Union Territory and the State Government (for this purpose) shall mean the Central Government".

In its 202-page verdict, the court had, however, held that the elected Delhi Government will have the right to appoint public prosecutors, to decide land revenue matters and also to appoint or deal with electricity commission or board. PTI

Bangladesh Home Minister's visit as the model code of conduct is in force due to the Lok Sabha election.

Radicalisation of youths and Rohingya refugees issues may figure in the dialogue, another official said.

NCP releases manifesto for LS polls, promises talks with Pak

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

In its manifesto for the 2019 Lok Sabha polls, the Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) has promised open talks with Pakistan to discuss the issue of terrorism, undertake modernisation of Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL) and other Ordnance Factories, proper implementation of OROP and 33 per cent reservation to women in parliament.

In the manifesto released by its senior State leader and former Speaker in the State Assembly, Dilip Walse-Patil, the NCP also promised voters structural reforms to drive sustainable agriculture, a complete loan waiver to all farmers and initiative to compliment the Minimum Support Price (MSP) through a system of incentives and commission payments. The NCP said it was committed to provide adequate attention to promote agriculture growth, productivity, income and access to market.

To create jobs, the NCP in its manifesto — that stressed on "Aao Milke Desh Banaye, Humara Aapka hum sabka Bharat — has promised to boost skill development through active engagement of private and public sector, academia, domestic and international organisations of repute. "We will introduce adequate skilling programme to suit and benefit from the changing environment. Considering huge potential of job creation, financial assistance to Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSME) will be increased and restructuring of their loans will be done," the manifesto said.

Apart from opening talks with Pakistan during which we will insist on discussing terrorism, the NCP said it "will continue to be responsive to the newly elected Sheikh Hasina Government in Bangladesh." "We will work to move Russia away from getting too close to China and Pakistan by frequent high level exchanges. We will keep all channels open to China but demand that it opens its market to exports of Indian pharmaceuticals, agriculture products and IT services. We will continue to expand relations with the United States of America, including for import of defence equipment" the NCP manifesto said.

Slamming the NDA Government for its "miserable failure", the NCP stated in its manifesto: "The NDA Government, in five years, has failed miserably to contain terrorism. In these five years of NDA rule, there have been three terror attacks on military and para military forces under its nose. There has been a criminal failure of intelligence in preventing such attacks. No responsibility has been fixed. No one is held accountable."

Mamata triggering constitutional crisis, says BJP

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Accusing West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee of triggering a constitutional crisis and creating classes of VIPs and non-VIPs, the BJP on Monday charged the local Kolkata Police with threatening customs officials who checked luggage of Mamata's nephew and TMC MP Abhishek Banerjee's wife at Kolkata airport.

BJP spokesperson Shah Nawaz Hussain told reporters the State Government seems to be working to protect a family.

The Chief Minister should tell the people what was being brought in those suitcases that the Kolkata Police had to "terrorise" customs officials to prevent them from checking them, he said. He also alleged police threatened the customs officials.

Abhishek, who is a Lok Sabha member, has claimed that his wife was chosen by customs officials because of her profile and rejected claims of BJP leaders that she was carrying anything in violation of laws. He charged a political vendetta behind the airport checking.

Rajya Sabha member Swapna Dasgupta, who is affiliated to the BJP, asked why the Kolkata Police entered an area which falls under the jurisdiction of the customs department.

He said the TMC chief was creating classes of VIPs and non-VIPs with different sets of rules and laws. Mamata Banerjee is deliberately trying to provoke a constitutional crisis, he added.

Cong sacks Nirupam as State party chief

Milind Deora new president

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

In a sudden mid-poll development, the Congress high command on Monday evening sacked its Mumbai unit president Sanjay Nirupam and replaced him with former MP Nehru-Gandhi family loyalist Milind Deora.

More than seven weeks after Deora went to town saying that "infighting" was threatening "our base in Mumbai", AICC general secretary KC Venugopal issued a brief statement that read: "Congress president Rahul Gandhi has appointed Milind Deora as president of MRCC. The party appreciates the contribution of outgoing president Sanjay Nirupam." Nirupam, a journalist-turned-politician who had been appointed as the Mumbai Congress in March 2015, has been named Congress candidate from Mumbai North West which was represented in the past by late Gurudas Kamat.

Milind Deora, who has replaced Nirupam, is the son of late Congress stalwart Murlidhar Deora who had been the Mumbai Regional Congress Committee (MRCC) president for a record 22 years from 1981 to 2003.

Milind, who was a junior minister in the Dr Manmohan Singh-led UPA government, is also the Congress candidate from Mumbai South.

An erstwhile Shiv Sena functionary, Nirupam is a two-term Rajya Sabha member and one-time Lok Sabha member from Mumbai North. Nirupam had over the past several months come in for severe criticism for his "ad hoc" style of functioning and his "failure" to take senior leaders along. In a way, Milind Deora has also contributed Nirupam's ouster. It may be recalled that on February 5, Deora had said that "infighting" was threatening "our base in Mumbai" and that the city party unit "cannot become a cricket pitch for sectarian politics, with leaders pitted against one other".

A day after he said he might even re-consider "if it is worth fighting elections or not", Deora said he was "disappointed" with "infighting" within the Mumbai Cong and indirectly blamed city party unit president Sanjay Nirupam for contributing to "sectarian politics" within the party set up. In a series of tweets put on the sorry state of affairs within the Mumbai, Deora had said: "In a city like Mumbai, we need to bring people together. The Mumbai Cong cannot become a cricket pitch for sectarian politics, with leaders pitted against one other".

If you don't vote for Modi you commit sin: Jitendra

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

If you don't vote for Prime Minister Narendra Modi, you will commit a sin and waste your vote. It is time to isolate anti-nationals, Pakistani supporters, terrorist sympathisers and all those who consider 'abusing' Indian Army is their religion. They have ganged up together. They want to defeat Prime Minister Modi, defeat BJP and defeat Jitendra Singh.

This is the message Dr Jitendra Singh, BJP's candidate from Udhampur-Doda Lok Sabha seat, is taking to the door steps of electorate in his parliamentary constituency while building up his campaign in the run up to the voting day, April 18.

He is contesting from the same seat for the second time.

In 2014, Dr Singh had defeated Congress heavy weight Ghulam Nabi Azad by a margin of over 60,000 votes in his maiden outing in the Lok Sabha polls.

In the absence of Ghulam Nabi Azad in the fray Dr Singh is in the commanding position but facing numerous challenges as the electioneering is peaking.

Both Congress and the National Conference have fielded Vikramaditya Singh, son of Congress stalwart Dr Karan Singh, against him. Peoples Democratic Party (PDP) is also lending its support to him to consolidate 'secular' votes and ensure defeat of BJP candidate.

Pak man living in India for 50 yrs to get c'ship: HC told

Mumbai: In a major relief to a Pakistani national living in India for over 50 years, the Union Ministry of Home Affairs told the Bombay High Court on Monday that he will be granted Indian citizenship within 10 days.

Asif Karadia, whose parents are of Indian origin, had approached the HC in December 2016 when his previous long-term visa (LTV) expired and the authorities refused to extend the visa unless he produced a Pakistani passport.

Following much litigation and several orders of the court, the ministry finally confirmed before a bench of justices A S Oka and M S Sanklecha on Monday that Karadia will be granted Indian citizenship.

The bench accepted the statement as an undertaking given by the ministry under oath, and disposed of Karadia's petition.

Karadia (53) had approached the HC through his counsels Ashish Mehta and Sujay Kantawala after his LTV expired and a deportation notice was issued against him.

Karadia told the HC that he did not have a Pakistani passport or any other valid identity documents issued by the government of the neighbouring country. The petitioner said though he was born in Karachi, he was brought to India by his mother when he was a just a few days old and has stayed in Mumbai ever since.

His father and mother were born in Gujarat before the Partition, and his wife and three children are all Indian citizens, according to the petition.

Karadia said he had been living in India, earning a living by working at a local restaurant, paying taxes and had Indian ID proofs such as an Aadhaar card, a ration card, a PAN card and even a voter ID card, but no passport.

His citizenship application too has been pending before the government for over seven years.

He, thus, urged the court to ensure the deportation notice against him was stayed, and his LTV extended till the government decides on his citizenship application.

In 2016, another HC bench had denied him any interim relief, observing that even if a person was entitled to an Indian citizenship, he or she could not "at any given time, be authorised to reside in the country without valid papers".

However, in January 2017, the court observed that Karadia's case was "unique" and in an interim order, directed the Maharashtra Government and the Centre to not take any coercive action against him. PTI

Karti's name upsets Congress leader

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ CHENNAI

The Congress in Tamil Nadu, which is facing the wrath of the Christians for non-inclusion in the list of candidates selected for the Lok Sabha election, suffered another setback on Monday as a senior leader of the party went public and aired his displeasure for denying him the Sivanga seat.

Sudarshana Nachiappan, a popular Congress leader, who had represented the Sivanga constituency during 1999 to 2004 alleged on Monday that he was not considered for the constituency this time because of the pressure exerted by senior Congress leader P Chidambaram.

The Congress High Command had on Sunday nominated Karti Chidambaram as the party candidate for Sivanga. The junior Chidambaram who had contested the seat in the 2014 Lok Sabha election had forfeited his security deposit and had finished fourth in the race.

Karti, the one and only son of Chidambaram and Nalini Chidambaram, is facing investigations by the CBI and the ED in a series of cases including money laundering in the INX Media scam. He had told reporters that there were no criminal cases against him and he faced no case in any court. "There are only unfounded allegation against me and no courts has framed charges against me," said Karti while speaking to reporters.

C D Meyyappan, senior AICC member from the State who was the only leader available TNCC head quarters at Chennai said there were no major issues in the party as on Monday. "These are all initial hiccups which would be resolved in days to come. While the campaign picks up, the party leaders would put up all these issues behind them and focus on winning the election," said Meyyappan, former president of Tamil Nadu Youth Congress.

He the Congress High Command has done a tight rope walking while selecting the ten candidates. "Since our party is too democratic, leaders express their disappointment in public. There is no need to worry as we are all united in ensuring the victory of the DMK-led front in the State," said Meyyappan.

The Bishop Council of Tamil Nadu had expressed their displeasure over the Congress High Command ignoring the plea of the Church that community members be included in the list of candidates.

Nominations for first phase of LS elections end in Maharashtra

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

Two Union Ministers, Nitin Gadkari and Hansraj Aher of BJP, Congress leader and bitter Narendra Modi critic Nana Patole were among those who filed their papers, as the nominations for the Phase-1 of the Lok Sabha polls in Maharashtra ended on Monday.

Seven constituencies in eastern Maharashtra — Wardha, Gadchiroli-Chimur, Ramtek, Nagpur, Bhandara-Gondiya, Chandrapur, Yavatmal-Washim — will go to polls on April 11 in the first of the four-phased elections in the State. Accompanied by Maharashtra Chief Minister Devendra Fadnis and other senior leaders from the BJP-Shiv Sena alliance, Gadkari filed his nomination papers in his home town of Nagpur.

Talking to media persons after filing the nominations, "I am overwhelmed by the response from the ordinary Nagpur citizens and the party workers... I am confident that I shall win with a record margin and strengthen the hands of Prime Minister Narendra Modi".

Gadkari takes on Patole in Nagpur. It may be recalled that in December, 2017, Patole had resigned from BJP and his Bhandara-Gondiya Lok Sabha seat, citing 14 reasons which include 14 reasons including the increasing number of farmer suicides, demonetisation and GST. Before and after his resignation, Patole had criticised Modi. Former Shiv Sena MLA Suresh Dhanorkar, who was given the Congress ticket after resigning and joined the Rahul Gandhi-led party, filed his nomination for the Chandrapur seat. He was a last-minute nominee after the party on Sunday hacked the name of Vinayak Bangade following huge Opposition.

Former Union Minister and ex-Chief Minister Sushilkumar Shinde filed his papers from Solapur, while former state Congress President Manikrao Thakre filed his papers from Yavatmal-Washim.

FINALISE SEAT-SHARING DEAL IN 24 HOURS

BJP faces ally's wrath in UP

Lucknow: An ultimatum has been given to the BJP by its disgruntled ally and chief of Suheldev Bharatiya Samaj Party, Om Prakash Rajbhar, to finalise the seat-sharing process in 24 hours for the Lok Sabha elections in Uttar Pradesh. Rajbhar has demanded five seats out of 80 LS seats.

Rajbhar, who is a Cabinet Minister in the Yogi Adityanath Government, slammed the BJP for failing to decide on the NDA seat-sharing with all of its allies in UP. "We are fighting for our rights. We were called for a meeting with Amit Shah along with Apna Dal and our demands were asked. Seat-sharing was decided for the Apna Dal, but we are still being kept in the dark. I have given 24 hours to the BJP to take a decision on our seats else we will go our way," Rajbhar said.

The SBSP has demanded a list of five seats including Chandauli, Ghosi, Ambedkarnagar, Jaunpur and either Machlishehar or Lalganj.

"If Apna Dal was assigned seats then why a decision could not be taken on our demands? They (BJP) finalised alliances in Maharashtra, Goa, Bihar, Chhattisgarh and Jharkhand. Then why are we kept waiting," Rajbhar added.

Further, when asked about chances of joining the Congress, Rajbhar said his party can go "anywhere" as "all options are open". The party's decision to stay with the BJP will be revealed on Tuesday, the Minister added.

Earlier in February, Rajbhar had handed over the charge of the backward classes welfare department to Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath. In his letter to CM Yogi, he had cited non-payment of dues and discrepancies in scholarship to students hailing from backward castes as the reason behind his decision. He had also dared CM Yogi to throw him out of the Cabinet.

The SBSP has been demanding the implementation of a sub-quota for Other Backward Classes (OBC) ahead of the Lok Sabha elections. "I will continue my fight for the poor. I am the only 72-year-old Minister who is fighting against a Chief Minister," the disgruntled Minister had said.

Moreover, Rajbhar had also announced that his party may go solo on all the 80 seats in UP in the general elections if the BJP decided to keep SBSP out of the coalition. The SBSP has four MLAs in the UP Assembly.

The Minister has been a frequent critic of Yogi Adityanath and has time and again claimed that his party was not getting the "due respect". He had also attacked the UP Government for renaming the cities of Mughalsarai and Faizabad. "They say they (the cities) were named after the Mughals. They have national spokesperson Shah Nawaz Hussain, Union minister Mukhtar Abbas Naqvi, UP Minister Mohsin Raza, three Muslim faces of the BJP, change their names first," he had said. AGENCIES

Consume poison, survive: Guj Minister's Shiva dare for Rahul

Ahmedabad: A Gujarat Minister on Monday tapped into controversy by asking Congress chief Rahul Gandhi to consume poison to check if he was indeed an 'avatar' of Lord Shiva as claimed by his party workers.

Addressing a gathering at Bardoli in Surat, Gujarat Tribal Development Minister Ganpat Vasava said Gandhi's "Shiva reincarnation" can be considered true only if he survives after having "500 grams of poison".

"People from the Congress claim Rahul Gandhi is an avatar of Lord Shiva. Now, since Lord Shiva used to consume poison to save people, I want Congress workers to make their leader drink 500 grams of poison," Vasava said. "If he survives like Lord Shiva after consuming poison, we will all believe he is the true reincarnation of Lord Shiva" Vasava claimed.

The BJP minister's Shiva jibe incensed the Congress which called it "extremely unfortunate" and reflective of that party's "true character" and stemming from the fear of poll defeat.

"Such comments about our leader are extremely unfortunate. This shows the true character of BJP and its leaders. They are making such statements out of frustration as they are seeing defeat in the Lok Sabha polls," Gujarat Congress spokesperson Manish Doshi said. PTI

LS polls: Tough contest awaits BJP in 7 Guj seats

Ahmedabad: If the Congress's performance in the 2017 Gujarat Assembly polls was any indication, the BJP may have to sweat it out in at least seven Lok Sabha seats, most of them in its bastion Saurashtra.

In the Assembly elections, the Congress won 77 seats, improving its tally by 16 seats in the 182-member House. The BJP was restricted at 99 — the party's worst performance in the last two decades. The Congress bagged 30 of the 54 seats in the Saurashtra-Kutch region. The Assembly poll results came as a shot in the arm for the Opposition party after it drew a blank in the 2014 Lok Sabha elections and the BJP won all 26 seats in the State.

Congress leaders are confident that the party might wrest at least four Lok Sabha seats in the Saurashtra region — Amreli, Junagadh, Botad and Surendranagar — from the BJP.

The Congress is also betting big on Anand in central Gujarat and Banaskantha and Patan in north Gujarat.

It is also eyeing Dahod, Chhota Udepur, Sabarkantha and Patan. "People in Saurashtra supported us overwhelmingly in the 2017 elections, as a result of which we won a significant number of seats in the region. This is clearly going to be a factor in the Lok Sabha election," Congress spokesperson Manish Doshi said.

"We expect to gain four-five seats from that region," he said. In Saurashtra, the BJP is struggling with the perception that it failed to reach out to people affected by 2016 floods.

Doshi said the Congress hopes to win at least 12-13 Lok Sabha seats in Gujarat —

Another face of jihad

The abduction and forced conversion of two Hindu girls in Pakistan is another example of its attempts to infuriate India

This is a gross human rights abuse at so many levels — the abduction, conversion and marriage of two Hindu minor girls in Sindh district of Pakistan — that it merits not only India's but the world's concern. For it is about child abuse, possibly trafficking and slavery, a perverted suppression of free will, religious persecution of minorities and the propagation of a Salafi ideology-driven jihad of using women and girls as human shields to Islamise non-believers and for procreating a mass army of believers. Worse, use them to take care of the "needs" of jihadi warriors in conflict zones and birth their offspring. Considering that religious minorities comprise only about a minuscule three per cent of the Pakistani population with Hindus at one per cent, this would look like a systematic annihilation of that community. Had that nation really cared for preservation, it would have acted immediately on the complaints of the girls' brother and father and not attempted to put out a doctored video of the victims saying they converted to Islam voluntarily. Pakistan is not just hosting terror havens; so radicalised are its civil structures at the dictates of the Army, which in turn draws its strength from ideological extremists, that it has insidiously linked the war outside to the war within. India, despite the provocation of Hindus, has at this point been very graded and mature in its reaction, sending out a note seeking suitable remedial action to protect and promote safety, security and welfare of minority communities. And though Pakistan's Information Minister Chaudhry Fawad Hussain may have taken on External Affairs Minister Sushma Swaraj over the protection of minorities here, he would have done well to remember that their percentage is thriving and not as paltry as that of Hindus in Pakistan, amounting to 1.2 per cent.

Truth be told, Pakistan's raison d'être, of emerging as an Islamist State in opposition to a Hindu-dominated but a secular India, has dictated its policies no matter what its founding fathers felt. Its minorities have been under a siege for a long, long time. Pakistan even disowned the Ahmadis, declaring them non-Muslim by an official writ, and has been systematically targeting non-Muslim minorities such as Christians, Hindus and Sikhs, by destroying their identified neighbourhoods, attacking their faith shrines, killing them on trumped up charges to justify its cleansing efforts and converting them forcibly. Graves of Christians and Ahmadis have been vandalised while Hindus have been routinely kidnapped in Sindh and Balochistan provinces for ransom. Except now the forced ghettoisation is even more acute and anybody can be killed on the slightest pretext of blasphemy. In recent years, the number of Hindu persecuted returnees to India has been rising and the day is not too far when Hindu minorities won't find a place in Pakistan. The abduction and conversion of Hindu women is not new either. Though the case of Rinkel Kumari is well-known with a lawmaker aiding her conversion and marriage, around 20-25 kidnappings and forced conversions of Hindu girls are reported from Sindh every month going by a report of the Asian Human Rights Watch. The selective targeting of Hindu girls, therefore, looks like another ruse to rile India. Then there's Pakistan's infamous blasphemy law which allows it to book any minority citizen as guilty of harming Islamic interests by suspicion. No charges, nothing. Just a rabid vigilantism couched as law, which is the strictest among proclaimed Islamic nations. Asia Bibi, a poor Christian woman from Punjab, was the first woman in Pakistan's history to be charged with blasphemy and sentenced to death, though acquitted now. In 2012, a Pakistani Christian girl, Rimsha Masih, was accused of blasphemy though her case was dismissed too. For long the Pakistani civil society is a subterranean presence, completely subverted and defanged by the Army and radicalised religious groups. The whole nation has been held hostage, not just the Hindu girls. And it is in Pakistan's own interest to get back to civilities if it doesn't want to be proscribed as a failed state.

A lack of civility

In this age of widely-available cameras, instant uploads and viral videos, should our politicians be more circumspect?

Some of the comments by political leaders about their opponents, or even potential adversaries, have made headlines for all the wrong reasons. Many statements are often crudely misogynistic, sexist, racist and in some cases, openly advocate violence. In an era where widely-available camera technology on mobile phones allows people to record anything and everything, coupled with high-speed data networks that allow subscribers to upload and download video in seconds, a statement could go from being uttered to becoming a viral sensation within hours if not minutes. But despite the shock and horror of some statements, most politicians and their voters shrug them off and the Election Commission remains a mute spectator. While the media makes a hue and cry, the attention deficit disorder on Indian television news channels ensures that the outrage is quickly forgotten and the cycle moves on to the next big thing to feign disgust at.

As the election of Donald Trump to the presidency of the United States proved, no matter what you say or do, from claiming to offend women sexually or even working alongside your nation's sworn enemy, your actions will not make an iota of difference. Possibly, as mankind has moved to the rapid news cycle and where catchphrases such as 'Make America Great Again' or in India 'Main Bhi Chowkidar' or 'Chowkidar Chor Hai', depending on your point of view, any publicity is good publicity for politicians. But that has for obvious reasons spelled doom for Indian policy — catchphrases have become the latest craze and have become viral on social media with few proper policy decisions being discussed. So much so that political manifestoes, often released months ahead of an election, have now become almost unnecessary and only released just ahead of polling to garner some more media attention. While the Indian television media, no matter which languages it broadcasts in, is incorrigible, seemingly beyond repair and will continue to make heroes of politicians who are decidedly uncivil, maybe it is time for the Election Commission to set up a system of checks and balances to bring back a sense of civility in our public discourse. A series of escalating fines or deductions from a candidate's permitted expenditure, if he/she makes personal attacks on opponents that go beyond just policy, could be a corrective. And if that does not work, the threat of being debarred from elections must be there. Other than forcing the issue, there is no way to really address the situation, so such extreme measures must be taken.

Lasting legacy of corruption

There are invaluable proofs on how the Nehru-Gandhi family went about the business of funding their activities and election campaigns. Nobody can claim to be clean

A SURYA PRAKASH

The shrill and abusive attacks launched by Congress president Rahul Gandhi on Prime Minister Narendra Modi and his oft-repeated diatribe "Chowkidar Chor Hai" has brought the political discourse to a new low. By doing so, he carries on the family's tradition of disrespecting democratically-elected political leaders who do not belong to it. It also brings to the fore the debate on corruption, an issue which no member of the Nehru-Gandhi family has the moral authority to talk about. So, here is a quick look at how the Nehru-Gandhis have funded their politics.

During the Nehru era, the Congress collected funds from Indian industrialists and businessmen and sometimes this landed the party and the Government in trouble. For example, Mundra, an industrialist owning many companies and businesses, who had funded the Congress in the 1950s, ran into financial problems and signalled to the Government that it was payback time. The Nehru Government obliged him by directing the Life Insurance Corporation to buy his companies' shares at inflated prices. The then Finance Minister, T T Krishnamachari, who was obviously acting on orders from above, lost his job when the truth came out in what came to be known as the LIC-Mundra scandal.

However, things changed after Indira Gandhi engineered a split in the party in 1969. Soon after the break-up, she began relying heavily on the communists and so, naturally, the Soviets came to her rescue. Vasili Mitrokhin, who was in-charge of the KGB archives, made explosive revelations of the KGB's activities around the world. He talked about how the KGB funded the Congress in the 1971 elections and of how they even had moles in her Cabinet.

Many honourable citizens of the country, who have held key positions in politics, Government, bureaucracy and industry in the post-1970 era, have provided us invaluable evidence of how the Congress went about the business of funding its activities and election campaigns. These witnesses to that era say that the Congress decided on a new mode of raising funds — via commissions collected on mega international defence and other contracts. A very respected witness to this era was BG Deshmukh, who was Cabinet Secretary between 1986-89 and his autobiography — A Cabinet Secretary Looks Back — is very enlightening.

Deshmukh says, "The genesis of the Bofors affair lies in the practice initiated by Indira Gandhi and further refined by her son Sanjay Gandhi for collecting funds for the Congress. Till the middle of the 1960s, during the regime of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, the collection of funds for the party was a more transparent deal and business houses were also permitted to make open donations."

Indira Gandhi, he says, was in dire need of funds to fight elections and establish herself as the undisputed leader of the Congress. For this, she depended on loyal supporters like Rajni Patel and Vasant Rao Naik. "Later, when she had established her supremacy in Indian politics, she decided that a far better way to collect funds for the party was through claiming cuts from foreign deals. Sanjay Gandhi perfected and refined this still further from 1972 onwards."

Deshmukh said when Indira Gandhi came back to power in 1980, he was Additional Secretary in the Ministry of Home Affairs. "My colleagues told me that in January 1980 itself, Sanjay Gandhi called senior officers from certain concerned ministries for giving orders, making deals and clearly and firmly told them how they should be finalised. Trusted senior officers were posted to Ministries such as the Defence and also to the Department of Defence Production. Even the death of Sanjay Gandhi in the mid-1980s did not change this practice."

The second unimpeachable witness is BK Nehru, a distinguished civil servant, Ambassador and Governor and uncle of Sanjay and Rajiv Gandhi. In his autobiography, Nice Guys Finish Second, he recalled that at Sanjay Gandhi's cremation, he asked Rajiv Gandhi "whether the money Sanjay had collected allegedly for the Congress was safe?" Rajiv said, "All they found in the almirahs of the Congress office was ₹20 lakh." Nehru then asked Rajiv Gandhi how much Sanjay had. To which he said, "He (Rajiv) held his head in his hands and said crores and unaccounted crores."

Two more equally unimpeachable witnesses to this era are former President R Venkataraman and industrialist JRD Tata. In his autobiography, My Presidential Years, Venkataraman recounts a conversation he had with JRD Tata when the latter called on him in August 1987. Venkataraman said their conversation veered round to the statement Rajiv Gandhi had made in Parliament a few days earlier on the Bofors bribery scandal.

"Tata said that though it was quite possible that neither Rajiv nor members of his family had received any consideration in the gun and other defence deals, it would be difficult to deny the receipt of commissions by the Congress. That was because he (Tata) felt that since 1980, industrialists had not been approached for political contributions and that the general feeling amongst them was that the party was financed by commission on deals."

Since this was the established mode of fund collection, Bofors was certain to happen. In this scandal, Rajiv Gandhi and others were accused of taking kickbacks when India purchased field guns for its army from the Swedish arms manufacturer, Bofors. Rajiv Gandhi vehemently denied this charge in Parliament. However, the Nehru-Gandhis have never been able to explain why Bofors remitted $ 7.30 million into the account of Maria and Ottavio Quattrocchi soon after India sent the first tranche of payments to the company. The Quattrocchis moved this money around several banks in several locations and it was finally traced to the Channel Islands in the UK.

The Vajpayee Government got the UK Government to freeze the account but the Manmohan Singh Government asked the UK Government to withdraw the order, resulting in the Quattrocchis eventually getting away with the loot.

Why did this Italian knock off a commission when we bought field guns for our army? Why did Sonia Gandhi get the Manmohan Singh Government to de-freeze the account? These questions will continue to haunt the Nehru-Gandhis.

And as if this was not enough, there are the Volcker Committee's conclusions on the "non-contractual beneficiaries" of Iraqi oil sales under the United Nations Oil-for-Food Programme, which said that the Iraqi dictator Saddam Hussein had funded the Congress. Also, it seems Saddam Hussein's Iraq was just one of the two nations that had supported Indira Gandhi's dictatorship during the Emergency!

Do we need to say more?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Welcome decision

Sir — This refers to the editorial, "India firm on terror" (March 25). India's refusal to attend Pakistan's National Day celebrations to protest the Pakistan High Commission's invite to Jammu & Kashmir separatist leaders for the event is not only a step in the right direction but has sent a clear message to Islamabad that terror and peace cannot co-exist. Further, the Centre's ban on the Yasin Malik-led Jammu Kashmir Liberation Front (JKLF) — a dreaded terrorist outfit responsible for merciless killings and mass exodus of Kashmiri Pandits from the Valley before and after 1989 insurgency — though late is welcome.

Even as Pakistan has explicitly assured the international community that it will 'firmly' deal with terrorists housed in its soil, the rogue nation has been bluffing its way by not only allowing Jaish-e-Mohammed chief Masood Azhar to roam free but is also continuously engaging India in a proxy war and has resorted to indiscriminate firing and shelling across the Line of Control. This has

Old guard must make way for new players

This refers to the editorial, "End of Advani era" (March 23). Both the print and visual media, including the Opposition parties, are talking about the unceremonious ouster of the BJP margdarshak LK Advani from electoral stakes. It is always a painful task in Indian politics for the old guard to yield ground to the younger lot or accept new ideas. So parties are often ruthless about keeping their ideological gurus from active electoral politics. Almost every political party goes through upheavals when leadership changes hands. Therefore, it is not surprising that in the ensuing Lok Sabha elections, the BJP is opting for younger faces in preference to the seniors, upsetting them in the process.

The induction of new blood in the party might enthuse the workers as they would begin to feel that they too might have a chance to progress in the party. Otherwise, they wouldn't stay invested enough. Compared to other professions, age has been no bar for politicians in India. If indeed this is a principled decision of the BJP, based on the criterion of age, it would be worthy of emulation by other parties too. For the journey to continue through time, every discipline, politics included, must be dynamic. It is a new BJP, not the party of the 80s or the 90s, for better or for worse.

resulted in heavy casualties of our civilians and security forces.

Unless Pakistan proves its sincerity and shows concrete evidence that terror has been rooted out of its soil once and for all, India telling in clear terms to Pakistan that there would be no India-Pakistan dialogue is apt and appropriate.

E-smoking dangers

Sir — As modern technology continuously strives to make our living more comfortable and enjoyable, advanced technology, too, has found ways and means to entertain people. This often at the cost of their health. More than 1,000 doctors from 24 States and three Union Territories of India have written to Prime Minister Narendra Modi to enforce a ban on Electronic Nicotine Delivery Systems (ENDS).

A steep rise in the use of electronic cigarettes has made India the second largest population of smokers in the world. Doctors have warned of serious consequences if the Government fails to ban its use immediately.

The menace has started assuming enormous proportion to engulf the youth of this country. Youth are the asset of the nation.

A ban is unlikely to be an effective solution. Its implementation will not only require a consistent effort but will also push the sale underground. A better option, therefore, for the Government is to focus on raising awareness.

Think and vote

Sir — The 2019 Lok Sabha election will decide the future course for our country. Post the Pulwama incident, circumstances have changed. The Opposition is more divided than ever. Only a united force can change the present situation. One only hopes that voters exercise their franchise in a way that ensures the protection of the rights of citizens, the Constitution and, most importantly, India's identity as a democracy.

The face of a city

It is disheartening that despite an overwhelming diversity and plethora of artists, India lacks a conducive atmosphere for public art

VIBHOR SOGANI

Public spaces are a reflection of a society and its culture. With urbanisation and integration of the global economy, it is essential to build an image of a city. Public art evidently contributes towards the visual quality of an urban environment. The fact that globally, citizens have successfully embraced public art and have engaged with it, indicates its importance in the urban context. Public art adds massive value to the social, cultural, economic and aesthetic value of a city. Urban design and public art contribute to its identity and legibility, encourage community pride while enhancing a visitor's travel experience.

These artworks represent our society, add uniqueness to our cities and define the values of our community. Art is a strong medium to propagate or spread message — it holds the power of creativity and can aesthetically express a cause, value or an issue that a society embraces. Since public art is accessible to all and is not confined to museums and galleries, the reach is immense and all-encompassing. It reflects upon who we are and what we like ourselves to be surrounded with while affecting the sub-consciousness of the community at large.

As citizens, we identify ourselves with the cities and remember those places that have been empowered with icons. Appearing and engaging public art leaves an imprint on the mind, aids in navigation and gives directional instructions within the city. Thus, it manifests itself as a significant factor in the visual recognition of a particular area. Public art can become a symbolic landscape of a city, bring people together at a popular meeting place in order to facilitate interaction and communal gathering in public spaces. Different types of art can result in promoting various kinds of collaborations and engagement — static art can be quiet and contemplative; whereas dynamic art is often thought-provoking and open to various interesting interpretations.

Along with predominant social relevance, the cultural importance of public art is an integral component of its overall value. Inhabiting space on an everyday basis in the form of sculpture, statue and installation among others, it naturally gains recognition and cultural value. By augmenting and inducing the public space that it inhabits with meaning, tangible and intangible benefits make the artwork an integral and beloved part of the culture. These installations and artworks create unforgettable memories or what constitutes the image of a place or neighbourhood.

While many may believe that such art is a huge investment, its economic viability cannot be ignored. Not only does it provide professional opportunities to budding artists, but cultivates an environment in which the creative mind thrives. In India especially, artists are never given the professional recognition that they deserve and this is the means to propagate the inclusion of local artists, craftsmen and designers, recognising them as contributors to the economy while generating employment. Globally, public art serves as a catalyst to economic success, boosting the tourism sector and playing an important role in drawing crowds.

In the bustle of life, we often underestimate the power of a sensory experience — sometimes what we see and hear influences how we feel and think. Public art not only makes a space come alive but evokes emotion within the community. With rapidly changing urban development, the value of art and culture in Indian cities is fading away. The rich Indian landscape has a rather poor policy support towards the development of cultural infrastructure, unlike social and economic infrastructure like schools, hospitals and corporate offices. The approach of building an identity for the city is lacking. It is crucial for the Government to endow artists and their profession with social and economic recognition in order to promote them.

However, it is heartening to see that there has been progress in attempts to engage with public art projects. When we travel abroad, we are blown away with art installations that are beautifully woven into an urban space. On the other hand, in India, despite its overwhelming diversity and plethora of never ending artists, public murals and installations lack the aesthetic beauty that we are capable of constructing and curating. Indian cities possess a great opportunity to introduce contemporary art harmonised with the urban landscape. Cities that have an active and dynamic cultural scene are more attractive to individuals and businesses and help build a stronger visual identity. It is, therefore, incumbent on us as a society to encourage public art installations, sculptures, murals and similar initiatives while also being responsible about their outreach and impact on citizens.

Flying with a broken wing

The Jet Airways meltdown has been like a slow-motion car crash that has suddenly sped up. But what next for the airline and its founder Naresh Goyal?

KUSHAN MITRA

Many years ago when Air Deccan had just started its services, this columnist met GR Gopinath, founder of India's first low-cost carrier, in a south Delhi guest-house. Gopinath is a man who is never shy to speak his mind. He made it very clear during my meet that his plans were being held up by Naresh Goyal, the founder chairman of Jet Airways. He called Goyal the best connected person in the Indian aviation sector and swore that Air Deccan would still manage to soar.

In fact, Gopinath reiterated these allegations in a column for The Economic Times last week as the Jet Airways crisis reached its endgame. This is not for the first time that Jet Airways is faced with an existential crisis. This could, however, be the first time that Goyal and his airline will not survive unscathed with the airlines' very existence in doubt.

This was certainly not how Goyal or Jet Airways employees had thought their silver Jubilee year would come to an end. After all, the airline faced it all — change in ownership, regulations, Governments and even rivals — and survived everything. Jet is the only airline from the mid-1990s aviation boom — when the Government opened domestic services to private carriers — to have survived. This despite an almost public humiliation by Vijay Mallya when the bombastic businessman spoke of a potential Jet-Kingfisher merger after Jet laid off thousands of cabin crew amidst a payments crisis. Goyal and Mallya had a famous late night press conference where the latter almost lorded over the former.

Yet, the reticent and media-shy Goyal had the last laugh when Mallya came crashing down to earth harder than Icarus. But his battle with Mallya is what doomed both men as they went for ill-advised decisions to buy Air Sahara (Goyal) and Air Deccan (Mallya). These financially profligate decisions destroyed the finances of both the companies.

A decade after buying Air Sahara, Jet Airways was unable to fully integrate the airline into its operations, not for any fault of its own but the way the airline industry is regulated in our country. But as Mallya and Goyal fought, new entrants to the Indian aviation market, particularly Indigo, that flooded the market with capacity and lower fares, was what sounded the death knell for Kingfisher at first and also likely doomed Jet Airways into a long, slow decline.

One white knight that Jet Airways found was the Abu Dhabi-based airline, Etihad. Early in 2014, Etihad pumped in money into Jet Airways and made the Indian airline part of an ambitious global alliance of airlines that included the German carrier, Air Berlin; Italian national carrier, Alitalia; Serbian national airline JAT; and some other small airlines across the world. This was all part of a scheme to build traffic through its hub in Abu Dhabi to compete with the Dubai-based Emirates airline in a seeming clash of egos.

Since then though, Etihad has bled money and has shuttered many of its routes. It refused to sink more money in Air Berlin, which went bust last year and surrendered its stake in Alitalia that is currently on life-support in not a very different situation to Jet Airways. With Etihad's losses totalling over $4 billion, there has even been murmurs that the airline will merge with Emirates.

That said, Etihad did initially express a desire to take control of Jet Airways, or as much as the Government's Foreign Direct Investment rules would allow. But Etihad demanded that Naresh Goyal step down from the board of the airline and cut his stake down to under a quarter in perpetuity. On that front, they were little different from the Indian banks, which have a major exposure to the airline, and who demanded the same: For Jet to survive, Goyal must go. Finally, he did.

Jet has been unable to pay its staff or even the leasing companies from whom it borrows planes. Over the past few years, Jet has been gradually selling its planes to these leasing companies before renting them back. This allowed them to generate a certain amount of cash upfront. But now, with little money in the bank and no rescue plan, the airline has failed to make payments and barely 35 aircraft out of a fleet of over 140 are at one-time fly. This means that over a million seats have suddenly disappeared from the Indian market in less than a month with cancellations rife.

So, while the Jet Airways crisis did not impact the passengers in the past other than the occasional withdrawal of lounge access and the end of free meals on board, the spate of cancellations has meant that commuters are directly impacted with refunds being held up. Worse still, several travellers, who booked their travel on low, cheap fares several months in advance, find that even with refunds they will be stuck with expensive last-minute fares today. With many travellers also having paid for hotels and other trip features in advance — and other airlines refusing to accept Jet Airways tickets, and in some cases being unable to cancel their tickets due to egregious fees — they are in a lose-lose situation.

So, should the Government and lenders step in? After having lost billions of dollars during the collapse of Kingfisher Airlines and learning that a grounded airline is worthless, the banks want to protect some amount of their money to find a suitable buyer for Jet Airways, which is what the provisional resolution plan suggested by the banks want.

But can the banks find a proper professional to run the airline? With Jet's pilots refusing to fly until their dues are cleared, with salaries not having been paid for months, even with Goyal's departure, the sun, which features prominently on Jet Airways' tail logo, is not shining brightly.

However, it remains a great asset. With air travel booming in India and airlines such as IndiGo suffering severe growth pangs, Jet Airways still has potential. The banks must be wary of what to do next but they should be willing to take a haircut on their loans because if they do not, the airline might never recover and the Indian taxpayer will end up holding the can for the airline industry once again, just like they did for Kingfisher Airlines and continue to do with Air India.

The bottom-line is that Jet Airways must survive for the healthy growth of the aviation sector in our country and as a corollary, the Indian economy.

A case against shareholder interests

The idea floated by high-profile entrepreneurs, seeking dual-class share structure along with differential voting rights for founder-promoters of startups, is flawed. The Government must look for better ways to help small businesses

UTTAM GUPTA

An advocacy group, IndiaTech, representing some of the most high-profile entrepreneurs, has made a submission to the Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA) and the markets regulator, Securities Exchange Board of India (SEBI), seeking a dual-class share structure along with differential voting rights for founder-promoters of start-ups that can encourage the country's most valuable companies to get listed on the domestic stock exchanges instead of overseas exchanges such as Nasdaq and New York Stock Exchange (NYSE).

At present, the Companies Act 2013, permits firms having consistent track record of distributable profits for three years to issue shares with differential voting rights (DVR) subject to a cap of 26 per cent of the total share capital. The lobby group wants the MCA to dispense with this caveat. Alternatively, the Ministry may consider allowing companies, who meet certain revenue threshold, to issue shares with DVR without having to meet the profitability criteria.

IndiaTech has also asked for increasing the current cap on shares with differential rights from existing 26 per cent to at least 51 per cent of a company's post-issue, paid-up equity share capital. It has also sought conversion of ordinary shares into equity shares carrying DVR and equity shares with DVR into ordinary shares.

Typically, startups work on an innovative idea that holds the potential for huge business opportunities. Seeing this, 'strategic' investors pump in equity capital, which in turn leads to an increase in their shareholding and corresponding reduction in the stake of a promoter. Depending on the scale of investment, the former may even acquire majority stake, reducing the latter to minority. The intent behind issuing DVR is to nullify this outcome.

A share having differential right is greater than what is available to an ordinary shareholder. As a result, even with lower share in the total equity capital, the promoter will be able to hold on to the driver's seat (major beneficiaries are expected to be the so-called 'unicorns' — an acronym for start-ups which have a market capitalisation of over $1 billion). The idea is flawed.

First, a fundamental tenet of corporate functioning is that the voting power of an investor has to be proportional to his investment or the shares held by him in the company. This applies to all investors, including the promoter. Yet, any attempt to give disproportionate voting rights to the promoter, which can only be at the cost of other investors, will be 'unfair' and 'discriminatory'.

Second, when strategic and financial investors bring in funds, the promoter gains due to increase in business prospects and phenomenal growth in his personal wealth. Then, for him to also remain in the driver's seat — in so far as the management and control goes — sounds like having the cake and eating it too.

Third, in some cases, the promoter either exits or sells a portion of his/her shares at huge premium raking in the moolah (for instance, in Flipkart, one of the co-promoters sold his stake making billions of dollars). In such a scenario, he has to necessarily get reconciled to reduced or no control over the company.

Fourth, what makes one presume that the promoter alone is best positioned to run the affairs of the company in a manner so as to achieve the stated objectives? In fact, for strategic investors having made substantial investment, the sheer need to protect and grow it will make them eligible to take charge.

To expect that only the promoter is best suited to run (merely because he set up the company) is an untenable argument.

Even so, nothing prevents the strategic investors (albeit with majority stake) to vest the promoter with powers by passing necessary resolution in this regard. That indeed is the way forward instead of the founder-promoter wanting to ride piggyback on law-makers and regulators to indulge in muscle-flexing.

In their obsession to remain at the helm, come what may, the promoters of startups want the Government to even dispense with the profitability track record criteria. This is bizarre. It means that even when a promoter pushes the company into losses continuously and despite being reduced to a minority shareholder, he/she should have the eternal right to remain in command and control.

In the same vein, they want to have the flexibility of conversion of ordinary shares into equity shares carrying DVR and equity shares with DVR into ordinary shares.

This is done with an aim to enable all existing promoters to get into the drivers' seat wherever the majority shares have slipped into the hands of strategic investors.

Letting the promoters have shares up to 26 per cent with DVRs — already allowed under the Companies Act, 2013 — was bad enough. To raise the cap to 51 per cent as demanded by the advocacy group, would substantially aggravate the imbalance.

This could be counter-productive for none other than the startups themselves. This because faced with the denial of voting rights in sync with their share holding, strategic investors will be disinclined to pump in capital, thereby nipping the chances of their growth in the bud.

To sum up, the idea floated by high-profile entrepreneurs is flawed. The Government should dismiss it with the contempt it deserves. There are better ways of giving support to startups.

PROVOCATION ON THE GOLAN

Trump's proposed reversal of decades of US policy on the Israeli occupation of the Golan Heights has more to do with Israeli politics than American interests — or good sense. Trump, facing his own re-election, no doubt hopes his decision will build support among his base of pro-Israel evangelicals and American Jews. It's more likely to exacerbate divisions among Americans over his administration's unwavering support for Netanyahu.

Congress' promise to bust fiscal discipline: Niti VC

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Niti Aayog Vice-Chairman Rajiv Kumar on Monday said Congress party President Rahul Gandhi's promise of providing ₹72,000 annually to five crore families if voted to power will create strong incentives against work and bust fiscal discipline.

At a press conference here, Gandhi announced that 20 per cent families belonging to the poorest category will be given ₹72,000 each annually as minimum income if his party comes to power.

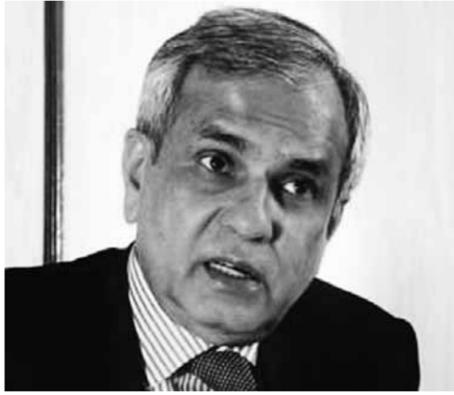

True to its past record of promising the moon to win elections, Congress President announces a scheme that will bust fiscal discipline, create strong incentives against work and which will never be implemented," Kumar said in a tweet.

In another tweet, he said the cost of the minimum income guarantee scheme at 2 per cent of the gross domestic product and 13 per cent of the budget will "ensure" that real needs of people remain unsatisfied.

Kumar also said the Congress party had promised 'Garibi Hatao' in 1971, 'One Rank One Pension' in 2008, food security in 2013 to win elections, but could not fulfil any of those.

The "same unfortunate fate" awaits the populist and opportunistic promise of minimum income guarantee, he added.

The Economic Advisory

Council to the Prime Minister (EAC-PM) also criticised the pre-poll announcement by Gandhi in a series of tweets, but later deleted them after it was pointed by a Twitter user that they were in violation of the model code of conduct.

EAC-PM had tweeted that in the last five years, a lot of hard work has gone into striking the right balance between economic growth, inflation and fiscal discipline. "INC's income guarantee scheme (as of 25/03/2019) would either upset this balance or severely cut critical government spending. Both options dangerous," it said.

The proposed income guarantee scheme fails the economics test, fiscal discipline test and execution test, it added.

When Twitter user

@sumedhbhagwat pointed out to EAC-PM members that the tweets were in violation of the model code of conduct, Council's Chairman Bibek Debroy deleted the messages on the micro-blogging site.

"Tweets being deleted. Thanks for pointing out," Debroy said in a tweet.

EAC-PM member Shamika Ravi also tweeted, "The ONLY detail that matters: will this be BUDGET NEUTRAL? In plain English: Are we to replace FOOD+FERTILISER+FUEL subsidies??"

Ratan P Watal, Rathin Roy and Ashima Goyal are also members of the council.

About 900 million are eligible to vote to elect the next Lok Sabha in seven-phased polling beginning April 11.

₹ settles flat at 68.96 vs $ ahead of RBI swap auction

PTI ■ MUMBAI

The rupee ended almost flat at 68.96 per US dollar on Monday as participants preferred to wait on the sidelines to see the outcome of RBI's first-ever rupee-dollar swap auction.

The forex market sentiment revived towards the fag-end, offsetting early losses amid increased selling of the greenback by exporters, traders said.

At the Interbank Foreign Exchange market, the rupee opened on a weak note at 69.09 then fell further to 69.17 against the US dollar. The local unit, however, erased the initial gains and finished at ₹68.96, down by just 1 paise over its previous close.

On Friday, the rupee had ended lower by 12 paise at 68.95 against the American currency on rise in demand for the greenback from importers and sell-off in domestic equities.

The rupee-dollar swap auction announced by the RBI earlier in March will infuse ₹35,000 crore into the system. The auction of $5 billion for a tenure of three years will be conducted on Tuesday.

"The currency, sovereign-debt and credit markets are in the waiting mode to see the result of this new swap auction. The move is largely being seen as one of RBI buying dollars to create domestic liquidity," said V K Sharma, Head PCG and Capital Markets Strategy, HDFC Securities.

Food inflation likely to go up to 2% in FY20: Report

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Food inflation in the country is likely to go up to 2 per cent in fiscal year 2019-20 from the 0.7 per cent estimated for FY19, a report said on Monday.

It can be noted that the low food prices have been one of the prime factors which has aided the RBI to be more accommodatory in its rate setting recently.

In the report, foreign brokerage Goldman Sachs attributed the low food prices in the last few months to the prices of cereals and vegetables which have been low for some time.

Deregulation of markets, which saw delisting of vegetables from the Agriculture Produce and Marketing Committee Act (APMC) in 14 states, has helped the vegetable prices, it said.

In the case of cereals, "active food management" policies have helped, it said, adding the Government released buffer stocks in large quantities and went in for higher imports on this front.

Going forward, the food inflation is unlikely to shoot up sharply unless there is some shock related to weather events, it said.

"Food inflation is likely to remain subdued going forward," it said, adding average food inflation will go up in the 1.5-2 per cent range in FY20 from the 0.7 per cent in FY19.

The brokerage said the focus has now shifted to farmers who are protesting against low food prices and demanding higher returns on their crops.

It can be noted that in the last year of the current regime, there have been multiple marches by farmers, especially the one in national capital as well as one at the financial capital to voice their concerns.

The Government responded first by assuring to double farmer income in five years, then promised a return of over 150 per cent to farmers and also announced income support of ₹6,000 per year for the small and marginalised farmers.

Sad day for Indian aviation: SpiceJet chief on Jet Airways

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

SpiceJet chief Ajay Singh on Monday said it was a "sad day" for Indian aviation as Nareish Goyal and his wife Anita Goyal stepping down from the board of Jet Airways.

Nareish Goyal is the Founder and Chairman of Jet Airways, a full-service airline that has been flying for more than 25 years.

Referring to the latest developments, Singh, who is the Chairman and Managing Director of budget carrier SpiceJet, also said it was a wake-up call for the country's policymakers to address structural challenges that is making domestic airlines uncompetitive.

Irdai asks insurers for easy crop insurance claim settlement, use of vernacular language

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The general insurers will have to provide details about crop insurance claims to farmers in vernacular languages, apart from Hindi and English, regulator Irdai has said.

The Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India (Irdai) said it has been receiving various complaints and suggestions in respect of crop insurance claims.

Irdai, in a circular, said there is a need for effective implementation of crop insurance schemes.

Insurance companies should put in place a robust system to register all the requests of individuals loss assessment, and if an individual loss assessment is rejected, a written rejection letter mentioning the reason should be sent to insured, Irdai said.

"Insurers should ensure that all call centres/toll-free numbers responses should be available in state's official language other than Hindi and English. Websites of insurers should disclose crop insurance related details in the vernacular language for the benefit of farmers," it said.

Among others, widespread awareness programmes should be conducted for educating farmers on scheme guidelines, claim settlement process and grievance redressal process, it further said.

Govt moves NCLT, seeks immunity for directors of IL&FS arms

PTI ■ MUMBAI

The Government on Monday filed an application with the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) here, seeking immunity for the newly-appointed directors of the subsidiaries of the crippled IL&FS group from any future adverse outcomes.

It can be noted that soon after taking over the company after its defaults and appointing a new board last October, the Government had sought immunity to the newly-appointed six directors of the group from any legal action against them for the past deeds of old directors.

"We are issuing a direction that for the past actions of the suspended directors or any of the officers of the company and the past wrongs of the suspended directors and its officials, no action should be initiated against the newly-appointed director, without prior approval of the tribunal," NCLT Mumbai had said in an interim order on October 5.

The Government move came in after it felt that the Uday Kotak led board should be protected from any legal hurdles in executing its task of finding a "fair value and resolution" for the debt-laden company.

Following this, the Corporate Affairs Ministry Monday moved the Mumbai NCLT seeking protection for these directors of group entities as well from any future adverse proceedings as a precautionary measure.

Meanwhile, IL&FS has also filed an application seeking dispensation from appointing independent director on the group companies.

A two-member NCLT bench of VP Singh and Ravikumar Duraisamy scheduled both the matters for detailed hearing on April 12.

The Government has appointed an eight-member board headed by banker Uday Kotak to steer the IL&FS group out of the crisis after it began to default payments due to severe cash crunch since late August.

The Government superseded the previous board on October 1, 2018.

The Government expects a resolution to the crisis over the next four-five months.

The Government plea was initially rejected by the Mumbai bench but subsequently, which the Government challenged in the appellate tribunal (NCLAT) which had on October 15 passed an interim order admitting the government plea.

The IL&FS group has 348 subsidiaries and together they owe over ₹94,000 crore to a clutch of commercial banks mostly state-run lenders and other financial institutions.

'87% women would quit over sexual harassment, bias in hiring'

PTI ■ MUMBAI

In the wake of various public allegations of misconduct a recent survey has revealed that 87 per cent of women would be likely to leave their job if a gender-based scandal like sexual harassment, bias in hiring among others occurred at the company they work for.

Job site Indeed in a survey found that 82 per cent of men were in agreement and said they would likely to leave their job in a similar scenario.

It also revealed that close to 80 per cent of respondents said they would be likely to leave their job if a technology-based issue such as data breach, product failure, among others occurred at the company they work for.

About 75 per cent of respondents would leave their job if issues such as the CEO or senior leaders expressing political views or contributing to policies against their own political beliefs occurred at the company for they work for, it added.

Indeed conducted a survey of employees across various companies in the technology sector in the country. It was conducted by Censuwide with 506 workers in the technology industry between December 27, 2018 and January 11, 2019.

Further it revealed that close to 70 per cent considered changing their jobs India depending on the nature of the scandal, their loyalty to the firm and how well, or poorly, the employers handled these situations.

About 80 per cent of respondents said they were more likely to report misbehaviour in the wake of last year's public offences, with women (85 per cent) more likely to do so than men (76 per cent), it added.

Around 92 per cent of respondents said they would be more likely to stay at their job if their company was quick to respond to a public scandal by fixing errors and communicating internally and externally, it said.

It also revealed 95 per cent of respondents saying if their company was transparent about the issue in question and made attempts to correct it, they would be more likely to stay at their job.

Over 80 per cent respondents believed that technology companies are ethical, however, close to 90 per cent think that technology companies need to be more regulated, it added.

"While it is the responsibility of organisations to ensure the integrity and prevent breaches or untoward activities under their purview, no sector is immune to the occasional offence. In such cases the company should step up and take ownership of their actions and address the issue in a transparent and timely manner, to restore stakeholder trust," Indeed India head of Engineering Venkata Machavarapu said.

Cancer is a complex disease caused by interplay of multiple factors. As we are aware, living organisms are composed of cells that arise from growth and controlled division of other cells. Throughout our lives, healthy cells in our bodies divide and replace themselves in a controlled fashion. Cancer starts when a cell is somehow altered so that it multiplies out of control. A tumor is a mass composed of a cluster of such abnormal cells. Most cancers form tumors, but not all tumors are cancerous. Benign, or noncancerous, tumors do not spread to other parts of the body. Malignant, or cancerous, tumors crowd out healthy cells, interfere with body functions, and draw nutrients from body tissues. Cancers continue to grow and spread by direct extension or through a process called metastasis, whereby the malignant cells travel through the lymphatic or blood vessels — eventually forming new tumors in other parts of the body. There are more than 100 types of cancer including breast cancer, skin cancer, lung cancer, colon cancer, prostate cancer, and lymphoma. There is a remarkable advancement in cancer diagnosis, prevention, and treatment. Modern diagnostic methods and treatment protocols can significantly improve quality of life and may extend survival.

GENE MUTATIONS AND CANCER

According to the latest report of American Cancer Society, the lifetime probability of being diagnosed with cancer is 39.7 per cent for men and 37.6 per cent for women, which is a little more than one in three. The most common cancers to be diagnosed in men are prostate, lung, and colorectal cancers, which account for 42 per cent of all cases, with prostate cancer alone accounting for almost 1 in 5 new diagnoses. The most common cancers to be diagnosed in women are breast, lung, and colorectal cancers, which combined represent one-half of all cases; breast cancer alone accounts for 30 per cent of all new cancer diagnoses in women. Changing lifestyle, environmental factors, exposure to radiation or different carcinogens, infections, personal habits, diet and physical activity and genetic predisposition are the factors which can be causative factors for cancer.

Mutations are abnormal changes in the DNA. The building blocks of DNA are called bases. The sequence of the bases determines the gene and its function. Even a change in just one base among the thousands of bases that make up a gene can have a major effect. There are two major types of gene mutations, inherited and acquired. An inherited gene mutation is present right from the birth. Since all the cells in the body came from the first cell (zygote), this kind of mutation is in every cell in the body (including some eggs or sperm) and so can be passed on to the next generation. Inherited mutations are thought to be a direct cause of only 5 to 10 per cent of cancers and these cancers tend to occur earlier in life than cancers of the same type that are not inherited. An acquired mutation is not present in the zygote but is acquired some time later in life. It occurs in one cell, and then is passed on to any new cells that have arisen from that cell. Acquired mutations are much more common than inherited mutations.

IMPORTANCE

Genetic testing is a useful tool to detect both inherited and acquired gene mutations. It helps in identifying and studying the pattern of gene mutations that is helpful to assess hereditary cancer risk, accurate diagnosis, predict disease prognosis and guide the clinician to make impactful targeted treatment decisions. The Next Generation Sequencing based genetic test is an advanced high output and reliable diagnostic tool that equips a medical expert with accurate detailing of the case, helps in early detection of the disease and thus increases the overall rate of survival and also reduces the cost of treatment.

WARMFOODS

Sound sleep is important for a healthy body and mind. DR SWARNIL MEHTA talks about the cons of improper sleep and the myths surrounding it

SLEEP ON IT

Every human strives to stay fit and healthy, but in today's time, we have made our lives so sophisticated that we don't even have much time for a good night sleep. Sleep and sound health go hand in hand, like healthy eating habits and exercising are necessary for our body sleeping adequately is also vital.

Our bodies are just like machines with an n number of ongoing mechanisms inside. After a certain time of working every machine on the face of earth needs to be shut down to keep it going for long and prevent a major failure.

IMPORTANCE

The similar phenomenon works for the human bodies as well, if you wish to live longer and healthy without unnecessary damages to your body manage your sleep well. Within the sleeping time frame, our body heals the damaged cells and restores organs for the next day. Ultimately, you are leaving your body for a service job to let you perform your daily tasks with ease, so provide optimum time to the mechanisms to work well.

Our heart and the cardiovascular system require to be recharged to act effectively throughout the day, that only happens while we sleep for at least seven hours. A good sleep will be a great help to improve concentration and productivity at work, that will be more rewarding to you as it will be a great way to provide you with a healthy and sound mind.

We just can't neglect improper sleeping menace. Everyone should develop a habit of sleeping early and stop using any electronic gadgets before sleeping, and don't keep any device nearby while sleeping. And try to create a sleeping environment in your room avoid installing TV in your bedroom.

BUSTED

There are certain myths evolved regarding sleep that needs to be burst to have a proper understanding of the sleep cycle of your body. It is often seen that parents argue that watching television or video clips over the mobile phone eases their child to sleep. That's a totally devastating idea for the health of your ward. Before sleeping you should be relaxing them, that helps their brain to calm down and rest which accelerates the time to go asleep but when they are watching anything the blue light that emits from the screens actually disturbs their minds.

Some people feel that it is possible to cover up the missed sleep nights by sleeping over the weekend. That's simply not going to happen, this is something which is called sleep debt accumulation. It can't be paid even if you sleep the whole weekend moreover, you will land up in distress.

Sleeping for a few hours is enough, is a common myth. The body requires an adequate amount of proteins, nutrients and sleep as well. We can't compromise over this as it repairs muscles, boost your immunity, and improves the brain's power to act efficiently.

ASSOCIATED PROBLEMS

■ If you didn't sleep properly, then you will be paying the penalty for it. Effectiveness and efficiency at work or studies will suffer the most. You might have seen this change in yourself that you are not feeling energetic and not be able to remember tasks, that's all because of lack of sleep at night.

■ There is a trend which is developing at a fast pace especially among teenagers or the youngsters to party all night. It sounds great and everyone hopes to rejoice, but actually, it's a false hope and it ultimately leads to unrest for a whole week. Then you won't feel to work hard at your office and you will lose time schedules to meet your targets, at times that can lead to stress and depression.

■ Apart from the disturbed working scenario, you will also lead yourself to unhealthy appetite as well. As the studies say sleep-deprived individuals tend to eat more and at uneven intervals. That is more than enough to give you a belly and a disturbed stomach.

■ There are so many factors that support our lack of sleep, like when you don't sleep aptly you will feel lesser energetic and athletic the next day. You will definitely feel this change but to ease your this discomfort and to let you escape this there are lifts, escalators that will work as a helper for you. And you will not change your daily sleeping schedule until and unless you are very concerned about your health.

■ Simulation Labs and Learning Management Systems (LMS): They are accelerating education and training of healthcare professionals. Handheld technologies are empowering frontline health workers to deliver preventive and primary care under supervision of medical professionals.

Coupled with concepts of universal health coverage (UHC), risk pooling to make health insurance efficient and effective, managed competition to ensure equity, strategic purchasing to drive quality, patient dignity and accountability, integrated care for care continuum from womb to tomb, planned to leverage of technologies has the potential to transform people's lives across the country. There are many reasons why hair becomes dry. Not only does it make the tresses look unmanageable, it causes problems like hair loss and dandruff. ROSHANI DEVI shares home remedies to treat the condition

There are a number of reasons why one may have dry hair — exposure to the sun, humidity and even smoking are some common reasons. While dry hair may not mean that there is anything wrong with them, if you ignore it for long, it can lead to hair loss and dandruff.

There are several kitchen items that can be used to treat the condition.

Staying in a metro like Delhi, means that one is tempted to wash hair every day to get rid of the sweat and the grim. But it also wash away the natural oils that the hair produces. Wash your hair every other day. If your work means that you have to be in the sun for long hours, cover them with a scarf.

Oil your hair at least once a week. One can use coconut oil now that summers are here. Coconut oil improves the overall appearance of the hair.

Believe it or not mayonnaise is an excellent ingredient for treating dry hair because it contains lots of protein.

Take one cup of full-fat mayonnaise. Apply a thick layer of it on slightly damp hair and scalp. Leave it for an hour. Rinse thoroughly with lukewarm water and then shampoo. Repeat weekly.

TIPTOP

Wireless technology is in vogue today. It allows communication without the use of cables. We all use Wi-Fi to connect to the Internet on our laptops, mobiles, wireless key-pads, mouse, head phones, speakers, routers, are familiar generic terms.

However, the impact of technology on human health is not yet fully known. It's still a subject of research and hence, is a cause for concern. Wireless technology uses electromagnetic waves as do the mobiles.

The safety of wireless headphones has come under scrutiny particularly for AirPods. A major concern with the use of these devices is the risk of cancer due to exposure of tissues in the head to relatively high levels of radio-frequency radiation.

SLIMLINE

Warning symptoms often precede the sudden cardiac arrest (SCA) event in a large number of patients, but symptoms may be unrecognised or minimized by patients, and subsequent ascertainment of symptoms is often limited, particularly in patients who do not survive the event.

In addition, patients who have sudden cardiac arrest and are resuscitated often have a retrograde amnesia and hence do not remember events or symptoms that may have

In 2011, the WHO's International Agency for Research on Cancer classified radio frequency electromagnetic fields as "possibly carcinogenic to humans" (Group 2B), based on an increased risk for malignant brain cancer associated with wireless phone use.

But, there is another view on this, which says that exposure to radiofrequency waves is minimal with AirPods as the antenna "sticks out from the ear and lies a half-inch or so above the head. It does not radiate energy into the ear".

There has not been new research on health concerns with AirPods or Bluetooth. And, what evidence there is has only shown conflicting data. Scientists are still trying to unravel the long-term safety of using wireless and bluetooth.

In most studies 51 per cent patients have warning symptoms within four weeks preceding SCA and 80 per cent experience symptoms at least one hour before SCA and 34 per cent more than 24 hours before the arrest.

Chest pain (46 per cent), dyspnoea (18 per cent), dizziness, fainting, or palpitations (4%) are common symptoms. Women more likely to have dyspnoea than chest pain (31 versus 24 per cent).

STUDYCENTRE

As per estimates by the Encephalitis Society, about 80% of the general public has not heard of the term Encephalitis or do not know what it means. About 5 lakh persons are affected by this condition annually worldwide and it can affect any age, sex, or ethnicity. Despite treatment, death rates remain high and survivors can have a residual physical and behavioral impairment, epileptic fits, memory issues, poor concentration and understanding and social problems.

Japanese Encephalitis is the main cause of brain inflammation (viral encephalitis) in Asia. Fatality rates for severe infections according to the WHO are between 20% and 30%. Even when treated, it leaves serious neurological effects particularly in children and about 30% to 50% of survivors struggle to walk or contract other cognitive disabilities.

Tips from Heart Care Foundation of India:

- Use a repellent containing 20%-30% DEET or 20% Picaridin on exposed skin.
- Wear neutral-colored (beige, light grey) clothing. If possible, wear long-sleeved, light-weight garments.
- If available, pre-soak or spray outer layer clothing and gear with permethrin.
- Get rid of water containers around dwellings and ensure that door and window screens work properly.
- Apply sunscreen first followed by the repellent (preferably 20 minutes later).
- Read details on insect bite prevention.

May isolated as Brexit strategy hangs in balance

AFP ■ LONDON

Accused of presiding over an unprecedented national humiliation in her chaotic handling of Brexit, British Prime Minister Theresa May has all but lost control of her party and her Government.

The Conservative leader has in the past won praise for her determination and ability to survive what has often felt like one long political crisis since the 2016 referendum vote to leave the European Union. But her approach to the endgame, refusing to accept MPs' opposition to her divorce deal and agreeing to delay Brexit to try for a third time to get it through, has prompted frustration and anger on all sides.

Ministers from both the pro- and anti-Brexit camps in her cabinet have in recent weeks joined scores of Conservative MPs in defying the government in parliamentary votes.

And this weekend, after yet another bruising Brussels summit for the prime minister, British newspapers were full of moves by her colleagues to oust her.

In an editorial, Conservative-supporting Spectator magazine suggested May was the "worst prime minister in our history". It condemned her "lack of imagination, inability to lead a team or solve complex problems" -- although it also accused the ruling party itself for failing to find a better leader.

May's former director of communications, Katie Perrior, wrote in The Times newspaper that the prime minister was "a passenger at the time when the country needed a rally driver". She backed a suggestion made by some MPs that May offer to quit in parliament backs her divorce deal, allowing someone else to lead the next stage of the EU negotiations. The top selling The Sun tabloid also embraced this plan, praising May's "remarkable resilience in the face of repeated humiliations, but saying it was 'time to move on'."

"She has lost the backing of much of the country and now her party," the paper said. May took office after the 2016 referendum, and despite having campaigned to stay in serious problem after a disastrous snap election in June 2017, when May lost her parliamentary majority.

She was forced to strike a deal with Northern Ireland's pro-Brexit Democratic Unionist Party (DUP), and since then has struggled to keep her party and its allies together.

Naturally reserved and reliant on her husband Philip and a few close aides, May often says she is just quietly "getting on with the job".

But in the last election, she struggled to engage with voters and was dubbed the "Maybot" after churning out the same answers and speeches over and over again.

May's legacy from her previous role as interior minister has also been called into question in recent months, with growing criticism of her crackdown on irregular migration.

However, May has been written off before. She has survived the resignations of a string of high-profile Brexit supporters, notably former foreign secretary Boris Johnson, and has endured constant sniping from MPs on the sidelines.

She won a leadership challenge within her own party in December, a victory that made her immune from a similar challenge for a year, even if she had to promise to quit before the next scheduled election in 2022.

As a result, it is not clear how MPs might depose her now if she refuses to quit.

May's critics are deeply divided, and their inability to unite behind a rival candidate has foiled previous attempted coups. Her finance minister, Philip Hammond, condemned any talk of replacing May as "self-indulgent", warning that the problem remained what to do about Brexit.

"This is not about the prime minister or any other individual, this is about the future of our country," he said.

EU completes no-deal Brexit preparations

AFP ■ BRUSSELS

The EU announced on Monday it has completed its preparations for Britain crashing out of the bloc without a divorce accord, as fears of a chaotic "no-deal" Brexit grow.

"As it is increasingly likely that the United Kingdom will leave the European Union without a deal on 12 April, the European Commission has today completed its 'no-deal' preparations," the commission, the bloc's executive arm, said.

The gloomily worded statement, just days after Brussels agreed to postpone Brexit from its previous March 29 deadline, piled fresh pressure on Prime Minister Theresa May as she gathered her cabinet to discuss the way forward.

Unless British lawmakers approve a withdrawal agreement to ease the country out of the bloc, EU rules and agreements built up over 46 years of membership will cease to apply overnight, threatening havoc in almost every domain of life. May has been seeking to rally support for her twice-rejected deal, but there is speculation that if she fails, she could allow MPs to vote on what happens next.

The commission outlined measures in 13 key areas, from rules on flying and road transport to travel regulations, fishing rights and banking -- while stressing that they would only reduce the disruption, not prevent it altogether.

"The EU's contingency measures will not -- and cannot -- mitigate the overall impact of a 'no-deal' scenario, nor do they in any way compensate for the lack of preparedness or replicate the full benefits of EU membership," the commission statements said.

"These proposals are temporary in nature, limited in scope and will be adopted unilaterally by the EU. They are not 'mini-deals' and have not been negotiated with the UK."

Pak approves plan to open ancient Hindu temple corridor in PoK

Islamabad: The Pakistan Government on Monday approved a proposal to establish a corridor that will allow Hindu pilgrims from India to visit Sharda Peeth, an ancient Hindu temple and cultural site in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir, according to a media report.

The Sharda Peeth corridor, when opened, will be the second religious tract after Kartarpur corridor in Pakistan-controlled territory that will connect the two neighbouring nations.

Pak military says no F16 used to shoot down Indian aircraft

PTI ■ ISLAMABAD

Pakistan's military has rejected India's claim that it used US-made F-16 fighters jets against India in retaliation to its pre-emptive strikes on a JeM terror camp in Balakot, saying that JF-17 Thunder combat aircraft developed jointly with China were used in the operation.

Pakistan Army spokesman Major General Asif Ghafoor said the Indian jets violated the Pakistani airspace on February 26, dropping payloads without inflicting any casualties or damage to infrastructure.

7 held over forced conversion, marriages of 2 Hindu girls in Pak

PTI ■ LAHORE

At least seven people, including a man who assisted in solemnising the wedding of two teenage Hindu girls after their alleged abduction and forced conversions, have been detained in Pakistan, amid reports that the victims approached a court seeking protection.

The two girls, Raveena (13) and Reena (15), were allegedly kidnapped by a group of "influential" men from their home in Ghotki district in Sindh on the eve of Holi. Soon after the kidnapping, a video went viral in which a cleric was purportedly shown solemnising the Nikah (marriage) of the two girls, triggering a nationwide outrage.

On March 20, the girls' family lodged a First Information Report against their alleged forced conversion to Islam.

Trump has no problem with release of Mueller report: White House

AFP ■ WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump would have no problem with the release of the Mueller report into Russia's meddling in the 2016 US election, White House press secretary Sarah Sanders said on Monday.

"I don't think the president has any problem with it," Sanders said on NBC's Today show. "He's more than happy for any of this stuff to come out because he knows exactly what did and what didn't happen and now frankly the rest of America knows."

Special Counsel Robert Mueller found no evidence that Trump or his campaign conspired with a Russian effort to influence the election in his favour, but stopped short of exonerating the president of obstruction of justice.

Attorney General Bill Barr,

Macron under fire for lecturing elderly woman hurt at protest

AFP ■ NICE (FRANCE)

France's Emmanuel Macron was accused Monday of lacking empathy after criticising an elderly "yellow vest" protester who was badly injured during a demonstration in Nice at the weekend.

Macron has repeatedly been accused of harbouring an arrogant, dismissive attitude towards ordinary people who complain about having difficulties making ends meet.

Last year he famously told an unemployed gardener, who complained about not finding work after sending out hundreds of job applications, that he only had to "cross the road" to find work. He also told elderly citizens protesting over pension cuts that the French should moan less, and described people who took to the streets over his reforms to the labour code as "slackers".

However, he concluded that there was insufficient evidence to bring obstruction of justice charges against Trump. Trump, who had said before Mueller's conclusions were relayed to Congress that the report should be released, called the outcome a "complete and total exoneration" despite Mueller's caveat on obstruction.

Echoing Trump, Sanders said the American public knows "there was no collusion, they know there was no obstruction and it's a complete and total exoneration of the President."

Syria force calls for international court to try ISIS jihadis

AFP ■ AIN ISSA (SYRIA)

US-backed forces in Syria on Monday called for the establishment of an international court in the country to try suspected Islamic State group jihadis.

The announcement came two days after the jihadis group's "caliphate" was declared defeated.

"We call on the international community to establish a special international tribunal in northeast Syria to prosecute terrorists," the Syrian Democratic Forces said in a statement. In this way, "trials can be conducted fairly and in accordance with international law and human rights covenants and charters," it said. Syria's Kurds have previously warned that despite the demise of the IS proto-state, the thousands of foreign jihadis they have detained are a time-bomb the world urgently needs to defuse.

'Equality begin with headlines'

Actor ARJUN KAPOOR has pointed out the need of gender equality in news headlines. On social media, Arjun pointed to an article which read: "It's Kartik Aaryan vs Arjun Kapoor! Pati Patni Aur Woh to clash with Panipat on December 6, 2019." He then commented, "I think we ought to include Kriti Sanon, Bhumi Pednekar and Ananya Panday's names when we refer to our films. It's high time, equality must begin with headlines." Arjun has often spoken on women empowerment. He also starred in Ki & Ka, which delved upon gender stereotyping. Panipat is directed by Ashutosh Gowariker.

'Thank you Prime Minister Narendra Modi for the compassion with which you work for our country. Yes! It is through our vote we ensure a government we need and we deserve. So my fellow Indians! Please vote in the coming elections to keep the flag of our democracy flying.'

Actress DEEPIKA PADUKONE unveiled the first look from the forthcoming film Chhapaak in which she will be seen playing real life acid attack survivor Laxmi Agarwal. She tweeted the first look from the film, directed by Meghna Gulzar. In the image, the Padmaavat star is seen with prosthetics of scars and burns on her face. Deepika captioned it, "A character that will stay with me forever... Malti. Shoot begins today. Releasing on January 10, 2020." The actress will turn producer with the film. "It's a very important story and it's a true life incident, so hopefully good things will come out of it," she had said earlier.

'Heartbreaking to see my dad die'

Actor IDRIS ELBA says watching his father Winston die of lung cancer was heartbreaking. In an interview, the Luther actor opened about his father's illness and why did he get a tattoo of 'one life' on his forearm. He said, "That's it. That's all we've got. I watched my dad die, and he and I had big plans. I never got to show him the fruits of my labour. We talked about things he could have if I made it, then he got sick. It was heartbreaking." This encouraged Elba to get 'one life' tattooed on his arm, so that he doesn't forget to grab every opportunity thrown at him.

THE 'TALLEST' SHORT PRIME MINISTER

At the trailer release of The Tashkent Files, Lal Bahadur Shastri's son SUNIL SHASTRI and his grandson SANJAY NATH SINGH tell SAIMI SATTAR what it means to live without a sense of closure about the death of the second Prime Minister of the country

If there was a whodunnit in Indian politics that would require the combined skills of Agatha Christie, Alfred Hitchcock and Sherlock Holmes, Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's suspicious death in Tashkent on January 11, 1966, would certainly qualify as one. Maybe given the international angle that the conspiracy has, since he died in what was the former Soviet Russia during the Cold War, a Robert Ludlum might even be summoned to shore up the forces.

The Tashkent Files, a film by director Vivek Agnihotri, is the first one to be dedicated to the attempts of "honest journalists" to answer some questions related to his death. To be released on April 12, in the thick of the election season, the trailer launch saw the late Prime Minister's family turn out in full force. Sunil Shastri, his son, was just 15 when Lal Bahadur was sworn in as Prime Minister on June 9, 1964 and can recollect his death clearly. "There was always a doubt in my mind about the manner in which he died. As a teenager, it really had an effect on me. Of course, much of it has to do with my mother, Lalita Shastri, who spoke about it at length in an interview in a weekly Hindi newspaper and also in her book, Mere Pati Mere Devata," says Sunil.

Sunil Shastri and Sanjay Nath Singh

There are many things that have given rise to the belief that the death, which was attributed to a heart attack, was not normal. "Initially, my mother and the rest of the family were not allowed near his body. When we were, his face was smeared with sandalwood paste but it was apparent that his body had turned blue. There were white marks and he had bled from his nose and back. Yet no post mortem was conducted," he says.

The concerns of the family revolve around not just the lack of an autopsy but the fact that all the documents related to his death have not been made public. There is the correspondence between the Ministry of External Affairs and the Indian Embassy after the death of the Prime Minister that is classified. The entire lot of papers related to the Raj Narain Committee, constituted by the Janata Party in 1977 to look into the mysterious death, remain untraceable from the Parliament's library. Despite repeated attempts by the family as well as others, documents related to his accidental death remain classified as under Section 18 (1) of the RTI Act they can cause "national unrest and upheaval and international embarrassment" as per the Prime Minister's Office. But Sunil wants to know, "How will the revelation of the truth affect these?"

There were other issues that indicate a cover-up. Two people, his personal physician, Dr RN Chugh, and his assistant, Ram Nath, who had accompanied him to Tashkent, were killed in road accidents. "Before his death, whenever we questioned Ram Nath, who my father treated like a son, he always cried and seemed to be under a lot of pressure. The mystery deepened when he met with one accident where he lost his legs and then another where he completely lost his memory. Dr Chugh too died in an accident while going back to his house along with his family," he says.

Veteran journalist Kuldip Nayyar, who was the Prime Minister's press advisor from 1960 to 1964 and travelled with him extensively, including on the fateful Tashkent tour was one of the first people to see his body and covered it with the Indian flag. Lalita Shastri did tell him about the marks and cuts on Shastri's body, which he documented in his book

Beyond the Lines that was published in 2012. But what is even more telling is that Nayyar, towards the end of his life, did tell the family that he believed that the Prime Minister died mysteriously.

Rumours swirled at the time of his death about the involvement of his powerful rivals in the Congress who, supposedly along with Russia's help, eliminated him as within the 18 months that he was the Prime Minister, his popularity was unprecedented and growing. Of course, another theory attributed the deed to the CIA which wanted to arrest India's march towards becoming a nuclear power. However, Sunil refuses to agree or dismiss any of the theories. "Let the film be released and we will talk about it," he says with a laugh in a grandfatherly tone.

The family does feel that there is a lot in store for it with the release of the film. "We approached every government, Congress and non-Congress, including the one led by Chandrashekhar, but no action was taken. The film has given us the only ray of hope as we are yet to get a closure," he says.

'HE (LAL BAHADUR) IS VERY DIFFICULT TO EMULATE FOR THE SIMPLE REASON THAT ANYTHING HE PREACHED, HE PRACTISED ON HIMSELF AND HIS FAMILY FIRST. DURING SHASTRI VRAT, THE ENTIRE FAMILY, INCLUDING MY THEN TWO-YEAR-OLD SISTER, DID NOT EAT'

According to the Tashkent Agreement signed with the Pakistan President General Mohammed Ayub Khan and mediated by Soviet premier Aleksey Kosygin on January 10, for the ceasefire of hostilities between the two countries, India agreed to return the strategic Haji Pir pass to Pakistan which it had captured in August 1965 against heavy odds and at a huge human cost. This move was unpalatable to most Indians.

However, Sanjay Nath Singh, the son of Suman, Lal Bahadur's daughter and Vijay Nath Singh, says that unlike the popular theory that the last person that he spoke to was his mother, it was his father that the late Prime Minister talked to as he wanted to discuss the reaction to the agreement among the countrymen. "He told my father that 'when I come back, I will put before my countrymen something that would make them forget the Agreement'. The decision was taken in consultation with other people and was not done under any pressure." The trailer hints that the surprise here was none other than the Indian National Army leader Subhash Chandra Bose. He or someone who bears a striking resemblance to him is standing behind the Russian premier in a photograph that was clicked after the signing of the agreement between the two countries. Coincidentally or we can say ironically, the death of Bose is another incident of modern Indian history that is still shrouded in mystery despite several commissions and enquiry. Singh asks, "Isn't it really surprising that the death of the second Prime Minister outside the country is not questioned by anyone, including journalists, and his own party members?"

But irrespective of his short tenure and untimely as well as mysterious death, even 53 years after his death, Lal Bahadur's name is spoken with nothing short of awe. While other Indian Prime Ministers might have been divisive figures with their loyal band of supporters and dissenters, Lal Bahadur continues to evoke nothing but praise. "He is very difficult to emulate for the simple reason that anything he preached, he practised on himself and his family first. During Shastri Vrat, the entire family, including my then two-year-old sister, did not eat," he says referring to the famous austerity drill where, in order to battle the chronic food shortage that the country faced, he gave up eating one meal in a week before asking the country to follow suit. He even motivated the country to maximise the cultivation of food grains by ploughing the lawn himself at his official residence.

Pooja, Singh's wife, recalls her mother-in-law cooking the peels of every vegetable. "Karela (bitter gourd), tori (snake gourd) peels were cooked. The skin of singhada (water chestnut) was used to make pickle. I came from a fairly affluent family and I was surprised. My mother-in-law told me that the family had seen poverty and nothing was wasted."

Interestingly, for the strong spine he possessed, he was not dour and did have a sense of humour. "When leaving for Tashkent, my father, a diminutive man who stood at 5'2", was asked how he would stand up to the towering physical presence of General Ayub who was one foot taller than him? He replied, "The Indian Prime Minister would look up while the Pakistani President would have to look down while talking to each other," says Sunil.

But even his opponent had nothing but praise for him. General Ayub believed that he was the person "who could have brought India and Pakistan closer."

Clearly, they do not make men or statesmen like him any more. Or even when he was alive.

The time is right

Filmmaker VIVEK AGNIHOTRI tells CHAHAK MITTAL that his research would have taken around 10 more years if he just depended on national archives or other documents and records to find proper facts for the film

It took just a single tweet for director and filmmaker Vivek Agnihotri to get the idea of creating a film on India's second Prime Minister, Lal Bahadur Shastri, and his fateful demise. "It was October 2, 2017, and I had tweeted, 'It's Shastri's birthday too.' That was the time when somebody commented that why don't you make a film on him?" says he.

The film, The Tashkent Files, comes with a hashtag question — Who killed Shastri? More than half a century after that fateful morning in Tashkent and the question still remains unanswered — Did Shastri really die a natural death or was it an assassination birthed from political disagreements?

Well, Vivek could have chosen the easy way after the tweet and just made a biopic on his life and suspicious death. However, he felt that there have been numerous chapters in history textbooks talking about what life did the man live. However, "not a single one answering or making the youth realise the importance of questioning that how did he die so abruptly?"

The director feels that India's youth and audience are maturing with a great pace as questioning almost everything. Hence, he says that the film is dedicated to all the "honest journalists and truth seekers" in the country. "Sometimes they even question certain things which are better to be left as they are. However, this is a sign that they are maturing and realising what their duties and rights are. They are able to question what they think is unjustified. The youth is taking interest in the country. Why do you think all these big star-based films are not working? People are preferring more realistic elements and content that can relate to the real life stories of the common man," says Vivek.

As a filmmaker, he felt that he could bring it back to people's conscience now that reaching them is easier, especially due to social media. He says, "Now is the right time when they could question the manner of his death again. It is something that had to be questioned irrespective of its timing.

At that time, no one, including the journalists, officers or even other people in authority questioned the manner of his sudden death. Imagine, a PM goes on an international trip for a political treaty, and just dies... Even an autopsy on the body was not conducted. Isn't it questionable? The silence around it made me curious."

For Vivek, once he picked up the project, it transcended to more than just a film. "It became my right as a citizen of India to know what happened to the second PM of India. It was not just a murder mystery anymore. It became a web of questions about how India and its democracy became a victim to the Cold War between USA and USSR? What were the policies of our leaders and the government and how were they correct for the country? How would have India shaped up if Shastri was alive? A lot of things opened up and helped me understand India better," he says.

With the film, the director says, he also aims to question the democracy and people's right to information. While going through the research for the film, there was a stage of frustration when he wasn't able to find any way out. It was indeed tough to get the right data. "I filed a number of RTIs and received no response. I checked the records, approached national archives and read books from public libraries, and didn't find any answer. It was the most shattering and frustrating moment in the whole journey," he tells us, adding, "All the evidence was destroyed. Hence, we didn't have much information that we could have referred to. Things were beyond forensic control now. Documents and many files from the Parliament itself were missing. It would have taken more than a decade had I depended on them."

It was then the idea of crowd-sourcing came to his mind and called out the public to reach to him in case they have any related information. Well, surprisingly, "within hours so many people wrote to us that the server got jammed. That's where I found a new direction."

However, in this social-media, fake news-led world, how to differentiate between facts and fiction? "I am intelligent," laughs Vivek and goes on to add that they tried to "cross-reference" the overlapping facts and figures. He explains, "If a hundred people are on side A, and the other hundred people on side B, then we struck out the commonalities between both the sides and dug out the real matter. We kept finding the common lines and counter-questioning each thing."

The film, he says, proceeds exactly in the way that the research happened — one thing gets added to the other the moment it's discovered.

Well, the film's release date (April 12) too raises certain questions given that General Elections are round the corner. However, the director counter questions that why are dates assigned to directors and actors? "Nobody questions why Salman Khan only releases his film on Eid or Akshay Kumar on August 15 or January 26. If they have a reason, here, it's a political season, so why not? Such a film would anyway have grabbed equal eyeballs irrespective of when it releases," he laughs as he signs off.

I'm happiest on a film set: KJo

Going down memory lane and reminiscing his journey in the film industry, Karan said, "I don't like taking it slow. I'm the happiest on a film set because where else can I sing, dance, laugh, cry and still be at work? You are god when you're a filmmaker, you can create a world, destroy or re-create it, you can do whatever you want."

When Karan was notified about his statue being made at Madame Tussauds, he said he first informed his mother about it. He was overwhelmed by the news and spoke of the connect he shares with his mother. He said, "I share a close bond with her. I feel more engaged with the parental aspect of things. Now I have a new gaze on everything my mother went through."

Turning the conversation around his persona, he was asked that how does he manage to keep cool with all the ups and downs in life. He said, "We're in the kind of profession where everything is in front of the media. Paparazzi follows you every where. They capture your airport look, gym look, even out of the bed look. If you're in the show business, you have got to show yourself and therefore look good."

In one of the segments in the show, Karan received a special video message from actress Alia Bhatt as she talked about Karan's "flawless" character. Alia asked Karan, "Now that you have Yash and Roohi in the Johar family, who are my siblings too, the only question I want to ask is have you forgotten that I am your daughter? Am I still your daughter?" As a reply, he said, "Of course. How can I forget that Alia is my first child?"

The Asta Guru Modern Indian Art auction celebrates the modernist mood in myriad ways, presenting stellar works from various iconic artists. By UMA NAIR

A NATIONAL TREASURE

Francis Newton Souza's Last Howl from the Cross, two works by Akbar Padamsee, a landscape by Ram Kumar, a fervent figurative from Jogen Chowdhury, and Nandalal Bose's Arjuna are a few works that hold their own. Among sculptures, it is the venerated Himmat Shah's sculpture that extols the modernist mood in myriad ways. All these stellar works, which are iconic in symbolism and the transcending trajectory of artistic evolutions, are being auctioned at the Asta Guru's Modern Indian Art auction.

NANDALAL BOSE'S ARJUNA

Nandalal Bose's Arjuna, a magnificent tempera on silk, painted in 1944, is a national treasure and it is the first time it is being showcased to the public. It belongs to a freedom fighter and one of the pioneers of modern art in India. The painting was inspired by Tagore's dance drama Chitrangada based on the Mahabharata. The painting shows a reclining Arjuna in the forest with an intriguing expression on his face. Historian R Siva Kumar says, "We never thought that the later version would ever be seen. We thought that the 1938 one at NGMA was the only one that we would see. Every piece of Nandalal Bose is a rare gem and bears the tag of a 'national treasure'."

F N SOUZA'S LAST HOWL FROM THE CROSS 1963

Souza used to attend Mass with his grandmother every day and as a little boy he would watch the priests closely and be fascinated by the rituals of Catholicism including the crucifixion and the stained glass windows. But over the years his admiration also turned into deep criticism of the orthodoxy and the practices of the church and its many clergy. This work, Last Howl from the Cross 1963 was exhibited at the Grosvenor Gallery, London, in 1964 in a show titled The

Akbar Padamsee

Human and the Divine Predicament, this canvas resembles Souza's contentious 1959 painting, Crucifixion, which is currently part of the Tate's permanent collection.

In this revolutionary piece, the iconic image of Christ's crucifixion is rendered with malevolence rather than empathy. The gaunt martyr appears grotesque with his bared, fang-like teeth, vacant eyes and tangled, spiked hair. Like the figure they supposedly mourn, Souza has disfigured and distorted the men and women at the base of the cross, who appear to be heckling rather than grieving for the crucified figure. Thus, the mood set by the artist is one of revulsion rather than piety, recalling medieval scenes of heretics burning at the stake.

AKBAR PADAMSEE'S CITYSCAPE AND METASCAPE

Akbar Padamsee's Cityscape 1957 and his Metascape are two riveting works. Cityscape is a meditation on the beauty of nocturnes in myriad colours on line, form and movement. Painted from top to bottom, it has cubist geometry, it is also a meditation on the very act of painting. This early Cityscape has only a few buildings at close range but in the vertical clusters of geometric shapes

In F N Souza's revolutionary piece, the iconic image of Christ's crucifixion is rendered with malevolence rather than empathy. The gaunt martyr appears grotesque with his bared, fang-like teeth, vacant eyes and tangled, spiked hair

JOGEN CHOWDHURY'S DANCER 1999

One artist who has always stood apart in figurative splendour is Jogen Chowdhury. His Dancer 1999 is a splendid creation in contours curves and cohesive beauty. Jogen has often included references to popular visual culture in his work and this is one of them. Over the period of 1970s onwards, he developed his own unique approach for the treatment of his subject. He drew inspiration from folk art sources, including Kalighats and Battala woodcuts. Jogen references local traditions and popular visual culture to comment on the complexities and contradictions of Bengali middle-class society. He combines fantasy with reality to produce subjects that are often grotesque, distorted and caricatures but they revel in the fluidity of finesse.

Jogen Chowdhury's subjects are usually rendered against a black background, their fluid contours tightened with cross-hatching and heightened with touches of colour. The absence of a background allows the viewer to focus purely on the central character, evoking a sense of human alienation. His figures are woven into a shape with a spidery web of dense cross hatched lines, fleshed out with a hint of colour added with a soft dry pastel. "We did not have electricity in our houses and I had to read by the hurricane lantern. I had to fall back on black and white because we did not have enough light. We had a miserable state of living when we came to Kolkata as refugees. The criss-crossing lines, too, may be carrying traces of the environmental and mental complications of that time."

HIMMAT SHAH

Himmat Shah's sculpture is a joy to behold. Spartan primal and deeply philosophical Himmat's sculpture is a blend of the smoothed aesthetics of Brancusi and the cubist flavour of the yesteryear. Himmat has always admired both Brancusi and Henry Moore and created works that are born of modernist idioms. This work too belongs to the solitude that is Himmat's own leitmotif. It has about it an aristocracy and a signature that harks back to early ages even as it speaks to us as a canticle of contemporary wisdom.

(The auction will begin from March 27 to March 28 in Mumbai.)

Fifty shades of sand

The All India Studio Pottery Exhibition showcased stoneware and ceramic niceties from humble pots to platters and a few items of sculpture, says U NAIR

Four galleries full of stoneware and ceramic niceties that stemmed from humble pots to platters and a few items of sculpture. The AIFACS and Delhi Blue Pottery Trust presented the All India Studio Pottery Exhibition 2019, which was a treat for tired eyes. There seemed to be more work in stoneware, you could not help but stand and gaze quietly at the buff shades that is soothing to the sight.

STONEWARE SHEEP

It is called stoneware due to its dense and stone-like character. After being fired, this type is impermeable (waterproof) and usually opaque. In its natural state, stoneware clay is grey but the process of firing turns it into light-brown or buff coloured, and different hues may then be applied in the form of glazes. Generally speaking, stonewares are fired at temperature between 1,100-1,300 degree celsius.

And so back to the most loved pieces for this critic. On top of my list is Chitra Sharma and her small quaint sheep, hand-moulded and curious in terms of the many details and the impeccable nature of her composition. Small and immaculately thrown, the viewer is mesmerised by the soft transparent glaze that has strips of various lengths ringing the sheep's bodies. They have a Biblical perfection and are born of a different spirit, and one readily reckons that she must be discovered in depth of details and compositions; pieces like this are incredibly hard to fire, as all kinds of accidents can occur in the kiln like cracking, warping and running of glazes, but here were four sheep that alluded all kinds of parts and places including the snow-filled mountain tops.

TWO PLATTERS

There were a number of platters on view too, but it was that of of Archana Singh and Bipasha Sengupta that stood out for their simplicity and patterns of both minimalist moorings as well as the eternal lotus leaves. Archana's deft architectural drawing done by ceramic pencil on stoneware, high fired at 1,280 degree celsius, and was finished with a transparent glaze. It was softly stirring to the senses while Bipasha Sengupta's stoneware platter with resplendent lotus leaves and flowers done as an outline in black slip with transparent glaze spoke at once of the spiritual fervour and the pensive beauty of the lotus leaves that have always been a subject of great interest and intrigue to artists of different mediums.

MAN AND NATURE

If there was a well-crafted, calculated work, it was that of Aarti Paliwal. Likewise, as a represented ceramicist she is highly skilled, and reflects a certain sophistication in her cup that speaks of man and nature. Each detail that she evokes in her pieces is sheer perfection. This being so, there are a few signs of the ecological aesthetic that regards such 'flaws' as stone bursts, cracked lips and unevenness as part of the beauty of imperfection in her magnificent cup and saucer.

"My ceramic work is inspired by humans, natural forms and textures — trees, rocks, mushrooms, the human figure, modern surfaces and the fusion of traces of human activity in relation to nature," Paliwal explains. "I see my work as a personal journey exploring identity, connecting to roots and expressing the process of evolution and the layering of human destruction that makes up a whole. My forms are a reflection of man's relationship with natural forms. What attracts me to the universal world is the changes that happen; it is as if we are looking at differing life forms and how we impact nature in a destructive way."

BIRD HEADS AS A SUBJECT

Anjali Jaggi's rooster heads, done in transparent glaze with red slip, were a candid stoneware set that also spoke of the spirit as well as the technique. It is an inspiration that holds one attention. Not all the works were worthy of scrutiny or intensity. Whatever the cause of the exclamations, whether a neatly turned bowl or a sculptural entity, what entices is the endearing quality of ceramics and stoneware.

LIVELY VISUALS

There were lively visuals of decorative ceramic artworks, and a myriad of colours and designs that would tingle your senses. Among the simpler creations, one work was Manoj Kumar's small fish, made of stoneware and high fired in transparent glaze with red and black slip. The small plate held its own because it ascertained to the truth that this is a highly expressive way of working and at its most basic relies solely on the hands as tools. On display one saw a varied working range, from intricate and intimate processes to a whole body experience.

Stoneware varies greatly in scale and style: from figurines delicately modelled with thumb and forefinger in the palm of the artist's hand, to vigorous works produced by hurling wet clay at a structure to build up form, and everything in between. Creating with clay can be fast and immediate, also small and expressive, conjuring up images of the first figures of ancient times, whose features were squeezed out of wet clay to resemble animals and human forms.

In subtle and varied hues this was an exhibition that showed deft handling and unending passion and one must remember yeoman's service done by Ravi and Leena Batra for the inspiration and infrastructure that Delhi Blue pottery provides potters of all ages.

The man of steel

Through his three-dimensional, hologram-like mirrored sculpture, artist ANISH KAPOOR delineates empty spaces with geometry, says U NAIR

Turner Prize winner, Anish Kapoor creates elegant minimalist sculptures that combine simple materials, geometric shape and organic form to generate maximum impact.

ELEGANT MINIMALIST SCULPTURES

After first establishing his reputation in the 1980s with biomorphic sculptures in limestone and other natural materials, Kapoor began to explore the theme of "the void" in large-scale stone works, some with defined insides and outsides and others that clearly delineate empty spaces. In 2006, he installed Sky Mirror at Rockefeller Center, a 23-ton, three-story stainless steel sculpture that reflected the New York skyline. He described the massive work as a "non-object" because its reflective surface allowed it to disappear.

DRAWING THE HUMAN IMAGE IN

An understanding of the shiny steel as well as the physicality of the concave sculptural circular, oval or elliptical creations becomes an expressionist and experiential vertiginous depth which draws viewers who walks toward his works to understand the sensorial impact of nothingness. Kapoor has said that he "wishes to make sculpture about experience that is outside material concern," and he always manages to succeed in stirring multiple human responses to his work as he cuts through class, barriers and time.

MODERNIST

Split as a sculpture is striking, it carries within a Zen auratic mood within its stainless steel sculptural ferment, and it must be seen apart from the "transcendentalisation" of the viewer. What entices and enchants is the vivid materiality, the modernist celebration of geometry, even as it subtlly transcends changing appearances as humans who walk in front of the steel coalesce into slim gradients of animated legions. Kapoor revels in his craftsmanship, and you know that he has a deep understanding of physicality to give the sculpture's concave centre the lustre required to turn it into a mirror. Kapoor invites the silent spectator to morph into a mirrored spectator who remains strongly three-dimensional, belonging at once to a hologram-like ecstatic effect.

The effect is a new remoteness that is born of the shiny luminosity and the humans that become part of the reflection become the insignia of the sculpture and therein lies the delight. It was at the Hong Kong Art Fair 2010 that I experienced the purity as well as the juvenile delight Kapoor could give his spectators with his lush highly polished steel sculptures.

STEEL AND COLOUR

He also engages and revels in his sculpture — the steel and the colour give us an amalgam of the raw and refined, and like one critic in London said "he has fine-tuned the tension between the opposites, creating an opportunity for reparative unity that the ready-made unity of his globes — the foreordained unity of the circle."

Split's success is its highly polished mirrored surface that replicates the human figure in all its intricate lesser or greater than magnitude.

Indeed we all know that mirrors are seductive and Kapoor revels in giving his viewer's a narcissist's treat. But the sculpture is also about light and space, time and tide that waits for none.

Kapoor's exploration of infinite space, over the years creates islands of reflections within and without. He continues to explore the notion of endless space, the void, as he pointed to, in his Boston show years ago "The idea of place has always been very important to my work. A place has to be original. The word original means that it has to do with 'first' and I think that is to do with centering oneself, allowing a thing to occur specifically rather than in general. A lot of my works are about passage, about a passing through, and that necessitates a place. The place of action. It is the moment of contact between the thing and the world. The spatial questions it seems to ask were not about deep space but about present space... and they seem to be very active, to be in various states of becoming," says Kapoor. Art Dubai will celebrate the deeper understanding of a universal language in simple elements of time and its creator.

Sindhu, Srikanth seek to reclaim crowns

PNS/AGENCIES ■ NEW DELHI

Former champions P V Sindhu and Kidambi Srikanth will look to shrug off their erratic form and ensure an Indian sweep at the $ 350,000 India Open, which is shorn of star power this time.

With Saina Nehwal pulling out of the country's blue-riband tournament after failing to recover from acute gastroenteritis, the onus will be on Sindhu and Srikanth to keep the tricolour flying at the business end of the tournament starting on Tuesday.

Olympic Silver-medallist Sindhu, who claimed the World Tour Finals in December last year, will be the firm favourite to secure the women's title after receiving the top billing following the pullout of Chinese top seed and reigning All England champion Chen Yufei due to medical reasons.

The absence of Japanese players will also help Sindhu's case.

Sindhu had a decent start to the new season with a quarterfinal finish at the Indonesia Masters but a first-round exit at the prestigious All England Championship came as a major jolt.

The Indian ace however will draw inspiration from her performance in the last two editions where she had reached the finals and claimed the title in 2017.

Sindhu will open against compatriot Mugdha Agrey and is expected to face fast-rising Danish Mia Blichfeldt, seeded eighth, in the quarterfinals. A win is likely to pit her against Chinese third seed He Bingjiao.

Youngsters Vrushali Gummadi and Sai Uttejitha Rao Chukka will also be in the fray in women's singles at the World Tour Super 500 event.

The tournament will hold a lot of prominence for third seed Srikanth, who has endured a title draught for the last 17 months.

With defending champion and top seed Shi Yuqi pulling out, Srikanth will be at the forefront along with former world champion Viktor Axelsen, who had claimed the title in 2017 after three back-to-back finals.

The 26-year-old Srikanth, who clinched the title in 2015, will begin his campaign against familiar foe, Hong Kong's Wong Wing Ki Vincent, and might come across fellow Indians Sameer Verma or B Sai Praneeth later as both are in the same half of the draw.

Fifth seed Sameer, after reaching the semifinals at the World Tour Finals, will open against Denmark's Rasmus Gemke,

It's irritating to lose close q/f matches: Kidambi

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Indian ace Kidambi Srikanth said it was irritating to lose close quarterfinals in a title-less season and stressed on the need to get physically and mentally tougher to win medals at the World Championship and Olympic Games.

Srikanth, who had clinched four titles in 2017, lost nine quarterfinals and two semifinals while reaching the finals only once at the Commonwealth Games in the last 15 months.

"I think the series of quarterfinals are more irritating for me than losing in the first round," Srikanth said on the eve of the India Open.

"I think I have been consistent against a few players and then not able to get that win against a few others at quarterfinals and semifinals, that is what I'm working on — to last the whole week."

"Probably, if I can do well in next 3-4 months before the World Championship. If I can get better physically and tougher mentally, I think I can do well at World Championship," he added. Srikanth had suffered a leg injury at the 2017 Senior Nationals and ever since he has been troubled by small injury woes, especially related to his ankle, which affected his performance.

"I'm working on my fitness, I had too many injuries in late 2017 and 2018 and so if I can keep working on my fitness then I will have a great chance to win titles," he said.

"That is what worked for me in 2017, because I could sustain an hour and half hour. But 2018 and early 2019, I had some injuries and withdrew from tournaments."

Srikanth said he just wants to focus on improving the little things and maintain his momentum to do well at the Olympics.

"I couldn't produce the results that I wanted to but still I'm happy with my improvement. So I am in that process now," he said.

"I'm not desperate, I just want to improve on different things, to be able to pull out crucial points in tough matches and be more consistent. All I am working on now is to do well at the Olympics. If I can hold on to the momentum and keep improving till the Olympics, I can do well there," Srikanth added.

Germany leave it late in thriller

Schulz's last minute strike help Loew's new look side secure thrilling 3-2 win against Netherlands

AFP ■ AMSTERDAM

Germany's Nico Schulz sealed a thrilling 3-2 win over the Netherlands in a see-saw Euro 2020 qualifier as Joachim Loew's new-look line-up survived a severe test.

Elsewhere, World Cup finalists Croatia stumbled to a 2-1 defeat in Hungary, and Eden Hazard celebrated a century of caps with the opening goal in Belgium's 2-0 win over Cyprus.

A revamped Germany raced into a 2-0 lead in Amsterdam with thrilling strikes from Leroy Sane and Serge Gnabry but the hosts struck back with a second half header from Matthijs De Ligt before Memphis Depay pounced for an equaliser on 63 minutes.

The four-time world champions were put under immense pressure from a Netherlands side seeking a winner but the visitors, who were booed by their own fans in a 1-1 friendly draw against Serbia last Wednesday, snatched victory in the 90th minute through 25-year-old Schulz.

The Hoffenheim midfielder, who made his international in August, tapped home a loose ball after a tireless Sane had taken the defence with him on a run into the box.

The win comes after Loew took an axe to Germany's squad ahead of the qualifying campaign in the aftermath of last year's calamitous World Cup elimination, when he told Bayern Munich trio Thomas Muller, Jerome Boateng and Mats Hummels they had no future in the national side.

Bayern stopper Manuel Neuer may also come under pressure for his place after De Ligt beat him with a flying header just after the restart. Neuer, 32, was also slow to react as Depay pounced for the equaliser.

MODRIC POWERLESS

Chelsea star Hazard celebrated his 100th cap by scoring the opener in their 2-0 win over Cyprus in Group I with Michy Batshuayi grabbing the second as Real Madrid's Thibaut Courtois went largely untested in the Belgian goal.

Ballon d'Or winner Luka Modric was powerless to stop beaten World Cup finalists Croatia from slipping to a 2-1 defeat to Hungary in Group E on Sunday as Mate Patkai notched a 76th minute winner in Budapest.

Croatia had struggled against Azerbaijan in their opening qualifier last Thursday before escaping with a 2-1 win, but they made the perfect start in the Hungarian capital when Ante Rebic put them ahead on 13 minutes.

But Hungary pulled level through Adam Szalai's fifth goal in as many games and with a quarter of an hour left, 31-year-old Patkai scored his first international goal to pull off a famous victory.

FINCH PUNISHES PAK IN AUS WIN

AFP ■ SHARJAH

Aaron Finch struck back-to-back centuries to lead Australia to another thumping eight wicket victory over a hapless Pakistan in the second one-day international in Sharjah on Sunday.

The Australian skipper smashed 143-ball 153 not out for his 13th ODI hundred — also his highest score in ODIs — to anchor Australia's comfortable chase of a 285-run target in 47.5 overs which gave them a 2-0 lead in the five-match series.

Finch, who scored 116 in Australia's eight wicket win in the first game at the same venue on Friday, put on a solid 209-run opening wicket stand with Usman Khawaja who made 109-ball 88.

Finch struck six sixes and 11 boundaries in a dominating innings, improving on his previous highest one-day score of 148 against Scotland at Edinburgh in 2013.

The victory becomes more memorable as it was 100th one-day international match between the two countries.

Finch and Khawaja thrived against the novice attack, with Finch striking two sixes in the final overs while Khawaja's knock had eight boundaries.

Finch completed his hundred with a couple of debutant Hasnain on his 97th ball, making successive hundreds for a second time in his career. He scored consecutive hundreds against England in Australia last year.

Khawaja fell to leg-spinner Yasir Shah with 76 needed while Glenn Maxwell cracked two sixes in his 19 before he was run out.

Pakistan owd their total of 280-7 — after winning the toss — to Mohammad Rizwan's maiden century.

Rizwan, only playing because regular keeper and skipper Sarfraz Ahmed has been rested for the series — added 52 for the third wicket with Haris Sohail (34) and an invaluable 127 for the fifth wicket with stand-in captain Shoaib Malik.

COOLEY JOINS AUS FOR ASHES TOUR

AFP ■ SYDNEY

Australia on Monday appointed ex-England bowling coach Troy Cooley for their upcoming Ashes series as they bid to win the urn on away soil for the first time in 18 years.

Meanwhile Adam Griffith, a former head coach of Tasmania and assistant to national coach Justin Langer at the Western Warriors, takes charge of the bowlers for the team's World Cup campaign in England.

Their appointments follow the departure of another former England bowling coach, David Saker, who quit in February.

Tasmanian Cooley recently coached Australia's one-day bowlers for an away series win against India and is currently with the squad in the United Arab Emirates for their limited-overs clashes against Pakistan.

Richardson dislocates shoulder, faces WC battle

AFP ■ SYDNEY

Australian fast bowler Jhye Richardson has dislocated his shoulder and will head home from the Pakistan tour, officials said, as he faces a battle to be fit for the World Cup.

Richardson took 2-16 in the second one-dayer in Sharjah on Sunday but fell awkwardly on his bowling arm and left the field in the 11th over.

"Unfortunately it's a dislocated shoulder for Jhye Richardson," Cricket Australia tweeted.

The governing body added on its website that the 22-year-old — who has gone from strength to strength in recent months — would fly back to Perth on Monday and undergo scans to assess the damage.

Losing another quick bowler is a big blow for Australia barely two months out from the World Cup with Mitchell Starc and Josh Hazlewood also battling injuries.

Djoker downs Delbonis, Halep sets Venus clash

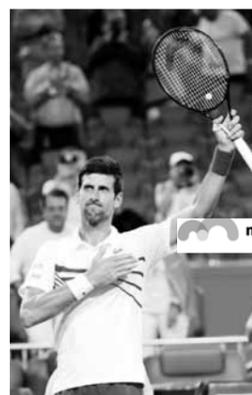

AFP ■ MIAMI

Novak Djokovic remains on course for a record seventh Miami Open title, but the world number one admitted to a loss of focus in a 7-5, 4-6, 6-1 victory over spirited Federico Delbonis which booked his place in the last 16.

Djokovic is hoping to eclipse Andre Agassi's six ATP crowns in South Florida over the next week and although the 31-year-old endured some shaky moments at Hard Rock Stadium, he still possessed enough quality during the key moments to see off the battling Delbonis.

He will need to tighten up his game if he is to reach next Sunday's final with Roberto Bautista Agut waiting in the fourth round after the Spaniard defeated Italian Fabio Fognini 6-4, 6-4.

The world number one was getting incredibly frustrated, he received a warning for racquet abuse and was furious for allowing a 3-1 lead to slip in the second set. But his opponent couldn't keep the pressure on and when Djokovic managed to get 3-1 ahead in the final set, this time there was no way back for the 28-year-old from Azul who rightly received an ovation from the center court crowd for his monumental efforts.

Defending champion John Isner blew Spain's Albert Ramos-Vinolas off court with serves touching 139 mph as the American sealed an ultimately comprehensive 7-5, 7-6 (8-6) win to set up an intriguing match with Kyle Edmund in the last 16 after the British number one impressively saw off Canadian Milos Raonic 6-4-6-4. In the women's draw, Simona Halep kept alive hopes of regaining the world number one ranking on Sunday, beating Polona Herczeg 5-7, 7-6 (7/1), 6-2 to reach the last 16 where she will play Venus Williams.

Halep, 27, lost her place at the top of the rankings following Naomi Osaka's triumph at the Australian Open earlier this year.

But with the Japanese faltering on Saturday, Halep can return to the position she last held at the end of 2018 if she lands the Miami Open for the first time.

Seven-time Grand Slam champion Williams, meanwhile, swept past Russian Daria Kasatkina 6-3, 6-1.

Elsewhere in women's action, American Sloane Stephens's title defense ended in a 6-3, 6-2 loss to Germany's Tatjana Maria.

It was another disappointing ending for Stephens, who fell in the third round at Indian Wells.

SINGLES

STUANI HELPS URUGUAY WIN CHINA CUP

SHANGHAI: Stand-in forward Cristian Stuani scored his third goal in two games as Uruguay taught Thailand a footballing lesson to win the China Cup with a 4-0 victory on Monday. The 2018 World Cup quarter-finalists hardly missed the injured star striking duo of Luis Suarez and Edinson Cavani as they made it seven goals in two games. Unmarked Inter Milan midfielder Matias Vecino headed home after just six minutes and it was 2-0 on 38 minutes when Gaston Pereira prodded in after the Thai defence went AWOL. Stuani, starting because of the absence of PSG's Cavani and Barcelona's Suarez, made it 3-0 just before the hour with a close-range bullet header from a corner. Substitute Maxi Gomez made it 4-0 two minutes from the end of normal time with goalkeeper Sivarak stranded out of position. Earlier in the day, Uzbekistan defeated Fabio Cannavaro's China 1-0 to leave the hosts last of the four teams involved.

VIJENDER INJURED, DELAYS US PRO DEBUT

NEW DELHI: Indian boxing star Vijender Singh's much-awaited professional debut in the USA, scheduled for April 12, was on Monday postponed after he injured himself during a sparring session in Los Angeles. The 33-year-old, India's first Olympic and world championships medallist in boxing, was to make his US debut at the Staples Center on the Vasily Lomachenko-Anthony Crolla undercard. "I got hurt during a sparring session on Friday. My left eye has received two kinds of stitches and doctors have told me they would remove the just the external stitches on coming Friday," Vijender said from his training base. Asked if the new schedule for his debut US fight has been decided, the Haryana pugilist said, "It will only be known once my injury heals. It is going to take some time."

PKL: 29 PLAYERS RETAINED

NEW DELHI: A total of 29 players have been retained by their respective franchisees of the Pro Kabaddi League (PKL) under the 'Elite Retained Players' category, the organisers announced on Monday. The number of retained players for the upcoming season, starting July 19, has increased from the previous season's 21. The non-retained players will go under the hammer at the auctions, to be held on April 8-9. The League this time introduced a new category where a franchise can retain a New Young Player, once his two-year contract is completed under the 'Retained Young Players' category. These retained young players are over and above the existing cap of six 'New Young players' that a franchise can have. Experienced players such as Rohit Kumar (Bengaluru Bulls), Fazel Atrachali (U Mumba), Pardeep Narwal (Patna Pirates), Deepak Hooda (Jaipur Pink Panthers), Joginder Narwal (Dabang Delhi K.C.) and Maninder Singh (Bengal Warriors) have also been retained by their respective teams.

RHODE WINS WORLD CUP GOLD MEDAL

NEW DELHI: Sheeraz Sheikh was the best-placed Indian with a score of 48 out of 50 in the men's skeet event at the International Shooting Sport Federation (ISSF) Shotgun World Cup in Acapulco, Mexico. In the women's event, American legend Kimberly Rhode nailed her sixth ISSF World Cup stage Gold over the last two years on Sunday. Sheeraz was placed 22nd in the pecking order on count-back with 14 others in a field of 95, shooting the same score. Four, including world champion Vincent Hancock of the USA, shot a perfect 50 while 12 others missed one bird each. Among the women, Kimberly shot 57 to leave New Zealand's Chloe Tittle way behind in Silver medal position with a score of 48. The American legend has won a total of 54 international medals, including 30 Gold in a remarkable career spanning over three decades. Agencies

UNIVERSE BOSS ARRIVES WITH BANG

Gayle smashes 47-ball 79 as Kings XI post 184-4 against Rajasthan Royals

PTI ■ JAIPUR

Chris Gayle struck a belligerent half-century to guide Kings XI Punjab to a challenging 184 for four against Rajasthan Royals in their opening Indian Premier League match on Monday.

Opening the innings, Gayle started in an uncharacteristic fashion but grew in confidence as the innings progressed. He scored 79 off 47 balls and hit eight boundaries and four sixes in the process. Besides Gayle, young Sarfaraz Khan (46 not out off 29 balls) also played a good hand.

But Rajasthan's decision to bowl first on a two-paced wicket was bang on target as K L Rahul lasted just four balls before edging an outgoing Dhawal Kulkarni delivery to wicketkeeper Jos Buttler, who took a brilliant one-handed catch.

Gayle and Mayank Agarwal (22) then struggled to hit big shots against Kings XI's disciplined bowling as they garnered just 32 runs in the powerplay overs.

The duo finally broke their shackles, hitting Jaydev Unadkat for a four and six to yield 13 runs of the bowler's opening over.

Gayle then opened up his arms again and hit Krishnappa Gowtham for a maximum in the first ball of the ninth over.

But Gowtham broke the 54-run stand between Gayle and Agarwal after the latter was holed out a long-off by Kulkarni. Brought back into the attack in the 12th over, Unadkat was taken to the cleaners by Gayle as he hit the left-arm pacer for three consecutive fours and then a straight six over the bowler's head to bring up his fifty in 33 balls. Unadkat's second over, that produced 17 runs, opened the floodgates for Kings XI as Sarfaraz too joined the party and together with Gayle punished the bad deliveries.

After playing cautiously initially, Gayle went on a rampage, stood on his crease and clobbered Ben Stokes (2/48) for two boundaries and six before being holed out at mid-wicket fence by Rahul Tripathi in the fifth ball of the same over.

Gayle and Sarfaraz added 84 runs for the third wicket and in the process gave Kings XI the much-needed momentum. After Gayle's dismissal, Sarfaraz took the onus on himself and took Kings XI past the 180-run mark.

PNS/AGENCIES ■ NEW DELHI

The shrewd tactician in Mahendra Singh Dhoni will be plotting a rampaging Rishabh Pant's downfall when Chennai Super Kings face Delhi Capitals in an Indian Premier League encounter on Tuesday.

It will be a battle where experience will be pitted against youth and astuteness will square off against flamboyance when the King faces his heir apparent on what is expected to be another sluggish Feroz Shah Kotla track.

Pant has once again set the tone with a magnificent 78 off 27 balls in Delhi Capitals' 37-run away win against Mumbai Indians.

CSK, with their experience of winning important moments, will certainly make Capitals wary.

However, Chennai Super Kings will be a different challenge for the Capitals, who don't have an enviable record against Dhoni's men at their home ground.

The nature of the Kotla track makes CSK favourites with their spin trio of Harbhajan Singh, Ravindra Jadeja and Imran Tahir having already hit the straps in the low-scoring opener against the Royal Challengers Bangalore.

A look at Pant's track record indicates that he has had problems against slow bowlers and Dhoni, who has seen enough of the youngster, will love to exploit the chinks in his armoury.

The Kotla pitch, which gets slower with passage of play, might force Dhoni to start with his pacers and keep Harbhajan and Tahir for the overs when

LAST YEAR'S MATCHES

- Delhi Capitals defeated Chennai Super Kings by 34 runs at Delhi
- Chennai Super Kings beat Delhi Capitals by 13 runs at Pune

FOR THE RECORD

- Rishabh Pant's strike rate against Mumbai Indians in the last match, 288.88, is the highest in an 50 plus innings for Delhi Capitals in IPL. Overall it is the third best for them.
- Mahendra Singh Dhoni who scored 487 runs at 32.46 in 19 innings of 21 matches against Delhi Capitals, needs just 13 runs to become the eighth batsman to score 500 runs against them in IPL.

Pant is expected to be in action.

Harbhajan, after his man of the match performance against RCB, will be relishing the challenge of bowling to a left-handed batsman, who loves to play his shots.

Having disposed off Virat Kohli and AB de Villiers in the first match, 'The Turbanator' won't mind showing Pant the dug-out way.

While CSK will expect their batsmen to score more freely at the Kotla, Capitals would want their opening bowlers Trent Boult and Ishant Sharma to be a bit more economical.

Chennai won't focus on Pant alone: Fleming

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Delhi Capitals star Rishabh Pant might have played a stellar role on Sunday to win them the opening game against Mumbai Indians, but Chennai Super Kings coach Stephen Fleming made it clear that overplanning keeping one player in mind would not help the team.

"You have to respect so many players in the tournament and he is one of them. But there are others as well. Have to be sure you don't overplan. He is one of the great young prospects in Indian cricket. But there is Shikhar Dhawan, Colin Ingram, captain Shreyas Iyer. One thing is to find a weakness, but have to use it well. You must focus on own strength," he explained.

Asked if the conditions in Ferozeshah Kotla will help the Chennai side as CSK too banks on spin on their home ground in Chepauk, Fleming said: "The last game was difficult for the batters. The fact that we use spinners is one of our tactics, we have seaming bowlers as well to exploit situations. We will spend time to look at the conditions. Getting the combination right is important." Fleming was all praise for senior spinner Harbhajan Singh and said that the off-spinner will definitely be considered for Delhi game.

"He was fantastic in the first game. Experience is important. There are a lot of left-handers in the Delhi side. That was discussed in the RCB game as well. We will look to consider that. It is about the skill sets we have. It was a compliment to not having to stick to the overseas quota. We will consider it again tomorrow," he said.

'GLAD TO BAT AT ANY POSITION'

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Dashing India wicket-keeper batsman Rishabh Pant said he is "glad" to bat at any position his team wants him to after blasting a stunning 27-ball 78 during Delhi Capitals' opening match which brightened his World Cup selection prospects.

"Well, I am glad to bat anywhere the team wants me to," the 21-year-old Pant said after powering Delhi Capitals to a 37-run win over Mumbai Indians.

Asked about his rapid rise to the top, he said, "It's been a great journey, I'm trying to learn every day of my cricketing career. It feels good when your team wins. I always play according to the situation most of the time."

"This time I needed to increase the run rate for the team, and I took my chances, and it came off today. Especially in T20, you have to do something different. When the bowler cramps you for room, you need to make your own room." The Delhi dazler's seven towering sixes and as many fours at the Wankhede Stadium left the Mumbai Indians bowlers traumatised and gave rechristened Delhi Capitals the fresh beginning they longed for.

Lauding Pant's knock, Mumbai Indians captain Rohit Sharma said he would change the team combination in the next game. "First game is always a bit of a challenge for most of the teams. Lot of new players in the squad as well. We made a lot of mistakes today, as simple as that. We were pretty much in the game in the first 10 overs when we were bowling, but the way Rishabh batted, you've got to give him credit.

Leading the perennial slow starters, he added, "The combination might change for the next game. We want to see what combination the opposition plays and then decide. The ball was still coming on well when we batted. We ended up getting 180, still. Nobody went on to get a big score.

"Yuvi batted brilliantly, and there were a few cameos. If one of the top three or four had scored 70-80, things would have been different."

Delhi skipper Shreyas Iyer said, "To be honest, I was really well prepared to take on the captaincy. I've been leading India A as well as my domestic side. It's been a great experience so far, we've been bonding and training really well.

"(Pant) is a really destructive batsman. Over the years I've seen him maturing a lot. He faced a few dot balls early on and then suddenly his strike rate was 250. Amazing batsman, great to have him on our team."

I will be first to hang boots when time comes: Yuvraj on retirement

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Yuvraj Singh's cricketing future has been a topic of discussion for some years now but the player said that he would be the first one to bid adieu when he feels that his time is up.

Out of national team's scheme of things for good, Yuvraj has had poor track record in IPL but started on a bright note with a half-century for his latest franchise Mumbai Indians.

"When the time comes, I will be the first one to hang my boots," Yuvraj told mediapersons after MI's 37-run defeat.

However India's 2007 World T20 and 2011 World Cup hero did admit that at times he felt indecisive about carrying on.

"The last two years, have been up and down (for me). And I could not decide on what to do," said the 37-year-old.

Yuvraj said that when he did a self-introspection, he found that he is still enjoying the game just as he did as an U-16 cricketer not thinking about national team selection.

"The main thing for me was why I played the game when I started off. I played the game because I enjoyed playing cricket. When I enjoyed playing cricket, I was not playing for India. I was playing for U-14s and U-16s. So till the time, I enjoy playing cricket, I am going to play."

Important to groom Rishabh as he is next big thing: Yuvi

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Rishabh Pant is an outstanding talent and should be groomed properly so that he becomes the next big thing in Indian cricket, feels India's 2011 World Cup hero Yuvraj Singh.

Yuvraj's comments came after Pant showed his heroics with the bat once again and played a match-winning unbeaten 78 off just 27 balls for Delhi Capitals against Mumbai Indians in the lung opener between the two sides.

"I can't really say about (World Cup) selection but Rishabh was outstanding today," 37-year-old Yuvraj said at the post match media conference.

"He (Pant) had an outstanding season last year as well. He is playing well in Test matches as well. To score two hundreds overseas at such an age (21 years) shows his character. It is important that we groom him well and hopefully he is the next big thing for us," said Yuvraj.

Yuvraj said that skipper Rohit Sharma's early dismissal had an effect as they were chasing a big total.

"Losing Rohit early (was one of the reasons). de Kock was going well but (we) lost his wicket. (Kieron) Pollard came and quickly lost his wicket. We really couldn't get partnerships going. The wicket was more of 180-190 wicket, 215 (213) was quite a match-winning score," said Yuvraj, who also lauded Delhi's bowling attack.

Bumrah's shoulder scans are clear: BCCI official

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Allaying fears about India's pace spearhead Jasprit Bumrah's shoulder injury, a BCCI official on Monday said there are no major concerns since the scans have come clear.

A vital cog in India's World Cup plans, Mumbai Indians' Bumrah landed awkwardly on his left shoulder while fielding during Sunday's IPL contest against Delhi Capitals, causing concern in the Indian camp.

The national team relies heavily on Bumrah, who has earned the reputation of being the world's best bowler in death overs.

The Gujarat pacer did not come out to bat in Sunday's match, which added to the concerns about his injury. "Bumrah had some shoulder scans done in the morning and BCCI was kept in the loop. His scan reports were okay. The tests that were done were all recommended by the BCCI," the official said.

When asked why Bumrah was still in Mumbai while the team has already left for Bengaluru, the official said, "Since the reports came late and the team has already left, he is travelling separately."

SIDE NETS

RUSSELL ONE OF MOST POWERFUL HITTERS: KALLIS

KOLKATA: Iconic all-rounder and Kolkata Knight Riders (KKR) head coach Jacques Kallis on Monday said that Andre Russell is one of the most powerful hitters he has seen. Russell walked in to bat when KKR needed 68 off 27 balls against SRH on Sunday and the big-hitting Caribbean all-rounder first hit Siddharth Kaul for 19 runs in the 18th over and smashed 21 more off Bhuvneshwar in the 19th to steer KKR home with two balls to spare. "In terms of finishing, he is one of the most powerful hitters that I have seen," Kallis said. "It was a good knock. He timed it well. And there were issues, the light wasn't incredible. But it was some of the best ball striking I have seen in a long time," said the former South Africa all-rounder.

leading up to the World Cup. Hopefully I get some game time here and can contribute to some good performances. And then hopefully the England selectors will be watching them," said Denly, who recently made his Test debut for England in the lost series against the West Indies.

MALINGA LIKELY TO PLAY NEXT TWO MATCHES

NEW DELHI: Lasith Malinga is likely to be available for the next two IPL matches for Mumbai Indians after Sri Lanka Cricket (SLC) softened its stance on the participation of the veteran pacer in a domestic ODI tournament. SLC had earlier announced that only those players would be eligible for selection in the World Cup squad, who would compete in Super Provincial One-Day domestic tournament, slated from April 4 to 11. The diktat had forced Malinga to make himself unavailable for Mumbai Indians' first six matches. However, according to a report, the SLC has changed its stance after a few calls by BCCI. SLC Chief selector Ashantha de Mel said that Malinga's place in the World Cup bound squad is guaranteed, so he is free to participate in the IPL. "We have no issues if he goes to IPL — the board had given him a no-objection certificate already, so he's free to go. Anyway he has been one of our best bowlers in one dayers, so there's no question about his place in the team," Mel said.

DENLY EYEING WC SPOT THROUGH IPL

KOLKATA: England all-rounder Joe Denly is looking at the ongoing Indian Premier League to impress upon the national selectors and guarantee his place in this year's World Cup squad. Denly's form in white ball cricket for Kent in 2018 has brought him on the selectors' radar for a spot in England's World Cup squad. Denly hopes to get selectors' attention by doing well for Kolkata Knight Riders in the IPL. "I want to play as many games as I can. It's important
