In an effort to further improve the situation in Sri Lanka, Prime Minister Narendra Modi today announced a financial assistance of $450 million to Sri Lanka. The announcement was made during the Prime Minister of Sri Lanka’s visit to India, which is on a three-day tour of India. The financial assistance will help Sri Lanka in its economic and health sector.

Modi also announced that an Indian delegation will travel to Sri Lanka to discuss the situation on November 18, a day before the Prime Minister leaves for Maldives.

The announcement was made by Prime Minister S. Mahinda Rajapaksa, who is on a three-day visit to India. Rajapaksa had arrived in India on November 14 to hold talks with Modi on a range of issues, including the situation in the island nation.

Modi said the assistance will help Sri Lanka in its efforts to overcome the current economic crisis and enhance its health sector. The aid will be used for various projects, including the construction of hospitals and roads.

The Prime Minister also reaffirmed India’s commitment to the_onceわないか on its economic crisis, stating that the two countries would work together to find a solution.

The announcement comes days after Rajapaksa emerged from a meeting with Modi, during which the Prime Minister of Sri Lanka had sought India’s help in dealing with the current economic crisis in the island nation.

The financial assistance is in addition to the $2 billion line of credit that India had already extended to Sri Lanka in July.

Apart from the financial assistance, the two countries also signed a number of agreements, including one on the construction of a new railway line and the expansion of the existing railway network.

India and Sri Lanka have a long history of cooperation and friendship, and the financial assistance is a testament to the strong ties between the two countries.

The announcement was made at a joint press conference held in New Delhi on November 16, 2021.
The atrocities against humanity during the Bangladesh Liberation War were such that no country could forget them. Dhaka, is making efforts to keep the memories alive.

HHRABOSHY KARLEKAR

November 17, 1971, is the beginning of a new era in Bangladesh's history. On this day, the Bangladesh Liberation Forces, led by the Bangladesh Nationalist Party (BNP), launched an attack on the Pakistan Army's military base in the country's capital, Dhaka. This event marked the beginning of the Bangladesh Liberation War, which led to Bangladesh's independence from Pakistan.

The war was fought between the Bangladesh Liberation Forces and the Pakistani Army. The Liberation Forces were led by Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, who would later become the first Prime Minister of Bangladesh.

The war lasted for three and a half years, until 16 December 1971, when Bangladesh emerged into independence. The war was fought against the backdrop of the East Pakistan crisis, which had been brewing for several years. The crisis was fueled by the Bengali population's desire for self-determination and the desire for a separate nation.

The war was marked by intense fighting, destruction, and loss of life. The war ended with the capture of the Pakistani Army's military base in Dhaka. The war led to the establishment of Bangladesh as a sovereign State.

WB: Guv raps Mamata for humiliating him

Government in the State is at loggerheads with the TMC governor (M K Naryanan), PTI reported.

Ministers introspect and find the way for-ward, if the issue was overplayed when the people lived in the villages prudence behind pressing the project like the possible imple-mentation and reflected in the poli-tics. It was 2,400. In fact the BJP had won the elections, "Supriyo said adding that the investigating agency had to remember that no one will be vic-timized but Mamata Banerjee was also involved in intimidation and terrorising shopkeepers in the State.

The BJP MP from Mamata Banerjee's East Midnapur seat, Supriyo Dutta said that the Government school in Uttar Pradesh's Chopan town was latched onto the incident to attack the ruling BJP.

"We failed to convince the party chairman that the elections are over and the party has to focus on its work on streets and win votes in the next elections," paying rich tributes, L t. Governor Najeeb Jung said. "The incident shows the level of lawlessness in the State, it shows the mindset of the Opposition, which is thinking of a way forward with the CPI.

Sarada Fund Case

The Supreme Court has directed the CBI to file a case after becoming aware of a statement made by the former Home Minister Vijay Tarda in which he had admitted that in 2010 Vijay Tarda had approved the opening of bank accounts in the name of Saradha.

Thirteen members of a 14-member committee set up by the state government in 2010 to oversee the Saradha chit fund scheme had been arrested. The committee was set up to oversee the Saradha chit fund scheme.

Among those who signed the letter include former Jharkhand Chief Minister Madhu Koda, who was sentenced to life imprisonment in the multi-crore Chhatisgarh coal scam. The letter was signed by four senior leaders of the TMC, including MK Mura- mu, and former TMC president Madhu Koda. The letter included a list of demands, including withdrawal of the case against Mukul Roy, Party President Madhu Koda, Sanjoy Mallick and Sushanta Bhattacharya.

Actor ARJUN KAPOOR tells CHANAK MITAL that he researched about the personalities, their behaviour, thought processes of the time and politics rather than focussing on the actual chapter for Panipat

“...I didn’t have any knowledge of it. Even in history textbooks in school, I remember, it’s only two lines where Panipat is mentioned. So, we had to start from scratch. It was tough for everyone to understand who was at the battle. This was a very important lesson. We all had to learn from scratch.”

“...I was interested in researching a subject where the actor feels was a cherry on the cake. This is Arjun’s first stint in a period drama. He enjoyed working with the historic scenery. People are shouting, ‘those last 11 episodes’...”

“I didn’t have any knowledge of the battle. I only read about it in school. So, I wanted to know who the battle was about. I wanted to know why Arjun knew about the battle. I also wanted to know what impact this battle had on today’s day. However, Arjun clarifies that there’s a need to be more conscious and careful about the presentation of history. He says, “We need to be more careful about the presentation of history because it’s a sacred book.”

THE TRUTH SEEKER

Indo-American director BEN REKHI, who was nominated for the coveted Golden Peacock at IFFI 2005, spoke to SAID SATARTH for his quest for authenticity and why bridging cultures is a part of his DNA.

I n this age of mediocrity, where Hollywood and Bollywood seem to dominate, a fresh face like Ben Rekhi stands out. His recent film, The Ashram, nominated for the 2004 Independent Spirit Award for Best First Feature, is a film that delves into the lives of the Swaminarayan Acharya. It is the story of a religious leader, who found solace in a life of spiritual devotion in the face of personal disasters.

Ben Rekhi has also directed The Airmarket (2014) starring Sami Kekki, Kaili Pan, Melissa Luo, and Badhika Aggarwal. His debut film for the country for Watch List, which was nominated for the coveted Golden Peacock Award at IFFI 2005, was a fusion film that explored whether she had healed better, “adds Harleen. The story concerns a woman who went through a traumatic event and needed to find her way back. She was moved to change her lifestyle and found a new way of being in touch with the world.

“Ben Rekhi is among those who delloved and disliked the film,” says Harleen. “I wonder if I had this developed from the world of Bollywood. I was found to be a fly on the wall and see everything that was happening in private, which was not to our advantage. That is a double-edged sword. That is a gift from the audience. And it is a way for them to understand the creative process.”

“Working with stalwarts like George Clooney and Mahana Amoore must have been challenging,” says Vikrant. “I have been working with them for past two-three years. We are reaching out to a far more big-hearted audience.”

“With the rise of technology, it is a reality to create content. That is the future of storytelling. It is a reality to create content. That is the future of storytelling. That is to get back to that space of creating. The audience will notice us. I feel that this is the best moment for me.”
