Covid forces early end to State Assembly session

The COVID-19 pandemic and related restrictions forced the Telangana Legislative Assembly to adjourn the monsoon session on Wednesday, 12 days before its scheduled conclusion, and in the process, the government announced that a “special action plan” will be undertaken to mitigate the spread of the virus.

Chief Minister K Chandrashekhar Rao said the government had “no option” but to adjourn the session due to the “critical stage” of the pandemic. “We are all aware of the serious situation,” said Rao.

He said the government had already taken several measures to deal with the coronavirus, including the setting up of a task force headed by the IAS officer in charge of health.

Rao added that the government had also set up a special team to monitor the situation and ensure that all necessary steps were being taken to control the spread of the virus.

He said the government would continue to take all necessary steps to ensure that the people’s health and safety were prioritized.

I call on the Palestinian leadership to form a coalition government and truly respect and recognize the people's will, as expressed through the 2006 elections. The people's will must be respected and safeguarded. The Palestinian Authority shall no more be days of nation-building and internecine strife. In the present day, the political and social cohesion, the nationalisation of the public welfare. It may be recalled that the so-called ‘Palestine Movement’ was founded by the Palestinian National Congress (PNC), an umbrella organisation of the Palestinian Arabs, to participate in the liberation of Palestine and to work towards the establishment of an independent Palestinian state. The PNC was established in 1932, and its objectives included the promotion of national consciousness, the defence of the rights of the Palestinian people, and the struggle for independence. The PNC's membership included various Palestinian political parties and organisations, as well as individual Palestinian leaders and activists. The PNC played a significant role in the development of the Palestinian liberation movement, and its activities included the organisation of protests, demonstrations, and rallies, as well as the distribution of propaganda and literature to raise awareness of the Palestinian cause. The PNC's activities were often met with violent repression by the British colonial authorities, who sought to suppress the Palestinian liberation movement and maintain their control over Palestine. Despite the challenges faced by the PNC, it continued to work towards the achievement of Palestinian self-determination and sovereignty. The PNC's legacy continues to inspire and inform the Palestinian struggle for freedom and justice today.
