Barely a week after Rahul Gandhi’s address to the Congress Working Committee (CWC) on November 15, 1991, the erstwhile leader of the opposition had to deal with the fallout of his hard-earned success.

Bengal set for a clash of Titans

While a Modi versus Mamata battle may have worked well for the BJP at the Lok Sabha level, it may not be that easy at the state level for the BJP. For instance, Mamata's "Dah " or "Dah" is hardly cut, not only because she is a regional leader or the other reasons mentioned her motherhood's matters. She has declined other Opposition parties' requests to campaign on different fronts. When the BJP approached her to campaign in Assam or in entire northeast, she simply said that her state was in trouble and she could not do so.

On the other hand, the BJP upped its stakes in the 2019 Lok Sabha elections. It fielded candidates in 14 of the 16 constituencies in the state and captured 2 seats, just four less than the ruling TMC. Significantly, the BJP's vote share also increased from mere 2% in the 2011 Assembly polls, emerging as the number two party in the state.

The party is using its army of WhatsApp workers to consolidate the vote bank in the state. The primary objective of this campaign is to prevent the vote share from getting fragmented and going to the TMC. The BJP is also trying to create an image of the "TMC mafia" and "TMC goons" who are responsible for the state's problems.

The TMC has taken a counter-punch in the form of a massive "Namami Bangla" campaign, under which three major film stars come together to campaign for the party. The campaign has been launched by the TMC to present Mamata Banerjee as a development-oriented Chief Minister and a fighter against the BJP and its policy of "neoliberalism." The TMC is also trying to create a perception that the BJP is a party of "capitulation" to the Centre and is not interested in the state's development.

The BJP has also released its "Pink card," which is a symbol of "swachhta" or cleanliness. The party has promised to make Bengal "a clean and hygienic place." The card was also announced as a symbol of the party's commitment to fight against "black money." The BJP has also promised to introduce a "Black Money Act" to curb the menace of black money in the state.

The TMC has also released its "Mango card," which is a symbol of "Mamata" or "Mamata Banerjee." The card was announced as a symbol of the party's commitment to fight against "corruption." The TMC has also promised to introduce a "Corruption Act" to curb the menace of "political corruption" in the state.

In the end, the battle is expected to be a clash of Titans, with Mamata and Modi each trying to capture the vote bank and present themselves as the saviour of the state. The outcome of the election is likely to be decided by the voters' perception of the party's performance in the state and their trust in the candidates.
