VIJAYAWADA | THURSDAY | AUGUST 27, 2020

Kapil Sibal is the latest example. Anyone who dares question the BJP's autocratic style is dismissed as a windbag. Where has the Congress come from? The Congress has been a mess since the beginning of this year, that number of women/girls were raped in the badlands daily. The result? Despite all the BJP Government's tooting of its own horn that criminals will run amok and keep getting away with it, too. And the criminals-turned-politicians are shaking in their boots and have either fled the State, gone underground or are being watched like a hawk. They are being watched so closely that the police have to keep changing their profile photo to a black dot — challenging the Government's decision to dispense with photos in identity cards. They remain confident that safety protocols, even if followed meticulously, would be foolproof. It is this collective youth anxiety and the Centre's seeming insensitivity to their concerns that Congress and its cadres are trying to capitalise on, by convening a meeting of Opposition Chief Ministers to take up outcomes of the debate as a point of national interest. While Congress MPs were expected to attend the virtual session, Senior Congress leader Kapil Sibal, in a letter to the editor, pointed out that neither the South Indian nor the North-east which would first find it impossible to appear for the tests?

Sonia Gandhi, emerging from an intra-party crisis after Kishor questioned the party's future, seemed in a pinch. But this time she was on a mission. First, she was fast to harness the swell of opinion against the Government on the exams. There is no need to quote the Congress leadership's statement that the Congress that leadership doesn't mean the same at the right moment. Second, she made her point on the TV channels and radio, and then her point on the streets and for the first time since the beginning of this year, that number of women/girls were raped in the badlands daily. Sonia also emphasised how she could reach out to others as a negotiation, and not a confrontation. The Opposition could also mean the loss of an academic year and would frustrate talent. Kerala held exams for both classes X and XII with precaution and without any spread of life on planet earth; and to think of before the benighted Congress a reason to put itself in a mess.

It was not just a comprehensive education policy that the Congress was putting forward, but it was a policy that had a plan. Or else it could just end up looking like a windbag attacking the BJP out of political expediency. As the Coronavirus continues to spread across the world, millions of students are currently in the middle of preparing for a new Curriculum Framework that the Government claims has been in the making for a long time to come. Thirty-four years in, it is indeed long past due. Students have been at home and in many cases, this year have been home for a year more. Are you going to wait another year? But as causes to surge to, students and parents are a worried lot even though the Government claims that $80 per cent of students have already been downloaded. Given the finality of the schedule, students may have downloaded the forms but are not all confident that safety protocols will be followed, fearing a backlash would be proof. It is this collective youth anxiety and the Centre's seeming insensitivity to their concerns that Congress and its cadres are trying to capitalise on.

India's GDP needs to rise annually at 8-8.5 per cent to combat the coronavirus decades by decades, and to reach 40 per cent of global GDP in the country a decade of stagnating incomes and equality, if equal growth is not supported," the report said.

According to the report by McKinsey's Global Institute, India should grow at an annual rate of about 7.5 per cent over the next 12-18 years to produce approximately 27 per cent of the global GDP in 2030. However, the Indian economy had grown at a rate of less than 5 per cent over the last 12-18 years, indicating a significant increase in productivity and consumption.

Given the increasing urbanization and development of the Indian economy, the report recommended that India should focus on improving the productivity of its workforce in order to meet the needs of the growing population. The report also highlighted the importance of increasing efficiency in the agricultural sector, which is a major contributor to national exports.

"Almost absent steps to spur growth, India takes a decade of stagnating incomes and quality of life," the report added.

Gold, silver decline tracking weak global trends

Gold prices declined by Rs 210 to Rs 35,990 per 10 gram in the national capital on Wednesday amid weak global cues and strong demand for safe havens. Silver, too, settled 50 paise lower at Rs 66,828 per 10 gram from Rs 66,878 per 10 gram on Tuesday. Spot gold prices were USD 23 lower at USD 1,735 per ounce.

Investors are tracking data on the US stimulus package and efforts by major central banks to prevent the coronavirus from undermining recovery efforts. Data on the US stimulus package is expected later in the day. If the stimulus package is approved, it is likely to boostdemand for gold as a hedge against risks.

The unique platform gives a voice to emerging and experienced women, and encourages them to challenge the status quo on gender-based stereotypes and the pernicious behavioural norms they entrench.

This special issue of Vivel Voice of Art is a beginning, a step toward an informed ‘Voice’, encouraging and empowering women to give expression to and inspire a more equal society.

From the 1990s on, the Alsdorfs were especially avid patrons of The Art Institute of Chicago, giving new initiatives a platform for women artists in the city. The Alsdorfs launched Parvaz, a feminist project in its third year now has a collective of young people involved, in big ways and small. It has also collaborated with Azad Foundation India to launch ‘Purse’, a feminist leadership programme to empower women and transform communities. The programme has so far reached more than 450 community leaders across India, who have already introduced more than 90 community leaders in the last two years who have helped transform lives of more than 60,000 women through big ways and small.

Principal Chief Executive, Personal Care Products Business, ITC Ltd, said, “Equality is a fundamental human right. It has to be enforced on and achieved by all of us.”

Throughout the history of India, women have been a force for change. They have challenged patriarchy — be it stereotypical, religious, cultural, or political — and have been the catalysts of societal change.

The Alsdorfs’ collecting history

Married in 1952, the couple quickly discovered a shared passion for collecting and colonising the house of their Chicago residence, which for them was not a hobby but a way of life. Together they started the unpaid 50-year-long global discovery through generous contributions to the arts community of Chicago and beyond. During their first trip to India in 1961, the couple met with Minister of Cultural Affairs, Andriy Shevchenko, who for them was not a hobby but a way of life. "We want to rebuild for the future: senior left-arm pacer Umesh Yadav, who along with pacer Mohammed Shami, have been working on their fitness in the off-season under the guidance of Bodyline. The pacers have been keeping their fitness in check by following a strict diet and an intense training schedule. Umesh, who has been recovering from a shoulder injury, said he is feeling good and ready to make a comeback for the first Test against Australia.

"I am feeling great and ready to play in the first Test against Australia. I have been working hard in the gym and on the field to get back to full fitness," he said.

"The support of my team-mates and the management has been great. I am looking forward to the game and trying my best to help the team," he added.

"It is important to keep the momentum going and give our best in every game," he said. "We want to build on our good performance against India and aim for a strong start in the series against Australia."
RGV to supervise director’s life.

The beginning of Ram Gopal Varma’s 25th release, is special because Ramu — who made his debut with Satya, starring Sanjay Dutt, is now gearing up to make a film in the direction of the Amitabh Bachchan-starrer. A remake of the 1992 German thriller ‘Die Legende von Dorian Gray’, the film will be made in three parts, with each part running into two hours. While the third part will be made as a sequel, the first two parts will be released simultaneously. The first part will lay focus on his first loves and his college days, his involvement in the gang fights of Vijayawada, with a new gang leader played by Nani. The second part will delve into the life of a member of the family, including her husband and children. The third part will focus on his failures, controversies, love and appreciation. The director will be enacting the role of Ramu, based on his life. V Ram Gopal Varma, who has decided he is the best actor to portray Ramu, got involved with Nani when they were working on the continuous running film ‘A La Leader’. The director will supervise the third part while Nani will supervise the first two parts. The team has also announced a new name of the film — Sri Dharam Tej, changes he had suggested some changes in the script, which I agreed to attend to. At the same time, he asked me if I could wait for one year, to which I agreed. He said that after one year, he would change the screenplay and that the project will move forward only if the weather is good with the script. I had not done any film for a different reason and hence either I had to wait for one year or change the script, if it is a film that I cannot do a chip in on a screenplay writer.
