VIOLENCE ENDS, FEAR REIGNS

Few arson cases reported; 2 more bodies found in drain; Nehru Vihar councillor booked for killing IB official

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The riot-hit areas of North-east Delhi, which had witnessed the dance of death in the last four days, seemed to be returning to normalcy on Thursday with heavy deployment of the Delhi Police and Central Armed Police Forces (CAPFs) on roads. Although no violence was reported on Wednesday and Thursday, there was palpable sense of fear in the areas.

The security forces conducted flag march in the areas that saw communal violence over the CAA.

Meanwhile, two more male bodies were found in a drain in Johri Enclave on Thursday. A few case arsons in Maujpur, Bhajanpura and other areas were reported in the wee hours of Thursday. Some vehicles shops were set on fire.

Meanwhile, the Delhi Police booked Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) councillor Tahir Hussain for alleged involvement in communal riots and the murder of an IB official, Ankit Sharma. Reaction quickly, the AAP on Thursday evening suspended its Nehru Vihar councillor from primary membership of party till completion of probe.

Hussain has been slapped with other charges under various sections of the IPC, a senior police official said. Police also took possession of all the incendiary materials found from his house and sealed the house. His other premises, including the office and shop, were also sealed, they said.

Police have received the autopsy to the slain Intelligence Bureau staffer whose body was fished out from Chand Bagh drain flowing near the house of Hussain. Ankit was repeatedly stabbed over hours and there was not even a single part of his body that was left without stab injuries, said sources, adding that his intestines were ripped apart and he had suffered unimaginable brutality.

Earlier, in Yamuna Vihar, three to four people were seen burning vehicles on Thursday around 4 am. A few kilometres away, a charred board of a private school in Brijpuri read "Welcome to a very happy school." The 52-year-old Arun Modern Senior Secondary School looks no less than a cemetery, said an official, looking around at the damage which he estimated to be over ₹70 lakh.

Most shops were closed with their shutters bearing marks of the violence that it had witnessed over the last few days and people chose to stay indoors. Some of the residents in Chand Bagh and Jaffrabad were seen on Thursday cleaning the roads which were littered with stones and sticks.

On Thursday, the Delhi Police transferred the riots probe to the Crime Branch and formed two Special Investigation Teams (SITs). "The situation in the North-east is normal right now and no untoward incident has been reported today. Sufficient force has been deployed at every area and senior officers are monitoring the situation. The numbers of distress call have been reduced. We have received call on the two help lines which we released yesterday," said Mandeep Singh Randhawa, the Additional Commissioner of Police, Crime.

"A total of 48 First Information Reports (FIRs) have been registered for arson, looting and the deaths. Police have evidence and registering FIRs. Police conducted around 350 meetings with Aman Committee in Delhi specifically in North-east district," said Randhawa. "The investigation of the cases is going on and police have received evidence. Police teams are also conducting raids in different areas to nab the miscreants involved in arson and rioting," Randhawa said.

38 deaths so far, 250 severely injured Scene in hospitals distressing, many wait for post-mortem

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The death toll in the North-east Delhi communal riots reached 38 on Thursday with over 250 severely injured receiving treatment, said senior officials.

"Over 215 riot victims have been brought to our hospital and treated since February 24. However, at present only 51 patients are admitted. The condition of almost all patients, except one, is stable," said Sunil Kumar, GTB Hospital Medical Superintendent.

People injured over anti-CAA violence are being treated in three hospitals — GTB, LNJP, and Jag Pravesh Chand hospital. According to hospital authorities, 34 deaths have been reported from GTB, and three from LNJP, and one from Jag Pravesh Chand hospital.

GTB Hospital authorities said most of the people were brought with very serious injuries. "At least 25 patients were brought dead and nine succumbed to injuries. Many of them were critically injured with their skulls smashed and beaten "brutally" by kind of an iron rod," a senior doctor of GTB hospital said.

Family members were seen running from pillar to post, enquiring about their loved ones from hospital authorities. Some of them claimed that neither police nor the hospital authorities are telling them exactly when the post-mortem will be conducted.

Kehkasha Begum, a resident of Maujpur, said her husband got injured when he was coming back to home after work.

Police inaction reminiscent of 1984: SAD MP Naresh Gujral

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Shiromani Akali Dal MP Naresh Gujral said on Thursday that the Delhi Police's "inaction" towards protecting the lives and properties of minorities in the national Capital is "reminiscent" of the 1984 anti-Sikh riots.

The lawmaker, whose party is a BJP ally, said no one wants a repeat of what happened in 1984. Speaking to PTI after shooting off a letter to Delhi Police chief Amulya Patnaik, Gujral, the son of former Prime Minister I K Gujral, said that minorities in certain parts of Delhi are "frightened".

Opp cries foul; Govt says rule followed after SC Collegium recommended transfer on Feb 12

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Government's decision to shift Delhi High Court judge Justice S Muralidhar, hours after he slammed the police for not registering a case against three BJP leaders for their alleged hate speeches, has triggered a major row.

While the Congress said the "midnight" notification was "shameful", the Centre accused the Opposition party of politicising a "routine" shift on the February 12 recommendation of the Supreme Court collegium.

The Opposition has flagged "timing" of the decision as its main concern and also reminded the Centre that it sat on Supreme Court's collegium recommendation for months when it did not suit its interests.

The Union Law Ministry on Wednesday issued three separate notifications for the transfer of Justice Muralidhar and two other judges — Justice Ranjit Vasantrao More of the Bombay High Court and Justice Ravi Vijay Kumar Malimath of the Karnataka High Court. Justice Muralidhar was transferred to the Punjab & Haryana High Court.

The notifications said President Ram Nath Kovind approved the transfers after consulting the Chief Justice of India.

The Supreme Court Collegium, in a meeting on February 12, had recommended transfer of Justice Muralidhar to Punjab and Haryana High Court.

Law Minister Ravi Shankar Prasad said Justice Muralidhar was transferred on the recommendation of the Supreme Court Collegium and accused the Opposition party of politicising a routine transfer.

CBSE Class X, XII exams on Feb 28, 29 in NE Delhi cancelled

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE) has postponed Class X and XII examinations scheduled for February 28 and 29 in the violence-hit North-east Delhi and parts of East Delhi, officials said.

The exam postponement announcement by the CBSE came for the third time this week due to communal violence in North-east Delhi over the amended citizenship law which has claimed 38 lives.

"In view of a request received from the Delhi Government and to avoid inconvenience to students, staff and parents, the exams scheduled for February 28 and 29 in North-east Delhi and other affected areas stand cancelled. The next date for the affected students will be notified shortly," CBSE Secretary Anurag Tripathi said.

"All exams in all centres across Delhi will be conducted as per original schedule from March 2 onwards," he said.

The board announced that it will conduct fresh exams for students who have not been able to appear for the papers in other parts of the national capital due to the violence.

It has also sought details of the students who failed to appear for exams due to the prevailing situation in the city.

"We have asked school principals to send the details to regional offices concerned of the CBSE of all such students of class 10, 12 who have missed out on the exams so far in Delhi, due to these difficult conditions. To reduce the stress on students, the board will conduct fresh exams for them.

The next date of exam for the affected students will be notified shortly," he said.

"The board has maintained regular contact with the principals of all schools, especially in the affected areas, and it has been brought to the notice that some students residing in the affected areas have not been able to appear in exams outside the affected areas due to the situation prevailing in the city," Tripathi added.

No exclusive liquor shops for women in State: Min

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

Madhya Pradesh Excise Minister Brijendra Singh Rathore here on Thursday clarified that there would not be exclusive liquor shops for women in the State.

While talking to media persons here, Rathore said, "These are liquor shops meant for sale of branded for-ign liquor in cities and I am not aware of anything like the concept of all-women liquor outlets."

Notably, some media reports quoting Commercial Tax Dept senior officials had suggested that in order to boost revenues and facilitate women in buying high end wine and whiskey, outlets exclusive for women were being opened in the state on the lines of metro cities like New Delhi and Mumbai.

"It was seen for long that there were people in the state who prefer branded foreign liquor which is not available on normal liquor outlets and they have to source it from either foreign countries, airports and others which causes revenue loss to the state so we decided to open two branded liquor shops each at Bhopal and Indore and one each at Gwalior and Jabalpur to tap revenues," Rathore said underlining the fact that there is nothing like all-women exclusive shops.

"I have absolutely no idea about this." When asked specifically that if he isn't aware about all-women shops, whether it means there is no such plan, the minister replied in affirmative.

The minister however added that the makers of branded liquors would be asked to set up their own outlets and sell their products.

He also slammed opposition for engaging in false propaganda on excise policy and urged them to offer statements only after reading the policy properly.

Had they read the policy with attention, they would know that there is no provision of sub shops for liquor outlets and also the online process is meant for tracking illegal sale of liquor and tapping revenue loss, he said.

Symposium held to promote Malayalam

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

As an endeavour to spread awareness about Malayalam language among the students of Hema Higher Secondary School, Hema Society organised a symposium to discuss ways for the promotion of the language in the school.

The seminar was an initiative to bring together members of prominent Malayalee Associations in Bhopal and initiate a discussion on how the language and culture can be introduced in the syllabus of the school. The theme of the seminar was to garner support from all the Malayalees of Bhopal and ask for active participation, to inspire the young minds and encourage them to take Malayalam language as a subject in school or for higher studies.

Speaking on the occasion, Philip Panicker, President, shared, "It was a pleasure to hear the participants. We request for an active participation from all the Malayalee residents of Bhopal and support us in the promotion of Malayalam language and culture among the new generation, who are growing up in Bhopal."

A Shashi Kumar, Secretary, added, "It was a fruitful discussion on the ways and means to promote Malayalam language and participants suggested various things that can be done for successful implementation of the language in our school."

The participants spoke enthusiastically on children should be made aware of the foundation of the language and the Malayalee culture, so that they can relate with it while growing up in Bhopal. The symposium also saw an exchange of views and suggestions made, on how Malayalam classes can be conducted in the school, how Hema School can bring a difference by introducing various topics and in the process inculcate love for Kerala and its traditions among the youngsters.

The idea to introduce the language and its prominence was suggested by certain members during one of the AGMs (Annual General Meeting) of the society. Hence, it was decided to organise a seminar where members and guests can share ideas on how responsiveness towards Malayalam language, culture and tradition can be generated.

REWA ULTRA MEGA SOLAR LTD.

रीवा अल्ट्रा मेगा सोलर लि. (RUMSL) द्वारा रीवा जिले में 750 मेगावाट की स्थापित वृहद सौर ऊर्जा परियोजना की अपार सफलता के बाद प्रदेश सरकार नीमच, शाजापुर एवं आगर जिलों में 1500 मेगावाट की 3 मेगा सौर परियोजनायें स्थापित करने जा रही है।

सौर ऊर्जा पार्क 2022 तक स्थापित किये जाने का लक्ष्य

ऊर्जा पार्क के मुख्य आकर्षण

- नीमच में 500 मेगावाट, आगर में 550 मेगावाट एवं शाजापुर में 450 मेगावाट की सौर परियोजनाएं।
- नवकरणीय ऊर्जा विभाग को 2635 हैक्टेयर राजस्व भूमि का आवंटन।
- रीवा जिले में सौर पार्क से 2.97 रु. प्रति यूनिट बिजली प्राप्त हो रही है। इन परियोजनाओं से इससे भी कम दर पर बिजली प्राप्त होने की संभावना है।
- उक्त परियोजनाओं से प्राप्त बिजली राज्य की विद्युत वितरण कंपनियों एवं भारतीय रेल्वे को प्रदाय की जायेगी।
- इन परियोजनाओं से स्थानीय विकास हेतु स्थानीय विकास निधि एवं रोजगार के नये अवसर उपलब्ध होंगे।
- राज्य सरकार पर्यावरण के प्रति अपनी जिम्मेदारी को समझते हुए इन परियोजनाओं को प्रदेश में स्थापित कर रही है।
- इन परियोजनाओं की स्थापना से प्रतिवर्ष कार्बन डाइऑक्साइड के उत्सर्जन में 10.28 लाख टन की कमी आयेगी। पर्यावरण की दृष्टि से इसके लिए 1.72 करोड़ वृक्ष लगाने की आवश्यकता होती।

Horticulture will enrich farmers: CM

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

Chief Minister Kamal Nath has reiterated the State Government's commitment to transforming Madhya Pradesh into India's Horticulture Capital.

He said that the horticulture sector is a gateway to the prosperity of farmers. This is the future of the agricultural sector. He said that the credit potential estimated by the NABARD for the horticulture sector should be increased from 6 percent to at least 15 percent.

He said that a large patch of unutilised revenue land in Madhya Pradesh can be utilised for expansion of horticulture activities.

He was releasing the State Focus Paper - 2020-21 at the State Credit Seminar 2020-21 organised by NABARD at Mantralaya here on Thursday.

The NABARD has estimated credit potential for Madhya Pradesh at 1,98,786 crore. This is 13 percent more than that of last year's 1,74,970 Crore.

The experiences of life were brilliantly showcased. A Hindi play 'Tasveerien' was performed at Ravindra Bhavan auditorium here on Thursday. The play marked the fourth day of five day theatre fest.

The play was directed by Ansh Payan Sinha and was performed by Nat Bunde Theatre Group. The play was based on the poems by poet Manas Bharadwaj and playwright Anshpayan Sinha.

Interestingly, this play has no story, but creates one on the stage. The only captivating point of this play was the poetries and the lyrical performance. The play 'Tasveerien' is just the replica of the poetries by these writers.

It is a compilation of rhythmic 24 poems together making a story on stage. Each poem has a story and when they were weaved together on stage they create another exotic story worth-

Cultural Fest 'Vihan 2020' concludes

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

The 3-day Techno Cultural Fest 'Vihan 2020' at Radharaman Group of Institutions ended with a lot of fervour here on Thursday.

A fashion show, competition for Mr and Miss Eve, DJ Night and Poets Meet were held on the last day of this action packed fest.

The students participated in the fashion show, walked the ramp as professional models with confidence dressed in traditional, western, ethnic and horror themes. Through this show, participants showed a glimpse of the world of fashion.

On the basis of the imagination, they prepared and displayed their costume. The show, which took place in various rounds, was judged by Dr. Sameer Sood, Project Director of the renowned fashion designing institute NIFT.

In the first round, all the themes were displayed and in the second round, the selected participants of the first round presented their dresses. Finally, the winners of each theme were announced.

The traditional theme was Miss Ethnic Bhavana Pathak and Mr Ethnic Sahil. In the Western theme, Uzma and Gaurav became Mr and Miss Western. Next theme was Fusion theme in which Mr Unicorn was Shubham Kashyap and Miss Unicorn was Janhvi.

Later, the title of Mr and Miss RGI was won by Eshesham-Ul-Haq and Gargi respectively. Nikki Panthi and Danish were awarded the titles of Mr and Miss Eve.

At the end of the programme, all the students danced on the DJ tunes. They had a lot of fun at DJ Night. All the juniors bid good bye to their seniors as this was their last Techno Cultural fest in the college.

Chairman of Radharaman Group RR Saxena presented prizes to all the winners.

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

Sony MAX is all set to feature The World Television Premiere of the month - Marjaavaan. The action drama featuring Siddharth Malhotra, Riteish Deshmukh and Tara Sutaria will be showcased on February 29, 2020 at 8 pm.

The film revolves around the love story of a local goon, Raghu (Siddharth Malhotra) and Zoya (Tara Sutaria), a mute music teacher whose world is turned upside down due to the villainous acts of Vishnu (Riteish Deshmukh), the son of an infamous gang leader. The film takes a series of heart wrenching twists that result in the death of Zoya.

Raghu avenges her death while Vishnu continues to destroy everything Raghu lives for. Speaking about his role as Raghu, Siddharth Malhotra says, "Milap, Me and my team first decided to change the physical aspect of Raghu - trying longer hair, a bandana, the matches, tougher, bigger and broader look including the tattoos of every religion in India. I found it cool and really enjoyed it. I've never done something like this before."

Speaking about her role as a mute Kashmiri Music teacher, Tara Sutaria says, "I spent a couple of months before we started filming to learn the sign language as I wanted it to be 100 percent right. I believe if you're doing something unique like this, you need to do justice to the role. I am really grateful to Milap Sir and to everyone that I could learn this language."

'Ho Sakta Hain Do Admi Do Kursiyan' staged

STAFF REPORTER ■ BHOPAL

A play Ho Sakta Hain Do Kursiyan, was staged on Thursday at Ravindra Bhavan.

Written and directed by Vinay Sharma, the play was performed by the artists of P a d a t i k T h e a t r e , Calcutta.

The play is an exploration of stillness and silence, word and image, inscapes and stresses. Zooming in on fragments from individual lives, the play uses an ironic juxtaposition of humour with the tragic, as two actor-protagonists tell a number of apparently unconnected stories linked by the emotions born of love, loss and absence.

Their two chairs become a mercurial, ever changing metaphor as the play intersects urban relationships and makes the implicit statement that we are given life to experience compassion not to inflict violence or to succumb to an inner decay.

In this play, each scene is open to questions and interpretations, the chairs in this play could be anything, these men could be anyone, these events could all have happened on the same day or be spread over a nation's history. Though each scene is complete and stands by itself, there is also a meaning or two implied in the order in which the scenes are arranged.

Navjot Singh Sidhu resurfaces after 7 months

MONIKA MALIK ■ CHANDIGARH

Putting to end the speculations about his leaving the Congress, the cricketer-turned-politician Navjot Singh Sidhu on Thursday surfaced after seven months of political hibernation to project himself as the party's savior in Punjab with a bunch of suggestions already discussed with the top leadership. Amidst reports that Aam Aadmi Party (AAP), buoyant after its successive third victory in the national capital, is warming up with the Congress' disgruntled leader, Sidhu shared his picture along with Congress national chief Sonia Gandhi and All India Congress Committee (AICC) general secretary Priyanka Gandhi via e-mail saying that he discussed roadmap for Punjab and prevailing political situation in the State with the high command. Staying away from the public glare after resigning from the State Cabinet in July 2019, Sidhu remained in the national capital on Thursday also. Making it clear that he has direct access with the high command, Sidhu said that he met Priyanka on February 25 (Tuesday) "for 40 minutes", and Sonia Gandhi on February 26 (Wednesday) "for more than an hour". "I got a patient hearing and apprised them of the prevailing situation in Punjab along with the roadmap to the resurrection and revival of the state back to its pristine glory. I have persisted with conviction about this roadmap for the past many years in the Cabinet and public domain diligently," said

Sidhu in his statement, breaking his silence after months of self-imposed political exile. Even as it was not clear what actually transpired during the meeting, it is believed that Sidhu has been called by Priyanka amidst the rumours that AAP, SAD Taksalis, and other fronts are wooing the former cricketer offering the Chief Ministerial face. It has been learnt that Sidhu had also discussed his role in the next state assembly elections, scheduled for 2022, and he would soon make a comeback in active politics. Known to share close proximity with Rahul Gandhi and Priyanka Gandhi, Sidhu went into deep political hibernation after he formally resigned from Punjab Cabinet on July 15, 2019. His decision was in protest against the "punishment" of changing his portfolio when the Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh blamed the former cricketer for party's not-so-good performance in the urban pockets during 2019 Lok Sabha elections. Despite being Congress' star campaigner, Sidhu even stayed away from campaigning in the recently-concluded Delhi assembly polls. After resigning, Sidhu was seen for the first time in public on November 9 when he was among the first all-party delegation of 500 pilgrims from India that reached Pakistan's Kartarpur to pay obeisance at the shrine of Guru Nanak Dev, the founder of Sikhism, after the opening of the historic corridor between the two countries. At that time, Sidhu had made a mark for himself with the Sikh population and is being seen as a face that can stabilize the party's wobbly ship in the rough political waters. Only this month, Sidhu made a public appearance in a cultural event attended by his political rival and SAD MLA Bikram Singh Majithia, seen exchanging pleasantries with Akali veteran and SAD Taksali leader Ranjit Singh Brahmputra, and chatting with the Congress MP from Amritsar Gurjit Singh Aujla. Sidhu has also been absenting himself from the session of Punjab Vidhan Sabha besides skipping public and party meetings ever since he resigned. As Sidhu has been maintaining distance with the party and also limiting his public appearances since then, a section of party leaders wanted him to be back in the political mainstream, at least for the party. Reports were that the party high command wanted "sidelined" Sidhu to give his "due place". In fact, reports were that he would be appointed Deputy Chief Minister — something Capt Amarinder would stoutly oppose. Notably, owing to his cold war with Capt Amarinder in the run-up to 2019 Lok Sabha elections, Sidhu campaigned for the party in Punjab only on the last two days, that too when he addressed hundreds of rallies and public meetings across the nation. At the same time, the state Congress leaders welcomed the development. "It is a great thing that Sidhu has met the party chief. He met amidst rumours regarding Sidhu joining another party...but after this meeting, he has made it clear that Sidhu has committed his life to the Congress party and would stay with it," said Congress MLA Raj Kumar Verka. At the same time, Verka maintained that Sidhu has no differences with the Congress party or the Chief Minister. "It is on the Chief Minister to decide about who should be given what responsibility," he added. Agreeing that Chief Minister is the one to decide about his Cabinet, another MLA Amarinder Singh Raja Warring said that Cabinet reshuffle is Capt Amarinder's decision, or that of Punjab Congress president Sunil Jakhar or party chief Sonia Gandhi ji. "Cabinet reshuffle is required and it should be done on the basis of performance," he said, adding, "I don't believe that there would be any disagreement or opposition within the party if Sidhu is given any big position...Congress is a disciplined party". Showering praises on Sidhu, Warring said: "He is liked by people across the country, in Punjab. He has a big stature...Insaan ruthe naal wadda nahi hunda, imaan wadda hona chahida (A man is not big because of his status, integrity has to be impeccable), and he fits perfectly in that." Commending the development, Warring said: "I thank Sidhu for meeting the party leadership and sharing the Punjab road map. There is a requirement to improve our working. The government has done many works but a lot needs to be done. People have lot of expectations from us." "If this roadmap is regarding the people's expectations, it is really a good thing. I feel that it would benefit us in the times to come. We may also come to power again if we solve the people's issues, resolve people's problem, meet people's expectations and demands," said Warring adding that government should fulfill its all pre-poll promises it made with the people.

'Safety and convenience of passengers is prime priority of railways'

PNS ■ JABALPUR

Safety and convenience of passengers is the prime priority of railways and necessary steps for proper operation of trains have been taken, said General Manager West Central Railways Shailendra Singh while interacting with media persons on Thursday. He said that trains on Mumbai Delhi- via Kota railway track were running at 130 km/hr and now preparations are on for running trains at 130 km/hr on all tracks. Work is underway on Itarsi Allahabad route to increase the speed of the trains. After the foot over bridge incident at Bhopal railway station all foot over bridges at railway stations under Bhopal, Jabalpur and Kota divisions have been surveyed. In the survey issues with 25 foot over bridges have been found. Speaking over the work Singh said that for Jabalpur-Indore new railway track has been started and for the work from survey of land to different processes is done. The work for Indore -Budni track is under process and for the work token budget is provided. Talking on income he said that in comparison with zones income of West Central railway is better. For increasing the income railways is providing vacant land on rent. Sharing other details Singh said that board has to decide regarding making the Jabalpur Pune train daily. Electrification work between Itarsi- Jabalpur Katni-Satna and till Manikpur has been completed. The remaining electrification work between Katni- Satna has been fasten and would be completed by March this year.

AAP wants foreign breeds of cows sent to slaughter houses

MONIKA MALIK ■ CHANDIGARH

Punjab Vidhan Sabha on Thursday could not round up the stray cattle issue once again. Debating for three hours on the "sensitive" issue which had been discussed in the House several times before too, the lawmakers failed to arrive upon any decision or find a solution to the ever-growing menace that is claiming hundreds of human lives every year. Notwithstanding several legislators come up with workable suggestions to tackle the menace at least to some extent, but the issue remained inconclusive — just like the previous times. The discussion was held after the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) MLA Aman Arora, along with two other party MLAs, moved a non-official resolution suggesting sending the stray American breeds to slaughterhouses while sending desi cows to cow shelters as a measure to tackle the stray cattle menace after categorizing them on the basis of their DNA test. Arora's suggestion has attracted sharp criticism from not only the Congress, SAD, and the BJP MLAs, but also from the 'rebel' AAP MLAs. So much so, that SAD MLA NK Sharma had accused Arora of "hurting the sentiments of Hindu community". AAP's rebel MLA Kanwar Sandhu, condemning the suggestion, noticed its similarity with that of the controversial Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA). "They want to discriminate between the animals. Just like the CAA by the Centre, we are doing it with the animals," said Sandhu.

Even as all the legislators expressed their concern over the stray cattle menace, majority of them disagree with the three AAP MLAs — Aman Arora, Kultar Singh Sandhwan and Prof Baljinder Kaur — for suggesting that the State Government should take care of indigenous breed of cows and send the stray cattle of American and Holstein Friesians breeds to slaughterhouses to protect life, property and crops, underling that they would not support or favour killing cows. Arora, moving the resolution, claimed that there are 2.5 lakh stray cattle and they are responsible for the maximum number of fatal road accidents in the State, besides damage to standing crops worth Rs 200 crore. "Every year, 150 people lose their lives because of road accidents involving stray cattle," said Arora emphasizing that we need to differentiate between the two and send the European breed to slaughterhouses. He also suggested to remove superstition among the people by making them aware, form a public opinion by taking along the religious leaders, and form block and district level committees to tackle the menace from the ground level. Taking on the government for not utilizing cow cess being collected on nine items, Arora said that even cow boards did nothing till date. At the same time, Arora made it clear that he was not in favour of slaughtering any animal, but also sought a practical solution to the problem. Citing surveys, Prof Baljinder Kaur said that there was 38 percent increase in road accidents due to stray cattle while there was 39 percent increase in deaths on roads due to the menace. She also highlighted the despite High Court ruling, the government has failed to come up with a policy to compensate victims of accidents due to stray cattle. Congress MLA Amarinder Singh Raja Warring, saying that killing the cattle is no resolution, suggested formulation of law to impose a penalty or ensure punishment against those abandoning their cattle, besides maintaining a register of the number of cows and their owners. Terming AAP's resolution against "religion and society", SAD MLA Dr Sukhwinder Kumar said: "Sending stray animals to slaughterhouses is not a solution." BJP legislator Arun Narang said that he could never think of killing any animal and proposed that more funds should be provided to cow sheds in order take care of stray cattle. With few minutes left before adjournment of day's proceedings, Cabinet Minister Charanjit Singh Channi asked Arora to amend the non-official resolution by removing the suggestion of sending s t r a y c a t t l e of the foreign breed to slaughterhouses. Arora said that if the State Government could give a time-bound and viable solution to deal with the problem of stray cattle menace, there was no need to send stray cattle to slaughterhouses. However, just like the previous occasions, the issue remained indecisive.

Markets flooded with Made in India products this Holi

DIVYA MODI ■ RANCHI

With the impact of Coronavirus, the regular Chinese products seen in the market may go missing this Holi. However, products Made in India are ready to add to the colours during the festival in Ranchi. Normally traders start ordering Chinese colours and pichkaris sometime in the month of August and receive the supply about two months prior to the festival. With just about a fortnight left for Holi, there is a shortage of these products. The Indian products available in the market include colours-both natural or organic and synthetic, water guns, sprinklers, balloons and wigs. Mohit Garodia, a shop owner in Upper Bazaar, is very happy with the markets being full of Indian items for Holi. "Every year about 80 per cent of the items are imported from China. But this year not even five per cent of Chinese products are seen in the market. The market is flooded with products Made in India, which is great and it is fun to sell indigenous products. From colourful wigs, masks, hats, designer pichkaris, water tanks are all Indian." "There is absolutely no difference in the quality and price. So far, the customers also seem to be very happy with the products. People would generally opt for Chinese goods but this time due to the lack of it, they are discovering locally made goods," added Garodia. "Chinese products are quite attractive and children usually insist that their parents buy them the goods. But the Indian make is equally good and colourful. The lack of Chinese items will give a boon to the Indian economy and also introduce the customers to products Made in India.

Dehradun airport gets free Wi-Fi facility

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

The government has facilitated free Wi-Fi facility at the Dehradun airport. The Union minister of Communications and Electronics, Ravi Shankar Prasad said this after his arrival in Dehradun in the presence of Union minister Thawar Chand Gehlot, Uttarakhand Minister of State Dhan Singh Rawat and officials of the Bharat Sanchar Nigam Limited (BSNL).

At Dehradun Airport, the largest airport of the state, people can now avail of BSNL's Wi-Fi service free of cost. After getting this facility, the Dehradun airport has also become one of the airports in the nation where where people can avail of free Wi-Fi facility.

Prasad launched the Wi-Fi and Fiber To The Home (FTTH) service operated by BSNL at Dehradun airport.

At Dehradun Airport, the largest airport of the state, people can now avail of BSNL's Wi-Fi service free of cost

On this occasion, the Union Minister appreciated the beauty of the state. He said that the Dehradun airport director had informed him that 23 flights are operating from this airport daily. The free Wi-Fi facility comes at a time when the State government is about to complete three years in office and will greatly benefit the passengers travelling to and from this airport, he said. According to BSNL officials, the BSNL Bharat Fiber is a FTTH broadband service, in which users are being provided high speed broadband service and Wi-Fi service, in which users will get internet facility at speeds of up to 100 mbps.

Sonia-led team meets Prez, seeks Shah's resignation

Former Prime Minister Manmohan Singh addresses media after a delegation led by Congress party president Sonia Gandhi met President Ram Nath Kovind to seek normalcy and peace in violence-hit Delhi at Rashtrapati Bhawan in New Delhi on Thursday

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Congress chief Sonia Gandhi on Thursday urged President Ram Nath Kovind to call for Home Minister Amit Shah's resignation over his failure on Delhi communal violence and remind the Centre of its "raj dharma". Sonia led a delegation of party leaders including former Prime Minister Manmohan Singh and submitted a memorandum to Kovind.

"We call upon you and the constitutional office you hold, that the life, liberty and property of the citizens is preserved, secured and protected. You should immediately call for the removal of the home minister given the gross ineptitude, abdication of duty and his inability to contain the situation. We owe this to the citizens who have lost their loved ones, their homes and their livelihood and most of all their long cherished amity and brotherhood. We hope you will take decisive action on this matter,"

Sonia told the reporters outside Rashtrapati Bhawan after meeting the president.

Reading out parts of the memorandum that the party submitted to the president, Sonia said both the Delhi Government and the Centre remained "mute spectators" instead of trying to take remedial measures to control the situation.

The delegation included Leader of Opposition in Rajya Sabha Ghulam Nabi Azad, Ahmed Patel, P Chidambaram, KC Venugopal, Mallikarjuna Kharge, Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, Anand Sharma, AK Antony, Kumari Selja and Randeep Surjewala.

Questioning Shah's role, Sonia Gandhi asked where he was as the violence spread across northeast Delhi. "What was he preoccupied with since last Sunday that he was unable, apparently, to give his attention to these grave events? For that matter, the Delhi chief minister, and the newly elected Delhi government were also completely missing from the scene,"

CPM requests for all-party meeting

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The CPI(M) on Thursday urged Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal to take action against AAP councillor Tahir Hussain for his involvement in the riots in the national Capital.

In a letter to the CM, CPI(M) leaders Brinda Karat and KM Tewari also asked Kejriwal to call an all-party meeting in Delhi to bring communal harmony in the capital.

"We write to assure you of our Party's cooperation in efforts to bring peace and communal harmony to Delhi. We request you to urgently convene an all-party meeting in Delhi to decide how we can unitedly ensure communal harmony and peace in the Capital," said the CPI(M) leaders.

"In this context, video images in the public domain of an AAP councillor standing on the roof of his house while petrol bombs and stones are being thrown by people on the roof in his presence, are extremely disturbing. Immediate action must be taken against him by the police. Sanjay Singh, MP has made a welcome statement that no one involved in violence should be spared regardless of political colour or religion. It would also send a strong message to the people of Delhi if you as the head of AAP also took action against him at the organisational level.

Manmohan Singh, in his remarks to the media, said the Congress leaders conveyed to the president that what had happened in the last four days in the national capital was a matter of deep concern and national shame.

Sonia also said it was a "shameful indictment" of the Central government, the Home ministry and the Home minister himself, that the Delhi High Court had to step in (on Wednesday). It had to remind the Home ministry and the police of their principal duty to act against instigators, the rioters and those engaging in the acts of targeted violence, she said.

BJP accuses Cong, AAP of 'politicising' riots

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The BJP on Thursday accused the Congress and the AAP of "politicising" the riots in the national Capital and linked Congress president Sonia Gandhi's 'aar yaa paar' (fight to finish) comment in December last as the starting point of deliberate provocation for violence in the city.

Addressing a Press conference at the party office, senior BJP leader and Union Minister Prakash Javadekar said the Congress's demand for Union Home Minister Amit Shah's resignation was "petty politics" as several steps have already been taken to restore law and order in the Capital on the express instructions of Home Minister. He asserted that peace was restored in two days due to Shah's effective handling.

He accused Congress of instigating passions for violence and quoted Sonia and Priyanka Gandhi's comments on anti-CAA protests and also referred to senior Congress leaders' visits to Shaheen Bagh, the venue of 'dharna' against CAA for over 70-days.

The senior BJP leader also saw a pattern in Congress leaders' "unwillingness" to condemn controversial speeches of the likes of AIMIM leader Waris Pathan.

He said other political parties were silent on the attack on the policemen and on the death of Intelligence

Bureau staffer Ankit Sharma. "In such a situation, the duty of all political parties should be to consolidate peace," he said.

Taking on the AAP, which governs Delhi, Javadekar said that its MLAs should have worked for peace, but Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal identified riot victims by religion in the Assembly.

He alleged that attempts to instigate violence had been made for the last two months since Sonia Gandhi gave the call for 'fight to the finish' at a rally.

Javadekar said the BJP was working to restore peace and condemned the Congress, the AAP for doing politics over the violence that claimed 34 lives in northeast Delhi and left over 200 injured.

Govt should ensure peace in Delhi: Suresh Bhaiyyaji

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

In the backdrop of violence in Delhi which has, so far claimed 38 lives, RSS general secretary Suresh Bhaiyyaji Joshi on Thursday sought the Government to ensure peace is in Delhi. Talking to reporters in Nagpur, Joshi also said that nobody has the right to take law into their hands and that necessary action should be taken to restore law and order in the national capital. "The government should instill peace in areas where there is 'ashanti' (unrest)," the RSS functionary said.

Ministry rejects US Commission, Islamic body's remarks

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Taking exception to comments by a US Commission expressing grave concern over violence in Delhi and asking India to protect Muslims, New Delhi on Thursday termed such statements as "irresponsible" and said the remarks by the commission are "factually inaccurate, misleading and an attempt to politicise the issue." The external affairs ministry also hit out the Organisation of Islamic Organisation which also expressed concern over

Delhi violence.

The Indian reaction to the comments by the US Commission on International Religious Freedom (USCIRF) came a day after it expressed "grave concern" over the violence in Delhi and asked the Indian government to provide protection to people irrespective of their faith.

US presidential candidate Bernie Sanders and a number of other leading American lawmakers have also expressed concern over the clashes in several parts of Delhi in which at least 32 people have been killed.

"We have seen comments made by USCIRF, sections of the media and a few individuals regarding recent incidents of violence in Delhi. These are factually inaccurate and misleading, and appear to be aimed at politicising the issue," external affairs ministry spokesperson Raveesh Kumar said here.

Though the ministry did not clarify the individuals being referred to, it is being seen as a reference to US lawmakers critical of India on the issue of the Delhi violence.

Kumar said law enforcement agencies are working on the ground to prevent violence and ensure restoration of confidence and normalcy. "Senior representatives of the government have been involved in that process. The prime minister has publicly appealed for peace and brotherhood. We would urge that irresponsible comments are not made at this sensitive time," said Kumar.

The US Commission on Wednesday said in Washington "the ongoing violence we are witnessing in Delhi and the reported attacks against Muslims, their homes and shops, and their houses of worship are greatly disturbing."

"One of the essential duties of any responsible government is to provide protection and physical security for its citizens, regardless of faith," the USCIRF chair Tony Perkins said in a statement.

The Commission Commissioner Anurima Bhargava said the "brutal and unchecked violence" across Delhi cannot continue.

HC judge transfer aimed at saving some BJP netas: Cong

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Congress on Thursday alleged that the transfer of Delhi High Court Judge S Muralidhar was aimed at saving some BJP leaders in the Delhi violence case and exposed the Modi Government's "intimidation and vendetta politics" against the judiciary.

Congress said it seems those doing justice in country will now not be spared and the party alleged the government was "waging a battle of revenge" against the judiciary. Calling the transfer a classic case of "hit-and-run injustice" by the BJP Government, Congress chief spokesman Randeep Surjewala said the saffron party's "politics of revenge" has been exposed. He accused the BJP of attacking the impartiality of the judiciary.

Taking a dig at the government over Muralidhar's "sudden" transfer, former Congress chief Rahul Gandhi also tweeted, "Remembering the brave Judge Loya, who wasn't transferred." Special CBI judge BH Loya, who was hearing the high-profile

Justice S Muralidhar

Sohrabuddin Sheikh fake encounter case, died in allegedly mysterious circumstances on December 1, 2014.

Congress leader Priyanka Gandhi Vadra hit out at the government over the transfer, saying the Centre's attempts to "muzzle" justice and "break people's faith in an upright judiciary are deplorable".

"The midnight transfer of Justice Muralidhar isn't shocking given the current dispensation, but it is certainly sad and shameful," Priyanka Gandhi tweeted.

"Millions of Indians have faith in a resilient and upright

CPM terms Muralidhar's transfer selective response to his court orders

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The CPI(M) on Thursday said Justice S Muralidhar's transfer from the Delhi High Court was a "selective response" to his court orders in which he rapped the city police for "trying to shield" BJP leaders who made "hate speeches".

The CPI(M) Polit Bureau in statement demanded the government to keep the transfer order, notified late Wednesday night, in abeyance to reinforce the confidence of the people in the judicial system.

judiciary, the government's attempts to muzzle justice & break their faith are deplorable," the Congress general secretary said.

The notification of Justice

Justice Muralidhar was transferred to the Punjab and Haryana High Court, on a day a bench headed by him expressed "anguish" over the Delhi Police's "failure" to register FIRs against the alleged hate speeches made by BJP leaders Parvesh Verma, Kapil Mishra and Anurag Thakur. The CPI (M) said in a statement that the transfer was recommended by the Supreme Court collegium, but it has been protested against by the Dei High Court Bar Association for well-argued judicial-administrative considerations.

Cong playing politics on routine transfer: BJP

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Accusing the Congress of politicising a "routine transfer", the BJP on Thursday rubbished speculations on the transfer of High Court judge S Muralidhar saying it was done on the recommendations of the Supreme Court.

Stating this at a press conference here, Union Information and Broadcasting Minister Prakash Javadekar said the transfer orders were firmed up in February with the consent of the Judge.

Union Law Minister Ravi Shankar Prasad also rejected the allegation saying Justice Muralidhar was transferred on the recommendation of the Supreme Court collegium and accused the Congress of politicising a routine transfer.

He added that a "well-settled process" was followed in the transfer of Justice Muralidhar to the Punjab and Haryana High Court.

"By politicising a routine transfer, Congress has yet again displayed its scant regard for the judiciary," Prasad said in a series of tweets. His reaction came after the Congress alleged that Justice Muralidhar was transferred by the Government to save BJP leaders in the Delhi violence case.

"Transfer of Justice Muralidhar was done pursuant to the recommendation dated February 12 of the Supreme Court collegium headed by Chief Justice of India," the minister said.

He said a judge's consent is taken before transferring him or her. Continuing his attack on the opposition party, Prasad said the people of India have rejected the Congress and "hence it is hell bent on destroying the very institutions India cherishes by constantly attacking them".

Referring to a tweet by Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on the death of Judge Loya, the Union minister said the Loya judgement has been well-settled by the Supreme Court.

country has ever seen.

"Mr Prasad at the instance of Prime Minister Modi is hell-bent on destroying the independent institution of judiciary."

CBI brings back toddler, kidnaped by her own father, from Dubai

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The CBI on Thursday brought back a three-year-old girl from Dubai who was taken there by her father in violation of orders of Delhi High Court that is hearing a custody battle between the baby's parents.

The girl's father, Aman Lohia, had taken Baby Raina to Dubai amid a custody battle with his wife Kiran Kaur Lohia in the High Court that had asked him to deposit his passport with authorities to prevent him from leaving the country.

In a case against a High Court order, the Supreme Court had directed the CBI to visit Dubai to bring back the girl to India.

A team of CBI officials had recently gone to Dubai where it coordinated with local authorities to ensure the safe return of the girl and her father, officials said.

After the agency team arrived on Thursday morning, the CBI informed the apex court about the compliance of its orders, officials said adding the girl will be produced before the SC on Friday. The child is presently at her mother's home under the agency's care.

The dramatic developments of Thursday were a culmination of a six-month long trail of a defiant father who in a desperate move escaped to Dubai with his daughter claiming he was a "victim of gender bias" of courts and that it was the "love for his daughter" which directed his actions.

Aman Lohia, son of a noted businessman, was fighting a custody battle for his daughter Raina in the HC after separating from his wife, a Delhi-based dermatologist.

The high court had granted Raina's custody to the mother with a parenting plan, according to which, Aman Lohia could meet his daughter for some hours on three days of a week. The court also asked him to deposit his passport, which he complied, the officials said.

On August 24 last year, when the girl had come to meet Aman Lohia as per the parenting plan, he took her along with family confidant Pawan Kumar and maid Shiuratia Debi to Dubai using a circuitous route via Nepal and other gulf countries.

Considering "international ramifications", the Delhi High Court had handed over the probe to the CBI which had registered a case.

The Interpol had issued a 'Yellow Notice' for the girl on a CBI request. Yellow Notices are issued by the Interpol on the request of member countries to locate missing persons. The CBI had also filed a charge sheet on December 19 last year before a special court against Aman Lohia, his mother Meena Lohia, alleged accomplice Pawan Kumar and maid Shiuratia Debi Mahto, officials further said.

The agency has invoked Indian Penal Code provisions pertaining to criminal conspiracy, kidnapping from India and kidnapping from lawful guardianship among others against the businessman.

PLEA ON OFFENSE OF HATE SPEECH

New Delhi: A plea was filed in the Supreme Court on Thursday seeking direction to the Centre to implement a Law Commission's report which suggested changes in penal and procedural laws to effectively deal with the offense of hate speech.

SC UPHOLDS COMPULSORY RETIREMENT OF 2 JUDGES

New Delhi: The Supreme Court Thursday upheld the decision of Jharkhand HC granting compulsory retirement to two judicial officers including one who had used "highly sexist" remarks during his lectures to civil services probationers. The top court said the standard of integrity and probity expected from judicial officers, Arun Kumar Gupta and Raj Nandan Rai, is much higher than that expected from other officers.

ENVIRONMENT-FRIENDLY BATTERY

Govt's draft on battery waste management ready

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

As demand for environment-friendly battery-operated vehicles is all set to rise in the near future in India as a measure to cut down carbon footprints, the NDA Government has prepared draft rules for battery waste management that will make it mandatory for manufacturers and dealers to collect used batteries against the new ones they sell.

The proposed draft rules the 'Battery Waste Management Rules 2020' brings under its ambit all kind of batteries such as. The notification was issued by the Union Environment Ministry recently which has uploaded it on its website, seeking objection and suggestions from the stakeholders.

The Batteries (Management and Handling) Rules, 2001, had mentioned only lead-acid batteries.

The draft rules put the responsibility of collection of batteries and their safe transport to the recyclers on the manufacturers and dealers.

They will need to ensure that used batteries are sent only to the registered recyclers and that environment is not harmed during their transportation, as per the notification.

Under the new rules, battery dealers will have to issue purchase invoices (when they collect used batteries). Earlier, dealers were obliged to register with the state pollution control boards, but there was no mention of issuing purchase invoice for old batteries.

According to various reports, an estimated 2.7 billion pieces of dry cell batteries are consumed annually in India, but there is no collection mechanism to ensure that these batteries are safely transported to recyclers. Unsafe disposal of batteries can cause harmful metals like mercury and cadmium to leak out and enter the soil and water.

Discarded batteries, meanwhile, can be a valuable resource to recover highly useful metals in an environmentally-friendly manner.

However, these regulations will not be applicable on batteries used in equipment connected with the protection of the essential security interests such as arms, ammunition and war material, and intended specifically for military purposes; equipment designed to be sent into space (space exploration), emergency and alarm systems, emergency lighting and medical equipment.

As per Kenneth Research, the Indian electric vehicle infrastructure market is expected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CARG) of over 40 per cent during a forecast period 2019-2025.

Costlier casualty

The Delhi violence is serious because it shows that binaries have been deep-set and a panic economy has taken over

The story of the Delhi violence lies much beyond the headlines or the number of the dead. The terrifying visual of a man, whose photo of being beaten up by a violent mob simply because he wore a certain kind of clothes and sported a beard went viral, validated the pogrom-like sequence of events as the new normal and its casual acceptance in normal life. It's something as statistical as an accident on the crime charts. It is serious simply because it happened in Delhi, the nation's capital no less, and not in a far-flung town in India clouded by obscurantism. It is a test case that could get copied elsewhere and worse, be passed off as another law and order situation that can be tamped down by Section 144. When a judge like Justice Muralidhar, whom junior lawyers call an inspiration, gets transferred overnight for daring to question the Delhi police, then we should worry, with deep furrowed brows. Simply because an independent judiciary is the only hope for citizens seeking justice and rights that the Constitution guarantees to them. If this institution is broken, then our statute books mean nothing at all and public morality simply spins out of the orbit of our nation as we knew it. Till now. If north-east Delhi, where various communities have literally lived cheek by jowl for decades and more, is torn asunder by blood-curdling rage at the mere remark of an extremist, it shows that Indians, as a people, are harbouring a tinder box in their minds. This is a separatism that has nothing to do with the unresolved wounds of Partition. But an otherisation propaganda that has been bred systematically on a fertile ground of insecurities and economic denial. The polarisation of the mind is a far deadlier poison for it blunts the edge of humanity. It also means a subterranean conflict, which may bubble up any moment and because of its smouldering nature, engulf every other human possibility of reason, wisdom and compassion. If BJP motormouth and "go and kill" instigator Kapil Mishra has not been reined in despite protests from within his own party, it legitimises the politics of hate as a yielder of fast dividends and delegitimises public service. Politically, socially and culturally, there is a sudden vacuum which nobody wants to plunge into or commit to. That explains why the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP), despite winning a solid verdict, seems uncertain about the public stance it should take. It cannot stick its neck out simply because nobody, including the BJP, knows what shape panic can acquire in a vacuum. Prejudice has taken over national pride to such an extent that everybody listens to it, not without it.

The only certainty about these uncertain times is that it is not the best time to seek our place in the world. US lawmaker Bernie Sanders has expressed reservations and concern as has the US Commission on International Religious Freedom (USCIRF). Even UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres was "very saddened" by the casualties in Delhi. He called for maximum restraint and violence to be avoided. Although the Modi Government sought to describe such comments as "factually inaccurate and misleading," truth is the world doesn't expect India to indulge in genocidal politics. Especially, when we use the optics of the Sabarmati ashram for visiting dignitaries but forget the non-violence mantra preached by its original resident. When it comes to the Opposition, the BJP anyway wins the battle on competitive whataboutery. So when senior Congress leaders, led by party chief Sonia Gandhi, met President Ram Nath Kovind to demand the resignation of Home Minister Amit Shah over his "abdication of duty", the party reminded it of the anti-Sikh riots of 1984. BJP MP Pragya Singh Thakur, another motormouth who hasn't been reined in, asked the Congress to review its role during that period. Only RSS general secretary Suresh "Bhaiyyaji" Joshi advised the BJP that nobody had the right to take the law into their hands and that the Centre should ensure that peace is restored in Delhi. Placatory, high-sounding terms that are abstract enough to spare the BJP's extreme elements, all of whom have been birthed by its ideology. In the end, it is time for the civil movement to free itself from the piecemeal appropriation of causes and issues by political parties. Or be exploited by them. For Delhiites, who have found a new identity in a city that is a melting pot of all migrants, the time for denial is over. We cannot be sporting identity cards like a curfew pass. We must stand up and be counted.

Imperfect justice

Harvey Weinstein is convicted of third-degree rape and a criminal sexual act. He's staring at just 5 years

The battle of justice for women, who take on rich and powerful men for molestation, or worse rape, is long, lonely and hard. No matter in which part of the globe they are, whether it is India, Pakistan, the UK or even the biggest and one of the most technologically-advanced Western countries in the world, the US. What else justifies the fact that movie mogul Harvey Weinstein, who was accused by no less than 90 women of sex crimes, was convicted only in two cases whereas he was found guilty of raping one woman and committing a non-consensual sex act on another? It was imperfect justice because he was acquitted of the most serious charges — two counts of predatory sexual assault and one count of first-degree rape, which might have put him in a cell for the rest of his life. The jury only convicted him of third-degree rape and a first-degree criminal sexual act. So now he is looking at just five years in prison. And this was the man, who throughout his long career as a film producer, had silenced multiple accusations of rape and sexual assault with threats, denials, character assassinations, monetary settlements and Non-Disclosure Agreements. He had even scared off journalists who tried to expose his dastardly acts and bring him to justice, till tenacious journalists from the New York Times and the New Yorker brought him down with their exposés in 2017.

However, the verdict is a small victory for women around the world battling hard against their sexual predators. The Unnao rape victim, who accused former BJP MLA Kuldeep Singh Sengar of rape or the law student, who tried to bring former BJP MP Swami Chinmayanand to book for raping her repeatedly, would tell you at what personal peril they managed to be heard. Weinstein's conviction is also a defeat of the most belligerent victim-shaming and blaming tactics that are used by ruthless defence lawyers in such cases. More importantly, it broke the stereotype of what a "perfect victim" is as justice was given to the two women who did not end their relationship with their tormentor simply because he was who he was. It is a small measure of vindication for the six women who testified that Weinstein attacked and sought to intimidate them as they were put through the grinder by his lawyers. They can now feel proud of the part they played in getting the predator put behind bars, where he belongs. It is also a victory for the #MeToo movement, which was fast classified as a fad than a cause.

Some hard, home truths

It is an irony of our times that the very Government, which promised to protect the country from any divisive internal or external force, has failed to fulfill its duties

AJOY KUMAR

When the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) was voted to power in 2014 and then even more resoundingly in 2019, one of the pillars that the party sought to stand on was its claim that Prime Minister Narendra Modi will represent a strong Government and that it will protect the country from any divisive internal or external force. It is this assurance that forms the backdrop of the now-infamous belief that the Prime Minister's "56-inch chest" will provide India with a protective shield. Events that unfolded in Delhi over the past week, where clashes broke out between communities that led to the killing of 35 people (at the time of writing), have thrown cold water over the Prime Minister's hollow claims of leading a strong Government.

In fact, there will be few instances in the history of independent India where a citizen has felt more unsafe than he/she does right now. Delhi is in the midst of its worst riots since 1984. And as relevant authorities examine who exactly is to be blamed for the violence that has been unleashed, there are some issues that are indisputable and require some tough answers.

The first is, how did such a riot take place, that, too, in the capital city? Delhi is not just the capital of this country but is also home to India's most well-funded and trained police force. Let this sink in. Theoretically speaking, this means that the Delhi police, which functions under the Central Government that is controlled by the BJP and more specifically comes under the direct supervision of Union Home Minister Amit Shah, is India's best equipped police force. This means that in terms of numbers and assistance, compared to other forces across the country, the law and order situation in Delhi could not have been better protected. Well, hypothetically speaking, at least.

In addition to this, Delhi is also the centre for all intelligence agencies in the country. It is home to several intelligence bodies, whose job includes to be alert about all possible acts of violence or riots that may erupt in the country. But the intelligence bodies and the police force have failed to prevent violence in not more than a 10-km radius from Parliament. How does this make those residing in other parts of the country feel? If the Government could not stop acts of mass violence in places where its base is the strongest, how exactly does it plan to protect the rest of the country?

Let's once assume that this is not true. But the element of bias cannot be denied because as per reports, the Delhi police was sent at least six alerts on Sunday (February 23), asking for deployment to be stepped up after BJP leader Kapil Mishra called for a gathering in support of the Citizenship Act at Delhi's Maujpur. Why then was the police so helpless in preventing violence? This is a greater cause for concern because if the Delhi police is better equipped to tackle violence than any other police force in the country, why did it fail to deliver?

These are not the only questions over the conduct of the Delhi police. Why are videos of police personnel destroying CCTV cameras doing the rounds? The only way to get answers and to ensure that such riots do not happen again is to dig deep and find out as to what exactly happened. But how will the destruction of CCTV cameras help answer that question?

What I am concerned about and what should concern all of us is the establishment of truth and the delivery of justice to all those people who have been affected by this senseless violence. This can be done only by taking appropriate action against those involved in the violence. Perpetrators include leaders of political parties of every hue and any official, who allowed such violence to go unabated for three days.

The more serious concern is that slowly but steadily, we have reached this shameful place. There are a few reasons for this. One is the lack of resistance by the bureaucracy. I have some sympathy for the bureaucrats here though. Governments of the past have often shown — and the BJP Government has mastered — how adept they are in the art of abuse, twist and wrangle. This is in contrast to Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel's vision of the civil services being the "steel frame" of good governance. Bureaucrats are now routinely being threatened with transfer orders, raids by income tax authorities or the Enforcement Directorate or any other agency which is at the Centre's disposal with a degree of reckless abandon. I don't think we would have to go more than a few weeks behind to find an instance of such abuse. It has permeated all institutions, including the Election Commission of India.

“ IF THE STATE MACHINERY IS FAILING US AND INSTITUTIONS ARE DISPLAYING A LACK OF BACKBONE, THE ANSWER AND BURDEN (UNFORTUNATELY OR FORTUNATELY) FALL ON EVERYDAY PEOPLE. IN THIS FIGHT, THE ONLY THING WE MUST MAKE SURE IS THAT WE FIGHT, NOT WITH VIOLENCE, BUT WITH VIGOUR, VOICE AND VOTE TO UPHOLD THE RULE OF THE LAW ”

More recently came the brazen example of Justice S Muralidhar of the Delhi High Court, who received a presidential order transferring him to the Punjab and Haryana High Court. This order came a day later after he pulled up the Solicitor General and the Delhi police for inaction during the riots in north-east Delhi. Coming down heavily on the Delhi police, he pulled it up for its failure to register FIRs against alleged hate-speeches by three BJP leaders, Anurag Thakur, Kapil Mishra and other usual suspects from the BJP.

While pressure by a Government on the bureaucracy and the judiciary is not an invention of the BJP — there are obvious examples of the Emergency, 1984 and 2002 — rarely has there been as concerted an effort by a Government to undermine all institutions, all at once. Circumstances are not helped by members of these institutions either. So often, we see bureaucrats being asked to jump and respond back with, "How high?" In the judiciary, too, we have recently seen a sitting

Supreme Court judge lavish heavy praise on the Prime Minister even as serious allegations of abuse of State power were being examined by the very same court.

Such acts and comments by individuals in positions of authority — whether in the bureaucracy or in the judiciary or any other institution — have chilling effects on the citizens. It erodes their faith in the institutions and the Constitution. This poses a greater risk to India's democratic health in the long term than individual acts of abuse of power by the BJP that I have highlighted in this article.

So what do we do? If the State machinery is failing us and institutions are displaying a lack of backbone, the answer and burden (unfortunately or fortunately) fall on everyday people. Unfortunate because this is a great burden that the civil society must now discharge when its institutions appear to be found wanting. Fortunate because there is rarely a time in history when any Government or institution can suppress the will of the people. The only thing we must make sure is that we fight, not with violence, but with vigour, voice and vote to uphold the rule of the law and the Constitution. Victory then will be undeniable for everyone who wants to live in a unified, peaceful and prosperous democracy.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The science of prayer

Sir — Every year, the country celebrates February 28 as the National Science Day in remembrance of Dr CV Raman, who discovered the scattering of light, also known as the "Raman effect." It is fascinating that great scientists strongly believed in the power of prayer, which helped them discover the secrets of nature.

This reminds me of a story about a young businessman sharing a compartment on a train with an elderly gentleman. When he noticed that the old fellow was quietly and intently praying with his Rosary, the young man chided him for his "superstition" and told him that science had rendered the beliefs of religion irrelevant. "How did you come to discover that?" the old gentleman asked.

His companion didn't really know how to answer the question then and there, so he offered to send him a few texts and public lecture notes on the subject for his enlightenment. "What's your address?" he asked, "I'll send you the material via the post." The old man rummaged in

Amid chaos, heroes still exist

This refers to the editorial, "Delhi aflame" (February 26). Blood, violence and hate sum up the last few days in Delhi. This cauldron has been going on for four days and counting, and citizens, along with the rest of the country, can only helplessly look on in horror. The visuals have been so graphic that they would make one shut out the disturbing imagery and news headlines making their way onto the screen. But despite the flood of negativity, glimmers of hope remain.

Even as rioters and hateful, communal bigots give us a glimpse of India's ugliest underlying tendencies, there are still people in the city who can restore faith in humanity. Still, there are heroes as the city burns. These heroes are the people who have chosen to put humanity first at a time that demands that religion be prioritised. They are the people who stood up for their neighbours and fellow citizens, even while the State machinery failed to contain the bloodshed. They are those, who after the destruction had passed, were there to pick up the pieces, hand-in-hand with their neighbours and friends. They have also fought to ensure that daily life continues, despite the upheaval. Their actions are a soothing balm in these tumultuous times, a reminder that India and its children still remember and honour the spirit of the Constitution — one that promises to secure justice, liberty, equality and fraternity for its citizens.

the right intervention by stepping in to issue notices to the Delhi-based central medical institutions, Safdarjung Hospital and VMM College. They allegedly denied a teaching job to Dr Nonita Gangwani, an MD in physiology and a wheelchair user with 70 per cent disability due to multiple sclerosis, despite her clearing an exam and interview for the post. At a time when Prime Minister Narendra Modi has given special status to the physically challenged and called them Divyang to emphasise their special place in the society, such discrimination is condemnable. Action should be taken against the officials responsible.

Dirty political game

Sir — This refers to the editorial, "The court rap" (February 27). The violence in the capital, a result of political manoeuvres, was avoidable. It reflects badly not only on the police force but also on the functioning of the high echelons of bureaucracy. Keeping the Delhi police under the control of the Union Government has provided much space for shameless and dirty politics. To make governance accountable, the command of the police must be given to the State Government.

India's baptism by fire

The nation is passing through a transitional period in its history, from a feudal agricultural society to a modern industrial one

MARKANDEY KATJU

Few people in India or for that matter, outside the country, are able to understand what is happening in the nation, particularly after the recent mindless violence in the national Capital in which as many as 38 people lost their lives and a whopping 150 were injured, apart from the massive destruction of private and public property. So let me try and explain this as best as I can. India is passing through a transitional period in its history, from a feudal agricultural society, to a modern industrial one. At present it is not entirely feudal nor entirely modern but stuck somewhere in between. Though there was a limited degree of industrialisation in India after 1947, it was not complete, like in Western countries (or even anywhere near that of China). Feudal remnants in the form of casteism, communalism, religious bigotry, superstitions, gender discrimination and so on are still powerful and well-entrenched.

A transitional period is always a very painful time in history as it is full of turbulence and strife. If we read the history of Europe from the 16th to the 19th centuries, when Europe was passing through its transition from a feudal to modern society, we find it was full of turbulence, turmoil, wars, revolutions, chaotic conditions, intellectual ferment and so on. It was only after going through this fire that modern society emerged in Europe. At present, India is going through this fire and we are going through a very painful epoch, which might last another 15-20 years or so.

For what is a transitional period? It is a time when the old society is being totally uprooted and torn apart, when ancient values are being challenged and destroyed but new values are yet to be created. Can such a historical transition be achieved peacefully? One wishes it could be so. However, historical experience shows otherwise. The vested interests in the old order always put up a fierce resistance to any fundamental change in the political and social order, as that would endanger their interests. So this change can only be achieved by some kind of revolution.

People ask when and how such a revolution will come about in India. Who will be its leaders? No one can say for sure. One can never be rigid about historical forms. But this much can be said with certainty: Some kind of revolution is inevitable in India because everything has collapsed here. All our State institutions have become hollow and empty shells, while on the other hand the Indian economy is sinking and the people's distress is growing. Nature does not like a vacuum and chaos cannot continue forever. So some alternative to the present political and social system is bound to emerge.

At present we have a parliamentary democracy in our country but this runs largely on the basis of caste and communal vote banks. Casteism and communalism are feudal forces which must be destroyed if India is to progress. However, parliamentary democracy further entrenches them. So we have to have an alternative. What that alternative system will be has to be thought out by intellectuals and for this they have to use their creativity. Intellectuals are the eyes of society and without them a society is blind. However, the test of every political system or act is one and only one: Does it raise the standard of living of the people? Does it give them better lives?

Before an actual revolution there has to be an intellectual revolution. For instance, before the French Revolution of 1789 there were several decades of intellectual struggles by great thinkers like Voltaire, Rousseau and the other thinkers of the Enlightenment, who attacked the feudal system, religious bigotry and so on. This intellectual revolution is needed to change the mindsets of the masses who are at present steeped in feudal ideas and feudal practices.

So the present stage in Indian history is the pre-revolutionary stage, i.e. the stage of the intellectual revolution. All patriotic, broad-minded intellectuals must contribute to it. In particular, they must attack the poison of communalism which has gripped India, and which is being promoted and fostered by our medieval-minded political masters.

All forces which divide our people and spread religious or caste hatred must be strongly combated, for only a mighty united people's struggle can lead to the revolution which will transform India into a prosperous, highly developed and highly industrialised country. It will also get rid of the scourge of poverty, record and rising unemployment, appalling level of child malnourishment, almost total lack of proper healthcare and quality education for our masses, atrocities and discrimination against minorities and Dalits, widespread corruption, gender discrimination, female infanticide, child marriage farmers distress and so on, which have bedeviled Indian society for long.

Shouldering responsibility

South Asian nations face a water crisis which poses a threat to agriculture and industries. Given its increasing influence, is India willing to become a provider of water security in the region?

SANDEEP KUMAR DUBEY

On May 23, 2013, while speaking at the foundation stone-laying ceremony for the Indian National Defence University, Gurugram, the then Prime Minister Manmohan Singh exuded confidence that India was well-positioned and willing "to become a net provider of security" in its immediate region and beyond. In 2015, the Institute for Defence Studies and Analysis (IDSA), New Delhi, came out with an assessment report titled, India as a Security Provider. The report highlights India's growing military capabilities and its proactive responses to the human and non-human threats to the littoral nations of the Indian Ocean, which corroborates the country's image and positioning as a benign power and net security provider in the region. But the question here is: Is India also willing to play the role of net security provider when it comes to ensuring water security in the region? The above-mentioned IDSA report points out, "While traditional security threats limit India's role; cooperation on non-traditional threats opens up a new opportunity for India to play a regional role." Thus, it is a geostrategic imperative for India to focus on non-traditional security threats in the region emerging from sectors such as water and energy.

Today all the nations of South Asia face a water crisis in one form or another due to a range of factors — population growth, urbanisation, inefficient use, bad management and lack of governance, among others. The unfolding water crises pose a serious threat to sustainable development, agriculture and industries, poverty reduction and the ecosystem. Climate change has exacerbated the brewing water crises like never before. The United Nations Secretary General António Guterres has termed climate change as "the most systematic threat to humankind".

Water is a common resource and managing and governing it has always been a challenge at any scale, be it local or regional. A participatory robust institutional architecture for water governance is needed to manage and govern resources in a systematic and efficient way. Many of the important water bodies in South Asia are transboundary and thus their basins spread in more than one country. Integrated basin management would not be a reality without regional cooperation at the South Asian level.

Most of the water treaties in South Asia are bilateral in nature, which form the core of the South Asian political ecology of governance. Be it upper or lower riparian, nations in the region are apparently not content with the existing treaties. For example, India, an upper riparian nation, does not seem to be happy with the Indus Water Treaty with Pakistan, a lower riparian nation in this case. Between Bangladesh, a low riparian nation and India, the Teesta river issue still remains unresolved, with Dhaka asking for an increase in water share. People in Nepal, an upper riparian nation, think water treaties with India produces environmental injustices to the riverine people of Koshi river. Along with this kind of political ecology of the region, the issue of sovereignty in South Asia is a very sensitive topic. South Asia represents a typical case of the Westphalian concept of sovereignty, where each nation has exclusive sovereignty over its territory and the natural resources, including water. No nation would like to be seen as compromising its sovereignty. However in reality, in the face of globalisation and trade integration, each nation is bargaining its sovereignty with the other nations and regional and international actors. These two factors — the existing South Asian political ecology and the power politics played out in the name of sovereignty — both hinder and open up opportunities for regional cooperation at the same time. Some may think that regional cooperation compromises on the sovereignty of a State. However, the notion of sovereignty can be broadened to accommodate and facilitate the idea of cooperation, which is not about imposing suzerainty of one nation on another.

India has been quite active in the region in terms of coming to the rescue of its neighbours when they are in trouble. A case in point is when Maldives faced a water crisis in December 2014, India launched Operation NEER to immediately provide Maldives with it. The people and the Government of Maldives were appreciative of India's quick response and help. Having said that, one must be mindful that those were more of a response to a crisis that emerged and similar exercises could be useful to tackle future contingencies of that sort. However, water woes coupled with the effects of climate change have resulted in a distinct set of challenges that call for India's proactive role in the South Asian region. What is required today is a continuous regional cooperation in providing water security, which is at present marred by the absence of an institutional architecture for water governance in South Asia.

India should play a lead role in institutionalising regional cooperation by establishing a robust architecture. It has already set an example with the launch of South Asian Satellite in 2017, which Prime Minister Narendra Modi in his tweet termed as a "symbol of South Asian cooperation" and "a journey to build the most advanced frontier" of regional cooperation and partnership. With India looking for a larger regional role, it cannot afford to be a security consumer. It has to metamorphose itself into a credible security provider. Benjamin Kienzie, a faculty member of Defence Studies at King's College London, elucidates, "A security provider has a stronger interest in the immediate security of a third party, rather than in direct security gains for itself...the action of a security provider easily lead to a win-win situation...A security consumer, on the other hand, is primarily interested in its own security and is largely indistinct towards the security needs of third parties...In general, security consumers create easily win-lose situations..." Notwithstanding, he makes it clear that a security provider in no way compromises its own security interests.

Domestically India has made some progress to improve water governance. The then Ministry of Water Resources, River Development and Ganga Rejuvenation (now Ministry of Jal Shakti) constituted a committee led by Mihir Shah to suggest institutional reforms for water governance to deal with the water challenges that India faces in the 21st century. In July 2016, the Committee came out with a report titled, A 21st Century Institutional Architecture for India's Water Reforms. The report makes a number of critical suggestions to strengthen the governance of India's water resources. One of them is about its shape and structure. The report underlines that "polycentric governance regimes characterised by a distribution of power but effective coordination structures perform better." Considering water as one of the sectors most vulnerable to climate change, the report stressed that the ability to respond to it is strengthened by polycentric governance regimes.

The existing political ecology of South Asia makes the space of water resources a geopolitically contested zone. Governance is needed to protect the environment, to save the ecology and to manage water resources in an integrated and holistic manner. Polycentrism is inherent in South Asia and by default distribution of power is effected by the very nature of South Asian sovereignty. What is missing essentially is the effective coordination to realise and unlock water governance potential in the region. Effective coordination can be established only through a well-structured institutional architecture involving all the actors and stakeholders. With the emergence of non-State environmental actors and groups in the region, the role of governments has receded in water governance and self-organised governance networks have found prominence.

In their article "Reflections on Actor-Network Theory, Governance Networks, and Strategic Outcomes", Ludmilla Meyer Montenegro and Sergio Bulgacov caution that, "self-organised governance networks can impede (policy) implementation...or they can enhance the efficiency of policy implementation...Thus, it is important to determine how these networks are formed, who forms them and how they function, since they have such direct impacts on governance. The more we know about networks, the better we understand governance dynamics and its relationships with the Government, informal mechanisms, and private actors."

India should painstakingly study the governance networks that exist today in South Asia for conceptualising a regional institutional architecture for water governance in the region, to not repeat another SAARC which is failing under its burden.

Make nature's value visible

If bureaucrats could accept poverty-alleviation as a mainstream agenda to make a powerful diminution of rural poverty, accounting for the GDP of the poor can be the way forward

MEGHA JAIN

It has taken the world a while to reach the understanding that nature can never be taken for granted. Unfortunately, in India, this is not the case and utilisation of common natural resources like forests, green cover, oceans, rivers, fish stocks and so on, doesn't reflect anywhere in our Gross Domestic Product (GDP) accounting, as these are difficult to chronicle. This economic inconspicuousness of nature's services becomes an underlying concern, which has generated debate and discussions like

The Economics of Ecosystems and Biodiversity (TEEB) initiated by the United Nations in 2007. TEEB is a global initiative focussed on "making nature's value visible". Its main objective is to mainstream the value of biodiversity and ecosystem services into decision-making at all levels. It aims to achieve this goal by following a structured approach to valuation that helps decision-makers recognise the wide range of benefits provided by ecosystems and biodiversity, demonstrate their values in economic terms and where appropriate, capture them in decision-making.

Although conservationists like Pavan Sukhdev and Gretchen C Daily — pioneers in illuminating and quantifying the economic value of our natural environment — who are awarded with the Tyler Prize for Environmental Achievement in 2020, have clearly put forward the same opinion, acceptance remains elusive. The economic invisibility of nature to drive humanity and dependence upon market-based economic systems, remain at the heart of deserved recognition to account for nature in the GDP, especially in relation to the survival of marginalised sections of society. This invincibility somehow hampers the cognition to acknowledge the GDP of the poor via negative externalities. Often, in the process, the secondary sector (industrial) omits to make the required dent due to an invisible characteristic attached to the transformation, from sourcing of raw material to processing of finished produce.

Think-tanks and economists realised the requirement for true demonstration of environmental economics or "greenomics" for its invisible values much earlier and American biologist and philosopher Garrett Hardin's The tragedy of the commons is an exemplar to this. For the uninitiated, the tragedy of the commons is a situation in a shared-resource system where individual users, acting independently according to their own self-interest, behave contrary to the common good of all users by depleting or spoiling the shared resource through their collective action. It is quite worrisome that big business houses and people at large are not able to value the gratuitous support provided by nature due to imprudence and the incompetence to distinguish private goods from public goods.

Greenomics is all about economic factoring of public and non-market (those not made by man and not transacted in the market) goods in computation of the national domestic product of an economy. It is definitely essential (and poses a challenge in a way) to evaluate the intrinsic economic value, as most of the business minds have tried to comprehend today. One such endeavour comes through the Global Initiative for a Sustainable Tomorrow (GIST) platform to quantify the impact of negative externalities by allocating economic values to invisibles to make it a plausible option for inclusion by the bureaucrats and corporates.

The concept of GDP accounting of the poor appears to be crucial in that it has to blend sustainability along with big data that is accessible to all. The TEEB framework facilitates all of the above by merging it with data analytics, technology and sustainability. Certainly, it is not about placing a price on nature, rather it is about recognising, demonstrating and valuing nature's services to people. Nobody is buying or selling a cloud. The reality is that forests can generate rainfall that is vital for agricultural productivity. However, recognising and demonstrating that true scientific value is the reality now.

The idea propagated by TEEB's Indian members, "GDP of the poor", holds relevance especially in a fragile atmosphere of everlasting ecological uncertainties that undoubtedly will decide the future placement of the nation on the global map. Their report signals that the rural production system would suffer the most, given the destruction of our ecosystems. The question that we must ask ourselves is, that if nations like Vietnam, Indonesia and so on, can separately compute the GDP of the poor, why not India, despite three of the members on the board of the TEEB being Indian. Initiatives like zero-budget natural farming in Andhra Pradesh and Maharashtra are welcome and the need of the hour. If bureaucrats could accept poverty-alleviation as a mainstream agenda to make a powerful diminution of rural poverty, accounting for the GDP of the poor can be the way forward.

Resolution for caste census in Bihar again

Patna: The Bihar Assembly on Thursday unanimously passed a resolution for the second time in just over a year favouring a caste-based census in 2021.

Speaker Vijay Kumar Choudhary made the announcement in the assembly during the pre-lunch session. "This is an appropriate time when the House should convey its sentiments to the authorities concerned for a caste-based census... The proposed census 2021 be conducted on caste basis," Choudhary said.

He said Chief Minister Nitish Kumar had made a proposal for a similar resolution during the debate on adjournment motion on Tuesday on the Citizenship (Amendment) Act, National Register of Citizens and the National Population Register in the Assembly, which found support from all other political parties in the House. The Bihar Assembly had on February 18 last year passed a unanimous resolution for carrying out caste census. Caste-based census was conducted way back in 1931, the chief minister had said. PTI

CAA-NRC-NPR PMK hails Bihar House resolution against NRC

Chennai: NDA constituent PMK on Thursday welcomed the Bihar Assembly adopting an anti-NRC resolution and lauded the Tamil Nadu Government for saying such a move was under its consideration too.

Party founder S Ramadoss called for implementing the National Population Register as per the 2010 format, even as he wanted the Government to "allay fears" over NPR.

In a series of tweets, he urged the Tamil Nadu Government to take a leaf out of Bihar and pass an assembly resolution saying no to National Register of Citizens (NRC).

"Tamil Nadu should follow Bihar and adopt a resolution against NRC in the Assembly. Similarly, the NPR should also be as per the 2010 format," he said.

The Bihar assembly on Tuesday unanimously resolved that there was no need of NRC in the state and that the NPR exercise be done strictly according to the 2010 format.

On Wednesday, Tamil Nadu Chief Minister K Palaniswami had said aspects like an anti-NRC resolution were under the consideration of the state government. Terming Palaniswami's statement as the "right approach," Ramadoss also said "the government should allay" fears over NPR.

He also pointed out that Prime Minister Narendra Modi had said NRC was being implemented only in Assam and welcomed it. PTI

Owaisi's protest rally put off after request by cops in Maharashtra

Thane: A public rally against CAA, NRC and NPR, scheduled to be addressed by AIMIM chief Asaduddin Owaisi at Bhiwandi in Maharashtra's Thane district on Thursday evening, has been put off following a request by the police, an official said.

The police had requested the organisers to postpone the rally in view of the prevailing situation in the country, he said.

Owaisi was scheduled to address the rally at Parshuram Taware Stadium in Dhobi Talao area of Bhiwandi 6 pm onwards. The local unit of All India Majlis-e-Ittehad-ul-Muslimeen (AIMIM) had organised the rally.

However, the Bhiwada Police Station on Wednesday sent a letter to the party's local unit, urging it to postpone the event. "The police sent a letter to the organisers and requested them to postpone the public meeting considering the prevailing situation in the country and the organisers agreed to the request," DCP (Zone II) Rajkumar Shinde said. PTI

Bangla student asked to leave India for 'anti-Govt' activities

Kolkata: A Bangladeshi student of Visva Bharati University has been asked by the Home Ministry to leave the country for reportedly engaging in "anti-Government activities".

Afsara Anika Meem, an undergraduate student at the central university, has been served a 'Leave India Notice' by the Foreigners' Regional Registration Office, Kolkata — under the Ministry of Home Affairs.

The notice — which has asked Meem to leave India within 15 days from the date of its receipt — did not specify the nature of the "anti-India activities". The woman, who hails from Kustia district of Bangladesh, got enrolled in the Bachelor of Design course at the varsity in 2018. She received the notice dated February 14 on Wednesday, one of her friends said.

Meem had allegedly shared some posts on Facebook related to anti-CAA protests inside the campus in December, and has been trolled on social media since then, a member of the Students' Federation of India (SFI) told PTI.

The Bangladeshi student, who did not receive calls, told PTI in a WhatsApp message that "I am not in a State to talk about this now". A Bangladesh Deputy High Commission source in Kolkata said it is yet to receive any official intimation in this regard. Visva Bharati University authorities, too, could not be contacted for comments. The notice said Meem also committed visa violation. PTI

J&K bank: Fresh, transparent recruitment for 1,200 banking associates, 250 POs ordered

PNS ■ JAMMU

Ending the speculation over the fate of selection list of Jammu & Kashmir Bank, Probationary Officers and banking associates the UT Government of Jammu & Kashmir on Thursday went ahead and scrapped the entire recruitment process initiated in 2018.

The Administrative Council which met under the chairmanship of the Lieutenant Governor G.C. Murmu in Jammu also directed the Finance Department to advise J&K Bank to initiate a fresh, fair, norm based and transparent recruitment for 250 Probationary Officers and 1200 banking Associates in the J&K Bank through the IBPS. This was stated by Principal Secretary Planning, Development and Monitoring, Rohit Kansal at an evening press conference.

Addressing media, Rohit Kansal also informed that various legal infirmities had been pointed out in the ongoing recruitment process. As a result of the ongoing process of recruitment for these posts by this bank shall stand scrapped," he said and added that the bank is being advised to ensure that all applicants eligible in the last recruitment which has been cancelled shall be eligible for the fresh recruitment also.

He added, "The entire recruitment process will be completed by on a fast track basis within three months. The detailed modalities and announcements in this regard will be finalized by the bank in its next board meeting.

Among other important decisions, the Government also announced new amnesty scheme for power consumers across UT of J&K. The amnesty scheme for the power consumers will come into effect from March 1, 2020. "It decided that as a welfare measure and in order to give an opportunity to power consumers to prevent disconnection of their connections and to facilitate easy payment, the amnesty scheme envisages payment of arrears in three easy instalments," he announced. It is estimated that waiver of penalties and interests will cost around ₹600 crore to the government as against total pending dues of ₹3,000 crore," he said.

MAHA ASSEMBLY Naseem Khan demands resolution against NPR

Mumbai: Former Maharashtra Minister and Congress leader Naseem Khan on Thursday demanded that the Maharashtra Assembly pass a resolution against the implementation of National Population Register (NPR).

Speaking to reporters after meeting Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray and Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar, Khan said the BJP, which shares power with the JD(U) in Bihar had supported the resolution against NPR in that State's Assembly.

"I demanded that census be conducted as per the 2010 rules and not an NPR exercise, as it is the first step to the National Register of Citizens, in which people, especially the poor, will be affected," he said.

Khan said the Chief Minister had assured him that he would seek information on the issue, discuss with the concerned authorities before taking a decision. PTI

Uproar over Act in UP Assembly

Lucknow: Uttar Pradesh Assembly on Thursday witnessed noisy scenes after Parliamentary Affairs Minister Suresh Khanna accused the Opposition of creating anarchy in the State by supporting anti-CAA protesters.

Khanna made the allegation during a heated exchange with Leader of Opposition Ram Govind Chaudhary, who earlier said the Minister had ignored a question raised by him on the Budget tabled in the House on February 18. Khanna, who is also the finance minister, had earlier finished his reply to the debate on the 2020-2021 budget.

With Chaudhary accusing Khanna of ignoring his question, the Minister took a dig at him over the Opposition leader's earlier statement outside the House that those sitting on anti-CAA dharna would be given pension.

This triggered a heated exchange between Khanna and Chaudhary with the later reiterating that the pension is given to patriots.

"Those struggling for restoration of democracy are given pension. We are also getting it as 'loktantra senanis' (those arrested during emergency)," Chaudhary said. Khanna at this asked what was there to oppose in the CAA. "The SP, BSP and Congress are trying to create anarchy in the State," he asserted. The Minister's remark triggered an uproar in the House with the Opposition members going on their feet and the ruling party members seen trying to shout them down. Chaudhary earlier accused the ruling party of pursuing the politics of dividing the society on Hindu-Muslim lines. PTI

PM Modi holds talks with Myanmar Prez, 10 pacts signed

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

With the focus on the socio-economic development of the southeast Asian nation, India and Myanmar on Thursday signed 10 agreements as Prime Minister Narendra Modi held wide-ranging talks with Myanmar President U Win Myint.

The Myanmar president, who arrived in India on Wednesday, received a ceremonial welcome at the Rashtrapati Bhavan. He and First Lady Daw Cho Cho were welcomed by President Ram Nath Kovind and PM Modi.

The Prime Minister and President Myint later held talks at Hyderabad House and 10 agreements were signed between the two countries. The focus of many agreements was on development projects under India's assistance, particularly in the conflict-torn Rakhine state.

The agreements included an MoU on 'Cooperation for Prevention of Trafficking in Persons; Rescue, Recovery, Repatriation and Re-Integration of Victims of Trafficking'. An agreement regarding Indian Grant Assistance for Implementation of Quick Impact Projects (QIP) was also signed between the two sides.

Three agreements for development projects in the conflict-torn Rakhine state were also signed during the president's visit.

The Rakhine state has witnessed a lot of violence in the past and scores of Rohingyas had fled the state facing persecution. The Myanmar President and his wife also paid respects to Mahatma Gandhi at Rajghat.

Create separate homeland for KPs in Valley: Panun Kashmir

PTI ■ JAMMU

Panun Kashmir, an organisation of displaced Kashmiri Pandits, on Thursday reiterated its demand for carving out a separate homeland with a Union Territory status for the rehabilitation of the community in the Valley.

It said a bill should be passed in Parliament to "recognise the genocide of Kashmiri Pandits in the valley".

"Neutralisation of Article 370 has made future reorganisation now legally very easy and creation of a union territory east and north of river Jhelum in Kashmir for the permanent rehabilitation of displaced Hindus of Kashmir a distinct possibility," a statement issued by Panun Kashmir leaders Ajay Chrungeo and Agnishekhar said. PTI

PM to lay foundation stone for 296-KM Bundelkhand E-way

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi will on Saturday lay the foundation stone for the 296-km-long Bundelkhand Expressway in Uttar Pradesh's Chitrakoot.

The expressway will be supplementing the nodes of the Uttar Pradesh Defence Industrial Corridor announced by the government in February 2018, a statement from the Prime Minister's Office (PMO) maintained on Thursday.

The Uttar Pradesh Government is constructing the Bundelkhand Expressway, which will pass through Chitrakoot, Banda, Hamirpur and Jalaun districts.

The expressway will link the Bundelkhand area to the national capital through the Agra-Lucknow Expressway and the Yamuna Expressway. The prime minister will also be launching 10,000 farmers' producer organisations all over the country at Chitrakoot on that day.

Nearly 86 per cent of farmers are small and marginal with average land holdings in the country being less than 1.1 hectare. These small, marginal and landless farmers face tremendous challenges during agriculture production phase such as access to technology, quality seed, fertilisers and pesticides, including requisite finances.

They also face tremendous challenges in marketing their produce due to lack of economic strength, the statement pointed out. FPOs (Farmer Producer Organisations) help in collectivisation of such farmers in order to give them the collective strength to deal with such issues.

Members of the FPO will manage their activities together in the organisation to get better access to technology, input, finance and market for faster enhancement of their income.

"Though the report of 'Doubling of Farmer's Income' recommended formation of 7,000 FPOs by 2022 towards convergence of efforts for doubling farmers' income, the central government announced the creation of 10,000 new FPOs to ensure economies of scale for farmers over the next five years," it said. In Allahabad, Modi will be distributing assistive aids and devices to senior citizens, under the Rashtriya Vayoshri Yojana, and people with disabilities, under the ADIP scheme, at a mega distribution camp.

This is the biggest ever distribution camp being held in the country in terms of the number of beneficiaries covered, number of appliances distributed and value of aids and appliances distributed, the statement said. At the camp, over 56,000 assistive aids and devices of different types will be distributed free of cost to more than 26,000 of beneficiaries. The cost of the aids and devices is over ₹19 crore, it said.

2018 BHIMA-KOREGAON VIOLENCE

348 cases withdrawn so far: Anil

Maha also withdraws 460 cases booked for demanding Maratha reservations

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

The Maharashtra Government has withdrawn 348 cases registered in connection with the 2018 Bhima-Koregaon violence and 460 cases booked during the various agitations demanding Maratha reservations, Home Minister Anil Deshmukh informed the State Legislative Council here on Thursday.

Replying to a question in the upper house of the Maharashtra Legislature, Deshmukh said: "Out of the total 649 cases registered in connection with the Bhima-Koregaon violence, the State Government has withdrawn 348 cases. Similarly, 460 cases out of the total 548 cases registered during agitations demanding Maratha reservations."

Deshmukh said that the process of withdrawing cases in connection with the Bhima-Koregaon violence was continuing. "The cases that we intend to withdraw are all of minor nature. However, we will not withdraw cases registered for destruction of property and assault on police officials in connection with Bhima-Koregaon violence," the minister said.

Slamming the previous Devendra Fadnavis government for carrying out an improper investigation into the Bhima-Koregaon case, Deshmukh said: "The state government may have handed over the case to the National Investigation Agency (NIA), but the state government will order a probe into the Bhima-Koregaon case under the Bombay Police Act, 1951 or section 10 of the NIA Act, 2008".

Deshmukh also came down heavily on the previous BJP-led government for dubbing the activists who were vociferous critics of the ruling BJP and Modi government at the Centre, as "urban naxals".

The minister said that despite a directive issued by Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray on December 2 to withdraw all cases filed against protesters who had opposed the proposed oil refinery and petrochemicals complex at Nanar in Rajapur taluka of Ratnagiri district, "only three cases" had so far been withdrawn. Deshmukh's statement about his plans to order a fresh investigation into the Bhima-Koregaon violence case should be seen in the context of chief minister Uddhav Thackeray's decision to let the NIA take over the investigations into the 2018 Bhima-Koregaon-Elgaar Parishad case.

Deshmukh had said early this month that the State Home Ministry was seeking legal opinion before going ahead with its plan to order a fresh probe into the Bhima-Koregaon-Elgaar Parishad case under section 10 of the NIA Act. "The Maharashtra government may have let the NIA carry out the investigations in the Bhima-Koregaon-Elgaar Parishad case to the NIA, but we will seek a legal opinion if we can institute an SIT to investigate the case," the minister had said.

If the NCP—which holds the Home portfolio in the state—decides to go ahead with the SIT probe into the Bhima-Koregaon-Elgaar Parishad case, it will send a clear cut message to its ruling ally—Shiv Sena that the chief minister—can ill-afford to "overrule" his party's allies in the MVA on crucial matters like the one in the case. Simultaneously, the NCP is bound to trigger a confrontation between the State and Centre over a parallel probe on the Bhima-Koregaon-Elgaar Parishad case.

DELHI VIOLENCE

Political parties to pick issue for Bengal civic polls

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

Delhi mayhem may polarise Bengal municipal elections in a big way. There are reports that the political parties of the State are planning to 'utilise' Delhi riots as an issue to influence the voters in the upcoming municipal elections.

According to sources in the BJP local leaders and workers have been asked to stage local level meeting and place the party's views not only on its development plans but also the tumultuous situation in the National Capital and the groups responsible for it.

"We will tell the truth to the people as to what happened in Delhi. How things were planned to defame India during President Trump's visit. The politically educated people of Bengal must know about the reality as the opposition parties are running a hate campaign in the media accusing the Hindus of perpetrating the riots which is not the real side of the story," said a senior leader of the State committee accusing the rival community for holding the Capital to ransom.

"Is the central Government a fool to embarrass itself by inciting riots when President Trump is present. Is the BJP so immature as not to understand how Pakistan will take mileage out of the situation. In fact it is the traitors of the nation who have organized the riots to defame India... The Delhi Police in fact has exercised great restraint in not opening fire in many places just because our Government has great regard for the minorities unlike Pakistan," another BJP leader said. This leader, and a party candidate in the Lok Sabha elections was himself accused of giving inflammatory speeches during campaigning.

On whether the BJP will go to people with an intent of polarizing the atmosphere the leader said "the atmosphere has already been polarized as the Hindus have awakened and learnt to assert their rights. If some people think that speaking the plain truth is polarization, then so be it."

The Trinamool Congress on the other hand was less vocal while its leaders said the people will be told as to how the BJP was trying to divide India along communal lines.

"It is not only Pakistan which is trying to divide India but it is also the BJP which is dividing the country by playing into the hands of Pakistan," a senior TMC leader and a Minister said adding his party would go to the people with the report card containing what Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee has done for the State in the past nine years.

"And if the BJP tries to communalise the atmosphere then we will not let them do that. Rather we will use the situation to expose their communal plans," the Minister said adding definitely Delhi riots would be raised during the election campaign but to tell how BJP and Hindutva goons applied the Gujarat model in Delhi to break the society along communal lines. CPI(M)'s Sujan Chakrabarty, a party central committee member however accused both the parties for being "complementary to each other."

Akhilesh: BJP responsible for violence

Sitapur (UP): Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav on Thursday blamed the BJP for the communal violence in the national capital, saying this is their "Gujarat model", and alleged that the saffron party does politics "by spreading hatred".

The death toll in the violence under the Citizenship (Amendment) Act in areas in northeast Delhi increased to 34 on Thursday, and over 200 people are injured.

"BJP is responsible for the riots. It's their Gujarat model, which is nothing but spreading hatred," Yadav said when asked about the violence in Delhi.

"When the US President was here and lakhs of policemen were deployed, how can a riot happen? Had the government and police wanted, the riots could not have happened," he said. PTI

Patil: Cases against Aarey protesters to be dropped

Mumbai: The cases filed against Aarey Metro car shed protesters will be withdrawn within a month, Maharashtra Minister Satej Patil said on Thursday.

Patil, the Minister of State for Home, made the remarks after meeting some of the protesters here.

There is a due process to withdraw the cases. I spoke to them (the protesters who met him on Thursday) on the issue. I assured them that the word we gave to them on behalf of the Maha Vikas Aghadi will be kept.

"The cases will be withdrawn in the coming one month. Patil told reporters outside the state legislature building in south Mumbai.

The Mumbai Police had filed cases against several protesters, including green activists, in October last year after they hit the streets to oppose felling of trees in the Aarey Colony, a green belt in suburban Goregaon, to make way for a car shed which is part of the metro-3 project. The Supreme Court ordered a stay on the de-forestation activity in the days that followed, but over 2,000 trees had already been cut down by authorities by then.

The Shiv Sena-led MVA government, which assumed office on November 28 last year, had in December announced withdrawal of the cases filed against metro car shed protesters. PTI

FADNAVIS' BANGLES REMARKS ROW Sena complains to RSS about Amruta's 'objectionable' remarks against Aditya

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

The controversy over a spat between the ruling Shiv Sena-NCP-Congress alliance and the Opposition BJP over former Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis' 'bangles' remark assumed a new dimension on Thursday, as a Sena leader complained to the RSS about 'objectionable' remarks by Fadnavis' wife Amruta against his party's leader and Minister Aditya Thackeray.

A day after Fadnavis' banker-wife Amruta came to the defence of her and hit out at Aditya through a tweet, president of the state-run Vasant Rao Naik Sheti Swavlamban Mission (VNSSM) Kishore Tiwari—in a letter written to RSS' general secretary Bhayyaji Joshi—objected to the term "cocooned worm" used by her to describe the Sena minister in her tweet put out on Wednesday.

Addressing a BJP workers rally held at Azad Maidan on Tuesday, Fadnavis had slammed the Sena for its failure to act against Pathan for his much-discussed "15 crore..." statement. "Uddhav Thackeray-led Shiv Sena may be wearing bangles but we are not. If someone says something then he will be given an answer in the same way. BJP has this much power."

Responding to Fadnavis' "bangles" comment, Aditya tweeted on Wednesday: "Shri @Dev_Fadnavi ji, normally I choose not to comment back. Kindly apologise abt bangles comment: bangles are worn by the strongest of all—the women. Politics can go on, but we need to change this discourse. Rather disgraceful coming from a fmr CM".

A couple of hours later, Fadnavis' banker-wife Amruta Fadnavis—who has of late been taking political stands on various issues and coming out in support of her former chief minister-husband—slammed Aditya through a tweet. "A cocooned worm will never understand the 'Pun' of life! It's meant to thrive on the glory of the silken life woven for its comfort by its ancestors @AUThackeray! Proud of ur struggles @Dev_Fadnavis & each and every hardworking member of @BJP4Maharashtra!", Amruta tweeted.

Tasking strong exception to Amruta's tweet, Tiwari stated in his letter to the RSS general secretary: "... celeb- banker Amrita Fadnavis sought to defend her husband (Devendra) by suggesting that Aditya was a 'cocooned worm' and she said 'A cocooned worm will never understand the 'Pun' of life! It's meant to thrive on the glory of the silken life woven for its comfort by its ancestors @AUThackeray! "

"This unwanted activism of both Devendra and Amruta is the main cause for souring of good relationship between BJP- Shiv Sena and due to over-confidence and arrogance, which is core cause of historic SS-NCP-INC mega alliance (sic)," Tiwari stated.

In his letter -- a copy of which he posted on his Facebook page, Tiwari said: "Amruta's unwanted political activism is beyond the understanding and culture of Indian culture as no opposition politician's spouses—husband/wife, anywhere all over India criticises Govt like this (No even the deserted Jadhobani!). There are examples like wives of L K Advani, Yeshwant Sinha, Jeswant Singh, Shatrungan Sinha, Arun Shourie etc do not do such things."

"Shiv Sena founder Balasaheb Thackeray's wife Meenatai Thackeray quietly functioned in shadow and her contribution came out after her sad demise... Same is the case of CM Uddhav's wife Rashmi, his cousin Raj T's wife Sharmila (who are) in background without making useless remarks and controversial gestures," Tiwari wrote.

Tiwari also took the examples of the wives of BJP leaders Amit Shah, Nitin Gadkari and Rajnath Singh who, he said, "don't go around abusing Sonia/Rahul or husbands of political rivals" "What's Amruta Fadnavis' hidden agenda? Is she trying to take over the state BJP which has no prominent women leader left now? Will she be acceptable to the BJP-RSS mindset? These are the questions being asked by the people," Tiwari stated.

Tiwari urged the RSS general secretary "to look into the matter and ensure that such unhappy womenfolk does not spell doom for BJP in 2024, in centre & State".

India evacuates 112 people from China, 124 from Japan

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

CORONAVIRUS

India on Thursday brought back 112 people from the coronavirus-hit Chinese city Wuhan and another group of 124 from Tokyo who were on board a cruise ship infected by the deadly virus. All the evacuees will undergo a 14-day quarantine in two batches at the ITBP and Army facilities in Chhawal and Manesar respectively here.

The Union Ministry of External Affairs said that AC-17 Globemaster III transport aircraft of Indian Air Force evacuated 76 Indians and 36 foreign nationals from Wuhan while an Air India flight brought back the group of 124 people from Tokyo.

The foreign national evacuated from Wuhan included 23 from Bangladesh, six from China, two each from Myanmar and Maldives and one each from South Africa, USA and Madagascar.

Besides 119 Indians, the people evacuated from Japan included two from Sri Lanka and one each from Nepal, South Africa and Peru. The group was among 3,711 people who were on board the coronavirus-infected Diamond Princess ship when it docked at the Yokohama port near Tokyo on February 3.

"In line with India's neighbourhood first policy and Indo-Pacific vision, the special flight also evacuated five foreign nationals—two Sri Lankans, one Nepalese, one South African and one Peruvian," MEA spokesman Raveesh Kumar said.

Three Indian crew members didn't board the Air India flight as they conveyed their wish to continue their stay on-board the cruise ship to complete the period of extended quarantine put in place by the Japanese government.

Out of the total 138 Indian nationals originally on-board Diamond Princess, 16 Indian crew members have tested positive for coronavirus and are receiving medical care at an onshore medical facility in Japan. They will undergo a 14-day quarantine at the facility set up by the Indian Army in Manesar. Earlier, India had evacuated around 650 Indians from Wuhan in two Air India flights. All these people later tested negative for the virus and were allowed to go home after a fortnight of quarantine.

"In all 723 Indian nationals and 43 foreign nationals have been evacuated from Wuhan, China in these three flights," an MEA statement said.

The AC-17 Globemaster flown to Wuhan on Wednesday had carried 15 tonnes of medical supplies for coronavirus-affected people in China.

On the medical supplies delivered by India to China, the MEA said they will help augment the country's efforts to control the coronavirus outbreak which has been declared as a public health emergency by the World Health Organisation. "The assistance is also a mark of friendship and solidarity from the people of India towards the people of China as the two countries also celebrate 70th anniversary of establishment of diplomatic relations this year," it said.

A team of doctors, paramedics and others will be present at the quarantine facility round-the-clock and the inmates will be provided facilities like food, bed and indoor entertainment to spend time, as per the statement.

Rallies in Kolkata

Kolkata: Appealing to people to save the Country from divisive forces, two separate rallies were taken out in Kolkata on Thursday by the Trinamool Congress's women's wing and the Congress-backed Chhatra Parishad over the communal violence in Delhi.

Thousands of women took part in the rally organised by the Trinamool Mahila Congress. It began at Hazra Crossing and culminated at the Gandhi statue in the Maidan area. The rallyists, led by state minister Chandrima Bhattacharya, shouted slogans targeting the "politics of polarisation and hatred professed by the Sangh Parivar". PTI

Maha: Bill making Marathi mandatory in schools OK'd

Mumbai: The Maharashtra Legislative Assembly on Thursday unanimously passed a bill which makes Marathi a compulsory subject across all schools in the state.

The development came on 'Marathi Bhasha Din' (Marathi language day) which is celebrated on February 27, the birth anniversary of poet and Jnanpith award winner late V V Shirwadkar.

The state Legislative Council had passed the legislation, titled 'Maharashtra Compulsory Teaching and Learning of Marathi Language in Schools Bill, 2020', on Wednesday.

Minister for Marathi Language Subhash Desai introduced the bill in the Lower House on Thursday.

Desai said the legislation was on the lines of laws in Telangana, Tamil Nadu, Kerala and Karnataka, and it makes teaching and studying Marathi compulsory in all schools (irrespective of the board to which they are affiliated).

Marathi will become a compulsory subject in all schools from standard 1st to 10th in a phased manner from the academic year 2020-2021, he said.

It will be introduced in the first and sixth standards from the coming academic year and extended to further classes in subsequent years. PTI

AGR CRISIS

COAI rings alarm bells

Asks Govt to ease terms for AGR dues' payment, cut in licence fee

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Industry body COAI has sent out a distress signal to the government seeking easier terms for payment of statutory dues by telcos, including extension of loans at lower rates to cover AGR liabilities, as also fast implementation of floor prices, to rescue the troubled sector.

With the telecom industry plunging into a deep, unprecedented crisis, the association has raised an alarm over banks' unwillingness to take any risk with regard to the sector, and asserted the "need to give a clear message to banks that government is there to support the sector."

"Banks are currently unwilling to take any risk with respect to the telecom sector and are constantly asking telecom service providers to reduce their exposures by refusing to issue new bank guarantees or even to renew bank guarantees," COAI Director General,

Rajan Mathews said in a letter to Telecom Secretary Anshu Prakash.

Cellular Operators' Association of India (COAI) has also said that the requirement of financial bank guarantees for securing licence fee payments should be done away with. In case Telecom Department is of the view that financial bank guarantees are needed, the same should be reduced to one quarter of licence fee, as per the industry body. COAI also sought an immediate cut in licence fee levy to three per cent from 8 per cent and reduction in spectrum usage charges.

Citing India's low average revenue per user compared to markets like China, Brazil and Russia, it further said data prices in India are a fraction of those in markets like the US, China, Germany, France and others.

"Therefore, floor pricing is imperative to ensure the sector is sustainable and in a position to bear the deferred spectrum and adjusted gross revenue (AGR) dues, while continuing to invest in world class networks," COAI said.

COAI's letter, dated

February 26, came even as Vodafone Idea has reportedly made it clear to the government that it won't be able to pay court-mandated AGR dues in entirety, unless a bailout is extended immediately.

In all, 15 telecom entities owe the Government ₹1.47 lakh crore in unpaid statutory dues — ₹92,642 crore in unpaid licence fee and another ₹55,054 crore in outstanding spectrum usage charges.

Of the estimated dues that include interest and penalty for late payments, Airtel and Vodafone Idea account for about 60 per cent.

These dues arose after the Supreme Court, in October last year, upheld the government's position on including revenue from non-core businesses in calculating the annual AGR of telecom companies, a share of which is paid as licence and spectrum fee to the exchequer.

The Supreme Court, earlier this month, rejected a plea by mobile carriers such as Bharti Airtel and Vodafone Idea for extension in the payment schedule and asked companies to deposit their past dues for spectrum and licences.

AGR-hit Voda Idea wants 7-8 times hike in mobile data tariffs

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Vodafone Idea has demanded fixing minimum tariffs for mobile data at ₹35 per GB, around 7-8 times of current prices, and for calls at 6 paise per minute along with monthly charges from April 1 to enable it pay statutory dues and make its business sustainable.

The loss-making telco is under pressure to clear adjusted gross revenue dues of more than ₹50,000 crore to comply with a Supreme Court order. The company has sought 18 years time to clear the dues, including a three-year moratorium on payment of interest and penalty, according to official sources.

"There are number of demands that Vodafone Idea has put across the government for its survival. The company wants minimum price of data should be fixed at ₹35 per gigabyte and minimum monthly connection charge at ₹50 from April 1, 2020. These are tough demands which is a problem for government to fulfil," an official told PTI on the condition of anonymity. Current mobile internet prices are in the range of ₹4-5 per GB. According to the source, Voda Idea wants minimum price of outgoing calls should be fixed at 6 paise per minute.

The demand to raise call and internet rates from Vodafone Idea comes within three months of company raising prices by up to 50 per cent.

"According to the company, increase in mobile call and data rates will help it generate revenue to the same level as Vodafone and Idea individually generated in 2015-16. The company has said that it will take three years to get to that level after tariff hike hence it has sought three-year moratorium for payment of AGR dues," the source said.

A Vodafone Idea spokesperson declined to comment on the matter. The Government levies licence fee and spectrum usage charge based on revenue earned by telecom companies.

Telecom companies and government had entered into a dispute over ascertaining revenue calculation.

Not in sound state; can meet liabilities only with Govt support: Voda Idea

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Troubled Vodafone Idea was written to the telecom department expressing its inability to pay full AGR dues unless the government takes urgent measures, including allowing staggered payment, reduction in levies and implementation of floor prices in the crisis-ridden sector.

The letter to the communications ministry comes at a time when the company is confronted with AGR dues of over ₹53,000 crore and has paid a mere 7 per cent of its liabilities so far.

Warning that it is "not in a sound financial state", Vodafone Idea said the company would be in a position to meet its liabilities only if the government initiates steps including allowing set offs for GST credit accumulated so far, and permitting staggered mechanism for payment of balance amount of interest, penalty, and interest on penalty. It said adjustment of GST credit due from the Government could help in meeting its AGR payment.

VIL, COAI push for urgent relief measures ahead of crucial DCC meet

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Vodafone Idea Ltd (VIL) has told the government that it is unable to pay Supreme Court mandated ₹53,000 crore dues and sought state support to survive the crisis, a contention that was supported by industry association COAI.

With the crucial meeting of DCC likely to be held on Friday to discuss relief measures for the AGR-hit industry, VIL has made a strong push for settling off ₹8,000 crore of GST credits and a three-year moratorium on payment of the remaining amount which should be staggered over 15 years at a simple interest rate of 6 per cent.

It has also sought drastic cut in licence fee and fixing of a minimum price of calls and data.

VIL, which had last week paid ₹3,500 crore out of the outstanding dues, in a letter to the Department of Telecommunications (DoT) said it is "not in a sound financial state" to settle the dues and sought "urgent support from the government".

Coronavirus may hit global GDP by over $250 bn: Industry body

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The coronavirus outbreak may negatively impact global growth by 30 basis points or $250 billion, industry body PHDCCI said on Thursday.

PHDCCI President DK Aggarwal said disruptions in the global supply chains will not only hit China's exports but also the exports of the importing countries as they import a large chunk of raw materials and intermediate goods from China while exporting to other respective destinations.

"At this juncture, we need to boost our domestic consumption demand and domestic capacities to mitigate the likely impact of coronavirus on global trade," said Aggarwal, adding that sectors such as pharmaceuticals, solar and iron and steel have been facing disruptions in imports of raw materials from China due to the outbreak of the virus.

According to Aggarwal, as China is a major player in global trade, contributing around 13 per cent in world merchandise exports.

Govt steadily moving towards less regressive tax system: Sitharaman

PIANS ■ GUWAHATI

The government was "steadily but clearly" moving towards a less regressive taxation system and removing the criminal angles which are unwanted in every Act dealing with tax issues, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman said on Thursday.

"Eventually, we hope to have in India a simplified taxation structure, completely reduced rates of taxation, and therefore an easy-to-comply system. So as regards taxation we went in that route."

"Now, if you notice, as we are talking of removing or reducing the personal income tax, we removed the dividend Distribution Tax totally. So every time we are taking a step towards simplifying, we are removing that which is seen as a double taxation, or a regressive taxation," Sitharaman said during an interaction with traders and industry representatives here on the Union Budget 2020-21.

The Finance Minister, who was accompanied by Finance

Secretary Rajeev Kumar, DEA Secretary Atanu Chakraborty, Revenue Secretary A.B. Pandey and SBI Chairman Rajnish Kumar, said it was a part of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's reform-mindedness when dealing with businesses.

"We are steadily but clearly moving towards less regressive system." Responding to queries from the businesspeople, she said it was also the government's clear cut policy to remove elements which introduce the criminality angle to even a civil omission or commission as regards business laws.

"So I think even within the first six months of the present tenure, we have, in one or two Acts, very clearly diluted the criminality angle and in some cases clearly removed them also."

"Even as we speak, there is work going on to look at the Companies Act to see what are the provisions in which criminalisation is coming up and we are trying to remove them," she said.

India Post Payments Bank now caters to 2 crore customers

PIANS ■ NEW DELHI

Union Communications Minister Ravi Shankar Prasad on Thursday announced that India Post Payments Bank (IPPB) now has 2 crore customers under its ambit.

"In August last year, IPPB had reached the landmark of 1 crore customers in just its first year of operations. The next 1 crore customers have been acquired and onboarded in just 5 months. On an average, IPPB has been opening/maintaining a run rate of 33 lakh accounts per quarter," an official statement said.

With the launch of Aadhaar Enabled Payment System (AePS) Services in September 2019, IPPB has now become the single largest platform in the country for providing interoperable banking services to the customers of any bank, it said, adding that with AePS services any common person with a bank account linked to Aadhaar can perform basic banking services such as cash withdrawals and balance enquiry irrespective of the bank they hold their account with.

India's gas demand at inflection point, to rise by 66% in 5 yrs

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

India's domestic gas demand is at an inflection point and is expected to see a 66 per cent volume growth over the next five years, primarily driven by sustained weak LNG prices, as per a report. Gas demand is expected to rise from 148 million standard cubic meters per day in 2018-19 to 250 mmscmd by FY25, Elara Securities said in a report.

The bulk of the incremental demand will come from city gas distribution (CGD) operations being rolled out in 400 districts. As much as 52 mmscmd of additional demand will come from retailing of CNG to automobiles and piped natural gas to industries and households, it said. Another 35 mmscmd is to come from the power sector and 15 mmscmd from fertilizer plants.

"Domestic gas demand is at an inflection point and we expect 66 per cent volume growth or 102 mmscmd over the next five years, given an environment of sustained weak LNG prices, owing to a global supply glut and muted demand from China, which has been aggravated by the coronavirus outbreak," it said.

Huawei to manufacture 5G equipment in France, says Chairman

Paris: Chinese telecom giant Huawei said on Thursday that it would begin manufacturing radio equipment for next-generation 5G networks in France. The 200-million-euro (USD 218-million) facility will employ 500 people and produce equipment for the European market, Huawei chairman Liang Hua told a press conference in Paris. The announcement comes two weeks after France said it would not bow to American pressure to exclude Huawei from supplying equipment for its 5G networks — a stance also taken by Britain.

PNB fraud: Sebi imposes ₹5-cr fine on Mehul Choksi, others

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Sebi on Thursday slapped a total fine of ₹5 crore on fugitive Mehul Choksi, Gitanjali Gems and another individual for violating various regulations, including listing norms, in connection with a massive fraud on state-run lender PNB. Choksi, promoter and managing director of Gitanjali Gems, is the maternal uncle of Nirav Modi, who is also facing charges for defrauding state-run Punjab National Bank (PNB) of over ₹14,000 crore. Both Choksi and Modi fled India after the PNB scam came to light in early 2018. While Choksi is said to be in Antigua, Modi is lodged in a British jail and has challenged India's extradition request.

In its order, Sebi said it is imposing a fine totalling ₹5 crore on Choksi, Gitanjali Gems and Dhanesh Sheth, the executive director of Gitanjali. "... The default is grave and the gravity of this matter cannot be ignored," Sebi said. It quoted a communication from PNB that it had reported to the RBI total fraud of over ₹11,394 crore in case of unauthorized issuance of LOUs, foreign letters of credit and inland letter of guarantees in the group accounts of Nirav Modi Group and Gitanjali Group and in the account of one Chandri Paper & Allied Products Pvt Ltd. The overall fraud size is said to be even larger at over ₹14,000 crore.

Trump faces credibility test as he plays down virus threat

Washington: President Donald Trump faces a critical personal challenge in grappling with the new coronavirus outbreak: asking Americans to believe him after he and some of his top advisers have contradicted federal scientists in playing down the threat.

Keenly aware of the stakes not just for public health but also his credibility, Trump conducted a lengthy press conference Wednesday evening aimed at reassuring everyone that he has the crisis well in hand.

Trump surrounded himself with his administration's top health experts. And he encouraged Americans to be prepared for the virus' potential spread.

But he continued to minimize the risk, saying the outbreak "may get a little bigger; it may not get bigger at all." And he continued to distance himself from the stated opinion of public health officials that it's inevitable the virus will spread within the United States.

As businesses, schools and people in general think about preparing, the X-factor may be

China death toll climbs to 2,744 amidst decline in cases

Beijing: The virulence of the novel coronavirus continues to show a declining trend in China which reported 29 new fatalities, the lowest in weeks, taking the death toll to 2,744 while the confirmed cases climbed to 78,497, officials said on Thursday.

The country's National Health Commission (NHC) said it received reports 433 new confirmed cases of the coronavirus infection and 29 deaths on an unpredictable president who has clashed repeatedly with scientists in his own administration and tends to see any crisis through the lens of his own reelection chances.

"I don't think it's inevitable," Trump said at the Wednesday from 31 provincial-level regions on the mainland. Among the deaths, 26 were from the epicentre of the virus Hubei province and its capital Wuhan and one each from Beijing, Heilongjiang and Henan, it said.

In Hubei province alone 2,641 people died due to the virus since it erupted in December last year including 2,104 fatalities in Wuhan. PTI news conference, where he announced Vice President Mike Pence would lead the administration's response to the outbreak. "I think it has a chance that it could get worse. There is a chance you can get fairly substantially worse. But

Iran's V-P, spokeswoman for 1979 hostage-takers infected with virus: Media

Dubai: A state-owned newspaper in Iran says Masoumeh Ebtekar, a vice president in the Islamic Republic and a spokeswoman for the 1979 hostage-takers, has the new coronavirus.

The report came from the English-language IRAN daily newspaper via its Twitter account.

Ebtekar was known during the hostage crisis as "Mary". The report comes as other top officials in Iran's Shiite theocracy have caught the virus. AFP nothing's inevitable." He also said he had recently learned that thousands die from the flu each year, contrasting that to the coronavirus.

Iran confirms 26 deaths: Ministry

Tehran: Iran has confirmed seven new deaths from coronavirus over the past 24 hours, the health ministry said Thursday, taking the overall toll to 26, the highest outside China.

An additional 106 confirmed infections took the total number of cases so far to 245, ministry spokesman Kianoush Jahanpour told a daily briefing. AFP to blame the media and Democrats for causing undue alarm and harming American financial markets.

JAPAN WOMAN TESTS POSITIVE FOR VIRUS AFTER 'RECOVERY'

Tokyo: A woman in Japan who contracted the new coronavirus and was released from hospital after recovering has tested positive again, officials said Thursday.

The case is the first time a patient apparently cleared of the virus has subsequently tested positive for it, a local official in Osaka said.

The woman in her 40s was first confirmed as infected with the coronavirus on January 29.

She was working as a guide on a tour bus with tourists from Wuhan, the epicentre of the outbreak, in January. The driver of the bus was also diagnosed with the virus.

After being discharged from hospital she tested negative for the virus on February 6, although she still had a cough at the time.

She had no symptoms a week later, but returned to the doctor on February 21 complaining of a sore throat and chest pains.

On Wednesday, she tested positive for the coronavirus for a second time, officials said. At least 186 people in Japan have so far contracted the virus, with four deaths in the country linked to the outbreak. AFP

Religious minorities continue to face violence in Pak: UN rights chief

Geneva: Religious minorities in Pakistan continue to face violence and repeated attacks on their places of worship and government's failure to amend the blasphemy law provisions led to violence against them, UN rights chief Michelle Bachelet said on Thursday.

Bachelet, the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights, briefing the ongoing 43rd Session of the Human Rights Council in Geneva on human rights developments around the world, mentioned the case of Junaid Hafeez, a university lecturer in Pakistan, who has been sentenced to death in December for blasphemy.

"Religious minorities in Pakistan continue to face violence, repeated attacks on their places of worship, and discrimination in law and practice," Bachelet said. "The Government, despite recommendations from international human rights mechanisms, has not amended or repealed blasphemy law provisions which have led to violence against religious minorities, as well as to arbitrary arrests and prosecution," the former Chilean president said in a statement on Pakistan's controversial blasphemy law. "The death penalty remains mandatory for blasphemy, and in December, the Multan Court sentenced Junaid Hafeez to death on a blasphemy charge, in contravention of international human rights law," she said. PTI

Mosquito quite powerful, don't let it eat into votes: Hasina

Dhaka: Bangladesh Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina on Thursday told her party leaders that the mosquito, despite being a small insect, is quite powerful and they should not allow it to take a toll on their popularity among voters.

Speaking at the oath-taking ceremony for the newly-elected mayors and councillors of Dhaka, Hasina told them to find ways to keep the mosquito to menace in check, bdnews24 news website reported.

"You must make sure the mosquito menace does not take a toll on your popularity and reduce the number of votes. Despite being a small insect, the mosquito is quite powerful," she said.

Hasina asked the public representatives to ensure equal services for all citizens and alleviate their sufferings by controlling the mosquito menace.

"Sometimes you confront multiple problems at the same time. Right now, we're facing the risks of coronavirus; dengue was another problem just days ago. We need to destroy the mosquito breeding grounds," she said.

Last year, Bangladesh faced its worst-ever dengue fever outbreak as hospitals were flooded with patients, putting a severe strain on the country's already overwhelmed medical system. PTI

Parl will pick new PM: Mahathir

Kuala Lumpur: Malaysia's interim leader Mahathir Mohamad on Thursday said Parliament will pick a new prime minister next week following the collapse of the ruling alliance and that snap elections will be called if the vote ends in an impasse.

Mahathir, who met the king earlier on Thursday, said the monarch couldn't find a candidate with a clear majority to lead the nation after consulting all 222 lawmakers over the last two days. As such, he said the king decided to have the lower house of Parliament vote on a new leader on March 2.

"If the lower house fails to find a person with the majority, then we will have to go for a snap election," he told a news conference.

A failed bid by Mahathir's supporters to form a new government without his designated successor, Anwar Ibrahim, and Mahathir's shock resignation on Monday broke apart the ruling alliance less than two years after it defeated a corruption-tainted coalition that had led the country for 61 years.

Both Mahathir and Anwar are vying for the premiership, renewing a political feud that stretches back more than two decades.

"The king is obviously being very cautious. He decided not to give Anwar or Mahathir to form a government and let the MPs decide," said James Chin, head of the Asia Institute at Australia's University of Tasmania. "This means horse trading will carry on all weekend until Monday morning."

Anwar was Mahathir's deputy in the 1990s during Mahathir's first stint as prime minister, but he was sacked following a power struggle and later jailed on sodomy and corruption charges that he said were trumped up.

Anwar led a reform movement that helped build a fledgling opposition but was jailed a second time for sodomy in 2014 in a move he said was aimed at killing his political career.

Mahathir, who retired in 2003 after 22 years in power, made a comeback in 2016, spurred by anger over a massive graft scandal involving a state investment fund. AP

German top court upholds headscarf ban for legal trainees

Berlin: Germany's highest court on Thursday upheld a ban on headscarves for Muslim trainee lawyers in courts, finding that the requirement of maintaining religious neutrality was justified.

The Federal Constitutional Court's ruling came after a Frankfurt-born Moroccan legal trainee filed a challenge to Hesse state's rules. In the western state, trainees who keep their headscarves on are not allowed to take on tasks in which they may be seen to be acting as representatives of the judiciary or the state. This means for instance that headscarf-wearing trainees are not allowed to sit on the judges' bench as they observe proceedings like other trainees, but would need to follow the process from the floor. AFP

UN demands 'unfettered access' for China Uighur region visit

Geneva: A team preparing for UN rights chief Michelle Bachelet's possible visit to the tightly-controlled Muslim-majority Chinese region of Xinjiang this year should be given "unfettered access", she said on Thursday.

In a speech in Geneva, Bachelet welcomed the invitation from China to tour the region but added: "We will continue to request unfettered access for an advance team in preparation for this proposed visit."

"We will seek to analyse in depth the human rights situation in China, including the situation of members of the Uighur minority," she said, addressing the UN Human Rights Council. AFP

Macron says France facing virus 'epidemic'

Paris: President Emmanuel Macron said on Thursday that France was preparing for a jump in the number of coronavirus cases, adding "we are going to have to deal with it as best we can."

"We are facing a crisis, an epidemic that is coming," Macron said while visiting staff at the La Pitie-Salpetriere hospital in Paris, where the first French person carrying the new coronavirus died Tuesday.

"We know that we're only at the beginning... We're going to try with all our caretakers to make the right decisions," Macron said alongside Health Minister Olivier Veran.

"You had a case here... I know this affected many of your teams," he said, pledging to address the crisis "truthfully" so that measures can be taken "calmly". France has reported 18 cases so far and two deaths, including an 80-year-old Chinese tourist who was the first casualty of the virus reported outside Asia. AFP

Japan PM calls for nationwide closure of schools over virus

Tokyo: Japan's Prime Minister Shinzo Abe on Thursday urged schools nationwide to close for several weeks to prevent the spread of the new coronavirus, as authorities reported the country's fourth death linked to the outbreak.

The move comes as crew members from the Diamond Princess, a coronavirus-stricken cruise ship quarantined off Japan, began leaving the vessel where more than 700 people have tested positive for the disease.

"The government considers the health and safety of children above anything else," Abe said. AFP

Trump mulls travel bans on Italy, S Korea

Washington: Donald Trump has said he was considering US travel restrictions on Italy and South Korea over coronavirus fears, adding the situation would not inevitably worsen in the United States.

The president's optimism about containing the pathogen contradicted a senior health official in his own administration and came as authorities said they had identified the first case of unknown origin in the United States. AFP

Saudi suspends entry for pilgrims

Riyadh: Saudi Arabia on Thursday suspended visas for visits to Islam's holiest sites for the "umrah" pilgrimage, an unprecedented move triggered by coronavirus fears that raises questions over the annual hajj.

The kingdom, which hosts millions of pilgrims every year in the cities of Mecca and Medina, also suspended visas for tourists from countries with reported infections as fears of a pandemic deepen.

Saudi Arabia, which so far has reported no cases of the virus but has expressed alarm over its spread in neighbouring countries, said the suspensions were temporary.

But it provided no timeframe for when they will be lifted, and the decision left tens of thousands of pilgrims preparing to visit the kingdom from around the world in limbo. AFP

Shafali's 46, bowler's economical spell help Harman & Co book last 4 place with narrow four-run win over White Ferns

PTI ■ MELBOURNE

India entered the semifinals of the women's T20 World Cup after Shafali Verma's 34-ball 46 followed by a superlative performance from the bowlers helped the team notch up a narrow four-run win over New Zealand here on Thursday.

Invited to bat, India posted a below-par 133 for eight in the group A match with Shafali top-scoring with a 34-ball 46 and Taniya Bhatia chipping in with a 25-ball 23.

They, however, produced a disciplined performance with the ball to restrict New Zealand to 129 for six and register their third successive win in the tournament and seal a last-four spot.

With this win, India topped Group A, having beaten Australia and Bangladesh in their last two outings.

"It is a great feeling when your team is performing like that," India skipper Harmanpreet Kaur said after the match.

"We did the same mistakes, we got a good start in the first 10 overs and we didn't carry the momentum. We did bowl well in patches and some times, we were not up to the mark and have to focus on those areas," she added.

Defending a below-par total, India introduced spin straight away but Deepti Sharma bled 12 runs with opener Rachel Priest (12) hitting her for two boundaries.

But experienced pacer Shikha Pandey removed Priest in the next over when she had her caught at mid wicket.

With Shikha and left-arm spinner Rajeshwari Gayakwad bowling in tandem, New Zealand played with caution to reach 28 for one.

Back into the attack, Deepti then cleaned up Bates with a beauty of a delivery as New Zealand slipped to 30 for two.

Poonam Yadav and Radha Yadav then mounted the pressure on the Kiwis and soon the Black Caps were 34 for 3 when the former dismissed skipper Sophie Devine (14).addy

Green (24) and Katey Martin (25) then tried to resurrect the innings with a 36-ball 43-run stand.

However, Gayakwad returned to remove Green, who danced down the pitch only to end up with an outside edge as Bhatia did the rest.

Radha then dismissed Martin to leave New Zealand at 90 for 5 in 16.3 overs.

Needing 44 off 21 balls, Kerr (34) blasted four boundaries to accumulate 18 runs in the penultimate over bowled by Poonam to bring the equation down to 16 off six balls.

Aus thrash B'desh

PTI ■ CANBERRA

Alyssa Healy and Beth Mooney hit attacking half-centuries in a dominating 151-run opening stand as Australia hammered Bangladesh by 86 runs in their ICC Women's T20 World Cup match, here on Thursday.

The partnership between Healy (83) and Mooney (81 not out) is Australia's highest for any wicket at the Women's T20 World Cup.

Australia's 189 for one, the highest total of the tournament, proved too much for Bangladesh who could manage only 103 for nine.

Wicket-keeper batswoman Taniya Bhatia says the Indian team has got better at reading and handling different situations, which was evident during the recent tri-series in Australia.

India on Thursday became the first team to seal a semifinal spot at the T20 World Cup following a narrow four-run win over New Zealand here.

"In the last 12 to 14 months, we have improved a lot as a unit. We're in a really positive position. We've been playing well ever since the tri-series. I think we've got a lot better as a team in working out how to handle and read situations well," Bhatia said at the post-match press conference.

"The results are in our favour, but we need to keep up the momentum. If we do that, we will do well and hopefully we can win the final," Bhatia added.

Bhatia is optimistic that their batters will definitely come good in the remaining matches of the tournament.

"We're playing well, it's just one or two odd games where our batters failed to perform. Shafali is giving us a good start and the rest of us batters will take up responsibility," she said.

Bhatia said she is open to bat at any position for the team's cause.

"I can bat well up the order and I know I'm capable of scoring runs there," she said.

India will play Sri Lanka in their last Group A game on Saturday.

Kiwis look to exploit sideways movement against Kohli

PTI ■ CHRISTCHURCH

Virat Kohli will be itching to make a comeback in the second Test and the best chance for New Zealand will be to exploit the sideways movement which can spell trouble for the Indian captain, feels opener Tom Latham.

Kohli had an indifferent tour of New Zealand so far. He was out for 2 and 19 in the first Test in Wellington.

"When Virat comes out to bat we will be ready. He is a quality player and there is a reason why he is up around that No 1 rank for such a period of time," Latham said at the media conference on Thursday.

"He has done it for long time and done it in all conditions. If the surface is conducive to sideways movement we will try and exploit that," said Latham.

Jasprit Bumrah and Mohammed Shami might have had a below par game in Wellington but Latham said they remain world class bowlers and the team would be certainly wary of them.

"We have played those guys really well in the first Test. But they are World class performers and we will be wary of them. Certainly they would be on top of their game and if we play well it will give us a good chance. We need to be consistent for long periods," he said.

Latham is sure that Neil Wagner's comeback will add firepower to the side.

"I haven't yet seen him but when he rocks up for training he will be absolutely fizzing up to get going and obviously he will be raring to go. He is been a quality performer for a number of years for us," Latham said.

The Hagley Oval surface will have bounce and Latham expects Wagner to be more than a handful.

"It's something that Neil has obviously been so good at for so long and he is second to none in terms of accuracy.

"He is a short guy and that makes him harder to play. If the surface is up for that plan he will be looking to go round with that."

The first day will be important reckoned Latham.

"Generally, it's a good surface and surfaces in NZ have been on the greener side at the start and then flatten out. So we need to do well on day one."

Aggressive intent & clear mindset against pace will help us: Rahane

CHRISTCHURCH: Ajinkya Rahane wants to take on the New Zealand pace battery with more intent in the second Test and his foolproof strategy includes countering the awkward angles which became a nightmare for Indian batsmen during the first Test.

Rahane, who top-scored with 46 in the first innings of the opening Test, is hopeful that a turnaround will happen on a green top at the Hagley Oval, which he reckons will be better for batting compared to the one they got in Wellington.

"I am not saying (we have to be) more aggressive but having that intent and clear mindset will help us," Rahane told reporters on Thursday.

New Zealand pacers Trent Boult, Tim Southee and Kyle Jamieson used the short ball liberally after coming wide of the crease with an angle that was disconcerting for the batsmen.

"I think they used that angle really well in Wellington. Bowling wide of the crease or from the centre, they changed angles while bowling the short balls. I think their plan was completely clear.

"As a batsman, if you going to think about a particular shot, then you need to back yourself and play that shot. You cannot doubt yourself. We need to forget what happened in Wellington," the Indian vice-captain said.

According to Rahane, the two net sessions at the Hagley Oval is being used to practice negating the awkward angles that Neil Wagner and company can create.

"That's what I said: try and learn what mistakes we did as a group, what can we learn. I think we have to practice those angles. We had a practice session and we have one more tomorrow. And you have to practice that and trust your ability in the middle," Rahane said in a reassuring tone.

While net sessions are important, it's the instincts in match situations that counts, he said.

"But to change or adjust those angles there are times you need to be instinctive while you are batting. It can mean standing on off-stump, or standing outside the crease or staying deep inside the crease - like if it is a pitch for cut shot then you can stand deeper in the crease. This is the mental side of the game," Rahane said.

"For me, as a batsman it is important you show your intent to the bowler, if you stand in one spot then the bowler doesn't need to change anything. These are small things we have been working on in practice and how to use the crease and the angles. Doesn't matter how much you practice you must trust or have the belief to be able to do it in the middle," he added.

JAFFER ADVISES INDIAN BATSMEN TO SCORE BIG

NAVI MUMBAI: Wasim Jaffer, a domestic cricket giant, says unless the Indian batsmen build on their starts and put a big total on the board, bouncing back in the Test series against New Zealand will be extremely difficult.

"Virat has a lean patch for a while, so I am expecting him to come back stronger. Pujara needs some runs under his belt. Most importantly they need to convert their starts into three figures, if that doesn't happen and if we don't put score of 350-400 runs then it is difficult," Jaffer told PTI.

"In 200-250 (runs) you can't win a Test match unless there is much help from the pitch. When we bat first or bat second, we need to score 400-450 runs," Jaffer said.

"They kept our run-rate in check and kept our batsmen under pressure for long periods. I felt that in the first innings the conditions were favourable for bowlers, but they worked out an strategy of bouncers and we should have batted better in the second innings. To get out both times under 200 is unlike the number one Test team," he said.

PRITHVI SKIPS PRACTICE WITH SWOLLEN FOOT

PTI ■ CHRISTCHURCH

Young opener Prithvi Shaw missed Thursday's training session due to a swelling on his left foot, increasing Indian team management's worries ahead of the second Test against New Zealand beginning on Saturday.

According to sources, Shaw will undergo a blood test on Thursday to ascertain the reason of the swelling.

In case the medical report is favourable, a call will be taken during Friday's practice session on his availability for the second Test. If Shaw is not comfortable while batting, he will not make it to the playing XI.

Shubman Gill had a good net session on Thursday and it is expected that he would be asked to open the innings alongside Mayank Agarwal if Shaw is unable to make it.

During Thursday's nets, head coach Ravi Shastri was seen paying extra attention to Gill's session. At one point, Shastri walked up to Gill and was seen giving some technical inputs about footwork to Gill and what's required to check his uppish drives.

The Indian team management is hopeful that the swelling will not be a serious concern for Shaw.

The Mumbai opener didn't even take part in the customary warm-up session where players had a good time playing touch rugby.

Shaw had a poor outing in the first Test in Wellington, getting dismissed cheaply in both the innings.

ATTACHMENT PARENTING IS VITAL

Children cannot handle or understand stress the way adults can. They just know when they want or need their parents. Make sure you are available as much as possible when the desire strikes them. We made sure our boys knew they were never an interruption and we were always there when needed. This meant building our schedule around time planned with them, writes TEAM VIVA

A relationship is defined as a connection between two people, whether by blood, marriage, or emotion. It's a rather perfunctory relationship that is built on blood only; a deeper and more fulfilling relationship is one built on emotion, even if its circumstances are based in blood. Building a meaningful relationship means emotionally connecting with the other person, getting to know and understand him or her.

Most parents want to develop a close, lasting bond with their children which go beyond the years a child lives in the home. Having a relationship with children which transcends time begins early in a child's life as the heart of the child bonds with the heart of the parent.

It is a great plus if they enjoy your hobbies, but you will have better success in connecting if you do the things with them they enjoy most. Don't try to create a clone of you. When they begin making choices for themselves, learn to love their activities and play times.

Children cannot handle or understand stress the way adults can. They just know when they want or need their parents. Make sure you are available as much as possible when the desire strikes them. We made sure our boys knew they were never an interruption and we were always there when needed. This meant building our schedule around time planned with them.

In a well-connected relationship between parent and child, there is a beautiful give-and-take and flow, a high level of trust, and genuine respect and in any relationship you want to build stronger, it is up to you to make the first move.

There are a couple of things that are often seen get in the way when a parent is trying to connect and reconnect with a child and build a stronger relationship. The first is the parent not honestly evaluating how supportive he or she is of connecting opportunities when they appear. Think about the flow of your relationship with your children as it sits right now.

IN A WELL-CONNECTED RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN PARENT AND CHILD, THERE IS A BEAUTIFUL GIVE-AND-TAKE AND FLOW, A HIGH LEVEL OF TRUST, AND GENUINE RESPECT AND IN ANY RELATIONSHIP YOU WANT TO BUILD STRONGER, IT IS UP TO YOU TO MAKE THE FIRST MOVE.

humour does she enjoy? What kind does she have? Does she have a favourite seat by the TV? Does she like to go out-and-about regularly or does she prefer spending time at home? If your child doesn't like apples, don't continue to offer him apples. Offer up his favourite seat if he comes to watch TV and you happen to be sitting there. Offer to take him to the park regularly if you know he likes to get out; and don't if you learn he does not. Don't offer advice while playing games together if you know he doesn't like that. Bring him his favourite snack, or pick him up a t-shirt you're quite sure he'll like as an impromptu gift. Show him that you understand him. To build a relationship with your child is to connect with him as he truly is, not with an idealised version of a child you have in your mind.

Your child wants to be just like you, so working together builds not only your relationship, but also confidence and competence. Making things together—cooking, baking, cleaning, washing dishes, setting the table and crafting particular objects with the recipient in mind are both bonding activities and a lot of fun. Simple activities, whether inside or outside, that have a work ethic can make your child feel that she is growing up to be just like you.

Parents sometimes find themselves worrying whether they're interfering too much or too little in their children's friendships. But a parent's relationship with his or her child is a child's first friendship, and may form the foundation for future relationships. New research suggests that a strong parent-child relationship in young children, and that kids who have secure attachments with their parents are more likely to be positive and friendly toward new friends.

A child develops his or her attachment style in the first year of life. Children whose parents sensitively and quickly respond to their children's needs are more likely to produce securely attached children. Researchers can evaluate a child's attachment style by watching how he or she reacts when the parent leaves the room and then returns.

Kids who had secure attachments to their parents seemed to like their peers more on the first meeting, even if the child being evaluated was prone to socially problematic behaviours such as anger. Researchers noted that securely attached children seemed more open to requests made by their peers, and that this effect was only undermined when the child's peer displayed high levels of anger.

Attachment continues to be an important element of children's health and well-being, and some parents have even adopted a parenting style called attachment parenting that advocates close contact with babies, extended breastfeeding, and co-sleeping. You do not have to commit to attachment parenting to help your child form strong attachments, though.

Respond quickly to his or her cries for help and attention-seeking behaviours, remain consistent, and avoid sudden displays of anger or frustration, touch your baby frequently, and hold him or her as much as you can, do not try to avoid "spoiling" your baby; this would not happen, talk to your baby and focus on making and sustaining eye contact and let your baby take the lead and assert his or her needs, rather than forcing certain play activities or emotional responses on him or her.

We sometimes had to gently guide them and we even distracted them from some friends, but we wanted them to love everyone. Be patient with them. They should not be expected to have the maturity of an adult yet. They will make mistakes and will not always make the decisions you want them to make. Help them form good values then honour their ability to make choices while you are still there to help them recover when they make bad ones. They'll need good decision making skills for a lifetime.

Gabriel Jesus hugs Kevin de Bruyne after scoring Manchester City opening goal

AFP ■ MADRID

Kevin de Bruyne orchestrated a dramatic Manchester City comeback on Wednesday as they stunned Real Madrid 2-1 at the Santiago Bernabeu to put one foot in the Champions League quarter-finals.

Madrid looked on course to edge a cagey contest after Isco's smart finish early in the second half, but De Bruyne teed up Gabriel Jesus in the 78th minute and then tucked away a penalty five minutes later.

A pulsating finish saw Sergio Ramos sent off for preventing Jesus from going clear and Madrids captain will now be banned for the second leg at the Etihad Stadium on March 17.

City's two away goals will make them heavy favourites to go through, even if manager Pep Guardiola was quick to discourage complacency.

"It's still not over," he said. "If there is one team that can overcome this it is this club (Real Madrid) with their experience and their history."

"We know the situation," said Real Madrid manager Zinedine Zidane. "We have to go there and win."

Madrid have now won only one of their last five games, with the

EIGHT MINUTE COLLAPSE

City score twice before Ramos sees Red in awful night for record champions

Clasico against Barcelona in La Liga to come on Sunday.

"We are on a bad run but we have to get ourselves out of it," said Zidane. "Sunday is a chance to change."

STRIKERS ON BENCH

Guardiola sprung a surprise by picking De Bruyne up front and leaving Raheem Sterling, Sergio Aguero and Fernandinho all on the bench.

"We played without a proper striker because of the way they defend," said Guardiola.

"They are so aggressive down the middle and when that happens you have to make the pitch wide."

His gamble paid off handsomely, even if Nicolas Otamendi made the mistake that led to Isco's opener while an injury to Aymeric Laporte meant Fernandinho had to be introduced midway through the first half.

Laporte must now be doubtful for Sunday's League Cup final against Aston Villa.

RAMOS RED

City enjoyed their best spell after the break. Casemiro carelessly conceded possession and De Bruyne tore away, feeding Mahrez, who cut in and curled wide. Jesus drove another shot at Courtois.

Zidane considered a change and Gareth Bale was warming up when Madrid took the lead. Otamendi failed to control a Rodri pass and Vinicius broke, with Kyle Walker and Fernandinho rushing to meet him.

They left Isco free behind them and Vinicius picked him out, giving the Spaniard a simple finish.

The hosts smelt an opportunity for a second as Dani Carvajal weaved through and Ramos's volley was deflected over by Fernandinho.

Bale came on for Madrid and Sterling for City. Shortly after, De Bruyne's clipped cross was too high

Lucas Tousart celebrates after scoring Lyon's opening goal against Juventus

Lyon roar on Tousart tunes

LYON: Cristiano Ronaldo drew a blank as a Lucas Tousart goal handed Lyon a surprise 1-0 win over Juventus in the first leg.

Midfielder Tousart netted in the 31st minute to give Lyon a lead to defend when they head to Turin for the return on March 17.

The goal came with Juventus defender Matthijs de Ligt off receiving treatment, but it was just reward for an excellent first half by a Lyon side enduring a mediocre campaign.

They then survived late Juventus pressure to claim their finest European result since defeating Manchester City in last season's group stage.

"It was a top-class first-half performance from us. It was much harder in the second half, but I was happy with how we hung in there," said Lyon coach Rudi Garcia.

"I said to the boys that when you're at home in the first leg it's very important not to concede, and now we need to go and score there. We must remain humble, it's only half-time."

Maurizio Sarri's side have genuine ambitions of winning a trophy that has evaded Juventus for almost a quarter of a century now, but they could not claim a precious away goal here, with Paulo Dybala seeing a late effort disallowed.

"In the first half it was not the Juve that we know. We didn't get going in attack. I am struggling to understand certain things," said Sarri, who thought his team could have had two penalties.

"We didn't do enough given this was a Champions League match but fortunately we still have 90 minutes to turn it around."

The match went ahead before a full house at the Groupama Stadium, including around 3,000 Juventus supporters allowed to attend despite calls from some French politicians to block their access amid fears about the spread of the coronavirus.

for Ramos at the back post and Jesus's header beat a weak right hand from Courtois to equalise.

Five minutes later, City completed the turnaround when Carvajal slid in late on Sterling and De Bruyne made no mistake from the spot.

Korea ask NRAI to clarify position on coronavirus

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The national shooting federation of South Korea, one of the global hotbeds of the deadly novel coronavirus, has asked its Indian counterpart to make its position clear on whether athletes from the East Asian country would be allowed at next month's ISSF World Cup here.

In a letter to National Rifle Association of India (NRAI) President Raninder Singh, Korea Shooting Federation Secretary General Yongjae Lee has said that shooters are keen to participate in the event from March 15 to 26.

"Currently, most of the Korean athletes are wishing to acquire Minimum Qualification Standard at the ISSF World Cup — New Delhi. However, there is a great deal of concern and worries among athletes and officials that they might not be able to participate," Lee said.

"Kindly state your position regarding COVID-19," he added.

Lee said the tickets for the athletes and officials have already been booked and their visa fees have also been paid.

The letter was prompted by a February 26 directive from the Indian Embassy there in which it was stated that people coming to India from Korea, Iran and Italy — all severely affected by the virus — after February 10 "may be quarantined for 14 days on arrival."

South Korea has more than 1700 confirmed cases of coronavirus and 13 people have so far died of the disease.

Meanwhile, Bahrain has become the latest country to pull out of the World Cup. China, Taiwan, Hong Kong, Macau, North Korea and Turkmenistan have already pulled out of the tournament due to the virus.

Rangers break Europe's knockout duck

AFP ■ GLASGOW

Steven Gerrard hailed a "faultless" Rangers performance as an impressive 1-0 victory at Braga on Wednesday booked their place in the last 16 of the Europa League, winning 4-2 on aggregate.

Gerrard has been critical of his side in recent weeks as they have fallen 12 points behind Celtic at the top of the Scottish Premiership.

But the former Liverpool captain was bursting with pride as Ryan Kent scored the only goal just after the hour mark in northern Portugal and the visitors should have scored many more.

"Super proud of the players. To a man tonight they were outstanding. I thought they were faultless, certainly out of possession," said Gerrard.

"This is no fluke. This has come from sheer hard graft."

Rangers were without top scorer Alfredo Morelos through suspension and the absence of the Colombian could have proved costly as they missed a host of big chances before the break.

Kent has been criticised for his lack of impact when Rangers have most needed their £7 million signing most of late.

However, the former Liverpool winger produced a big goal when he had too much pace for the Braga defence to latch onto a long ball before firing low into the far corner.

Rangers' first win in a European knockout tie for nine years means they will be in the hat for the last-16 draw today.

"We knew there was an opportunity," added Gerrard. "We need to enjoy tonight. We'll be really proud when the draw is made."

Dev, Vaishnavi book Paris tickets

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Young tennis players Dev V Javia and Vaishnavi Adkar emerged victorious at the Roland-Garros Junior Wild Card Series at the Delhi Lawn Tennis Association on Wednesday.

Tournament ambassador and 4-time Gland Slam champion Mary Pierce witnessed the action on the final day of the tournament and gave away the coveted trophies to the winners. The two players will now travel to Paris to compete against their counterparts from Mexico, Brazil and China in the Roland-Garros Junior Qualifiers with a shot to qualify for the main draw of the Roland-Garros Junior Tournament 2020.

In the Girls' category unseeded Vaishnavi Adkar and Sanjana Sirimalla pulled off upsets against the top seeds to reach the final. The two young players battled it out in a tense, three-setter which went down to the wire. After losing the first set 4-6, Maharashtra girl Vaishnavi Adkar registered yet another gritty comeback to win the 2nd set 6-4. In the third set, fortunes fluctuated till Adkar eventually clinched the set 7-6 (3) in a tie-breaker.

The Boys' final was a more straightforward affair as top seed Dev V Javia stamped his authority over the competition once again to defeat Chirag Duhan 6-2, 6-1. Gujarat player Javia's dominant performance throughout the tournament saw him clinch the title without losing a single set in all three matches. Up and coming player Duhan put on a brave display but ultimately proved to be no match for Javia.

Rafael Nadal returns a ball in 2nd round match

Nadal cruises into Mexico quarters

AFP ■ ACAPULCO

World number two Rafael Nadal stepped up his bid for a third ATP Mexico Open title with an impressive display of serving and shotmaking to beat Serbian youngster Miomir Kecmanovic on early Thursday.

The Spaniard hit 20 winners as he kept his hopes alive of regaining the top ranking with a 6-2, 7-5 victory over the 20-year-old Kecmanovic to reach the quarter-finals at the Acapulco hardcourt tournament.

"He's a very dangerous player. Young, with a lot of power. I'm very pleased with the victory," Nadal said.

"I played a very good first set and that's important for me. That gives me confidence."

Next up for Nadal is Kwon Soon-woo, who reached his fourth quarter-final of the month with a 7-6 (7/2), 6-0 upset against eighth-seeded Dusan Lajovic.

Rodgers backs Vardy to end goalless run

AFP ■ LEICESTER

Leicester manager Brendan Rodgers is confident Jamie Vardy will end his current drought and reach a century of Premier League goals.

The former England forward, 33, has scored 97 times in the top-flight but has failed to find the net in nine matches in all competitions.

Rodgers, whose side travel to bottom side Norwich on Friday, said he had no worries about Vardy's recent poor form. "It is only a matter of time before he gets back to scoring goals again," he said. "He doesn't look like the nervous type to me."

Vardy found the net in eight successive matches from mid-October through to early December but has just one goal in his past 12 games.

"Sometimes you get a run like it," Rodgers said. "Probably when he came back from his (glute) injury (in late January) he was maybe not quite up to speed."

"But I thought against Manchester City (in Saturday's 1-0 home defeat), you saw the return of that running power and speed."

"I have no doubt he will get the goals and beyond that. You don't force it, you don't put the pressure on, he knows that is his job. As long as he is contributing, then I'm fine."

Vardy's drought has coincided with Leicester's inconsistent form since mid-December. They have collected just 15 points from the past 36 on offer.

Former Celtic boss Rodgers said his side, third in the Premier League table, could not afford to rely on Vardy's goals.

"You have threats from various parts of the team, and for long periods of this season we had a central threat with Jamie, and other guys were working hard, and they started to contribute, but it's dried up a little bit," he said.

"It's a team responsibility. The strikers are important, but there are other things."

"Look at Roberto Firmino at Liverpool -- he's scored 10, but you look at his influence in the team and what he gives and allows to the other players."

Jinghan, Jeje called for national camp

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Defender Sandeep Jinghan and striker Jeje Lalpekhlua on Thursday returned to the fold for the 18-day national football camp ahead of India's FIFA 2022 World Cup qualifier against Qatar in Bhubaneswar.

India's World Cup qualifier against Qatar will be played on March 26.

Jinghan had been sidelined because of a knee injury which he sustained six months ago, while Jeje is returning from a knee injury he suffered in June last year.

Lalengmawia, Jerry Mawihmingthanga, Jeakson Singh, Liston Colaco, Pratik Chowdhary, Shubham Sarangi, Rafique Ali Sardar, Prabhukhan Gill, Sumit Rathi, Seriton Fernandes, Edwin Sydney Vanspaul are among the ones who have been handed their first call-up to the senior team.

A total of 23 players have been called up in the first phase of the training camp in Bhubaneswar on March 9 before 20 other players, from four ISL semi-finalist teams join on March 16.

"Time is very crucial for us. We have planned to utilise the maximum time possible, so we want to see as many players as possible before the Qatar match," India's head coach Igor Stimac said.

"As some players won't be able to join the camp because of their club commitments before the 16th, we'll use this time to assess other players."

"Sandesh (Jinghan) and Jeje (Lalpekhlua) have been long-standing servers of Indian national team and I strongly believe in their abilities. I have been updated about their current medical status and we'll monitor them closely in Bhubaneswar too," he added.

Jeakson Singh, who etched his name in Indian football history following his thunderous header against Colombia in the FIFA U17 World Cup at the JLN Stadium in October 2017, has also earned his maiden call-up for the senior national team camp.

Evans reaches Dubai last four

AFP ■ DUBAI

Britain's Dan Evans upset sixth seed Andrey Rublev 6-2, 7-6 (11/9) on Thursday to reach the fourth ATP semi-final of his career with victory at the Dubai Championships.

World number 37 Evans said the thought of playing another set after more than two hours was just too much to consider and worked hard to wrap up victory in straight sets.

"It was tough, I just hung in at the end and got through," unseeded Evans said.

"But I just didn't fancy playing another set; I think that's what got me through."

The 29-year-old, whose previous last four appearances came in Zagreb in 2014, Sydney in 2017 and Delray Beach a year ago, needed nearly two and a quarter hours to advance.

He now awaits a Friday opponent as second seed Stefanos Tsitsipas plays Jan-Lennard Struff. "Semi-finals in any tournament on the ATP Tour is great," he said.

"It doesn't matter who it's (semi-finals) against. Everyone is so good here."

Evans faced constant pressure from the Russian who started this season with an 11-match win streak, lifting back-to-back trophies in Doha and Adelaide.

Evans needed to battle to earn the opening set, finally taking it after a final game in which he saved five break points before winning on his third set point.

The second set was equally intense. Evans was broken while serving for victory leading a set and 5-4, with Rublev taking it into a tiebreaker.

Evans missed on his first two match point chances in the decider before his opponent sent a return over the baseline to end it. The victory was the second tight contest in a row for Evans, who saved three match points in the previous round.

PIONEERING CHANGE

The Pioneer group is expanding its umbrella of connecting with thinking minds through live talks. Called The Pioneer Agenda series, we hope to generate awareness on ideas that will shape India in 2030 and could be a template for policy-making. The first such dialogue, Exotica Tourism Summit, Exotica being the group's travel and wellness magazine, was held at Shangri-La hotel, New Delhi on February 26. Since tourism is poised to become a major growth driver and employment generator of the economy, the day-long event had interactive sessions with Union Ministers, industry experts, travel operators, tourism boards, the hospitality sector and brand creators

LOOK WITHIN

How to rebrand an old concept and link it to the discovery of new destinations, given the Government's intent to develop 17 iconic tourist destinations? How to get domestic travellers to look for exotica within, given the Prime Minister's call to travel to at least 15 destinations at home? How to develop a hub and spoke model where the hinterland of known tourist spots can be developed as a linked experience? These were some of the questions that were answered by panellists Ashwani Lohani, Ritu Beri, Pronab Sarkar and Anil Chadha at the inaugural session of the Exotica Tourism Summit. Moderated by Dr Chandan Mitra, it explored the possibilities of a deep-pore look within.

Unveiling another of his films in the Virtual Bharat series, filmmaker Bharat Bala said that the familiar corners of India evoked different emotions when looked at through the eyes of its people. His film on the shabad singers of Amritsar was an interesting perspective of the holy town. Highlighting the need for "felt emotion" to convey a refreshing idea of Incredible India, he said, "It's very critical to showcase what we are doing and how we can build a new idea for tourism in this country. A place is not a destination, it's an emotion, a story and a culture. You tell a story, you will find the traveller. When domestic or international tourists travel and hear a story, they become a part of that destination. Almost 20 years ago, I started Incredible India, all thanks to Amitabh Kant. It's time to discover the new avatar of Incredible India. It has done a wonderful job of showcasing the diversity of this country but today's marketing and advertising needs are different. We need to move on from typical advertising and find new ways to reach the audience. We talk about 5,000 years of heritage, at least we can make 1,000 stories out of them. I have travelled 150 km by road, discovering India. And what I discover, I put into films. In September, we started the new initiative called Virtual Bharat. It is going to be a repository of virtual stories of India. To start with, we decided to do 1,000 stories of the country. Deeper stories will connect deeper with the audience and they will have something to take home as emotion. When we talk about culture, it is something you need to win over as an emotion. When people look at India, they see the Taj Mahal because they find it as an embodiment of a great love story. We are a 5,000 year old country, we don't need to hide only behind Taj Mahal. There's a lot more to showcase."

Ashwani Lohani, Ex CMD, Air India, felt that there is always scope for exploration and rebranding India. "Nobody can ever beat the impact of tourism in the country. It is the biggest job creator and also sways the image of the country. A few years back, whenever somebody used to talk about tourism of India, it was always about international market and footfalls. Yet the numbers were not encouraging. The fact is you cannot make tourism a growth driver till you cater to a domestic market. When I got a chance to head Madhya Pradesh tourism, I decided to generate new interest in its diversity."

Lohani shared that people have a fair idea about the places abroad but they are not aware about the rich culture they have at home. He said, "We need to start exploring our own country. Indian tourism has something on offer for everyone in every category with all budgets — India on shoestring, India in luxury, the royal India, urban India, the common man's India, historical India and much more. Why not circulate the funds in our own country for the good of our own people? There is a need to catalyse a movement of people within the states. Tourism is a sector which has a massive potential to grow. And I feel we are moving towards that."

Luxury entrepreneur and fashion designer Ritu Beri believes in the idea of India. She understands the value of being Indian. She tries to promote the country in everything that she does. "My first fashion show in Paris was based on Indian heritage. From culture, designs, motifs to fabrics and embroidery, everything was Indian. I presented the collection in Hindi, it had French translations and the music was Indian too. People absolutely loved it. The country is very well accepted abroad," Ritu said.

"If I go anywhere in the world wearing Pashmina, people go crazy. Khadi, I feel, is true luxury because it's handmade and today, more and more people are forgetting the art of handcrafted things. That is why it's our strength and we need to promote it. So when we talk about tourism of India, it's the whole concept of being Indian. I have a 12-year-old daughter. I am always telling her that India used to be the richest country in the world in recorded history. Our country is very proud of many inventions. From zero, yoga, geometry, snakes and ladders to chess, it all comes from India. So why are we not proud of being Indian or taking a holiday here? Why are we always aping the West. Why are we apologetic of what we stand for. From the Taj Mahal to Rabindra Nath Tagore to Mahatma Gandhi, we have a prolific history," she added.

Ritu said that we are all empowered today to present an India that is richly felt and authentic. An India that we don't even think can exist. "Platforms like these are very important for first, us Indians, to accept the fact that we are above the rest of the world. And then to spread the message abroad. I know we can do it together," said she.

Anil Chadha, COO, ITC Hotels, said that in colleges they always teach you a few lines — if it is to be, it is up to me. Somebody has rightly said that the three biggest drivers in this century are going to be tele communications, information technology and tourism. "India has had a good story so far. Our growth rates have been better than the world. A lot has been done by the government. However, there is still a lot to be done because the numbers coming in are much less in comparison to the numbers going out. One big thing that we all have been speaking about is domestic tourism. I feel, we should take pride in our own country. Domestic tourism is something that has the capability to catch the eyeballs of the world market. That's probably the way to move the international tourism forward," said Chadha.

He felt that if we compared ourselves to certain benchmarks available with reference to footfalls, India was at one per cent, China was at three per cent for their domestic tourism and the US was at six per cent. "That is exactly where we probably need to reach. And it has to be a collaborative effort. It has to be a great partnership between the Centre and the states, private players and the government. Everybody has to put their best foot forward," he says.

As a hotel chain, for example, Chadha said that they had the honour of hosting the US President, Donald Trump. The hotel was full of Americans. They got to see motifs of India that the hotel sports in its decor. "They saw all the artworks and wanted to know what went into their creation. So there's a lot of storytelling that needs to be done. The travellers are looking for experiences more than anything. And we need to create that for them. They want to really get enriched at the destination they travel, in the hotel they live, in the food they eat, the clothes they wear, the mode of transport they use, it's all getting experiential day by day," said Chadha.

The president of Indian Association of Tour Operators (IATO), Pronab Sarkar, has been in this industry for last 45 years. He felt that the government plays a bigger role in the promotion of tourism because they are the ones framing guidelines and all the taxes. It is not possible without their help. India is blessed with domestic tourism with more than 180 million tourists. We get only 10 million foreign tourists in comparison, which is very low. As far as the world scenario is concerned, it is less than 0.5 per cent. We don't even get one per cent of international tourism. Therefore, there is a huge scope," he said.

Though some of our neighbours are smaller and have a finite infrastructure, they have had higher international footfalls. "It is very important to state that we are losing out to our neighbours because of the highest taxes. I feel, tourism is not a luxury. It is an economic activity, which is very important. Domestically, we have to be very well connected. Our people must have easy access to reach where they desire. Everybody has to come together and make it happen," said Sarkar.

Punjab is the heart of India: Charanjit

Stars, light, mountains, trees, driver...everything is yours in Punjab. So said Punjabi poet Lala Dhani Ram Chatrik. At the Exotica Tourism Summit organised by The Pioneer media group, Tourism Minister of Punjab, Charanjit Singh Channi, recited this poem and made people aware about everything that Punjab has on offer. "We have always had a very rich culture. Nowadays, even the Punjabi music and dance industry is making waves. No film is successful without its music and dance. We have the heart of India. Whether it's the independence movement or any other fight for the nation, Punjab has always been in the front," said he.

There have been many reasons everyone has been in love with Punjab, which is why the state government is making efforts to promote tourism in the state. The farmers are not only involved in agriculture but also are now setting up homestays by building cottages in their farms. Coupling farming with tourism is the growing trend in the state.

He apprised us of the fact that Virasat-e-Khalsa in Anandpur Sahib has the largest footfall in Asia. The state has also developed wetlands. It has large number of birds coming from outside. Efforts are being made to upgrade the farm-houses so that people can stay and see Punjab's culture. They can interact with local musicians and potters. "We are trying to tap the tourists from everywhere. There's also a great connectivity, which will in turn help people from all across to visit us. The rail connectivity is good. We are developing the State highways for a better road connectivity. Five airports have been developed to garner more visitors." Rahat Indori, lyricist and Urdu poet once said, "Chalte Phirte Huye Mehtaab Dikhaenge Tumhe, Humse Milna Kabhi Punja Dikhaenge tumhe..." The minister said that this poem sums up Punjab very well. In the state, one would feel home. "I invite all of you with a big heart. Come and witness the beauty of the state," he added. He also expressed his gratitude for The Pioneer for dedicating a day to promote tourism.

'NEW STOP ALONG PUNJAB HIGHWAYS'

What if all the goodness of the world comes alive in a single place? This is Punjab as presented by Harkirat Ahluwalia, founder of Citrus County Farm Stays. "You will find that the beautiful smiles of the state seem to weave a poetry. That's the magic of Punjab. It casts a spell and the rich heritage takes everyone by awe. The spiritual ardor will bring inner peace and every stone in every wall has a tale to tell," he told us.

Taking pride in being a Punjabi, Ahluwalia focussed on the Kartarpur corridor and the benefits it has brought along. "When people celebrated 550 years of Guru Nanak Dev Ji, almost 60,000 people have visited Sultanpur Lodhi.

The government handled the pilgrims in such a way that there was no mishap. Another advantage that the State has is the connectivity and also the fact that its geography is good. "It is the new stop in the tourism line. We will promote this state as one of the best tourism destinations, especially its rural tourism, said he.

Hours long traffic jam in hill stations, hotels displaying "full" in red on their gates, internet flooded with pictures of people forming a beeline for water and residents left with no adequate resources due to over-tourism. All these incidents have become common, especially during the summer as the temperatures goes up and more and more visitors head towards the hill stations. Now the question here is: where do we draw the line and where do we divert the travel addict without denting the tourism economy? To ponder upon the issue and come up with various solutions across the industry, Mandip Singh Sooin, Sumant Batra and Seema Bhatt spoke on Over-tourism and Sustainability at Exotica Tourism Summit organised by The Pioneer media group. It was moderated by Saimi Sattar. A mountaineer, explorer and environmentalist, Mandip Singh Sooin began the session talking about the potential of eco-tourism and the need to reflect upon responsible tourism. "We will soon ask the government to launch an itinerary for responsible tourism. There will be various checkpoints that the travellers will need to look at before embarking on a journey. It will also include checklist for the travel operators of the industry," said he. Another panelist, Sumant Batra, an insolvency lawyer and founder of Te Aroha, shared the instances which helped him set up his property in Uttarakhand.

Disperse the crowds

The tourism industry needs to set standards, increase awareness among the visitors, diversify and integrate communities to combat over-tourism

He said, "This place was not much discovered earlier. We started with five rooms and now have 22." It has an unusual but appealing way to attract the visitors through storytelling. It has a museum and houses a library of 12,000 books. This new experiential helped draw tourists to a new Himalayan experience and ease the pressure off usual favourites. Sitting next to him, Seema Bhatt who has worked extensively on issues related to eco-tourism, biodiversity and climate change emphasised upon carrying capacity, setting industry standards and striking a balance between sustainability and livelihood. "There is over-tourism because there are too many people visiting a certain location only. It is very important for us to see the figures of a particular location, set standards and put a limit on the number of people visiting," said she. She talked about the factors that determine the carrying capacity of a region. When it's an ecologically fragile area like Ladakh, it depends on its ecosystem. It requires detailed involved research such as the revenue generation of the area, population, number of tourists visiting, water consumption, waste disposal and many other factors. But in order to keep the number of tourists intact, it is very important to route them to a different location. So we need to diversify tourism. "As we are operating in a country, which has the largest number of youth, we need to move beyond the old definition of tourism of just visiting places and focus more upon the experiences," added she. However, every solution comes with its own challenges. Mandip said that the people usually don't take ecological challenges into account during the beginning. For instance, the number of jeeps in Ladakh increased from four to 450 after people watched the film 3 Idiots. "When we suggest people on the carrying capacity they say 'we have just started, we need people.' And they only react to it when it gets worse. But you need to consider this problem during the beginning in order to disperse the people in a better way," said he.

While building a property in a local area, it is very important to strike a balance between the local people, the area and tourists. Sumant said that he was very clear about not destroying the apple orchards to build the rooms. "I also decided that I would hire only the local people. But most of them hadn't stepped out of their homes. So I called an expert from Mumbai who trained the locals for six months. They are very quick learners. Now they are all well-trained, some of them can also read wine labels," he added. The emphasis is to aid the local eco-system and ensure that the tourists do not impact the local people adversely. There are literature, art and film festivals to boost the local culture and attract more visitors. For Seema, it is important to hire the local people, not just as labours but build their capacity too. "One must train and empower them. The local cuisine is a strong tool in their hands, one must use that wisely," she added.

Abu Sufiyan, independent mobile journalist, founder of Purani Dilli Waalo Ki Baatein and digital campaign adviser for Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) has made an effort towards reinventing Old Delhi. He says that there is an urgent need to explore Delhi and promote its culture through micro-tourism. Abu has travelled most of the places on foot, which has helped him to have a deeper insight into the subject. He said that in order to promote the abandoned havelis, we need to conduct Mushaiyara and Qawwalis in them. This will attract more visitors.

An effective solution for this would be to outsource the maintenance and exterior lighting of the heritage monument to corporate giants in return for some branding opportunity at the monument. "We need to have a proper gateway to take the best out of our destinations," added he.
