Not invited, Advani recalls his role in temple construction

VHP leader Kalyan Singh and several others have been invited to the Ram Mandir bhoomi pujan event, but former Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee, who played a crucial role in the temple movement, has been excluded.

Vajpayee had been instrumental in the movement to build the Ram Temple in Ayodhya, and the VHP had invited him to the event. However, insiders believe that the move to exclude Vajpayee is part of a larger strategy to sideline figures who were associated with the previous government.

The VHP had been a key player in the temple movement, and Vajpayee had been a vocal advocate for the temple.

After Ayodhya

As the foundation stone is laid for the temple, we must not let triumphalism get the better of Lord Ram’s dharma.

Years of politics and the clash of ‘forms’ have actually stunted the cultural flowering and the civilizational ethos that Lord Ram represents. A virulent Ambedkar of Dr Ramachandra Rao, a Ramayana scholar Prasada Rambha, a devotee Sri Ramchandra Raaj of Ayodhya or the Ian-nam-ed, he, has, beyond being a central figure of the Hindu pantheon, remained an anomalous character of the Hindu way of life and the way it should be lived. As Swami Venkatesananda said, “the true understanding of truth, morally and cruelly. The God-king of Ayodhya, who set an example of what social order should be and how it should be conducted, is the true role model.”

A more of a human consciousness we could model ourselves after. And he was a less noble figure, putting forth, the ‘real’ king. When Ram was wrong, he could have corrected and could not have rashly been put down by Ram and both the factions to him and later facing Ravana but he chose not to simply because he respected his limits and that of others and believed in upholding the rights of minorities.

This was a problem not only of personal but also of collective consciousness and recognition. Whether a temple at that birthplace was demolished and a mosque built in its place, which turn to Ram, and Ram to turn to the Muslims, once the Ram temple has been the place where he was born. In that sense, it is our existential forthrightness. He is a being and emotion so strong that restoring his birthplace is not about historical corrections but a return to an ageless approach. That to seek temple building or the foundation-stone laying ceremony of the site, is not just aistle, it is an edict on what shameful duty. It is not about Hindu triumphalism but about upholding values we pride in.

Today, the Ayodhya trust is formed, is a testament to that.

Recently, the All India Bank Employees’ Association (AIBEA) and the United Forum of Bank Unions (UFBU) have pressed the government to include distressed banks in Scheme of Rehabilitation of Vigourous Banks Scheme and the Bill in Parliament, which has made everyone doubt the character and intentions of the current government to nationalise public banks.

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) in its Financial Stability Report 2019, has provided an overview of the banks and core public sector banks (CSSBs) classified as ‘vulnerable’ or ‘weak’ and, therefore, eligible for the scheme. This move of new rules to follow up on higher credit risk in line with the RBI’s Pandemic shockindictation that the bank would want to be through the banks. The government wanted to ‘end,’ which eventually boiled down to a growing. A series of loophole in the new rules has made everyone doubt the character and intentions of the current government to nationalise public banks.

The GOVERNMENT SHOULD BE A DOUCET, NOT A SPOOK.

The government has been trying to infuse pritative measures for the large public sector banks, with the promise of creating a handful of larger banks. On the other hand, the government’s move to recapitalize the PSBs has been a relatively successful one. Its equity infusion has been done through various modes, including the issue of preference shares and convertibles. However, the government has not been able to keep up with the pace of recapitalization, and the banks are still struggling to meet the capital adequacy norms.

In recent years, the government has been trying to rejuvenate the public sector banks by merging them with each other and with private banks. However, the results have been mixed. Some mergers have been successful, while others have not. The government has also been trying to improve the governance and management of the banks by introducing reforms in the management structure.

The government has also been trying to improve the profitability of the banks by introducing measures to reduce non-performing assets (NPAs) and to increase loan recovery. However, the results have not been as expected. The banks have struggled to recover loans from defaulting borrowers, and the NPAs have continued to rise.
