Sena fails to show numbers, Guv invites NCP

Political musical chairs in Maha continue; NCP gets time till 8.30am today to convey its 'willingness and ability' to form Govt

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

In a new twist to the ongoing game of political musical chairs in Maharashtra, Governor Bhagat Singh Koshyari on Monday night eliminated the Shiv Sena from the Government formation exercise after it staked a claim to form a Government but failed to submit letters of support from the NCP and the Congress.

Late in the night, the Governor called a delegation of NCP leaders for consultation. During the meeting, the Governor handed a letter to the NCP leaders asking their party to indicate its "willingness and ability" to form the next Government in the State by 8.30 pm on Tuesday.

After meeting the Governor, State NCP president Jayant Patil said, "As per the procedure, the Governor has given us a letter being the third single largest party in Maharashtra. We have suggested to him that we will have to talk to our alliance partner. We have assured him that we will get back to him as early as possible."

NCP president Sharad Pawar and central Congress leaders will hold talks on Tuesday on the Governor's letter. Given that the combined strength of the two parties is 98 and they are 47 MLAs short of the magic figure of 145 in the 288-member Assembly, they cannot on their own stake a claim to form a Government.

NCP leaders Ajit Pawar, Dhananjay Munde and others meet Maharashtra Governor BS Koshyari at Raj Bhavan in Mumbai on Monday evening

It remains to be seen if the NCP and the Congress will seek the support of the Shiv Sena to form a Government. If the two parties do approach the Sena, will the Sena extend its support to the NCP and the Congress? Lending support to the NCP-Congress means the Sena forfeiting its much-discussed claim on the Chief Minister's post, a post for which the Sena sacrificed its 30-year-long (albeit of an interrupted nature in 2014) alliance with the BJP.

Secondly, the Sena will have to play the second fiddle to the NCP-Congress alliance if it chooses to be a part of the three-party Government. Will the NCP-Congress alliance take the risk of running a Government with an aggressive Sena, which is ideologically different from the two parties?

On his part, the Governor is going through with the motions of exhausting Constitutional options. Once he is through with the process, will he recommend President's rule in the State? This is a question that is bothering all the political parties in the State.

Despite indicating that they would extend their support to the Sena to form a Government, the NCP and Congress remained non-committal on the issue till Monday.

Though Pawar held several rounds of talks with his party leaders, he refrained from saying anything on extending sup-

Sena plans exit from NDA for survival

DEEPAK K UPRETI ■ NEW DELHI

The steady national dominance of the BJP since 2014 has seemingly squeezed the space and whittled the influence of allies in the National Democratic Alliance (NDA), the rippling impact of what is now being felt even by its oldest "ideological partner" Shiv Sena which after making common cause with the former for 25 years, is, interestingly, set to end the alliance and hug the political opponents it fought against till as recently as in the last month's Assembly polls in Maharashtra.

Sena, which had experimented with the Congress or briefly even with the Indian Union Muslim League (IUML) in Maharashtra before launching itself with the BJP in 1989 touting "safron brotherhood", was all through two decades a

"big-brother" in the western State as the BJP willingly played a second-fiddle in the State.

The Shah-Modi politics reversed the equation in the State as was evident when the two allies contested polls separately in 2014. In 2019, too, the two bitterly fought for greater share of seats before joining hands at the last minute in the Assembly polls that last month did not deliver the "expected" majority for the BJP, giving it 17 less seats than it collected in 2014.

The taciturn Sena was feeling the pressure from the BJP and suspected it of usurping its urban turf and gradually marginalising it in the State politics.

The rules of games had changed and the BJP was now playing big brother in Maharashtra even as it was already at the Centre. And as they say when the shove came to the push, Sena, which was constantly sniping at the BJP and attacking Modi-Shah and at times even praising former Congress president Rahul Gandhi at the cost of the duo, bolted and joined one-time foes the Congress and the NCP to try forming a second Government after Manohar Joshi first helmed the affairs in 1995 to become the first non-Congress Chief Minister in Maharashtra.

1,500 winged guests found dead around Sambhar Lake

PTI ■ JAIPUR

Hundreds of migratory birds of over a dozen species have been found dead in Sambhar lake area near Jaipur. Water contamination is suspected to be the cause behind the birds' death, said officials, adding, the exact reason, however, would be clear only after testing their viscera.

The birds, numbering around 1,500, were found dead on Sunday in over five to seven square km area, which is a well-known wetland of international importance and is visited by tens of thousands of migratory birds during winter.

After receiving the information about dead birds from local residents, a team of revenue, forest and veterinary officials visited the area and found around 1,500 carcasses of 15 species, including those of Northern Shovelers, Ruddy Shelduck, Plovers, Avocets and others.

Govt sets in motion formation of trust to build Ram Mandir

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

In line with the Supreme Court judgment to set up a trust for the construction of Ram Mandir in Ayodhya, the Centre has started the process, with a team of officers from the Ministries of Home, Law and Culture to study the SC order threadbare to ensure that the trust is constituted in three months as per the SC verdict in the Ram Janmabhoomi-Babri Masjid case.

The opinion of the Attorney General and the Solicitor General will be taken on how to proceed, said senior officials. The Ministry of Home Affairs or Ministry of Culture will be expected to be the nodal Ministry in creation of the trust, said officials, adding that consultations will also soon start with the Uttar Pradesh Government in this regard.

In a unanimous verdict on Saturday, a five-judge constitution Bench headed by Chief Justice Ranjan Gogoi cleared the way for the construction of a Ram temple at the 2.77-acre disputed site in Ayodhya and directed the Centre to allot a five-acre plot at an "alternate but prominent" location to the Sunni Central Waqf Board for building a mosque.

The Central Government shall within a period of three months from the date of this judgment, formulate a scheme under the Acquisition of Certain Area at Ayodhya Act, 1993. The scheme shall envisage the setting up of a trust with a board of trustees or any other appropriate body..." said the judgment.

It is understood that the Centre will task the Uttar Pradesh Government to find the five acre for the construction of the new mosque in consultation with the Sunni Waqf Board. The apex court has directed either the Centre or the State Government to hand over the five acre to the Sunni Waqf Board.

Min stuck for 6 hrs in JNU hostel fee hike stir

HRD Min assures help

SHEKHAR SINGH ■ NEW DELHI

The hostel fee hike, "curfew timings" and dress code proposed by the Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU) administration have not gone down well with the students who held a protest in front of the university gate on Monday and clashed with police, leaving HRD Minister Ramesh Pokhriyal "Nishank" stranded for over six hours at the venue of the varsity's convocation.

The students wanted to march towards the All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE), around 3 kilometres from the JNU campus where Vice President Venkaiah Naidu was addressing the university's convocation with HRD Minister at an auditorium, but were stopped a few meters back by the Delhi Police and Central Reserve Police Force. Police used water cannon to disperse the protesters.

"...the situation has been handled. A student delegation, including the JNUSU president had met the Minister and they have been given assurance that their demands will be addressed," said a senior HRD Ministry official. The HRD Minister left the AICTE premises around 4.15 pm and had to cancel two events scheduled at Shastrī Bhawan.

Police also detained several students who were released after a few hours. The police personnel also formed a 'human chain' in order to facilitate the safe exit of the students attending convocation.

The protests started in the morning around 11:30 am and escalated as the day progressed with hundreds of students jostling with the police personnel. The protesters also toppled barricades and hurled shoes at the police and CRPF personnel when they were not allowed to march towards the convocation venue.

Police said that barricades were placed outside the north and west gates of the JNU campus, as well as on the route between the AICTE auditorium and the university at Baba Balaknath Marg and in nearby areas.

Plan to create 2-cr jobs in Delhi-NCR in 20 yrs

RAJESH KUMAR ■ NEW DELHI

Generating two crore jobs in 20 years is what the "Regional Plan 2041" of the National Capital Region (NCR) will envisage. The Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs (MoHUA) on Monday asked the National Capital Region Planning Board (NCRPB) to prepare a blueprint for the plan by mid-2021 keeping in mind the transport, hospital, hospitality, education, environment, water, sewerage, solid waste and power sectors where the jobs will mostly be created.

"The development of these sectors will increase rural income and reduce poverty," member secretary NCPRB Archana Agarwal said, adding a regional plan with next horizon year 2041 is required to be prepared now.

The regional plan 2021 was notified on September 17, 2005, and is presently in force.

Officials said that the Rapid Rail Transit System (RRTS) project will generate huge employments in Delhi and its neighboring States. The RRTS project is worth ₹30,274 crore and will be implemented in phases, based upon its corridors and sections. The country's first regional rapid rail corridor will come up on the Delhi-Ghaziabad-Meerut route, which will eventually bring down the travel time between Delhi and Meerut to just 55 minutes. "All rapid rail trains will have the 'made in India' mark, which means generation of employment," said officials of NCRPB.

The construction of Eastern Peripheral Expressway and Western Peripheral Expressway has already generated thousands of jobs in the areas. It has given direct and indirect employment to over 10,000 skilled and unskilled workers.

MoHUA Secretary Durga Shankar Mishra asked the NCRPB to notify the regional plan by mid-2021 and focus on how to make cities citizen-centric, liveable, environmentally sustainable and disaster resilient. "The 2041 regional plan should also make the National Conservation Zone more effective, look at ways to integrate rural and urban, utilise opportunities provided by the Transit Oriented Development policy and redevelopment. Only plans with crucial factors like economic ability and sustainability can succeed," Mishra added.

Land is the biggest challenge today and planners should think of ways to make optimum use of existing land, he said. Asked if the 2021 plan has been met with success, he said that a "lot has been achieved — both the Eastern and Western Peripheral Roads are ready, civil construction work is on with regard to the Delhi-Meerut Regional Rapid Transit System (Delhi-Meerut RRTS), a lot of progress has been achieved on the Delhi to Panipat, Delhi-Alwar RRTS projects also. These are expected to be sanctioned soon.

JNU students protest fee hike

SHEKHAR SINGH ■ NEW DELHI

The simmering discontent among the Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU) students community against the university administration over the proposed fee hike took form of a massive protest on Monday with students registering their protest in front of Union Human Resource Development (HRD) Minister on the day of the 'convocation'.

The student community argued that the proposed fee hike is exorbitant and will make hostel unaffordable to a large section of students belonging to poor category. However, since last 14 years there has been no fee hike and the proposed fee can still be said to be nominal, argued administration.

According to notification issued by Inter Hall Administration (IHA) committee of JNU last month, the proposed 'Hostel Manual' stated that room rent for single seater which was ₹20 per month will be now ₹300 per month.

"The rent for double seater room was ₹10 per month and proposed new rent is ₹300 per month. Whereas service charges of ₹1700 per month for sanitation, maintenance, cook, mess helper has been introduced. One time mess security, which is refundable, has been increased from ₹5,500 to ₹12,000," stated the proposed IHA committee notification.

Besides this the students will have to return to their respective hostels by 11.30 pm. "Students who visit the library will have to return to their hostels within half an hour of the library closing.

The reading hall on the ground floor of BR Ambedkar Central Library at JNU remained open till 12 am," also states the notification uploaded on the JNU website. Opposing the proposed hostel manual, the students alleged that the JNU authorities have increased the hostel fees by around ₹2,000.

"A further hike in mess fee and room rent took the increase to ₹4,000 per student. Students will also need to pay a refundable amount of ₹12,000 as security deposit, up from ₹5,500 earlier," said students.

Sambid Verma, a first year student of Master in Philosophy (History), said university has hiked the hostel fee by nearly 300 per cent, which "will affect an overwhelming number of students." "While we were paying ₹2,500 a month earlier but now we will have to pay ₹7,000 per month. We have opposed the new hostel manual but we are compelled to protest because our issues have not been addressed," said Verma adding that there was nearly a 300 per cent hike.

Stop farm fires: Gahlot to Khattar, Capt

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Delhi Environment Minister Kailash Gahlot on Monday wrote a letter to the Union Minister of Environment and the Chief Ministers (CMs) of Haryana and Punjab, raising the issue of air pollution caused due to continuous stubble burning. Concerned over the increasing air pollution level in the national Capital, he also requested the neighbouring States to immediately stop stubble burning.

The Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) ruled Government also claimed that no environment Ministers from the neighbouring States of Punjab, Haryana, Uttar Pradesh (UP) and Rajasthan and even the officials from the Delhi Development Authority (DDA) and all MCDs did not attend the meeting called by the Centre to prepare a roadmap to contain air pollution in the National Capital Region (NCR).

"This lax approach can't bring any positive results in the efforts to contain pollution. It is unfortunate that it happened in spite of the strict directions from the Supreme Court and even after summoning the Chief Secretaries of the respective States by the apex court. I am writing a letter to the Chief Ministers of the respective States raising this issue and requesting on behalf of the people of Delhi to stop stubble burning in the respective States. Yesterday and today, Delhi witnessed increased pollution", said Gahlot. He further said that dust originated from the roads, particularly from unpaved roads is one of the major sources of pollution within Delhi. Mostly, these roads fall under MCDs. The empty land patches that create dust fall under DDA. Neither MCD commissioners nor DDA VC and officials were present in the meeting. Without the cooperation of such agencies dust sources and garbage that causes pollution cannot be controlled. It is unfortunate that such a serious issue has been neglected by these agencies. "In such a situation, how a roadmap can be prepared without political will and 100% commitment?" said the Environment Minister who also holds the transport portfolio. The share of smoke from stubble burning in Delhi's pollution was 18-20 per cent on Monday. The minister also added that, "Despite the Supreme Court's strict directions on this very serious issue, environment ministers of Punjab, Haryana, Uttar Pradesh and Rajasthan did not attend the meeting. The seriousness required to deal with the issue was missing."

The minister expressed concern over the pace of distribution of farm equipment to farmers for in-situ management of paddy straw. According to an affidavit filed by the Centre in the Supreme Court, Haryana and Punjab distributed 63,000 machines to farmers during 2018-19. In 2019-20, as many as 46,000 machines have been distributed, Gahlot said. "There are around 27 lakh farmers in Punjab alone. If the same speed continues, it will take another 60 years for the machines to reach every farmer. It seems stubble burning will continue at the same pace next year too," he said.

Moreover, the pollution level in the National Capital also increased in the past two days. At 10.37 am, the air quality index (AQI) was 331. The AQI at Rohini, Bawana and Anand Vihar was 380, 375 and 373 respectively. Government air quality monitoring service SAFAR said the city's air quality was expected to turn 'severe' by Tuesday. The average AQI stood at 321 on Sunday.

Min asks DMRC to decide on appointment of city Govt's nominees Raghav, Atishi

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Delhi Transport Minister Kailash Gahlot on Monday wrote a letter to the Delhi Metro Rail Corporation (DMRC) requesting to take the decision on the nominees, nominated by Delhi Government to its Board of Directors.

The Minister has also written a letter to the Managing Director Mangu Singh to 'expedite' the decision and appoint the Government nominees.

The Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) Government in July this year, had nominated AAP leader Raghav Chadha, Atishi and two others for the DMRC board of directors. But the Centre, citing the rule book asked the Delhi Government to withdraw the nominations of the political party leaders and 'nominate' Government officials as per the law.

Gahlot also asked the Delhi Metro to stop taking decisions illegally without having a say of the Delhi Government on crucial issues.

"Delhi Government nominated three people to the independent Director Board of DMRC on 13 July 2019. After four months, no decision was taken so far. We came to know from the minutes of the Director Board held on 26 September that it was part of the agenda, but the decision was deferred. Further the board has taken many crucial decisions and passed the same without any representatives from the Delhi Government," he added.

The decisions taken in the meeting are illegal and avoidable. In DMRC, Delhi Government holds 50 per cent share and equal share of the number of directors. Hence DMRC should stop taking decision without representation of the Delhi Government", said the Minister.

"Seeking legal opinion on Government's recommendations without deciding in the board meeting is also illegal, I am writing to the Managing Director of DMRC to expedite the decision and appoint the Government nominees", he added.

1,301 dengue, 652 malaria cases reported till now

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

At least 1,301 cases of dengue have been reported in the national Capital till now, in which 232 cases reported in last week. Last year, 1,875 patients were diagnosed with dengue till November 9. Meanwhile, the number of malaria cases have gone up to 652 in the current year. Out of total malaria cases, 35 cases were recorded this month and there were 206 cases in October while September saw 214 cases, according to the latest data of the SDMC, which tabulates the data on vector-borne diseases in the city.

Of the total 833 dengue cases, 232 were recorded in November, 551 in October, 190 in September, 52 in August, 18 in July, 11 in June and the rest were registered between January and May. According to civic body, eight new cases of chikungunya also reported in last week, taking the total number to 151.

As per the data, mosquito-breeding has been reported in at least 1,71,437 households and 13,6,138 legal notices have been issued this year. Besides 17,046 number of prosecution has been launched by the civic bodies, the report stated.

The key to prevention of Dengue is ensuring there is no clean stagnant water in homes and around, which does not allow the Aedes mosquitoes to breed, and therefore dengue cannot spread.

It may be noted that Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal said on Sunday said that less than 1,100 cases of dengue and no deaths due to the mosquito-borne disease were reported so far this year in the national Capital. Number of the cases increased after the last week's data was added to it.

The Chief Minister in a video message posted on Twitter said that this was an achievement in comparison to 2015 when over 15,000 dengue cases had been recorded and 60 people had died in the national capital.

Lauding residents' efforts to reduce the cases, Kejriwal said it required people to look for stagnant water in and around their homes for ten minutes at 10 AM every Sunday for ten weeks and dispose it off to prevent the breeding of mosquitoes.

Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal had launched the mega Dengue prevention awareness campaign from September 1 and November 15 to combat dengue has garnered a massive support from public and several other well-known personalities across the country, including cricketers, Bollywood actors and famous journalists.

Centre has no intention of regularising illegal colonies: AAP

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Termining the move of the Centre to regularise unauthorised colonies is an election gimmick, the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) on Monday claimed that the Centre has no intention of fulfilling its promise.

Senior AAP leader and Rajya Sabha MP Sanjay Singh said the Congress had also issued provisional certificates in 2008 before the Assembly elections and after coming to power it had not regularised these colonies and now the BJP is doing the same thing.

"The BJP is misleading people by saying that they will register names of people living in unauthorised colonies on an online portal," he said.

AAP leader Gopal Rai said the regularisation of unauthorised colonies is "just an election promise that the ruling party has no intention of fulfilling".

The BJP, however, hit back saying that it is the Central government's "sincere" effort to regularise such colonies and alleged that the AAP government in Delhi is acting "irresponsibly" on the issue. BJP leader Vijender Gupta, however, claimed that the AAP's intentions are "mala fide" on the issue.

The move comes ahead of Assembly polls in Delhi, scheduled for early next year. The decision is applicable to 1,797 identified unauthorised colonies spread over 175 square km inhabited by people from lower income groups, Puri had said last month.

Dirty fuel-based industries in city, suburbs to remain close till Nov 13

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

A CPCB-led task force on Monday recommended extending the restrictions on dirty fuel-based industries in Delhi and its suburbs till November 13.

The task force also recommended the ban on hot-mix plants and stone-crushers in Delhi-NCR till Wednesday. "The operation of industries may commence from November 14," it said. The Supreme Court had on November 4 banned construction and demolition activities in the region till further orders.

At a review meeting on Monday, India Meteorological Department officials told the 10-member task force that north-westerly winds and an increase in the incidents of stubble burning have led to a deterioration in air quality.

Bike-borne snatcher held within 30 mins of committing crime

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The Police Control Room (PCR) unit of Delhi Police has arrested 24-year-old bike-borne snatcher, who had robbed two women, within a half an hour in West Delhi's Uttam Nagar area. Police also recovered robbed purse and a mobile phone from the possession of the accused.

The accused has been identified as Sanjay (24) and he is found previously involved in five cases of snatching registered across the city. # PWD raps its staffers for not disposing waste material on dumping sites

GAYATHRI MANI ■ NEW DELHI

Witnessing a surfeit of complaints regarding the construction waste and disposal material, the PWD has chastised its staff for not disposing of the dismantled or construction waste material in the identified dumping sites. The department has also decided to create a separate condition and rules for all the future agreements of projects to curb the disposal of C&D waste in the public and thus creating hazard to the environment.

The decision was taken in the wake of Supreme Court (SC) order, which asked the civic authorities to number measures to control various factor contributing to the pollution in Delhi. The PWD has also issued a memorandum to all the Principal and Chief Engineer regarding this issue.

"It has come to notice that dismantled building materials are not transported/disposed off at the identified landfill sites of Municipal Corporations of Delhi (MCD) and in many cases, contractors are not providing the receipts of MCD as a proof of disposing and prefer not to claim payment for the same," read the memorandum letter, copy of which is with The Pioneer. The civic authority will further make it mandatory for all the contractors to make a video documentary of disposing off the construction waste material at the site.

"In order to curb the disposal of C&D waste here and there and to ensure that it is disposed at authorized dumping sites only, it is hereby directed that in all future agreements in projects, a specific condition should be inserted that all the C&D waste generated from dismantling in PWD works shall be transported/disposed off at the identified landfill sites of Municipal Corporation of Delhi and documentary evidence in form of receipts from municipalities and video record of pre-measured stacks has to be mandatorily submitted to the department," said the PWD in the letter.

As per the officials, if anyone will fail to fulfill the C&D criteria will have to pay double penalty plus processing fee payable at the landfill site and no payments for concerned agreements item and reimbursement of processing fee will be made to contractors. Further, in case of small works under maintenance zones, the C&D waste from dismantled building materials generally small in quantity will be transported to a designated site in sub-division/division office by contractors.

"The C&D waste from these departmental designated sites will be disposed off at the municipal landfill sites via a separate agreement. Although pre-measurement recording and documentary evidence of disposal will be mandatory," said a PWD official.

Cong slams Govt for closing 4 OTs in LNJP hospital

Delhi Congress president Subhash Chopra and former Delhi Health Minister Dr AK Walia address the media on Monday. Ranjan Dimri | Pioneer

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Delhi Congress president Subhash Chopra slammed the AAP-led Delhi Government for its decision to shut down four out of its 18 Operation Theaters in Lok Nayak Jai Prakash Narayan (LNJP) hospital due to lack of essential and basic equipment. Chopra accused the AAP to provide benefit to private hospitals, anticipating financial cut in return.

"Now with the closer of Operation Theater (OT), patients will be referred to priate hospitals," he said, adding that it is an "organized loot". Addressing the media, former Delhi Health Minister Dr A K Walia said that medical services in Government hospitals have been collapsed due to lack of facilities. He said that on an average 16 to 18 surgeries are conducted daily in a major operation theatre and the present waiting time for surgeries in LNJP hospital is 30 days, which will get further stretched if four operation theatres of the hospital are closed.

Dr Walia said that the Delhi Government runs a free surgery scheme that provide patients the autonomy to be referred to empanelled private hospitals or nursing homes for identified Delhi Government hospitals for surgeries in case the latter cannot provide the treatment within 30 days.

"The LNJP is the biggest Delhi Government hospitals with 2102 beds, which is the highest among the Delhi Government hospitals. On average 938 major surgeries are conducted in the LNJP in a month (April-June, 2019-20) while average number of major surgeries per month was 2264 in 2018-19," he said, adding that last year, two OTs were not functional in LNJP, and now after one and a half years, four more OTs will be non-functional which will reduce the major surgeries per month by 58 per cent.

He said that in 2018-19, 8781 patients died in LNJP, which was the highest in all Delhi Government hospitals.

Recalling Congress rule in Delhi, he said there were 38 Government hospitals and when the Congress left power in 2013, three hospitals were under construction, and it all has not yet been completed.

"The LNJP has a bed occupancy rate of 136 per cent (fourth highest in all the Delhi Government hospitals), and the average number of patients in the In-Patient Department (IPD) per month is 8796 (second highest in Delhi Government hospitals), he said, adding that while the number of beds was going down in Government hospitals, the number was going up in private hospitals.

MP: Lawyer files complaint over Owaisi’s remarks on Ayodhya verdict

Indore: A private complaint was filed against AIMIM Chief Asaduddin Owaisi on Monday at a court in Madhya Pradesh’s Indore for his remarks on the Supreme Court’s Ayodhya verdict.

The complainant, lawyer Sunil Verma, contended that Owaisi be prosecuted under IPC sections 153-A (promoting enmity between different groups on grounds of religion) and Section 295-A (deliberate and malicious acts, intended to outrage religious feelings) and relevant provisions of the IT Act. Judicial Magistrate First Class (JMFC) AK Gupta ordered Juni Indore police station to inquire into the complaint against the AIMIM Chief and present a report by November 20. Verma told reporters that Owaisi had insulted the apex court by making “objectionable” comments on the verdict and had also tried to hurt religious sentiments.

Owaisi, who is Lok Sabha MP and a barrister, should have observed restraint while commenting on the apex court decision.

MP woman set to call off 27-yr-old fruit-milk fast after Ram Mandir decision

PTI ■ JABALPUR

An 81-year-old former Sanskrit teacher in Madhya Pradesh’s Jabalpur having only milk and fruits since 1992 wishing for a resolution to the Ayodhya dispute now plans to resume a regular diet, her son said.

Happy with Saturday’s Supreme Court order which paved the way for a Ram Temple in Ayodhya, as well as a mosque on a 5-acre plot, Urmila Chaturvedi wants her kin to write a letter of thanks to Chief Justice Ranjan Gogoi, he said. The SC on Saturday cleared the way for the construction of a Ram Temple at the disputed site at Ayodhya, and directed the Centre to allot a 5-acre plot to the Sunni Waqf Board for building a mosque.

In one of the most important and most anticipated judgements in India’s history, a bench headed by Chief Justice Ranjan Gogoi put an end to the more than a century old dispute that has torn the social fabric of the nation.

“My mother was on a fruit and milk diet for the past 27 years. She was 54 at the time when she started this. She is very happy with the Supreme Court verdict,” her son Amit Chaturvedi told PTI.

“She has asked me to write a letter of thanks to Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. My mother is an ardent devotee of Lord Ram and was waiting for a solution to the Ayodhya dispute,” he added.

He said his mother, a Sanskrit teacher at private institutions, was very upset over the violence that engulfed the nation after the Babri Masjid was demolished on December 6, 1992. The site was occupied by the 16th century Babri mosque, built by Mughal empire’s founder Babur, which was destroyed by Hindu kar sevaks on December 6, 1992.

“Thereafter she resolved to observe a partial fast, limiting her diet to milk and fruits, till the Ayodhya dispute was resolved. She stood by it despite relatives requesting her several times to call it off,” Amit said. He said the family will soon organise “Udyapan”, a ceremony to conclude the fast, as her wish has been fulfilled. He added that his mother was not associated to any political or religious outfit.

Two more persons, including a six-year-old girl, succumbed to injuries on Monday, taking to seven the death toll in a crash involving a car and an unidentified vehicle on the Eastern Peripheral Expressway in Greater Noida, police said.

Those killed include three women, all sisters, two girls and two men, including the driver of the car. The car was hit by the unidentified vehicle in Site 5 police station area around 9 pm on Sunday, the police said.

The family was returning to Bulandshahr from a wedding function in Haryana’s Ballabgarh, a police official said. “Six other occupants of the Maruti Eeco were injured when it was hit by the unidentified vehicle from the rear. Most of the injured included children and four of them have been referred to Delhi for treatment,” the official said.

Delhi’s air quality nears ‘severe’ levels again

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Delhi-NCR’s air quality bordered “severe” levels on Monday with more farm fire plume blowing towards the region, and a decrease in the wind speed and temperature hampering dispersion of pollutants.

The Ministry of Earth Sciences’ air quality monitor, SAFAR, said the air quality will turn “severe” on Tuesday.

On Monday, the city’s overall air quality index read 360 at 4 pm, up from 321 on Sunday.

The monitoring stations at Nehru Nagar (406), Ashok Vihar (402), Rohini (414), Vivek Vihar (406), Wazirpur (409), Bawana (414), Mundka (413), and Anand Vihar (412) recorded the air quality in the “severe” category.

Pollution levels in Ghaziabad also entered “severe” levels towards the evening, and increased in Greater Noida (392) and Noida (400).

An AQI between 201 and 300 is considered ‘poor’, 301-400 ‘very poor’ and 401-500 ‘severe’.

An AQI above 500 falls in the ‘severe plus’ category.

Kuldeep Srivastava, head of the India Meteorological Department’s regional weather forecasting centre, said the spike in pollution levels can be attributed to a significant decline in the wind speed from 20 kilometers per hour over the last two days to 10 kilometers per hour on Monday.

Sena plans exit from NDA for survival

Sena’s move to walkout of the NDA is not surprising, given the changing power-play at the Centre and the BJP outgrowing Sena in Maharashtra where the latter has a longer history and roots that are under imminent threat from the BJP’s growing appetite for total control in the cash-rich State. Sena making friends with the opponents and “going against the mandate” (as BJP has sought to rationalise before stepping aside) may backfire for it. But the power-game, which overlooks larger public interest, has always been about cobbling up numbers.

Sena is no stranger to opportunism. Formed in 1966 by Bal Thackeray, it has like other parties enough experience of playing opportunist politics prior to teaming up with the ideological partner 25 years ago. Its alliance with Congress (O) in 1971 elections following a split of the Congress, and then even backing Indira Gandhi’s Emergency are but a few examples of its non-ideological politics. Not just this, Bal Thackeray even aligned with Indian Union Muslim League leader Ghulam Muhammad Banatwala in the BrihanMumbai Corporation (BMC) election. History is merely repeating itself in Maharashtra for the Sena.

Shrimoni Akali Dal (SAD), another long-time ally, has also felt the heavy hand of the BJP when it refused to share seats with SAD in the recent Haryana polls and even roped in the sole SAD MLA to its side before the elections. But there has not been any acrimony between the two with SAD supremo Parkash Singh Badal terming the alliance ‘sacred’.

Former Prime Minister V P Singh, who ushered a coalition Government at the Centre in 1989 that was backed up by the left and the BJP, had once famously said “politics is art of managing contradictions”. The ‘contradictions’ which Sena now seek to manage outside the ‘safron brotherhood’ are apparently being handled ‘defly’ by a ‘secular’ Nitish Kumar within the NDA even though it refused to support the BJP-spearheaded legislation on the triple talaq, aimed at emancipating Muslim women.

Kumar returned to the NDA fold in 2017 after ditching ‘secular’ Rashtriya Lok Dal in Bihar and walking out from the alliance in 2013 with a rush of adrenaline saying the “Gujarat blot cannot be erased” and berating the “Gujarat model of development”.

Nitish’s JDU has not been represented at the Centre with Narendra Modi in his second-inning refusing to part with more than one Cabinet berth to it. The compensation, however, is coming in form of Kumar’s acceptance as Chief Ministerial candidate in the Assembly polls, next year, despite some recent contrarian murmuring within the Bihar BJP unit.

Coalition politics at the Centre had even before the start of the nineties witnessed strange bedfellows with political parties of all denominations and assorted ‘ayarams-gayarams’ suiting their convenience, making governments rise and fall. And politics at the State levels has experienced this fragmentation even earlier with ‘national interest’ as the umbrella cover or an ‘innocent’ euphemism for making a ‘non-ideological’ power alliance.

The State level politics and regional satraps, however, came under pressure after the ascendancy of the BJP since 2014 which one by one scooped out national parties and regional players in the States and put itself in the driver’s seat. At one stage BJP was ruling in 20 states before it was beaten back by the Congress in Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh and Chhattisgarh. The Sena revolt will now be a test as much for it as for the BJP.

Cong’s Catch-22 situation spoils Shiv Sena’s chance

Hectic parleys started early morning and involved both the AICC and PCC leaders as Congress president Sonia Gandhi took stock of the things and even spoke to Pawar and Uddhav. A majority of the newly-elected Congress MLAs from Maharashtra are in favour of forming a Government in the State by being part of it. Some called for extending an outside support to the dispensation led by the Sena. More so, as they wanted to keep the BJP out of power in the politically and financially crucial State.

Pawar made attempts to bridge the gap between Sena and a reluctant Congress and Sonia is understood to have conveyed both the parties interested in forming a Government that Congress will get back only after speaking to MLAs. Sources said Uddhav had called Sonia over phone seeking her support in Maharashtra to keep away the BJP. “We will get back to you after speaking to MLAs,” Sonia reportedly told Uddhav who made several calls during the day to get past their differences to collaborate.

As the Sena and NCP anticipated that Congress will extend their support by the evening, the unexpected decision of the latter to discuss “once more” put cold waters on the Sena’s desire to install their Chief Minister in the State. Given the stalemate between the two former alliance partners BJP and Shiv Sena, the role of Congress with its 44 legislators and NCP with 54 MLAs is crucial. Top Congress leaders, former Maharashtra Chief Ministers Ashok Chavan, Prithviraj Chavan and Sushilkumar Shinde as well as State unit chief Balasaheb Thorat met Sonia. Earlier in the morning, all senior members of the Congress Working Committee (CWC) met at Sonia’s residence.

After the meeting was inconclusive, the party leadership decided to meet again. This time senior leaders A K Antony, Ahmed Patel, Kharage and KC Venugopal attended. Sonia also spoke to senior party leader from Maharashtra Nana Patole and discussed the political possibilities.

Now with the Governor giving an opportunity to NCP to form a Government, Congress was caught in a catch 22 situation whether to honour its ally NCP in forming the Government which according to sources intends to back Sena in Maharashtra.

Sena fails to...

Earlier in the afternoon, Sena president Uddhav Thackeray spoke on the phone with Congress Interim president Sonia to discuss Government formation. Ud also met with Nationalist Congress Party leader Sharad Pawar at a five-star hotel in Mumbai. Later in the evening, the Shiv Sena virtually forfeited an opportunity to form a Government after they failed to produce letters of support from the NCP and Congress which, it claimed, had in principle extended their support to it form a Government. Much to the Sena’s disappointment, the Governor declined to give three days’ extension to it to submit letters of support from the NCP and Congress, thus once again plunging Maharashtra into a state of uncertainty.

“A delegation of leaders of Sena met the Governor and expressed their willingness to form the Government. However, they could not submit the requisite letters of support. Further, they submitted a letter requesting for three days of extension of the deadline for submitting the letters of support. The Governor expressed his inability to give further extension,” a statement issued by Raj Bhavan said. Talking to mediapersons after meeting the Governor and “stating a claim” to form the Government, Yuv Sena leader Aditya Thackeray said, “Yesterday evening at around 7.30 pm, our legislature party leader Eknath Shinde received a letter from the Governor asking us indicate its ‘willingness and ability’ to form the next Government in the State.

Despite the indications to the contrary available from both the parties all through the day, the NCP and Congress did not give their letters of support either directly to the Sena or send them across to Raj Bhavan, before the Sena. But, till this afternoon, the BJP did not give us its letter of support to us. We have started talking to two other parties (NCP and Congress). The two parties have in principle agreed to support us in the larger interests of Maharashtra. The talks have begun between them as well.” “Since our deadline (to get back to the Governor) was 7.30 pm, we arrived at Raj Bhavan at 6.45 pm. We told the Governor that we are willing to form the Government. We have staked our claim to form the Government. Though we were given 24 hours time to express our willingness to form the Government, we have got back to the Governor in 23 hours and submitted the letters signed by our party MLAs.

“In the case of two other party, they will have to obtain signatures from their MLAs. This procedure will take at least two days. Hence we requested the Governor to extend the deadline by three days. However, the Governor rejected our request. But, I can tell you one thing: the Governor has not rejected our claim. It stands. He has only rejected additional time sought by us,” Aditya said.

“We will come back and give letters of support to the Government. I do not know what next course of action to be taken by the Governor --- whether he will invite the third single largest party or recommend to Rashtrapati Bhavan about the imposition of the President’s rule in the state. All the same our efforts to form the next government will continue,” the Yuv Sena president said.

The Delhi students raised slogans such as “Delhi Police Go Back” and called Vice Chancellor M Jagadeesh Kumar Mamidala a ‘thief’. The students are demanding withdrawal of the draft hostel manual, which they claimed has provisions for fee hike, dress code and curfew timings. Top brass of police including Special Commissioner of Police (Law & Order) South Zone, R S Krishna, Joint CP (Central range) Anand Mohan, Devendra Arya, DCP, South West and Mandeep Singh Randhawa, the DCP, Central district were pressed into service to handle the situation. Traffic came to a standstill around the area. The gates of the AICTE were locked and security personnel were stationed in and outside the premises. Even Union HRD Minister was not able to come out of the auditorium for over six hours, following which the police requested the students to let him go. Police requested the protesters to move from the gate, but the protesting students refused. A varsity official said JNUSU president Aishe Ghosh and vice president Saket Moon, along with other students, met Union HRD Minister who assured them that their demands would be looked into. “They, however, were not able to meet the VC and raised slogans following which they started chanting “we want V-C” at the venue,” said the official. “The V-C is destroying the varsity.

We have made several attempts to meet him in campus, but there has been no fruitful result,” Ghosh said. Around 15 to 20 students who were graduating were sitting inside the auditorium main gate in solidarity with the protesters. “Historic day for us that we broke barricades, reached the convocation venue and met the minister. This could happen because we were united. This is not the end of our movement. We urged the HRD Minister to ask the V-C to have a dialogue with the students. It is due to him that things have come to be like this,” said Ghosh. According to protesting students, they are opposing the new hostel manual draft, which the administration plans to implement. “The key concerns whirl around the unstructured hostel and mess fee hike, ‘appropriate’ dress code for students and implementation of curfew timings for hostel residents. The manual also includes clauses for individual installation of electricity and water meters for hostel rooms, revision of room rent from ₹10 to ₹300 per month for double set room, ₹20 to ₹600 per month for single bed room in hostel and a monthly service charge of ₹1,700, which could be hiked at a later time,” said Apeksha Priyadarshni, a scholar pursuing PhD in Cinema. JNUSU said hike and additional fees will directly hit 40% of economically marginalised students in the university. “The implementation of curfew time of 11:30 pm will prevent students from studying in libraries,” said the JNUSU.

ONION HOARDING

IT Dept check traders' premises

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Income Tax (IT) Department on Monday surveyed commercial premises of some Onion traders in Maharashtra and Delhi following reports of alleged hoarding of the vegetable amid its skyrocketing prices. The department is examining the onion stocks as its prices have shot up to about ₹100 a kg in various markets and there are reports of hoarding.

- Top sources said IT sleuths has raided offices of at least four big onion traders from Lasalgaon, largest market for wholesale trade of onions in the country. IT officials are checking account books of some wholesale dealers against physical stocks of the commodity and its delivery to buyers as the part of a tax evasion probe
- Highest rate of the bulb touched ₹57/kg on Monday. Average wholesale prices at Lasalgaon market have been ruling around ₹45 per kg. Traders fear that further spike in prices due to the high amount of damaged crops because of the unseasonal November rain
- IT sources said the Marketing Intelligence Unit of the department has recorded reports of hoarding of onion by big suppliers of Delhi and Maharashtra

Onion prices have risen sharply for more than a month due to tight supply. As per the market data, onion price is ruling in range of ₹60-80 per kg in several parts of the country.

Top sources said IT sleuths has raided offices of at least four big onion traders from Lasalgaon, largest market for wholesale trade of onions in the country. IT officials are checking account books of some wholesale dealers against physical stocks of the commodity and its delivery to buyers as the part of a tax evasion probe.

The highest rate of the bulb touched ₹57 per kg on Monday. The average wholesale prices at Lasalgaon market have been ruling around ₹45 per kg. Traders fear that further spike in prices due to the high amount of damaged crops because of the unseasonal November rains.

IT sources said the Marketing Intelligence Unit of the department has recorded reports of hoarding of onion by big suppliers of Delhi and Maharashtra. To get rid of skyrocketing of onion prices, the Department of Consumers Affairs on Saturday decided to import one lakh tonnes of onion to control prices. The Government is also trying to in the domestic market. The decision was taken at a meeting of committee of secretaries held on Saturday.

"The Government has taken a decision to import 1 lakh tonnes of onion to control prices," Food and Consumer Affairs Minister Ram Vilas Paswan had said in a tweet on Saturday. Last week, Paswan had attributed the sharp rise in onion prices to 30-40 per cent fall in domestic production

According to MMTC, one tender will close on November 14, while the other will close on November 18. The first shipment of 2,000 tonnes should arrive at Indian ports immediately, while the second one can be delivered by December-end.

Bidders should quote for a minimum quantity of 500 tonnes. In case of inland container depot, the minimum bid quantity would be 250 tonnes. The exact supply order will be regulated in units of 250 tonnes, depending upon the requirement. Fresh onions can be imported from any country but the shipment should adhere to the phytosanitary and fumigation conditions, it added. MMTC did not get positive response for its earlier onion import tender for 2,000 tonnes.

CRPF takes over security of Gandhis

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

After withdrawal of the 28 year long elite SPG cover, the CRPF has taken over the security duties of Congress president Sonia Gandhi and her children Rahul and Priyanka on Monday. A contingent of commandos of the Central paramilitary force armed with Israeli X-95, AK series and MP-5 guns took over the task at Sonia Gandhi's residence of 10, Janpath, said officials.

A similar squad has been placed at the residence of former Congress president Rahul Gandhi at Tughlaq Lane and Priyanka Gandhi Vadra's house in Lodhi Estate. The CRPF's VVIP security unit is overseeing the protection of the family, which is now graded in Z-Plus level security.

As per the authorisation approved by the Union Home Ministry, the new CRPF cover provides for an advanced security liaison (ASL) drill for the three VVIPs that will enable the commandos to conduct an advance reconnaissance of the venues and area to be visited by them.

The squad will have a canine component with them and they will also guard the premises of the three Congress leaders, said the officials. For some days, they said, the SPG will CRPF help the CRPF in the

SC to deliver verdict on pleas of disqualified K'taka MLAs tomorrow

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court is scheduled to pronounce on November 13 its verdict on the pleas of 17 disqualified Congress-JD(S) MLAs of Karnataka challenging the orders of the then Assembly speaker KR Ramesh Kumar to disqualify them.

A three-judge Bench of justices NV Ramana, Sanjiv Khanna and Krishna Murari had on October 25 reserved its verdict on the petitions filed by these disqualified MLAs.

Kumar had disqualified these 17 MLAs of ruling the Congress-JD(S) coalition ahead of a trust vote in July.

Then Chief Minister HD Kumaraswamy had resigned after losing the trust vote, which paved the way for the BJP-led Government in the State under BS Yediyurappa.

Bypolls to 15 out of these 17 Assembly seats which fell vacant following the disqualification of MLAs are scheduled on December 5 and candidates are required to file their nomination papers between November 11 and November 18.

These disqualified MLAs have recently approached the apex court seeking a direction to the Election Commission to postpone the Assembly bypolls for these 15 seats till the pronouncement of verdict in the matter.

Some of these disqualified MLAs had argued in the apex court that they have an "indefeasible right" to resign as members of the Assembly and the decision by the then Speaker to disqualify them smacks of "vengeance" and "mala fide".

The Centre justified in the Supreme Court on Monday the abrogation of provisions of Article 370 of the Constitution, which gave special status to Jammu & Kashmir, saying the militants and separatist elements, with the support of foreign forces inimical to India, were taking advantage of the situation.

A five-judge Bench of Justice NV Ramana, Justice SK Kaul, Justice R Subhash Reddy, Justice BR Gavai and Justice Surya Kant is scheduled to take up for hearing a batch of petitions challenging abrogation of provisions of Article 370 and Article 35A on November 14.

Naidu nominates Manmohan Singh for Parliamentary panel

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Rajya Sabha Chairman Venkaiah Naidu has nominated former Prime Minister and senior Congress leader Manmohan Singh to the parliamentary standing committee on finance in place of party colleague Digvijay Singh, who has now been nominated to the parliamentary standing committee on urban development by the chairman of the Upper House.

sources Digvijay Singh resigned from the parliamentary standing committee on finance to make way for the former Prime Minister. Manmohan Singh, who was the country's Finance Minister between 1991 and 1996, was a member of the panel from September 2014 to May 2019 before his tenure in the Upper House ended in June this year. In August, he was elected unopposed to the Rajya Sabha from Rajasthan.

Carbon emissions from world's 20 biggest economies rising: Report

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Carbon emissions from the world's 20 biggest economies, including India, are rising, and the countries have to increase their emission targets that will put them on track to limit global warming to 1.5 degrees Celsius, a report by Climate Transparency, a global research body has cautioned.

To keep the Paris Agreement's 1.5 degrees goal within reach, G20 countries will have to increase their 2030 emission targets by 2020 and significantly scale up mitigation, adaptation and finance over the next decade, said the report 'New Brown to Green Report 2019' which was released on Monday.

It also said that none of the G20 countries have plans that will help them achieve the target even as 82 per cent of energy supply in these economies still comes from fossil fuels.

The report is the most comprehensive review of G20 countries' climate performance, mapping achievements and drawbacks in their efforts to reduce emissions, adapt to climate impacts and green the financial system.

Many of the current 2030 climate targets under the Paris Agreement (Nationally Determined Contributions or NDCs) are too weak, with about half of the G20 countries projected to meet or over-achieve their inadequate NDCs. "Among the G20 countries, India has the most ambitious NDC. However, it still needs real action now to prepare the different sectors for stringent emission reductions,"

The Energy and Resources Institute (TERI) Programme Director (Earth Science and Climate Change) RR Rashmi said.

Energy-related carbon dioxide emissions in G20 countries shot up by 1.8 per cent in 2018 due to rising energy demand, the report said.

Clearly, energy supply is not getting cleaner; despite a more than five per cent rise in G20 total renewable energy supply in 2018, the share of fossil fuels in the G20 energy mix remains at 82 per cent.

In 2018, G20 emissions in the power sector increased by 1.6 per cent. While renewables now account for 25.5 per cent of power generation, this is not sufficient to outweigh the growth of emissions from fossil fuel sources. Coal needs to be phased out by 2030 in Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) countries and by 2040 globally, said the report.

Wheat cultivation lowers by 37% in ongoing season

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The cultivation of wheat is lowered by 37 per cent at 9.69 lakh hectare till last week of the ongoing rabi (winter) season of the 2019-20 crop year. Total acreage under all rabi crops was down by 15 per cent at 95.35 lakh hectare till last week of this season, as against 112.24 lakh hectare in the year-ago period.

An Agriculture Ministry official said the prospects of rabi sowing looks bright because of better soil moisture on account of good monsoon and reservoirs are also full. "Water levels in as many as 97 reservoirs are more than 80 per cent. This will ensure we have an excellent rabi crop this year," the official said. He also noted that rabi crops are mostly grown in irrigated area.

As per the agriculture Ministry's latest data released on Monday, farmers have planted wheat in an area of 9.69 lakh hectare till last week of this season, compared with 15.35 lakh hectare a year ago. Sowing of wheat and other rabi crops begins from October, while harvesting from April onwards. Wheat is the main rabi crop.

Wheat acreage was lagging at 74,000 hectare in Madhya Pradesh till last week of this season, when compared with 6 lakh hectares in the year-ago period. In Punjab, farmers planted wheat in 4.20 lakh hectare as against 4.68 lakh hectare a year ago, while that in Haryana in 1.16 lakh hectare as against 1.19 lakh hectare in the said period.

Wheat planting, however, in Uttar Pradesh was covered in more area at 1.73 lakh hectare till last week of this season as against 94,000 hectare a year ago, the data showed.

The lower wheat acreage, farm experts said, was due to late harvesting of 2019 kharif crops that has delayed sowing in some states, especially Madhya Pradesh. The curbs on stubble burning has also delayed land preparation.

Among other rabi crops, area sown to pulses also remained lower at 27.85 lakh hectare till last week of this rabi season, as against 39.93 lakh hectare in the year-ago period.

Coarse cereals were also planted in lesser area at 12.39 lakh hectare as against 13.54 lakh hectare in the said period. However, the planting of oilseeds was undertaken in more area at 41.24 lakh hectare till last week of this rabi season as against 39.65 lakh hectare a year ago.

Rice planting area remained similar to the previous year's level of 5.77 lakh hectare in the said period.

Drive begins to restore pristine beauty of 50 beaches

ARCHANA JYOTI ■ NEW DELHI

Against the backdrop of more than 700 species of marine organisms in danger of extinction and marine animals like turtles and fishes known to ingest or get entangled in plastic debris in the sea, India on Monday kicked off a week-long mass cleanliness drive to regain the beauty of its 50 beaches in coastal States/Union Territories like Gujarat, Daman & Diu and Maharashtra.

Under the 'Swachh — Nirmal Tat Abhiyaan', the Government is hoping to clean up the beaches and create awareness among citizens about the importance of coastal ecosystems. The campaign from November 11-17 will in total cleanup 50 beaches in the ten States. These include Karnataka, Kerala, Tamil Nadu, Puducherry, Andhra Pradesh and Odisha. The beaches have been identified after consultations with the States/UTs, said a senior official from the Union Environment Ministry.

To ensure that the drive is taken up as a mass movement, school/college students who are part of eco-clubs, district administration, institutions, volunteers, local communities and other stakeholders have been involved.

The two-hour duration drive aims to cover a minimum of a one kilometre stretch of the identified beach daily. Sand cleaning machines will be deployed at about 15 beaches, the official added.

He said coastal debris includes plastic and other non-biodegradable synthetic materials discarded intentionally or unintentionally that enter the marine system. "This waste finds its way to the sea, does not undergo degradation and remains suspended in the water and often gets washed ashore as litter all along the coast. As high as 6.4 million tonnes of marine litter gets dumped into the seas annually," he added.

It is predicted that soon there will be more plastic than the fish in the sea. A study by National Centre of Coastal Research (NCCR) last year too pointed out that plastic litter from tourism alone accounted for 40 per cent-96 per cent of all beach litter.

It pointed out that at Chennai's Elliot's Beach, for instance, plastics like plastic bottles, cutlery and thermocol left by tourists accounted for 40 per cent of all the litter, while at Gopalpur in Odisha, it was as high as 96 per cent. As for the other four beaches, plastics formed 66 per cent of the overall litter on Fort Kochi Beach, 60 per cent at Karnataka's Karwar beach, 87 per cent at Visakhapatnam's RK Beach, and 81 per cent at Andaman Island's Rangachang beach.

After tourism, fishing was the next biggest source of litter. MV Ramana Murthy, Director, NCCR, has called for a national marine litter policy to control and manage waste on land and prevent its entry into the marine environment.

"Other than the plastic litter dropped by tourists, similar waste from creeks and inlets made its way into the sea in the monsoon," he said.

A 2016 study has found that all seven species of turtles are known to ingest or get entangled in plastic debris in the sea, while more than 700 species of marine organisms are in danger of extinction.

This is for first time that the Centre has taken up marine garbage cleaning in such a large scale. So far just private companies or individuals have been engaged in mission.

For instance, lawyer Afroz Shah from Mumbai is known to inspire more than 2,00,000 volunteers to join him in clean up of Versova Beach while PepsiCo India has joined hands with Project Mumbai, an NGO, to participate in "Jalosh-Clean Coasts", biggest clean-up of nine Mumbai beaches and Mithi river.

CYCLONE BULBUL

Didi announces ₹2L to kin of deceased

PTI ■ KAKDWIP (WB)

Lauding the administration in South 24 Parganas district for its initiatives to minimise the impact of Cyclone 'Bulbul', West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Monday announced a compensation of ₹2 lakh for the families of those killed in the storm.

Banerjee also constituted a task force to look into the relief and restoration work.

She urged people to "stay positive" and stand beside those who have been affected by the cyclone.

Cyclone 'Bulbul', which made landfall between Sagar Islands in South 24 Parganas and Khepupara in Bangladesh, claimed at least 10 lives and affected six lakh people in different parts of Bengal.

As many as 1.78 lakh people have been shifted to 471 relief camps set up in the state.

The CM, following an aerial survey of the cyclone-ravaged areas of Namkhana and Bakkhali, held an administrative meeting here to review the work being undertaken in the aftermath of the disaster.

"My administration did a commendable job. The devastation, otherwise, could have been far more... If they (officials) had not rescued 1.78 lakh people, I cannot say what would have happened. They will be rewarded. Even the central government applauded (the efforts)," she said.

Stressing that restoration of power supply, provisions for clean drinking water and medicines were the need of the hour, Banerjee asked officials to reach out to people and ensure that the aid was evenly distributed without affecting peace in the region.

She appointed Chief Secretary Rajiva Sinha as the head of the task force — which, she said, would be reviewing the ongoing relief work every 48 hours.

Taking note of the damage caused to beetle leaf cultivation and paddy in the district, the TMC supremo directed departments of irrigation, forest and power to work in tandem for restoring normalcy.

The Trinamool Congress supremo also advised the officials to take help of civic volunteers of Accredited Social Health Activist (ASHA), Integrated Child Development Services (ICDR) to speed up the relief operations.

A total of 323 kitchens have been opened to cater to the cyclone-hit families and 94 boats employed to aid in the restoration work, the CM said.

"As of now, reports suggest that six lakh people have been affected by the cyclone. The number might increase in the days to come," she added.

Banerjee is set to visit cyclone-affected areas of Basirhat in North 24-Parganas on Wednesday.

Power services in cyclone-hit areas restored; telecom links soon

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Power services in cyclone 'Bulbul' hit areas in West Bengal and Odisha have been restored on Monday, while telecommunication links are expected to be back soon.

This was conveyed at a meeting of the National Crisis Management Committee (NCCM), chaired by Cabinet Secretary Rajiv Gauba, which took stock of the relief and restoration works in the aftermath of the cyclone over West Bengal and Odisha. West Bengal reported seven human casualties, damages to about one lakh houses and standing crops, an official statement said.

While electricity has been restored, telecom services are expected to be restored shortly. Though no human casualty was reported from Odisha, there has been extensive damage to standing crops in over two lakhs hectares. Power and water supplies have been restored barring a few areas where services are expected to be resumed by Tuesday, the statement said.

The NCCM assured all central assistance in terms of additional stocks of food items, drinking water, health services as well as restoration of telecom and power services. Central teams would be visiting the affected areas in both the states within this week to take stock of the damages.

Both the states indicated that they are carrying out detailed assessment after which they may seek specific central assistance, if required.

It may be recalled that IMD had provided regular and timely alerts on a sustained basis about the cyclone to the states. Concerned central agencies including National Disaster Response Force (NDRF), Coast Guard etc have been fully involved in rescue and relief operations, the statement said.

Senior officers of the ministries of Home, Defence, Power, Telecommunications, Agriculture and Cooperation, Consumer Affairs, Food and Public Distribution, Food Processing Industries, Health and Family Welfare, as well as those from NDRF and National Disaster Management Authority attended the meeting.

Senior officers from West Bengal and Odisha participated in the meeting through video conference.

Bodies of 4 fishermen of capsized trawler recovered

Kolkata: Bodies of four out of the nine fishermen who went missing after their trawler capsized off Mousuni Island in West Bengal under the impact of Cyclone Bulbul were recovered in a joint operation by the Indian Coast Guard and the NDRF, a senior Coast Guard officer said Monday.

The trawler had capsized on Saturday midnight 50 metre off the island when it was caught in the severe cyclone, which made its landfall between Sagar Island in South 24 Parganas and Khepupara in Bangladesh.

The four bodies were recovered after sustained hunt, Commander of Coast Guard, West Bengal and Deputy Inspector General S R Dash told.

The bodies have been handed over to the district administration, he said.

Dash said the search operation will resume Tuesday to locate the other missing fishermen who were onboard the trawler when it capsized off Mousuni Island in South 24 Parganas district under the impact of the high-speed cyclone.

Coast Guard and NDRF teams have been engaged in the rescue operation since the mishap.

Cyclone 'Bulbul' after its landfall on Saturday midnight had hurtled northeastwards into neighbouring Bangladesh over the Sunderban delta.

Commandant of NDRF 2nd Battalion, Nitish Upadhyay told on Monday that deep divers of the force are searching the sea to locate the missing fishermen as time runs short for the hapless men.

Dash said the Coast Guard has pressed two hovercraft in the search operation. Each hovercraft comprises a pilot, a co-pilot and eight crew men and they are conducting sorties from Fraserganj coast.

Commandant Deepak Singh of Coast Guard, Haldia is commanding the hovercrafts.

According to other sources there were 13 fishermen in the trawler and four of them had swum to safety. The whereabouts of the rest nine were not known before the four bodies were found.

Dash said the Coast Guard has been bracing for the cyclone situation since November 6 and its personnel had sensitised people of all the coastal villages.

Nadia-based NDRF 2nd Battalion commandant said a total 10 teams of the force have been engaged in three West Bengal districts — North 24 Parganas, South 24 Parganas and East Medinipur before the cyclonic storm made its landfall.

Upadhyay said the NDRF teams are rendering assistance to district administration post-cyclone to remove uprooted trees and in restoration work. PTI

Make Bengali, other languages JEE medium: TMC

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

The ruling Trinamool Congress has once again demanded inclusion of Bengali as a medium in the All-India Joint Entrance Examinations (Mains) decrying Central Government's "arbitrary" decision to do the same favour to Gujarati leaving aside all the other recognised languages of the country.

All-India examinations are normally conducted in Hindi and English only.

Attacking the Centre for trying to impose one State and its language (read Gujarati) upon the remaining others TMC Member of Parliament Abhishek Banerjee asked, "Why should there be a bias for one particular state and language? Why should other States and languages be ignored for that purpose?" reminding, "India belongs all its citizen and not only on particular State," and arguing "such arbitrary approach of the Centre will not be tolerated."

Addressing a rally against the Centre's "unprecedented decision to provide special status to Gujarati language," he said "we will make a demand to include Bengali too for JEE exams and if our demand is not met then we will snatch our demand from Delhi," the Diamond Harbour MP who is also the nephew of Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee said.

Circuitously attacking Union Minister Babul Supriyo for justifying the Centre's decision to exclude all other languages in favour of Gujarati senior Bengal Minister Subroto Mukherjee said "a young BJP Minister is trying to befool the people of Bengal saying Gujarati was chosen as a medium because Gujarat had made an application for it to be included...either he is befooling the people or he himself had no knowledge of how things function."

Mukherjee said, "such decisions are not taken merely upon an application but upon a policy decision taken by the Government," adding the "Centre should immediately apologise to all other States for this grossly unconstitutional and anti-federal step and introduce all the recognized regional languages as medium of examination."

Earlier the Chief Minister too had condemned the Centre's "partisan" decision promoting one language and imposing it on the other languages of the country.

Refuting the TMC's charges Bengal BJP president Dilip Ghosh said that the Centre was justified in its decision to include Gujarati as a medium of examination as "60,000 students from that State appear for the exams," and asked "how many students from Bengal appear for JEE?"

The TMC was just trying to rake up the issue by playing with Bengali sentiments in order to get votes, he maintained.

Elsewhere the ongoing tiff between the State Government and Governor Jagdeep Dhankhar reached a new height with the ruling Trinamool Congress severely criticizing his decision to visit administrative units in the districts without informing State Government.

The Governor on Monday had suddenly taken a detour to Singur while returning from Shantiniketan before entering office of Block Development Officer where he took information and progress report of various schemes.

"I have read Constitution with great care and have found it unprecedented for a Governor barging into a BDO office to take administrative information without informing the State Government. It does not behove a person sitting on that post."

Kerala Govt mulling pubs across State, says CM

Thiruvananthapuram: The CPI(M)-led LDF Government in Kerala is exploring the possibility of opening pubs in the State, Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan has said.

Vijayan, during a weekly TV show telecast on Sunday, said those who work late, including IT employees, lack space to unwind themselves as there were no facilities like pubs in the State.

"Those who work late do not have good restaurants or other places like pubs in the night. The lack of pubs has come in for criticism against us. The Kerala Government is seriously looking into the matter," Vijayan said.

The Chief Minister said the issue of long queues outside the Kerala Beverages Corporation (Bevco) outlets, which sell liquor, would be resolved as they would get a face-lift soon. The previous UDF

Government's policy had resulted in the closure of 712 bars below the five-star category as part of its aim to ensure total Prohibition in 10 years. A majority of the closed bars were later converted into beer and wine parlours.

However, the LDF government in 2017 unveiled its new liquor policy by deciding to open closed bars in three-star and above-classified hotels besides allowing serving of toddy in these hotels. PTI

Widow of 26/11 Kuber crew member given ₹5L compensation: Guj to HC

Ahmedabad: The Gujarat Government on Monday informed the High Court that a monetary compensation of ₹5 lakh was paid to the widow of a crew member of fishing trawler 'MV Kuber', which was hijacked by terrorists who carried out the 26/11 Mumbai attacks in 2008.

The compensation, under the Chief Minister's Relief Fund, was deposited in the bank account of Jashiben Bambhania, whose husband Rameshbhai Bambhania, a native of Una taluka in Gir-Somnath district, along with four other fishermen, was killed on the trawler.

The money was deposited by the local revenue officials of Gir-Somnath district by way of a fixed deposit having a lock-in period of three years in favour of Jashiben Bambhania. She will get quarterly interest on this deposit till the expiry of the lock-in period, the Government informed the court of Justice Bhargav D Karia on Monday.

The body of MV Kuber's captain, Amarsinh Solanki, was found on the boat, while bodies of four others, including Bambhania, were missing. The boat was hijacked by Ajmal Kasab and other Pakistani terrorists in the Arabian Sea who used it to reach Mumbai.

Jashiben, a mother of four, had approached the Gujarat High Court in October seeking compensation from the Government.

In her plea, she claimed that since her husband's body was never found, authorities at the state and central levels were not ready to consider her husband dead and subsequently refused compensation. PTI

Will fight Assembly bypolls for 15 seats with unity: Karnataka Congress

PTI ■ BENGALURU

Amid talks of differences within the party, Congress leaders in Karnataka on Monday said they resolved to face December 5 bypolls to 15 Assembly seats in the State with "unity".

The list of candidates for the remaining seven constituencies has almost been finalised and would be declared after the Supreme Court verdict on the disqualified MLAs case, which they hoped, would give a 'favourable' verdict.

A meeting of senior Congress leaders was convened by the party's State unit here to discuss about the bypolls and the candidates.

The meeting also saw leaders expressing strong reservations against taking in disgruntled leaders from the BJP into the party.

"Senior party leaders met today and discussed about the bypolls. Looking at the court order on November 13, we will finalise the candidates for remaining seven seats," KPCC chief Dinesh Gundu Rao said after the meeting.

He told reporters here that the discussions took place in a "cordial atmosphere" and leaders decided to set aside their differences and jointly face the polls.

Rao said the list cannot be considered final until it comes from the AICC and added that they had decided on probable candidates in most constituencies, except in one or two, where further discussions were needed.

In general there was more or less unanimity on selection of candidates, he said.

However, according to sources some senior party leaders expressed displeasure about not everyone being taken into confidence on selection of candidates.

When CLP leader Siddaramaiah asked senior leaders to take responsibility of a constituency each, some reportedly voiced discontent about their opinion not being considered while deciding candidates and "unilateral decisions" being taken.

Congress has already announced a list of candidates for eight out of 15 seats that will go for the December 5 bypolls.

Adding credence to the speculation about differences emerging at the meeting was senior Congress leaders K H Muniyappa and B K Hariprasad leaving early.

The KPCC chief however brushed aside questions of discontent among leaders, saying there was nothing of the sort and discussions at the meet were held peacefully and all present expressed their opinion.

Clarifying on Muniyappa and Hariprasad leaving the meeting early, he said it was the guesswork of the media and not the truth. "They participated in the meeting, after which they left. As there are municipality polls in Kolar (Muniyappa's home district) he had to leave urgently, that's all. Unnecessarily don't misrepresent."

Muniyappa, flanked by Hariprasad, also cited a similar reason for leaving early.

He said discussions were held on candidates for the coming bypolls and opinions were shared.

"We have to see to that party wins all the 15 seats. We have given our own suggestions."

Muniyappa replied in the negative when asked whether there was disgruntlement about candidates already selected for eight seats, saying they had given their suggestions and brought to the leadership's notice who are the winnable candidates.

At a recent party meeting, Muniyappa and Hariprasad had hit out at CLP Leader Siddaramaiah and Dinesh Gundu Rao for their "unilateral style of functioning" and accountability not being fixed for the party's debacle in Lok Sabha polls.

To a question, Rao said he was 100 per cent confident that the Supreme Court judgment on disqualified MLAs that is likely on November 13 "will go in our favour" and the party would also win the maximum number of seats in the bypolls.

Bypolls to 15 of 17 seats represented by disqualified MLAs, whose resignation and absence from the trust vote led to the fall of the Congress-JD(S) coalition Government, and made way for the BJP to come to power, will be held on December 5.

Meanwhile, State Congress on Monday held protest in front of Town Hall here against the "anti public policies" of both State and central Governments.

In a memorandum to the President, submitted through the Deputy Commissioner, Congress requested him to intervene and direct the Government to work towards improving the economy, solve unemployment, among other issues. PTI

"She was brought to hospital at about 2 am. She is critical and in the ICU," a hospital insider told. Mangeshkar's younger sister Usha said the singer had a viral infection and should be discharged by Tuesday.

"Lata Didi is still in hospital. She is under observation. She is doing absolutely well and is stable. She will be discharged by tomorrow. "We thought it's better to treat her at a hospital because of the viral infection so she is there for today," Usha Mangeshkar told amid reports that the musical icon had already been discharged and was recuperating at home.

Kerala to begin preventive drive against Nipah virus: Health Min

Thiruvananthapuram: Kerala would begin a comprehensive preventive drive against the outbreak of Nipah virus next month to equip the State health machinery to fight the deadly virus, Health Minister KK Shylaja said on Monday.

A year after two north Kerala districts were hit by the deadly Nipah that claimed 17 lives, the virus had re-surfaced in the southern State in June this year with a 23-year-old student here being infected.

The Ernakulam-based youth was discharged from the hospital after 53 days of treatment and surveillance.

Detailing the initiatives under the preventive drive, Shylaja informed the State assembly that surveillance would be intensified and mock-drills would be held.

"This year's Nipah preventive drive will begin next month. Mock drills will be held in major hospitals, including those in the private sector.

We contained the spread of virus in a remarkable manner last time through such coordinated efforts," the minister said during question hour.

Fruit bats of the Pteropodidae family are the natural host of the Nipah virus.

Nipah virus can be transmitted to humans from animals (such as bats or pigs), or contaminated food and can also be transmitted directly from human-to-human.

According to the WHO, Nipah virus is a newly emerging disease that can be transmitted from its reservoir (natural wildlife host), the flying foxes (fruit bats), to both animals and humans. PTI

The Supreme Court on Saturday paved the way for the construction of a Ram Temple at the disputed site at Ayodhya, while directing the Centre to allot a 5-acre plot to the Sunni Waqf Board for building a mosque.

Devotees will take the dip in Saryu in Ram ki Paidi and Naya Ghat and adjoining areas, officials said.

"Over five lakh devotees are likely to take a dip on the occasion of Kartik Purnima in Ayodhya. On normal days, around 8,000 visitors visit Ramjanmabhoomi for darshan. On festive occasion, the number crosses 50,000. Now, since the judgement has come on Ramjanmabhoomi, the number of visitors may increase as well," Ayodhya District Magistrate Anuj Kumar Jha told.

He said the situation is absolutely normal around the Ramjanmabhoomi area.

"We have taken all precautionary steps to ensure security, and also to make sure that devotees do not face problem, and have a safe and hassle-free darshan. Posting of police officials and magistrates have been done keeping this in mind," he said

For the convenience of visitors coming to Ayodhya, various health, sanitation and drinking water facilities among other have been put in place.

Water tankers have been installed at around 18 places, 20 medical camps with ambulance are ready besides 30 mobile toilets.

Five-acre must be allotted in acquired 67-acre area: Muslim leaders, litigant Iqbal Ansari

Ayodhya: The five acres of land to be allocated for building a mosque under the Supreme Court verdict in the Ram Janmabhoomi-Babri Masjid dispute should be within the 67 acres of acquired land in Ayodhya, Iqbal Ansari, a main litigant in the case, has demanded along with several other local Muslim leaders.

The Central Government had acquired the land including the disputed site in 1991. "If they want to give us the land, they must give us according to our convenience and only in that acquired land of 67 acres. Then we will take it. Otherwise we will reject the offer, as people are saying 'Go out of Chaudh Kos and construct Masjid there.' This is not fair," Ansari said.

Maulana Jalal Ashraf, a local cleric, said Muslims can buy land on their own to build a mosque are not dependent on the Government for it.

"If the court or the Government wants to pacify our sentiments to some extent, the five acre land must be given to in the acquired area as many graveyards and Dargaah including that of 18th century Sufi saint Qazi Qudwah are in that area," he said.

Khalique Ahmad Khan, General Secretary of All India Milli Council, expressed similar views.

Haji Mahboob, who was also a litigant from Muslim side, said, "We will not accept this lollypop. They must make clear that where they want to give us the land."

Haji Asad Ahmad, Corporator of Ayodhya Municipal Corporation, said the community does not want any land in lieu of Babri Masjid.

"If the court or Government wants to give land for mosque they must give it in the acquired area of 67 acres, otherwise we don't want donation," he said. Maulana Baadshah Khan, Ayodhya president of Jamiat Ulema Hind, said the Muslim side was fighting the case for Babri Masjid, not for any other land.

"We don't want any land for mosque anywhere. Instead we offer this land also for Ram Mandir," he said. Yusuf Khan, a social activist, said the issue is closed now after the Supreme Court verdict and no additional land was needed for mosque.

"We have enough mosques in Ayodhya to fulfil our religious needs, the apex court has given its verdict in favour of Ram Temple. The issue is closed now," he said. PTI

The driver of the MMTS train, who sustained serious injuries, was initially trapped in his cabin, which was badly mangled, but was rescued after a couple of hours, officials said.

Oxygen and other life-saving medical aid were provided to him during the operation, they said adding he has suffered severe leg injuries. He was rushed to a private hospital, where his condition is stated to be stable. Commissioner Railway Safety, Southern Central Circle Secunderabad, Ram Kripal will conduct an inquiry into the incident.

Poll reformer Seshan bid tearful adieu

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ CHENNAI

Thirunellai Narayana Iyer Seshan, popularly known as T N Seshan, who passed away late Sunday due to old age related problems was given a tearful farewell on Monday at Basanth Nagar crematorium in Chennai by thousands of citizens who had gathered to bid au revoir.

The 1955 batch IAS officer breathed his last late Sunday night and had desired to be cremated at Chennai itself, where his wife too has the last resting place. Seshan who shot into international fame with his six year stint as Chief Election Commissioner was known for his no-nonsense approach to the job in his hands. After retirement from the post of CEC, Seshan used to tell the people that his final wish was to see the Government of India funding the election process in the country.

When he was appointed as the CEC, the general Election and Assembly Election in the country were manipulated and muzzled by mafia dons and anti social elements who threatened the voters with dire consequences if they do not vote for the candidates picked by the former. "Appavukku Charayam, Ammavukku Sari and namma verpalarkku vote" was the catchword of the political masters, Seshan used to tell. It meant, alcohol for the family head, sari for the women and vote for the candidate picked up by the local ruffian. But with Seshan assuming office in the Nirvachan Sadan things underwent a drastic change.

Both the DMK and the AIADMK shivered from head to toe at the mention of his name. But don't be under the impression that it was as CEC he earned the reputation. That started long back, in 1960s when he worked as the district collector of Madurai which saw unprecedented riots as part of anti Hindi agitation.

"My officers were beaten up by rioters in a village. Many government officials were set ablaze and were killed. I went to the village with a police force who cordoned off the area. I had a stick with me and ordered all the villagers to line up outside their houses. I told them if they do not reveal the names of the rioters responsible for the gruesome incident, I would beat them to pulp. The woman began to sing and the men spilled the beans," Seshan had told in an interview.

He led various departments in the Government of Tamil Nadu during his tenure in the State. When drivers of the State Transport Corporation submitted a memorandum to him listing their grievances in driving the dilapidated buses, Seshan himself took to the wheels of the buses to get a first-hand experience of the difficulties faced by the employees and asked the government to replace the buses which was done in hours!

Delivering a lecture in Kochi in 1993 about the economic liberalization initiated by the then Narasimha Rao government, Seshan said there was nothing innovative in the opening up of the Indian economy. "This was what C. Rajagopalachari had told them in 1950 itself. But it fell in deaf ears as Rajaji (pet name of Rajagopalachari) had dark Salem skin. Since it has come from a fair skinned person, it has been accepted now. Let's see whether they would be able to break the logjam and save the Indian economy," Seshan had said.

The uniqueness of Seshan is that each person who had met him has a different story to tell. All good things only. Behind the façade of that roughness and arrogance (which people loved) there was a soft spoken Seshan too. He used to explain his name as Tough Nut Seshan! Yet another titan has walked away to meet his maker.

Expedite pending cases relating to SC & ST: Nitish

Patna: Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar on Monday asserted that pending cases relating to Scheduled Caste (SC) and Scheduled Tribe (ST) need to be expedited and the law department should appoint special public prosecutors in different special courts for the purpose.

Training and orientation programme should be held regularly for officials concerned to keep them abreast of changes that have been incorporated in the Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules and Act and its provisions over time, Kumar said.

The Chief Minister was speaking at a meeting here convened to review the State-level monitoring and vigilance committee constituted under Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules 1995 and Amendment Rules 2016.

"The law department should appoint special public prosecutors in different special courts (constituted under SC and ST Act, 1989). Eligible and committed lawyers should be given the responsibility and inefficient special public prosecutors should be relieved so that pending cases (relating to SC and ST) can be expedited," Kumar was quoted as saying in an official release.

The director general of police should carry out police station review of all the cases, he said adding that the meeting of district-level monitoring and vigilance committee should be held regularly.

Kumar said land for habitation should be made available to all the landless families belonging to SC and ST apart from Mahadalits. PTI

Raut undergoes angioplasty for 2 arterial blockages

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

Amid an intense political drama being witnessed in Maharashtra for the past 18 days, Shiv Sena's Rajya Sabha member and spokesperson Sanjay Raut underwent an angioplasty at the Lilavati Hospital here on Monday night for removal of two blockages in one of his arteries.

Fifty-seven-year-old Raut, who has not only been the face of the Shiv Sena but also a key player in the ongoing political drama in the state, was admitted to the Lilavati Hospital in the hospital for a stress check-up.

Raut, who had been complaining of chest pain for the last fortnight, was diagnosed with two blockages in one of his arteries, during an angiography conducted on him earlier in the evening.

Talking to media persons, Raut's MLA-brother Sunil Raut said: "Raut first underwent angiography where two blocks in the heart were detected. Angioplasty was carried out in the night and his health is stable now. He will be discharged from the hospital in a day or two."

Raut is undergoing treatment under noted cardiologist Dr Ajit Menon at the hospital. Raut had earlier treated late Bal Thackeray.

Raut has been interacting with the media at least twice or thrice a day for more than a fortnight. Being the Editor of Shiv Sena's mouthpiece "Saamana", he has writing editorials everyday during this period. During this period, he has been holding with Sena president Uddhav Thackeray, other Sena and other political party leaders continuously ever since the State Assembly poll results were declared on October 24.

"Pre-occupied as he has been with political activities and his role as an editor of 'Saamana', Raut has been ignoring his health in recent days. It was Sena president Uddhav Thackeray who advised him to undergo check-up and treatment whatever necessary. Finally he was admitted to the Leelavati Hospital today," a senior Sena leader close to Raut said.

Mahabharta of power

The Cong-NCP-Sena alliance for a Government in Maharashtra is based on a seasonal hatred of the BJP. Can numbers work?

Ma-harashtra is no Karnataka, where a hung verdict had led to political machinations and a power surge of convenience. Yet in a shape-shifting scenario of permutations and combinations, Government formation is turning out to be a bizarre prospect despite a decisive electoral verdict. The Congress was desperate then, seized the advantage, was one up on the BJP but could not last even with like-minded partners in a coalition arrangement. It is still desperate for regaining a State that was its stronghold but in Maharashtra is faced between the devil and the deep sea. It cannot afford to settle with its enemy's enemy, namely the Sena, and put its credibility on the line by supporting the latter's Government from the outside. Nor can it afford to lose the heft of its ally, the Nationalist Congress Party (NCP), and play second fiddle to it, now that the latter has been invited by the Governor to stake a claim, and concede to its chief Sharad Pawar's acceptability among both the BJP and Sena. Predicted to be even more unstable than Karnataka, one hopes the Congress' decision doesn't give more ammunition to the BJP's charge that it is better to be mukt of it and a single party rule is the only way forward, be it in Lok Sabha or the States. The pre-poll alliance of the BJP-Shiv Sena, which has crumbled under the destabilising weight of egoistic turf wars, has put a question mark on the efficacy of alliance politics that the BJP-led National Democratic Alliance (NDA) has so far prided itself in. Particularly, when it loses a 30-year-old ally, that too one which has significantly helped in pushing a core Hindutva plank and Ayodhya. For all talk of development, the granularity of the BJP's fundamental ideology was left to the Sena to manage while the bigger party could bask in the benevolence of the idea of a grand Bharat Parv. In that sense, Sena was the fall guy for doing things with a fringe, parochial mindset and taking the blame for them with a vision limited to Jai Maharashtra. Now that the BJP has appropriated its only comfort zone and relegated it to secondary space, the Sena is making a desperate lunge to be seen and heard, relevant as it still is as a counterweight. With the election of Sena founder Balasaheb Thackeray's grandson Aaditya, it now feels it can indeed roar like a tiger than be the whimpering sidekick at a neighbourhood park. The BJP, with its Chief Minister-worthy leader in Devendra Fadnavis, the man who even has the RSS' blessings, knows people trust it for providing a stable leadership. It knows the nakedly ambitious Sena could go around with a shopping bag but would not have a natural proximity, nor the leadership, compromised as it would be by the Congress-NCP conditions. In fact, it is sitting back to expose the Sena as a spoiler. And it wants to reap the spoils knowing that a new anti-BJP coalition could be wobbly without mutual convergence of interests.

The Congress is upon its worst moment of reconciliation, one that threatens its ideological consistency even if it were to support the Sena Government from outside, cede ground to the NCP and insist upon a common agenda of governance. How could it have justified itself supporting a Hindutva-driven aggression to its minority votebank or even accepted Sena's chief ministership? Aligning with the Sena would mean drawing attention to its own uncharitable history of using Thackeray to undercut its own dissidents and State leaders. Besides, it has worked with the Sena to get support on its contentious issues like the Emergency. Using the Sena to keep the BJP out, therefore, would be like jumping from the frying pan into the fire. Staying in would be more problematic than staying out. As for Pawar himself, everybody was surprised about the return of the true Marathi warrior, who held on despite BJP-engineered defections and is justifiably angry with the national party despite supporting it in 2014. But by going with the Sena, he would look just like any other greedy regional satrap though the NCP has made support conditional on Sena snapping ties with the BJP. Pawar has always enjoyed being kingmaker but does that mean he won't have a say as a king even with the Congress behind him? That's another ego battle at work. The only thing holding him and the Sena together is their seasonal hatred of the BJP. Maharashtra has anyway proved that arithmetic does not matter. The coalition of convenience may find it difficult to get stability considering the BJP will have the ammunition to stall them at each step and insist one Fadnavis was better than a hydra-headed king. Sad for a State which is dealing with a serious farm crisis. Sadder for a people whose choices do not matter anymore.

Go for success

Shafali Verma's rapidfire 50 is evidence that the Indian cricket board needs to promote the women's game more Purists might argue that it is a bit unfair to compare men's and women's sport even in the same game. But the recent achievement by teenage sensation Shafali Verma, who at two months short of 16 years struck an international 50 in a T20 international against the West Indies, is quite an achievement. Alongside the spectacular success of the Indian women's team in the last cricket world cup as well as the achievements of various members of the team, maybe it is pertinent to pose the question to the new boss of Indian cricket, Sourav Ganguly, on whether it is time for the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) or whatever new name that he wishes to give that organisation, to hold a professional Indian Premier League (IPL)-style contest for the women's game.

Critics might argue that the pool of talent in the women's game is far more limited. For the time being, this is a valid argument but only if there is a eight-team tournament for the IPL. A smaller, four-team tournament with additional slots for international talent may easily meet the competitive marks needed by any such competition. Evidence of the success of the short form of the women's game is seen in Australia, where the Women's Big Bash League (WBBL), which is played alongside the Australian T20 league, the BBL, has been a huge success and has made superstars out of players like Ellyse Perry and Alyssa Healy. Its inaugural games unearthed a 16-year-old gem in Phoebe Litchfield. The tournament has dramatically expanded Australia's women's cricket talent pool and with Cricket Australia committing to pay all its cricketers equally, they have taken the lead when it comes to equal opportunities. It will take a man to change the dynamics of men's and women's cricket in India and bring them to some level of parity. Sourav Ganguly can easily be the one. He was the visionary leader who laid the foundations of the success that Virat Kohli and his men enjoy today, over a decade after he retired. No Indian cricket fan doubts his dynamism and leadership abilities. Now, freed of the burden of the Committee of Administrators, Ganguly can effect lasting change. Change that can mean that girls like Shafali Verma can become superstars for every single Indian, much like the man whose record she broke, Sachin Tendulkar.

Historical reconstruction

The Supreme Court's landmark judgment on the disputed site in Ayodhya rests on historical evidence; the gains of which are civilisational

SANDHYA JAIN

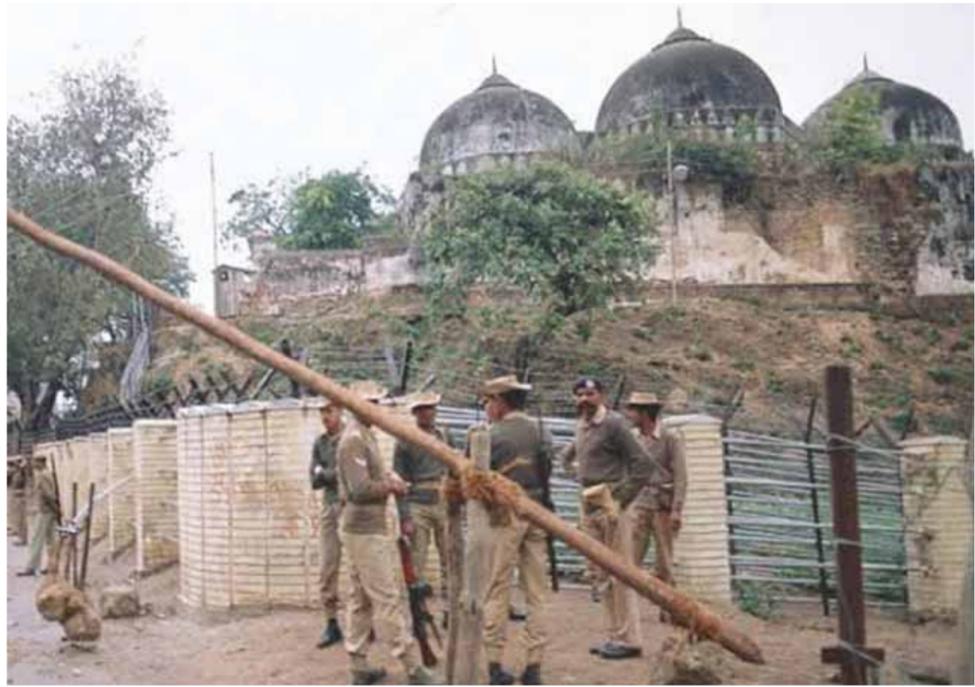

Learned member of the five-judge Bench (not Constitution Bench) wisely collated the evidence regarding Sri Ram's birthplace and appended it to the Supreme Court's verdict of November 9, granting the disputed site to Ram Lalla Virajman. The 116-page addendum highlights the Vishwa Hindu Parishad's (VHP) gigantic efforts to collect every scrap of evidence to legally establish Hindu belief in the birthplace of Vishnu's avatar. The evidence is compelling. Critics, who allege that the judgment privileged one community, have not read the 1,045-page document.

As the dispute centres on the destruction of the Ram Janmabhoomi temple at Ayodhya by Babur's general, Mir Baiqi, evidence proving the sacredness of the shrine prior to 1528 is critical. The Janma Sakhsies (biographies) of Guru Nanak Dev show he visited Ayodhya in 1510-1511 AD, before Babar's invasion of India. Later, Guru Tegh Bahadur and his son, Guru Govind Singh, also visited the temple at Ayodhya. Though the Janma Sakhsies do not identify the exact place of the Janmabhoomi, Guru Nanak's visit shows that pilgrims were visiting Ayodhya prior to the temple's destruction. Thus, the faith and belief of Hindus regarding the location of Lord Ram's birthplace, as asserted in scriptures and sacred books, including Valmiki Ramayana and Skanda Purana, is not groundless.

During emperor Akbar's reign (1556-1605), Tulsidas composed the Ramcharitmanas (1574-75). The Balakanda shows Brahma urging Vishnu to save the gods, sages, gandharvas and Earth from Ravana's terror; Vishnu promises: "Fear not, o sages, Siddhas and Indra; for your sake I will assume the form of a human being. In the glorious solar race, I shall be born as a human being along with my part manifestations." (Doha 186-7) Vishnu grants a boon to sage Kasyapa and his wife Aditi to be born in Ayodhya as Dasaratha and Kausalya; Vishnu would take birth in the form of four brothers, "the ornament of Raghu's line."

Akbar's biography, Ain-i-Akbari, mentions Ayodhya as the residence of Ramachandra and one of the holiest places of antiquity. Traveller William Finch visited India from 1607 to 1611 AD and mentioned the ruins of Ramachandra's castle.

Father Joseph Tieffenthaler visited India between 1766 and 1771 AD and found in Oudh (Awadh) a famous place called Sita Rasoi on a mud hill. Emperor Aurangzeb got the fortress called Ramcot (Ramkot) demolished and a Muslim mosque, with triple domes, constructed at the same place. Tieffenthaler recounts that some said the masjid was constructed by "Babor" (Babur) and 14 black stone pillars of five span high from the fortress are visible there; 12 support the interior arcades of the mosque. He describes the bedi (cradle) of Ram and says Aurangzeb or Babur razed the temple "to deny the noble people, the opportunity of practicing their superstitions". However, the people "go around three times and prostrate on the floor." This is clear evidence that Hindus at the time of Tieffenthaler were worshipping the janamsthan as a deity.

The East India Gazetteer of Walter Hamilton (1828) notes that pilgrimage to Oudh are chiefly by the Ramata sect. Montgomery Martin in History, Antiquities, Topography and Statistics of Eastern India (1838), mentions the glory of Ayodhya. Edward Thornton's Gazetteer of India (1854) and Gazetteer of the Territories under the Government of the East Indies Company of the native States on the Continent of India (1858) gives details of Oudh.

Mirza Jaan's Hadith-e-Sehba (1856) states, "The above mentioned place is called seat of father of Lord Rama. Places of idol worshiping situated here were demolished...The place of worship is called the birthplace of Lord Rama and the place which is adjacent to it is called "Sita Ki Rasoi"...At that place, Babar Shah got constructed a very big masjid under the supervision of Sayyad Musha Ashiqan in the year 923 Hijri and its history is still maintained. Today, the above-mentioned "Sita Ki Rasoi" is called the "masjid". The learned judge observed, "The book candidly accepts that at the janamsthan of Lord Ram, (a) mosque was constructed by Babar."

In 1858, the British Government annexed Awadh, after which all official reports, correspondences and orders cite the "Mosque" as "Mosque Janma Sthan." The Historical Sketch of Tehsil Fyzabad, Zillah Fyzabad by P Carnegie, Officiating Commissioner and Settlement Officer of Ayodhya and Fyzabad (1870), states that Ayodhya is to Hindus what Mecca is to the Mohammedans and Jerusalem to the Jews. Carnegie categorically stated that at the place of janamsthan, emperor Babar built a Mosque, which still bears his name, in AD 1528. These facts are repeated in several subsequent Gazetteers.

The report of the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) of North West Provinces and Oudh (1889) states, "The old temple of Ramachandra at janamsthanam must have been a very fine one, for many of its columns have been used by the Musalmans in the construction of Babar's masjid." Alois Anton Fuhrer's report of the ASI (1889), The Sharqi Architecture of Jaunpur; with Notes on Zafarabad, Sahet-Mahet and other places in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, states that Babar's Masjid at Ayodhya was built on the very spot where the old temple janamsthan of Ramchandra was standing. Fuhrer reiterates this in Monumental Antiquities and Inscriptions in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh (1891). Obviously, Prof BB Lal's excavations followed ASI precedents.

AKBAR'S BIOGRAPHY, AIN-I-AKBARI, MENTIONS AYODHYA AS THE RESIDENCE OF RAMACHANDRA AND ONE OF THE HOLIEST PLACES OF ANTIQUITY. TRAVELLER WILLIAM FINCH VISITED INDIA FROM 1607 TO 1611 AD AND MENTIONED THE RUINS OF RAMACHANDRA'S CASTLE

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Accepting the verdict

Sir — This refers to the report, "Ram gets back his birthplace" (November 10). The historic Ayodhya verdict and the grace with which it was accepted by the people proved the maturity of the Indian democracy, its judiciary and citizens. All apprehensions of post-verdict tension proved wrong as not a single untoward incident was reported. Indeed, there could have been no better solution to the 492-year-old dispute.

The construction of the Ram Mandir in Ayodhya had been on the BJP's poll agenda for long, which helped it consolidate its supporters. On the other hand, Opposition parties left no opportunity to accuse the saffron party for not fulfilling its promise.

BJP president LK Advani's rath yatra from Somnath to Ayodhya played a major role in the party's ascent to power. After the Supreme Court verdict on Ayodhya, it is now expected that party leaders will refrain from politicising this issue and instead concentrate on more serious issues plaguing the nation.

Welcoming Kartarpur

During Partition, Shakargarh, a tehsil on the right bank of Ravi River where Kartarpur is located, went to Pakistan and Gurdaspur, a tehsil on the left bank of Ravi River, remained with India. The opening of the much-awaited corridor, connecting Dera Baba Nanak in Punjab with Darbar Sahib Kartarpur in Pakistan, was a long-cherished dream for the Sikh Panth. Kartarpur Sahib, where the founder of Sikhism, Guru Nanakji, spent almost 18 years of his life teaching and preaching and which was his final resting abode, is what Mecca is for the Muslims. The new corridor will allow Sikh pilgrims holding a special permit to freely visit the shrine.

Immediately after assuming power, Pakistan Prime Minister Imran Khan made a promise to construct the Kartarpur corridor before the 550th birth anniversary of Guru Nanakji, a gesture that found immediate traction with the Sikh community. The BJP-Akalis Dal combine, which seemed rather unconcerned initially, reversed its position quickly, sensing a possible Sikh backlash. As is common these days, a section of the electronic media indulged in continuous double-speak on Pakistan and the architects of the corridor, in line with the mood of the ruling party. Fortunately, Sikhs are sensible and are difficult to sway. Punjab exhibited extraordinary resilience to the mischievous representations unleashed in Pakistan and kept its peace. The Kartarpur passage has within it the spark to convert itself into a "corridor of peace" in the region.

A true legend

Sir — As the Chief Election Commissioner, TN Seshan not only ushered in strict electoral reforms for the enforcement of the Moral Code of Conduct but he gave the Election Commission of India (ECI) the much-needed spine. He took the electoral body to greater heights of authority, credibility and visibility. It is testimony to his strong character and personality that people can relate with him when it comes to elections.

We may not remember him as the first man to become the Election Commissioner but for his strong character. He took charge in an era of booth capturing and rigging but literally transformed the way elections are now conducted in our country.

Stupendous victory

Sir — Kudos to team India for accomplishing an exceptional victory in the third T20 international match played against Bangladesh. The middle order batsmen must be commended for playing responsible knocks in the series decider. After early dismissal of Indian openers Rohit Sharma and Shikhar Dhawan, the need was for a composed partnership between the two batsmen to accelerate the team to a massive total. KL Rahul's scintillating 52 and Shreyas Iyer's outrageous 62 proved to be the one.

Being asked to bowl in the second innings by the toss winning team, especially at a time when there is dew on the ground, it seemed like a strenuous task for Indian bowlers. But Deepak Chahar accomplished the best bowling figures in T20 internationals, taking six wickets for just seven runs in a spell of 3.2 overs. He did something one would never have anticipated.

Not a coup, just a big blunder

If you are going to rig the vote, do it from the start. Don't wait until the count shows that your candidate is not doing well and then intervene

GWYNNE DYER

Democracy is in danger in Bolivia as the result of legitimate pressures from the poor. We cannot generate economic growth and well-being for a few and then expect that the large majorities that are excluded will watch silently and patiently." A recent President of Bolivia said that, but it wasn't Evo Morales (who has just quit, plunging the country into chaos). It was Carlos Mesa, the man whom Morales tried to cheat out of the presidency in last month's election. Mesa said it in 2005, the last time he was President, just before he quit and Morales won a landslide victory in the election triggered by the former's resignation.

Most outside commentators used to stick to a simple script when talking about Bolivia. Evo Morales was the good guy, because he was the country's first indigenous President (he grew up speaking Aymara, and only learned Spanish as a young adult) and because he looked like and seemed to care about the poor majority of Bolivians.

On the other hand, Carlos Mesa belongs to the privileged white minority (15 per cent of the population) who have always controlled both the politics and the wealth, so he must be the bad guy. But his face doesn't fit the frame: He is an historian and television journalist and he resigned from the presidency in 2005 after trying and failing to nationalise the country's gas industry.

Evo Morales took his place, and he did better. Morales nationalised not only oil and gas but the tin and zinc mines and key utilities as well. He got away with it, where Mesa couldn't, because he paid out good compensation to the owners — and he could do that because Bolivia was riding a commodities boom that tripled the country's Gross Domestic Product in 15 years.

The boom has been over for a while now and a more cunning politician than Morales might have decided to let Mesa win this election. Then, as the country's income dropped further, Mesa would have got the blame for downsizing the welfare State Morales built, and Morales could return to power triumphantly in five years, claiming that Mesa had betrayed the poor. Morales' mistake was to believe that he was the indispensable man. He clung to office too long, and now he is toast. He will retain enough of a following to be a permanent political nuisance but he has embarrassed his country and he's unlikely ever to hold high office again. Under the new constitution of 2009, promulgated by Morales himself, a Bolivian President is entitled to only two five-year terms. But as he got closer to the 2019 deadline, Morales changed his mind and in 2016 he held a referendum that proposed to allow the President any number of terms. He lost. So Morales went to the Supreme Electoral Tribunal, which is dominated by his own party. Unsurprisingly, the tribunal agreed that the two-term constitutional limit violated his 'human rights' — so there he was last month, seeking a fourth term as President in a race with eight other candidates.

Everybody knew that Morales would lead and Mesa would be the runner-up in the first round of voting. Many suspected that Mesa would pick up more votes and overtake Morales in the second round — so his advisers decided that he had to win in the first round. He could do that only if he were ahead of Mesa by at least 10 per cent of the votes cast.

On October 20, the 'fast count' of the national vote went smoothly until 84 per cent of all the votes had been counted — at which point it became clear that Morales was not going to have a big enough lead over Mesa. So suddenly the counting stopped, and did not resume for 24 hours. It then showed Morales with a 10.1 per cent lead over Mesa, so no second round was needed. All hail Morales's fourth term!

But the vote-rigging was just too blatant and for almost three weeks the protesters have been in the streets. By last weekend even the police were refusing to defend Morales. When the election monitors from the Organisation of American States delivered their verdict on Sunday, saying that there were "serious security flaws" in the computer systems and "clear manipulation" of the count, Morales resigned. The election results were cancelled and it's pretty clear that he will not be a candidate when the re-run happens.

How much damage has all this done? Not much. Bolivia used to hold the world record for military coups, but everybody behaved reasonably well this time. Most of the good things Morales did, like entrenching the rights of indigenous communities in the constitution, will survive him. Carlos Mesa, who will almost certainly be the next President, has a very different style, but he is not hostile to most of Morales's goals. And here's a take-away for everybody in politics: If you are going to rig the vote, do it from the start. Don't wait until the count shows that your candidate is not doing well and only then intervene to fix it. Amateurs!

Time to secure South Asia

Regional economic integration remains the only option for addressing the long-standing, protracted interstate tensions in South Asia

M ASHRAF HAIDARI

The South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation (SAARC) Chamber of Commerce recently hosted a conference on "Regional Economic Integration: A Catalyst for Socioeconomic Prosperity in South Asia."

I welcomed this timely forum. Afghanistan, a country-participant and member-State of SAARC, has long been advocating for an acceleration of regionwide efforts to jump-start the process of regional economic integration. Doing so can indeed be a catalyst for the sustainable development of all South Asian nations, which hold so much promise in terms of both natural and human resources that should be harnessed for lifting the whole region out of poverty, disease, environmental degradation, and other challenges that directly feed terrorism, extremism and criminality in the region.

At the same time, regional economic integration remains the only option for addressing the long-standing, protracted interstate tensions in South Asia. We know this from the bitter experiences of Europe during the 18th, 19th, and early 20th centuries, where the pursuit of zero-sum foreign policies and militarism eventually led to the utter destruction of the whole continent in the two world wars.

But, in the wake of World War-II, Europeans realised that what unfortunately remains the status quo in South Asia would no longer serve their shared best, long-term national security and economic interests.

That is why they gradually but steadily moved toward long-term economic integration, which they understood could help address their short and long-term human and protective security needs, which were increasingly intertwined. Those needs could no longer be ensured by the pursuit of the same zero-sum approaches that caused two devastating wars.

These harsh experiences and Western Europe's resulting adoption of a common economic market soon, began inspiring other regions of the world to form such regional groupings as the SAARC, the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), the Eurasian Economic Community (EEC), the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), the African Union (AU), and the Union of South American Nations (USAN), to name a few.

As we know, however, not all these regional groupings have achieved their dream of meaningful economic integration on a par with Europe associations.

SAARC stands out in having lagged far behind others because two of its key member-States remain hostile to each other. This continues to hinder efforts by the other member-States, including Afghanistan and Sri Lanka, to make steady progress toward regional economic integration, which underpinned the vision and mission of SAARC when it was established in 1985.

As we continue advocating for cooperation against confrontation among our neighbours, Afghanistan has consistently pursued a foreign policy that promotes regional economic cooperation against zero-sum hedging strategies.

We strongly believe that the replacement of confrontational policies at the regional level, with those of cooperative, win-win partnerships would gradually minimise the existing interstate tensions in South Asia. And this would enable SAARC to realise its vision, knowing that South Asia is an extremely young and naturally-endowed region where our youths demand jobs and a secure future in a common, interdependent neighbourhood.

“ SAARC STANDS OUT IN HAVING LAGGED FAR BEHIND OTHERS BECAUSE TWO OF ITS KEY MEMBER-STATES REMAIN HOSTILE TO EACH OTHER. THIS CONTINUES TO HINDER EFFORTS BY THE OTHER MEMBER-STATES, INCLUDING AFGHANISTAN AND SRI LANKA, TO MAKE STEADY PROGRESS TOWARDS REGIONAL ECONOMIC INTEGRATION, WHICH UNDERPINNED THE VISION AND MISSION OF SAARC WHEN IT WAS ESTABLISHED IN 1985 ”

Indeed, this won't come to pass unless South Asian Governments learn relevant lessons from pre and post-war Europe, that would encourage them to make tough but necessary policy choices against the status quo for achieving shared peace and prosperity across the region through economic integration.

The Government of Afghanistan has done its part and continues to do so. Despite the imposed security challenges the nation is facing, Afghanistan has put forth a strategic solution for adoption and implementation by its near and far neighbours: The Heart of Asia-Istanbul Process (HOA-IP) on Regional Security and Cooperation for a Secure and Stable Afghanistan and the Regional Economic Cooperation Conference on Afghanistan (RECCA). These Afghanistan-led processes were established to help secure regional cooperation for Afghanistan's stabilisation and sustainable development, thereby ensuring regionwide stability and prosperity, which SAARC strives to accomplish.

Even though HOA-IP and RECCA remain underutilised so far, it is in the best short and long-term interests of the countries — including India and Pakistan — that participate in the two processes, to achieve the shared goals of the two platforms. Of course, every tangible step they take to utilise these interconnected processes will help minimise their own and other nations' security and socioeconomic vulnerabilities against the terrorist-extremist-criminal nexus that victimises Afghanistan more than any other country in the region.

This constructive thinking underpins our growing ties with the friendly Government and people of Sri Lanka, with whom Afghanistan shares an ancient civilisation.

Since I took up my assignment as Afghanistan's Ambassador to Sri Lanka last year, we have worked to further expand our bilateral relations with a focus on promoting full-spectrum connectivity that builds deeper economic, defence, cultural, and people-to-people ties between Afghanistan, Sri Lanka and the rest of South Asia.

In this light, we have met with numerous businesses, including members of Sri Lanka's chambers of commerce, to discuss the vast bilateral trade potential that needs to be realised.

More recently, high-powered Afghan delegations have met with the representatives of the Ceylon Chamber of Commerce; the Colombo Chamber of Commerce; the National Chamber of Commerce as well as the International Chamber of Commerce of Sri Lanka to discuss the formation of an Afghanistan-Sri Lanka Business Council to promote exchange of trade teams, business-to-business meetings and business match-making conferences, which should facilitate bilateral investment between the two nations. To this end, we look forward to finalising and signing with Sri Lanka an memorandum of understanding (MoU) on trade and investment promotion and protection.

This step, together with our bilateral air services agreement, should facilitate the establishment of a direct passenger and cargo flight between Kabul and Colombo. When this happens as one of the country's key goals, Afghans and Sri Lankans should be able to reconnect with their shared heritage through tourism, trade, investment, education and cultural exchange.

Indeed, the achievement of this bilateral goal will help South Asia as a least connected region, make a giant leap forward towards regional economic integration — effectively connecting SAARC's northernmost member-State, Afghanistan, with its southernmost counterpart, Sri Lanka.

And this necessary connectivity will undoubtedly benefit the rest of South Asia where the challenges that face our nations and the opportunities that we must exploit to our shared advantage are increasingly intertwined. That is why others in the SAARC should consider doing away with the prevailing zero-sum approaches and join Afghanistan and Sri Lanka to operationalise the vision of SAARC for the common economic benefit of all of its member-States with increased interdependencies.

Indians voted for reforms in 2019 LS polls

The Finance Minister has indicated that a lot of the market rectifications or some of the other structural changes often on the list of economists are well on the cards, as a mandate of 303 makes them possible

KARAN BHASIN

The year 2019 will go down in Indian history as a critical juncture that changed the country's trajectory. With a switch in our direction, it is evident that we're going to change our eventual destiny. For the first time in 48 years of the country's political history, India elected a second term, full-majority Government in 2019.

It was also for the first time in the country's history that Indians voted for a reformist Government, thereby signalling a new dawn in the nation's politics. The electoral results broke the myth of the citizens voting against reforms, which prevailed in academic discussions for many years. Any analysis of the developments of different events in 2019 cannot be without a detailed discussion on the significance of 303 seats.

The subsequent full majority Government of Prime Minister Narendra Modi comes with the backdrop of improved numbers for the BJP in the Rajya Sabha and a long list of States where the saffron party is currently in power. All of this opens interesting opportunities for some of the long-standing politically-sensitive, yet important economic reforms. More importantly, it gives the BJP the necessary political capital to take tough decisions.

Be it the issue of triple talaq or of Article 370, we see an unflinching commitment by the Government to its manifesto. Especially the so-called 'core' agenda of the BJP such as the Uniform Civil Code (UCC), Article 370 and the issue of construction of the Ram Temple. The way things stand, in 2019 at least two of these core promises have been delivered, one by the BJP and the other by the Supreme Court. It is important to recognise the significance of both these achievements, as these were extremely challenging and contentious issues with severe political and social repercussions. The handling of both these issues has been with utmost care and this shows the level of empathy by our executive, judicial and legislative bodies. The Prime Minister's address after the judgment is extremely important as he welcomed the verdict and gave a call for the creation of a 'New India'. The theme of 'New India' seems to be consistent with Modi's agenda to build a more inclusive, dynamic and equitable society.

The focus is on creation of equal opportunities to ensure upward mobility in the nation's economy. The Government has drastically pivoted India's welfare programmes away from the leaky socialist ones. Smart welfare in the form of Direct Benefit Transfer (DBT) must be viewed as a tool that aims at creating a basic and decent standard of living for all. This is also the year when India initiated one of the boldest corporate tax cuts in its history.

In fact, the reductions were one of the largest tax cuts in the 21st century. Their significance is difficult to fathom for many commentators, but the fact that it makes our tax rates competitive amongst other East Asian countries after a really long time, illustrates the importance of the same.

The Finance Minister too indicated that a lot of the market reforms or some of the other structural reforms often on the list of economists are well on the cards, as a mandate of 303 makes them possible. Recall the land ordinance during Modi 1.0, which became a problem because of the lack of numbers in the Rajya Sabha. Now there is no such problem and therefore, critical reforms such as land reforms can become a reality sooner rather than later.

The fact that growth is slower in 2019 is also an important thing that many have ignored. With the slowing coming early in the term of Modi 2.0, we are likely to see a lot of reforms to address some of the long-standing issues that affect the economy. A bulk of these reforms have become necessary and urgent such as the corporate tax cuts. As it is often said, one should never miss an opportunity for reforms and certainly Modi 2.0 is not a Government to shy away from them. The significance of it all is that as the BJP delivers on its core agenda, Modi has created a new agenda of developing a 'New India'.

This implies an unflinching commitment towards economic growth and development for the next couple of years, which will likely result in a transformation of the country's economy and society.

The manifesto of the BJP seems to have become a form of social contract between the party and the people. It is this form of social contract that has enabled the growth of the party across the country, giving it further political capital to fulfil its promises.

It is interesting to also point out that just as the BJP is expanding, old allies like the Shiv Sena have parted ways. The power struggle between the two old partners over the issue of rotational chief ministership and the subsequent falling out have plunged the State into a crisis of governance till the vexed kissa kursi ka (who will rule) Maharashtra is settled.

Clearly, none of the political parties in the country have learnt their lessons from the Karnataka debacle or the unsuccessful Jammu & Kashmir experience, which showed very clearly that unnatural alliances only result in misgovernance and political instability does more damage to institutions over a period, than anything else.

In the future, when fresh elections are held in Maharashtra, the people of the State will definitely ask all these political parties some tough questions. They will ask why their mandate to the saffron alliance was not respected and why governance in Maharashtra was put on hold for many days after the people had given their verdict.

At the end of the day, politics and economics are always intertwined and that is precisely why one needs to watch out and learn vital lessons from such developments.

No matter, what the result of the political games and machinations in Maharashtra, the fact remains that the sooner the reins of the State come into responsible hands, the faster the beleaguered State that has been reeling under a farm and water crisis, can head on the path of economic development.

More importantly, no matter how one looks at 2019, one finds significant political, social and cultural developments that are likely to have significant consequences for the future of the Indian economy. The BJP has an unflinching commitment to its social contract, which is resulting in further consolidation of its power.

With just another month and a half before 2019 ends, nobody knows what more is likely to happen, but one thing is for sure, Indian politics and the country are likely to have transformed into something better by the end of the year.

Industrial production posts steepest fall in 8 yrs

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

In signs of continuing weakness in the economy, India's factory output shrank to the lowest level in eight years as all three broad-based sectors of capital goods production, consumer durables, and infrastructure and construction goods contracted.

The Index of Industrial Production (IIP) fell 4.3 per cent in September as compared to a contraction by 1.4 per cent in August 2019 and a growth of 4.6 per cent in factory output in the same month a year back, data released by the Ministry of Statistics showed on Monday.

The second straight month of contraction has taken the IIP to its lowest level since it shrank by 5 per cent in October 2011. On a quarterly basis, the second quarter of 2019-20 fiscal (July-September) saw IIP contracting by 0.4 per cent (Q1 3 per cent expansion and 5.3 per cent growth in Q2 FY19).

In September 2019, capital goods output dropped 20.7 per cent from a year ago, while consumer durables fell 9.9 per cent. Infrastructure and construction goods output fell 6.4 per cent. Intermediate goods was the only use-based classification that grew 7 per cent in September.

The contraction in IIP in September has dampened prospects of a quick recovery in economic growth after it slipped to a six-year low of 5 per cent in the April-June quarter this year.

Gross Domestic Product (GDP) data for July-September is due on November 29.

"IIP has been very volatile and the small momentum of a couple of months fizzles out soon," said Devendra Kumar Pant, Chief Economist at India Ratings & Research. "The Indian economy is presently facing a structural growth slow-cut in the interest rate in December.

During April to September, the IIP growth remained almost flat at 1.3 per cent compared to 5.2 per cent in same period last fiscal.

A slowdown was witnessed in the manufacturing sector, which declined by 3.9 per cent in September as compared to 4.8 per cent growth a year ago.

The power generation sector output dipped 2.6 per cent in September, compared to 8.2 per cent rise a year ago.

Mining output too fell by 8.5 per cent in September as against 0.1 per cent climb in the corresponding month last fiscal. Capital goods production, which is a barometer of investment, declined by 20.7 per cent in September compared to a 6.9 per cent hike in the year-ago month.

As per use-based classification, the growth rates in September 2019 over September 2018 are (-) 5.1 per cent in primary goods, 7 per cent in intermediate goods and (-) 6.4 per cent in infrastructure/ construction goods.

Consumer durables and consumer non-durables have recorded growth of (-) 9.9 per cent and (-) 0.4 per cent, respectively. In terms of industries, 17 out of 23 industry groups in the manufacturing sector have shown negative growth during September 2019 as compared to the same month last year.

- The Index of Industrial Production fell 4.3% in September
- The second straight month of contraction has taken the IIP to its lowest level since it shrank by 5 per cent in October 2011
- Gross Domestic Product (GDP) data for July-Sept is due on November 29

Govt to lift pricing curbs on domestically produced gas

IAN S ■ NEW DELHI

In one of the last reforms in the oil and gas sector, the government is set to free up pricing of all domestically produced gas that would help scale up local production from fields of ONGC, OIL, Reliance and Vedanta and help create a uniform gas where the fuel is freely tradable on exchanges.

Government sources said that discussions on lifting price restrictions on locally produced natural gas have started that would culminate into a decision about the timing of the new reform initiative. The current timing is considered ideal to free up gas prices as oil market and prices have remained stable.

A panel led by the Niti Aayog vice chairman has also suggested free-market pricing for natural gas produced from all fields to boost domestic output.

"We are looking at all proposals on bringing out domestic gas production from pricing regulations. A cabinet note proposing the changes would soon be finalised so that new system is put in place at the earliest," said a government official privy to the development.

However, any move to completely lift price regulation in the gas sector will be done gradually as has been suggested by the Kelkar Panel. This would mean that the present system of regulated gas pricing for domestic production would continue for at least three more years but during the period

Turbulence in world politics hurting growth, says Moody's

IAN S ■ MUMBAI

Increasingly unfriendly global political environment with tensions between the US and China over trade, India and Pakistan over Kashmir, EU and the UK over Brexit are "growth-diminishing", Moody's said on Monday.

The antagonistic political environment is weakening global and national institutions, lowering the shock-absorption capacity of sovereigns with high debt burdens and low fiscal buffers, it said.

"While the starkest example is clearly the trade war between the US and China, distracting and, in some cases, growth-diminishing tensions have also risen in the Gulf, between Japan (A1 stable) and Korea (Aa2 stable), India and Pakistan (B3 negative), the US and the EU, and the EU and the UK," the ratings agency said.

The slowdown, Moody's said, partly reflects cyclical factors, partly structural drivers, including demographic trends.

UK economy avoids recession with 0.3 per cent quarterly growth

AFP ■ LONDON

Britain's Brexit-facing economy avoided entering recession in the third quarter with growth of 0.3 per cent, official data showed on Monday.

Gross domestic product rebounded in the July-September period after a 0.2-per cent contraction in the second quarter, the Office for National Statistics (ONS) said in an initial estimate.

The technical definition of a recession is two straight quarters of negative growth. Economic activity was propelled largely by the construction and services sectors, while the production sector was flat.

"GDP grew steadily in the third quarter, mainly thanks to a strong July," said an ONS spokesman.

"Services again led the way with construction also performing well.

"Manufacturing failed to grow as falls in most industries were offset by car production bouncing back," he added.

Govt formulating policy on credit ratings for MSMEs, says Gadkari

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Government is in the process of formulating a policy on credit ratings for micro, small and medium enterprises to help investors and other players take informed decision, Union Minister Nitin Gadkari said on Monday.

Addressing International Women's Entrepreneurial Challenge Foundation, Gadkari said MSME contributed 49 per cent of India's total export.

The event was organised by Ficc Ladies Organisation (FLO) here.

"We are going to start digital data based credit rating system... We are going to make the rating of the industry... It can give information about the MSMEs. That can be more easy for taking any decision because rating is now very important. So, now we are formulating the policy and we are going to make some scheme for them and that will be very useful," MSME Minister Gadkari said.

MMTC floats tenders for import of 4K tonnes of onion

PTI ■ ABU DHABI/NEW DELHI

New Delhi: State-owned MMTC, which has been directed to import 1 lakh tonnes of onion, has floated two separate bids for import of 4,000 tonnes onion in order to boost domestic availability and check prices that have risen sharply up to Rs 100/kg in most places, including the national capital.

The government on Saturday decided to import 1 lakh tonnes of onion to control prices. While trading firm MMTC will import onions, cooperative Nafed will supply the key kitchen item in the domestic market. The decision was taken at a meeting of committee of secretaries held on Saturday.

"The government has taken a decision to import 1 lakh tonnes of onion to control prices," Food and Consumer Affairs Minister Ram Vilas Paswan had said in a tweet.

MMTC has been asked to import onions and make it available for distribution in the domestic market between November 15 and December 15 period, he said.

Pradhan woos foreign firms to invest in India's oil & gas sector

PTI ■ ABU DHABI/NEW DELHI

India on Monday wooed foreign companies to invest in its oil and gas sector as the world's third-largest energy consumer is likely to see over $100 billion spending in energy infrastructure creation to meet rising demand.

Oil Minister Dharmendra Pradhan, who is on a two-day visit to the United Arab Emirates, showcased investment opportunities, promising political and fiscal stability, predictable policies and a huge diverse market.

"Our focus is to attract global investments into the oil and gas sector, as India would invest USD 100 billion by 2024 in refining, pipelines and gas terminals," he said at a conference in Abu Dhabi. "There is no better place to invest (than India) if you are in the business of energy"

India is expanding oil refining capacity to produce more fuel and petrochemicals as also investing in pipelines and terminals to increase the share of natural gas in the energy mix.

China's Jingye forges rescue deal for British Steel

AFP ■ LONDON

Chinese industrial giant Jingye Group has agreed to buy bankrupt British Steel for an undisclosed amount, the official receiver said Monday in a rescue deal that saves thousands of jobs.

Jingye added separately that it would invest 1.2 billion pounds ($1.5 billion, 1.4 billion euros) over the next decade to place the business, which collapsed in May, on a competitive and sustainable footing.

"The Official Receiver and Special Managers from EY can confirm that a sales contract has been entered into with Jingye Steel (UK) Ltd and Jingye Steel (UK) Holding Ltd to acquire the business and assets of British Steel Limited," read a statement. A source had already confirmed to AFP that a deal was in the works earlier on Monday, amid press reports that Jingye would pay 70 million.

Jingye will purchase British Steel's sprawling steelworks at Scunthorpe, northern England, as well as its other UK mills.

The deal also includes the company's stakes in Dutch steelmaker FN Steel, British Steel France, and specialist UK manufacturer TSP Engineering.

Researchers have found that stress hormone, and not neurons, manage the fixed circadian rhythm that controls everything from sleep needs to body temperature. This means that we have two systems — the nervous and the hormonal system that communicate perfectly and influence one another, all in the course of a reasonably tight 24-hour programme

TIPS FOR YOUTHFUL SKIN

Skin ageing has become a common phenomenon. DR AJAY RANA tells you how one can achieve a perfect young look naturally

Today, be it men or women, the problem is faced by ample number of people. The unhealthy and processed food is one of main cause of skin ageing. Processed foods contain all type of ingredients which body doesn't recognise and that leads to skin ageing and a weakened immune system. Skin ageing is characterised by features such as rough-textured appearance, wrinkling and loss of elasticity.

However, age and skin aging processes have been considered complex even with different factors. The conventional ageing mostly depends upon the individual genes, proteins, and other intrinsic in isolation. But, the processes of ageing involve the interaction of physical, biological, psychological, social and cultural aspects as well. Ageing also is affected by personal habits, diet and living environments beside medical issues. The effects of physical exercise, drugs, vitamins, hormones and antioxidants may have an impact on longevity. Skin is the hurdle that set apart the body from the outer environment. Besides protecting the body from water loss and infections, it has an important cosmetic role. However, exposure to sunlight is the one of the biggest culprit in ageing skin. Over time, the sun's ultraviolet light damages certain fibers produced in the skin called elastin. The breakdown of elastin fibers causes stretch, skin to sag, and lose its ability to restore back after stretching.

As a society, we value beauty and strive to look young and that leads us to the companies which exploit these desires, knowing that we will try anything in our search for a miracle cure for ageing and using skin care products that sting or burn that leaves your skin irritated which damages the skin and as a result, the natural oils found on face surface go rancid, which breaks down collagen and speeds ageing. One of the most important ways you can prevent your skin from ageing is to make sure you're not dousing it with harmful chemicals.

There are few ways which can help you slow-down your ageing.

■ Try drinking two-three liters of water per day. Hydrating keeps one's skin looking young, bright and glowing.

■ Exercising regularly decreases the chance for persistent disease, depression and cognitive decline, and can keep your skin looking younger

■ Use fish oils. These supplements are rich in the essential omega-3 fatty acids EPA and DHA and enhance cardiovascular, vision health; strengthen skin, hair, and nails, and memory skills.

■ Glutathione is the master antioxidant in the body and also known for one of the most powerful supplements for slowing down the ageing process

■ Alpha Lipoic Acid (ALA) is a potent, versatile antioxidant that helps to fend off inflammation, balances blood sugar and protect skin's collagen.

■ Stop Smoking. It greatly speeds up your skin ages. It causes wrinkles and a dull, sallow complexion.

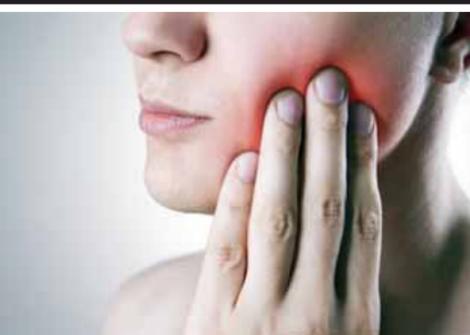

■ Regular exercise can improve circulation and boost the immune system. This, may give the skin a more-youthful appearance.

■ Apply a facial moisturiser on a daily basis. Moisturiser keeps water in our skin, giving it a more youthful appearance.

■ Stem cell transplantation is a promising therapy for the treatment of skin ageing. Adipose tissue transplantation could improve skin quality and also contribute to the regeneration of skin during ageing.

According to the International Diabetes Federation Atlas 2015, 69.2 million Indians are Diabetic. DR ANURAG BANSAL tells you how to keep the disease in check

The unnerving dilemma

Pain in the face, jaw and the nose area can be devastating, and such symptoms should seldom be ignored. This intense, stabbing, electric shock-like pain can be an underlying cause of some major complication in the head. The pain typically involves the lower face and jaw, although sometimes it affects the area around the nose and above the eye and is caused by irritation of the trigeminal nerve, which sends branches to the forehead, cheek and lower jaw. It usually is limited to one side of the face.

The trigeminal nerve is the fifth of 12 pairs of cranial nerves in the head. It is the nerve responsible for providing sensation to the face. One trigeminal nerve runs to the right side of the head, while the other runs to the left. Each of these nerves has three distinct branches. After the trigeminal nerve leaves the brain and travels inside the skull, it divides into three smaller branches, controlling sensations throughout the face.

Trigeminal Neuralgia — Prevalence: While the disorder can occur at any age, it is most common in people over the age of 50. The National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke notes that trigeminal neuralgia is more common in women than in men. Additionally, there is evidence that the disorder runs in families, likely as a result of an inherited blood vessel formation. Hypertension and multiple sclerosis also are risk factors.

The most commonly reported cause of jaw pain is temporomandibular joint disorder (TMD). The condition affects up to 12 per cent of people. Nearly 5 per cent seek medical treatment due to the severity of the problem. Women of childbearing age are most commonly affected by TMD.

Pain can also be caused by lifestyle-related factors, including emotional stress, sleep disturbances, a lack of certain nutrients, or tiredness. The cause of the pain usually is due to contact between a healthy artery or vein and the trigeminal nerve at the base of the brain. This places pressure on the nerve as it enters the brain and causes the nerve to misfire.

While Trigeminal Neuralgia can occur at any age, it is most common in people over the age of 50. Hypertension and multiple sclerosis are some of the risk factors

Lifestyle strategies to reduce jaw pain long-term. Stress reduction: Try stress-relieving techniques to reduce jaw clenching like yoga, meditation and journaling. Avoid chewy foods. Avoid caffeine: Avoiding large amounts of caffeinated coffee and tea may help reduce your jaw pain over time, but you may initially feel muscle tension from caffeine withdrawal when cutting it out of your diet.

Medical treatment: Most doctors will first recommend non-invasive treatment methods for your jaw pain. If you still have jaw pain after trying these methods, you should talk to your dentist. You may need further interventions to find relief for your pain.

Mouthguard: A mouthguard is a plastic dental protector worn on your upper or lower teeth that's custom-fitted for your mouth. Although you can purchase one at a pharmacy, a dentist will make you one that may fit better and last longer. Wearing one at bedtime can help stop you from unconsciously grinding your teeth.

Jaw surgery: In very rare instances, a doctor will recommend jaw surgery to correct TMD problems. This treatment is usually reserved for people with severe pain and pain that's due to structural problems in the jaw joint.

The following tests may help them to find out more about the cause of jaw pain, including:

■ Physical exam, including assessment of the nerves, neck bones, jaw, mouth and muscles.

■ Certain laboratory tests, such as an erythrocyte sedimentation rate blood test, used in the diagnosis of conditions involving pain.

Diabetes is a metabolic disease which is caused due to high sugar in the blood. The hormone insulin transfers sugar from the blood to the cells which is stored and used as energy. With Diabetes, the body either doesn't reproduce enough insulin or can't effectively utilise the insulin to its optimal.

Untreated high blood sugar from Diabetes can damage your kidneys, eyes, nerves and other organs.

Symptoms: Diabetes symptoms are caused due to rising blood sugar:

- Increased hunger
- Increased thirst
- Weight loss
- Frequent urination
- Blurry vision
- Extreme fatigue
- Sores that doesn't heal

Causes: Multiple causes are associated with different types of Diabetes.

Type I Diabetes: The causes of type 1 diabetes are still not very well known. For some reason, the immune system mistakenly attacks and destroys insulin-producing beta cells in the pancreas. Genes may play a role in some people.

Type II Diabetes: Type II Diabetes stems from a combination of genetics and lifestyle factors. Being overweight or obese increases your risk too. Carrying extra weight makes the cells more resistant to the effects of insulin in your blood sugar. This condition runs in families. Family members share genes that make them more likely to get Type II Diabetes and to be overweight.

Anyone who has symptoms of diabetes or is at risk for the disease are suggested to get themselves tested. Women are routinely tested for gestational diabetes during their second or third trimesters of pregnancy.

Doctors use the following blood tests to diagnose pre-diabetes and diabetes:

■ The fasting plasma glucose (FPG) test measures your blood sugar after you've fasted for eight hours.

■ The HbA1c test provides a snapshot of your blood sugar levels over the previous three months.

■ HbA1c is a test which is generally offered to diabetic people to evaluate their average blood glucose levels over a period of two-three months. Although it has also been recognised as a diagnostic test of Diabetes mellitus but its prime importance is to see the compliance of the patient and long term control over glucose levels.

■ Glycosylation is an enzymatic reaction in which glucose molecule attached non-covalently to the Hemoglobin molecule. Generally the percentage of glycosylated hemoglobin remains less than 5 per cent of total hemoglobin in normal population. In diabetic people, as the glucose level increases, percentage of glycosylated Hb rises in a linear fashion. Since the RBCs have a life span of around 120 days so HbA1c stays in the blood till old RBCs are replaced by new one. So HbA1c will give us an approximate idea of blood gluucose levels maintained by patient in past few months.

■ Unlike blood glucose levels which keep on fluctuating all the day, HbA1c does not get affected by the last meal and therefore serves a good marker for long term glucose control.

■ To diagnose gestational diabetes, your doctor will test your blood sugar levels between the 24th and 28th weeks of your pregnancy.

■ During the glucose challenge test, your blood sugar is checked an hour after you drink a sugary liquid.

■ During the three-hour glucose tolerance test, the blood sugar is being checked after an overnight fasting and breaking the fast with consumption of a sugary liquid.

The earlier you get diagnosed with diabetes, the sooner you can start treatment. Find out whether you should get tested, and get more information on tests your doctor might perform.

Prevention

Type I Diabetes isn't preventable as it occurs due to the problem in the immune system. Some causes of Type II Diabetes, such as your genes or age, aren't under your control either.

Yet many other risk factors are controllable. Making simple adjustments to the diet and fitness routine can accelerate the prevention strategies.

If you've been diagnosed with prediabetes, here are a few things you can do to delay or prevent Type II Diabetes:

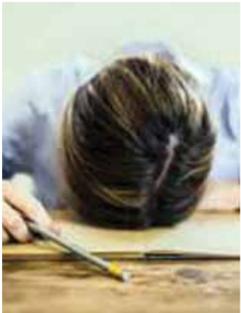

- Get at least 150 minutes per week of aerobic exercise, such as walking or cycling.
- Cut saturated and trans fats, along with refined carbohydrates, out of your diet.
- Eat more fruits, vegetables, and whole grains.
- Eat smaller portions.

Don't stress out

With today's fast paced lifestyle, stress has become a part and parcel of everyone's life and can affect people differently. According to the International Diabetes Federation Atlas 2015, an estimated 69.2 million Indians are Diabetic, which as per the WHO assessment stood at 63 million in the year 2013.

There are lot of evidences which suggest that stress hormones in the body may directly affect glucose levels which can affect Diabetes Mellitus Type II in terms of both onset and exacerbation.

There are various stressors which can increase a person's risk of developing diabetes, including:

- Anger
  - Work stress
  - Distressed sleep

Those living in Delhi are constantly inhaling impure air due to vehicular pollution. But the air quality worsens during November. However, a few simple home remedies can minimise the ill-effects, says ROSHANI DEVI

Those living in Delhi are well-aware of the ill-effects of living with poor Air Quality Index. During this time several things combine together to make the air poisonous. But a few simple home remedies can help reduce the ill-effects.

Here's what one can do: We all know the benefits of neem when it comes to treating skin problems. But did you know that the leaf can also be used to reduce the effects. Boil neem leaves in water.

Take a bath with this. It will help to wash off the pollutants that stick to your skin and hair. Though the leaf is bitter to taste, try eating four-five leaves daily after washing them properly.

Tulsi is another leaf that can come to your rescue. If you don't have a plant buy it today, it absorbs pollution. Also, drink 10 ml of tulsi juice.

Eat garlic and onions. You can cook your veggies with it to help you boost immunity.

Include ginger in your diet. Add grated ginger to your cup of tea or chew a fresh piece with a pinch of salt.

Eat plenty of citrus fruits like oranges. The Vitamin C not only helps boost immunity, it lessens the effects of air pollution as well.

TIPTOP

Ageing is a process where over time an individual experience a decline in performance, productivity and health. Problems of senior citizen usually appear after the age of 60 years and above. At this age, elder citizens face medical, economic, social and psychological problems. A common set of health issues in the elderly population are degenerative diseases like dementia, alzheimer's, osteoarthritis, parkinson's disease and eye diseases like age related macular degeneration (AMD).

AMD is one of the important causes of severe visual loss in the elderly population and constitutes 8.7 per cent of blindness in the world. Age-related Macular Degeneration is a disease where abnormal blood vessels grow in the macula (centre part of retina) causing damage to the centre vision.

However, early diagnosis and timely treatment of AMD can help prevent depression and vision loss and quality of life of the patients.

Dr Rajvardhan Azad, Senior Consultant Vitreoretinal Surgeon, Former Chief, Dr R P Centre, AIIMS New Delhi, President of ALL India Collegium of Ophthalmology says: "The common symptoms of retinal disorders like AMD include blurred or distorted vision, dark spots in central vision or straight lines appearing way.

Retinal diseases are often underdiagnosed as the symptoms as there is no pain and the other eye compensates for the poor eye. Only when profound loss of eye sight or the patient closes one eye it gets noticed therefore it is imperative to understand the symptoms and seek expert advice as early diagnosis can help prevent loss of vision."

SLIMLINE

Spanish health authorities confirmed last week (November 9, 2019) a case of a man spreading dengue through sex, a world first for a virus which until recently was thought to be transmitted only by mosquitoes.

The case concerns a 41-year-old man from Madrid who contracted dengue after having sex with his male partner who picked up the virus from a mosquito bite during a trip to Cuba.

His dengue infection was confirmed in September and it puzzled doctors because he had not travelled to a country where the disease, which causes severe flu-like symptoms such as high fever and body aches, is common. His partner presented the same symptoms and had previously visited Cuba and the Dominican Republic.

STUDYCENTRE

Weight-loss or bariatric surgeries are not usually performed in people above the age of 65. But researchers, including Indian-origin, have now found that these procedures could lead to successful weight loss and better Diabetes control in older adults.

The study, presented at the Society for Endocrinology annual conference in Brighton, UK, indicates that elderly patients treated with bariatric surgery (gastric bypass or gastric sleeve) can recover well and have a reduced risk of obesity-related complications, including heart disease and diabetes.

"Although based on a small number of patients, our data suggest that successful weight loss and improved diabetes control can be safely achieved with surgery in older patients, which could have real benefits for their longevity and quality of life," said study researcher Nader Lessan from the Abu Dhabi-based Imperial College London Diabetes Centre.

The only adverse effects reported during the two year period were iron and Vitamin D deficiencies, which happen in younger patients too. "Management of obesity and diabetes in old age is challenging. There is a lot of scepticism around conducting weight-loss surgery in patients over 65," Lessan said.

The study suggests these procedures could be considered in older adults as an effective intervention to aid weight loss and associated complications. —IANS

WARMFOODS

CHILI: Chili, commonly known as chili pepper are widely used in many cuisines as a spice to add heat to dishes. Capsaicin, the chemical in chili peppers that makes them hot, is used as an analgesic in topical ointments, nasal sprays, and dermal patches to relieve pain. It also aids the circulatory system and prevents heart disease by lowering blood serum cholesterol and reduces lipid deposits, and therefore, reverses excessive blood clotting. It also dilates the blood vessels to aid in blood flow.

Hot peppers are full of beta carotene and antioxidants that support your immune system and will aid in fighting off colds and flu.

Research has found that nasal sprays containing capsaicin reduce congestion. Increased body temperature from the ingestion of hot peppers triggers the immune system into action in fighting the norovirus (cold) and flu viruses.

Consumption of peppers fights against 16 fungal strains by reducing fungal pathogens.

Hong Kong Police shoot protester; man set on fire

AP ■ HONG KONG
Elsewhere, a man was set on fire following an apparent dispute over national identity in the semi-autonomous Chinese territory, which has been wracked by five months of protests. The man was in critical condition in a city hospital.

A Hong Kong anti-government protester was shot by police on Monday in a dramatic scene caught on video as demonstrators blocked train lines and roads in a day of spiraling violence fueled by demands for democratic reforms.

The violence is likely to further inflame passions in Hong Kong after a student who fell during an earlier protest succumbed to his injuries on Friday and police arrested six pro-democracy lawmakers over the weekend. Monday's video shows a police officer shooting away a group of protesters at an intersection, then drawing his gun on a masked protester in a white hooded sweatshirt who approaches him.

As the two struggle, another protester in black approaches, and the officer points his gun at the second one. He then fires at the stomach area of the second protester, who falls to the ground. The officer appeared to fire again as a third protester in black joined the tussle.

The protester in white manages to flee, bounding up a nearby stairway, and the officer and a colleague pin the two in black to the ground. Police said that only one protester was hit and that he was undergoing surgery.

How Trump's impeachment will unroll

AFP ■ WASHINGTON
The start of open hearings in the impeachment investigation into President Donald Trump on Wednesday will give the American public their first chance to witness live the explosive showdown between Democrats and Republicans over the US leader's future.

The hearing before the House Intelligence Committee marks the second phase of the impeachment investigation into allegations that Trump abused his powers by seeking help for his 2020 reelection campaign from Ukraine.

Trump is under threat of becoming only the third president in US history to be impeached — formally charged with violating his duties as president or committing crimes, and placed on trial in the Senate.

With Democrats in control of the House of Representatives, impeachment appears highly likely, as soon as the end of 2019.

But the Republicans hold a majority in the Senate, a bulwark against him being convicted and removed from office — unless they turn against him.

There is still much to do, but analysts believe the entire process could be completed before the end of January.

On Wednesday, the House Intelligence Committee takes the impeachment investigation public after six weeks of closed-door depositions from White House, State Department and other officials.

Those depositions have already painted a fairly complete picture of how Trump and aides, including personal lawyer Rudy Giuliani, pressured Ukraine's President Volodymyr Zelensky to open investigations that could conceivably find political dirt against the Democrats and Trump's possible 2020 election rival Joe Biden.

Some of the witnesses who already testified privately will be recalled to face the public panel, starting with Ambassador William Taylor, Washington's top diplomat in Ukraine, and Deputy Assistant Secretary of State George Kent on Wednesday, and former Ambassador to Ukraine Marie Yovanovitch on Friday.

Donald has not done anything to be impeached, says Haley

New York: Nikki Haley, the former US ambassador to the UN, has backed embattled Donald Trump, with the Indian-origin Republican leader saying the President has not done anything that warrants an impeachment, which she said is like a "death penalty" for a public official.

President Trump, a Republican, is accused of trying to pressure Ukraine into investigating unsubstantiated corruption claims against his Democratic Party political rival and former vice president Joe Biden, and his son who worked with an Ukrainian gas company.

On Wednesday, the House Intelligence Committee is scheduled to open hearings in the impeachment investigation. It will mark the second phase of the impeachment investigation into allegations that Trump abused his powers by seeking help for his 2020 re-election bid from Ukraine President Volodymyr Zelensky. PTI

US urges early Iraq polls, halt to violence against protesters

Washington: The United States on Sunday urged Iraqi authorities to hold early polls and carry out electoral reforms, and called for an end to the violence against protesters that has left hundreds dead.

Washington wants "the Iraqi government to halt the violence against protesters and fulfill President (Barham) Saleh's promise to pass electoral reform and hold early elections," the White House said in a statement.

"The United States is seriously concerned by continued attacks against protesters, civic activists, and the media, as well as restrictions on internet access, in Iraq," it said.

Mass rallies calling for an overhaul of the ruling system have rocked the capital Baghdad and the Shiite-majority south since October 1, but political forces closed ranks this week to defend the Government. AFP

Turkey begins deporting foreign jihadists

Istanbul: Turkey said Monday it had begun sending back foreign jihadists to their countries of origin, with an American already expelled and more than 20 Europeans in the process of deportation.

A "foreign terrorist fighter" from the US was deported early on Monday, with two more — from Germany and Denmark — due to be expelled later in the day, interior ministry spokesman Ismail Catakli told state news agency Anadolu.

Seven more Germans were due for deportation on Thursday, he added, while 11 French citizens, two Irish and at least two additional Germans were also being processed.

Turkey has criticised Western countries for refusing to repatriate their citizens who left to join the Islamic State group (IS) in Syria and Iraq, and stripping some of them of their citizenship.

Interior Minister Suleyman Soylu said last week that Turkey had nearly 1,200 foreign members of ISIS in custody, and had captured 287 during its recent operation in northern Syria.

It was not clear if all those being deported this week were captured in Syria, or in Turkish territory.

"There is no need to try to escape from it, we will send them back to you. Deal with them how you want," Soylu said on Friday.

Turkey has frequently sent back captured jihadists in recent years, but has lately increased pressure on Europe to take responsibility for the problem.

It follows its offensive last month in northern Syria against Kurdish militants who were holding thousands of ISIS fighters and their families.

Turkey said it would take control of captured jihadists in areas that it seized from Kurdish groups, but demanded greater assistance from Europe. AFP

Cops probing videos of man set alight

Hong Kong: Hong Kong police said on Monday they are investigating reports that a man was set alight following an argument on a day of widespread protests across the city, as videos of the purported attack surfaced online.

Three videos were posted on messaging channels used by protesters showing a man in a green t-shirt arguing with people on a footbridge, reportedly in the northern district of Ma On Shan. A masked man dressed in black then throws a liquid over the man and sets him ablaze as crowds scatter and the victim frantically tries to remove his t-shirt. AFP

Bolivia's prez resigns amid election-fraud allegations

La Paz (Bolivia): Bolivian President Evo Morales resigned on Sunday under mounting pressure from the military and the public after his re-election victory triggered weeks of fraud allegations and deadly protests.

The decision came after a day of fast-moving developments, including an offer from Morales to hold a new election. But the crisis deepened dramatically when the country's military chief went on national television to call on him to step down.

"I am sending my resignation letter to the Legislative Assembly of Bolivia," the 60-year-old socialist leader said.

He added: "I ask you to stop attacking the brothers and sisters, stop burning and attacking."

Before Morales had even finished his statement, car horns began sounding in La Paz and other cities, and people took to the streets to celebrate, waving Bolivian flags and setting off fireworks.

Morales was the first member of Bolivia's indigenous population to become president and was in power for 13 years and nine months, the longest term in the country's history.

But his claim to have won a fourth term last month set off unrest that left three people dead and over 100 injured in clashes between his supporters and opponents.

Earlier in the day Sunday, the Organisation of American States said in a preliminary report that it had found a "heap of observed irregularities" in the Oct. 20 election and that a new vote should be held.

Rohingyas 'threat' to security, says B'desh PM

PTI ■ DHAKA
Bangladesh Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina on Monday said the over 10 lakh Rohingyas who fled from Myanmar to her country in the wake of "persecution" are a "threat to the security" of the entire region as she urged the global community to resolve the issue.

According to the UN, as of May 24, 2018, more than 9,00,000 Rohingya Muslims fled Myanmar's restive Rakhine State since 2017 after large-scale violence following a military crackdown.

The exodus of refugees in large numbers has resulted in a major crisis in neighbouring Bangladesh.

I am always my worst critic: Anil

After four decades in Bollywood, actor ANIL KAPOOR feels he needs to learn how to go easy on himself, and that is his biggest challenge. The actor says he has always been his worst critic.

"I've always been hard on myself and I'm always my own worst critic. So my biggest challenge continues to learn to go easy on myself and to let go when I need to," Anil said.

He says his career goals continue to be the same as they were all those years ago, when he was starting out.

"Strangely enough, my goals haven't changed much! I'm a simple man with a simple plan — to be better than I was yesterday. So that's what I continue to strive towards," said he.

Diabetes, a lifestyle disease, has been regarded as an incurable and chronic ailment which requires lifelong management through medication and insulin, till now. Only a few people are aware that it is curable.

A recent concept called Diabetes Reversal means that people with type 2 diabetes (when your body cells are not able to respond to insulin the way they should) are able to regulate the disease by changing their lifestyle or food patterns without taking medication. This is also known as putting diabetes into remission.

Dr Anoop Misra, chairman, Fortis C-DOC Centre of Diabetes, Metabolic Diseases and Endocrinology says, "As lifestyle improves, medication can slow down the progression of diabetes and prevent complications. Being obese and overweight are the biggest risk factors among Indians. But if we begin to ensure dietary restrictions, the rate of diabetic occurrence will decrease profoundly. Adopting a sustainable healthy diet that is low in carbohydrates and high in proteins and vegetables can help one to control and reverse diabetes." However, this must be done keeping in mind the weight of the patient and their Body Mass Index (BMI). Another intervention which can help in a diabetes diagnosis is to exercise every day as it boosts metabolism.

Akansh Khurana, CEO and co-founder at THB India also attributes lifestyle modification and balanced diet to diagnose and reverse diabetes. "Reversing impaired blood sugar control in diabetes is particularly troublesome when it remains undiagnosed and untreated for a long

SWEET NO MORE

Diabetes has almost taken on the proportion of an epidemic in the country. On the occasion of World Diabetes Day on November 14, experts tell SAKSHI SHARMA about the practicalities, implications and the role of technology in diabetes reversal time. It remains asymptomatic for longer durations before any clinical signs and symptoms manifest due to impaired glucose levels or associated complications. In such a case regular blood glucose monitoring is, therefore, necessary," says he. There are several technological interventions — smart devices, health apps and digital monitors which are increasingly playing an important role in empowering diabetes patients. They provide patients with real-time access to their data — blood glucose status, dietary habits, physical activity, and diabetes-related information which help in promoting a more personalised therapy and encourages patient's active participation in the overall disease management.

Daivam Wellness in collaboration with Eternity Medicine has launched its Diabetes Reversal Programme. With the help of their diabetes mobile app, they monitor the patient's health and continuously tailor the programme to cater to their varying needs. This is like a coach sitting next to you when you learn driving, to make sure that you make no mistake. The 360-degree approach of the programme ensures that after a detailed counselling from their experts, their advice is followed and discrepancies are reported. "Through their continuous glucose monitoring device, they observe the blood sugar levels for days and suggest a personalised treatment according to their expert observations," says Dr Alok Chopra, founder and medical director, Daivam Wellness.

Another important aspect of the programme is its two-way communication. The digital platform enables patients to put their concerns and experts revert within a set timeframe.

This interactive feature further helps to modify the programme as per the needs of the patients, therefore getting better and quicker results.

With the country reeling under 49 per cent of the world's diabetes burden and expecting to be home to 134 million diabetics by 2025, a holistic approach towards diabetes prevention is certainly important.

"Data suggests that one in every four people under 25 in India has adult-onset diabetes, a condition more usually seen at the age of 40-50. This is mainly because of a sedentary lifestyle and weight management issues that completely spin their metabolism. Such a large number of people suffering from the disease which causes further health complications, will be a huge socio-economic burden on the country. It is high time that medical fraternity should come up with more innovative solutions and help to prevent this epidemic," adds Dr Chopra.

However, there are many doctors who feel that the concept of diabetes reversal is flawed and is a myth. Dr SK Wangnoo, senior consultant-endocrinology, Indraprastha Apollo Hospital says, "It's not permanent. You can reverse diabetes for a year or two by strict diet control but not more than that."

He adds that a trial is underway in UK which investigates whether offering an intensive programme for weight loss and its maintenance would be advantageous for people with type 2 diabetes. It recruited patients who were given a fixed diet of around 800 calories per day. And it was supervised by medical practitioners. They showed two years interim data where most of the patients had lost liver and pancreatic fat and had lost more than 10-15 kgs of weight, which means that they could reverse the diabetes. But the approach did not work for everyone. So the study is continuing to understand the biology underlying remission and find ways to make it a reality. A short term reversal is usually possible but long term is not.

For people who think that you haven't reversed your diabetes until you can eat a chocolate cake or swig down a cold drink without your blood sugar rising, the concept is flawed. But for the ones who are ready to change their lifestyle under a professional supervision for a prolonged period, diabetes reversal is possible.

Scorsese's superhero film snub unfortunate: Feige

Marvel Studios president Kevin Feige has opened up on filmmaker Martin Scorsese's criticism of Marvel's superhero films, saying the remarks were unfortunate. Last month, Scorsese spoke with Empire magazine about his views towards the Marvel films, expressing that he regards them as "not cinema" and likens them to "theme parks". Since his initial remarks, Scorsese repeated the "theme parks" analogy at the BFI London Film Festival.

In conversation with The Hollywood Reporter, Feige, Marvel Chief Creative Officer and the architect of the Marvel Cinematic Universe, opened up about the remarks in public for the first time. "I think that's not true. I think it's unfortunate," Feige says when asked about the notion that superhero films are a negative for cinema.

"I think myself and everyone who works on these films loves cinema, loves films, loves to watch a communal experience in a film theatre full of people," he added.

Since launching with 2008's Iron Man, Marvel Studios has reshaped the theatrical landscape. Four of the top 10 highest-grossing films of all time come from the Disney-owned studio, including Avengers: Endgame, which in July surpassed Avatar to become the highest-grossing film of all time.

In a New York Times op-ed, Scorsese went back to his comments and added, "What's not there is revelation, mystery or genuine emotional danger. Nothing is at risk. The pictures are made to satisfy a specific set of demands and they are designed as variations on a finite number of themes."

In response to Scorsese, Feige brought up more recent examples of the risks the studio has taken, saying that Marvel hasn't made an Iron Man film since 2013 and instead pitted Robert Downey Jr's Tony Stark against Chris Evans' Captain America in 2016's Captain America: Civil War.

"We did Civil War. We had our two most popular characters get into a very serious theological and physical altercation," Feige said, adding, "We killed half of our characters at the end of a film (Avengers: Infinity War). I think it's fun for us to take our success and use it to take risks and go in different places."

Feige, who does not personally know Scorsese, notes that art is a subjective thing. He said, "Everybody has a different definition of cinema. Everybody has a different definition of art. Everybody has a different definition of risk. Some people don't think it's cinema. Everybody is entitled to their opinion. Everyone is entitled to repeat that opinion. Everyone is entitled to write op-eds about that opinion and I look forward to what will happen next. But in the meantime, we're going to keep making films."

My character in House Arrest belongs to a well to do family. He somehow has not come out of his house for the last nine months. The story starts at that point. He is not trapped. He is not psycho or a murderer. It's a voluntary house arrest and there are interesting reasons behind this, which is what the film is all about. The film is an out and out comedy.

Veteran actor-director AMOL PALEKAR will be returning to the stage after 25 years with a Hindi play Kusur.

Palekar will be performing on the stage as retired ACP Dandavate.

"The fast pace story whirled us through the twists and turns disturbing our complacency and overturning our assumptions. The deep subtext will linger in our minds beyond the curtain drop," Palekar said.

"As an actor, the role poses an enormous challenge, demanding tremendous emotional and physical energy at my age," added Palekar.

I am because of Friends: Aniston

Actor JENNIFER ANISTON, who won the People's Icon Award at the 2019 E! People's Choice Awards this year, says she has earned the title of being an icon because of her fans and the still popular sitcom Friends.

Aniston said, "This town doles out a lot of awards but the People's Choice, this was always something special to me. As actors, we don't do this for the critics or for each other or to make our families proud, we do this for the money."

"I am kidding... we do it for you guys. Come on seriously, we really do," she added.

Here is what to do if your parents need financial help

Multiple surveys have found that most parents provide some sort of financial support to their adult children. But often, financial aid goes the other way.

A 2015 survey by TD Ameritrade found 13 per cent of adults provided financial support to a parent. Millennials were far more likely than older generations to report they were helping their folks. Of people born between 1981 and 1996, 19 per cent helped their parents, compared with 13 per cent of Gen Xers (1965 to 1980) and 8 per cent of baby boomers (1946 to 1964).

Sometimes the money is provided happily or at least without resentment, by those following cultural norms or personal conviction that they owe it to their parents. Other times, financial aid to parents is a source of tension — between parent and adult child, among siblings and between partners.

Certified financial planner Austin A. Frye had no idea when he married his wife four decades ago that they would one day support her parents. The older couple, now in their 80s, cover their day-to-day expenses with a union pension and social security. Frye and his wife cover unexpected expenses and travel for her parents, Frye says, and also pay $15,000 a year for a long-term care policy. Frye says that though he's happy to be in a position to help his in-laws, he still wishes they had saved money for their retirement. "They just spent what they made. They didn't really plan," Frye says. Certified financial planner Kashif A. Ahmed, on the other hand, comes from a culture where younger people get into arguments about who will have the honour of caring for an older relative. Ahmed said he needed a spreadsheet to coordinate the dozens of relatives who volunteered to help his great-grandparents in their final illnesses.

Ahmed invited his mother to move in with him after his father died in 2001. His wife, Simona, an economist who grew up with similar values in Romania, supported the move, and Ahmed's mother is helping to raise their four daughters, ages 6 to 16.

Ahmed says financial advisers from other cultures often have trouble grasping the deep sense of obligation. He's heard peers criticize clients who aren't saving enough for retirement or are neglecting other goals while supporting parents, saying the clients don't "get it."

"I'll say, 'No. You don't get it,' " Ahmed says. Balancing competing goals is what financial planning is all about. If you're supporting a parent or think you may in the future, the following steps could help make the balancing act a bit easier."

TALK TO YOUR PARTNER

If you're married or in a committed relationship, it helps to get on the same page about how much you're willing and able to give. Brainstorm different scenarios, such as emergency expenses (how much can you give, and what constitutes an emergency?) or long-term care (can you provide care in your home or help pay for in-home or nursing care?). If you're not clear what you can afford, a consultation with a financial planner could help. If you don't have a partner, talking to a trusted friend or a financial planner can help you clarify what you can offer and when.

TALK TO YOUR PARENTS

Just over half of the people supporting parents in the TD Ameritrade survey had ever talked with them about it. Financial planners say that understanding the parents' financial situation can help you prepare, and might also provide an opportunity for you to reduce their need for your help. You could help them budget, give them a session with a financial planner. You also can let them know how much help you can afford to provide.

ROPE IN YOUR SIBLINGS

Even if they can't contribute financially, they may be able to help in other ways — running errands, taking parents to the doctor, handling bill paying and other paperwork, or providing respite care.

TAKE CARE OF YOURSELF

You may have to delay retirement, buying a house or having kids to support your parents. Many people do, according to the survey. But you should have a plan to eventually reach your own goals. Unlike your parents, you may have only yourself to rely on when you're older.

IN DURYODHANA'S VOICE

PUNEET ISSAR's retelling of Mahabharata through the eyes of its antagonists, though bleak in its representation due to the TV soap-like execution of its script, raises the right questions against the unjust society and challenges the idea of how history has always belonged to the victors, says CHAHAK MITTAL

Every story has a protagonist and an antagonist. And the latter is usually the flawed one, who is eventually defeated by the former and mostly called the 'villain'. The protagonist, on the other hand, is always praised and looked at as an example of the ideal human being. But ever wondered why the antagonist is an antagonist after all? And why not a hero? Who decides what is wrong or right? How are the two terms defined? What if even the protagonist did something wrong initially? And what if what he did was even worse than the actions of the one portrayed as the negative character?

Actor-director Puneet Issar's retelling of the Mahabharata through Karna and Duryodhana's (the so-called antagonists of the great epic) perspectives makes one ask these questions. The play challenges the notion of history, which has always been written through the eyes of the victors rather than those who were defeated. It questions as to why he has always been looked at as such a bad character in the epic while he was so generous with his countrymen and loyal to his friend. Despite that, even though Karna is seen as the tragic hero, Duryodhana came to be known as the villain.

The play, divided into different scenes, begins with young Duryodhana's soliloquy where he laments how the Kauravas have always been neglected as compared to the Pandavas due to their father and blind king Dhritrashtra. He calls out, 'Jo adhikaar mila na pita ko, mujhe kyun na mile? Main toh andha nahi hun,' and swears to be the one who is the first one to be remembered by the generations to come when they speak of the Mahabharata. Even though the narration lacks elements of some subtlety due to its very direct though powerful narration by Meghna Malik, Puneet makes Duryodhana the centre of the epic brilliantly, without justifying any of his wrong or misguided deeds. He reasons, 'Jab mujhme ghriina ka beej boya hai bachpan se, toh mere pial hi toh ghriina ke hi honge na. Main likhunga itihaas naya, mujhe yaad rakhegi duniya,' presenting an idea here that even though he and his brothers have always been despised, there's a reason for their behaviour which lies in their treatment.

The second scene showcases Karna's coronation by Duryodhana as the Angaraj and a clash between Arjun and Karna where the other people in the court, including Vidura and Dronacharya, put him down by calling him a Sutputra and asserting that only Kshatriyas are allowed to fight in the court of Bharatvansha. The act introduces a number of characters in the play as Arjun and Karna's confrontation is always interrupted by some or the other character, including (in order) Duryodhana, Bheem, Yudhishtir and Nakul and Sahdev. And each one of them, emerge from the back of the auditorium and make their way amidst the audience. The act, however, was the most powerful of all as it did bring across a message when Duryodhana questions the discrimination being done against Karna. From questioning the 'dasi-putra' Vidura to reminding Drona of Karna's sacrifice, he says, 'Sir pe swarnmukut, bheetar se kaale kaale!' and makes a point that one's destiny is decided by one's actions (karma) and that caste cannot determine it. He then honours Karna as the king of Anga and his friend.

The next act takes one to Draupadi's swayamvar where Karna is all set to hit the fish's eye with his arrow. He is interrupted by Draupadi who insults him by calling him a Sutputra and hence, ineligible of being her husband. Full marks to Draupadi's (played by Urvasi Dhlokia) acting skills, however, unfortunately, the woman who has symbolised power and femininity has been shown in a very dark light in the play. The director's rendition of her showcases her as a woman who was just arrogant and proud of her wealth and beauty rather than depicting her as the epitome of justice and feminism. She was a woman of substance and her strong personality and will power made her attractive. Furthermore, while the play says that it tells Mahabharata through the eyes of Duryodhana and Karna both, I wished there was more of Karna as much as it was of the former's. Even after Draupadi walks off the stage and Karna is left alone, he does not voice his opinion.

Duryodhana's insult by Draupadi is the next act and what I said about Draupadi's representation in the previous scene continues here as well. She calls Duryodhana as 'Andhe ka putra andha', and laughs out loud like the villainous women in Indian TV soaps. Though Duryodhana's brilliant monologue after Draupadi exits the stage saves the act, which is followed by Sakuni's entry and his plotting of the dice game against the Pandavas. The scene makes for laughs too when Sakuni delivers some humorous dialogues.

After the Pandavas lose all that they had, including themselves and their wife, Panchali is dragged to the stage by Dushasan by her hair. Well, the most striking thing that I observed here is that even though Karna is anguished by this behaviour against Panchali and wants Duryodhana to take back his order of stripping her in the court, he never says anything. In other versions, it is said that Karna at least tried to stop Duryodhana but is shunned due to his loyalty and promise to his friend of never going against him. However, here, especially when the play was said to be told through both of their perspectives, I wished Karna's misery came across at least once. The scene got a round of applause as Draupadi questioned all the men in the court who turned blind during her assault, reflecting upon society's reality and how it has turned its back towards women during the time when it is needed the most. The act also makes space for the audience to explore what Duryodhana felt about how Panchali's five husbands stayed silent to their wife's harassment. He says that it was wrong of Dushasan to have held her by her hair and thrown in the court but why did nobody question Yudhishtira who didn't utter a word. 'Main galat kyun? This is not the way Bharatvansha's bahu (or daughter-in-law) should have been treated and you know that, Pitamah Bhisma!' he says.

Certainly, the play makes for a great visual representation of the epic with its vibrant costumes and stage set-up; however, there isn't anything new that the audience would find here. The attempt of presenting the story by making its antagonists the heroes is commendable but the perspectives given by the character doesn't present a lot of new things. The overdramatised scenes and repetition of certain punchlines remind one of the various TV soaps based on the epic. And the extremely loud dialogue delivery definitely reminds one of Mahabharata that became every household's Sunday breakfast show during the 90s.

Artist Arpana Caur celebrates and commemorates Guru Nanak with reverence and great fervour. Her organic and minimalist strokes done in tensile thread like contours speak about art's many sojourns. And her brilliance lies in her weaving of tensile and tactile tales with elements she takes from Nanak's life.

No one loved Nanak more than my friend Khushwant Singh who had a painting of him by Caur in his room. Khushwant was a dear friend of Arpana. In 1998, when I asked Caur about Nanak in front of Khushwant, she said, "Nanak is a spiritual master who guides and defines our lives. The stories are unending and when you practice his teachings, it becomes like a tale that turns into a testimony. It becomes a part of who we are."

MODERN MINIATURES

She was the only contemporary artist at that time, who was creating modern imagery of characters with miniature formats entwined. "Ajanta, Ellora and Pahari miniaturists flow through my veins, just like many other stories that have always stayed in my mind. Whenever I think of Nanak, it's a journey that goes deep into the roots of my own existence. Its like finding a fragrance."

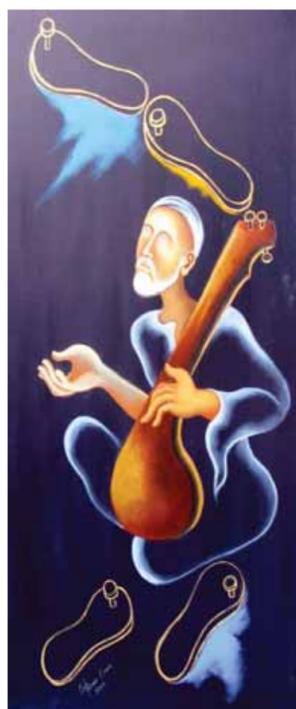

One look at the many artworks of Nanaks that she has done over the years show that she always sought to achieve near perfection. Khushwant used to say that Caur's Nanak was like a reminder to invoke Lord's blessings for strength. Caur's images have graced many books. The finest being Nanak: The Guru in collaboration with author Khushwant's daughter Maya Dayal. Apart from that — Hymns of the Sikh Gurus, which unfortunately is now out of print.

SO MANY NANAKS

Caur explains her oeuvre over more than four decades. "It is very hard to capture 'a being as elevated as Nanak' on canvas with a painter's limited skills. My solo on Him was almost 20 years ago. There were 'Baba Nanak, Guru Nanak, Peer Nanak, Lama Nanak'. I have been to many of the innumerable places he went on foot, (Baghdad, Sri Lanka, Dhaka, Kashmir, South India, Leh and Sikkim). He, of course, went to many more."

550 years of Nanak

Artist ARPANA CAUR says that it is very hard to capture 'a being as elevated as the Sikh Guru' on canvas with a painter's limited skills. By UMA NAIR

It is clear that you cannot create so many Nanaks unless you have deep devotion for him. "I love him because of the life affirming things he did. He did away with the caste system. He said 'Nako Hindu Na Musalman'. He considered women as equal to men and said so in his verses that too 550 years ago. He was an ecologist and has even praised nature in his verses. He was against feudal oppression. He shared and asked all to share their earnings with the needy. He was a great poet and was against rituals (sacred thread, pilgrimages etc) and believed only in humanity. Love, and service to every-one."

SURREAL AND STARK

In most of her paintings, Caur's depiction of Nanak is a minimalist, organic form, is what excels. Her backgrounds are surreal and stark. She plays with different backgrounds but it is the darker ones that have a deeper resonance. The stark black backgrounds draw attention to the contemplative expression on his face and the prayer beads in his hands even as she lines the silhouette with grace. Surrounding him are lined details in blue and white and these trace abstractions and reflect perhaps his many journeys as well as his thoughts. She creates a metaphor of the many journeys that he undertook during his lifetime not only around the India but also to Afghanistan, Iraq, China and Tibet.

According to Caur, she added shards of colour and light, in white, grey and blue to create a transient feel of spirituality. Each Nanak in Caur's hands is unique and deeply contemplative.

AFP ■ LONDON
Roger Federer faces an uphill task to qualify for the last four of the ATP Finals after defeat by Dominic Thiem on Sunday following a masterclass by Novak Djokovic.
Six-time champion Federer was beaten 7-5, 7-5 in the evening match on the opening day after Djokovic had swatted aside debutant Matteo Berrettini in the earlier Group Bjorn Borg contest in London.
Federer and Djokovic will meet later in the week in a repeat of this year's epic Wimbledon final, with two players advancing from the four-man group.
The Swiss 20-time Grand Slam winner recovered quickly from being broken in the first game of the match but the Austrian fifth seed repeated the dose in the 11th game and took the opening set 7-5.
Federer, uncharacteristically wayward, squandered an early chance to break in the second set and the games went with serve until the 11th game again, when Thiem broke to love after the third seed dumped a forehand into the net.

The Austrian stuttered while serving for the match, forced to save two break points, but he held his nerve to take the set 7-5 and seal a deserved victory on his second match point.
"I thought Dominic saved himself real well when he had to," said Federer. "So I thought he played a tough first-round performance today, and my game was probably just not good enough, and the start didn't help."
"It's a normal tournament from here on forward," added the 38-year-old, who may now have to beat Djokovic to progress.
"Not allowed to lose anymore for me. That's how it is every week of the year for the last 20 years, so from that standpoint there is nothing new there."
TSITSIPAS BREAKS DUCK
Meanwhile on Monday, Stefanos Tsitsipas broke his hoodoo against US Open runner up Daniil Medvedev at London's O2 Arena.

The Greek 21-year-old came into the match with a 5-0 losing record against his Russian opponent weighing in on him.

Paulo Dybala struck the decisive goal in Juventus' 1-0 win over AC Milan on Sunday after replacing Cristiano Ronaldo as Juventus stayed top of Serie A.

Argentine forward Dybala hit the winner in the 77th minute in the Allianz Stadium having taken the place of Ronaldo 20 minutes earlier.

Defending champions Juventus maintain their one-point lead over Antonio Conte's Inter Milan who had taken pole position after their 2-1 win over Verona on Saturday.

AC Milan's seventh defeat in 12 games saw Stefano Pioli's side drop to 14th position, just four points above the relegation zone.

However Milan had threatened as the former European giants chased their first win against Juventus in Turin in eight years.

Wojciech Szczesny was kept busy in the Juventus goal, denying fellow Pole Krzysztof Piatek, Lucas Paqueta and Hakan Calhanoglu.

Blaise Matuidi missed Juventus' best chance before Dybala's winner when his powerful curling effort flew wide just after the break.

League win over Lokomotiv Moscow, reportedly left the stadium before the end of the game after being substituted on 55 minutes.

Douglas Costa also came on for Federico Bernardeschi after an hour, with the two substitutions changing the game for the champions.

Gonzalo Higuain fed Dybala, who easily shook off Alessio Romagnoli to beat Donnarumma and claim his third league goal this season.

"Cristiano should be thanked because he made himself available despite not being in optimal conditions," said Juventus coach Maurizio Sarri.

"In the last month he has had this discomfort in his knee and this a little problem for him.

"It's only natural a player is going to be irritated to leave the pitch, especially when he worked so hard to be there."

'To win more games, we need to score more'

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

India goalkeeper Gurpreet Singh Sandhu feels the team has moulded itself into a battle-hardened unit but it still needs to find the back of the net consistently to improve its winning ratio in top-flight football.

"I think, of late, we have turned ourselves into a team which is tough to beat. We just have to add something more to it which is scoring to get the points on the table and we have that quality," Gurpreet said.

Skipper Sunil Chhetri

had promised to put their best foot forward in the upcoming qualifiers against Afghanistan and Oman, Gurpreet also said they will have to get something substantial out of the two matches.

"Both games are difficult. Oman are a very good side and have quality players, whereas Afghanistan will be tough to play against in Tajikistan. But we have to go there with a strong approach to get something out of the two games," the country's first-choice goalkeeper said.

Gurpreet said coach Igor Stimac has been smart in introducing a host of new faces.

"We have grown stronger with the introduction of the young players who will improve with time."

While Chhetri felt the team is still far from fully implementing coach Stimac's vision, Gurpreet said they are gradually getting accustomed to his philosophy.

"Yes, the team is getting accustomed with the system but most importantly getting used to each other as well playing with the ball."

India endured a disastrous campaign in the 2018 World Cup qualifiers, including a shock loss to tiny Pacific nation Guam, and Gurpreet said the team has come a long way from those days.

"I think if we compare it with the 2015 qualifiers that we played, we have come a long way since then. We have two points on the table and have only lost one game which also we could have won. I am happy but not satisfied because I know we have the potential to do more."

Having grabbed the first two games, Ghosal won the first five points in the third game to extend his dominance and seal it in his favour. In the pre-quarterfinals today, the tenth seeded Ghosal will face Egyptian world No 2 and top seed Mohamed El Shorbagy. AGENCIES

Chahar happy to repay captain's faith | Given heads up to be India's No 4: Iyer

FIANS ■ NEW DELHI

It almost looked like Bangladesh would run away with the third T20I in Nagpur on Sunday and with it register their maiden series win over India as Mohammad Naim and Mohammad Mithun looked to be in cruise mode. With dew not helping matters, skipper Rohit Sharma handed the ball to pacer Deepak Chahar, hoping for the youngster to rise to the occasion. And that is exactly what he did. Chahar, who had earlier scalped for Liton Das and Soumya Sarkar, delivered instantly in the 13th over and started the collapse. The rest as they say is history. Chahar finished with figures of 6/7 — the best in T20Is — and also became the second Indian to pick a hat-trick in the format. Speaking after game, Chahar said that while everyone is talking about him picking the hat-trick and winning India the game in conditions not suited for bowlers, it is the faith that skipper Rohit showed in him that makes him happy. "He told me I will use you as a Bumrah today. I will bowl you in the crucial overs and that was motivating for me. I love it when I am given responsibility under pressure because that makes me feel that I am being trusted. I feel bad when nobody trusts me. To get that confidence from the captain felt good at that stage of the game," he smiled. It is not often that you have players liking the fact that he is compared to a teammate, but Chahar says there is no doubt in the fact that Bumrah is the No 1 bowler at present in the format and it is a matter of pride to be compared to the pacer. "Imandar hona chahiye (You should be honest)...I know where he stands and I also know where I stand. He is the No 1 bowler in the format and as a T20 bowler, he has everything, be it pace or control. He is the No 1 bowler for me and saying that is not a shame. I am not competing with him and my job is to do well. You need to focus on the game and the team should win and that has to be the priority. "When they were cruising at the end of 12 overs, I wanted to walk up to him and ask for the ball from the captain, but I didn't because I knew the captain would have his plan and give me the ball. The whole thought was that we shouldn't lose the game and the series. What matters when you play for the country is to perform and win matches," he explained. Pundits have often spoken about how he is more of a new-ball bowler, but Chahar silenced all with his performance on Sunday. And the pacer says that it was more about people assuming things because he always had variations up his sleeves. "People assumed that and didn't give me a chance to bowl at the death. Whenever I got a chance, I bowled well. I have bowled before as well, even for my state. Generally you don't bowl those bowlers at the death who bowl at less than 130kph, but I don't have that issue. I have bowled around 135kph even in the IPL and say in CSK I wasn't used because Mahi bhai had other bowlers. "It depends also on the captain. Team requirement is also something that you need to look into. Like on Sunday we had only two fast bowlers in Khaleel Ahmed and me. Shivam Dube isn't a proper fast bowler. So, Rohit bhaiya used me in the death. When I played before, the set-up needed me to bowl at the top," he pointed. Every player is preparing keeping the World T20 in mind and while Chahar too wants to go ahead and represent the country in the showcase event in Australia in 2020, he wants to keep working on his game and get better with each passing day. "World T20 is about 11 months away and that is a long time. Obviously I have that in the mind and we are looking to win the trophy, but as a sportsman you can't think so far as there is a lot of international cricket before that as well as the IPL. I want to gain more trust from the management till then and there will be times where I will get hit and I want to still gain the trust of the team so that they support me. Performing in every match is the goal. "I take every game as the last as the competition is very high and the fast bowling unit is doing really well. Cementing your place in this team is very tough, so I look to perform every time I get an opportunity," he signed off.

'CSK stint taught me to counter dew & sweat factor'

PTI ■ NAGPUR

Countering the dew in the sultry Chennai heat has been a big part of Deepak Chahar's cricket education and he said it showed during his world record figures of 6 for 7 against Bangladesh in the series-deciding third T20. Chahar, who also became the first male cricketer from the country to take a T20 International hat-trick, has been one of the Chennai Super Kings' successful new ball bowlers, used judiciously by franchise captain Mahendra Singh Dhoni. "Playing in Chennai, I have now realised how to counter dew and sweat. How to keep my hands clean. At times, rub dry soil in your hands and then bowl (so that hands don't get slippery)," the 27-year-old Rajasthan seamer said during an interview on 'Chahal TV'. Asked what was his strategy considering that there was no nip in the air and the ball wasn't swinging a lot. "Since the side boundaries (at VCA Stadium) were big and that was the plan that we will have to force the batsman to play shots on the sides. I also wanted to vary the pace as the ball was getting wet because of the dew and it was difficult to grip," Chahar explained. For the 27-year-old, never even in his wildest of imaginations, he could have thought about incredible figures of 6 for 7 in 3.2 overs. "Came to know in the end that I got a hat-trick since I got the first wicket off the last ball of previous over. Even if you sit back at home and dream, you will not think that in four overs, you will get six wickets for 7 runs," said a beaming Chahar.

DRS = 'Don't ask Rishabh System'

FIANS ■ NAGPUR

India came back strongly from their first match defeat at the hands of Bangladesh to win the three match T20I series 2-1, but there was no respite for stumper Rishabh Pant as the jeers turned into catcalls for his gaffes behind the stumps, especially with the Decision Review System (DRS). Pant, who was under the scanner for his wrong DRS calls in the first rubber, made similar mistakes on Sunday even. During Bangladesh's chase, pacer Khaleel Ahmed bowled a shortish delivery to Mohammad Naim and Pant launched an appeal for caught behind. He even convinced stand-in skipper Rohit Sharma to seek a review only for replays to show that the ball was missing the bat in a big way. There were chants of "Dhoni, Dhoni," the former India captain known to call it right almost every time, as social media also lashed out at Pant's repeated failures. "The DRS would never fail if captain always do the opposite of Pant's opinion," wrote a Twitter user. "DRS stands for — Don't ask Rishabh System," wrote another enthusiast drawing attention for his cheeky comment. "Lesson for Rohit Sharma: when pant calls for DRS, don't take it," read another comment.

PTI ■ NAGPUR

The talented Shreyas Iyer has been given a "heads up" by the Indian team management that he will be the designated No 4 batsman in white-ball format after a string of impressive performances in the past few months. India tried umpteen players at the number four spot in the lead up to the 50-over World Cup but none of them could cement their place in the team and it was used as a floating position during the mega event as the experiment with Vijay Shankar fell flat. "For me personally, they (team management) have given me a heads up that 'You'll be there at No 4. So just back yourself and believe in yourself'," Iyer, who smashed 62 off 33 balls including five sixes in the T20 series decider against Bangladesh, told media-persons after the match. "It has been a really important last few series for me to set the benchmark at the No 4 position, which all of us are competing for at the moment," said Iyer, who scored a couple of half-centuries batting at No 5 in the ODIs against the West Indies.

Iyer will have to be one of the "finishers" in case team's top two batsmen — skipper Virat Kohli and deputy Rohit Sharma — are dismissed cheaply. "Even if Kohli and Rohit get out, we need someone to finish the game and bat till the end. That is a No 4's role. That's what I was trying to replicate today and it worked out really well for me," said the 24-year-old, who has overcome the disappointment of missing out on ODI World Cup berth. Asked how significant his knock was considering that team is trying out fringe players like him ahead of the World T20 next year, Iyer said: Yes, obviously there is lot of competition going in the team. I personally feel that I compete with myself. I don't want myself to be judged with anyone or when you say that this position is empty in the team. While he will be batting at number four for some time now, Iyer is flexible and ready to bat at any position that the team wants him to. "I am really open-minded and can bat at any number. So I just like to back myself in tough situations and today's innings showed that I can bat under pressure as well." In the final T20, Iyer went ballistic after being cautious at the beginning. Four of his five sixes came against the spinners and his knock allowed India to put up a defensible 174 for five. "The support staff have given me the freedom — not just me but all the batsmen — that you need to have that intent when you go in there. And you should feel very positive when you're batting. If the ball pitches in my area, I am not going to control myself. I'll bat according to my instincts."

Deepak jumps 88 places in rankings

PTI ■ DUBAI

India fast bowler Deepak Chahar, who returned a world record haul of six for seven against Bangladesh on Sunday, has moved up 88 slots to 42nd in the latest ICC T20 rankings for bowlers. The list, however, continued to be led by slow bowlers. The top five and eight of the top nine are spinners, with Mitchell Santner reaching second place — his best position since he topped the table in January 2018, behind Afghanistan's Rashid Khan.

Rohit Sharma continued to remain India's top-ranked batsman at seventh position while K L Rahul moved up a place to eight after his half-century on Sunday. England's Dawid Malan has made a grand re-entry to the batting chart, grabbing third position in the list led by Pakistan's Babar Azam, while Aaron Finch of Australia has taken second spot after gaining two positions. England captain Eoin Morgan and New Zealand opener Martin Guptill have also made notable movements to take joint ninth place while Jonny Bairstow has reached a career-best 498 rating points and is in the top 40 for the first time.

Bangladesh batsman Mohammad Naim's 143 runs in three matches saw him at joint-38th position along with Bairstow. Ashton Agar's fine performances against Sri Lanka and Pakistan have seen him move up 57 places to ninth in the bowling list. In the all-rounders' table, Glenn Maxwell's continued absence has enabled Afghanistan's Mohammad Nabi to move above him to take the top spot for the first time.

In the team rankings, Pakistan continued at the top with 270 points but Australia were only one point behind them after winning their three-match series 2-0. England, South Africa and India occupied the next three positions and were within five points of each other.

Long way to go in T20s: Mahmudullah

PTI ■ NAGPUR

Bangladesh captain Mahmudullah feels his team still has a long way to go in Twenty20s as it is neither learning from its mistakes nor has the big-hitters essential to the format.

Bangladesh have come close to victory on many occasions but failed to cross the line, especially against top teams like India losing the just-concluded T20 series 1-2.

"We have a long way to go in T20 cricket. We don't have big hitters. We have to be dependent on our skill hitting. So we are working on our game sense and become more consistent mentally," said Mahmudullah following the 30-run loss in the series-decider. "As a batting unit, if we can improve then we will have more chances to win," he added. Needing 50 runs off the last 30 balls with six wickets in hand, Bangladesh were on course for a memorable series win but lost wickets in a heap to blow it all away. "I am not sure whether it was composer or not. But if you see, we did similar kind of mistakes probably in few games in recent times. That's where I think big teams are quite good and very consistent in these situations and they can chase down this sort of total.

"Having said that, the wicket was very good to chase on. Our bowlers did a very good job to restrict them to 174. We just didn't finish well."

"If you analyse these three games, I think we played good cricket. But T20 cricket is such a format, if you lose momentum it's very hard to get it back. We were very close in this game but as we lost three-four wickets in six or seven balls and that's the crucial part of that game," said the skipper. Earlier, the Indian bowlers,

Shafali, Deepti power Eves to 10-wicket win

PTI ■ GROS ISLET

Teenager Shafali Verma scored her second consecutive half century after off-spinner Deepti Sharma starred with the ball as the Indian women's cricket team registered an emphatic 10-wicket win over the West Indies in the second T20I.

The 15-year-old Shafali continued her impressive run by scoring a quick-fire 69 off 35 balls alongside Smriti Mandhana (30). The duo powered India to a 2-0 lead in the five-match series on Sunday.

Shafali, who overtook the iconic Sachin Tendulkar to become the youngest Indian cricketer to score a half-century in international cricket, displayed scintillating form yet again and smashed 10 fours and two sixes.

Earlier, the Indian bowlers,

led by Deepti, who registered career-best figures of 4 for 10, managed to restrict the West Indies for a paltry 103 for seven in the stipulated 20 overs.

Deepti accounted for the four wickets in the last four overs.

Later Mandhana, who had also smashed a half-century in the series-opener, played second fiddle to Shafali in guiding the team home. The 23-year-old's innings was laced with four boundaries.

West Indies captain Anisa Mohammed had no answer to the Indian duo and used seven bowlers, including herself, with no success.

The combined effort saw India reach their target in 10.3 overs.

The third T20I will be played at Providence Stadium in Guyana on November 14.

Shooters continue medal rush

PTI ■ DOHA

Teen shooter Saurabh Chaudhary claimed the Silver medal in men's 10m air pistol event to continue India's surge at the 14th Asian Championship here on Monday.

The 17-year-old World Cup and the Asian Games Gold-medallist shot 244.5 to finish second on the podium behind North Korea's Kim Song Guk, who won the top prize with a world record 246.5.

With 583, both Chaudhary and Abhishek Verma had qualified for the final in seventh and sixth place, respectively.

However, Verma had to be satisfied with a fifth-place finish in the eight-man final, having managed 181.5. The trio of Chaudhary, Verma and Sharvan Kumar bagged the team Bronze with a total of 1740 in the qualifying, finishing behind China (1745) and Korea (1744).

Shreya Agrawal and Dhanush Srikanth won the Gold medal in the 10m air rifle mixed team junior competition, while Gurnihal Garcha, Abhay Singh Sekhon and Ayush Rudraraju claimed the team Gold in the junior men's skeet.

Gurnihal Garcha also won an individual Silver with a score of 50 in the finals. Abhay Sekhon, who had topped qualification with a solid 120, was the second Indian in the final but finished fourth, narrowly missing out on a medal.

In all, India picked up eight medals on the day. India won six Olympic quotas across events from the prestigious championship, taking their total to 15.

Mumbai makes it three in a row

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Domestic giants Mumbai continued its winning run in the Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy thrashing Madhya Pradesh by nine wickets on Monday.
