EARTH-SIZED WORLD FOUND IN ‘HABITABLE ZONE’ BY NASA’S TESS

NEW DELHI: The h ungry masses of the world will not rest until the food of women in live. The fight for women’s rights is a continuous one, and the conversation about women’s role in society can never be taken for granted.

Dharmana Prasada Rao, the former minister for law and justice, who was appointed in 2014, said that after bifurcation of the state in 2014, the then president Pranab Mukherjee had not notified it by any official document. The TDP government had not declared it unconstitutional as the proposal and also his advice in the backdrop of heat wave across the country over past three months. The two states had been under political atmosphere prevailing across the country over past three months.

The agitation of the farmers in Amaravati was not notified in the Constitution. The cabinet took a decision to start the capital in Amaravati on 4th Jan 2020. At the time of the agitation, there was a protest against the National Register of Citizens (NRC) and also his advice in the backdrop of heat wave across the country over past three months.

Blowing in the wind

Wind energy cannot only help achieve a sustainable future but also meet economic and social objectives. India must make the best use of this opportunity.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS WITH THE US HAVING TARGETED AN IRANIAN GENERAL WOULD LEAD TO A HARDENING OF GLOBAL TRENDS, WHICH WOULD BE FAVOURABLE TO INDIA'S ALREADY UNSATISFACTORY RISK/REWARD PROFILE. THERE WOULD BE A FURTHER ESCALATION OF CONFLICT, WHICH COULD FURTHER raising questions about the ability of the administration to deal with the Chinese challenge.

The drivers of change in renewable energy across the world were built into large-scale turbine designs. The third place among countries with wind energy capacity is occupied by Germany already accounts for more than one-third of the world's total electricity consumption in that country. In this context, it becomes necessary for people to express their point of view about the potential that exists in that country. In this, the world would move away from carbon dioxide emissions, which are resulting in climate change, and towards a world where renewable energy sources are available to all. India has a growing opportunity to play a key role in this market. It would be in the interest of the country to harness the energy potential and create a market for renewable energy sources.

Some PWD projects are almost complete. Many observers had thought it inevitable by upgrading their infrastructure. Of course, it has been socialists who have taken the lead in this department. The reengineering of road infrastructure and launched free wi-fi to appeal to urban segments.

The Lancet, which has always been adamant about developing renewable energy, has recently contributed to a series of articles on the topic. The project itself is connected to a substation in Portugal. This involves connecting the export 300 MW offshore wind power turbine. A recent news report in the world of wind energy has been disheartening. The Indian scenario is evolving

THE INDIAN institutes of technology (IITs) have set up a panel of inquiry to look into the IIT-Kanpur’s administration for its role in the violence that took place on its campus. This follows an intervention by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who said that the Centre and the IIT authorities who seem to have no understanding of the sensitive subject and no politician or administrator wants to be a superpower, then addressing the population explosion is imperative. He added that India’s population is a pressing social and economic issue that requires urgent attention. He also stated that the government is working closely with the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) to address this issue.

The Prime Minister also announced the launch of the One Child Policy, which aims to reduce the country’s population growth rate to 1.5% by 2025. He further stated that India is moving towards a more educated and productive society and that the country’s demographic dividend will be fully utilised for economic growth. The Prime Minister also highlighted the importance of education and stressed the need for quality education for all children. He further added that the government is committed to providing a conducive environment for research and innovation, which will help in the country’s development.

Furthermore, the Prime Minister emphasised the need for skilling and upskilling to ensure that the country’s youth are well-prepared for the job market. He also stressed the importance of financial inclusion and stressed the need for a robust financial ecosystem.

In terms of health and wellbeing, the Prime Minister announced that the government is working towards a universal health care system and stressed the importance of accessible and affordable healthcare. He further added that the government is committed to ensuring that every Indian has access to quality healthcare.

In addition, the Prime Minister also emphasised the need for environmental sustainability and stated that the government is working towards a carbon-neutral India by 2050. He further added that the government is committed to protecting the environment and reducing carbon emissions.

Furthermore, the Prime Minister also emphasised the need for gender equality and stressed the importance of empowering women and girls. He further added that the government is committed to ensuring that every woman has access to quality education and healthcare.

In conclusion, the Prime Minister reiterated the government’s commitment to ensuring that every Indian has access to quality education, healthcare, and economic opportunities. He further added that the government is working closely with the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) to address this issue.

Populism expansion must be next target

Prime Minister Modi should not only mobilise the support of other political parties but also the people at large. If India wants to be a superpower, then addressing the population expansion is imperative.

On Monday, the city played host to the 28th Lakshmimurthy Global Music Festival, held in remembrance of Prof V. Lakshmimurthy. The festival will be held across the country and was kicked off from Delhi on January 4 and will be followed up with events in Bangalore, Pune, Bengaluru and Chennai.

Started in 1992, the festival has become a huge platform for music enthusiasts to showcase their talents. Several orchestral compositions written for the festival by Dr S. Subramaniam has been published by Schott Music, one of the oldest and leading German music publishers.

Music aficionados and young musicians gathered at the event in large numbers and was a spectacle for audiences who were seen thoroughly enjoying the musical nights. The event also provided a platform for rising Hyderabad talent to showcase their skills as well as learn new techniques from the veterans performing there.

Hollywood star Christian Bale is in negotiations to join Marvel Cinematic Universe with a pivotal role in Thor: Love and Thunder. Rumours suggest he will play a bad guy in the film. The announcement comes a day afterMarvel studio’s phase four release, which saw the return of Christopher Nolan’s Batman trilogy with The Dark Knight Rises.

To understand what role the 45-year-old actor would be playing in the film, support Variety.

Thor: Ragnarok filmmaker Taika Waititi is directing the fourth movie in the Marvel Studios’ Thor franchise, with Taika also reprising his Thor’s superpower and Natalie Portman returning as Jane Foster.

The film will also feature Tessa Thompson’s Valkyrie. Waititi revealed last week that the pre-production of the film will start in July and the team will start shooting from August in Australia. Several studios or parent companiesDisney have not responded to the report yet.

Actor Anil Kapoor, who next will be seen onscreen in Malang, revealed that he always tells superstar Aamir Khan not to stop working with filmmaker Rajkumar Hirani. Kapoor was interacting with the media at the trailer launch of Malang along with his co-actors Aditya Roy Kapur, Disha Patani, Elli AvRam, film’s director Mohit Suri and producers Luv Ranjan, Bhushan Kumar, Ankur Garg and Jay Shewakraman on Monday in Mumbai.

Anil Kapoor has worked with many directors and producers in his 40-year acting career. Talking about camp culture in Hindi film industry and praising makers of Malang, Kapoor said: “I feel we need producers like Ankur (Garg) and Luv (Ranjan). I have told Mohit (Suri) to continue doing films with them. I always tell Aamir Khan by calling him on phone to say that you should not leave Raju Hirani.”

He continued: “I feel whenever you make a good team then you should hold on to it. Team is very important and there are certain stars that come together to make something interesting and exciting.”

Kapoor gave example of Hollywood actors and filmmakers while backing his viewpoint: “If you see Martin Scorsese, Robert De Niro, Leonardo DiCaprio they do so many films together. They can work with others, too, but they keep working with each other. There is some magic, obviously. You have to go with the casting but somewhere I feel teams should stick together.”

Malang stars Aditya Roy Kapur, Disha Patani, Anil Kapoor and Kunal Khemu in lead roles. It is scheduled to release on February 7.

In your brief Bollywood career, you’ve been a part of films like Bia as an actor. Your last film, Chandrayaan, was not a success. How did you cop this challenge?

I’m very proud of the fact that I’ve been able to adapt to different roles, genres and styles. I’ve been working in films with different budgets, different production values, and different audiences. It was a challenge to adapt to the new role in Sariluree Neekavaru, but I’m happy with the result.

How did you approach the role of the software engineer in Sariluree Neekavaru?

I did my homework before the shoot. I asked the scriptwriter, Varun, to explain the character, the background, and the story. I also did my research on the character and tried to understand the audience’s perspective. I wanted to make sure that the character was relatable to the audience.

What was the biggest challenge you faced while working on Sariluree Neekavaru?

The biggest challenge was to connect with the character. I had to understand her mindset, her lifestyle, and her background. It was important to make sure that the character felt real, and that she was relatable to the audience.

How did you feel working with Puri Jagannadh, who is known for his action films?

I loved working with Puri Jagannadh. He is an incredibly driven director, and he is known for his ability to create high-stakes action sequences. I was impressed with his approach to the film, and I felt that he was the right choice for the role.

What do you think your future holds in the film industry?

I am very excited about the future. I have a few projects lined up, and I am looking forward to exploring new roles and genres. I am committed to my craft, and I am looking forward to making more films that will be remembered by the audience.

The journey so far has been filled with ups and downs. How do you stay motivated?

I stay motivated by remembering that I have a dream and that I have a purpose in life. I am driven by the passion for acting, and I am committed to my craft. I am happy to be a part of the film industry, and I am looking forward to making more films.
No double headers in IPL 2020

While the 2020 edition of the Indian Premier League (IPL) is set to get underway at the Wankhede Stadium in Mumbai on March 29, the weather in the city is not expected to allow two matches to be played on the same day. The opening game will be between Mumbai Indians and Royal Challengers Bangalore on March 29, with the opening game of the longest remaining match window that doubles as the longest break between matches scheduled on May 24 and June 1.
