₹38,900 cr defence deal OK'd

Amid LAC stand-off, Rajnath approves acquisition of 33 fighter jets, missiles

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

A mid volatile situation on the Line of Actual Control (LAC) in Ladakh, the Defence Acquisition Council (DAC) chaired by Defence Minister Rajnath Singh on Thursday approved defence deals worth over ₹38,900 crore. They include acquisition of 33 front-line fighter jets besides missiles and ammunition.

The approvals for procuring 12 SU-30 and 21 MIG-29 fighter jets come a week after Rajnath's visit to Russia for the Victory Day Parade there. He had held discussion with top Russian defence leadership on ensuring time-bound delivery of weapon systems and defence co-operation.

The fighter deals also include upgradation of 59 existing MIG-29 jets. Other deals include Pinaka missile system ammunition, armoured vehicle BMP armament upgrades, Software Defined Radio (SDR) for the Army, long-range land attack cruise missile systems of over 1,000 km range, and Astra Beyond Visual Range (BVR) air-to-air missiles for the Navy and Air Force. All of these will be procured domestically and worth an estimated ₹31,130 crore.

"While the MIG-29 procurement and upgradation from Russia is estimated to cost ₹7,418 crore, the SU-30 MKI will be procured from Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL) at an estimated cost of ₹10,730 crore," Defence Ministry officials said. These inductions, likely to take over the next two to three years, will shore up the squadron strength of the IAF's fighter fleet.

The 21 MIG-29s have already been partially manufactured by Russia in the past for an unfulfilled order and will now be upgraded and delivered to India. These will add to the three MIG-29 squadrons in service with the IAF which are already undergoing an upgrade. One squadron has 18-20 jets.

The 12 SU-30 MKIs are meant to replace the aircraft that have crashed over the years. India has in different batches contracted 272 SU-30 jets from Russia, majority of which have been licence manufactured by HAL in India.

The IAF has currently 30 fighter squadrons against a sanctioned strength of 42 squadrons. It will start adding the first batch of Rafale multi-role jets this month end. Another deal for 83 Light Combat Aircraft Mk-1A estimated to cost ₹38,000 crore is expected to be signed in the next two months.

On the missile systems, officials said acquisition of about the other deals given the go-ahead, officials said weapon systems and equipment will be manufactured in India involving Indian defence industry with participation of several Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSME).

"The Indigenous content in some of these projects is up to 80 per cent of the project cost. A large number of these projects have been made possible due to Transfer of Technology by the Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO) to the indigenous industry," the defence ministry statement said.

These include Pinaka Multi-barrel Rocket Launch System ammunition, BMP armament upgrades and SDRs, Long Range Land Attack Cruise Missile Systems and Astra Missiles. The cost of these design and development proposals is in the range of ₹20,400 crore, it stated.

Trump sees Chinese aggression in Ladakh as sign of its 'true nature'

New York: US President Donald Trump sees China's aggressive action along the Line of Actual Control (LAC) in Ladakh confirming the Chinese Communist Party's "true nature", according to his Spokesperson Kayleigh McEnany.

Asked at her briefing about China's attack on Indian troops, McEnany said, "Trump had said that China's aggressive stance along the India-China border fits in with the larger pattern of Chinese aggression in other parts of the world. And these actions only confirm the true nature of the Chinese Communist Party (CCP)."

Pinaka missile systems will enable raising additional regiments over and above the ones already inducted by the Army.

Rajnath defers Leh visit, reviews LAC situation with Jaishankar

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

A day after India and China agreed to gradually disengage from the Line of Actual Control (LAC), Defence Minister Rajnath Singh reviewed the situation with External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar here on Thursday. In another development, Rajnath deferred his visit to Leh scheduled for Friday. He is now likely to visit the forward areas there late next week.

No reason was given for the postponement of Rajnath's visit, but it was learnt that following Corps Commanders' meeting between India and China on Tuesday, New Delhi wants to wait and watch the Chinese response, sources said. The two commanders emphasised the "need for an expeditious, phased and step-wise de-escalation as a priority." Rajnath was also likely to brief the Prime Minister about the overall scenario.

India fastest among top 15 nations in Covid rate

While India took just 20 days to double cases, USA took 50 days

2,75,999 on June 30, Brazil and Pakistan are next in order. Both took 22 days to double. Brazil went from 6,72,846 on June 8 to 13,44,143 on June 30, while Pakistan vaulted from 1,03,671 on June 8 to 2,09,337 on June 30.

Twenty days duration would look a great improvement on that timeframe, but then one will have to disregard fact that rate of doubling is bound to slow down with a progressive increase in total count. The other nations in lists are: Mexico 23 days; Saudi Arabia 30 days; Russia 38 days; Iran 47 days; US 50 days, UK 53 days; Turkey 68 days; Germany 84 days; Spain 86 days; Italy 87 days.

When the Tablighi Jamaat episode came to light, they made it a point to 24x7 harp on how these "super spreaders" had reduced India's rate of doubling from six days to four days.

Between June 10 and 30 when cases in India increased two fold, the death count more than doubled, from 8,106 to 17,410. During the same period, the number of recovered cases went up by nearly two-and-a-half times — from 1,40,928 to 3,47,839. In the past, Indian health officials have shown a remarkable obsession with the so-called rate of "doubling". In fact,

PNS ■ SHIMLA

Thirty-two people, including 23 ITBP jawans, tested positive for COVID-19 in Himachal Pradesh on Thursday, taking the state's tally to 1,012. Of the 23 ITBP jawans, 17 were found positive in Kinnar district while six in Shimla district.

Kinnar Chief Medical Officer (CMO) Sonam Negi said that ITBP Battalion, stationed in camp in Jangi of Kinnar district, was sealed to check the spread of the infection as 17 ITBP jawans tested positive for COVID-19 there.

The CMO said that all the 17 jawans had come to Kinnar in an Indo-Tibetan Border Police (ITBP) vehicle and were already

In Shimla, six ITBP jawans of 43rd Battalion in Jeori of Rampur tehsil also tested positive on Thursday. Rampur sub-divisional magistrate Narendra Chauhan said.

The jawans, who had recently returned to Rampur after leave, were placed under quarantine in SJVN premises, he added.

All these ITBP jawans were asked to return to their battalions as their leaves had been cancelled after the Indo-China border stand-off in the Galwan Valley in Ladakh on June 15.

In Hamirpur, three people, including a woman, tested positive.

The three fresh cases included a 48-year-old Delhi returned woman from Bani village of Barsar, a 78-year-old man of Taringar village of Kot, who was primary contact of a COVID-19 patient and a 59-year-old Ludhiana returned man from Bharnang village. In Kangra, a 22-year-old Kyrgyzstan returned woman from Sanot village and a 65-year-old woman from Ghambala village who was a contact of a COVID-19 patient tested positive. In Mandi, a 31-year-old man, who had returned from Dubai, tested positive for novel coronavirus.

Meanwhile, 12 patients -- five from Hamirpur, three from Solan, two from Una and one each from Shimla and Kangra -- recovered from infection on Wednesday. He said that this project would be completed by spending an amount of Rs. 3500 crore. He said the total length of this tunnel is about 9 kilometers and would shorten the time bound completion of the ambitious Atal Tunnel, adding that this would open new vistas of tourism activities in this picturesque district besides generating employment and self employment avenues to the youth.

Punjab Police book Pannu, his aide for sedition, secessionism

PNS ■ AMRITSAR/KAPURTHALA

A day after Gurpatwant Singh Pannu of Sikhs for Justice (SFJ) was declared a designated terrorist by the Union Home Ministry under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, the Punjab Police on Thursday registered two separate FIRs in Amritsar and Kapurthala, against him and his associates, including an active SFJ member, Joginder Singh Gujjar, who reportedly came to India from Italy in February this year.

Pannu, a pro-Khalistan activist who the Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh had recently said was actively involved in promoting terrorism in Punjab, is among the nine wanted men designated as terrorists under UAPA by the Union Ministry of Home Affairs on Wednesday for their efforts to revive militancy in Punjab and for their involvement in various acts of terrorism from foreign soil. The MHA has designated Pannu a terrorist for actively running a secessionist campaign against India and motivating Sikh youth from Punjab to join militant ranks.

The Dalit Suraksha Sena (DSS) had filed a complaint against Pannu and his associates, and got a case (FIR 168) registered against him at Police Station B/Division, Police Commissionerate Amritsar for burning the Indian Constitution and Indian National Flag, and instigating others to do so too, which had hurt the sentiments of the entire SC community in the country.

In its complaint, the DSS said that Pannu, the self-styled legal advisor of the USA-based Sikhs for Justice (SFJ) organization, and his accomplices were seen dishonouring the Indian Constitution and the Indian National flag in a video.

They were seen setting a copy of the Indian Constitution and the flag on fire, while shouting slogans of Khalistan Zindabad. Pannu was also seen inciting the entire Sikh community against the Indian Constitution and in favour of Referendum 2020, said the Government established by law in India.

The complaint said that these abhorrent actions of the individuals in question had brazenly dishonoured the ideals on which the Indian state has been established and thereby, had hurt the sentiments of the entire SC community.

The Police spokesperson said that immediate action was necessitated in pursuance to the reception of these complaint as Pannu and his associates were found to be involved in the commission of seditious acts through their actions and words, both spoken and written, thus attempting to create a communal divide, as well as instigating disaffection towards the Government established by law in India.

In addition, he and his associates have also committed unlawful activities, being members of a proscribed organization and thus, Pannu and his associates have committed offences punishable under Section 2 of the Prevention of Insults to National Honour Act, 1971; Section 504, 124-A and 153-A of the Indian Penal Code; Sections 10(a) and 13(1) of UAPA and Section 3 of the SC/ST Act.

The second FIR, registered at Bhulath police station, District Kapurthala, is based on reliable inputs of entry of Joginder Singh Gujjar alias Goga in India in February 2020, a police spokesperson said, adding that Pannu and his associates have been charged with seditious and secessionist activities in the case. The FIR has been registered under sections 10 (a) and (b), 11, 13 (1) and 17 of Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1967 against Joginder Singh Gujjar alias Goga resident of Akala, Bhulath, and against USA-based Pannu and their associates members of Sikhs for Justice (SFJ), said the spokesperson.

Spokesperson said that it had been learnt that Joginder Singh is a prominent and active member of SFJ, which was declared to be an 'unlawful organization' by the MHA (GoI) on July 10, 2019.

Joginder Singh, at the behest of Pannu, with whom he is regular contact for promoting the activities of SFJ, was

(1) of section 35 of UAPA, and his name was notified in the Fourth Schedule of the said Act. Spokesperson pointed out that SFJ has not only been involved in the promotion of anti-national and subversive activities in Punjab and elsewhere but is also intending to disrupt the sovereignty and territorial integrity of India and it has been found to be in close contact with militant outfits and radical organizations or elements.

It has been consistently supporting the ideas of violent forms of extremism and militancy in Punjab and elsewhere, to carve out a sovereign Khalistan out of the territory of the Union of India.

Punjab CM asks Minister to ensure immediate transfer of farmers' dues by sugar mills

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Punjab Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh on Thursday directed the state Cooperation Minister Sukhjinder Singh Randhawa to ensure immediate payment to sugarcane farmers for 2019-20 by the state's nine sugarcane cooperative mills, which have received Rs 100 crore from Sugarcards on this account.

Notably, Sugarcards had released Rs 100 crore against payment of sugar mills for crushing season 2019-20 on the directives of the Chief Minister.

The Chief Minister has asked the Cooperation Minister to issue directions to the cooperative mills to transfer the payments to the accounts of the farmers without any delay.

With the release of Rs 100 crore, the cooperative sugar mills will be able to clear payment of Rs 349.05 crore against the total of Rs 486.23 crore due for the crushing season 2019-20. Payments of 2018-19 season have already been cleared by the mills, located at Nawanshahr, Budhewal, Morinda, Fazilka, Gurdaspur, Ajnala, Nakodar, Bhopur and Batala.

Randhawa has assured the farmers of early clearance of the balance payment for 2019-20. "The Government of India is being approached for early release of payment of about Rs 60 crore as sugar export subsidy and buffer stock claim of the cooperative sugar mills so that all the arrears of sugarcane could be settled as soon as possible," he said.

Reiterating the State Government's commitment to the farmers' welfare, Randhawa said that despite the decline in government revenue due to coronavirus and lockdown, all possible efforts were being made to pay the outstanding arrears of the sugarcane farmers at the earliest.

Punjab releases coronavirus clinical management tool for healthcare workers

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

With an overall aim of reducing mortality rate through a cohesive and coordinated approach dealing with all facets of COVID-19 pandemic, Punjab Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh on Thursday released an easy-to-understand Punjab COVID-19 Clinical Management Manual as a single reference point for all healthcare providers.

Describing the Manual as a "force multiplier" for the State Government's 'Mission Fateh', the Chief Minister said that it will serve as a bridge between the national protocol and the State's requirements of COVID-19 management.

It will give healthcare providers dealing with the care and management of coronavirus positive patients easy access to the tools needed for better handling of the pandemic, he added. Curated by an Expert Committee headed by PGIMER's former director Dr KK Talwar, the Manual incorporates easy to understand audio visual aids, colour coded assessment tools and referral criteria based on practical experiences, along with best practices in the clinical management of COVID-19 positive patients.

The Committee, convened by well-known cardiologist from DMC Ludhiana Dr Bishav Mohan, also comprises several other renowned medical practitioners from eminent Institutes around the globe. The Manual caters to the treatment needs of all COVID cases — from mild and moderate to severe. For mild cases, it incorporates a self-assessment questionnaire and home-based tests to assess the progress of asymptomatic patients in home isolation.

It carries an updated list of dedicated experts available in every district to assist the district medical team in dealing with cases which require expert care, to keep fatality as low as possible.

Further, the Manual addresses the mental health and well-being issues of COVID-19 patients, and has incorporated a collaborative platform of psychiatrists, psychologists, and social workers as part of the management protocol.

"This will also help in resolving property related disputes," he added.

"The scheme will enable creation of better-quality Gram Panchayat Development Plans (GPDPs), leveraging the maps created under this programme thereby paving way for 'Gram Swarajya'. Once the inventory is completed, documents of ownership will be prepared and on the basis of these documents, owners can take loans and other benefits," he said.

CM Amarinder says no to relieving Dr Hamdard of Jang-e-Azadi memorial foundation responsibilities

Sukhbir Singh Badal urged Dr Hamdard to reconsider his resignation

he always held Dr Hamdard in high regard not only because of their long-standing personal association and friendship, but because of his strong commitment to Punjab and the welfare of its people.

"You have so admirably led the project right from its inception with great devotion and commitment. Fortunately, we are now close to completion of all the phases of this historic project that encapsulates the history of Punjab's contribution in India's freedom struggle," said Capt Amarinder.

Expressing confidence that the project's last phase would also be commissioned soon, once the State has overcome COVID-19 pandemic, the Chief Minister said that the meeting of the Foundation had to be unfortunately postponed at short notice due to certain other engagements and once due to his ill-health. The Chief Minister said that he had asked his office to reschedule the meeting at a date of mutual convenience to take forward the project expeditiously.

Meanwhile, SAD also requested Dr Hamdard to accede to the Chief Minister's appeal and continue to serve on both positions. Senior SAD leader Daljit Singh Cheema urged him to reconsider his resignation in the interest of the Memorial as well as the wishes of the Punjabi community worldwide.

"SAD president Sukhbir Singh Badal had urged Dr Hamdard to reconsider his resignation on June 24 and had even appealed to the Chief Minister not to accept the same.

SAD expresses satisfaction that the State Government has decided not to let go of Dr Hamdard's services as Punjab and Panjab owed him gratitude for conceptualizing and making the memorial a reality," said Cheema.

Ex-HSSC chairman booked over irregularities in recruitment

PTI ■ CHANDIGARH

The Haryana Vigilance Bureau has booked a former chairman and the then members of the Haryana Staff Selection Commission over alleged irregularities in the recruitment of 1,983 physical training instructors for government schools.

The recruitment was made in 2010 during the Congress regime in the state. Earlier, the Punjab and Haryana High Court had quashed the appointments, which was later upheld by the apex court.

In the FIR registered on June 30 by the bureau at Panchkula, the former chairman and members, who have been made co-accused, were booked for allegedly misusing their positions and changing selection criteria to help certain candidates get selected, officials said here on Thursday. At that time, Brig Nand Lal Poonia (retd) was the chairman of the HSSC. Physical training instructors teach physical education and other subjects in government schools.

The case was registered on a complaint by the vigilance bureau's DSP following a communication from Haryana's Advocate General B R Mahajan, who after going through the court verdict regarding the selection of the instructors had asked for a vigilance probe.

The FIR does not name any accused. The case was registered under various IPC provisions pertaining to criminal misconduct by a public servant, forgery for the purpose of cheating, false evidence, public servant disobeying law, and under the provisions of the Prevention of Corruption Act.

A single-judge bench of the Punjab and Haryana High Court on September 11, 2012, had set aside the selection of the 1,983 instructors made by the commission on April 10, 2010 in pursuance of the advertisement issued in 2006 on account of changes made in the selection process.

In April this year, the Supreme Court had upheld the decision of the Punjab and Haryana High Court quashing the appointment of the 1,983 physical training instructors in schools of Haryana and asked the state staff selection commission to conduct the recruitment process afresh.

The apex court had upheld the verdicts passed by the single and division benches of the High Court quashing the appointment process conducted during the then Congress government led by Bhopinder Singh Hooda.

After the apex court orders, the state government retrenched the instructors. The High Court had earlier observed that the HSSC was nothing but "one-man show" during the selection process.

The senior Congress leader had said that the sacked instructors had played no role in the selection process and had participated in good faith and a bona fide manner. "To penalise them for no fault of their own and for any infirmities caused by the recruiting authority would amount to a dereliction of duty and gross injustice on the part of the Haryana state Government," he had said.

Surjewala had said instructors were innocent and the court had not held them guilty for any malicious act.

Transgenders' induction

Home Ministry seeks CAPFs' views

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Union Home Ministry has sought comments from the CAPFs like the CRPF, SSB, ITBP and CISF on the issue of incorporation of transgenders as a third category along with male/female for recruitment of officers in the paramilitary ranks.

In a communication to these forces, the Ministry said the comments for including transgender as a Third gender along with Male/Female in the Rules of CAPF (Assistant Commandant) Examination, 2020 is yet to be received from CRPF, ITBP, SSB and CISF.

"CRPF, ITBP, SSB & CISF are once again requested to examine the issue and furnish comments to this Ministry on... 02.07.2020 positively for taking a final view on the matter," reads the letter sent to the forces on Wednesday.

The CAPF refers to Central Armed Police Force or the Central paramilitary force. The views have been sought in order to explore the possibility of recruiting transgenders by allowing them to appear for the entrance under a separate category by modifying the recruitment rules. While the UPSC conducts the examination for the recruitment of the cadre officers, every paramilitary force has its own recruitment rules, paramilitary officials said.

Last month, as reported first by The Pioneer, the Sashastra Seema Bal (SSB) had taken the lead in seeking comments and views from all its formations across the country on inclusion of transgenders as third gender in the rules for recruitment of officers.

The move by SSB was taken in the wake of directions from Department of Personnel and Training (DoPT) to include transgenders as Third gender along with male/female for recruitment of Directly Appointed Gazetted Officers (DAGO) or cadre officers in the rank of Assistant Commandant.

In a communication titled "Views on Inclusion of Transgender as third gender in the CAPF (AC) Examination, 2020" sent across all the formations on June 19, the SSB headquarters had said, "As per direction of DoPT, inclusion of transgender as third gender along with Male/Female has been included as candidate for the examination with the notification of Civil Services Examination, 2020 and requested to examine the matter to incorporate the same in the Rules of CAPF (AC)

Examination, 2020."

All Inspectors General, Frontier and Directorate besides SSB, Academy are requested to offer their comments on the subject by Tuesday (June 23, 2020), the letter said, requesting perusal and comments from the Inspectors General. However, the SSB is yet to furnish the view on the issue to the Ministry.

On April 20, the DoPT had issued an office memorandum for inclusion of Third Gender/any Other Category in the application forms in recruitment to various posts under the Central Government.

The Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights) Bill, 2019 was passed by both Houses of the Parliament and received the assent of the President on December 5, 2019. This Act (No 40 of 2019) was notified in the Gazette of India on December 5 last year.

The matter regarding inclusion of "Third Gender/any Other Category" in the application forms in recruitment to various posts under the Central Government was under consideration of the Government for quite some time. Based on the provisions of the Act and the legal opinion obtained on the subject, Civil Services Examination Rules, 2020 have been notified on 05.02.2020 providing for inclusion of Transgender as a separate category of gender for the said examination," the DoPT had said in its circular issued in April.

The DoPT further said, "All ministries/Departments of Government of India are requested to modify the relevant examination rules providing for inclusion of Transgender as a separate category of gender, so as to make the said Rules in conformity with the provisions of The Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights) Bill, 2019.

Cong launches 'Bole Bihar, Badle Sarkar' drive in Bihar

DEEPAK KUMAR JHA ■

demic.

Launching the online portal taking into account the perils of the Covid-19 pandemic and social distancing norms, Gohil said that the current NDA Government of Bihar has done only power politics, but the Congress is moving ahead with a positive thinking.

"The people of Bihar are now fed up with the Government of power politics and want a change this time and this Government is certainly going to go in the coming elections," Gohil, who was elected to Rajya Sabha last month, said in his virtual message.

Talking about the failure of core 'Mahagathbandhan' partners like RJD, RLSP, HAM and others coming on board to deliberate further on the coalition formula, Gohil said all like-minded parties and those with similar ideology have been in touch with each other and soon discussions will begin. Gohil's reactions come following 'restlessness' in some of the grand alliance partners and the possibility of a couple of them switching sides not being ruled out.

All the political parties are trying to connect to their voters through digital medium with Home Minister Amit Shah already addressing an online rally almost a month ago. Last week, former Union Minister Yashwant Sinha too launched his Bihar ambitions calling for a non-BJP, non-Congress front to remove the NDA regime from Bihar in the most interesting political battle likely to be witnessed this festive season amidst the scare of the Coronavirus pandemic.

spokesperson said first all stakeholders are concerned over stitching an alliance at the earliest and this time all have realised there should be no delay in this as the elections will be held anytime in November.

"Talking about a united political face to contest the elections is something very petty. Our main aim, like the people of Bihar, is to dethrone the unrealistic, unsocial Nitish Kumar-led Government. It is known to the world how Nitish backstabbed after sailing to power on the shoulders of parties who are now in Opposition. Nitish is an exposed man now and so is his alliance partners. People of Bihar are now looking for a change," Gohil said.

Bihar State President Madan Mohan Jha in his address said that during the Corona period people cannot interact much. "Therefore, Congress has started a digital membership campaign. This campaign will be conducted at the panchayat level so that more people can connect with it," Jha told The Pioneer.

Senior Congress leaders Sadanand Singh and MLC Premchand Mishra too were in attendance at the Congress membership drive event.

Coordinated efforts showing good result in curbing virus

Focus on mental well-being, suicide prevention: WHO to nations

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Amid rising cases of Covid-19 across the States, there is a silver lining: consistently increasing gap between recoveries and active cases. The Union Health Ministry on Thursday said that coordinated efforts at all levels for prevention, containment and management of the disease are showing encouraging results. As on date, there are 1,32,912 recovered cases more than the active Covid-19 cases.

"Timely clinical management of Covid-19 cases has resulted in more than 10,000 daily recoveries. During the last 24 hours, a total of 11,881 Covid-19 patients have been cured, taking the cumulative figure to 3,59,859. This further takes the recovery rate to 59.52 per cent," the Ministry said.

Presently, there are 2,26,947 active cases and all are under medical supervision.

The top 15 States in terms of absolute numbers of Covid-19 recovered cases are Maharashtra (93,154) followed by Delhi (59,992), Tamil

Nadu (52,926) and Gujarat (24,030). The other States where recovery rate has improved are Uttar Pradesh, Rajasthan, West Bengal, Madhya Pradesh, Haryana and existing mental health conditions, which need urgent attention," she said in a statement here.

The South-East Asia region accounts for 39 per cent of the global suicide mortality figures.

Singh emphasised that as the Covid-19 pandemic is still accelerating and impacting people in multiple ways, it is essential for countries in the South-East Asia region to pay greater attention to mental well-being and suicide prevention.

Besides hitting lives and livelihoods, the pandemic is causing fear, anxiety, depression and stress among the people. Social distancing, isolation and coping with perpetually evolving and changing information about the virus have both triggered and aggravated the existing and pre-based settings.

She insisted that the stigma associated with Covid-19 may also lead to feelings of isolation and depression. Citing the issue of domestic violence during the pandemic, Singh said that another precipitating factor impacting mental health amid Covid-19 could be domestic violence, which is reported to have increased during lockdowns in the region.

"Early identification of mental health conditions, recognition of suicidal behaviours and appropriate management through a multi-sectoral approach is important, even as we continue to focus on arresting further spread of the pandemic," said Singh.

In India, a study by Telangana to name a few. As per the "Test, Trace, Treat" strategy, there has been a steady rise in the samples tested every day with more than 90 lakh samples being tested till date. During the last 24 hours 2,29,588 samples have been tested.

The cumulative number of samples tested, as on date, is 90,56,173, said the official.

Lybrate, a health and wellness platform said that Indians are grappling with multiple forms of mental health issues that have risen exponentially post coronavirus outbreak.

The platform witnessed over 150 per cent jump in online consultations sought by females for issues related to mental health, while the percentage for the same grew 85 per cent in males reaching out to doctors online.

Overall within the age brackets, the jump in patient consults was highest in the age group of 25-45 years.

People in the 45-60 age bracket were next who asked the majority of queries on the platform regarding mental health.

The testing lab network in the country is further strengthened. With 768 labs in the Government sector and 297 private labs, there are as many as 1065 labs in the country.

2,765 foreign Tablighis to be put on trial, not deported, SC told

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Union Home Ministry on Thursday told the Supreme Court that 2,765 foreign Tablighis who violated the visa norms will be put on trial and not immediately deported. The Ministry also said that as many 1906 foreign nationals are still absconding and a Look Out Circular is issued against them.

In an affidavit filed before the Apex Court, the Home Ministry said visas of 2,679 have been cancelled, 2,765 blacklisted, 205 FIRs lodged and 1905 lookout notices issued against those absconding. The MHA said the Tablighis from more than 35 countries will be put on trial for serious violation of Foreigners Act, NDMA Act and Epidemic Diseases Act, apart from the charges of visa violation norms.

"It was decided not to deport them after the quarantine ended as appropriate punitive action is required to be taken," the MHA's affidavit filed through Solicitor General Tushar Mehta said before the Bench of Justice AM Khanwilkar.

The court is hearing petitions filed by a large number of foreign Tablighi members challenging government orders blacklisting around 2,500 of them from 35 countries and not allowing them to go back to their respective countries.

Tablighi petitioners sought direction to MHA and MEA to remove the blacklisting, reinstate their visas and facilitate their return to their countries. Four petitions have been filed by 34 individuals, including a Thai national who is seven months pregnant, challenging the Centre's orders on April 2 and June 4.

During the hearing, the SC bench had given Centre a free hand in deciding whether to send these foreigners back to their countries. The Bench prima facie agreed with the Solicitor General's view that those against whom a criminal case existed cannot be sent back as they need to be put on trial.

The agency operation was conducted on Wednesday and continued till late in the evening, they added.

The case pertains to the alleged siphoning off ₹705 crore from the funds of the Mumbai International Airport Limited (MIAL), a joint venture under public-

5 cops held in TN custodial death

CB-CID files fresh FIR against Inspector, 4 others

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ CHENNAI

The CB-CID wing of Tamil Nadu Police probing the custodial death of the father-son duo of P Jeyaraaj and J Fenix arrested five police officials of Sattankulam Police Station in Thoothukudi on Thursday.

The arrested include an Inspector of Police, two sub-inspectors and two constables who had picked up Jeyaraaj from his mobile phone shop on June 19 allegedly for violating lockdown rules that mandated shopkeepers to close their shutters by 9 pm. Jeyaraaj and Fenix, who was arrested the same night, succumbed allegedly due to police torture on June 21 in the Government General Hospital at Sattankulam.

The Tamil Nadu

Government had transferred the case to CBI but the Madras High Court which had taken suo moto petition on the custodial deaths asked the CB-CID to take over the probe till the CBI takes charge of the investigation. The High Court was upset that the cops of Sattankulam Police Station had threatened the Judicial Magistrate who went to the station as part of the judicial enquiry and ordered the district collector to entrust the police station to revenue officials pending enquiry.

Interestingly, the CB-CID officials who took over the probe prepared and registered a new First Information Report under Section 302 of the IPC. The District Police which had earlier probed the case had registered a FIR under Section 174 of the CrPC (suspicious death).

The CB-CID police booked Inspector Sridhar, two SIs Raghu Ganesh and Balakrishnan and two constables Murugan and Muthuraj under three Sections, including 302 and 301 of the IPC.

The death of the father-son duo as a result of police torture had created a nation-wide uproar with many celebrities including film star Rajinikanth demanding justice for the deceased.

4,343 test +ve on single day in TN

State inches towards 1 lakh cases

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ CHENNAI

Tamil Nadu is inching towards the 1,00,000 mark in the number of persons diagnosed with coronavirus and it could happen in two days, if one goes by the numbers released by the State Government's Department of Health on Thursday.

For the first time since the covid-19 hit the State as a pandemic in late January, a record number of 4,343 persons were diagnosed with the pandemic on a single day. Out of the 4,343 tested positive on Thursday, Chennai accounted for 2,027 patients.

The day also saw the death of 57 persons afflicted with coronavirus and this took the number of fatalities in the State till date on account of the pandemic to 1,321.

While Tamil Nadu has diagnosed 98,392 persons with Covid-29 till date, there are 41,047 active cases in the State on Thursday. The change in the total number of persons tested till date is because of the number of persons who were cured as well as those who succumbed to coronavirus.

Out of the 57 who breathed their last on Thursday, 45 had chronic ailments or pre-existing morbidity, according to the medical bulletin.

Tamil Nadu Government has not reduced the rate of testing for coronavirus. As on Thursday, the State had 91 laboratories functioning in full steam. Thursday saw 32,456 persons getting tested all over the State. This took the number of persons tested till date to 1.17 million, the highest numbers at least in Tamil Nadu.

Though the Tamil Nadu Government is yet to accept the possibility of community transmission, Dr Kulanda Swamy, former director of public health and preventive medicine said the best alternative to counter the virus is to tighten up the social distancing and hand washing rules. "I feel it is better for the aged and inform to be taken to villages from big metropolitan cities like Chennai. The districts with rural ambience has succeeded in preventing the coronavirus from trespassing their borders," Dr Kolanda Swamy told The Pioneer.

Since schools and other educational institutions will take time to re-open, it would not be a problem for those with their own houses in rural areas to shift, he said. "My apprehension is about those who are in the 60+ age group. They and the children are the most vulnerable groups," said the doctor, a specialist in public health whose counsel is sought by the Tamil Nadu Government despite his remitting office in May 2020.

Gold smuggling racket busted in Kochi: Role of film stars suspected

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ KOCHI

An incident that came to light as a one-off crime report last week in Kochi has snowballed into a major criminal case with international ramifications.

Some of the prominent Malayalam film stars are being used as couriers to smuggle in gold from West Asian countries to various groups including terrorist gangs, if the reports coming out of Ernakulam Police Station are any indication.

It all started with Shamma Kasim, an upcoming film artist complaining to the Police that a group of people who had approached her parents with marriage proposal were hatching a plan to kidnap her with the intention to ask for ransom money.

Shamma's mother filed a police case against five persons who had approached the family with a marriage proposal. The group had furnished fake identities about the youth and his family. This was followed by the group calling on Shamma's parents at her Kochi home. Their dubious behaviour aroused suspicion in the minds of her parents who filed a complaint.

The police arrested all the five youth mentioned in the complaint and took into custody five more persons who are said to be their associates. It turned out that they were members of a major racket specialising in gold smuggling, blackmailing and flesh trade.

On interrogation, the youth disclosed that they were in contact with many more film personalities.

Ernakulam City Police Commissioner Vijay Sakhare who is personally monitoring the case told mediapersons on Thursday that the arrested persons have wider contacts in film circles and they were associated with many popular artists.

"We have understood that they were in touch with many stars in Malayalam films. Shamma Kasim is just one of the artists. They were being exploited for all kind of illegal activities," said Sakhare.

The incident took a curious turn when police grilled Dharmajan, a small time actor and comedy artist.

Though the actor denied any kind of association with the gang, police are yet to be convinced of his claims. The covid-19 shutdown of the film industry has put hundreds of artists and technicians out of work since February 2020. The police suspect that it is likely that some artists might have fallen prey to the gang members and might have worked as gold couriers.

The Directorate of Revenue Intelligence (DRI) too has pitched in Ernakulam tracking the flourishing gold smuggling industry in the State.

It was reported that Customs officials had seized gold worth millions of rupees from Kozhikode Airport smuggled into the country by chartered aircraft which were evacuating expatriates from West Asia.

Brigadier dies of corona, IAS officer down with disease

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

A senior Army officer attached to the Eastern Command headquarters at Fort William has died of corona, Army sources said. The Brigadier rank officer was suffering from the disease for the past few days when he was admitted to the Barrackpore Army Hospital.

Later he was shifted to the Command Hospital at Alipore even as his condition deteriorated. The officer died on Thursday, sources said adding however that his wife and son had recovered from the disease.

In second case senior IAS officer of the Joint Secretariat rank have been diagnosed with the dreaded disease. The senior officer working with the Land and Land Revenues Department has been home quarantined and her office on the sixth floor of the State secretariat at Nabanna has been sanitized, sources said.

She is the first IAS rank officer to contact the disease in the State. The government employees who had come in contact with the officer too have been sent for home quarantine.

Meanwhile, amid rising pandemic cases in Bengal there was some respite for Capital Kolkata where the number of containment zones came down from around 1,800 to 1496 on Thursday, sources said adding however that the total number of containment zones in the State was about 3,500 on the second day of Unlock - II period.

Apart from this, two districts including Alipurduar in North Bengal have once again entered the "green zone" back from "red zone" while the remaining 21 districts were still in the red zone category.

Elsewhere, senior Trinamool Congress leader and MP Sougato Roy on Thursday welcomed the proposed Central amendment in the electoral laws enabling the people above 65 years of age and those suffering from corona to vote from home. The new regulations were likely to be implemented in the coming Assembly elections in Bihar which goes to polls later this year.

"It is good that the corona afflicted people will get a chance to vote along with those in the high risk group but for that the entire electronic voting system including the mobile telephony will have to be adjusted accordingly," he said adding the same rules may not be required during Bengal polls next year by when the corona crisis will in all probability blow over.

the blast while locals said they had noticed a shattered white box at the blast site.

The State Crime Investigation Department (CID) was presently conducting the investigations alongside the forensic experts, sources said.

The identity of the Toto (e-rickshaw) driver was yet to be established, the police said adding he might have been an outsider working to earn his living in Malda, a town which borders Bangladesh on one hand and Bihar's Katihar district on the other. On the third side lie Pakur and Shibganj districts of Jharkhand.

A similar blast in October 2014 killing two persons was initially passed off as a result of a cylinder explosion until the NIA unearthed an elaborate network of Bangladesh terror group Jamatul Mujahideen Bangladesh (JMB) which was training its moles in this side of the border.

Now, a telecom war

There are alternative vendors but costs would go up. We must encourage equipment manufacturer with innovation and now

Yes, the economic realities of China dominating much of our product supply chains, from electronics to drugs, weigh heavy on us. Yes, we are deeply aware of sudden disruptions, litigation and fair trade violations if we take a dramatic step of boycotting China overnight. And while building self-sufficiencies is a long-term and sustained effort, there is no reason why we cannot begin taking atma nirbharata seriously while we can. For the latest Chinese ambush at Ladakh has cost us 20 soldiers and over-tested our patience and strategic responsibility in the region. China continues to eat into our territory as it always has. It won't settle as long as it doesn't get what it wants and this presumed supremacy has finally got the Government thinking about reducing our dependencies on it. For the summit diplomacy, which has yielded nothing on the ground except encouraging more hostilities, has been a colossal waste of time that smartly sidestepped contentious border issues and helped China deepen its market access as part of trade deals. So Union Minister for Road Transport and MSMEs Nitin Gadkari has said that no Chinese company will be allowed to participate in any highway or MSME project either directly or indirectly, the latter implying outsourcing consultancies by the bidder company. He even suggested alternative technologies that would help us compete on cost effectiveness and gave the example of PPEs, something which we thought would have to come in bulk from Chinese factories and something which we are exporting now. The shrinkage of trade volume to India won't impact China much, which can only be upset about being denied entry to a future vibrant market, and it is not that current commitments are not being honoured. It is just that manufacturing our own is a sovereign decision and COVID-19 and the Galwan attack have just been accelerators. Similarly, the Department of Telecommunications cancelled the much anticipated 4G upgradation tender of Bharat Sanchar Nigam Limited (BSNL) to avoid participation by Chinese companies like Huawei and ZTE. Local operators such as Airtel, Vodafone and Jio have been asked to reduce dependence on Chinese companies. Meanwhile, the Indian Railways has already cancelled a ₹471 crore contract with the Beijing National Railway for a project on the Eastern Dedicated Freight Corridor. Of course, the US, too, has been red flagging concerns about Huawei and ZTE being a "national security risk" because of their data mining and surveillance operations while working their telecom grids. It is even exerting pressure on its allies, India now getting top billing, to comply by banning them.

But that's not the reason why India is going for a drastic decision on telecom. It is choosing sectors where either an alternative supply chain exists or where it is possible to magnify home-grown capacities. Compared to the mobile handset industry, where replacing Chinese supply chain and products is almost impossible, in the telecom equipment market that is very much possible. There are European nations, too, in the business though supplies from here would come at a cost. The size of the telecom equipment market in India is around ₹12,000 crore and the share of Chinese products is currently around 25 per cent, simply because their prices are attractive to operators. That's why the 4G network of big players like Airtel and Vodafone have been built by Huawei and ZTE. Huawei alone has aggressively made inroads into nearly 25 per cent of the total telecom equipment market in India. While Bharti Airtel uses up to 30 per cent Chinese telecom equipment, including Huawei, for its networks, Vodafone Idea uses as much as 40 per cent. Reliance Jio is the only operator functioning without a Chinese vendor as its network is fuelled by South Korea's Samsung. But replacement, be it from South Korea, Taiwan or any other Southeast Asian nation, can only work in the short-term if self sufficiency is our ultimate goal. Remember that despite the "Make in India" launch in 2015, there has been no impetus for localised equipment production. The ban comes at a time when India is seeking to raise $84 billion from a sale of airwaves, particularly for new technology, which would revolutionise connectivity. So we need to immediately ramp up existing electronic manufacturing facilities and divert them towards 5G equipment manufacturing if we are to exclude Chinese firms from 5G trials. Indian innovation has always risen to the top during crisis and we could leverage our home-grown talent to re-engineer receivers and emitters in discarded mobile devices to make 5G equipment in a cost-effective manner. We should be as enthusiastic about announcing innovations and encouraging R&D than just announcing a ban that spooks markets.

Size does matter

In the Indian car market, the smaller you are, the better your sales. Last month has been much better for the auto sector

The past quarter has been traumatic for the Indian car and bike industry. However, after April, when companies registered zero sales, things have improved much. On the whole, for most automobile manufacturers, sales in June were around half of what they were last year, same month. While we must remember that 2019, too, had seen a decline in automobile sales, the one positive this year has been that firms have been able to recover. Sales for almost every manufacturer doubled from May to June as unlocking began. In the two-wheeler market, the largest manufacturer, Hero Motocorp, sold 450,744 units in the past month, almost three-quarters of the number it sold in June. Bajaj Auto, too, saw an increase in sales, although the manufacturer had a tough time controlling the unfortunate spread of the Chinese virus at its Waluj plant. This came just a few weeks after its boss, Rajiv Bajaj, attacked the Government for the lockdown. Most manufacturers, dealers and workshops across the country are mostly open now, other than those inside a containment zone. Yet, there are some interesting trends that are emerging from last month's sales. The first is that rural demand has contributed much towards a sharp recovery. This is evident due to the fact that Mahindra Tractors, the largest player in the agricultural vehicle market, has seen a rapid climb in its sales figures. This is indicative of a positive monsoon so far. Similarly, for two-wheeler companies, there is a seeming rural bias, evident in greater sales of commuter motorcycles and a decline in urban-focussed scooters and 150cc plus motorcycles. For cars as well as firms such as Maruti, Hyundai and Tata, who have a larger small car portfolio, are seeing sales pick up. Larger and higher specification vehicles are seeing a commensurate decline in their aggregate demand. However, manufacturers were quick to warn against picking up too many future trends based on last months' sales as the process of unlocking continues with a bit of confusion still reigning in major cities, such as Chennai and Mumbai, the former being a major automobile production hub.

At the same time, manufacturing remains impacted. Large-scale manufacturers have not been able to move to three-shift operations and smaller suppliers are dealing with not only a smaller labour pool but also the current Sino-India brouaha. Several intermediate components, as well as manufacturing tools and dyes, come from across the border. Manufacturing might not stabilise before 2021 and not every manufacturer, component supplier, transporter or dealer might be able to deal with the crisis that far. Some Government support will be of great help though.

The enemies within

For the sake of better governance, police reforms are a must. But more than anything else, our forces need an attitudinal change. The police-public relationship needs an overhaul

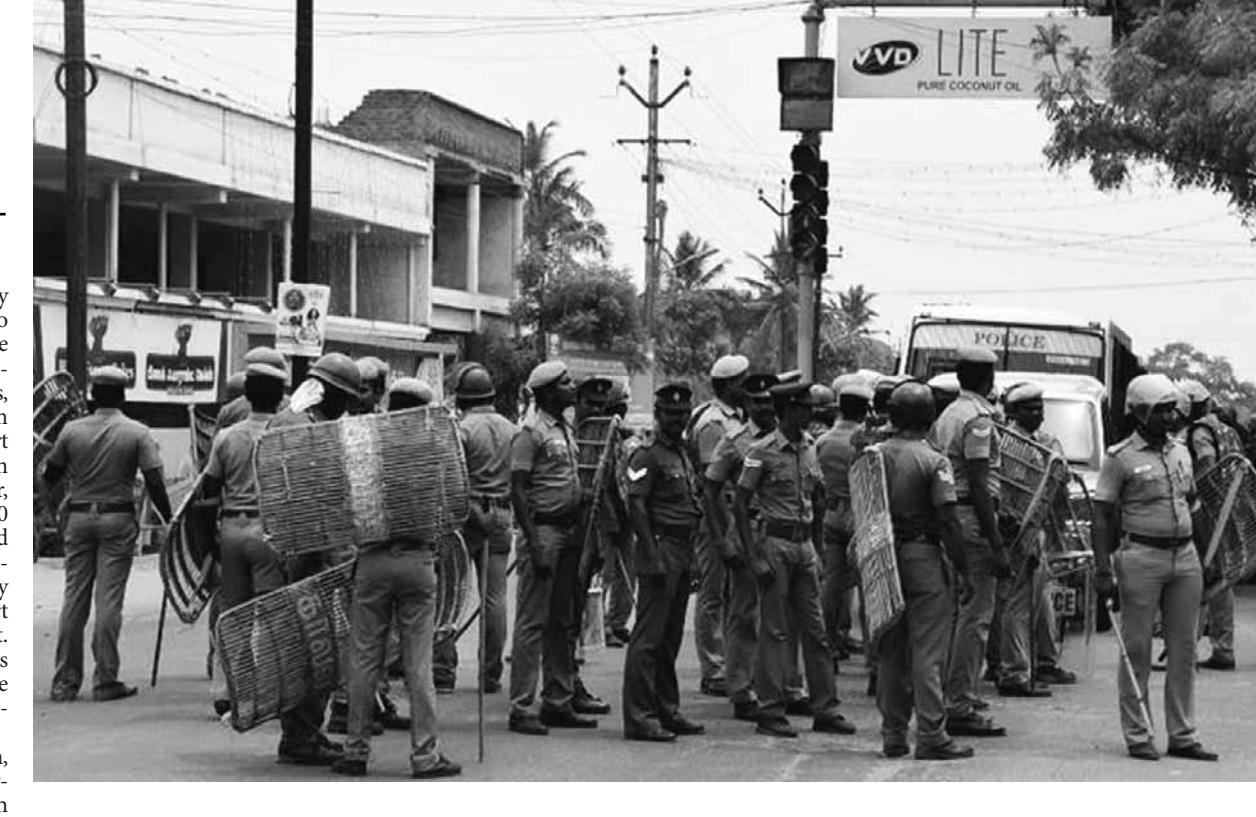

AJOY KUMAR

Sir Robert Mark, a legendary police officer in the UK, who cleaned the Metropolitan police of corruption and who was subsequently knighted for his efforts, narrated an episode that stayed with him throughout his career as an officer. As part of his job, he was required to serve an internment order on an Italian waiter, who had lived in Manchester for over 30 years. Sir Robert Mark met the waiter and reported that he was harmless. The waiter was nonetheless deported as an "enemy alien." Eventually, he died on a transport ship that was torpedoed by a U-boat. "That experience taught me there was neglect, carelessness and worse in the police system," he wrote later. "It was a lesson I never forgot."

Coming to the Indian police system, the one thing that I can say with some certainty is that there is no shortage of such experiences that can serve as a wakeup call for its officers. To Mark's words, I would like to add that there is not only "neglect" and "carelessness" in the Indian police system but a heavy dose of "malice", too. A recent horrific and brutal crime in Tamil Nadu brought this aspect to the fore. As per reports, on June 19, a trader, Jayaraj and his son, Bennix, who ran a mobile showroom, were at their shop when the Sattankulam police picked up the former and started assaulting him. When Bennix intervened, the police beat both of them mercilessly after taking them to the police station. The officers brutalised Bennix by allegedly inserting a baton into his anus. This triggered uncontrolled bleeding, which led to his death. His 60-year-old father was not spared either and was declared dead 10 hours later. The story is a brutal one but hardly unique in its brutality or display of violence by the police. A report published by the National Campaign Against Torture (NCAT) noted that a total of 1,731 people died in custody in 2019. This works out to roughly five people a day.

This is indeed a shocking number only if one is unfamiliar with the long, painful history of police brutality in India. But for anyone, who pays even little attention to the news, given the trend of police brutalities, hardly a day passes without a report of atrocity or impropriety. They may not always be as brutal as the Tamil Nadu incident but there are thousands of instances of police malice that are not even registered or those that do not show up on our radar until it culminates into a brutal killing and perversity. Take the example of an incident in Uttar Pradesh, where a station house officer (SHO) of Bhatnai police station was suspended for masturbating in front of a woman who sought to register a complaint. Thankfully, the Uttar Pradesh police registered an FIR in this case.

The role of the judiciary in ensuring that justice is done and that investigation into custodial deaths is not compromised in such cases is crucial. One would also welcome anti-torture legislation. To this extent, the legislature can also contribute. However, in my humble opinion, the lack of a specific law is not the reason for an unabated rise in crime and criminals in an institution that I was proud to serve for many years. The Supreme Court's string of judgments

However, there are innumerable such cases where perpetrators of horrific crimes are policemen themselves and no FIRs are registered. In terms of action, the numbers back up the view that the police do not take crimes committed by themselves seriously. According to the National Human Rights Commission (NHRC), 3,146 people died in police and judicial custody in 2017-18. There have hardly been any convictions for these deaths though. This isn't surprising and even in the case of Bennix and Jayaraj, reports state that police officers have shown reluctance in coming forward to the station where the horrific incident occurred. This kind of behaviour must change.

So how do we bring about behavioural change? How do we stem the rot that seems to be entrenched among our officers?

How do we fix the system, where powerful officials abuse their position and take the form of the very criminals they are supposed to apprehend?

The role of the judiciary in between 1986 and 2015 in DK Basu vs State of West Bengal, "created a valuable and seamless web of legal principles and techniques to reduce custodial death and torture," as was explained by distinguished lawyer Abhishek Manu Singhvi, who was amicus curiae in the matter.

The judgments inter alia detail procedural safeguards that must be followed, including the carrying of name tags by police officers, the preparation of an arrest memo which is to be attested by a family member or a respectable member of the locality among others. There are also directions to set up State Human Rights Commissions where there were none; to fill up vacancies that may already exist; and to set up human rights courts under the NHRC Act. I have merely tried to sum up the position and there are a lot more guidelines and directions in the judgments mentioned above. Therefore, the lack of a law on the subject is not the issue at hand. In fact, our immediate response to heinous crimes is often straight to an amendment of an old law or induction of a new one. This had happened with reactions calling for the death penalty in cases of rape as well. While I support the sternest action against rapists, we tend to ignore the fact that more than 90 per cent of the cases involving sexual abuse is perpetrated by the family members themselves or people known to the victim. By imposing strict penalties, rarely has the benefactor been the victim or society but the perpetrator himself since victims are more hesitant to report crimes with such strict penalties.

In the case of custodial deaths, too, our immediate reaction should be proper implementation of the current law rather than implementing a new one and then forgetting about it. We would make a heavy dent in arresting criminal behaviour if we:

(i) Manage to ensure that FIRs are registered by the police against their own personnel. This is a Herculean task because getting an FIR registered against a criminal outside the police force is hard enough.

(ii) Place CCTV cameras in police stations.

(iii) Reward police personnel, like the DGP of Orissa who dismissed and initiated a Crime Branch inquiry against an inspector who was accused of raping a 13-year-old girl.

This accountability, however, is not limited to the police. Often, the reason why police officers are allowed to get away with murder is because custodial deaths are categorised as deaths due to suicide or due to natural causes by the doctors who conduct the autopsy. This is an abject failure on the part of the medical professionals who conduct the autopsy of victims and issue such reports, presumably under duress or for bribes. Such doctors allow these crimes to go unacknowledged and unregistered. The strictest possible action must be taken against such people who should be treated as accomplices to these crimes.

There is a certain segment in the force who will argue that the Indian police suffers because of the lack of attention. With all of these safeguards, catching criminals will be near impossible. This suggestion can only be scoffed at. On the first point of providing support to the police, I have written in the past as well, that the police suffers from a lack of funding, a lack of training, non-implementation of reforms etc. But here, too, police officers need to demand change from their political masters instead of cushy or powerful posts. Furthermore, political parties should be questioned why they have not implemented police reforms if indeed they are serious about tackling police violence and corruption.

On the second point of how the above-detailed safeguards prevent the police from doing their job, the fact is that these checks and balances only prevent actions that are violently criminal in nature. They are in place precisely so that actual criminals are apprehended on the basis of evidence and good police work, rather than due to a signed confession by a suspect beaten to a pulp. We must remember that in order to truly tackle the problem, we need to change the mindset and confront the criminals within and, therefore, harbour the same ambition that Sir Robert Mark had for the Metropolitan police. "To arrest more criminals than we employ."

Damp squib

Sir — Given the kind of hype that was created by some television news channels, it seemed that Prime Minister Narendra Modi was about to make some big announcements during his television address to the nation but it all ended as a damp squib. His decision to extend the free food grain scheme until November is a welcome step though. The move will help reassure the poor, who are unable to earn a livelihood as a result of the COVID-induced lockdown and the economic crisis that ensued. What is unfortunate is that the Prime Minister related this move to Hindu festivals. AIMIM chief Asaduddin Owaisi was quick to react, reminding him about Bakrid this month.

By mentioning only Hindu festivals, the Prime Minister seems to have sent a message that only poor Hindus go hungry. Hunger has no religion. For the poor, god can only appear in the form of bread. Such announcements should not be treated as election pitches for the Bihar and West Bengal polls.

An eco-friendly innovation

Bhoovastra serves the purpose of retaining the Earth's moisture, protecting plant roots and preventing soil erosion during a heavy downpour

KOTA SRIRAJ

As the monsoon season slowly envelopes Kerala, the myriad canals in the State are undergoing a quiet but innovative makeover, with an eco-friendly cloth draped over their banks that is designed to stop erosion during the rains. This eco-friendly cloth called coir Bhoovastra is a natural cover made from coconut fibre that can be spread over the walls of canals, streams, farms and ponds. Bhoovastra serves the amazing purpose of retaining the Earth's moisture, protecting the roots of the plants while at the same time preventing the soil from eroding during a heavy downpour. The fabric has a life of five-six years, post which it automatically disintegrates and biodegrades, thereby providing rich compost to the soil, which in turn promotes lush vegetation growth. Kerala is one of the foremost States that has introduced Bhoovastra in a major way on scores of its canals and streams. God's own country, replete with its backwaters, idyllic ponds and other water-bodies is benefitting immensely from this innovative coir product. It has not only provided a fillip to the coir industry in the State, it has given employment to nearly two lakh families who are dependent on coir-making for their livelihood. Hence, Bhoovastra is an ideal combination of an eco-friendly initiative that protects the environment and also provides the benefit of a stable employment.

Bhoovastra is a geotextile product that has immense potential given its wide-ranging customisable applications and numerous benefits. The high tensile strength of the coir fabric is perfectly suitable for consolidating topsoil in steep embankments where heavy water flows and debris movement are common. Besides this, coir has excellent water absorbancy capacity which helps it acting as mulch on the surface and as a wick in the soil mantle.

With benefits such as these, it is quite surprising that the embankments and slopes adjoining water-bodies across the country are yet to see Bhoovastra as a common feature, despite the fact that we are battling with the problem of soil degradation. Soil erosion is a major problem for the farmers of the country as it reduces soil fertility, which in turn negatively hits crop yields and forces growers to use more fertilisers, further harming the environment. Erosion of soil also sends soil-laden water downstream, which can create heavy layers of sediments that prevent streams and rivers from flowing smoothly and can eventually lead to flooding.

As soil erosion degrades land, it supports fewer plants that absorb climate-warming carbon dioxide. According to experts, soil could insulate enough greenhouse gases in a year to equal about five per cent of all yearly emissions. Better land management through the use of innovative products like the Bhoovastra can help keep soil intact so that it can grow more carbon-absorbing vegetation.

So, this lack of interest in using Bhoovastra to save precious soil, despite the fact that the green movement and demand for natural products is rising by the day across the world and in India, is puzzling. How come, when we have such a simple and eco-friendly solution to the huge problem of soil erosion, we are not talking about it or embracing it the way we should?

Given an opportunity, geotextiles such as Bhoovastra can play a stellar role in turning the clock back on degraded and eroded lands and help restore riparian and terrestrial habitats. The relatively high monetary and ecological cost of gravel, cement and other non-environment friendly building materials makes geotextiles the obvious choice for public work projects, especially when they involve rivers and other water bodies. Developed nations have already been leveraging the benefits of geotextiles, especially coir nets such as Bhoovastra for the last three decades. India, in fact, has been one of the largest exporters of coir geotextile products, with nearly 60 per cent of its coir production being exported to about 80 countries through a network of nearly 200 exporters.

Sadly, the domestic utilisation of geotextiles stays uninspiring. India produces a whopping 12,500 million coconuts and coir production is about 3,69,400 metric tonnes. However, husk utilisation is dismal at only 36 per cent, with the rest being used as polluting fuel or just being wasted. It is a mystery as to why the Government has not extracted the full potential of the coir industry in India. As it is, State-run entities such as the Coir Board are not able to hit a high gear either in marketing, sales or product branding and innovation due to bureaucratic hurdles or lethargy. On top of this, the handloom nature of the sector intuitively inhibits mass production, which in turn stunts growth possibilities. Given the brilliant product potential and abundance of raw material, it is time for the coir industry to become one of the most profitable industries of the country. For this to happen, the Government must work on mindsets and create awareness as well. For instance, the civil engineering profession currently focusses less on eco-friendly approaches for construction and more on the usage of brick and mortar. This needs to change. The use of organic and eco-friendly products like the Bhoovastra must be comprehensively implemented. This initiative can not only change the manner in which we conserve our water bodies and surrounding soil but more importantly can alter the way we perceive coir while providing jobs in a difficult economy.

While announcing the nationwide lockdown on March 24, the Prime Minister (PM) had exhorted all Indians to fight against the spread of the Coronavirus. Various State Governments had also come forward in support of the PM's appeal and people were assured that their needs would be taken care of during the pandemic. The Centre and many States repeatedly touted how the lockdown would help in containing the spread of COVID-19 and how it was good for all the citizens.

However, amid all this clamour, the nation forgot the migrant workers who had laid the foundation of the Indian economy with their toil, blood and sweat. While tall claims about the good work being done by the Government were being made on various television channels, these workers started marching to their native places. The heart-wrenching images of migrant workers along with their women and children walking on foot, some hundreds of kilometres away, began to surface in the media. Some of them lost their lives due to hunger and thirst on the way, while some became victims of road accidents and a few were overrun by trains. All these incidents have exposed not only the hollowness of our system but our societal values which, quite often, are trumped in great measure.

The sequence of events indicated that cogent planning was not in place from the word go. The migrant labourers did not start their journeys back home suddenly. Thrown out of work by unscrupulous business and factory owners, they patiently waited for help and stood for long hours in queues to get some food. They waited for things to get better but that did not happen. They were harassed by landlords for rent, despite the fact that they did not have adequate money even for their day-to-day survival.

The Government brought back well-heeled Indians from foreign countries under the Vande Bharat Mission. It brought back stranded students from Kota in Rajasthan, including people from various parts of the country in special buses. Similarly, the Centre helped many Indians to fly to countries like England, US, Canada and Australia. All this was not possible without proper prioritisation, efforts and coordination with State Governments. But there was no such planning and urgency to help the poor migrant workers. Since there is no dearth of trains at the disposal of the Centre, free services should have been provided to take migrant workers to their home States without wasting much time. The tug of war between the Railway Ministry and State Governments for many days over the issue of payment of 15 per cent of the fare by the latter was avoidable. While most of the State Governments were found fighting among themselves over the issue of migrant workers, the Centre remained a mute spectator, confined to issuing paper guidelines rather than handling the crisis decisively by ensuring camaraderie among them.

As it is India is fighting a two-front battle. One against the virus and the other against poverty, which we could not eradicate even after 70 years of Independence. India's fight on these two fronts contradicts its claims of being a world leader (vishava guru) thinking of the welfare of the world (vishav kalyan) as also its recent rhetoric of making India a $5 trillion economy. Often, such rhetoric does not reflect ground realities. In this backdrop, asking for donations for the PM CARES Fund during COVID-19 is certainly a matter of contradiction in terms.

The Centre's decision to impose a lockdown was not based on sudden developments. Actually, India had received clear signals about COVID-19 during January-February from the World Health Organisation (WHO) and from other countries, especially China. But much like the decision to announce demonetisation in 2016 with just a four-hour notice, the nationwide lockdown was also announced just as suddenly. Instead of a four-hour notice, at least four days were needed to enable all stakeholders viz; the Centre, State Governments, all establishments, the industry, supply chains and the common people to make appropriate arrangements to avoid panic, major inconvenience and save precious lives.

It is imperative here to ponder over the role of the Supreme Court, which can issue directions to the Government to take appropriate action on an urgent basis in any serious matter of public concern. The apex court, however, did not show any such concern on the issue of migrant workers for the first two months despite Public Interest Litigations being filed. But after a few persons approached the court citing the deteriorating condition of migrants, the Supreme Court swung into action by directing the Centre and State Governments to provide food, shelter and transportation free of cost to the migrants. Timely, proactive action by the apex court could have helped in addressing the problem before it reached such massive proportions.

Most of the States for whose development the migrant workers had made huge contributions did not come to their rescue at the time of need. Their home States, too, were hesitant to accept them as they feared the spread of the virus. This is despite the fact that they, too, had benefited from the remittances sent home by the workers. Clearly, there were no takers for the hapless migrants, though no State is capable of running its economic activities without them.

The Parliament has passed many Acts such as the Inter-State Migrant Workers Act and Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Act, 1996, to take care of the welfare of these workers. Had these legislations been implemented seriously, there would not have been much difficulty in taking care of the migrant workers.

Moreover, money available under the Workers' Welfare Fund and PM CARES Fund could have been utilised to send these workers home in a dignified manner without putting them through such hardship and exposing them further to the pandemic.

Since the workers are the foundation of our economy and it cannot grow without their toil and sweat, there is a need to implement the existing laws seriously to protect their rights

Not being able to establish the source of a disease is not surprising, especially in a country where people are divided by gender norms and socio-economic classes

INDRANIL DE

The recent revelation made through a research paper published by William Joe in the Journal of Global Health Science raises alerts about the deficiencies of tracing Coronavirus victims in a divided society. The paper states that as of May, COVID-19 cases in men were at 66 per cent in India as compared to 34 per cent in women. However, the COVID-19 Case Fatality Rate (CFR) is 2.9 per cent for men and 3.9 per cent for women in the country. Interestingly, this is completely different from the worldwide scenario. According to UK Research and Innovation, a quasi-autonomous NGO, data from 18 countries evince that both men and women have an equal share of COVID-19 cases, except for Pakistan. Furthermore, men diagnosed with COVID-19 are more likely to die than women. These comparisons raise questions whether we are tracing and testing all social groups adequately. Women generally have a stronger immune system than men. However, there could be different social factors which impact women both favourably and adversely. Since, in a patriarchal social system women don't venture out of the home as much as men, they are also less likely to get infected. This may be the reason why in India and Pakistan more men are found to be infected than women. On the other hand, as patriarchal norms consider the male as the primary agent for productive activity, women are often ignored at home and society at large. This deprivation may reduce their access to healthcare as compared to men. They would not be given medical care unless seriously ill. This could increase their fatality rate as compared to men in India. Nevertheless, there could be another reason for the higher CFR in women. Maybe the actual number of women infected is much higher than what is being reported. If the number of infected women would have been higher, then the death rate of women due to COVID-19 would have decreased because they would have been treated. There is a major possibility that identification of infected women may not be happening due to inefficient functioning of the contact tracing mechanism.

Contact tracing is a process in public health through which the people who may have come into contact with an infected person are identified. Through the contact tracing process, the first set of people that the patient came into contact with are identified as the primary contact. Similarly, the first set of people that the primary contacts come into contact with are identified as secondary contacts. Through tracing of the primary and secondary contacts of suspected and confirmed cases, it is possible to track the spread and source of infection. According to the US-based Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the symptoms of Coronavirus infection may be as simple as fatigue, diarrhoea and nausea. It is important to start contact tracing without waiting for the test results.

Researchers at Johns Hopkins found that the chances of getting false negative results are higher in the early stages of the infection. Hence, a negative test does not guarantee that the person is not infected. And they are still able to spread the virus. Improper contact tracing may be the reason that in India there were many cases where it was not possible to find the source of the infection.

The Health Ministry is emphasising on the need for aggressive contact testing. According to the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR), there is a wide variation among the States with regard to the number of contacts traced. It ranges from less than 25 to more than 75 per infected COVID-19 case. The infected patients are in general reluctant to reveal their contacts or the authorities are not nudging them enough to provide their contacts. Even a State like Karnataka, which has been canvassed as a successful State for contact tracing, is increasingly finding infections from unknown sources. This is increasing the spread of the infection due to delayed detection.

To be honest, not being able to establish the source of a disease is not surprising, especially in a country where people are divided by gender norms and socio-economic classes. These deficiencies are akin to the problems of the respondent-driven sampling (RDS) method of data collection. RDS is applied when the population is "hidden". A hidden population may include people at the risk of contracting HIV or a group of injected drug users. The population may remain hidden due to privacy concerns and is rarely found among the general population. This is very similar to suspected Coronavirus infected persons. People may not be willing to get identified in public due to privacy concerns and the fear of adverse social repercussions. The number of COVID-19 infected until now is minuscule as compared to the population of the country. RDS assumes that the best way to access the hidden population is through their own peers. The initial sample is asked about the contact of their peers and thus contact tracing leads to revelation of the hidden population.

Three major deficiencies in this method of sampling are pertinent in the context of detection of Coronavirus infected persons. They are the problems of non-cooperative referrals, masking and inbreeding. The infected individual may not get the exact contacts of the people they have interacted with. The infected individual may attempt to mask the contacts as there are privacy concerns.

They may avoid mentioning their close relative or loved ones with whom they have come in close contact. Furthermore, in a society divided by gender norms and socio-economic classes, people may select contacts primarily from the same gender and socio-economic class. A street vendor or bus conductor, if infected, may not be able to provide contacts of customers as they would refuse to share their contacts. A security guard would not be able to provide contacts of the people s/he interacted with. Moreover, all of them would be extremely uncomfortable in sharing contacts of people they are dependent on for their livelihood. They may only share contacts of people belonging to a similar socio-economic class as theirs and that, too, of the same gender. The men would hesitate to share the contacts of female family members or co-workers and vice versa.

In the RDS system of data collection the problem of masking is resolved though providing incentives to divulge the contacts of peers. In the fight against the Coronavirus, offering incentives to unmask the hidden population may be financially challenging. There could be two mechanisms through which it can be tackled. People should be made aware of the benefits of disclosing their contacts through public campaigns. As a result, those infected would be comfortable in revealing their contacts and the contacted individuals themselves would not be upset over being identified. It would rather come out as an incentive for those infected to get their near and dear ones examined and also an incentive for the contacts to get tested on time. Thus, the problem of non-cooperation of the referrals may also be resolved to a large extent.

Maintaining the contact details of people in close contact may be made mandatory by local authorities in shopping complexes and other public spaces. Contact verification may become necessary if individuals provide wrong information. Deliberate sharing of wrong contacts may be penalised as well.

The problem of inbreeding may be resolved though conducting the contact tracing exercise over several rounds. For example, if an infected woman provides the contact of one man along with five women contacts, then to overcome the inbreeding problem, the man's contacts may be traced further assiduously. This is very similar to tracing the secondary and tertiary contacts but with an emphasis on tracing the odd ones in the whole contact list. Similarly, tracing people from a different socio-economic background as compared to the majority of the contact list should be given adequate attention. At present, the disaggregated data on primary and secondary contact tracing is not available in most of the States. Douglas Heckathorn, a social scientist from Cornell University who perfected the RDS methodology, suggested three to five waves of contact tracing to get rid of the problem of inbreeding.

Contact tracing is a more efficient methodology than random testing given the rarity of the infection in the population till date. Contact tracing, on the one hand, economises testing facilities and on the other hand, identifies the hidden population infected with the virus. The more the delay in reaching suspected individuals, the higher is the future burden of economic and social cost. Hence, non-cooperation of referrals should be dealt with through public campaigns. The danger of the contact tracing mechanism is that if masking and inbreeding are not dealt with adequately, then we would end up tracing and testing only one kind of a population. The initial sample would determine the prospective samples, unless infected ones are sensitised about the importance of unmasking the contacts and contact tracing is done for few rounds down the line of contact trail.

Only increasing the number of contacts traced per infected or suspected individual is not the solution. It must be done over a few waves and must adequately cover all categories of people. If not done properly, the outbreak of the disease would be lurking in some other corner of society, only to take us by surprise later.

HONG KONG CITIZENSHIP PLAN

China threatens retaliation against UK

London, United Kingdom: China warned Britain on Thursday it could retaliate with "corresponding measures" for London's decision to extend a broader path to citizenship for the residents of Hong Kong.

Britain's offer came in response to a sweeping new security law that China unveiled for the former British territory this week.

Hong Kong was under UK jurisdiction until it was handed over to China in 1997 with a guarantee that Beijing would preserve the city's judicial and legislative autonomy for 50 years.

The Chinese embassy in London stressed that "all Chinese compatriots residing in Hong Kong are Chinese nationals."

The British plan covers almost three million Hong Kongers who either have a British National Overseas (BNO) passports or are eligible to apply for one.

The embassy said these people were Chinese nationals as well.

"If the British side makes unilateral changes to the relevant practice, it will breach its own position and pledges as well as international law and basic norms governing international relations," it said in a statement.

"We firmly oppose this and reserve the right to take corresponding measures," it said without elaborating.

Beijing has never publicly raised the possibility of offering Britons either Chinese citizenship or broader residence rights.

The Chinese statement concluded by urging London to reassess its decision and "refrain from interfering in Hong Kong affairs in any way."

Britain had sought closer relations with China after ending its decades-long membership in the European Union this year.

Prime Minister Boris Johnson's government also irritated the US administration in January by allowing the private Chinese telecoms group Huawei to unroll Britain's speedy new data network.

But Britain is now studying ways it can cut Huawei out of its system entirely and build up an alliance of European and Asian providers that reduces China's dominance in the field. AFP

Hong Kong protester arrested on suspicion of stabbing police

Hong Kong: Hong Kong police arrested a man onboard a London-bound flight early Thursday morning on suspicion of stabbing a police officer during protests of the semi-autonomous Chinese territory's new security law, officials said.

About 370 people were arrested during and after Wednesday's protests against the law being imposed by China to curb activities surrounding the anti-government protests that has been ongoing since June last year.

Ten of them were arrested on suspicion of violating the new security law, some of whom were in possession of paraphernalia that advocated for Hong Kong's independence. The law took effect Tuesday and outlaws secessionist, subversive, and terrorist acts, as well as any collusion with foreign forces when it comes to the intervening in the city's affairs.

Aus 'actively considering' offer of safe haven to Hongkongers, says PM

Melbourne: Prime Minister Scott Morrison on Thursday said Australia was "actively considering" an offer of safe haven to Hong Kong residents threatened by the imposition of a controversial security law by China that gave it sweeping powers over the former British territory.

Replies to a question on if Australia would offer a safe haven for Hong Kong residents, he said, "We are considering (it) very actively and there are proposals that I asked to be brought forward several weeks ago."

The prime minister said the Cabinet would soon consider "to provide similar opportunities" to what the UK has offered to Hong Kongers.

"When we have made a final decision on those arrangements I'll make an announcement, but if you're asking are we prepared to step up and provide support, the answer is yes," Morrison said. PTI

China, pro-Beijing activists condemn 'foreign meddling' in Hong Kong

Hong Kong: China's government and pro-Beijing activists in Hong Kong condemned what they called foreign meddling in the territory's affairs on Thursday, as countries moved to offer Hong Kongers refuge and impose sanctions on China over a new security law.

Chinese foreign ministry spokesman Zhao Lijian said no amount of pressure from external forces could "shake China's determination and will to safeguard national sovereignty and Hong Kong's prosperity and stability."

Meanwhile, dozens of pro-Beijing activists and lawmakers protested outside the US Consulate in Hong Kong to demand that the US stop meddling. The group said it gathered 1.6 million signatures online in support of its call.

Tam Yiu-Chung, Hong Kong's sole delegate to the National People's Congress Standing Committee, said on public broadcaster RTHK on Thursday that the new security law imposed by Beijing on Hong Kong was not harsh. If it were, no one would dare violate the law, he said.

His comments came a day after thousands of protesters marched against the security law, which took effect in Hong Kong late Tuesday. AP

Landslide at Myanmar jade mine kills at least 162

People gather near the bodies of victims of a landslide near a jade mining area in Hpakan, Kachin state, northern Myanmar on Thursday AP

ing. Those taking part in the recovery operations, which were suspended after dark, included the army and other government units and local volunteers.

The London-based environmental watchdog Global Witness said the accident "is a damning indictment of the government's failure to curb reckless and irresponsible mining practices in Kachin state's jade mines."

"The government should immediately suspend large-scale, illegal and dangerous mining in Hpakan and ensure companies that engage in these practices are no longer able to operate," it said in a statement.

At the site of the tragedy, a crowd gathered in the rain around corpses shrouded in blue and red plastic sheets placed in a row on the ground.

Emergency workers had to slog through heavy mud to retrieve bodies by wrapping them in the plastic sheets, which were then hung on crossed wooden poles shrouded by the recovery teams.

Social activists have complained that the profitability of jade mining has led businesses and the government to neglect enforcement of already very weak regulations in the jade mining industry.

The multi-billion dollar sector is dominated by powerful military-linked companies, armed groups and cronies that have been allowed to operate without effective social and environmental controls for years," Global Witness said. AP

78% of voters back extending Putin's rule

Moscow: Almost 78% of voters in Russia have approved amendments to the country's constitution that will allow President Vladimir Putin to stay in power until 2036. In the 2018 presidential election, 76.7% of voters supported his candidacy, while in the 2012 election only 63.6% did.

But Kremlin critics say the numbers alone show they are false, with an unrealistic approval rating for the Russian leader amid wide frustration in the country over declining living standards. AP

Russia denies supplying weapons to Taliban

Moscow: Russia's Foreign Ministry said Thursday that Moscow has never delivered weapons to the Taliban movement in Afghanistan, countering US allegations.

Ministry spokeswoman Maria Zakharchova rejected the claim by US Secretary of State Mike Pompeo, who said Wednesday that he had repeatedly raised the issue during his talks with the Russians.

"Russia has only supplied weapons to the legitimate government of Afghanistan, which is well known," Zakharchova said at a briefing. On Wednesday, Pompeo said that "the Russians are at fault." AP

746 held as UK security officials bust top secret crime chatroom in major operation

London: A top secret encrypted communications system used by criminals to trade drugs and guns has been busted in a joint operation carried out by UK security officials, resulting in 746 arrests.

The UK's National Crime Agency (NCA) said on Thursday that it successfully broke into EncroChat, a major provider of encrypted communications offering a secure mobile phone instant messaging service, as part of Operation Venetic – dubbed one of the largest law enforcement operations of its kind which also led to considerable criminal cash, firearms and drugs being seized.

"This operation demonstrates that criminals will not get away with using encrypted devices to plot vile crimes under the radar," said UK Home Secretary Priti Patel.

"The NCA's relentless targeting of these gangs has helped to keep us all safe. I congratulate them and law enforcement partners on this significant achievement. I will continue working closely with the NCA and others to tackle the use of such devices – giving them the resources, powers and tools they need to keep our country safe," she said.

EncroChat had 60,000 users worldwide, with around 10,000 in the UK, and its sole use was to coordinate and plan the distribution of illicit commodities, money laundering and plotting to kill rival criminals. PTI

Johnson's father flies to Greece despite ban

London: The father of British Prime Minister Boris Johnson is facing criticism for travelling to Greece despite UK government advice against international travel and a Greek ban on flights from Britain.

Stanley Johnson posted videos on Instagram taken from a plane with the words "Arriving in Athens this evening!" as well as a photo of himself in a mask in what appeared to be an airport.

The elder Johnson, 79, has a villa in Greece. Greece has banned flights from the UK until at least July 15. The Daily Mail reported that Stanley Johnson flew to Athens via Bulgaria.

He told the newspaper he was visiting Greece on "essential business trying to COVID-proof my property."

Opposition politicians accused the prime minister's father of flouting lockdown rules. AP

Lauds Govt's MSME package

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The World Bank has said it will provide a USD 750 million budget support to 15 lakh MSMEs to increase liquidity access for viable small businesses impacted by Covid-19.

Lauding the government's ₹3.7 lakh crore MSME support package under 'Atmanirbhar Bharat', World Bank Country Director in India Junaaid Ahmad on Wednesday said the RBI also has used different instruments to infuse liquidity in the market either through banks or SIDBI.

The USD 750 million support is in addition to the USD 2 billion funding the World Bank has already announced for the social and health sector. This takes the total lending to India due to Covid-19 to USD 2.75 billion within three months.

"The World Bank's MSME Emergency Response program will address the immediate liquidity and credit needs of some 1.5 million viable MSMEs. By de-risking, the government is taking on a bit of risk themselves and in time of crisis, this is exactly what you want the government to do," Ahmad told reporters.

The MSME funding is under the multilateral lender's Development Policy Loan, which is a direct budget support.

"In development policy loans, we do not fund a specific expenditure... We give direct budget support when the Government puts together policy framework that we believe deserve support," Ahmad said. He said the Government steps would help unlock liquidity for MSMEs, strengthen NBFCs and small finance banks and enable inclusive access to financing.

"The Government has piggybacked on guaranteed systems... To de-risk lending to MSMEs. By de-risking, the government is taking on a bit of risk themselves and in time of crisis, this is exactly what you want the government to do," Ahmad told reporters.

During the 2020 fiscal (July 2019-June 2020), World Bank has extended USD 5.13 billion loans to India -- which is the highest in a decade.

This includes USD 2.75 billion given in three months in response to the Covid-19 pandemic.

The Government had in May announced a support package of ₹ 3.70 lakh crore for the MSME sector, which included Rs 3 lakh crore collateral-free loans for small businesses.

Ahmad said the government has infused 1.5 per cent of GDP into the MSME sector between monetary and fiscal policies and the World Bank funding would support the operation.

"Our money is not a line of credit... It is a budget injection to say that story line, this whole package is something that the World Bank is supporting, is signalling to the market that this is the one which really strengthens economic stabilisation..."

"This is about supporting and signalling a framework of liquidity de-risked into the hands of MSMEs at a time when you need to ensure that viable MSMEs survive and do not fall victim to the downturn," he said.

Ahmad said in the next stage of the World Bank's assistance programme for micro, small and medium businesses, the multilateral lender would engage with the MSME Ministry and states to ensure capacity development at cluster level.

"World Bank's Board of Executive Directors has approved a USD 750 million MSME Emergency Response program to support increased flow of finance into the hands of micro, small, and medium enterprises (MSMEs), severely impacted by the COVID-19 crisis," the World Bank said.

Earlier, the lender had approved a funding of USD 1 billion each for the social and health sector for support during the pandemic.

Coal India arm BCCL says no impact of strike; union leaders claim otherwise

Dhanbad / Rambagh (Jharkhand): Bharat Coking Coal Ltd (BCCL), a subsidiary of Coal India, on Thursday said there was no impact of the three-day strike called by different trade unions to protest against the Government's decision to allow commercial mining of coal.

Another Coal India arm, Central Coalfields Limited (CCL) said mining through outsourcing companies remained unaffected.

However, the striking trade union leaders claimed that the stir impacted coal mining in the two subsidiaries of Coal India Ltd. Trade unions went ahead with their three-day strike against commercial mining in the coal sector after talks with Coal and Mining Minister Pralhad Joshi had failed on Wednesday.

A notice issued by the public relations department of the BCCL said there was no impact of the strike in the first shift as all miners marked their attendance and resumed work as scheduled.

For the protection of miners, the colliery management has deployed CISF personnel in large numbers and intensified patrolling in the area to foil any attempt of trade union leaders to stop miners from joining duty, sources in the BCCL said.

The General Manager of CCL's Barka-Sayal and officiating GM of Arguda command area, Amresh Singh, said "dispatch of coal has been affected due to the strike, but coal mining via outsourcing private companies remained unaffected."

Rashtriya Colliery Mazdoor Sangh (RCMS) General Secretary AK Jha said that in the first shift, which began at 6 am, the miners reached the colliery but did not join the work.

"Production has been hampered in all the collieries of the BCCL and the Eastern Coalfields Limited," he claimed.

Rajendra Singh Chandel, the Rashtriya Pragatishil Workers Union (RPWU), affiliated to CITU, which is leading the strike in Ramgarh district, claimed that coal production and dispatch have been affected as the coal workers extended support to the strike. PTI

India needs ₹50-60 lakh cr foreign investments to bolster coronavirus-hit economy: Gadkari

New Delhi: India needs foreign direct investments worth ₹50 to 60 lakh crore and the money can be tapped mainly through infrastructure projects as well as MSME sector to accelerate the wheels of coronavirus-hit economy, according to Union minister Nitin Gadkari.

Emphasising that at this juncture Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) is the need of the hour, the senior minister said such funds would benefit the country as there is a need for pumping in liquidity into the market. Economic activities have been significantly disrupted in the wake of the pandemic and subsequent lockdowns that were in place to curb spreading of infections.

"Country at this juncture needs liquidity. Without liquidity our economy's wheel will not accelerate... ₹50-60 lakh crore foreign investment is needed in the country under present circumstances to boost the economy," the Road Transport, Highways and MSME Minister told PTI in an interview.

Infrastructure sector including highways, airports, inland waterways, railways, logistic parks, broad gauge and metro, apart from Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) can attract large scale foreign investment, he noted.

"FDI in MSME, Non-Banking Financial Companies (NBFCs) and banks are needed... In the highways sector, we are trying to bring foreign investment," he said.

Gadkari further said that talks are on with investors from Dubai and the US for various sectors, including MSMEs.

"Some MSMEs are already listed on the BSE. I have talked to investors in Dubai and the US to come and invest in such MSMEs based on their three-year turnover, GST track record, IT record and good rating.

Investing in these can result in rich dividends as these do exports also," he said.

"We need to boost our technology for increasing growth and need to focus on enhancing exports. The Prime Minister's thrust is also on reducing dependence on imports and boosting exports. In this infrastructure can play a crucial role," he said.

While noting that the present situation is very serious as the entire world is facing problems, Gadkari stressed on the need to work on a war-footing basis on infrastructure front.

Further, the minister noted that public private partnerships can help harness huge

RBI asks banks to reclassify MSMEs as per revised criteria

PTI ■ MUMBAI

The RBI has asked banks, financial institutions and NBFCs to reclassify micro, small and medium enterprises on the basis of the new criteria.

Last month, the government notified new criteria for classification of micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs) on the basis of turnover and investment in plant and machinery.

"We advise you to initiate necessary action for reclassification of enterprises as per the new definition w.e.f July 1, 2020 and issue necessary instructions to your branches/controlling offices in this regard, at the earliest," RBI said in a communication to banks, financial institutions and non banking financial companies (NBFCs).

After 14 years since the MSME Development Act came into existence in 2006, a revision in MSME definition was announced in the Atmanirbhar Bharat package on May 13.

The Reserve Bank further said in case of an upward change in terms of investment in plant and machinery or equipment or turnover or both, and consequent re-classification, an enterprise will maintain its prevailing status till expiry of one year from the close of the year of registration.

As per the revised definition, an enterprise is micro where the investment in plant and machinery or equipment does not exceed ₹1 crore and turnover does not cross ₹5 crore.

An enterprise is now classified as small enterprise, where the investment in plant and machinery or equipment does not exceed ₹10 crore and turnover is not over ₹50 crore.

For medium enterprise, as per the new classification, the investment in plant and machinery or equipment should not exceed ₹50 crore and turnover should be below ₹250 crore.

The rupee opened at 75.51 against the US dollar and gained further ground to touch a day's high of 74.99. The local unit settled at 75.04 against the US dollar, up 56 paise over its previous close. This is the highest closing level since March 27 when the rupee had settled at 74.89.

It had settled at 75.60 against the greenback on Wednesday. The rupee logged its "biggest single-day gain since April 23, boosted by gains in domestic equities amid optimism over potential Covid-19 vaccine. Forex traders said investors turned to riskier currencies and assets after Pfizer reported encouraging vaccine test results.

Market participants also expected dollar inflows while state-run banks remained on the sideline. Moreover, investor sentiment strengthened further after Pfizer reported encouraging vaccine test results.

The first of four experimental Covid-19 vaccines being tested by Pfizer and its German partner BioNTech showed encouraging results in very early testing of 45 people, the companies said on Wednesday.

adds 4.8 million jobs as unemployment falls to 11.1%

AP ■ WASHINGTON

U.S. employers added a substantial 4.8 million jobs in June, and the unemployment rate fell to 11.1%, as the job market improved for a second straight month yet still remained far short of regaining the colossal losses it suffered this spring.

The nation has now recovered roughly one-third of the 22 million jobs it lost to the pandemic recession. And with confirmed coronavirus cases spiking across the Sun Belt states, a range of evidence suggests that a job market recovery may be stalling. In those states and elsewhere, some restaurants, bars and other retailers that had re-opened are being forced to close again.

The re-closings are keeping layoffs elevated: The number of Americans who sought unemployment benefits barely fell last week to 1.47 million. Though that weekly figure has declined steadily since peaking in late March, it's still more than double the pre-pandemic peak set in 1982. And the total number of people receiving jobless aid remains at a sizable 19 million.

California has re-closed bars, theaters and indoor restaurant dining across most of the state. Florida has also re-closed bars and beaches. Texas has reversed some of its efforts to reopen its economy. New York has paused its plans to allow indoor dining.

Credit and debit card data tracked by JPMorgan Chase show that consumers reduced their spending last week after having increased it steadily in late April and May. The reversal has occurred both in states that have reported surges in Covid-19 and in less affected states, said Jesse Edgerton, an economist at J.P. Morgan.

Global stocks rise on vaccine hopes, ahead of US jobs data

Beijing: Global stock markets and Wall Street futures rose Thursday on hopes for the development of a coronavirus vaccine and ahead of the release of monthly US jobs data.

Investors were encouraged after Pfizer and BioNTech announced preliminary data from a vaccine test, one of a series being carried out by global developers.

Thursday's figure will likely set the tone in financial markets ahead of a long holiday weekend in the United States. In Europe, the FTSE 100 in London rose 1% to 6,219 and Frankfurt's DAX gained 2% to 12,504. The CAC 40 in Paris advanced 1.7% to 5,011.

Saif trolled for claim on nepotism

SAIF ALI KHAN declared in an interview that he has been a victim of nepotism, but he only ended up being a target of trolls on social media.

"Nepotism in its purest form is something that even I have been a victim of. I am not going to take names but somebody's dad has rung up and said don't cast him in the film. It has happened to me," Saif said.

However, the comment did not go down well with netizens. Trolls and memes started targeting the actor, who is the son of renowned actress Sharmila Tagore and late cricketer Mansoor Ali Khan Pataudi.

'Remember that photo of yourself from five years ago that makes you feel bad about your current weight? Well, that same person five years ago had something else making her feel bad about her weight. Never Have I Ever renewed

MINDY KALINGS coming-of-age comedy series Never Have I Ever, about an Indian teenager growing up in the US, will be getting a second season.

With the show, she has used her "relationship with being Hindu" and the experience of "straddling the lines of two cultures" to narrate the story of a 15-year-old Devi, first-generation Indian American, and her desperation to feel that she belongs in the society.

"The scene where Devi prays to her household shrine of Gods, it's a lot similar to my upbringing. And when I was a teenager, I resisted wearing Indian clothes because while beautiful, I found them itchy and hard to wear," she said.

Do you know what happens to your body when you lose sleep and don't log enough hours under the covers? Even missing as little as one hour can have an impact on how you feel, affect your ability to think, remember and process information, weaken your immune system, increase the risk of certain cancers, lead to weight gain and the list might just keep going on... Hence, it has been rightly said that getting enough sleep is important to help a person maintain optimal health and well-being.

Since the lockdown-induced anxieties have highly compromised our sleeping patterns, experts suggest a few ways to make sure you have a good night's sleep.

Usually, we drift off to sleep when our body has used up most of its energy. With stay-at-home orders, we are not using all our energy levels and to top it off, most of us end up binge-watching, chit-chatting with friends till late night or maybe even work for prolonged hours. Kabir Siddiq, founder and CEO of SleepyCat, a mattress company, explains that this flips our body-clock to a whole 180 degree. "In order to get back that sound sleep, you should try and adhere to some rules such as shutting the digital screens at least three hours before bedtime and rather picking up reading. Avoid working till late hours. By spending even 20 minutes a day exercising, we are able to put all the built energy to good use and it allows our body to feel tired, which eventually leads to a good night's sleep. Try tuning into calming music at night. It has a direct effect on the parasympathetic nervous system, which helps your body relax and prepare for a healthy sleep," says he.

Recently, a survey conducted at the University of Basel, Switzerland, and the University's Psychiatric Hospital, reported that sleep quality has badly deteriorated during the lockdown. Our cycle of work and leisure is often mismatched with our internal biological clock. If the differences in sleep timing and duration between work days and days off become too large, this can lead to 'social jetlag'. The survey found that a relaxation of social rhythms — for example, through more flexible working hours — led to a reduction in 'social jetlagging'.

Mudit Dandwate, co-founder of Dozee, a sleep monitoring device company, shares that one good practice to induce a sound sleep is to consume some soothing green tea as it helps boost digestion and reduce core body temperature. "Also, taking a hot water shower before going to bed does the exact same thing, which initiates deep sleep. One should also cut down on the caffeine intake at least six hours before sleeping to build a proper sleeping schedule. As we know that certain yoga exercises have been useful in stimulating good sleep and relaxation. Try practising yoga on a daily basis, even if it is for 15 minutes. Yoga nidra, an ancient technique, has been proved to be very useful. Approximately, 20 minutes of yoga nidra is equivalent to two hours of sound sleep," he says.

A study suggests that it is not right to exercise post 8 pm. Mudit explains the reason, saying, "An intense exercise routine releases a lot of adrenaline, which keeps one awake until late. However, a quick brisk walk is a good stress buster for the mind. Although, it's great to do it in the morning."

A restless night has become a routine for almost all of us. Stress and anxiety cause major sleeping problems or worsen existing issues. Following healthy sleep habits — also known as sleep hygiene — helps in

Sleep well

Having issues in getting a good night's sleep due to the anxiety spurred on by the pandemic? Experts suggest that minimising screen time, taking a hot water shower before going to bed and choosing the right mattress can help maintain a healthy routine.

By AYUSHI SHARMA

reducing anxiety, depressive symptoms and allows one to feel more energetic and positive, believes Dr. Anuunet Sabharwal, MBBS MD, Psychiatrist. He suggests a few other methods, which have proven to be useful:

- Stick to a sleep schedule of the same time. Sleeping and waking up daily at the same time helps regulate the body-clock, which helps us fall asleep much faster.
- Have a relaxing environment. Mindful meditation or deep breathing exercises right before going to bed has proved to be effective. It also reduces stress.
- Avoid consumption of alcohol, cigarettes and heavy meals, especially during the evening. Eating big or spicy meals can cause discomfort from indigestion that can make it hard to fall asleep.

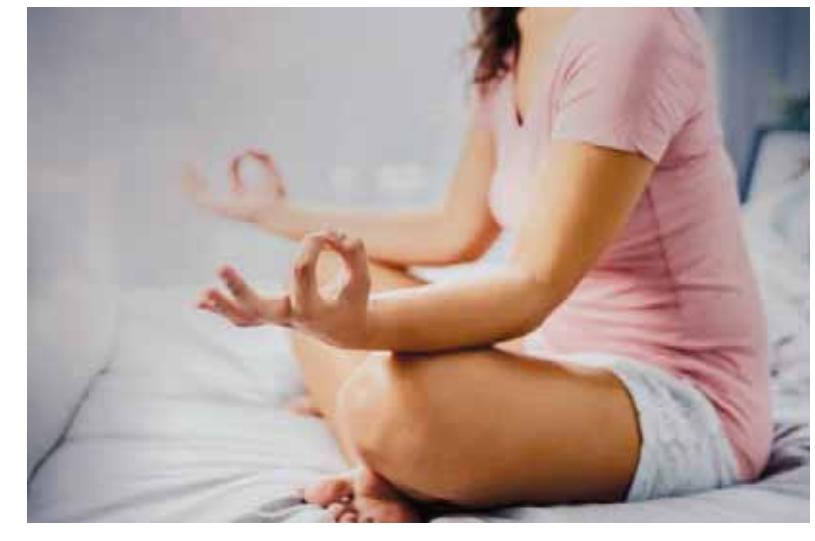

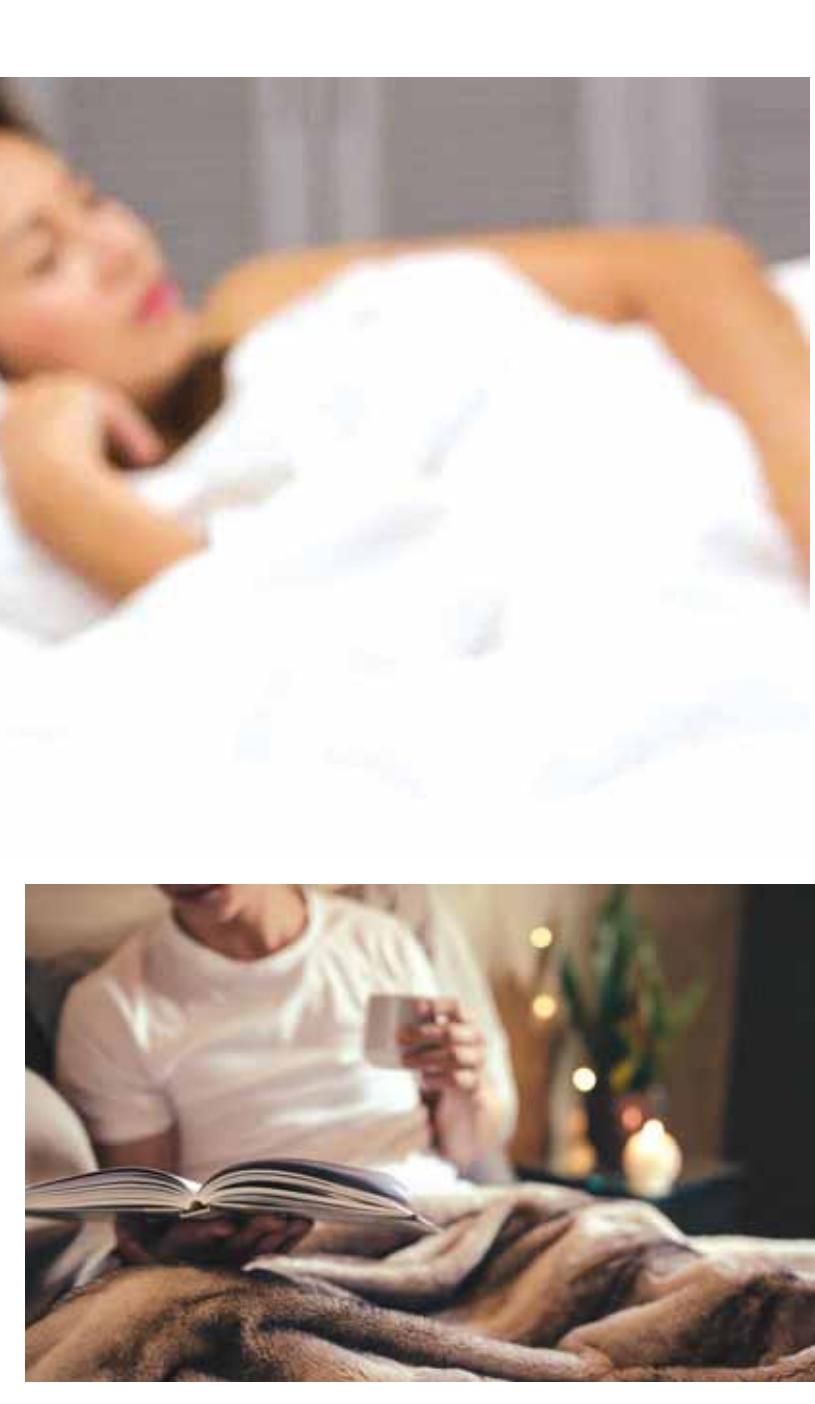

- Try to avoid eating large meals for two to three hours before bedtime. Rich foods, fatty-fried meals, spicy dishes, citrus fruits and carbonated drinks can trigger indigestion in some people. When this occurs close to bedtime, it can lead to painful heartburn that disrupts sleep.
- Limit daytime naps to 30 minutes. Sleeping in the daytime can confuse your internal clock, which means that you may struggle to sleep at night. Don't underestimate the power of a short nap. Just 20 to 30 minutes can help to improve mood, alertness and performance.

- Ensuring adequate exposure to natural light. This is particularly important for individuals, who mostly stay indoors. Exposure to sunlight during the day as well as darkness at night helps to maintain a healthy sleep-wake cycle.
- Let the sleep environment seduce you. Mattress and pillows should be comfortable. The bedroom should be cool between 24 and 30 degrees for optimal sleep. Turn off all lights. Consider using blackout curtains, eye shades, ear plugs, "white noise" machines, humidifiers, fans and other devices that can make the bedroom more relaxing and you'll fall asleep in no time.

Experts feel that a right mattress can also make all the difference between a sound sleep and a sleepless night. A good mattress offers a perfect balance of required comfort and support, keeping the natural spinal alignment and body posture in place, thus significantly enhancing the quality of sleep.

Kabir tells us that our mind and body are connected by a neural pathway. It is when the body feels comfortable that we slowly start to drift off into deep sleep. Thus, making sure you sleep on a comfortable surface is very important. An old and uncomfortable mattress can lead to stress buildup. He adds, 'A quality mattress provides support to the body and ensures that you don't end up with a sore back in the morning. The type of surface may differ from person to person. Some may prefer a more supportive mattress, while others would want a more hotel-like softness. Either way, it's about what suits your body the best.'

When it comes to the right sleeping position, try lying on your back or to the side as they are usually considered to be good positions, suggest experts. Worthy successor

No other vehicle brand in India has been around for as long and as many generations as the Honda City. So how does the latest fifth-generation Honda City fare?

trol. The instrument cluster has a physical speedometer but that is coupled with a seven-inch TFT screen which displays not just the tachometer but can also the trip information, mileage and interesting features such a 'G-Meter' to measure the physical gravity loads on the car.

On the face of it, the rest of the interiors are also much improved than the outgoing model, at least in the higher specification variants. The seats are well upholstered, the fittings, the infotainment system screen, and an ample amount of luggage space. The thing that impressed me the most about the interiors was the solid feel of the plastics. Indeed, the new fifth-generation City addresses the single biggest problem with the previous model which were the pretty ordinary interiors. The solid feel to the buttons and dials make them among the best in class. I'm not however sold on the lack of a rotary dial for volume con-diesel vehicle sales are going to drop off a cliff, particularly in the NCR. The second is that if you buy a car to drive yourself for commuting, particularly in the ₹12 to 15 lakh range, you will want an automatic.

I have written earlier about the CVT — Continuously Variable Transmission — which isn't in my opinion the best sort of automatic transmission, particularly if you wish to have a good time. The thing is that this car is that it is called the 'City' and inside an urban environment, this CVT works very well. That said, the City is also equipped with paddle shifters and while they might not be all that useful, if you find yourself on the highway and want to have a good time, it does allow you to do that, albeit you really can't red-line a CVT car.

But again, in daily commuter traffic, the CVT works excellently and even allows the car to deliver a decent fuel economy. Again, I have to state that the day I was driving this car, I got stuck in a fantastic traffic jam under Moti Bagh flyover, but even then I got around 13.1 kilometers per litre, but that included driving down the Noida-Greater Noida Expressway. The City has definitely grown up when it comes to ride and handling, the car is a comfortable place to be inside but at high-speed and at urban speeds, the steering is sharp and the car does not feel anything but assured when sharp steering movements are given.

But I guess this car has grown up a bit too much, it looks sharp with its shoulder line and the headlights and taillights, the latter even having a touch of BMW. It is nice to be inside and it gets the job done. But at a level, would the 22-year-old me approve of this car? I don't think so, sure it has a great audio system and it is comfortable but it does feel a bit too sedate. In a market, where Hyundai has equipped the Verna with the 1.0-litre GDi Turbo, the City is the safe choice. Not the fun choice.

Before I finish the column, a word about the Alexa integration that you will be hearing a lot about in the coming weeks. I even did a short YouTube video on this. Frankly, this is nothing more than a voice layer on top of the Honda Connect application. After saying 'Open Honda' on the Alexa app, you could check your fuel levels, start the air-conditioner and even set the temperature but you cannot control your Amazon Prime account or use any of Alexa's other myriad skills in the car, which in my opinion makes it slightly pointless, although this is something I would guess that can be added with a software upgrade later. You could however do the same thing from your Amazon Alexa devices such as the Echo that might be in your bedroom or living room. The City, like all its rivals, has Apple CarPlay and Android Auto (both of which also have Amazon Prime Music, if you subscribe to the service). So it does feel a bit gimmicky, but then again back in the late-1990s power windows were a gimmick. I will not therefore judge the Alexa system just yet and see how it evolves in the coming 12 to 18 months.

'People have seen enough of formula'

Anushka Sharma and her brother Karnesh's love for cutting edge visual effects (VFX) in their production ventures Phillauri, Pari and now, Bulbbul is clearly visible. Much to their credit, they have been pushing the envelope in creating unique visual experiences for the audience. Incidentally, all three films are supernatural-feminist films, a sub-genre that their production house Clean Slate Filmz have created.

Anushka says, "For us, how uniquely we tell a story is extremely important. We have always tried to tell our stories as differently as possible because we feel people have seen enough of the formula and are done with them. I have always felt that a visual trigger to storytelling is key to hold attention of the audience today and it also allows us an unexpectedly new route to present an idea that has never been seen before."

She adds, "People are always looking to immerse themselves into something new. That's been our biggest strength. From Phillauri, Pari and now Bulbbul, while we have accidentally created a sub-genre of supernatural feminism films, we have consciously told the story through the lens of clutter-breaking visual effects."

Karnesh is delighted that Bulbbul's VFX has been hailed unanimously. The use of symbolism like the red moon to evoke elements of rebellion, passion and revolution has been lapped up by the audience and critics alike.

"Our focus towards visual effects to enhance storytelling is one of the reasons why these films have stood out. The strong visual effects in our projects have added to the surrealism of the stories that we intended to tell and heightened its impact," he says.

THAT RIGHT INGREDIENT

Old traditions don't die easy. Author SRIKSHI CHAUDHARY's new book, Lallan Sweets, presents this very idea through food, humour, family strife and a new take on Indian history. An extract:

It is 1995. Tara Taneja lives in the small town of Siyaka, running Ultimate Mathematics Tuition Centre and working for Lalaji, her grandfather, at Lallan Sweets, his famous sweet shop. The laddoos sold at the shop are made using a secret family recipe that contains a magic ingredient known only to Lalaji.

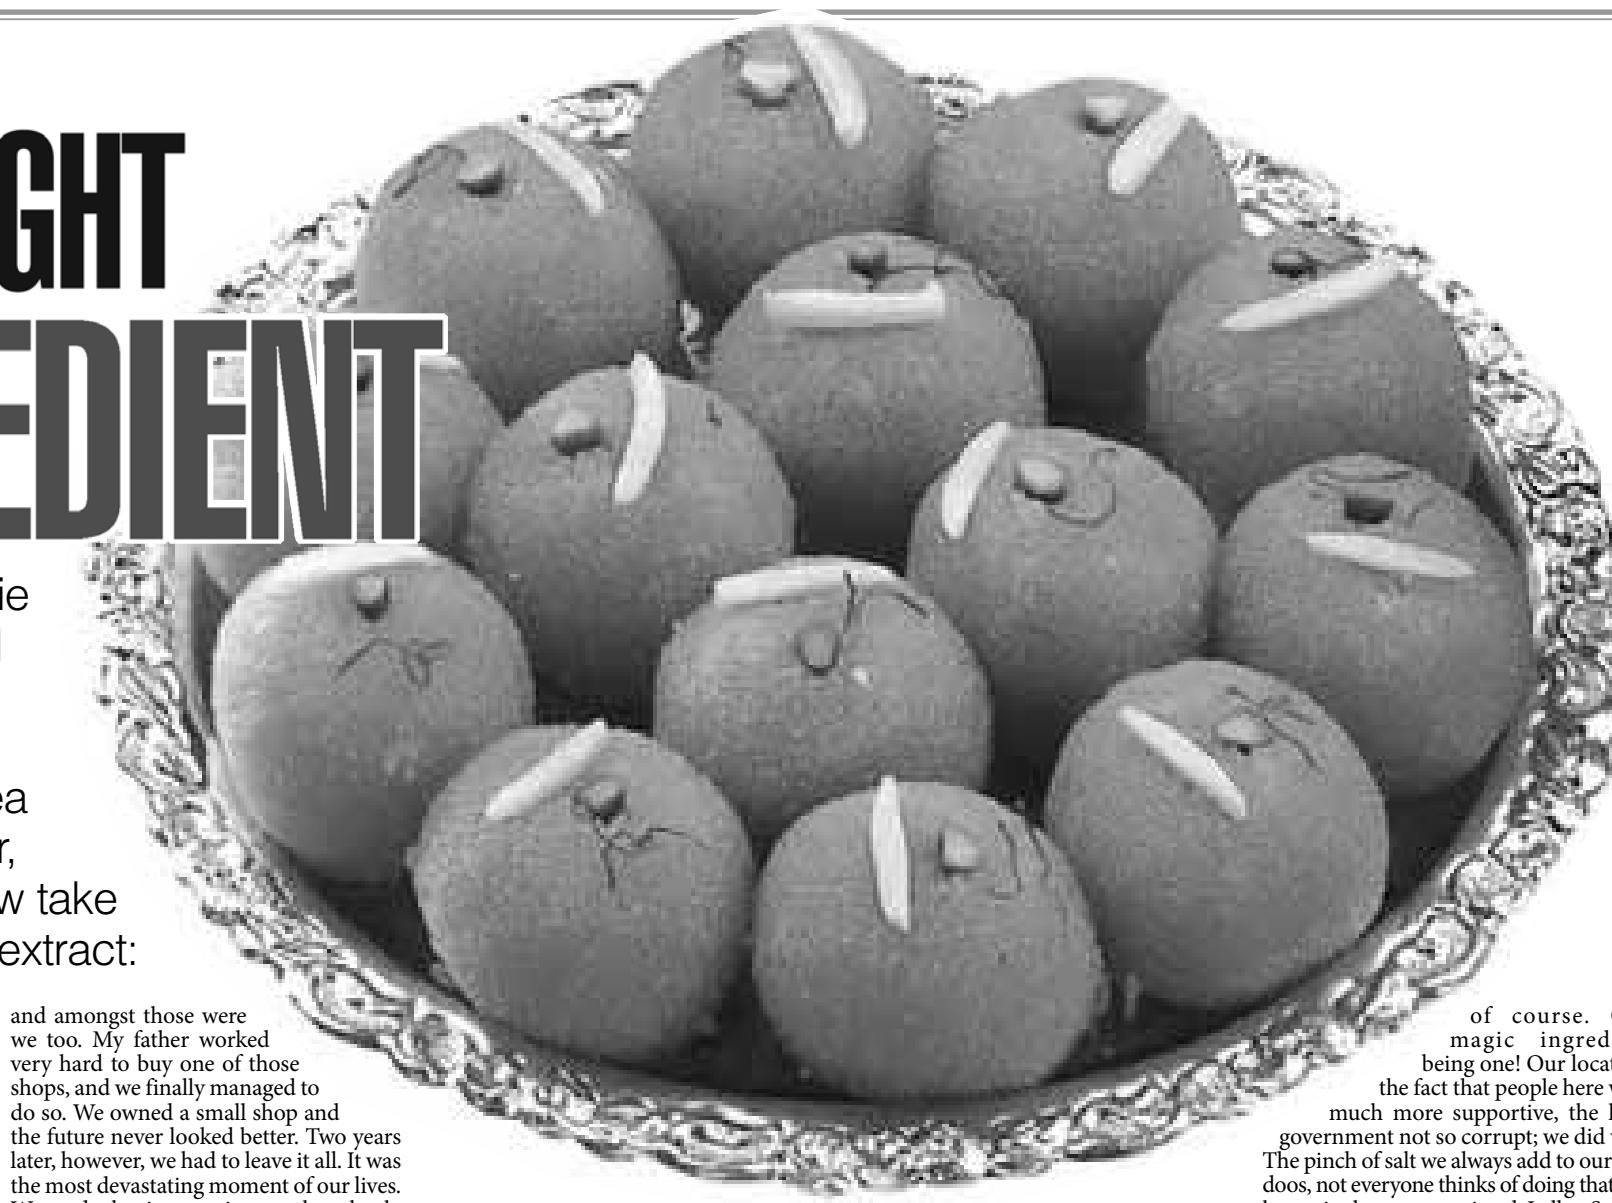

When Lalaji chooses to retire, he decides that Lallan Sweets will not be inherited but earned. He devises a quest for his three grandchildren — Tara, Rohit and Mohit — to discover the magic ingredient. Whoever finds it first will get to run the shop.

HERE ARE TWO EXTRACTS:

Chapter 2:

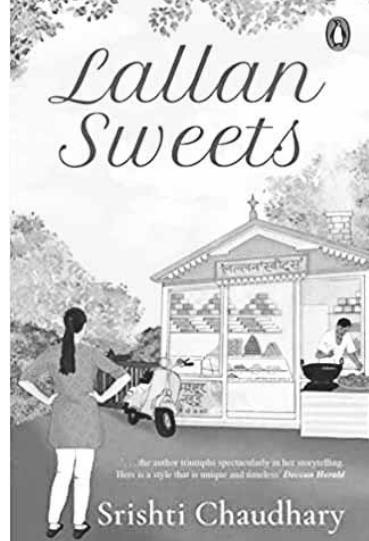

'It was in 1947 when we undertook that perilous journey, the nightmares of which haunt us to this day,' he began. I was surprised to see that he had a whole talk prepared. What was going on in his mind?

'We had a thriving business in Lahore, doing very well, in Anarkali Bazaar. Children, do you even know of Anarkali Bazaar? We nodded. Lalaji often spoke about his life on the other side of the border, still affronted that his family had to pack their bags and leave from what was always their home. 'How Anarkali Bazaar would come alive during the day, especially when it was festival time. Rows and rows of shops and vendors selling everything, and amongst those were we too. My father worked very hard to buy one of those shops, and we finally managed to do so. We owned a small shop and the future never looked better. Two years later, however, we had to leave it all. It was the most devastating moment of our lives. We made that journey in complete shock, not knowing what would happen, not knowing what we would do, camping at one place, then another. We finally reached Ludhiana and stayed there for some time, until we were finally allotted this place in Siyaka. 'It was not too bad, mind you,' he continued. 'We got enough land for a house and a shop. It was quite enough. But a small shop in Anarkali Bazaar was still worth ten shops in Siyaka — this town was nothing! There were hardly a few families living here, most of it was farmland. What would I do selling our famous Lahori sweets here? It seemed like we had lost everything for some time. But with my father urging us on, asking us not to lose hope, we began again. We built it all up, brick by brick, even our house, we have made it on our own. Siyaka too became a thriving town — we got lucky there — and after a few years Lallan Sweets was running.'

I glanced at Pappu Uncle. While he might have known more of this than us, we still didn't know why Lalaji had decided to bring it up now. 'Some things helped us, of course. Our magic ingredient being one! Our location, the fact that people here were much more supportive, the local government not so corrupt; we did well. The pinch of salt we always add to our laddoos, not everyone thinks of doing that you know, is always appreciated. Lallan Sweets is the labour of love of not one generation but two, an effort at trying to rebuild all that we had lost due to the cruelties of fate. I don't want to see it crumble again.' Pappu Uncle put his hands on the table and pushed his chair back. 'I see what this is about. About our talk yesterday, isn't it? You don't trust my sons to handle it, do you? What? You want Taru to take it on — or perhaps her mother?' Aunty looked at Pappu Uncle in horror. We too were shocked at this sudden hostility. There was always some jealousy and rivalry between us but it was always concealed beneath a veneer of friendliness. Nothing was spelled out in this manner. 'What about us then?' Pappu Uncle continued. 'My two sons? They will have wives too, children to feed, families to take care of — you want to give Lallan Sweets to Taru who has no credibility at all, who might run off with the next DJ she finds, dishonouring the family name!' 'Pappuji!' my mother stood up, indignant. 'Please mind what you are saying, I will not hear my child being spoken ill of like this!' 'Pappu, enough!' Lalaji said, putting his hand up. 'I'm not finished yet and you're not so wise yet to be able to interrupt your father.'

'I MIXED THE BESAN AND KESAR, ADDING WATER IN MEASURED POURS, PUTTING IN THAT PINCH OF SALT THAT LALAJI LOVED SO MUCH, MIXING IT ALL INTO THE BATTER. THE SUGAR BOILED ON THE STOVE, AND I KEPT AN EYE ON IT, MY MIND FOCUSED'

Pappu Uncle went as red as it was possible to, his bald head looking like it would explode. 'The time has come to settle the matter,' Lalaji went on. I bent forward. 'I will not bear to see any injustice happening to my grandchildren, be it my grandsons or granddaughter. There might have been a time when girls were not considered important-enough members of the family, but, Pappu, I am not barbaric, and I hope to God you are the same. Now I will tell you how it will work, something that my own father did for me: Lallan Sweets will not be inherited at all.'

'Not inherited?' Pappu Uncle asked blankly.

'It will not be inherited. It will be earned! Silence followed; not because it was a shocking statement, but because it was incomprehensible in this scenario. How do you earn your inheritance?

'And what,' I asked, clearing my throat, 'exactly will we have to do to earn it?' Lalaji looked at me, a wide smile on his face. 'You'll have to find out the magic ingredient, of course.'

Chapter 19:

I mixed the besan and kesar, adding water in measured pours, putting in that pinch of salt that Lalaji loved so much, mixing it all into the batter. The sugar boiled in the water on the stove, and I kept an eye on it, heating up the ghee in the kadai, my mind focussed. I put my finger in the batter to feel the consistency. Satisfied, I took out the perforated boondi ladle. It was like everything was clear now. My answer started to make sense. I spread the batter over the ladle as it fell into the kadai in drops, frying up to be little boondis: the pride of Lallan Sweets. The boondis, meanwhile, sizzled and glistened in the oil, frying to a warm and delicious yellowish-orange.

I removed them from the kadai in bunches and placed them in the sugar syrup. For two hours I was busy preparing the laddoos, putting everything together with care and detail. This was it—the final competition. Everything that we had been working on for the past few weeks, even our lives, came down to this. Rohit and Mohit were in their own kitchen across the verandah, making laddoos. I had told my mother not to help me. This was my job. At the core of it all, of Lallan Sweets and our traditional business, it was all about making laddoos, wasn't it? And if I couldn't do this on my own, who was I and what was I even fighting for?

I was bathed in sweat when I left the laddoos to set. I crossed the verandah and went to Lalaji's room. I waved away the hookah smoke. 'I'm ready Lalaji,' I told him. He nodded.

HAMMERS BLOW

Yarmolenko's last minute counter strike dash Chelsea's top-four hopes; Aubameyang makes Gunners history

AFP ■ LONDON

West Ham rocked Chelsea's top-four hopes and boosted their survival bid with a dramatic 3-2 win, while Pierre-Emerick Aubameyang struck twice as Arsenal climbed back into European contention with a 4-0 thrashing of Norwich on Wednesday.

Chelsea were hoping to take advantage of third-placed Leicester's 2-1 defeat at Everton earlier in the day, but instead the Blues were beaten for the first time since the Premier League restart.

West Ham were denied the opening goal at the London Stadium when VAR ruled Michail Antonio was offside as he lay on the ground while Tomas Soucek slotted home.

Willian fired Chelsea ahead from the penalty spot five minutes before half-time after Issa Diop tripped Christian Pulisic.

Soucek headed home in first-half stoppage time as West Ham finally scored their first goal since the restart.

Antonio put West Ham in front in the 51st minute when he slid in to convert Jarrod Bowen's cross.

Willian's superb 70th-minute free-kick drew Chelsea level, but it was West Ham who broke away to win it in the 89th minute when substitute Andriy Yarmolenko finished a brilliant counter attack.

to qualify for the Champions League hots up with six games left.

"It's the story of our season. It's been a good season but there have been so many of these moments," Chelsea boss Frank Lampard said.

"I'm not happy with any of the goals. There were details in the game which we knew but we lost because we didn't get them right. It's why we are fighting for the top four and not first or second. We don't get things right as much as the big boys do."

West Ham's crucial first win since the restart moved them three points clear of the relegation zone.

51 & COUNTING

At the Emirates Stadium, Aubameyang moved alongside Jamie Vardy as the Premier League's top scorer on 19 goals on a night of contrasting fortunes for the Golden Boot contenders.

Arsenal registered a third straight win to move up to seventh against a Norwich side ever more resigned to relegation.

Cannies keeper Tim Krul did his side no favours by gifting the opener to Aubameyang when he was caught trying to dribble past the Gabon international.

Aubameyang's first saw him reach 50 Premier League goals in 79 appearances — making him the fastest Arsenal player to reach that landmark.

"A player that is able to score as many goals as he has done in that short space of time tells you everything about the importance that he has for us," said Arsenal boss Mikel Arteta.

Aubameyang turned provider for Granit Xhaka to make it 2-0 before half-time and was then handed another gift when Norwich striker Josip Drmic teed him up to make it 3-0.

Cedric Soares, signed from Southampton in January, made his debut one to remember with a long-range strike nine minutes from time to round off the scoring.

FOXES OUTFOXED

Leicester are headed in the opposite direction as their winless run since English football's restart from the coronavirus pandemic stretched to four games.

Richardson and Gylfi Sigurdsson's penalty gave Everton the perfect start at Goodison Park.

Kelchi Iheanacho's fortunate goal as the ball ricocheted in off his face reduced Leicester's arrears and they pressed hard for an equaliser in the closing stages.

"Our form hasn't been the best for a period now but we still have it in our

CA TO NOT USE DUKE'S BALL IN FC CRICKET

MELBOURNE: Cricket Australia has decided to not use the Duke's ball from this summer's Sheffield Shield, having used it alongside Kookaburra for four seasons. Australia has been using Duke's ball since the 2016-17 season in Shield matches with an aim to help its cricketers prepare for the hostile English conditions. CA's Head of Cricket Operations, Peter Roach, said the ineffectiveness of spinners in first-class cricket in recent times played a role in CA's decision to do away with the Dukes. The CA official, however, didn't rule out the possibility of re-introducing it later.

The ban on signing any player, nationally or internationally, is from the upcoming summer transfer window. The ban will be lifted once the payment is made and the proof of payment is sent to FIFA.

IPL 13 likely overseas, toss-up b/w UAE & Lanka

Promising victory against Qatar will be suicidal: Stimac

INDIA: The 13th edition of the Indian Premier League is in all probability headed to foreign shores with UAE and Sri Lanka in the race to host the 2020 edition of the cash-rich league. The final announcement is expected soon as the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) is still awaiting an official decision on the fate of the T20 World Cup which was to be held in Australia in October-November.

A BCCI official in the know of developments told JANS that while the idea was to play the league in the country, the situation with regards to the coronavirus pandemic might force the board to ultimately take the tournament to either UAE or Sri Lanka.

"We are yet to decide on the venue but in all probability it is going outside this year. The condition in India doesn't look suited to have so many teams come in at one or two venues and then create an atmosphere which will be safe for the players as well as the general public even though the games may be played behind closed doors.

"The race is between UAE and Sri Lanka and we will need to decide on where we host the league depending on the situation there with regards to the coronavirus pandemic. Logistics also need to be looked into, so we will decide soon," the official said.

It was earlier reported that the decision-makers in the BCCI were divided in 3:2 ratio with regards to deciding on the venue of the league. "See, it is a case of the decision makers being divided 3-2 if that is how you wish to understand the current scenario.

"There are a couple of voices who feel that having the tournament should be the priority and if that means taking it out of the country, so be it. So, while we are working on the overall plan, the venue is an area which will need further deliberation. Also, at the end of the day safety of the players and everyone involved is priority," the official had explained.

Sanchez takes centre stage in Nerazzurri's rout of Brescia

AFP ■ MILAN

Alexis Sanchez scored a penalty and set up two goals as Inter Milan thrashed relegation candidates Brescia 6-0 in Serie A on Wednesday, while AC Milan snatched a last-gasp draw away to lowly SPAL.

Sanchez teed up Ashley Young to volley Inter ahead at San Siro after just five minutes and the Chile forward dispatched a spot-kick to double the lead following a foul on Victor Moses.

Danilo D'Ambrosio powered in a third just before half-time from a looping cross by Christian Eriksen bagged his first Serie A goal since his January move from Tottenham, forcing in from point-blank range after an excellent Jesse Joronen save denied Romelu Lukaku.

Antonio Candreva completed the romp two minutes from time with a crisp low drive into the corner as Inter clawed back to within eight points of leaders Juventus with nine games still to play.

"We kept our foot on the gas and the fact that we didn't concede is a big positive," Inter coach Antonio Conte told broadcaster DAZN.

Sanchez, who made just his fourth league start this term, had his loan deal from Manchester United extended earlier in the day until the end of the Italian season.

Brescia, who were again without Mario Balotelli due to an ongoing contract dispute, dropped to the foot of the table. They remain eight points from safety and are winless in 14 games.

ZLATAN RETURNS

SPAL surrendered a two-goal lead and squandered two precious points in their fight against relegation as a 94th-minute own goal by Francesco Vicari gifted Milan a late equalizer in a 2-2 draw.

First-half goals from Mattia Valoti and Sergio Floccari, the second a magnificent dipping 30-yard strike, put SPAL on top but the home side lost Marco D'Alessandro to a red card before half-time for a poor challenge on Theo Hernandez.

Zlatan Ibrahimovic returned to action for the first time since Italian football's restart following a calf injury, replacing the in-form Ante Rebic on the hour, but it was another substitute Rafael Leao who gave Milan hope with a calm finish on 79 minutes.

SPAL coach Luigi Di Biagio was sent to the stands after two yellow cards in quick succession and could only watch in despair as a lunging Vicari diverted a cross into his own net right at the death.

Milan stayed seventh despite the late fightback.

Novak & wife test corona -ve

BELGRADE: Novak Djokovic and his wife have tested negative for the coronavirus, his media team said on Thursday, 10 days after announcing they had contracted the virus.

The top-ranked player tested positive for the virus after playing in an exhibition series he organized in Serbia and Croatia amid the pandemic. "Novak Djokovic and his wife Jelena are negative for Covid-19. That was shown by the results of the PCR tests that both had in Belgrade," his
