I have been奋战 in the fight to protect the Uighur people from Uighur. I’m ready to fight to protect them and make sure they don’t suffer any human rights abuses. As a Uighur human rights activist, I’ve been detained in a concentration camp for two years. I was able to escape and I’m now living in the United States. I’ve been working with the United Nations and other organizations to raise awareness about the situation in Xinjiang. I’m also working with the government to help bring about change. I’m a proud Uighur and I’m fighting for the rights of my people.

At the time of writing this letter, the Chinese government is under tremendous pressure to defend its claims in the South China Sea. With the United States and other regional powers exerting pressure, China must now confront the boundary question, insist on marking all its claims, and make its intentions clear.

As talks for pullback continue, they are just a diversion as the Chinese forces have already got aggressive in the South China Sea, claiming islands and setting up military bases.

It will be the only economy to register growth, even if it is as low as one per cent, and remain one among the countries that are riding the wave of the global economy, according to a renowned analyst.

I was usually interested in justice and believed that improving it was a positive way to contribute to the well-being of society.

As a jurist, I have always been an advocate of the principle that the law should be used to promote social justice and equality. In my opinion, the law has the power to address the inequalities that exist in society and to promote a more just and equitable distribution of resources.

I believe that judges should be aware of the impact of their decisions on society and should strive to ensure that their rulings contribute to a more just and equitable society. I have always been committed to this principle and have worked to ensure that the law is used to promote social justice and equality.

NK Singh: India needs to grow much faster over next decade

India needs to grow much faster in the next decade as we need to scale up in terms of technology and industry in order to be an influential player in the global market. The Finance Commission Chairman NK Singh said so.

Singh said technology, coupled with other factors like health, education, and infrastructure, can create a decisive difference. “If we wish to become a developed country, we have to obviously grow much faster. This would be the 21st-century public health-care system,” he added. In 2019-20, public-health expenditure in India was 0.8% per cent of GDP. This is one of the lowest among countries. Out of this, about 50 lakh doctors and about 200,000 medical beds are there, he said.

Only technology solutions can enable the realization of AtmaNirbhar Bharat,” he added. The government has promised to increase access to healthcare in the coming decade. However, this has to be mainstreamed if the country is to become evidently clear with the current pandemic-driven health-care system.

Bihar cop heading Sushant probe forcibly quarantined

Bihar Police IPS officer Viral Tuwar who has been tasked with heading the probe into actor Sushant Singh’s death case has been forcibly quarantined by the BHC Commissioner's office.

Police sources said Sushant Singh’s name was Googled by the IPS officer on Tuesday while he was in the city to attend the press conference.

The IPS officer was also rescheduled to appear before the BHC Commissioner Param Bir Singh on Wednesday.

Commissioner Singh revealed these details while interacting with the press on Monday. He said that the IPS officer had been forcibly quarantined on Sunday even before the IPS officer could initiate his probe.

Tuwar tweeted, "IPS officer Viral Tuwar arrived in Mumbai to attend the press conference and was forcibly quarantined. IPS officer memory is the subject of our investigation," he said.

The top cop further revealed these details while interacting with the press on Monday.

"Sushant would search for his name on Google to find out what was being written about him. He would also search for ‘painless death,’ ‘schizophrenia’ and ‘bipolar disorder.’ During the press conference, the Mumbai Police Commissioner also mentioned that there is a fixed deposit of Rs 14.5 crore credit in the actor’s bank account. The top cop also mentioned that there is a fixed deposit of Rs 4 crores too. "

"All bank statements of 56 people have been recorded, all angles are being examined. It has come to surface that he had bipolar disorder, he was undergoing treatment and taking medicines regularly," he said.

"What circumstantial evidence we have so far been collected, all angles are being examined. We are not considering this as a case of suicide but as a case of any foul play," he added.

"Till now statements of 45 people have been recorded. We are trying to make headways into the probe that was otherwise not moving in the right direction. We have now taken a great initiative in the case. We then went to a guest house in Goregaon," he said.

"On Monday, he was to meet officers at around 11 p.m. but was found hanged. Tuwar had said that the investigation into Sushant’s death was moving in the right direction. He then went to a guest house in Goregaon on the past few days trying to make headways into the probe that has been with the city police for the last over 45 days," the top cop added.

"The BHC, however, did not disclose his whereabouts.
