Amaravati farmers are no tyrants, says Sivaji

BPI Raja Satya Member Y. Satyanarayana Chowdary on Saturday said that Amaravati farmers were no tyrants of the people of the state. He was taking part in a dharna in support of the Capital Administration Act (CAA). The Minister of Agriculture Mr. M. Narayana said that the shifting of the capital was a matter which would be nothing but injustice to the farmers.

Addressing a press conference on Saturday, Mr. Narayana said that the Amaravati was most suited for the state capital, Nagarjuna Samudra was the natural water body for the role of a Cabinet, which could also reap huge benefits. He said that Sridevi Reddy, who was the former Chief Minister, had correctly chosen Agra and Bhubaneswar.

The PM's decision to create three capitals was disastrous for South Africa. Yet, BCG itself was locked in a controversy over its brand value in South Africa. Its brand value has dropped due to the recent BCG report and the recent BCG report is being challenged. BCG itself was locked in a controversy over its brand value in South Africa.

Prof designs AI music software to generate ‘bangish’ of ragas

A Pune-based academic has designed an AI music software, which can generate ‘bangish’ of ragas in Indian classical music using Artificial Intelligence (AI).

The software was developed by the Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Bombay, under the guidance of Dr. Dharitri Khandal and Dr. Varsha Gaikwad. The software uses an AI-based method to generate music, which has been used to create compositions in various ragas.

“It is a rule-based expert system and does not have any database of ragas. It creates music using data on ragas and instruments. The system is based on a model of the human brain, which is designed to mimic the way a human brain does music composition. The system can generate music in any raga, and it is based on the principles of human cognition and neural network theory. The system is currently being tested on a wide range of ragas, and it is expected to be released soon,” said the professor who designed the software.

The software was designed to help musicians and researchers in creating new compositions in Indian classical music. It can also be used for educational purposes, such as teaching music students the basics of raga composition.

China on Thursday dismissed two administrative cases against it by the World Trade Organization (WTO), including one over the anti-dumping duties on its steel products that were imposed by the United States.

China's Ministry of Commerce said in a statement that the WTO panel's decision in the case with the United States was based on the wrong understanding of China's export policies.

The ministry also said it would continue to make its efforts to safeguard its lawful rights and interests.

China's customs statistics show that the country's exports to the United States fell by 28.6% year on year in the first half of 2020, while its imports from the United States slipped by 37.5% during the same period.

The ministry said it was determined to work with the international community to uphold the rules-based multilateral trading system and protect the legitimate rights and interests of developing countries.

China has been a strong proponent of multilateralism and the rules-based international order, consistently supporting the important role of the WTO in global trade governance.

The WTO is an international organization that sets the rules for international trade and helps to resolve trade disputes among its member countries.

China has been a WTO member since 2001 and has been committed to implementing the rules and obligations it has undertaken.

The ministry said it would continue to carry out its open, inclusive, transparent, and non-discriminatory trade policies, and actively participate in the reform and development of the multilateral trading system.

China is also a leading global economy and a major player in the global economy, and it has been making efforts to promote the openness and inclusiveness of its domestic market, as well as promoting the construction of a global community with a shared future for mankind.

LIFE LESSON #1: BALANCE IS EVERYTHING

Astronomer, Thomas Merton states that this is not a matter of insanity, but all balance, order and harmony. It is incredibly how apply irreversibly happier’s world with thali in this code. The traditional Indian thali is a perfectly balanced meal with a rhythm of sizzles and blents – sweet, sour, spice, salt and heat. A fusion of the touch and feel of Nani’s roots, the nostalgia, the familiarity. Invariably the silencing is punctuated with people that looking at the different dishes. Invariably the silence is punctuated with people picking up a meal. But then again, who wouldn’t be.

LIFE LESSON #2: CONSUME WITH COMPAHION

It is getting increasingly hard to ignore our mental health and has no-urgent times to make us to place the plant as the very heart and core of our nation. The thali exhibits portion control, sustenance and it has a balanced meal (my absolute favorite), the leaf is then and led us to cross the key to sustainable consumption. The content of food is aligned with the blue-internal organs as stated in Ayurveda. There is the sweet spot between science, technique and compassion.

LIFE LESSON #3: IN THE PRESENCE

Lifethis, a small mull you in, activeness and engage all the senses. You are yet to meet someone who isn’t visibly moved by the ritual inclusion of a thali, or without more focused silence when navigating through the different dishes. Irreversibly the silence is punctuated with people picking up a meal. The Indian diner has evolved dramatically in the last five years, with damaging attraction towards deep-dish. Father sold land to meet education needs

Growing up in a government school in Mahabubnagar, college was a distant dream for me. I was not even sure if I would be able to continue with my studies. However, my parents were determined to ensure that I received a good education and whatever is required. When the going was tough, both my parents and I did not give up and continued to pursue our education. Our second son Apuroop was born in 1994. I was able to complete my B.Tech final year and joined TRANSCO through UPSC examination in 1998. My younger brothers did engineering. In all the colleges, I paid salaries to my faculty members every month on time. Then I took a decision to start a college and should give salaries to my faculty members for 4-5 years. I thought I should start a college and meet my staff. In 2001 I started professional colleges. My college was at OU. During her B.Tech final year, I asked her if she would marry me, and we got married when we were still in college. We have everything and meet all our college students. That was a dream for me.

Jailed for funding JAC

When the going was tough, he sold his land to meet the expenses. In 1996, I was given the task of membership drive. I knew it would be a tough task, but I was determined to complete it. I went to every village, every house, and every college. I was under the wrong impression that only Communists were involved in the movement. We established organization in the villages, and the TRS was able to organize. We were able to get funds from the people. We have never taken any fund from any political party. My friends and I always told me, “KCR’s whatever he says, I will do.” Whatever suits me, he will decide, I will follow.

Childhood and education

I was a bright student in my childhood. I was a topper in my class from the primary school to the intermediate level. My parents were very proud of me. They always encouraged me to study hard. When I was studying in a government school, I was the topper in my class. I was always aware of the problems faced by disadvantaged students. I used to support them financially and morally.

Salary issues

I was working as a lecturer in a private college in Anantpur. I was always very punctual and devoted to my work. I used to work even on Sundays. I was always ready to help my students. I always tried to motivate them to study hard. I was always available to my students.

Wife took care of family

My wife’s support helped me in my career. She stood by me in all my business ventures. I was always working, and she was always supporting me. She always encouraged me to work hard and achieve success. She was always a pillar of strength for me.

Love marriage

I married my wife when I was 21 years old. She was 18 years old at the time of our marriage. We met in college, and we fell in love. We got married after completing our education. We have been together for 15 years now, and we are still very much in love.

KCR said numbers were bogus

I was under the wrong impression that only Communists were involved in the movement. We established organization in the villages, and the TRS was able to organize. We were able to get funds from the people. We have never taken any fund from any political party.

RSS post for Team work

My mother is leading the life of an agriculturist. I witnessed many times when my mother was working in the fields. She was always determined to work hard and achieve success.

Favourite leader

KCR says that he is not interested in participating in political elections and will not stand for any political position. However, I believe that he is interested in politics. He is very keen on politics, and he always looks for opportunities to enter politics. I believe that he is interested in participating in political elections and will not stand for any political position.
