Shaheen Bagh sticks to its guns

Protesters refuse to lift blockade until CAA goes; mediation to continue

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Supreme Court-appointed Sinterlocutors advocates Sanjay Hegde and Sadhana Ramchandran visited the Shaheen Bagh protest site on Wednesday and held talks with the protesters for almost three hours but could not persuade them to shift from the spot. Former CIC Wajahat Habibullah accompanied the two interlocutors.

Refusing to budge from their earlier stand of continuing their sit-in until the CAA is scrapped and NPR and NRC process stopped, protesters told the interlocutors that they are open to further talks. Hegde and Ramchandran said they will visit the protest site again on Thursday to resume the dialogue with the protesters.

Protesters have blocked an important arterial road connecting Delhi and Noida since December 15 last year, causing trouble to commuters and schoolchildren.

First, Hegde explained in detail the SC order to the protesters, who had turned up in large number. It was translated into Hindi by Ramchandran. Later addressing protesters, Ramchandran said, "The SC has upheld your right to protest but then other citizens also have their rights and it should also be maintained. We want to find a solution to the problem. We will listen to everyone."

During the talks, women, young and old, tried to explain their point of view to the interlocutors. There were tears and defiance too as they poured their hearts out to the two interlocutors on Wednesday, the first attempt to reach out to those sitting in protest against the citizenship amendment legislation for more than two months.

Responding to the concerns raised by the women,

Ramchandran said all the points will be put forward before the SC and discussed in detail. "However, I want to say one thing. A country that has daughters like you can never face any threats," she said.

A woman broke down while talking to the mediators. She said they are protesting to save the Constitution but people see only the inconvenience of commuters who have the option of taking so many other roads. "Aren't we facing inconvenience sitting here in cold nights taking our children to the protest. We are ourselves so troubled, what trouble will we cause to citizens?" she said.

She scolded the allegations that they are not letting ambulances and vehicles pass. "The road hasn't been blocked by us. In fact, it is the Centre that has blocked freedom in this country," she added.

Bilkis, an elderly woman, said they wouldn't move an inch even if someone fires a bullet. She said the main tent where the podium has been erected covers only 100 to 150 metres of the road.

She claimed, "We have not blocked the whole stretch. It is the Delhi Police which barricaded the whole road in the name of security. Why don't you get that removed first? We never asked police or any authority to block the roads for us. It is they who did it and are now blaming us."

"We are being called traitors. When we pushed Britishers out of the country, who is Narendra Modi and Amit Shah? You remove NRC and CAA, we will clear the site in no time," she added.

Another woman described their ongoing protest as mental trauma. She said they jump up even at the slightest noise at night, fearing police action.

On Monday, the SC observed that the blockade of the road at Shaheen Bagh was troubling and suggested the protesters go to another site where no public place would be blocked. It, however, upheld their right to protest.

The SC asked Hegde to play a constructive role as an interlocutor to persuade the protesters to move to an alternative site.

Trump relishes prospect of 70 L welcoming his Ahmedabad rally

POTUS for 'big deal', but raises concern 'India not treating US' well in trade

PNS/PTI ■ NEW DELHI/WASHINGTON

Prime Minister Narendra Modi and US President Donald Trump will hold extensive talks here on February 25 on a whole range of bilateral issues, including defence and trade. Trump is scheduled to arrive in India on a two-day visit starting February 24. While looking forward to his visit, Trump said he is saving the "big deal" in trade for later and voiced concern over "India not treating US" well in trade.

Explaining the contours of the high-profile visit, Foreign Secretary Harsh Vardhan Shrigla said on Wednesday Modi and Trump will hold talks to deepen cooperation in a range of key sectors, including defence and trade.

The US President will be accompanied by First Lady Melania Trump and a high-level delegation, he said, adding India and the US have an unprecedented level of convergence.

Though Trump is not happy with the bilateral trade ties, he praised Modi and said he is looking forward to his visit to India. "I happen to like Prime Minister Modi a lot," Trump said.

"He (Modi) told me we'll have seven million people between the airport and the event. And the stadium, I understand, is sort of semi under construction, but it's going to be the largest stadium in the world. So it's going to be very exciting... I hope you all enjoy it," he told reporters in Washington on Tuesday. He was referring to a scheduled joint public rally with Modi at the newly-built Motera Stadium in Ahmedabad.

Shrigla said the "Namaste Trump" event in Ahmedabad on February 24 will be similar to the "Howdy Modi" event that was held in Houston last year. The couple will visit Agra later the same day.

Meanwhile, Trump said he is "saving the big deal" with India for later and does not know if it will be signed before the presidential election in November, signalling that a bilateral trade pact may not materialise during his maiden visit to New Delhi.

CCS OK's $2.6 bn deal for 24 US naval copters

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Head of US President Donald Trump's maiden visit to India, the Cabinet Committee on Security (CCS) chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday approved a $2.6-billion deal for buying 24 multi-role Naval helicopters. The deal is likely to be announced during Trump's visit to India.

The helicopters manufactured by Lockheed Martin will be procured through the Foreign Military Sale (FMS) wherein the US Government will stand guarantee for all issues, including meeting time lines, spare parts and other contractual obligations. Incidentally, India and US defence trade has crossed the $18 billion mark in the last few years.

The 24 MH-60R Seahawks will replace the ageing Seaking and Kamov helicopters flown by the Indian Navy. The approval for buying new helicopters was given by Defence Acquisition Council (DAC) in 2018. At present, the Navy has 12 British made Seakings and ten odd Russian manufactured Kamovs.

These fourth-generation MH-60Rs "Romeos" helicopters will come loaded with both torpedoes and missiles which can be used to target submarines. A 30 per cent off-set clause could be a part of the deal. The deal could include training, support, spares and air-to-ground weapons also.

From the day of signing the contract, these helicopters will be delivered in five years. India will pay an initial 15 per cent installment for the helicopters. The first lot of helicopters will be delivered in two years, sources said.

MH-60 was earlier selected through a competitive process for 16 helicopters with an optional clause for eight more, but the deal fell through due to pricing issues and other development leading to tender's cancellation.

Opp strength to fall, Cong may lose 9 of its 19 seats in House

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Congress may induct bigwigs like Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, Jyotiraditya Scindia and Randeep Surjewala into the Rajya Sabha amid reports that the Opposition strength in the Upper House could reduce further and the Congress may lose 9 or 10 seats — of its 19 seats falling vacant — in the elections slated later this year to fill up 68 vacancies.

The ruling NDA does not have a majority in the Rajya Sabha and the Government has to seek the support of friendly parties such as the AIADMK and the BJD to get crucial legislations passed in the Upper House.

The BJP has the maximum of 82 members and the Congress 46 in the Rajya Sabha, which has a total strength of 245. There are 12 nominated members in the Upper House, eight of whom have aligned with the BJP.

Sources in the Congress said the party is confident of retaining nine seats on its own and winning one or two more with the help of its allies. It is likely to gain seats in Chhattisgarh, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan and Maharashtra, where it is in power.

"The Opposition strength will fall after elections are held to fill up 68 vacancies in April, June and November, that may lead to the ruling NDA slowly inching towards the majority mark in the Rajya Sabha. While 51 seats in the Rajya Sabha are falling vacant in April, five more in June, one in July and 11 in November this year," sources in Congress explained.

Top Congress leaders Motilal Vora, Madhusudan Mistry, Kumari Selja, Digvijaya Singh, BK Hariprasad and MV Rajeev Gowda are among the top Congress leaders whose tenures are ending in April and June.

Fasal Bima Yojana tweaked for farmers' benefit, voluntary now

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Modi Government on Wednesday approved major changes in the Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojana (PMFBY) making it voluntary for farmers with existing crop loans or those willing to take new ones, as it seeks to address the concerns raised by farmers' body and States in implementation of these programmes.

After the Cabinet meeting, Union Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar said the Government has decided to revamp PMFBY and Restructured Weather Based Crop Insurance Scheme (RWBCIS).

The Cabinet approved modification of certain parameters/provisions of ongoing PMFBY and RWBCIS

AP schemes. "Enrolment under the scheme to be made voluntary for all farmers (both PMFBY/RWBCIS)," the Agriculture Minister said. He said currently 58 per cent of total farmers are loanee and the remaining 42 per cent are non-loanee. The number of farmers opting for these crop insurance schemes may drop immediately but the enrolment would eventually pick up, Tomar said.

These modifications will help in addressing the concerns raised about the PMFBY scheme by farmers organisations and States, he said.

Among other modification, Tomar said the allocation of business to insurance firms through tender process would be done for three years as against the current policy of one to three years.

The Minister said insurance claims worth ₹60,000 crore have been cleared, and ₹13,000 crore premiums collected. As per modification, States will not be allowed to implement these schemes in subsequent seasons in case of considerable delay in release of requisite premium subsidy to insurance companies beyond a prescribed time limit.

AHEAD OF SHAH'S VISIT Border guards prepare action plan to reduce threat along frontiers

As an outcome of Shah's visit, vital installations in the border areas are proposed to be brought under the coverage of anti-drone technology

The proposal for revamping the border security will also incorporate quality and number of manpower, technical requirements and budgetary provisions needed to securing the frontiers and reducing vulnerabilities

RAKESH K SINGH ■ NEW DELHI

Following the visit of Union Home Minister Amit Shah to the headquarters of various paramilitary forces, the border guarding forces are working on a proposal to conduct vulnerability mapping of the respective borders under their area of responsibility and prepare an action plan to reduce threat along the frontiers in the next five years.

As an outcome of Shah's visit, vital installations in the border areas are proposed to be brought under the coverage of anti-drone technology.

The proposal for revamping the border security will also incorporate quality and number of manpower, technical requirements and budgetary provisions needed to securing the frontiers and reducing vulnerabilities.

The Ministry has also invited suggestions for recruiting 50 per cent of the personnel in the border guarding forces from the States along the borders.

The border guarding forces have also been advised to identify groups of young officers who will cover the frontiers on motor bikes and identify loopholes in the security paraphernalia along the frontiers.

The plan to strengthen the borders also includes a proposal to train jawans in the languages spoken by people across the borders. A training scheme is proposed to train the jawans in such languages.

The forces have also been asked to identify vacant land in the bordering areas to settle former paramilitary forces' personnel to check migration of population from such areas. The forces have also been asked to seek suggestions from the jawans to check migration of population from bordering areas.

Officials said there is also a proposal to formulate a mechanism for reporting by the border guarding forces with their respective headquarters for holding institutional meeting by the forces with the district/state administration in the border areas.

The border guarding forces have been asked to tie up with the Border Security Force (BSF) to install Comprehensive Integrated Border Management System (CIBMS) on a trial basis along the frontiers with Nepal, Bhutan and Myanmar.

Two pilot projects covering about 71 km on India-Pakistan Border (10 km) and India-Bangladesh Border (61 km) of CIBMS last year. The next phases of CIBMS seek to cover about 1,955 km of the border which cannot be physically fenced. The CIBMS project will vastly improve the capability of BSF in detecting and controlling the cross border crimes like illegal infiltration, smuggling of contraband goods, human trafficking BESIDES and cross border terrorism smart fencing comprising an array of technological gadgets.

While the BSF guards the Indo-Pakistan and Indo-Bangladesh borders, the Indo-Tibetan Border Police (ITBP) secures the frontier along China. The Sashastra Seema Bal (SSB) guards the frontiers along Bhutan and Nepal.

Climate change, harmful products impacting children: Report

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Ecological degradation, climate change and exploitative marketing practices that push heavily processed fast food, sugary drinks, alcohol and tobacco are fast taking a toll on the health and future of the children with no country taking adequate protecting measures.

Painting a gloomy picture on the status of the future of the children, the report, "A Future for the World's Children?", released on Wednesday by a Commission of over 40 child and adolescent health experts from around the world notes with concern that every child worldwide now faces existential threats from climate change and commercial pressures.

The experts have called for a new global movement driven by and for the children.

While the poorest countries need to do more to support their children's ability to live healthy lives, excessive carbon emissions — disproportionately from wealthier countries — threaten the future of all children, said the Commission convened by the World Health Organization (WHO), UNICEF and The Lancet.

"Despite improvements in child and adolescent health over the past 20 years, progress has stalled, and is set to reverse," said former Prime Minister of New Zealand and Co-Chair of the Commission, Helen Clark. "It has been estimated that around 250 million children under five years old in low- and middle-income countries are at risk of not reaching their developmental potential, based on proxy measures of stunting and poverty. But of even greater concern, every child worldwide now faces existential threats from climate change and commercial pressures.

"Countries need to overhaul their approach to child and adolescent health, to ensure that we not only look after our children today but protect the world they will inherit in the

- Stop CO2 emissions with the utmost urgency, to ensure children have a future on this planet
- Place children and adolescents at the centre of our efforts to achieve sustainable development
- New policies and investment in all sectors to work towards child health and rights
- Incorporate children's voices into policy decisions
- Tighten national regulation of harmful commercial marketing, supported by a new Optional Protocol to the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child ty, or income gaps. According to the report, while the poorest countries need to do more to support their children's ability to live healthy lives, excessive carbon emissions — disproportionately from wealthier countries — threaten the future of all children.

The only countries on track to beat carbon emission per capita targets by 2030, while also performing fairly (within the top 70) on child flourishing measures are Albania, Armenia, Grenada, Jordan, Moldova, Sri Lanka, Tunisia, Uruguay, and Vietnam, shows the analysis.

"From heads-of-state to local government, from UN leaders to children themselves, this Commission calls for the birth of a new era for child and adolescent health. It will take courage and commitment to deliver. It is the supreme test of our generation," says Dr Richard Horton, Editor-in-Chief of The Lancet family of journals.

PM's surprise visit to Hunar Haat

Relished litti-chokha, kulhad tea; interacted with artisans

Prime Minister Narendra Modi eats 'litti-chokha' at a snacks stall at 'Hunar Haat' at Rajpath in New Delhi on Wednesday

DEEPAK K UPRETI ■ NEW DELHI

The ongoing 'Hunar Haat' at Rajpath here had a special guest on Wednesday. It was none other than Prime Minister Narendra Modi who paid a surprise visit to 'Hunar Haat', where he relished 'litti-chokha' and 'kulhad' tea and interacted with artisans. Minority Affairs Minister MA Naqvi accompanied the PM who headed to the Haat soon after chairing the meeting of the Union Cabinet.

Later, Naqvi told The Pioneer that the 'Hunar Haat', which is making the rounds of several cities in the country with the next destination being Ranchi, Jharkhand, has already given employment to over three lakh artisans in three years. "It is a revolutionary event," he insisted.

The Haat is organised by the Ministry of Minority Affairs. Works of artisans, food and music were in full play in different stalls as visitors streamed in and out, enjoying a balmy afternoon.

Officials of the Ministry at the event were surprised when they came to know about the Prime Minister's visit. Modi tweeted several photographs from his visit to the Hunar Haat in which he is seen interacting with the artisans and appreciating the traditional handicrafts at various stalls.

Modi, who stayed in the venue for over 50 minutes sat in a woven cot and 'mooda' (cane chair) and ate litti-chokha, a dough ball made of whole wheat flour and stuffed with sattu, and paid ₹120 for it. The dish is popular in Bihar, eastern Uttar Pradesh and Jharkhand. He also had tea served in kulhad with the Minority Affairs Minister and paid ₹40 for two cups. The Prime Minister along with Naqvi went round the Haat and stopped at several stalls to interact with master craftsmen and artisans and made queries on various fine artifacts.

Master artisans, craftsmen and culinary experts, including more than 50 per cent women, from across the country are participating at the Haat. "Spent a wonderful afternoon at Hunar Haat on India Gate. It showcases the best of products including handicrafts, carpets, textiles and of course, delicious food! Do visit it," PM Modi tweeted. The participation of people from all across India makes 'Hunar Haat' a vibrant place, he said.

"Had tasty Litti Chokha for lunch along with a hot cup of tea..." he said in another tweet.

The Prime Minister also picked up a traditional musical instrument at a stall and tried playing it.

Artisans participating in the event told Modi that traditional arts were dying, but the 'Hunar Haat' initiative had given a new lease of life to them.

Modi interacted with a specially-abled painter who benefited from the government's Hunar Haat initiative. The 'Hunar Haat', which will be open until February 23 in the national Capital, will move to Ranchi, Gurugram, Bengaluru, Chennai, Kolkata, Dehradun, Patna, Bhopal, Goa, Kochi, Guwahati and Bhubneshwar, among other places in coming months.

Cong demands scrapping of CVC

New Delhi: Terming the process adopted for appointment of the next Chief Vigilance Commissioner (CVC) as "illegal, unlawful and unconstitutional", the Congress on Wednesday demanded its immediate scrapping. The party also said US President Donald Trump's remarks ahead of his India visit is an insult and affront to country's dignity.

The Congress said arbitrariness in top judicial institutions is fatal for democracy and alleged there is no place for transparency, accountability and constitutional processes in Prime Minister Narendra Modi's 'New India', which was fatal for democracy.

Congress chief spokesperson Randeep Surjewala charged that appointments of CVC and CIC are being made arbitrarily on the lines of 'khum ja sim sim' (open sesame). "The appointments of CVC and CIC are being made on the lines of 'open sesame'. Bring out names from the pocket and make appointments, that's it. There is no place left for transparency, accountability, constitutional processes and compliance of law in Modi ji's 'New India'," he charged on Twitter.

Sanjay Kothari, the Secretary to the President, has been selected as the new CVC by a high-powered committee headed by the Prime Minister. The committee has also chosen by a majority decision, former Information & Broadcasting Secretary Bimal Julka, currently serving as an Information Commissioner, as the new CIC in the Central Information Commission. The manager denied to procure it citing that he had got orders from higher ups not to procure paddy. This prompted the farmers to vent their anger by throwing two-three sacks of paddy on National Highway and setting it on fire.

Similar reports of farmers' agitation also received from different regions of Surguja division. At Maadisarai centre of Bharatpur of Koriya district, more than 20 farmers reached in tractors, no one arrived at procurement centre, even after waiting for hours in open. The angry farmers then put up road blockade. A similar situation arose at Jilda of Khadgaon tehsil in Koriya district where farmers commenced agitation after creating road blockade over non procurement of the paddy. In Kawardha district, the farmers are still continuing their agitation, laying a siege at Collector's office demanding the extension of date of procurement and resolving their issues.

Two Naxals killed, one Jawan injured in separate encounters

STAFF REPORTER ■ SUKMA/NARAYANPUR

Two Naxals were killed and a Special Task Force (STF) jawan was injured in separate encounters in Maoist-hit Sukma and Narayanpur districts on Wednesday, police said.

In the Sukma incident, the skirmish took place in a forest near Tondamarka village when a team of the District Reserve Guard (DRG) was out on a counter-insurgency operation, Inspector General of Police (Bastar range) Sundarraaj P said.

In another face off that occurred near Kasalpad village, one STF jawan was injured, he added.

Separate squads of the DRG, CRPF's elite unit CoBRA (Commando Battalion for Resolute Action) and the Special Task Force (STF) on Tuesday launched the operation in the forest, located around 450 km from the state capital Raipur, he said.

When a DRG patrolling team was cordoning off a forest area on Chintaga-fa-Chintalnar junction this morning, an exchange of fire broke out between the two sides, he said. The body of an ultra was later recovered from the spot, he said.

When security forces were returning after the operation, an exchange of fire took place in the forest near Kasalpad that left one STF jawan injured, he said.

On Tuesday, a CoBRA commando was killed and another injured in a gunfight with Naxals in Kistaram area of Sukma.

In another incident, a Naxal was gunned down in an encounter with the security forces in Abhujmad area of Narayanpur district near Ikul village, police said.

Abhujmad is a Naxal stronghold nestled in deep forests, located around 350 kms away from the state capital.

"After a brief exchange of fire, ultras escaped into the dense forest. During the search, the body of a Naxal was recovered from the spot," said superintendent of police, Narayanpur, Mohit Garg.

The identity of the deceased ultra was yet to be ascertained, he added.

BJP slams lathicharge on agitating farmers, dubs action 'insensitive'

STAFF REPORTER ■ RAIPUR

Leader of Opposition in Chhattisgarh State Assembly Dharamlal Kaushik has condemned the incident of cane charging on agitating farmers at Keshkal of Bastar division and termed the action insensitive act of Congress-led state government.

He said for several days, the farmers were agitating for paddy procurement at minimum support price but no one heard their voice. They were continuing with their agitation in democratic mode.

Kaushik said the indifferent state government by cane charging wants to instill a sense of terror among the farmers but they will continue to stand against the government raising their demand.

Backing the farmers' lawful demands, the BJP leader said across the state, justice will be sought and voice will be continued to be raised. He added that had the demands of agitating farmers at Keshkal resolved on time, such a situation could have been avoided. State government sat over the issue as the agitations spread to other areas like Bijapur,

Minister orders probe

STAFF REPORTER ■ RAIPUR

Home Minister Tamradhwaj Sahu has ordered a probe into the incident of cane-charge on farmers at Keshkal in Kondagaon district of the state.

The minister while talking to media persons here at Congress's state headquarters Rajiv Bhawan on Wednesday said that Additional District Magistrate (ADM) had been asked to enquire into the matter.

The minister however said the farmers should have put their demands before the senior official instead of taking law into their own hands. Meanwhile, a probe was ordered and whosoever would be found guilty would be punished, he said.

Notable, as the paddy procurement works was stalled at procurement centers in the Keshkal region, irate farmers resorted to a chakka jam in National Highway-30 which connects Bastar to the state capital. In a bid to disperse the crowd and clear the road, the police allegedly unleashed cane charge on them.

UK's points-based visa system to attract best from India

London: UK Home Secretary Priti Patel on Wednesday unveiled a new points-based visa system to attract the 'brightest and the best' from the world, including from India, and to reduce the number of cheap and low-skilled workers coming to the country.

The new system will come into force from January 1, 2021 at the end of the transition period after the UK's exit from the European Union (EU) on January 31, which will formally end free movement of people within the economic bloc for the UK as a non-member.

The new post-Brexit system, which will apply equally to the EU and non-EU countries like India, is based on assigning points for specific skills, qualifications, salaries and professions, with visas only awarded to those who gain enough points.

"Today is a historic moment for the whole country. We're ending free movement, taking back control of our borders and delivering on the people's priorities by introducing a new UK points-based immigration system, which will bring overall migration numbers down," said Patel, the senior-most Indian-origin Cabinet minister.

"We will attract the brightest and the best from around the globe, boosting the economy and our communities, and unleash this country's full potential," Patel, in charge of the UK's visa and immigration system, said.

Under the scheme, foreign workers who wanted to come to the UK would have to speak English and have the offer of a skilled job with an 'approved sponsor'. They would be awarded 50 points if they fulfil these criteria.

In total, immigrants would have to reach 70 points to be able to work in the UK, with points also being awarded for qualifications, the salary on offer and working in a sector with shortages.

The UK Home Office said the new system is a direct response to the 2016 referendum in favour of Brexit, which was seen as a vote to end the country's reliance on cheap migrant labour and reduce overall levels of migration with tighter security.

"The new single global system will treat the EU and non-EU citizens equally. It will give top priority to those with the highest skills and the greatest talents, including scientists, engineers and academics," it said.

In New Delhi, Acting British High Commissioner Jan Thompson said, "The new Points-Based Immigration System is great news for Indian nationals looking to work in the UK. It puts Indian applicants on a level playing field, and prioritises those with the greatest skills and talent—something which India has in abundance."

The Global Talent Scheme, a fast-track visa to be in operation from Friday, will also apply to the EU citizens from next year to allow highly-skilled scientists and researchers to come to the UK without a job offer.

Changes to the system would be implemented through an immigration bill needing approval from MPs and peers to come into force, the BBC reported.

Opposition Labour Party said the "hostile environment" will make it hard to attract workers.

Liberal Democrat home affairs spokeswoman Christine Jardine said the proposals were based on "xenophobia".

Professor Alice Gast, President of Imperial College London, said: "British science is global. The new post-study work and Global Talent visas will help us to attract the world's brightest students and researchers, wherever they come from.

"From the race to develop a coronavirus vaccine to clean energy, British science's international collaborations drive innovation and excellence."

The government said the points threshold for the new system will be carefully set to attract the talent the UK needs. Skilled workers will need to meet a number of relevant criteria, including specific skills and the ability to speak English, to be able to work in the UK.

All applicants will be required to have a job offer and, in line with the Migration Advisory Committee's recommendations, the minimum salary threshold will be set at 25,600 pounds - lower than the previous 30,000 pounds level for Tier 2 work visas.

The new points-based system will also expand the skills threshold for skilled workers.

Those looking to live and work in the UK will need to be qualified up to A-level or equivalent, rather than degree-level under the current system.

This will provide greater flexibility and ensure UK business has access to a wide pool of skilled workers, the Home

Indian industry, students welcome it

London: Indian industry and students' groups in the UK have widely welcomed the new points-based visa system unveiled by Home Secretary Priti Patel on Wednesday to attract the "brightest and the best" from around the globe.

The new post-Brexit policy is pitched as a "firm and fair" mechanism that will treat all migrants equally as the free movement of people from within the European Union (EU) comes to an end from January 1 next year.

The magic number of points required to apply under the new system will be 70, accrued in increments of 20 or 10 based on professional skills, English language proficiency, a job offer from an approved sponsor and salary levels between 20,480 pounds and 25,600 pounds or above. PTI labour concerns of the agricultural sector reliant on seasonal workers from the EU, the Seasonal Workers Pilot will be expanded in time for the 2020 harvest from 2,500 to 10,000 places. EU citizens and other non-visa nationals will not require a visa to enter the UK when visiting the UK for up to six months.

However, the use of national identity cards will be phased out for travel to the UK and the Home Office highlighted that as part of its post-Brexit offer, those EU citizens resident in the UK by December 31, 2020 can still apply to settle in the UK through the EU Settlement Scheme until June 2021. PTI

BHOPAL GAS TRAGEDY CASE

CBI nabs convict absconding since 2016 from Nagpur

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The CBI has arrested a convict in the Bhopal Gas Tragedy case, SI Qureshi who was absconding since 2016.

Qureshi was one of the convicts in the case who will be produced before a court in Bhopal after his arrest from Nagpur on Tuesday, officials said.

The CBI had registered the case on December 6, 1984 on the request of Madhya Pradesh (MP) Government and took over the investigation of the case originally registered at Police Station Hanumanganj, Bhopal on December 2, 1984. It was alleged that on the intervening night of December 2 and 3, 1984 from 12.00 - 12.45 AM onwards hazardous gas methyl isocyanate (MIC) started to escape from Tank 610 in the UCIL (Union Carbide India Limited) factory at Bhopal in large quantities causing deaths of thousands of persons and animals and affecting the health of lakhs of people.

On conclusion of trial, the court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bhopal held all the accused persons guilty and convicted them. S. Qureshi an employee of Union Carbide Bhopal was also one of the convicted persons.

Aggrieved with the impugned order of the Court, the convicted persons filed appeals in the Court of Sessions Bhopal. CBI also filed an appeal against the order of CJM and requested for enhancement of the sentence. The case presently is at argument on appeals stage, agency officials said.

During pendency of appeal, SI Qureshi absconded from 2016. The Court issued Non-Bailable Warrant (NBW) against Qureshi. Initially Madhya Pradesh Police tried to execute the NBW but could not do so. CBI was requested to execute the NBW.

It was alleged that Qureshi along with his family went to an unknown destination. After strenuous efforts, CBI arrested the absconding accused on Tuesday in Nagpur, officials added.

CORONAVIRUS

India's third patient tests negative, decision on discharge today

Thiruvananthapuram: A woman medico tested negative for the second time, marking the recovery all three cases of the infection in India reported from Kerala, the state government said on Wednesday.

Two other students— one from Alappuzha and another Kasaragod — had been discharged recently after they too tested negative for the virus in fresh tests days after being infected by it.

A decision on discharge of the woman, India's first coronavirus patient and undergoing treatment in the isolation ward of the Thrissur Medical College Hospital since her return from Wuhan in China last month, would be taken by the Medical Board which will meet on Thursday, the officials said.

All the three Keralites had earlier tested positive for the coronavirus on their return from Wuhan, the epicentre of the deadly outbreak that has left over 2,000 people dead in China, triggering a scare in the state.

"The health condition of the third patient at Thrissur Medical College Hospital is satisfactory. The second consecutive test result of the blood sample of the student, sent to the National Institute of Virology in Pune, has returned negative," Health Minister K K Shailaja said in a release.

The health department said a total of 2,242 people are under observation across the state, out of which, eight are in isolation wards of various hospitals and other under home is quarantine. PTI

6 Chinese nationals put under scanner in Shimla

Shimla: Six Chinese nationals, who arrived in Himachal Pradesh in the past few days, were put under surveillance here on Wednesday in view of the novel coronavirus outbreak in China, an official said.

The Chinese nationals, who arrived here in two batches on February 13 and February 16 via Kolkata, were 'asymptomatic'.

The state health department got to know about their presence here on Tuesday night. They have been put under surveillance and advised to report to the health officials in case of symptoms of cough and fever, the official said.

Officials of the integrated disease surveillance programme (IDSP) on Wednesday visited the home stay in Lakkar Bazar where they have been staying and found that they were 'asymptomatic'.

None of the six Chinese nationals visited Wuhan, the epicentre of the novel coronavirus outbreak, after January 15, the official said.

Five of them came to India from China on January 28 and 29, whereas the sixth Chinese national came from Malaysia on January 29. The five Chinese were screened in China before leaving for India and they were again screened at the Kolkata airport.

Visas of the five-member group are valid till February 27, whereas the sixth person's visa is valid till June. PTI

Trump relishes prospect of 70...

Trump, forcefully pursuing his 'America first' policy, has previously described India as a "tariff king" for imposing "tremendously high" tariffs on American products, also expressed dissatisfaction over the US-India trade ties. "Well, we can have a trade deal with India, but I'm really saving the big deal for later on," Trump told reporters at the Joint Base Andrews outside Washington on Tuesday when asked whether he expects a trade deal with India before the visit.

During his interaction with journalists, Trump once again voiced his concern over US-India trade relations. "We're not treated very well by India," the US president said. "The US and India could sign a "trade package" during Trump's visit, according to media reports.

US Trade Representative Robert Lighthizer, the point-person for trade negotiations with India, may not accompany Trump to India, sources said. However, officials have not ruled it out altogether.

Multiple rounds of talks have taken place between Commerce Minister Piyush Goyal and Lighthizer in the past few weeks over telephone. India is demanding exemption from high duties imposed by the US on certain steel and aluminium products, resumption of export benefits to certain domestic products under their Generalised System of Preferences (GSP), greater market access for its products from sectors including agriculture, automobile, auto components and engineering.

On the other hand, the US wants greater market access for its farm and manufacturing products, dairy items and medical devices, and cut on import duties on some ICT products. The US has also raised concerns over high trade deficit with India which was USD 16.9 billion in 2018-19. In New Delhi, sources said India and US do not want to rush in finalising a trade deal and both sides will take a decision on it considering a long-term view.

They also said some defence deals may fructify during Trump's visit.

Listing out the schedule in New Delhi, Shringla said Modi will host a lunch for Trump, while President Ram Nath Kovind will host a banquet in honour of the visiting dignitary.

DEATH TOLL FROM CHINA VIRUS SURGES PAST 2,000

Beijing: The death toll from the coronavirus epidemic in China crossed the 2,000-mark on Wednesday with the death of 136 more people, while the overall confirmed cases climbed to 74,185, authorities said.

The National Health Commission said in its daily report that 2,004 people had died of the disease known as COVID-19. NHC said 1,749 new cases of novel coronavirus infection have been confirmed.

Of the new deaths, 132 were reported from the worst-hit Hubei Province and one each from Heilongjiang, Shandong, Guangdong and Guizhou.

Another 1,185 new suspected cases have been reported. On Tuesday, 236 patients became seriously ill, while 1,824 people were discharged from hospital after recovery.

The commission added that 11,977 patients remained in severe condition, and 5,248 people were suspected of being infected with the virus, the state-run Xinhua news agency reported.

By Tuesday, 62 confirmed cases including one death had been reported in Hong Kong, 10 confirmed cases in Macao and 22 in Taiwan including one death. China's daily number of newly recovered novel coronavirus patients has surpassed that of new confirmed infections for the first time, according to NHC.

So far, 14,376 patients infected with the novel coronavirus had been discharged from hospital after recovery, NHC said.

On Tuesday, Dr Liu Zhiming, president of Wuhan Wuchang Hospital in Hubei, died of the novel coronavirus pneumonia highlighting the risks posed by virus to the medical staff.

Liu was a leading neurosurgeon in Wuhan.

Last Friday, the NHC said a total of 1,716 medical workers had been confirmed contracting the infection. As of February 11, six medical workers were killed while treating patients. This included the whistle-blower ophthalmologist, Dr Li Wenliang who was reprimanded by police for alerting about the virus over the social media in December. PTI

Passengers leave Japan virus ship

Yokohama: Relieved passengers began leaving a coronavirus-wracked cruise ship in Japan on Wednesday after testing negative for the disease that has now claimed more than 2,000 lives in China.

The Diamond Princess has proved a fertile breeding ground for the virus with at least 542 positive cases, and there is mounting criticism of Japan's handling of quarantine arrangements as passengers ready to disperse into the wider world.

The ship is the biggest cluster outside China, where new figures showed the death toll surging beyond 2,000 with more than 74,000 infected. Hundreds more cases have been reported in two dozen countries.

For some 500 passengers allowed to disembark after testing negative, a difficult 14-day quarantine period has come to an end after their dream cruise turned into a nightmare of fear and crushing boredom confined in many cases to small windowless cabins. AFP

Coronavirus reaches Iran

Tehran: Two people in Iran tested positive on Wednesday for the deadly new coronavirus, the Health Ministry said, in the Islamic republic's first cases of the disease. Kianoush Jahanpour, a Ministry spokesman, said the cases were detected in the holy city of Qom, south of the Iranian capital. "In the past two days, some suspect cases of the new coronavirus were observed in Qom city," he said, quoted by state news agency IRNA. AFP

XI CALLS FOR PROTECTION OF MEDICAL STAFF

Beijing: Chinese President Xi Jinping called for greater protection of medical workers fighting the coronavirus after casualties among them showed an upward trend as the death toll from the epidemic crossed the 2,000-mark on Wednesday, authorities said.

China's National Health Commission (NHC) in its daily report said that 136 people died on Tuesday taking the total death toll to 2,004 so far due to the virus also called COVID-19. PTI

China expels three Wall Street Journal correspondents

Beijing: China on Wednesday expelled three Wall Street Journal correspondents, the largest expulsion of overseas media men from the country in more than three decades, after the newspaper declined to apologise for a column which Beijing criticised as "racist" and tarnishing its efforts to combat the coronavirus epidemic. Chinese spokesman said China made repeated representations to the US newspaper over the opinion piece which had the headline: "China is the real sick man of Asia" but regretted that it had not offered a public apology. PTI

South Korea coronavirus cases jump by two-thirds in one day

Seoul: South Korea reported 20 new confirmed cases of the novel coronavirus on Wednesday — increasing its total by nearly two-thirds — including a cluster of at least 16 centred on the southern city of Daegu.

The trade-dependent nation has been hit by the economic fallout from the virus outbreak in neighbouring China, but until Wednesday's jump, its own case numbers had hardly changed for several days.

The Korea Centres for Disease Control and Prevention (KCDC) said in a statement that 20 new coronavirus cases had been confirmed, raising its total from 31 to 51. Of those, 18 were in Daegu and neighbouring North Gyeongsang province, with 15 of them believed to be linked to a single patient, a 61-year-old woman.

Fourteen of them attend the same church as the woman, the KCDC said, while the other one had come into contact with her at a hospital.

She had first developed a fever on February 10 but reportedly refused to be tested twice for the coronavirus on the grounds that she had not recently travelled abroad. AFP

Bloomberg would sell business interests if elected president

Sacramento (US): Mike Bloomberg would sell the financial data and media company he created in the 1980s — which bears his name and made him a multibillionaire — if he is elected US president, a top adviser has said.

Bloomberg would put Bloomberg LP into a blind trust, and the trustee would then sell the company, adviser Tim O'Brien said Tuesday. Proceeds from the sale would go to Bloomberg Philanthropies, the charitable giving arm that funds causes from climate change to public health and grants for American cities.

The only restriction Bloomberg would put on the sale is that it not be sold to a foreign buyer or a private equity company, O'Brien said. Bloomberg, a Democrat, is currently chief executive of the company.

"We want to be 180 degrees apart from Donald Trump around financial conflicts of interest," O'Brien told The Associated Press.

"We think it's one of the biggest stains on the presidency, and Trump's record is his refusal to disengage himself in his own financial interests. And we want to be very transparent and clean and clear with voters about where Mike is on these things." AP

Boeing finds new issue with Max, debris in fuel tanks

Paris: Boeing said on Tuesday that it found debris contaminating the fuel tanks of some 737 Max jets that it built in the past year but was unable to deliver to airline customers.

A Boeing official said the debris was discovered in "several" planes but did not give a precise number. Boeing built about 400 undelivered Max jets before it temporarily halted production last month.

The fuel tank debris was discovered during maintenance on parked planes, and Boeing said it immediately made corrections in its production system to prevent a recurrence. Those steps include more inspections before fuel tanks are sealed. AP

Blagojevich released from prison after Trump pardon

Chicago: Rod Blagojevich walked out of prison Tuesday after President Donald Trump cut short the 14-year prison sentence handed to the former Illinois Governor for political corruption.

The Republican president said the punishment imposed on the Chicago Democrat and one-time contestant on Trump's reality TV show "Celebrity Apprentice" was excessive. "So he'll be able to go back home," Trump told reporters. "That was a powerful, ridiculous sentence in my opinion and in the opinion of many others," Blagojevich landed at Chicago's O'Hare airport on Wednesday a free man, promising judicial and criminal justice reform while maintaining his innocence. "I didn't do the things they said I did and they lied on me," Blagojevich told WGN-TV as he walked through the airport shaking the hands of travelers who welcomed him home. AP

Chance of a deal with Taliban: Trump

Washington: Ahead of his visit to India next week, US President Donald Trump has reiterated that he sees "a chance" of a peace deal with the Taliban to withdraw troops from Afghanistan.

The US has been negotiating with the Taliban and Trump earlier, too, suggested there had been progress between the two sides to reduce violence in the war-torn country and end America's longest war, for 19 years.

"We are negotiating with the Taliban. We've been negotiating with them for a while. We will see what happens. There's a chance of making a deal. There's a chance," Trump told reporters at Joint Base Andrews Tuesday afternoon local time.

Marvin G Weinbaum, Director for Afghanistan and Pakistan Studies at the Middle East Institute, has said the US appears well on its way to signing an agreement with the Taliban later this month. Trump is scheduled to visit India on February 24 and 25. PTI

EU to target stolen artefacts in post-Brexit talks

Brussels: Europeans could include the issue of stolen cultural artefacts, especially Greek or Roman antiquities, in negotiations on their future relationship with Britain, according to the draft of the EU negotiating mandate. The mandate, seen by AFP, sets out the EU's objectives and red lines and now includes a call on the parties to "return unlawfully removed cultural objects to their countries of origin". Early reports, denied by officials on Wednesday, said the mention pertained to the Parthenon marbles, the ancient sculptures commonly known as the Elgin marbles that are on display in the British Museum in London. AFP

No visas for low-skilled workers: UK

London: Low-skilled workers would not get visas under post-Brexit immigration plans unveiled by the British government. It is urging employers to "move away" from relying on "cheap labour" from Europe and invest in retaining staff and developing automation technology, the BBC reported on Wednesday.

The Home Office said EU and non-EU citizens coming to the UK would be treated equally after UK-EU free movement ends on December 31.

Labour said a "hostile environment" would make it hard to attract workers. IANS

Trump will have a triumphant visit to India: Top former US diplomat

Washington: Donald Trump will have a triumphant visit to India, a top diplomat in the previous Obama administration has said, asserting the US president has energised the Indian-Americans as a result of which Democrats might not be able to hold on to this community as they did in the past.

"My expectation will be — my guess is that President Trump will have a triumphant visit in Delhi," Kurt Campbell, a former assistant secretary of state for East Asian and Pacific Affairs, said.

Currently the chairman and CEO of Asia Group, Campbell said Trump's primary interest is not about America's role in the world. "His primary interest is his reelection. It's how that will manifest in terms of his potential reelection in November," he said in response to a question at an event at the Brookings Institute think-tank last week. PTI

Bending backwards

Over-the-top preps for Trump visit invite criticism. Do the poor need to be swept under the carpet?

At one end, there is the propagandist accusation that we do not own our Indianness enough as a people or aren't proud of it. On the other end, there is this relic of a colonial obsession, rather subservience, to please the White world. What else explains our bending backwards to roll out the red carpet for US President Donald Trump? To begin with, the Yamuna will be flowing as it should, clean and swirling, for the day that Trump is going to be here. The Uttar Pradesh Government will be releasing 500 cusecs of water to clear the river of contaminants and toxic waste, making what usually is a smelly canal look like a river. On other days, Delhiites only deserve the sewage drain avatar. The one-day wonder is supposed to make us feel proud of living in a waterfront city. Poor monkeys are being chased off the Taj Mahal stretch. And in Ahmedabad, where the POTUS will be landing first, masons are hastily finishing a half-a-kilometre wall along the stretch between the Ahmedabad airport and Gandhinagar to shut off our putrid slums from the eyeline of a speeding limousine. While authorities defend the social barrier as one prompted by security concerns, the real intention is not lost, ensuring pleasing visuals of Indian exotica and a swachh Bharat to one of the most important men on the planet. As if that would soften his stand on trade ties with India. Apparently eviction notices have been served to 45 families living in another slum near the biggest cricket stadium that Trump is gushing about. Following the mantra of Atithi Devo Bhava is one thing but disowning our truths is quite the other. Yes, India as an emergent economy with a massive population has its own warts, inequities and dualities to live with. But why deny our composite existence or be insensitive to the lesser privileged? For in the end by walling off our imperfections into ghettos, we end up reinforcing old stereotypes instead of changing them and perpetuate Western biases. By acknowledging the existence of the underlings, we give them dignity, prize their contribution to society and mainstream them as a reality that has to be dealt with, not hidden away. Of course, other than the very Indian affliction of undervaluing ourselves while putting our best foot forward, there is the other problem of sustaining the myth of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's development work in his own State as Chief Minister. And a gaping slum certainly wouldn't be a glorious ode to his helmsmanship in that capacity for 12 years. So the Modi Government is going all out to strengthen its leadership credentials even if possibilities of a trade deal with the US look remote, particularly over the thorny issue of dairy exports.

The Modi Government has gone to the extent of pulling out all stops to reinforce a crafted image of the country and promote its leadership credentials before Trump. Contracts worth ₹85 crore, from the construction of the stadium, which supposedly has the maximum seating capacity, to the beautification of cities, have gone out to various agencies. The depreciation has already begun with Trump tweeting dissatisfaction over the way India-US ties have shaped up over trade, a clear indication that war on that front will be hard-nosed no matter what the trimmings. Questions are also being raised about Gujarat being chosen simply because it is the Prime Minister's home State. Others are wondering if it wasn't better for the makeover funds to have been diverted to slum cluster improvements instead. Simply on qualifiers, there were other "better-looking" States. Gujarat was ranked 22nd among Indian States in the human development index for 2018. The Maternal Mortality Rate was 91 per 1,00,000 live births in 2016 as compared to 66 in Tamil Nadu and 88 in Telangana in the same year. According to crime data, the suicide rates there due to poverty increased by 162 per cent in 2018. Last year, the UK, too, rolled out the red carpet for Trump for a formal State visit, provoking protests from none other than the London mayor who said that such treatment shouldn't be extended to someone whose "behaviour flies in the face of the ideals America was founded upon — equality, liberty and religious freedom." He had even highlighted Trump's endorsement of far-right nationalism, picking on minority groups and the marginalised to manufacture an enemy. Perhaps, there's a commonality of perception here that doesn't make Trump look like so much of an oddity in the first place. One would have understood if the "good friend" vibes resulted in friendly deals. But other than "feel good" vibes, which have been around anyway because of improved diplomatic ties of the last couple of years, this gush seems a tad too obsequious.

Gross indignity

When teachers and spiritual leaders endorse myths around menstruation, policies don't mean anything

For a Government which is prioritising menstrual health and hygiene as part of policy, its loyalist followers are harming it by perpetuating medieval myths around a biological process. And it comes as a huge shock when educators of a modern society — women at that — subject others to the cruellest form of mental and emotional trauma over something as natural as menstruation as was done recently in a college in Gujarat. Sixty eight students at a hostel in Bhuj were made to strip before teachers to prove that they were not menstruating. What led to this outrage was the fact that the girls, who are undergraduate students at the Shree Sahajanand Girls Institute (SSGI), run by the Swaminarayan sect, were flouting a set of preposterous rules set by the college for them to follow during their periods. The discriminatory and utterly humiliating diktat bars students from entering the college temple, kitchen or touching other girls. In the classroom, they are expected to sit on the last bench and at meal time they have to sit away from others like pariahs and clean their own dishes. Not just this, the hostel keeps a register on when the students get their periods over a two-month cycle. Quite understandably not one girl had entered her name in it. Ironically, after the traumatised students raised a hue and cry over this nightmarish incident, the Principal squarely blamed the students for not following the rules and thus bringing the outrage upon themselves. What made matters worse was the statement by Krushnaswarup Dasji, a religious leader, that menstruating women, who cooked for their husbands, would be reborn as dogs and men consuming such food would be reborn as bullocks! This beats all evolutionary theory and entrenches the worst superstition.

Such words, coming from people who wield influence over the minds of others, particularly in rural India, are disturbing due to the sheer lack of sensitivity and violation of human rights, apart from the fact that they perpetuate illogical beliefs. Myths and taboos surrounding menstruation have to be broken down and a scientific temper has to be developed before Government schemes, incentives, health workers and social organisations succeed in their efforts to improve the lot of women. Over 60,000 cases of cervical cancer deaths are reported every year, mostly due to poor menstrual hygiene. A whopping 23 million girls drop out of school annually. This in a country that has a temple dedicated to fertility.

New dawn for the military

With the apex court ruling in favour of equality for women, the armed forces will have more candidates to choose from. In defensive engagements, they could well be superior to men

PRAFULL GORADIA

Women soldiers would be a serious problem if and when they happen to be taken prisoner. But as commanding officers, they would seldom be in the first line of infantry fighting. Nor are cavalry officers acutely vulnerable. This question of prisoner of war possibly confused the entire issue of command qualities. The question of strength and stamina has fortunately been resolved as infantry weapons have become light and fire-efficient. There is no comparison between the .303 and today's assault rifles. Even this writer found the former heavy to lift and carry for long.

For the rest, the issue of women as jawans or officers was highly relevant, dominated by the bias of tradition and mindset. Until firearms came into existence, prospects for women were indeed not that bright as the "sword" or the "lance" was heavy and needed strong arms. Women were also weaker due to the quality of diet and the number of childbirths. Mumtaz Mahal, queen of Shah Jahan, who was possibly the wealthiest man in the world of his time, bore 14 children, of whom only seven survived. Imagine the waste of female stamina and strength; how could they be soldiers? She, who cannot be a soldier, cannot be an officer and in turn a commander. To add to this was the patriarchy that refused to see women as anything else, except as householders and mothers.

The invention of the musket in the 16th century sprouted the first ray of hope for the woman as a soldier. The gender of an individual pressing the trigger makes no difference to the target. Early models, however, were very heavy and were often operated by two soldiers resting the weapon on a portable table. This innovation by itself limited chances for women. As the weapon became better and lighter, the lesser was the muscle required. The better and stronger the vehicle, the lesser was the stamina needed. The lesser the child-bearing, the stronger the woman remained. We have arrived so far through four to five centuries.

There has been a new dawn for the military. The armed forces have many more potential candidates to choose from now. Women can make equally good fighting stock whether on land, air or sea. In fact, in defensive engagements, they could well be superior to men. For instance, a tigress or any female animal protects her young, quite ferociously. Arguably, the male may not be so determined while defending even his own house. When a woman defends her homeland, this writer believes, she would be equally committed to saving her progeny. A brave man would defend his country with equal zeal but when he finds his situation hopeless, he is likely to retreat or even surrender. A woman is less likely to give up on protecting her own people, like her own children. An order like "victory or death" is less difficult for a woman to obey than for a man. Apparently, the braver the commander, the more courageous should be the battalion.

The recent doubt, which the Supreme Court had to clear about whether women officers would make equally effective commanders, is unusual. The male ego fattened since the beginning of time, which, it is widely believed, could find it difficult to obey a woman in public. In private, it is different and even a stronger, wiser person has been listened to readily. Shorn of such mindsets, the issue is one of leadership. In the 1960s, who could have believed that former Prime Minister Indira Gandhi would have made a leader superior to say, Morarji Desai? This question is one of leadership and neither of statesmanship, nor prime ministership.

Indira Gandhi retained the leadership of her party, the Congress, until her death. True, she had the advantage of being former Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's daughter, which gave her an enviable start. After that, she had to rely on her own wit and resources in order to survive and succeed.

The problem hitherto is that women do not get the exposure and opportunity to be able to perform on the right platform and at the right level; at least in most fields. Kanshi Ram, the founder of the Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP), gave a start to Mayawati and she came up to be the Chief Minister of Uttar Pradesh. Trinamool Congress (TMC) chief Mamata Banerjee has risen exclusively on her own initiative; she has demonstrated eloquently the qualities needed to make nine crore people of West Bengal to follow.

For some time, maybe some years, women commanders would have to develop superior qualities such as military knowledge, bold initiatives and quick decision-making. Leaders must be superior to their followers. Once that is demonstrated, there should be no difficulty. There is a phenomenon generally not remembered and at times not known. This writer can communicate it through his experience during physical training in college. The Elphinstone College in Mumbai had no ground and, hence, its physical training (PT) classes were occasionally held at the neighbouring Oval maidan. The entire class of 110 students would together move to this ground. There were less than 25 boys, the rest were girls. The latter were given light exercises, which could be done while wearing sarees (this is what most girls wore 65 years ago). However, boys had to sprint, do sit-ups, push-ups et al. This writer was neither strong nor practised and by himself, could do no more than 15 to 17 sit-ups and push-ups. At the Oval, however, in the presence of girls, he could go up to 50 of them. The only explanation for this was gender pride. How could he let his pride down? If this gender pride could percolate to the armed forces, we can expect extraordinary performance from our sailors, soldiers and airmen in an inclusive atmosphere.

When we move from the commander to the level of a senior general, the situation would change. The progress from tactics to strategy is a big leap. The former is adequate for a skirmish or a limited battle. Anything bigger or more on-going would call for greater military imagination to be able to visualise what is neither visible nor obvious. And women make for good strategists. A well thought-out strategy must ensure that the war plan is not upset even if the future brings forth enemy action that is surprisingly different. World War II German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel is probably the most famous General. But when compared with Field Marshal Erich von Manstein, Rommel is considered an exceptional tactician. Whereas Manstein, by his defence and in-depth strategy, delayed the Russian Army from reaching Germany by a whole year. The Manstein brilliance lay in retreating faster than the Russians could move, then wait on the sidelines until the Reds had arrived, only to be surrounded and taken prisoners in thousands.

France has six borders beginning with the North Sea in the west, then Belgium, then the German border, which was defended by a chain of fortresses called the Maginot line. The Ardennes forest was considered impassable as it would have led to Germany, then Switzerland and finally Italy. Berlin was in search of a point of utter surprise attack. Manstein suggested the presumably impassable Ardennes forest. France had left it undefended; his idea was accepted. It took only 40 days to compel France to surrender. That was gem of a strategy. An integration of genders would mean that many evolved minds are at play.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

More power to women

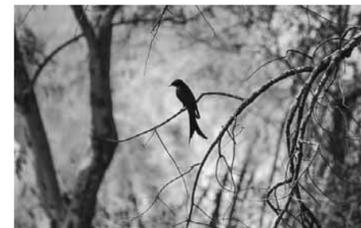

Sir — This refers to the editorial, "Lead from the front" (February 18). India has a history of women commanders, who fought wars against formidable adversaries. The name of Rani Lakshmbai tops this list. While we often cite the protective-destructive capabilities of Shakti, Durga and Kali, it is ironical that it took a Supreme Court order for female officers in the Army to get the same status as their male counterparts. The top court's order, upholding the right of women to equal opportunity in the Indian armed forces, is landmark. It has paved the way for all serving Short Service Commission (SSC) women officers to be eligible for permanent commission at par with their male colleagues. They will now get the same kind of promotion, rank, benefits and pension as that of their male counterparts but in non-combat support services only.

Women are still excluded from combat roles. This should change. Women should not just have the right to permanent

Act now to save our birds

A recent report, titled State of India's Birds 2020, has revealed that the count of the house sparrow, the Indian peafowl and certain other avian species in India has increased. Though the fact remains that sparrows have disappeared from most big cities, their numbers have remained stable over a period of 25 years. This factoid is some relief. What is concerning, however, is the fact that several other kinds of birds such as the red-necked falcon, the Indian cuckoo and the blue rock thrush have decreased in number and are struggling to survive. Several reasons such as habitat loss, the use of pesticides, hunting and trapping have pushed them to the edge. Despite earlier calls to end the use of pesticides, its usage continues to plague the environment. Habitat loss, too, continues unabated and a rapidly-growing population isn't going to ease pressures any time soon. Rising temperatures, changing vegetation and extreme weather conditions have played their own role in deteriorating conditions of the birds.

Now that we have comprehensive data, which was compiled on the basis of observations made by over 15,500 bird watchers, we must make the best use of it. It is up for the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change to secure a future for the birds by taking urgent steps to save threatened species. Resolute steps taken to protect forests and tree cover can offer multiple benefits.

China leads the way

Sir — Whereas the US dictates monetary transactions globally, China has usurped the manufacturing sphere so much that its transient, if extended, disruption will make every nation feel the chill. Over the past three decades,

China leads the way

China has quietly become the axis of the global economy. Even as it rules heavy industries such as coal, steel, cement and rare-earths among others, it holds equal strength on items as varied as electronic components, solar cells, clothing and air conditioners, to name a few. High volumes of production have brought down costs of items to such a level that advanced nations have been forced to wind down their own capacities. We may find fault with China's autocratic nature but the fact is, its politics was made to subscribe to the economy. Yet, when it came to combating Coronavirus, China did not give a second thought to the perils of an economic plunge. It went on to take unprecedented and peremptory steps to contain the virus. It is this singular goal clarity that has made it what it is today.

Right to liberty reaffirmed

The apex court in a recent decision said that anticipatory bail once granted cannot have an expiry date until specified by the court

MADHAVI KHANDELWAL
SHAKEIB NARU

The Supreme Court in its recent decision in the Sushila Aggarwal and Others vs. State (NCT of Delhi) case declared that anticipatory bail once granted to an accused under Section 438 of the Criminal Procedure Code (CrPC) cannot have an expiry date until explicitly specified by the court. This verdict is indeed a cornerstone in reaffirming the right to life and liberty of citizens as guaranteed by our Constitution. Authored by Justice MR Shah and Justice SR Bhat, this verdict has resolved the controversies created mainly by two judgments viz., Salauddin Abdulsamad Shaikh and Siddharam Satlingappa Mhetre, with both of them taking completely opposite views. Salauddin narrowed the scope and jurisdiction of the courts under Section 438 by mandating imposition of strict conditions while granting anticipatory bail. However, Mhetre ruled that grant of bail for a limited period or with any such conditions is contrary to the legislative intention and settled tenets of criminal law. These seemingly incongruent strands of reasoning, stemming from the two distinct lines of precedents and spawning divergent approaches to the scope of jurisdiction under Section 438, impelled a reference to the larger Bench. Before going into the nuances of this verdict, we must understand the meaning and definition of anticipatory bail and its governing parameters. The CrPC, 1973 does not define anticipatory bail and rather provides only the mechanism for availing it through Section 438. However, the apex court defined anticipatory bail as “bail in anticipation of arrest” in the case of Balchand Jain for the very first time. Further, it was also laid down that the power to grant anticipatory bail rests only with the Sessions Court and the High Court. Here, it is interesting to note that the old code of criminal procedure, 1898 did not contain any provision for anticipatory bail and it was adopted only after the recommendations from the 41st Report of the Law Commission of India. Now coming back to the recent judgment in Sushila, the Constitution Bench decided upon a bunch of controversies, cleared some major confusions and passed some landmark orders, which are as follows:

Reiterated the law laid down by the Constitution Bench in Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia and others vs State of Punjab (Sibbia case): There is nothing in the CrPC to indicate that the grant of pre-arrest/anticipatory bail should be time-bound. However, the court concerned has the discretion to impose conditions for the grant of anticipatory bail, including a limited duration of protection, on a case-to-case basis, depending on the stage at which the application for anticipatory bail is moved. As a rule, there should be no time-limit imposed in granting pre-arrest protection. The duration of an anticipatory bail order does not normally end when the accused is summoned by the court. However, it is up to the court to impose additional restrictions if there are peculiar circumstances warranting the same.

The life of anticipatory bail does not end when the accused is summoned by court: The court found that ordinarily, the protection given through anticipatory bail would not automatically come to an end if the person is summoned as an accused in the case by a court. However, if there are special or peculiar circumstances necessitating the same, the court has the power to limit the tenure of anticipatory bail.

Time-limits may be imposed by courts but not as a rule: All the same, the court further noted as per the Sibbia case, the competent court still retains the discretion to impose time-limits or other conditions, on a case-to-case basis, if required. However, it added that such limits should not be ordinarily imposed. The Supreme Court, therefore, has answered the first issue in the following terms, “The protection granted to a person under Section 438 of the CrPC should not invariably be limited to a fixed period; it should inure in favour of the accused without any restriction on time. Normal conditions under Section 437(3) read with Section 438(2) should be imposed; if there are specific facts or features in regard to any offence, it is open for the court to impose any condition...”

Guidelines on grant of anticipatory bail: Before parting with the matter, the Bench also issued some more guidelines on the grant of anticipatory bail. It ruled that the anticipatory bail applications should be based on concrete facts, not vague or general allegations, relating to a specific offence. It is advisable that the court, depending on the seriousness of the threat of arrest, issue notice to the public prosecutor to obtain facts. Nothing in the CrPC compels or obliges a court to impose conditions limiting the grant of anticipatory bail. The need to impose restrictions during grant of anticipatory bail would have to be judged on a case-to-case basis. Such special or other restrictive conditions may be imposed if the case or cases warrant but should not be imposed in a routine manner, in all cases. The gravity of the offence and the applicant's role should guide the court in deciding whether or not to grant anticipatory bail in its discretion. Anticipatory bail granted can (depending on the conduct of the accused) continue after filing of the chargesheet till end of trial.

Sustainability is your business

Sustained activity, both in words and actions, backed by strong leadership is the need of the hour to achieve the goal of net-zero emissions by 2050

HIMA BINDU KOTA

Climate change is a grim reality faced not just by mankind but everyone who inhabits the Earth. The rising global temperatures are affecting seasons, so winters have become shorter and spring is early to arrive. These shifting seasons impact many life cycle events which in turn have a major impact on agriculture and global food production. What is challenging is that the changes are happening too fast and many species may not be able to adapt to these unprecedented fluctuations. The Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) has reported a global warming of 1.5 °C, which is enough to put 20-30 per cent of species at the risk of extinction. Sadly, many of us are not even aware of it, let alone work towards mitigating them. And this goes for individuals, societies and businesses. Of the three, businesses all around the world are the biggest contributors to global warming since they are responsible for at least 70 per cent of all carbon emissions. So, on humanitarian grounds, there should be an extreme urgency by businesses to slow down and reverse climate change. Sustained activity, both in words and actions, backed by strong leadership is the need of the hour to achieve the goal of net-zero emissions by 2050. This can only be done by being a part of the solution rather than a part of the problem. And this is how some companies are doing it:

Investments in renewable energy sources: Several big firms are investing in renewable energy sources to reduce their greenhouse gas targets. McDonald's is leading the way with the large-scale purchase of virtual power that will support wind and solar energy. This renewable energy generation can be equated to taking 140,000 cars off the road for one year. In the furniture industry, IKEA has invested $2 billion into renewable energy projects and is planning to build 416 wind turbines. It has already installed around 750,000 solar panels on its stores. One of the most powerful corporations in the world and Google's parent company, Alphabet Inc, has also been named as one of the most eco-friendly firms. All offices and company buildings, including Google headquarters in Silicon Valley, are powered by 100 per cent renewable energy, which removes an estimated five million tonnes of carbon dioxide from the atmosphere each year. By purchasing a 1.6-gigawatt renewable energy package, Google has made its clean energy portfolio large enough to power a country of the size of Uruguay. Similarly, Microsoft boosted its renewable energy portfolio to more than 1,900 MW, which is enough to power 1.5 million homes. Swiss fragrance and flavour manufacturer Firmenich is one of the most sustainable companies in the world, operating on 78 per cent renewable energy and working with other CEOs and politicians to help limit global warming to above pre-industrial levels. Apart from Firmenich, L'Oréal was the only other firm to receive an 'A' (the highest score) across all three areas of the CDP's (formerly Carbon Disclosure Project) rankings — climate change, deforestation and water security. It is committed to zero deforestation by this year-end and has revamped more than one-fifth of its entire product range to reduce dependence on petrochemicals and encourages the use of plant-based, renewable resources. Johnson & Johnson has taken several steps to ensure that all packaging is recyclable, reusable or compostable by 2025. Its operations are currently powered by 31 per cent renewable energy and it plans to increase this to 100 per cent by 2050.

“ COMPANIES IN 35 COUNTRIES, INCLUDING THE US, HAVE EXPERIENCED GROWTH IN THE LAST 15 YEARS WHILE REDUCING THEIR EMISSIONS. ACCORDING TO THE NEW CLIMATE ECONOMY REPORT, THE DECISION TO REDUCE EMISSIONS WILL BE GOOD FOR THE JOB MARKET AS IT WILL CREATE 65 MILLION NEW LOW CARBON EMISSION JOBS WHILE GENERATING ENTERPRISE VALUE WORTH $26 TRILLION TILL 2030 ”

Collaborating for saving the environment: Earth cannot be saved without proper collaboration among different actors in society. One of the major efforts towards this is found in the collaboration between Walmart, several environmental groups and over 1,000 suppliers, known as project Gigaton, to overhaul the company's supply chain worldwide by reducing greenhouse gas pollution by about a billion tonnes by 2030. Nearly 94 million metric tonnes of emissions have already been reduced since its launch. Another global corporate leader and a champion for environmental sustainability is Unilever that is collaborating with farmers worldwide to reduce harm to the environment. It is aiming to procure its agricultural materials from sustainable sources by the end of this year and eliminating single-use plastic packaging in the UK by 2025. It also plans to become carbon positive by 2030 by reducing or totally eliminating the use of fossil fuels and generating more renewable energy than it consumes. Several food companies have also collaborated with sustainable management consultants to assess the deforestation risk developed due to their operations and take steps to create a sustainable food system. Nestle, the largest food company on Earth, uses satellite technology to ensure that no deforestation is taking place in its supply chain. It has also committed to using 100 per cent responsibly-sourced palm oil by 2020. It has been severely criticised in the past for using palm oil that led to deforestation. Danone, a company producing yogurts, water and plant-based food and drinks, is working in collaboration with farmers to reduce soil degradation and water usage, in the process reducing the company's carbon footprint by 25 per cent.

Say “no” to plastics: In India, the Philippines and Indonesia, Unilever has found itself under pressure over plastic packaging. Earlier this year, the company was named by the “Break Free From Plastic” campaign as one of the firms most responsible for plastic pollution in these countries. On its part, to help the environment, IKEA plans to ban single-use plastic products from its shops and restaurants by 2020. The company wants to purchase 100 per cent renewable energy by 2020 and use only renewable and recycled materials in its products by the same year. It plans to make its deliveries emission-free by 2025.

Innovation to save the environment: As it is rightly said, “Necessity is the mother of all invention.” Stopping and reversing climate change is the necessity to save our planet now. However, organisations lack awareness on specific technologies that can help them reduce emissions and boost sustainability. Several entrepreneurs globally are trying to bridge this gap and start-ups are being funded to help companies solve sustainability challenges and make progress toward the 2025 climate goals. Danish shipping company Maersk is using biofuels to help it achieve a carbon-neutral status by 2050. It piloted tested biofuel made from cooking oil to run its cargo ship from Rotterdam to Shanghai and in the process reduce an estimated 1.5 million kg of carbon emissions. Tesla, the electric-car maker, has a holistic environment protection policy where they make sure that the suppliers work without harming the environment, responsibly manage all waste and efficiently use water and energy resources. Microsoft, on the other hand, is using new age technology like artificial intelligence for several sustainability initiatives, forecasting wildfires and risks related to them, minimising the environmental costs of farming, planting trees and protecting endangered species. The Nike Air range of trainers uses at least 50 per cent recycled materials and diverts more than 95 per cent of waste from landfills. Plus the company is soon to release a range of trainers coloured with plant-based dyes, which reduces pollution of waterways.

Accepting climate change at the policy level: Voluntary efforts are good but not enough to tackle the real threat of climate change. Businesses should be open to developing climate policies and governments should support companies in implementing the same. This trend had started now with CEOs of several companies like Dow Chemical, BASF and Lafarge Holcim stressing on bringing about new regulations that check and penalise higher carbon emissions and incentivise lower carbon footprints.

This brings us to the question whether trying to protect the planet is also economically viable? Data suggests so. Companies in 35 countries, including the US, have experienced growth in the last 15 years while reducing their emissions.

According to the New Climate Economy report, the decision to reduce emissions will be good for the job market as it will create 65 million new low carbon emission jobs while generating enterprise value worth $26 trillion till 2030. By reducing emissions, companies will witness two-pronged benefits — a higher economic value and a boost to reputation value, from the point of view of the entire stakeholder group, including employees, investors, suppliers and customers. It is a win-win for all.

The huge human cost of stress in mining sector

A survey observed a strong connection between unemployment due to mining closure and mental distress across States. Workers exposed to the negative labour demand shock are facing very low chances of re-entering the job market

CHARUDUTTA PANIGRAHI

Recently, we celebrated 71 years of India's existence as a Republic and thus it would be pertinent to remember Article 21 of the Constitution, which deals with fundamental rights without which a republic would mean nothing. The fundamental right to life as enshrined in Article 21 includes the right to work. It is time for civil society to start talking collectively about livelihood which is recognised as a human right in many communities.

We need to get a more inclusive understanding of what we mean by livelihoods: Life engagement with land, water, forest, right to food, income, food security and the like. So, the first step in building up a narrative is building up a common understanding of what we mean by right to livelihoods.

As we know, livelihood encompasses issues of productive resources and access to resources and involves concerns in labour and goods markets. Work conditions in all sectors are central to the discourse and in particular recognition of work, generating employment, job security and wages.

The mining sector in India has witnessed largescale loss of livelihoods in recent times. On one hand India is aiming for a $5 trillion economy and on the other we are now finding it difficult to compete with emerging economies like Vietnam and Egypt. It is imperative to focus significantly on the mining sector with concerted efforts to regain its three per cent share and more in the GDP by 2024-25. The sector's GDP share in 2018-19 was 2.6 per cent, down from three per cent in 2011-12. Ever since the Supreme Court cancelled 88 mining leases in Goa on February 7, 2018, life has come to a grinding halt for more than 3,00,000 mining dependent. The State, once the richest economy in India, is now sluggish and the complete closure of mining activities has devastated families and brought about unimaginable misery in the lives of people. In neighbouring Karnataka, too, the ban on ore exports, e-auctions and quota systems in ore production have led to a floundering economy, severely denting the State's development and growth.

The recently-published sourcebook of FIDR, Mining: A Prudent Perspective, is based on a survey of 2,415 people from five major States whose economies are mainly mining-driven, namely Goa, Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand, Odisha and Karnataka. It would not be an exaggeration to say that this is the first-ever such report about the people's perception and attitudes toward the mining industry. The study has clearly brought out the impact of the uncertainties due to the ban on mining in these States. The social set-up and the families of miners are in the doldrums due to joblessness and deprivation of livelihoods.

In Goa, the closure of mining has resulted in a State-wide economic crisis of sorts. Karnataka has witnessed similar economic plight in the wake of the curbs. The FIDR survey indicates that in the five States, mining contributes to over 12 per cent (on an average) of the State's GDP. In Goa, stoppage of iron ore mining has impacted revenues worth ₹34 billion and the livelihood of several dependent segments as it has left stakeholders without an alternate source of income. This repeated stoppage of mining in Goa, Odisha and Karnataka has also led to loss of investor confidence which would have a long-term impact on their economies.

Almost all the respondents (over 90 per cent) agree that the mining sector has brought significant economic benefits for their communities and generated fiscal revenue, export earnings, relieved constraints to investment, spurred economic growth and created jobs. It has also contributed to infrastructure building. However, they also opine that realising and enhancing these benefits require action, primarily from the Government, but also from mining companies, local communities, employers and businesses in the country. Fiscal revenues from the extractive industry — taxes, royalties and other payments — are the major reasons why governments seek to promote its growth in their States. However, revenues from mining and benefits from them do not flow in automatically. To translate fiscal revenues from the extractive industry into sustainable development benefits, governments need to design and institute fiscal regimes that ensure a fair share of benefits to the States/country, which are also attractive for investors.

About half of the respondents believe strongly that mining drives economic growth through its linkages with the rest of the economy, such as by buying goods and services from suppliers (backward linkages) and by supplying minerals (forward linkages). Barring about 13 per cent, a majority (about eight of 10 stakeholders) describe mining as beneficial as long as the industry works to mitigate its impacts or it is properly regulated.

The findings from the survey suggest that the more the participants felt that mining created economic, employment and community benefits, the greater was their acceptance of it. This sounds obvious but should be viewed in relation to the unshakable faith these communities repose in nature, the ecology and the environment. Like in Odisha, all the mines are located in the remote, low-income, tribal-inhabited geographies. The forest dwellers have deep faith in nature, the flora and fauna which they revere. Hence social licence to operate in these areas would directly relate to how community perceptions of mining associated impacts and benefits relate to its endorsement.

It is clear, that the closure of mines has spiked vulnerability of the community. The survey observed a strong connection between unemployment due to mining closure and mental distress across States. Workers exposed to the negative labour demand shock are facing very low chances of re-entering employment. Either they lack the required skill set appropriate for other industries and line of work or there are no available employment opportunities. This leading to long unemployment spells resulting in spiralling of large-scale mental health problems. One in every five persons is suffering from depression and other forms of mental issues.

The survey also discovered that the psychological cost of parental unemployment has been higher on children, leading to general despondency, while teenagers are starting to feel pressured to take on more responsibility in the family. Many have become more aware of the social stigma associated with having jobless parents. It is imperative that the judiciary, legislature and the executive take cognisance of the grim livelihoods scenario threatening all of us. Necessary remedial measures need to be taken at the earliest to help these States, particularly Goa, tide over a catastrophe of inconceivable ramifications — social, economic and intergenerational.

TAPAS PAUL'S DEATH

Didi holds Centre, CBI responsible

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Wednesday slammed Narendra Modi Government for taking out his political revenge on the Opposition parties. Speaking at the funeral of Bengali cine star and former TMC MP Tapas Paul who died in Mumbai on Tuesday suffering a severe heart attack, Mamata said that Paul was a victim of BJP's vendetta politics. "Tapas Paul was a great actor who had to pay with his life for no fault of his. He had to die untimely because of Centre's political vendetta and tormenting psychological pressure brought on him by a Central Agency. He was put in jail for more than a year just because he worked as a Brand Ambassador of some company under investigation."

The Chief Minister was apparently referring to the CBI Investigation into the multi-crore Rose Valley chit fund case. "All the film personalities who work as Brand Ambassador's are at a risk of being framed by this Government.....Tapas was the third victim of this vendetta politics. Earlier our MP Sultan Ahmed and the wife of another MP Prasun Banerjee died a similar death" Banerjee said. Reacting to her comments, Congress leader of Lok Sabha Adhir Chowdhury and Senior CPIM leader Samik Lahiri said that Banerjee too followed similar vendetta politics in Bengal putting hundreds of Opposition workers in jail. Lahiri said Pal's death is a glaring example showing whosoever gets close to Mamata Banerjee is at a risk of facing similar faith.

Maoists blow up school building in Bihar, leave anti-CAA pamphlets

Gaya: Suspected Maoist rebels blew up a school building in Bihar's Gaya district and left behind pamphlets denouncing the CAA-NPR-NRC and the 'fascist BJP Government', a senior police official said on Wednesday.

Rajeev Mishra, the Senior Superintendent of Police of Gaya, said nobody was injured in the blast that razed the empty school building in Banke Bazaar police station area late Tuesday night. A CRPF contingent was stationed there till recently.

"A team of 153 Battalion of CRPF had been camping in the area since March 18 last year when naxals had carried out an attack ahead of the Lok Sabha polls. They had been putting up at Sonedaha High School and shifted to their own camp in the thick of the jungle nearby on February 08," Mishra said.

Hand-written pamphlets have been recovered from the site which bear slogans against "Brahminvadi, Hindutvavadi fascist BJP Government," and question "occupation" of school buildings by security forces.

The pamphlets also urge people to "unite against draconian measures like CAA, NPR and NRC", the SSP added.

We have inputs about Maoists active in the area lending their support to the protests against CAA-NPR-NRC. On Sunday last, nine women suspected of naxal links were rounded up in Gaya town while they were on their way to Shanti Bagh where a round-the-clock demonstration has been under way," he said.

The SSP claimed that during interrogation one of the women confessed to being an active member of the banned CPI (Maoist) and others said they had received Rs 300-400 each for attending the Shanti Bagh protest. Joint search operations by CRPF, Combat Battalion for Resolute Action (COBRA) and STF of Bihar police were on to track down the perpetrators, Mishra said. PTI

Anti-CAA rally by Islamists pass off peacefully in Chennai

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ CHENNAI

A massive demonstration held by Federation of Tamil Nadu Islamic and Political Organisations in Chennai on Wednesday against the CAA concluded peacefully without any untoward incident reported from anywhere in the city.

Thousands of people belonging to the Islamic community marched through the streets of Chennai, shouting slogans against Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Home Minister Amit Shah and the Citizen Amendment Act.

More than 5,000 police personnel have been posted along the route to Fort Saint George (Tamil Nadu Secretariat) and unmanned aerial vehicles were deployed to monitor the movement of people.

Though the Madras High

Court on Tuesday had denied permission to representatives of various Islamic organisation to lay siege to the Secretariat, the FTNIPO, claiming to represent 23 Islamic organisations undertook the rally demanding the scrapping of CAA. They also demanded the Tamil Nadu Legislative Assembly to pass a resolution demanding the negation of the CAA.

Since the police had barricaded the one kilometre stretch from Anna Salai to Secretariat, the demonstrators called off the rally after the community leaders delivered the routine speeches. The rally came to an end at 12:45 pm with the participants singing the National Anthem.

MH Jawahirullah, leader of Tamil Nadu Muslim Munnetra Kazhagam, who addressed the rally said that the demonstration was for the entire Indians because the CAA would make it difficult for all Indians to survive in the country. "Had MGR (former Chief Minister of Tamil Nadu) been alive today, it would not have been possible for him to live in Tamil Nadu because his birth place was Kandy in Sri Lanka," said Jawahirullah.

Elsewhere in the State, members of Islamic community staged rallies condemning the CAA. But all rallies and demonstrations were peaceful as no untoward incidents were reported. The sit-in at Washermenpet area in Chennai continued for the fifth day without any unpleasant experience.

PAN card, land & bank documents no proofs of citizenship: Gauhati HC Guwahati: PAN card, land and bank documents do not prove one's Indian citizenship, the Gauhati High Court has observed while dismissing a woman's plea against a tribunal order that rejected her citizenship claim.

A division bench comprising justices Manojit Bhuyan and PJ Saikia dismissed Jabeda Begum's plea as the documents submitted by her could not establish her linkage to her projected father or brother.

Begum submitted 14 documents, including her PAN card and ration card, two bank pass-books, the NRC details of her father Jabed Ali, voter lists where the names of her grandparents, parents and her along with her husband were published and several land revenue receipts.

The Foreigners Tribunal in Baksa district had earlier issued a notice to her on the basis of a reference made by the Superintendent of Police (Border) to prove her Indian citizenship.

She appeared before the tribunal and filed her written statement along with the 14 documents, claiming to be a citizen of India by birth.

The tribunal held that village headmen are not entitled to issue certificates supporting the citizenship of a person and also rejected the bank documents as these adequately do not prove to be her's.

The tribunal held that the petitioner failed to file documents linking herself with her projected parents.

She appealed against the tribunal's ruling in the high court, which observed that it has carefully gone through the direction of the tribunal and found that she could not file any documents to link herself with her projected parents. The high court had already held in another case in 2016 that PAN card and bank documents are not proofs of citizenship, the division bench observed.

Certificates issued by a 'Gاون Bura' or village headman also cannot be the proof of citizenship as such a certificate can only be used by a married woman to prove that after her marriage she had shifted to her matrimonial village, the court ruled.

The court observed that the tribunal has correctly appreciated the evidence placed before it and there was no perversity in the decision of the tribunal.

The judges ruled that the petitioner has failed to prove her linkage with her projected father and her projected brother and as such this writ petition is devoid of merit and disposed of accordingly. PTI

CAA, media freedom come under scrutiny at Difficult Dialogues

NAVIN UPADHYAY ■ DONA PAULA (GOA)

From Citizenship Amendment Act to freedom of speech, from Uniform civil code to judicial accountability, a wide range of constitutional and legal issues, which have rocked the country for some time, were debated by India's best known legal experts, academicians and civil right activists at a three-day conference at International Centre, Goa between February 14 and 16. International legal experts also shared their insights and experiences so that the benefits of global best practices could be dovetailed into the proceedings.

The conference-the fifth edition of Difficult Dialogues-came out with series of recommendations for improving the State of the law in the country. The policy recommendations would be published in the form of actionable white papers that could make a difference.

The highlight of the engagements was a panel discussion on Free speech, censorship, and the media attended by Kerala Governor Arif Mohammad Khan, Supreme Court advocate Geeta Luthra and two retired judges.

The panelists agreed that dissent was a key element of any democracy and diversity of opinion has to be respected. The Governor, who seemed to reluctantly endorse this view, insisted that right to dissent didn't mean any one has the right to impose his views on others.

Later, in an interaction with the media persons when the Governor was asked for his reaction on tendency to brand traitors those dissenting against the Government's policy, the Governor referred to a report by a Pakistani NGO that more than 1000 Hindu women were kidnapped and forcibly converted in that country. "When such things happened across the border, these are bound to find an echo in India, too," he said.

When asked what it has to do with the right of the citizen's dissent against the Government, the governor virtually lost his cool and said most of those out on the streets are following "fatwas" issued by their masters. While CAA remained a topic of discussion, both formally and informally, at the conference, the panelists also went at length into others issues such as: After the Aadhar judgment: Do individuals have right to privacy in India? Accountability vs independence of Judiciary: Is the balance right? Reforms in the administration of justice: What can help? Discrimination law and minorities: Is justice done? Making environmental laws effective: How to achieve sustainability?

Commenting at the conclusion of the three day summit, Surina Narula, Founder & CEO of Difficult Dialogues said, "In the fifth edition of Difficult Dialogues this year, we were able to discuss the State of Law in the country, identify the various issues and problems that exist, and come up with action points that could help in the speedy and equitable dispensation of justice to all. As an outcome of the Difficult Dialogues 2020, we will be documenting all the recommendations that were tabled in the form of actionable white papers for the benefit of all."

This year the Knowledge Partners for Difficult Dialogues include the Centre for Socio-Legal Studies, University of Oxford, (CSLS, Oxford), Bar Association of India (BAI), O P Jindal Global University, Centre for the Study of Law and Governance, Jawaharlal Nehru University (CSLG, JNU), the Goa University (GU), and the International Centre Goa (ICG).

The conference concluded with 'Daring Debates' - a platform for the students-in which eight finalists from different colleges from across the country took part. The regional winners were invited for the grand finale where the topic was 'Environment Protection: A Case for State Surveillance or Individual Discipline?' The debate was moderated by wildlife film-maker Malaika Vaz. Erenbeni Humtsoe of St. Anthony's College, Shillong was declared the winner with Manish Kumar Jha of IMS Law College, Delhi adjudged as the first runner-up and Sasha D'Souza of DnyanprassarakMandal's College and Research Center, Goa adjudged as the second runner-up.

Didi likely to attend Shah's Bhubaneswar meet

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee is likely to attend the Eastern Zonal Council meeting on February 28, on internal security to be chaired by Union Home Minister Amit Shah at Bhubaneswar, State Government sources said.

The meeting will be attended by all the Chief Ministers of the eastern states.

Sources at State secretariat Nabanna said that the Chief Minister has been invited by the Union Home Ministry on February 28. "There will be a EZC meeting on internal security where Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee has been invited," sources said adding "the Chief Minister is likely to attend the meeting."

Sources also said that if the Chief Minister got preoccupied in other engagements then State Finance Minister Amit Mitra could be sent to attend the meeting.

Apart from Banerjee Chief Ministers of Bihar, Jharkhand, Odisha and Sikkim have also been invited and all the Chief Ministers are likely to remain present in the meeting.

With Banerjee taking the centre stage in her consistent anti-Narendra Modi and anti-BJP campaigns galvanizing the other parties in one place with particular reference to the ongoing struggle against the controversial Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA) and National Register for Citizens (NRC) all eyes are likely to be on the outcome of the Bhubaneswar summit.

While the top TMC leaders refused to make open comment on any likelihood of Mamata-Shah parley in the sidelines of the main meeting critics said the Chief Minister might hold talks with Shah on a number of issues like the State's financial dues.

"She even met Prime Minister Narendra Modi at the peak of anti-CAA movement when he came to Kolkata in January," said BN Chakrabarty a professor of political science and political analyst.

After his meeting with the Prime Minister the Chief Minister told the media that she had met him as it was the tradition to welcome a guest adding how the talks between the two leaders remained confined to the financial demands of the State Government.

If the meeting between Shah and Banerjee takes place at Bhubaneswar it will be the second such meeting in the past five months or so as the two leaders met in Delhi late last year when Banerjee went to the Capital to meet the Prime Minister and the Home Minister leading the opposition parties to attack the Chief Minister for her double standards.

Incidentally Banerjee's Delhi visit had coincided with the CBI's relentless pressure on the then ADG CID Rajiv Kumar who was allegedly gone underground with the Agency sleuths hot in pursuit.

Kumar was wanted by the CBI for his role in the investigation of the multi-crore Sharada chit fund case. Even as in subsequent hearing Kumar got reprieve in Calcutta High Court which provided shield to him from arrest the State Opposition cried foul alleging the CBI once again withdrew into its shell following Banerjee's urgent visit to Delhi.

Reacting to the February 28 summit State Congress leader Manoj Chakrabarty said "whether this meeting in Bhubaneswar is really on internal security or the TMC leaders' security will only be revealed subsequently."

K'taka: Poet, journo held over recital of anti-CAA poem at Govt function

Bengaluru: A poet and a journalist have been arrested in connection with recital of a poem against CAA and NRC at a Government sponsored function in Koppal district of Karnataka last month, police said on Wednesday.

The arrests were made based on a complaint from a BJP functionary alleging that Siraj Bisaralli, a poet had recited an anti-CAA poem at 'Anegundi Utsava' in Gangavathi town of Koppal district in January and Rajabaxi, editor of an online news portal uploaded it on social media.

Police had registered a case against them under section 505 of IPC (statements conducting to public mischief).

On Tuesday, Bisaralli and Rajabaxi surrendered before a court in that district, which rejected their bail plea and remanded them to police custody for investigation into the matter.

"Siraj had recited the poem and Rajabaxi had shared it on the social media. Based on a complaint by a BJP leader the case was registered under section 505 of the IPC. They went absconding after that and surrendered before the court on Tuesday," a police officer told PTI.

The duo sought an interim bail, which the public prosecutor objected to and sought police custody to conduct inquiry.

The court granted sent Bisaralli and Rajabaxi to police custody till Wednesday afternoon.

"We may not seek further extension of their custody until some fresh evidences surface. We have seized their mobile phones to ascertain whom they had shared the details with," police said. PTI

BJP's defeat in Delhi signals beginning of change: Pawar

Lucknow: NCP chief Sharad Pawar on Wednesday said the defeat of the BJP in the Delhi Assembly elections signals "beginning of the change".

"The BJP is tasting defeats - be it in the elections in Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan or Delhi. In Delhi, the BJP had put all its strength and even Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Union Home Minister Amit Shah campaigned there," Pawar said at a party workers' meeting here.

"UP Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath and chief ministers of other BJP-ruled states also campaigned in Delhi. But people of Delhi showed that the beginning of change has started," he said.

(AAP) stormed back to power in Delhi by winning an impressive 62 seats, while the BJP could work its magic only in the remaining eight seats in the national capital.

On the Ram temple issue, Pawar said, "We accept the construction of Ram temple. The way in which a trust was set up for it, there should be a similar body for mosque. The country and the government belong to everyone and every religion."

Noting that the atmosphere in the country was "different" now, the NCP leader lamented, "Those in power are ignoring problems of common man. Uttar Pradesh gave many leaders to the country, so the state has an important role in politics. The state has the capacity to bring the country on the right track". Senior NCP leader Praful Patel said his party has decided to strengthen its organisation in Uttar Pradesh. "We have started establishing party organisation at every district and village level in the state," he said, adding people were disappointed by the politics of SP and BSP in Uttar Pradesh, which was capitalised by the BJP and it came to power in the state with a majority.

Patel later told reporters that there was no difference of opinion among the NCP, Congress and Shiv Sena over the Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA) and National Register of Citizens (NRC). PTI

GFP: Like Goa CM, Centre should remove anti-people policies

Panaji: Goa Forward Party (GFP) chief Vijai Sardesai on Wednesday said the Centre should learn from Goa Chief Minister Pramod Sawant and withdraw its 'anti-people' policies.

He was referring to the Sawant-led Government's recent decision of withdrawing section 144 of the CrPC in North Goa and the roll back of the order notifying 56 villages in the state as urban areas.

Speaking to reporters in Margao, Sardesai congratulated Sawant for withdrawing the notifications that had met with Opposition from various quarters.

"I appreciate the Chief Minister for rolling back anti-people decisions," the Fatorda MLA said.

The Centre should take cue from Sawant and withdraw the anti-people laws, he added. "The Union Government and the national leadership of the BJP should learn from Sawant and roll back their anti-people policies," he said. PTI

Prashant Kishor defends 'pichhlaggu' jibe at Nitish, linking BJP with Godse

Patna: Defending his 'pichhlaggu' (underling) barb at Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar, poll strategist-politician Prashant Kishor on Wednesday said he was upset with the JD(U) chief's 'surrender' before the BJP just to cling to power without extracting any benefit for the State.

Facing flak for linking the BJP with (Nathuram) Godse, while having worked with the party in the past, Kishor asserted that public praise of Mahatma Gandhis assassin by a mainstream political outfit was "a recent phenomenon, seen in the last six to eight months".

He said in the seven decades since Independence only fringe elements extolled Godse here and there.

"It has been only after the last Lok Sabha polls that we have seen workers of a mainstream party chanting slogans in his praise, even a Member of Parliament doing the same on the floor of the House," he told a news channel here, referring to the incident involving Bhopal MP Sadhvi Pragya Thakur.

The expelled JD(U) vice president lamented the pity was that, "those aligned with the BJP, did not muster the courage to even condemn the outrageous act".

Bihar Deputy Chief Minister Sushil Kumar Modi had on Tuesday taken a swipe at Kishor, saying the man who had cut his teeth as an election strategist for Narendra Modi in 2014, was now accusing the BJP of following "Godse".

"As regards the controversy over picchlaggu remark, I have been expressing my reservations about people of the state accepting a leader who appears to be playing second fiddle (to the BJP). I might be wrong, but that is my view," the election strategist said.

"However, I was ready to accept the surrender before the BJP had it been for extracting benefits for the state from the party in power at the Centre. If the capitulation is just to ensure continuance in power in the state, that might be detested by the people", he added.

Former BJP president and Union Home minister Amit Shah has already announced that Kumar would be the face of the NDA in the Bihar assembly polls to be held later this year. During his press conference the previous day, Kishor had referred to denial of special status to Bihar by the Centre and Prime Minister Narendra Modi not entertaining Kumar's request for grant of central status to Patna University. Three HM terrorists killed in Pulwama

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

Three dreaded terrorists of pro-Pakistan Hizbul Mujahideen (HM) terror outfit were eliminated by the joint team of security forces in Sherabad area of Tral in South Kashmir's Pulwama district early Wednesday morning.

Director General of Jammu & Kashmir Police, Dilbagh Singh, in Srinagar said, "in the ongoing anti-terrorist operations, three Hizbul Mujahideen terrorists were gunned down by the security forces in Sherabad area of Tral early Wednesday morning".

He said since January 2020, a total number of 23 terrorists have been eliminated by the security forces in 10 operations across the State.

DGP said, "the three terrorists killed during the operation were identified as Jahangir Rafiq Wani, Raja Umer Maqbool and Uzair Bhat. He said two of them were residents of Tral and the third one was native of Bijbehara. He said, Jahangir had taken over the command of Hizbul Mujahideen in the area after the elimination of another top commander Hamad Khan in January 2020."

"Jahangir along with Raja Maqbool were involved in at least eight terrorism related incidents and had spread region of terror in the area. They were involved in civilian killings, torching religious places, chemist shop, trucks and targeting security personnel", DGP added

Referring to the security measures to prevent any terror strike in the run up to the visit of US President Donald Trump to India, DGP said, "We are taking all necessary measures...we are hopeful that this visit (of the US president) will pass off peacefully."

Singh said foreign dignitaries visited Jammu and Kashmir recently and their visits passed off without any incident. "Two groups (of ambassadors) visited Jammu & Kashmir and they left without any incident taking place here," he said.

The DGP said Pakistan was trying its best to keep the militancy going in Jammu & Kashmir by sending in militants from across the Line of Control (LoC) and the international border under the cover of ceasefire violations, especially after the abrogation of Article 370 of the Constitution, which gave a special status to the erstwhile state of Jammu & Kashmir, on August 5 last year.

"The number of ceasefire violations has increased after August 5, 2019. Pakistan is trying to keep the borders hot in order to push in as many terrorists as possible. While some attempts of infiltration have been successful, many have been foiled," he said.

Singh said a Pakistani drone recently flew over a BSF picket in the Ghagwal area of the Jammu region for around 10 minutes, but was pulled back after the troops of the border-guarding force opened fire.

In response to a question, the DGP said he would not be able to give the exact number of militants waiting to infiltrate into Jammu and Kashmir from across the LoC, but maintained that terror launchpads were active during the winter months as well.

"Normally, there would not be much activity at the launchpads during the winter months as snow would cover the passes. This winter, however, the movement at the launchpads did not reduce," he said.

UP BJP MLA among seven booked for raping woman

PTI ■ BHADRAHOI (UP)

An FIR was lodged against local BJP AMLA Ravindra Nath Tripathi and six others here on Wednesday for allegedly raping a woman repeatedly for a month in 2017, police said.

The 40-year-old woman, who is a widow, had lodged a complaint on February 10, they said.

The woman alleged that she was first raped by Tripathi's nephew Sandeep Tiwari, who has also been named in the FIR, in 2016. She said she did not lodge a complaint back then as Tiwari had promised to marry her, Superintendent of Police (SP) Ram Badan Singh said.

She has alleged that in the run-up to the 2017 Uttar Pradesh Assembly polls, she was kept at a hotel for a month by Tiwari. All the seven accused would visit the hotel and repeatedly rape her, the officer said.

She also claimed that she got pregnant and was forced to undergo abortion, he added.

A probe in this regard was handed over to Assistant Superintendent of Police Ravindra Verma. On the basis of his report, an FIR was registered against the seven men at the city police station, the SP said. Singh said the woman's statement will be recorded before a magistrate and further action will be taken in the matter as per law.

Man gets death penalty for rape-murder of minor girl

Mumbai: A court in Maharashtra's Parbhani district has awarded death sentence to a man for raping and brutally killing a five-year-old girl, observing the crime was 'more cruel' than the act of the most dreaded animal.

Special Judge (POCSO cases) S G Inamdar in his order on Tuesday pronounced the accused, Vishnu Gore (30), guilty under Indian Penal Code Section 302 for murder and provisions of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act.

According to the prosecution, the girl lived with her grandparents, who worked as farm labourers, at a village in Parbhani, located around 500 km from here.

On October 27, 2016, when the grandparents returned home from work, they did not find the girl at home.

After unsuccessful attempts to locate her, they filed a missing person's complaint at Sonpeth police station two days later.

During the course of investigation, the police found the girl's body in a well near a field in the village on October 31, 2016 following which they arrested the accused, who worked as a labourer and resided in the same district.

As per the prosecution, the accused kidnapped the victim from outside her house, sexually assaulted her and then strangled her to death with a nylon rope. He then wrapped the body in a gunny bag and threw it into the well.

While there was no direct evidence, the prosecution relied on circumstantial evidence to prove its case.

They examined 23 witnesses, including the victim's grandfather and the person who had last seen the girl with the accused.

Additional Public Prosecutor S D Wakodkar told the court that the case was proved beyond all reasonable doubt, and sought death sentence for the accused.

"This falls under the ambit of the 'rarest of rare' case. It is a case of aggravated penetrative sexual assault on the minor girl and killing her," Wakodkar told the court while praying for capital punishment.

Finding merit in the prosecution's arguments, the court awarded death sentence to the accused, observing that he acted in a manner "highly repugnant to the morals and committed diabolic, premeditated, brutal, pre-planned aggravated penetrative sexual assault and cold-blooded murder" . PTI

Dalit girl alleges sexual harassment by three youths

Muzaffarnagar: A 16-year-old Dalit girl has alleged she was sexually harassed by three youths when she was on her way to a brick kiln at a village in Shamli district, police said on Wednesday.

They said the incident happened at Bhabisa village under Kandhla police station on Tuesday when the girl was going to the brick kiln site with lunch for her kin.

Station House Officer SK Dube said the girl's brother has filed a complaint, alleging the three youths allegedly sexually harassed her on the way to the brick kiln.

Dube said the three accused, one of whom has been identified as a 23-year-old man, have gone absconding.

An investigation in the matter is underway. PTI

Karate instructor gets 4 years RI for sexually harassing girls

Mumbai: A special court here has sentenced a martial arts instructor to four years of rigorous imprisonment for sexually harassing his 13-year-old girl student during a camp in suburban Borivali in 2015.

Special Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act court judge, S U Baghele, convicted the man and awarded the sentence on Monday.

The accused knew the victim and her family for eight years before the incident, the prosecution told the court. He used to run martial art classes, which the girl would attend. In February, 2015, the man had organised a karate training camp at the Sanjay Gandhi National Park in Borivali, which was attended by the girl and five other students, the prosecution said.

After the camp got over, the accused asked other students to proceed to their homes. Thereafter, he asked the victim to accompany him on his motorcycle.

As she was pillion riding, he stopped his two-wheeler at a secluded place and sexually harassed the girl, the prosecution said. PTI

MARIA BOOK REVELATIONS ROW Congress says BJP using book to mislead people

BJP demands reprobe into 26/11

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

As they exchanged charges and counter charges over the revelations in Mumbai's former Police Commissioner Rakesh Maria's book "Let Me Say It Now", the ruling Congress on Wednesday rubbished the BJP's efforts to use contents of book to mislead the people and the BJP demanded re-investigation into the 26/11 terror attacks.

On a day when State BJP leader and senior MLA Atul Bhatkalkar shot off a letter to Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray demanding re-investigation into the 26/11 attacks, Maharashtra Pradesh Congress Committee Secretary Sachin Sawant said: "Here is a party (BJP) that has shielded accused in the terror acts like Malegaon blasts and Samjota Express blasts and put pressure on the public prosecutors to water down the charges and seek the release of the accused from the cases. Its demand for re-investigation into the 26/11 sounds like Ulta chur kotwal ko daante."

"It was the Congress Government that caught 26/11 attack accused Abdul Ajmal Kasab alive and executed him after a proper judicial process due to which real face of Pakistan and its support for terrorism got exposed internationally, whereas the tacit support of the BJP helped the accused in Malegaon bomb-blast go scot-free," Sawant said.

Reacting to the BJP leaders' claim that the phrase 'Hindu terror' was coined post 26/11 attacks, Sawant tweeted: "The book of Rakesh Maria hypothetically discusses if Kasab was not found alive, media would have projected him a Hindu. It doesn't mention any conspiracy. #BJP can stoop to any level because of its dirty mindset"

"#PragyaThakur in failed attempt to pull wool over people's eyes is using Rakesh Maria's book with a false pretense. Book mentions nothing that's not included in Kasab's chargesheet. Crime of Kasab is same as to what she is charged for. Unfortunate that Anti-India BJP gave her ticket," Sawant said in another tweet.

In his letter to the Chief Minister, BJP's Bhatkalkar made a strong case for the re-investigation into the 26/11 attacks. "After the 26/11 attacks, the Congress leaders indulged in a false propaganda that it was not Kasab but the Hindu terrorists who killed like Hemant Karkare and Ashok Kamte who were among the senior police officers martyred in the 26/11 attacks".

"In view of the revelation made by Maria who investigated the 26/11 attacks that Pakistan's intelligence agency ISI attempted to depict Kasab as the Hindu terrorist, it is essential for the Maharashtra Government to order a comprehensive re-investigation into the Mumbai terror attacks. The re-investigation is essential as it involves national security," Bhatkalkar said.

Bhatkalkar claimed that former Union home secretary in the Rajiv Gandhi Government and former chief secretary of Maharashtra, Ram Pradhan, who headed a two-member committee appointed by the then Congress-led DF Government, had in a media interview said that there was "local connection" to the 26/11 attacks and that then Union Minister and senior Congress P Chidambar had

SC wants to hear Gadkari on electric vehicles policy

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Wednesday expressed a desire to interact with Union Transport Minister Nitin Gadkari in open court on the Centre's plan for introduction of electric vehicles (EVs), noting he has been making statements on this subject for reducing vehicular pollution.

The top court, however, did not seek Gadkari's presence after the law officer, appearing for the Centre, raised objections, saying there could be a "political issue" if the minister makes a court appearance.

The court, hearing a PIL seeking implementation of National E-Mobility Mission Plan (NEMMP), 2020 said it would like to interact with the minister as he has been talking about the use of alternative fuels in private and public transport vehicles modes. The plan recommended gradual conversion of public transport and government vehicles into EVs.

"Your minister talks about it. We would like to hear him. Somebody responsible should come," Chief Justice S A Bobde, who headed a three-judge bench, told Additional Solicitor General ANS Nadkarni, who was representing the Centre.

The bench, which also comprised justices B R Gavai and Surya Kant, then asked can the minister come and explain the proposal to introduce non-polluting vehicles that can run either on electricity or hydrogen. PTI

WTI: Whale shark population declined by 63% in 75 years

Gandhinagar: The population of whale sharks, one of the endangered migratory species, has declined by 63 per cent in last 75 years in the Indo-Pacific region, a nature conservation body has said while urging the Government to intensify steps and train enforcement agencies to conserve the species.

Wildlife Trust of India (WTI) said whale sharks, the largest living fish in the world, are vanishing from the face of the earth due to factors like climate change, rampant fishing and ocean pollution.

However, a senior official from the Union Environment Ministry said efforts were on to revive the number of whale sharks and if needed, the Government will spend around ₹2-3 crores annually for its conservation.

Whale sharks have been classified as endangered in the red list of International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN), and are also called 'Gentle Giants' with maximum aggregation off the Gujarat coast.

Sajan John, marine expert from WTI, said these giants are mainly targeted for their meat but ocean pollution and warming were also affecting them.

"India needs to have a stronger dialogue with countries to protect this mega fauna

Top court directs Raj Govt to Stop illegal sand mining

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Wednesday took strong note of rampant illegal sand mining in Rajasthan and directed the State Government, collectors and SPs to take immediate steps to stop it and file an action taken report (ATR) within four weeks.

"We find that it is not disputed by anybody that illegal sand mining is rampant in the state of Rajasthan and this cannot be allowed to continue," the top court said, coming down hard on the authorities.

"Therefore, we direct the state of Rajasthan, District Collectors and Superintendent of Police (of each district) to take immediate steps to stop illegal sand mining as there was no doubt that...Illegal sand mining is likely to damage the environment irreparably," it said.

A bench comprising Chief Justice S A Bobde and Justices B R Gavai and Surya Kant also directed the apex court-appointed Central Empowered Committee (CEC) to look into the issue of illegal sand mining in Rajasthan and submit a detailed report including suggesting measures to deal with the issue within six weeks.

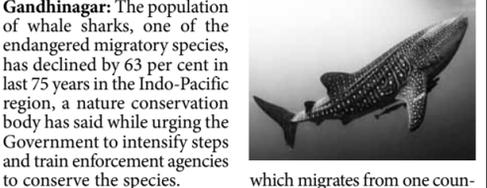

The apex court, which had stopped the sand mining in the state by its order in 2017, said that the CEC was empowered

SC directs CBI to file report on probe against ex-CBI chief

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Wednesday directed the CBI to file fresh status report within four weeks on probe into the charges of 'abuse of official position' by former agency chief Ranjit Sinha and the progress made in over 50 coal scam cases.

A bench of Chief Justice S A Bobde and Deepak Gupta granted time to the agency after it sought time.

Sinha is accused of trying to impede the CBI's investigation into the cases, which emerged in 2012 after a report of the Comptroller and Auditor General (CAG) was leaked to the media. The apex court dismissed the plea filed by lawyer M L Sharma seeking a direction to the CBI to take coercive steps against Naveen Jindal, allegedly main beneficiary of coal scam cases. PTI

DoT still working on final calculation of AGR dues

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Department of Telecom is still working on final adjusted gross revenue dues that service providers have to pay as it has detected variation in accounting practices adopted by different circle offices, according to official sources.

The licence finance wing of the telecom department (DoT) on February 3 issued a letter with guidelines to all controller General of Communication Accounts to reconcile AGR dues and asked them to give 15 days time to operators for the submission of appeals and documents related to deductions they make in the final payment, sources said.

The letter was a follow up to a previous note sent by the licence finance wing on December 4 and a follow-up on December 13 to the circles for re-verification of debit voucher reports (DVR).

"The department has been facing a challenge in carrying out the revised assessments due to various issues related to DVRs. Telecom operators, including Airtel and Vodafone Idea, have challenged many DVRs.

"Also, circle offices have not adopted uniform practice in accounting. The DoT has asked them to re-verify DVRs at the earliest in the light of Supreme Court judgement," an official source said.

Telecom operators have been submitting two separate audited details of deduction towards interconnection usage charges and roaming fee to the DoT. In one set, deductions have been claimed by telecom operators on a paid basis while on an accrual basis on the other.

"DoT noticed that many Controllers of Communication Accounts have been cherry picking the figures claimed by telecom operators in their final DVRs. In some cases, DoT guidelines regarding deduction verification issued in 2014, 2015 and 2016 have not been followed. There have been cases where one CCA has allowed one kind of deduction and another has disallowed," the source said.

According to estimates prepared by the DoT, Airtel owes nearly ₹35,586 crore, including licence fee and spectrum usage charges, to the government.

Vodafone Idea is staring at dues worth ₹53,000 crore, which includes up to ₹24,729 crore of spectrum dues and another ₹28,309 crore in licence fee. Tata Teleservices owes around ₹13,800 crore, BSNL ₹4,989 crore and MTNL ₹3,122 crore.

While the deadline to make AGR payment ended on January 23, 2020 as per Supreme Court order, the DoT has been following up with circle offices to verify DVRs of 10 years starting from 2006-2007 which involve around millions of entries in a quarter and then start verification for 2017-18 and 2018-19.

The DoT on December 13, 2019, gave 15 days time to submit the re-verified accounts but the same could not be done in absence of uniform guidelines.

"The headquarters will also need time to check DVRs once they are submitted by the circle office. Thereafter notice will be sent to telecom operators for submitting appeals and documents related to claims that are not admissible," the source said.

Voda Idea shares surge over 38%

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Vodafone Idea's shares on Wednesday closed over 38 per cent amid reports that the government is unlikely to invoke the company's bank guarantees as of now.

On the BSE, the stock gained as much as 48.18 per cent to ₹4.49 during the day. It closed 38.28 per cent higher at ₹4.19.

On the National Stock Exchange (NSE), the scrip rose 48.33 per cent to touch a high of ₹4.45. Later, after shedding some gains, it settled 40 per cent up at ₹4.20.

The stock has ended the day in green after declining for seven consecutive sessions.

The NSE saw an exchange of more than 100 crore shares of Vodafone Idea, and over 14 crore units were traded on the BSE. In this regard, the BSE sought a clarification from the telecom service provider about the sudden movement in the stock price.

The company said all the information furnished by it is in public domain and there is no price-sensitive information pending which is to be disclosed to the stock exchanges.

"There is no such announcement or price-sensitive information, which is pending to be intimated by the company to the stock exchanges.

"All the information furnished by the company is in public domain and the company will comply with the Sebi Regulations, 2015, and duly keep the stock exchanges informed of all the price-sensitive information," the company said in its clarification to the BSE. According to the latest media reports, the government is unlikely to invoke bank guarantees of Vodafone Idea as of now.

Encashing of the bank guarantees may sound the death knell for companies such as Vodafone Idea which has been struggling to garner the dues.

A financial bank guarantee is equal to two quarters of licence fee and other dues. This amount could be in the range of ₹5,000 crore each for Airtel and Vodafone Idea.

Mittal, Birla meet Finance Minister as AGR crisis looms over telecom sector

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

With the Supreme Court-mandated liability pushing telecom companies to the brink, industry honchos Sunil Bharti Mittal and Kumar Mangalam Birla on Wednesday met Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman as their firms scrambled to meet payment deadlines.

While the two refused to comment on discussions they had with Sitharaman, Mittal said the telecom sector has been under stress for the last three-and-a-half years and the government should focus on its sustainability.

Mittal, who heads mobile service major Bharti Airtel, first met Telecom Secretary Anshu Prakash before going to the meeting with the finance minister. Birla, who is the chairman of Vodafone Idea Ltd, had met the telecom secretary on Tuesday.

It was not immediately clear if the two telecom tycoons met Sitharaman together or separately. Emerging out of the North Block after meeting Sitharaman, Mittal told reporters that the issue of pending dues arising out of the Supreme Court ruling on Adjusted Gross Revenue (AGR) was not discussed.

The telecom industry, he said, is vital to India's digital agenda.

"This industry is very vital to the nation's digital agenda, and many other industries that ride on it...Employment, government taxes...The only thing government needs to focus on is how to ensure sustainability of the sector," Mittal said.

Mittal -- whose company Bharti Airtel is confronted with over Rs 35,000 crore of statutory dues -- did not elaborate on the relief mechanism that the telco is pitching for. The industry as such has been battling for reduction in levies like licence fee and spectrum charges.

No end in sight for auto slump: Fitch

PTI ■ MUMBAI

The slowing economy and weakening consumer sentiment will continue to weigh on auto sales and the marginal improvement seen in December quarter, driven by festive discounts, is unlikely to sustain, a report said on Wednesday.

The GDP growth slowed down to 6.1 per cent in 2018-19 and is projected to hit a 10-year low of about 5 per cent in 2019-20, primarily due to falling consumer demand and poor financing options for high-value items like automobiles.

"Slowing growth and weak consumer sentiment will continue to weigh on auto sales and the marginal improvement seen in the December quarter driven by festive discounts is unlikely to sustain," Fitch said in a report, without stating when the volumes will begin to pick up or how long the slump will persist.

Vehicle sales have been hampered by weak consumer sentiment and still-weak availability of financing following tighter liquidity at non-banking lenders since the middle of 2018. The sector also faces additional challenges from the adoption of stricter emission standards from April 1, the report said.

Automakers could also face production disruptions if the novel coronavirus outbreak in China leads to a prolonged halt in supply of required auto components, as the industry sources as much as 27 per cent of its demand from China worth around $5 billion, according to many analysts.

Many auto original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) like Mahindra have warned that if the Chinese epidemic lasts beyond February and if the supplies don't normalise by early March, the transition to BS-VI will be a challenge and they may have to move the Supreme Court to get some concession to sell BS-IV models beyond April 1 deadline.

India should capture apparel market ceded by China: Textile Secy

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The textiles ministry on Wednesday said the domestic industry should take advantage of the huge $20-billion space vacated in the global apparel market by China, which is going through a tough time following outbreak of the deadly coronavirus.

Addressing a symposium on emerging opportunities for Indian textiles, Textiles Secretary Ravi Capoor said domestic textile exports have plateaued during the past 5-7 years, which is a "very worrying proposition for the government."

"India should step in at this stage to take the advantage although not a good way to project ourselves but every crisis has its own silver lining and I think while we are with China with all our emotions and financial, political and diplomatic help but still there appears to be a big economic opportunity which is coming up our way," he said.

In this background, Capoor said it would be the right time to bring the industry together and have a small dialogue to "see how the industry associations are prepared for this opportunity."

As the exports have plateaued, he said the government understood that one of the major issues is that "take up the space that has been vacated by China other than this present crisis (coronavirus)".

The secretary said $20 billion worth of apparel space, mostly in the man-made fibre, has been vacated by China in the past three years and taken away by Vietnam

The secretary said $20 billion worth of apparel space, mostly in the man-made fibre, has been vacated by China in the past three years and taken away by Vietnam.

"Now is a situation where we are in a position and the (textile) minister has just spoken to Finance Minister (Nirmala Sitharaman) also this morning. We are working towards seeing that the GST inversion on man-made fibre is also taken care of.

"With all the efforts, if we are able to succeed in the removal of the inversion, then man-made fibre itself becomes a huge opportunity wherever China cedes space. India should step in a very big way," Capoor said.

Textile minister Smriti Irani was also present at the symposium.

Coronavirus to hit global growth; to have limited impact on India: RBI Gov

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The coronavirus outbreak will have a limited impact on India but the global GDP and trade will definitely get affected due to the large size of the Chinese economy, RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das has said.

Only a couple of sectors in India are likely to see some disruptions but alternatives are being explored to overcome those issues, he said.

The deadly virus has brought a large part of the world's second-largest economy China to a standstill and its impact has been felt across industries. India's pharmaceutical and electronic manufacturing sectors are dependent on China for inputs and they may be impacted, Das told PTI in an interview here.

"It is definitely an issue which needs to be closely monitored by every policymaker whether in India or any other country. Every policymaker, every monetary authority needs to keep a very close watch. So coronavirus issue needs to be closely watched," he said.

First 5G handset in India likely to be priced at ₹50K

PTI ■ KOLKATA

The first 5G-enabled handset in India to be launched by Chinese smartphone maker, realme, is likely to cost around ₹50,000, a company official said on Wednesday.

The 'realme' that came into existence in 2018 is all set to become the first brand to unveil 5G ready smartphone in India on February 24, even though the "network is not available in the country," he claimed.

"realme 5G handset will be powered with 865 snapdragon chipset and available at around ₹50,000," an official, who did not wish to be identified, told PTI. A leading website, which compares mobile phones, estimates that the price of 5G smartphone handset with a lower chipset version could be available at ₹25,790 per unit.

The company wants to offer future-ready products and people, who travel abroad, can use the handset as the technology is available in many developed countries, the official said. The X50 Pro 5G handset will be launched simultaneously in Spain and India by realme after the world's largest mobile trade show

India will switch to the world's cleanest petrol and diesel from April 1 as it leapfrogs straight to Euro-VI emission compliant fuels from Euro-IV grades now - a feat achieved in just three years and not seen in any of the large economies around the globe.

India will join the select league of nations using petrol and diesel containing just 10 parts per million of sulphur as it looks to cut vehicular emissions that are said to be one of the reasons for the choking pollution in major cities.

Sanjiv Singh, Chairman of Indian Oil Corp (IOC) - the firm that controls roughly half of the country's fuel market, said almost all refineries began producing ultra-low sulphur BS-VI (equivalent to Euro-VI grade) petrol and diesel by the end of 2019 and oil companies have now undertaken the tedious task of replacing every drop of fuel in the country with the new one.

Govt to frame rules to implement Consumer Protection Act

New Delhi: The Government will frame rules and set up an authority to implement the new Consumer Protection Act by April this year, Food and Consumer Affairs Minister Ram Vilas Paswan said on Wednesday while stressing on the regulation of the e-commerce sector with a rise in online transactions.

Parliament last year approved 'The Consumer Protection Bill 2019', replacing the Consumer Protection Act, 1986. The law seeks to revamp the process of administration and settlement of consumer disputes, with strict penalties, including jail term for adulteration and misleading ads by firms.

Liquor industry urges Govt not to yield to Trump on duty cuts

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Ahead of US President Donald Trump's visit to India next week, the Indian alcoholic beverage industry has urged the government not to reduce customs duty on wine and spirits.

The US President has been pushing for reduction of customs duty on American liquor, particularly bourbon whiskey, and Indian liquor manufacturers fear that any tinkering with customs duty vis-a-vis US imports would have a domino effect as European Union would also push for slashing of customs duty.

Better call Saul Ha la land

Níguez's early strike punish Liverpool on return to Wanda Metropolitano

He sprung a surprise by starting Thomas Lemar for the first time this year while Alvaro Morata and Diego Costa both returned from injury, the former from the start and the latter off the bench in the second half.

Liverpool, who began with their expected eleven, have blitzed numerous opponents with explosive starts but they were the ones rocking early on as Atletico snapped at their heels, pressed hard and relished being first to every loose ball.

They took the lead, aided by a hint of fortune as Liverpool failed to clear the corner and the ball cannoned back off the foot of Fabinho for Saul to stab in from three yards.

On the sideline, Simeone beckoned his players to stay calm but they were celebrating in the corner while in the stands, the fans were delirious and given hope. Atletico were given a lead to defend and the rest of the game was largely a picture of Liverpool dominating the ball but failing to break down the 10 red and white shirts in front of them.

FIGURATIVELY

6 Since the start of 2018-19, no side has lost more UCL matches away from home than Liverpool (six — level with Crvena Zvezda)

5 Only Antoine Griezmann (6) has scored more goals in the CL knockout phase for Atlético Madrid than Saúl Níguez (5)

0 Atletico haven't conceded a shot on target vs Liverpool, the second team to get it after Napoli at San Paolo in October 2018 in Jurgen Klopp era for Liverpool in all competitions

0 Atletico have never lost at home under Diego Simeone in the Champions League knockout stages (W8 D4). In those 12 games, they've only conceded two goals

10 Erling Haaland is just the fifth player after 1958/59 — Just Fontaine (10); 1978/79 — Claudio Sulser (11); 2017/18 — Sadio Mané (10) & Roberto Firmino (10) to score 10 goals in their first season in the European Cup/CL

10 Erling Haaland is only the second teenager to score 10 CL goals, after Kylian Mbappé (13), and is the first teenager to score 10 in a single campaign in the competition

Erling's double gives Dortmund edge over PSG but Neymar strike keeps tie alive

AFP ■ DORTMUND

Teenager record-breaker Erling Braut Haaland scored twice as Borussia Dortmund sealed a 2-1 win over Paris Saint-Germain, for whom Neymar scored on his return to action, in Tuesday's Champions League last 16, first leg in Germany.

Forward Haaland took his tally to 11 goals in seven games since Dortmund paid Salzburg 20 million euros ($22 million) for the 19-year-old with second-half goals either side of Neymar's equaliser.

Having also scored eight times for Salzburg in the group stage, Haaland now has 10 goals in just seven Champions League games this season.

"These are the moments you play football for. I really enjoyed it," beamed the Norwegian.

His performance left Kylian Mbappe and Neymar in the shade, with the latter struggling to truly make his mark having been kept on the sidelines for the last two weeks ahead of this game due to a rib injury.

However, the Brazilian superstar's away goal means PSG remain very much in contention to reach the quarter-finals after three consecutive exits in the last 16.

The presence of the world's most expensive player was a major boost for his team, after he missed last season's surprise last-16 loss to Manchester United with a foot injury.

He also sat out the second leg of their defeat by Real Madrid at the same stage in 2018.

However, Dortmund deserved the win as PSG's star-studded attack, with Angel Di Maria supporting Mbappe and Neymar, was repeatedly frustrated by the home side, for whom the midfield duo of Axel Witsel and Emre Can regularly helped snuff out attacks.

There was little to separate the teams in the first half although Dortmund's English winger Jadon Sancho squandered one chance on the counter-attack and then forced a fine save from Keylor Navas just before the half-hour mark.

After the goalless first half, Dortmund poured forward and kept finding spaces to exploit down the flanks.

Dortmund's Swiss coach Lucien Favre then brought on Giovanni Reyna, who only turned 17 last November, for his Champions League debut midway through the second half.

Moments later Haaland got the breakthrough when he stabbed past Navas from close range after Thiago Silva had blocked a Raphael Guerreiro shot.

The game had now come to life, and with their German coach Thomas Tuchel frantically urging them on, PSG drew level six minutes later when Mbappe unpicked the Dortmund defence and presented Neymar with a straight-forward finish.

However, the scene was set for Haaland to continue his phenomenal scoring run with a stunning finish from the edge of the area following a Reyna pass.

"We didn't have enough possession, we made too many easy mistakes, we weren't smart enough and we lost the ball too early. It's difficult, but it's 2-1 and we still have a few games left to get back into the rhythm." — THOMAS TUCHEL

"Of course it's a dangerous result, but we played well in both defence and attack. However, as things stand it's 2-1 to us." — LUCIEN FAVRE

CASILLAS TO END PLAYING CAREER
LISBON: Porto president Jorge Nuno Pinto da Costa said that Iker Casillas is set to retire, a day after the World Cup-winning captain announced he would run for the presidency of the Spanish Football Federation. Casillas had been expected to bring an end to a glittering playing career after making the announcement but has never confirmed that he was hanging up his boots. "Before announcing his candidacy, Iker Casillas came to see me to inform me of his decision to end his career," Pinto da Costa told Portuguese media on Tuesday.

PUJARA SIGNS UP WITH GLOUCESTERSHIRE

"I am really excited to get the opportunity to represent Gloucestershire this season. The Club has a rich cricketing history, and this is a great opportunity to be a part of it and contribute to its success," Pujara said. The club took into consideration his ability to bat for long periods. He will bring his experience to a Gloucestershire side, which will be playing in Division One of the County Championship for the first time in over a decade.

CHENNAI: Following impressive performances on the national circuit, 10-year-old M Hansini is all set to feature in her maiden ITTF junior circuit event, Swedish Junior and Cadet Open, to be held in Orebro from February 19 to 23. INDIA WILL HOST 2022 AFC WOMEN'S ASIAN CUP
KUALA LUMPUR: India will host the 2022 AFC Women's Asian Cup as the sport's continental body awarded the showpiece to the country with an aim to maximise the promotion of the game. It was felt that India, which will also have the experience of hosting the FIFA Women's U-17 World Cup later this year, was best placed among the three bidders - Chinese Taipei and Uzbekistan were the other competing candidates - to maximise the promotion of the women's game. The venues proposed by India - D Y Patil Stadium, Trans Stadia Arena and Fatorada Stadium - are also being used in the FIFA tournaments, the AFC said. The dates of the tournament are likely to be in late October and early November 2022 and the match schedule will be worked out keeping in mind the start of the 2022 FIFA World Cup in Qatar.

B'DESH RETAIN MASHRAFE AS ODI CAPTAIN
DHAKA: Bangladesh pace bowler Mashrafe Murtaza will lead the country in the forthcoming three-match one-day international series against Zimbabwe despite uncertainty over his future. Mashrafe has not represented Bangladesh in any ODI since the ICC World Cup last year, and in January withdrew his name from a lucrative national team contract. But Bangladesh Cricket Board officials said he would skipper the side despite his apparent lack of commitment. "At this moment we don't have a substitute for a captain like Mashrafe," president Nazmul Hassan told reporters in Dhaka. "If he is not fit, that is another issue." Hassan said while Mashrafe's captaincy was vital to the team, it was also time for him to decide his future. "We have to decide about our next captain very soon," he said.

Usual suspects need to be wary of lesser opponents

NEW DELHI: The Ranji Trophy quarterfinals begin across four venues today with usual suspects such as Saurashtra and Karnataka taking on the lesser teams capable of springing a surprise.

On paper, the most well contested quarterfinals should be between Saurashtra and Andhra in Ongole, Andhra Pradesh as both teams go into the knockouts from the elite cross pool.

Last year's runners-up Saurashtra are expected to go past Andhra, having shown solid form in the league stage to finish with three wins, four draws and a loss from eight games.

Seasoned pacer Jaydev Unadkat will be expected to fire once again, having taken 51 wickets this season at an average off 11.90, continuing his stellar form from last season. In the batting department, Sheldon Jackson has stepped up in the absence of Cheteshwar Pujara and is the leading scorer of the team with 605 runs at an average of 55.

Andhra go into the game after back-to-back losses towards the end of the league stage. However, their rampaging run in the first half of the season, when they were leading the table, helped them advance in the competition. They will rely a lot on in-form medium-pacer K V Sasikanth and batsman Ricky Bhui in the must-win game.

In Jammu, the mighty Karnataka take on the spirited bunch of J&K players. Karnataka finished third in the elite pool behind Gujarat and Bengal and scripted important wins over Tamil Nadu and Mumbai.

They play Group C top-pipers J&K, who lost only to Haryana in the league stage. Captain Parvez Rasool has led from the front scoring 403 runs at 44.77 and 25 wickets at 14.56. Another player who has contributed massively to the success of the team is batsman Abdul Samad who has amassed 547 runs.

In Cuttack, a comfortable win is expected from Bengal against Odisha. Their confidence must be sky high following memorable victories over Rajasthan and Punjab in the last two games. They chased down 320 against Rajasthan before beating Punjab in a low-scoring game on a difficult track in Patiala.

Manoj Tiwary has been their go-to batsman and left-arm spinner Shahbah Ahmed their stand out bowler.

At the Sardar Patel in Valsad, hosts Gujarat would be overwhelming favourites against Goa who advanced from plate group having suffered relegation last year.

Gujarat made it to the last eight after topping the elite cross pool with five wins from eight matches and three draws.

Goa will have their hopes pinned on their leading run-scorer Amit Verma (791 runs) and S K Patel (751 runs) and would want them to play another crucial knocks in the marquee clash. But the quarterfinal will be a different ball game as they face a formidable Gujarat attack led by Roosh Kalari, who has taken 30 wickets so far. PTI

We can put any team under pressure: Harman

PTI ■ SYDNEY

India captain Harmanpreet Kaur on Wednesday said her team has the ability to put pressure on any side in the upcoming ICC Women's T20 World Cup if it stays in the right frame of mind.

Insisting that positivity is the biggest strength of this Indian team, Harmanpreet said they are eagerly waiting to face four-time champions and title holders Australia in the tournament opener tomorrow.

"The nerves do start to kick in because we are very excited about that opening game and we're looking positive in that," said Harmanpreet, who knows the city well after her stint with Sydney Thunder in the Women's Big Bash League.

"We are a side that can put pressure on any team, we just look to stay in the right mindset and play in the way we can because that is our biggest strength.

"In sport, sometimes you are in good form and others you are not. I know that everyone playing in this tournament will look to be positive, and that is good for our team," she added.

With less than two days remaining for their clash against Australia at the Sydney Showground, Harmanpreet said a slow track and a huge Indian diaspora augurs well for her side.

Ashu beat Syria's Abdulkarim Mohammad Al-Hasan 8-1 while Kundu defeated Nao Kusaka of Japan 8-0 inside one and a half minutes in a lop-sided 72kg Greco-Roman medal bout.

India has so far won four medals in the championships, after Sunil Kumar's historic Gold in 87kg and Arjun Halakurki's Bronze in 55kg Greco-Roman category on Tuesday.

Gyanender, however, lost 0-6 in the 60kg Greco-Roman Bronze medal bout on Wednesday. The gold was won by Kenichiro Fumita of Japan, who beat Kyrgyzstan's Zholanam Sharshenkov 4-0.

The other Bronze in 60kg was won by Mehdi Seifollah Mohsen Nejad who beat Kazakhstan's Aidos Sultangali 4-3.

Poker majorly is game of skill

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The game of poker is majorly a game of skill which decides the winner says India Poker Championship 2020 winner Rubin Labroo, who won this year's championship which took place at Big Daddy Casino in Goa last month.

"Technically Poker is a mind game played with a lot of strategies. Obviously, luck is involved but a lot of it can be beaten by your skills and how good you understand how the game is. It's a very strategically motivated game," says Ruben who was introduced to the sport during his college days back in 2006.

Talking about the skills involved, he said: "It's a long term game and the result doesn't depend on what happens in one game."

"On a given day one might beat me but on the long term you will not be able to do so, that's the idea of a game. It's long term strategy you put in volume, numbers and over a period of time. If your math is strong and you are strategically better you will definitely beat the odds."

"In terms of skills edge, there is a lot of maths involved, selling and buying courses. There's a lot of studies involved, people study online, live and books written on this and it's basically a statistical probability game. And also there is a lot of live tells that you can pick up on the table. Different kind of people drop hints via hand movements and this all understanding will come with experience.

The 2020 edition was his second appearance in the IPC and speaking about the experience of playing in it, he said: "I was playing in some other tournament before the IPC and was not in good touch, so I booked my ticket back home and decided to skip the event. But then on my friends' insistence, I decided to play and I am glad that I stayed back and won the tournament," he said.

Gunathilaka out of Windies ODIs

AFP ■ COLOMBO

All-rounder Danushka Gunathilaka will miss the three-match one-day international series against the West Indies due to injury, the cricket board said Wednesday.

The 28-year-old was excluded from the 15-member squad as a recurring back injury had worsened, a board official said.

He is replaced by Shehan Jayasuriya.

The first ODI is on Saturday in Colombo, while the second takes place in Hambantota on February 26.

The final will be held on March 1 in Kandy.

After the ODI series the sides will play two Twenty20 matches.

Squad: Dimuth Karunaratne (c), Avishka Fernando, Kusal Perera, Shehan Jayasuriya, Niroshan Dickwella, Kusal Mendis, Angelo Mathews, Dhananjaya de Silva, Thisara Perera, Dasun Shanaka, Wanindu Hasaranga, Lakshan Sandakan, Isuru Udana, Nuwan Pradeep and Lahiru Kumara.

Kenin loses to Rybakina on WTA return

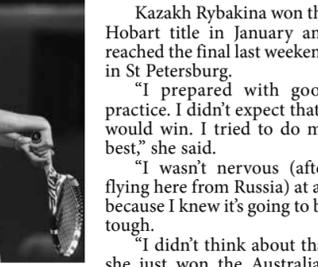

AFP ■ DUBAI

Sofia Kenin lost her first SWTA match since winning the Australian Open earlier this month as she went down 6-7 (2/7), 6-3, 6-3 to Elena Rybakina on Tuesday at the Dubai Championships.

American Kenin played a pair of non-Tour Fed Cup matches immediately after her Melbourne win over Garbine Muguruza, who cut short Kim Clijsters' comeback on Monday.

The 21-year-old went down in just over two hours to her 19th-ranked opponent who stood 192nd in the world a year ago.

"There's a bit more pressure coming from my side

(after first Grand Slam win). But I've just got to try to manage it for the next tournaments," said Kenin.

"I just didn't feel my game really well. I just made too many unforced errors, I didn't take my chances. I felt really off the whole match."

Kazakh Rybakina won the Hobart title in January and reached the final last weekend in St Petersburg.

"I prepared with good practice. I didn't expect that I would win. I tried to do my best," she said.

"I wasn't nervous (after flying here from Russia) at all because I knew it's going to be tough.

"I didn't think about that she just won the Australian Open, I know that now everyone can beat everyone," she added.

Seventh seed Aryna Sabalenka set up a potential quarter-final clash with world number two Simona Halep after seeing off Greek Maria Sakkari 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

ISHANT, SHAW TO PLAY IN 1ST TEST

PTI ■ WELLINGTON

India captain Virat Kohli on Wednesday dropped enough hints to indicate that seniormost pacer Ishant Sharma and young opener Prithvi Shaw will be in the playing XI for the first Test against New Zealand at Basin Reserve.

If India's net session on Wednesday is taken into consideration, Wriddhiman Saha is starting as the wicketkeeper ahead of Rishabh Pant for the series opener beginning tomorrow.

Hanuma Vihari, team's designated No 6 batsman for away Tests, will be the fifth bowling option with Jasprit Bumrah, Mohammed Shami and Ishant being three specialist pacers.

Ravichandran Ashwin is in the mix for the lone specialist spinner's spot though Ravindra Jadeja's all-round skills can't be ignored either.

Ishant, who was out for three weeks with ankle injury sustained during the Ranji Trophy game, bowled full tilt at the nets and even earned appreciation for troubling batsmen with his pace and bounce.

"He (Ishant) looked pretty normal and pretty similar to what he was bowling before the ankle injury. He is hitting good areas again and he has played (Test cricket) in New Zealand couple of times, so his experience will be useful to us. It was really good to see him bowling with pace and in good areas," Kohli said during media interaction.

The skipper also said in as many words that the team wouldn't like to change Shaw's natural stroke-play which was a good enough hint that Shubman Gill will have to warm the benches for now.

"Prithvi is a talented player and he has his own game and we want him to follow his instincts and play the way he does. Look, these guys have no baggage and are not desperate to perform in any manner," the skipper said.

The skipper wants Shaw to take a leaf out of Mayank Agarwal's performance in Australia back in 2018-19 when he hit back to back half-centuries in Melbourne and Sydney.

"They don't have any nerves to do well overseas. Like a clear head with which Mayank played in Australia, Prithvi can do the same in New Zealand.

"A bunch of guys playing with fearlessness, something that can motivate the whole team, gives us start that the team wants and not get intimidated by the opposition in any way."

The skipper downplayed India's below-par show in the three-match ODI series, especially that of Agarwal.

"Prithvi, I think you can call him relatively inexperienced and Mayank, I wouldn't call him that inexperienced because he has scored a lot of runs last year. So he understands what his game is like in Test cricket.

"I think sometimes in white ball cricket we try to do too much but once you come into red ball cricket, you fall into that disciplined mode of batting, which obviously suits him much more at this stage."

While he didn't give an answer on the Saha-Pant debate, the burly Delhi keeper had precious little to do at the main nets and was seen spending more time doing his keeping drills and only got an opportunity to bat when the first team completed its routines.

New Zealand are likely to go with an all-pace attack but the Indian captain wants to stick to his team's strengths which is play with one spinner in the four-pronged bowling attack.

"If it had been a Johannesburg pitch, I could have said it's a possibility (to play four pacers) but our team has that skill that we can bowl out other teams with only three fast bowlers," he sounded confident.

"But you need one world class skillful spinner, who can take wickets on any pitch. We won't copy the home team. We would rather figure out what is the most lethal combination, which gives us balance," he added.

"As a bowling group it's better than the one that came to NZ last time and that is why we have got so many teams all out in last two and half years. We would like to repeat that here also," Kohli added.

Will play all formats for at least 3 more years: Kohli

Virat Kohli attempts to take catch during India's practice session ahead of 1st Test BCCI

PTI ■ WELLINGTON

India captain Virat Kohli is preparing himself for a "rigorous three years" of playing all three formats after which he might reassess his workload amid a "transition phase" setting in.

The world's premier batsman is looking at the "bigger picture" in Indian cricket with two T20 and one 50-over World Cup in the next three years after which he might decide on playing two of the three formats.

"My mindset is on the bigger picture as I prepare myself for a rigorous three years from now and after that we might have a different conversation," Kohli replied when asked if he is having second thoughts about quitting at least one format after the 2021 World T20 in India.

"It's not a conversation you can hide away from in any manner. It is around eight years now that I have been playing 300 days a year, which includes travelling and practice sessions. And intensity is right up there all the time. It does take a toll on you," the Indian captain was forthright in his reply.

The skipper understands his presence and peak performance is crucial till the 2023 World Cup after which he understands that the next phase of transition will set in.

"I can keep going on with the same intensity and also understand that the team wants a lot of my contribution in the next two to three years, so that I can ease into another transition that we faced five-six years ago," he said referring to the retirements of Sachin Tendulkar, Rahul Dravid and VVS Laxman.

Indian pacers Jasprit Bumrah, Ishant Sharma & Mohammad Shami during nets BCCI

Ishant adds new dynamic to Indian bowling attack: Taylor

PTI ■ WELLINGTON

A fit-again Ishant Sharma will add a fresh dimension to India's bowling attack, says seasoned New Zealand batsman Ross Taylor, who foresees trouble for his team if focusses only on tackling Jasprit Bumrah during the upcoming Test series.

Taylor is only two days away from becoming the first cricketer to play 100 games across formats. Less than three weeks away from his 36th birthday, he has already competed in 231 ODIs and 100 T20s.

"I think if we just look at Bumrah, we are in trouble. I think their whole bowling line-up is fantastic. Obviously, Sharma coming back will bring new dynamics to the team," Taylor told reporters.

Ishant is returning to the Indian squad after recovering from an ankle injury sustained during a Ranji Trophy clash last month.

"They have got a world-class batting line-up as well and we have to get through that. But they are the No 1 team in the world for a reason and we know we have to be on our game to be successful against them," he added.

HENRY CALLED AS WAGNER'S COVER

WELLINGTON: New Zealand on Wednesday called in pacer Matt Henry for the first Test against India as cover for Neil Wagner, who is awaiting the birth of his first child.

Wagner is among New Zealand's senior pacers alongside Trent Boult and Tim Southee. The left-arm fast bowler has an impressive record in Tests, having taken 204 wickets in 47 games at an average of 26.63.

"Neil Wagner will not be joining the squad in Wellington ahead of the first Test as he and his wife Lana await the birth of their first child. Wagner will remain in Tauranga until the birth. Matt Henry joins the squad tonight as cover," the Black Caps tweeted.

Though Kyle Jamieson is in line to make a Test debut, Henry, who has played 12 Tests and 52 ODIs, is also in the mix.

Test C'ship pinnacle of all ICC tourneys

WELLINGTON: India captain Virat Kohli on Wednesday rated the World Test Championship as the biggest among all the ICC events in the wake of revelations that the game's governing body is planning to have more flagship white ball tournaments during the next eight-year cycle from 2023-2031.

According to ICC's proposed 2023-2031 Future Tours Programme (FTP) cycle, a proposed T20 Champions

Cup is earmarked for 2024 and 2028 and an ODI Champions Cup in 2025 and 2029, alongside the T20 World Cups in 2026 and 2030, and the ODI World Cups in 2027 and 2031.

"I think World Test Championship as an ICC tournament should be right up there. All the other tournaments for me they start under that. This is probably the biggest of them all as every team wants to make it to the final at the Lord's. We are no different.

"We are in that zone. We want to make sure that we qualify as soon as we can and be in that frame of mind to hopefully win that (championship)," said the Indian skipper ahead of first Test against New Zealand.

Kohli has no doubts that World Test Championship has added a context to the traditional format making the contests more exciting with points on offer.

"It has made Test cricket more exciting and that's something we have experienced as a side although we haven't had too many games away from home. Couple of games in the West Indies and we haven't had a tour of Australia as a part of Test Championship. This is our first away tour since the start of home season," said Kohli.
