Remdesivir, first drug to get US FDA nod for Covid-19

Barber shops, sale of non-essentials allowed in orange zones: MHA

New Delhi: The Ministry of Home Affairs on Saturday clarified that barber shops and liquor stores are allowed to function in green and orange zones, whereas, only essential services are allowed to function in red zones. The Centre has also said that the same guidelines will be followed in so-called ‘grey zones’ too.

Avind stated that any violation or non-compliance will be viewed seriously as per the rules.

The FDA authorization came after researches, including one led by Indian-American physician Anubhav Srivastava, and Remdesivir shortened the recovery time in people who have fallen ill from the new coronavirus.

Trump said that FDA is an important treatment for hos- pitalized coronavirus patients.

The FDA allows for emergency use of investigational agents to treat serious conditions when no adequate, approved alternatives exist.

The recommendation for emergency use of Remdesivir is based on findings from two clinical studies in the United States.

The drug is said to be effective against the CoV-2 strain and it’s already been approved for use in non-human primates. The FDA’s decision is based on the results of two sets of clinical trials in the US, conducted by the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID).

The Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) is planning to study whether the novel coronavirus is circulating and spreading within the country.

According to a senior scientist of the council’s national research body, determining whether a strain of the virus is widespread within the country is crucial.

It will take some time for us to know the presence of the strain across the country. But indications are not likely to show up in the initial virus samples from different types of samples and across India.

Finally! Conditional Liquor sale allowed across India

The Government of Telangana on Saturday allowed liquor vends to open from noon in the state’s nine districts and zones as per the recent guidelines of the Centre.

If liquor is what you have been missing, with social distancing, there’s good news for you, even if you happen to be in a green zone. The blue alcohol will be allowed in all zones and even in orange zones, provided they have obtained the required permission from the authorities.

The government has ordered that liquor vendors must be registered with the respective municipal authorities and also obtain a special certificate from the district administration clerk.

The government has also ordered that no workers are required to be employed in liquor vends and also prohibited the sale of alcohol within a 100-meter radius of any hospital or health establishment.

The Centre has given a go-ahead for ‘in situ’ construction as the lockdown continues in the country.

The Cabinet, in a meeting chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, had decided not to charge any licence fee from liquor vends.

This was decided not to charge any licence fee from liquor vends.

The private sector is hoping that the government will announce further relaxations in the coming days as the lockdown is extended until May 3.

 Telangana CM K Chandrashekar Rao has confirmed that the government will announce some relaxation during the last week of April. The decision was taken after having a discussion with the Centre.

In this case, it was decided that liquor vends can operate from noon to 6pm in the state’s 9 districts and zones. The decision to open liquor vends was taken during a late morning meeting of Telangana government officials on Saturday.

The government has also decided not to charge any licence fee from liquor vends. This decision was taken in a meeting of the Telangana cabinet under the chairmanship of CM KCR.

The group has also decided to conduct a study to determine whether the virus is spreading in the country. The study will also indicate whether there is a need to increase the number of coronavirus testing.

Focus on GHMC, other red zones to flatten the curve

With Hyderabad remaining a red zone in the battle against coronavirus, authorities are focusing on developing strategies to flatten the curve without implementing lockdowns in the city. With a visit to Gachibowli and Malakpet on Tuesday, Mayor Bonthu Rammohan said the city was on the right track to control the spread of the virus.

Refraining from commenting on the discussions, the mayor said that Hyderabad is a multi-speciality hospital city and there should be no panic in treating patients. He also instructed for necessary arrangements to ensure the smooth running of the hospital system.

However, with the increasing number of cases, the Greater Hyderabad Municipal Corporation (GHMC) is revising its strategy to control the spread of the virus. The corporation has urged the citizens to follow the lockdown rules and cooperate with the authorities.

Quantitative easing (QE) is a monetary policy tool used by central banks, especially in advanced economies, to stimulate economic growth by increasing the money supply and encouraging banks to make more loans and extend credit. It’s different from traditional monetary policy tools such as the setting of interest rates. QE involves the purchase of securities like government bonds or mortgage-backed securities by the central bank from the private sector, which injects money into the banking system, reducing the cost of borrowing for banks and making credit more available.

The term “helicopter money” is a metaphor for a central bank simply dropping money into the economy, much like throwing money from a helicopter. It’s a more direct form of monetary policy compared to QE, where the central bank buys securities from the private sector, injecting money into the banking system through the purchase of those securities.

In the context of the COVID-19 pandemic, several countries, including the United States, have implemented QE to help mitigate the economic impact of the pandemic. The U.S. Federal Reserve announced a large-scale asset purchase program, which involved buying government bonds and agency mortgage-backed securities. This helped to reduce interest rates and support the economy.

In India, too, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has implemented various measures, including the purchase of government bonds in open market operations, to support the economy during the pandemic. The government has also provided direct cash transfers to the poor and interest-free credit for small businesses.

Reflecting on the effectiveness of these policies, some economists argue that while they may have helped to stabilize the economy, they do not address the underlying structural issues that may lead to future crises. The key is to balance short-term stimulus with longer-term reforms that can ensure stability and growth.

From classrooms to healthcare consultation, from business meetings to court hearings, to even party lives has become virtually smart in corona times. Call it videotelephony or just a way to skirt social distancing online meetings on special platforms have gone into vogue. MUSAHBM speaks with industry stakeholders about how these platforms have made work and play, both accessible.

Another platform that is equally making waves is Microsoft Teams. A message from Sambit Roy, Country Head, Modern Workplace, Microsoft India says on March 19, 2020: “We announced the arrival of product innovations as part of our commitment to the Teams experience—to many, it’s a ice meeting. We continue to invest in experiences that will make it easier for teams to communicate and collaborate. The new features reflect our commitment to two things: Building the very best online meeting experience for our customers and bringing our customers the rich functionality they expect from our professional services, including frontline health workers.”

Samik Roy, Country Head, Modern Workplace, Microsoft India tells you.

Some of the features that make this platform stand out is that it is accessible directly through many compatible browsers and devices, supports integration with third-party applications, and has a rich set of features and functionalities. Let’s explore this platform in detail.

HEAD, ZOOM VIDEO COMMUNICATIONS

Another platform that is equally making waves is Teams and Microsoft has launched a video conferencing app called Teams in March 2020. With more than 500,000 daily active users, Teams is Microsoft’s answer to Zoom, the popular video conferencing platform. The app is not just being used by corporate and educational institutes, but for personal connectivities as well. Video conferencing apps are a Godsend. It becomes impossible to keep our pace to fulfill our commitment to provide the best services to all our users. Fourth, Microsoft Teams is the only platform that allows you to upload your own custom images, “Roy tells you. Fifth, it adheres to IETF security standards for Datagram Transport Layer Security (DTLS) and Secure Real-time Transport Protocol (SRTP). The “data in transit is always encrypted by default with Google meeting services, which can eliminate the risks of cyber threat.

For those still unclear of the app, it is an enterprise platform, designed for communication and collaboration across organizations. It has several features like video conferencing, file sharing, and messaging. What makes Teams different from other video conferencing tools is its ease of use and accessibility. Users can easily join meetings, share files, and collaborate in real-time.

With Teams, Microsoft aims to provide businesses with a flexible and affordable platform to improve collaboration and productivity. The platform is designed to support remote work and telecommuting, making it a valuable tool for businesses and organizations of all sizes.

The platform has been free for over a decade, with over 200 million meetings taking place every month, and the number of daily active users has increased significantly. This is partly due to the platform’s ease of use and accessibility, as well as its integration with other Microsoft products like Outlook and SharePoint.

Microsoft’s commitment to privacy is another key factor in the platform’s success. Teams is designed to be compliant with various privacy regulations, including GDPR, HIPAA, and HIPAA HITECH, ensuring that user data is protected.

Microsoft has also been proactive in addressing security concerns. The company is committed to providing regular updates and fixes to address any potential vulnerabilities. This has helped to build trust and confidence in the platform among its users.

Despite these factors, Microsoft faces competition from other video conferencing platforms like Zoom and Google Meet. These platforms offer similar features, but Microsoft’s focus on security and privacy have helped it to stand out in the market.

Microsoft’s vision for Teams is to provide a platform that enables businesses to work together more effectively, regardless of location. The platform is designed to support remote work and telecommuting, making it a valuable tool for businesses and organizations of all sizes.

By prioritizing security, privacy, and accessibility, Microsoft Teams provides a powerful tool for businesses to collaborate and thrive in the modern workplace.

While almost all the industries have been impacted because of this pandemic, the ones which have been hit harder than the others are the Airlines & Tourism, Hospitality, Automobile, and Power. Abhishek KUMAR, as he studies.

The Great Lockdown & its Impact on the Indian Economy

The International Monetary Fund (IMF) has come up with a report and has warned the world that the world economy is expected to grow at -5 per cent for India in FY 2020-21. With the stock market turmoil, India might witness its worst growth rate since economic liberalization of 1991. IMF, India is among the only two major economies expected to register a positive growth rate of +0.8 per cent in FY 2021-22, the other being China, as the global growth rate in FY 2021-21 is expected to fall to 5.1 per cent per.

Impact on key sectors

Airlines & Tourism: This sector has been hit harder than the others. The International Air Transport Association (IATA) had predicted that the industry might lose up to $113 billion due to this crisis. Airlines like Emirates, Air India, Vistara, and Jet Airways have either filed for bankruptcy, or are in the process of restructuring their business. The Indian government has also introduced measures to pump more liquidity into the aviation sector. Airports have been closed, airlines have been asked to scrap their aircraft, and travel restrictions have been imposed. COVID-19 has brought the real estate industry to a grinding halt. There is a level of uncertainty that was not seen in previous economic downturns, says MINIKA CHATTERJI & DHAVAL MONAN, as they share solutions to save it.

I.
The real estate sector is in trouble, with the impact of the latest pandemic being felt across the globe. Property sales and activity have come to a virtual halt, and the uncertainty has extended to every aspect of the industry. We need to brace ourselves for a period of downturn, especially as we are yet to see the full impact of the virus.

II.
What does this mean for the Indian housing sector?

The Great Lockdown & its Impact on the Economy

Many of them are going to work in the informal sector. So, they might ask themselves ‘what can I do to ensure that the family is provided for?’

The Great Lockdown & its Impact on the Economy

The government is doing a fairly good job in providing relief. Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana and its schemes are likely to continue as they have limited fiscal resources that we have. The government has also announced a stimulus package which includes a cash component.

To address this, the government has announced a stimulus package which includes a cash component. The policy makers appear to be aware of this trade-off and in the future when necessary.

WHO PROPOSE THAT THE GOVERNMENT

After COVID-19 ebbs, the government should have to create policies to incentivise supply and ease the bottlenecks to trade.

We propose that the government should create incentives to encourage large players to participate in and invest more in the housing sector to reduce leakages and improve quality of the product. The government should provide incentives to local players.

When I was really young, I was a quite lively person and had no idea what I was going to do in the future. I was always doing things that were not in line with my values. I was a bit of a rebel, and my parents were always worried about me. But, over time, I started to realize that there was something special about me that made me different from others.

I started playing snooker at a young age, and it quickly became my passion. I practiced every day, and I was determined to become the best. I won my first championship when I was just 14, and from then on, I was unstoppable. I continued to win, and soon, I was recognized as one of the best players in the world.

I was always driven by the desire to be the best, and I never gave up on my dreams. Even when things were tough, I kept pushing forward. I am grateful for my parents, who always supported me and encouraged me to follow my passion. I am also grateful for my coach, who helped me to reach my full potential.

I have always been a hard worker, and I believe that success comes from hard work and dedication. I have always been determined to achieve my goals, and I will continue to do so in the future.

I am proud of my achievements, but I am also aware that there is always room for improvement. I will continue to work hard and strive for excellence, and I will always be grateful for the opportunities that I have been given.
