Dr. M. B. Shankar

I was once a scientist and always a scientist. To this day, I remain an avid reader of science and technology. The recent developments in COVID-19 research and the rapid response of the scientific community to the pandemic are commendable. The world has come together to fight this global crisis, and I am proud to be a part of this collective effort. The Nobel Peace Prize recognizes the tireless work of the World Food Programme in combating hunger and malnutrition. Their efforts have saved millions of lives and improved the quality of life for those in need. I congratulate the WFP and all those who contribute to their mission.
