Under new boss SN Shrivastava, cops regaining public confidence in policing

SHISHU SINGH IN NEW DELHI

The change of guard in the police force of the national capital coincided with the return of the erstwhile Delhi Police Commissioner SN Srivastava, whose exemplary leadership had put the force back on its feet after the 2012 gangrape case. The new Delhi Police Commissioner was appointed in order to improve the police force's efficiency and effectiveness in dealing with crimes and maintaining law and order.

The Delhi Police Commissioner's office was briefly stopped from functioning due to a dispute over the appointment of the new police commissioner. However, the government resolved the issue and the police force continued to function.

The new Delhi Police Commissioner, SN Srivastava, is working closely with the government to address the challenges faced by the police force and improve its performance.

In addition to the change of guard, the government has also taken several initiatives to improve the police force's efficiency and effectiveness. These initiatives include:

1. Modernizing the police force by providing them with new equipment and technology.
2. Enhancing training programs for police officers.
3. Improving the police force's response time to emergencies.
4. Strengthening law enforcement through the use of大数据 and artificial intelligence.

Overall, the new Delhi Police Commissioner, SN Srivastava, is working to ensure that the police force is well-equipped to handle the challenges faced by society and maintain law and order.

Cloud of uncertainty over Olympic Games in Japan

The fate of worldwide sporting events such as the Olympic Games is uncertain as the coronavirus continues to spread worldwide. The Tokyo 2020 Olympics were scheduled to take place in July, but the government has expressed concerns about the safety of hosting the event.

The Japanese government has stated that it will work with the International Olympic Committee (IOC) and the World Health Organization (WHO) to determine the best course of action. The government has also announced that it will provide all necessary support to ensure the safety and health of the athletes and spectators.

However, there are concerns about the ability of the Japanese government to contain the spread of the coronavirus. The government has been criticized for its slow response to the crisis, and there are fears that the Tokyo Olympics could fuel the spread of the virus.

Despite the uncertainty, the Japanese government remains committed to hosting the event. The government has stated that it will do everything in its power to ensure the safety and health of all those involved.

CASTE-WISE CENSUS

Ram Goraklal Choudhary (Samajwadi Party) raised the issue during the question hour, saying the report of the Constitution Committee of the Rajya Sabha, which was released on Friday, was in favor of mandatory caste census. Choudhary said that the Rajya Sabha has already passed the resolution of 2021 on the line of one passed in Lok Sabha in 2021. The Resolution says the Census should be held every 10 years and a caste-based census should be conducted in the year of the census.

The Pradeep Singh Dhinakaran's Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) requested for a casting vote on the resolution to be passed in the House. The resolution is put for the casting vote on Monday.

The RP Singh Yadav's Rashtriya Janata Dal (RJD) leader also condemned the State government's stand. "How can a caste census be undertaken by the Government? The government understood name of the subgroups to be mentioned in the legislation," said Choudhary.

Over 4.5 L 'educated' youths in Guj: Govt

CPI-M leader Suresh Khanna said the Centre is infringing upon the states' jurisdiction by demanding that the state conduct a caste census. "The centre can't do this," Khanna said.

Patole said the state Assembly on Thursday passed a resolution urging to the Centre to conduct the Census of 2021. The resolution was moved by Udhav Thackeray which was read out by Aradhana Misra of the Congress party. The resolution had been moved in the Assembly with the support of 54 members of various parties, including the Bharatiya Janata Party. The resolution was passed by the assembly on Thursday.

Ajit Pawar told the House he would discuss the issue with the Prime Minister to seek caste-wised census in the state. Meanwhile, the opposition leaders like Thackeray, Sonawane, wear it, Sharad Pawar and the sitting MLA KPP Samy, former Fisheries Minister and Thiruvottiyur mayor also condemned the State government's stand.

The BSE-Congress-Samajwadi Party leaders also condemned the government's stand. The demand for passing a resolution of Zero Hour of the House, arguing that a joint based census and a mandatory census should be held, was moved by the opposition parties. At this, Choudhary cited the case when similar move had been made by the state Assembly in the past during the leadership of Balasaheb Thakeray and Akhilesh Yadav when they felt the need for a caste census in the state.

IMD: Summer likely to be warmer than normal

Rahul Reddy

NEW DELHI

It is likely to be warmer than normal in the northern coastal, north-eastern coastal, north and central parts of the country during the summer season from March to May, the India Meteorological Department (IMD) said on Friday.

The mean temperature in the northern coastal region is likely to be warmer than normal by 0.5°C to 1°C in March, April and May, the IMD said in its seasonal forecast.

Seeking to quell the speculation that the heat wave season might oppose reservations to Muslims in educational institutions, the Congress had done its part when it was in alliance with the BJP. However, with the BJP looking at Sena in the house, after the announcement, let me assure you all that all the efforts of the government to ensure that all social problems, issues and concerns of Muslims will be given the due place in the same.

Applying a question raised by Congress member in the Maharashtra Legislative Council Shripad Gavade. At that time Gavade had gone agitated for 30 minutes on the floor of the House and also against the education laws, the previous Bihar Government did not take any action on the HC order. Therefore, we will soon come out with a law in this regard as soon as possible.

Opposing Malik’s announcement, senior BJP MLA Yogendra Singh believed that keeping the basic religion of Muslims in mind, the government had done its part when it was in alliance with the BJP.

With the passage of time, the question arises that the Sena might demand the resignation of Union Home Minister Nawab Malik on Friday.

“Any decision about the future of Malik will be made after the Assembly polls. Malik has proved that he is one of the best opponents of the Opposition. Malik will be resolved. Like others, we will soon come out with a law on this issue,” Singh added.

Turkish reprisals kill 16 Syrian troops

Turkish reprisals killed 16 Syrian soldiers in the battleground Idlib province of Syria on Friday, said Ankara, raising tensions between the two countries.

The retaliatory drone and artillery strikes, the first on Syrian soil, came a day after Damascus killed 35 Turkish soldiers, a monitor said.

There was no immediate confirmation from Damascus of the Syrian death toll amid reports Ankara had been planning a military operation on Saturday.

It was the most serious flare-up with Ankara that Moscow, which has threatened a wider war with the Turks, has seen since its first intervention in Syria in 2015, and the risk of all-out war with millions of deaths or any comment on the situation should be taken seriously.

On Friday, a UN envoy said the violence in Idlib was the most serious since the start of the war in 2011, with 30,000 displaced people in four days.

The Tanks have begun converging on Syrian civilians trapped in the middle of the conflict.

Scores of migrants began converging on the Greek islands, a short crossing away, with groups of people clambering aboard boats and dozens of others were in no-man’s land on the Turkish side of the border gate at Pazarkule, near Edirne, north-east Turkey.

The development was the most serious since 2015, when up to 4,000 migrants a day were crossing into Greece.

China has confirmed its first case of the new coronavirus.

A man from Beijing tested positive to low levels of the new virus on Thursday, the country’s National Health Commission said.

Its emergence comes as the previously mild virus has killed more than 4,500 people, most of them in China, in a global epidemic that has also reached Japan, South Korea and Italy.

The situation should have been much better.

A total of 872 people were taken earlier this week to a hospital in Wuhan, the epicentre of the outbreak, for another 12 people who said they had been in close contact with the first patient have been isolated.

The World Health Organisation (WHO) confirmed a case of the new virus in Japan on Thursday.

The WHO has declared the outbreak a public health emergency of international concern.

The WHO has said the virus is spreading from person to person and that its global risk remains low.

Per day quarantined in HK with low levels of virus

Hong Kong: A day had been postponed after five of the most common symptoms of the new coronavirus were found in the city.

The city’s Centre for Health Protection said five people, who had been in close contact with the first patient, had been isolated since Thursday.

They tested negative for the virus, which is thought to be caught more easily than the SARS virus.

The five people, who were all in their late 20s and early 30s, were taken to a hospital in the city’s east.

They were not in quarantine and had been from Hong Kong to mainland China.

The man was taken to hospital last Thursday after he was confirmed to be infected with the new virus.

He was staying in a hospital in the city’s eastern New Territories district.

He had been discharged from hospital on Thursday after being confirmed infected with the new virus.

An Italian living in Hong Kong was diagnosed with the new virus on Thursday.

The World Health Organisation (WHO) said the virus is spreading from person to person and that its global risk remains low.

LIVING HERITAGE

The Pioneer group is expanding its umbrella of connecting with thinking minds through live talks. Called The Pioneer Agenda series, we hope to generate awareness on ideas that will shape India in 2030 and could be a template for policy-making. The first such dialogue, Exotica Tourism Summit, Exotica being the group’s travel and wellness magazine, was held at Shangri-La hotel, New Delhi on February 26. Since tourism is poised to become a major growth driver and employment generator of the economy, the day-long event had interactive sessions with Union Ministers, industry experts, travel operators, tourism boards, the hospitality sector and brand creators.

ow do we expand the buoyant travel and experiences market to inspire the traveller to keep coming back? How do we create new fancies and connect them with contemporary sensibilities? How do we customise tours to make new memories? How has travel changed today? How do we live and think? These were some of the questions that the Summit, held at Delhi’s Hotel Shangri-La, kicked off with.

Mangal Singh, Union Minister for Tourism, felt that the tourism industry has a large role to play in catering to the needs of the youth. He advocated for an innovation that will help in creating new experiences. “The term innovation varies just like food. The idea was to hold stories about the glorious past of India. The architecture in every state varies just like food. The idea was to make new blends of restoration, rebuild and revitalisation of ruined architectural wonders and offer unique accommodation options. It was to turn tourist zones into mainstream areas, which nobody looked at and which could contribute to society. The term meant something different in every state,” he said.

Both are today credited for pioneering the heritage hotels movement in India, co-chairman of the Neemrana Hotels Anup Kutty and Samil Malhotra at the event. “To demystify all this, Royal Caribbean should be taking a cruise. Olympiakos crashed through Arsenal’s resistance with a dramatic 89th-minute winner scored by former Gunners forward Gonzalo Higuain, setting up an intriguing Champions League match this month.

The hosts went close in the second minute with a volley from Olympiakos forward Paco Alcacer, which was brilliantly saved by goalkeeper Bernd Leno. Arsenal, however, quickly recovered and struck in the 16th minute, giving them a 1-0 advantage.

Despite the early setback, Olympiakos refused to give up the fight and continued to pressurize the Gunners. In the 32nd minute, Olympiakos forward Lucas Paquetá was brought down in the penalty area, but referee Joel Aguilar chose to play the game on.

The score remained 1-0 until the 81st minute, when Arsenal substitute Eddie Nketiah scored on his first appearance for the club. Arsenal thought they had taken control of the match and were looking likely to progress to the next round.

However, in the dying moments of the game, Olympiakos launched a late attack. Higuain, who joined the club on loan from Juventus earlier in the season, found the back of the net with a powerful header to equalize for the Greek side.

The match was a thrilling encounter, with both teams putting in a relentless effort. The result means that the two sides will now battle it out in the UEFA Champions League, with the Greek side having the upper hand after their late winner.

Klopp praises Liverpool’s ‘fighting’ qualities

In a statement after the game, Liverpool manager Jurgen Klopp praised his team’s fighting qualities, saying: “It was a tough game, but I think we showed some fighting qualities today.”

Liverpool had been under pressure after a recent string of games without a win, but they came out strongly against Olympiakos and showed their resilience to come back from behind and secure a draw.

Klopp, who is known for his tactical nous, was delighted with his players’ response to the challenge and said: “We have to be 100 per cent committed in every part of the game, and we showed that today.”

The result means that Liverpool, who are currently third in the Premier League, will continue their push for a top-four finish in the league, while Olympiakos will look to maintain their momentum in the Champions League.
