Pakistan Parliament has passed a bill to meet FATF requirements

Pakistan National Assembly has passed three bills that will be able to make Pakistan no longer on the Grey List for an additional three years. The lower house of the Parliament has passed the three bills, which are the mutual legal assistance request, the legal assistance request, and the request to go about inquiring about a person to a country to “abrogate” the laws of that country and to seek legal assistance from that country. The bills are expected to be presented to the Senate for its consideration and approval.

The bills were approved by the Senate of Pakistan, which had rejected them earlier. The Senate has now given its approval to the bills, which will enable Pakistan to “abrogate” the laws of other countries.

Innovation is key

Universities and schools need to invent new ways of teaching and learning that can create a lucrative environment for the students, says NITISH JAIN.

Schools are using emerging technologies that replicate a classroom-like experience at workplaces. This is useful for working adults who need to sharpen their skills.

In order to become successful entrepreneurs, a student should first of all know his name, number, passions and skills; in addition, he should be able to write down the name of the company.

In two days, three out of four students apply for the course and get selected. The ROI is also, which should also be clear to the students.

Future news worldwide

The applications are open for Future News Worldwide 2020, an international conference for the next generation of news media entrepreneurs. The conference will be held at Sky Central — the global headquarters of the Sky Group in London, in July 2020.

The opportunity is available to undergraduate and postgraduate students in all fields.

In addition, there are the academic requirements. In order to be a candidate for the competition, students should have completed the equivalent of a minimum of 150 credits.

The deadline for submitting applications is February 14, 2020.

Taylor achieved the feat on the fourth day of the third Test against Australia at the Sydney Cricket Ground on Monday. The 35-year-old scored 717 runs from 21 Tests and 374 innings, averaging 44.26, including 19 centuries and 53 fifties.

"I guess that's an accolade," Crowe said after the result. "It's probably the most prestigious rather than the most emotional."

Williams eases past qualifier to kick-off her 2020 campaign with straight-sets victory

Serena Williams served a strong start against compatriot Cori Gauff at the Italian Open as she won to take her to the second round.

The American, who lost to Gauff in the semi-finals of last year’s US Open, was in control from the first service break and did not face a single break point.

She broke in the third game and although the American levelled in the fifth game, Williams broke again in the seventh to win, 6-3, 6-2.

Williams, who is currently ranked world number 47, said: “I was really happy with the way I served today. I was really happy with the way I played the whole match.”

Williams is looking to win her seventh Italian Open title and is in a strong position to achieve this as she has won 15 of her 16 career titles in Italy.

She has also won the French Open three times and has secured two Australian Open titles.

The American is also in the mix for a spot in the WTA Finals in Shenzhen, China, which will take place at the end of this month.

Williams has been in good form in recent weeks, having reached the semi-finals of the Madison Keys Tournament in the US and the third round of the French Open.

She will now face either Yulia Putintseva or Anastasia Pavlyuchenkova in the third round.

Williams is in good shape heading into the US Open, which begins in September, and she will be looking to retain her title and extend her US Open record to eight titles.

She has also recently announced that she will be competing in the Australian Open in January, which will be her final tournament before retirement.

She will be looking to win her 24th grand slam title and become the first woman to win 20 grand slam titles in four different decades.

Williams is known for her powerful serve and strong groundstrokes, and she will be looking to use these to her advantage in the upcoming tournaments.

She is also looking to break the record for most career titles won by a female player, which she currently holds with 172 titles.

Williams is a four-time Olympic gold medalist and has won a total of 23 major titles in singles, doubles, and mixed doubles.

She is widely regarded as one of the greatest players in the history of the sport and is expected to continue her统治 for the foreseeable future.
