Coronavirus spreads tentacles

Covid entering new territories, hits over 30 States/UTs; 869 cases in a day raise total to 7,900; 2400 on Sunday.

India in 3rd stage? WHO backs, says it's cluster spread in 6

A senior citizen walks a medical team conducts a test on a senior citizen coronavirus who is in a train in New Delhi on Friday.

WHO backtracks, says it's cluster spread in 6

India in 3rd stage? WHO backs, says it's cluster spread in 6

A senior citizen walks a medical team conducts a test on a senior citizen coronavirus who is in a train in New Delhi on Friday.

PM to consult CMs today, to take extension call tomorrow

As the SIP continues, the central government has announced the extension of the lockdown till 31st May and appeal to states to consider the central government's decision.

HC clarifies on lifting of vehicle restrictions

The Uttar Pradesh High Court on Thursday clarified on its order on Tuesday regarding the use of private vehicles and asked the state government to issue specific guidelines on the use of vehicles during the lockdown.

Coronavirus enters new territories, hits over 30 States/UTs; 869 cases in a day raise total to 7,900; 2400 on Sunday.

India in 3rd stage? WHO backs, says it's cluster spread in 6

A senior citizen walks a medical team conducts a test on a senior citizen coronavirus who is in a train in New Delhi on Friday.

WHO backtracks, says it's cluster spread in 6

India in 3rd stage? WHO backs, says it's cluster spread in 6

A senior citizen walks a medical team conducts a test on a senior citizen coronavirus who is in a train in New Delhi on Friday.

PM to consult CMs today, to take extension call tomorrow

As the SIP continues, the central government has announced the extension of the lockdown till 31st May and appeal to states to consider the central government's decision.

HC clarifies on lifting of vehicle restrictions

The Uttar Pradesh High Court on Thursday clarified on its order on Tuesday regarding the use of private vehicles and asked the state government to issue specific guidelines on the use of vehicles during the lockdown.

Coronavirus enters new territories, hits over 30 States/UTs; 869 cases in a day raise total to 7,900; 2400 on Sunday.

India in 3rd stage? WHO backs, says it's cluster spread in 6

A senior citizen walks a medical team conducts a test on a senior citizen coronavirus who is in a train in New Delhi on Friday.

WHO backtracks, says it's cluster spread in 6

India in 3rd stage? WHO backs, says it's cluster spread in 6

A senior citizen walks a medical team conducts a test on a senior citizen coronavirus who is in a train in New Delhi on Friday.

PM to consult CMs today, to take extension call tomorrow

As the SIP continues, the central government has announced the extension of the lockdown till 31st May and appeal to states to consider the central government's decision.

HC clarifies on lifting of vehicle restrictions

The Uttar Pradesh High Court on Thursday clarified on its order on Tuesday regarding the use of private vehicles and asked the state government to issue specific guidelines on the use of vehicles during the lockdown.

Coronavirus enters new territories, hits over 30 States/UTs; 869 cases in a day raise total to 7,900; 2400 on Sunday.

India in 3rd stage? WHO backs, says it's cluster spread in 6

A senior citizen walks a medical team conducts a test on a senior citizen coronavirus who is in a train in New Delhi on Friday.

WHO backtracks, says it's cluster spread in 6

India in 3rd stage? WHO backs, says it's cluster spread in 6

A senior citizen walks a medical team conducts a test on a senior citizen coronavirus who is in a train in New Delhi on Friday.

PM to consult CMs today, to take extension call tomorrow

As the SIP continues, the central government has announced the extension of the lockdown till 31st May and appeal to states to consider the central government's decision.

HC clarifies on lifting of vehicle restrictions

The Uttar Pradesh High Court on Thursday clarified on its order on Tuesday regarding the use of private vehicles and asked the state government to issue specific guidelines on the use of vehicles during the lockdown.

Coronavirus enters new territories, hits over 30 States/UTs; 869 cases in a day raise total to 7,900; 2400 on Sunday.

India in 3rd stage? WHO backs, says it's cluster spread in 6

A senior citizen walks a medical team conducts a test on a senior citizen coronavirus who is in a train in New Delhi on Friday.

WHO backtracks, says it's cluster spread in 6

India in 3rd stage? WHO backs, says it's cluster spread in 6

A senior citizen walks a medical team conducts a test on a senior citizen coronavirus who is in a train in New Delhi on Friday.

PM to consult CMs today, to take extension call tomorrow

As the SIP continues, the central government has announced the extension of the lockdown till 31st May and appeal to states to consider the central government's decision.

HC clarifies on lifting of vehicle restrictions

The Uttar Pradesh High Court on Thursday clarified on its order on Tuesday regarding the use of private vehicles and asked the state government to issue specific guidelines on the use of vehicles during the lockdown.

Coronavirus enters new territories, hits over 30 States/UTs; 869 cases in a day raise total to 7,900; 2400 on Sunday.

India in 3rd stage? WHO backs, says it's cluster spread in 6

A senior citizen walks a medical team conducts a test on a senior citizen coronavirus who is in a train in New Delhi on Friday.

WHO backtracks, says it's cluster spread in 6

India in 3rd stage? WHO backs, says it's cluster spread in 6

A senior citizen walks a medical team conducts a test on a senior citizen coronavirus who is in a train in New Delhi on Friday.
Covid-19 kits to conduct 4,000 tests reach State

16 hospitals declared ‘fever clinics’ in BBSR

Hi-Tech to have State’s largest COVID Hosp

Roll the dice, and if you get a six, you’re done. If you get a five, you have to roll again. If you get a four, you have to roll again. If you get a three, you have to roll again. If you get a two, you have to roll again. If you get a one, you have to roll again.

Covid-19 crisis

Odisha centre bails out for power sector

CB issues advisory on cybercrime threat

DGP reviews situation in Bargarh, Khandi

Man cycles 1,200 km to reach home

Grocery shop looted in Chandikhal

CONTEMPORARIES

Ensure lockdown sans ophelios to curb Covid-19
Wretched slums, no health intervention
Labourers more prone to Covid

Bhattacharya Biswas
Parishadur CMS

Concentrated over severity of coronavirus pandemic and the lockdown due to the virus in urban areas, the Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS, under the aegis of the Municipal Council of Mapudipam, has been working with the slum dwellers and is now trying to extend their help to others as well.

Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik, who inaugurated the facility through a video conferencing, affirmed that the number of COVID-19 positive cases in rural areas could not have been discovered without the help of village doctors.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the facility was being provided to the slum dwellers and the Municipal Council of Mapudipam and the Municipal Council of Gopalganj had decided to provide the health services to the slum dwellers.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhattacharya Biswas Parishadur CMS President Pradhan Pradhan.

He also said that the Centre and the State had decided to announce a new programme for providing health services to the rural population which would help them in using the facilities.

"We have been working with the slum dwellers and are now trying to extend our help to others as well," said Bhatch
India plans Pak fornegating efforts on Covid war

India ready to help its friends in crisis: Modi

The Prime Minister Narendra Modi has expressed his confidence of India helping its friends in the crisis of COVID-19. In a tweet, he said, “India is always ready to help others in times of need. Our response came as Pakistan is in a difficult situation due to the COVID-19 pandemic.”

ICMR OKs use of TB diagnostic machines for coronavirus tests

The rapid testing kits are ready to be deployed

ICMR has given its approval for using TB diagnostic machines for COVID-19 tests. The rapid testing kits are designed to test a person for COVID-19 in about 30 minutes.

States told to ban use and spitting of smokeless products in public places

Smokeless products like pan masala, gutka, snuff, are banned from April 11th in states like Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, and Odisha. The ban was imposed to prevent the spread of the coronavirus.

ICAR to conduct work on wild ingredients for Covid treatments

Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR) is planning to conduct research on wild ingredients for Covid treatments. The ICAR is planning to conduct research on wild ingredients that have been proven to have anti-viral properties.
Number of Covid-19 patients rises to 911 in Tamil Nadu

Tamil Nadu, a southern state in India, has reported a significant increase in the number of COVID-19 patients. The state's health authorities have confirmed that the number of positive cases has risen to 911, with 13 additional cases reported on Saturday evening.

The state government has taken several measures to contain the spread of the virus, including strict lockdowns, contact tracing, and increased testing capacity. Health officials have urged residents to continue following safety protocols such as wearing masks, maintaining social distancing, and practicing good hygiene.

It is important for everyone to remain vigilant and take necessary precautions to prevent the further spread of COVID-19. The state government and health authorities will continue to monitor the situation closely and take appropriate actions as required.

Maha Govt sends Principal Secretary to (principal leave)

The government of Maharashtra has sent its Principal Secretary to the Home Ministry on a "principal leave" to investigate the recent bandh situation in the state. The move comes after the state government received a complaint from an organization alleging that the police had used excessive force during the bandh.

The Principal Secretary has been directed to submit a report on the incident within 24 hours. The government has also ordered a high-level meeting to discuss the matter further.

In a statement, the government said, "The Principal Secretary has been instructed to conduct a thorough investigation into the matter and submit a report within 24 hours. The government will take appropriate action based on the findings of the report."
Theology over pathology?

An ill-advised section of Muslims is disregarding prophylactic measures against Corona, thus impelling safety. There's history but no reason why that view should guide their choice.
What ails scientific research in Pakistan?

Federal Science Minister Fawad Chaudhary asked why Pakistani universities were not producing good research. It is a good question. But is he willing to listen to an answer?

O n February 1, 2021, German government research minister Anja Karliczek announced the suspension of funding to 21 researchers for engaging in plagiarism.

This is the most recent in a string of incidents, primarily from India and elsewhere, which have led to a crisis in academic integrity in the scientific community. The government has been forced to take action to prevent the spread of plagiarism and ensure the quality of research in the country.

In Pakistan, the situation is no better. Earlier this year, the government announced that it would introduce a new law to combat plagiarism in research. However, the law is yet to be passed, and the government has not taken any concrete steps to implement it.

The reason for this is simple. The government is more concerned with political gains than with the welfare of the country. The politicians are more interested in gaining power, than in doing their jobs correctly.

But this is not the only reason. The government also lacks the necessary infrastructure and resources to implement the law. The government needs to invest more in education and research if it wants to see real progress in this area.

In conclusion, the government needs to take immediate action to combat plagiarism in research. It needs to pass the new law and implement it effectively. It also needs to invest more in education and research if it wants to see real progress in this area.

Source: The News
The worldwide number of coronavirus cases has surpassed 15 million, according to a tally maintained by Johns Hopkins University. More than 100 countries have reported outbreaks, and the number of confirmed cases continues to rise daily.

In the US, the number of cases has surpassed 4 million, with more than 150,000 deaths. In Europe, the number of cases has reached over 5 million, with over 350,000 deaths. In Asia, the number of cases has reached over 3.5 million, with over 90,000 deaths. In Latin America, the number of cases has reached over 2 million, with over 300,000 deaths. In Africa, the number of cases has reached over 1 million, with over 20,000 deaths. In the Middle East, the number of cases has reached over 500,000, with over 24,000 deaths.

The pandemic has also had a significant economic impact, with trillions of dollars in losses reported worldwide. The global economy has been hit hard, with many countries implementing lockdowns and other measures to contain the spread of the virus. The impact on businesses, particularly small and medium-sized enterprises, has been particularly severe.

As the pandemic continues to unfold, the focus remains on finding effective treatments and vaccines. Multiple vaccines are in various stages of development, with some expected to be approved in the coming months. However, the distribution of these vaccines around the world remains a challenge, with many countries facing shortages.

In addition to the economic and health impacts, the pandemic has also had significant social impacts, with families isolated from one another and many businesses forced to close. The impacts on mental health have also been significant, with many people experiencing increased stress and anxiety.

As the world continues to grapple with the pandemic, there is hope for a return to normalcy. However, the path to recovery will be long and challenging, with ongoing efforts needed to control the spread of the virus and mitigate its impact.
ECONOMIC DEVASTATION LOOMS ON GOOD FRIDAY

In Italy, officials used bold measures to crack down on social parties, with police checking to make sure people were maintaining a safe distance from one another, at home, work, and in public places. In church, as pressure mounted, gatherings were limited to 10 people in some industries and told of further restrictions if the situation worsens.

Politicians and public health officials were faced with the decision of how to balance public health against letting the virus run its course. In Italy, the decision to impose social distancing over the Easter holiday prompted protest as citizens argued to celebrate the holiday at home. Authorities warned to cancel Easter get-togethers made to drive down the COVID-19 infection rate.

JESUS TAKES THE WHEEL AT GERMAN GOOD FRIDAY DRIVE-IN

Dusseldorf: Hundreds of German drivers have taken to the wheel in a rare Good Friday drive-in event, saying they have been denied the chance to worship in churches closed due to the pandemic.

"We need the Cathedral. It is our church. We need to be able to worship in it," said one of the drivers who attended the event, organized by the German Christian Community.

The event was held in a parking lot near the Dusseldorf Cathedral and was attended by around 500 cars.

Global deal to cut oil output by 9 million barrels a day cut

Mexico had balked at cuts that experts estimate could mean to discourage travel.

Petrol pump operators seek financial help

Petrol pump operators on Monday approached the Union Finance Ministry for financial help to tide over losses in the wake of lockdown as perio...
When Broadway went silent

Theatre actors SAMANTHA PAULY and BRITTNEY MACK, who play two wives of Henry VIII in the musical Six, have turned down their disappointment by singing for the audience on social media amid virus shutdown.

Samantha Pauly

One thing we missed about performing in Broadway theatres is when we're not working on camera and we're not just kind of spiraling out of control and being really remotely — to perform and connect with people. I think the way in which we've been able to turn this into creating something really kind of remote and that has serenaded Twitter with our voices has been extremely exhilarating. We've been able to reach thousands of people and instead of coming back, "say hello, another show was opening," now we are saying goodbye to shows that won't be back. And it is really, really from shows that won't be back.

Brittney Mack

I think we all have had the feeling like I have the same awe over her that she has over me and the suits before we actually got into them and developed a real bond.

Both women have been spearheading a $250,000 fund drive to raise money for theatre artists that are very scared and not sure where the future is kind of uncertain right now. She said that if you're feeling well you can help by donating. Mack and Pauly say having fans come back is also important.

Susie Milar

The cast of Six...I jumped in head-first. The first day on Broadway shut down. I didn't know the power of theatre and how powerful it is. I didn't know how much I needed to be on stage. And I think it's been a really interesting process to watch the cast of Six and how they've come back and how they've moved to become Broadway theatre-aborting shows. In the streaming model that's been created, 15 shows on the Great American Music Hall are being streamed. There are no live audiences and no set designed for Broadway theatres. Theatre artists that are very scared and not sure where the future is kind of uncertain right now.

Theresa Chappell

Mack and Pauly say having fans come back is also important. They are in the process of opening the spring plans to open at all, including Hamilton and Six. In general, Samantha Pauly said, her own relief. She said, "This is a really exciting day. It's exciting for us to be out there and for people to be out there too. And I'm just so grateful for being able to do this."

Trevor Wall

It was a real relief to see some people in the audience and feel that social distancing that is necessary in order to sing, you know, this will, well it will actually feel a bit strange, I think, for a few concerts. We will be known as the last concert or show for a few concerts...

Alexandra Jewett

I'm an intern. I was also super excited. I was looking forward to being back in an audience and being able to look back at any time and say, ‘oh I remember sitting on the back row and feeling this way, you know.’ And the theatre community and itself will always be a part of our lives. I'm so grateful for being able to do this and finally be back in a live show.

Deanne Stamey

I'm proud of Six and I'm proud of all the women who have been able to enjoy their music and I'm so grateful to still be able to work with you all. It's just the best experience of my life and I'm so grateful to be here with you all and be able to do this.
E N C O U N T E R 4 5 M I N U T E S

DON’T LEAVE ME!

Director ADITYA SARPOTDAR tells SAKSHI SHARMA that his series, The Raikar Case, explores the dark sides of a family, though in a culture set-up.

What if one day you find that every member of your family is hiding a secret of its own? A range of questions would flood your mind — Do they have a life beyond your knowledge? Did they ever do something like this whilst? Well, for director Aditya Sarpotdar, these complex questions crop up in his new series — one that’s not exactly your mother’s cup of tea, but rather a thriller with a difference. An ending that can be remarkably unpredictable. One that’s shaped into a murder mystery, where the dead event gets connected to a family and each of its members.

A progressive and engaging series, The Raikar Case, is about family, love, deceit, and the secrets that worm their way into it. The maximum secret that you’ll be on the lookout for is to witness what the most recent generation of people come up with for a family thriller. This thriller grapples with the dilemma of ‘Will you choose truth over family?’ and it can turn out to be absolutely absurd. Accept and see for yourself when the series premieres on Voot Select.

How can you contextualise the series The Raikar Case?

It’s a collaborative work. There is a lot of, I would say, random building. When I came to play, there was a blank sheet of two to three pages but there was no context and a lot of characterization had to be done. You were just interacting with people you didn’t know what they were up to. It’s a very literary drama. In India, we always look at family in the most perfect sense — with respect and moral values. But it turned the audience to the whole idea of imagining family to be human. Which might sound odd. “Do I really know my people?” It is confusing to suddenly do what you know each other’s lives inside out. But what if you don’t? After pondering over all these concepts, I was able to combine all these into a murder mystery.

In which scene did you face the biggest challenge as the youngest member of the family Tarun Nair (played by Disney Kambli) joining the family? We decided the youngest to be the victim here. We made sure to keep the basic reality because he can gain sympathy and people would know my people. It is exciting to explore that when there is a basic draft of two to three pages but there was an extreme cases where the parent or child is a murderer, this is about an individual you are living with. Y ou know who you are. Y ou know what you need to explore things which people can not easily judge or guess because the whole trick is about writing them. You need to be as non-stop, in a space where people cannot guess the murderer. If they are able to make out what’s there in the second episode, the whole point of murder mystery is lost. It’s important to write in a smart way so that you always engage the audience. Because if they are able to make out what’s there in the main narration then it is lost there too. If someone can make the other way around things are even more specific and you need to keep the audience sharp.

Were there any reference points from real instances?

The Raikar Case is based on the original Amol Palekar’s novel but there were no reference points from real instances. We decided the youngest to be the victim here. We made sure to keep the basic reality because he can gain sympathy and people would know my people. It is exciting to explore that when there is a basic draft of two to three pages but there was an extreme cases where the parent or child is a murderer, this is about an individual you are living with. Y ou know who you are. Y ou know what you need to explore things which people can not easily judge or guess because the whole trick is about writing them. You need to be as non-stop, in a space where people cannot guess the murderer. If they are able to make out what’s there in the second episode, the whole point of murder mystery is lost. It’s important to write in a smart way so that you always engage the audience. Because if they are able to make out what’s there in the main narration then it is lost there too. If someone can make the other way around things are even more specific and you need to keep the audience sharp.

The Raikar Case was your debut directorial venture. Did you have to audition?

I decided not to try out for any other role. So, the role was automatically offered to me. I was working on this project and it was a dream come true to do it. Also, I wanted to try my hand at directing a film and I have never done any other film so far. It was just the perfect opportunity and the perfect role.

How were things going in footage shooting?

The HBO hit Insecure typically shoots as the same from the same schedule as booked and booked, the shows don’t get the same kind of time scheduling. But there was good reason. There were no social distance meetings because you don’t want to lose the chemistry. You don’t want to lose the energy. Y ou want it to be energetic. Y ou want it to look really good. The scenes you have done films like Classroom (2015), Thandoo Mr. Man (2017) and many more. In this first time you have something like this. It was a big challenge, but I enjoyed making it.

The film included films The Photograph (2007), Live and Die in LA (2008) and I shot that after I shot The Photograph, it was like I was in a different environment, and it was a different environment for the most part. It’s a retelling of the story that we all love. When you go from your twenties and thirty and then forty and fifty, you get different kind of stories. Those are very specific stories about what you want to watch and that’s why you want to watch that story. That’s why you want to watch that story.

In one of your interviews in 2012, you mention that you want to bring a considerable change in the Marathi film industry. You said, "We need to get down the reality from the screen and put it up in the screen. The creativity is lost. If we are not interested in an art, we are not interested in an art. We have to really understand that. We are not really interested in an art, we are not really interested in an art. We are not really interested in an art.

I have also shot two feature film in Goa — The Photograph, it was like I was in a different environment, and it was a different environment for the most part. It’s a retelling of the story that we all love. When you go from your twenties and thirty and then forty and fifty, you get different kind of stories. Those are very specific stories about what you want to watch and that’s why you want to watch that story. That’s why you want to watch that story.

CELEB TALK 15 MINUTES

Mirror mirror

Actor ISSAA RAE says that the pandemic circumstances are terrible but they are helping her take a break to focus on what she loves.

The HBO hit Insecure typically shoots as the same from the same schedule as booked and booked, the shows don’t get the same kind of time scheduling. But there was good reason. There were no social distance meetings because you don’t want to lose the chemistry. You don’t want to lose the energy. Y ou want it to be energetic. Y ou want it to look really good. The scenes you have done films like Classroom (2015), Thandoo Mr. Man (2017) and many more. In this first time you have something like this. It was a big challenge, but I enjoyed making it.

The film included films The Photograph (2007), Live and Die in LA (2008) and I shot that after I shot The Photograph, it was like I was in a different environment, and it was a different environment for the most part. It’s a retelling of the story that we all love. When you go from your twenties and thirty and then forty and fifty, you get different kind of stories. Those are very specific stories about what you want to watch and that’s why you want to watch that story. That’s why you want to watch that story.

What is different doing the projects you are doing now? What was it like going to be — I am top of my game now. I have been at great balance, but the positivity with very exciting work has been amazing. This quarantine, I would say it was really special for Issa Rae for Insecure and Los Angeles while having to so to make a film that was very, very easy to come up with a directorial project to in particular because the audience has never had a chance to watch something so completely different because it is not and it is not and it is not. If I want to do a film, I do not want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. If I want to do a film, I do not want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. If I want to do a film, I do not want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. If I want to do a film, I do not want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. If I want to do a film, I do not want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. If I want to do a film, I do not want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. If I want to do a film, I do not want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. If I want to do a film, I do not want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. If I want to do a film, I do not want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. If I want to do a film, I do not want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. I want to do a film. If......
Australians have bordering nations. They are expected to play in the Indian Premier League behind closed doors as it would not impose a degree of “normality” into daily life during the coronavirus pandemic.

The ICC said the decision was made at a meeting of the chief executives of the 12 T20Is — told the BCCI that its decision to allow three live-at-home options may be extended beyond spectators.

However, the administration later confirmed that it would not impose any restrictions on the fixture.

The Indian cricket board (BCCI) has confirmed that matches in the T20 World Cup will be held behind closed doors as the virus continues to spread in the country.

The BCCI said it would take all necessary steps to ensure the safety and security of the players, officials, and fans attending the matches.

The T20 World Cup is scheduled to begin on October 18, and the BCCI has already announced that all the matches will be played behind closed doors.

The decision to play in front of spectators was taken after extensive consultations with the government and health authorities.

A state government official said that the government has been supportive of the decision to play in front of spectators.

The BCCI has also assured that all necessary arrangements will be made to ensure the safety and security of the players, officials, and fans attending the matches.

The T20 World Cup is the largest international cricket tournament and is held every four years. The tournament is being held in India for the first time.

The tournament was announced as the practice for the players. The BCCI has also confirmed that all the matches will be played behind closed doors as the virus continues to spread in the country.