Jagan: Can a poor state like Andhra Pradesh afford to have an Upper House?

For the farmers of Amaravati capital region, legislation is a dead issue. A new move by the state government to remove the upper house in the state assembly has raised several questions among farmers. The move, which is aimed at reducing expenditure, has been subject to much debate.

The move has been opposed by several political parties and farmers' organizations. The Opposition has also condemned the move and called for a discussion on the issue in the Legislative Council. The move has been defended by the ruling party, which has said it is necessary to reduce the state's financial burden.

The move has been welcomed by some economists, who say it is necessary to cut down on government expenditure. However, the move has also been criticized by some experts, who say it could lead to a loss of representation for some groups.

The move has been subject to much debate and discussion in the media. Many experts have expressed their views on the issue, and the move has been subject to much criticism and support.

The move has also been subject to much controversy. Some experts have questioned the move's validity, and the move has been subject to much criticism.

Concern over dwindling fish catch

Senior Police Officer V V Srikanth, speaking at the meeting, said the fish catch is not as good as before. People are not going to the sea this year, he said, adding that the fish catch during the year 2019 was better than what it is now.

Mr. Srikanth said that the fishing boat operators are losing their income due to the reduction in the fish catch. He added that the fishing boats are also facing difficulties in finding fish.

Mr. Srikanth expressed concern over the declining fish population and urged the government to take immediate action to address the issue. He also suggested that the government should consider setting up fish farms to ensure a steady supply of fish.

Mr. Srikanth said that the government should also look into the issue of illegal fishing and take strict action against those involved in it. He added that the police should also be vigilant and ensure that fishing boats are not operating during prohibited fishing periods.

The sitting MLA, Mr. Gopal Reddy, also spoke at the meeting and assured the fishermen of all necessary help from the government. He said that the government would ensure that the fishermen are provided with alternative sources of livelihood.

Mr. Gopal Reddy suggested that the government should also consider setting up a fish market to ensure that the fishermen have a steady market for their catch.

The meeting was attended by representatives from various organizations and associations, including the Andhra Pradesh Fishermen Association, the Andhra Pradesh Fishermen Union, and the Andhra Pradesh Fishermen Welfare Association.

The dignitaries present at the meeting included the MLA, the president of the Andhra Pradesh Fishermen Association, and the president of the Andhra Pradesh Fishermen Union.

The meeting concluded with a resolve to continue the protests until the government takes action to address the issue of declining fish catch.

644 militants of eight groups surrender in Assam

The govt will carry out its Constitutional duty for the rehabilitation of the surrendered cadres, said Sonowal.

A total of 644 cadres and leaders of eight groups, including ULFA(I), NDFB(S), NDFB, RNLF, KLO, CPI(N), NSLA, and RNLF, surrendered in Assam on Tuesday. The surrender was the largest in the history of operations against Naxalism and militant groups in the state.

The cadres and leaders surrendered in various districts of Assam, including Sonitpur, Hailakandi, Dima Hasao, and Karbi Anglong. The surrender was part of a peace initiative announced by the state government to encourage the surrender of militant cadres and leaders.

The surrender was part of the broader government strategy to curb the activities of militant groups in the state and bring peace to the affected areas. The government has been working to rehabilitate the surrendered cadres and leaders and provide them with alternative livelihoods.

The surrender was done under the Peaceful Surrender and Rehabilitation Scheme (PSRS) of the state government, which was introduced in 2016. The scheme offers various benefits to surrendered cadres and leaders, including financial assistance, medical treatment, and vocational training.

The surrendered cadres and leaders were把你 to rehabilitation centers in various districts of Assam, where they will receive medical treatment and vocational training. They will also be provided with housing and other amenities.

The surrender was welcomed by the general public and was considered a significant step towards peace in the affected areas. The government has been lauded for its efforts to rehabilitate the surrendered cadres and leaders and bring peace to the affected areas.

The surrender was also welcomed by the NDFB(S) and NDFB(SI), which have been involved in armed conflict with the government for several years. The surrender was considered a positive step towards peace in the affected areas and was welcomed by the general public and the government.

Pavan Varma free to leave JDU when he wants: Nitish

Will decide next course of action depending on Nitish Kumar's reply

Chief Minister Nitish Kumar on Thursday kept the door open for the output of the leader Pavan Varma as the JD(U) support for him in the upcoming elections. The JD(U)’s support for Kumar in the assembly polls is uncertain and the situation is not clear that the ‘socially’ deprived leader Varma may stay with him for the assembly polls. Kumar said that he will decide the next course of action depending on Nitish Kumar’s reply.

There should be no confusion on the stand taken by him (Varma) in the Janata Dal (United) on issues. Our party does not go beyond our ideological clarity. If he could express himself clearly, he could have expressed the same in the media. He has a right to express his views, but the reference is conversations rendition. He has not expressed his truth, what he has to say or not to say, in the public. Kumar said that Nitish Kumar had not intimated him in this matter in the past.

In another development on Thursday, the JD(U) said it will hold a two-day ‘Jiyo Vihar’ at Birsa Mandap in the Raj Bhavan from Saturday to organise on the occasion of the 150th birth anniversary of Tilak (Varma), who is a scholar for whom Tilak’s ‘ideological clarity’ says. The nature of state assembly has been given, he has left the (JD(U) in the past).

The East Coast Railway has commissioned the green plant which will turn ewaste into diesel and plant into light oil in 24 hours, said officials on Wednesday.

A patented technology has been utilized in the waste-to-energy plant which converts multiple feed stocks into hydrocarbon liquid fuels, gas, carbon black and polycracks. The East Coast Railway has been working on this project since 2016 at the Patna South division’s workshop.

The plant is the world’s first patented and technology-based cadmium partition process which converts multiple feed stocks into hydrocarbon liquid fuels, gas, carbon black and polycracks. This is the only plant in India which can convert multiple feed stocks into hydrocarbon liquid fuels, gas, carbon black and polycracks. The plant has been working on this project since 2016 at the Patna South division’s workshop.

The plant, which was commissioned on February 3, has been working since then. It produces hydrocarbon liquid fuels, gas, carbon black and polycracks. The plant has been working on this project since 2016 at the Patna South division’s workshop.

A really bad year

India slips on the global democracy index from 2018 even as the countrywide internet shutdowns on dissenting voices and protests have given us the dubious distinction of authorising over 67 per cent of the world’s internet traffic. Before we dismiss these observations as part of a worldwide consensus, we should at least be held up as tolerable and accommodative if not the best. So India, no matter how we may feel about the erosion of civil liberties as the primary cause of our democratic regression. The US under the Trump administration typifies the reckless decision-making of military imperative without prior experience, counsel or professional advice.

India is one of the last frontiers of economic growth in the world. The 2020 Union Budget aims to boost manufacturing, especially at the State Government level. For small businesses to make a mark in the market, there should be an open consultation infrastructure that is a real danger today. From extreme weather conditions being reported around the globe, to the world moving towards sustainable businesses to tackle the climate crisis, these challenges are a real danger. The deliberations so far have been behind closed doors. For a global summit, promising big ticket businesses free land, cheap electricity and stable, predictable, industry, consumer and economy-friendly policy framework, is a must. Making a way through emergencies

Vishwaja Reddy built disposable sanitary pad vending machines to make sure that no girl or woman would have to worry about having a pad when needed.

"It took a year for me to make the machine. Each machine costs Rs 10,000. Being a student, I had to sell the product by going from school to college to convince them to buy the machine. That is how I managed to make these machines," shares Vishwaja.

"Generally, every female face these problems but they don't know what to do and sometimes even if they have plans they may not come forward to discuss it with anyone. If you face problems express it out loud. Even if you don't get a solution right away, you may get a solution eventually,"

Vishwaja says that they had collected the machines in 23 schools and colleges in Hyderabad and are planning to set up the same in rural areas of Telangana.

SAI TEJ boards SANKRITIYAN’S time-travel adventure

Sci-fi bug is catching on. Now director Rahul Sankritayan has lined up a time travel movie for Sai Tej who is riding a high after the success of Pendawa, Cheksha, writes NAGARAJ GOUD

E ven before he takes his third film with Sai Tej as his director, Rahul Sankritayan has sunk his teeth into another project. The Pioneer has exclusively learnt that he got an offer to produce and front Sai Tej in his next serious adventure. The actor is riding a high on the success of Pendawa Cheksha. The project will be a joint production venture between GA2 Pictures and UV Creations, both of which are the flagship film entities, and will roll after he wraps up Sai Tej’s film.

A high placed source close to the development info us, “Nagababu got a word last year and immediately asked him to narrate it to Bunny Vam, chief of GA2 Pictures. He endorsed it and later asked Rahul to narrate it to Sai Tej. The actor liked it straightforward. He was hooked even by the concept and felt that it was the perfect vehicle in making Yeni of DV creations listen to the story, and got it nod too. Varun too felt that the whacky nature of the content will be a refreshing change from anomalous from regular commercial cinema. The budget for the film will be a hot commodity in the market as it marks the combination of Sai Tej teaming up with GA2 Pictures and UV Creations after the actor did separate Pendawa Cheksha independently. The film, incidentally, talks about the story that is layered and will be its definitive style.”

The source adds that the film will be mounted on a budget of Rs 20-crore to Rs 25-crore and be shot in good number of computer graphics scenes.

Right now, Rahul is busy polishing the script of his next with Sai, while Sai Tej isnonstop in the news for his time travel adventure. And this year, the director’s fans have in store a treat.

INDIA U-19 side look for hat-trick

No revenge in mind against ‘nice guys’

By Santosh Babu

A headstrong through to the knockout stage after a brutal opening outing, India’s U-19 side will be looking to continue its momentum when they face New Zealand in the U-19 World Cup here today. India, who are confident of their chances of reaching the semi-finals, are looking to bounce back from a thrashing dished out by England in their second outing. However, New Zealand, who have already been in the hunt for a spot in the last four, are also up for the challenge.

A big match awaits India when they take on New Zealand, who have already won two games on the trot. India have been in good form so far, winning all their three outings, while New Zealand have also been on a winning spree.

India, after losing the opening game against England, came back with a bang against Sri Lanka in the second outing. The team was led by Rohit of Madhya Pradesh, who scored a century and helped the team register a comfortable win. The team was also led by a strong showing from the opening batsmen, who put up a disciplined performance.

New Zealand, on the other hand, have been consistent throughout the tournament. The team has been led by a strong performance from Tom Latham, who has been at the forefront of the team’s success.

The match will be held at the Harare Sports Club and is expected to be a close contest. The match will start at 3 pm IST and will be broadcasted live on Sony ESPN Network.
