UM NITIN GADKARI TESTS CORONA POSITIVE, ISOLATES HIMSELF

CHINESE COVID VAX COULD BE READY BY NOV: TOP SCIENTIST

NO CHANGE IN RETIREMENT AGE : UNION MINISTER JITENDRA SINGH

BABRI VERDICT ON SEPT 30, LK ADVANI, OTHER ACCUSED TOLD TO BE PRESENT

Union minister Nitin Gadkari tweeted this evening that he has tested positive for coronavirus, which has so far infected more than 50 lakh people in the country. Before him, at least seven union ministers, including Union home minister Amit Shah, and two dozen lawmakers have contracted the disease. In the mandatory covid tests for parliamentarians conducted before the monsoon session started on Monday, 17 members of the Lok Sabha and eight from the Rajya Sabha had tested positive. Mr Gadkari had tested negative at the time. His positive result came from a test conducted in Nagpur, sources said. Mr Gadkari had attended parliament on Monday.

The general population in China may start getting access to locally manufactured Covid-19 vaccines from November or December, according to a top scientist from the Chinese Centre for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). During a programme telecast by state broadcaster CCTV this week, Wu Guizhen, the CDC's chief biosafety expert said that preparations are underway for some vaccines to go into mass production. The top scientists also talked about the smooth progress of several vaccine candidates that are in clinical trials, the South China Morning Post reported on Tuesday. "I joined the experimental group and had a coronavirus shot in April," Wu said in the programme.

There is no proposal to change the age of retirement of central government employees, Minister of State for Personnel Jitendra Singh said on Wednesday. There is no proposal to change the age of superannuation of central government employees. The state government employees are governed by the rules/regulations framed by their respective state governments, he said in a written reply to the Lok Sabha. The Centre was asked whether there was a proposal to retire employees of central and state governments after completing a maximum service period of 30 years.

The judgment in the 28-year-old case involving the demolition of the Babri Masjid -- an event that changed the country's political landscape and social fabric -- will be delivered on September 30 by a special court hearing it. Among the list of 32 accused asked to be present in court are BJP veterans LK Advani and Murlis Manohar Joshi. Senior party leader Uma Bharti and former Rajasthan Governor Kalyan Singh are on the list as well. Mr Advani, Joshi and Uma Bharti -- key leaders of the BJP at the time, are accused of conspiracy that led to the demolition of the 15th Century mosque in December 1992.

We spent 67,035 cr to develop Hyderabad in last 6 yrs: KTR

'Center doesn't devolve funds in the name of Act of God, but we do to ULBs diligently'

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Minister K T Rama Rao asserted on Wednesday that the state government had been working tirelessly to make Hyderabad "a global city"; and hence, the city was emerging as a world-renowned destination.

Speaking in the Legislative Assembly, KTR took a pot shot at the Centre, saying that since the formation of Telangana, Rs 67,035.16 crore had been spent by the TRS government for development of Hyderabad. "Although the central government does not fund the states in the name of the "act of God", the KCR government is providing monthly funding to all the municipalities in the state," he observed.

NAVEENA GHANATE ■ HYDERABAD

Winning 2023 TS Assembly polls our sole aim: Manickam

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

"Our sole aim should be to win the Telangana Assembly elections in 2023 and defeat the KCR regime," said new AICC Incharge of Telangana Manickam Tagore on Wednesday.

In his maiden videoconference with Telangana Pradesh Congress Committee's senior leaders, Tagore said that it was unfortunate that the Congress party could not win from Telangana, a State for which Congress President Sonia Gandhi had 'sacrificed' another State (Andhra Pradesh) and also a major share of seats in the Lok Sabha.

Therefore, he reasoned, winning the Assembly elections in Telangana should be the sole aim of all Congress leaders and workers. Tagore pitched for a winning combination of the Congress in Telangana. "We have Sachins and Dhonis in our team. But we need to act as a team with discipline and mutual understanding. Our only target should be 2023 Assembly elections. Everyone will take the credit. You don't see this as a tennis match, but as a cricket match where every player needs to play a role," he said.

Mentioning that he could not immediately travel to Hyderabad due to Covid-19 and the ongoing session of Parliament, Tagore said he would visit the city in the first week of October after getting a brief from AICC president Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi upon their return from foreign visit. The Congress would launch a membership drive around the end of September, he said.

Give grace marks to failed PG students: Eatala to Centre

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

TS Health Minister Eatala Rajender has asked Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan to promote medical PG students who had failed to get qualifying marks considering the special circumstances created by the corona pandemic. Of the 1,040 students who had appeared for the PG exams, about 100 failed to make the grade. Based on requests from students, Eatala spoke to the Union Health Minister over phone on Wednesday evening and explained the situation with regard to PG students. Eatala reasoned that the students could not attend academic classes regularly due to the pandemic as they were involved in providing treatment to Covid patients.

Mayor Bonthu tipped for MLC

L VENKAT RAM REDDY ■ HYDERABAD

The ruling Telangana Rastra Samithi (TRS) is set to field GHMC Mayor Bonthu Rammohan, whose term will end in February 2021, as its MLC candidate for the upcoming Hyderabad-Rangareddy-Mahabubnagar Graduates' Constituency election scheduled to be held early in 2021.

TRS working president KT Rama Rao is learnt to have finalised his candidature. Bonthu will take on BJP sitting MLC N Ramchander Rao.

The next GHMC Mayor post has been reserved for a woman candidate. This rules out a second term for Bonthu in the event of TRS' victory in the GHMC elections scheduled for February 2021.

Keeping this in view, KTR reportedly took a decision to make Bonthu an MLC by ensuring his victory in the upcoming MLC polls and thereby safeguarding his political career.

Although the pink party has been sweeping all the polls in Telangana with huge majorities since the formation of the state in 2014, it has not been on a strong wicket in the case of MLC polls. TRS has received setbacks in MLC polls at the hands of Congress and BJP. For instance, TRS had fielded Telangana Employees Association leader G Deviprasad (who was the general secretary of TNGOs Union) in the MLC poll held for Hyderabad-Rangareddy-Mahabubnagar Graduates' constituency in March 2015. However, BJP candidate N Ramchander Rao trounced Deviprasad.

Realising that the educated class (graduates, employees etc) in Telangana had voted against TRS in the MLC polls, the pink party changed its strategy for the March 2017 MLC polls. Instead of directly fielding party candidates, the party contested elections indirectly to avoid embarrassment in case of defeat. The party backed certain candidates. However, this strategy too backfired.

TS bucks oxygen shortage, thanks to liquid oxygen tanks

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Although several states in the country are grappling with problems caused by palpable dearth of oxygen, Telangana is able to ensure proper supply of oxygen to its healthcare facilities, thanks to the state's early-bird advantage of going for liquid tanks.

In all, 4,461 patients are on oxygen support in the state, out of the 30,401 active cases. Of these, 1,489 are in government hospitals and 2,972 in private hospitals. The state, which was initially reeling under pressure for oxygen, has since been investing heavily in creation of oxygen tanks.

A senior doctor in a private superspecialty hospital and an oxygen supplier confirmed that there was adequate supply of oxygen in the state now, though the prices have increased.

Private hospitals typically have long-term agreements with suppliers, who procure medical oxygen either directly from manufacturers or logistics companies. The senior doctor said that there was enough supply of oxygen to meet the current needs.

Likewise, the oxygen supplier stated that there was no shortage, though the cost of cylinder had increased, compared to pre-pandemic days. This is because of increased transportation charges and rising demand. While for the time being the state is managing supplies, it is likely to soon feel the pinch because of mounting prices.

Onion prices double

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

The almost incessant rain has affected onion production in Maharashtra, Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh leading to the vegetable being sold at Rs 40 per kg in places like Hyderabad. This is double the price that it was sold barely a month ago.

However, market sources attribute the sharp rise in price to the drop in supplies from neighbouring states by half. The spike in onion prices has led to the Centre banning export of the vegetable till such time the situation eases.

In Telangana, onion cultivation is mainly centred around Alampur, Gadwal, Wanparti, Kollapur and Narayanakhed.

AP HC stays...

PNS ■ VIJAYAWADA

The Andhra Pradesh High Court on Wednesday granted a stay on the actions of the Special Investigation Team constituted by the state government to conduct a comprehensive probe into various irregularities, particularly the land deals in the Amaravati capital region, during the previous Telugu Desam Party regime.

Justice DVV Somayajulu passed an interim order to this effect on two writ petitions filed by former minister Alapati Rajendra Prasad and TDP general secretary Varla Ramaiah, challenging the legality of the SIT.

The YS Jaganmohan Reddy government constituted the 10-member SIT, headed by a Deputy Inspector General of Police-rank IPS officer, on February 21 to conduct a comprehensive investigation into various alleged irregularities, particularly the land deals in the Amaravati Capital Region, during the previous Chandrababu Naidu regime.

KTR then detailed: "The state government has ensured release of Rs. 78.00 crore per month to GHMC and Rs. 70.00 crore per month to all other municipalities, thus totaling Rs 148.00 crore per month without fail. Perhaps, there is no parallel to the Telangana government in the country in provision of such regular and committed devolution to the ULBs."

The Minister stated that the State Government had ensured that there was not even a single rupee increase in property tax and water charges. In fact, in respect of properties entailing payment of property tax of less than Rs. 1,200 annually, the amount had been reduced to just Rs. 101. KTR spoke about TS-BPASS, new municipal Act, LRS scheme, SRDP project, Link roads, Basti Da w a k h a n a s, D u r g a m Cheruvu Cable-stayed bridge, Bus stops, Foot-over-bridges, Annapurna canteens, 2BHK houses, and sanitation, among others.

This decision comes as a major relief to poor and middle class people applying under LRS as the new method will reduce the regularisation fee.

MAUD Minister K T Rama Rao announced in the Assembly on Wednesday that fresh orders on LRS would be issued by Thursday. The decision was taken following suggestions made by several members in the Assembly as well as increasing requests from the general public.

KTR said, "We will modify GO 131 given for LRS scheme. Amount for LRS to be paid will be the market value of land as on the day of registration." Already 1.59 lakh LRS applications were filed as on Wednesday with the government collecting over Rs 16.19 crore in the form of advance amounts paid by the applicants. It may be mentioned here that GO 131 is stated to be one last opportunity for citizens to regularise unauthorised layouts in all urban and rural areas.

The Municipal Minister announced that ward officer appointments would be made in the municipalities soon.

Dy tahsildar, RDO under suspension

PNS ■ MEDAK

In a major corruption scandal that rocked revenue department, the state government has recently issued a GO placing deputy tahsildar in Medak Collectorate under suspension for his fault of forging signature of a dead tahsildar to do official favours to four ex-servicemen helping them grab 20 acres of assignment lands.

Revenue officials of Jinnaram mandal committed grave irregularities in assignment of government lands in survey number 181 at Khajipally village in Jinnaram mandal. Those who worked at Jinnaram in the past and were placed under suspension included the then Jinnaram Tahsildar G Narendar and then deputy tahsildar K Narayana.

The officials informed that the role of other officials and staff involved in the process will be investigated and action will be initiated against them. The persons whose role in the order is under scanner are then Khajipally VRO Venkateswara Rao, then mandal revenue inspector Vishnuvardhan, then mandal surveyor Linga Reddy, then senior assistant Eswarappa, then superintendent Sahadev and then RDO of Sangareddy during 2019. Interestingly, the name of the RDO has not been mentioned in the orders. The government has also directed the officials concerned to cancel at once the assignment pattas reported to have been issued to Venkateswarlu, Uppu Ranganaiaku, N Nagender Rao and M Madhu, who were allotted 5 acres each under ex-servicemen quota in survey number 181 at Khajipally village. The officials have also been instructed to cancel patta-dar passbooks and title deeds issued to the four ex-servicemen.

When it comes to government hospitals, liquid oxygen tanks are being set up in various hospitals. Minister Eatala Rajender said that oxygen therapy was being provided in all hospitals and liquid oxygen tanks were being set up in 22 places across the state.

Liquid oxygen tanks are already fully operational at Osmania, Gandhi, Kakatiya Medical College, NIMS, Adilabad RIMS and Nizamabad Government Hospitals. Oxygen tank arrangements have been completed at King Koti, TIMS Hospital and Mahabubnagar Hospital. Oxygen supply to Siddipet Karimnagar Government Hospital will be completed and full liquid oxygen tanks will be made available in other places in another three months.

Meanwhile, Union Health Ministry official Rajesh Bhushan said that the problem of shortage of oxygen would crop up if there was no proper inventory management at the facility level. Supplies were adequate in country, but state governments should monitor usage and flag shortages.

On Sunday, the Center urged Telangana and six other states viz - Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, Gujarat, Rajasthan and Madhya Pradesh - to ensure adequate oxygen availability in all healthcare facilities.

As local production is hardly sufficient to meet domestic needs, Telangana state depends on imports from Maharashtra, Karnataka and Kurnool in AP.

Last year, onion prices went through the roof; the vegetable was sold for a whopping Rs 160 at kg in Andhra Pradesh in the retail market and the price touched Rs 170 per kg in Telangana.

As the area under onion cultivation during the last rabi has increased phenomenally, the prices could be brought under the control.

During the lockdown, onion was sold between Rs 10 and 15 a kg even as prices of other vegetables shot up.

On September 7, the Bowenpally market received 5,479 quintals of grade-I onions. The market supply was reduced to 3,424 quintals on September 12 and 2,835 quintals on September 14 and to 2400 quintals on September 15.

The supply of grade-2 onions was 8,719 quintals on September 7 but it dipped to 5,136 quintals on September 12, 4,252 quintals on September 14 and to 1,600 quintals on September 15.

The grade-I onions imported to here from Maharashtra was traded at Rs 3600 a quintal in the wholesale market. The onions produced in Telangana are being sold at Rs 2000 a quintal in the wholesale market. As a result, the open market price of onions reached Rs 40 a kg.

Meanwhile, the Director General of Foreign Trade on Monday issued orders prohibiting export of onions to other countries affecting exports to Bangladesh and Sri Lanka.

Similarly, TS United Teachers Federation candidate Alugubelli Narsi Reddy, backed by Left Parties, defeated TRS sitting MLC from the Warangal-Khammam-Nalgonda Teachers' Constituency seat in March 2017.

Hence, this time KTR is keen on Telangana Rashtra Samithi fielding its own candidate for the Hyderabad-Rangareddy-Mahabubnagar Graduates' Constituency election and hence zeroed in on Bonthu Rammoan.

The party feels that Bonthu has obvious advantages: as a local in Hyderabad, he studied in Osmania University, was active in student union politics, had experience of winning the GHMC elections and has good track record as Mayor.

The party hopes that all these factors would work in favour of TRS in the MLC polls this time.

'Tiger of Terror' on Intel radar

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

A Kenyan food import company, Magnum Africa, operating from Nairobi has rekindled hopes at the headquarters of India's external intelligence agency -- RAW -- of locating one of the most sought after fugitives, Tiger Memon, the mastermind of 1993 Mumbai serial blasts, which killed 257 people in one of the worst ever terror attacks in the subcontinent.

For the past five years, the elusive Tiger Memon involved in drug trafficking, has been literally off the radar of Intel agencies.

Tracking Magnum Africa's dealings in Pakistan has disclosed that under the garb of trade in grains the company was involved in an international drug trafficking racket. On paper, Magnum imported high quality rice and other grains from Pakistan but its real deals were related to narcotics.

Tracking a 35kg heroin deal, smuggled from Karachi into India, the police caught Abdul Majid alias Moosa in February 2020.

Moosa, an accused in serial blasts, is considered Tiger Memon's right hand man. Moosa was arrested at the Mumbai airport while he was on his way to Dubai from Nairobi. Moosa's subsequent interrogation shed light on Tiger Memon's whereabouts.

The Intelligence dossier on the 'Tiger of Terror' says the 59-year-old Memon sought help from underworld don Dawood Ibrahim to execute serial bomb blasts in Mumbai.

While Dawood Ibrahim's specific addresses in Karachi have been traced, Tiger Memon remains almost unheard of, untraceable thus elusive.

"We have enough evidence against Dawood Ibrahim's presence in Karachi, but we have little information to go on in Tiger Memon's case, who is the prime accused...," says Ujjwal Nikam, the chief prosecutor of the serial blasts.

Last time when police traced Tiger Memon, it was in July 2015. Tiger had called his mother in Mumbai, hours before his younger brother Yakub was hanged for his role in the Mumbai serial blasts.

Hospitals suffer as govt delays Aarogyasri bills

NAMRATA SRIVASTAVA ■ HYDERABAD

Several multispecialty hospitals are struggling financially, with bills worth of crores due with the Telangana Government towards Aarogyasri patients. Approximately Rs 700-800 crores was due with the TS government as of September 1. While the authorities did release some amount a few days back, Hari Prakash, CEO of Kakatiya Hospital, Uppal, shares, "Over all Rs 500-600 crores is due with the government right now. The problems we are facing are not just financial. Around 10 hospitals have closed and 10 have delinked themselves with the Aarogyasri scheme. It might not be a huge number for the patients or the government, but for the medical fraternity, it's very sad to see that the hospitals are closing doors. As per the scheme's guidelines, once the hospitals submit the bills, they should be paid within 45 days. However, the government used to take at least nine to 12 months to pay the bills. This has been happening for five to six years now. It affects our moral." Dr Vijay Bhasker Goud of the Aditya Hospitals, adds that while the Government pays timely to the Government Medical establishments and corporate hospitals, smaller multispecialty hospitals are sometimes neglected. "We have to make monthly/weekly payments. We submit patients bills on time but if we don't receive the payments how should we make the payments. We are accepting Aarogyasri patients still, but government should pay us on time as well." Not just the hospitals, but even the patients are suffering due to the non-payment of the bills. Social activist, Jagan Goud, shares, "At least 400-600 patients, who are enrolled in Aarogyasri scheme, each day are being rejected by the hospitals. With no treatment where should these patients go? The hospitals have several times spoken about the issue, but the government doesn't release payment timely, leading to patients, who cannot afford treatment, to suffer."

Speeding and rash drivers cause most of the mishaps

DURGA PRASAD SUNKU ■ HYDERABAD

Speeding, rash and careless driving, overtaking wrongly and sleepy drivers have been the causes of accidents in the state. Though police, the Road Transport Authority and the National Highways Authority of India have set speed limits for national highways in the state, motorists and drivers continue to speed beyond the limit. In the last week most of the road crashes happened in Cyberabad Police Commissionerate due to rash driving and over speeding as per the data released by Cyberabad traffic police. According to the data, 70 road crashes were reported in the last week alone, in which 77 members were injured and 13 members were killed. The Cyberabad traffic police officials studied various factors which led to road crashes. Most of the victims in these road crashes were two wheelers followed by pedestrians. "The data clearly indicates the need for usage of helmets by all riders on two wheelers. Most of those persons who died even when having helmets were either wearing low quality, cheap helmets or did not properly strap them," states the document on road crashes released by Cyberabad traffic police. Highest number of road crashes vehicles involvement are four wheeler colliding with two wheeler followed by four wheeler colliding with another four wheeler. The analysis of the data clearly points out that large number of road crashes are happening due to collision from behind. The major reasons cited for this is due to lack of rear view mirrors and sudden change of lanes without indication, over taking from wrong side added officials.

KCR condoles M Sudarshan Rao's demise

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Chief Minister K Chandrababoo Naidu has expressed his deep shock over the death of TRS founder member M Sudarshan Rao due to cardiac arrest. The Chief Minister has conveyed his condolences to members of the bereaved family. The Chief Minister said Sudarshan Rao in the initial stage of the Telangana Statehood movement had worked wonderfully. The CM said it was unfortunate that Sudarshan Rao died at a young age. Sudarshan Rao, 62, who contested as the TRS candidate from Kukatpally in 2009, died due to cardiac arrest at AIG Hospital Gachibowli on Wednesday. Sudarshan Rao was under Covid treatment for the past several days.

Unaware of lurking danger, many in city take off masks

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Though the Covid pandemic is still around, many people in Hyderabad have taken off their masks, unaware of the lurking danger around them in the form of micro-droplets.

From 100 per cent compliance to the compulsory mask rule during the lockdown and in the subsequent period, one now finds about 50 per cent people in public places without masks.

A drive around the busy thoroughfares in this city reveals a worrying trend. From people walking on roads to motorists and from shopkeepers to the customers at eateries, many are not at all bothered about face covering to protect themselves.

Though not wearing a mask is punishable in Telangana, due to lack of strict implementation of the rule, people are not taking it seriously. Even among those wearing the mask, a large number are not covering their nose and mouth.

Citizens are seen wearing masks at places where it is mandatory for entrance but at other times, they are openly flouting the rule. The compliance is more in places like hospitals, offices, supermarkets, shopping malls and metro stations. With 800-900 new Covid cases per day in July, the situation in Hyderabad was a matter of concern. The numbers have now come down by 50 per cent and people have apparently become complacent after the number of cases dropped over the last one month. Health authorities have claimed that the situation in the state capital is now under control. They, however, cautioned people against complacency or negligence.

Health experts have also been cautioning people against negligence, saying unless a vaccine is found, they will have to continue following the precautions like wearing masks, maintaining social distance and washing hands frequently. They describe masks as the first line of defence against the virus.

It was in April that the Telangana government made wearing masks compulsory for people when they are out of their house. A month later, the government announced that a Rs 1,000 fine will be imposed on those not complying with the rule. Negligence, lack of awareness and "nothing will happen to me" attitude are the reasons for people not wearing masks. This is despite the warning by health authorities that the number of cases among 20-40 age group is increasing.

"A common sentiment is if I am not personally at high risk for Covid-19, why should I wear a mask? It is important to understand that the virus that causes Covid-19 can be spread even before symptoms appear, by such things as coughing, sneezing, or even speaking at close range," said Dr Rahul Agarwal, Senior Consultant - Internal Medicine, Medicovert Hospitals, Hyderabad.

"People should often wear masks to protect themselves and also to protect others from respiratory droplets. This approach is important because of possible asymptomatic transmissions of Covid-19. Social distancing and frequent hand-washing or use of hand sanitiser, will be important in limiting the spread of Covid-19 as we return to our usual activities," he said.

According to Dr E Bhavani, Consultant Microbiologist, Continental Hospitals, masks have become mandatory in today's life as Covid-19 spreads through micro droplets released while talking and sneezing. "As we cannot maintain social distance of six feet at all times, the only way we can stop Covid-19 spread is through wearing masks," she said.

Covid forces early end to State Assembly session

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

The COVID-19 pandemic forced an early end to the Telangana Assembly session as both the Houses were adjourned sine die on Wednesday, 12 days before the scheduled time.

Both the Legislative Assembly and Legislative Council were originally scheduled to have the session till September 28 but a sudden spurt in COVID cases among the staff on duty is believed to have forced the presiding officers to cut short the session.

Assembly Speaker Pocharam Srinivas Reddy and Council Chairman G. Sukhender Reddy adjourned the Houses sine die after completing the day's agenda.

The decision was taken after a member of Assembly and over 50 others including policemen and legislature staff on duty reportedly tested positive.

While adjourning the Council sine die, the chairman said the mood of the house at large was that there is a possibility of spread of the pandemic. Sukhender Reddy said as 1,200 people including legislators, police, media and others were attending the session there is general apprehension about the spread of COVID.

Srinivas Reddy held a meeting with leaders of various political parties and discussed the issue after it was brought to his notice that some members of legislature staff, police personnel and journalists tested positive. He reportedly conveyed the decision to cut short the session due to fears of virus spreading among legislators and Assembly staff on duty.

The speaker had directed all legislators, legislature staff, policemen, media persons covering the session to undergo test again before the session.

All of them had undergone the test before the session began on September 7. Finance Minister T. Harish Rao had tested positive a day before the start of the session.

'My biggest mistake was joining politics'

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Tollywood actor Murali Mohan on Wednesday said that he regrets joining the TDP, saying that his health deteriorated, his time was wasted and that he had to divert the funds he meant to invest in the trust run by him for politics instead of furthering its activities.

"It was because of these reasons that I expressed my inability to contest the 2019 elections to TDP chief N Chandrababu Naidu and to continue in active politics," the actor-politician said. Murali Mohan also ruled out any more part in active politics as he turned 80.

The actor had tasted defeat at the hands of Congress MP

Vundavalli Arun Kumar from Rajahmundry in the 2009 elections but made a stunning political comeback in 2014, winning from the same constituency handsomely.

He kept himself away from electoral politics in 2019 and also quit the TDP.

Describing his tryst with politics as the "biggest mistake" in his career, he said that Naidu convinced him to join the party, much against his wishes. "I lost so much in that decade. Others made me feel politics is disgusting," Murali Mohan remarked.

Because of his over 10-year stint in politics, people regarded him as only a politician, Murali Mohan said.

Because of his stint as TDP MP for five years, film producers were afraid to approach him, as they assumed he would always be in Delhi or at Amaravati. "In spite of my assurance to film producers that I would give up politics and dedicate my time to films, no producer evinced an interest to approach me," Murali Mohan said.

Many are of the view that he was still involved in politics, Murali Mohan said, emphasising that phase of life was his past now and he wanted to involve himself in cinema again.

'TS Assembly session concludes peacefully'

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Minister for Legislative Affairs Vemula Prasanth Reddy has said that the monsoon session of the Telangana Legislative Assembly and Council, which commenced on September 7 amidst outbreak of Coronavirus, concluded here on Wednesday after transacting important government business.

Addressing media at the Assembly committee hall here on Wednesday, he described the eight-day session was peaceful and also meaningful.

The entire session was held without facing any problem whatsoever in spite of the Covid threat, he observed. Because of putting in place special action plan to keep the Coronavirus at bay, the legislative session was held in such a way setting an example for the whole country to emulate. The Minister thanked the Speaker of the Assembly, Chairman of the Legislative Council, government whips, floor leaders of various political parties, representatives of all political outfits, the official machiner, the police and Assembly employees. He expressed the legislature's inability to allow visitors because of Covid problem. Entry of media was restricted up to gallery, he said thanking everyone for their cooperation in conducting the session smoothly. Unfortunately, some of the members tested positive for the virus. After taking opinions of members into consideration, the Assembly Speaker and chairman have decided to reduce the session duration.

Referring to criticism of Opposition that they did not get enough time to reflect on various issues, the minister said that CM spoke for about four hours and 32 minutes, while Congress and MIM floor leaders spoke for over five hours and four minutes.

The Congress and MIM members took the same time as that consumed by 103 TRS MLAs to voice their opinion on issues, he observed.

Urea within 6 hours of call, says Minister

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Agriculture Minister Singireddy Niranjan Reddy on Wednesday said urea would be supplied within six hours of receiving a call.

Refuting allegations leveled by Congress MLA D Sridhar Babu that there was shortage of urea in the State, the Minister said the MLAs can call if there was any shortage of urea in their Assembly constituencies. "Even last year, there was no shortage of urea despite a 33.06 per cent increase in area under cultivation," he said.

As many as 9.12 lakh metric tonnes of urea has been made available so far during the present Vanakalam season and the Central government is yet to supply more than one lakh metric tonnes of urea to the State. The Minister said, had requested the Central government on several occasions to supply urea.

Congress condemns early end of Assembly session

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Former Minister & ex-Leader of Opposition Mohammed Ali Shabbir has strongly condemned the early end of monsoon session of Assembly.

Shabbir Ali said that the monsoon session, which began on September 7, was originally planned to be held till September 28. However, CM K Chandrababoo Naidu forced Speaker P Srinivas Reddy to adjourn the session 'sine die' on Wednesday.

"KCR is ridiculing the democratic institutions like the Legislative Assembly by reducing its functioning to a formality. It seems that the state government had convened the session only to pass 12 Bills," he said and pointed out that only nine sessions of Assembly were held in the first term of CM KCR from 2014-2018 and the House functioned for a total of 126 days. He said the longest session of Telangana Legislative Assembly was of only 19 days which was held from 5 November-29 November, 2014. "The Assembly functioned for only 25 days in a year in the first tenure of TRS regime," he said adding that CM KCR continued the same trend in his second tenure and so far only six sessions of Assembly were held in the last two years and the cumulative number of working days was just 35. Of six sessions, the longest session was of just 10 days (9th-22nd September, 2019) in the current tenure.

KCR changing colours like a chameleon: Bandi Sanjay

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Bharatiya Janata Party has criticised Telangana Chief Minister K Chandrababoo Naidu for opposing the Central proposal on power reforms even before it was introduced in the Parliament. The State was reeling under severe power crisis and lakhs of crore rupees was pending with electricity discoms as the government was in bankruptcy.

Addressing a press teleconference on Wednesday from New Delhi, BJP State President and Karimnagar MP Bandi Sanjay Kumar criticized Chief Minister KCR over his remarks on the Prime Minister Narendra Modi government's proposal to bring reforms in the power sector. He said State power distribution companies were facing a severe financial crisis as the State government did not pay the arrears which were pending since long. The Central government has sanctioned Rs 9,000 crore with which the State has paid arrears to the Discoms to some extent. Without having proper knowledge of the Central power reforms, KCR was making false allegations against the Modi government. Bandi Sanjay said the Modi government had resolved the issues in the LPG distribution and every customer was getting subsidies into their bank account without any hassle. The Central Government was planning to bring similar reforms in the power sector too, but Telangana CM was sending wrong signals in the minds of the people.

The Karimnagar MP asked KCR why he was unable to pay the arrears to the Discoms as a result of the delay in payments, they were in financial doldrums. About 18,000 villages in Telangana had lived in darkness and with the initiative of the Central government, now the State was able to provide uninterrupted power supply and CM KCR should remind it, he said, adding that he was always telling and propagating lies against the Centre. How would the State lose jobs with power reforms? How would he spread lies in the Assembly that the power reforms would be detrimental to the interests of the State, the BJP chief asked.

Preparedness for future pandemics still main focus

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Intelligent automation will play a critical role in shaping a new, technologically-enabled, post-pandemic future of work, according to new research. The study surveyed over 3,000 global senior managers and frontline IT staff for their thoughts on technology's future role in a significantly altered business landscape.

The research found that preparedness for future pandemics or similar disruptions was still the main focus for many, with an overwhelming majority of respondents identifying it as a high priority - an unsurprising figure when you consider that nearly one in three said they were either totally unprepared or 'not very prepared' for the impact of Covid. It also found that intelligent automation has emerged as one of the key technologies used to future-proof businesses against disruptive events. Seventy-six per cent of respondents said the pandemic will cause them to increase their intelligent automation investment. Meanwhile, 74 per cent of participants agree that further external shocks that temporarily remove people from the workplace will result in more intelligent automation and artificial intelligence investment, while 76 per cent also say that unpredictable mass illness or self-isolation will drive increased business demand for intelligent automation. Over half of respondents also said they would increase investment in AI and cloud solutions to guard against business impact of pandemics.

More broadly, the study found that technology will have a profound effect on the way we work in the future, with 86 per cent of respondents expecting technology to significantly change 'in the way people in their organization work over the next five years.'

Congress demands action against TRS Corporator for assaulting girl

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Telangana Pradesh Congress Committee (TPCC) Treasurer Gudur Narayana Reddy demanded stern action against TRS Corporator from Serilingampally Ragam Nagender Yadav who allegedly assaulted a young girl in Lingampalli.

Narayana Reddy on Wednesday, said that the ruling party corporator, Nagender Yadav, assaulted the girl, Ananya Kurikala, when she objected to wrong parking by the corporator.

"It is clearly evident from the video, which has gone viral on social video, that the TRS Corporator used offensive language and threatened her using his official position. He even assaulted her in full public view. This is nothing but utter misuse of power and wrong display of arrogance. He openly intimidated a young girl of dire consequences with criminal intent just because she opposed a wrong doing by the TRS corporator," he said demanding action against him.

Narayana Reddy also questioned the silence of IT Minister KT Rama Rao on the 'rowdy-like' behaviour of TRS corporators. "KTR Tweets about almost everything beneath the sky. He also plants many fabricated stories through his Tweets to highlight himself as a leader who is truly concerned about common man."

But KTR never reacts to the developments which exposes the true face of TRS leaders. Why is he not reacting to the video of TRS Corporator Nagender Yadav attacking an innocent girl? Why is he still silent on open rowdism by the leaders of the same party which he heads as Working President?" he asked.

Union Minister of State for Home G Kishan Reddy also said that terrorist incidents have come down since August 5, 2019 when the Article 370 was scrapped. A total of 45 civilians and 49 security personnel were killed due to terrorist incidents from August 5, 2019 to September 10, 2020 in Jammu and Kashmir and 26 civilians and 25 security personnel were killed due to ceasefire violation by Pakistani forces along the border in the same period. Prior to the abrogation of Article 370 -- from June 29, 2018 to August 4, 2019, (total 402 days), there were 455 terror incidents in Jammu and Kashmir while from August 5, 2019 to September 9, 2020 (402 days), there were 211 terror incidents in the Union Territory.

Is PM Swasth scheme some kind of jumla of gov't? asks SP leader

New Delhi: Sep 16 (PTI) Samajwadi Party leader Ram Gopal Yadav on Wednesday asked the government from where will it arrange Rs 65,560.98 crore for the proposed Pradhan Mantri Atmanirbhar Swasth Bharat Yojana, and wondered whether it was a kind of 'jumla'. Participating in a debate on a bill related to ayurveda institute in Rajya Sabha, Yadav said at a time when the entire Health Ministry's budget allocation was only about Rs 65,000 crore for the 2020-21 fiscal, how will it arrange funds for the scheme. In the 2020-21 budget, only about Rs 65,000 crore was allocated, 35 per cent lower than the ministry's demand of Rs 1,17,000 crore, he said in the Upper House. He asked the Health Minister to tell when the people will benefit from the scheme. On the opening day of the Monsoon session, Health Minister had said in Lok Sabha that the government is launching the Pradhan Mantri Atmanirbhar Swasth Bharat Yojana with an allocation of Rs 65,561 crore for proactively identifying gaps in dealing with challenges posed by COVID-19-like pandemics in future.

28.32 lakh domestic air passengers in Aug, 76% lower than in Aug 2019: DGCA

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

A total of 28.32 lakh domestic passengers travelled by air in August this year, 76 per cent lower than the corresponding period last year, aviation regulator DGCA said on Wednesday. While IndiGo carried 16.82 lakh passengers, a 59.4 per cent share of the total domestic market, SpiceJet flew 3.91 lakh passengers, which is 13.8 per cent share of the total market, the DGCA data noted.

These two airlines were followed by Air India, AirAsia India, Vistara and GoAir at 2.78 lakh, 1.92 lakh, 1.42 lakh and 1.33 lakh passengers respectively in August, the data showed. As many as 21.07 lakh people travelled by air domestically this July, the regulator had said last month. The occupancy rate or load factor for five out of six major Indian airlines was between 58 and 69 per cent in August, it said Wednesday.

"The passenger load factor in the month of Aug 2020 has shown some recovery due to increased demand after the opening of lockdown," said the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA). The occupancy rate in SpiceJet was 76 per cent in August, the regulator noted. However, the occupancy rate for other major airlines Vistara, IndiGo, AirAsia India, GoAir and Air India stood at 68.3 per cent, 65.6 per cent, 64.4 per cent, 61 per cent and 58.6 per cent, respectively, according to the DGCA.

India resumed domestic passenger flights on May 25 after a gap of two months due to the coronavirus pandemic. Indian airlines are allowed to operate a maximum of 60 per cent of their pre-COVID domestic flights.

98.5 per cent at four metro airports - Bengaluru, Delhi, Hyderabad and Mumbai. AirAsia India and Vistara were at number two and three at these four airports with 97.6 per cent and 95.9 per cent on-time performance, respectively, the regulator said.

Vistara and Air India cancelled 14.99 per cent and 12.05 per cent of their flights in August, the DGCA mentioned. The aviation sector has been significantly impacted due to the travel restrictions imposed in India and other countries in view of the coronavirus pandemic. All airlines in India have taken cost-cutting measures such as pay cuts, leave without pay and firings of employees in order to conserve the cash flow.

A total of 19.84 lakh passengers travelled domestically in June this year. Between May 25 and May 31, 2.81 lakh air passengers had travelled domestically, the DGCA noted.

The DGCA data mentioned that in August, IndiGo had the best on-time performance of 82,961 recoveries in a day, a quarter from Maha; recovery rate 78.53%

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

A record 82,961 new COVID-19 recoveries were reported on Wednesday, almost a quarter of them from Maharashtra alone, pushing the overall figures close to 39.5 lakh and the recovery rate to 78.53 per cent, Health Ministry data showed.

In its figures updated at 8 am Wednesday, the ministry said the number of active cases stands at 9,95,933 (or 19.84 per cent of the total caseload), while the number of recovered patients is 39,42,360.

It said that nearly 59 per cent of the new recoveries came from five states -- 23.41 per cent from Maharashtra (19,423 recoveries); and a cumulative 35.5 per cent from Andhra Pradesh (9,628 recoveries), Karnataka (7,406), Uttar Pradesh (6,680) and Tamil Nadu (5,735)

A record 82,961 patients recovered and were discharged from home/facility isolation and hospitals in a day, according to the ministry's data updated at 8 am.

The number of recovered patients so far exceeds that of the active cases by nearly four times (3.96), or in absolute terms by 29,46,427 cases, the ministry said. "The 7-day moving average of the recoveries shows a consistent increase," the ministry said.

Twenty-seven states and union territories are reporting recovery rates of more than 70 per cent, the ministry highlighted.

"Maharashtra, Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh, Uttar Pradesh, Tamil Nadu comprise close to 60 per cent of the active cases," the ministry said. With more than 20,000 new cases in a span of 24 hours, Maharashtra is also leading the cases tally, followed by Andhra Pradesh (8,846) and Karnataka (7,576).

India's tally of COVID-19 cases galloped past 50 lakh Wednesday, just 11 days after it crossed 40 lakh, with 90,123 infections reported in a day.

The total coronavirus cases mounted to 50,20,359, while the death toll climbed to 82,066 with a record 1,290 people succumbing to the disease in a span of 24 hours, the updated data showed.

'Bleeding Heart' was to replace Hurriyat Conference

PNS ■ SRINAGAR

After tightening of terror funds by the National Investigation Agency (NIA), Pakistan had approved a proposal by Irfan Shafi Mir, who was arrested along with Deputy SP Davender Singh, to set up a new outfit called 'Bleeding Heart' as it had realised in 2018 that Hurriyat Conference, the separatist conglomerate created by ISI, won't be able to deliver any more.

Mir, who has emerged as a 'double agent', made frequent visits to Pakistan during which he came in contact with ISI officials as well as top terror leadership that had complained that separatist groups in the Kashmir valley had become defunct after the NIA cracked its whip on their anti-national activities in 2017 following registering of a terror funding case.

During a visit to Pakistan in 2018, Mir held an extensive discussion with ISI officials as well as terrorist top brass to set up a non-governmental organisation (NGO) by the name 'Bleeding Heart' which would replace the role of Hurriyat Conference, says the NIA chargesheet filed in a designated court of Jammu.

Schools told to observe 'dry day' once a week to prevent mosquito breeding

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Delhi government has directed all schools in the national capital to observe 'dry day' once a week during which coolers, flower pots, bird pots, water containers, stagnant water and other possible sites be checked thoroughly to prevent mosquito breeding.

The move is part of the awareness campaign for school students against vector-borne diseases like dengue, malaria and chikungunya.

"The rainy season is most conducive for vector-borne diseases like dengue, chikungunya and malaria which spread during this time every year. These are all mosquito generated diseases and they sometimes gain epidemic proportions if preventive measures are not taken. "Prevention is the best method to control any disease. In order to control and prevent the outbreak, it is essential to prevent breeding of mosquitoes and students should be made aware of this," the Directorate of Education (DoE) said in a letter to school principals.

Centre approved anti-viral medicines to treat patients: SC

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court said there was an approval by the Central government on use of Remdesivir and Favipiravir as medicines to treat COVID-19. The top court was hearing a plea seeking registration of an FIR by the CBI against ten Indian pharmaceutical firms for manufacturing and selling these two medicines for treating Covid patients allegedly without valid licences.

Remdesivir and Favipiravir are antiviral drugs and their efficacy in treating COVID-19 patients have been a matter of debate among medical experts. A bench comprising Chief Justice S A Bobde and Justices A S Bopanna and V Ramasubramanian referred to the New Drugs and Clinical Trials Rules, 2018 and said these medicines have been permitted by the government for using in treatment of novel coronavirus patients.

"You have not noticed this rule (New Drugs and Clinical Trials Rules) and filed this petition. We are adjourning this matter, you see the rules and then come back," the bench told lawyer M Sharma who has filed the PIL.

Adjourning the hearing by two weeks, the bench said, "There is approval by the Government of India for

REMDESIVIR AND FABIPARIVIR

Remdesivir and Favipiravir".

Seeking CBI probe, Sharma had filed the PIL alleging that these two medicines have been wrongly manufactured and sold for treating COVID-19 patients without any valid licences from the Central Drugs Standard Control Organisation.

"That respondent no.3 to 10 are Indian pharmaceutical company who have signed partnership agreements with foreign companies that are Gilead Science Inc -USA and Fujifilm Japan, to manufacture and sale impugned drug, Remdesivir and Avagin (Favipiravir) in India. Without having a licence, the are manufacturing and selling impugned drugs as a medicine for corona in India," the PIL alleged.

Sharma has sought prosecution of the Indian companies for offences of cheating and criminal conspiracy besides under the provisions of the Drug Act, 1940.

The PIL said that these medicines have not been certified as medicines for Covid-19 till date by any country.

"They are under trial and no country, including India, have issued licence to manufacture and sale them in the country..." it said.

The companies are manufacturing and selling them at very high rates in India and people are paying that "due to the fear of COVID-19 infection" and are dying, it said.

More than 300 doctors have died in hospitals where these two medicines have been supplied and it amounted to "exploitation of public" due to the fear of death.

3 arrested for attack on Raina's relatives

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

The Punjab Police on Wednesday said three members of a gang have been arrested in connection with the attack on former cricketer Suresh Raina's relatives in which his uncle and a cousin were killed.

Those arrested are members of an inter-state gang of robber-criminals, they added.

Raina, meanwhile, arrived in Pathankot during the day to be with the family. The attack had taken place in Pathankot's Tharyal village on the intervening night of August 19 and 20.

Eleven other accused are yet to be arrested, Director General of Police Dinkar Gupta said here.

Raina's uncle, Ashok Kumar, a contractor, had died on the spot, while Kumar's son, Kausal, succumbed to injuries on August 31.

Kumar's wife, Asha Rani, is in hospital in a critical condition. Two others injured in the attack had been discharged.

The cricketer had described the attack as "beyond horrible" and had urged Punjab Chief Minister Amarinder Singh to look into this incident.

Pak renews map war

Despite Russia's protests, it circulates fictitious map showing parts of India at SCO. Is China behind this adventurism?

Pakistan is playing a dangerous geo-political game, needling India from the other end as China's serf State, without realising that all of it could boomerang on itself. Having failed to internationalise the Kashmir issue despite the abrogation of Article 370, it has now taken its territorial aggression to redraw its maps and appropriating what it fancifully feels is owed to it. So in August it released a new map, incorporating Kashmir, parts of Ladakh and Junagadh in Gujarat. India had rightly called this vacuous and unilateral declaration, which is not backed by any credible reasoning, support groups, historical reasoning or legal validity, as a "political absurdity." So Pakistan, in a bid to legitimise its claims, circulated this map at a virtual meeting of the national security advisors of Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) member countries, despite host Russia's resistance. India rightly walked out of the meeting, saying Pakistan's move violated SCO norms, which mandated that no bilateral issue would be discussed and that the sovereignty and territorial integrity of member-states would be respected. The Russia-India-China axis dominates the SCO, which, as a counterweight to the US-dominated NATO, has emerged as one of the largest trans-regional international organisations accounting for almost 44 per cent of the world population, stretching from the Arctic Ocean to the Indian Ocean and from the Pacific Ocean to the Baltic Sea. China is seeking to use it in its global domination against the US and while it has sufficiently debt-trapped Central Asian republics and other regional players to do its bidding, it is trying to neutralise Russia by becoming its biggest investor and is now needling India. Considering that India is intransigent on yielding to China's terms on the Ladakh standoff, regardless of the meetings of the Foreign and Defence Ministers of both nations on the sidelines of the SCO, it just wanted to embarrass India, making it look like an "occupier" at a public forum. And for this it used its proxy, Pakistan. China has also been trying to convince Russia to scale down its defence deals with India following the border stand-off and the map fiasco, which undoubtedly has left Moscow red-faced, was about strong-arming it as well. True, Russia is pragmatic enough about keeping both China and India on its side to establish its relevance in a multi-polar world and even front India to counter Chinese heft. But China certainly doesn't want India, which has won brownie points at international fora for being decorous and respecting the rule of law, to prevail at SCO. In fact, it was what Pakistan Foreign Minister Shah Mehmood Qureshi said recently that shows this cartographic offensive to be a part of a larger pattern and not just Pakistan's independent move. "The new map shows Kashmir shares a clear border with China," a clear indication that like Nepal, this attempt to redraw boundaries was made at China's behest and underlines our eastern neighbour's desire for strategic contiguity in the region than Pakistan's any real concern for Kashmir. While India is firm on Chinese withdrawal from eastern Ladakh that seems to have driven a wedge in their greater plan to control the Karakoram by squeezing us with salami-slicing, Pakistan's map claims are clearly intended to warn us of a two-front offensive. Pakistan is heating up the Line of Control (LoC), having moved almost 20,000 soldiers recently to match Chinese deployment on the Line of Actual Control (LAC). Its ceasefire violations and infiltration bids have gone up by about 60 per cent this year, something which didn't happen even after the Balakot airstrikes. If recent reports are to be believed, then the Chinese are no longer shadow-boxing. Just like in Nepal, their officials have had a series of meetings with their Pakistani counterparts in Gilgit-Baltistan and have been aiding them clandestinely to revive old terror networks against India. Debt-trapped by the China-Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC), with its economy in the doldrums and heavily dependent on borrowings and bailouts, Pakistan is but a pawn in China's gameplan.

Yet Pakistan Prime Minister Imran Khan forgets that such unilateralism will beget unilateralism from the Indian side as well. And hurt its interests. The new map is nothing but an adventurist version of its 1947-48 map and in one blow scythes through all bilateral agreements that came after it, primarily the 1972 Shimla Agreement. If Khan wants to negate the understanding that bilateral disputes will be resolved bilaterally, is he also prepared for the negation of all other bilateral treaties we have regarding water-sharing? And if he has taken the liberty of depicting territories under Indian control as Pakistani territory, then how would he counter other valid land claims from our side? In that sense, Pakistan's latest offensive is nothing short of playing with fire. Realising that the US is now more an ally of India and is humoring it, Pakistan is desperately coopting the Kashmir issue under the banner of pan-Islamism. So it is involving Turkey, which wants to be a leader of the neo-Islamic world, in its criticism of India and seeking Chinese endorsement. Only Pakistan doesn't realise that its Kashmir strategy is still not quite exportable. And that China, while using it for posturing, will continue to engage with India for geo-strategic reasons.

Life on Venus

There's proof of life in the unlikeliest of planets, also known for being one of the least explored

For years, the search for extraterrestrial life inside our solar system has always concentrated on the "red" planet Mars. That is because Mars is similar in size to Earth. There is now clear evidence that there was once water on its surface and most importantly, like Earth, it is also in the so-called "habitable" zone, close enough to its star for enough radiation but not so much that life wouldn't take off. Mars is, therefore, considered to either have life or to have once harboured life and capable of supporting a human expedition. As a result, we are constantly sending probes to Mars and even to its tiny moons. Probes that circle the planet as well as robotic vehicles that have roamed its surface. We actually have a greater grasp of the surface of Mars than we do of the bottom of our oceans. Even now, the aim for mankind, both in real and reel life, is to make Mars the first step on our eventual voyage to the stars.

Venus, the second rock from the Sun, is, however, given as an example of where global warming will take us. A planet benign on the outside but one where every probe sent since the start of space exploration has been dissolved in acid in the atmosphere or fried by the extreme heat that the greenhouse effect has caused. Even though the Soviet Venera programme did land several probes on Venus and many survived a few hours, there was a succession of lens cap failures. As a result, Venus is one of the least explored planets of the solar system, lacking the romanticism of Mars and the grandeur of Jupiter and Saturn, which have both seen billion-dollar spacecraft visit them in the past decade. Yet, the discovery of phosphine in the Venusian atmosphere is an intriguing prospect because the only way for this gas, with three hydrogen molecules attached to one phosphorus molecule, to occur naturally is as a byproduct of biological processes. While the gas can be made industrially by man, that isn't clearly a possibility on Venus. So, have we been barking up the wrong tree for decades? After all, as the old adage goes, "Men are from Mars and Women are from Venus" and as we all know, women have all the answers. Maybe some strange process creates phosphine on Venus that we are unaware of and we should send a probe or two to the planet we never thought could harbour life. But as we know from Earth herself, life can survive in some really extreme conditions. This time though, let us make sure that the lens caps work.

Teachers too must learn

The NEP expects every teacher to develop a comprehensive perspective on life and living and follow an application-based module

JS RAJPUT

For over six decades, one has never witnessed such a strong projection of the national resolve to implement a policy. This rare privilege goes to the National Education Policy (NEP), 2020. The President of India addresses the nation, the Prime Minister addresses twice within a week, the Union Education Minister and his team seem busy 24x7, conducting and guiding national-level webinars on specific topics that would require new initiatives and action at the implementation stage. It's evident that the nation has realised that for equitable growth, progress and development, it has to be "education, education, and education." India is now determined to create a pool of teachers who would not only be degree-holders but possess "personalities." These would be people imbued with a comprehensive multi-disciplinary and multi-dimensional perspective.

In fact, the new approach to teacher preparation would expect every instructor to develop a comprehensive perspective on life and living. They would internalise the higher goals of education. The focus, henceforth, would be on them believing in Sarva Bhut Hite Ratah. And as was the ancient tradition, they would be life-long learners, yavadjevait adhiyate viprah. It is, in a sense, a revolutionary recommendation that by 2030 all teachers would be prepared in multi-faculty colleges and universities through four-year integrated programmes. As one goes through the various sections of the NEP, this expectation becomes evident to everyone.

The objective of achieving sacharyatwa would require a strong support system that must emerge from the establishment and society. There are clear indications to ensure that: "In order to improve and reach the levels of integrity and credibility required to restore the prestige of the teaching profession, the regulatory system shall be empowered to take stringent action against sub-standard and dysfunctional Teacher Education Institutions (TEIs) that do not meet the basic educational criterion, after giving one year for the remedy of breaches. By 2030, only educationally sound, multi-disciplinary and integrated teacher education programmes shall be in force." This objective of restoring the credibility of TEIs is achievable. The National Council for Teacher Education (NCTE) had, during 1998-99, successfully exercised this authority, and certain well-known but sub-standard teacher preparation programmes were closed down. Once teacher educators accept this responsibility, they could transform the entire system. Let them never forget that the recommendations on teacher education arise from the expectations and aspirations of the young. But somewhere besides these is also the hidden pain and anguish which was recorded - with a heavy heart - by late Justice JS Verma: "A majority of stand-alone TEIs - over 10,000 in number - are not even attempting serious teacher education but are essentially selling degrees for a price." One could mention it only with immense pain, as the first chairperson of the NCTE said, that all these 10,000 institutions selling degrees were certified by senior teachers, teacher educators, professors and other academics. The policy has done its part, no more stand-alone colleges. Now it is the responsibility of teachers, teacher educators and professionals in the field to ensure that in future regulatory mechanisms are not trivialised. This policy suggests alternative regulatory structures, which would transform the manner in which future multi-disciplinary teacher preparations institutions and universities would emerge. The responsibility of teachers at every stage would grow multi-fold as autonomy would be the in-thing.

When one goes through the various general recommendations in the policy, one finds serious concern for drastic change in teacher education in content and pedagogy, and the need to achieve an attitudinal transformation among aspiring teachers. It is now learning, learning and more learning. Examinations shall no more be days of nationwide anxiety and widespread tension. The focus of assessment in schools shifts to application of knowledge gained and internalised.

The present pattern of examinations was transplanted in this country by alien rulers. It had been discarded in Britain much earlier but we still adhere to it in India. Teachers, and teacher educators, have a tremendous task ahead in implementing curriculum load reduction, to ensure that textbooks and textual materials are neither deficient on new knowledge nor too overloaded with obsolete content.

Teaching and learning shall become more interactive, and much would transpire outside the closed classroom. Skill development and bringing in vocational education elements early in schools would require TEIs absorbing them in their own curricula. Those who know the story of Richard Feynman would find it much easier to visualise its great transformative and inspiring impact on the system as a whole. It would be possible only when the promises to ensure the assured recruitment process are put to practice, and the assurances on the professionally acceptable teacher-student ratio is implemented without any aberrations. One must not ignore considerable dilution in the quality of education and decline in the acceptability and credibility of schools funded by the public. The policy realises this.

The ancient Indian tradition of knowledge quest spreads over four stages: adhyayan, manan, chintan and upayog. And its relevance is eternal. It is the essence of the process of transfer of knowledge to generations ahead. Every teacher, henceforth, would be expected to comprehend the essence of Indian philosophy of education that finds reflection throughout this policy.

Let me recall three sentences of Sri Aurobindo; first being that the process must begin with "from near, to far"; and hence the mother tongue medium and other aspects. His second principle was that "nothing can be taught." Every active, alert and vibrant teacher shall have to grasp its essence. It is "learning the treasure within." It is the perfection within that the child is discovering, and teachers are assisting, supporting, guiding, and much more.

When Sri Aurobindo states that the "mind must be cultivated in its growth," he is emphasising how pertinent it is to "know the child." It is the comprehension of these basic principles that has led to the restricting of the school education system to 5+3+3+4. The most significant is the addition of initial three years, after the age of 3. India would need very specialised teachers for this age group.

A couple of years ago, India had anticipated the importance of open and distance learning. That experience comes very handy as the global attention diverts to online learning. Creation of digital platforms and e-content had already begun in full swing and has come handy during the corona crisis, as children are confined to their homes. The pedagogy is undergoing unprecedented change, teachers associated with schools will have to gear up to learn new skills. While tools and techniques shall change - sometimes beyond recognition - the pedagogical principles would remain the same.

MPLADS should be permanently scrapped

In the wake of the Coronavirus outbreak, the Government has decided to reallocate the funds from the Members of Parliament Local Area Development Scheme (MPLADS). Amounting to ₹5 crore a year per Member of Parliament (MP), the money will now be allocated by the Centre for relief packages. Rather than just suspending the scheme, it should be permanently scrapped.

The Public Accounts Committee (PAC) of the Parliament and Planning Commission termed MPLADS useless and as encouraging corruption. A sting operation caught few parliamentarians accepting bribes to approve schemes to be funded through MPLADS. The then Lok Sabha Speaker Somnath Chatterjee had argued for scrapping the scheme. Many members of Parliament and the Legislative Assembly have been over-generous by funding their favourite organisations through this scheme even though such funding may have had nothing to do with public welfare. It may be recalled that trusts floated by the then Chief Election Commissioner Navin Chawla were generously funded by parliamentarians cutting across party-lines from MPLADS. Already, the Bihar government has abolished such a programme. All such suggested reforms should be implemented both at the Centre and in States.

Inflation a concern

Sir - Inflation is primarily driven by food prices, which account for 39 per cent of the Consumer Price Index (CPI) basket, and a sharp spiral in prices of transport and communication services, which amount to 8.6 per cent. The sub category of petrol and diesel for vehicles and telephone charges for mobiles account for around 50 per cent of transport and communication charges, which have been growing in double digits in July and August. Prices of basic food items such as pulses, vegetables, edible oil, meat, fish and eggs have doubled. Even fruits are extremely costly. While the CPI in August is lower than that of July by 0.04 per cent, it is still higher than the upper limit of the RBI's comfort level of six per cent for the fifth consecutive month. The data is not at all encouraging.

A proud moment

Sir - India got elected as Member of the UN Commission on the Status of Women, the principal global body focussed on gender equality and women empowerment, beating China in a hotly-contested election. India garnered 38 votes of the 54 ballots cast.

India and Afghanistan will join Argentina, Austria, Dominican Republic, Israel, Latvia, Nigeria, Turkey and Zambia, which were elected by acclamation, to the Commission on the Status of Women for a four-year term between 2021 and 2025. This is a proud moment for us indeed.

Mitigate data intrusion worries

Instead of thinking of security as a prevention tool, firms must incorporate it into product design from the start so that the architect systems are impenetrable

RIPU BAJWA

In the new digital era, where data is growing at an unprecedented rate by the second and where organisations are quickly becoming data-first, one thing has become crystal clear. That the "this is good enough" approach by businesses, across the globe and in India, is no more acceptable when it comes to safeguarding the most precious capital, i.e. data, from an external intrusion. Ever since businesses have become increasingly dependent on their data to fuel innovation, drive new revenue streams and so on, Information Technology decision-makers have not just been evaluating their current data protection preparedness but have also been ramping up their investments in this regard.

However, over the past few months, since organisations have been fixated on quickly transitioning towards remote working due to the Coronavirus pandemic, they might have missed out on something vital that they should have been focussing on and that is the threats that come along with this work culture. As a result, the world and India with it, has been witnessing a steady uptick in the instances of cyber attacks.

For example, as per a recent report, India witnessed a 37 per cent increase in cyber attacks in the first quarter of this year as compared to the last quarter of 2019. The data also show that India now ranks 27th globally in the number of web-threats detected in the first quarter of this year as compared to when it ranked on the 32nd position globally in the fourth quarter of 2019. India also ranks 11th worldwide in the number of attacks caused by servers that were hosted in the country, which accounts for 22,99,682 incidents in the first quarter of this year as compared to 8,54,782 incidents detected in the fourth quarter of 2019, says the Kaspersky Security Network report.

Another report claims that data of over 21,000 Indian students, including their Aadhaar cards, photos and so on, have been put on sale on the Dark Web. Another instance of data being leaked on the Dark Web came to light in June, with a massive data packet — nearly 100 gigabytes in size — being put up for sale. The data comprises scanned identity documents of over one lakh Indians, including passports, PAN cards, Aadhaar cards, voter IDs and driver's licences. Thus, given the rising data security concerns and incidents, chief technology officers (CTOs) need to look for a holistic approach towards data protection and management. Now, they need to be cognisant about how to respond, recover and learn in case a cyber intrusion occurs. Here are a few tips for CTOs that will help them redefine their data protection strategy.

Drift away from security to resilience: With the evolving nature of cyber attacks, it's time for businesses to stop reacting and start anticipating. Loss of critical data has the power to not just cripple a company in no time but also damage its reputation for the long-term. Hence, instead of relying on traditional methods of data security i.e. identify, protect, detect, respond and then recover, organisations must imbibe state-of-the-art resilience strategies i.e. learn, respond, monitor and anticipate.

Adopt a security strategy ingrained in product mindset: Businesses must not only think about making security intrinsic to technology infrastructure but also aim at enabling security professionals become intrinsic to future product development. They need to transform into a data-first and product-first mindset organisation in order to be able to remain competitive in the future. Thus, instead of thinking of security as a prevention tool, the need of the hour is to incorporate it into the product design from the beginning so that it will make the architect systems and processes impenetrable.

The key to a winning strike is the right digital partner: In the past, businesses have been using a hit and trial method with regard to choosing their digital partner and this approach has brought in more vulnerability to their sensitive data assets. As per a report by Vanson Bourne, organisations in the Asia Pacific and Japan, which were relying on more than one data protection solution provider, were almost four times more vulnerable to a cyber incident that prevents access to their data. Hence, in order to combat the external threats, businesses must choose a single technology partner that delivers multi-platform security.

While it is critical to invest in the right technologies, it has also become utmost important for businesses to ramp up their education and awareness levels to stay abreast with new security threats. Therefore, to end the constant tussle between finding the right data protection architecture and keeping up with the modern security approaches, CTOs must focus on strategies that redefine their data protection ecosystems from time to time.

The pleasures of victimhood

If impersonating was Jessica Krug's way of legitimising herself as an academic, mobilising the disenfranchised and then representing them as perpetual victims is another

JYOTIRMAYA TRIPATHY

The recent confession of Professor Jessica Krug about her true identity may have outraged many. However, it offers an opportunity to re-evaluate what academics given to consciousness-raising often do. Krug, a historian teaching African history at George Washington University, admitted in a blog that she is a Jew born of White parents and has nothing to do with African-American Blackness, something which she had been claiming for a long time. She regretted that her action was "the very epitome of violence, of thievery and appropriation, of the myriad ways in which non-Black people continue to use and abuse Black identities and cultures." In the same breath, Krug declared that she is no culture vulture but a culture leech. Her actions though have proved otherwise. Prior to her outing of herself in the blog, Krug had used a more African-sounding name (Jessica La Bombalera) in her activist avatar, and during a demonstration had questioned the gentrification of New York by calling out the "White New Yorkers" for having failed to spare a thought for Black and Brown New Yorkers. We don't know what prompted her to come out as White though it is said that there were increasing murmurs about her identity that forced her to do so.

The knowledge market: On the face of it, a situation such as this is not representative of the academic environment in the US or India. This is where the present intervention marks its departure. Krug's admission, no doubt, betrays her inability to fake it any longer, but more importantly, it reveals the malaise of contemporary academic knowledge production. The difference between usurping the voice of the weak (what academics do) and pretending to be the weak (what Krug did) is perhaps one of degree and not of kind. When Krug claimed to be a culture leech rather than a vulture, she was highlighting that subtle difference. We can be reasonably sure that Krug is not the first one and won't be the last, at least until the academic market stops converting experience of marginality to elitist knowledge and suspends placing a premium on the dish of victimhood.

Those who see Krug's problem as an individual transgression are either oblivious of what goes in the name of knowledge or are beneficiaries of such methods. Academic scholarship has often been obsessed with not just representing cultural difference but also in producing, controlling and owning it. Few questions are raised about the moral foundation of such knowledge. It is taken for granted that if cultural difference does not exist, it is to be invented and if academic knowledge has to sustain itself, "savage slots" are to be continuously filled. Krug took it one step further. Instead of being content with immersion or academic self-othering, or sponging on cultural difference of the Blacks like a leech, she chose to become indistinguishable from what she was writing about.

A few years ago, Harvard University had gone to the market advertising its culture of diversity by projecting Elizabeth Warren, a law professor who claimed to be a Cherokee Indian (and went on to have a thriving political career). The difference between birth identity and assumed identity may appear as academically adventurous and a cool way of moving beyond fixed identities, but in reality, and for the people whose identity is thus stolen, it is an act of violence. In a post-modern academic world, race is increasingly seen as a political invention rather than a frozen identity, thus creating a pathway for becoming someone else, or belonging without believing. That way, what Krug did was chic because she was making herself a trans-individual. But we all understand that Blackness as knowledge and Blackness as experience (not just individual but collective and communal) are different things. One is of romanticisation, appropriation, exoticisation, even silencing, and the other of everyday-ness and its struggle.

 KRUG CONVERTED THE BLACK EXPERIENCE TO SOME BARE CODES DEFINING BLACK AUTHENTICITY: ANGRY, VIOLENT, ABUSIVE. THAT IS WHAT SHE WAS DOING WHILE APPEARING AS JESSICA LA BOMBALERA. THE RESONANCE OF THIS MENTALITY IN INDIA IS NOT DIFFICULT TO FIND. DALITS AND MUSLIMS ARE OFTEN PROJECTED IN THE MEDIA AS ANGRY AND VIOLENT BECAUSE THAT IS THE ONLY WAY TO BE WEAK AND A MINORITY. BEING HELPLESS AND BEING VIOLENT ARE THE EXPRESSIONS OF THE SAME AUTHENTIC CORE

Though living the marginal life involves costs in real life — humiliation, powerlessness, sub-human life and so on — the academic world knows the benefits of being Black or minority, at least in the latter's potential for being objects of knowledge. In the market of scholarship, victimhood sells and is safely monetised: Black or Coloured in America and Muslim or Dalit in India. Cultural difference and victimhood are a minefield of fame and money.

That said, the demonstrations over the death of George Floyd or over atrocities against Dalits reveal a mindset of remembering the victim only when they can be used as a medium of accumulating symbolic capital. It is not just about dehumanising and instrumentalising them for advancing one's career but also the belief that being a victim pays. The willingness to barter away one's identity, as Krug did, springs from the conviction that academically benefit from such impersonation outweighs the losses.

Imaginary victims: What Krug did not acknowledge in her confession is that her violence was not only directed at genuine Black experience but also at White experience. While faking to be Black, she was creating a template in which Whiteness is antagonistic to Blackness and so was perpetuating a race binary. She was reducing her own race by making it appear inflexible, intolerant, exclusivist and the negation of Black experience. Her impersonation implied that sincere appreciation of Black history is not possible while being White. She also pandered to those radical elements who believe that genuine understanding of the other is possible only by denying one's own authenticity. Her pretension perpetuated the academic world of make-believe that being majority is a matter of shame and its disavowal or degradation is necessary to speak for the weak.

Krug converted the Black experience to some bare codes defining Black authenticity: Angry, violent, abusive. That is what she was doing while appearing as Jessica La Bombalera. The resonance of this mentality in India is not difficult to find. Dalits and Muslims are often projected in the media as angry and violent because that is the only way to be weak and a minority. Being helpless and being violent are the expressions of the same authentic core. Academics like Krug not only stereotype or steal identity, they also create norms which guide victimhood. As long as the Black man is anti-police or a Muslim is anti-State or a Dalit is anti-Brahmin, they are authentic; a republican African-American is beyond this template as is a nationalist Indian Muslim.

An academic from Hunter College named Yarimar Bonilla said something very revealing about Krug, that the latter not only fooled others about being a woman of colour, but also into thinking that they are actually inferior, intellectually and politically. Krug was denying them their being, their worth outside her own writings and activism. What it reveals is that being a victim of violence has more moral, academic and perhaps political worth than being normal and majority.

So behind minority identity, its production and circulation, there is a political economy of cultural difference and of diversity that can be a passport to capital — economic or symbolic. Becoming the other involves a life-time of dedication to live another life. Krug must have internalised the new identity. In the acknowledgment section of her book Fugitive Modernities, she thanked her "ancestors, unknown, unnamed, who bled life into a future they had no reason to believe could or should exist. ... Those whose names I cannot say for their own safety, whether in my barrio, in Angola, or in Brazil." It may be mentioned here that Krug had received financial assistance for writing this book from Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture.

It is not important to know whether being White or feigning Blackness is better for being a scholar of African history. What is important is the knowledge itself — of victims and minority. As long as we are getting ethnic food in Delhi haat (market), it does not matter if the cook is White or Brown. There may be many service providers but the good/service is the same.

Impersonation as passport: If impersonating was Krug's way of legitimising herself as an academic, making common cause with a supposedly discriminating law or mobilising the disenfranchised and then representing them as perpetual victims is another. The latter is much more rampant and a fairly common practice governing funding agencies that guide research on minority cultures. Though such politically engaged research may appear as a fight for an inclusive polity, it also betrays the desire to be the source of all cultural politics.

That partly explains Brahmin academics monopolising Dalit experiences. At a poetry reading session, a very fair-skinned Brahmin poet advocated "our own" Dravidian cause and how her Dravidian skin will always be a marker of her identity. She spoke with a flair even as her complexion struggled to adjust itself to the victim narrative. Playing around this politics of "we" and trying too hard to be someone else in order to be legitimised is an effort complementary to Krug's.

Why the double standards on demolition of holy places?

Will the global Muslim community raise its voice for the restoration of the holiest of Islam's revered sites that were destroyed by the Wahhabis?

HASAN KHURSHID

The five centuries-old Babri Masjid in Ayodhya was demolished on December 6, 1992 by a Hindu mob, mostly comprising diehard Kar Sevaks (volunteers) of the Vishwa Hindu Parishad led by Sangh Parivar leaders. Intellectuals across the globe, irrespective of caste, creed and religion condemned the demolition, as did the Supreme Court (SC). No sane person will justify the demolition of the Babri Masjid but the bigger heinous crimes of massacres, multiple demolitions and destruction of the holiest of religious and heritage sites, shrines, relics have taken place in Saudi Arabia. This was done at the behest of its Wahhabi/Salafi rulers of Zionist ancestry who, wearing the cloak of Islam, in the middle of the 18th century introduced a new and distorted version of the faith based on terrorism. The demolished and desecrated holiest of Islamic religious places included the birth place of Prophet Mohammad.

Wahhabism, the new, distorted version of Islam, aimed to capture worldwide political power using terrorism. The dreaded terrorist, Abu Bakr Baghdadi, is one such example of this diabolical plan. This negative ideology was created by one Sheikh Najdi ibn Abd-al-Wahhab, in association with a Bedouin tribal leader Muhammad-ibn-Saud. Wahhabi ideology should not be mistaken as Islam's tenets, although its practitioners shrewdly camouflage their real identity under the cover of Sunni Islam and associate the names of their terror groups with typical Islamic names, such as the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria (ISIS), and so on.

Wahhabi ideology manifestly declares, "Follow my ideology, else get ready to be killed." According to renowned British historian and writer Charles Allen, all dreaded terrorist organisations like the ISIS, the Taliban, the Al-Qaeda, the Lashkar-e-Taiba, the Boko Haram, and so on, follow Wahhabi ideology. And, Abu Bakr Baghdadi's ISIS, following the Wahhabi ideology alone, murdered more than 20 lakh people. A majority of them were Muslim youth in Iraq, Syria, Afghanistan and other parts of the world.

On December 6, 2019, the day marking the 27th anniversary of the demolition of Babri Masjid, several review petitions were filed in the SC by individuals who were party to the case. The pleas were supported by the All India Muslim Personal Law Board. Earlier, the Jamiat Ulema-e-Hind had also filed a review petition against the order saying justice can be done only by ordering the Centre and the UP Government to build the mosque at the disputed site.

Surprisingly, the entire Muslim community across the globe, including the intellectuals, remained silent spectators when Saudi ruler Abd-al-Aziz, the son of Muhammad ibn Saud, who was also the son-in-law of Sheikh Muhammad Najdi ibn Abd-al-Wahab, the founder of Wahhabism, in 1802 attacked Karbala in Iraq. He allowed the desecration of the shrine of Hazrat Imam Husain (grandson of Prophet Mohammad).

Giving the details of the attack, Charles Allen in his book, God's Terrorists: The Wahhabi Cult and the Hidden Roots of Modern Jihad, has quoted Lieutenant Francis Warden who wrote, "They pillaged the whole of it and plundered the tomb of Hazrat Imam Husain, slaying in the course of the day, with circumstances of peculiar cruelty, about 5,000 of the inhabitants. A huge amount of booty was seized."

In 1803, Abd-al-Aziz ibn Saud obtained a visit permit from the Shareef of Mecca on the pretext of performing Haj, whereupon his Wahhabi fighters laid waste Islam's holiest shrine the Kaaba, wherein Muslims across the globe perform the ritual of Haj. Abd-al-Aziz ibn Saud followed in the footsteps of Yazid who had earlier desecrated Kaaba in 682 AD.

According to TE Ravenshaw, author of A Memorandum on the Sect of Wahhabees, "They robbed the splendid tombs of the Mahomedan saints, who were interred there and their fanatical zeal did not even spare the Prophet's Mosque (in Medina), which they robbed of the immense treasures and costly furniture to which each Mahomedan Prince of Europe, Asia and Africa had contributed his share."

In 1804, a Wahhabi gang crossed the great desert in the Hijaz and destroyed tombs of Prophet Mohammad's family members at Jannat-ul-Baqi, the ancient cemetery of Medina, and even despoiled the grave of the prophet. After this, the Wahhabi gang reached Mecca and demolished another heritage site, the cemetery of Jannat-ul-Mualla, where the ancestors and other close relatives of Prophet Mohammad are interred. Again on April 21, 1925, Wahhabis demolished the shrine of Prophet Mohammad's daughter Hazrat Fatima Zehra as well as those of his grandsons, namely Imam Hasan, Imam Zain ul Abideen and Imam Mohammad Baqir. The shrines are still lying demolished and the Saudi Government does not repair them or allow pilgrims to offer prayers at the revered sites.

Again in 2014, a leading Saudi academic had proposed to destroy the tomb of the Prophet Mohammad in Medina with the mala dice intention of removing the remains of the Prophet from there and burying them anonymously in the Jannat-ul-Baqi cemetery. However, the nefarious plan to destroy the tomb under the custody of Saudi monarch Abdullah was exposed by another academic, hence it could not be executed. Had it been executed, the motionless Muslims would have remained calm as the perpetrators were Wahhabis in Muslim attire and not people from any other religion.

In India, those who demolished the Babri Masjid are still facing trial in the Special CBI Court at Lucknow, under various sections of the Indian Penal Code. In all, there are 32 accused and the apex court has directed the Special CBI Court to conclude the hearing by September 30 this year. Till now the CBI has presented 351 witnesses before the court.

What legal action has the Saudi Government or the groups of Muslim countries taken against the perpetrators of mass destruction and demolition of heritage and revered sites and massacres committed by Wahhabis feasting on Saudi petrodollars and spreading terrorism in the name of Islam? There is a deafening silence on that account.

The cacophony created by the Muslim leadership and millions of their followers on the matter of Babri Masjid may be based on the presumption that its perpetrators were Hindu bigots and the thugs behind the demolition of the holiest of Islamic sites, like the Jannat-ul-Baqi in Medina and the Jannat-ul-Mualla in Mecca, were Muslims. It matters little to them that the perpetrators of the crimes against Islam are Muslims just in name.

Will the global Muslim community raise its voice and take a conscious decision for the restoration of the holiest of Islam's revered sites of religious and heritage importance that were systematically destroyed by the Wahhabis? If they don't it will smack of hypocrisy and bigotry.

Revenues of RTCs to contract 40% in FY21 due to pandemic

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Revenues of road transport corporations will contract by 35-40 per cent in the current fiscal due to the coronavirus pandemic-induced challenges, rating agency ICRA said on Wednesday.

The complete shutdown of operations due to COVID-19 from March 23, 2020 and the subsequent extension of the lockdown across the country have resulted in significant financial losses for the Road Transport Corporations (RTCs), it said in a statement.

According to ICRA, the most significant challenge ahead for the RTCs after the lockdowns are fully lifted would be to increase passenger movement while containing the spread of the virus, through various measures like regular sanitisation of the buses and provision of protective gear for the staff. As per ICRA's estimates, measures, including buses operating with a cap of 50 per cent occupancy level and the perceived risk of travelling in a public bus by passengers at large, will lead to a revenue contraction of 35-40 per cent in FY2021 for the sector," the statement said. Given the expected shortfall in revenues, the rating agency said many RTCs would need financial support from the respective state governments till their operations ramp up fully after the lockdowns are completely lifted in order to meet the operational expenses, especially the high fixed costs.

The financial support typically provided by several state governments like the deferring of the Motor Vehicle Tax (MVT) and the reimbursement of fixed costs like employee salaries to avoid any significant cash flow shortfall, emphasise the importance of the RTCs to the respective state governments, it said.

Jayanta Roy, Senior Vice-President & Group Head, Corporate Sector Ratings at ICRA said that even when the operations resumed from May 2020 onwards, passenger demand remained significantly low compared to the pre-COVID levels due to the various social distancing measures introduced by the state governments to curb the spread of the disease.

"If occupancy levels remain low during the coming quarters, meeting employee costs would be the biggest challenge for the sector, as such costs typically account for over 50 per cent of the total operating costs of a state RTC," Roy said.

1,47,004.6 crore and corporation tax at Rs 99,126.2 crore, totalling the two major components of the tax revenue at Rs 2,46,130.8 crore, the source said. The megapolis still continues to be the most affected region by the pandemic.

RBI battle ready to support growth: Das

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das on Wednesday said economic recovery is still not well entrenched and that the central bank is "battle ready" to take appropriate measures to support growth.

Addressing a virtual conference organised by industry body Ficci, Das said that GDP data released by the government was a "reflection of the ravages of the COVID-19".

The economy contracted 23.9 per cent during the April-June quarter on account of the strict lockdown imposed by the government towards end of March to check the spread of coronavirus infections.

Nevertheless, high frequency indicators of agricultural activity, the purchasing managers' index that is PMI for manufacturing and certain private estimates on unemployment point to some stabilisation of economic activity in the second quarter of the current year, while of course contractions in several other sectors are also simultaneously easing," he said. However, Das said that the economic recovery was not yet fully entrenched and also that the recovery is likely to be gradual.

The recovery is, however, not yet fully entrenched and moreover, in some sectors, the uptick, which was noticed in June and July they appear to have levelled off. By all indications the recovery is likely to be gradual as efforts towards the reopening of the economy are confronted with rising infections," he said. At the same time, Das assured the industry that the RBI stands "battle ready" and whatever measures are required will be taken to support liquidity, growth and control price rise.

According to him, the immediate policy response to COVID-19 in the country has been to prioritise the stabilisation of the economy and support quick recovery policies for durable and sustainable high growth in the medium term post the coronavirus.

The Governor also said financial market conditions in India have eased significantly across segments in response to the front-loaded cuts in the policy repo rate and large system-wide as well as targeted infusion of liquidity by the central bank.

"We are also very carefully monitoring the markets. As and when required further measures will be taken. I even said it earlier during my statements that the RBI stands fully prepared... I had used the terminology that the RBI stands battle ready and whatever measures are required will be taken up by the RBI," he said.

Despite substantial increase in the borrowing programme of the government, Das said that persistently large surplus liquidity conditions have ensured non-disruptive mobilisation of resources at the lowest borrowing costs in a decade.

World shares mixed, US futures gain ahead of Fed statement

PNS ■ WASHINGTON

World markets were mixed ahead of the Federal Reserve's policy announcement on Wednesday while US futures edged higher. Benchmarks rose modestly in Frankfurt and Tokyo but slipped in London and Hong Kong.

Investors are awaiting the outcome of the US Federal Reserve policy meeting later Wednesday. It is expected to keep the benchmark rate at nearly zero for some time to help the economy recover from the pandemic downturn.

The US bank's statement might change some of the language around its existing pledge to buy bonds to support markets, economists say. Japan's central bank has begun a policy meeting that will wrap up Thursday but also is not expected to result in any major changes.

Germany's DAX was less than 0.1 per cent higher at 13,223.43 while the CAC 40 in France was flat, at 5,067.95. The FTSE 100 in Britain edged 0.1 per cent lower to 6,101.31. The futures for the S&P 500 and for the Dow industrials both gained 0.2 per cent.

Japan reported that its trade balance swung into surplus in August as a 15 per cent decline in exports from a year earlier was outpaced by a 21 per cent drop in imports.

Exports have been hampered by the coronavirus pandemic but the rate of decline has been narrowing over the past several months as shutdowns eased and the Chinese economy began to recover from a sharp downturn in early spring.

Japan's long-serving prime minister, Shinzo Abe, resigned as of Wednesday and was replaced by his chief cabinet secretary, Yoshihide Suga. Suga has said he intends to push ahead with Abe's policies and little change is expected for the world's third-largest economy. Tokyo's Nikkei 225 edged 0.1 per cent higher to 23,475.53 while the Hang Seng in Hong Kong was almost unchanged at 24,725.63.

South Korea's Kospi gave up 0.3 per cent to 2,435.92 and the S&P/ASX 200 in Sydney jumped 1 per cent to 5,956.10. The Shanghai Composite index slipped 0.4 per cent to 3,283.92.

India's Sensex edged 0.4 per cent higher to 39,182.12 even as the number of the country's confirmed coronavirus cases jumped to nearly 5 million, second only to the US case count of 6.6 million, according to a tally by Johns Hopkins University.

Auto industry needs road map for localisation push

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Exports and a focus on the domestic market offer major potential opportunity areas for the Indian auto industry but the sector needs a road map for localisation, according to a report by consultancy firm EY. As per the report, 'Atma Nirbhar: The Roadmap to Increase Localisation and Harnessing Export Potential of the Indian Auto Industry', the industry generated business worth over Rs 30,000 crore annually through import substitution and local manufacturing through initiatives such as 'Make in India'.

A major potential for import substitution for the industry lies in availability of raw material and technology/capabilities constraints for certain high precision components and economies of scale," it said. In the past, the Indian auto industry has worked on initiatives taken by the government such as 'Make in India' to improve localisation such as achieving up to 95 per cent localisation in the passenger vehicle category of less than Rs 10 lakh.

However, the report cautioned that "recent technological advancement and government legislations such as emission norms, enhanced safety norms and adoption of cleaner fuels could lead to increase in imports due to unavailability of certain raw materials, technology and capability constraints and economies of scale challenges".

EY India Partner and Automotive Sector Leader Vinay Raghunath said, "With the rapidly evolving mobility ecosystem, stringent emission norms, higher focus on safety and vehicle connectivity and the push towards e-mobility, the import gap is likely to further increase in the short term."

He, however, added that with concerted efforts from all ecosystem players, strong foundations can be laid to offset this in the future. Stressing the need for a road map for localisation, the EY report said imports of raw material and components by Indian auto component manufacturers amounted to USD 15.4 billion in 2019-20.

"Even local raw material suppliers of steel, copper, engineered plastics, etc, have an import component in the form of their manufacturing input due to constraints such as unavailability, inadequate quality, and dependence on other industries," it said.

Different component categories have different challenges which lead to import. For example, processors for automotive electronics are almost 100 per cent imported due to lack of wafer fabrication centres in India which require high capital investment (around USD 5 billion), the report said.

"The need of the hour is to identify challenges faced by the industry and develop a short-, mid- and long-term road map for each stakeholder to tackle those challenges," it added. EY India Partner (Automotive) Som Kapoor said, "In order to re-align and mitigate the risks of global supply-chain fluctuations, additional reinforcements and incentives should be considered by the government."

BHEL, SwissRapid to bring Maglev trains

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

State-run engineering firm BHEL on Wednesday announced its tie up with SwissRapid AG to bring Maglev trains (magnetic levitation) to India.

Aimed at expanding its footprint in the urban transportation sector as part of its diversification initiatives, BHEL has entered into a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with SwissRapid AG for Maglev Train projects in India, a company statement said.

The Maglev Rail system hovers in the air instead of rolling, due to magnetic levitation, thus the vehicles have no physical contact with the guideway. This enables the system to be highly energy efficient, allows operating speeds of easily up to 500 km/h and significantly reduces the total cost of system ownership.

The MoU was signed by S V Srinivasan, GM & Head (Transportation Business Group), BHEL and Niklaus H Koenig, President and CEO, SwissRapid AG.

The agreement has been signed in the backdrop of the Prime Minister's 'Make in India' and 'Atmanirbhar Bharat' initiatives, and will enable BHEL to bring the latest, world-class technology to India and manufacture state-of-the-art Maglev trains indigenously.

ALL FOR A DEFINITE CAUSE

A living embodiment of the quote, “A life without a Cause is a life without an Effect”, Street Cause, is an organisation formed by students of different ambitions and aspirations, and colleges across Hyderabad, who come together and drive each other to be more than passive spectators to the inequities in our society. The Pioneer's RACHEL DAMMALA talks to students of the organisation who're working hard amid the pandemic, to keep people going and sane

With an active workforce of 5,000+ students today, and a history of 8,500+ projects, Street Cause was originally founded in Sreenidhi Institute of Science and Technology in the year 2009 and has been growing ever since. The organisation is the realisation of Akhilesh Jukareddy's vision of service to humanity, the founder of the present-day largest student-run NGO in the state!

Realising the power of students when they unite and making the best of these emotions and energy by channeling them towards the betterment of the society, Street Cause does just what its name says — work towards, and strive for, the causes of the common man. Ramya G, the current President of Street Cause, explains what exactly their job is. “We have different wings that work for different causes. One called PAW — People for Animal Welfare, one called Pride — for the welfare of the LGBTQ+ community, E force — for the conservation of the environment, and more. We, the students from 45+ academic institutions of varied disciplines across Hyderabad work towards one goal - making the city, a better place to live in.” In 11 years of service, they have organised numerous fundraisers such as Howzzat, Parinama, Goal-Addict, Dunk it and the Run For a Cause series, to meet their objective of implementing large scale development projects such as the renovation of schools, orphanages, and old age homes, furnishing them with the requisite infrastructure, provision of water filters and water tanks, construction or renovation of washrooms, repairing faulty electrical circuitry and damaged pipelines, catering to special needs of the differently-abled and installation of solar street lights in the remote tribal villages of Telangana, among others. Students have been working harder, fighting all odds, to help the poor and needy amid the Coronavirus pandemic. “We have been distributing basic survival kits to those living the slums and some migrants too, who weren't able to avail the help being provided by the government for various reasons. Our kit includes rice, dal, salt, chilli powder, masks, sanitisers, etc., which have been distributed to over 260 families last month. We hope to do the same this month too,” Ramya informs. Asked how they're funded, she answers that it's from the students' donations and the fundraisers they organise regularly. The organisation also hosts the Hyderabad Youth Assembly, which is a premier permanent project that recruits students from colleges after rigorous scrutiny of group discussions and personal interviews. “Each member is required to express their novel ideas in achieving the chosen sustainable development goals (SDGs) in the assembly. The motions put forward are discussed, deliberated, and voted upon during their designated time slots, following the rules of procedure set by the UN assembly. The motions passed are there on implemented by the members after a series of surveys in villages destitute of the very basic amenities,” informs Ramya. A novel yet promising idea, the Hyderabad Youth Assembly is conducted in two phases, each phase having four goals. Lalit Aditya, former president of the organisation and current HYA honorary chair, currently heads the Street Cause Pride unit. “Volunteers of this unit work towards breaking stereotypes and busting myths and other notions about the LGBTQ community. We aim to raise awareness about who the people of this community are and sensitise people about their issues. It is hard to break these notions that films and pop culture portray about the community,” Aditya laments. He adds that they have been hosting online awareness programmes on various subjects related to the community and that the response to these, has been amazing. Street Cause looks forward to expanding its work beyond the state of Telangana soon. They have several projects planned, including adopting transgender families, food distribution, donating TVs to orphanages for online education, systems, projectors, and subscriptions to apps like Byjus, Zoom, etc., for these children. Street Cause sure has radi-

No More Tracksuits Please!

On Sunday, the New York Fashion Week kicked off with Jason Wu's presentation - who has dressed former US First Lady, Michelle Obama more than once. The Taiwanese born designer often infuses “Old World” femininity in many of his designs and chose to have a physical show with a very limited audience. The collection was filled with contemporary and easygoing silhouettes inspired by the Caribbean coastline town of Tulum, Wu's home away from home. They had a feeling of escapism yet could be worn at home or easily transition into eveningwear. They are clothes that work for the times we are living in — and there was not one tracksuit! Work from Home, seems to have become an excuse for dressing like a ragamuffin. Of course we do want to wear starched shirts and confining tailored jackets (and nor do we live in a place where the weather “suits” such attire); but does that mean we need to live in clothes that were meant to be worn in the gym or on a sports field? The term athleisure was first used back in the late 1970s, a time when the American inspired sports look was becoming global but it still had a feel of elegance — think Polo Ralph Lauren. High fashion borrowing ideas from sports is not a new concept, and you could say Coco Chanel was probably the first athleisure designer — she used jersey to make day suits for women back in the 1920s. I have a feeling if she were alive today she would be horrified to see how women are dressing right now. “We have become trapped in a cycle of fashion lethargy,” says celebrity stylist Mohit Rai. “What most people do not realise is that a growing routine is not about how you look but how you feel. A system that puts life into an overall perspective and retains sanity.” As someone who has been a freelancer for the last couple of years, work from home is a way of life for me. And it's my dressing routine that has kept me in check — I wake up, gym, shower, finish my morning prayers and then change into something easy but still elegant — it could be a kaftan dress, jeans and a shirt or shorts and boxy top, add on some accessories and finish with some undereye concealer a wand of mascara and lip gloss. It makes me ready for the day. As a fashion writer — it would be strange not to enjoy and understand the value of dressing-up. I wonder if when we look back to the current track-suit trend, it will be with the same disdain we have for the Juicy Couture (remember those velour tracksuits) phase of fashion of the early 2000s. (I am happy to say I never participated in this trend). You don't need a reason or an occasion to dress — and sometimes we just do it well because you feel like it because it acts as that pick me up”. Anjali Patel Mehta, founder of the Studio Verandah, a resort brand says, “Athleisure is here to stay, but even if that's your choice, choose the clothes that make you feel good. I haven't been to a salon in over 6 months, nor cut my hair but what I've done is to make the most from my surroundings and dressing can help you lift your spirits.” Which is why as we try and learn to co-exist with the virus, we need to get out of our tracksuits and embrace our own personal style — yes, that could be sporty but it does need to have a feel of being dressed. And tracksuit bottoms don't cut it. Even with ‘Vogue’ supremo, Anna Wintour wearing them in April. Hopefully Jason Wu's show proves that we are moving away from tracksuits to a chicer yet comfortable style of dressing. The whole point of fashion is to bring joy and a feeling of escapism to our lives don't we need that more now than ever. In fact there is no surprise that many of the recent collections we are seeing seem to have taken inspiration from resort fashion instead of athleisure — so let's get out of those tracksuits, please! Nawazuddin Siddiqui-starrer 'Serious Men' to hit Netflix on Oct 2

Filmmaker Sudhir Mishra's upcoming feature Serious Men, headlined by Nawazuddin Siddiqui, will premiere on Netflix on October 2.

Written by Bhavesh Mandalia, the movie film is based on a 2010 novel of the same name by Manu Joseph. Siddiqui said Serious Men brings to end his long wait to collaborate with Mishra. "I am excited about this film as I waited almost 20 years to work with Sudhir Mishra. It's a dream come true. I can't wait for the audience to watch Serious Men and join this journey with me, this Gandhi Jayanti," the actor said in a statement. The film chronicles the story of an ambitious underachiever who capitalises on his son's newfound fame as a boy-genius to improve his family's fortunes.

Sonakshi Sinha: I'm not worried about when work will start

Actress Sonakshi Sinha says she is not fretting about getting back to work, or how the industry will change in the Covid era. The actress shared that she is loving the lockdown life for now. "I am just going to admit that I am loving lockdown life. In the last 10 years, I haven't gotten a break for so long, where I have been able to spend time with myself, understand what I want from life, do the things I like to do and just be one with yourself, sort your head out, contemplate and understand what's important and what's not important in life. I'm really loving it," Sonakshi said. "I am not worried about when work will start, and how it will be. I know it's going to be difficult going back to the set, with 'what you are touching', 'don't touch your face', and with people in PPE kits. I did one photoshoot and it was so strange being around people who are covered up head to toe and you are the only one open. You are like 'keep your hands to yourself and don't touch your face', sanitise every five minutes. It's really weird," she added. The actress is "keeping that worry aside and doing what makes me happy at the moment," she said, explaining it refers to "my art and painting, endless conversations with friends and spending time with family." "Right now, everybody is in the same boat. It will start when it has to start and we will move on with this and get over it," she added. Talking about her binge-watch list, Sonakshi said, "I watched so many things that I am fed up of watching anything now." "I watched 'Talaash' again because I am doing a show with Reema Katgi and I love that film. I want to read but I don't have the patience to sit down with a book. When I do my cardio, I need to have something in front of me to watch otherwise I hate doing cardio. I wish we had finished Reema's web show. It was such an exciting role for me. I can't wait to get back," she said in an episode of the show Zoom Happy Space With Rudrani.

BIG B REVEALS HE WORKS FOR 12 TO 14 HRS EACH DAY, PENS A POEM FOR KBC

Amitabh Bachchan has penned a special poem for his quiz show Kaun Banega Crorepati which is set to return to the television screens with an all new season. The actor wrote about the work he does and how he is grateful for the respect and affection he receives from his fans. He wrote in Hindi, "Ji haan huzoor main kaam karta hoon, main tarah tarah ke kaam karta hoon, main kism kism ke kaam karta hoon. Kujh kaam kiye the maine masti main, kujh kiye praat- raat jabardasti mein. Ye KBC ki lat lagi hai logo ko, santush karu bas yahi apeksha Sony ko. Shuruat hui hai, abhi to din kujh baki hain, sneh aadar pyaar mile, to hum aabhari hain - ab. Hum apna kaam karein, tum apna kaam karo. (Yes sir I work, I do different kinds of things, I do a variety of work. I had done some things in fun, some I had done through day and night. People are addicted to KBC, Sony expects me to satisfy their expectations. It has just started, more days are yet to come, If I receive affection and respect, I will be grateful. - ab... We do our work, you do your work)." He added that he was inspired from poet Bhavani Prasad Mishra while writing the poem. He shared the same poem on Twitter along with a picture of himself all dressed up to host the show in a blue three-piece suit, a picture of the KBC sets with a contestant on the hot seat and one of the empty set. Talking about shooting for the show, he wrote on his blog around midnight, "Work at early hours.. in the speed of completion.. and then some more.. 12 to 14 hours each day.. on the over the wonder what lies ahead.. work with the crew and support is an adhesive.. it remains glued for the duration after.. He went on to talk about how nothing is impossible in today's times. He wrote, "... many watch the 'dilemma' of the populist domain.. it frightens the present most and the future even more.. discovery and experimentation were never more predominant than they are today.. they think absurd and prove their virtues.. anything and everything is the possibility preached.. we live in the times of the times when the impossible is garbaged in the bags of incommensurable junk... each hour and minute reverberates with invention.. and the touch of experimentation is obsolete now.. the touch of inform and proforma dominates the Universe.. unknown is unknown.. and may it ever be so.."

Nivetha Pethuraj BOARDS CHANDOO'S COMEDY DRAMA

Nivetha Pethuraj will be headlining the women-centric drama in the film, a situational comedy, while the likes of Brahmaji, Ajay and Kireeti will round off the supporting cast, finds NAGARAJ GOUD

The Pioneer was the first to report (on Sept 1) about director Chandoo Mondeti's plans of wrapping up a web film at a fast clip before he embarks on the ambitious journey of calling the shots for Karthikeya 2. "It's a situational comedy and the humour emanates from the characteristics of the roles. I've been developing it for the past 45 days and it's in the final stages. The casting will be finalised in the next couple of weeks," he had told us about the comedy drama that marks his digital debut, with People Media Factory attached to produce it.

Now, we hear that he has finalised the cast and even began shooting. Nivetha Pethuraj, who impressed one and all with her turns in films like Mental Madhilo and Brochevarevarura, will be headlining the women-centric drama, while the likes of Brahmaji, Ajay and Kireeti will round off the supporting cast. "The filming has commenced on Tuesday at Ramoji Film City, Hyderabad and will go on there for another four days, before moving to other cities like Visakhapatnam and Mumbai," a source close to the development confirms to The Pioneer.

The source adds that cast and crew are strictly complying with COVID-19 guidelines, while going about their job. "Chandoo is planning to wrap up the shoot in a start-to-finish schedule of 30-35 days and it is the reason why the unit members have been asked not to visit their houses after pack-up for the day. They will be staying in the accommodation offered by the production house until the shoot ends. The crew is not exceeding 50. The production house is spending Rs 35,000 to follow safety protocols daily," the source informs.

The source further adds that Chandoo has assembled a strong technical team in place to help his vision come alive. Karthik Ghattamaneni, with whom Chandoo worked on films like Karthikeya and Premam, has been signed on as the cinematographer, while talks are on with hotshot composer Kaala Bhairava to score the music. "No streamer is attached to the project as of now. People Media Factory will decide about selling the digital rights once the film draws to a close," the source ends.

Nagababu tests positive for coronavirus

Actor Naga Babu is the latest tinsel town celebrity to have tested coronavirus positive. Presently under home quarantine at his residence in Hyderabad, he took to social media to share the news, adding that he sees it as an opportunity to help others by becoming a plasma donor. He wrote on Instagram, "An infection doesn't always have to be a suffering, you can always transform it into an opportunity to help the fellow beings. Tested Covid-19 +ve. Will scuffle & strife through this and will be a plasma donor. #covid warrior #plasma-donor (sic)." After his admission, messages for his speedy recovery poured in hundreds. Actor Kalyaan Dhev, Chiranjeevi's son-in-law, took to the comment thread and wrote, "Speedy recovery, Nagababu (sic)." Naga Babu replied to him, "@kalyaan_dhev Speed is a sign of Love., Thanks for yours @kalyaan_dhev." Naga Babu, who is busy juggling between films and TV, participated in a web interview with his daughter Niharika four days back.

RGV 3-part biopic rolls on

Announced last month, the three-part biopic on filmmaker Ram Gopal Varma, produced by Bommakuri Murali, has flagged-off at a college in Hyderabad on Wednesday. While the filmmaker doesn't believe in muhurats, this film, however, followed the customary rituals, with his mother Suryavathi switching on the camera for the first shot. His sister Vijaya sounded the clapperboard. Dorasai Teja, who will man the director's chair for the all the three parts, is interestingly acting as younger Varma in the first part. "DORASAI TEJA apart from acting as me in my college days is also directing the film. He is just 20 years old #RgvBiopic (sic)," Varma posted on Twitter. Titled Ramu - The beginning of Ram Gopal Varma — the first part will narrate about the famed director's college days, his first loves and his involvement in the gang fights of Vijayawada. It will also detail the tactics he employed to land his maiden film, Shiva. To feature fairly new faces in other roles, the shooting of the first part will go in Hyderabad for another 15 days. The third part, titled The Intelligent Idiot will lay focus on Varma's failures, controversies, his beliefs on God, sex, society and also his influence on various people. It will also throw light on his relationships in Mumbai and his infamous Taj Hotel visit along with Riteish Deshmukh and then Maharashtra CM Vilasrao Deshmukh in the aftermath of the Mumbai terror attacks in December 2008.

Meghamsh 'excited' to be directed by Satish Vegesna

After an impressive debut with Rajdooth last year, actor Meghamsh Srihari has signed his next, Kothi Kommachi, with director Satish Vegesna. The young actor tells us that he is "really excited" to team up with Vegesna, who is known for his national-award winning film Shatamanam Bhavathi. "Rajdooth producer MLV Satyanarayana rang me sometime back and spoken about the project, taking me by surprise. I've later heard the narration and it was an instant yes from my end," Meghamsh says. Distancing himself from the family genre, Vegesna is making Kothi Kommachi as a youthful entertainer, while introducing his son Sameer as another lead. A confusion comedy between two couples, the first half, set in Visakhapatnam, will have a lot of young at heart flavor, while the second half, to unfold in a picturesque village, will focus on family ties and emotions. The film will be launched on Dasara next month, followed by principal shooting. Vegesna is planning to wrap it up in 50-55 working days. "The film has entertainment all throughout its running time. It will give people the laughs they need after the pandemic," Meghamsh, who will be seen as a rich youngster in the film, points out. He maintains that he had no apprehensions as such to share screen space with another actor who will share equal screen time to that of him in the film. "The script needed two actors," he states, adding that his interactions with Vegesna have been excellent so far about the script. "A workshop of 10-15 days starts soon before we go in front of the cameras." — NG

Shraddha Kapoor joins Green India Challenge

After being nominated by her co-star Prabhas sometime back, shraddha Kapoor took up the green India challenge and planted a few saplings in her Mumbai residence on Wednesday. Taking to her Facebook handle, the actress shared a picture of herself with the plant and wrote "Thank you Prabhas for nominating me for #GreenIndiaChallenge. I have planted few saplings. Special thanks to MP Santosh Kumar sir for this initiative. #HaraHaiTohBharaiHai"

Ashwini Dutt joins Twitter

A day after he celebrated his birthday, leading producer Ashwini Dutt, who has been producing films for almost five decades, officially joined Twitter on Wednesday. He will be tweeting from the handle, @AshwiniDuttCh. Some of his first tweets include responding to his well-wishers like K Raghavendra Rao, Suresh Productions, Sridevi Movies, Dulquer Salmaan and Nara Rohith who greeted him on his birthday. "Thank you to all our custodians and collaborators of cinema. Your good wishes and constant support are the reason for our success. I loved hearing from each and every one of you! (Sic)," he posted on Wednesday. After his 2011 release Shakti sank without a trace at the box office, Dutt stopped producing movies under his prestigious production house Vjayanthi Movies. However, with the success of Mahanati (2018), which was produced by his daughters Swapna and Priyanka, he returned to the production fold with renewed energy and was associated with films like Devadas and Maharshi. He is set to produce Prabhas' film with Nag Ashwin next up. To be made on a mammoth budget, the untitled film is touted to be a futuristic sci-fi-thriller set against the backdrop of an imaginary third world war. It will roll next year.

Eng nose ahead in series decider

AP ■ MANCHESTER

Jonny Bairstow struck 112 and underpinned another innings rebuild with Sam Billings as England recovered from losing two wickets from the first two balls to set Australia a target of 303 in the deciding one-day international on Wednesday.

Mitchell Starc removed Jason Roy and Joe Root off successive deliveries to leave England in early turmoil on a glorious afternoon at Old Trafford, and both Eoin Morgan (23) and Jos Buttler (8) also departed cheaply.

From 96-4, Bairstow and Billings (57) put on 114 runs for the fifth wicket to bring England right back into the match — just as they did in the first ODI on Friday when sharing a stand of 113 in defeat.

Bairstow reached his 10th ODI century before some lusty hits by Chris Woakes (53 off 39 balls) lifted the hosts to 302-7, leaving Australia needing a record run chase at the Manchester venue. Fifty-three runs came from the last five overs.

The series is tied at 1-1.

England is looking to preserve its five-year unbeaten record in bilateral ODI series, and finish its international summer — during which all of its games have been played without fans — unbeaten in all formats against the West Indies, Ireland, Pakistan and Australia.

It is Australia's final match of its white-ball tour, with the team having already lost the Twenty20 series 2-1.

Steve Smith was again missing for the Australians after failing to fully recover from being hit on the head from a throwdown in the nets before the first match of the series.

Australia captain Aaron Finch said Smith had a hit in the nets on Tuesday but "just did not pull up well" and felt "a bit groggy."

Novak remains perfect

Djokovic extends unbeaten run on court, behaves better in 1st match since US Open default

AP ■ ROME

Novak Djokovic expressed his relief there was no "mental or emotional blockages or drama" as he swept past Italian wild card entry Salvatore Caruso into the Italian Open third round on Wednesday in his first match since his US Open default.

"I was actually looking forward to get the official match as soon as possible after what happened in New York," said the world No 1.

The Serb was on his best behaviour after his dramatic last 16 disqualification on September 6 after he accidentally struck a line judge with a ball hit in frustration.

"I didn't feel that I had any mental or emotional blockages or any dramas playing a match today," he said.

Djokovic, who had said he had learned a "big lesson" from his first ever disqualification, was keen to move on in Rome.

The 33-year-old playfully greeted an imaginary crowd in an empty Central Court at the Foro Italico because of strict coronavirus measures.

Only some noisy workers managed to unnerve the 17-time Grand Slam winner after missing break points.

"It was very, very quiet, which is very unusual to what we are used to here in Rome, which has one of the loudest and most energetic crowd atmospheres on the tour."

Djokovic continued where he left off before his US Open exit, having won the Cincinnati Masters on the same Flushing Meadows courts.

"It was a very good test for me. I'm very pleased with the way I handled myself in important moments," said Djokovic, who was unbeaten in 2020 before his US Open default.

in Rome, and won four titles, will meet either 29th-ranked compatriot Filip Krajinovic or Italian qualifier Marco Cecchinato, ranked 113th, for a place in the quarter-finals.

Nine-time Rome winner Rafael Nadal will make his return to competition later on Wednesday after a six-month hiatus linked to the coronavirus pandemic.

The number two seed plays fellow Spaniard Pablo Carreno Busta, a recent semi-finalist at the US Open, for a place in the third round.

US Open champion Naomi Osaka took a direct swipe at critics of her recent activism saying the people who told her that sportspeople should stay out of politics inspired her to win her third Grand Slam title

Third seed Stefanos Tsitsipas fell to Italian teenager Jannik Sinner 6-1, 6-7 (9/11), 6-2, with sixth seeded Belgian David Goffin also exiting 6-2, 6-2 to Croatia's Marin Cilic.

HALEP, AZARENKA ADVANCE

Top women's seed Simona Halep returned a month after winning in Prague to ease past 99th-ranked Italian Jasmine Paolini 6-3, 6-4.

"It was a little bit difficult to get the rhythm and to get relaxed," said the 28-year-old Romanian, who skipped the US Open but is warming up for a bid for a second French Open title later this month.

The world No 2, a two-time Rome finalist, next meets either American Amanda Anisimova or Dayana Yastremska of Ukraine.

US Open finalist Victoria Azarenka shrugged off the move from hard court to the clay surface to beat American Venus Williams 7-6 (9/7), 6-2, in their first round match.

Belarusian Azarenka will play third seeded American Sofia Kenin, the reigning Australian Open champion, for a place in the third round.

Swiss sixth seed Belinda Bencic fell 6-3, 6-1 in her second round match to Montenegro's 86th-ranked Danka Kovinic.

Boult's inclusion gives edge to MI: Gambhir

New Delhi: Former India opener Gautam Gambhir feels New Zealand pacer Trent Boult forms a formidable pair with Jasprit Bumrah, giving Mumbai Indians an edge over Chennai Super Kings in this IPL.

With Mumbai Indians taking on Chennai Super Kings in the tournament opener on Saturday in Abu Dhabi, Gambhir said he is waiting to see how Boult and Bumrah go about their business.

"I am really excited to watch how Trent Boult and Jasprit Bumrah will bowl with the new ball, because we all know Bumrah and Boult are world class bowlers, and in the T20 format both are wicket-taking options," Gambhir said on Star Sports show Cricket Connected.

"A left-arm seamer, who will bring the ball inside to a right hand batsman while Jasprit Bumrah believes in an unorthodox style of bowling."

"A vital cog in CSK's wheel, Raina had pulled out of the IPL due to 'personal reasons' and Gambhir feels it will be a challenge for CSK without him at number 3."

"There will be a challenge for Chennai Super Kings considering they do not have Suresh Raina batting at No 3. Shane Watson has not played international cricket for a long time, so we would want to know who will open with him and how will these batsmen face these bowlers," the former Kolkata Knight Riders skipper said.

Gambhir, a two-time IPL-winning skipper, believes four-time champions Mumbai Indians will be favourites against Chennai considering the overall team balance and depth after the addition of Boult.

"I am skewed more towards Mumbai Indians for the opening match because if we notice the team balance and the depth of the squad while not forgetting the addition of Trent Boult in the squad can prove to be an excellent option," he said.

"Every team wants a bowler who will take wickets with a new ball and use Jasprit Bumrah in an experimental way. I would want to see how these two bowlers perform with the new ball not only in the first match but throughout the tournament." PTI

Hardik looking to make strong comeback

Back from a lengthy injury layoff, Mumbai Indians' star all-rounder Hardik Pandya said the setback motivated him to work harder and he is now in good shape both physically and mentally for the IPL. Pandya's form will be crucial for defending champions Mumbai Indians, who will take on Chennai Super Kings in the lung-opener of the cash-rich T20 league on September 19.

tal space I'm in, it is just a matter of time that I go and spend some time on the ground and I think things will come out pretty well," Pandya said in a video posted by Mumbai Indians' official Twitter handle.

"No matter how far I go from the game, no matter how long I stay out, when I come back, it has to be worth it. I have prepared very well and I think, great things are coming ahead," the 26-year-old flamboyant all-rounder added.

Last year in November, Pandya had undergone a back surgery in London. He came back in the DY

Patil T20 tournament held in early March.

He was even selected for the ODI series against South Africa, but the Covid-19 pandemic, which forced the rubber to be abandoned, delayed his return. He is now looking forward to the IPL.

"IPL is something that I have enjoyed a lot and I would like to make a comeback very strong and I'm just looking forward to it," said Pandya. He also conceded that injuries would be a part of his crick- eting journey and motivate him to do better.

This year's IPL will be extra special: Sehwaag

New Delhi: Former India opener Virender Sehwaag expects this year's IPL to be "extra special" and a major reason for that is Mahendra Singh Dhoni getting back on the pitch after announcing his international retirement following a year-long sabbatical from the game.

"I think this tournament will be extra special for everyone — the players as well as the audience... Watching Dhoni back on the pitch is sure to be a delight. There's so much in store, need I say more?" Sehwaag, who will be co-hosting a show Power Play with Champions on Flipkart Video, said.

Sehwaag said cricket is an integral part of an Indian's life and the fans have waited long for the sport to return.

"I've spent a lot of my time during the lockdown watching old matches. Cricket forms an important part of our DNA as Indians and we've waited with bated breath for it to return" he said. PNS

'Russell currently is world's best all-rounder'

Andre Russell is currently the world's best all-rounder.

Kolkata Knight Riders batsman Rinku Singh feels no one can match the big-hitting prowess of explosive all-rounder Andre Russell and he remains the World's best all-rounder at the moment.

The Jamaican allrounder, who joined KKR in 2014, has been in sensational form in the last two seasons and remains the talk of the town ahead of the 13th edition which will get underway on Saturday.

"There is no one who can hit the ball better than him. He has a lot of life and strength in him," Singh said in an interview in KKR's website.

"His sixes are massive and I just don't see any batsman as a competition to him. He is the best all-rounder in the world at this moment," Singh added.

Will have better idea of conditions once IPL starts, says Amit

PTI ■ ABU DHABI

Dubai: The pitches in UAE are expected to aid spinners but Delhi Capitals leg-spinner Amit Mishra feels it is too early to predict that as the conditions have been "neutral" so far.

The 36-year-old India spinner said UAE pitches suiting batsmen or bowlers more can only be ascertained only once the tournament progresses. "The conditions so far have

South African star AB de Villiers believes the biggest challenge for all teams in the upcoming Indian Premier League will be adjusting to the prevailing hot and humid conditions in the UAE.

Most games will be played in the night but the conditions would still be challenging.

me of a Test match we played in July in Chennai once where Viru (Virender Sehwaag) scored 300. It was one of the hottest weather conditions I have experience in my life," he said in an interview posted on RCB's Twitter handle.

"The humidity is similar to that, even at 10 at night.

When I arrived here I checked the weather conditions of a few months and it seems to be getting better. It is definitely going to play a part and you have to make sure you have the energy for the backend of the innings or last 5 overs of your bowling spell."

De Villiers said he would also miss playing in front of packed crowds in India with the event to be played behind closed doors in UAE due to the Covid-19 pandemic.

"I think obviously all are used to playing in front of crowds in big stage, there is certainly an amount of adrenaline that pumped into you when it gets really loud, especially in Chinnaswamy when the RCB crowd gets going, it's difficult to stop the RCB team. So, well miss that there is no doubt about it."

"But I won't say I am not used to it, I have played a lot of cricket in empty stadiums. I grew up like that. It's only in my international career that I have played in front of crowd," he said.

Bale close to Spurs return

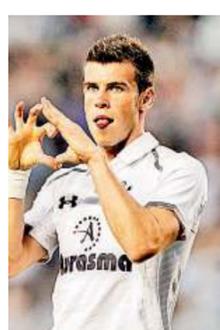

AFP ■ LONDON

Gareth Bale's agent says the Real Madrid forward is "close" to a move back to Tottenham but admitted it is a complicated deal to thrash out.

The Wales international has been frozen out by Real manager Zinedine Zidane and said earlier this month that he was open to returning to the Premier League.

It has been reported that Spurs and Manchester United are interested in signing Bale but Jose Mourinho appears to be leading the race to land the 31-year-old.

"It's close but not done," Bale's agent Jonathan Barnett told AFP. "It's a complicated

Gareth Bale's agent says the Real Madrid forward is "close" to a move back to Tottenham but admitted it is a complicated deal to thrash out.

Bale has two years left on a contract that pays him a reported salary of about £600,000 ($775,000) a week at

Real. It has been reported the Spanish club would be willing to pay some of that salary to finally move on from their troubled relationship with the forward.

Bale left Tottenham for Real in 2013 for a then world-record fee of £85 million. He has won four Champions League titles and two La Liga crowns during his time in Spain, but his turbulent relationship with Zidane has left him a peripheral player.

The winger still has an emotional attachment to Tottenham after joining the club from Southampton as a teenager and developing into one of the world's most exciting forwards.

Brazilian Govt backs Neymar in racism row

AFP ■ SAO PAULO

Brazil's Government sent its support to Neymar on Tuesday after he was red-carded for a fight in a Ligue 1 match in France, condemning the "racism" that triggered the brawl.

The Paris Saint-Germain star is facing punishment by the French league's disciplinary commission after slapping defender Alvaro Gonzalez near the end of PSG's 1-0 loss to Marseille, accusing the Spaniard of calling him a "monkey."

Gonzalez denies the accusation. But in Neymar's native Brazil, the ministry responsible for human rights issues said it stood behind the world's most expensive footballer. "In the face of yet another case of racism that has come to the surface in sport, the ministry of women, the family and human rights publicly voices its solidarity with the player Neymar Jr," the ministry said in a statement. "Racism is a crime."

The statement came after Brazilian President Jair Bolsonaro on Monday retweeted Neymar's own version of events.

The Brazilian striker slapped Gonzalez on the back of the head near the end of Sunday's match, sparking a mass brawl that ended with five players sent off, including Neymar.

He now faces a potential multi-match suspension, as does Gonzalez, if league officials find Neymar's accusation is true.

Emiliano Martinez joins Aston Villa

London: Aston Villa announced the signing of Arsenal goalkeeper Emiliano Martinez on Wednesday for a reported fee of £20 million ($26 million).

The 28-year-old Argentine, who has signed a four-year deal, helped Arsenal to FA Cup victory last season and Community Shield glory last month but faced playing second fiddle to Bernd Leno.

Villa boss Dean Smith said: "We are really pleased with the signing of our new goalkeeper Emiliano Martinez."

"We know how highly Arsenal rated him and we watched his outstanding performances last season in a trophy-
