Focus on labourers, migrants/farm workers; ₹50L insurance for 20L health-sanitation workers

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Centre on Thursday unveiled a '1.7 lakh crore relief package for the weaker section of the society to deal with the impact of the three-week nationwide lockdown due to the coronavirus outbreak. However, there was nothing for the corporate sector that has taken a big hit due to the pandemic.

The economic package to help migrant workers, labourers, poor and agricultural workers, and others will come into effect immediately. "It has been made to reach out to the most vulnerable sections of the society who are in need of immediate help because of the economic disruption," said Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman.

Minister of State for Finance & Corporate Affairs Anurag Thakur was present, besides Atanu Chakraborty, Secretary, Department of Economic Affairs and Debashish Panda, Secretary, Department of Financial Services. Sitharaman also announced direct cash transfers for a large number of affected people, including senior citizens, widows, farmers and daily-wage labourers.

As per the package, health and sanitation workers will be insured for '50 lakh per person. This will cover nearly 20 lakh persons.

"Safai karmcharis, ward boys, nurses, paramedics, technicians, doctors and specialists, and others' health would be covered by a special insurance scheme. Any health professional who while treating Covid-19 patients meets with some accident, then he/she would be compensated

CUSHION AGAINST FINANCIAL PROBLEMS

- 8.3 crore BPL Ujjwala Yojana beneficiaries will be given free cylinders for the next three months.
- 80 crore poor people will get 5 kg wheat or rice and 1 kg of preferred pulses for free every month for the next three months
- 20 crore women Jan Dhan account holders to get ₹500 per month for next three months
- Increase in MNREGA wage to ₹202 a day from ₹182 to benefit 13.62 crore families
- An ex-gratia of ₹1,000 to 3 crore poor senior citizen, poor widows and poor disabled

- Central Government has given orders to State Governments to use Building and Construction Workers Welfare Fund to provide relief to Construction Workers with an amount of '50 lakh under the scheme," stated the Government Press release.

The package says that under Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Anna Yojana 80 crore poor people will get 5 kg per person rice/wheat each month for the next 3 months in addition to 5kg of rice/wheat that they already get. Besides, 1kg of pulse according to regional preference for each household.

In a big relief to the rural women, the package says that 8.3 crore BPL Ujjwala Yojana beneficiaries will be given free cylinders for the next three months. During this period, a maximum of three gas cylinders will be provided. The move comes two days after Prime Minister Narendra Modi ordered a 21-day nationwide lockdown.

Most of the financial benefits will be routed through the DBT scheme into the Jan Dhan account of the beneficiaries. In case, they don't have such accounts, the Government will make alternative arrangement to provide them financial relief. Sitharaman announced that daily wages under the MNREGA have been increased to '202 a day from '182. This will benefit nearly 5 crore families, Sitharaman said. Under the Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Yojana, farmers will get '2,000 in April. This is expected to cover 8.7 crore families. The total amount distributed is estimated to be '16,000 crore.

In addition, a total of 20.40 crore PM JAN Dhan Yojana women account-holders will be given ex-gratia of '500 per month for next three months.

"This will help them run their household during this difficult period. For this purpose, the Government of India will spend '31,000 crore," Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman said. Amid clamour for relief to low-wage earners in the unorganised sector who face a gloomy scenario due to the lockdown, the Government has decided to pay 24 per cent of their monthly wages into their Provident Fund accounts for the next three months.

"Wage earners below '15,000 per month in businesses having less than 100 workers are at risk of losing their employment," the Government said, adding that the assistance would help prevent "disruption in their employment". The package also hopes to provide succour to senior citizens, widows and divyangs, numbering 3 crore. "The Government will give them Rs 1,000 to tide over difficulties during next three months. '3,000 crore has been provided for this purpose in the PM Garib Kalyan Package," the Finance Minister said.

As per the Government's decision, the Employees' Provident Fund Regulations will be amended to include 'pandemic' as the reason to allow non-recoverable advance of 75 per cent of the amount or three months of the wages, whichever is lower, from their accounts.

AS CORONA TESTING RATIO TOO LOW, ASSESSMENT HAS LONG WAY TO GO

ARCHANA JYOTI/TN
RAGHUNATHA ■ NEW DELHI

With just around 25,000 samples tested from around 24,000 individuals so far, India with a billion plus population has to go a long way in assessing the true extent of coronavirus spread.

The test size is being considered as one of the lowest in the world on population yardstick. Various reports as well as the World Health Organisation (WHO) has been insisting on "test, test and test" asserting lockdown is not complete solution to combat the virus which has infected over 700 people and killed 15 so far in India.

Compare India with the US, which has four times less population, on testing parameters. While only around 24,000 individuals have been tested in India, the number stands around 60,000 for the USA. WHO head Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus has been maintaining at various forum that "all countries should be able to test all suspected cases, they cannot fight this pandemic blindfolded."

On Thursday, the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) directed hospitals, including the private ones, to collect the nasal and throat swab samples of the suspected cases of COVID-19 in one VTM tube and transport them to the nearest testing laboratory in cold chain.

CM Hemant for helping every needy

PNS ■ RANCHI

After efforts by Chief Minister Hemant Soren meals were arranged for people of Jharkhand stuck in Delhi on Thursday. Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal said that the Deputy Commissioner of concerned district has been instructed to provide food to people of Jharkhand and Delhi Government is trying that no one stays hungry in Delhi. CM Hemant Soren thanked the Delhi CM for the same.

The Jharkhand CM was told by sharing a video that some people of Jharkhand, who work there, are stuck due to lockdown.

There is no food arrangement and even the situation of starvation has arrived. After information of the matter, Soren requested Kejriwal to provide the labourers help and said that he request all the people living outside Jharkhand to contact on 0651- 2282201 if needed. Proper help will be provided to every needy through the control room.

Meanwhile, the CM has assured the Chief Minister of Telangana that all 26 children of Telangana are safe in Sahebganj. The State government has directed the school management to take full care of the children. Deputy Commissioner Sahebganj has also been ordered to take further action keeping in mind the safety, health of children.

The Chief Minister was told that 26 children from Navodaya Vidyalaya Chopdandi, Karimnagar, Telangana had come for an educational stay at Navodaya Vidyalaya at Sahebganj. But, they could not return due to lockdown. In this context, the Chief Minister of Telangana requested Hemant Soren to look after the children.

The CM said on Thursday that he is grateful to those who are playing their important role in the fight against Corona. "Physicians, health workers, policemen, food supply departments and all the department officials, employees who are serving in this hour of crisis. Thanks to all of them. Disaster is a time of examination for the government. I am very confident that we, the public servants, will work with full dedication to keep the three and a half crore people safe, so that our country and State will also be safe."

It should be our endeavour to provide convenience to the rural and urban people of the State. At the time of this disaster, we have to give priority to public service and public safety," he said in a message.

Over 45K passengers, migrants screened

PNS ■ RANCHI

More than 45,000 people, including travellers and migrants from other states, have been screened in Jharkhand for COVID-19 so far and put in home quarantine after they were found asymptomatic, data compiled by the National Health Mission (NHM) revealed on Thursday.

While Jharkhand is among the few States in India that have not reported even a single case of Coronavirus so far, the health machinery here has been collecting samples of suspected patients every day. On Thursday, health officials collected samples of 27 suspects and seven of them tested negative. The lab test results of the remaining 20 samples are awaited, NHM officials said.

By now, samples of at least 137 suspects have been tested in Jharkhand, and none of them have come out positive. As per figures compiled by NHM, as many as 801 passengers have travelled to Jharkhand from Coronavirus-affected foreign countries, and 141 of them have passed the quarantine period of 28 days. None of the remaining passengers under observation have shown symptoms of the viral infection, health sources said.

The State has set up isolation centres at Government and private hospitals across Jharkhand. According to Government figures shared on Thursday, there are a total of 1469 beds in quarantine centres at various hospitals here. The State, at present, has two sample collection centres - Rajendra

Institute of Medical Sciences (RIMS) in Ranchi and Mahatma Gandhi Memorial (MGM) Hospital in Jamshedpur. While India has been in a lockdown since March 23 midnight, the death toll in the country rose to 13 and the number of cases increased to 649 on Thursday. COVID-19, a virus that was first reported in Wuhan City of China, has wreaked havoc across the globe. Some of the superpowers in world, including China and USA, have been struggling to tackle the emergency situation caused by lethal virus.

National Capital silenced

The Pioneer's Kushan Mitra drove around a desolate and deserted Delhi.

As someone who has called this city home for over the past three decades, this was unusual. Even on the days when much of the city shuts down, Republic Day or Independence Day, the city is still loud, abuzz and full of life.

On a normal Thursday afternoon in late-March with such fine weather, Connaught Place would be full of people, young couples stealing some moments, shoppers hunting for deals at Palika Bazaar, office workers out for a drink with colleagues at the countless bars and restaurants. Instead, the giant flagpole is bare, the streets deserted other than the policemen running the checkpoints and Palika Bazaar's entrances are locked.

This is not Delhi as anyone has ever known it in living memory, even those with memories of the 1965 and 1971 wars will tell you that while blackouts and curfews were common, this is unnatural.

The destitute and the homeless face a challenge like never before, with few people on the streets to give alms and restaurants and shops shut, they can't even acquire the limited rations that they used to earlier.

While various State Governments and the Centre have promised that people will not go hungry, when you ask the runaways in Connaught Place if they have heard anything they tell you they haven't.

Some private individuals like Arjun and Ambika Pandey are distributing food packets and other doing so with fruit, but in these times, small private contributions can never catch up to state machinery.

Outside the Inter-State Bus Terminal (ISBT) at Kashmiri gate, a place that is usually bustling with human traffic 24 hours a day, it is surreal to see the empty roads. There are some buses running, but only for essential workers as notified by the government. Migrants from Uttar and Pradesh and Bihar who are still trying to find a way home now that their daily-wage jobs have evaporated thanks to this gift from China, stand helpless around the bus station, although it must be noted that the air in this area, usually thick with diesel fumes is strangely clean. Among those left behind by India's economic growth of the past few decades, there is confusion and helplessness, but they are beginning to understand the gravity of the situation, but they know that they are, as the saying goes, caught between a rock and a hard place.

At popular destinations for local outings such as India Gate and Red Fort, the emptiness looks like the set of an apocalyptic movie rather than sites in an Indian city. There are some private vehicles around, but those are few and far between, mostly carrying officials and mediapersons. But we face an enemy whom we cannot see, whom we do not know how to defeat, indeed nobody in the world knows how to defeat. Earlier in the day, the Chief Minister, Arvind Kejriwal announced that there were 36 patients for SAR-CoV 2, the so-called 'Wuhan Virus' in the capital, but he also highlighted the risks that healthcare workers face with one virus-infected patient who returned from Saudi Arabia infecting a Mohalla Clinic doctor who subsequently passed it onto his family. The dangers are ever present.

Those in the know are pinning some hope on various theories, particularly the 'temperature' theory, but we do not know what will happen next. This is just the third day of the 21-day lockdown, the fifth day of staying at home since Sunday for many of us. This will not be an easy time for anyone. And Delhi might never feel the same again.

LOCKDOWN PANIC

Admin opens Suvidha Kendras

PNS ■ JAMSHEDPUR

East Singhbhum district Administration has opened suvidha kendras for the convenience of people living indoors due to coronavirus scare. The administration is selling essential commodities at fixed price.

Soon after Prime Minister Narendra Modi told the nation on Tuesday that all of India would be locked down for 21 days starting midnight, people started went on purchasing spree. The administration has asked Krishi Bazar Utpadhan Samity (KUBS) to fix the price not more than two to three rupees from the wholesale price.

"The steep increase in prices of onion and potatoes was creating resentment amongst the people forcing administration to intervene. Directive has been issued to the wholesalers to fix the price not more than two-three rupees from the rate at which they are purchasing the onion from KUBS," the official said.

Unruly scenes were witnessed outside Reliance Fresh in Bistupur Tuesday night as residents, especially women, protested the early closing of the store. "We came to know that the administration has asked stores like Reliance Fresh to remain opened. I came here to see the store closed at 8.45 pm. It is supposed to remain open till 11 pm on all days," said a homemaker.

She said that traders are selling essential commodities at higher prices this is the reason she was relying on such stores. She explained that her ration stock was ending and she had to rush to Reliance Fresh after Modi announced lock down.

A school teacher Rakhi Jha who had rushed to a ration shop at Refugee Market in Sakchi, argued who would feed his family if she kept waiting to buy the essentials. "The situation is getting serious day by day and we have no other choice left," she added. Several people were frantically buying ration and milk in Bistupur and elsewhere across the city early this morning.

Same was the case at vegetable markets. Residents had to rush out of their homes soon after the PM's announcement since no guideline was mentioned in his address to the nation.

Bokaro DC urges people to make 'limited purchase'

Launches home delivery of food items

PNS ■ BOKARO

Deputy Commissioner Bokaro Mukesh Kumar today launched a sanitizer named 'Smiling Bokaro' to prevent the Novel coronavirus infection. Following the WHO norms, this sanitizer is locally made and will be available at ₹210 per liter for mass, said the DC talking with the media persons here on Thursday.

"During this time of the disaster, we have acquired a running spirit factory at Balidih Industrial Area and started production.

Now we have 10,000 liters sanitiser in stock. I have asked the officials to make the sanitizer available across all 295 panchayats (10 liters each) from tomorrow for Government official use," said he.

The DC urged traders do not create an artificial scarcity of goods to sell them at higher prices. "A criminal case will be registered against those who sell essentials at higher prices," he added, urging masses for 'limited purchase' of essential goods. "Do not be panic and please do not overstock food grains at your home. Both seller and purchaser will be penalized," said the DC.

"Stay Home and Stay Safe, keep social distance, wash your hands continuously with soap or handwash, consume hot beverages and avoid cold drink or food-stuffs." We are going to launch a packet of vegetables named "Bokaro Fresh" from tomorrow which will be available on the payment of ₹200 (at wholesale price) at your doorsteps.

In a bid to control the price and to make the food-stuffs available at your doorsteps we are using the SWIGGY platform at the time of this disaster. One can easily order any essential commodities through his mobile phone from his home.

Swiggy application is available for both Android and iOS can easily be downloaded, he said. For door to door delivery of essential food grains, we have inked a deal with Big Bazaar, Reliance Fresh and other supermarkets.

If any other traders or shopkeepers want to join us can easily make a request, we will welcome them, said DC. "For doorstep delivery customer will have to pay ₹40 as a delivery charge."

For delivery in the remote areas were (at block levels) where services of Swiggy, Big Bazaar, Reliance Fresh is not available we are using a WhatsApp number, anyone can make his order on that number and our volunteers will deliver the goods, he said.

"All grocery and vegetable shops will be open daily till 04:00 pm while medical shop and specific milk shop, Khatal have been kept free from the prescribed time for milk supply," said DC.

Beside other SP Bokaro Sujata Kumari Veenapani, DDC Ravi Ranjan Mishra, Shakti Kumar and other officials were present there.

No need to panic from COVID-19, says CMD CCL

CCL gears up to beat coronavirus pandemic

PNS ■ RANCHI

Chairman-cum-Managing Director, Central Coalfields Limited (CCL), Gopal Singh, appreciated the call of Prime Minister Narendra Modi for a complete 21-day lockdown in the Country for arresting Corona virus pandemic. He also thanked the Minister of Coal, Mines and Parliamentary Affairs Pralhad Joshi for donating one month salary to the Prime Minister's National Relief Fund to strengthen the fight against Covid-19.

The CMD said that one should not be unnecessarily panicked as Covid-19 is recoverable but take all preventive measure and go for treatment if feeling symptoms.

He further said that one should maintain social distance between yourself and anyone who is coughing or sneezing as they spray small liquid droplets from their nose or mouth which may contain virus. Singh also advised everyone to follow advisories of the Government to protect oneself against Covid-19. CCL has also set up help line (0651-2365999/2365998) for CCL family as well as stakeholders to educate them about the deadly Corona virus.

The WHO has declared Covid-19 to be a pandemic. The symptoms of Covid-19 appear within two to 14 days after exposure and included fever, cough, a running nose and difficulty in breathing. The guideline from the Union Ministry for early recognition of Covid-19 patients are those who came in with Severe Acute Respiratory Infection (SARI) who also have a history of foreign travel or close contact with another Covid-19 patient.

CCL took various appropriate measures in the field of medical facilities for combating the Corona virus pandemic and dealing with emergencies arising out of Covid-19. Altogether 38 Quarantine Bed has been created at four central hospitals- Gandhinagar Hospital, Ranchi (10), Ramgarh Hospital (10), Dakra Hospital (08) and Dhori Hospital (10). One-bed Intensive Care Unit has been created at Gandhinagar Central Hospital with ventilator support for Corona positive case if any. CCL is committed to fulfill energy aspirations of the Nation as well as meeting any emergency in case if worsening of Corona epidemic in Jharkhand.

The existing bed strengths (510) of four central hospitals and one Regional Hospital, Kargali (50) will be converted into altogether 140 Corona isolation beds including Regional Hospital if required in future.

CCL is to place order for procurement of medical items of about Rs 80 lakhs to combat Corona epidemic as per norms. Also necessary drugs of about Rs 8 lakhs are in process to purchase from Pradhanmantri Jan Aushadhi Kendra on urgent basis.

Supply order for four ventilator has been placed and efforts are on to expedite early delivery from Chandigarh. One transport ventilator for Gandhinagar Hospital is being procured on emergent basis from a local market. A dedicated ambulance for Corona suspected patients in all four central hospitals to carry patients for specific blood test for Corona infection at Rajendra Institute of Medical Science (RIMS), Ranchi has been earmarked. CCL is also discouraging its employees to avoid hospitals unless there is emergency.

Doctors and paramedics deputised for Corona ward and epidemic control programme is being imparted in-house training for infection prevention and control practices. Anesthetists and CCU doctors are being sent to RIMS, Ranchi for ventilator training. The company is also distributing sanitiser, face masks, hand gloves, hand wash and others among health care workers. Sanitization of the all hospitals and nearby colonies is being done with one per cent sodium hypochlorite.

Hoardings for public awareness have been displayed in Ranchi and command areas to educate people about the Corona virus and preventive measures to be adopted to beat the virus.

All Seasons Farm Fresh to provide vegetables

PNS ■ JAMSHEDPUR

Following enforcement of lockdown, the East Singhbhum district administration is focussing on door-step delivery of essentials so that people remain indoors.

After commencing the doorstep delivery of grocery, milk and other essential items which became functional today, district administration on Thursday announced delivery of vegetables at houses which will start delivery from tomorrow. "We want people to remain indoors so that the commodities they require can be delivered at their door steps. Every step is being taken to help them. We have started the doorstep delivery of grocery, milk and breads and have today held talk with a private agency for delivery of fresh vegetables at no-profit-loss basis. We are also in talk with agencies for starting doorstep delivery of medicines and sanitiser. The idea is to provide all facilities to residents at their homes so that they do not have to come out and this will help us to fight against the virus," said East Singhbhum deputy commissioner Ravi Shankar Shukla.

SDO Dhalbhum Chandan Kumar said that the Sakchi-based All Seasons Farm Fresh has agreed to delivery fresh vegetable with a delivery charge of ₹20 and a minimum order of ₹200. "Fresh vegetables will be available to the residents. The rates of vegetables are available in their website allseasonsfarm-fresh.com and can be booked in their websites or in their whatsapp number 9934868425 and 9031776552. They will charge ₹20 as delivery charge and one has to give a minimum order of ₹200 for availing this service. They will deliver within 5 hours of giving order and would be functional between 8 am and 10 pm. The move will help people to fresh vegetables at their door steps.

Meanwhile, panic buying continued even though the East Singhbhum district administration has opened suvidha kendras for the convenience of people living indoors due to coronavirus scare. Several people were frantically buying ration and milk in Bistupur and across city early this morning.

Villagers observe lockdown

Markets closed, they keep social distancing, ban outsider's entry

PNS ■ RANCHI

The effect of 21-day lockdown announced by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday is visible in rural areas too as villagers too have started keeping social distancing. In some areas, the villagers have even created barricades restricting outsiders from entering their villages.

At Barhe, Chorya and other villages under Chanhoo block of Ranchi district the villagers have blocked the village road with bamboo and put up a poster urging the outsiders not to enter the village. The poster reads:

"Due to outbreak of deadly coronavirus, outsiders are not allowed to enter the village as we have decided to keep social distancing." At the village limit some enthusiastic youths are standing urging anyone entering the village with folded hands to return back. Such type of social distancing is also observed at many villages in Burmu block. At Gurugai panchayat of Burmu block, Mukhiya (village head) Amen Toppo has taken the initiative putting up barrier outside the village limit asking outsiders not to enter the village unless and until if there is an emergency.

As people have started maintaining social distancing its affect is getting visible at village haat (village market). At Thakurgoan under Burmu block the weekly village haat was suspended with villagers preferring to buy vegetables from farmers' homes.

The impact of social distancing was visible at Ramgarh cantonment area where administration drew circles, squares on the floor at vegetable market to maintain social distancing as to curb coronavirus spread.

The idea is proving a healthy option for people who come out of their homes to purchase groceries, medicines and vegetables. At State Capital Birs Chowk too such circles or squares were made outside grocery shop to maintain social distancing. Anil Murmu, a resident of Birs Chowk said, "The grocery shopkeeper has made circles, squares at a distance of 1.5 metre where customers have to stand for buying essential goods. Only those who are coming through such squares or circles are being given food grains."

Villagers block entrance road of Angada village during the nationwide lockdown imposed to contain the coronavirus pandemic, in Ranchi on Thursday

Echoing the view of Murmu, Vishnu Poddar who runs a grocery shop at Upper Bazaar said, "We too have created squares and circles outside our shops as we know that the only way to check the spread of coronavirus is to break the chain." The impact of social distancing has even witnessed ugly face. Sources said that Franz Gastler, an American national who has been giving soccer training to children at Ormanjhi block of Ranchi district through a team Yuwa has been asked to leave the village. Sources said that Franz has been asked to leave the village as some fears that Coronavirus spreads through foreigners.

Moreover, in Patan block of Palamu district two groups engaged in clash as a person who returned from Delhi recently and was quarantine for 14 days was seen roaming around the village. When some villagers objected, clash occurred leading to death of a man.

BJP hails ₹1.7 L-cr relief package for weaker sections

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The BJP on Thursday welcomed the ₹1.7 lakh-crore relief package announced by the Union Government for daily wage earners, farmers, women and senior citizens and pensioners in the organised and unorganised sectors saying it will help the poor sections of the society when the nation is on a 21-day lockdown to fight the coronavirus pandemic.

BJP President Jagat Prasad Nadda said the wide-range of economic package under Prime Minister 'Garib Kalyan Yojna' would mitigate immediate problems of food and money for the economically deprived population who would receive additional 5kg of wheat or rice per person as also 'dal' of 5 kg per house-hold for next three-months besides getting money in their bank accounts through DBT (Direct Bank transfer).

A total of 80 crore people will be covered under the package. Government also announced ₹50 lakh medical insurance cover for all health workers including Doctors, nurses and other medical personnel who are in forefront of battle against Coronavirus which may cross the crucial 'community spread' stage any time from now.

Nadda said Prime Minister Narendra Modi has announced a "huge relief" for the poor in this hour of crisis and asserted that it is the ruling party's resolve that nobody is left hungry.

Former party president and Union Home Minister Amit Shah said the announcement shows the sensitivity of the government towards the poor and other vulnerable sections of society.

Nadda said that over 80 crore poor people will get an additional five kg each of wheat and rice beside one kg of pulse for three months to ensure that everyone gets an adequate amount of food.

Opp welcomes Central package to tide over coronavirus crisis

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Opposition on Thursday welcomed the Centre's move to come out with the ₹1.70 lakh-crore financial package for several categories of citizens including farmers and daily wage earners. However, a few of them also criticised Prime Minister Narendra Modi for allocating a lesser amount of ₹15,000 crore for tackling coronavirus when compared to a greater allocation of ₹20,000 crore for development of Central Vista that will include construction of a new Parliament in the national Capital. They sought the diversion of the Central Vista fund to fight the pandemic.

The allocation for the Central Vista had been done on the same day when the PM had announced the countrywide lockdown.

While the Congress welcomed the financial package announced by Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman and aimed at helping the poor survive the economic distress due to the Covid-19 lockdown, the Trinamool Congress said it came late and the Centre had actually taken the cue from the measures announced by the Mamata Banerjee government more than a week ago.

Former Congress president Rahul Gandhi said the announcements are in the right direction. "The Government announcement today of a and senior citizens will also get monetary relief through direct benefit transfer, he said.

"On behalf of every BJP worker, I thank the prime minister for this relief to the poor, farmers, women, youths, senior citizens and the organised sector for such important decisions financial assistance package is the first step in the right direction. India owes a debt to its farmers, daily wage earners, labourers, women and the elderly, who are bearing the brunt of the ongoing lockdown," he said on Twitter.

Terming the financial package as a "modest plan", Congress leader P Chidambaram contended that a lot more needed to be done. While welcoming the provision of foodgrains for the poor, the former FM claimed that there was not enough cash infusion. He observed that some sections of society had been completely left out. He noted that some of his suggestions such as help to tenant farmers, EMI deferment and GST rate cut had not been addressed. At the same time, Chidambaram called on the Centre to put forth a further plan of action very soon.

The Trinamool Congress on Thursday said the Centre's financial package announced in the wake of a countrywide lockdown to combat coronavirus has taken a "cue" from the one offered by the party-led dispensation in West Bengal. "Centre takes cue from relief plans already rolled out by state govts like #Bengal a week ago -- free 6 months ration for the poor, health insurance for champion frontliners fighting corona and ₹1,000 for daily wagers under new Procheta scheme. Will supplement State efforts," tweeted TMC MP and this relief package," he said. Nadda also hailed the Government's announcement of insurance of health professionals and the decision to give free LPG cylinders under the 'Ujjwala' scheme for three months. Cash will be transferred in the bank accounts of poor farmers, poor widows, poor pensioners and poor disabled.

Farmers who were receiving ₹6,000 annually would get ₹2,000 upfront under Prime Minister's scheme and MNREGA workers daily wage would be increased from ₹182 to ₹200.

Derek O'Brien.

CPI(M) general secretary Sitaram Yechury said that financial package is inadequate to handle the Corona crisis, comparing the ₹7.78 lakh crore loan waiver to big corporate houses.

He said the huge loan waiver to corporate houses shows that there is no dearth of resources in India and urged the Centre to come with more financial packages for the welfare of employees and poor people, who are financially hit due to the lockdown.

Yechury also urged the Prime Minister to immediately stop the Central Vista project and divert the Rs.20,000 crore allotted for it for the Corona relief package.

"Unconscionable that the central government finds it necessary to spend Rs.20,000 crore at this precise moment for a new house for the PM & other beautification schemes. Central Vista plan must be scrapped, earmarked funds must be transferred to tackle Corona crisis and its impact on the poor, said Yechury.

Former union minister and senior Congress Lok Sabha MP Shashi Tharoor also appealed to the Prime Minister to divert the ₹20,000 crore Central Vista fund to fight COVID-19. "This is merely ₹20 crore per district. Grand spending on buildings at this time of crisis is a postponable luxury," tweeted Tharoor.

Sonia writes to PM Modi, suggests remedial measures against corona

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

For the first time during the coronavirus crisis, the Congress on Thursday actually came out with its own suggestive remedial measures in view of the pandemic with party president Sonia Gandhi writing in detail to Prime Minister Narendra Modi in this regard.

The Congress, especially its leader Rahul Gandhi has been strongly criticising the Modi Government for not "doing enough" and being "in slumber" to tackle the deadly disease.

Sonia said that the lockdown is a "welcome step" even as she suggested that health and economic measures should be taken to fight coronavirus.

"As president of the Congress, I would like to state that we will support and collaborate fully with every step taking by the Union Government to ensure the containment of the pandemic," Sonia Gandhi wrote in the four-page letter to Modi.

"At this challenging and uncertain time, it is imperative for each one of us to rise above partisan interests and honour one's duty towards our country and indeed, towards humanity," said Sonia.

The Congress chief also gave a eight-point suggestions which included a demand for a dedicated Web portal with information about designated hospitals and construction of intensive care units and ventilators.

She also requested the Prime Minister to put in place broad based social protection measures, including direct cash transfer, for daily wagers, MGNREGA workers, factory labour, construction and unorganised workers, fishermen, farm labourers and other vulnerable sections of the society.

Sonia Gandhi suggested that the centre should consider deferring all EMI payments for the next few months and also waive interests charged by banks for this period.

She added that the government should immediately put in place several social protection measures which should include direct cash transfers to daily wage workers, MNREGA workers, construction workers, farmers and others part of the informal sector. The Congress President recommended her party's NYAY scheme for minimum income support, she called it "the need of the hour".

She said that the implementation of the scheme will provide the poor with basic economic resources to fall back on.

Three-months free cylinders would be provided to women covered under 'Ujjawala' scheme.

BJP general secretary Bhupender Yadav said the Government under Modi's leadership stands solidly with the poor and other segments of the population and is committed to the country getting over the coronavirus pandemic.

The Government has announced three-weeks lockdown until mid-April, saying it is the only way out for the country to decisively defeat the virus by rigorously adopting social distancing.

Skype/ email/ fax etc. However, the guidelines have made it clear that though telemedicine consultation provides safety to the medical professionals from contagious conditions, it cannot replace physical examination that may require palpation, percussion or auscultation; that requires physical touch and feel.

It also clearly specify the categories of medicines that can and cannot be prescribed. As per the guidelines, doctors are strictly prohibited from insisting on telemedicine, when the patient is willing to travel to a facility and/or requests an in-person consultation and misuse patient images and data, especially private and sensitive in nature. If found violating, penalties will be as per the IMC Act, ethics and other prevailing laws.

Guidelines for e-doctors to reach out to needy

ARCHANA JYOTI ■ NEW DELHI

As tele-consultation with doctors is becoming the norm among people, literally locked in their houses due to the coronavirus threat, the Government has come out with a set of guidelines regarding the e-platform to enable the medical professionals reach out to the needy.

The idea is not only to reduce the load on the already over-burdened hospitals and avoid unnecessary exposure to both medical professionals and patients but also to prevent malpractices, if any.

Incidentally, despite the concept being recognised and defined by the WHO and its spreading influence over the past decade, it is only now that India has come out with such guidelines which singularly deals with the practice of Telemedicine here.

Prepared by the Board of Governors, which was set up in supersession of the Medical Council of India, in collaboration with the Niti Aayog, the 'Telemedicine Practice Guidelines' gives detailed do's and don'ts while engaging in tele-medicine and tele-consultation and ensure that ethics are maintained on the part of medical professionals.

"There are a number of benefits of telemedicine...In India, providing in-person healthcare is challenging, particularly given the large geographical distances and limited resources. One of the major advantages of telemedicine can be for saving of cost and effort especially of rural patients, as they need not travel long distances for obtaining consultation and treatment," say the guidelines.

The Government feel that with telemedicine, there is higher likelihood of maintenance of records and documentation hence minimises the likelihood of missing out advice from the doctor other health care staff.

Thus, health systems that are invested in telemedicine are well positioned to ensure that patients with Covid-19 kind of issues receive the care they need, it says.

The guidelines aims to assist the medical practitioner in pursuing a sound course of action to provide effective and safe medical care founded on current information, available resources, and patient needs to ensure patient and provider safety.

The BoG will soon develop an online programme on practice of telemedicine to familiarise the doctors with the subject. "All currently registered medical practitioners need to complete a mandatory online course within 3 years of notification of these guidelines to provide consultation via telemedicine. Thereafter, undergoing and qualifying such a course, as prescribed, will be essential prior to registration of a medical practitioner," as per the guidelines.

The doctors can use any telemedicine tool suitable for carrying out technology-based patient consultation e.g. telephone, video, devices connected over LAN, WAN, Internet, mobile or landline phones, chat platforms like WhatsApp, Facebook Messenger etc., or Mobile App or internet based digital platforms for telemedicine or data transmission systems like

1st death in J&K, panic sets in

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

A 65-year-old religious teacher, who was earlier tested positive for novel coronavirus on Thursday died at Chest Disease hospital in Srinagar triggering panic among the local residents who remained in close touch with him before he was admitted in the hospital on March 21. Four close contacts of this patient had already tested positive on Wednesday.

Large number of other contacts on Thursday reported across different hospitals in Kashmir valley and offered voluntary testing to confirm whether they have contracted the virus or not.

Meanwhile, two more positive cases were reported from Srinagar on Thursday.

The district magistrate, Srinagar also ordered the closure of all places of worship, including mosques and gurd-waras, to prevent the further spread of coronavirus disease in the district.

Spokesman of the Jammu & Kashmir Government, Rohit Kansal tweeted, "Siblings (7 years old and 8 months old)-grandchildren of a confirmed case from Srinagar with travel history to Saudi Arabia who had tested positive on 24th tested positive". Total number of active positive cases now 11, he added.

At present 12 people are being treated including nine in the Valley and three in Jammu region of the Union Territory after testing positive for COVID-19.

Thirteen patients are admitted at a Leh hospital.

According to official sources, the deceased patient had returned from New Delhi, Uttar Pradesh and Jammu recently after being part of a religious congregation attended also by people from Indonesia and Malaysia. He arrived in Srinagar on March 16 via Indigo flight from Jammu and first reported the symptoms between March 18-19. He was admitted in the hospital on March 21.

The J&K Government has ordered an inquiry into the alleged mishandling of the patient after he was tested positive for COVID-19 at the CD hospital.

Meanwhile, second day of the 21 day long lockdown passed off peacefully barring stray incidents of violation by the local residents.

So far the police authorities have booked over 250 violators across the union territory of Jammu & Kashmir.

50 contacts of Kashmir's first victim quarantined

Srinagar: Authorities in Jammu & Kashmir were vigorously tracking the travel history of Union Territory's first COVID-19 victim as nearly 50 of those who came into contact with the victim have already been shifted to quarantine facilities.

Four of these quarantined persons have already tested positive for the virus.

Health officials said the deceased patient had a chequered travel trajectory and it was logical to assume that he had come into contact with a much higher number of persons than have been traced so far. "He was in Delhi where he is reported to have come into contact with Indonesian, Malaysian and Italian citizens. He has visited Samba and Jammu towns before he came back to the valley.

"He had attended a religious congregation in Sopore and met dozens of people in Srinagar city", health officials said.

The fact that he had been evading isolation and treatment as per the standard operating procedure (SoP) for such patients, was also worrisome. "The fact is that he was symptomatically a full blown case before he was isolated and admitted is very worrisome", said a doctor.

Tamil Nadu positive cases rise to 28

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ CHENNAI

Even as the number of persons tested positive for coronavirus touched 28 by Thursday evening and two persons succumbing to the pandemic (one each in Madurai and Kanyakumari), the activities of religious preachers from other countries is causing worries to security officials in Tamil Nadu. The cause of death of person in Kanyakumari district is yet to be ascertained and the health Minister's office is tight lipped about the incident.

The 28 persons who have been admitted to hospitals in Chennai, Madurai, Salem and Erode include four Indonesian and two Thailand citizens. These six persons are in the State for religious preaching. They have been indoctrinating the faithful about Tablighi Jamaat (Society for Spreading Faith), an organization urging Muslims to return to practicing their religion as it existed during the lifetime of Prophet Mohammed", according to State Police officials.

The Indonesians reached Salem in the first week of March from New Delhi by Kerala Express and since then they have been proselytizing in the districts of Salem, Madurai and Erode. The person who died on Wednesday, an office bearer of a local mosque management committee, had accompanied the Indonesians during their engagements in Madurai.

TG Vinay, Madurai district collector, told reporters that the health department officials are tracking the persons who had met the Indonesians and the Madurai man during congregations and social gatherings to collect samples from them for testing.

The secret visits undertaken by the foreign preachers belonging to TJ have taken security agencies by surprise.

The secret visits undertaken by the foreign preachers belonging to TJ have taken security agencies by surprise

The organization was in the news recently when they held an 'international mass religious gathering' in the last week of February 2020 at Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia where more than 700 COVID-19 cases have been reported. There is total secrecy associated with the TJ gatherings.

"What we know is that the Indonesians and Thai nationals have been addressing congregations in various mosques in these districts. Since outsiders are not allowed during these meetings, we do not know what kind of sermonizing is happening during these religious classes. It could be anything ranging from interpretation of Quran to encouraging the Muslims to fight the CAA", said a senior intelligence official.

The official who spoke on condition of anonymity, disclosed that monitoring of congregations in temples across the State was not at all a problem.

"But mosques and churches are a different class as we can never infiltrate into the religious gatherings inside these places. The concerned Government agency is yet to make any probe into the activities of these proselitizers," he said.

The statement regarding the number of Corona Virus patients admitted to various hospitals in the State were disclosed by Dr C Vijaya Baskar, Tamil Nadu Minister for Health.

Chief Minister Edappadi

Palaniswamy who held a day long meeting in the secretariat on Thursday with ministers, senior bureaucrats and district collectors later made a passionate plea to the people of the State to cooperate with the administration in its war on Corona.

"I am addressing you not as the chief minister of Tamil Nadu but as a member of your family. Do not get panic as the total lockdown has been declared for your own safety and security. The State administration is doing all it can do to make your stay indoors a comfortable life. Maintenance of social distancing is the only option to prevent the spread of Corona, said the chief minister taking a cue from the Prime Minister's address to the nation on Wednesday evening.

The chief minister said all arrangements have been made to provide free ration and essential items to people in the lower strata of the society.

"After undergoing treatment at two private hospitals, a 65-year-old patient was admitted to the General Hospital at in a critical condition on the afternoon of March 24 (Tuesday). All these patients had bene admitted to Kasturba Hospital and were diagnosed as positive in the laboratory there.

"Owing to lockdown, people are contributing to crowds outside shops selling essential commodities which was not advised from the point of view of their health. That's why we have asked the shopkeepers to keep their establishments open for 24 hours in a day," Uddhav said.

Don't compel us to deploy Army: Ajit Pawar on lockdown violations

Mumbai: Taking a stern view of many people still sauntering out on the roads despite a state and nationwide lockdown, Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar on Thursday hinted that he would not hesitate to deploy the Army to control the crowding menace.

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

In the first of its bizarre crime committed during the 21-day lockdown period, a 21-year-old youngster was killed by his elder brother here on Thursday, after his younger brother stepped out of home ignoring his repeated requests to stay indoors in view of the spread of coronavirus.

The incident took place at Kandivli's Samata Nagar locality in north Mumbai.

"Durgesh used to work in a private company in Pune but came to Mumbai to stay with his brother during the shutdown," a senior police officer at the Samata Nagar police station said.

against stepping out of home. However, Durgesh was not paying heed to his elder brother's advice.

When Durgesh returned home from outside this evening, Rajesh and his wife confronted him. This led to a fierce verbal duel between them. At one stage, an enraged Rajesh allegedly hit Durgesh with a sharp object. An injured Durgesh was rushed to a local hospital, where he was pronounced dead on admission.

PAPER WITH PASSION

Humanitarian crisis

Labourers don't have bank accounts and are out of the welfare arc. As they migrate, the flu could swamp rural India

State borders now present a picture of reverse human migration as thousands of daily wage earners, casual labourers and vendors, who do not have a bank account or even money to save, trudge back to their home States despite a lockdown. With no buses, trucks or trains, they have decided to surrender to destiny and return to their villages on foot. For even without a day's work, they would not be able to get food for their families or rent the hovel they live in at slum clusters. Food shortages and uncontrolled hoarding have meant that they have not been able to get basic rations over the last two days, leading to widespread panic. It is a hard choice between starvation and the flu. In the absence of soup kitchens or shelters, the vast numbers of India's unorganised labour market won't even be able to avail the economic relief measures announced by the Government. And they are going back home, thinking they will live off the land with whatever subsistence farming can give them. There will be a roof over their heads where they do not have to pay rent. There's no agricultural activity either, signalling a low output of food crops that may foist another problem on the nation later. This is a humanitarian crisis like no other. Let us not forget migrant returnees may have already unwittingly carried Coronavirus into India's vast rural swathes, which are unaware, unprepared and under-equipped to deal with the criticality of a health emergency of this scale. And considering they are travelling in clusters, all of them could be potentially infected by the time they reach from carriers among them. Then the whole purpose of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's 21-day lockdown, to break the transmission cycle of the virus, would get defeated. Worst, rural India could be swamped. Assuming these "non-banked" people even avail of the Pradhan Mantri Gareeb Kalyan Anna Yojana and get 5 kg per person rice/wheat each month for the next three months in addition to 5 kg of rice/wheat that they already get, they would rather use these benefits at their village than be homeless and helpless in cities. This unprecedented flight of migrant workers out of our cities, be it Rajasthan or Telangana, poses a new challenge in our fight against the virus. Containing and settling them at shelters in a specified location pose the biggest challenge. Frankly, India has not had time to prepare for the human dimension of the virus or the lockdown. The WHO did lead it up the garden path, not pressing the panic buttons early on. There was a denial about the inevitability of community explosion, given the density of our population and the failure of Indians to take to social distancing, isolation and quarantining protocols seriously. Now experts are saying the lockdown would have been effective had it been enforced a week or two before and that we are still two steps behind the virus.

According to reports, over 2,000 daily wage workers in Ahmedabad took to their feet and other means of transport for their homes back in Rajasthan. Thousands of wagers are walking long distances, even to the extent of 100 and 300 km, and often on empty stomach to reach their villages. According to the Economic Survey of 2018-19, over 90 per cent of our total workforce is "informal." The worrying part is that the NITI Aayog estimates show that India's informal sector employees are approximately 85 per cent of all workers. The Economic Survey of 2016-2017 had indicated an annual flow of close to nine million migrants among States between 2011 and 2016. Internationally, too, migrants are posing newer challenges to managing the epidemic. Borders throughout the Middle East tend to be porous with political refugees, economic migrants and others often travelling along informal routes. It is very difficult under such circumstances to monitor who is entering and leaving what country. Also, these people cannot access public healthcare. This has caused much of the spread in nations around Iran, too. Now imagine that with our States. We are quite precariously perched but trying to flatten the curve would mean not just lockdowns or an economic package but aggressive testing, isolation and surveillance. Where are these facilities in rural India? If we are to ride this out and look ahead, there can be no two ways about rearranging a nation's health priorities. As the PM said, Jaan hai to Jahaan hai. Delhi's Central vista makeover, at ₹20,000 crore, can wait!

Data crunch

Video-streaming services find themselves restricting data consumption across the world

As almost half of humanity finds itself under lockdown, some of the few companies that might be benefitting belong to the video-streaming services, such as Netflix, Amazon Prime globally, and others like Hotstar, Voot and MX Player in India. However, they also have had to face unique challenges, thanks to the Chinese contagion. Production of movies and television shows has come to a screeching halt, forcing players like Netflix to establish a $100 million fund to ensure that production crews, many of whom do not have permanent jobs, have access to some funds at least. But the bigger problem is the pressure that such streaming services have put on mobile networks. With more people staying home and watching movies and television shows online, there has been a surge in video consumption.

As a result, both telecom operators and Governments across the world have requested that these popular services reduce the quality of the service. With high-definition streaming using upwards of two megabits per second and Ultra High Definition 4K streaming using up to 10 megabits per second, mobile firms, who are the main networks in India, are finding themselves under huge amounts of strain. Many streaming services have already announced that they would be suspending High Definition and Ultra-High Definition streaming on cellular networks with immediate effect. People consuming data on WiFi or broadband networks can still enjoy preferred quality streaming. During a time of a national emergency, which we are facing right now, mobile networks must be kept free. Heavy data consumption is clogging up the networks. While the amount of mobile data available and its prices have been a big boon for the Indian economy over the past two years, the fact is that reducing streaming quality to standard definition will make little or no difference on mobile phones and at the same time keep the networks free for emergencies. This is a responsible act by both the telecom operators and the streaming service providers. However, this thankfully does not apply to fibre and copper networks but the reach of those in Indian households is extremely limited in the first place. This, of course, highlights how India and the world need to strengthen their data networks and make them faster so that more people can use it. It also highlights how different companies get affected when a crisis of this nature emerges and how they are working around it. Hopefully, things will return to normal soon and people will go back to office and the days of "Netflix and Chill" will return but for now, "Netflix and stay at home."

While the Modi Government deserves wholehearted support in tackling COVID, a few correctives should be in place. Wholehearted and not unthinking support is the need of the hour

AJOY KUMAR

We live in strange and unnerving times. India and the world are currently in the midst of a raging battle against a common enemy — Coronavirus. The total number of cases in India at the time of writing stood at 686 and the number of deaths at 13. Both these numbers, unfortunately, are expected to rise over the weeks that will follow. Numbers across the world are staggering. The death toll in Italy and Spain have reached in the thousands, eclipsing that of China's.

The most worrisome aspect of the virus is not the fatality associated with it — though for the elderly and those without adequate medical care this figure is frighteningly high — but its speed of transmission. The virus took just 67 days to reach the first one lakh and in the next 15 days, it infected the next two lakh people across the world. The modern world has rarely witnessed an enemy about whom we know so little and which moves relentlessly and ruthlessly. Though this does not require saying, yet: We cannot beat the virus unless we pull in the same direction. This is not the time to squabble as there will possibly never be a more unifying enemy in our lifetime.

In the light of this very different world that you and I have woken up to, it is important to support and recognize the efforts of the Indian Government, healthcare professionals and workers, the media, policemen and all other individuals who have put themselves in the line of fire. The Prime Minister has our full support in tackling the virus. While his decision to impose a nationwide lockdown may seem to be a bit too harsh, we must keep in mind that the Government has our best interests in mind. The Finance Minister has also been announcing several relief measures for the poor and the marginalised. I cannot commend this move enough. With the economy, especially small businesses, in shock, I hope this is the first step in dealing with this unprecedented crisis.

During this time, we must also be grateful to the country's federal structure, several Chief Ministers, most notably Arvind Kejriwal and Pinarayi Vijayan, who have truly shown their leadership capabilities at an hour when this quality is necessary and found wanting at times. While I endorse and support the measures taken by the Government to tackle the unique beast of COVID-19, I, as an Indian, would also like to put forward a few suggestions and perspectives that I believe, can aid our fight against this dreadful disease and, hopefully, see us emerge victorious at the end of this long battle. I hope that the many trolls, who often attack any piece of writing by looking at the writer rather than the content, see this article in that spirit. Stranger things are happening in times of Corona.

The need for a down-up approach: While the lockdown is necessary to contain the virus, it is important to ensure that the cure has (i) the desired effect, ie, it prevents people from congregating together in large groups and (ii) does not provide greater pain to the very sections of society it seeks to protect than the disease itself. The Prime Minister's speech while commendable in many ways was found significantly wanting on this count.

By giving just a few hours' time for the 21-day lockdown to kick in and that, too, without adequate disclosures/detailing regarding the provision for essential services, the Prime Minister caused widespread panic across the country. There were massive crowds that assembled around grocery stores and chemists, fearing the worst. The impact of this crowding will only be seen later but it was distinctly avoidable.

The Prime Minister, for example, could have taken a note from the Delhi Government, which had itself called for a lockdown two days prior to his announcement. The Delhi Government has been more stringent than the Union Government pertaining to certain measures. The only difference has been the approach followed by both. The former has rather been more down-up than top-down in its tactics. This system has been successfully implemented by various firms as well, where employees and workers at the ground level have been able to provide accurate feedback on what measures work while dealing with the customers.

In the case of Governments, the customer is the vast population of this great country. Therefore, as is becoming more obvious day by day, a top-down approach does not work. Instead, we need a clear line of communication between the Prime Minister and the public. This includes taking a press conference where the media, which has been and will be crucial in highlighting the shortcomings of the Government's measures, can highlight questions that the public, too, have been raising. Such press conferences can be done effectively through social media platforms like Facebook live events with limited access to accredited journalists. However, to limit this only to the Prime Minister would be a big mistake. Chief Ministers, too, need to follow a similar approach. This is why Delhi Chief Minister Kejriwal must be applauded for being proactive in this regard.

Similarly, there are widespread reports of police officers in a number of States disrupting the supply of essential services by lashing their lathis on workers, trying to reach their place of work or transporting essential services. E-tailers allege that up to 15,000 litres of milk and 10,000 kg of vegetables were dumped due to police action. This must be stopped at the earliest. Certain Police Commissioners have held discussions with e-commerce service providers and come to the conclusion that they would pass instructions to their officers. However, this step must be taken a little further. Officers must hold Facebook live discussions where citizens can highlight areas where they are facing discomfort or harassment. I do not blame the policemen entirely on this count as till now, they have only been given broad guidelines to ensure no movement on the roads. The requirement at this stage is one of nuance, which cannot come from a top-down approach towards governance.

An active bureaucracy: Another step which I think can help is to involve the bureaucracy. I have held many discussions with bureaucrats, and they feel they can contribute in alleviating the issues faced by the public while also maintaining social distancing and following all lockdown norms. One clear area where this can help is with respect to daily-wage and migrant workers. As a result of the lockdown, daily-wage and migrant workers have been left to fend for themselves. The sudden decision to stop all trains and buses from inter-State travel has left lakhs and lakhs of workers in the middle of nowhere or without a roof over their heads. There are numerous stories of workers and children walking hundreds of kilometres to reach their villages.

While a large number of readers will have the luxury of dealing with the panic and pain caused due to the outbreak of Coronavirus with their families by their side, this essential support system is not within the reach for these migrant workers. On this count, I plead that the Government takes steps while acting within the lockdown protocol, to ensure that these workers can be transported to their home States in buses with strict social distancing norms and sanitation practices in place. The bureaucracy can help implement these steps. It is in times like these that the bureaucracy can and must come to the fore, even if they do so in regulated numbers. By allowing a large number of them to sit at home, we are being deprived of this valuable resource.

Of course, it is easier to speak than it is to write and easier to write than to practise but just like every Indian, I want the country to come out of this crisis as a shining example to the world. While I support the Modi Government wholeheartedly in its efforts to tackle the virus, wholeheartedly does not mean unthinkingly. In order to beat the Coronavirus, wholehearted and not unthinking support is the need of the hour. (The writer is a former IPS officer, a former MP and currently a member of the AAP)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Lockdown imperative

Sir — This refers to the editorial, "Total lockdown" (March 26). This decision taken by the Centre for the nation is a commendable. But the challenge now is to convince people to not only stay indoors but remain calm. People should be advised not to resort to hoarding that creates further hurdles for the Government. Restrictions on the public and the availability of essential services should be honoured by civil enforcement agencies while also keeping in mind genuine requirements.

Myths vs facts

Sir — Foreign media has been inundating the world with reports of the "success of China" in combating the proliferation of COVID-19 in Wuhan. Prima facie, such reports appear to be legitimate. They are commensurate with the claims made by the Chinese Government. As of Tuesday, China reported 3,277 deaths with 81,171 positive cases.

According to the Government, no new cases were reported for the past five days in the central Chinese city of Wuhan, the epicentre of the outbreak.

However, a recent report by the Epoch Times would cast doubts on the aforementioned data. The report reveals the alarming disappearance of around 21 million cell phone

Misreading Kashmir

This refers to the editorial, "Back to the people" (March 25). The Kashmir Valley has been subjected to violation of citizen rights for close to eight months now. There has been a blanket hold on the press and newspapers. Internet services still stand suspended. The cavalier promulgation of Section 144 and its unending nature is a poor reflection on governance. Only a Government that is ill-equipped to manage even transient socio-political aberrations would be transfixed into a freeze mode as this. We have brought on damage to the region's economy and worse, our national fabric.

It has now dawned on the Government that the absence of the Abdullahs from the scene is not so inconsequential to the new narrative it has designed for the Kashmir palimpsest. Without elected leaders, there can be no engagement with the people, who have been erased and forgotten for so long. Either it runs an inanimate State with mounting disillusionment or gathers its wits and accumen to infuse the real meaning of integration of the State with the pulse of the nation, with or without Article 370 accounts in China over the past three months. This number is grossly inconsistent with the statistics released by Beijing. Even public health experts and citizens have cast doubts if the numbers are as good as officials have reported. The zero-transmission rate, too, is being doubted even as the leaders have prioritised restarting the economy over decisively containing the virus.

This development makes the role of independent agencies as well as of the media crucial in finding out the truth. Curiosity might kill the cat but the other option entails reading tampered tea leaves in order to find out what really happened in China.

and any other legalese. There was hardly any justification for the continued incarceration of the Abdullahs under the Public Safety Act. Now, the Government must release other leaders, too, especially former Jammu & Kashmir Chief Minister Mehbooba Mufti.

Beef up tracking system

Sir — This refers to the editorial, "Total lockdown" (March 26). The decision taken by the Government to shut down the country for three weeks is historic but not enough. The next task is to trace every traveller who entered the country after a specific date and subject them to a diagnostic test. This is a gigantic exercise and this is why the private sector must be roped in.

For the sake of existence

Sir — Most nations have been put under house arrest in the wake of the spread of a deadly virus. With this all kinds of liberties, be it the right to free movement, entertainment or the pursuit of happiness have been curtailed. But it must not be forgotten that the right to live is the most sacred human right.

COD a boon for everyone

The Govt will be able to improve efficiency and citizens will be saved from the unnecessary hassle of visiting various offices

DINESH TYAGI

Recently, students of a college in Delhi University, while being acquainted with the "Digital India" initiative of the Narendra Modi Government, were asked how many of them had gone to a Government office for availing services. About 90 per cent of them raised their hands. When they were asked how many of them would like to go back to the Government office for availing its services, the response was a big, resounding "No" from almost all of them. Asked to give a reason for this response, many of them cited long queues, uncooperative staff, being made to run from one counter to the other, rudeness, tardiness and the lackadaisical attitude of Government servants, as some of the factors that would prevent them from going back. And this was not just restricted to departments run by State administrations, it also included offices run by the Central Government.

The writing on the wall is clear. Given a choice, no one, particularly the new generation, wants to visit Government offices to get the simplest of work done. The experience of visiting a Government office, even if it is equipped with computers and air conditioners and other modern amenities, has not been very good for common citizens, particularly the younger generation, which is short on time and patience and has gotten used to getting what they want at the click of the mouse or a tap on a touchscreen. Apart from this, the inconvenience of travelling from their place of residence or work to the Government department, the time required to be spent on getting the job done, procedural ambiguity and availability of alternatives for such service delivery, play a major role in putting people off Government offices.

Today, there are various products being purchased through end-less e-commerce platforms and services being availed through technological platforms where citizens need not visit the brick and mortar shops/offices. In view of these emerging technological advancements, the expectations of citizens have enhanced significantly and they are willing to pay for services delivered to them at their doorstep and the convenience of making payment at the time of delivery of services, which is called Cash on Delivery (COD).

In fact, it was Flipkart, which after its launch in 2007, revolutionised e-commerce through its COD payment model. Thanks to the COD model, Flipkart's products reached far-flung areas of the country. People, who did not have the facility of online banking or credit cards, were the ones who propelled the COD model.

A Nielsen Global Connected Commerce Survey report says that about 83 per cent of shoppers in India favour utilising cash for all their online purchases. Customers also hesitate to input card information because of different online frauds and hacking. It says that the larger part of the payment made by buyers for online stores like Flipkart, Amazon and so on, was COD, where 72 per cent were from significant urban communities and 90 per cent from small towns.

The online retail sector is booming and COD is a major contributor to this. Despite the fact that e-wallets and internet banking services are on the rise, the COD payment model is still preferred by a large section of society. Payment choices like internet banking, credit and debit cards and e-wallets cater to just 30 per cent of online purchases as compared to COD. One sector, which could further boost the COD payment model, is the delivery of Government services. Citizens generally require birth certificates, domicile/residence certificates, caste certificates, income certificates, ration card, election card, school/college certificate, marriage certificate, land records, land registration documents, various permissions/licences for doing business and organising social functions/events and so on. Filing Government challans or taxes, getting various licences are some other services that could be delivered at home.

Citizens should be able to avail services through online processes where they can attach various documents as required by the Government and the Government/institutions concerned should send the certificate/licences/documents to their residence/office after finishing the verification and other due processes. Citizens are willing to pay the courier charges and "fee" as prescribed by the Government.

COD for Government-to-Citizen (G2C) services is one business model which can do wonders for both the Government as well as the people. While the Government will be able to cut costs in terms of office set-ups and improve efficiency, citizens will be saved from the unnecessary hassles of visiting Government offices.

The COD payment model from delivery of G2C services would have multiple advantages in terms of reduced carbon emissions as people won't have to drive to the service centres. There will be massive time saving and fewer man-days lost as well. It will cut graft and the system of touts as officers/staff will process the applications on a "first come, first serve" basis and reduce undue favouritism. The COD payment model for G2C services will redefine the process and character of Government services and bring out the "service" part in the true sense. COD for G2C services will be a game-changer for enhancing transparency in Government service delivery.

What can we do for India?

Citizens are very conscious of the fundamental rights guaranteed by our Constitution. However, are we equally aware of our duties towards our nation, especially during a crisis?

CHITTARVU RAGHU

The Prime Minister had appealed for a "Janta (people) Curfew" on March 22 in a bid to prevent the deadly Coronavirus from spreading into the community on a larger scale. At that time, Narendra Modi's appeal got an overwhelming response from all citizens and we stood together to do his bidding. Unfortunately post the Janta Curfew, people are not taking the 21-day lockdown announced by Modi seriously and are coming out of the homes.

For instance, in Hyderabad's Hi-tech City, where most of the highly-educated software professionals reside and software companies are located, there was a major traffic jam on March 25 and the streets were filled with people. Similar violations of the curfew are being reported from other parts of the country, like Delhi, Noida, Chandigarh and so on. This is despite repeated warnings by the Government about the need for social distancing to stem the spread of the Coronavirus.

We have witnessed the impact of the virus in Italy and the US due to the lack of social distancing, despite constant reminders by the Governments there on the importance of doing so. Citizens of India, and the world at large, are very conscious of the fundamental rights as guaranteed under the respective Constitutions of their countries. However, are we equally conscious of our duties towards our countries? As the citizens of India, we are obligated to abide by the fundamental duties contemplated under Article 51A of our Constitution. Article 51A was incorporated into the Constitution by the 42nd Amendment in 1976 and came into effect from January 3, 1977. The Article contemplates fundamental duties that citizens of the country are obligated to follow. These include abiding by the laws and the directions issued by the State in the interest of the public. These are all constitutional obligations cast upon the citizens to help in the promotion of the spirit of patriotism and for upholding the unity of the country.

Pursuant to the same, we performed our fundamental duty when we responded to the call for the "Janta Curfew". Post the March 22 curfew, we still continue to have obligations towards the nation's security and the health of its people. We should not only enjoy the fundamental rights guaranteed by the Constitution but we are also obligated to adhere to the fundamental duties.

The Government has got every right to give appropriate directions in such times of calamities and we are obliged to follow the same. In case we do not discharge our obligations in relation to our fundamental duties/obligations as contemplated under Article 51A, the State would be entitled to register cases against us under various provisions of the Indian Penal Code (IPC), more particularly under Section 269 and 270 of the IPC.

Section 269 says that, "Whoever unlawfully or negligently does any act, which is and which he knows or has reason to believe to be, likely to spread the infection of any disease dangerous to life shall be punished with imprisonment up to six months."

Section 270 of the IPC also implies that, "Whoever malignantly does any act, which is and which he knows or has reason to believe to be, likely to spread the infection of any disease dangerous to life, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term, which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both."

The Government may also invoke the Epidemic Disease Act, 1887, for better prevention of spread of dangerous epidemic diseases. The

“IT IS TIME FOR US TO REALISE THE SERIOUSNESS OF THE CORONAVIRUS PANDEMIC AND FOLLOW THE SOCIAL DISTANCING AND LOCKDOWN INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN BY THE GOVERNMENT TO THE LETTER. IF WE EXPECT OUR GOVERNMENT TO RESPECT OUR FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS THEN WE HAVE TO PERFORM OUR FUNDAMENTAL DUTIES, TOO. IT IS NOT A ONE-WAY STREET. IT IS MANDATED BY THE CONSTITUTION OF OUR COUNTRY”

Central Government may take measures as warranted and any violation of the same constitutes an offence under Section 188 of the IPC, which stipulates that any disobedience of an order promulgated by a public servant is an offence and shall be punished with imprisonment for a month.

In case State Governments are unable to channelise financial resources, in the light of the present calamity which obviously has an enormous adverse effect on the country's economy, the Central Government may invoke Article 360 of the Constitution and impose financial emergency. The cost of the COVID-19 lockdown in India has been pegged at ₹9 lakh crore or four per cent of our Gross Domestic Product (GDP), according to a report by British brokerage Barclays. A report by Nomura had said that as over 75 per cent of the Indian economy will be shut down during the 21-day period, the lockdown will lead to a direct output loss of approximately 4.5 per cent.

At present, almost 80 per cent of the major financial centres of the country have been locked down, including commercial cities such as Bengaluru, Mumbai, Pune, Hyderabad, Kolkata and so on. The US dollar is at an all-time high against the Indian currency i.e., equal to ₹75.62.

Most of our economy is dependent on small businesses and also the daily-wage earners. In the light of the total lockdown of the country, the State has to take care of the daily-wage workers who are deprived of their livelihood during this period as it would be impossible for them to survive without it.

In fact, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman announced a series of financial relief and welfare measures on Thursday for the farmers, the poor, widows, daily-wage and migrant workers as the country prepares for a long lockdown. The Government announced a ₹1.7 lakh crore Prime Minister Gareeb Kalyan Yojana. Sitharaman announced that the relief package would include direct benefit cash transfers, free Liquefied Petroleum Gas (LPG) to families living Below the Poverty Line (BPL), grains and pulses for the poor while the middle class would be able to withdraw funds from their Employees' Provident Fund (EPF) account. The Government will pay EPF contribution, both of the employer and employee, for three months for all those establishments with less than 100 employees out of which 90 per cent earn less than ₹15,000 per month. It also announced collateral-free loan doubled to ₹20 lakh to 63 lakh women self-help groups that will help seven crore households.

The Government also announced insurance of ₹50 lakh for medical professionals who are on the Coronavirus frontline. As of now, the Government is fulfilling its responsibilities towards the citizens.

However, Article 360 says that if the President is satisfied that the situation has arisen whereby the financial stability or credit of India or any part thereof is threatened, he/she may declare a financial emergency.

During this period, the executive authority of the Union is empowered to give directions to the States to follow the same. Any such direction may also include a provision requiring the reduction of salaries and allowances of all or any class or person serving a State or the Union Government.

A provision requiring all Money Bills and other Financial Bills to be reserved for the consideration of the President after they are passed by the Legislature of the State is also there. A proclamation issued under Article 360 shall remain in force for two months unless before the expiry of the period it is approved by both the Houses of the Parliament. Once approved, it remains in force until revoked by the President. Till now no such financial emergency has been imposed under Article 360 and the Government is doing all it can to mitigate the financial woes of the people that have been brought upon them by the lockdown. However, this may not be the case in the long run as the Coronavirus cases across the country are rising exponentially on a daily basis.

State Governments across the country are preparing quarantine centres in preparation of the expected onslaught of the virus if we are unable to contain the contagion. In these circumstances it may become necessary for the Central Government to take the appropriate decision to invoke Article 360 of the Constitution or else the State Governments may face a severe financial crunch.

The Modi Government has taken the lockdown decision in the nick of time although it could have done it a bit earlier. And all the citizens are obligated to heed the advice and warnings given by the State and Central Governments in this regard by confining themselves to their homes and only come out in case there is an emergency and for buying essential items.

It is time for us to realise the seriousness of the pandemic and follow the social distancing and lockdown instructions given by the Government to the letter. If we expect our Government to respect our fundamental rights then we have to perform our fundamental duties, too. It is not a one-way street. It is mandated by the Constitution.

COVID-19 will hit the farm sector

If sowing is delayed in the Zaid season or farmers miss this window because of late delivery of seeds, or no seeds at all, we are possibly looking at a famine-like situation emerging and also extreme feed shortages coupled with food price inflations later this year

INDRA SHEKHAR SINGH

Humanity is besieged by the deadly Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome Coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2) at the moment. However, more than the virus, its manifestation has gained notoriety in the world. As economies plummet, fear reigns over minds, streets and homes. Sneezing and coughing have become a reprehensible act in these times. The Indian Government, like others around the world, and the World Health Organisation (WHO) are trying very hard to contain this global pandemic. But the threat surrounds us. A major world power like China has fallen prey to this disease. Iran, Italy and now the US are being ravaged by it and it is only a matter of weeks, if not days, before it hits the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation (SAARC) nations and India, with its full might. As of now we have 694 confirmed cases and 14 deaths in the country but this number is going up daily. As a safety measure, the Union Government has announced a 21-day lockdown across the country. It is a commendable step to curb the spread of the virus.

But ahead of the curve, black markets were already trading new commodities — masks, soaps, disinfectants and so on. People continue to hoard supplies. Very soon black markets will load up on essential medicines, foods and so on and as the desperation level and death toll rise, the agrarian sector and seeds will be devoured by the Coronavirus mayhem, too.

Farming is the backbone of our economy and most of our agriculture today depends on quality seeds and the organised seed sector. Our food production is also dependent on availability of human resources or farm labour and free movement of agricultural products — including seeds, fertilisers and so on. Both are restricted at this time. The US has shut its borders followed by the European Union (EU) and the world has cancelled visas and restricted the movement of people.

Even when the lockdown in India is lifted, the current environment of fear can only herald decreased availability of farm hands in the near future. There will be a rise in farm wages for this season and we may see the cost of production of foods rising. The threat is even greater in the poultry sector, as prices of chicken in Delhi have nosedived. People are falsely conjuring avian flu with COVID-19 and this is leading to greater losses in the poultry sector. Even before the 21-day curfew began, the workers were reluctant to work on poultry farms due to the rumours.

The global seed sector is deeply dependent on a global supply chain of production regions and no one country is a seed sovereign by itself. The freezing of ports and seeds shipments will derail agricultural productivity later this year. Small and medium seed traders and small seed companies may also be at risk, as they don't store vast stocks of seeds. They rely on the international and domestic shipments before each season. A disruption will be detrimental to their business.

World over, March and April are a very important time for planting spring crops such as maize, sunflower, soybean, canola, spring wheat and barley, open field vegetables and so on, north of the Equator and autumn crops to the south. In India too, we will see the sowing of Zaid season crops soon. If sowing is delayed in the Zaid season or farmers miss this window because of late delivery or seeds or no seeds at all, we are possibly looking at a famine-like situation emerging and also extreme feed shortages coupled with food price inflations later this year.

The International Seed Federation (ISF) has sought to assuage fears citing the European Food Safety Authority (EFSA), Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the Bundesinstitut für Risikobewertung (BfR) statement: "There is currently no evidence that food, including seed, is a likely source or route of transmission of the virus. Transmission via surfaces, which have recently been contaminated with the virus is, nonetheless, possible through smear infections. However, this is only likely to occur during a short period after contamination, due to the relatively low stability of Coronaviruses in the environment." What this means is that there is no evidence yet and seeds may not be a gateway.

These are tough times and call for courage and truth. We need to make informed and scientific evidence-based decisions so that COVID-19 doesn't evolve into another monster which threatens not just our health but also our agriculture. The Indian Government and other Governments of the world should not impose any restrictions on agrarian products, including seeds. Seed companies and exporters should take responsibility for the health and safety of workers involved in the shipments. Port authorities have strenuous months ahead due to the massive work of screening shipments and people and they should be aided in this. The virus spreads from person to person, so the latest WHO directives should be broadcast and people and workers need to be made aware of them. Shipments of seeds anyways have a very low risk of spreading viruses and hence should not be stopped or delayed. The world must come together in this time of crisis. We need to become conscious and alert as this pandemic affects each one of us. We have to fight not only the Coronavirus but fear itself.

Modi pitches for new crisis management protocol

Let us put human beings rather than economic targets at centre of our vision for global prosperity, cooperation: PM

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

As the world reels under the coronavirus pandemic, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday urged the powerful G-20 grouping to put human beings rather than economic targets at the centre of the vision for global prosperity and cooperation.

In his address at a video conference of the G-20 leaders, Modi also pitched for developing a new crisis management protocol and procedures to deal with global health crisis besides significantly boosting capability of organisations like the WHO, Government sources said.

He also said G-20 should work together to reduce economic hardships, particularly of the poor nations in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic which has killed over 21,000 people and infected more than 470,000 globally. The Prime Minister called for ushering in a new globalisation for collective well being of entire humankind, noting that medical research should be freely and openly available for all countries.

He said empowering the WHO was necessary for development of effective vaccines to deal with global pandemics.

"Let us put human beings rather than economic targets at the centre of our vision for global prosperity and cooperation," Modi was quoted as saying by the sources.

He also stressed on developing a more adaptive, responsive, affordable and human healthcare system that can be deployed globally to deal with healthcare crisis.

'United' response to virus crisis

AFP ■ RIYADH

G20 nations pledged a "united front" on Thursday in the fight against coronavirus, saying they were injecting USD 5 trillion into the global economy to counter the pandemic amid forecasts of a deep recession.

US President Donald Trump and Russian President Vladimir Putin joined the emergency videoconference chaired by Saudi Arabia's King Salman, who called for coordinated action while facing pressure to end an oil price war between Riyadh and Moscow that has roiled energy markets.

The talks come amid criticism that the G20 has been slow to address the COVID-19 pandemic, which has left more than 21,000 dead worldwide according to official data, and triggered financial shock waves as more than three billion people are locked down.

"We are strongly committed to presenting a united front against this common threat," the leaders said in a joint statement after the summit. "We are injecting over USD 5 trillion into the global economy, as part of targeted fiscal policy, economic measures, and guarantee schemes to counteract the social, economic and financial impacts of the pandemic."

As concerns mount for poorer countries without access to capital markets or adequate health facilities, G20 leaders also pledged to work with bodies such as the International Monetary Fund to deploy a "robust" financial package to support developing nations.

"It is our responsibility to extend a helping hand to developing countries and (the) least developed countries to enable them to build their capacities and improve their infrastructure to overcome this crisis and its repercussions," King Salman said. The world's 20 most industrialised countries are scrambling to defend their virus-wracked economies amid forecasts they will likely plunge into a recession. On Wednesday, the financial ratings agency Moody's estimated the G20's overall gross domestic product would contract by 0.5 per cent this year, with the US economy shrinking by 2.0 per cent and the eurozone by 2.2 per cent.

This week, French President Emmanuel Macron and his Chinese counterpart Xi Jinping pushed for an emergency G20 summit to limit the impact of the pandemic.

The lack of immediate action stood in contrast to the 2008 financial crisis, when the group quickly swung into action to mobilise assistance for vulnerable countries.

Talk of global coordination has yet to resonate under Trump's isolationist presidency. On Wednesday, US Secretary of State Mike Pompeo took aim at China, saying the top diplomats of the Group of Seven agreed with him that Beijing was waging a "disinformation" campaign about the pandemic.

Xi calls for all-out global war against corona, moots tariff cuts

PTI ■ BEIJING

Battling the coronavirus at home, Chinese President Xi Jinping on Thursday called for an all-out global war against the pandemic and proposed tariff cuts and removal of trade barriers to prevent the global economy slipping into recession.

Speaking at the unprecedented virtual G20 Summit on COVID-19, Xi said the world needs to be resolute in fighting an all-out global war against coronavirus which has created an unprecedented health crisis.

"This is a virus that respects no borders. The outbreak we are battling is our common enemy. All must work together to build a strongest global network of control and treatment that the world has ever seen," Xi said through videoconference.

Xi's statement came amid growing international criticism of China's reported failure to be fully transparent in reporting the COVID-19 outbreak in the central Chinese city of Wuhan last year.

Xi said the community of nations must move swiftly to stem the spread of the virus and China will be more than ready to share its good practices, conduct joint research and development of drugs and vaccines, and provide assistance where it can to countries hit by the pandemic.

He said China has set up its online COVID-19 knowledge centre that is open to all countries. About the pandemic's impact on global economy, Xi asked G20 members to cut tariffs, remove barriers and facilitate the unfettered flow of trade.

He called on all G20 members to take collective actions, send a strong signal and restore confidence for global economic recovery.

VIRUS TOLL OVER 21,000

AFP ■ MADRID

As world leaders hold online crisis talks on Thursday on the coronavirus pandemic that has forced three billion people into lockdown and claimed more than 21,000 lives.

With the disease tearing around the globe at a terrifying pace, warnings are multiplying over its economic consequences, and experts say it could cause more damage than the Great Depression.

Amid squabbling between the leaders of China and the US over who is to blame, UN Secretary General Antonio Guterres called for the world to act together to halt the menace.

"COVID-19 is threatening the whole of humanity," he said. "Global action and solidarity are crucial. Individual country responses are not going to be enough." The global lockdown — which also took in India's huge population this week — tightened further on Thursday as Russia announced it was grounding all international flights, while Moscow's mayor ordered the closure of cafes, shops and parks.

Tokyo's millions of citizens have been told to stay home and tourism-dependent Thailand has shuttered its borders. Economists say the restrictions imposed around the world could cause the most violent recession in recent history.

"The G20 economies will experience an unprecedented shock in the first half of this year and will contract in 2020 as a whole," ratings agency Moody's said.

Unemployment rates are expected to soar — as much as 30 per cent in the US — according to James Bullard, president of the St Louis Federal Reserve.

Leaders of the G20 major economies will hold a virtual huddle later Thursday in the shadow of such dire predictions. "As the world confronts the COVID-19 pandemic and the challenges to healthcare systems and the global economy, we convene this extraordinary G20 summit to unite efforts towards a global response," tweeted the king of Saudi Arabia. Saudi currently holds the rotating G20 presidency.

WHO chief Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus said richer nations needed to offer support to low and middle income countries. The devastating effect on poorer nations was laid bare on Thursday when the Philippines announced that nine frontline doctors had died after contracting COVID-19.

Three large Manila hospitals said this week they had reached capacity and would no longer accept new coronavirus cases. Hundreds of medical staff are undergoing 14-day self-quarantines after suspected exposure, the hospitals said.

The death toll from the virus, which emerged in China late last year, continued to grow, with the US becoming the sixth country to hit four figures. Almost 1,050 people are now known to have died in the United States, with nearly 70,000 confirmed infections, a tally by Johns Hopkins University showed.

Infections near 5L as health systems buckle

AP ■ MADRID

The number of coronavirus infections closed in on a half-million worldwide Thursday, with both Italy and the US on track to surpass China, and a record-shattering 3.3 million Americans applied for unemployment benefits last week in a stark demonstration of the damage to the world's biggest economy.

Health care systems in Europe and New York buckled under the strain, with Spain's death toll climbing to more than 4,000.

In the US, an unprecedented $2.2 trillion economic rescue package to help businesses, hospitals and ordinary Americans make it through the crisis cleared the Senate and is expected to be voted on in the House on Friday.

At least 2.8 billion people, or more than one-third of the Earth's population, are under severe travel restrictions.

But the head of the World Health Organization (WHO), Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, scolded world leaders for wasting precious time in the fight against the virus that has already killed more than 22,000 people and infected over 480,000, thrown millions out of work and ravaged the world economy.

"The time to act was actually more than a month ago or two months ago," he said Wednesday. "We squandered the first window of opportunity. ... This is a second opportunity, which we should not squander and do everything to suppress and control this virus."

In the United States, where deaths passed 1,050 and at least 70,000 people were infected, the damage from the widespread economic shutdown was made plain when the number of people applying for unemployment benefits last week was more than four times the old record, set in 1982.

A political battle, meanwhile, raged between those demanding urgent action for a long siege against the pandemic, like New York Gov. Andrew Cuomo, and President Donald Trump.

Trump has expressed hope churches could return to normal by Easter on April 12, and grumbled that "our country wasn't built to be shut down" — apparently concerned that the outbreak's devastating effects on financial markets and employment will harm his reelection chances. Democrats say Trump is putting the economy ahead of the health and safety of Americans.

"I'd like to say, let's get back to work next Friday," said Joe Biden, the front-runner for the Democratic presidential nomination. "That'd be wonderful. But it can't be arbitrary."

In Brazil, the country's governors are defying President Jair Bolsonaro over his call to reopen schools and businesses, dismissing his argument that the "cure" of widespread shutdowns is worse than the disease. As of Thursday, the country had more than 2,500 cases and 59 deaths.

New York has emerged as a virus hotspot. The city's mammoth convention center is being turned into a hospital. The state recorded more than 350 deaths.

Spain has become the country in Europe where the outbreak is spreading the fastest.

On Thursday, the Health Ministry reported reported nearly 8,600 new infections and 655 deaths, bringing the total cases to over 56,000 and more than 4,000 fatalities — second only to Italy's death toll of about 7,500.

Spain toll over 4,000

AFP ■ MADRID

The coronavirus death toll in Spain surged to 4,089 after 655 people died within 24 hours, the Health Ministry said on Thursday.

It was a 19 per cent increase on figures released Wednesday by the authorities in Spain, which has the world's second highest death toll from the disease after Italy.

The number of confirmed cases of COVID-19 rose to 56,188, the ministry said. Despite a national lockdown imposed on March 14, which parliament on Thursday agreed to extend until April 11, both deaths and infections have continued to mount, with officials warning this week would be particularly bad.

But the rise in the number of new deaths was smaller than that recorded on Wednesday when the figure rose by 738 or 27 per cent.

Health authorities are hoping it will soon become clear whether the lockdown is having the desired effect.

The Madrid region has suffered the brunt of the epidemic with 17,166 infections — just under a third of the total — and 2,090 deaths, or 51 per cent of the national figure.

Prime Minister Pedro Sanchez, whose wife is infected with the virus, has said this is the country's most difficult moment since its 1936-39 civil war.

"Only the oldest, who knew the hardships of the civil war and its aftermath, can remember collective situations that were harsher than the current one. The other generations in Spain have never, ever had to face as a collective something so hard," he said when he imposed the state of emergency on March 14.

Spain's demographics partly explain why it has been one of the worst-affected nations.

Coronavirus cases in US cross 65,000 with more than 1,000 fatalities

PTI ■ WASHINGTON

President Donald Trump has approved major disaster declarations on public health for many US states, including worst-hit New York, as the total number of confirmed cases in the country crossed 65,000 mark and more than 1,000 people have died due to the deadly coronavirus.

According to the Johns Hopkins coronavirus tracker, the number of deaths caused by the novel coronavirus in the US rose to 1,031 with 68,572 confirmed cases. The United States has the third highest number of confirmed cases behind China and Italy.

In addition to declaring a national emergency, President Trump has approved major disaster declarations for New York, California, Washington, Iowa, Louisiana, North Carolina, Texas and Florida.

This is probably for the first time in recent memory that over half a dozen states have been approved for major disaster declarations on public health.

Condition continues to deteriorate in New York City, which has emerged as the epicentre of the COVID-19 in the US.

By Tuesday, the number of confirmed cases crossed 30,000 and at least 285 people died. New York was followed by neighbouring New Jersey with 4,402 cases and 62 fatalities. California, with nearly 3,000 cases and 65 deaths is under lockdown.

In drastic move, Italy shuts most factories to halt virus

Soave: Italy has become the first western developed nation to idle most of its industry to halt the spread of the coronavirus, a potential cautionary tale for other governments, such as the Trump administration, that are resisting such drastic measures.

After more than two weeks of a nationwide lockdown, the Italian government decided to expand the mandatory closure of nonessential commercial activities to heavy industry in the eurozone's third-largest economy, a major exporter of machinery, textiles and other goods.

3.3 MN AMERICANS SEEK JOBLESS AID

Nearly 5 times earlier high

AP ■ WASHINGTON

Nearly 3.3 million Americans applied for unemployment benefits last week — more than quadruple the previous record set in 1982 — amid a widespread economic shutdown caused by the coronavirus.

The surge in weekly applications was a stunning reflection of the damage the viral outbreak is inflicting on the economy. Filings for unemployment aid generally reflect the pace of layoffs. Layoffs are sure to accelerate as the US economy sinks into a recession.

Revenue has collapsed at restaurants, hotels, movie theaters, gyms, and airlines.

Auto sales are plummeting, and car makers have close factories. Most such employers face loan payments and other fixed costs, so they're cutting jobs to save money.

As job losses mount, some economists say the nation's unemployment rate could approach 13 per cent by May. By comparison, the highest jobless rate during the Great Recession, which ended in 2009, was 10 per cent. The economic deterioration has been swift. As recently as February, the unemployment rate was at a 50-year low of 3.5 per cent.

And the economy was growing steadily if modestly. Yet by the April-June quarter of the year, some economists think the economy will shrink at its steepest annual pace ever — a contraction that could reach 30 per cent.

In its report on Thursday, the Labor Department said 3.283 million people applied for unemployment benefits last week, up from 282,000 during the previous week.

Yet many people who have lost jobs in recent weeks have been unable to file for unemployment aid because state websites and phone systems have been overwhelmed by a crush of applicants and have frozen up.

That logjam suggests that Thursday's report actually understates the magnitude of job cuts last week. So does the fact that workers who are not on company payrolls — gig workers, free-lancers, the self-employed — aren't currently eligible for unemployment benefits even though in many cases they're no longer able to earn money.

Trump's push to open economy could come at cost of lives

AP ■ WASHINGTON

The contrast could hardly be more stark. Gov. Andrew Cuomo of New York has said that if all of his sweeping, expensive measures to stem the coronavirus saved one life, it would be worth it. President Donald Trump has another view: The costs of shutting down the economy outweigh the benefits, frequently telling Americans that 35,000 people a year die from the common flu.

Though it may seem crass, the federal government actually has long made a calculation when imposing regulations, called "the value of a statistical life," that places a price tag on a human life. It has been used to consider whether to require seat belts, airbags or environmental regulations, but it has never been applied in a broad public health context.

The question is now an urgent one given that Trump in recent days has latched on to the notion that the cure for the pandemic should not be worse than the disease and argued that "more people are going to die if we allow this to continue" if the economy remains closed. He has targeted a return to a semblance of normalcy for the economy by Easter Sunday, April 12.

Critics say he's presenting the nation with a false choice at a moment when deaths and infections from the virus are surging.

"We're not going to accept a premise that human life is disposable," said Cuomo, whose state has seen far more infections and deaths from COVID-19 than any other state. "And we're not going to put a dollar figure on human life."

Taking aspirin may not reduce dementia risk

Sydney: Taking a low-dose aspirin once a day does not reduce the risk of thinking and memory problems caused by mild cognitive impairment or probable Alzheimer's disease, nor does it slow the rate of cognitive decline, say researchers.

Aspirin has anti-inflammatory properties and also thins the blood. For years, doctors have been prescribing low-dose aspirin for some people to reduce their risk of heart disease and stroke. However, there are also possible risks to taking aspirin, including bleeding in the brain, so guidance from a doctor is important.

Because aspirin can be beneficial to the heart, researchers have hypothesised, and smaller previous studies have suggested, that it may also be beneficial to the brain, possibly reducing the risk of dementia by reducing inflammation, minimising small clots or by preventing the narrowing of blood vessels within the brain.

US grants Iraq shortest sanctions waiver yet for Iran gas

AFP ■ BAGHDAD

The United States on Thursday granted Iraq a 30-day waiver to keep importing Iranian gas despite American sanctions, two Iraqi officials told AFP, the shortest extension yet.

The US slapped tough sanctions on the Iranian energy sector in late 2018 and has granted Iraq a series of waivers, usually for 45, 90 or 120 days. Baghdad relies on gas and electricity imports from its neighbour Tehran to supply about a third of its power grid, crippled by years of conflict and poor maintenance.

"This is the final extension," one source at the Iraqi president's office told AFP.

The source said Washington had been frustrated that Iran was meddling in the Government formation process in Iraq. Adnan Zurfi, who has had close ties with US officials since the American-led invasion of Iraq in 2003, was nominated on March 17 and has a month to pull together his cabinet. "The US did not want to put Zurfi in a difficult position by not renewing the waiver," a second senior Iraqi official told AFP, confirming the 30-day extension.

The official said Baghdad had prepared a checklist at the beginning of the last 45-day waiver period of ways the country could decrease its reliance on Iranian oil. "But we haven't been able to accomplish any of them because of the circumstances," the source said. Iraq has been hit by a cocktail of crises in recent weeks, including the government formation stalemate, collapsing oil prices and the novel coronavirus pandemic.

Market clocks best 3-day rally in years

As stimulus calms investor jitters amid lockdown

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Equity benchmarks surged for the third straight session on Thursday, logging their best three-day gains in years, after the Government's much awaited stimulus measures for coronavirus lockdown-hit segments lifted sentiments.

The BSE gauge Sensex surged 1,410.99 points or 4.94 per cent to settle at 29,946.77; while the NSE barometer Nifty shot up 323.60 points or 3.89 per cent to 8,641.45.

After the worst-ever crash on Monday, the Sensex has recovered by 3,965.53 points or 15.26 per cent over the last three sessions. Likewise, the NSE Nifty has regained 1,031.20 points or 13.55 per cent in three days.

On the Sensex chart, IndusInd Bank was the top gainer, rallying up to 46 per cent. Other winners were Bharti Airtel, L&T, Bajaj Finance, Kotak Mahindra, Bajaj Auto, HUL and HDFC — rising up to 10 per cent.

On the other hand, Maruti Suzuki, Tech Mahindra, Sun Pharma and Reliance Industries closed with losses.

All sectoral indices ended with gains with BSE telecom, capital goods, bankex, finance, realty and FMCG indices surging up to 10 per cent.

The broader markets also gained momentum with the Nifty Midcap and Smallcap indices rising 3 per cent each. In an effort to cushion the economic blow of the 21-day lockdown in wake of the Covid-19 pandemic, Finance Minister Sitharaman announced a slew of measures worth Rs 1.70 lakh crore to help citizens survive the crisis.

Paras Bothra, President of Equity Research, Ashika Stock Broking, said, "Domestic markets zoomed for the second day on the trot driven by optimism on USD 2 trillion package to US economy and also in anticipation of an economic package for the Indian economy. "Finance Minister indeed announced Rs 1,75,000 cr package for the poor and needy, however measures addressed to corporate or SMEs are still missing. Perhaps this will be followed by monetary stimulus by RBI along with forbearance on loan repayments."

The Rs 1.70 lakh crore economic package involves free food grains and cooking gas to poor for the next three months, one-time doles to women and poor senior citizens, higher wages to workers and measures to boost liquidity of employees. The scheme will be implemented with immediate effect.

"This is a package for lockdown impacted segments," said VK Vijayakumar, Chief Investment Strategist at Geojit Financial Services, adding that the Government is prioritising. According to traders, volatility remained during the day as March derivatives contracts expired.

The Indian Rupee surged by another 78 paise to close at 75.16 against the US dollar on Thursday after Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman announced various welfare measures to tide through the coronavirus crisis.

In a positive news for India's fiscal health, the crude oil prices continued to trade below USD 30 a barrel amid steep fall in demand due to COVID-19 led lockdowns in major parts of the world.

Unitech board working on resolution plan to complete stalled realty projects: Hiranandani

New Delhi: Crisis-hit Unitech's board, which has been superseded by the Central Government, is working on a resolution plan to complete stalled realty projects but the pace has slowed due to the coronavirus pandemic, its member Niranjan Hiranandani said on Thursday. "Board is working on resolution plan but now, with the pandemic crisis, things are moving slow. But, we are definitely working," Hiranandani said in a tweet while responding to a query.

Niranjan Hiranandani is managing director of Hiranandani group. He is also President of industry bodies Assocham and NAREDCO.

Asia markets mixed as US lawmakers debate stimulus

Hong Kong: Asian markets mostly rose or clawed back early losses on Thursday as investors breathed a sigh of relief that US senators have finally passed a gargantuan stimulus package for the world's top economy after being delayed by wrangling over details.

Unprecedented USD 2 trillion plan — described by Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell as a "wartime level of investment" — helped spur a surge across global equities as panicked traders worried about the impact of virus sweeping the planet. But another advance on Wall Street was blunted Wednesday as it emerged that four Republican senators have balked at the generous provisions agreed to in the bipartisan deal with the White House.

However, the bill eventually cleared the Senate by an overwhelming majority and will now head to the House of Representatives before going to President Donald Trump for his signature. Monster deal thrashed out between Republicans, Democrats and White House includes cash payments to American taxpayers and several hundred billion dollars in grants and loans to small businesses and core industries. It also buttresses hospitals desperately in need of medical equipment and expands unemployment benefits.

Kishen Kanhaiya is special to me: Anil

Actor ANIL KAPOOR said that his 1990 release Kishen Kanhaiya has a special place in his heart.

The actor reminisced about the Rakesh Roshan directorial as it completed 30 years. The actor said that he is glad to see "the love and appreciation that the film has received."

Anil said, "Madhuri Dixit and I have worked together in a lot of films and each has a set of memories which can never be forgotten. Kishen Kanhaiya was and continues to be my favourites. My double role gave me an opportunity to explore two very different personalities — one strong and the other soft."

The film will air on Zee Bollywood tomorrow.

'Samisha Shetty Kundra completes 40 days today. The first milestone for a mother and her child, as per Hinduism. It only makes me realise that there are so many other things we should be grateful for even if some things don't go as planned. For next 20 days, I'm going to document one thing that I'm grateful for every day.'

—Shilpa Shetty Kundra

Actor HRITHIK ROSHAN has stressed that the safety of the most fundamental caretakers of the city and society must be ensured. He has taken an extra step by procuring masks for Brihan Mumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC).

Hrithik tweeted, "In such times, we must do what we can to ensure the safety of the most fundamental caretakers of our city and society. I have procured N95 and FFP3 masks for our BMC workers and other caretakers."

He paid his gratitude to minister Aaditya Thackeray for giving him the opportunity to support the Maharashtra government.

Miley suffers anxiety in isolation

Hollywood singer MILEY CYRUS said she suffered a panic attack as she self-isolated in her mansion amid the COVID-19 pandemic.

The 27-year-old revealed how the time she spent locked away in her home triggered a number of issues.

"I was sitting outside my house one night and I was looking at the stars. And it was the one place where I felt really safe. I was thinking about how fortunate and lucky I am that I live in a space where I can still go out and take a walk. But not everyone has that space," she said.

"And so I started having this fear, anxiety and panic, and I actually started giving myself really cold feet," she added.

LIFE IMITATES FILMS

With binge-watch becoming the ideal quarantine activity, pandemic films are the new favourite genre across the world, says CHAHAK MITTAL

'CONTAGION FEELS PRESCIENT AS IT NOT ONLY GIVES AN ILLUMINATING GLIMPSE INTO WHAT HAPPENED — BUT WHAT MIGHT.'
—STEVEN ANDREW SODERBERGH (DIRECTOR)

There's no trespassing in this city or the planet. I'm sorry! Earth is closed today." Till a month back, this was just a dialogue by Tony Stark aka Robert Downey Jr in Avengers: Infinity Wars. But now, it is a lived reality. The shopping complexes, cafes and bars, cinema halls, theatres, museums, public centres, offices, and schools and colleges have downed their shutters and there is not a single soul on the streets amid the ongoing global pandemic of Coronavirus or COVID-19.

'Netflix and chill' was the buzzword for hanging out alone or with friends earlier but now, it's the favourite 'quarantine' activity. And while people juggle with deciding on what to watch online, data shows that streaming and downloads of films, which show global crises or pandemics akin to the present one, have seen a sharp rise. One such is Contagion (2011), which gives the viewer a feeling of déjà vu as the film revolves around a family man (played by Matt Damon) who tries to navigate a partial societal collapse after a deadly virus spreads across the globe.

As per the data released by various sources, the film is becoming one of the most popular pandemic genre movies of 2020. According to iTunes, it is the third most popular film on the channel currently as well as the only film in the top 10 that didn't come out in 2019 as every film that's listed in the top 20 was released in 2019, except for this one. The film might have not garnered as much attention when it was first released due to its "unrealistic" and some "highly fictional" assumptions as claimed by many critics. There were sequences where a vaccine was developed really quickly and the film depicted that the virus reached humans through contact with animals.

However, today, it has returned to make the audience realise how it predicted the Coronavirus outbreak of 2020 long back in 2011. As per the data released on March 8 by The Verge and TorrentFreak, which collaborated to study the rise of number of downloads of Contagion between January 1 and March 4, thousands of people around the world were found to be illegally downloading the pandemic film. The results were analysed by checking the IP addresses that shared the film and studying torrent tracker data. The study also said that before January 24, Contagion was torrented about 200 times per day around the world. On January 25, the number rose to 1,500. As per the US, after the virus started spreading there, the downloads were around 18,000 every day.

According to MUSO, a piracy analytics firm, Contagion downloads, from 546 on January 7, rose to over 30,000 by January 30. Such a high number of piracy visits of the film have proven what heights people reach up to when they are not able to stream any film that they want to watch.

As per the data by Google trends of the last 90 days, "Where can I watch Contagion?" became the ninth most searched query whereas "Contagion full movie download," or "Contagion Netflix" became the 19th, 20th and 21st queries respectively. The film is now available on Amazon Prime Video and Google Play only in some countries.

Not just the surge, the film is also becoming a medium of learning about the situation for students.

Tiring effect

Here's why having old tyres on your car could be a risk

Tyres are of vital importance since they are the only part of the vehicle that makes contact with the road. Yet motorists often neglect their condition and age, and the results can be catastrophic. In its most recently available information, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration says that 738 people died in 2017 from tyre-related crashes.

As a tyre ages, small cracks in the rubber begin to develop over time, appearing on the surface and inside the tyre. This cracking can eventually cause the steel belts in the tread to separate from the rest of the tyre. Tread separation can also happen to defective, underinflated and poorly maintained tyres. Hot climates will also accelerate the aging process.

Here's what you need to know to determine tyre age and what issues old tyres can pose:

HOW LONG DO TYRES LAST?

Carmakers and tyre manufacturers differ in their recommendations on when to replace a tyre. Many automakers, including Ford, Nissan, Mazda and Mercedes-Benz, tell owners to replace tyres six years after their production date regardless of tread life. Brands such as Continental and Michelin say a tyre can last up to 10 years, provided you get annual tyre inspections after the fifth year.

The NHTSA has no specific guidelines on tyre age and defers to the recommendations of carmakers and tyre manufacturers.

DETERMINING THE AGE OF A TYRE

You'll need to locate the transportation number printed on the sidewall of the tyre. The first two numbers represent the week in which the tyre was made. The second two represent the year. A tyre with a DOT code of 1018, for example, was made in the 10th week of 2018.

Tyres made before 2000 end in a three-digit code that is trickier to decode, but essentially if you see a DOT number ending in three digits, the tyre was made in the last century and should be immediately replaced.

If you see a partial DOT number on the outer sidewall, look for the full number on the inner side. Some tyre manufacturers opt to brand the number on the inside to reduce the chance of injury to the tyre mold technician.

AVOID USED TYRES

New tyres can be expensive, which is why used tyres are attractive to people who are strapped for cash. You'll often find used tyres for sale in classified ads or at tyre-and-wheel shops that offer them as a low-cost alternative.

The problem with used tyres is that, while you can check their age, you have no idea how well they were maintained or what conditions they were used in. It is safer to avoid them entirely.

MAKE SURE YOU'RE GETTING FRESH TYRES

There are instances when people have purchased what they thought were new tyres at retail stores only to find out that they were manufactured years earlier. A tyre from the prior year is common, but anything older is likely to have a shorter life span. You have the right to request newer ones. Check the date before you drive away to save yourself the hassle.

Make a tyre inspection part of your routine when evaluating a used car to buy. If you find that the vehicle you're interested in has old tyres, make that a part of the negotiation. The seller of the vehicle might be willing to discount the price so that you can buy new tyres, or even install new tyres before you purchase it.

LEARN TO LET GO OF OLD TYRES

If your tyres have plenty of tread left but are approaching the six-year mark, it's time to get them inspected for signs of aging. And if the tyre shop recommends a set of tyres, spend the money and don't put it off.

Getting rid of an unused spare or tyres with plenty of tread may seem counterintuitive, but if they are too old, it is the smartest thing you can do.

Rebecca Katz, director of the Centre for Global Health Science and Security at Georgetown University, recently revealed that she made her students watch the film's ending to "educate them about the interconnectedness between animals, the environment and the humans."

Film writer Scott Z Burns recently told a magazine, that while the disease in the film was more deadly than the COVID-19, Scott was more interested in using the virus to explore how the pre-existing conditions in society make us susceptible to fear as well as the virus. He said, "The similarities between Contagion and the Coronavirus are immaterial, accidental, and really not that important. What is more important is the societal response and the spread of fear and its knock-on effects, which are proving to be accurate" and that's why the film is gaining popularity among netizens across the world.

Director Steven Andrew Soderbergh also pointed out that Contagion feels "prescient" as it "not only gives an illuminating glimpse into what happened — but what might."

Well, another film that has taken the internet and netizens by storm is Korean Netflix series My Secret Terrius, which was released in 2018. Viewers believe that the film had "predicted" the current virus outbreak. One of the sequences in episode 10 depicts a doctor and an information spy talking about a potential virus named Coronavirus, which has allegedly been tweaked to make its mortality rate reach 90 per cent as compared to the MERS, which only had 20 per cent mortality rate. The doctor says that "the Coronavirus has an incubation period of two to 14 days," which is a more serious concern. She adds that the virus has been "manipulated to attack the lungs directly within just five minutes of being exposed." The "mutant virus" could be used as a weapon and lead to a biochemical global terrorist attack. The film is unavailable or has been removed from the online platform in many countries now.

Other Hollywood films which are again making it big because of the pandemic scare are Pandemic: How to Prevent an Outbreak (American documentary series, a Netflix Original, 2020), Pandemic (2016), Outbreak (1995), Carriers (2009), the series, Containment (2016), I Am Legend (2007), and The Andromeda Strain (1971). As the virus claims more and more lives, the films show how the average person must maintain social distancing, try hard not to touch his or her face, and only stay indoors. Nothing else can be done until a solution is found, which wouldn't happen overnight. Netflix Original film Bird Box (2018), which was a fictional and a metaphorical take on how a global pandemic can take over humanity, also depicted how people in order to survive must stay put in their homes to not let the plague reach them.

Corona doesn't spread via tears

Contrary to some reports, researchers now claim that the novel Coronavirus doesn't spread via tears and it is unlikely that infected patients are shedding virus through eye fluid.

While researchers are certain that Coronavirus spreads through mucus and droplets expelled by coughing or sneezing, it is unclear if the virus is spread through other bodily fluids, such as tears, said the study published in the journal, Ophthalmology.

There is one important caveat, though. None of the patients in the study had Conjunctivitis, also known as pink eye. However, health officials believe pink eye develops in just one per cent to three per cent of people with Coronavirus.

For the findings, researchers at National University Hospital in Singapore collected tear samples from 17 patients with COVID-19 from the time they showed symptoms until they recovered about 20 days later. Neither viral culture nor reverse transcription-polymerase chain reaction (RT-PCR) detected the virus in their tears throughout the two-week course of the disease, the researchers said.

The study researcher Ivan Seah also took samples from the back of the nose and throat during the same time period. The findings showed that when a sick person coughs or talks, virus particles can spray from their mouth or nose into another person's face.

You're most likely to inhale these droplets through your mouth or nose, but they can also enter through your eyes, according to the research.

The study also revealed that you can also become infected by touching something that has the virus on it — like a table or doorknob — and then touching your eyes.

While the patients' tears were clear of virus, their noses and throats were teeming with COVID-19, the researchers said. The authors wrote that the findings, coupled with the low incidence of pink eye among infected patients, suggest that the risk of virus transmission through tears is low.

The researchers hope their work helps to guide more research into preventing virus transmission through more significant routes, such as droplets and fecal-oral spread.

The virus has sent a nation of restaurant-goers back to the kitchen

Last Tuesday night in Tennessee, bluegrass musicians David and Virginia Blood were busy making sandwiches. In Pittsburgh, real estate agent Michelle Bushee was stirring a pot of homemade black-bean chilli in her kitchen instead of shepherding curious buyers through potential dream homes. Marty Prudenti, whose nights are usually spent working backstage at New York City's Lincoln Center, was in his Long Island backyard grilling burgers for his twins. And in Texas, Babette Maxwell — who would otherwise have been running at least one of her three teenage sons to sports practices or school events — was Googling recipes to engineer homemade versions of her boys' favorite Taco Bell items.

Throughout the globe, lives have been radically upended by the COVID-19 pandemic. There is worry and washing of hands. But one bright spot is emerging from self-quarantine and mandatory working from home: In this nation that so often dines out or gobbles processed food on the run, people are suddenly cooking a whole lot more.

Before the coronavirus emerged, Kim Bierly often worked late at her office and then met her husband for a quick dinner at one of the restaurants in their central Pennsylvania neighbourhood. If they didn't eat out, they'd reach into the refrigerator and choose something packaged to heat up.

"I've always enjoyed cooking," Bierly says. "But it was being saved for weekends. And by the time you get to the weekend you had all the other things you need to do. So it would be something quick or something prepared."

Now working from home, she's pulling out old recipes — the kinds of things she remembers her mother making, like stuffed pork chops or a bubbling pot of chicken and noodles. "I think we need comfort right now," she says, "and food is comfort." Unavoidably, these home-cooked dishes come with a side of stress. We're trying to protect ourselves from germs at the grocery store, and may wonder whether supermarket shelves will become emptier in the coming weeks. But those worries are encouraging people to get creative by trying new ingredients and sharing advice on how to use unfamiliar vegetables or cuts of meat bought out of necessity.

What can you do with the canned foods that have been idling since last year at the back of your kitchen cabinets? Facebook groups like Pandemic Pantry have sprouted up as gathering places for strangers to share advice.

Michael Volpatt, owner of the gourmet Big Bottom Market in Sonoma County, California, tackled the subject of canned goods on a recent installment of the impromptu cooking show he began hosting from his kitchen on March 14. Scrolling through Facebook while gathering ingredients to make himself dinner that night, Volpatt noticed the Facebook "Live" button on his phone screen. With his store closed, he realised it was a way to connect with friends and customers, and not be alone while preparing his meal. "Hey everybody," his first broadcast began. "I've never done Facebook Live before. But I figured since I'm kind of staying at home and going to do some cooking later on, you're going to join me."

A growing audience now watches and comments nightly as he prepares everything from his mother's marinara sauce to pot pies made with his Big Bottom Market biscuit mix, which appeared on Oprah's Favorite Things list in 2016. "It's heartwarming," Volpatt says, "and it takes a lot of the awkwardness of this whole experience away."

Returning to old recipes and learning new ones can be both a necessity and a welcome distraction during this strange time. "Cooking brings back good memories," Bierly says, "like standing there at the pot on my stove, cooking the spaghetti and thinking of when my mother used to do that."

Food Network president Courtney White says her channel has seen a double-digit ratings increase in the past week, as viewers watch marathons of comfort food-focused shows like Guy Fieri's "Diners, Drive-ins and Dives." FoodNetwork.com has also had a double-digit increase in visitors and page views, White says. And many of the channel's chefs have been broadcasting informally from their home kitchens via social media, while viewers pepper them with questions in real-time.

Alone at our stoves, we're realising how good it can feel to make dinner from scratch by using just a few ingredients consciously and carefully. Families are also getting their kids involved.

"Now, more than ever, we hope you'll find moments of peace when gathering around the dinner table," the co-founders of the retail chain Savory Spice wrote in a website post to their customers over the weekend. "We hope you'll find moments of joy when preparing food with your little ones. We hope the simplicity of a home cooked meal is a quiet reprieve from the chaos outside."

What's for dinner?

While you are cooking food at home, the menu combination should be easy to prepare and satisfying

Just about now, you might be tired of cooking and eating what's in your refrigerator. We are all used to asking what's for dinner? What are we in the mood for — pizza, sushi, Mexican? And then going to a restaurant to get it.

Now, with the Coronavirus forcing many of us to stay home more, it's time to look at mealtime and cooking at home a little differently. Instead of asking, "What I am in the mood for?" I am looking more closely in my pantry and my refrigerator and letting my ingredients dictate what I make.

For example, a few months ago, I was lured to purchase a big bag of mixed unsalted nuts because they were labeled "Omega-3 Nut Mix." I thought I would eat a handful of "anti-oxidants" a day for my health but they have gone largely uneaten. So, this week, I mixed up my favourite sweet and savory spices with both brown and white sugar and made my baked Sugar and Spice Candied Nuts. Sure, the sugar adds a few more calories but now they are a delicious and welcome nibble instead of sitting unused in the pantry.

Likewise, I had a head of broccoli in the refrigerator that needed cooking. I couldn't bear the thought of steamed broccoli so I decided to roast it simply with olive oil and kosher salt at 400 degrees Fahrenheit until the tips were deeply caramelised. Broccoli is addictive roasted this way, as is cauliflower, and any leftovers are delicious the next day with a drizzle of balsamic vinegar and good olive oil.

If you have a pork tenderloin and a package of bacon in your fridge or freezer, you can make a simple two-ingredient main dish. A bacon-wrapped pork tenderloin dresses up your pork preparation with few ingredients and only a little more effort. If the bacon is room temperature, it will stick to itself as you overlap each piece and wrap the tenderloin. I do this with beef tenderloin as well. The smoky flavour and fat of the centre-cut bacon both protects and bastes the lean meat as it roasts. I grill mine indirectly but you can roast it in an 350 degree Fahrenheit oven set on a rack in a sheet pan. When the bacon-wrapped tenderloin is done, sprinkle it with your finishing salt and carve into thick slices to enjoy the benefit of the bacon crust.

Finally, while you are cooking dinner at home, think about each meal in simple terms: a main (usually an animal protein, or a bean or hearty vegetable dish), a green or other non-starchy vegetable, and a starch. That menu combination is easy enough to prepare and still very satisfying. During this time of uncertainty, ease and comfort are equally important. If you are making a stew or a pot of gumbo that has vegetables and protein in it, all you need to add is a starch like rice or fresh, hot cornbread.

And enjoy the cooking. A friend of mine at Traeger Wood Fired Grills sent an email this week and reminded me that "good food equals good mood." Pass it along!

SHEKUBURA

WHAT YOU NEED

For the dough:

- Wheat flour: 1 kg
- Unsalted butter (cut into large chunks): 400 gm
- Egg yolks: 5
- Sour cream: 250 gm
- Sugar: 1 tbsp
- Salt: ¼ tsp
- Vanilla powder (optional): ½ tsp
- Dry yeast: ½ tsp
- Lukewarm milk: ½ cup

For the filling:

- Skinned hazelnuts: 500 gm
- Pound walnuts: 200 gm
- Granulated sugar: 700 gm
- Ground cardamom mixed with frangelico: 2 tsp both

METHOD

- Put the flour and the butter in a large mixing bowl. Using your hands, rub them together until you obtain fine crumbs. In a small bowl, using a spoon, mix the eggs yolks, sour cream, salt and vanilla powder.

- In another small bowl, put the yeast, one tablespoon flour and one tablespoon sugar. Fill it with ¼ cup of lukewarm milk. Let it stand for about two minutes. Then add the egg-sour cream mixture and yeast mixture to the flour-butter mixture.

- Using your hands, mix the ingredients until fully incorporated and a rough and inconsistent dough is obtained. Transfer the dough to your work surface. Put the remaining ¼ cup of lukewarm milk in a separate bowl. Constantly wetting your hands with milk, knead the dough for a few minutes to make it smooth.

- Shape the dough into a ball. Put it back in the bowl, cover with plastic wrap and leave aside to rest for about 30 minutes.

- To prepare the filling, if you are using already skinned nuts, grind them finely in a food processor. In a mixing bowl, combining the ground nuts with sugar. Add the ground cardamom, frangelico and vanilla powder (optional). Mix until fully incorporated.

- To skin hazelnuts and walnuts at home: Place raw hazelnuts in a large frying pan and roast over medium heat stirring frequently until the skin cracks and begins to flake off after 10 minutes.

- Working with small batches of nuts at a time, place them on a kitchen cloth and rub with it to remove the skins. Most of the skins will come off although some will still cling to the nut (especially on walnuts).

- To skin almonds at home: Put the almonds in a pot and pour boiling water over them to barely cover their tops. Let the almonds sit in the water for about two minutes (do not keep them there for too long, or they will lose their crispiness and will be too soft). Drain off the water, pat them dry and slip the skin off by squeezing the almonds between your thumbs and fingers.

- Divide the dough into 36 balls, each weighing 50 gm. Work with one ball at a time and cover the rest. Roll each ball into a 10 cm (four-inch wide) circle, then place the circle in the palm of your hand, slightly folded, and put two tablespoons of the filling in the centre.

- Starting at one end, begin sealing the left and right edges towards the centre to obtain a half-moon shape. Sealed shekubura must be somewhat chubby with the filling and never flat.

- Using your thumb and index finger, start pinching and twisting the dough along the seal to decorate the edges.

- Arrange the pastry on a baking sheet, lined with parchment (baking) paper. Continue working with the rest of the dough balls, arranging them on the baking sheet as you are finished decorating their edges.

- Holding a pastry in one hand, and a maggash (tweezers) in the other, pinch the dough with the maggash at an angle and slightly lift it upward. Continue until you obtain a row of pattern. Create similar rows, each at an angle to the next one, until the entire surface is decorated.

- Bake on the middle rack of the oven preheated to 350 degree F for 15 to 20 minutes or until the edges just begin to change their colour and the bottom is light brown. Take care not to overbake the pastries — their tops should be light colour when baked. If you did not decorate your pastries with the tweezers, coat them with powdered sugar once they cool off.

SHOROGGHAL

WHAT YOU NEED

For the dough:

- Active dry yeast: 2¼ tsp
- Warm water: 1 cup
- All-purpose flour: 6 cups
- Salt: 2 tsp
- Milk (at room temperature): 1 cup
- Egg (at room temperature): 1
- Clarified butter: 7 ounces

For the spice filling:

- Fennel seeds: 2 tsp
- Cumin seeds: 2 tsp
- Turmeric: ½ tsp
- Salt: 1 tsp
- Ground black pepper: ¼ tsp

- All-purpose flour: 2 cups
- Clarified butter: 4 ounces

For the butter spread:

- Clarified butter (ghee): 0.5 litre

For the top:

- Egg yolks: 2

- Nigella sativa seeds (can substitute poppy seeds): 1 tsp

METHOD

- In a small bowl, dissolve the yeast in warm water and let it stand until frothy for 10 minutes. Sift the flour into a large mixing bowl. Add the salt and mix well. Add the yeast mixture, milk, egg, and butter and mix the ingredients with your hands.

- Scrape the dough onto a lightly floured surface and knead until smooth and elastic for 10 minutes. If the dough is still sticky, add more flour and knead. Put the dough back into the large mixing bowl, cover with a kitchen towel or plastic wrap and let rise for one and a half hours in a warm spot, until it doubles in bulk.

- To prepare the spice filling, toast the fennel and cumin seeds (or anise seeds) on a hot skillet for about two minutes, until their aroma rises (toasting will intensify their aroma and flavour). Grind the spices in a spice grinder or with a mortar and pestle. In a medium mixing bowl, combine all the ingredients for the filling except the butter. Stir to mix. Gradually add the melted butter and rub with your fingers until you obtain fine crumbs. Set aside.

- Melt the butter and set aside to cool and keep two large baking sheets ready.

You will need a large work surface divided into two sections: one to roll out the dough and another to assemble the layers. Sprinkle some flour onto one half of the work surface on which you will roll out the dough. Generously oil the other half of the workplace (or sprinkle with flour, too).

- To prepare the dough layers, shape the risen dough into a log and divide into nine equal pieces. Shape each piece into a ball. Work with one ball at a time and cover the rest with a kitchen towel.

- Using a thin, long rolling pin, roll out one ball into a 20-inch circle that is about 1/16-inch thick. When you roll the dough, from time to time sprinkle it with flour and spread all over the circle to prevent it from sticking to the rolling pin and for easier rolling. Wrap the rolled-out circle around the rolling pin and unwrap on another side of the work area.

- Drizzle five to seven tablespoons of the butter spread onto the circle and spread over with your hand. Roll out the second dough ball and place on top of the first layer. You can roll it out into a smaller circle. Now, with your hands, hold the edges of the second layer and very gently stretch in all directions (first one side, then the other) to fit the bottom circle, then stretch them together until a large rectangle is obtained. Continue rolling up the remaining dough balls in the same fashion, placing them on top of each other, brushing with butter (except the final layer, which should not be buttered) and stretching with your hands. Again, roll the subsequent balls smaller than the first one — you will stretch them after you have placed them on the previous buttered layer.

- Each stretched layer should be almost see-through. Take care not to tear the layers when you stretch them.

- Once all the layers are ready, gently pull the sides of the layered rectangle to stretch as far as it can go. The thinner and wider the layers, the flakier it will be.

- Salt: ½ tsp
- Unsalted butter: 1 cup
- Light brown sugar: 1 cup
- Eggs: 2

Rohit still hopeful on IPL 2020

IAN S ■ MUMBAI

Star Indian opener and Mumbai Indians captain Rohit Sharma felt that the time he spent with Ricky Ponting at the Indian Premier League (IPL) franchise was "magic."

Ponting was captain of MI in 2013, when they were yet to win an IPL title. He resigned from the post and handed it over to Rohit but stayed on as part of the coaching staff. His contribution is often seen instrumental in helping MI win their maiden IPL title that year and he would return to the franchise as a head coach, before moving to Delhi Capitals.

"Ricky Ponting to me was magic," said Rohit on Thursday in an interaction with former England captain Kevin Pietersen on Instagram.

"The way he handled the team when he was captain during the first half and then he gave the captaincy to me midway. That takes a lot of guts and after that to be as involved as he was as a support staff member. He was supporting all the younger players in the team and he was guiding me in captaincy," said Rohit.

Rohit said that he feels MI have made a few good purchases at the auction this year and hopes that the season starts whenever things settle. "We have got a few good additions to the squad like Chris Lynn, Trent Boult, Nathan Coulter-Nile.

"Boult is a good buy on a pitch like Wankhede with the swinging ball. I was looking forward to that. Alongwith (Jasprit) Bumrah he would have made a good combination. Still looking forward, fingers crossed. At some stage if things settle down, it should happen," said Rohit.

Rohit also said that current Mumbai Indians coach Mahela Jayawardene is someone who gives a lot of clarity to his players. "Mahela is very calm, very composed. He only tells you to do things he sees as right or not to do them if they are wrong. His messages are very clear," said Rohit.

The 2020 season of the IPL was scheduled to start on March 29 with defending champions MI facing Chennai Super Kings at the Wankhede Stadium in what was a repeat of the 2019 final. However the outbreak of the coronavirus pandemic forced the organisers to push the tentative starting date to April 15, which itself is now clouded in uncertainty due to the three-week lockdown.

'ITCHING TO PLAY'

Indian limited overs vice-captain is holed up in his apartment like everybody else these days due to three-week lockdown but said that he is making do with running up and down the stairs of his building to stay fit. "It's very hard actually (to stay fit)," said Rohit. "I live in a building which has about 54 floors and we had to stop all the indoor and outdoor activities. So just been running up and down the stairs. Not 54 floors but about two or three floors up and down and doing some conditioning exercises here and there."

Rohit had been recovering — from a calf injury which he sustained during the fifth T20I between India and New Zealand — at the National Cricket Academy (NCA) in Bengaluru before it was shut down due to the spread of the pandemic.

He however said that he is completely fit now, although he is yet to do an official fitness test because the NCA is not working.

He said that he has been itching to play the game again after spending two months on the sidelines and was looking forward to the IPL.

"Definitely miss playing the game. I was injured for two months so have been itching to play. When I got the news that everything was going to be postponed I was very sad. I was really looking forward to playing in the IPL," he said.

Stokes continues IPL preparations despite cancellation threat

PTI ■ LONDON

Star England all-rounder Ben Stokes continues to train for the 13th IPL even though he is aware that the T20 league may become yet another sporting event to be cancelled due to COVID-19 pandemic.

"At the moment my next competitive cricket is going to be in the IPL," Stokes, who was bought by Rajasthan Royals in the 2018 IPL auction for ₹ 12.5 crore, told the BBC.

"That hasn't changed yet so I have to think I will be playing on April 20."

The England and Wales Cricket Board (ECB) had said last week that the county season would not start until at least the end of May, while England's tour of Sri Lanka was also postponed due to the dreaded disease. And given the current circumstances, a cancellation of this year's IPL looks inevitable.

However, Stokes said he needs to keep working on his fitness to be ready if and when the IPL happens.

"I have to get my head round that I am playing even though in the back of my mind I know I am probably not," he said.

"I have to build up and get myself physically in a position that if it does happen I am good to go. I cannot take three weeks off and expect the body to be ready for April 20 because it doesn't work like that. It might happen and if it does I don't want to be behind."

"There will be a lot of advice given to us and if it was an option to go we will have to take the sensible one."

'SHORTENED IPL'

England wicketkeeper-batsman Jos Buttler is hoping for at least a curtailed IPL this season, aware that it would be difficult to conduct the "massive tournament" in the wake of COVID-19 pandemic.

"No news at the moment. We saw, initially, that it was going to be postponed. It's very hard to see this changing in the immediate future, so I don't see that as a possibility at the moment," Buttler said in a skysports podcast.

"Obviously, it's such a massive tournament for world cricket, so hopefully some of it can go ahead — perhaps a shortened tournament."

LONDON: Wimbledon could be postponed or even cancelled after All England Club chiefs called an "emergency meeting" for next week to discuss whether to go ahead with this year's tournament.

Wimbledon is set to start in London on June 29, but the continuing spread of the virus has caused havoc and the grass-court Grand Slam could be the next major event to be delayed.

"The AELTC can confirm that it is continuing a detailed evaluation of all scenarios for

Wimbledon fate to be decided next week

The Championships 2020, including postponement and cancellation, as a result of the COVID-19 outbreak," an All England Club statement said.

"An emergency meeting of the AELTC Main Board is scheduled for next week, and in preparation we are communicating closely with the LTA, and with the ATP, WTA, ITF and the other Grand Slams." Pressure is growing on the All England Club to make a decision and organisers have ruled out playing the tournament behind closed doors.

"The build for The C'hips is due to begin at the end of April," the statement said.

"At this time, very short window is available to us to stage The Championships due to the nature of our surface suggests that postponement is not without significant risk and difficulty. Playing behind closed doors has been formally ruled out."

Given it takes two months to get the Wimbledon site ready for the event, a decision needs to be made soon and All England Club chief executive Richard Lewis expects the call will be made at the emergency summit. AFP
