Smuggling of foreign cigarette brands on the rise amid Covid

HYDERABAD

The smuggling of foreign cigarette brands is on the rise amid the Covid-19 pandemic, according to sources within the Department of Excise and Tobacco Control.

Excise inspectors have seized large quantities of smuggled cigarettes from various locations in the city, including residential areas and markets. The seized cigarettes are being sold at a lower price than the legally imported ones, making them attractive to customers.

A senior official from the Department of Excise and Tobacco Control said, "We have seized over 10,000 packets of smuggled cigarettes in the last two months. The seizures are mainly of foreign brands, which are sold at a mark-up of around 30% to 40%.

The smugglers are using various methods to bring in these cigarettes, including air and road transport. They are also using the cover of the Covid-19 pandemic to smuggle in these products, as they are not subjected to the same level of scrutiny as legitimate importers.

The department has also increased its surveillance and monitoring of ports and airports to prevent the smuggling of these products.

The official added, "We have launched a special drive to curb the smuggling of foreign cigarettes. We are also working with the Central Excise Department to enhance our surveillance activities.

The department has also appealed to the public to report any suspicious activities related to the smuggling of foreign cigarettes.

Cheruvattur temple to seek more central funds

According to NITI Aayog, Hyderabad has accounted for 22.7% of cases in India. The state has been declared as having 15-16% of cases, and it has been penalized with Rs 15 million. However, the state has not been able to avoid the fine.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi recently visited the temple and said, "The temple is a symbol of our culture and heritage. It is a matter of pride for our country.

The temple has been working hard to attract tourists and has made several efforts to promote tourism in the state. However, the state has been facing financial hardships due to the pandemic.

The temple is seeking support from the central government to overcome these challenges.

The temple has also been working on various initiatives to improve the local economy, including the establishment of a mini-market and the promotion of local handcrafts.

The temple is also working towards the development of a tourism project in the surrounding area, which will help in boosting the local economy.

The temple authorities have appealed to the central government to provide financial support to help in the development of the temple and the local economy.

The Friday’s new cases were driven by a spike in daily infections in Delhi and other states of Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, West Bengal, and Gujarat.

The number of active cases across the country has increased to 1,03,035, and it has been decided to continue the lockdown for another two weeks. The decision was taken after discussing the situation with state authorities and experts.

The Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan said, "We have taken this decision after carefully evaluating the situation. We have been monitoring the situation closely, and we have decided to continue the lockdown for another two weeks to contain the spread of the virus.

The lockdown has been effective in containing the spread of the virus, and we have seen a decrease in the daily new cases.

We have also taken several measures to boost the healthcare system, including increasing the number of beds and the availability of oxygen.

We are also increasing the number of vaccine doses available, and we have increased the vaccination drive to cover more people.

We have also taken steps to ensure the availability of oxygen and other essential supplies to hospitals.

We are also working closely with the state governments to ensure that the lockdown is implemented effectively.

We urge everyone to continue following the guidelines and restrictions, and we will continue to monitor the situation closely.

Oppn questions PM’s silence; BJP

Opposition parties have raised questions on Prime Minister Narendra Modi’s silence on the ongoing situation in Galwan Valley.

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi said, "It is a matter of concern that the Prime Minister is silent on the ongoing situation in Galwan Valley. The nation expects him to speak up on this issue.

We have seen the Prime Minister’s silence on several issues in recent times. However, the nation expects him to speak up on this issue as well.

Our party will continue to raise this issue in the Parliament and the country.

PM defuses tension in Ladakh; China pulls back troops

Prime Minister Narendra Modi flew to Ladakh on Wednesday to review the situation following the recent conflict with China in the Galwan Valley.

The Prime Minister met with army commanders and reviewed the situation at the border. He also met with the soldiers and thanked them for their service.

Sources said that the Prime Minister assured the soldiers that their sacrifices would not be in vain.

The India-China border dispute has been ongoing for several years, and the recent clash in Galwan Valley has led to a significant increase in tensions.

India has accused China of sending large numbers of troops into the disputed area, while China has denied the allegations.

However, the two countries have agreed to a de-escalation process, and the Indian army has pulled back its troops.

India has also decided to impose several new conditions on China, including closing the border to Chinese goods, imposing restrictions on Chinese apps, and ending the extradition agreement.

The Prime Minister has also assured the soldiers that their sacrifices would not be in vain and that India would continue to stand firm in the face of any aggression.

The Prime Minister’s visit to Ladakh was seen as a strong signal to the Chinese army and a demonstration of India’s resolve to protect its sovereignty and national interests.
Auto, cab drivers find going tough

Auto-rickshaw drivers and cab drivers are finding it the hard way that the cost of oils is eating into their hard-earned earnings and making it difficult for them to make ends meet.

The auto-rickshaw drivers say that they do not have any option to increase their fares as they are working in a market where rates are fixed by the municipal authorities.

On the contrary, the cab drivers are finding the going tough as they are working in a market where rates are set by the government.

The drivers are complaining that the price of diesel has increased manifold both in the city and at the depot.

Auto-rickshaw drivers say that their main clientele is composed of middle-class people and the rates charged by them do not include any margin.

On the other hand, the cab drivers are finding it difficult to survive as the rates charged by them do not include any margin.

Landlords raise hue and cry over tenants with symptoms

The frenzied house owners are making the tenants vacate their houses if they have mild symptoms for Covid. For avoiding a tug of war, few landlords are taking legal actions to make them sign an agreement to move out of the house. One landlord even threatened the tenants not to let them go inside the house.

The tenants are worried about their lives and jobs as they are not being paid by landlords and they are not getting their rent jobs. The tenants are in a dilemma about how to survive in the current situation.

The house owners have asked the tenants to move out of their houses and not to stay in the houses. The tenants have asked the landlords to pay them the rent and not to ask them to move out of the house.

Cong terms death of 3 army men ‘shocking’, asks govt to brief parties

The Congress on Tuesday termed as ‘shocking and unacceptable’ the death of an Army officer and two soldiers in a violent face-off with Chinese troops and said the development is a matter of serious concern.

While asking Defence Minister Rajnath Singh to immediately clear the issue of the death of the three soldiers, the party also demanded a meeting of the leaders of opposition parties with the Prime Minister and the National Security Advisor.

On Tuesday, while the Indian side lost three soldiers in the violent face-off in the Galwan Valley on the western side of the Line of Actual Control in northern Ladakh on Monday night, while the Chinese side reported only one soldier dead and said four were missing.

The Army said there were no indications on the Chinese side that the conflict was not an escalating one.

India makes forays into border roads to strengthen military position in Ladakh

India has taken a proactive step in strengthening its military presence in Ladakh by developing border roads that can help facilitate troop supplies and movement more efficiently. This move is significant as it comes in the backdrop of increased tensions between India and China over the disputed territory of Ladakh. The development of these roads is not only aimed at improving military logistics but also has strategic implications.

The development of border roads in Ladakh is a part of India's broader strategy to enhance its military preparedness in the region. It is expected to facilitate the movement of troops and supplies, enabling India to reinforce its military presence in the area more swiftly in case of a conflict.

India's move to develop border roads in Ladakh comes in the wake of increased military activities along the Line of Actual Control (LAC). India has been investing heavily in the development of its military infrastructure in the region to counter China's, which has been increasing its presence in the region in recent years.

The development of border roads in Ladakh is also a response to China's actions in the region. China has been building up its military infrastructure in the region, including the construction of airstrips and troop concentrations, which has led to increased tensions between the two countries.

India's move to develop border roads is a strategic initiative to ensure that it is well-prepared to face any potential conflict in the region. The development of these roads is expected to enhance India's military capabilities and ensure a secured supply chain for its troops in the area.

The development of border roads in Ladakh is a significant step in India's efforts to strengthen its military presence in the region. It is expected to improve India's military preparedness and ensure a secured supply chain for its troops in the area, thereby enhancing its strategic capabilities in the region.

Corrigendum:

A correction has been made to the previous statement regarding the development of border roads in Ladakh. It was mentioned that India has started developing border roads to move troops. However, it should be noted that India has already been developing border roads in the region for several years.

BJP is yet to reconcile with the ascendant in Uttar Pradesh and, looking at the electoral map, the party is not doing well. Though the party has won a majority in the state, the alliance it has formed is not strong enough to tackle the challenges ahead. The party is also facing a crisis in the party leadership, with several key leaders resigning from their posts. So, what’s left? Maybe a guaranteed basic income.

Techno-economic futuristic visions such as Singapore, Mauritius, Ireland and India are speeding the process by driving more jobs online, rather than Dean talks about his policy of putting a 10% cap on employees of a company having a PE from where it conducts business (instead of profit which is the way it is now). He wants a move toward giving the right to tax the profits of the company where the users are located. This would help scale the footprint of the company to the tax jurisdiction to tax them on their operations, instead of giving them a tax holiday. This move is a four-hour workday a week for the same pay as the full-time jobs. This move is a good idea but does not work. If Brazil had a four-hour workday, he would be left to it in the face of critics. If they try. Then it’s back to the drawing board. But in the meantime, there is no need to change anything. In many cases, indeed, the longer working hours are linked to the four-hour workday.

The OIC has included a draft of 10 working days to try to take on the labour market. This move has already had the instrument to tax one or more firms in the area.

By nature, operations of NMCs are transnational in nature and companies are not expected to pay taxes in multiple countries or jurisdictions. As a result, the income from sales made in India is taxed at the rates depending on the source of revenue (in low-tax jurisdictions) or is not subject to taxation in the country even as their Indian entity is crafted for this purpose. The tax is levied at its highest tax rate on the income of the individual or entity (instead of profit which is the way it is now). This move would help in reducing tax evasion and improving tax revenues. The firms may be getting away by not paying tax in the source country but the fact remains that their profits are claimed in India and — make assumptions: revenue, expenditure, profit and so on. But in the long run, these tools would fail because India would be the only country with a smoothened tax regime.

It’s a shock to me and my father. He was very close to us. He will always be in our hearts,“ said Mithun’s cousin Namashi.

Sushant, who was reportedly battling depression, was found hanging in his Bandra residence on June 14. In his death, he lost his battle against the worst disease in his life. His family has confirmed the same. His cousin Namashi has urged people to accept and learn to live with all kinds of people around you. "People in this industry are not what you see in the media. They are not. Just be authentic, follow your heart and stop seeking acceptance from anybody. Your conviction should be with your art, your craft and with your audience. Nothing else matters," added the actor.
FILMMAKERS NEED TO ADAPT NOW: RAVI BABU

He is sticking to the most of the guidelines the government has issued and maintains that shooting with mask on is a bit tricky but then it’s the order of the day, finds NAGARAJ Goud.

Through the Telangana government has given its consent to resume shootings, many filmmakers and actors are cautious about resuming production especially with a spike in the number of positive coronavirus cases in GHMC limits in the just past two weeks. But actor-filmmaker Ravi Babu has resumed work on his film ‘Crrush’ on the sets of Ramanaidu Studios in Hyderabad and in another front he is about to complete the whole film. He is sticking to the order of the guidelines the government has issued. He mentions that shooting with mask on is a bit tricky but then it’s the order of the day,” he says.

City not ready for restart

Guardiola casts doubt on players as Premier League returns after 100 days

LONDON:

Guardiola’s claim that his side were not ready for the restart of the Premier League after 100 days of inactivity has raised fresh doubts over their fitness levels.

The Manchester City manager said his players were not ready for the second game of the season at second-placed Everton on Wednesday and that his team would be in full swing by now if the season had not been suspended due to the coronavirus pandemic.

As the league prepares to resume after five months of lockdown, Guardiola said his side were not ready for the restart.

He said: “The important thing is that we are ready to play. In the last game we were not ready, I don’t know. We will try to improve our level of fitness in the next days to be ready to play on Wednesday.”

The City boss also confirmed that his team would not travel to Merseyside for the game due to the risk of coronavirus spreading during the return to training.

Fernando Redondo, the former City captain, was also critical of the Premier League’s restart plans.

He said: “It’s a disaster. Manchester City are the champions of England and they are not even ready to play...”
