Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik on Friday wrote a letter to Prime Minister Narendra Modi suggesting that the Central Government consider converting the Nabaranga Temple in Bhubaneswar into an isolation centre for COVID-19 patients.

The temple, which is a prominent landmark of the city, is relevant for this purpose as it is sufficiently big, spacious, and has all kinds of other facilities.

Patnaik wrote, "The temple has been close to the hearts of the people of Odisha for many years and there is no lack of willpower among the devotees to establish this temple as an isolation centre.

This move is expected to be a temporary measure until the ongoing situation is controlled.

Patnaik added, "The temple has been closed for the last one week as the prediction of the situation was that the high population of the city will not accept such a proposal. However, the present situation is such that we need to take this step for the safety of the people of Odisha.

This move will also be beneficial for the devotees of the temple as they will be able to perform their religious rituals in a safe environment.

The temple will be used as an isolation centre for COVID-19 patients, and all necessary arrangements will be made by the temple management.

The temple will be closed for the devotees during the period of isolation, and only necessary personnel will be allowed inside the temple to perform their duties.

The temple management will be responsible for the security and maintenance of the temple, and the devotees will be able to perform their religious rituals in a safe and secure environment.

Embrace discursive excitement.

Sir — It was indeed surprising and disheartening to read your column "What can I learn from the ethics of the market"? As a medical student, I find it difficult to reconcile the actions of some of the pharmaceutical companies that market essential medications at exorbitant prices — a concept that is foreign to me. However, I find it hard to understand how the ethical principles of the market can be applied to healthcare, where the ultimate goal is to save lives. The recent surge in drug prices has raised concerns about the affordability of medications for patients. It is crucial to address this issue to ensure that healthcare is accessible to all.

Economic package to be announced: FM

PTI NEW DELHI

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Friday said that the government will soon announce an economic package to deal with the coronavirus pandemic. "Our package will be unveiled," the minister said while addressing a press conference here.

The minister, however, did not provide any timeline when the package will be unveiled. "We are in talks with respect to more support for the aviation industry, animal husbandry sector and others," she said after the announcement.

The package will focus on the aviation sector and the animal husbandry sector. A government official told PTI that the package will be for a period of 24 hours.

On Thursday, Prime Minister Narendra Modi in an address to the nation had said that the government is setting up an economic task force to come up with a road map for sectors that need immediate relief.

Sitharaman said the task force has been formed and it would come up with a list of regulations which will also set up the ministerial stakeholders with their share of the blame.

The government will also focus on sectors that are not giving any timeline by when the 'curfew' would be in force.

"We are compiling their suggestions, and once we are finalised, we will implement them," she said.

Moreover, as the airline has announced drastic measures to contain the spread of coronavirus, Sitharaman said the task force announced on Saturday to conduct a micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs) consultation with their stakeholders amid the coronavirus outbreak.

"As a micro, small and medium enterprise, you are not only helping the national economy but also helping the country to contain the spread of the disease," the minister said.

"As and when the market needs it, we will flex our muscles, and if we have to do anything, we have to do it," he said.

According to the minister, 60 per cent of its domestic airline will be operating approximately 60 per cent of its non-domestic flights.

China reports no new domestic cases for 2nd day
Beijing says Trump trying to ‘shift blame’ for pandemic

China has gone 48 hours without reporting any new local COVID-19 cases, official media reported, as US President Donald Trump on Friday accused Beijing of covering up the true severity of the coronavirus and said he would ‘shift the blame’ for the global outbreak to China.

Mr Trump made the comments in a tweet on Friday, a day after China said it had not had a single new domestic case for the second day in a row.

He called the coronavirus a “pandemic that started in China”, and said that “they covered it up, they knew right from the beginning”, although no evidence has been shown to support this claim.

China said it had no new local cases in the past 48 hours, following just two cases on Thursday, adding it had received considerable praise from the World Health Organization (WHO) for bringing the virus under control.

President Xi Jinping has called for China to ‘act with a strong sense of mission’ in the fight against the virus.

In a tweet, Mr Trump said: “China said it discovered the virus before it wanted to cover it up. Wrong. China had it from a while before it wanted to cover it up. They knew right from the beginning.”

“China has been criticized for its slow response. The country running, “ Macron said.

French President’s comments came in response to Mr Trump’s tweet earlier Friday, issuing messages that blamed China for its slow response. The country running, “ Macron said.

In May, French President Emmanuel Macron urged employees to keep working in France to overcome the pandemic. He said that “we are running, “ Macron said.
