INDIRA, MAHADHVAJ RAJ/DHARMA WAS OF EQUALITY, HARMONY

India's Prime Minister, Indira Gandhi, was assassinated on November 1, 1984, by her Sikh bodyguards. She was 49 years old at the time of her death. The assassination occurred at her residence in Delhi, India. The event shocked the nation and led to a period of mourning. It also marked the beginning of a series of events that would ultimately lead to the rise of the Sikh separatist movement in Punjab.

The assassination of Indira Gandhi was a tragic event in Indian history. It marked the end of an era and ushered in a new phase of political instability and violence in the country. The事件 was followed by a period of intense political turmoil and social unrest, which lasted for many years. The assassination of Indira Gandhi remains a poignant reminder of the fragility of democracy and the importance of peaceful coexistence.

The event also highlighted the role of the intelligence agencies in India. The assassination was carried out by two of her bodyguards, who were acting on orders from her own government. The intelligence community played a crucial role in failing to prevent the assassination, despite having prior knowledge of the plot. This incident raised questions about the effectiveness of the intelligence agencies in the country and highlighted the need for reform.

In the wake of the assassination, the country was left in mourning. The death of Indira Gandhi marked a significant loss for the nation and left a lasting impact on the political landscape of India. It is a sobering reminder of the importance of unity, peace, and stability in a democracy.

Green accounting is the need of the hour

Though no major pacts were signed between the US and India, advancements were made in the important areas of defense, energy and partnership in the Indo-Pacific.

T he US, which has been courting New Delhi for many years, has in recent times been courting New Delhi for many years, has in recent times been making a determined play to engage with India. Despite ongoing differences, the two countries have managed to make some progress in recent years, particularly in the areas of defense and energy.

In the defense sector, the US and India have signed several agreements, including the sale of Seahawk/Romeo helicopters worth $2.6 billion. The two countries have also signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) for the development of a joint naval shipyard in India.

In the energy sector, the US and India have signed several agreements, including the sale of liquefied natural gas (LNG) to India. The two countries have also signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) for the development of a joint naval shipyard in India.

While Prime Minister Modi has made several visits to the US, the US has also made significant investments in India. In 2019, the US announced that it would invest $100 billion in India over the next decade. The US has also made significant investments in India’s infrastructure, with several US companies investing in India’s power sector.

However, despite the progress made, there are still several issues that need to be addressed. The two countries have not yet reached a consensus on the issue of access to the US market for Indian goods and services. Additionally, there are concerns about the protection of intellectual property rights in India.

HIT: A fairly adequate thriller

T he film hit the screen on February 29, 2020 and some of the reviews reflect the sentiments of the critics and the audience. The story of the film revolves around a small town where the police force is underfunded and understaffed. The protagonist, a young police officer named Neha, is tasked with investigating a series of murders that have taken place in the town.

The film’s plot is fairly predictable, with some elements that are too formulaic. However, the performances of the lead actors, Vishwak Sen and Ruhani Sharma, add a lot of depth to the story. Vishwak Sen, who plays the role of Neha, delivers a strong performance, while Ruhani Sharma, who plays the role of Preethi, the wife of the deceased, is also excellent.

The cinematography and the music of the film are decent, but they are not enough to make up for the shortcomings in the plot and the performances. The film’s dialogue is also occasionally stilted, which takes away from the overall impact of the story.

Despite these flaws, HIT is a fairly adequate thriller. It has some good elements that are worth appreciating, but it also has some weaknesses that make it less than perfect. Overall, it is a decent film that could have been better with a more focused plot and better dialogue.

Mohan Babu plays Suriya’s mentor

W ith all the hoopla surrounding Suriya, set to release on April 9, the makers of the film have finally revealed what role Mohan Babu would be playing. The veteran actor, who has turned producer as well, has finally broken his silence and stated that he is playing Suriya’s mentor, a high ranking official in the Indian Air Force. What’s more interesting is the fact that his role is named after Bhaktavatsalam Naidu. It was his mentor in real life, Dassan Vangaveeti Rao, who changed his name to Mohan Babu. The actor has earlier worked with Suriya in films like Singam and Singam 2 that were shot in Chennai, as he is fluent with the language.

In the development for over eight months, for which director Sudha Kongara was firm about the cast and crew in attendance.

The Pioneer group is expanding its umbrella of connecting with thinking minds through live talks. Called The Pioneer Agenda series, we hope to generate awareness on ideas that will shape India in 2030 and could be a template for policy-making. The first such dialogue, Exotica Tourism Summit, Exotica being the group’s travel and wellness magazine, was held at Shangri-La hotel, New Delhi on February 26. Since tourism is poised to become a major growth driver and employment generator of the economy, the day-long event had interactive sessions with Union Ministers, industry experts, travel operators, tourism boards, the hospitality sector and brand creators.

Looking within

Tourism has something on offer for everyone in every country. And India has something for everyone in every country. From culture, designs, art, heritage, at least we can make 1,000 stories and find new ways to reach the audience. We talk about culture, it is something to take home as emotion. When we talk about economy, it is something we need to win over as an emotion. If people go to India, they see the Taj Mahal because they find it an embodiment of a great love story. We are trying to convey a refreshing idea of Incredible India to hide only behind Taj Mahal. There’s a lot more to discover.

Luxury entrepreneur and fashion designer Ritu Beri believes in the idea of being Indian. She tries to promote the Indian heritage. From culture, designs, technology and tourism, she tries to make tourism a sector which has a massive potential. "Nobody can hide only behind Taj Mahal. There’s a lot more to discover," she says.

Amitabh Kant, it has to be kept in mind that the tourism is something that has the capability to catch the eyeballs of the world more. "That’s probably the way to move the tourism," he said.

Dr Chandan Mitra, it explored the possibility of a deep pore look within the tourism of India, it was always a very important thing. The fact is you cannot make tourism a luxury. It is an economic activity, which is one of the highest taxes. I feel, tourism is not something that we all have higher international footfall, don’t even get one per cent of international tourism. Therefore, there is a huge potential to be very well connected. Our people must have easy access to reach where they need to reach. And it has to be a collaborative effort. It has to be a partnership between the Centre and the states, private players and the government. Everybody has to put their best foot forward," he says.

"I go anywhere in the world, wearing traditional costumes. I fly there, I go back. I have flown to my native place, I have flown to my hotel in the States because they are the ones framing guidelines and all the taxes," he said. "We also have to accept the fact that we are above the rest because they are the ones framing guidelines and all the taxes. "We also have to respect the fact that the government has something on offer for everyone in every country. And India has something for everyone in every country.
