CSEC rejects Modi bias charge

Clean chit to PM, Shah based on merit, says Sunil Arora

NEW DELHI

Electoral Commission's Rajiv Kumar said on Wednesday that the Centre had given a clean chit to Prime Minister Narendra Modi based on merit, not politics.

Kumar, who is the main election commissioner, said that he had found no reason to question the independence of the apex court.

The government had taken a tough stand against the body which had acquitted four congress leaders, including the former prime minister of India, for defusing a bomb.

The move was seen as a way of discrediting the CEC and its failure to act against its former advisor, SK Verma, who had been accused of bias.

Kumar said that the EC had taken a decision on the basis of the evidence presented to it.

He added that the EC had taken a decision on the basis of the evidence presented to it.

With the second term of the BJP-led NDA in the Union Cabinet, the Union Cabinet approved the establishment of a phased Infrastructure Company (India) Limited to be corporatized and transformed into an Infrastructure Company (SPV) for the execution of high value and major projects. The SPV will be established in a phased manner so that its chairmanship is assumed by the Chief Minister of Punjab, Capt. Amarinder Singh, he said.

In the Punjab government, the Chief Minister has also established an alternative Helicopter Overhaul (HOG) facility to big stations near the border. “We did not wait to wait for better days. We have already started the first drone academy in India. In this, the first Sikh master, Guru Gobind Singh will also play an active role as a teacher,” he said.

By 2021, concerted efforts will be made for completion of these projects such as Shimla, Kullu and Manali which are easy and fast to reach stations. The Prime Minister, Capt. Amarinder Singh, on Wednesday said that he had scored a hattrick in a row after over a decade, while his administration has scored a hattrick in a row after over a decade. “The Indian government has treated the SAD and its partners like a dead horse. The Indian government has not fully supported the SAD and its partners in the future. The SAD and its partners have nabbed the government and have not given them a single voice," he said.

China steps up threat to deprive US of rare earths

The warning is the latest attempt by the US to portray China as a free rider against India and to portray India as a country in need of US help. India has already been accused of not being a partner in the US-led fight against China. India has been accused of not following the US lead on various issues, including trade, defense, and counterterrorism.

The US is threatening to impose tariffs on India's exports of rare earths, which it considers vital for the US military and technological industries. India is the world's second-largest producer of rare earths, after China, and it is a major supplier to the US.

India has been a key partner of the US in the fight against China, and it has been a major recipient of US aid and military equipment. However, India has been critical of US policies in the region, and it has been accused of not being a partner in the US-led fight against China.

The US has been trying to persuade India to join its allies in the fight against China, and it has been using economic leverage to try to persuade India to become a more active partner. India has been slow to respond to these pressures, and it has been trying to maintain its independence in foreign policy.

While the Jews adopted an algorithm-based lunar calendar at least a millennium ago, the Muslim world still finds the idea deeplyolarizing. Pak’s venture is interesting

The battle for Bengal is now slowly but surely turning into an ambivalent sub-rac- tual between two forces: the Bengali Muslims and the Bengali Hindus. The former wants the land to remain Muslim, while the latter seeks to turn it into a Hindu-majority state. The battle is being fought on several fronts, including the political, economic, and social. The Bengali Muslims are determined to hold on to their land, while the Bengali Hindus are equally determined to reclaim it. The underlying issues are complex and multifaceted, but the key question is whether the land can be peacefully divided between the two communities. If it can, then both sides can live in peace and prosperity. If not, then the bloodshed and violence will continue.

Second termPhilip
Being re-elected as PM means that Modi will be able to focus on making necessary reforms and achieving the goals that his party has promised. However, it is important to note that Modi’s second term will also present new challenges, especially in the realm of foreign policy. India’s relations with its neighbors and the world will be crucial in shaping the country’s future. Moreover, the government will have to address a number of internal issues, such as the economic growth and employment, which will be crucial to the country’s development.

We need honest caps
Sir - Efficient, honest and sincere officers of the 2011 batch of the Indian Police Service (IPS) are capable of solving the problems that the country is facing. However, many doctors and engineers have also pointed out the need for honesty in the government. The time has come for honest officers to be given the responsibility to serve the country.

The slender crescent of the new moon can be observed by telescope. It is not visible to the naked eye. The crescent is a phase of the moon on its orbit round the earth. Due to the moon’s rotation over before the night sets in, the slender crescent only becomes visible to the naked eye after the moon has moved to the western horizon. The crescent is also visible to a host of conditions like the moon’s position on the horizon and the moon’s position on the celestial coordinate. The days when the moon is visible differ from day to day. The crescent is visible for one day only, when it automatically ends. The crescent is visible for two or three days. It is difficult to see the crescent in the sky.

A journalist or a member of the media who, despite being highly qualified, was demanded he speak out. Perhaps the call of politicians, many of whom were caught in a time warp, was an attempt to influence the electorate. At the same time, the media’s role is to enlighten the masses and bring about social change. The media should not be afraid to speak the truth, even if it is unpopular. The media should be independent and unbiased, and should always strive to provide accurate and unbiased information.

Hope breeze wins to reach 500
Now Down: Shai Hope believes the West Indies are not overly concerned about speaking in front of 500 runs total in one-day internationals, as long as it is possible. World Cup hosts England can't ever risk the next likely chance. Hope believes his teammates have what it takes to lift the trophy, and if they win then he is sure it will be the team's fifth World Cup in history. "It is just a matter of time that we can try at some time," he said. "We are trying to try our best to take the first team to cross 500 and recall the butterflies to do it. Hope said after warm-up session.

Bouncers to be the wicket-taking ball, Cummins

Australia captain Tim Paine said that Cummins is not expecting much swing from the English team in the semi-final. He expects that the bouncers will depend on bouncers as the wicket-taking ball. "It is not the strength of this team that out of all the ODI countries, England has not got the bounce back as a good idea. When it comes to the bounce back, it is a little bit tough," Cummins said. "But the nips will do well. There will be a couple of overs. When the ball is hard you feel like there might be a little bit of top. If it's pretty flat, 'Bouncers' we're going to have to be smart. That's a wicket-taking ball. Other than that, it's just trying to bowl good balls."

Zampa in England: Morgan leading the England team, as he is batting of the four and final mega event. The Indian team would be over excited to face England in the set-up was just what the team needed. Add to it, Usman Khawaja, skipper Aaron Finch, wicket-keeper Ben Foakes, Mitchell Marsh, spinner Nathan Lyon and Adam Zampa will get them on the mark.

Pakistani Masters and World Cup:

Kohli's passion for Smith's determination and ambition in battle of the best

The impact of batting belters is already a stuff of legends. The India-New Zealand, the Bangladesh-New Zealand, the West Indies-New Zealand, the New Zealand-Morocco and the England-New Zealand are still. The middle order is a very small issue but India is very firmly in contention and a semi-final is just not an option for the taking.

For England, the perfect revelations of David Warner and Moeen Ali, and a Westminster spirit in the set-up was just what the team needed.

Since the inception of World Cups (1971-95 only, a 32-over, Prudential Cup back then), no England team has reached so much of glory surrounding it as the current one, led by Morgan.

"The icing on the cake, the World Cup 2019 finally comes to an end as England, the tournament hosts and current holders, face off against third-ranked South Africa at the Oval on Thursday. England's batting line-up laden with experience backed by the opening pair of Jason Roy and Joe Root, who boast the highest strike-rate in ODI history, among all openers to have scored more than 200 runs. The rest of England's line-up possesses considerable strength for Bowler, who said the bunch of batsmen have scored more than 200 runs.
