Responding to ‘money requests’, you can stop your online savings. For there is a new modus operandi by cyber criminals empty your bank accounts within minutes through the UPI (Unified Payments Interface) mobile payment system. The Telangana police have warned about a possible increase in such cases.

The first and most important thing is to remember the numbers of friends who have UPI numbers. When I called up to a friend and asked him to fill up a request, the money was already transferred. I could not know who is the individual behind a UPI ID, the account holder's identity appears to be of little use in such cases. In case of any doubt, you need to carefully verify the identity of the person asking for your UPI ID, money.

Go Govt trying to divert attention, says RTC JAC

The role of MPs and MLAs representing the political parties in the state is equally important in this regard, on the eve of the RTC strike, they should urge their own party workers in districts.

The police had not directly tasked the legislators to look into the issue. The struggle of the RTC workers was not even their topic, they were just using the strength of the RTC workers to ask for releasing the cases. So the police have to think twice before acting on the issue of releasing the cases.

On Sunday, the RTC JAC members asked the government for carrying out pre-recession measures on the RTC. Many RTC Tank Bund Police's high handedness is also due to the RTC JAC members in their struggle of the government to look into the cases of the RTC workers being sung day by day.

The quality of research from India is well recognised. It is equal to the best in the world and is matched by a great many of the best institutions to be found anywhere. But in many cases the breadth and depth of research is often not appreciated. This is particularly true for the working scientists themselves. They may have the best of intentions but are too busy or too busy to well known. The truth is that the research community in India is working very hard to improve the quality of research and to make it more accessible and understandable to the general public.

Most of the Central Government institutions with specific, sectoral responsibilities are working hard to improve the quality of research and to make it more accessible and understandable to the general public. A number of them have already started publishing research papers online, which is a great step forward. But it is clear that there is a long way to go before the quality of research in India is equal to the best in the world. POINT COUNTERPOINT

In the last few years, the quality of research in India has improved significantly. There is a growing awareness of the importance of research and development (R&D) in India. This has led to an increase in the number of research institutes and universities, as well as an increase in the number of researchers. However, there is still a long way to go before the quality of research in India is equal to the best in the world.

In conclusion, the quality of research in India is improving, but there is still a long way to go before it reaches the standards of the best in the world. FPIs invest over Rs 12 K cr in first week of November

Overseas investors remained net buyers in the domestic capital market, with inflows of Rs 12,236 crore in the first week of November as compared to Rs 11,387 crore the previous week.

The latest data points to a continued preference for equities over debt instruments by overseas investors. In the first week of November, their net investment in equity instruments was Rs 12,236.78 crore, in contrast to a net investment of Rs 12,073.69 crore in the previous week.

However, Mubadala, head of research at Jefferies Securities, said in a note that it was not yet clear whether the trend of overseas investors amid economic slowdown would continue. "They have provided an average of Rs 60,000 crore a month in recent months, but it is not certain that this trend will continue," Mubadala said.

The latest inflows come after two consecutive months of foreign investments. In October, FPIs invested Rs 14,114 crore, but they had put in Rs 6,657.68 crore in September.

Rahul, Saniv Bajaj meet Pakistan officials

The government has held talks with Pakistan officials, who are expected to finalize a deal for the purchase of 53 billion cubic feet of natural gas from Pakistan.

A delegation from Pakistan is expected to arrive in India soon to finalize the deal, which is expected to be signed in the next few weeks.

"We have made a breakthrough in the talks, and we are hopeful of finalizing the deal soon," an official from the Pakistan delegation said.

"The deal will help us reduce our dependency on gas imports and boost energy security," the official added.

Macroeconomic data, earnings may steel stock mkt

Macroeconomic data and earnings may have a significant impact on the stock market, with analysts predicting that the market will react positively to strong earnings and negatively to weak earnings.

"The market is likely to react positively to strong earnings, and negatively to weak earnings," a leading analyst said. "The market will also react to macroeconomic data, such as inflation and GDP growth, which are expected to be released in the coming weeks."
I found solace in my studies by sketching and drawing. People and their interactions fascinate me. I think I am constantly being judged by others. I am often troubled by the thought of people judging me constantly. Often I feel I am constantly being judged for the way I look, the way I dress or my weight. I try my best to avoid situations where people are likely to comment on my appearance. I find myself trying to speak up in large crowds or voice out my opinions because I am constantly worried about the way they will perceive me. It comes down to me judging the future of my own perspective and opinion, and being judgmental towards others is socially acceptable.
