WHO NAMES CORONAVIRUS AS ‘COVID-19’

The new coronavirus that has wreaked havoc in China and sparked fear globally has been named COVID-19, the World Health Organization said Tuesday.

WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus was quoted by the official Chinese media as saying at a media conference at the agency’s headquarters in Geneva.

The death toll from the virus in China on Monday rose to 2,591, with more than 11,000 others missing, officials said.

Some 400 scientists will be meeting on Tuesday in Geneva to discuss all aspects of the virus, the WHO announced on Monday. The organization said it is forming an expert forum to mobile thereafter to China, for the purpose of knowledge and research.

The world-leading experts will bring together all expert groups from around the globe to work on a real-time response to the new virus.

WHO APPEALS TO CONCERNED COUNTRIES

Koros, a key minister in the Small Ivan's cabinet, said the number of cases in the country has exceeded 1,000. He also said that the death toll has reached 175 people. People,Vladimir Putin's deputy chief of staff, has confirmed 135 cases of the virus on board.

Koros said that the new virus is spreading to over 20 countries, including Finland.

Goon attack at Gargi

Were the girl students at DU college attacked simply for organising a fest celebrating diversity?

Ashok Mehta

Recent trends involving a woman – the murder of Kanhaiya Kumar’s sister and the alleged attempted murder of Sangeeta Richard – are a step forward in an era of unprecedented violence against women. Both the state and the federal governments are to blame for the increasing violence against women.

The most recent attack on a woman in New Delhi was at Gargi College, where a group of men attacked and sexually assaulted a group of girls. The girls were attending a fest that was celebrating diversity. The attack was not an isolated incident, but part of a larger trend of violence against women.

The state and federal governments have failed to take effective action to prevent such attacks. The authorities have been slow to respond and the police have been ineffective. The state government has also been slow to respond to the attacks.

The attack at Gargi College is a clear indication that the authorities are failing to take effective action to prevent such attacks. The authorities need to take immediate action to ensure the safety of women in New Delhi and across the country.

Musk has written about the episode under the topic "I used to hate TV," but it has been transformed into a new journey as he builds his Tesla empire. The Tesla CEO is known for his love of electric vehicles and is seen as a revolutionary in the electric vehicle industry. Musk's passion for Tesla is evident in his daily life, where he drives a Tesla to work every day. He has also been vocal about his vision for the future of transportation, where he envisions a world where everyone will be able to travel without the need for cars.

The story of how Tesla was born is also inspiring. It all started with a simple idea: to create a car that was electric, affordable, and sustainable. Musk and his team worked tirelessly to make this dream a reality. They faced numerous challenges along the way, but their determination and hard work paid off. Today, Tesla is a household name, and its cars are driving the future of transportation.

But Musk's impact is not limited to Tesla. He is also known for his philanthropy and his work with the xPrize Foundation. Musk has donated millions of dollars to this organization, which is dedicated to bringing about revolutionary changes in the world through technology.

In conclusion, the story of how Tesla was born is a testament to the power of passion and dedication. It shows that with the right mindset and action, even the most ambitious dreams can come true. Whether you're working in the electric vehicle industry or any other field, there is always hope for the future. You never know where your passion will take you, but if you follow it, you'll find that the sky is the limit.

Patna: Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar on Tuesday said the people of the country had shown their disaffection towards the Congress party in Assembly elections, with an eye on the general elections next year.

"The people have clearly shown that they are not happy with the Congress Party under the leadership of Sonia Gandhi," Kumar said.

Kumar said the Congress had been in power for a long time and people had been fed up with its policies.

He said the people of Bihar had given a clear mandate to the NDA, which had formed the government under his leadership.

"The people have rejected the Congress Party and have given a mandate to the NDA," he said.

Kumar said the people of Bihar had given him a clear mandate and he would continue to work for the development of the state.
