States can't impose lockdown sans MHA nod

MHA's guidelines call for crowd management, but empowers States to clamp lockdown and night curfew in Covid zones

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The States cannot impose lockdown without approval from the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA). According to new guidelines released by the Ministry of Home on Wednesday, only in containment zones, the States are empowered to impose lockdowns and the list of containment zones has to be updated with the Union Health Ministry.

The Union Home Ministry on Wednesday issued new guidelines asking States to follow the strict directives in crowd management to contain the Covid-19 pandemic. As per the new directions, the States are allowed to impose restrictions like night curfew and reduction of number of people allowed to assemble but can't impose lockdown without approval from the MHA. Only in containment zones, the States are empowered to impose lockdowns and the list of containment zones has to be updated with Union Health Ministry.

The MHA's new directions, titled as 'Guidelines for Surveillance, Containment and Caution' will be applicable from December 1 to December 31, directed the States and Union Territories to implement Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) approved by the Union Health Ministry in controlling the crowd management, fines for non-mask wearing, opening of academic institutions etc. These guidelines are to implement 'Covid appropriate behaviour', said the MHA.

"The main focus of the guidelines is to consolidate the substantial gains that have been achieved against the spread of Covid-19 which is visible in the steady decline in number of active cases in the country. Further, keeping in view the recent spike in new cases in a few States/UTs, ongoing festival season and onset of winter, it is emphasised that to fully overcome the pandemic, there is need to maintain caution and to strictly follow the prescribed containment strategy, focussed on surveillance, containment and strict observance of the guidelines/SOPs issued by MHA and Ministry of Health & Family Welfare (MOHFW).

"Local district, police and municipal authorities shall be responsible to ensure that the prescribed containment measures are strictly followed. States and UTs, based on their assessment of the situation, may impose local restrictions, with a view to contain the spread of Covid-19 and implement surveillance and containment," said the MHA's new guidelines. There shall be intensive house-to-house surveillance by surveillance teams formed for the purpose and testing shall be carried out as per prescribed protocol in containment zones.

"Listing of contacts shall be carried out in respect of all persons found positive, along with their tracking, identification, quarantine and follow up of contacts for 14 days (80 per cent of contacts to be traced in 72 hours). Quick isolation of Covid-19 patients shall be ensured in treatment facilities/ home (subject to fulfilling the home isolation guidelines)," said the MHA detailing the SOPs to be followed in containment zones.

The new guidelines directed that the State/UT Governments shall take all necessary measures to promote Covid-19 appropriate behaviour and to ensure strict enforcement of wearing of face masks, hand hygiene and social distancing. "In order to enforce the core requirement of wearing of face masks, States and UTs may consider administrative actions, including imposition of appropriate fines, on persons not wearing face masks in public and work spaces," it said.

"Social/ religious/ sports/ entertainment/ educational/ cultural/ religious gatherings, with up to a maximum of 50 per cent of the hall capacity, with a ceiling of 200 persons in closed spaces; and keeping of the size of the ground/ space in view, in open spaces. However, based on their assessment of the situation, State/ UT Governments may reduce the ceiling to 100 persons or less, in closed spaces," said the

Sonia's Man Friday Patel succumbs to Covid

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Senior Congress leader and the party's trusted back-room strategist Ahmed Patel died at a Gurugram hospital in the early hours of Wednesday due to multiple organ failure more than a month after he tested positive for Covid-19.

His son Faisal took to social media to share that Patel died at 3.30 am at Medanta hospital in Gurugram where he was admitted on November 15 after he developed complications.

Patel's family urged all well-wishers to adhere to the Covid-19 regulations by avoiding mass gatherings. The veteran Congress leader had himself announced on Twitter on October 1 that he had tested positive for Covid-19 and all those who had come in close contact of him should also get tested.

Patel leaves behind his wife, a son and a daughter. Patel will be laid to rest at his paternal village and also his birthplace at Piraman in Gujarat on Thursday.

"AP" to his friends and "Ahmed Bhai" to colleagues, Patel was one of the closest aides of Congress chief Sonia Gandhi and her political secretary for a long time. He was the trou-bleshooter of the Congress and had steered the party out of ticklish situations many a time.

He was the grand old party's pointsman for building consensus on key issues with other parties and leaders and was instrumental in steering two UPA Governments under the Prime Ministership of Manmohan Singh.

A soft-spoken and affable man, Patel was well respected and had friends across the aisle and in different spheres. Patel was currently a member of the Rajya Sabha from Gujarat. He was an eight-time parliamentarian - five times in the Rajya Sabha, three times in the Lok Sabha. His last Rajya Sabha election in 2017 was contested very keenly amid charges of horse-trading. He was currently the Congress treasurer, a post that he occupied thrice.

Patel began his political career by contesting the local body polls in Gujarat's Bharuch district in 1976.

Chennai halts ahead of Nivar's landfall

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Flights operations were cancelled from 7 pm onward at the Chennai airport for 12 hours; metro and buses services suspended, and trains cancelled or diverted as torrential rain and heavy winds continued to lash Chennai and the coastal districts of Tamil Nadu ahead of severe cyclone 'Nivar's' landfall. More than 1.25 lakh people have been shifted to safer places in the State.

According to the India Meteorological Department (IMD), the powerful cyclone is likely to cross Tamil Nadu and Puducherry coasts between Karaikal and Mamallapuram around Puducherry around early hours (2 am) of November 26 with a wind speed of 120-130 kmph, gusting up to 145 kmph. Nivar has brought with it heavy rain and strong winds in coastal Tamil Nadu and Puducherry.

"Due to #CycloneNivar aircraft operations at #AAI #Chennaiairport will remain suspended from 1900hrs of 25.11.2020 (today) to 0700hrs of 26.11.2020. The decision has been taken considering the safety aspect of passengers and the severity of approaching Cyclone," the airport said on its Twitter handle.

In Chennai, the impact of powerful cyclone is being felt in the form of heavy rain and waterlogging in parts of the city.

Velachery, Madipakkam, Valluvar Kottam, Royapetta, Triplicane and adjacent sides of Mount Road - all prime areas in Chennai - have reported waterlogging.

The authorities also announced a closure of all roads leading to Marina beach, Pattinambakkam, Kasimedu Harbour, Besant Nagar beach, and Thiruvannmiyur.

Lalu lands in soup after audio of alleged phone call from jail goes viral

VIJAY DEO JHA ■ RANCHI

Former Bihar Chief Minister and RJD president Lalu Prasad has once again courted controversy for allegedly using mobile phones to influence MLAs from Bihar to support the mahagathbandhan candidate for the post of Speaker of Bihar Assembly.

Lalu Prasad convicted in four fodder scam cases is lodged at Kelly bungalow in Ranchi under judicial custody and as per the jail manual prisoners are not allowed to use any communication device.

An audio clip has gone viral, in which Lalu Prasad is heard talking to a Bihar BJP MLA Lalan Paswan. In the audio Lalu is directing Paswan to abstain from the election process for Speaker in Bihar.

BJP senior leader and former Bihar deputy chief minister Sushil Modi tweeted that Lalu Prasad is trying to lure NDA MLAs and he is using a mobile phone number 918051216302 to communicate with people.

The said number is registered in the name of one Irfan Ansari. He is said to be a close confidant and attendant of Lalu Prasad besides the office bearer of Jharkhand RJD. Irfan is learnt to have free access to Lalu Prasad and insides of the Kelly bungalow.

Well placed sources said that a day after Bihar assembly election was declared and the RJD led Mahagathbandhan narrowly missed majority mark;

Lalu Prasad had called Jitan Ram Manjhi of Hindustani Awami Morcha, Mukesh Sahani of Vikashsheel Inshan Party, Asaduddin Owaisi and independent MLA Sumit Singh to garner support for formation of Tejashwi Prasad Yadav led government in Bihar.

Now, the BJP has started mounting pressure upon the Hemant Soren led Government to lodge a criminal case against Lalu Prasad for attempting a horse trading.

"We request the honourable court to take cognizance and transfer Lalu Prasad to somewhere else," said former Jharkhand chief minister and BJP senior Babul Marandi.

"He has tried to lure an MLA of Bihar Assembly, which is a case of horse trading. It seems there is no law and order in Jharkhand else a prisoner can't be allowed to use a mobile phone," Marandi said.

Spokesperson of Jharkhand BJP, Pratul Nath Shahdeo, who has long been accusing the Hemant Soren government for extending hospitality to Lalu Prasad beyond jail manual said that on many occasions Lalu Prasad violated rules.

"Kelly bungalow remained the virtual office of the RJD where people frequently come to meet Lalu Prasad. Wherever a prisoner is taken or shifted that place automatically becomes jail. But, in the case of Lalu Prasad the State government gives a very strange logic," said Shahdeo.

On being contacted IG (Jail) Birendra Bhushan said that he has shot a letter to Ranchi district administration to investigate how Lalu Prasad was using a mobile phone despite being under judicial custody.

"Mobile phones are not allowed. I have asked the Ranchi district administration to see how such things is happening and whether the allegation is true or false. I have also directed for surprised inspection," Bhushan said.

Few months back Bhushan had directed district administration to beef-up security at Kelly bungalow in the wake of unauthorised visit of outsiders.

Two schools converted into camp jails

PNS ■ JAMSHEDPUR

Anticipating a second COVID-19 wave in the district, the administration has asked authorities to ensure there is no complacency in testing. The health department has come up with five new testing centres in different areas like Thakkar Bappa School, Dhatkadih, Community Center Kagalnagar, Sonari, ME School, Jugsalai, Kerala Samajam School, Golmuri Skill Development Center, Pardih, Mango, and Sidhgora Town Hall, Bagunhatu.

Officials informed that at the centres antigen test reports will be available within half an hour. At the same time, the report of TRUNET or RT-PCR will be found after 24 hours. In the report, if a person is found infected and is willing to remain in home isolation, then he is currently being given relief. But, for this, he has to follow the rules of home isolation. At the same time, the message will go on his mobile when the report comes negative.

The administration has also converted Mottlal Nehru Public School in Bistupur and Kerala Samajam Model School in Golmuri as camp jails. Apart from this, if the case increases then the professional college at Sidhgora and the professional flat at Kadma will be used.

“As per our plans we are all geared up to conduct as many as 10,000 tests per day from next week having increased the current test rate of 2,000 per day. A majority of those who had been to their native places in Bihar, Odisha and Bengal are returning back to the steel city after the festival season. We have come up with kiosks at Tatanagar railway station and bus stands,” informed the official.

“From Monday we have started carrying out about 2,000 sample tests across the nine blocks in the East Singhbhum and also in Jamshedpur. But as the people are still returning home to the steel city after the festive season, we fear a rise of the Coronavirus positive cases. We have, therefore, decided to increase the number of tests from 2,000 to 10,000 from next week.,” the official said.

Meanwhile, the district administration has also increased the mask-checking drive in the city along the helmet checking.

A police official revealed that they have carried out the drive at the points which are known as checking drive, but shortly such drive will also be conducted at the roads unknown for helmet or masking checking drive to nab the violators.

Palamu Admin holds KCC camps at block, circle level

PNS ■ DALTONGANJ

Reluctant banks not coming forward to credit Kisan loans under KCC have been cornered by the state govern-ment when it asked DCs in their respective districts to start holding KCC (Kisan Credit Card) camps at block and revenue circle level.

DC Shashi Ranjan said four such KCC camps were held one each at Sadar, Satbarwa, Naudecha Bazar and Hussainabad block and circle offices on Tuesday where more than 1,600 farmers submitted their forms for KCC loans.

The DC said more than 800 farmers alone applied for KCC loans in Hussainabad out of the total applied forms which are more than 1,600.

Ranjan said these forms so submitted by the farmers were on the spot received by the bankers of the respective banks located in the block for onward processing for sanctioning of the loans and then its disbursement.

Sources said banks which have so received KCC filled forms are now duty bound to process it for grant of loan and its disbursement as well and now no dilly dallying can be any more resorted to by the banks.

A banker asking for anonymity said the district administration should not be in any illusion that KCC will be coming so easily to the farmers as banks spend or waste a lot of time in sanctioning of loan and its disbursement on any pretext that they may find suitable for them.

This banker said administration has now handed down the KCC filled forms to the bankers which they were so refusing to receive earlier and thus the first hurdle in KCC has been overcome but there are still many ‘breakers’ in the banks for sanctioning of loan and its disbursement under KCC.

The DC said around two lakh thirty two thousand farmers are being covered by the PM Kissan Samman Nidhi Yojna and their further getting covered by KCC will boost their agricultural capabilities.

Coast Guard seizes 100 kg heroin meant for terrorism

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

In one of the major drug hauls in recent times with ramifications of narco-terrorism, the Indian Coast Guard seized more than 100 kilos of heroin in Tamil Nadu on Wednesday. The drug was recovered from a Sri Lankan boat which had received the consignment from a dhow in Karachi.

While investigations are on, officials said here the haul was the result of nearly nine day long operation. It ended in the seizure in the high seas south of Thoothukudi. Six crew members, reportedly Sri Lankan nationals, were detained and their questioning was on, they added. Officials from various agencies were now questioning the detained crew.

Preliminary probe indicated that the crew members told the Coast Guard the contraband was transferred to the Sri Lankan vessel Shenya Duwa on the high seas near Karachi by a Pakistani dhow. The consignment was to be ferried to western countries and Australia, sources said.

It was suspected Pakistan was sending the consignment to fund terrorism in several nations. The Lashkar-e-Tayyaba (LeT) and the Hizbul Mujahideen (HM) in the past used narcotics to fund their terror campaign in Kashmir.

The search of the Sri Lankan boat also led the Coast Guard to the recovery of five 9mm pistols and a satellite phone set. Moreover, the contraband was concealed in an empty fuel tank on the boat, officials said.

The seizure on Wednesday was carried out by Coast Guard (ICG) ship Vaibhav. Other ships of the force including Vikram, Samar, Abhivav and Aadesh and a Coast Guard Dornier aircraft were also involved in anti-smuggling operations, despite rough sea conditions.

A similar seizure was conducted by the Coast Guard last year and foiled an attempt by Pakistan to smuggle heroin worth over ₹500 crore.

The narcotics were recovered from a boat in October last year off Porbandar.

After being intercepted, the boat crew set the vessel afire and also tried to destroy the drugs. The Anti-Terrorism Squad of the Gujarat police arrested nine Iranians from the boat, the officials said.

The Iranian boat was loaded off the Gwadar port in Pakistan. Occupants of the boat set it ablaze as the Coast Guard and ATS personnel closed in. The boat sank off the Gujarat coast near Porbandar.

The interrogation of the detained crew revealed one Pakistani national named Hamid Malek had sent the consignment, which was loaded in the Iranian boat off Gwadar port of Pakistan.

The seizure came about after the ATS had received a tip-off that an Iranian boat will make an attempt to smuggle in heroin along the Gujarat coast.

The ATS contacted the Coast Guard and the Marine Task Force of the Gujarat police to launch an operation.

Prez, V-P, PM condole death of Ahmed Patel

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

President Ram Nath Kovind, Vice President M Venkaiah Naidu, Prime Minister Narendra Modi, former Prime Minister Manmohan Singh and a host of leaders including Congress president Sonia Gandhi and BJP chief JP Nadda condoled the death of senior Congress leader Ahmed Patel and hailed his contribution to his party and public life.

Kovind said he was distressed to learn that Patel is no more. "An astute Parliamentarian, Shri Patel combined the skills of a strategist and the charm of a mass leader. His amiability won him friends across party lines. My condolences to his family and friends," he tweeted and later at a public function he paid tributes in the mids of his speech.

Patel, 71, died at a Gurugram hospital in the early hours of Wednesday due to multiple organ failure more than a month after he tested positive for COVID-19. Patel, who leaves behind his wife, son and daughter, is the second senior Congress leader to have died due to COVID-related complications in two days. On Monday, former Assam chief minister Tarun Gogoi died in Guwahati.

In a statement, the Congress said party workers across the country are deeply pained by Patel's demise. As a mark of respect, the Congress party flag will fly at half mast for the next three days, the party said.

Vice president Naidu said he was deeply saddened. "He was an able parliamentarian and always maintained cordial relations with leaders across the political spectrum," the Vice President Secretariat tweeted quoting Naidu.

Prime Minister Modi said Patel's role in strengthening the Congress will always be remembered. "Known for his sharp mind, his role in strengthening the Congress would always be remembered. Spoke to his son Faisal and expressed condolences. May Ahmed Bhai's soul rest in peace," Modi said in a tweet.

Union ministers Amit Shah, Prakash Javadekar, Rajnath Singh and Smriti Irani were among the others who condoled the death of the Congress' key strategist.

Several top Congress leaders expressed grief, with Sonia Gandhi mourning the loss of an "irreplaceable comrade" and Rahul Gandhi saying Patel "lived and breathed Congress" and stood with the party through its most difficult times.

The Congress president said in her message that Patel, who served as her political advisor for years and was AICC treasurer, had dedicated his entire life to the Congress.

"I have lost an irreplaceable comrade, a faithful colleague and a friend. I mourn his passing and I feel deeply for his bereaved family to whom I offer my sincere feelings of empathy and support," Sonia Gandhi said. "It is a sad day. Shri Ahmed Patel was a pillar of the Congress. He lived and breathed Congress and stood with the party through its most difficult times. He was a tremendous asset," Rahul Gandhi said in his message.

Congress general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra described him as not only a wise and experienced colleague to whom she constantly turned for advice and counsel but also as a friend "who stood by us all, steadfast, loyal, and dependable to the end".

The chief ministers of Congress-ruled States—Rajasthan's Ashok Gehlot, Punjab's Amarinder Singh, Chhattisgarh's Bhupesh Baghel and Puducherry's V Narayanasamy and a host of other party leaders paid tributes to the leader who always maintained a low profile.

BJP chief J P Nadda said, "Deeply anguished to hear about the demise of veteran Congress leader Shri Ahmed Patel Ji. I pray for strength to the family members and his supporters at this hour of grief. Om Shanti."

While Home Minister Amit Shah said the news about the death of Ahmed Patel who made a significant contribution to the Congress party and public life is too sad, the Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said Patel was a seasoned leader, who made remarkable contribution to his party and to public life. "Ahmed Bhai had friends across party lines. My thoughts are with his family and well-wishers in this sad hour," Singh tweeted.

Chief Ministers of Uttar Pradesh, West Bengal, Jharkhand, Delhi Yogi Adityanath Mamata Banerjee, Hemant Soren and Arvind Kejriwal also mourned Patel's demise and admired his virtues.

Foundation stone for new Parliament building to be laid in first half of Dec by PM

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The foundation stone for the new Parliament building is likely to be laid in the first half of December by Prime Minister Narendra Modi. Besides, around five statues, including that of Mahatma Gandhi as well as Bhim Rao Ambedkar that are present in the existing Parliament complex, are expected to be temporarily relocated due to the construction work. The construction of the new building is likely to be completed by October 2022. The new Parliament building, which is triangular in its design, will come up at plot number 118 of the Parliament House estate.

According to sources, although December 10 is the proposed date of laying the new Parliament building's foundation stone, the final date would depend on the PM's availability. The relocated statues will be reinstalled at prominent places within the new complex once the project is completed.

Tata Projects Limited (TPL) had won the contract to build a new Parliament building for ₹861.90 crore in September.

As per the design by HCP, the new Parliament complex will have a total of six entrances: a ceremonial entrance for the PM and the President; a ceremonial entrance in general; one for the Lok Sabha Speaker, one for Rajya Sabha Chairperson, and MPs; another entrance for MPs; as well as two entrances for the public.

As per the plan, the new parliament building will have separate offices for all MPs and as a step towards creating "paperless offices", it will be equipped with the latest digital interfaces. The new Parliament building is a part of the Central Public Works Department (CPWD) and central government's Central Vista Project.

The Central Vista Project helmed jointly by the CPWD and the Centre also included a complete revamp of Rajpath — a 3 km long path between Rashtrapati Bhawan and India Gate. The Modi government had kick-started the process of bidding while focusing on the need of a new Parliament building earlier this year.

Kovind urges lawmakers to engage in healthy dialogue

PNS ■ NEW DELHI/KEVADIA (GUJARAT)

President Ram Nath Kovind on Wednesday said elected representatives should engage in a healthy dialogue in Parliament and legislative Assemblies and refrain from using unparliamentary language during debates in the House. Use of unparliamentary language and indiscipline in the House by elected members hurts the sentiments of people who elect them, Kovind said addressing the inaugural session of 80th All India Presiding Officers' Conference at Tent City in Gujarat's Kevadia village, near the Statue of Unity in Narmada district.

"It is expected from elected representatives that they remain committed to democratic values. The biggest challenge for elected representatives and democratic institutions is to fulfill the expectations of people. I believe that people of this country expect that their elected representatives to follow parliamentary norms. People get hurt when their elected representatives use unparliamentary words or indulge in indiscipline in Parliament or in the Assembly," Kovind said.

Vice President M Venkaiah Naidu and Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla were also present on the occasion and addressed the session. Naidu talked about the judiciary process and cited some judgments that gave a distinct impression of the judiciary's overreach. The higher judiciary deciding on Diwali fireworks, denying the executive any role in the appointment of judges through collegiums, invalidating the National Judicial Appointments Commission Act seeking to enforce accountability and transparency were some of the instances of judicial overreach cited by the vice president.

Naidu stressed that the legislature, the executive and the judiciary are bound to work within their respective domains as defined in the Constitution.

Naidu said harmony lies in each organ doing its job, without interfering with that of the others. This warrants a spirit of mutual respect, responsibility and restraint. Unfortunately, there have been several instances of crossing the boundaries," Naidu who is also the Chairman of Rajya Saha stated in his address at the 80th All India Presiding Officers' Conference.

Talking about the executive, the vice president said there have been cases when rules framed under the delegated "subordinate legislation" violated the provisions of the original legislation passed by Parliament. Expressing concern over the frequent disruptions in the legislatures, Naidu said the "decency, dignity and decorum" of the temples of democracy will be upheld only through adherence to three "Ds" — debate, discuss and decide.

Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla stressed on harmonious coordination between the legislature, executive and judiciary. Addressing the Conference, he said constitution provides the basis for the functioning of parliament and state assemblies according to people's aspirations. In a democracy, there can be a difference of opinion among institutions. But with improvement in procedures, constitutional provisions and democratic norms, solutions can be found, he said.

Sidhu likely to be back in Punjab Cabinet

PNS ■ NEW DELHI/CHANDIGARH

After months of strained relationship, cricketer-turned-politician and Amritsar MLA Navjot Singh Sidhu is likely to be back in the Punjab Cabinet. The former Lok Sabh and Rajya Sabha MP had quit his parent party BJP over differences and joined the Congress before the 2019 Lok Sabha elections.

Punjab Chief Minister Amarinder Singh, who had axed Sidhu from his cabinet early this year, invited the former Indian skipper over lunch at his official residence in Chandigarh triggering speculation that Sidhu may be re-inducted into the State Cabinet.

Both leaders have not been on the best of terms since May last year when the Punjab CM accused the former cricketer of the "inept handling" of the Local Government Department, claiming it resulted in "poor performance" of the Congress in urban areas during the 2019 Lok Sabha polls.

Sidhu was stripped of key portfolios in a cabinet reshuffle, after which he resigned from the state cabinet and stayed away from all Congress activities.

In between, there were also rumours that Sidhu can join Aam Admi Party which did not materialise as the famous television humorist had put conditions that he should be announced as the party's Chief Ministerial candidate when the next assembly elections in Punjab was to be announced.

According to sources close to the chief minister, both leaders spent an hour together at Amarinder Singh's residence and shared thoughts on various issues. "It was a warm and cordial luncheon meeting that saw Captain Amarinder and Navjot Singh Sidhu discuss a host of important political matters of Punjab and national interest. The two leaders spent a pleasant over an hour sharing thoughts on vital issues," said the sources.

Earlier, Sidhu had made a public appearance at a "tractor rally" against the Centre's farm laws in Moga last month where party leader Rahul Gandhi, Amarinder Singh and others were also present. Sidhu attended the "tractor rally" after AICC general secretary Harish Rawat met him at his residence in Amritsar.

India gets two predator drones from US to boost recce along LAC

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

In an effort to enhance surveillance capabilities and detect movement of the adversary specially on the Line of Actual Control (LAC), India has acquired two predator drones from the US. In the months to come, 18 more such sophisticated drones will be inducted into the Indian Navy.

Besides getting deployed in the Indian Ocean region there, security establishment also plans to use these machines in Eastern Ladakh and eastern sector of the LAC covering Arunachal Pradesh and Sikkim, source said here on Wednesday.

A US crew was assisting the Navy in maintenance and technical issues handling the drone.

Harsh Vardhan calls for robust Covid vaccine manufacturing, delivery module in country

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

As the world waits with bated breath for a vaccine to combat Covid-19, Union Health Minister Dr Harsh Vardhan, on Wednesday sought the help of innovators and industry to create a robust Covid-19 vaccine manufacturing and delivery mechanism.

In a message, delivered at the inaugural session of the Global R&D Summit 2020, organised jointly by FICCI and the Department of Science and Technology, Vardhan said research and innovation has become a way of life and their outcomes have been helping a wide of range of industries and communities to develop various solutions such as the latest delivery App to safer cars to breakthrough treatment for illnesses.

"The current pandemic has only reinforced our belief in innovation and research and development. They are not only helping in better disease management but also making our nation resilient and self-reliant," the Minister said. He cited the example of how industry in the country used the opportunity created by the Covid-19 pandemic to produce five lakh PPE kits per day from scratch.

"As the world raises to find a cure and vaccine for Covid-19, India is looking to be self-reliant in both vaccine and its mass production. Called as the pharmacy of the world, India has the largest capacity to produce Covid-19 vaccines," he added.

India, with second-highest coronavirus cases after the US, has at least five vaccine candidates under human trial, of which three candidates are undergoing advanced Phase-2/3 clinical trials to establish safety and efficacy.

Gururaj Deshpande, founder of Tejas Network and many other successful firms, said directed research, by universities to solve specific problems for industry, will not lead to breakthrough innovations.

"We need to find a way so that the industry seeks good thinkers, good innovators and rub shoulders with them to see how their problems can be solved. The Governments on the other hand have to reduce the friction and encourage people to make these connections," Deshpande said.

Woman abducted, raped for 14 days in Kota

Kota (Raj): A 20-year-old woman has accused a man of abducting and raping her for 14 days while keeping her in his captivity in a jungle near Mandana town of Kota district, police said on Wednesday.

In her complaint lodged at the Anta police station in neighbouring Baran district, the woman said she was able to approach the police after her father managed to rescue her from the 22-year-old man's captivity on November 22.

The woman said accused Phorulal Odd, a resident of Kapren town in Bundi district, abducted her on November 9 from her maternal uncle's village where she had gone to attend a marriage in the family, said Anta police station SHO Umesh Manaria.

He said the woman alleged that the man abducted her on his motorcycle when she had gone to the field to answer the nature's call and took her to a jungle where she was held hostage by the man and was raped repeatedly, said the SHO.

She told police that during her captivity, one day she managed to call up her father who rescued her, said the SHO, adding the father, however, had not lodged any complaint with the police when her daughter had gone missing.

The SHO said on the woman's complaint, the police have lodged an FIR against the man for kidnapping and rape and is trying to nab him.

The woman was earlier examined medically and her statement was recorded by a magistrate, said the SHO. PTI

Muslims react with caution to UP Govt's Ordinance against conversion for marriage

Lucknow: With the Uttar Pradesh government clearing a draft ordinance to deal with religious conversions solely for marriage, Muslim leaders on Wednesday reacted with caution, saying it should be ensured that it does not infringe upon the constitutional right to freedom of religion.

The Uttar Pradesh government on Tuesday approved a draft ordinance to curb forcible or "dishonest" religious conversions including those for the sake of marriage, which could land violators in jail for up to 10 years.

The good thing is that the draft ordinance does not use the term "love jihad" and the forced conversion which has been termed as illegal and punishable is something that is already held as crime in the Muslim law, senior member of the All-India Muslim Personal Law Board (AIMPLB) Khalid Rashid Farangimahli told PTI.

In the Quran also, Allah has said force in religion is not justified, so we have no objection to punishment over it, he added.

"Love jihad" is a term coined by a section of Hindu groups for Muslim men allegedly forcing women to convert in the guise of love and marriage.

"We are of the opinion that for peace and communal harmony, it is needed that Muslims and Hindus marry in their own communities. We have no objection to whatever we have seen in the ordinance," Farangimahli said.

The AIMPLB member stressed that whenever any law is enacted, it is based on the intention that there would not be any discrimination with anyone.

"We also expect that this law will not be used wrongly. The legal experts will have to see that the law does not raise a question mark on the constitutional right to freedom of religion for all Indians. Otherwise, we have no objection to this law," he said.

Shaista Amber, president, All-India Muslim Women Personal Law Board, however, said there was no need for such a law. "If anyone is getting married on the basis of deceit and forcibly getting the other person converted, there should be a stringent law for it and we already have laws for it. There was no need to bring a new law," she said. PTI

Junaid Azim Mattu elected Srinagar Mayor for 2nd time

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ JAMMU

Junaid Azim Mattu on Wednesday became Mayor of the Srinagar Municipal Corporation (SMC) for the second time in a row.

Mattu polled a total number of 44 votes in a house of 70 members while his nearest rival Sheikh Imran could garner only 7 votes. Nineteen other members abstained during voting. Mattu was ousted from the same post through a no-confidence motion in June 2020.

Previously associated with the Peoples Conference, Mattu contested the polls as an independent candidate with tacit support from the like minded corporators.

During the polling the rival candidate created ruckus inside the house and prevented members from casting open ballots.

On the intervention of the election authorities and security personnel deployed for election duty the situation was contained.

Thanking his supporters Mattu said, "I am happy they have trusted me once again and voted in my favour to lead the SMC".

Taking a dig at the National Conference for creating road blocks and preventing him from contesting the polls, Mattu said first they went to the court to stop these elections but when their plea was rejected they tried to scuttle the democratic process. He said, "I am happy I won the polls." Democracy prevailed", he added.

"They set central agencies after her before the elections raking up the Sharada (chit fund) and Narada issues ... but I am not afraid of them and am ready to go to jail if they ... let them arrest me if they have the courage to do so ... I will win from jail," the Chief Minister said citing how RJD patriarch Laloo Yadav maneu-vered his party to near-victory in Bihar from jail.

"Though they jailed Laloo Yadav he ran his party well from inside the prison and brought to a near situation of winning," Banerjee said accusing the BJP of horse-trading. What was promptly interpreted by the political experts as her diminishing trust on the party colleagues Banerjee said she had not appointed district observers for her party as "I am the observer in all the districts and all the seats," accusing some TMC leaders for being in touch with the BJP.

"There are some leaders who are with us in the day time and with the BJP during the night ... this will not be tolerated," she said.

Accusing the Marxists of providing the support base for the BJP, Banerjee said "yesterday's CPI(M) are today's BJP... these CPI(M) men are joining the BJP to avoid arrest but they must understand that the BJP will never come to power in Bengal."

The TMC displaced the Left Front in 2011 and ever since it has been in power in Bengal amid accusations of corruption, nepotism, falling law and order etc.

Reacting to Banerjee's statements Bengal BJP president Dilip Ghosh wondered why the Chief Minister was afraid of going to jail.

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

In a spike witnessed in the number of deaths and infections after a gap of two days, Maharashtra on Wednesday logged 65 deaths and 6159 new infected cases.

A day after Covid-19 deaths remained static at 30 for the second consecutive and the infections rose to 5439 in the state, the number of deaths more than doubled and infections rose by 720 to touch a figure of 6159.

People flout Covid protocol, run regular biz pushing positive cases to new high in Raj

Jaipur: Rajasthan, which was once being lauded for its effective containment of the Covid 19 hotspots, is witnessing a steep rise in Covid cases as the suspects have been operating their shops and businesses regularly, pushing the cumulative positive cases to a new high.

Arun (name changed), a medical shop owner, had his wife and children tested Covid positive but he was seen sitting at his shop selling medicines, steamers and various drugs regularly to other patients.

When asked why he has not quarantined himself, he said, "This is a chain which started a month back and is still continuing in my home; initially my wife was infected, when she turned negative, my son tested positive and now my daughter is Covid positive. I can't think of sitting idle inside my home for over a month and not doing anything as tests, CT scans and other such diagnosis have already added more to my regular expenses."

He is not the only one. A garment seller died in Jaipur due to lung infection. A week before his death, he and his sons were attending to customers at their shop.

"My father died due to lung infection. As the season changed, he contracted a cold. It took a turn for the worse and he passed away," his son said.

Other shopkeepers in the locality said that the family hid the information and did not reveal his real Covid status. The stories of people flouting the Covid 19 protocols do not end here.

There are many patients who are not going for testing but are simply following the prescriptions being circulated on WhatsApp while continuing their regular routine. Monica (name changed), who runs a kids garment shop, has been regularly attending to her customers despite having a cough and cold. She has also been taking the drugs prescribed by doctors which include azithral 500 mg, zincovit and limcee for the last four days.

"Will take these medicines for five days and shall be ok," she said.

ANS contacted CMHO Narottam Sharma in this context and he said, "People have been coming to us after five days of testing positive. We have to tell them that their quarantine period is 14 days so don't come to us before 14 days for another test."

People, it seems, have lost their senses and hence are adopting this approach, he said when IANS informed him of such suspects who have been running their regular business despite having Covid positive patients at home. "We are adopting random sampling and those caught shall be acted against strongly," he added.

On Tuesday, the state had 3314 cases out of which 656 cases were reported from Jaipur, on November 23, 3232 cases were reported from Rajasthan out of which 599 were from Jaipur, on November 22, 3260 Covid cases were reported.

Health Minister Raghu Sharma said on Monday that the state is registering over 3,000 Covid-19 cases daily for the past few days, calling it a second peak of coronavirus in the state. Taking precautions is the only way to save oneself from this pandemic, Sharma said, adding that there are many reasons for the spike in the number of Covid cases. IANS

Rats kill, eat newborn baby girl in Aligarh

Aligarh: A newborn baby was eaten and killed by rats in a hospital in the Atrauli area of Aligarh district. The victim complained to the SDM about this injustice. The SDM has given assurance of providing justice to the victim's family.

Pilkhuni resident Rajesh Kumar son of Sukhpal Singh said that his wife Sapna Devi gave birth to the baby in Kirti Hospital on Ramghat Road, Atrauli on Sunday evening. Both mother and child were healthy. After some time, the doctors asked to keep the baby in the freezer etc. and asked to pay the money. After some time, the doctors informed the family that the girl had died. The relatives were surprised that the girl was completely healthy. The staff did not give any satisfactory response on asking the cause of the girl's death. When the relatives of the dead girl saw the dead body, their senses flew away. The face of the newborn girl was cut in such a way as if a bug or a rat has bitten. Seeing the deranged face, the family of the victim heated up and started creating a ruckus at which the hospital staff pushed them out of the hospital and did indecency with the victim's family. It is alleged that only after depositing the outstanding money, the dead body of the girl was handed over to the relatives and the woman was discharged. The victim side has complained about the injustice done to the SDM. The SDM has given assurance of providing justice to the victim's family. PNS

Summoned for questioning, Sena MLA Sarnaik goes into quarantine

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

A day after ten of his family premises were raided and his son Vihang was detained by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) for questioning, influential Shiv Sena MLA and real estate development Pratap Sarnaik on Wednesday did not appear before the ED, saying that he had gone into quarantine on his return from Goa.

Fifty-six-year-old Sarnaik, who was not present when the ED raided the residences of his two sons and eight other premises at Thane and in Mumbai, was reportedly away in Goa.

Sarnaik, who met Shiv Sena MP and spokesperson Sanjay Raut at the office of Shiv Sena newspaper "Saamana", went into quarantine. His family sources said that Sarnaik and his son Purvesh had quarantined themselves at their Bandra flat in north-west Mumbai.

In a letter submitted to the ED at its Mumbai on his behalf, Sarnaik's brother-in-law told the investigating agency that Sarnaik was currently in quarantine, while son Vihang was attending to his wife Anita who has been admitted to Thane's Jupiter Hospital. He urged ED that Sarnaik be given one week's time to appear before the ED.

Reacting to Sarnaik's "failure" to appear before the ED for questioning, BJP leader Kirit Somaiya wondered if Sarnaik was "scared" of either Covid-19 or ED or money-laundering and benami transactions.

Sarnaik and his family members are being investigated for their links with TOPS GRUP, a security service provider company owned by Rahul Nanda. On his part, Nanda has gone on record, saying that Sarnaik was his friend for the past 25 years but had not invested in his company.

The case registered by the ED against Nanda and Sarnaik is based filed by two senior employees of TOPS GRUP, who were terminated from service for alleged misappropriation of money. In their complaint, the two employees had alleged that Nanda had "diverted" money to an offshore trust and his company had indulged in alleged irregularities in the acquisition of a firm in the UK The Shield Guarding Co Ltd for Rs 140 crore in 2017. On his part, Nanda has told the ED that he had set up a trust in Mauritius as per laws.

On Tuesday, the ED conducted simultaneous raids on two residence and eight other premises of Sarnaik and his family, and detained his son Vihang for questioning. Soon afterwards, a political controversy broke out in the state, as the ruling MVA partners slammed the BJP for "misusing" its official machinery to get at them on the occasion of their government celebrating first anniversary in office.

Pratap Sarnaik is a three-time MLA from Ovala-Majiwada constituency in Thane, and is a real estate developer and the Chairman of Vihang Group of Companies with interests in varied sectors.

Within hours after the ED carried out raids at ten Sarnaik's family premises, including son Vihang Sarnaik's residence at Hiranand Estate, at Thane and Mumbai, NCP chief Sharad Pawar joined other MVA leaders, including Shiv Sena leader Sanjay Raut and Maharashtra Congress president Pratap Thorat in accusing the BJP of using the central investigating agencies for settling its political scores.

Accompanied by a huge posse of Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF) personnel, the ED officials carried out searches at the residences of Sarnaik's son Vihang and Puvesh and eight other premises belonging to Sarnaiks. Pratap Sarnaik was not present when the raids took place.

After the raids, the ED officials detained Vihang whom they took to their office where they questioned him for more than six hours, before letting him off late in the evening.

Dubbing the ED raids on Sarnaiks' premises as an act of "political vindictiveness", Shiv Sena spokesperson and MP said: "The raids carried out on the premises of Sarnaiks were an act of political vindictiveness. If you want to arrest our people, please go ahead and do. We are not scared of any one. If you (BJP) have guts, please fight against us openly rather than using the central investigating agencies our people".

Without naming the BJP, Raut said that the party should forget about its dream of returning to power in Maharashtra for the next 25 years "no matter how much pressure it exerts on us or spreads terror through agencies"

In a sharp criticism of the BJP over the raids conducted on Sarnaiks' premises, NCP chief Sharad Pawar said: "What we are witnessing in the state today is an act of desperation. Instead of responding to questions being raised by the people (about the lack of governance), the ruling party at the Centre is using its official machinery against its opponents. This is not done. Our MVA government is about to complete its first anniversary in office. Having realised that it won't return to power in the state, the ruling BJP at the Centre is misusing its official machinery against its political opponents".

An era ends in Congress

With the passing away of Ahmed Patel and Tarun Gogoi, the old order has receded further. Rebuilding just got tougher

Perhaps, the Congress is in its lost year indeed. Perhaps that's the trigger for that emboldening moment among its legacy holders to rescue the party. Electorally, it is quite done with trying to make a difference. Organisationally, it has been torn asunder like never before. And now an era that justified its bigness and relevance has ended with the passing away of two of its senior and indispensable leaders, Ahmed Patel and Tarun Gogoi. Both were organisation builders who used dissent as an opportunity to strengthen and glue the party further. But Patel's loss is indeed irreplaceable as the Congress has lost its Chanakya. And the Gandhis, their lone warrior and the gatekeeper, who kept them safe and convinced everybody else that the party indeed needed them. A self-effacing man, who masterminded the shrewdest backroom strategies, he ran the party much like the late Pranab Mukherjee ran the Government under successive Gandhis, from Indira to Sonia. But he never let his ambition show unlike the latter, helming the party through crisis after crisis, propping up Governments with coalition partners when the numbers seemed impossible, raising funds and building a worth that would be bigger than any chair. He became the party, the Gandhis the representable face. That doesn't mean he was a courtier, far from it. Or that he was shy, being socially one of the most accessible of Congressmen. He was just sagacious and discreet that made him the most trustworthy leader and the party's ablest troubleshooter. He got the job done. A fact that he put to good use to build connections within the party and outside. He was accessible to cadres, had his ear to the ground and addressed their grievances, a quality that junior leaders are yet to imbibe, believing in data analytics than the human connect. A failing described by the well-meaning and weathered senior leader Ghulam Nabi Azad as "five-star" culture. In fact, Patel was the bridge in the perennial tussle between the old guard and the young Turks, between the Congress and its allies in the coalition era and between the party and the Opposition. And he endeared himself to corporates, a fact that even compelled Rahul Gandhi to bring him in as Treasurer though the latter was not too close to him unlike his parents. Patel never went public, choosing to settle matters in private, his last manoeuvre being calming the 23 senior "letter writers" and keeping the party leadership out of an ugly spat. In short, he embodied all that held the Congress together. And he had deep political foresight, winning the Bharuch seat swearing loyalty to Indira Gandhi in 1977, post-Emergency, when the tide was against her even in her own party. Rajiv Gandhi noticed his deliverer capabilities and made him party general secretary, a most wanted post back then. Then he became part of the first family circle. Obviously, he was left out in the cold after Rajiv's assassination but he never embarrassed PV Narasimha Rao despite being sidelined or chorused the then Prime Minister's critics. He had that stabilising quality. By the time Sonia Gandhi warmed up to politics and was ready for the 2004 Lok Sabha election, Patel became her strategist and advisor, finding relevant talk points in the campaign that demolished the "India Shining" blitz by the Atal Bihari Vajpayee Government. And despite the Modi wave, Patel made sure that the Congress at least had a moral victory by narrowing the BJP's margins in the Gujarat Assembly elections or clinching his own Rajya Sabha victory. But the best part was that for all the Congress' appeasement politics, Patel never ever played the Muslim card himself. Personal heft and consensus-building were also the virtues of Tarun Gogoi, who steadied the party's presence in Assam in the post-militancy years as Chief Minister, ensuring development, peace and growth and rescuing a ravaged State from the brink. Both these stalwarts did pull the party out of its morass and kept it on course.

The problem with the Congress now is that none of them is around to steer it back. The senior leaders are understandably adrift, unable to convince the leadership that the party should now give up the culture of nomination and restore organisational democracy first before renewing and rebuilding itself. Sonia, bereft of fresh ideas and now Patel, continues to be reluctant about anything that could challenge the continuity of the Gandhi bloodline at the helm of affairs. And with divisions so sharp, anybody with a prescriptive formula to revive it is usually considered a rebel than a well-meaning loyalist or dismissed as a defector, usually to the other national party. Yet the dynastic entitlement has outlived its purpose in a politically empowered India, one that sees no potential in the leadership of Sonia's children but would certainly believe in a rebuilt party. The Congress last held CWC elections 1998 and holding one now would keep the field workers and grassroots leaders invested in the party. All of them are currently cut off by a sedimentary layer of loyal courtiers, who are interested in simply playing along as long as their posts are secure. Yet State leaders like Chhattisgarh's Bhupesh Baghel and Punjab's Amarinder Singh have proven that they are able organisers and can even articulate and take a stand on national issues. If the Congress wants to stick around, this is its last chance to self-correct, rise above ego, value honest counsel and appear selfless in the interest of a larger political legacy. Unless its leadership just wants to exist for the sake of it. Dynastic stubbornness would have to give way to reason, wisdom and reconciliation. And if Rahul Gandhi still wants the adulation, he has to earn the confidence of the rank and file to be elected, not foisted, in the hardest of times. At least, he would have made a brave choice.

Beating Twitter?

While the makers of Tooter are hoping that a home-grown social network can take off, that bird has long flown

This is not the first time a new social network has popped up to take on the might of Twitter. A few months ago another network called Mastodon created a buzz and while many, particularly those of a certain liberal persuasion, populated the site, sadly its fate wasn't very different from the animal it was named after. The latest site to float up on your device is called Tooter, which is really just a rebadged version of the social network called Gab in the United States (US). While its makers claim it to be Indian or swadeshi, it turned out that even the "Terms Of Service" were copied almost verbatim from the American service. Without disparaging the efforts of those trying to create a new service, it would be good if Indian software engineers could create a new social network, one that integrates the best of the others and adds features, rather than blithely copying another product. On this front, India would be well served to learn from the Chinese internet experience.

That said, can Twitter or Facebook ever be replaced? There is an argument that says yes, given their monolithic power now as opinion makers themselves. Twitter has, in particular, played a dubious role in restricting access to certain information during the US election, or so the losing candidate, President Donald Trump, alleges. Then again, one could argue that without Twitter, Trump's popularity would never have soared. It is important that services like Facebook and Twitter, which are transnational, should come under some sort of regulatory mechanism and should not become some extra-constitutional force in nations like India. That said, the arguments for free speech and misinformation make for a dubious grey area and territories have to be clearly demarcated by the Government of the day. Also, a lot of the lamenting about Twitter being right or wrong for one side or another disguises the fact that it is what it is because of such issues and cannot be equal to the electorate. Much of what goes on in social media is happening at a level that the elite, on either side, have little or no idea about, on messaging applications like WhatsApp. Yes, social networks should be subjected to Indian regulations and it may not be a bad idea to create an Indian social network, but clearly, Tooter, like Mastodon, isn't the answer.

PRAFULL GORADIA

If I were still a resident of West Bengal, my first priority in the coming Assembly elections would be to retain the identity of our State. It should not in any way get compromised by Bangladesh or its concerns. We need to recall that on the eve of the Partition of 1947, Sir Abdul Rahim and the popular peasant leader, Fazlur Rahman, had come to Calcutta to convince Netaji's brother Sarat Bose that a united Bengal should be the third dominion besides Hindustan and Pakistan. The Communist Party then began to support the idea of an undivided Bengal. Qaid-e-Azam Jinnah also backed it because a Muslim-dominated Bengal would willy nilly side with Pakistan rather than India.

When it comes to song, music, language and literature, all Bengalis take pride in them. But when it comes to memories, most Bangladeshis would recall their social oppression at the hands of the zamindars and their camp followers. Many remember that even when they were invited to dinner at wedding celebrations, they would be asked to sit separately and after meals were expected to clear their clay thalis. This hierarchical rift ran so deep that a united Bengal would eventually be torn from within. In conversation a few years ago with some acquaintances from Dhaka, I was surprised to find that they resented how East Bengal was not given Calcutta during the Partition, although the city was, as it were, a stone's throw from Jessore. They believed it was unfair of the British to change the allocation at the last minute, and while conceding Lahore to Pakistan, they had done grave injustice to them. Calcutta was sought after because it was an economic hub and a port city; it supplied all the raw jute and the merchant princes of Kolkata reaped the benefit of jute mills and many other industries.

Mohammad Ali Jinnah was anxious to acquire Calcutta and the impression was that he was a capable negotiator. But obviously, he lost out, perhaps because his lungs were failing and his heart was set on getting Pakistan. The interests of East Bengal had a lower priority for him. Incidentally, the Qaid had never visited East Bengal until February 1948. The only so-called industry given to it was the Sylhet district, which was rich in tea gardens. Bangladesh has very few economic means, other

Bengal's revival

It is possible to make a quick start in reviving the State's economy without large investments but through governmental will and management than subsistence resources, such as rice and fish. That is why, it needs to follow the Japanese model of importing raw materials from overseas and converting them into products with high technology for export. It is difficult for any people to have such techno-entrepreneurial genius as the Japanese. The legend of Sonar Bangla is now threatened because six of the western districts no longer receive the rainfall of yesteryears and they badly need river water from India. The other misfortune is that most of the land is low-lying and the sea level is rising. According to scientists, in two decades' time, 17 per cent of Bangladesh's land area is expected to be submerged. All these factors make Bangladeshis the highest number of migrants to other parts of the world. But West Bengal has borne the brunt of this influx.

My heart throbbed with delight when a few years ago, Mamata Banerjee, with all the fury at her command, threw a sheaf of papers on the Lok Sabha Speaker's table. She was then demanding an infiltrator-free West Bengal. The State has limited land and plentiful people and its resources have undoubtedly been stretched over the years, the refugees bulging that burden. Then the many industries — small, medium and heavy — that the State was proud of rapidly turned into industrial graveyards thanks to trade unions and poor management in years past.

Bengalis are a gifted people and certainly intelligent right down to the illiterate. If for nothing else, for their talent, the State deserves a better economy. A revival is overdue and it should soon set a new economic agenda. Setting up a new industry is like creating a brand, which would have to compete in this age of globalisation. On the other hand, education is a sphere in which Bengal enjoys a natural advantage as well as reputation. The first major thrust should be in the field of schools, colleges and universities. There is scope for developing a big knowledge economy because the catchment area can sweep UP, Bihar, Nepal, Assam and the Northeast, as well as Bangladesh. None of these regions is able to provide young people with quality education.

I would begin with medical studies. With efficient management and capable doctors, as many hospitals as possible across the State could be improved by deploying professional managers supported by medicos. Let the doctors do their own specialised work. Management and medicine/surgery should not be mixed up. Thereafter, medical colleges along with as many hospitals as possible could be set up. The significant investment would largely be in creating medical colleges. The World Bank could lend the money since the Government could guarantee the loans. There should be an option, wherever possible, for expanding the hospital and adding another college, considering the best of technology is already available in India.

There is a crying need not for ordinary schools but for excellent ones with hostel facilities. The

New Education Policy (NEP) should be used as the lodestar for these schools to come up in the private sector with improved facilities. The land could be allotted by the State or there could be private-public partnerships. A similar strategy should be followed for colleges and universities. This would restore Bengal's pride as the seat of intellect.

Next, the Government should attend to sub-Himalayan West Bengal. There is space for a splendid international airport in and around Bagdogra, which is near the town of Siliguri. This is the place for proceeding to either Darjeeling, Kalimpong or Gangtok in Sikkim. The most glorious mountains in the world form the backdrop of these hill stations. Darjeeling is at 6,000 ft, and another 6,000 ft above that is Sandakphu, which is motorable, too, and from where one can view the Everest on a clear day. World class hotel groups and enterprising airlines could be lured with promises of support, a stable law and order situation and assurance that any obstacles in their path would be removed. Himalayan Bengal would become a brand in itself for Nature has indeed done its best to give North Bengal an unparalleled beauty. It is, therefore, possible to make a quick start in reviving the economy of West Bengal without undue large investments but with governmental will and excellence of management.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Maharashtra's COVID plan a good move

It is good that the Maharashtra Government has made it compulsory for all travellers coming to the State from other parts of the country to carry RT-PCR negative reports. Due to the second wave of COVID-19, the State Government has issued new Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) to contain fresh triggers for a pandemic spread. Just like in international travel, fliers to Maharashtra should get themselves tested 72 hours before boarding. Those passengers who do not have the RT-PCR test reports will have to compulsorily undergo tests at the airports at their own expense. The Airports Authority of India has been requested to check the report before allowing the passengers to board flights.

People arriving in the State via train will have to carry an RT-PCR negative test report from a sample collected 96 hours before their scheduled arrival in Maharashtra. Those rail passengers who do not have an RT-PCR report will be screened for symptoms at the alighting railway stations. And only passengers without Coronavirus symptoms would be allowed to go home.

For those travelling by road, the District Collectors of the State's border districts shall make arrangements to ensure that people are tested for symptoms, including body temperature. Those with Corona symptoms will have to undergo an antigen test and will be allowed entry in the State only if the report is negative. People with COVID-19 symptoms would be turned back.

This is being done as Maharashtra's COVID-19 tally has risen to 17,84,361 infections with 46,653 deaths. It is the first State under the Shiv-Sena-Congress-NCP rule to introduce such tough restrictions through notifications. This is a step in the right direction as the State will have to clamp down on imported infections if it has to get a grip on the pandemic on its own turf.

Better sense prevails

Sir — We appreciate the LDF Government in Kerala for bowing to public opinion and agreeing to put on hold the regressive Ordinance empowering the police to prosecute persons disseminating "defamatory content." Unlike other Governments, the Leftist Government in the State listened to sane voices, realised the scope of potential abuse of the Ordinance and made amends by keeping it in abeyance. One wishes that the Centre, too, would pay heed to the voice of the people on undemocratic laws. Clearly, the text of the law was not drafted by those with a clear understanding of the niceties of constitutional provisions. A staggering ignorance of the landmark rulings of the Supreme Court on criminal defamation was writ large on the Ordinance that had to be put in cold storage. The State Government may have had the good intention of curbing defamatory social media posts. But then the Ordinance, in the form in which it was promulgated, was seen as an attempt to gag the freedom of expression, which is the bedrock of democracy. The phraseology of the Ordinance, built on sweeping generalisations, did not indicate either discernment or sensitivity and gave the police blanket powers of crackdown.

The State cannot be seen to be arrogating to itself or arming itself with arbitrary powers in the guise of curbing abusive or offensive online content. Had the Ordinance been shown to Sitaram Yechury or the Politburo, the Kerala Government could have avoided the embarrassment of promulgating such a dubious law. Better sense has prevailed in the nick of time and saved us another round of Left-Right whataboutery.

A different ball game altogether

It is crucial to understand the financial behaviour and practices of SMEs which are totally separate from those of larger firms

HIMA BINDU KOTA

Although capital is a scarce resource for any business, it is even more scant for small and medium enterprises (SMEs). Therefore, cash flow and working capital management are the most crucial challenges of organisations in general and SMEs in particular. Working capital is short-term in nature and refers to the funds required for the daily functioning of a firm. In business parlance it consists of accounts receivables (debtors and any pre-payments, stock or inventory) and accounts payable (creditors and short-term provisions). The lifeline of any enterprise is the flow of cash and other liquid assets through a business cycle — a journey of collecting receivables from the debtors to pay off the creditors. This is also known as the cash conversion cycle. The efficiency and, therefore, the success of a business depends upon how fast the goods are converted into cash.

SMEs differ in many ways from large firms in terms of their financial behaviour and decision-making, mainly because of their characteristics and ownership. This ultimately reflects in their financial habits. So, what are the factors that affect the availability of capital to small enterprises? One of the most important issues is the size. According to researchers, during the start-up phase, the owner's personal savings are an important source of funds. Young and small firms do not have an established track record and may be characterised by informational opacity, making banks and other financial institutions reluctant to lend to them. In general, firms which are less than four years old, rely more on informal sources of funding.

However, when the SMEs increase in size and become larger, they have a greater network of banks willing to fund their business. The firm's ability to deal with multiple banks and other credit agencies generally grows with size, too. So, they rely more on long-term debt and external financing, including bank loans.

Second, the type of ownership is another important determinant for the source of funding. Any SME with a concentrated ownership, like in a proprietorship, should be more prepared to use bootstrap financing, as it would have greater difficulty in accessing a formal source of credit. From the lender's perspective, in such SMEs, there is no clear distinction between the owner and the firm, information asymmetry is prevalent and an ability to provide collateral is missing. On the other hand, a private limited SME may be viewed by financing agencies as more structured and credible. As a result, formal financing options are freely available to it. Third, the location of the start-up makes a huge impact. A firm's proximity to the banks has an influence on its ability to gain external funding. Research also suggests that one of the reasons for a company's failure is poor location that prevents customers and suppliers from reaching it. Therefore, despite high rentals, SMEs prefer to move to urban areas for the sake of better infrastructure and the ease of raising external finance.

Fourth, several researchers have provided evidence that the sector where the SME is operating has an impact on the short and long-term debt available to it. For example, short-term credit is used more in wholesale and retail trade as compared to manufacturing SMEs. Whereas the construction sector, hotel, hospitality and mining industries appear to depend more on long-term finance. And finally, availability of assets plays an important role in raising funds. From a lender's point of view, collateral, which is also known as the lender's second line of defence, is highly relevant while approving loans. Researchers Ono and Uesugi studied the Japanese SME loan market and found a positive relationship between the use of collateral and the ease of access to bank loans and external financing. It can also be understood that firms with lower tangible assets would face difficulties in accessing funds.

Additionally, the characteristics and gender of the owner too influence a firm's capability to raise external funding. According to several researchers in different countries, men and women differ in the way they raise cash for their businesses. There is empirical evidence that women entrepreneurs start their business with a smaller start-up capital, in fact less than half of the amount used by men. In addition, women also face discrimination from banks and other financial institutions. This is evident from the higher rates of interest charged from women entrepreneurs, the requirement of additional collateral, higher loan denial rate and so on. The age of the owner, too, impacts the personal financing preference. Older SME owners are less likely to take additional finance into their firms. Younger owners tend to use a variety of external cash sources like loans, overdrafts, credit cards and personal savings.

SMEs are the backbone of any growing economy. Therefore, it is crucial to understand their financial behaviour and practices which are very different from the financial management of large corporations. This would help policymakers come up with ways to improve the external financing scenario for such firms, as stronger SMEs make a stronger economy.

A case for natural gas

Consumption of one fossil fuel over another will, on its own, not offer a long-term solution to climate change, but employing less emission-intensive fuels can reduce pollution significantly

JONATHAN SYIEMLIEH

As the winter approaches, Delhi-NCR is under its annual envelop of smog. Caused by an unhealthy combination of low wind speed, change in wind direction, dip in temperatures and stubble burning in parts of North India, air pollution is back in the headlines and our daily lives. According to a study of 28 cities by IQAir and Greenpeace Southeast Asia, air pollution in Delhi-NCR was linked to the loss of an estimated 24,000 lives and 5.8 per cent of its Gross Domestic Product (GDP) in the first two quarters of this year, despite a strict COVID-19 lockdown since March. In fact, the linkage between rising air pollution levels and increase in COVID 19-related cases and deaths is being confirmed by several studies from around the world.

A recent study published in Cardiovascular Research, which was the first of its kind to distinguish between fossil fuel-related and other human-generated sources of air pollution, estimated that long-term exposure to air pollution has been linked to an increased risk of dying from COVID-19. The study estimated that about 15 per cent of deaths worldwide from the virus could be attributed to long-term exposure to air pollution. In Europe, the proportion was about 19 per cent, in North America it was 17 per cent and in East Asia about 27 per cent.

A recent study by Harvard University indicated that an increase of only one microgram per cubic metre in PM2.5 is associated with an eight per cent increase in the Coronavirus death rate. Long-term exposure to chronically-high PM2.5 levels weakens the ability of the lungs to fight off infections, therefore making people more susceptible to COVID complications.

In 2016, the national Capital ranked third on a list of cities around the world reporting close to 15,000 deaths due to air pollution. Shanghai was ranked first among the cities with most premature deaths at 17,600, followed by Beijing with 18,200 premature deaths due to PM2.5 pollutants. A study undertaken by Lancet Planetary Health the following year stated that Delhi had recorded the highest annual population-weighted mean PM2.5 levels in its air. Further, in 2019, the World Air Quality Report, compiled by IQAir, listed Delhi on top of the list of the capital cities with most polluted air for the second consecutive year with annual PM2.5 levels nearly 10 times the limit prescribed by the World Health Organisation (WHO). Other prominent NCR cities were also listed among the top 10 cities in the world with most polluted air.

Source apportionment studies, such as the ones conducted by IIT Kanpur (2013-2014) and National Environmental Engineering Research Institute (2017), have pointed out that secondary particles are a significant contributor to PM10 and PM2.5 concentrations in Delhi-NCR, with industrial point sources being the top four major contributors to PM2.5. Polluting fuels such as coal, diesel, pet coke and heavy fuel oil used by industries in Delhi-NCR are a major reason for this.

In such a dismal scenario, natural gas provides a good alternative to not only meet the energy needs of industries, but also as a less polluting option that can contribute to addressing environmental problems. The burning of natural gas for energy results in lower emissions of green house gas (GHG), Carbon Dioxide (CO2) and nearly all types of air pollutants in comparison to burning coal or other fossil fuels to produce an equal amount of energy. However, natural gas has not seen much penetration in industries, especially those situated in Delhi-NCR. According to British Petroleum, India's share of natural gas in the energy mix is lower than many large economies. It had reached a mere 6.2 per cent in 2019; this when the Government aims to raise the share of natural gas in the country's energy mix to 15 per cent by 2030.

Switching to natural gas and displacing polluting fuels has contributed to lower GHG emissions and improved air quality in New York, Toronto and Beijing, according to a 2015 report by the International Gas Union (IGU). The benefits of increasing the use of cleaner-burning natural gas in the industry were acknowledged and put into force by policymakers in Northern China in 2017 where the shift from coal to natural gas in industries led to extensive reduction in GHG and air pollution. In Turkey, the industry around Istanbul, too, witnessed a reduction in air pollution as a result of switching from coal-lignite to natural gas in the early 2000s.

According to the 2019 World Energy Outlook special report analysis, an estimated 98 per cent of natural gas consumed today has lower life cycle emissions intensity than coal, when used for power or heat. The analysis incorporates both CO2 and methane emissions and indicates that, on an average, coal-to-gas switching reduces emissions by 50 per cent when producing electricity and by 33 per cent when used for heating purposes.

The Energy and Resources Institute (TERI) in 2019 had assessed the potential and impact of a switch to natural gas from heavier polluting fuels among Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) units operating in Delhi-NCR. Data collected showcased the presence of thousands of MSME units operating in this region and using a variety of fuels ranging from coal to low sulphur heavy stock, light diesel oil, wood, bagasse, rice husk, other biomass fuels, high-speed diesel and natural gas. By and large, MSMEs were found to be disinclined to migrate to natural gas owing to high upfront costs such as connection costs and security deposit, limited access to natural gas and economic viability in terms of increased unit price compared to other fuel options. To add to this, end users were also charged a conversion cost and had to bear the cost of internal piping infrastructure.

Obtaining the right of way and other clearances from State/local Government to lay natural gas pipelines also contributes to delays in setting up adequate pipeline infrastructure. Notably, micro units among MSME clusters in Delhi-NCR were found to be located in non-conforming areas and were especially not in favour of switching to alternative cleaner fuels as this would entail putting themselves under the ambit of regulatory compliances.

However, a switch to natural gas in MSMEs is not without precedent. The case of Uttar Pradesh's Firozabad glass bangle industry is a prime example of how switching from coal and wood to natural gas, coupled with the adoption of energy-efficient technologies, can reduce energy consumption and GHG emissions. Similarly, the Morbi-Wankaner area in Gujarat witnessed immediate reduction in air pollution as a result of the local ceramics industry shifting from coal to natural gas in 2019, following an NGT order the same year. The area recorded a 75 per cent reduction in PM2.5 levels, 72 per cent reduction in PM10 levels and an 85 per cent reduction in sulphur dioxide (SO2).

Further, in case of a shift to natural gas at a metal casting unit in Faridabad, Haryana, the learnings have highlighted that along with fuel switching, there is also scope for further reduction in energy consumption if MSME units follow best operating practices to improve energy efficiency. This requires understanding of technological best practices and their assimilation and adaptation to meet the needs of individual MSME units.

The provisions for upgrading and introducing new clean technologies in MSME regulations can be capitalised in favour of natural gas augmentation in their energy mix. However, the diverse Government departments that have programmes and schemes related to enhancing clean energy measures in this sector are working in silos. It is important to achieve proper coordination among departments and link related programmes and schemes on clean energy, energy efficiency, technology upgradation, database generation, reporting and monitoring and capacity-building. This could ensure effective targetting and a confluence of actions at the intended delivery point.

There is an opportunity for natural gas penetration in the MSME sector provided the prices are rationalised, energy efficiency measures are put in place and proper regulations imposed to restrict consumption of polluting fuels. A policy directive from the Central Government to enforce the ban on usage of non-clean fuels like coal, wood and so on could be introduced in a phased manner. The city gas distribution companies could also be mandated by the Centre to completely erect the gas pipeline infrastructure in urban areas.

With the overall objective of increasing the adoption and usage of natural gas in the MSME sector, adopting a cluster-based approach would make natural gas penetration more effective. The Central and State Governments can play an important role in this area by facilitating the creation of necessary infrastructure and greener investments to ensure reliable and affordable supply of natural gas to MSMEs. Unabated consumption of one fossil fuel over another will, on its own, not offer a long-term solution to climate change, but employing less emission-intensive fuels such as natural gas can result in significant reduction in both CO2 emissions and air pollution.

A major leap for science and the Corona war

The mRNA technique may mean that future pandemics can be dealt with far quickly. The vehicle is available to carry the next vaccine

GWYNNE DYER

All the usual caveats apply: Don't go out and celebrate. Don't let your guard down because it is still going to be a long haul. This winter will be "hard", warns Ugur Sahin, co-founder and CEO of BioNTech, the German company that announced the first effective COVID-19 vaccine recently. "The vaccine can't be rolled out fast enough to reduce infections much in the current wave," he says.

The publication on November 16 of positive results for a second vaccine, this time by the US company Moderna, strengthened the optimism as did the fact that the AstraZeneca vaccine is also ready to roll out, even if it does have an average efficacy of just 70 per cent. Clearly, this Coronavirus can be beaten, and there are nine more potential COVID-19 vaccines already in the third and final stage of human trials.

But again, the riders: There will be at least half a million more COVID-19 related deaths this winter — or over a million if people don't observe the lockdowns and other restrictions like social distancing and use of sanitisers and face masks that are meant to contain the spread of the virus.

"What is absolutely essential," says Sahin, "is that we get a high vaccination rate before autumn/winter next year." That's when it could really be over. And yet there is cause to celebrate, because of the 11 vaccine candidates that were already in third-stage trials, both the front-runners are "messenger ribonucleic acid" (mRNA) vaccines, an entirely new approach that allows a much faster response to Novel viral infections.

Traditionally, new vaccines took around ten years to be developed, tested and approved for general use. For the new mRNA vaccines, it has been ten months. It's a revolutionary science at work here.

After Chinese scientists posted the full genetic sequence of the COVID-19 virus online on January 10, says Drew Weissman of the University of Pennsylvania, "we were making RNA within a week or so". Weissman then supplied that RNA to both BioNTech/Pfizer and Moderna.

RNA carries the genetic instructions from the nucleus of the cell to build whatever protein is needed, and for the past decade researchers have been trying to fabricate "messenger RNA" that could be inserted into human cells. The mRNA would then use the cell's own genetic machinery to make vaccines and other medically useful proteins.

By 2018, several companies had cracked the problem of getting the mRNA past the body's immune defences. With the full RNA sequence of the new Coronavirus in their possession, all they had to do was choose which bit of the Coronavirus RNA to use in the vaccine.

Obviously not the whole thing, or it would rebuild the entire virus in the cell. Just a harmless segment of the virus' RNA, copied millions of times by the vaccinated person's cells, would alert the body's immune system and train it to destroy any invading virus with that sequence. Scientists chose the "spike" that the virus uses to attach itself to the human cell.

Several companies had mRNA vaccines ready for testing within two or three months, and the results have been spectacular. BioNTech/Pfizer has just reported 95 per cent efficacy for its vaccine and Moderna has reported 94.5 per cent success.

Even better, both BioNTech/Pfizer and Moderna included all major ethnic groups and a significant number of elderly people in their third-phase trials. All categories responded well to the shots (which is not always the case with trial vaccines).

Yet another mRNA vaccine in third-phase trials could be even better because it will be far cheaper than the BioNTech/Pfizer vaccine (priced at ₹2,896 for two shots) or the Moderna jab (priced at ₹5,495 for two shots) if it pans out. At Imperial College in London, Robin Shattock's team is working on a "self-amplifying RNA" vaccine that may require as little as one-hundredth of the amount of vaccine.

The mRNA technique may mean that future pandemics can be dealt with far more quickly. The vehicle is already available and waiting to carry the next vaccine. Just "plug and play" for any future Coronavirus, as one researcher puts it. (We have had three new Coronaviruses in the last two decades.)

Pfizer boss Albert Boura goes even further to say: "It is the greatest medical advance in the last 100 years." Well, maybe, though a vote taken today would probably plump for antibiotics instead. But we are only beginning to see the potential of the mRNA technique. There are already trials under way for a wide variety of other illnesses.

es. Not just safer, more effective influenza, polio and HIV vaccines, but immunotherapies for cancer, heart conditions, cystic fibrosis and other systemic and congenital diseases.

Whether or not mRNA now becomes the preferred way to make Novel vaccines, it is clear that a global health emergency on the scale of the present pandemic spurs scientific innovation at a much faster rate now. This is not just the consequence of all the resources and funding made available to those with solutions that might usually be regarded with more scepticism; it is also driven by the remarkable things that humans can achieve when thrust together by circumstances and given a common purpose.

There is a long, dark winter still ahead of us, no doubt, but miracles may await us over the horizon. And we can now be sure that the light at the end of this particular tunnel is not an oncoming train.

Pak host to largest number of UN proscribed terrorists: India

United Nations: India has reminded Pakistan, the “host to the world’s largest number of UN proscribed terrorists and entities”, of Abbottabad, the garrison city where al-Qaeda leader Osama bin Laden hid for years and was killed, in a hard-hitting response as Islamabad’s UN envoy gave a “dossier of lies” to Secretary General Antonio Guterres.

India’s Permanent Representative to the UN, Ambassador T S Tirumurti on Tuesday tweeted that the “dossier of lies presented by Pakistan enjoys zero credibility”.

“Concocting documents and peddling false narratives is not new to Pakistan, host to the world’s largest number of UN proscribed terrorists and entities. Remember Abbottabad!” he said.

The Indian Ambassador’s tweet was in response to Islamabad’s UN envoy Munir Akram meeting Guterres to hand over the dossier from the Pakistan government that alleged India was promoting terrorism in the country.

In his stinging tweet, Tirumurti made a reference to the Pakistani garrison city of Abbottabad, where bin Laden was hiding for years and was killed in an operation by the US Navy Seals in May, 2011.

Foreign Secretary Harsh Vardhan Shringla on Monday briefed top envoys of key nations, including the US, Russia, France and Japan on the planned terror attack by Pakistan-based terrorist group Jaish-e-Mohammed (JeM) in Nagrota in Jammu which was foiled by security forces on November 19.

The heads of missions were provided with a comprehensive “information docket” giving the details of the incident, and also a list of items and ammunition recovered from terrorists, clearly indicating their Pakistani origins.

The envoys were sensitised about India’s concerns regarding Pakistan’s sustained efforts to “destabilise” the situation in Jammu & Kashmir and to “subvert” upcoming local elections and democracy in the union territory, sources said.

Four suspected JeM terrorists, who were hiding in a truck, were killed by security forces near Nagrota in an encounter on Thursday morning after which the government asserted that a major terror attack was foiled by the Indian security forces. India is all set to join the powerful UN Security Council as a non-permanent member for a two-year term beginning January 1, 2021.

Jaishankar hails contributions of Indian diaspora in Bahrain in strengthening bilateral ties

Manama: External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Wednesday virtually interacted with the members of the Indian diaspora in Bahrain via video conference and appreciated their valuable contributions to the strengthening of the bilateral ties.

Jaishankar is on a two-day visit to Bahrain from November 24 to 25. It is the first leg of his six-day three-nation tour to Bahrain, the United Arab Emirates and Seychelles, beginning Tuesday. The visit is seen as important as it comes in the midst of the coronavirus pandemic that has wreaked havoc across the world.

“Glad to interact virtually, with members of the Indian community in Bahrain. Thank them for keeping India’s flag flying high. Appreciate their valuable contribution to the strengthening of our bilateral ties,” Jaishankar tweeted soon after the online interaction.

Earlier in the day, he visited the centuries-old Lord Sri Krishna temple at the Bahrain capital, Manama.

“Began the day with darshan at the 200 year-old Shreenathji Temple at Manama. A testimony to our time-tested and close bonds with Bahrain.

Noting that the Netherlands is home to one of the largest Indian diasporas in Europe, Dutch Prime Minister Mark Rutte has said that he was proud of their achievements and contributions to the society.

In a letter to India’s Ambassador to the Netherlands Venu Rajamony, who completes his term this month, the prime minister cited the seven-decade-long Indo-Dutch bilateral relations and said that both the countries were working together closely on different fields including water, agriculture and renewable energy.

Biden seeks swift Cabinet votes, but GOP Senate stays silent

Washington: As President-elect Joe Biden started rolling out his administrative team, one voice has been notably silent: Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell.

Senate Republicans will hold great sway in confirming or denying Biden’s Cabinet nominees, regardless of which party controls the narrowly split Senate after runoff elections.

But key Republican senators, including the GOP leader, are keeping quiet, for now, choosing their battles ahead.

In announcing his national security team, Biden appealed Tuesday to the Senate to give the nominees “a prompt hearing” and “begin the work to heal and unite America and the world.”

The soonest the Senate would consider the nominations is Inauguration Day, Jan. 20, when past presidents often have been able to win swift

Analysis: Biden prioritises experience with Cabinet picks

New York: President-elect Joe Biden has prized staying power over star power when making his first wave of Cabinet picks and choices for White House staff, with a premium placed on government experience and proficiency as he looks to rebuild a depleted and demoralized federal bureaucracy.

With an eye in part toward making selections who may have to seek approval from a Republican-controlled Senate, Biden has prioritized choosing qualified professionals while eschewing flashy names. Even the most recognizable pick — John Kerry — lacks the showmanship that has defined the Trump era.

In sharp contrast to President Donald Trump, who openly distrusted the very government he led, Biden has showcased a faith in bureaucracy that was born of his nearly five decades in Washington.

He’s made hires with the deliberate aim of projecting a sense of dutiful and, even boring, competency.

Surrounding himself with longtime aides and veterans of the Obama administration, many of whom have already worked together for years, Biden has so far rolled out a team of careerists with bursting resumes and little need of a learning curve.

Trump vents about election as agencies aid Biden transition

Washington: President Donald Trump insisted on Tuesday that he is not giving up his fight to overturn the election results, but across the federal government, preparations were beginning in earnest to support President-elect Joe Biden’s incoming administration.

Within hours of the General Services Administration’s acknowledgement Monday evening of Biden’s victory in the Nov. 3 election, career federal officials opened the doors of agencies to hundreds of transition aides ready to prepare for his Jan. 20 inauguration.

And on Tuesday, Trump signed off on allowing Biden to receive the presidential daily brief, the highly classified briefing prepared by the nation’s intelligence community for the government’s most senior leaders.

An administration official said logistics on when and where Biden will first receive the briefing were still being worked out.

Biden, in an interview with “NBC Nightly News,” said he was also working out a meeting with the White House’s coronavirus task force and vaccine distribution effort.

Russia sees record number of virus deaths again

Moscow: Russian authorities have registered a record number of coronavirus deaths for a second straight day.

The government coronavirus task force reported 507 new deaths on Wednesday, the country’s highest daily toll.

The previous record of 491 deaths was reported on Tuesday. A total of 37,538 people have died from the coronavirus in Russia, according to the task force.

Russia has been swept by a rapid resurgence of the outbreak this fall, with numbers of confirmed infections and deaths hitting new highs almost daily and significantly exceeding those reported in the spring.

US lawmaker expresses concern over Chinese construction along Indian border

Washington: Expressing concern over reports of China’s illegal construction activities along the Indian border in Ladakh, an influential US lawmaker has said that America will always continue to stand with India and oppose any “revisionist efforts” by the Chinese government or anyone else to challenge the peace and stability in the region.

India and China are engaged in a bitter stand-off on the Line of Actual Control (LAC) in eastern Ladakh since May.

“I am aware of and concerned with the public reports surrounding Chinese military construction along the disputed border with India. If these reports are true, and I hope they are not, China’s continued military provocations will continue to escalate tensions in the region,” Democratic congressman Raja Krishnamoorthi said on Tuesday.

“The United States will always continue to stand with our Indian partners in the Indo-Pacific region while opposing any revisionist efforts by the Chinese government or anyone else to challenge peace and stability,” he said.

The Indian-American Congressman from Illinois issued the statement in response to reports of satellite images showing Chinese construction activities in eastern Ladakh.

EU says first virus vaccinations possible by Christmas

Brussels: A top European Union official said on Wednesday that the first citizens in the 27 nation bloc could be vaccinated against the coronavirus by Christmas, but she warned that member countries must urgently prepare their logistical chains for the roll-out of hundreds of millions of doses of the vaccines.

Claiming that “there’s finally light at the end of the tunnel,” European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen told EU lawmakers that “the first European citizens might already be vaccinated before the end of December.” The commission, the EU’s executive arm, has agreements with six potential vaccine suppliers and is working on a seventh contract.

The Swiss government said Wednesday up to 2,100 British citizens will receive long-term residency permits.

LVB to become DBS Bank India from Friday

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Crisis-hit Lakshmi Vilas Bank (LVB) will merge into the Indian arm of Singapore-based DBS Bank on Friday, leading to removal of all restrictions, including withdrawal cap of ₹25,000, which the RBI had placed on the lender earlier this month.

The RBI notified the effective date of merger soon after the Union Cabinet headed by Prime Minister Narendra Modi approved the Scheme of Amalgamation of LVB with DBS Bank India Ltd (DBIL).

All the branches of LVB will function as branches of DBIL with effect from November 27, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) said in a statement.

“Customers, including depositors of the Lakshmi Vilas Bank Ltd will be able to operate their accounts as customers of DBS Bank India Ltd (DBIL) with effect from November 27, 2020. Consequently the moratorium on the Lakshmi Vilas Bank Ltd. will cease to be operative from that date,” it said.

DBIL is making necessary arrangements to ensure that service, as usual, is provided to customers of LVB, the central bank added. The RBI had superseded LVB’s board on November 17 after the private sector lender was placed under a moratorium. Meanwhile, the government issued a gazette notification which notified the Lakshmi Vilas Bank Limited (Amalgamation with DBS Bank India Limited) Scheme, 2020.

All employees of LVB shall continue in service and be deemed to have been appointed at the same remuneration and on the same terms and conditions of service as were applicable immediately before the close of business on November 17, 2020, the gazette notification issued by the Department of Financial Services said.

Earlier in the day, the Union Cabinet approved the merger of LVB with DBIL, providing comfort to 20 lakh customers of the bank which was put under the moratorium.

Lakshmi Vilas Bank shares bounce back, jump nearly 5%

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Shares of Lakshmi Vilas Bank bounced back on Wednesday after falling for almost a week, rising by nearly 5 per cent following the government approval for merger of the crisis-ridden bank with DBS Bank India Ltd (DBIL). In early trade on Wednesday, the stock had tanked 4.79 per cent to ₹6.95, its lower circuit limit as well as one-year low, on the BSE. However, it recovered all its lost ground in the afternoon trade, gaining 4.79 per cent to close at ₹7.65 -- its upper circuit limit. On the NSE, the scrip rose 4.79 per cent to close at ₹7.65. Earlier in the day, it had fallen 4.79 per cent to ₹6.95.

Kerala, West Bengal accept Centre’s borrowing option to meet GST shortfall

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Kerala and West Bengal have accepted the Centre’s borrowing proposal and will get ₹10,197 crore through the special window to meet GST revenue shortfall.

These are among the states that had opposed the borrowing plan.

“Governments of Kerala and West Bengal have communicated their acceptance of Option-1 to meet the revenue shortfall arising out of GST implementation.

The number of states who have chosen this option has gone up to 25,” the finance ministry said in a statement.

All the 3 Union Territories with Legislative Assembly -- Delhi, Jammu & Kashmir and Puducherry -- have also decided in favour of Option-1, it said.

The Centre has already borrowed Rs 24,000 crore on behalf of the states in four instalments and passed it on to 23 states and 3 Union Territories on October 23, November 2, November 9 and November 23. Now, Kerala and West Bengal will receive funds raised through this starting from the next round of borrowings, the ministry added.

“Kerala and West Bengal will get Rs 10,197 crore through special borrowing window to meet the GST implementation shortfall,” the statement added.

Under the terms of Option-1, besides getting the facility of a special window for borrowings to meet the shortfall arising out of GST implementation, states are also entitled to get unconditional permission to borrow the final instalment of 0.50 per cent of Gross State Domestic Product (GSDP) out of the 2 per cent additional borrowings permitted by the Centre under Aatmanirbhar Abhiyaan.

This is over and above the special window of Rs 1.1 lakh crore.

On receipt of the choice of Option-1 from Kerala and West Bengal governments, the Centre has granted additional borrowing permission of Rs 4,522 crore to Kerala and Rs 6,787 crore to West Bengal.

Markets tumble from record highs on profit-booking; Sensex sinks 695 pts

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Equity markets’ record run screeched to a halt on Wednesday as investors pocketed gains in banking, finance and IT counters amid a mixed trend overseas.

Snapping a three-day winning streak, the 30-share BSE Sensex slumped 694.92 points or 1.56 per cent to finish at 43,828.10. The index touched a lifetime high of 44,825.37 in the opening session. Similarly, the broader NSE Nifty touched a record intra-day peak of 13,145.85, before ending 196.75 points or 1.51 per cent down at 12,858.40.

Kotak Bank was the top loser in the Sensex pack, skidding 3.22 per cent, followed by Axis Bank, Sun Pharma, HDFC Bank, Bajaj Finance, Asian Paints, Bharti Airtel, Infosys and Tech Mahindra.

Only three index components closed in the green -- ONGC, PowerGrid and IndusInd Bank, jumping up to 6.25 per cent. Global equities were mixed after the US Dow Jones Industrial Average breached the 30,000-mark for the first time in the overnight session on COVID-19 vaccine optimism.

Reports that US President-elect Joe Biden would appoint former Federal Reserve chair Janet Yellen as Treasury Secretary also cheered investors.

“The market rally which was led by developments on vaccine and FPI inflows came to a halt today due to profit booking across sectors in the second half of the trading session.

While western markets continued its positivity, being encouraged by news on vaccine developments and ease in the US political risk.

Rupee rises 10 paise to 73.91 against US dollar

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Rising for the fourth straight session, the rupee appreciated by 10 paise to close at nearly a month high of 73.91 against the US dollar on Wednesday as positive development on the coronavirus vaccine front enthused investor sentiment.

At the interbank forex market, the domestic unit opened at 73.98 against the greenback and witnessed an intra-day high of 73.88 and a low of 74.02.

The local unit finally closed at 73.91 against the American currency, registering a rise of 10 paise over its previous close.

On Tuesday, the rupee had climbed 10 paise to close at 74.01 against the US dollar.

The domestic unit had closed at 73.87 against the greenback on October 28.

Traders said risk appetite increased on news that US President-elect Joe Biden plans to nominate former Federal Reserve chairwoman Janet Yellen as treasury secretary.

Moreover, a weak American currency in the overseas market also supported the rupee.

I-T refunds worth ₹1.36L cr issued to 41.25L taxpayers till November 24

The Income Tax Dept has issued refunds worth over ₹1.36 lakh crore to over 41 lakh taxpayers so far this fiscal. This includes personal income tax (PIT) refunds amounting to ₹36,028 crore and corporate tax refunds of over ₹1 lakh crore during this period. “CBDT issues refunds of over ₹1,36,962 crore to more than 41.25 lakh taxpayers between 1st April, 2020 to 24th November, 2020. ## ‘Govt should incentivise production, usage of eco-friendly cement’

IANs ■ NEW DELHI

The Government should incentivise the manufacturing and usage of eco-friendly cement, according to a stakeholder in the sector. Himanshu Verma, Founder & Chairman of Navrattan Group said that the Centre, along with the cement industry, must push harder for an eco-friendly alternative to regular Portland cement. “Along with creating more public awareness, I would also suggest that the government should incentivise the manufacture and usage of such cement so as to give people more reasons to indulge in this practice,” he said.

Verma was of the view that eco-friendly cement is the future of the industry.

“We are at the crossroads of the future, with Covid-19 pandemic, global warming, environmental degradation, etc. The only way out of it is to go green,” said the Chairman of the green cement manufacturer. He also noted that along with incentives, the government should reach out to the manufacturers with proper regulations. On the demand scenario of eco-friendly cements, Verma said that Indian cement industry is the second-largest producer in the world and considering that cement buying is not an “impulse-buy” commodity, its rising demand in both urban and rural milieu is a strong indicator of a robust economic activity nationally.

For September and October 2020, the industry reported consecutive double-digit growth, he said.

“By 2030, the cement consumption is expected to be more than double. The present production capacity will have to work overtime to match that demand and, in doing so, it is highly likely that India will become the world’s largest producer of concrete,” he said.

He noted that India will be producing more cement than China by 2030 which may also lead to more threat of pollution. Keeping the downside in mind, he hopes that people would go for eco-friendly cement.

Banking operations to be hit on Nov 26 due to farm strike

Chennai: Banking operations will be affected across the country on Thursday with about 4.5 lakh bank employees joining the nationwide strike called by the central trade unions, said a top official of the All India Bank Employees Association (AIBEA). Venkatachalam told IANS.

Never forget why you started: Rao

Actor RAJKUMMAR RAO has shared words of wisdom in his latest post on social media. “Never forget why you started,” Rajkummar captioned an image he recently posted on Instagram. Rajkummar’s latest film Ludo released digitally. The Anurag Basu directorial is a dark humour anthology comprising four stories. TB continues to be one of the most devastating public health issues in our country. With just under 40 per cent of diagnosed cases in people under 30, there is an urgent need to clear misconceptions around it and drive a perception change. MTV Nishedh Alone Together conveys this message in a unique and impactful way.’

Miss World 2017 MANUSHI CHHILLAR, who will make her Bollywood debut through Prithviraj, opposite Akshay Kumar, says she’s a vegetarian and loves it. On International Meatless Day, she said, “For me, being a vegetarian was more of a personal choice. It has been and will always be a way of life for me because my parents are vegetarians and I have inculcated this through them. However, they never forced this on me. I made my choice after I realised that it suits for me remarkably and makes me feel fitter, healthier. Plant-based diet works better for me & I am a firm believer of it.”

Bieber upset with Grammys

Singer JUSTIN BIEBER has earned four Grammy Award nominations for his album Changes, including Best Pop Solo Performance (for Yummy), Best Pop Duo/Group Performance (Intentions featuring Quavo), Best Pop Vocal Album, & Best Country Duo/Group Performance (for his feature on Dan + Shay’s 10,000 Hours). Bieber, post announcement, wrote a letter to the Academy on Instagram, talking about how his mission to make an R&B album was not honoured properly. “To the Grammys,” he wrote, “I am flattered to be acknowledged & appreciated for my artistry. I am very meticulous & intentional about my music. But I set out to make an R&B album. Changes is an R&B album. Alas, it isn’t being acknowledged as that.”

Slowly but surely, India and SIndianness are foraying into the world of showbiz in the West, and much of it has to do with the country’s growing presence in the OTT space. The success of Netflix’s Delhi Crime winning the ‘Best Drama Series’ award at the 48th International Emmy Awards is, as Shefali Shah rightly said, “a cherry on the sundae”, but Indian stories and talent of the digital space have been making a strong impact the way Bollywood or our mainstream cinema never really did.

The show becomes the first Indian programme to win an International Emmy. Writer-director Richie Mehta’s seven-episode series has Shefali Shah in the central role of DCP Vartika Chaturvedi, and narrates the story of investigation in the aftermath of the heinous Delhi gang-rape of December 2012.

“I am completely ecstatic, euphoric and all the possible superlatives in the thesaurus that I can recollect now. It’s just amazing! I feel so proud to be a part of Delhi Crime. This win is like a cherry on the sundae but irrespective for me, Delhi Crime has always been a winner since the day I started work on it. I knew that this show is a very special one. The Emmy has put us on the global platform and we feel extremely proud of the honour,” Shefali said. “This is a BIG one for us, a big one for India. Thank you for the endless love and support that has flowed our way for the show. I am so honoured to be a part of something that is so real and relevant that it put us on the global map. Thank you for the nominations and the experience, Emmys. Congratulations to the supremely deserving team behind Delhi Crime,” she added.

In his acceptance speech, writer-director Mehta thanked all the producers, the OTT platform Netflix that streams the show, the casting crew and the cast, with a special mention of Shefali Shah, his parents and wife, the Sundance Film Festival, and the Delhi police team headed by “Neeraj Kumar and the amazing Chhaya Sharma” that helped them bring the show alive. “The project was led by women, it was financed and put together and released by women, this crime was solved by women, this is for the courage of those women and all the women who not only endure the violence that so many men inflict on them but then are tasked with solving the problem,” said Mehta.

He paid a special tribute to the victim and her mother. “Finally the fearless and tireless hero of all mothers and her daughter. Not a day goes by when I don’t think about you both and what the world subjected you two to. And I hope none of us ever forget that,” he said.

The fictionalised crime drama series also features Rasika Dugal, Adil Hussain, Rajesh Tailang, Avijit Dutt, Gopal Dutt, Jaya Bhattacharya, Denzil Smith and Yashaswini Dayama in pivotal roles.

“Delhi Crime will always be close to the heart for how the narrative examines the lives of women in a patriarchal society through (characters) Vartika, Neeti, Chandni, while reminding us that we as a society allowed a heinous crime like the 2012 rape case to happen,” said Rasika.

WE’RE OUR OWN ENEMIES

Actor WINSTON DUKE talks about how the characters in the horror film, Us, explain that monsters are just some ghostly creatures we create in our minds, rather they’re very much like us. By TEAM VIVA

❑ What did you make of the US script?

I thought it was really bold and creative, and the most original piece I had read around that time. I felt so privileged to even be asked to look at the material. Well, it being Jordan Peele’s was an added bonus. I have been his fan since his sketch comedy days, the early days on Mad TV, and his own show, Key & Peele. To see him transition into the narrative storytelling realm, I felt, ‘Of course! He’s been a genius for years. Can’t wait!’

To know it came from him, and to consume that material at the time, I sat there quiet for a few minutes, thinking, ‘I saw this, I saw that, this means that, this means this... Oh my goodness, it’s a big conversation.’ I wanted to be part of that conversation. And that is why I jumped right on to the film. More than anything else, I said, ‘I want to be a part of the conversation that this film evokes.’

❑ Did Jordan suggest you horror or any other genre films to watch before making the film?

I think, for each of us, we wanted something totally different out of the experience. Mine was, because I wasn’t very familiar with the genre, an aversion to horror as a genre for a while. I enjoyed the scary films, the parody ones, because I understood that. All these tropes definitely didn’t benefit people who looked like me, so I never really got attached to the genre. But after reading the script, I knew I wanted to be a part of this new world because it turned everything on its head.

❑ Was there something you wanted to bring to Gabe Wilson?

I wanted Gabe to seem the closest to the audience through his ability to both be in it and also stand outside it and make it funny. He’s able to turn a moment that feels really traumatic and terrible and find some semblance of humour in it.

I also wanted Gabe to be the perfect avatar for the audience and a construct that reminded the audience of themselves. I wanted them to talk about Gabe when they went home and see themselves in him with a blind comfort. Gabe is so comfortable and privileged. The fact that he thinks he can solve it all with a baseball bat! It’s fascinating. He aspires to be like his friends who are so much more comfortable. It’s his ambition and tied into his need to ascend to the American dream. Then you realise that the American dream is so flawed and insecure, their house is literally made of glass and it doesn’t protect you. You see it and you say, ‘they are us.’

❑ You also had to play another completely different character than Gabe. How did you work out the differences?

We rarely did both on one day. I think we only did that on one or two days that I was filming because it was so taxing. Jordan made that possible with the schedule. He’d never book it for both on one day. It was really helpful to have someone in your corner supporting you with a schedule. He’d schedule certain things later in the shoot, so you have time to prepare. I think for Lupita, a lot of the climax for her happened at the end of shooting, which helped her have all the experiences beforehand, put them in her body and then demonstrate it.

❑ Do you think Jordan’s history as a performer helps him be a director of actors?

Deeply. He understands the process, how we need it and gives us a lot of room for it. He respects it and creates space for us to do whatever we need to do. He doesn’t try to force you into his process. He’s like a gardener and he understands he has different flowers. Some need more sunlight and water, some need less.

❑ You were working with Evan and Shahadi. How were they as fellow performers?

They were brilliant! They came prepared and ready to act, play and be daring. It was really good to just watch them be free and learn what fearlessness looks like. As kids, they’ve got nothing to be afraid of. We were all very pleasant on set so they felt comfortable. They wanted to have lunch with us everyday and most days, we did. Both Evan and Shahadi were so committed to their roles, always showing something new. It was a great collaborative effort. Jordan relied on a lot of different people to bring a lot of dimension and character to these roles. It was a cast of greatness.

❑ Filming something like this, you have a lot of intensity. Is it something that sticks with you?

It was hard to let go. I think was I was going through a lot of stress. I went on to do two other projects immediately after this. I don’t think I shed the characters of Us before I went to do the other jobs to do my regular process of taking them off. I didn’t realise that until New Years, when I finally had a vacation and got to sit and meditate and realise I’d never removed Gabe from my person. I’d been walking around with so much baggage, no wonder I was so stressed! I literally have felt like I’m fighting for my life.

❑ Us loosely falls into horror. But how does it differ within the genre?

I think there is so much commentary on it. In particular, we’ve been saying a lot about how we’re our worst enemies. It’s very interesting because our monsters aren’t creatures. They don’t have wings, they’re not ghosts or werewolves. They’re not things, they’re people. They’re your monsters. They’re not just “them.” They’re “us.”

(Us premieres on November 29 at 1 pm and 9 pm on Sony PIX.)

‘I have no regrets’

From the art of acting he exuded in Paar, Sparshe, Pestonjee, Junoon, Mirch Masala or Jaane Bhi Do Yaaro, to the unforgettable screen presence of mainstream roles in Masoom, A Wednesday, Jalwa, The Dirty Picture or the Ishqiya films, 70-year-old Bollywood veteran Naseeruddin Shah has been there, done that.

The much-feted actor has been equally at home on screens big and small (some feel his role in the TV serial Mirza Ghalib is his best ever), and has recently forayed the OTT space with the series Bandish Bandits, too.

In a career spanning over four decades, there have been instances when he failed to create magic on screen but he says that he has no regrets. “I don’t have a single regret in life. Yes, I have made mistakes but I have overcome them. I have put them behind me and moved on with learnings. I would be a fool to keep regrets in life. I have acted in several ghastly films. I ate some of them. I might have not enjoyed working for those films but I don’t regret having done them. Each and every decision of mine has taught me something or the other,” Shah said.

The Dev Deepavali, literally translates to “the Diwali of gods” or “the festival of fights of gods”, is the festival of Kartik Purnima celebrated in Varanasi, Uttar Pradesh. It falls on the full moon of the Hindu month of Kartika and takes place 15 days after Diwali. On this day, the gods are believed to descend to earth to bathe in the Ganges. The main rituals performed by devotees consist of the kartik snan (taking a holy bath in the Ganges during Kartika) and deep daan (offering of oil lighted lamps) to Ganga in the evening.

Karmic events, recently, did the first-of-its-kind installation Glory of Benaras at Vegas Mall. They recreated the divine ‘ghats of Benaras’ in the mall. Temple structure, intricately designed carvings, pillars, water bodies, twinkling lamps and ornate bells all form a part of the huge installation.

Harsh V Bansal, director of the mall, says, “Diwali on the ghats of Benaras is the most mesmerising sight to behold this year. We wanted to make sure that the Mall gives a one of a kind experience to our patrons. We invested in this enthralling structure, especially to give an unusual experience that the mall industry has never done before.”

Gunwant Singh, MD, Karmic Events Pvt Ltd, says, “The temple is about 68 ft in length, 40 ft in width and 40+ ft in height. The installation was made possible because of 140 skilled artisans, who worked with dedication for 40 days and handcrafted the entire structure. The creation was ideated to make sure that our patrons feel the same spirituality and positivity they would feel on the ghats of Benaras.”

CHHATTISGARH FIGHTS MALNUTRITION

The Mukhyamantri Suposhan Yojana, which was launched to curb malnutrition and anaemia, has been a huge success in Bijapur district. There has been a drastic 10 per cent fall in cases

One out of every three children in India is malnourished, making us one of the leading nations in terms of malnourished children. According to the 2018 Global Hunger Index, India ranked 103 out of the 119 qualifying countries, with a score of 31.1, which is high enough to ring the bells for serious concern for hunger deprivation. The nation houses 46.6 million stunted children, one-third globally, as per the Global Nutrition Report 2018. Approximately half of all the under-five child mortality in India is credited to undernutrition.

The crisis of malnutrition is alarming and needs immediate attention. Any leading nation can't accomplish the economic and social development goals of the society, without addressing the basic issue of malnutrition and laying an emphasis over making its populace mentally, physically and emotionally healthy.

Chhattisgarh steps up in its battle against malnutrition

For a heavily forested and tribal-dominated state of Chhattisgarh, the issue of malnutrition came as a challenge in front of the newly formed state government led by the Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel. Under his leadership, the Chief Minister's Suposhan Abhiyan was launched on October 2, 2019 in the state to eradicate malnutrition from its roots.

Decrease in malnourished children in the state

According to the data received from the weight festival in the scheme launching last year, about 4,92,000 children were malnourished in the state, out of which more than 67,000 children have become free from it. Thus, there has been a 13.79 per cent decrease in malnourished children, which is a major achievement in the state's war against malnutrition.

Bijapur Suposhan Mission

Malnutrition has been an enigma in the Bijapur district of the state since time immemorial with the dominant presence of anemia among women of the region. Scientists claim that the initial 1,000 days of an individual's lifespan, from the day of conception till s/he turns two, is crucial for physical and cognitive development. But a majority of children, adolescent girls, pregnant women and infant mothers of the district are anemic with decreasing nutritional levels. Thereby, a malnourished mother is more likely to give birth to malnourished children, forming a vicious cycle with the birth of underweight children and the pattern continuing for ages thereafter.

Concerning the figures of the Weight festival 2019, a total of 3,632 children have been categorised as seriously malnourished and 7,100 children fall under the category of moderately malnourished in the district. Bijapur stands at a malnutrition percentage of 38.50 per cent, which is both disturbing yet challenging. The district has a population of 2,55,230 citizens, out of which 49.6 per cent i.e (1,26,594) are women, according to the 2011 census.

As per the National Family and Health Survey (NFHS) 2015-16, there are 86,970 anemic women aged between 15 and 49 years, constituting for 68.7 per cent of anemic women in the district, out of which, the percentile of anemic pregnant women stands at 47.9 per cent. 51.3 per cent of infants from the age group of six months to 59 months are anemic. The alarming figures of malnutrition, maternal mortality rate, infant mortality rate and anemia, reckoned the district administration to come up with this mission to combat malnutrition.

Benefits under the mission

Under this campaign, supplementary nutritious food in the form of eggs, *ladoo*s, chickpea, jaggery and nutritious biscuits are provided to the identified children, women, lactating mothers, school dropouts and anemic women aged between 15 to 49 years. All the children and school dropout girls are provided with warm nutritious food. With this, 27883 children, 4663 lactating mothers, 10811 anemic women aged between 15 to 49 years, 2751 school dropout girls, with a whopping total of 46,108 people of the district have been benefitted.

Establishment of Nutrition Rehabilitation Centres in Bijapur

Nutrition Rehabilitation Centres (NRC) are being established in the district hospital and four development blocks, with the collaboration of Health Department under the scheme, for the speedy recovery and health improvement of severely malnourished children. Additionally, with the aid of one district hospital, five community centres and 10 primary health centres, health check-ups are conducted regularly for pregnant and lactating mothers and malnourished children of the district.

Reduction in malnutrition levels

within 13 months in the district The mission started bearing fruitful results within 13 months with the revival of 2,779 severely/moderately malnourished children, getting free from the cycles of undernourishment. Due to the constant efforts and the objective set out by the CM to eradicate malnutrition from its roots, a drastic 10 per cent reduction has been witnessed in the levels of malnourishment in the district.

The malnourishment rate has come down from 38.50 per cent to 28.52 per cent with the number of malnourished children decreasing from 10,732 to 7,953. The anganwadi workers of the district are provided with regular training for the successful implementation of the scheme. Additionally, kitchen gardens are being established in all the anganwadi centres with 276 (fixed wire fencing) and 819 kitchen gardens being established in the workers and assistants premises. Papaya and drumsticks are being planted in the gardens of the beneficiaries to encourage them to avail proper nutrition. Awareness is created through social participation of the Self Help Groups in the gram panchayats of the villages, where information is disseminated regarding proper nutrition and health.

Distribution of dry ration material amid lockdown

Amid the closure of all the anganwadi and mini anganwadi centres for the prevention and control of COVID-19 in the state, distribution of dry ration material such as wheat flour, rice, pulses, gram, potatoes and soybeans had been ensured. Additionally, children were also weighed regularly by anganwadi workers by visiting their homes.

Bijapur is one fine example of the successful implementation of the Mukhyamantri Suposhan Abhiyan in the state. The World Bank has also appreciated the control and prevention of COVID in the state and the distribution of take away ration conducted by anganwadi workers in the state.

Eradication of malnutrition is a community campaign and involves citizens participation and cooperation for the achievement of its goals. It is a time taking process but Chhattisgarh will fulfill its goals in terms of providing people with nourishment and proper nutrition.

He further expressed confidence that the Tower Parking Project will certainly contain pollution in the area. He offered to provide expertise, consultancy and help of his Ministry in providing boost to the innovative actions in future. While giving detailed description of the projects being executed by his Ministry in and around Delhi, he expressed hope that the projects will go a long way in accelerating the pace of development in the city and providing facilities to the citizens.

Deputy Mayor Subash Bhadana, Chairman Standing Committee Rajdutt Gehlot, Leader of House Narendra Chawala, Commissioner Gyanesh Bharti, DC South Zone G Sudhakar and other senior officials were also present.

Bajjal said that this sort of vertical parking is the most appropriate in congested markets and populated colonies as it requires just 1.50 sq metre space to park a car in comparison to 30 sq metre required in conventional parking. He said that all three MCDs should come up with effective parking area management to deal with the parking problem in their jurisdiction. While giving details of the project, he said that the new era steel structured modular designed tower parking is flexible and hence, can be installed at another place. It is eco-friendly, accommodates maximum number of cars in minimum space, allows faster parking and retrieval, has customised parking solutions, comprehensive fire safety, is fully safe and has parking through lifts.

Bharti while welcoming Union Minister referred to the achievements and ongoing major projects of SDMC and said that SDMC has taken major steps to increase the number of parking sites. The tower parking project is another initiative to develop useful property over a limited sized plot. He further informed that the plot area of parking is 878 sq metre. The total cost of the project is ₹18.20 crore. The height of the towers is 39.50 metres and there are 17 floors in each tower, accommodating 17 cars on each side of the car lift, totaling to 34 cars in each tower. At a time, the tower can accommodate up to 136 cars. Each tower accommodates eight SUVs from the first level to the fourth level and 26 sedans from the fifth level to the 17th. The parking facility is available for 32 SUVs and 104 sedans in total in all the four towers.

He further informed that there is an automated ticket dispenser with boom barrier at entry and exit of the parking and there will be parking charges as per SDMC notified rates — ₹20 per hour, ₹100 for 24 hours, ₹1,200 day pass (monthly) and ₹2,000 day and night pass (monthly).

He added that the operation, maintenance cost and requirement of manual labor will be lower than the conventional parking. The retrieval time of the vehicle in the tower parking will be 150 seconds.

Anamika stated that the SDMC has been completing its project in spite of limited recourse and a paucity of funds. She said, "Such projects will prove to be beneficial in lessening the pollution levels and fuel consumption. Moreover, parking vehicles in the automated car parking will be easy and convenient than those in conventional parking. It will also suffice the car parking need of the residents." She added that the possibilities are also being explored to use the facade for generating revenue for using it for advertisement purposes.

A smarter tomorrow

Almost half a dozen schools run by the Municipal Corporation in the city will be made smart schools soon. In all these schools, the details of all the activities related to the studies of the students will be kept through the schooling education app. The login details of the app will be with the concerned school principal. In the app, the data of all the students studying in the school will be fed and complete information about the status of their studies will also be available from the website. The special feature is that when a child's performance falls his information will be there in the app and the details of what steps the teacher has to take for qualitative improvement in that child will also be available.

In the marathon meeting held by Mayor Asha Sharma and Municipal Commissioner Mahendra Singh Tanwar with the principals of these schools in the municipal auditorium, the issue of implementing this app was discussed and it was decided to implement this app for qualitative improvement in education. schools should also be smart so that parents admit their children in these schools instead of private ones.

Talking with the principal in the meeting, Asha said that the modern era demands teaching with new technology. Now new education system will be used and smart class will be run in all corporation schools. The teachers working in these schools will be trained with new teaching methods. She said that there is no dearth of talent here, we have to motivate them to achieve their goal. Additional Municipal Commissioner RN Pandey was also present during the meeting.

Faculty of SRM-AP recognised by Stanford University

Dr Imran Pancha from the Department of Biology, SRM university-AP is recognised among the top two per cent scientists/researchers across the world by Stanford University researchers.

Recently, an article has been published in PLOS Biology by Stanford researchers on the highly cited researchers in 22 different fields and their subfields. In the biotechnology field, 1,074 scientists/faculty members were identified and Dr Imran is one amongst them. From India, only 77 scientists/faculty members could achieve this honour.

This is an admirable achievement for a young faculty. Dr P Sathyanarayanan, the President of SRM University-AP honoured Dr Imran for bringing this scientific laurel to the university.

Overall, of the top 1,60,000 scientists from different fields of Science & Technology, India hosts 2,313 scientists/faculty members. This list comprises of the prominent and illustrious scientists from India.

Dr Imran's primary research focus is to produce renewable energy from microalgae. His team is trying to develop integrated microalgal biorefinery to produce high-value compounds like phycobiliproteins, carotenoids along with biofuel and biofertilisers from microalgae. Apart from this, he is also interested to understand algal-bacterial interaction, particularly isolate and characterise the microalgae associated bacteria and finding their role in growth enhancement and inhibition in microalgae.

KL 'would love to keep' in next three WCs

PTI ■ SYDNEY

India's white-ball vice-captain KL Rahul on Wednesday said he would be happy to keep wickets in the next three global ICC events if given an opportunity even though the team management has not yet spoken to him about it.

Rahul has now pipped specialist wicketkeepers Rishabh Pant and Sanju Samson as the No1 glovesman in the limited overs format. Three ICC events — two back-to-back T20 World Cups followed by the marquee ODI World Cup — are scheduled in the next three years.

The 28-year-old's keeping does provide the team the option of having an extra batsman or bowler.

"It helps the team combination a little more and it's something I would love to do...If the opportunity presents itself and I can keep in three World Cups, I would love to do it for my country," Rahul said ahead of the limited-overs series against Australia starting November 27.

Has the team management spoken to him about keeping in ICC events?

"Nothing has been told to me and we are not thinking that far as a team. Obviously World Cups are important and that is a long-term vision for every team and country," he said.

"I think for me, we are just taking one game at a time. So if I put up consistent performances with bat and gloves, it gives us an option of playing an extra bowler or an extra batter," said the stylish Karnataka batsman.

In the ODIs, Rahul has been batting at No 5 and has opened in the T20 Internationals, and he admitted that his position in the line-up will depend on formats.

"What the team wants from me and what combination sits better," said Rahul.

"Obviously, the last ODI series (against New Zealand) that we played, I batted at No 5, it's a role that I have enjoyed and (I am) happy to play whatever role the team gives me."

Mahendra Singh Dhoni's keeping was in a different league and the way he guided spinners went a long way in India's white-ball success.

Would he be able to chide a Kuldeep Yadav or Yuzvendra Chahal like Dhoni could, if he takes upon a similar role?

"Look obviously, nobody can fill MS Dhoni's place. He has shown us the way and how wicketkeeper-batman role is performed.

"With Kuldeep, Yuzi (Yuzvendra Chahal) and Jaddu (Jadeja), we have a decent friendship and obviously I will go and give them a feedback as to what is a better length if they are doing something wrong and anybody in wicketkeeper's role will have that responsibility," he said.

Rahul loved the role of an ODI keeper against New Zealand and hopes to continue with the good work.

"I did one series in New

I am blessed with certain skills and power-hitting is not one of them: Rahul

SYDNEY: The tag of being a power-hitter is quite sought after in international cricket but India's K L Rahul has no qualms admitting that he does not fit the bill and neither does he crave for it.

Known for his classical batting, Rahul said that even if he has to score at a high strike-rate of 160 to 170, he can do it minus the blitzkrieg.

"I wouldn't call my batting power-hitting, that's something I honestly feel like I have not been able to do or not what I am blessed with," Rahul said on the eve first ODI on Friday.

"I am blessed with certain skills and I try and play the role I feel the team requires me to play at that particular moment. If that means scoring runs at 160-170 strike rate, I try to do that to the best of my ability and if it's the other way around, I will try to do that," he added.

He hasn't played 50-over cricket regularly for India save for the past one year and is happy that he is in a situation where he has been in good form as far as white-ball cricket is concerned.

"...I have never got a long run like this. So yeah, it feels good that I am contributing to team's win and playing my role pretty well. Happy that I can put up consistent performances."

Talking about the Australian team, Rahul was all praise for Marnus Labuschagne but refused to call him an unknown entity.

"...I don't think he is unknown anymore. He is in the top 5 and he has been getting a lot of runs in the last 12-15 months or before the Covid in the games that he played. He has been really consistent for his side.

"We have watched how Marnus played and fingers crossed hopefully, he won't score that many runs against us. We will have a plan set, we have a top quality bowling attack so it will be a good challenge for him and our bowlers as well."

Rahul also feels that his IPL teammate Glenn Maxwell is equally dangerous, terming him a great team man.

"Yes of course, he (Maxwell) will (be dangerous). That's one of the reasons why we picked him in our IPL franchise because he is a quality player.

"He is a gun fielder, he is always there to support his teammates. He will be eager to get out in Australian colours and perform for his country as well."

bowlers and captains some good feedback for the bowlers and the captain."

Have great respect for Indian bowlers: Langer

PTI ■ SYDNEY

Australia coach Justin Langer on Wednesday said he has great respect for the formidable Indian bowling line-up but his team's batsmen have become familiar enough with their tactics to be ready for the challenge they will throw up in the upcoming series.

Langer said the contest would likely be an exciting one thanks to the two teams being evenly-matched.

"Well, we know Jasprit Bumrah, world-class bowler, (Mohammed) Shami, really good opening combination. We have great respect for that and guys have seen a fair bit of them, through the IPL and the last couple of summers," Langer said in a virtual media conference on Wednesday.

"We have played 14 ODIs against India in the last few years and it's seven all," he added.

India are touring Australia with a lethal bowling attack, led by pace-spearhead Jasprit Bumrah, and comprising Mohammed Shami, Navdeep Saini and Shardul Thakur.

The spin department features Yuzvendra Chahal along with Kuldeep Yadav and Ravindra Jadeja.

Langer said the Australians would be ready for the challenge.

"...Our guys have seen a lot of each other and that's what I love about the contest, you see which teams are growing, which players are growing. We have played a bit against each other now.

"So, we have great respect, great respect for their spinners, great respect for Bumrah, Shami, their other bowlers (Navdeep) Saini.

"Our guys know they are going to be on their toes all the time in all forms of the game against the Indian bowling attack. But they are working hard, they have seen a bit now and they will be ready for it," the 50-year-old asserted.

Langer sidestepped queries on India missing star opener

Rohit Sharma and pacer Ishant Sharma due to injury, saying that it was not his concern.

Rohit and Ishant, who suffered injuries during the IPL, are in danger of missing the Test series.

"It is not our business, we have our own challenges, we will come together for the first time as a group on the morning of the game, so it's up to India who they choose," he said.

"One thing, we have zero control or say is in who India picks, they can pick whoever they want, we have our own challenges, so India whoever they put out on the park, we will be ready to take them on," he added.

'There is no room for abuse, only banter'

PTI ■ SYDNEY

Australia's head coach Justin Langer on Wednesday asserted that there would be no room for abuse when his team takes on India in an upcoming series but he expects plenty of banter between the two evenly-matched sides.

Langer, who had a reputation of being an aggressive player himself, said that in the last couple of years, the Aussies have had lots of conversations about behaviours both on and off the field.

Australia have copped quite a bit of criticism for its players' win-at-all-cost mindset in the past which even led to a thorough examination of the side's attitude and ethics.

"People say you get nervous coming to Australia, I'm not sure it's about the chatter. It's because they're coming up against very, very great players," Langer said in an online media interaction on Wednesday.

"If you're facing Warney (Shane Warne), Glenn McGrath or bowling against Steve Waugh, Adam Gilchrist or Ricky Ponting I think that makes you more nervous than a few words that might be spoken," he recalled.

"...Anyone who has watched the last couple of years we talk about our behaviours on and off the field and we talked about there's no room for abuse. There's plenty of room for banter and having that competitive instinct."

Langer said that given the great cricketers, who will be playing the series, the competitive energy would be intense enough on its own.

"The captain Tim Paine has a great sense of humour, we love what VK (Virat Kohli) was doing, there's a great sense of theatre to it. At the end of the day, I can promise you the pressure on the cricket field has nothing to do with the words spoken, it's the person you're up against.

"We're lucky in this series there'll be a lot of great cricketers and that's enough intensity let alone any words spoken," added the head coach.

Sevilla and Chelsea are level on 10 points but Frank Lampard's side go to Spain next week, when the winner will secure top spot.

Manchester United are in pole position in Group H after a first-half Fernandes brace set them on their way to a 4-1 victory over Istanbul Basaksehir that made up for a 2-1 defeat in Turkey last time out.

The opener by Fernandes was a thunderous strike from outside the box, while the second was a tap-in after a horrible error by Mert Gunok in the away goal.

Marcus Rashford added a penalty, but there was a fight-back from the away side, with Deniz Turuc's free-kick crossing the line before David de Gea could claw it away.

Edin Visca crashed a shot off the bar, but Daniel James made sure of the victory on the counter-attack.

FRIGHTENING RECORD

Solskjaer's side are three points clear of both Paris Saint-Germain and RB Leipzig, after an early Neymar penalty gave the French side a 1-0 win over their German visitors. PSG go to Old Trafford next week.

Borussia Dortmund need just one more point to qualify from Group F following a 3-0 win over Club Brugge as the prolific Haaland netted twice either side of a Jadon Sancho free-kick in Germany. Haaland has 16 goals for the season, and has now scored 16 Champions League goals in just 12 appearances.

Juventus, Chelsea and Sevilla all claimed last-gasp wins as they qualified for the Champions League last 16 on Tuesday, while Martin Braithwaite grabbed a double in Barcelona's 4-0 victory at Dynamo Kiev as they also secured a place in the knockout rounds.

They are the first teams to make it out of the group stage, doing so with two games to spare, on a night which saw Erling Braut Haaland, Neymar, Cristiano Ronaldo and Bruno Fernandes all get among the goals.

There was no Lionel Messi for Barcelona, with the Argentine rested for the trip to Ukraine, but Ronald Koeman's side got the job done to make it four wins from four in Group G.

All the goals came in the second half, with Sergino Dest opening the scoring before Danish striker Braithwaite added another and then converted a penalty to make it 3-0.

On as a substitute, Antoine Griezmann wrapped up the win on the night young centre-back Oscar Mingueza, Brazilian midfielder Matheus Fernandes and teenage American winger Konrad de la Fuente were all blooded in the first team.

"We've achieved our objective," said Koeman. "We looked hungry and scored four goals. Important players were able to rest and the youngsters deserved their minutes."

LATE STRIKES

Juventus joined Barcelona in qualifying from Group G but the Italian champions needed a stoppage-time header by substitute Alvaro Morata to beat Ferencvaros 2-1 in Turin and seal their progress.

Albanian international Myrto Uzuni put the Hungarians ahead but Ronaldo drilled in the equaliser before half-time, meaning he has scored in 15 consecutive Champions League seasons.

Chelsea are through from Group E after edging Rennes 2-1 in France, with Olivier Giroud coming off the bench to head in an injury-time winner. Serhou Guirassy had cancelled out Callum Hudson-Odoi's break-away opener.

Last season's Europa League winners Sevilla will not get to defend their trophy as they advanced to the last 16 of Europe's elite club competition and did so with a 2-1 win over Krasnodar in Russia, in a rare game played before a sizeable
