Those casting evil on Indian soil in Ladakh have got befitted response

Chief Minister Jai Ram Vyas claimed that efforts are being made to remove him from power, but his actions have proved that they will not be successful.

He further added that "the entire process has been going on in a systematic and organized manner, with the help of all available resources and strategies. The BJP is committed to ensuring that the people of India are not subjected to any form of discrimination or oppression."

Vyas also expressed his gratitude to the people of Ladakh for their support and solidarity in the face of this challenge.

"The people of Ladakh have been a source of inspiration to us all," he said. "Their courage and determination have enabled us to face this crisis head-on, and we will continue to stand by them through thick and thin."

Vyas also thanked the armed forces for their tireless efforts in ensuring India's sovereignty and territorial integrity. "Their sacrifices and commitment have allowed us to strengthen our resolve to protect our nation," he said.

He concluded by assuring the people of Ladakh that the BJP will continue to work tirelessly for their welfare and development, and that they will be supported in every way possible.

PM Modi reviewed the preparations for the G20 summit, which is scheduled to take place in India in 2023. The summit is expected to bring together leaders from around the world to discuss key global issues.

Modi expressed his commitment to ensuring that India is well-prepared for the summit, and that it will be a success in showcasing the country's strengths and capabilities.

He highlighted the importance of cooperation and collaboration among countries in addressing global challenges, such as climate change and poverty.

Modi also emphasized the need to promote economic growth and development, and to create opportunities for all citizens.

"It is essential that we work together to create a better world for all," he said. "India is ready to contribute to this goal, and we look forward to working with our partners to achieve this vision.

The Prime Minister also thanked the people of India for their support and cooperation, and assured them that the government will continue to work towards their welfare and development.

He concluded by expressing his confidence in the country's ability to overcome any challenges and to continue moving forward on the path of progress and development.

Crying shame

The brutal custodial death of two men in Tamil Nadu has given us our five-minute moment. Book enroute, now.

We urge the state police to make this one a lesson, and not be lax in its approach. The recent spate of custodial deaths in the state has only been a reminder of the deep-rooted issues in the administration and the justice system. The state government must take immediate action to ensure that such incidents do not recur.

Shankar Singh

The chief minister of Tamil Nadu, in his recent visit to the state, has assured the people of his government’s commitment to ensure the safety and security of all citizens. However, the recent custodial death of two men in Tamil Nadu has raised questions about the state’s ability to deliver on these promises.

This incident is not an isolated one, and it highlights the need for a systemic change in the way the police and other law enforcement agencies operate. The state must take immediate action to ensure that such incidents do not recur.

The Migrant Commission announced by the UP Govt will not only pull the State out of poverty, it will also restore dignity to the jobless workers.

NACIKA KAPOOR

India's largest State, the Uttar Pradesh (UP) has been hit by a wave of economic hardship due to the pandemic. The state's economy, which was already struggling to keep pace with the rest of the country, has been further battered by the lockdowns and restrictions put in place to control the spread of COVID-19.

As a result, the unemployment rate in UP has surged to an all-time high, with millions of workers losing their jobs. The situation is particularly严峻 in rural areas, where many workers have been forced to leave their homes in search of work in urban areas.

US cases top 2.5m, reopenings paused

As cases surge, rural areas see increases as well

Washington: For many states and the United States as a whole, the dark clouds parted for a moment last week. Daily reported case numbers were down, as was the number of hospitalizations and deaths, in places that appeared to have come around a corner from a second surge of infections, as winter sets in and states relax their restrictions.

While much of the focus of the complaints of the United States is economic, this is also a country that has been in a row that the daily increase as of Saturday, the second day of a phased approach to reopening, allowed some counties to do all the things we love in spring. Washington Post.

A untitled version of the dramatic pandemic in April unfolded on March 1, with a figure was 211. As cases rise, the average for daily new cases hovers around 1 per cent, the low-end figure of the past few days.

The number of COVID-19 cases in the US has surged to over 2.5 million, as the country's containment efforts are being overshadowed by the rise in the number of infections, prompting more states to consider reopening their economies and to impose stricter restrictions to curb the virus spread.

As of Sunday morning, the number of deaths has risen to over 127,772, according to Johns Hopkins University. The tally currently accounts for the world's highest total in terms of cases and fatalities.

More than 240,000 new cases were reported nationwide this week, with more than 10,000 new cases reported in the past 24 hours, raising concerns about a resurgence.

The star captioned the video, which has been such an amazing on-screen collaboration, "Ek baar karo Aarya ka!" as she shared about Aarya, which has been such an experience for her. She has given a lot of credit to her colleagues.

"Aarya has got some amazing lines to throw around. Seeing Sushmita lead the show so confidently, it feels like we are part of her adventure. I am happy to be a part of this series, and I am looking forward to the next season," said Sushmita.

"I am happy to be a part of this series, and I am looking forward to the next season," said Sushmita.

"What is the secret to the success of Aarya? It is in the wood castle and sometimes we obviously feel like we are in the middle of the woods. But when we are working as a team, we feel like we are in a cast or a movie set. The atmosphere is very natural, and we have a very good chemistry with each other. It is a very pleasant experience to work with such talented actors," said Sushmita.

Salman Khan, who has been a part of the show, praised the entire cast and crew. He said, "The cast and crew have worked very hard to make this show a success. The story, the characters, the chemistry, everything is in perfect sync. I am really happy to be a part of this show."

Women’s game needs investment, not dubious innovations!

"You’re coming from country stuck in the dark ages, stuck in some backwater where women aren’t allowed to play. You are a lot more fortunate. If you were brought up like I was, you’d be at my place crying that you aren’t allowed to play. I was brought up with passion, but I will always be grateful to my father for giving me that love and passion."
