The commission intends to remove all I-T, GST, and customs duties, and convert the entire tax structure of India into a capital tax structure.

KCR tears into Budget, terms it ‘discriminatory’
Evidently, the BJP is playing a double game of rhetoric and reality with the hares and hunting with the hounds. This is validated by their cat-on-the-wall stance over the question of abolishing the Legislative Council about which their Constitutional position is clear.

If further proof was needed, an ABP survey in the state members did not support Talasani Srinivas Yadav’s Bill 71 in the Council to reduce the two Bills on Abolition to the Senate. This then has been the first time since the 1956 dismantling of the legislative councils has the Council cast a vote against the decision of the Centre and the Centre has confirmed that the Council is their在网上也点赞了Rehman's proposal，称这是一个“好的开始”。

In this article, we are looking at the role of the Centre in evolving the national policy on the Legislative Council and the importance of the Centre's decision.

The idea of having a second chamber in the Indian Parliament has been a subject of debate for many years. The Centre has always been in favor of the creation of a second chamber, while some states have opposed it. The Centre has maintained that a second chamber would provide a check on the executive, while some states have argued that it would dilute the powers of the state assemblies.

Budget

Text from the page:

A sum of Rs 30,000 crore has been set aside for the Defence Budget for the current year. This is 13.1 per cent of the total budget and higher than the previous year’s allocation of Rs 26,184.50 crore. The ministry is working on the construction of a new line from the current line in the ongoing fiscal which has been named as 10.12. The project is in the final stages and construction has started. The next fiscal will be spent on the Southern Line, which is a major part of the project, and eight more years will be there. In the previous year, Rs 74,721 crore were spent on the infrastructure spending on the project.

The government has also allocated Rs 35,600 crore for nutrition related programmes for 2020-21. Earlier, Mission Indradhanush, which aims to improve nutrition for the population, has been set aside for the Women and Child Development Ministry. The scheme aims to facilitate access to an integrated system of logistics and augmenting necessary infrastructure, as well as those who do not have access to higher education.
The Union Budget was printed at the Rashtrapati Bhawan in New Delhi on January 30, 2020. A government press note was set up in the North Block in 1960, and the union budget is printed here.

Government to review rules in FTAs for sensitive items

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman declared that there will be no change in the definition of non-resident Indians (NRIs) under the tax reform law.

This provision provides relaxation to an Indian citizen or Indian Permanent Resident (PR) who are not liable to tax in India, in respect of any income of an Indian origin that he is resident in India for 182 days in the previous year.

“Non-resident status is restored to NRIs who have been in India for more than 182 days in a financial year,” Sitharaman announced.

So far, NRIs have been taxed by the Indian government even if they were in India for just 181 days in one financial year.

The Finance Minister also announced expansion of the Jan Dhan Yojana. It is proposed to provide a small scale employment opportunity for NRIs to enable them to set up micro-enterprises or small scale units.

The Ministry of Finance has also announced a scheme that will provide Rs 6,400 crore for PMJAY.

Sitharaman also announced that an outlay of Rs 8,000 crore is provided for Quantum Technologies and Quantum Industry.

The government, in order to promote Aadhaar, also planned to increase the allotment of Rs 28,524 crore to Rs 35,455 crore during the current financial year.

Rakesh Nangia said, “Residency is defined by two parameters, one is the period of stay and the other is the assessable income tax paid.”

In 1990, when the Finance Minister introduced the tax reform, he wrote that the one who is resident in India and some can even think of India cannot dump goods from abroad in India and some can even think of India as dumping goods.

Non-resident Indians are considered to be tax residents of India if they stay in India for 182 days or more in a financial year.

For a person to be considered as a tax resident of India, he or she has to be a citizen of India.

The government, in order to promote Aadhaar, also planned to increase the allotment of Rs 28,524 crore to Rs 35,455 crore during the current financial year.

The budget, which was presented on Friday,January 30, 2020, has been hailed by the corporate sector as a strong step towards creating a business-friendly environment.

In its announcement, the government said that the definition of a non-resident individual would be changed in the next few months.

The government has also announced a new scheme called “Mission Indradhanush”, which will provide Rs 62,659.12 crore in the next five years.

The apocalypse: Is it coming?

Even the announcement — the climate change is not coming, it is already in place. Except, for programs being born, there is a rather balanced warming. The time for some to act is now. It is time to act. We have had enough of activism over the centuries world being gathered at Schonbrunn in 1782. We have been talking, dying down the time. We have not acted. It is time to act.

So the challenge is, to stop the destruction of the planet, if we want to live in peace. We need to act. We need to take action. If we do not act now, we will lose control over the world.

Microgreens, Hyderabad’s latest KITCHEN ‘FARM’ACY

The world is changing and the concept of green living is becoming a reality. The concept of eating healthy and nutritious food is gaining momentum across the globe. In India, the concept of eating microgreens is catching on fast and is being promoted by various organisations and individuals.

Savio Souza, a Mumbai-based café owner, is one of those who have taken the concept of microgreens seriously. He started growing microgreens in his garden a few years ago and has since been promoting the idea of growing them at home.

“People are becoming more health-conscious and are looking for food that is not only nutritious but also tastes good,” said Savio. “Microgreens are a great way to add variety to your diet and also help in maintaining a healthy lifestyle.”

Savio has conducted over 1,000 workshops in the last seven years across the country and every third customer to his online shop is from Hyderabad. He attributes this to the growing interest in the concept of microgreens and the idea of ‘green living’.

“Microgreens are seedlings of vegetables and herbs that have many health benefits,” said Savio. “They are rich in vitamins and minerals and are also very easy to grow.”

The workshop was conducted by the Green Education Organisation (GEO) who has been promoting the concept of microgreens in the country. GEO has conducted several workshops across the country and has been successful in creating awareness about the benefits of growing microgreens.

“We all know that the green revolution is necessary for the health and well-being of the nation,” said the chairperson of GEO. “Microgreens are an excellent way to promote healthy eating and also help in reducing food waste.”

The workshop was also attended by the Young FICCI Ladies Organisation (YFLO) and the FICCI Ladies Organisation (FLO) who organised a workshop on the concept of microgreens. The workshop was attended by several individuals who were interested in the idea of growing microgreens at home.

“Microgreens are a great way to make a ‘kitchen farmacy’ in many homes,” said Shilpa Datla, chairperson of YFLO. “We planned a workshop on the concept of microgreens to create awareness about this subject.”

“Microgreens are said to contain higher levels of vitamins and carotenoids than their mature counterparts. Such optimal levels of nutrients help lower the risk of cancer, Alzheimer’s, osteoporosis and boost heart’s health,” she added.

The workshop was conducted in a fun and interactive manner, with hands-on sessions and a quiz to test the knowledge of the participants. The workshop was a success and many participants expressed their interest in growing microgreens at home.

“Overall, the workshop was a great success and we hope to conduct more such workshops in the future,” said Savio. “We are happy to see the growing interest in the concept of microgreens and are looking forward to promoting it in the future.”

Hyderabad has pubs and bars aplenty. However, very few stand out when it comes to the variety of cocktail and mocktail offerings. Soda Bottle Opener Wala, a Mumbai-based café, which has a name for itself in the city, is one of those places.

Whiskywali Coffee is just what the doc ordered!

The signature cocktails have always been the highlight of the café. Every cocktail had its unique flavour and was a perfect blend of ingredients. The Whiskywali Coffee, which is known for blending whiskey with coffee, was one of the most popular items on the menu.

However, very few stand out when it comes to the variety of cocktail and mocktail offerings. Soda Bottle Opener Wala, a Mumbai-based café, which has a name for itself in the city, is one of those places.

The new menu also introduced the concept of non-alcoholic drinks, which was a welcome addition. The non-alcoholic drinks were equally delicious and were a hit with the customers.

“We finalised the menu after a long week. We had to make sure we included all the ingredients that go well with that particular drink,” said the head chef. “We also decided to offer a wider range of non-alcoholic drinks to cater to the needs of all customers.”

The new menu was launched in February and has been well-received by the customers. The café has continued to offer the same high-quality service and has been successful in creating a unique experience for all customers.

From being mocked for having the audacity to say as a college student that he wants to direct Pawan Kalyan to achieving his goal and delivering a slew of ‘commercial hits’ like Gabbar Singh, Mirapakay and GaddalaKonda Ganesh as well as the hummable and lilting Mirapakay theme, director Harish Shankar has made a lasting impact on Tollywood. In an exclusive interview to ‘THE PIONEER’, Harish reveals that he has been nurturing a dream to direct his idol Sher Khan SRK and make a splash in Bollywood.

I want to die on sets…

It was a huge Martin Scorsese film just directed by him. I was 17, I still had at least 10 years to go so I was not shooting for a simple death while shaving. Once you are old, your body gets to take all the atrocities, but you still won’t.

Middle class family…

My father is a big time Amitabh Bachchan fan. After his name, there was a alcançer around me. I used to look for his movies and play them on TV. I started to memorize the dialogues. I got the chance, I would throw it back at them. I had given some readings in front of Shah Rukh Khan and I am sure that I will direct him.

The first chemistry…

I had to do some research on my own to try and get his signature for movie rights. I was waiting outside Prasad and sister, Sri Vidya. Like any other guy even I watch Netflix and I am spoilt because of the digital revolution. I also played a similar role in my movie Super Hero. I delivered a dialogue that impressed Srinu Vaitla and I got the chance to direct Pawan Kalyan garu, people told me that I was wasting the chance but I believe in myself. I want to die on sets.

Cried at Annapurna studios…

I understand that you have given a lot of dialogue and you have given some readings for the roles. I have to find a way out of the script. I was apprehensive about my career. I had zero encouragement from my family initially. I fought with my dad on multiple occasions. I was very stubborn. I told my dad that I will give a chance to a director. When dad met Big B…

My brother is a big time Amitabh Bachchan fan. After his name, there was a alcançer around me. I used to look for his movies and play them on TV. I started to memorize the dialogues. I got the chance, I would throw it back at them. I had given some readings in front of Shah Rukh Khan and I am sure that I will direct him.

When does the action happen?…

It was a high-tension Akhil Akkineni blockbuster. Part of the action was being questioned by the police. I had given some readings in front of Shah Rukh Khan and I am sure that I will direct him.

I am not only commercial director…

I am not only commercially inclined. I am a Kareena Kapoor fan. I want to do a movie with her and have seen her some good advice.

What do you do before you sleep?…

What do you do before you sleep? I either read or watch movies. I have found that I have good backache if I go to bed without any support. I can’t make up my mind to watch movies or read books. I have to do a lot of thinking before closing my eyes. I don’t want to curse me, but used to tell everyone ‘You either have to be hard working or smart and Harish is the latter’.

Sensible questions…

There is no question of me asking a question and no one in the room answering it. I would suppress it and whenever my energy and aggression were going on inside me, I would tend to be obedient. There was a lot of cally weak, and would often bleed from my fingers.

I hate Chemistry, especially Organic Chemistry…

I have been running a dream to direct his idol Sher Khan SRK and make a splash in Bollywood. He shares with K RAMYA SREE the high and low points of his 10-year-old film career, upbringing in a middle class family, enduring love for theatre, and more.
