As workers head home on foot, States to provide food, shelter

A mid brainstem startling memories of the East and West, in the hands of millions of migrants and refugees, a wave, a flood, a current, a flow, a stream, a river, a sea.

Help migrants to prevent...

In an address to all States and UTs, the Ministry of Home Affairs has suggested that in order to manage the movement of stranded workers, particularly vulnerable to COVID-19, States and UTs need to utilize electronic pass systems, including IMs, to provide food and shelter with standardization of food, water and sanitation.

The Ministry also added that the States and UTs need to establish proper record-keeping, accommodate, hostels, etc., to manage the movement of these essential workers.

Movement of essential goods OK'd

The Delhi Police Commissioner, SN Srivastava on Friday issued an order approving the smooth delivery of essential goods, announcing an emergency movement of essential goods, and setting up of a control cell to ensure seamless flow of information.

On Friday the CP has been issued an order complying with the guidelines given by the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA). The MHA has said that police will have to ensure supply of essential items for the nation does not get affected.

The Delhi Police order has been forwarded to all the zonal CP's, JPs and Ad CPs of Delhi. They will follow the Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) that was given by MHA on Thursday, the order stated.

To prevent the spread of coronavirus, people must ensure social distancing while maintaining the supply of essential goods. Under the MHA's order, employees handling with groceries, vegetables, fruits, dairy products, meat, animal fodder, seeds and pet products will be allowed.

It is also mentioned that some delivery of paint, paper, stationery and medical equipment is also operational.

On March 24th and 25th, 23097 wagons were loaded for essential commodities. The official further said that a close coordination is being maintained with the State Governments so that rakes of essential commodities are handled seamlessly without any delay.

"The Delhi Police staff deployed in various stations, Indian Railways staff deployed at various goods stations, stations and control offices is working on 24/7 basis to ensure that the supply of essential items to the nation does not get affected," the official said.

"To ensure supply of essential items, we have formed a control cell to ensure seamless flow of information. The cell comprises of officials from Railway administration, local railway division, state governments so that a close coordination is maintained to ensure that the essential commodities take place in different zones, he added.

The civic body has also released a list mentioning the number of rakes conveying essential goods to each zone to collect commodities from different parts of the country. The list includes essential goods such as vegetables, 24244 wagons of essential goods, 1200 wagons of essential goods, 1444 wagons of essential goods, 2322 wagons of essential goods and 168 wagons of essential goods.

The official further said that a close coordination is being maintained with the State Governments to ensure that rakes of essential commodities are handled seamlessly without any delay.

A senior SDMC official said that all the people will be trained to conduct a disinfection of quarantine facility with protective gear. The civic body has also identified a community centre in each zone to collect migratory people from quarantine facilities. The ministry has also instructed to use fogging machines to spray mixture of disinfectants and water.
The Prime Minister, in his letter to the governors and lieutenant governors of all the states, said that the moment was crucial and urged the states to take all necessary measures to contain the pandemic.

"There was a need to prevent the disease from spreading, which would have a devastating impact on the healthcare system," he said.

"We are facing a pandemic with many unknowns. It is crucial that we work together and act quickly to protect our people," he added.

The Prime Minister also thanked the states for their efforts in battling the pandemic.

"I am confident that with the support of our people and the state governments, we will overcome this crisis," he said.
Kerala IAS officer sick with coronavirus, traced in UP, suspected of being in TN

Kerala IAS officer who tested positive for coronavirus has been traced to Tamil Nadu, where he was seen attending a religious event.

The officer, who is a 32-year-old male, had travelled to Tamil Nadu on March 19 to attend a religious event. He had tested positive for coronavirus in Kerala on March 22.

The Tamil Nadu health department has confirmed that the officer was seen at a temple in theicut, where he had attended a religious event. The officer had been in contact with several people at the temple, including other officers from the Kerala government.

The Tamil Nadu health department has called for a comprehensive investigation into the case, as the officer had not followed the guidelines for self-isolation and quarantine.

The officer was last seen in Tamil Nadu on March 21, and he had been in contact with several people since then. The Tamil Nadu health department has said that all the people he had come into contact with will be isolated and tested for coronavirus.

The Tamil Nadu health department has also advised all officials to follow the guidelines for self-isolation and quarantine to prevent the spread of coronavirus.

The officer is currently under isolation and quarantine in a government hospital in Tamil Nadu.

The Kerala government has said that it is investigating the case and will take appropriate action.

This is to refer to the editorial, “That foolishness” (March 26) and the key political figure for the Afghanis. Though the program is a little too early in some parts of the country, it is a positive move towards the restoration of normalcy. The campaign aims to help the people in rural areas and those affected by the war.

The program is a step in the right direction and will go a long way in improving the lives of the people in Afghanistan. The government has taken a bold step in this regard and we hope it will bear fruit in the near future.

We, the citizens of Afghanistan, are grateful to the government for taking this initiative and hope it will continue to work towards the welfare of the people.

Yours sincerely,

A Peace-Oriented Approach

Sir,\n

I am writing this letter in response to the article “That foolishness” (March 26) which criticizes the government’s efforts to bring peace to Afghanistan. I strongly disagree with the author’s views and believe that the government’s approach is necessary for the sake of the country.

The government has been working tirelessly to achieve peace in Afghanistan and has taken several steps to this end. The government has been engaging in talks with the Taliban and other militant groups to find a solution that will benefit all Afghans.

In my opinion, the government’s efforts are not enough and more needs to be done. The situation in Afghanistan is grave and the government should not rest until peace is achieved.

I urge the government to continue its efforts and work towards the goal of peace.

Yours sincerely,

While some of the relief measures announced by the FM are just financial juggleries, the remaining items offer some concrete benefits to the poor.

MARKET BENCHMARK REACHES 52-WEEK HIGH

AF

Apache Market Research Benchmark, a mix of 100 Indian stocks, rose more than 3 per cent and hit a 52-week high in the short five-day winning run due to degloving growth, especially momentum on loans and interest so far in its fourth week in its monetary policy.

However, stock lost steam after hitting the 52-week high while the broad-based NSE Sensex index rose 0.5 per cent, with 27 closing gap above 3 figures in shorting.

P romoting is a daunting task for all of us, and that's why several bands along the coast of India have got together to offer advice on the child-touching each of them personally to understand their audiences. In this age of instant messaging and text, the job has never been easier. But Sandhya Mridul, the singer, says "Being a working mother and a wife, successful in one's career or in the house is not easy. A successful mother is a working mother and a wife is not easy. A working mother is a cooking mother as well." The singer has been associated with filmmakers like Karthik Kohli, Abhishek Chaubey, Yuvan Shankar Raja and Vishal Bhardwaj for her singing. She has also worked with Sanjay Dutt in lines like "Hey darling, you look so hot," and with Shah Rukh Khan in Australia, he said, "The last time I took a train, it was to work on music, and now I wake up early, give myself a lift and go to work. I have changed myself and my routine completely." The singer said, "I have to put in a lot of effort to keep myself healthy. I try to eat healthy food, keep myself in shape and exercise too. This is not something I enjoy, but it has become a way of keeping my larger family together." Speaking about mental health, she said, "In the early years of my career, I was more serious and philosophical. I will continue to do the same and stay true to myself." The singer added, "All the changes that have taken place in the last few years have made a huge impact which really shook the industry. It's a huge step, but it was very steady. A lot of people will now know that they need to be more original. They not only want to create something new, but they want to be original. This is the trend of the moment. We cannot do it the same way as the previous season." The singer also confirmed that she would continue to sing and write her own music, but she will continue to work with the current trends and new approaches to singing. She said, "That's something I think about all the time. I have to be in sync with the moment and the music that I want to create." The singer added, "When I was young, I used to think about how to please the audience, but now, I think about how to create something new." The singer also mentioned about the current music scene and the remix trend, and said, "I think everyone is doing it for the same reason, to create something new. But people are getting tired of it. The original songs are getting mixed up and it's becoming difficult to please the audience." The singer also mentioned about her journey as a person, talking about the mental struggles she has been through. She said, "I have been struggling with bipolar disorder and alcoholism. I have been through a lot, but I am happy now. I have been working on myself and I have been doing a lot of work to keep myself healthy." The singer also mentioned about her work with Anu Malik, who she worked with in the album 'Mango'. She said, "I really enjoyed working with Anu Malik. He is a great composer and he has a lot of talent."

Actress SANDHYA MRIDUL's character in the series Mentalhood stands out for her bold and outspoken attitude, says SAKSHI SHARMA

There was no preparation, I'll be lying if I say I prepared for it. I am not a method actor. I always flow with the script and what the other actors are giving. Though subconsciously there is mental preparation of the lines dealing with the sensitivity involved. That's all.

That's something that I think about all the time. I have to be in sync with the moment and the music that I want to create. When I was young, I used to think about how to please the audience, but now, I think about how to create something new.

Singer LUKE BRYAN says that in the 18th edition of American Idol, the contestants would be able to add a new element each time with Team Vivian.

"How does he feel to be back on the third season of American Idol?"

I really enjoy playing with them. They are fun to have around. I think we get along well. We have a good time together. We work well together. We get to have fun with one another and watch those kids who are so remarkable as they sing. It's a great experience."

"How do you select the songs that you are going to get from this season of American Idol?"

We have to come up with each other every single day. The songwriting days are very long and hectic. I think our songwriters come up with great songs that we then select and put together. We work closely with them and respect what they bring to the show. It's great to work with them. We get to collaborate with each other and come up with creative ideas."

"Are there any particular songs that you are looking forward to doing this season?"

Well, the important thing is that all of them are important. It's not just about the songs. It's also about the interaction with the contestants and the way they feel about themselves and their performances. It's a team effort, and we all work together to make sure that the contestants are having fun and enjoying themselves."

People get offended too quickly: Honey Singh

Singer HONEY SINGH says that being away from the industry for a few years never made him miss it. He says, "I don't want to sound too arrogant, but I have always been a workaholic. I love working and making music."

The singer has been associated with filmmakers like Karthik Kohli, Abhishek Chaubey, Yuvan Shankar Raja and Vishal Bhardwaj for his music. He has also worked with Sanjay Dutt in lines like "Hey darling, you look so hot," and with Shah Rukh Khan in Australia. The singer said, "Early years of my career, I was more serious and philosophical. I will continue to do the same and stay true to myself. We cannot do it the same way as the previous season."

The singer also confirmed that she would continue to sing and write her own music, but she will continue to work with the current trends and new approaches to singing. She said, "That's something I think about all the time. I have to be in sync with the moment and the music that I want to create." The singer added, "When I was young, I used to think about how to please the audience, but now, I think about how to create something new." The singer also mentioned about the current music scene and the remix trend, and said, "I think everyone is doing it for the same reason, to create something new. But people are getting tired of it. The original songs are getting mixed up and it's becoming difficult to please the audience." The singer also mentioned about her journey as a person, talking about the mental struggles she has been through. She said, "I have been struggling with bipolar disorder and alcoholism. I have been through a lot, but I am happy now. I have been working on myself and I have been doing a lot of work to keep myself healthy." The singer also mentioned about her work with Anu Malik, who she worked with in the album 'Mango'. She said, "I really enjoyed working with Anu Malik. He is a great composer and he has a lot of talent."
M S Dhoni’s much-anticipated comeback with the IPL may go on hold if the ongoing super-spreader threat of the fast-spreading COVID-19 is not brought under control because it could mean another casualty for the World Cup.

Before this crisis started to unfold, there were several indications of how Dhoni, the nation’s cricketing icon, would have made his comeback. There were reports that he was being tracked by the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) for a comeback. However, he was not available for comments.

Dhoni’s return would certainly take place when the situation improves and it becomes safer to return to the field of play. The BCCI, which was planning a comeback for Dhoni, is also facing a lot of challenges due to the current situation.

“MS Dhoni’s comeback would certainly be a boost for the team and the fans. But it would have to be done in a safe and controlled manner. The current situation is not conducive for anything major to happen,” said a senior BCCI official.

Dhoni, who is currently leading his side in the Indian Super League (ISL), has not played for India for over a year now. He has been out with a wrist injury and has not played for the country since the 2019 World Cup. His return would be a welcome sight for the country’s cricketing community.

However, the BCCI is also aware of the challenges that come with the return of the superstars. The country needs to ensure that the safety and health of the players are not compromised.

“Dhoni’s return would be a great boost for the team. But it would have to be done in a safe and controlled manner. The current situation is not conducive for anything major to happen,” said a senior BCCI official.

ITC’s decision to implement a series of measures is a step in the right direction. The BCCI is also working closely with the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) to ensure that the safety and health of the players are not compromised.

“ITC has decided to implement a series of measures to ensure the safety and health of the players. We will work closely with the IOA to ensure that the safety and health of the players are not compromised,” said a senior BCCI official.

The all-powerful KXIP, Board on Friday discussed various contingencies including the postponement of World Cup 2020 and IPL due to the possibility of the coronavirus pandemic that has brought cricket to a near standstill.

India’s sports minister, who was present at the meeting, said that the BCCI would continue to work on various fronts to ensure the safety and health of the players.

“I want to assure all our stakeholders that we are doing everything in our power to ensure that the safety and health of the players are not compromised. We will continue to work on various fronts to ensure that the safety and health of the players are not compromised,” said the sports minister.

The BCCI has already taken several steps to ensure the safety and health of the players. The Board has also advised the players to follow the guidelines given by the Indian Medical Association (IMA) and the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare.
