China stalling bid to defuse tension at LAC

Beijing yet to confirm date of upgraded military-level talks planned for this week

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

After agreeing to hold upgraded military-level talks this week, China is yet to confirm the date, stalling attempt to defuse the volatile situation prevailing at the Line of Actual Control (LAC) in Ladakh. The situation is so grim that the border saw at least four incidents of firing by the Indian and Chinese armies in the last 15 days.

Tension cooled down after extensive talks between External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar and his Chinese counterpart Wang Yi on September 10. It was agreed there to continue the military and diplomatic-level talks.

Sources said China was yet to inform India about the next date though they had agreed in principle to have the next round sometime this week.

With the Opposition seeking to know from the Government if China occupied any part of our land during repeated attempted transgression since May, the Defence Minister will make a statement on India-China issue in the Rajya Sabha on Thursday. This announcement came after a meeting chaired by the Defence Minister resolved that the Government will allow discussions on issues like the China crisis, GST, Covid and National Education Policy. During the meeting, Rajnath agreed to take one or two questions on the LAC situation after his speech in the Rajya Sabha.

India is concerned over the PLA troops build-up because the Chinese have so far not given any indication of starting the process of genuine disengagement. So far Lt General Harinder Singh and his Chinese counterpart Liu Lin have held five rounds of talks since June but could not achieve any breakthrough.

In the last round of talks on August 2, both sides agreed to withdraw their troops from the friction points and pull back additional troops from the depth areas as a confidence-building measure. However, China later refused to do so and the stalemate continues.

Holding a bilateral meeting at the political level in Moscow for the first time since the stand-off on the LAC in Eastern Ladakh started in May, the two Foreign Ministers agreed on a five-point plan to disengage and de-escalate at the border. Since then relative peace prevailed with both the armies staying put at their positions on all the friction points.

■ India is concerned over the PLA troop build-up because the Chinese have so far not given any indication of starting the process of genuine disengagement

As regards incidents of firing, sources said here on Wednesday the border witnessed four such episodes. This revelation came even as both the sides so far maintained that one incident had taken place on September 7. While China had blamed India of opening fire, India flatly denied the accusation and held responsible Chinese troops for breaching the 45-year-old peace.

Giving the chronology of events, sources in the security establishment said the first two incidents took place on August 29 and 30 when the Indian troops thwarted the Chinese provocative action to advance into south bank of the Pangong Tso (lake).

The third incident also took place there on September 7 when the belligerent Chinese troops fired warning shots in the air but the Indian Army maintained calm. This provocative act by the Chinese was part of a failed attempt to dislodge the Indian Army troops now positioned on the strategically important hill tops in the area.

This firing incident was just four days after Defence Minister Rajnath Singh and his Chinese counterpart held more than two hour-long bilateral meetings in Moscow during the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) meet on September 4.

The fourth episode of both sides firing in the air as a warning was reported from the northern bank of the Pangong Tso (lake) on September 9. It was a day before Jaishankar was to hold parleys with Wang Yi.

The Indian Army in a pre-emptive move readjusted its troop deployment and occupied heights on the north bank in the first week of this month. The Chinese have intruded more than five km here and have deployed a large number of troops.

However, the surprise move by the Indian Army now has placed it in an advantageous position as it now overlooks the Chinese posts at most points in the zone. This rattled them and the Chinese tried to dislodge the Indian troops on September 7 and 10 leading to firing, sources said.

Since then, the Indian Army is now deployed on key hills, including Black Top besides Rezang La and Rechin La. Mountain passes are known as La in the Tibetan language. The latest attempt by the PLA to remove the Indian soldiers was in the area between these two mountain passes at Mukphari, sources said.

No infiltration reported along India-China border in last 6 months, RS told

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

On Tuesday, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh informed the Lok Sabha that China had mobilised a large number of troops and armament along the LAC as well as in the 'depth areas'. He said the LAC was not commonly delineated.

Singh said that in early May, the Chinese side took action to hinder the normal, traditional patrolling pattern of Indian troops in the Galwan valley area, causing a face-off.

However, MHA officials said the answer by Nityanand Rai is not in conflict with what Defence Minister Rajnath Singh has said. "Infiltration as terminology is associated with terrorists or action where a hostile element sneaks into our territory and moves to the hinterland," a senior official said.

MHA officials added that Defence Minister Rajnath Singh had also spoken about attempted transgressions by Chinese troops in his address to the Lok Sabha on Tuesday.

Police have so far arrested 21 people and 15 names mentioned in the chargesheet are based on scientific, documentary and testimonial evidence gathered during investigation. According to police, the chargesheet includes accounts of over 700 witnesses, technical evidences WhatsApp apps and call data records (CDRs).

Police teams have specifically mentioned about the WhatsApp apps on February 24 as evidence in the chargesheet. That was the time when riots were happening in the city. At that point, the key conspirators were guiding the riot shoulders about violence in the Northeast area. They were directly in touch with rioters," said the sources.

Provide slum dwellers along rly tracks pucca houses: Jain to Centre

Delhi Minister says if needed, they can be accommodated in 40K available flats

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Urban Development Minister Satyendra Jain has requested the Centre to provide pucca houses to thousands of slum dwellers residing across the railway tracks.

Jain said, "Jahan jhuggi, wahin makaan" was the promise made by both the AAP and the BJP. "Not only that, on the orders of Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal but the Delhi Government has also made it a legal right of these poor families by formulating a policy to provide them pucca houses near their slums."

The Central Government has also accepted this policy of the Delhi Government by filing an affidavit in another case in the Delhi High Court.

"The Delhi Government has over 40,000 flats, of which some are ready and some will be ready soon. These flats can also be used if needed, and the Delhi Government had also written a letter to the railways last week in this regard. But, these flats are located on the outskirts of Delhi. These flats can be given to slum dwellers who live in areas that do not have vacant land around and who cannot be provided houses under 'Jahan jhuggi, wahin makaan' policy," he said.

Centre delayed Covid lockdown for 'Namaste Trump', alleges Opp

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Opposition on Wednesday alleged that the imposition of the nationwide lockdown in the wake of Covid pandemic situation was delayed because of the 'Namaste Trump' event and to bring down the elected Government in Madhya Pradesh.

Participating in the first ever discussion in the Rajya Sabha on the Covid-19 situation, DMK MP Tiruchi Siva said that the Government deliberately delayed the lockdown and the reason was Donald Trump.

"Was the lockdown announcement delayed because of US President Donald Trump's February visit? The delay was because of Donald Trump. You had a gala event planned," Siva said.

US President Donald Trump made a two-day State visit to India beginning February 23. The events planned for his trip included a massive 'Namaste Trump' rally in Ahmedabad.

Responding to Health Minister Hardeep Singh Puri, the Opposition was of the view that the lockdown was unplanned and the people suffered as a result.

Congress leader Anand Sharma initiated the discussion on the statement of Health Minister and targeted the Government over the 'sudden lockdown'. He said the Government is claiming it prevented nearly 14 to 29 lakh Covid-19 infections and now the Centre is saying it does not have the data for migrant labourers.

Tata wins bid for new Parliament building construction contract

RAJESH KUMAR ■ NEW DELHI

Tata Projects Ltd has emerged as lowest bidder for the project to construct and maintain the new Parliament building for five years.

After the Central Public Works Department (CPWD) opened financial bids, on Wednesday, Tata Projects Ltd quoted a bid worth ₹861.90 crore, while Larsen and Toubro Ltd quoted ₹865 crore. The bid document estimated the cost of the project at roughly ₹889 crore. Work on the building is likely to begin after the ongoing Monsoon Session of Parliament comes to an end.

According to the CPWD, three bidders had qualified in the technical round but only two firms ended up submitting their financial bids. Shapoorji Pallonji & Company Private Limited was the third firm which qualified for financial bids for this project. "The contract is likely to be awarded to the lowest bidder. In infrastructure projects the firm is finalised only after getting the letter of award for the project," the officials added. The proposed work is of very prestigious nature and is required to be completed with in the prescribed 21 months with the highest standards of quality and workmanship, the bid document said.

Corruption in 12 DU colleges: Sisodia

SAPNA SINGH ■ NEW DELHI

Delhi Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia has said that 12 colleges of Delhi University accused of not paying the salaries of teachers, are engaged in criminal activities by hiding funds provided by the Delhi Government.

Sisodia who also holds the portfolio of Education in the Delhi Cabinet alleged some colleges were spending money in lakhs of donations but not paying salaries to teachers.

Addressing virtual conference with media, Sisodia said the Delhi Government did a special audit for these colleges. Yesterday (Tuesday) we received an initial report from the auditors. It was revealed that the colleges that were screaming about Delhi Government not providing funds to them, have kept these funds under fixed deposits (FDs). Sisodia said the colleges have enough funds in their FDs and other existing accounts yet the administration is not paying salaries to its staff. CAG empanelled auditors have found it out in their initial observation report. This is almost criminal and totally unacceptable, he added.

Citing documents of fund grants to 12 Delhi government aided colleges, under Delhi University administration, Sisodia said his government has provided sufficient funds to the colleges for their projected salary needs under the pattern of assistance. "College administration should not become a pawn of their political masters in BJP and should stop playing with the lives of the state and students in these difficult times."

Sisodia pointed out a huge misappropriation in the accounts of the six DU colleges where Delhi government had initiated an independent audit.

"AAP government stands together with the teachers in this time of difficulty and it is important for everyone to understand how the DU administration has misappropriated funds given by Delhi Government. The Delhi Government has provided enough funds to these colleges for paying the salaries but in their initial observation report, the auditors have found that these funds are being diverted elsewhere rather than paying the salaries to the teachers. Projected salaries for this academic year is 300 crores and Delhi government has provided sufficient funds to the colleges under the pattern of assistance," he said.

Sisodia said that both BJP and DU are playing politics on this matter. "Teachers are not getting their salaries despite the Delhi government providing timely grants. Few teachers came to meet me and shared their concerns about salary payment. They shared that there is a need of proper audit of the college funds and suspected that funds are diverted towards non-salary expenses. We wanted to get at the bottom of this, as there could be a case of fund misappropriation. Therefore, the Delhi government started a special audit of these colleges. We asked the names of the auditors from CAG and started the process of auditing these colleges from CAG empanelled auditors. In the last week of September, the colleges were audited by them. Yesterday, we received an initial observation report from the auditors and some shocking revelations have come out," he said.

Sisodia said, when I took up this issue of non-payment of salaries, I found that the salary grants for these colleges were progressively increased over the past few years. In the last five years, the grants to these colleges have almost been doubled."

He pointed out that Keshav Mahavidyalaya has 10.52 crores INR as fixed deposit. He questioned that if they have so much money, why are they not paying salaries to their teachers.

"The salary grant paid by Delhi government to Keshav Mahavidyalaya was 10.92 crores INR in the year 2014-15 and last year the government paid 27.9 crores INR. Within five years, their salary grants have almost tripled. Even after receiving so much amount, they are not paying salaries to their teachers."

Sisodia further added, "The closing balance of Bhagini Nivedita college shows that currently they have around 2.5 crores INR as fixed deposits in their accounts."

The salary grant paid to Bhagini Nivedita in the year 2014-15 was around 8.4 crores INR and last year it was increased to 18 crores INR. It is surprising that they are claiming lack of funds and at the same time, not cooperating with the auditors at all."

He said, "Shaheed Sukhdev College of Business Studies didn't even provide their audited balance sheets to the auditors. However, it was found that they had around 3.5 crores INR in their balance sheet in year 2018-19. On top of that, they have 10.45 crores INR in fixed deposits. Even after having close to 14 crores INR with them, Delhi university and college administration is blaming Delhi government for not providing funds. This is highly unacceptable."

As the auditors started asking more questions about the fund utilisation and fixed deposits, the college administration stopped co-operating with the auditors. It was also found that there is no audit done on the fees collected by the students under different heads.

Different college administrations are inappropriately spending the amount collected by students. In one case, the college administration donated an amount of 25 lakhs INR without following the due process.

The 12 colleges which are affiliated with the Delhi University and are fully funded by the Delhi government are Acharya Narendra Dev College, Dr Bhim Rao Ambedkar Physical Education College, Bhashkaracharya College of Applied Sciences, Bhagini Nivedita College, DeenDayal Upadhyaya College, Aditi Mahavidyalaya Women's College, Indira Gandhi College of Physical Education & Sports Sciences, Keshav Mahavidyalaya, Maharaja Agrasen College (DU), Maharshi Valmiki College of Education, Shaheed Rajguru College of Applied Sciences for Women and Shaheed Sukhdev College of Business Studies.

Decomposing can solve stubble burning, says Rai

Delhi Environment Minister Gopal Rai during demonstration of bio-decomposer technique to solve pollution related issues due to stubble burning in the winters, at Pusa Agricultural Institute in New Delhi on Wednesday

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

With an aim to save the people from the health hazards caused by deteriorated air quality due to stubble burning in the neighboring States, the Delhi Government will speak to the Centre and neighboring States of Uttar Pradesh, Punjab, and Haryana regarding implementing the initiative to decompose stubble and using it in the farming fields. Delhi Environment Minister Gopal Rai said on Wednesday.

The cost of spraying of compost in Delhi will be borne by the Delhi Government to ease the burden on the farmers, Rai said, adding that the Delhi Government is committed to develop a sustainable and effective solution to the issue of stubble burning which causes major pollution in Delhi especially during the winter season.

The process of decomposing stubble and using it in the farming fields will be a great initiative. The Delhi government will speak to the Centre and states to implement this initiative and the cost of spraying of this compost in Delhi will be borne by the Delhi government which will ease the burden on the farmers," he added.

Addressing the media following his visit to Pusa Agriculture Institute, Gopal Rai said that the air quality in Delhi becomes very dangerous during the winter season.

"Last year, the stubble burning comprised 44 per cent of Delhi's pollution apart from Delhi's own share of pollutants. In Punjab, around 20 million tonnes of stubble is produced, and last year around nine million tonnes of stubble was burned in Punjab."

In Haryana, around seven million tonnes of stubble is produced, out of which 1.23 million tonnes of stubble was burned last year, due to which people of Delhi had to suffer from major pollution last year, he said. Rai said that the central government has devised a scheme in which aid is provided to the farmers for stubble. "The farmers have to pay half of the money and the rest of the half will be paid by the government for a machine that is required for the process," he said.

The environment minister said, "I met the director of Pusa Agriculture Institute, who said that they have developed a recomposing technology which can turn stubble into manure, which can be used in the fields itself."

"I believe that the same amount of money that is spent on the purchase of machines and on subsidy can be used for the decomposing of the stubble in those states. This will be a very successful initiative by the governments," he said.

Rai further said that the environment ministry of the Central Government has a very important role to play in this initiative. "We will draft a proper strategy after discussion with the Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal," he added.

Increasing OLG fraud major issue for Gurugram Police

PARVESH SHARMA ■ GURUGRAM

A number of frauds related to OLG, the online platform for buying and selling used goods, is an increasing concern for the Gurugram Police. The city police also identified three areas that have seen a hike in cyber frauds originating on the platform.

According to a survey conducted by police, most of these frauds have been traced to Mathura in Uttar Pradesh, Bharatpur in Rajasthan and Nuh in Haryana.

The city police have registered 17 FIRs after receiving 435 complaints related to OLG fraud till August this year.

To deal with this menace, the police suggested some measures to OLG officials to take necessary steps to combat such incidents.

According to the police, the fraudsters adopt several techniques to dupe their targets, like fraud money is routed through multiple gateways, thus further complicating the probe.

Nitika Gahlaut, DCP (headquarters), Gurugram Police, said that the police have received multiple complaints related to online frauds.

"To curb such frauds, we have given valuable suggestions to OLG and have also pointed out some loopholes on the website which fraudsters are using to dupe people. We have suggested the company officials to cross-check their users' details. The company has to ensure that a user can create only one account using one mobile number," the DCP said.

The officer further said that the fraudsters keep coming up with new ways to cheat people. During the probe, the officer said fraudsters usually pose as Army Men, doctors and teachers while offering to buy a product. Their profile often helps them gain trust among sellers.

"We have also suggested the company to implement verified user tags in case any user uploads any product or ad on the website. It is the responsibility of the company, they have to collect entire information about the user before verifying them on the platform."

The DCP also asserted that such incidents will be strictly controlled in the future.

"We have also given strict directions to the company to take care of the fine lapses on behalf of the company, stern actions will be initiated as per the law," she said.

OLG also claimed to have a threefold strategy to deal with online fraud.

"Users will have to share their GPS location. Consent will be taken from while downloading the app. A user will be authenticated with his/her mobile phone number. Only one OLG account can be accessed from a mobile number," said Jai Singh, the corporate relations officer of OLG India Private Ltd.

"We have been collaborating closely with the police's cyber cells agencies across the country and giving them all possible support to help nab the fraudsters," she added.

48K ihuggis on railway tracks facing demolition, says Cong leader Kumar

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Delhi Congress president Arvind Kumar accused the BJP and the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) of indulging in blame game regarding the relocation of the 14K long Railway track in Delhi.

Kumar said that around 48,000 ihuggis on railway tracks were facing the hammer of demolition. "The BJP which rules the municipal corporation in Delhi and the Kejriwal Government in Delhi were playing cheap politics as they used the ihuggi dwellers only as their vote-banks," he said.

Addressing the media, Kumar said that it was due to the relentless effort by the Congress that the Supreme Court stayed the execution of its own order for the demolition of the ihuggis till the next hearing of the petition filed by the Congress.

At the same time, the AAP and the Kejriwal government and the centre are all-dalit and harassing them as well. All the dalit workers, sweepers and government employees should boycott both the parties and join the Congress in union.

Nurses adamant on work boycott

Talks with secy in-charge Pankaj Pandey failed to break the ice

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

After the director general (DG) state health services, the secretary in charge of the state health department has failed to persuade the angry nurses to take back their agitation. On Wednesday, a delegation of association of nurses was invited by the secretary in charge, Pankaj Kumar Pandey for a dialogue. The talks however proved inconclusive with the association of nurses sticking to their stand of work boycott. The association has threatened to take mass leave on September 21 and decided to go on a work boycott from September 30 if their issues are not resolved. In support of their nine point demands the nurses are sporting black arm bands while working and have threatened to further intensify their agitation.

The president of association, Meenakshi Jakhmola said that the talks with the secretary in charge Pankaj Pandey were held in a very cordial atmosphere but the nurses have decided that they would only suspend their agitation after the Government Order (GO) for their demands is released. The nurses want that their salary should not be deducted since they are at the forefront of the war against the Covid-19 pandemic. They also want parity with the pharmacists and increase in promotional avenues.

Monsoon Session

Uncertainty still prevails over venue of session

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

With less than a week remaining for the start of the monsoon session of Uttarakhand assembly, the Vidhan Sabha secretariat is yet to decide about the place where the session would be held. With various options still being considered, the chief minister, Meenakshi Jakhmola said that the talks with the secretary in charge Pankaj Pandey were held in a very cordial atmosphere but the nurses have decided that they would only suspend their agitation after the Government Order (GO) for their demands is released. The nurses want that their salary should not be deducted since they are at the forefront of the war against the Covid-19 pandemic. They also want parity with the pharmacists and increase in promotional avenues.

CM and Assembly Speaker to inspect Veer Chandra Singh Garhwal hall located in the State secretariat today possibilities are being explored for holding an organised and proper session. He said that the hall inside the secretariat would be inspected on Thursday in this regard.

The speaker added that all efforts are being made to make a proper sitting plan for MLAs while ensuring that all safety measures in view of the Covid-19 pandemic are followed.

The monsoon session of the Uttarakhand assembly is slated to start from September 23. However the Covid-19 regulation has plunged to the Vidhan Sabha secretariat to ponder over various options for successful holding of the session. The hall of the assembly building in Dehradun is faced with acute shortage of space. The Vidhan Sabha authorities are trying to accommodate some members in the galleries for the session and request senior members to attend the session virtually. However the idea of virtual attendance has been rejected by the Leader of Opposition (LoP) in state assembly Indra Hridayesh. She has made it clear that all the 11 MLAs of Congress party would attend the session.

DUVM meets CM seeking weekend lockdown, experts & others term it unscientific

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

Some businessmen from SDOO Udyog Vyapar Mandal (DUVM) met Uttarakhand chief minister Trivendra Singh Rawat and Dehradun district magistrate Ashish Kumar Srivastava to seek imposition of strict weekend lockdown for few weeks in order to contain Covid-19 contagion in the city.

However, people like small shopkeepers, vendors and daily wagers are not in full support of this idea as according to them, their livelihood depends on their day to day sales and since their business is already doing badly in the current pandemic, they cannot afford any day without any earnings. Even some doctors are not in favour of such a lockdown which they consider as unscientific.

"I have been selling six to seven pairs of footwear on the roadside on a daily basis since June but sometimes there are no sales. I earn about Rs 300 to Rs 400 on a good day which hardly pays for ration and other expenses of my children and parents. People like me hardly make it through a closed Sunday without any earnings, so if anyone wants to impose a lockdown on Saturday too, they should think about the small vendors like us as well," said Dhani Phukela, a street vendor near Paltan Bazaar.

Meanwhile, experts have opined that lockdown on weekends will not decrease the chances of Covid-19 contagion but it will surely give a false assurance to people when they need to be more alert. According to doctor Nitin Pandey, imposing a strict lockdown on weekends is not going to save anybody from the contagion. Proper protective measures are more important for safety from Covid. He said that imposing lockdown on weekends is completely impractical and unscientific. Epidemiologists have stated that a lockdown of less than 14 days is ineffective, therefore such a lockdown will not help in minimising the number of Covid-19 positive cases but it will severely affect the livelihood of several people in the city. Further frequent sanitisation is not good for human health, added Dr Pandey.

In the meantime, the businessmen stated that closed weekends will give administration an opportunity to completely sanitise the city, though the officials of the municipal corporation has stated earlier that as per World Health Organisation (WHO), sanitisation in the open areas is not quite effective and it can possibly cause some health issues too. However the representatives of the DUVM state that they want the State government to take any decisions like imposition of lockdown in a few days to lessen the risk because they do not want the administration to announce lockdown during the festival season which is highly profitable time for them. Besides, they stated that Rawat and Srivastava have promised them to consider their proposal to impose weekend lockdown in the next few weeks.

UPNL told to facilitate temporary jobs to unemployed & others

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

Additional chief secretary Radha Raturi has written to the managing director of Uttarakhand Pury Sainik Kalyan Nigam Limited (UPNL) to implement the cabinet decision regarding provision of jobs to Uttarakhand residents rendered unemployed due to Covid-19. The UPNL facilitates outsourced jobs to ex-servicemen and their legal dependents according to the requirement of governmental/semi-governmental departments and public institutions.

However, due to conditions resulting from the Covid-19 pandemic and the Garin Kalyan Rozgar Abhiyan on the initiative of the prime minister, it is necessary that Uttarakhandis who have returned to the state be provided temporary employment near their residence on the basis of their experience/eligibility/skill through UPNL. Considering this, UPNL has been directed to provide temporary employment for 11 months to skilled candidates registered till March 31, 2021 including those rendered unemployed by the pandemic and others for jobs as per the requirement in health, housekeeping, hospitality, technical and other sectors wherein ex-servicemen and their dependants are not available.

Guv stresses on observing precautions against Covid

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

To encourage citizens to wear mask in public and observe social distancing for protection from Covid-19, the governor Baby Rani Maurya distributed masks and sanitisers at various places in the city on Wednesday. The governor distributed masks, soaps and sanitisers to the needy on Raipur Road, Survey Chowk and Clock Tower. This event was organised by the Uttarakhand Red Cross Society.

On the occasion, the governor enquired about the daily difficulties faced by the people, the condition of their livelihood and employment, and personal problems. She also requested the people to wear masks in public and frequently wash their hands.

In an informal interaction with media persons Maurya stressed on the importance of awareness on wearing masks and observing social distancing. The public will have to work together with the government and local administration in the campaign against Covid-19. Near the Clock Tower, the governor also appealed to the traders and business enterprises to discharge their social responsibilities and help as many poor people as possible. Encountering those who are involved in social work, she gave them a larger number of masks, soaps and sanitisers, asking them to distribute the same among the poor people. The governor further said that in these difficult circumstances caused by the Covid-19 pandemic, all people should come forward to help their subordinate workers and the people in need. The Dehradun mayor Sunil Uniyal 'Gama' was also present on the occasion.

MCD likely to close disaster control room by September end

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

With the monsoon on the wane, the Municipal Corporation of Dehradun (MCD) is likely to close the services of the disaster control room which was especially set up for redressing the waterlogging issues in Dehradun at the end of this month. In June, the corporation started the disaster control room and set it up in Town Hall to enable the locals to easily contact MCD for the waterlogging issues which are quite common during the rainy season especially on days which experience heavy rain. At present, the MCD is still getting about 10 to 15 complaints every day and so far, the corporation has received hundreds of complaints day and night.

The MCD officials stated that this set up was to help locals to get an immediate solution to waterlogging issues 24/7 during the rainy season and as the rain will be considerably low by the end of September, there would be no need for the services of this control room. However, as per the officials, the local residents can still call MCD for the said issues on other numbers too. It is pertinent to mention here that the locals can approach MCD to complain through the telephone number 0135-2652571 and toll free number 18001804153.

Mobile app lexicon of three regional languages launched

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

Chief minister Trivendra Singh Rawat released a mobile phone application 'Akhra' lexicon of three of Uttarakhand's languages - Garhwali, Kumaoni and Jaunsari here on Wednesday. The mobile app has been prepared by colonel (ret'd) DP Dimri and his associates.

Speaking on the occasion, Rawat said that the app was a commendable effort towards increasing the interest of the people in regional languages and dialects. He stressed on the need for consistent efforts to conserve the State's languages, dialects and culture. The languages and culture of any area depict the uniqueness of that region, he added.

DP Dimri said that the app was an attempt made for the benefit of youths interested in learning the regional languages and those interested in these languages. Many detailed lexicons of Uttarakhand's regional languages are available but it is difficult to find these swiftly when needed. Hence, an attempt has been made to provide a digital lexicon in a smaller form. Dimri further added that his team members Arun Lakhe, Purnanand, Nutan Pokhriyal, Urmila Singh and Rekha Dimri had helped in preparing this lexicon.

Nadda accuses Cong of being 'double faced' over farmers' Bills

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Against the backdrop of three bills related to farmers being voted in Parliament, BJP President JP Nadda on Wednesday charged the Congress with being "double faced" and playing politics by opposing the "revolutionary bills" in the two houses even as he asserted that Prime Minister Narendra Modi is actually implementing what the opposition party had promised to the farmers in its 2019 manifesto.

A day after the Lok Sabha passed the Essential Commodities Act, 1955, had turned outdated as it was then needed to regulate the market and prevent hoarding.

The produce of wheat, rice and dal, he said, has now increased ten, four and two and half-times respectively and the market requires to be deregulated.

"You can now sell produce outside mandi Rajio in a competitive market to get the best price in a transparent manner," said the BJP President.

Nadda said contract farming would be on a written document on the produce and not on the land with "assured price, bank and RPLI for the farmer," he claimed.

Charging Congress with having a "double-faced" stand, the BJP chief said Congress promised to remove all restrictions on the agriculture produce in its 2019 manifesto and demanded replacement of 1955 Act.

"Modiji has implemented what Congress promised. The same Congress is now opposing these bills in the Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha," Nadda said and asserted they were meant for the "azadi of kisans".

He said despite the progressive legislation for farmers, the system of Minimum Support Price for the farmers would continue.

June 19 a 'black day', Modi lied to nation on Chinese aggression: Cong

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Congress on Wednesday called June 19 a "black day" in India's history, alleging that Prime Minister Narendra Modi "lied" to the nation on the day about the Chinese transgressions in Ladakh.

The party also attacked the Modi Government for taking loans to the tune of ₹750 million (₹5.21 crore) from Beijing-based Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank (AIIB) to provide financial support to the Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Yojana (PMKAY), a scheme launched to help the poor hit hard by the Covid-19 pandemic, at a time when the armed forces were fighting China's People's Liberation Army in eastern Ladakh.

Former Congress president Rahul Gandhi had attacked the government on the issue. "Understand the chronology: PM said no one has entered Indian territory, then took loans from China-based bank, then defence minister said China has intruded into our territory and now home minister says no infiltration along India-China border. Is the Modi government with Indian armed forces or with China? Who is there so much of fear?" Rahul, who is currently abroad, tweeted.

Addressing reporters outside the Parliament House complex here, Congress spokesperson Pawan Khera claimed that the Union ministers are speaking in different languages on the India-China border standoff.

"June 19 is a black day in the history of India because that was the first time that any Prime Minister lied to the nation. Not only did he give a clean chit to China that day, but also signed a loan agreement with the Beijing-based Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank (AIIB) to the tune of ₹750 million (₹5.21 crore)," he said.

"By then, 20 of our brave soldiers had sacrificed their lives while protecting our sovereignty in violent clashes with Chinese troops," added Khera.

SC orders fresh probe into mysterious death of NLU student in 2017

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Wednesday ordered a closure report filed by Rajasthan Police and ordered a fresh investigation into the mysterious death of a third-year student of the National Law University, Jodhpur, in August 2017.

A bench of justices R F Nariman, Navin Sinha and Indira Banerjee said, "We have set aside the closure report. We have directed a de-novo investigation with certain more directions."

On September 8, the top court had said there is a need for a re-investigation in the case. "We may direct re-investigation. This is not the way," the top court had observed after perusing the report filed by the Rajasthan Police in the matter.

In July, the top court had said that the investigation in the matter should be completed within two months and a final report be filed before it. While claiming that an FIR was lodged in the case after 5.21 crore, he said China is the largest shareholder in AIIB.

Centre approved anti-viral medicines to treat Covid-19 patients, says SC

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Wednesday said there was an approval by the Central Government on use of Remdesivir and Favipiravir as medicines to treat COVID-19.

The top court was hearing a plea seeking registration of an FIR by the CBI against ten Indian pharmaceutical firms for manufacturing and selling these two medicines for treating COVID-19 patients allegedly without valid licences.

Remdesivir and Favipiravir are antiviral drugs and their efficacy in treating COVID-19 patients have been a matter of debate among medical experts.

A bench comprising Chief Justice S A Bobde and Justices A S Bopanna and V Ramaswami, during the current fiscal year 2021 as on September 12, 2020, is ₹29 crore, he said in a statement.

More than 1.04 crore migrant workers across the country returned to their home states amid the coronavirus pandemic-led livelihood crisis.

Archaeological hotspot 'Sinauli' gets 'national importance' tag

ARCHANA JYOTI ■ NEW DELHI

Archaeological hotspot 'Sinauli' in Uttar Pradesh's Bagpat area in Sinauli where "sacred chambers", chariots, decorated

"legged coffins" as well as fascinating artifact pointing to the presence of a warrior class around 4,000 years ago has got the tag of 'national importance'. The Government issued a notification in this regard recently.

The Union Culture Ministry, which supervises the functioning of the country's premier conservation body, Archaeological Survey of India (ASI), had issued a preliminary notification in June to bring the site under its fold.

The aim is to protect the site from encroachment, looting and destruction. Around 28 hectares of land mostly belonging to the locals in the region has been brought under protection, according to which while the farmers of the land will be allowed to carry on agricultural practices but they will not be permitted to construct any permanent structure.

"Sinauli is an important site from an archaeological point of view as artifacts found from the venue are not only of national importance but of international importance too. Much remains yet to be explored," said archaeologist SK Manjul who is credited for the unearthing of coffins and sacred chambers important artifacts from the site in 2018.

Sanauli is located on the left bank of the River Yamuna, 68 km north-east of Delhi which brought to light the largest necropolis of the late Harappan period datable to around early part of second millennium BCE.

Manjul said that the unearthed chariots, some coffins, shields, swords and helmets points towards the existence of a "warrior class in the area around 2,000 BCE". The three chariots found in burial pits indicate the possibility of royal burials, while other findings confirm the population of a warrior class here, he added.

"These findings are important to understand the culture pattern of the Upper Ganga-Yamuna doab," he found copper swords, helmets, shields and chariots," Manjul said.

He claimed that the discovery of chariots put India on a par with ancient civilisations in Mesopotamia and Greece, where chariots were used extensively.

JAYA BACHCHAN REMARKS IN SUPPORT OF BOLLYWOOD

Mumbai Police ramps up security outside 'Jalsa'

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

After actress-turned-Samajwadi MP Jaya Bachchan spoke vociferously in Rajya Sabha against the attempts being made by certain people to vilify Bollywood, the Mumbai Police on Wednesday beefed up security outside the outside Bachchan's bungalow 'Jalsa' at Juhu in north-west Mumbai.

Taking serious cognisance of intense trolling that Jaya has come under after remarks in Rajya Sabha made in response to BJP MP and Bhojpuri actor Ravi Kishan and actress Kangana Ranaut, the Mumbai police deployed police personnel outside Bachchan's residence 'Jalsa' to ensure against untoward incidents.

Simultaneously, the Mumbai Police Cyber Cell is looking into trolling and virulent social media posts that have targeted the Bachchans during the last two days. Talking to media persons here, Mumbai Guardian Minister Asmita Shukla said, "I have told the Mumbai police to increase security for the Bachchan family which is being trolled and targeted viciously in the social media after her remarks in support of Bollywood Parliament."

It may be recalled that actor Ravi Kishan said that there was a drug problem in Bollywood, Jaya Bachchan had hit back saying that some attempts were being made to vilify Bollywood.

"Just because of a few people, you cannot vilify the whole industry... I was really embarrassed and ashamed that yesterday one of our members in the Lok Sabha, who is from the industry, spoke against the film industry. Jis thahi mein khaate hain us mein chhed karte hain (they are biting the hand that feeds them)," Jaya had said in Rajya Sabha, without naming Kishan.

"At a time when the financial situation is in a depressing state and employment rate at the worst levels, in order to divert the attention of people, we are being flooded on social media and there is no support from the government... the entertainment industry in the country provides direct employment to lakhs of people and indirect employment to 5 million people," Jaya had said.

After 6-month, Mamata to resume administrative meetings soon

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

After almost a six-month gap Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee has decided to visit the districts to hold administrative meetings. Her district tour will begin with visits to North Bengal towns where the Chief Minister will take stock of situations, officials at State Secretariat Nabanna said.

The resumption of Banerjee's administrative meetings or crisis committees in the backdrop intensified movements on the part of principal Opposition party BJP.

The Chief Minister will reach Siliguri on September 21 where she will stay for a night before heading to other districts.

The tour will include districts of Alipurduar and Jalpaiguri districts at

"Uttarkanya" building which is the second secretariat of the State.

After meeting officials there she would the district officers of Darjeeling, Coochbehar and Kalimpong before returning to Kolkata on September 24, sources said.

Soon after coming to power Banerjee had started regular administrative trips to district headquarters taking along with him respective ministers, and secretaries. During administrative meetings she would confront local authorities and evaluate their progress report on various pending projects. Besides she would also meet local people to take feedback from them.

The tour will yield results with the effect that projects were speedily completed.

Banerjee had held an administrative meeting out of Kolkata for the last time in the month of March when she visited Malda. Subsequently with the outbreak of corona pandemic the programmes had to be halted.

On whether corona protocols would be compromised in the crowded meetings in the district a senior official said "all precautions are being taken."

Meanwhile, pooh-poohing the resumption of administrative meetings, BJP leader Sayantan Basu said "such eye-washes would hardly yield any result because the people have already made up their minds to throw out this Government... We had said that in 2019 we would issue an order through the law, by which the TMC to 22 out of 42 seats ...

State BJP to stage Nabanna march on Oct 6

Now we have promised to make them 'saaf' (clear them out) and we will do that with the help of the people. No amount of administrative meeting will help."

Bengal Minister Partho Chatterjee however said "The victory of 2019 has gone to BJP's head and in the past one year they have shown their metal to the people. Now they have once again made up their mind because they know that their future lies with Mamata Banerjee and not the communal party like BJP."

Meanwhile, the State BJP had decided to stage a Nabanna march on October 6, party sources said adding the march will be organized to raise a number of issues including corruption, syndicate raj, falling law and order situation etc.

BJP: Vijayan direct beneficiary of gold scam, LIFE

Mission corruption

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ KOCHI

For the first time in the history of Kerala, leader of a political party stood in front of the main gate of the Kerala Secretariat on Wednesday and shouted that Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan was the direct beneficiary of the gold smuggling scam, LIFE Mission corruption and even the drug trafficking cases in the State.

"Pinarayi Vijayan is the direct beneficiary of gold smuggling scam, LIFE Mission corruption and drug trafficking. That's the reason behind his over enthusiasm in saving and protecting K Jaleel, the minister for higher education and not been questioned by the Enforcement Directorate," declared K Surendran, president of the Kerala BJP on Wednesday.

Surendran, who was addressing hundreds of party members including activists of Mahila Morcha, said that Vijayan was afraid of his own shadow. "It is because of his sense of guilt. We want the investigating agencies to question Vijayan's daughter and son-in-law in these cases," said the BJP leader.

The BJP president was referring to Vijayan's press briefing on Tuesday evening when he shouted at the former describing him as a person who lost his mental balance. A sense of fear is haunting Vijayan and it is because of his involvement in the criminal deeds," charged Surendran.

Earlier VV Rajesh, senior BJP leader, alleged that the CPI(M) was conspiring with the Police in sabotaging the rallies and demonstrations organized by the saffron brigade all over Kerala.

Kerala Cong braces up to celebrate Chand's golden jubilee

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ KOCHI

Though the Congress presence is not felt in the State-wide agitation against the CPI(M)-led Kerala Government over the gold smuggling scam and LIFE Mission corruption charges, the Grand Old Party is busy with warming up for a two-day mega event to be held at Kottayam and Thiruvananthapuram on Thursday and Saturday respectively. The fact that Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi are addressing the virtual rallies live from New Delhi shows the importance of being Oommen Chandi, the face of the party in Kerala.

Congressmen and cadre in the State are getting ready to celebrate the Golden Jubilee of former Chief Minister Oommen Chandi's membership of the Kerala Legislative Assembly. Chandi (75) is the only law maker in the Kerala who has been elected to the assembly in all elections he had contested since 1970. Though he was playing a subdued role in politics after the 2016 election in which the Congress-led UDF was defeated by a huge margin by the CPI(M)-led Left Front, the Congress staged an impressive return in the 2019 Lok Sabha election from Kerala.

The Congress High Command in a major reorganization of the party, inducted Oommen Chandi as a member of the Congress Working Committee making it clear that who would be the chief ministerial candidate of the party in the 2021 election. It has its own explanations. "Chandi is always the man of the hour to whom the High Command turns to in emergency times. He has the capability to disarm even hardcore critics of the party with that disarming smile. Moreover he has only obsession and that is Kerala politics," said Sam Rajappa, former editor of Mathrubhumi and veteran commentator.

In a politically surcharged State like Kerala, it is impossible to any person to win successfully and successively from a single constituency all elections. But Oommen Chandi, popularly known as Kunjooni, is different and he is here to stay for some more years, say friends and foes alike.

Hindus have understood that had the Government of Kerala followed the affidavit filed by his Government in the Sabarimala Case, the unpleasant events that took place in the holy shrine would not have been there. The CPI(M) Government took back that affidavit and filed another one which earned it the wrath of the people," said P Rajan, former editor of Mathrubhumi and veteran commentator.

NCB seizes 2 kgs of charas, arrests 2 peddlers from Palghar

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

Mounting its crackdown on the drug peddlers in and around the metropolis, the Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB) officials on Wednesday seized 2.04 kg of Charas (weed) and arrested two peddlers from the neighbouring Palghar district.

Identifying the arrested alleged drug peddlers as Avinash Arun Singh (24) Shrawan L. Gupta (38), the NCB officials said that both Avinash and Gupta were residents of Nalaspore in Palghar district.

Acting on a tip-off, a Mumbai Zonal NCB team apprehended Avinash and found the narcotics hidden in a backpack on his person. Immediately afterwards, the team arrested Gupta near his Nalaspore residence.

Gupta had been in touch with Avinash earlier for delivery of a bag containing Charas received from an alleged supplier Baliram alias Balli, a resident of Bhandarer (east) in Thane district.

The NCB officials said that the seized contraband was found in eight taped packets sewn in cloth bags. The bags were concealed in Avinash's backpack.

The NCB officials are investigating the antecedents of the arrested accused, the source and destination of the seized drugs and the supply chain involved.

Wednesday's operation involving the drug seizure and arrest of two alleged peddlers was independent of the ongoing investigations into the much-discussed drug case related to actor Sushant Singh Rajput's death.

Maha: Cong stages stir against Centre's ban on onion export

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

Wearing onion garlands around their necks, the Congress staged protests in Nashik district - "defence their hopes, as the country's largest onion market at Lasalgaon and other parts of Maharashtra, against the Narendra Modi Government's decision to ban exports of onions.

In Nashik district which is the epicentre of protests against the "anti-farmer" policies of the Modi government, the Congress workers - accompanied by onion growing farmers - raised vociferous slogans against the BJP-led government at the Centre.

On Tuesday, the onion growers and traders had staged a dharna at the market yard of the APMC market at Lasalgaon in Nashik district.

"At a time when the farmers in the state have started to recover from the Covid-19 induced losses, the Modi government has once again imposed a ban on onion exports," the Congress said, "causing huge losses to farmers." Maharashtra Congress president and State

"At a time when the farmers in the state have started to recover from the Covid-19 induced losses, the Modi government has once again imposed a ban on onion exports," the Congress said, "causing huge losses to farmers." Maharashtra Congress president and State Revenue Minister Balasaheb Thorat said

Revenue Minister Balasaheb Thorat said.

There is anger among the farmers against the Modi government's decision to ban onion exports and the state government stands firmly with the farmers. The Congress' agitation will continue till the time the onion government withdraws the ban on onion exports," Thorat said.

Slamming the Modi government's decision to ban onion exports, Thorat said: "Recently, the Centre's decision to import milk powder deprived the opportunity to thousands of dairy farmers to sell tonnes of milk powder lying with them, resulting in a drop in milk prices. Just as when onions were fetching a good price in the market, a decision to ban exports was taken which has led to the price of onion crashing by Rs 700-800 per quintal."

Meanwhile, the Maharashtra Cabinet on Wednesday expressed serious displeasure over the Centre's decision to ban onion exports. At a weekly State Cabinet meeting, Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar, Food and Civil Supplies Minister Chaghan Bhujbal and Revenue Minister Balasaheb Thorat criticised the Centre for its "anti-farmer" decision of banning the export of onions.

Briefing the ministers present, Principal Secretary Anup Kumar said that during 2018-19 farmers from Maharashtra had exported 21.83 metric tonnes of onion, while they had exported 18.50 metric tonnes of onion during 2019-20.

Senior Minister Eknath Shinde told the Cabinet that currently, 4 lakh metric tonnes were lying at the Jawahar Nehru Port, while more than 500 trucks carrying onions were waiting in a queue near the Nepal border.

Pak renews map war

Despite Russia's protests, it circulates fictitious map showing parts of India at SCO. Is China behind this adventurism?

Pakistan is playing a dangerous geo-political game, needling India from the other end as China's serif State, without realising that all of it could boomerang on itself. Having failed to internationalise the Kashmir issue despite the abrogation of Article 370, it has now taken its territorial aggression to redrawing its maps and appropriating what it fancifully feels is owed to it. So in August it released a new map, incorporating Kashmir, parts of Ladakh and Junagadh in Gujarat. India had rightly called this vacuous and unilateral declaration, which is not backed by any credible reasoning, support groups, historical reasoning or legal validity, as a "political absurdity." So Pakistan, in a bid to legitimise its claims, circulated this map at a virtual meeting of the national security advisors of Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) member countries, despite host Russia's resistance. India rightly walked out of the meeting, saying Pakistan's move violated SCO norms, which mandated that no bilateral issue would be discussed and that the sovereignty and territorial integrity of member-states would be respected. The Russia-India-China axis dominates the SCO, which, as a counterweight to the US-dominated NATO, has emerged as one of the largest trans-regional international organisations accounting for almost 44 per cent of the world population, stretching from the Arctic Ocean to the Indian Ocean and from the Pacific Ocean to the Baltic Sea. China is seeking to use it in its global domination against the US and while it has sufficiently debt-trapped Central Asian republics and other regional players to do its bidding, it is trying to neutralise Russia by becoming its biggest investor and is now needling India. Considering that India is intransigent on yielding to China's terms on the Ladakh standoff, regardless of the meetings of the Foreign and Defence Ministers of both nations on the sidelines of the SCO, it just wanted to embarrass India, making it look like an "occupier" at a public forum. And for this it used its proxy, Pakistan. China has also been trying to convince Russia to scale down its defence deals with India following the border standoff and the map fiasco, which undoubtedly has left Moscow red-faced, was about strong-arming it as well. True, Russia is pragmatic enough about keeping both China and India on its side to establish its relevance in a multi-polar world and even front India to counter Chinese heft. But China certainly doesn't want India, which has won brownie points at international fora for being decorous and respecting the rule of law, to prevail at SCO. In fact, it was what Pakistan Foreign Minister Shah Mehmood Qureshi said recently that shows this cartographic offensive to be a part of a larger pattern and not just Pakistan's independent move. "The new map shows Kashmir shares a clear border with China," a clear indication that like Nepal, this attempt to redraw boundaries was made at China's behest and underlines our eastern neighbour's desire for strategic contiguity in the region than Pakistan's any real concern for Kashmir. While India is firm on Chinese withdrawal from eastern Ladakh that seems to have driven a wedge in their greater plan to control the Karakoram by squeezing us with salami-slicing, Pakistan's map claims are clearly intended to warn us of a two-front offensive. Pakistan is heating up the Line of Control (LoC), having moved almost 20,000 soldiers recently to match Chinese deployment on the Line of Actual Control (LAC). Its ceasefire violations and infiltration bids have gone up by about 60 per cent this year, something which didn't happen even after the Balakot airstrikes. If recent reports are to be believed, then the Chinese are no longer shadow-boxing. Just like in Nepal, their officials have had a series of meetings with their Pakistani counterparts in Gilgit-Baltistan and have been aiding them clandestinely to revive old terror networks against India. Debt-trapped by the China-Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC), with its economy in the doldrums and heavily dependent on borrowings and bailouts, Pakistan is but a pawn in China's gameplan.

Yet Pakistan Prime Minister Imran Khan forgets that such unilateralism will beget unilateralism from the Indian side as well. And hurt its interests. The new map is nothing but an adventurist version of its 1947-48 map and in one blow scythes through all bilateral agreements that came after it, primarily the 1972 Shimla Agreement. If Khan wants to negate the understanding that bilateral disputes will be resolved bilaterally, is he also prepared for the negation of all other bilateral treaties we have regarding water-sharing? And if he has taken the liberty of depicting territories under Indian control as Pakistani territory, then how would he counter other valid land claims from our side? In that sense, Pakistan's latest offensive is nothing short of playing with fire. Realising that the US is now more an ally of India and is humouring it, Pakistan is desperately coopting the Kashmir issue under the banner of pan-Islamism. So it is involving Turkey, which wants to be a leader of the neo-Islamic world, in its criticism of India and seeking Chinese endorsement. Only Pakistan doesn't realise that its Kashmir strategy is still not quite exportable. And that China, while using it for posturing, will continue to engage with India for geo-strategic reasons.

Life on Venus

There's proof of life in the unlikelyst of planets, also known for being one of the least explored

For years, the search for extraterrestrial life inside our solar system has always concentrated on the "red" planet Mars. That is because Mars is similar in size to Earth. There is now clear evidence that there was once water on its surface and most importantly, like Earth, it is also in the so-called "habitable" zone, close enough to its star for enough radiation but not so much that life wouldn't take off. Mars is, therefore, considered to either have life or to have once harboured life and capable of supporting a human expedition. As a result, we are constantly sending probes to Mars and even to its tiny moons. Probes that circle the planet as well as robotic vehicles that have roamed its surface. We actually have a greater grasp of the surface of Mars than we do of the bottom of our oceans. Even now, the aim for mankind, both in real and reel life, is to make Mars the first step on our eventual voyage to the stars.

Venus, the second rock from the Sun, is, however, given as an example of where global warming will take us. A planet benign on the outside but one where every probe sent since the start of space exploration has been dissolved in acid in the atmosphere or fried by the extreme heat that the greenhouse effect has caused. Even though the Soviet Venera programme did land several probes on Venus and many survived a few hours, there was a succession of lens cap failures. As a result, Venus is one of the least explored planets of the solar system, lacking the romanticism of Mars and the grandeur of Jupiter and Saturn, which have both seen billion-dollar spacecraft visit them in the past decade. Yet, the discovery of phosphine in the Venusian atmosphere is an intriguing prospect because the only way for this gas, with three hydrogen molecules attached to one phosphorus molecule, to occur naturally is as a byproduct of biological processes. While the gas can be made industrially by man, that isn't clearly a possibility on Venus. So, have we been barking up the wrong tree for decades? After all, as the old adage goes, "Men are from Mars and Women are from Venus" and as we all know, women have all the answers. Maybe some strange process creates phosphine on Venus that we are unaware of and we should send a probe or two to the planet we never thought could harbour life. But as we know from Earth herself, life can survive in some really extreme conditions. This time though, let us make sure that the lens caps work.

Teachers too must learn

The NEP expects every teacher to develop a comprehensive perspective on life and living and follow an application-based module

JS RAJPUT

For over six decades, one has never witnessed such a strong projection of the national resolve to implement a policy. This rare privilege goes to the National Education Policy (NEP), 2020. The President of India addresses the nation, the Prime Minister addresses twice within a week, the Union Education Minister and his team seem busy 24x7, conducting and guiding national-level webinars on specific topics that would require new initiatives and action at the implementation stage. It's evident that the nation has realised that for equitable growth, progress and development, it has to be "education, education, and education." India is now determined to create a pool of teachers who would not only be degree-holders but possess "personalities." These would be people imbued with a comprehensive multi-disciplinary and multi-dimensional perspective.

In fact, the new approach to teacher preparation would expect every instructor to develop a comprehensive perspective on life and living. They would internalise the higher goals of education. The focus, henceforth, would be on them believing in Sarva Bhut Hite Ratah. And as was the ancient tradition, they would be life-long learners, yavadjeevait adhyatye viprah. It is, in a sense, a revolution in the levels of integrity and higher goals of education. By 2030 all teachers would be prepared in multi-faculty colleges and universities through four-year integrated programmes. As one goes through the various sections of the NEP this expectation becomes evident to everyone.

The objective of achieving sharyutva would require a strong support system that must emerge from the establishment and society. There are clear indications to ensure that: "In order to improve and reach the levels of integrity and credibility required to restore the prestige of the teaching profession, the regulatory system shall be empowered to take stringent action against sub-standard and dysfunctional Teacher Education Institutions (TEIs) that do not meet the basic educational criterion, after giving one year for the remedy of breaches. By 2030, only educationally sound, multi-disciplinary and integrated teacher education programmes shall be in force." This objective of restoring the credibility of TEIs is achievable. The National Council for Teacher Education (NCTE) had, during 1998-99, successfully exercised this authority, and certain well-known but sub-standard teacher preparation programmes were closed down. Once teacher educators accept this responsibility, they could transform the entire system. Let them never forget that the recommendations on teacher education arise from the expectations and aspirations of the young. But somewhere besides these is also the hidden pain and anguish which was recorded - with a heavy heart - by late Justice JS Verma: "A majority of standard TEIs - over 10,000 in number - are not even attempting serious teacher education but are essentially selling degrees for a price." One could mention it only with immense pain, as the first chairperson of the NCTE said, that all these 10,000 institutions selling degrees were certified by senior teachers, teacher educators, professors and other academics. The policy has done its part, no more stand-alone colleges. Now it is the responsibility of teachers, teacher educators and professionals in the field to ensure that in future regulatory mechanisms are not trivialised.

This policy suggests alternative regulatory structures, which would transform the manner in which future multi-disciplinary teacher preparations institutions and universities would emerge. The responsibility of teachers at every stage would grow multi-fold as autonomy would be the in-thing. When one goes through the various general recommendations in the policy, one finds serious concern for drastic change in teacher education in content and pedagogy, and the need to achieve an attitudinal transformation among aspiring teachers. It is now learning, learning and more learning. Examinations shall no more be days of nationwide anxiety and widespread tension. The focus of assessment in schools shifts to application of knowledge gained and internalised. The present pattern of examinations was transplanted in this country by alien rulers. It had been discarded in Britain much earlier but we still adhere to it in India. Teachers, and teacher educators, have a tremendous task ahead in implementing curriculum load reduction, to ensure that textbooks and textual materials are neither deficient on new knowledge nor too overloaded with obsolete content. Teaching and learning shall become more interactive, and much would transpire outside the closed classroom. Skill development and bringing in vocational education elements early in schools would require TEIs absorbing them in their own curricula. Those who know the story of Richard Feynman would find it much easier to visualise its great transformative and inspiring impact on the system as a whole. It would be possible only when the promises to ensure the assured recruitment process are put to practice, and the assurances on the professionally acceptable teacher-student ratio is implemented without any aberrations. One must not ignore considerable dilution in the quality of education and decline in the acceptability and credibility of schools funded by the public. The policy realises this.

The ancient Indian tradition of knowledge spread over four stages: adhyayan, manan, chintan and upayog. And its relevance is eternal. It is the essence of the process of transfer of knowledge to generations ahead. Every teacher, henceforth, would be expected to comprehend the essence of Indian philosophy of education that finds reflection throughout this policy.

Let me recall three sentences of Sri Aurobindo; first being that the process must begin with "from near, to far"; and hence the mother tongue medium and other aspects. His second principle was that "nothing can be taught." Every active, alert and vibrant teacher shall have to grasp its essence. It is "learning the treasure within." It is the perfection within that the child is discovering, and teachers are assisting, supporting, guiding, and much more.

When Sri Aurobindo states that the "mind must be consulted in its growth," he is emphasising how pertinent it is to "know the child." It is the comprehension of these basic principles that has led to the restricting of the school education system to 5+3+3+4. The most significant is the addition of initial three years, after the age of 3. India would need very specialised teachers for this age group.

A couple of years ago, India had anticipated the importance of open and distance learning. That experience comes very handy as the global attention diverts to online learning. Creation of digital platforms and online learning began in full swing and has come handy during the corona crisis, as children are confined to their homes. The pedagogy is undergoing unprecedented change, teachers associated with schools will have to gear up to learn new skills. While tools and techniques shall change - sometimes beyond recognition - the pedagogical principles would remain the same.

Medical education

Sir — The Tamil Nadu Assembly has unanimously passed a Bill to provide 7.5 per cent horizontal reservation in medical admissions for State Government students who clear the National Eligibility cum Entrance Test (NEET). MPLADS should be permanently scrapped

In the wake of the Coronavirus outbreak, the Government has decided to reallocate the funds from the Members of Parliament Local Area Development Scheme (MPLADS). Amounting to ₹5 crore a year per Member of Parliament (MP), the money will now be allocated by the Centre for relief packages. Rather than just suspending the scheme, it should be permanently scrapped.

The Public Accounts Committee (PAC) of the Parliament and Planning Commission termed MPLADS useless and as encouraging corruption. A sting operation caught few parliamentarians accepting bribes to approve schemes to be funded through MPLADS. The then Lok Sabha Speaker Somnath Chatterjee had argued for scrapping the scheme. Many members of Parliament and the Legislative Assembly have been over-generous by funding their favourite organisations through this scheme even though such funding may have had nothing to do with public welfare. It may be recalled that trusts floated by the then Chief Election Commissioner Navin Chawla were generously funded by parliamentarians cutting across party-lines from MPLADS. Already, the Bihar government has abolished such a programme. All such suggested reforms should be implemented both at the Centre and in States.

Inflation a concern

Sir — Inflation is primarily driven by food prices, which account for 39 per cent of the Consumer Price Index (CPI) basket, and a sharp spiral in prices of transport and communication services, which amount to 8.6 per cent. The sub category of petrol and diesel for vehicles and telephone charges for mobiles account for around 50 per cent of transport and communication charges, which have been growing in double digits in July and August. Prices of basic food items such as pulses, vegetables, edible oil, meat, fish and eggs have doubled. Even fruits are extremely costly. While the CPI in August is lower than that of July by 0.04 per cent, it is still higher than the upper limit of the RBI's comfort level of six per cent for the fifth consecutive month. The data is not at all encouraging.

Mitigate data intrusion worries

Instead of thinking of security as a prevention tool, firms must incorporate it into product design from the start so that the architect systems are impenetrable

RIPU BAJWA

In the new digital era, where data is growing at an unprecedented rate by the second and where organisations are quickly becoming data-first, one thing has become crystal clear. That the "this is good enough" approach by businesses, across the globe and in India, is no more acceptable when it comes to safeguarding the most precious capital, i.e. data, from an external intrusion. Ever since businesses have become increasingly dependent on their data to fuel innovation, drive new revenue streams and so on, Information Technology decision-makers have not just been evaluating their current data protection preparedness but have also been ramping up their investments in this regard.

However, over the past few months, since organisations have been fixated on quickly transitioning towards remote working due to the Coronavirus pandemic, they might have missed out on something vital that they should have been focussing on and that is the threats that come along with this work culture. As a result, the world and India with it, has been witnessing a steady uptick in the instances of cyber attacks.

For example, as per a recent report, India witnessed a 37 per cent increase in cyber attacks in the first quarter of this year as compared to the last quarter of 2019. The data also show that India now ranks 27th globally in the number of web-threats detected in the first quarter of this year as compared to when it ranked on the 32nd position globally in the fourth quarter of 2019. India also ranks 11th worldwide in the number of attacks caused by servers that were hosted in the country, which accounts for 22,99,682 incidents in the first quarter of this year as compared to 8,54,782 incidents detected in the fourth quarter of 2019, says the Kaspersky Security Network report.

Another report claims that data of over 21,000 Indian students, including their Aadhaar cards, photos and so on, have been put on sale on the Dark Web. Another instance of data being leaked on the Dark Web came to light in June, with a massive data packet — nearly 100 gigabytes in size — being put up for sale. The data comprises sensitive identity documents of over one lakh Indians, including passports, PAN cards, Aadhaar cards, voter IDs and driver's licences. Thus, given the rising data security concerns and incidents, chief technology officers (CTOs) need to look for a holistic approach towards data protection and management. Now, they need to be cognisant about how to respond, recover and learn in case a cyber intrusion occurs. Here are a few tips for CTOs that will help them redefine their data protection strategy.

Drift away from security to resilience: With the evolving nature of cyber attacks, it's time for businesses to stop reacting and start anticipating. Loss of critical data has the power to not just cripple a company in no time but also damage its reputation for the long-term. Hence, instead of relying on traditional methods of data security i.e. identify, protect, detect, respond and then recover, organisations must instil state-of-the-art resilience strategies i.e. learn, respond, monitor and anticipate.

Adopt a security strategy ingrained in product mindset: Businesses must not only think about making security intrinsic to technology infrastructure but also aim at ending security professionals being intrinsic to future product development. They need to transform into a data-first and product-first mindset organisation in order to be able to remain competitive in the future. Thus, instead of thinking of security as a prevention tool, the need of the hour is to incorporate it into the product design from the beginning so that it will make the architect systems and processes impenetrable.

The key to a winning strike is the right digital partner: In the past, businesses have been using a hit and trial method with regard to choosing their digital partner and this approach has brought in more vulnerability to their sensitive data assets. As per a report by Vanson Bourne, organisations in the Asia Pacific and Japan, which were relying on more than one data protection solution provider, were almost four times more vulnerable to a cyber incident that prevents access to their data. Hence, in order to combat the external threats, businesses must choose a single technology partner that delivers multi-platform security.

While it is critical to invest in the right technology, it has also become almost important for businesses to ramp up their education and awareness levels to stay abreast with new security threats. Therefore, to end the constant tussle between finding the right data protection architecture and keeping up with the modern security approaches, CTOs must focus on strategies that redefine their data protection ecosystems from time to time.

The pleasures of victimhood

If impersonating was Jessica Krug's way of legitimising herself as an academic, mobilising the disenfranchised and then representing them as perpetual victims is another

JYOTIRIMA TRIPATHY

The recent confession of Professor Jessica Krug about her true identity may have enraged many. However, it offers an opportunity to re-evaluate what academics given to consciousness-raising often do. Krug, a historian teaching African history at George Washington University, admitted in a blog that she is a Jew born of White parents and has nothing to do with African-American Blackness, something which she had been claiming for a long time. She regretted that her action was "the very epitome of violence, of theft and appropriation, of the myriad ways in which non-Black people continue to use and abuse Black identities and cultures." In the same breath, Krug declared that she is no culture vulture but a culture leech. Her actions though have proved otherwise. Prior to her outing of herself in the blog, Krug had used a more African-sounding name (Jessica La Bombalera) in her activist avatar, and during a demonstration had questioned the gentrification of New York by calling out the "White New Yorkers" for having failed to spare a thought for Black and Brown New Yorkers.

We don't know what prompted her to come out as White though it is said that there were increasing murmurs about her identity that forced her to do so. The knowledge market: On the face of it, a situation such as this is not representative of the academic environment in the US or India. This is where the present intervention marks its departure. Krug's admission, no doubt, betrays her inability to stay any longer, but more importantly, it reveals the malaise of contemporary academic knowledge production. The difference between usurping the voice of the weak (what academics do) and pretending to be the weak (what Krug did) is perhaps one of degree and not of kind. When Krug claimed to be a culture leech rather than a vulture, she was highlighting that subtle difference. We can be reasonably sure that Krug is not the first one and won't be the last, at least until the academic market stops converting experience of marginality to elitist knowledge and suspends playing a premium on the dish of victimhood.

Those who see Krug's problem as an individual transgression are either oblivious of what goes in the name of knowledge or are beneficiaries of such methods. Academic scholarship has often been obsessed with not just representing cultural difference but also in producing, controlling and owning it. Few questions are raised about the moral foundation of such knowledge. It is taken for granted that if cultural difference does not exist, it is to be invented and if academic knowledge has to sustain itself, "savagely" are to be continuously filled. Krug took it one step further. Instead of being content with immersion or academic self-othering, or sponging on cultural difference of the Blacks like a leech, she chose to become indistinguishable from what she was writing about.

A few years ago, Harvard University had gone to the market advertising its culture of diversity by projecting Elizabeth Warren, a law professor who claimed to be a Cherokee Indian (and went on to have a thriving political career). The difference between her identity and the one she represented may appear as academically adventurous and a cool way of moving beyond fixed identities, but in reality, and for the people whose identity is thus stolen, it is an act of violence. In a post-modern academic world, race is increasingly seen as a political invention rather than a frozen identity, thus creating a pathway for becoming someone else, or belonging without believing. That way, what Krug did was chic because she was making herself a trans-individual. But we all understand that Blackness as knowledge and Blackness as experience (not just individual but collective and communal) are different things. One is of romanticisation, appropriation, exoticisation, even silencing, and the other of everydayness and its struggle.

Though living the marginal life involves costs in real life — humiliation, powerlessness, sub-human life and so on — the academic world knows the benefits of being Black or minority, at least in the latter's potential for being objects of knowledge. In the market of scholarship, victimhood sells and is safely monetised: Black or Coloured in America and Muslim or Dalit in India. Cultural difference and victimhood are a minefield of fame and money.

That said, the demonstrations over the death of George Floyd or over atrocities against Dalits reveal a mindset of remembering the victim only when they can be used as a medium of accumulating symbolic capital. It is not just about dehumanising and instrumentalising them for advancing one's career but also the belief that being a victim pays. The willingness to barter away one's identity, as Krug did, springs from the conviction that academic benefit from such impersonation outweighs the losses.

Imaginary victims: What Krug did not acknowledge in her confession is that her violence was not only directed at genuine Black experience but also at White experience. While faking to be Black, she was creating a template in which Whiteness is antagonistic to Blackness and so was perpetuating a race binary. She was reducing her own race by making it appear inflexible, intolerant, exclusivist and the negation of Black experience. Her impersonation implied that sincere appreciation of Black history is not possible while being White. She also pandered to those radical elements who believe that genuine understanding of the other is possible only by denying one's own authenticity. Her pretension perpetuated the academic world of make-believe that being majority is a matter of shame and its disavowal or degradation is necessary to speak for the weak.

Krug converted the Black experience to some bare codes defining Black authenticity: Angry, violent, abusive. That is what she was doing while appearing as Jessica La Bombalera. The resonance of this mentality in India is not difficult to find. Dalits and Muslims are often projected in the media as angry and violent because that is the only way to be weak and a minority. Being helpless and being violent are the expressions of the same authentic core. Academics like Krug not only stereotype or steal identity, they also create norms which guide victimhood. As long as the Black man is anti-police or a Muslim is anti-State or a Dalit is anti-Brahmin, they are authentic; a republican African-American is beyond this template as is a nationalist Indian Muslim.

An academic from Hunter College named Yamin Bonilla said something very revealing about Krug, that the latter not only fooled others about being a woman of colour, but also about thinking that they are actually inferior, intellectually and politically. Krug was denying them their being, their worth outside her own writings and activism. What it reveals is that being a victim of violence has more moral, academic and perhaps political worth than being normal and majority.

So behind minority identity, its production and circulation, there is a political economy of cultural difference and of diversity that can be a passport to capital — economic or symbolic. Becoming the other involves a life-time of dedication to live another life. Krug must have internalised the new identity. In the acknowledgment section of her book Fugitive Modernities, she thanked her "ancestors, unknown, unnamed, who bled life into a future they had no reason to believe could or should exist. ... Those whose names I cannot say for their own safety, whether in my barrio, in Angola, or in Brazil." It may be mentioned here that Krug had received financial assistance for writing this book from Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture.

It is not important to know whether being White or feigning Blackness is better for being a scholar of African history. What is important is the knowledge itself of victims and minority. As long as we are getting ethnic food in Delhi haat (market), it does not matter if the cook is White or Brown. There may be many service providers but the good/service is the same.

Impersonation as passport: If impersonation was Krug's way of legitimising herself as an academic, making common cause with a supposedly discriminated law or mobilising the disenfranchised and then representing them as perpetual victims is another. The latter is much more rampant and a fairly common practice governing funding agencies that guide research on minority cultures. Though such politically engaged research may appear as a fight for an inclusive policy, it also betrays the desire to be the source of all cultural politics.

That partly explains Brahmin academics monopolising Dalit experiences. At a poetry reading session, a very fair-skinned Brahmin poet advocated "our own" Dravidian cause and how her Dravidian skin will always be a marker of her identity. She spoke with a flair even as her complexion struggled to adjust itself to the victim narrative. Playing around this politics of "we" and trying too hard to be someone else in order to be legitimised is an effort complementary to Krug's.

Why the double standards on demolition of holy places?

Will the global Muslim community raise its voice for the restoration of the holiest of Islam's revered sites that were destroyed by the Wahhabis?

HASAN KHURSHID

The five centuries-old Babri Masjid in Ayodhya was demolished on December 6, 1992 by a Hindu mob, mostly comprising diehard Kar Sevaks (volunteers) of the Vishva Hindu Parishad led by Sangh Parivar leaders. Intellectuals across the globe, irrespective of caste, creed and religion condemned the demolition, as did the Supreme Court (SC). No sane person will justify the demolition of the Babri Masjid but the bigger heinous crimes of massacres, multiple demolitions and destruction of the holiest of religious and heritage sites, shrines, relics have taken place in Saudi Arabia. This was done at the behest of its Wahhabis/Salafi rulers of Zionist ancestry who, wearing the cloak of Islam, in the middle of the 18th century introduced a new and distorted version of the faith based on terrorism. The demolished and desecrated holiest of Islamic religious places included the birth place of Prophet Muhammad.

Wahhabism, the new, distorted version of Islam, aimed to capture worldwide political power using terrorism. The dreaded terrorist, Abu Bakr Bagdadi, is one such using this diabolical plan. This negative ideology was created by one Sheikh Najdi ibn Abd-ul-Wahhab, in association with a Bedouin tribal leader Muhammad ibn-Saud. Wahhabism ideology should not be mistaken as Islam's tenets, although its practitioners shrewdly camouflage their real identity under the cover of Sunni Islam and associate the names of their terror groups with typical Islamic names, such as the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria (ISIS), and so on.

Wahhabism ideology manifestly declares, "Follow me or you will get ready to be killed." According to renowned British historian and writer Charles Allen, all dreaded terrorist organisations like the ISIS, the Taliban, the Al-Qaeda, the Lashkar-e-Taiba, the Boko Haram, and so on, follow Wahhabism ideology. And, Abu Bakr Bagdadi's ISIS, following the Wahhabism ideology alone, murdered more than 20 lakh people. A majority of them were Muslim youth in Iraq, Syria, Afghanistan and other parts of the world.

On December 6, 2019, the day marking the 27th anniversary of the demolition of Babri Masjid, several religious petitions were filed in the SC by individuals who were party to the case. The pleas were supported by the All India Muslim Personal Law Board. Earlier, the Jamiat Ulema-e-Hind had also filed a review petition against the order saying justice can be done only by ordering the Centre and the UP Government to build the mosque at the disputed site.

Surprisingly, the entire Muslim community across the globe, including the intellectuals, remained silent spectators when Saudi ruler Abd-ul-Aziz, the son of Muhammad ibn Saud, who was also the son-in-law of Sheikh Muhammad Najdi ibn Abd-ul-Wahab, the founder of Wahhabism, in 1802 attacked Karbala in Iraq. He allowed the desecration of the shrine of Hazrat Imam Husain (grandson of Prophet Mohammad).

Giving the details of the attack, Charles Allen in his book The Terrorists: The Wahhabi Cult and the Hidden Roots of Modern Jihad, has quoted Lieutenant Francis Warden who wrote, "They pillaged the whole of it and plundered the tomb of Hazrat Imam Husain, slaying in the course of the day, with circumstances of peculiar cruelty, about 5,000 of the inhabitants. A huge amount of booty was seized."

In 1803, Abd-ul-Aziz ibn Saud obtained a visit permit from the Sharaf of Mecca on the pretext of performing Hajj, whereupon his Wahhabi fighters laid waste Islam's holiest shrine the Kaaba, wherein Muslims across the globe perform the ritual of Hajj. Abd-ul-Aziz ibn Saud followed in the footsteps of Yazid who had earlier desecrated Kaaba in 682 AD.

According to TE Ravenshaw, author of A Memorandum on the Sect of Wahhabites, "They robbed the splendid tombs of the Mahomedan saints, who were interred there and their fanatical zeal did not even spare the Prophet's Mosque (in Medina), which they robbed of the immense treasures and costly furniture to be used for the building of the Europe, Asia and Africa had contributed his share."

In 1804, a Wahhabi gang crossed the great desert in the Hijaz and destroyed tombs of Prophet Mohammad's family members at Jannat-ul-Baqi, the ancient cemetery of Medina, and even despoiled the grave of the prophet. After this, the Wahhabi gang reached Mecca and demolished another heritage site, the cemetery of Jannat-ul-Mualla, where the ancestors and other close relatives of Prophet Mohammad are interred. Again on April 21, 1925, Wahhabis demolished the shrine of Prophet Mohammad's daughter Hazrat Fatima Zahra as well as those of his grandsons, namely Imam Hasan, Imam Zain ul Abideen and Imam Mohammad Baqir. The shrines are still lying demolished and the Saudi Government does not repair them or allow pilgrims to offer prayers at the revered sites.

Again in 2014, a leading Saudi academic had proposed to destroy the tomb of the Prophet Mohammad in Medina with the mala fide intention of removing the remains of the Prophet from there and burying them anonymously in the Jannat-ul-Baqi cemetery. However, the nefarious plan to destroy the tomb under the custody of Saudi monarch Abdullah was exposed by another academic, hence it could not be executed. Had it been executed, the motionless Muslims would have remained calm as the perpetrators were Wahhabis in Muslim attire and not people from any other religion.

In India, those who demolished the Babri Masjid are still facing trial in the Special CBI Court at Lucknow, under various sections of the Indian Penal Code. In all, there are 32 accused and the apex court has directed the Special CBI Court to conclude the hearing by September 30 this year. Till now, the court has presented 351 witnesses before the court.

What legal action has the Saudi Government or the groups of Muslim countries taken against the perpetrators of mass destruction and demolition of heritage and revered sites and massacres committed by Wahhabis feasting on Saudi petrodollars and spreading terrorism in the name of Islam? There is a deafening silence on that account.

The cacophony created by the Muslim leadership and millions of their followers on the matter of Babri Masjid may be based on the presumption that its perpetrators were Hindu bigots and the thugs behind the demolition of the holiest of Islamic sites, like the Jannat-ul-Baqi in Medina and the Jannat-ul-Mualla in Mecca, were Muslims. It matters little to them that the perpetrators of the crimes against Islam are Muslims just in name.

Will the global Muslim community raise its voice and take a conscious decision for the restoration of the holiest of Islam's revered sites of religious and heritage importance that were systematically destroyed by the Wahhabis? If they don't it will smack of hypocrisy and bigotry.

PAK 'EPICENTRE OF TERRORISM': INDIA

Persecutes Hindus, Sikhs, Christians, says India at Geneva; slams OIC, Turkey, Pakistan over Kashmir

PTI ■ GENEVA

Describing Pakistan as an "epicentre of terrorism," India has said that no one deserves an unsolicited lecture on human rights from Islamabad that has consistently persecuted ethnic and religious minorities including Hindus, Sikhs and Christians.

Exercising the Right of Reply to the statements made by Pakistan at the 45th session of the Human Rights Council (HRC) here, the Indian representative on Tuesday said that it has become habitual for Pakistan to malign India with false and fabricated narratives for its self-serving malicious purposes.

"Neither India nor others deserve this unsolicited lecture on human rights from a country that has consistently persecuted its ethnic and religious minorities, is an epicenter of terrorism, has the distinction of providing pensions to individuals on UN Sanctions list and has a Prime Minister who proudly admits training tens of thousands of terrorists to fight in Jammu & Kashmir," the Indian diplomat said.

It was not surprising that other relevant multilateral institutions have been raising serious concerns on Pakistan's failure to stop terror financing and lack of effective actions against all terror entities in Pakistan, India said.

Highlighting the nefarious designs of Pakistan in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir (PoK), it said, "the mass influx of outsiders has whittled down the number of Kashmiris to an insignificant number in Pakistan occupied parts of Indian Union Territories of Jammu & Kashmir and Ladakh."

"In its zeal to reassert its theocratic ideology, it (Pakistan) has ensured that ethnic and religious minorities have no future through systematic persecution, blasphemy laws, forced conversions, targeted killings, sectarian violence and faith-based discrimination," India said.

Thousands of Sikh, Hindu and Christian minority women and girls have been subjected to abductions, forced marriages and conversions in Pakistan, it said.

On the plight of people in Balochistan, Khyber Pakhtunkhwa and Sindh, India said, "Not a single day has gone by when a family in Balochistan doesn't find its members picked up or kidnapped by the security forces of Pakistan."

"Pakistan does well when it comes to intimidation and attacks against journalists, human rights defenders and political dissidents in particular by its state machinery. It is not without a reason that Pakistan has been highlighted by the Organisation of Islamic Cooperation (OIC) as a country where journalists are slain and their killers go scot free," India said.

India also slammed Pakistan for "abusing various HRC mechanisms and platforms for raising issues, which are extraneous to the mandate of the HRC and irrelevant to the internal affairs of India, with a view to distract the attention of the international community from serious human rights violations committed by it against its own people, including in Indian territories occupied by it."

India also rejected the reference made by the Organisation of Islamic Cooperation (OIC) to Jammu & Kashmir, which is an integral part of India. "The OIC has no locus standi to comment on internal affairs of India. The OIC has allowed itself to be misled by Pakistan to subvert its own Agenda. It's for the members of the OIC to decide if it is in their interests to allow Pakistan to do so," it said.

India also advised Turkey to refrain from commenting on its internal affairs and develop a better understanding of the democratic practices.

He's taking something: Trump accuses Biden of using drugs

AFP ■ WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump, in his latest shredding of political foes, suggested Tuesday that his Democratic opponent Joe Biden has taken drugs to improve his performance in debates. The Republican, who is well behind in national polls, initially insinuated during a Fox News interview that "something was strange" with what he saw as Biden's improvement during the Democratic primary season debates.

Early on, when there were multiple Democratic candidates lined up on stage, Biden was "a disaster" and "grossly incompetent," Trump said. But at a later debate where Biden was one-on-one with leftist rival Bernie Sanders, "he was OK."

Trump told Fox he didn't want to say what he thought was the reason for the improvement. Seconds later, he did. "He's taking something (that) you know, gives him some clarity, or whatever," he said.

Trump repeated his demand that Biden should undergo a drug test before their first of three presidential debates scheduled for September 29.

"I would take one too," he said.

Biden responded by telling a Florida radio station "I'm looking forward to the debate and he's a fool. The comments are just foolish."

Trump, 74, has for months tried to persuade voters that Biden, 77, is suffering from mental decline.

The former business critic Biden's penchant for gaffes — which some believe to be linked to the Democrat's lifelong struggle with stuttering — and his reluctance to face unscripted questioning from reporters. Trump — who takes questions from reporters almost daily but is known for his own frequently garbled and baffling statements — said, "Joe is lost. We can't have a president that is mentally lost."

German think tank closes Hong Kong office over new law

Berlin: A German think tank said on Wednesday it is closing its Hong Kong office following China's imposition of a sweeping new national security law on the territory. The Friedrich Naumann Foundation for Freedom, which is linked to Germany's opposition Free Democratic Party, said it could no longer ensure the safety of its employees as a result of the new law.

It said it is freezing its activities in the former British colony, giving up its office and parting company with its four remaining staff members there. One employee already had left because of concerns over his personal safety, it added. "A climate of fear and permanent danger prevails in Hong Kong today," foundation director Kai-Heinz Paque said in a statement. "Those who stand up for democracy and freedom in Hong Kong today put themselves in danger. We cannot expose our employees and partners to this risk."

Trump making dent in Indian-American vote bank: Survey

PTI ■ WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump has made an incursion into the Indian-American vote bank, the biggest ever by a Republican president, according to a survey which has sent worrying signals to the Democrats that the support of this influential ethnic community can no longer be taken for granted.

The survey by Indiospora and Asian Americans & Pacific Islanders (AAPPI) Data on Tuesday showed that a majority of Indian-Americans still favour former vice president Biden, the Democratic Party's nominee in the November 3 US presidential election.

It found that 74-year-old Trump, seeking re-election, is making a big dent into the Indian-American vote bank despite the fact that Biden has a strong relationship with the community and played a key role in bilateral ties over the past few decades. Biden, 77, also scripted history last month by electing Senator Kamala Harris, 55, as his running mate.

According to the survey, 66 per cent Indian-Americans currently favour Biden and 28 per cent favour Trump while six per cent were undecided.

Not only in the November election, 77 per cent voted for former US secretary Hillary Clinton, and 16 per cent for Trump. In 2012, as many as 84 per cent Indian-Americans voted for Barack Obama, Dr Karthik Ramakrishnan, president of public policy and political science at University of California, Riverside and founder of AAPPI Data who is author of the survey, said that the Indian-Americans' support to Trump, in case of a swing of the undecided Indian-Americans, would probably reach the 30 per cent mark.

"Democrats absolutely should be concerned about making sure that they conduct sufficient outreach to the Indian-Americans," Indian-American Congressman Raja Krishnamoorthi said. "The Democrats should conduct sufficient outreach to the different groups that comprise Indian-Americans, because every vote is going to count, especially in those battleground states as the survey result indicated," he said.

Report: Biden holds lead over Trump among Indian-American voters

AGENCIES ■ SAN FRANCISCO/ WASHINGTON

Sixty-six per cent of Indian Americans currently favour Democratic presidential candidate Joe Biden for the 2020 presidential election as compared to only 28 per cent who prefer President Donald Trump, according to a survey released on Tuesday.

Indiospora, a nonprofit member organisation of global Indian diaspora leaders, and Asian American Pacific Islanders (AAPPI) Data on Tuesday released their joint report on Indian American voters' attitudes in the upcoming 2020 US presidential election.

"66 per cent of Indian Americans currently favour Vice President Biden, 28 per cent favour President Donald Trump, and 6 percent were undecided. In the 2016 presidential election, 84 per cent voted for Secretary Hillary Clinton, and 16 per cent voted for President Trump. If the remaining undecided voters broke in the same pattern as those who have made up their mind, Joe Biden would secure 70 per cent of the vote, compared to 30 per cent for Trump," the report said.

Election experts project that Democrats should be worried about Indian American voters' attrition considering the overall percentage number may have dropped down for the Democrats from the 84 per cent that supported Obama in 2012 and the 77 per cent who supported Hillary Clinton 2016 as compared to the 66 per cent supporting former Vice President Joe Biden. Meanwhile, President Trump's vote share has gone up from 16 per cent in 2016 to 28 per cent. "The survey results are absolutely should be concerned about making sure that they conduct sufficient outreach to Indian Americans that they conduct sufficient outreach to the different groups that comprise Indian-Americans because every vote is going to count especially in those battleground states," said Raja Krishnamoorthi, a Democrat congressman.

An Indian American himself and a representative from the American Indian community, Raja Krishnamoorthi further said that the states of Pennsylvania, Michigan, Florida and North Carolina could be a part of tipping factor this election. "And because of that I think the Joe Biden campaign has to be especially attentive," Raja Krishnamoorthi further asserted. The survey report also documents the strengthening political power of the Indian American electorate in the U.S. due to factors such as their rapidly growing population and increased political participation.

"With increased attention being paid to the Indian American vote given our growing numbers, increasing political contributions and overall political engagement, we wanted to shine a spotlight on the issues that really matter to Indian American voters," said MR Rangaswami, founder of Indiospora.

China sends 9 satellites into space in first sea-based commercial launch

Beijing: China has successfully sent nine satellites into orbit in its first commercial launch of the Yellow Sea on Tuesday, media reported on Wednesday.

The satellites, one of which belonged to video-sharing platform Bilibili, were deployed by a Long March 11 rocket from the Yellow Sea on Tuesday, media reported.

The Long March 11, designed to be deployed quickly and from mobile launch sites such as a ship, is mainly used to carry small satellites. The rocket made its first sea launch in June last year.

"Sea launch platforms will increase the number of China's launch areas, improve launch efficiency, and make launches safer and more flexible," the official People's Daily cited Li Zongli, director of the Taiyuan Satellite Launch Center, as saying. China has three inland space launch centers, where used rocket stages return to the Yellow Sea on Tuesday, media reported.

China has made its space programme a top priority in recent years as it races to catch up with the United States and become a major space power by 2030.

When his father saw the monkey the next day, he launched a search in the jungle behind his house. Using his brother's phone to call the device, he found it covered in mud under a palm tree. Economic recovery still not well entrenched: RBI Guv

New Delhi: RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das on Wednesday said economic recovery is still not well entrenched and that the central bank is 'battle ready' to take appropriate measures to support growth.

Addressing a virtual conference organised by industry body FICCI, Das said that Gross Domestic Product (GDP) data released by the government was a 'reflection of the ravages of the COVID-19'.

The economy contracted 23.9 per cent during the April-June quarter on account of the strict lockdown imposed by the government towards end of March to check the spread of coronavirus infections.

"Nevertheless, high frequency indicators of agricultural activity, the purchasing managers' index that is PMI for manufacturing and certain private estimates on unemployment point to some stabilisation in economic activity in the second quarter of the current year, while of course contractions in several other sectors are also simultaneously easing," he said.

However, Das said that the economic recovery was not yet fully entrenched and also that the recovery is likely to be gradual.

"The recovery is, however, not yet fully entrenched and moreover, in some sectors, the uptick, which was noticed in June and July they appear to have levelled off. By all indicators the recovery is likely to be gradual as efforts towards the reopening of the economy are confronted with rising infections," he said.

At the same time, Das assured the industry that the RBI stands 'battle ready' and whatever measures are required will be taken to support liquidity, growth and control price rise.

According to him, the immediate policy response to COVID-19 in the country has been to prioritise the stabilisation of the economy and support quick recovery policies for durable and sustainable high growth in the medium term post the coronavirus. PTI

Banking regulation Bill taking Urban Co-Operative Banks under RBI passed in Lok Sabha

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Lok Sabha on Wednesday passed the Banking Regulation (Amendment) Bill bringing the Urban Co-Operative Banks under the supervision of the Reserve Bank of India to protect the interest of depositors. The Bill was supported by many opposition parties including Shiv Sena while the Congress and the Trinamool Congress objected that the Bill intended to usurp the State power in the co-operative sector.

Replying to opposition, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman said that the bill is only intended to protect the depositors and only apply to the banking operation of the Co-operative Banks and not applicable to primary agricultural credit societies.

"This is not the first time RBI intervening into the banking operations co-operative banks. From 1965, RBI issued many circulars on this regard. Many urban co-operative banks are facing serious problems like NPA and many wound up losing money of the depositors. Those functioning as Banks must work as Commercial Banks and RBI rules must apply on them," she said. She also clarified that co-operative banks engaged in land mortgage will come under the RBI supervision since it is a banking activity.

Govt working on setting up single window system for clearances: Goyal

New Delhi: The Government is working on setting up a single window system for clearances and approvals of industry, Parliament was informed on Wednesday.

In a written reply to the Lok Sabha, Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal said despite the presence of several IT platforms for investing in India such as in departments of the central government, and state single window clearances, investors have to visit multiple platforms to gather information and obtain clearances from different stakeholders.

To address this, he said, the creation of a centralised investment clearance cell which would provide end-to-end facilitation support, including pre-investment advisory, information related to land banks and facilitating clearances at central and state level, was proposed.

"The government is working on setting up a Single Window System for clearances and approvals of industry in the country," he said.

He also said the cell is being planned as a one-stop digital platform to obtain all requisite central and state clearances/approvals to start business operations in India.

The investment clearance cell will be a national portal that integrates the existing clearance systems of various ministries/departments of the government and of states. PTI

India's GDP to contract by 8.6 pc in FY21, fiscal stimulus needed soon: UBS Securities

Mumbai: Swiss brokerage UBS Securities said it forecasts a GDP contraction of 8.6 per cent in FY21 as against its earlier prediction of 5.8 per cent, citing factors including the 'modest' government response to the crisis for its estimate.

"The pace of the country's potential rate of growth has also come down to 5.75-6.25 per cent as per its estimate as against 7.1 per cent, driven by factors including the weak government response to arrest the growth slide."

Economic activities revived with phased unlocking since June 1, says Govt

New Delhi: The Government on Wednesday said with the phased unlocking of the economy, high frequency economic indicators like PMI manufacturing, index of eight core industries, kharif sowing and power consumption have recovered since June.

Union Minister of State for Home Nityanand Rai said in the Rajya Sabha that the strict lockdown, first announced on March 24, was effective in containing the impact of the coronavirus pandemic.

"With the phased unlocking of the Indian economy since June 1, 2020, high frequency economic indicators like PMI Manufacturing, index of eight core industries, kharif sowing, power consumption, railway freight, cargo traffic and passenger vehicle sales have recovered and indicate growing convergence with previous year's activity levels," he said in a written reply to a question.

Rai said the lockdown helped the country in bringing down the growth rate of the infection and reduced transmission of the virus, but it also had a direct impact on reduction in case load, morbidity and mortality. In addition, the slowing down of the pandemic helped the country in augmenting its health infrastructure, he said. PTI

'Love the lockdown life'

Actor SONAKSHI SINHA says she is not fretting about getting back to work or how the industry will change in the COVID era.

The actor shared that she is loving the lockdown life for now.

"I am just going to admit that I am loving lockdown life. In the last 10 years, I haven't gotten a break for so long where I have been able to spend time with myself, understand what I want from life, do the things I like to do and just be one with yourself, sort your head out, contemplate and understand what's important and what's not," Sonakshi said. "I am not worried about when work will start and how it will be," added she.

'In our younger years, the idea of a villain was rather limited. It was obviously by virtue of how the stories played out, but villains were a little over the top in their tonality. With Mirzapur and Gurgaon or even Sacred Games, I have been able to explore the dark side of the human psyche in greater depth. I choose the negative characters wisely.'

Actor KANGANA RANAUT says only people with strong spiritual core can recognise the delusion that is showbiz.

"Show business is absolutely intoxicating. It makes one believe in an alternate reality, a little bubble of their own, it takes a very strong spiritual core to recognise this delusion," Kangana tweeted.

Earlier, she criticised Samajwadi Party MP and actor Jaya Bachchan for her remarks against people who are trying to tarnish the image of the film industry, and questioned whether her stance would change if her children were involved.

VOCAL FOR LOCAL

From import subsidisation to vendor development, creation of green supply chains, minimising carbon footprints, the Indian hospitality sector uses more than 90 per cent local resources, making it an embodiment of an Atmanirbhar Bharat. By AYUSHI SHARMA

The Indian tourism sector has had a long journey of growth and finding its place on the world map. The era after the economic liberalisation of the 90s in India sparked the growth of the sector and attained new heights. In 2018, tourism contributed more than nine per cent to India's GDP and accounted for eight per cent of the country's employment. As per the statistics, states like Sikkim, tourism helped increase its employment rate to 33 per cent. And the hospitality industry constitutes a majority share of the tourism sector. Hotels are a part of essential tourism infrastructure as providers of tourist accommodation in all categories. From providing basic facilities to a weary traveller who wants to break the journey to rest and refresh, roadside motels have come a long way and become centres for culinary delights, venues for events and destinations for leisure seekers.

PM Narendra Modi has advocated that the ongoing pandemic should be looked at as an opportunity and given a clarion call to the nation to build an Atmanirbhar Bharat (Self-reliant India). As per the Hotel Association of India (HAI), the hotel industry is proud to say that it is an embodiment of his cherished dream. Today, Indian hotels are among the best globally and have won accolades and awards for excellence in service by business and leisure tourists alike. And what is commendable is the fact that global recognition has come by practising the age-old Indian tradition of "Atithi Devo Bhava" and by using local sources, be it money, material, machines or manpower. The Indian hospitality industry uses more than 90 per cent local resources.

Puneet Chhatwal, President of Hotel Association of India, explains that tourism is integral to a nation's prosperity as it creates jobs, drives exports, enhances foreign exchange earnings and creates sustainable livelihoods. He says, "We all know that tourism is much more than what meets the eye. It is one of the fastest growing sectors of Indian economy over the past decade at a CAGR of 8.5 per cent. The sector employs close to 10-12 per cent of all workforce in the country, thereby contributing to building livelihood with a multiplier effect. In addition, the sector contributes to over ₹10,000 crores to the exchequer every year. Hotels are significant employers of unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled workers. The industry also promotes gender diversity and equal opportunity. From import subsidisation to vendor development, creation of green supply chains, minimising carbon footprints, the industry contributes richly to the economy."

BEING SELF RELIANT

The industry's endeavour has been to increase its focus on local sourcing of ingredients/components in its key pillars of food and beverage, infrastructure and engineering equipment. From about 65 per cent in the year 2000, there has been consistent efforts to increase the extent of local sourcing which rose to about 87 per cent in 2020.

Priya Paul, Chairperson of Apeejay Surrendra Park Hotels Limited and Executive Committee Member of Hotel Association of India, says, "THE Park Hotels as well as our social catalyst brand, Zone by THE Park, are a true reflection of contemporary India. Our DNA of creativity and innovation is expressed in distinctive ways. We work with numerous Indian designers, products as well as local artisans and even promote new Indian performing arts. For instance, at our Hyderabad branch, we worked with more than 25 designers for our various spaces. We commissioned local artisans and craftsmen to work on the dying art of Kalamkari and to recreate it in a contemporary way."

She adds, "We have been promoting farm-to-fork concept for the last many years. We work closely with the local organic farmers and have been promoting sustainable food practices. Before the lockdown, our hotels in New Delhi, Chennai and Kolkata used to have weekly organic farmer markets. Our menus are also designed in a way where information on the source of food is also shared. For us, this has been a practice for a very long time."

The industry aspires to increase this further to an overall 95 per cent and more by 2025. In certain value components such as DG sets, AC units, mechanical equipment and elevators, it would be closer to 100 per cent. However, the question is — despite seeing no guests at all for the past five months and currently not attracting many tourists due to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, how does the self-reliant claim stand true? Puneet tells us, "The impact of the pandemic has definitely been severe. As per The Horwath HTL India Report, this is best reflected by the loss of demand and revenue. The aggregate loss for March to June 2020, compared to 2019, is ₹4,810 crore for the hospitality sector."

Even in the given bleak scenario, the sector has been able to hold its ground and is working hard to weather this storm. It is adapting to the new normal with enhanced safety and hygiene practices, moving swiftly towards increased digitisation and rolling out new products and alternative revenue streams like online food delivery. However, due to a lack of uniform regulations across states, hotels are continuing to bear the brunt. While the Indian hospitality sector is very much self-reliant, it requires a few extraordinary measures, including the support from its stakeholders and the government," adds he.

EXEMPLIFYING NATIONAL PRESTIGE

Indian hospitality has brought India on the world tourism map. From playing host to heads of states, celebrities, senior officials, industrialists and entrepreneurs, facilitating large and prestigious national as well as international conventions and events to providing a secure comfortable abode for people during disasters, Indian hotels have displayed their commitment to the nation.

"Hotels have always showcased India's rich culture and diversity. They support local artists and artisans by giving them a platform to exhibit their craft. They are the centres for the promotion of Indian heritage, textiles, cuisines, handicrafts, culture, art and artists. They have also introduced the world to our ancient practices of yoga and Ayurveda. And they will continue to carry forward this tradition," shares Puneet.

The fact that some of the best hotels in the world are managed by Indians adds to the national pride.

PROVIDING LOCAL OPPORTUNITIES

The Indian hospitality sector employs close to 4.5 crore people and livelihood to many more. It provides an opportunity for women and to the differently-abled. From the humble basic tourist accommodation tents and lodges, the industry has offerings also for the first-class traveller to those seeking ultra-luxury, thus, giving all Indians an opportunity to experience the country's rich touristic treasures, undertake pilgrimages and much more.

Christie's to sell Parton's jewels

Christie's announced an online-only charity auction — NASHVILLE: An Auction to benefit ACM Lifting Lives COVID-19 Response Fund — led by a Swarovski-crystal bedazzled four-string dulcimer, owned by Dolly Parton for 30 years. It's accompanied by its original stand and used by the artist as she celebrated her 50th anniversary performing at the Grand Ole Opry in 2019. The dulcimer is estimated at $50,000-1,00,000 and leads a sale featuring items generously donated by country music's biggest names, including Reba McEntire, Tim McGraw, Marty Stuart, Bernie Taupin, and Trisha Yearwood.

The auction received a special mention during the live broadcast of the 55th Academy of Country Music Awards hosted by Keith Urban on Wednesday. ACM Lifting Lives is the philanthropic arm of the Academy of Country Music dedicated to improving lives through the power of music. The auction dates and additional lots will be announced at a later date.

Dolly Parton said, "Seeing my country music community suffer due to the pandemic has broken my heart. It was important to donate the dulcimer that was designed for my 50th Opry Anniversary so we can raise awareness and much needed funds to keep these folks on their feet before we can open the doors to our stages once again."

Lyndsay Cruz, Executive Director, ACM Lifting Lives, said, "We are immensely grateful to the artists in the Nashville community and beyond who have generously donated items for this auction in collaboration with Christie's. Every winning bid will go towards our COVID-19 Response Fund to support the workers of our country music community — the tour bus drivers, aspiring musicians, techs and venue workers — so many of whom have lost their livelihoods overnight during the course of this pandemic. So far, the fund has distributed $1.5 million and we are hoping the sale of these iconic items will enable us to support more affected by this crisis."

"Christie's is honored to work with the music community in Nashville and partner with ACM Lifting Lives COVID-19 Response Fund to support the country music frontline workers who are in need at this time. We are particularly excited to be offering the first musical instrument ever to appear at a global auction from Dolly Parton," said Nancy Valentino, Strategic Business and Client Development, Christie's.

While the dulcimer is an ancient instrument, the Appalachian dulcimer is a cornerstone to the sound of country music, and one that Country Music Hall of Famer Dolly Parton has used throughout her career.

BHEL signs MoU with SwissRapid AG

To expand its footprint in the Urban Transportation Sector as a part of its diversification initiatives, Bharat Heavy Electricals Limited (BHEL), has entered into a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with SwissRapid AG for Maglev Train projects in India.

To this effect, an MoU was signed by SV Srinivasan, GM and Head (Transportation Business Group), BHEL and Niklaus H Koenig, President and CEO, SwissRapid AG.

Significantly, the agreement has been signed in the backdrop of the Prime Minister's 'Make in India' and 'Atmanirbhar Bharat' initiatives, and will enable BHEL to bring the latest, world-class technology to India and manufacture state-of-the-art Maglev Trains indigenously.

The MoU sets out the foundation to cooperate and explore mutually beneficial business opportunities, and utilise both the companies' inherent capabilities, skills, knowledge and assets.

Notably, the Maglev Rail system hovers in the air instead of rolling, due to magnetic levitation, thus the vehicles have no physical contact with the guideway. This enables the system to be highly energy efficient, allow operating speeds of 500 km/h easily and significantly reduce the total cost of system ownership.
