Weekend lockdown in Delhi

Fresh Covid cases soar to over 17,000 on Thursday

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

As the Covid-19 situation in the national Capital turned grimmer with the number of daily cases rising to staggering over 17,000, Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal on Thursday announced imposition of weekend curfew to break the chain of coronavirus infection.

The Chief Minister announced that weekend curfew will be implemented in Delhi along with a closure of malls, gyms, swimming pools, and auditoriums. The cinema halls will function at 30 per cent capacity and restaurants will not be allowed to cater to dining — only home delivery and takeaways will be allowed.

The weekly markets will be allowed at one weekly market per-day-per-zone format and the Delhi Government will also monitor crowds at weekly markets and the markets and public places will see stricter implementation of Covid norms.

Kejriwal appealed to the people of Delhi to not insist on getting admitted to a particular hospital as beds will be made available in other facilities if required as Delhi has more than 5000 beds vacant.

Addressing the media, he said, "Corona cases are rising in Delhi but the hospital management in Delhi is under control. There is no dearth of beds in Delhi as more than 5,000 beds are available. We met with the Lieutenant Governor and have unanimously decided to put a weekend lockdown in place. Our understanding is that people need to travel during weekdays for work and other essential activities; however, weekends are usually reserved for leisure and entertainment activities — activities that in the given situation can be curtailed and restricted," he said.

Keeping in mind the essential nature of work and jobs done during weekdays, the Government has decided to issue curfew passes.

India crosses 2-L daily count

PNS ■ NEW DELHI/LUCKNOW

The emergence of several States as new Covid-19 hotspots besides Maharashtra, Chhattisgarh and Kerala continued to push the daily count of fresh infections to newer peaks as several States imposed new lockdown like restrictions on Thursday to battle the alarming surge that saw India recording over 2 lakh cases during the last 24 hours.

While Maharashtra's tally rose marginally from the previous day, ending at 61,695 new cases and 349 deaths, Karnataka, Madhya Pradesh, Gujarat, Rajasthan, Tamil Nadu, Haryana, and Bihar have seen alarmingly higher spikes on daily basis.

After Maharashtra and Chhattisgarh, Uttar Pradesh has emerged as the third-highest contributor of new cases on a daily count. The State reported 22,339 new cases and 104 deaths during the last 24 hours.

Uttar Pradesh was followed by Karnataka and Madhya Pradesh. While the southern States reported 14,738 new cases and 66 deaths during the last 24 hours, MP reported 10,166 cases and 53 deaths.

Gujarat recorded 8,152

new cases and 81 deaths, while Tamil Nadu clocked 7,987 cases and 29 deaths.

Meanwhile, in view of the alarming surge in the Covid-19 cases and high occupancy of patients in the Dedicated Covid Hospitals, the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) on Thursday converted famed Jaslok Hospital into a dedicated Covid-19 hospital.

Mumbai Municipal Commissioner IS Chahal said, "Additional 250 Covid beds in Jaslok Hospital will come on BMC's online dashboard by Saturday morning to help needy patients."

ASI closes monuments for visitors till May 15

New Delhi: All Centrally protected monuments, museums and sites under the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) have been closed with immediate effect till May 15 due to the surge in coronavirus cases in the country, the Union Culture Ministry said on Thursday.

An order to this effect was issued by the ASI and it was tweeted by Culture Minister Prahlad Patel on Thursday evening.

Covid curfew extended from 8pm to 7am in UP

Board exams postponed, all schools closed till May 15

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

Amid the surge in corona cases and subsequent panic setting in across the State, Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath has ordered extension of "Covid curfew" from 8 pm to 7 am in districts with more than 2,000 active cases and also announced postponement of the UP Board Exams for Class 10 and 12. The new dates of UP Board examination will be announced later, the CM said and also ordered the closure of all Government and private schools till May 15.

"The corona curfew will be effective from 8 pm to 7 am in all 10 districts with more than 2,000 active cases, including Lucknow, Prayagraj, Varanasi, Kanpur Nagar, Gautam Budh Nagar, Ghaziabad, Meerut and Gorakhpur. This order should be implemented with immediate effect," Yogi said while reviewing the current situation of the State virtually with the Team-11 officials on Thursday.

At present, corona curfew is being enforced in these districts between 9 pm and 6 am.

and safeguard them from the second wave of coronavirus infection, the CM said schools, up to Class 12 should be closed till May 15.

He instructed the officials to make all necessary arrangements in view of the changing situation every day in all the districts of the State. Yogi assured the State was successful in fighting the first wave of Covid-19 and similarly, this time the second wave will also be controlled soon.

"For this it is required that all citizens strictly adhere to Covid protocols such as masks, sanitizers and social distancing. Not only this, it is better that people include this protocol in their lifestyle. People should be made aware about this," he said.

In a bid to ensure an effective Covid-19 management system, Yogi said inflow of patients from other districts in Lucknow is natural. Therefore, we need to make additional arrangements here. In such a situation, KGMU and Balrampur Hospital should be prepared as a dedicated Covid Hospital, he said.

The Chief Minister instructed the officials to conduct this work in a phased manner. Also, the non-Covid patients should also be taken care of so that no inconvenience is caused to them.

"The TS Mishra Hospital, Integral and Hind Medical Colleges in Lucknow should be converted into dedicated Covid hospitals. In the next two days additional beds should be provided in these hospitals," said the Chief Minister.

Govt postpones NEET-PG in view of rising Covid cases

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

In view of a spike in the number of Covid-19 cases, the National Eligibility-Cum-Entrance Test (postgraduate) (NEET-PG), which was scheduled to be held on April 18, has been postponed, Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan said on Thursday.

The decision was taken keeping the well-being of the young medical students in mind, he added. "In light of the surge in #Covid19 cases, GoI has decided to postpone #NEETPG2021 exam which was earlier scheduled to be held on Apr 18. Next date to be decided later. Decision has been taken keeping well-being of our young medical students in mind," Vardhan tweeted.

Earlier on Thursday, a group of student doctors moved the Supreme Court asking for postponement of the NEET-PG medical entrance exams. A bench headed by Chief Justice of India SA Bobde was scheduled to hear the matter on Friday.

Kumbh sees 0.7% Covid positivity rate

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

Confirming the fears of the experts that the mega religious congregation of Kumbh in Haridwar would accelerate the pace Covid-19 infection, the authorities on Thursday confirmed that 1,700 people were tested positive for the disease from April 10 to 14 in the Mela area.

The Kumbh Mela which is considered as the biggest religious congregation in the world officially started on April 1.

The medical workers conducted 2,36,751 tests during the five-day period (April 10 to 14) in the Mela area. Out of these, 1,701 samples came out positive for Covid-19, that means 0.7 per cent positivity rate.

It is learnt that in the Kumbh area a number of the Sadhus belonging to different Akhadas and sects have been reported positive for the disease.

The death of Mahamandaleswar Kapil Dev Dass Naga belonging to the Akhil Bharatiya Nirvani Akhada due to Covid-19 has come as a shock among the members of the Akhada. The ascetic belonging to Chitrakoot in Madhya Pradesh was in Haridwar to attend the Kumbh. The ascetic was admitted in a private hospital in Dehradun after he was found positive for Covid-19 in Haridwar on April 12.

Meanwhile the condition of the president of Akhil Bharatiya Akhada Parishad (ABAP), Narendra Giri admitted in All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) Rishikesh is improving. He was admitted in hospital April 12 after testing positive for Covid-19.

The Public Relations Officer (PRO) of AIIMS Rishikesh Harish Thapliyal said that the condition of Swami Narendra Giri is improving and he is on room air and he doesn't have a fever now.

No plan to club rest 4 phases in Bengal: EC

All-party meet called to discuss Covid-19 norms

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Dismissing speculation that the final four phases of the ongoing Assembly elections in West Bengal could be clubbed due to an exponential rise in daily cases of Covid-19 across the country, the Election Commission (EC) on Thursday said there is no plan of clubbing the remaining phases.

EC officials said that the chief electoral officer (CEO) of West Bengal has called an all-party meeting in Kolkata on Friday to discuss adherence to Covid-19 guidelines issued by the poll commission. All political parties have been asked to send one representative for discussion over following Covid-19 related protocol for the last four phases of the poll.

This comes after the ECI, last Friday, sent a letter to all political parties in the fray in the eastern State, mentioning that instances of elections campaigns/meetings, in which social distancing norms, wearing of masks were flouted were brought to its notice.

The letter re-emphasised Covid-19 protocols issued ahead of last October-November's Bihar Assembly elections, as well as by-elections in various States, the first electoral exercise to be conducted since the pandemic began.

The EC has come under fire for scheduling the Assembly polls in West Bengal in eight phases.

Earlier in the day on Thursday, Mahua Moitra of Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee's ruling Trinamool Congress (TMC) slammed the ECI over the scheduling of the polls, calling it "criminal negligence" bordering on manslaughter.

Foreign vax applications to get DCGI decision within 3 days

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The country's top drug regulator, Drug Controller General of India (DCGI), will take a decision on applications seeking approval for restricted emergency use of foreign-produced Covid-19 vaccines within three working days from the date of submission, the Government said on Thursday.

The decision will facilitate quicker access to such foreign vaccines by India and would encourage imports, including that of bulk drug material, optimal utilisation of domestic ones. This will in turn provide a fillip to vaccine manufacturing capacity and total vaccine availability within the country, said the Union Health Ministry in a statement here.

The move comes at a time when India is battling a surge in coronavirus infections with over two lakh cases reported in a single day on Thursday. Recently, the DCGI had approved Sputnik V, a Russian-manufactured jab, the third in the Indian vaccine basket which so far had Covaxin and Covishield.

However, now with growing demand for vaccination for all, the Government has issued the Regulatory Pathway in India for Covid-19 vaccines approved for restricted use by US FDA, EMA, UK MHRA, PMDA Japan or which are listed in WHO Emergency Use Listing (EUL).

As per the proposal, the DCGI shall prepare detailed guidelines specifying regulatory pathway for approval of foreign approved Covid vaccines based on NEGVA recommendations.

"Application can be made by the foreign manufacturer through its Indian subsidiary or through its authorised agent in India (in case it does not have an Indian subsidiary). The DCGI will process such applications for restricted use in emergency situation and take a decision within three working days from date of submission of complete application by the applicant."

Night curfew imposed across State from today

State issues guidelines to check second surge of Covid-19

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

The State Government has issued fresh guidelines in order to check the second surge of Covid-19 in Uttarakhand. According to the guidelines issued by chief secretary Om Prakash, night curfew will be imposed in all districts from 10:30 PM to 5 AM. Employees of industrial units where work is done in shifts, movement of people and goods for emergency operation on national and State highways, those involved in loading and unloading of goods carriage vehicles, those going to their destination after deboarding buses, trains and flights, and those involved in marriage functions will be allowed relaxation during the night curfew.

A maximum of 200 people will be allowed in all religious, political and social events including marriage functions. The SOPs issued by the Central government and guidelines issued by the State will remain applicable in the Kumbh Mela area in Haridwar. Further, all public transport vehicles will carry 50 per cent of their full capacity.

All cinema halls, restaurants, bars and gymnasiums will also function at 50 per cent capacity. Coaching institutes in all the districts will be shut down. Those aged above 65 years, people with comorbidities and those aged below 10 years are advised to venture out of homes only if necessary. Observance of Covid appropriate behaviour will be mandatory in all public places and workplaces. These instructions will be applicable from April 16 till further orders.

Vacant middle seats raise fliers' protection against Covid: Study

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Leaving middle seats vacant could provide airline passengers more protection from the coronavirus that causes Covid-19.

Based on laboratory modelling of exposure to SARS-CoV-2 on single-aisle and twin-aisle aircraft, exposures in scenarios in which the middle seat was vacant were reduced by 23 per cent to 57 per cent, compared with full aircraft occupancy, the researchers, including those from the USA Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) noted.

Lately, airlines have abandoned the pandemic practice of blocking seats to maintain physical distancing between the travelers.

"Physical distancing of airplane passengers, including through policies such as middle seat vacancy, could provide additional reductions in risk for exposure to SARS-CoV-2 on aircraft," the researchers concluded.

The team of researchers from CDC and Kansas State University in the US used a bacteriophage — a virus that infects bacteria — as a surrogate for airborne SARS-CoV-2.

They modelled the relationship between SARS-CoV-

2 exposure and aircraft seating proximity, including full occupancy and vacant middle seat occupancy scenarios.

"Compared with exposures in full occupancy scenarios, relative exposure in vacant middle seat scenarios was reduced by 23 per cent to 57 per cent depending upon the modelling approach," the researchers said.

A 23 per cent exposure reduction was observed for a single passenger who was in the same row and two seats away from the SARS-COV-2 source, rather than in an adjacent middle seat, they said.

When quantifying exposure reduction to a full 120-passenger cabin rather than to a single person, the study predicted exposure reductions ranging from 35 per cent to 39.4 per cent.

RTO considers limiting daily slots for driving licence registration

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

Considering the recent surge in the Covid-19 positive cases, the regional transport office (RTO) of Dehradun is planning to limit the daily slots for the registrations of driving licence. The transport office increased the number of the daily slots for the registration of the learner's licence up to 125 slots in March which was only 90 slots per day till February.

The RTO has even started issuing about 175 slots for the registration of the permanent driving license every day since the last month as opposed to 160 slots before the lockdown last year, as per the officials. However, in order to ensure that Covid-19 norms are being followed in the premises of the transport office, the officials are now considering decreasing the number of slots for the driving license.

The officials stated that hundreds of people visit the premises of the transport office in Rajpur on daily basis and to restrict the risk of contagion there, RTO is initially considering limiting the daily slots for the registration of learner's licence only.

According to the assistant regional transport officer (ARTO), Dwarika Prasad, the transport office is only thinking about the possibility of limiting the number of slots amid the covid scare but nothing has been finalised yet. He said that the officials would take this decision after analysing the situation by the end of this week.

Properties of Khair smugglers impounded by Forest Dept

PNS ■ HALDWANI

Following court orders for attachment of the property of three Khair smugglers, the forest department in Terai east forest division took action to impound the property of the accused.

During December 2020, three persons- Jaspal Singh, Mohan Singh and Mamle Singh- all residents of Bajpur were the main accused in illegal felling of 41 Khair trees along with four other accused in the Gaula range of the forest division. The department formed a special team to arrest the three main accused but they could not be apprehended. The sub divisional officer Dhruv Singh Martoliya informed that since the three main accused have been absconding, the department secured impounding orders from the court. The department seized all the items from their homes and has kept it in the range office. The SDO further informed that there are 18 forest crime cases lodged against the three main accused in three forest divisions. These three notorious Khair smugglers are said to be connected with Khair smugglers in Haryana. Due to them being absconding fearing arrest, not a single case of illegal Khair felling by their ganga has been reported in the three Terai divisions during the past three months.

G'gram admin notifies self paid, Govt paid isolation facilities for Covid patients

PARVESH SHARMA ■ GURUGRAM

Amid the spike in surge of Covid cases, the Gurugram District Magistrate (DC) Dr Yash Garg, on Thursday notified self paid & Government paid isolation facilities that can be used by people with “mild and very mild symptoms”.

The order lists a total of 17 such establishments - 12 self paid and 5 Government.

According to the health officials, most of the corona patients are coming asymptomatic in Gurugram in which the symptoms of the virus are not visible but they are testing positive. On behalf of the Health Department, such patients are advised to stay in isolation in their home.

For home isolation, the patient needs a separate room and separate toilet but some homes do not have enough space for this. For such patients, the district administration has provided isolation facilities at other places, for which the patient will not have to pay any charges. The government will bear the cost of their stay there.

Such isolation facilities are named government paid isolation facilities. If a patient wants more better facilities than the government facility, then he can take advantage of self-paid facilities. The self-paid isolation facilities have a provision of 435 rooms in 12 establishment and their rates are fixed from Rs. 1200 to Rs. 3500 in addition to the tax, which includes three meals a day.

Similarly, there are 102 rooms in 5 government paid isolation facility and each has a fixed rate of Rs.700 to Rs.1200 with tax which will be paid by the government. It also includes 3 meals a day.

Apart from this, the number of Covid-19 cases are increasing day by day in Gurugram.

The district on Thursday recorded 1,434 fresh coronavirus cases, the highest number of positive cases in a single day. The district's COVID toll reached to 372, officials said.

The Covid-19 tally in Gurugram has now risen to 74,856 according to the official daily health bulletin.

A total of 66,743 have been cured and discharged including 722 on Thursday.

Gurugram now has 7,741 active cases, including 7,230 in-home isolation.

Also, the DC on Thursday said, as per fresh directions given by the state government in light of covid surge, further restrictions have been placed on gatherings in the state - maximum 200 people allowed in outdoor weddings, 50 in indoor weddings, & 20 in funerals.

Tributes paid to Girija Shankar Trivedi on his death anniversary

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

Various prominent personalities remembered famous poet, writer and journalist Girija Shankar Trivedi and paid him homage on his 13th death anniversary on Thursday.

Remembering Trivedi, noted singer musician Buddhinaath Mishra said that he was a great teacher and writer of his time and anyone could learn something from his manners alone. Mishra called him a Maharatna of Uttarakhand. Congress leader, Suryakansht Dhasmana and poet, Hemchand Saklani also paid their respects to Trivedi on his death anniversary. Former vice chancellor of Sanskrit University, Sudha Pandey remembered him as an incredible poet. Educationalists Kamala Pant, Lalima Verma, former member of public service commission, Sanjay Sharma and many others also paid their tributes to Trivedi.

Increasing bed capacity main focus: Delhi CM

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Amid increasing number of Covid-19 cases in Delhi, Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal said that the focus of the Delhi Government is to increase the bed capacity and to ensure adequate treatment for the people who require urgent assistance.

The Chief Minister convened a review meeting on Thursday to assess the situation of Coronavirus in Delhi. Several steps taken by the Government to improve the health infrastructure were discussed along with increasing the bed capacity and several other infrastructural requirements in Delhi.

Kejriwal said that the Government and private hospitals should aim towards taking over more facilities. He suggested officials that a time-bound preparation plan should be prepared to monitor the increase and availability of beds.

In the meeting, Kejriwal also said that the two MCD hospitals - Hindu Rao and Swami Dayanand Hospital should be declared as fully Covid, which will further add 900 beds for the treatment of patients.

"There should be full cooperation among the agencies to tackle the pandemic effectively and no politics should be done on this matter. Delhi government will provide every possible help to the MCDs hospitals including funds," he said.

"I came across a situation recently, where an asymptomatic patient was not admitted and he created a ruckus there. This situation should never happen. We must issue an order to allow directing the patients to our COVID Care Centres (CCCs) to make the patient feel safe and in the care of the doctors. More and more patients should be shifted to these centres to cater to very critical patients in the hospitals," he said.

Kejriwal said, "Secondly, all the helpline numbers of the hospitals which are also mentioned on our app should remain fully functional. The hospitals must be directed to make people available 24x7 for providing assistance through the helpline numbers. Thirdly, all the hospitals must be directed to ensure an adequate flow of information on the real-time availability of beds. This data should be updated every day."

In the meeting, special focus was laid on the three-tier arrangement of health infrastructure in Delhi, of which first is home isolation and second is Covid Care Centres, and third is an increase in beds and facilities in hospitals in Delhi.

Additionally, the Delhi government has requested the Centre to increase and make 2700 beds from Central government hospitals available for the treatment of Coronavirus patients. Currently, around 15048 beds have been made available as COVID beds, of which more than 5000 beds are empty. The availability of 2700 beds will further increase the COVID bed capacity in Delhi to around 20000.

There has been a dearth of Remdesivir injections in Delhi. It is expected that 18000 injections will be made available in Delhi by April 18. However, realizing the gravity of the situation, Kejriwal directed the officials to prepare an action plan to ensure that there is no dearth and no stocking of injections at any facility in Delhi.

Along with this, the current number of ambulances available with the Delhi government is 629, and the current response time is 14 minutes, with no refusals recorded, he was informed.

All linkages to the hospitals in Delhi such as banquets and hotels are fully functional to provide services and treatment to Corona infected patients.

"If the labs where the tests are being conducted are facing issues, the sample size must be reduced to enable them to issue results within 24 hours," he directed the officials.

The health officials also apprised the chief minister that vaccine stock is available for the next 6-7 days..

Consider journalists frontline workers, need jobs on priority basis: Delhi Govt to Centre

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

The Delhi Government has written a letter to the Central Government on Thursday urging it to consider journalists as the frontline workers who need to be vaccinated on a priority basis.

The AAP Government noted that journalists have more risk of getting infected by Covid-19 due to fieldwork. Therefore, a vaccine for them is necessary.

In its letter, the Government noted that the mass media in all its forms is a vital bridge between the Government and the public. "A group of workers that have been in the forefront with the health workers in the most difficult times is that of media personnel. Throughout the pandemic, the media has continued to play an active role in keeping the people informed about the disease, its consequences, prevention, efforts of the health and other concerned departments and what the people are expected to do to keep themselves safe," it said.

The Government also noted that journalists' role as an important ally cannot be denied. "Going out in the field, visiting hospitals to gather information, interviewing patients/attendants and their treating healthcare providers exposes them to the hazard of infection same as the other frontline workers. It is requested that this personnel be placed in the category of frontline workers so that protection of the vaccination can be offered to them," it added.

On Wednesday, Kejriwal tweeted, "Journalists are reporting from most adverse situations. They shud be treated as frontline workers and shud be allowed vaccination on priority. Delhi govt is writing to centre in this regard."

Civic bodies to run mega sanitisation drive

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

In view of the increasing cases of Corona, all three Municipal Corporations of Delhi announced to run a mega sanitisation campaign in Delhi.

In a joint Press conference, mayors along with Delhi Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) president Aadesh Gupta on Thursday said that in view of the increasing cases of Corona, the three mayors of Delhi wrote to the Delhi Government, saying that the Municipal Corporation is ready to set up isolation centers in their schools and community service centers.

The BJP president said that for Corona patients, 20 beds in Swami Dayanand Hospital of East DMC, 200 to 400 beds in Hindu Rao Hospital and Balak Ram Hospital of North DMC and 200 beds in Tilak Nagar Hospital and Kalka Hospital of South DMC can be arranged.

"Special arrangements have been made by the corporation to lift bio-medical waste in the areas where citizens are in home isolation so that they do not face any inconvenience. There are 130 corona vaccination centers in the jurisdiction of three municipal corporations that will be extended in the coming days so that the vaccination campaign can be expedited further.

The doctors of the Corporation will provide counseling to the citizens during home isolation," he said.

Gupta said that North DMC has requested Delhi Government to make Hindu Rao Hospital a dedicated COVID hospital. He said that the three municipal corporations of Delhi are fully prepared for every situation.

Gupta said that to prevent corona infection, the Municipal Corporation of Delhi will conduct a campaign for sanitization in all areas during the weekend curfew. He said that during this campaign sanitation work will be done in all markets, streets and wards.

Take adequate precautions while on duty, cops directed

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Following the rise in Covid-19 cases in the national Capital, the Delhi Police Commissioner S N Shrivastava on Thursday, through a video message, asked the personnel of the force to take adequate precautions, maintain social distancing and wear N-95 or 3-ply surgical masks to protect themselves.

Shrivastava told his personnel to be extra cautious and follow the Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs). In the video, the CP also said that the new wave of coronavirus was far more serious in nature than the previous one.

Stressing that the Delhi

Police has played a vital role in fighting the pandemic, the CP said that in the last few days, some police personnel have been found to be coronavirus positive and this number is increasing, which is a cause of worry. According to the data provided by the police for this year, 73 personnel tested positive for COVID-19 in January, 33 in February, 24 in March and 390 in April.

Shrivastava asked the personnel of the force to take adequate precautions while discharging their duty especially during interactions with each other, conducting verification drive, issuing challans, at picket duty or during hospital visits, so that the chances of getting infected remains less.

He said if any personnel of a unit is found COVID positive, they can contact senior officers of their unit as well as those at the headquarters so that proper treatment can be ensured and beds can be made available for them in the hospital. He also told them to not be "careless" even if they have been vaccinated. As part of the precautionary measure, Shrivastava asked his force to avoid wearing masks made of thin fabric and instead stressed on using N-95 masks or 3-ply surgical masks.

"Wear N-95 or 3-ply surgical mask. Avoid wearing a mask made of thin cloth as it may not be sufficient. Maintain social distancing while working and sanitise your workplace as well as your vehicle," he said.

He asked the personnel to wash hands with soap constantly and take immunity boosters like Ayurvedic Kadha, Vitamin C and zinc tablets according to doctor's advice. To stay healthy, he asked his personnel to exercise and practice yoga. "We have to take care of ourselves and our family members. Only if you are safe, you will be able to look after the safety of others," he said.

Delhi blaze guts 50 shanties, nobody hurt

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

A fire broke out in shanties located in southeast Delhi's Noor Nagar on Wednesday afternoon. The officials said no injuries have been reported so far in the incident.

According to the Delhi Fire Services (DFS), a call regarding the fire in Noor Nagar was received at 3.13 pm after which nine fire tenders were sent to the spot. "The fire has been brought under control," said DFS. "Local NGOs were roped in to assist the rescue process. Moreover, civic agencies were duly informed regarding the incident. Apart from fire tender vehicles, staff from BSES, CAT ambulance, and concerned SDM had also reached on the spot," said a senior police official.

"Around 40 to 50 jhuggis were burnt completely in the fire, and in preliminary enquiry, the main cause of the fire is suspected to be a sparking in the electricity supplying cables in the jhuggis. However, no injury has been reported in the incident," he said.

"Further, food and temporary shelter in the nearby

Sarvodaya Kanya Vidyalaya have been provided to the victims. Apart from this, legal action is being taken into the matter," said the police official.

Viral wave sweeps across Doon, Haridwar

Nine deaths, 2,220 new Covid patients reported in U'khand on Thursday

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

The second wave of the contagion of novel Coronavirus (Covid-19) in Uttarakhand is getting more intense and fatal. The state health department reported 2,220 cases of the disease on Thursday which is highest this year and is on verge of breaking the highest ever number of patients of the disease recorded in one single day. On September 19 last year, 2,078 cases of the disease were reported which is the record in terms of daily cases of the disease.

On Thursday nine deaths from the disease were reported by the state health department. The state now has 1,16,244 (cumulative) cases of the disease and the death toll from the disease now stands at 1802.

The authorities discharged 397 patients from different hospitals of the state following their recovery from the disease on Thursday. A total of 99,777 patients have recovered from the disease in the state and the recovery percentage has now dropped to 85.23 and the sample positivity rate is 3.62 per cent.

The provisional state capital Dehradun and Haridwar districts are witnessing an explosion of Covid-19. In Dehradun 914 cases of the disease were reported while 613 new patients surfaced in Haridwar district on Thursday. These two districts are having almost 70 per cent active cases of the state.

The authorities also reported 156 patients from Nainital, 131 from Udham Singh Nagar, 105 from Pauri, 79 from Tehri, 55 from Almora, 49 from Rudraprayag, 29 from Pithoragarh, 26 from Champawat, 25 from Chamoli, 23 from Uttarkashi and 15 from Bageshwar.

The health department reported the death of three patients of the disease from the Government Doon Medical College (GDMC) hospital Dehradun on Thursday. Similarly two patients each died at Kailash hospital Dehradun and Ujala hospital Kashipur on the day. One patient each was reported dead at Himalayan hospital Jollygrant and All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) Rishikesh on Thursday.

The state now has 12,484 active patients of the disease. Dehradun continues to be at the top of the table of active cases of the disease with 5,151 patients, Haridwar has 3,612, Nainital 1,269, Udham Singh Nagar 601, Pauri 531, Tehri 470, Almora 238, Rudraprayag 129, Champawat 125, Pithoragarh 124, Bageshwar 109, Chamoli 72 and

Cong leader Qazi +ve for Covid-19

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

The Congress MLA from Manglaur Qazi Nizamuddin has been found infected with the Covid-19. The Congress leader took to social media to inform about his condition on Thursday morning. Later talking to The Pioneer Nizamuddin said that his sample was found positive for Covid-19. He said that his condition is stable and asked those who came into his contact recently to get them tested for Covid-19.

Uttarkashi 53 active cases of Covid-19 each.

In the vaccination drive 34,552 people were vaccinated in different parts of the state on Thursday. In the state 2,11,763 people have been fully vaccinated so far as they have received both the first and second dose of the vaccine.

The Chief Operations Officer (COO) of state Covid-19 control room, Dr Abhishek Tripathi said that 557 vaccine sessions were organised in different parts of the state on Thursday.

U'khand plans to reserve 25% beds in private hospitals

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

In view of the spurt in the number of Covid-19 cases in Uttarakhand, the state government could reserve 25 per cent of beds in private hospitals for treatment of Covid-19 patients. The state health department has sent a proposal regarding this to the state administration.

Combating Covid-19

It is pertinent to mention here that the state government had reserved beds in the private hospitals for Covid-19 patients last year also when the cases of the disease were at peak. The contagion of the disease has also reached an alarming level now and all the government hospitals are full with the patients. It is learnt that the government could also fix maximum charges which the private hospitals can take from the covid-19 patients.

The Director General (DG) of state health services Dr Tripti Bahuguna said that the department would send a proposal for reservation of beds in private hospitals to the state administration and a final decision on it would be taken by administration.

Salt By-election

Harish Rawat hits campaign trail on last day

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

Braving the post Covid-19 weakness, the former chief minister and general secretary of All India Congress Committee (AICC) Harish Rawat plunged himself into the election campaign in Salt on Thursday. The Congress heavy weight addressed three well attended public meetings in Salt where the by election is slated on April 17. Thursday was the last day of the campaigning and Rawat tried to strike an emotional chord with the voters. Addressing a meeting at Shyalde, the former CM said that Congress party does the politics of development while BJP is only concerned with politics of slogans, religion and caste. He listed the works undertaken by his government and attacked the BJP government for putting all these schemes on a back burner. On an emotional note Rawat said that the disease had shook him so much that he believed that end is near but the blessings of God has made him stand up again. He said that people should vote for Congress candidate Ganga Pancholi for all round development of the area. The in charge of Uttarakhand Congress Devendra Yadav, Pradesh Congress Committee (PCC) president Pritam Singh, former speaker Govind Singh Kunjwal and other senior leaders of the Congress party also addressed these meetings.

CM, top BJP leaders campaign for Jeena in Salt

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

Chief minister Tirath Singh Rawat, Union Education minister Ramesh Pokhriyal 'Nishank' Bharatiya Janata Party state in-charge Dushyant Kumar Gautam and BJP State president Madan Kaushik among other party leaders campaigned for the party candidate Mahesh Jeena ahead of the Salt assembly bypoll to be held on April 17. Addressing a large public gathering on Thursday, the CM elicited votes of the people for the BJP candidate to enable completion of the works started by the late MLA Surendra Singh Jeena. He said that it was unfortunate that the bypoll had to be held following the demise of the sitting MLA but added that the BJP is committed to fulfilling the promises made by the MLA to the public and completing the works he had undertaken for the development of the constituency and welfare of the people.

Union minister Ramesh Pokhriyal 'Nishank', BJP State in-charge Dushyant Kumar Gautam, party's state head Madan Kaushik, former CM Vijay Bahuguna and other party leaders also sought support for the party candidate and the brother of the late MLA. State ministers Dhan Singh Rawat and Rekha Arya were also present on the occasion.

Govt dithering in dealing with Covid-19: Cong

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

Terming the situation of the pandemic of Covid-19 in Uttarakhand as highly critical, the state unit of Congress party has said that the preparation of the state government to tackle the disease is inadequate. The party has also alleged that the life saving injection Remdesivir is not available for the patients and it is being black-marketed. On Thursday a delegation of leaders of Uttarakhand Congress met the Director General (DG) of state health services, Dr Tripti Bahuguna and demanded immediate action so that the pandemic is effectively combated. The delegation led by Vice President of state Congress Surya Kant Dhasmana also submitted a memorandum to the DG on the occasion. Dhasmana said that when reports of third and fourth waves of the Covid-19 were coming from other states, Uttarakhand should have got itself prepared for the second wave but it failed to take any preventive measures. He added that the situation now is such that the ICU beds and ventilators are not available in both the government and the private hospitals and increasing numbers of patients have made things out of control.

Dhasmana claimed that Remdesivir injection is not available from the last two days and now reports of black marketing of this life saving injection are coming. He asked the DG about the existence of any monitoring mechanism for this injection. He demanded that the government should immediately declare dedicated Covid-19 hospitals and set up a minimum per day tariff for the private hospitals for treatment of Covid-19 patients. Dhasmana suggested that a portion of this tariff should be paid from the Chief Minister's relief fund. He threatened that the Congress party would be forced to start an agitation if things don't improve soon. The Congress leaders Mahesh Joshi and Girish Bhadri accompanied Dhasmana.

Women of SHGs warn of protest against State Govt

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

The Uttarakhand government's decision to involve private contractors for the packaging and supply of take home ration (THR) would lead to the unemployment of lakhs of women across the State. By inviting tenders to handle the supply of THR to the Anganwadi centres in the State, the government has made its move towards snatching the livelihood of several rural women. The representatives of Nari Shakti Swaroopa Mahila Pradesh Sangathan (NSSMPS) stated this while addressing the media persons here on Thursday. According to the president of the association, Geeta Maurya, the association came to know last week that the department of Women Empowerment and Child Development (WECD) invited e-tenders from private contractors on April 8 for the packaging and supply of THR.

"We were quite surprised to know about this tender and went to meet the chief minister Tirath Singh Rawat with an application. As he was not available at that time, we approached the CM again on April 10 and he assured us that the government would not take any decision that would affect our livelihood. The previous invite for e-tenders was postponed at that time on the CM's directions but a notice was soon released by the government that stated that the process of e-tendering which was supposed to commence on April 13 would now start on April 20," said Maurya.

The secretary of the association, Rita Negi said that the women of SHGs are working for THR packaging and supply since the year 2014 when the rate of malnourishment was quite high in the State. She averred that the consistent work of women of SHGs has contributed a lot in bringing down the malnourishment level in the State. According to her, over 1.50 lakh women have become involved with this work in the last eight years under the National Rural Livelihood Mission (NRLM) in which, over 30,000 women belong to the Dehradun district alone.

She stated, "On one hand, the government talks about women empowerment and promotes the motto of vocal for local campaign but on the other hand, it wants to hire big contractors just for eight days work by snatching the employment of lakhs of rural women. Several women have taken loans to carry on this work. Many are supporting their families during the pandemic when their family members lost their jobs last year. The livelihood of hundreds of widows, single mothers and divorced women is dependent on this work. What kind of women empowerment is this where the government is taking away women's jobs?" The women of SHGs asserted that if the CM does not withdraw this decision, they will start a protest against the State government from April 21.

India foiled Chinese bid to change status quo at LAC: CDS Rawat

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Despite China adopting "shove and push" tactics, India foiled these bids and prevented a change in status quo at the Line of Actual Control (LAC), Chief of Defence Staff (CDS) General Bipin Rawat said here on Thursday.

Making this assertion in his lecture at the Raisina Dialogue, he also said the country proved it will not get pushed under any pressure in apparent reference to the nearly ten-month long stand-offs in Eastern Ladakh. He also said China is using its military might and conveying the message it is "my way or no way."

Rawat said China felt that it will be able to compel nations to give in to its demands by doing a little bit of "shove and push" as it has superior armed forces because of technological advantage.

"But, I think India stood firm on the northern borders and we have proven that we will not get pushed," he said at the virtual conference.

He said India was able to get support of the international community by standing firm in preventing the attempt of changing the status quo in the region.

"They tried to ensure that they can change the status quo by the use of disruptive technologies without using force... They thought that India, as a nation, will succumb to the pressures that they have been putting on us because of the technological advantage that they have," he said, adding that did not happen.

The CDS said the international community came to India's support to say that "yes there is an international base-line rule order which every nation must follow. That is what we have been able to achieve."

His remarks came in the backdrop of face-offs at several friction points in Eastern Ladakh since May last year. The tension mounted after a violent brawl in June in the Galwan valley between the troops of India and China leaving 20 Indian soldiers including the commanding officer dead. More than 40 Chinese soldiers were also killed but China is yet to officially make public the number of casualties.

As a result of a series of military and diplomatic talks, India and China completed withdrawal of troops and weapons from the North and South banks of Pangong lake in February. The two sides are now engaged in talks to extend the disengagement process to the remaining friction points.

Rawat said "They feel that they have arrived and they have a superior armed force because of the technological advantage that they have," He also said "They have been able to create disruptive technologies which can paralyse systems of the adversary, and therefore, they feel that just by doing a little bit of shove and push, they will be able to compel nations to give in to their demands."

Referring to modernisation of the armed forces, the CDS described the F-35 fighter jets of the US as a state of the art platform but added that he was not sure whether the US will share the technology with India.

"What they have offered us is a lower version in the F-series," he said.

At the conference, Chief of Staff, Joint Staff of Japan Self Defence Forces, General Koji Yamazaki said China is attempting to unilaterally change the international order, and that it is necessary for cooperation among like-minded countries in areas of disruptive technologies and counter the "grey zone tactics".

He said China does not recognise the legitimate interests of Japan and other countries in the region and such an approach will heighten tension, adding rules-based order is necessary for stability in the Indo-Pacific region. Yamazaki also noted that any probable contingency in Taiwan directly impacts the defence of Japan.

Chief of Defence Force of Australia General Angus Campbell said the "grey zone tactics" are a way to nibble away at territory. "We see this in the South China Sea. It is very challenging to respond without

Indo-Pacific epicentre of strategic contest: Oz PM

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

With China flexing its muscle in the Indo-Pacific region and objecting to the Quad nations presence there, Australian Prime Minister Scott Morrison said here on Thursday the region has become the epicentre of strategic competition.

Making this observation in the ongoing Raisina Dialogue here, he said in this backdrop like-minded nations need to act more consistently and cohesively to protect their shared interests in the face of multiple challenges.

His remarks came as the Quad nations including India, US, Japan and Australia some months back conducted the Malabar series of naval exercises off the Indian coast. China has objected to it saying the Quad will lead to militarisation of the Indo-Pacific region.

Without mentioning any country, the Australian Prime Minister also referred to the growing tensions over territorial claims and the unprecedented pace of military modernisation in the region.

"Democratic sovereign nations are being threatened and coerced by foreign interference. Cyber attacks are becoming more sophisticated, including from State-sponsored actors," he said at the virtual conference.

"Economic coercion is being employed as a tool of statecraft. Liberal rules and norms are under assault and there is a great polarisation that our world is at risk of moving towards," Morrison said.

He said a polarisation is taking place between authoritarian regimes and liberal democracies, adding that a liberal democracy and a liberal set of values underpin the global order that has delivered so much to the world.

He said like-minded nations need to act more consistently and cohesively in protecting their shared interests. "The Indo-Pacific is the region that will shape our prosperity, our security and our destiny, individually and collectively," Morrison said. "The Indo-Pacific is the epicentre of strategic competition," he added.

Morrison also said the corona pandemic has provided a fresh perspective in creating new opportunities to build a durable strategic balance in the Indo-Pacific region.

Incidentally, on Wednesday Indian Navy Chief Admiral Karambir Singh underlined the high level of synergy amongst the navies of the Quadilateral countries and said these forces can come together in a plug and play mechanism in case of a military need in the Indo-Pacific region.

Participating in the Dialogue inaugurated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday, Admiral Philip Scot Davidson, Commander of the US Indo-Pacific Command, identified the Quad as a strategic opportunity diplomatically, military and economically, as he designated China as "the greatest strategic threat" to rules-based international order.

The two Navy top commanders during the conclave held virtually discussed the potential of the Quad and agreed that there are many new spheres of engagement where the grouping can come together and also include more like-minded countries.

Asked about the future of Quad military in terms of joint patrolling and others, the Indian Navy chief said the Quad started as a consultative grouping and has evolved and grown organically. "There is no dearth of issues that it can handle and we have a robust engagement with the navies of all Quad members," he said.

The Navy chief said the Quad navies already enjoy high degree of interoperability and highlighted that the Malabar exercise started with the US in 1992.

Similarly, he pointed out that India has been carrying bilateral naval exercises with Japan since 2012 and with the Australian Navy for the last six years. "So if an opportunity arises, we have the capability and capacity to come together in almost a plug and play mechanism," he said.

The US Navy commander said the Quad has tremendous potential for cooperation, going far beyond the security sphere. "The vaccine approach is a powerful signal to the region that the Quad is working for the common good outside these four countries," he said.

Noting that the Quad has gained momentum, Davidson said, "It's a diamond of democracies in region... We should think about it in broadest possible terms."

He also said China seeks to exploit the current global pandemic with increased military aggression throughout the Indo-Pacific. He added that China's intent is to undermine international law and norms.

Make plans to counter future challenges, IAF told

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh on Thursday urged the IAF to draw long-term plans to counter any threat and appreciated the role of the Service in prompt, timely and befitting response during the stand-off at the Line of Actual Control (LAC) in Eastern Ladakh.

Making this observation while inaugurating the first bi-annual IAF Commanders' Conference of the year here, Rajnath asked the IAF brass to fashion strategies for capability enhancement to counter future threats. He appreciated the critical focus of IAF towards reorienting for the future.

Speaking about the ongoing Covid-19 pandemic, the Minister appreciated the role played by the IAF in assisting other Government agencies in their task.

Referring to changing international geopolitics, he observed that the perceptible shift of focus from Trans-Atlantic to Trans-Pacific has become more obvious in the recent past.

Changing dimensions of war would now include advanced technologies, asymmetric capabilities and information dominance, and it was very important that the IAF's preparations for the future must include these aspects, he said.

Reiterating Prime Minister Narendra Modi's vision of 'Self Reliance', Rajnath stressed on the need to promote Atmanirbharta in defence infrastructure.

He added the IAF's order for Tejas Light Combat Aircraft (LCA) would result in a substantial boost to the domestic defence industry and will be a game changer from the indigenisation perspective. The order for the LCA to be manufactured by the Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL) is more than Rs 50,000 crores for 100 jets.

He urged the Commanders to continue their efforts for achieving even greater results in the field of indigenous defence production and aircraft maintenance.

He added that national security and economic development are complementary aspects of national policy.

Rajnath stressed on the need to continue to work proactively towards the integration process currently underway, implementation of the joint logistics plan and to enhance synergy in areas of joint planning and operations.

He assured the Commanders of the whole-hearted support from the Ministry of Defence in achieving the goal of being a potent Strategic Aerospace Force. The Commanders' Conference will conclude on April 16.

The status of strengthening current combat capabilities and the action plan for making IAF a future-ready combat force would be examined. Issues pertaining to systems, reforms and restructuring for ensuring more efficient processes across all domains and optimised operational training will also be discussed.

SC asks CBI to conduct further probe into role of erring cops in ISRO espionage case

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court Thursday ordered that the report of a high-level committee on the role of erring police officials in 1994 espionage case relating to ISRO scientist Nambi Narayanan be given to the CBI and directed the agency to conduct further investigation on the issue.

The apex court said the CBI may treat the panel's findings as part of preliminary investigation and asked the agency to submit its report to the court within three months.

A bench headed by Justice A M Khanwilkar said the report of the three-member panel, headed by former top court judge Justice (retired) D K Jain, be kept in a sealed cover and it should not be published.

The top court rejected the submission of former DGP Siby Mathews, who was then heading the SIT probe team, that he was not heard by the committee while Narayanan was heard.

The bench, also comprising Justices Dinesh Maheshwari and Krishna Murari, said the committee was not to adjudicate the matter but it had to go through circumstantial evidence and form a prima facie view on the acts of omission and commission of erring officials.

The apex court was hearing the Centre's plea seeking consideration of the report filed by the committee regarding the role of erring police officials in espionage case relating to Narayanan, who had been acquitted and was eventually awarded Rs 50 lakh compensation by the top court.

On April 5, the Centre had moved the top court seeking urgent hearing and consideration of the panel's report terming it as a "national issue".

The apex court had appointed the panel on September 14, 2018 while directing the Kerala government to cough up Rs 50 lakh compensation for compelling Narayanan to undergo "immense humiliation".

It had ordered setting up of the committee to take appropriate steps against the erring officials for causing "tremendous harassment" and "immeasurable anguish" to Narayanan and had directed the Centre and state government to nominate one officer each in the panel.

Terming the police action against the ex-scientist of the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) as a "psycho-pathological treatment", the apex court had in September 2018 said that his "liberty and dignity", basic to his human rights, were jeopardised as he was taken into custody and, eventually, despite all the glory of the past, was compelled to face "cynical abhorrence".

Govt relaxes rules for renewal of OCI cards

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Centre on Thursday eased out many conditions related to the re-issue of OCI (Overseas Citizen of India) cards. Union Home Ministry relaxed the mandatory renewal of OCI card along with the issue of new passport renewal of other countries. The government also relaxed norms of renewal of OCI card to a person who attained the age of 20 years also.

Presently, the OCI card is required to be re-issued each time a new passport is issued up to 20 years of age and once after completing 50 years of age, in view of biological changes in the face of the applicant. With a view to facilitating the OCI card-holders, it has now been decided by the Government of India to dispense with this requirement.

A person who has got registration as an OCI cardholder prior to attaining the age of 20 years will have to get the OCI card re-issued only once when a new passport is issued after his/her completing 20 years of age, so as to capture his/ her facial features on attaining adulthood. If a person has obtained registration as an OCI cardholder after attaining the age of 20 years, there will be no requirement of re-issue of an OCI card.

Exposure to higher levels of air pollution likely to increase severity of Covid

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Exposure to higher levels of air pollution is likely to increase the severity of Covid-19 among people suffering from respiratory conditions such as asthma or chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), a study has warned.

Researchers from the University of Cincinnati in the US found that a one-unit increase in particulate matter 2.5 was associated with a 60 per cent higher chance of hospitalisation for Covid-19 patients with pre-existing respiratory disease.

Particulate matter less or equal to 2.5 micrometers refers to a mixture of tiny particles and droplets in the air that are two-and-one half microns or less in width.

For patients without respiratory disease, no association was observed, revealed the findings published online in the scholarly journal Respiratory Medicine.

"Particulate matter is very small, small enough to be inhaled deep into the lungs, they cross into the blood and also affect other organ systems. Air pollution as a result of emissions from automobiles, factories or other sources is a generator of particulate matter," Angelico Mendy, MD, Assistant Professor of environmental and public health sciences, at the varsity's College of Medicine.

Some allegations against judges are shockingly false, says SC

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Thursday said some of the allegations made against judges are so "shockingly false" that if there had been no security of tenure, they could have been easily "knocked out".

The top court favoured fixed tenure of two or more years for ad-hoc judges if they are appointed in high courts to reduce the backlog of pending cases.

A special bench headed by Chief Justice S A Bobde said, "Position of judge has to be made secure. I tell you, we have seen allegations against judges which are shockingly false. Yes, some of them are shockingly false. You can easily knock out a judge if there is no security. There has to be security of tenure for ad-hoc judges".

A bench, also comprising Justices Sanjay Kishan Kaul and Surya Kant, which was hearing arguments on the modalities of appointments of ad-hoc judges, reserved verdict on a plea filed by NGO Lok Prahari seeking appointment of additional judges in the high courts under Article 224A of the Constitution in order to reduce the pendency of cases.

Article 224-A of Constitution says that "the Chief Justice of a High Court for any State may at any time, with the previous consent of the President, request any person who has held the office of a Judge of that Court or of any other High Court to sit and act as a Judge of the High Court for that State".

Justice Kaul said he concurs with the views of the CJI as every time a judge is appointed, frivolous complaints are made and the court cannot put the entire system of appointment of ad-hoc judges in question.

"Ad-hoc judges cannot be made vulnerable," the bench said, adding that too much fine-tuning may lead to losing the objective behind the appointment process.

The top court also rejected the submission of senior advocate Vikas Singh and some of other lawyers appearing in the matter that many of the former judges may not be interested in taking the job as they may be more interested in other lucrative fields like arbitration.

"We think this decision should be left to the former judges. We cannot decide for them. The chief justice will definitely discuss with the retired judge which is proposed to be appointed as ad-hoc judge. If the retired judge thinks that he has something better to do, then he can very well say no to the appointment," the bench said.

The CJI also brushed aside the argument that high court chief justices may not be able to hear important matters, if ad-hoc judges are appointed.

NGT prepones 2021 summer vacation due to exponential surge in Covid-19

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The National Green Tribunal on Thursday preponed its summer vacation for 2021 in the light of exponential surge in Covid-19 cases.

An office order issued by the NGT authorities said that the earlier notified summer vacation from June 1, 2021, to June 30, 2021 stands cancelled and shall be working for the tribunal.

In lieu of the same, the period from April 19, 2021, to May 18, 2021 (both days inclusive) shall be observed as summer vacation for all the benches, it said.

"In the light of the sudden and exponential surge in COVID-19 cases, the competent authority has pleased to modify the calendar with respect to summer vacations to be observed by all the benches of the National Green Tribunal.

India, France sign agreement for cooperation on Gaganyaan mission

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Space agencies of India and France on Thursday signed an agreement for cooperation for the former's first human space mission, Gaganyaan, a move that will enable Indian flight physicians to train at French facilities.

French space agency CNES said under the agreement, equipment developed by it, tested and still operating aboard the International Space Station (ISS) will be made available to Indian crews.

The CNES will also be supplying fireproof carry bags made in France to shield equipment from shocks and radiation, it said.

The agreement was announced during French Foreign Affairs Minister Jean-Yves Le Drian's visit to the Indian Space Research Organisation's (ISRO) headquarters in Bengaluru.

Centre urged to restart distribution of free food grains

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Following the second wave of Covid-19, a few State Governments including Rajasthan, Kerala and Uttarakhand as well as MPs from NCP, TMC, CPI and CPI-M have urged the Centre to restart distribution of free food grains to 810 million poor people under the Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Ann Yojana (PMGKAY), which was launched last year during the first wave of the pandemic. Under the scheme, the Centre distributed 5 kg rice or wheat per person and one kg of pulses per family covered under the National Food Security Act from April-November 2020.

With various States imposing partial lockdowns and curfews due to a sharp rise in cases in the second wave of the pandemic, the need for providing food security to the poor is being felt again by some State Governments.

Ample stock of oxygen available in country to tackle Covid: Centre

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Amid growing demands for medical oxygen in the country, the Centre on Thursday assured that sufficient stocks of oxygen are available in the country even as it has started the mapping of sources for supply of medical oxygen to the affected States to ensure its uninterrupted supply.

The States with greater needs of oxygen are Maharashtra, Gujarat, Madhya Pradesh, Uttar Pradesh, Delhi, and Chhattisgarh. Besides, there is more consumption of medical oxygen in Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, Punjab, and Rajasthan.

The Union Health Ministry said that the present oxygen stocks are more than 50 thousand metric tonnes in the country. In a statement here, it said that the country's daily production capacity of oxygen is more than seven thousand metric tonnes and the production capacity has further scaled up.

The Central Government has asked the States to make rational use of medical oxygen and avoid wastage to fulfill the growing demands.

An Empowered Group in this regard has also initiated action to ensure the sufficient availability of medical oxygen. The Government assured that the surplus oxygen available with the steel plants is also being utilised as per the need. States have also been asked to set up Control Rooms to ensure a smooth supply of oxygen to the districts.

The Government has initiated several measures to ensure the supply of medical oxygen to various affected States.

TMC men urinate in BJP leader’s mouth: Sources

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

With reports of electoral violence breaking records with each passing phase the latest one came from East Midnapore where alleged Trinamool Congress cadres urinated in the mouth of a block BJP leader Shyamsundar Das, BJP sources said adding the victim was beaten up too.

Das has been hospitalised at Mecheda town, sources in the saffron party said. The TMC however denied the involvement of its party men. Elsewhere at violence-torn Nanoor constituency in Birbhum district local Trinamool leader Nurman Sheikh on Wednesday evening openly threatened CPI(M) candidate Shyamali Pradhan with chopping of the hands of Left voters. Pradhan is a sitting MLA too.

Nurman accosted Pradhan at Agartar village in Agartar village in Nanoor constituency when she went their campaigning. “Why have come here... you cannot campaign here ... there is no CPI(M) here ... we will not allow them (Left voters) to go and vote ... and if they do their hands will be chopped off,” he was heard telling

Incidentally barely a day before a similar threat came from Birbhum TMC president Anubrata Mondal who referred to earlier incidents of violence and murder saying “you are trying to stop me but there is no point doing so ... murders had taken place in 2011, 2014, 2019 ... murders will take place this time also.”

He was referring to a showcase notice issued to him by the Election Commission to explain his conduct regarding an earlier threat issued to BJP saying “they will be beaten away from this area.”

Meanwhile, hours after coming out of a 48-hour ban from campaigning for using violent languages BJP candidate from Bongaon Rahul Sinha seemed to return to his elements on Thursday referring once again to the Cooch Behar police firing and threatening there will be more such firing to ensure peaceful voting.

Quoting Police Observer Vivek Dubey he said, “I will once again say that the central forces should resort to firing if there anyone tries to capture booths ... in the firing death is not a big question ... the point is you have to ensure free and fair election.

Political differences make friends foes in Bengal

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ BAGULA/NADIA

Jehanara Khatoon and Alpana Biswas are two great friends. Their husbands are not. While Jehenara’s husband Kamran is a committed Trinamool Congress worker, Biswas’ husband Aroop is a “comrade-turned-pracharak.”

Such is the intensity of their hatred that one suspects that Kamran had a hand in Biswas’ tank being poisoned last December killing fishes worth about a lakh of rupees. All for political rivalry.

Whereas till a few years ago the two families had great dealings. “Both belonged to the Left and both were happy... After Mamata Banerjee came to power her men bought over the minority people here with posts and other facilities ... Kamran joined the TMC.

As the rivalry began the organizational base of CPI(M) shrank “not because we were disliked by the people but because they would not allow us to work politically ... if you join a rally they will fine you often in lakhs ... insult your sister ... or even kill you ... gradually the Left workers were immobilized as the TMC had a field day ...”Still we gave a fight in 2013 panchayat elections and even 2016 Assembly polls ... but they would not let our men vote ... we would sit back home and they would cast our votes ... as the CPI(M) faded the vacuum that was filled by the BJP which came with leaders like Dilip Ghosh who prescribed eye-for-an-eye ... that the people lapped up and the whole village became BJP,” Biswas a member of the Matua community says, adding the TMC has filled the area with corruption, cut money and crime.

Curiously “both the TMC and the BJP are vying for Matua votes but when it comes to the ground level minorities are preferred to the Matuas because they vote in block,” says Swapan Bhowmik a social worker adding how “communalization of Bengal has taken place in the past 5-10 years.”

At Hatishala village Naresh Mandal a local says, “For my sister’s marriage I had to take loan of Rs 2 lakh from a bank at Bagula

(a nearby panchayat). The local TMC leader managed it for me and took a whopping Rs 75,000 out of that.”

Ipschita a school teacher from Mayurhat says how she had to shell out Rs 5 lakh for the job adding her sister a nurse had to give Rs 2 lakh for a temporary job at a hospital at Ranaghat.

Abdul Karim a local from Majdia says he has job card but is seldom given work in the 100-days work scheme. “If they get me to sign there for 50 days, they will give me payment for 10 days ... rest will be appropriated by their men,” he says. And what if he takes it up with the BDO. “Babu then you will not be there to be seen the next day... even the BDO Saheb does not have a say... they have the power to make him do sit-ups in public.”

Anima a 75-year-old widow from Shahpur says how she had to give Rs 10,000 for a room and a bathroom to be made under Indira Awas scheme. “When I refused to give that money they stopped my widow allowance ... on the one hand they had to show the list of constructed houses on the other hand they needed cash and there they took that from helpless people like us ...” asked,” says she adding she has not voted since 2011. “My husband was a CPI(M) voter and so was I. But after 2011 we could not vote because they would not let us vote,” she says adding “who wants to get hurt ... if I die it is good but if I get a fractured leg then who will look after me ... I have nobody.” The helplessness is writ large on her face.

At Hatishala and Ghosh Para there are numerous such families that have shifted allegiance from the Red to BJP. “I am a born Leftist within, I joined the Brigade (Parade Ground) rally in Kolkata but I am working for the BJP locally because CPI(M) cannot handle the TMC’s money and muscle power ... the BJP match- es them in every respect ... besides they are in power in the Centre and can put their big leaders in jail for numerous scams if they cross their limits which the CPI(M) cannot do,” says Tapash Ghosh from Ghosh Para in Ranaghat North-East constituency.

TN logs 7,987 fresh corona cases

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ CHENNAI

Covid-19 situation turned Cgrave in Tamil Nadu on Thursday as the State diagnosed 7,987 new patients and registered 29 deaths, which experts like Dr C V Krishnaswamy describing as a ‘tidal wave of pandemic’.

Chennai topped the table of districts with the highest number of new cases on a single day. The Metropolis tested 2,558 new cases of Covid-19 till 6 pm on Thursday. Chengalpet, the neighbouring district that hosts institutions like SRM University and automobile giant Ford tested 685 new cases.

Though the Univesrity is silent about the number of cases in its campus as well as in residential areas, there is total panic in staff quarters as many faculty members were tested positive.

Kerala takes fresh measures to control Covid

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ KOCHI

With the Centre terming Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan as a COVIDIOT because of his alleged violation of pandemic protocols and the number of new persons tested positive for Covid-19 nearing 8,300 on Thursday, the State administration tightened the rules to prevent further spreading of the disease.

Earlier in the day the Union Minister of State for Parliamentary Affairs and External Affairs said Vijayan should be addressed as COVID-IOT because of his reckless behaviour on the day of polling (April 6) and in the subsequent days when he threw to the winds all norms specified by medical experts.

Vijayan had been admitted to the Medical College Hospital from where he was discharged on Wednesday. He is back in his palatial residence at Pinarayi where he would be recuperating for the next ten days.

The Chief Minister reportedly held a virtual meeting with other ministers and bureaucrats on Thursday where it was decided to take drastic steps to prevent the spread of the pandemic but without causing any inconvenience to the general public.

A Government Order issued after the meeting said that crowding during public and private functions would be brought under strict control. Marriages, house warming functions and other private ceremonies should be intimated to the local authorities well in advance, said the order.

Addressing the media later in the day, V P Joy, chief secretary, said all front line workers and people above the age of 45 would be checked on Friday and Saturday as part of the massive testing ordered for the next two days.

He said there was no shortage of vaccines in the State as alleged by certain people. “We have stock of more than 7 lakh doses of vaccines and the Centre has assured us that we will be given more than two lakh doses in the next two days,” said the Chief Secretary.

He ruled out the possibilities of total lock down and pointed out that malls and hotels have been instructed to down the shutters by 9 pm.

Joy also disclosed that there were 1.15 crore persons in the State who are of in the age group of 45 and above. “We will vaccinate this entire category of people and also vaccinate those below the age of 45. It has been found that persons below the age of 45 are the main carriers of the pandemic,” he said.

The chief secretary said that the top priority of the Government was to hold the public examinations for students and he requested the general public to postpone unimportant meetings and gatherings to later dates considering the gravity of the situation.

Govt only indulging in sham of Covid ‘vaccine festival’: RaGa

New Delhi: Former Congress chief Rahul Gandhi on Thursday attacked the Government over the handling of the Covid-19 situation and alleged that it is only indulging in a “sham” of a ‘vaccine festival’. He also alleged that there is no testing, no beds in hospitals, neither ventilators nor oxygen and vaccine is also not available. His sister and party’s general secretary Priyanka Gandhi asked the Uttar Pradesh government to take concrete steps to prevent the spread of coronavirus and asserted that it is “futile” to invest time and resources in “hiding” this tragedy.

Rahul Gandhi also took a jibe asking what PM-CARES is doing, as huge donations were given to the fund for handling COVID-19 situation. “There are no tests or beds in hospitals. There are no ventilators or oxygen. The vaccine is also not there. But there is a sham of a festival. PM-CARES?” he asked. His attack came after the government celebrated the ‘Tika Utsav’ (vaccine festival) from April 11 to 14.

Taking to Twitter, Priyanka tagged a video purportedly showing Baikunth Dham crematorium in Lucknow being covered by opaque screens. “There is a request to the government of Uttar Pradesh: It is futile to invest time, resources and energy into hiding, suppressing this tragedy,” Priyanka Gandhi said in a tweet in Hindi.

“Take concrete steps to stop the pandemic, save lives, and prevent the spread of infection. This is the need of the hour,” she said. The Congress leader had on Wednesday accused the Uttar Pradesh government of hiding coronavirus numbers and said had they been cautious from day one, people would not have witnessed such times. PNS

Alarmed by Covid surge, J&K admin defers summer Darbar

Jammu: Taking note of the alarming surge in Covid-19 cases, the Union Territory Government on Thursday decided to defer the summer Darbar move 2021 and reinforce its resources towards the containment of the pandemic.

It was also decided that the civil secretariat will continue to function through its e-office in both the capital cities of Jammu and Srinagar so that the public at large is not inconvenienced at either capital.

As part of the biannual darbar move and the civil secretariat’s shift, other move offices and the Raj Bhavan were scheduled to close in Jammu on April 30 to May 1 and set to begin functioning in the summer capital from May 10.

Last year also the government had delayed the shifting of Darbar move offices to Srinagar till June 15 in the wake of Covid-19 pandemic.

The functioning of the dual-secretariat will ensure uninterrupted functioning of the UT administration while reducing the need for long-distance travel of the public.

During a high-level meeting chaired by LG Manoj Sinha it was observed that a complete shift of Darbar offices to Srinagar from 30th April can jeopardize COVID-control efforts in Jammu and Kashmir. As elsewhere in the country, the number of COVID cases in the Union territory is at an all-time high and requires uninterrupted attention for effective monitoring and control.

The Government also directed the Administrative Secretaries to put in place a robust mechanism for holding virtual offices through e-office and use online/electronic/video conferencing/other modes of communication at the two capital cities.

J&K Secretariat has already switched over to a paperless office by rolling out the prestigious e-office project. As such, most of the official record is available on the web cloud which can be easily accessed and retrieved by the authenticated employees’ accounts anywhere, anytime.

It was also decided that GAD will issue orders regarding ‘move’ HoDs, all of whom will also need to shift to e-office. This will apply to all HoDs, barring a few.

Meanwhile, the UT government also decided to postpone the class XII J&K board exams till further orders and cancelled ongoing class X exams.

The Union Territory recorded 1141 fresh cases of coronavirus with Jammu division accounting for 434 and Kashmir 707 cases. PNS

Covid-19 surge: ASI monuments closed for visitors till May 15

New Delhi: All centrally protected monuments, museums and sites under the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) have been closed with immediate effect till May 15 due to the surge in coronavirus cases in the country, the Union culture ministry said on Thursday.

An order to this effect was issued by the ASI and it was tweeted by Culture Minister Prahlad Patel this evening. “Due to the prevailing COVID situation, it has been decided to close all centrally protected monuments, sites and museums under the ASI with immediate effect and till May 15 or until further orders,” the ASI said. These include 3,693 monuments and 50 museums. In live monuments like Puri Jagannath Temple and Somnath Temple, daily ‘puja’ will be conducted but no public gathering will be allowed, said Nitin Tripathi, the ministry’s media advisor.

Last year, too, all monuments and sites maintained by the ASI were closed due to the coronavirus pandemic on March 17. They reopened in July with strict restrictions like mandatory wearing of masks, cap on the number of visitors and social distancing. The curbs were relaxed later in the year. India’s daily COVID-19 cases surged to a record high of 2,00,739 on Thursday, taking the country’s cumulative tally to 1,40,74,564, according to Union health ministry data. The death toll climbed to 1,73,123 with 1,038 new fatalities, the highest since October 3, the data stated. PTI

NIA organises BRICS seminar on ‘misuse of internet by terrorists’

New Delhi: The immense challenges posed by the misuse of the internet by terrorists can be effectively tackled by international cooperation and sharing of good practices, delegates underscored at a BRICS seminar hosted by India.

The National Investigation Agency (NIA) organised the two-day online event here of the BRICS nations that includes Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa on April 13-14.

The seminar on the theme ‘Misuse of Internet for Terrorist Purposes and Role of Digital Forensics in Terrorist Investigations’ was inaugurated by Union Home Secretary Ajay Bhalla on Tuesday. The NIA organised the seminar as India is holding the BRICS chair for the year 2021.

“The delegates at the seminar appreciated the fact that in the current milieu of breakneck technological innovations and ever-evolving digital landscape, the challenges pertaining to prevention, control and prosecution of the terrorist misuse of Internet are immense,” the NIA said in a statement.

“It was emphasised that it is only through expedient international cooperation and seamless sharing of good practices in tackling this menace that we can create a safer and secure environment for citizens of BRICS member states as well as the whole world,” it said.

A number of technical sessions were held during the seminar like ‘exploitation of social media as an arsenal’, ‘dark web and anonymisers’, ‘emerging technologies and artificial intelligence’, ‘crypto currency and virtual assets: vulnerability of privacy and online stealth’, equipping law enforcement agencies: counter-terrorist investigations and digital forensics. In the seminar, as many as 40 experts from the five member countries deliberated upon these technical sessions.

Two panel discussions on engaging multiple stakeholders from both public and private sectors to tackle the misuse of the Internet and enhancing international cooperation to effectively tackle the exploitation of the Internet by terrorists for their nefarious activities were also held, the statement said.

BRICS member states in 3rd Counter Terrorism Working Group (CTWG) at White River, South Africa had agreed to establish five sub working groups dedicated to enhance debates over specific challenges on counter-terrorism front. Thereafter, at the 4th CTWG meeting at Brasilia, India was given the Presidency of the sub-working group on “Misuse of Internet for Terrorist Purposes” for one year, it added. PNS

BMC debunks perception that it purchased Remdesivir vials ‘at very high rates’

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

Amid news reports that it purchased Remdesivir injections at rates 2.5 times more than their actual cost, the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) on Thursday debunked the ‘perception’ sought to be created by a section of the media that it had purchased Remdesivir vials “at very high rates”, by saying that it “is not correct at all”.

“There is a perception created by a section of the media that the BMC has purchased Injection Remdesivir at very high rates which is not correct at all. We reiterate that BMC shall always strive to give the best services to Mumbaiers. Team Media must support BMC in these extremely critical times to decisively and effectively defeat the Covid pandemic,” the BMC said in a statement issued here.

Explaining the circumstances leading to BMC purchasing 2,00,000 at Rs 1,568 per vial Remdesivir injections, the BMC said: There is an acute shortage of Remdesivir vaccine in the entire country. On 1st April 2021 Haffkine Bio-Pharmaceutical Corporation Ltd. paced orders for 57,100 vials of Remdesivir at the rate of Rs. 665/- per vial. However, it is a fact that till today the said order has not been entertained by the supplier”.

On April 5, the BMC floated a bid for purchase of 2,00,000 vials of Remdesivir which was due on April 7. Only one bid was received from Mylan till April 7 at 4.00 pm. The BMC’s stock position on April 7 happened to be 10,471 vials which would have been sufficient for 3 to 4 days only.

“On April 7 morning BMC spoke to Cipla and explored the possibilities of getting supplies of around 10,000 vials. However, Cipla expressed its inability to supply any vial immediately. Due to supply constraints, no other company showed interest in this bid,” the statement said

“The only bidder, namely Mylan refused to reduce the bid price of Rs. 1,568/- inclusive of GST. The scarcity is not only in Maharashtra but all over the country. It was vital to make available Remdesivir to critical patients in MCGM without fail. As seen from different media reports on April 7 various States and cities were trying to procure Remdesivir to protect their citizens,” the statement said.

“It was imperative to act fast and decisively to procure Remdesivir on April 7 or BMC would have faced a huge crisis to treat patients. Any delay would have resulted in Remdesivir going out to other cities/States of India in this scarcity time bringing bad name to BMC specially when Mumbai is the financial capital of India. Between money and human lives, BMC opted to save all possible human lives even if it meant spending an extra amount of money for securing 2,00,000 vials of Remdesivir,” the BMC said.

On April 7, more than 17,431 beds were occupied by covid patients under MCGM. Therefore, BMC had to bite the bullet and order was placed on April 7 2021 itself to procure 2,00,000 Remdesivir out of which 25,000 vials were received immediately,” the BMC said. “In sharp contrast to this prompt delivery of Remdesivir vaccine to BMC by the vendor, Haffkine Bio-Pharmaceutical Corporation Ltd’s order of 57,100 vials of Remdesivir at the rate of Rs.665/-, is still not entertained with no supplies made till date,” the BMC said.

The BMC also said that around the time it placed an order on Mylan for purchase of Remdesivir injections, organisations like the Surat Municipal Corporation, District Hospital, Satara, Commissioner of Medical Education, MP, Mission Director, NHM, Assam, Navi Mumbai Municipal Corporation (NMC) and Gujarat Medical Services Corporations Limited placed similar orders on Mylan.

“BMC has taken the lead in placing the order at the earliest keeping in view the interest of Mumbaiers and at prices comparable with various other cities of India,” the civic body said in its statement

BMC converts Mumbai’s Jaslok hospital into dedicated Covid-19 hospital

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

In a view of the alarming surge in the Covid-19 cases and high occupancy of patients in the Dedicated Covid Hospitals (DCHs), the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) on Thursday converted Mumbai’s famed Jaslok Hospital in south Mumbai into a dedicated Covid-19 hospital.

Announcing this here, Mumbai Municipal Commissioner I S Chahal said: “Additional 250 Covid beds in JASLOK Hospital will come on BMC’s online dashboard by Saturday morning to help needy patients. Of the 250 beds, 40 will be ICU beds”.

In two more major announcements aimed at increasing Covid-19 beds across the metropolis, the Mumbai civic chief said that 1500 additional beds (mostly oxygenated) will be added to NESCO Jumbo Covid-19 facility in seven days, while 30 more ICU beds were being added to Seven Hills Hospital At Andheri (East) in north Mumbai on Thursday.

“Given that the current surge in the pandemic cases and high occupancy of beds in DCHs – especially in private hospitals is very high, it is necessary to increase the number of beds with advance critical care in Mumbai,” Chahal said.

“Jaslok has served as a DCH hospital with advanced critical care since the beginning of the pandemic and has been treating the Covid19 excellently. In view of the current need, we have decided to convert the Jaslok Hospital into a dedicated Covid-19 hospital. It will no longer admit non-Covid patients,” the Mumbai civic chief said.

Following its decision to convert Jaslok Hospital into a dedicated Covid hospital, the BMC has instructed the hospital management to discharge all the existing “stable” undergoing treatment in speciality wards, to shift all such patients requiring non-Covid tertiary care to nearby tertiary hospitals in 48 hours and to discharge all patients admitted for elective treatments by postponing their surgeries.

The BMC has also asked the Jaslok Hospital management to augment suspected/holding area for suspected Covid-19 cases, if required and follow all protocols and guidelines laid down for dedicated Covid hospitals as earlier.

Located on upmarket Peddar Road in south Mumbai, Jaslok Hospital and Research

Centre – better known as Joslok Hospital – is private hospital founded by founded by philanthropist Seth Lokoomal Chanrai along with surgeon Shantilal Jamnadas Mehta.

Set up in 1973, Jaslok Hospital shot to fame in late 1970s when Jayaprakash Narayan was admitted for treatment of kidney failure by the nephrologist M. K. Mani

BMC TO SET UP ‘STEP-DOWN’ FACILITIES IN 4-5 STAR HOTELS TO ACCOMMODATE PATIENTS WHO NEED MINIMAL MEDICAL INTERVENTION

Mumbai: In its effort to make available Covid-19 beds to patients without much of a time lag, the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) and major hospitals in the metropolis have decided to jointly identify four-star and five-star hotels in their neighbourhood to set up step-down facilities to accommodate patients who need minimal medical intervention.

Announcing the setting up of stre-down facilities at four/five-star hotels located in the vicinity of major hospitals in the metropolis, Mumbai Municipal Commissioner I S Chahal said: “We have observed that many beds in private hospitals are occupied by patients who do not require emergency medical intervention and can be effectively managed at isolation facilities such as CCG-2 or step-down facilities”.

“if such patients are shifted to a step down facility where minimum medical intervention is required, more number of oxygenated/ICU. Ventilator beds can be made available to patients in need of such beds. These beds will help treatment on time and reduce the fatality rate,” he said.

The Mumbai civic chief said that the BMC intended to set up step-down facilities with active participation of major private hospitals, as an “integral part of these hospitals.

Among the guidelines that the BMC has issued to facilitate linkages between the major hospitals and four star/five star hotels include identification of hotels, need for a proper understanding between private hospitals and hotels, hotels should be able spare at least 20 of its rooms and that the step-down facilities shall be an extension of private hospitals

Youth found hanging from tree, family cries murder

PRADEEP SAXENA ■ ALIGARH

The body of a youth from Suratgarh village was found hanging on a tree near the village. The relatives who reached the spot have accused for murder of the youth and hanging him on tree. The police, who reached the same spot, took the body hanging on the tree and called the forensic team to the spot and collected the evidence and sent the body to the district headquarters for post-mortem. There was chaos in the family with the death of the young man.

Gulab Singh (26) son of Pransukh, resident of village Suratgarh, was missing from home late Wednesday evening. Late in the night, when the young man did not reach home, the relatives searched the young man a lot. But could not find him. Farmers going to the fields early in the morning on Thursday morning noticed that Gulab Singh’s body is hanging on a Babool tree near the village.

Whose information was given by the farmers to the police along with their relatives. After receiving the information, the family and police reached the spot.

The family created an uproar by accusing unknown people of killing the young man and hanging the body on the tree. On this, the police pacified explaining to the family and called the forensic team from the district headquarters on the spot. The team collected evidence related to the death of the young man from the spot.

PAPER WITH PASSION

Walk the talk

Only lip service won't do, the netas must follow COVID-appropriate behaviour at all times

The pandemic has upended all the notions of life, as we knew it, from personal hygiene to societal behaviour to health to economy, but the one bulwark it has failed to burst through is the way our politicians think and act. There should be no double standards in dealing with the raging contagion but unfortunately this duality is a trait quintessential to our politicians. Though the Government is fastidiously dealing with the rising COVID-19 cases, it has literally turned a blind eye to the situation in the States currently undergoing polls, where the COVID-appropriate behaviour is a disregarded casualty. During their public rallies, road shows and campaigns, almost all political leaders and their minions overlook measures like wearing masks, maintaining social distance and other protocols. For these power-hungry politicians, the vote of any individual is more important than his/her life — hence, they have scant concerns if the COVID protocols stand in the way of their votes. Despite repeated warnings by the Election Commission, the ground condition hasn't ameliorated. But there are good examples to be had from most of the politicians abroad who — discounting the likes of ousted US President Donald Trump and Brazil's strongman President Jair Bolsonaro — aren't dyed in the same wool. For instance, British Prime Minister Boris Johnson earlier this year put off his India visit, where he was to be the chief guest at this year's Republic Day parade, because the number of COVID-19 infections in his home country shot up exponentially and he chose to stay with his constituents to alleviate their fears. Now, again, Johnson has decided to curtail his India trip later this month because of the virus situation in England.

Johnson said the rapid drop in the COVID-19 deaths in the UK was because of the three-month lockdown and not so much because of the vaccination. We don't know whether he has any empirical evidence to back his claim, but the fact remains that the condition in his country has steadily improved while India has consistently been climbing the chart of the worst-hit countries, lagging behind only the US at the number two position, for now. Our leaders, therefore, should be ashamed of facing the electorate, for whatever it is worth, rather than milling with them to garner votes. God forbid, but if they do contract the virus — as has become the lot of a host of them — they immediately quarantine themselves in the best of medical institutes and access the best of medical care, of course at the cost of the taxpayers' money. But what about the fate of the poor masses that they leave behind, afflicted? It is for several similar reasons that after almost winning the war against COVID, we are again pinned down on the mat; thanks partly to our insouciance and largely to our political leaders. All the festivals, including the celebration of democracy, can be cherished in the real sense only when the nation's people remain healthy and enjoy their basic right to life.

Matters of faith

Can devotion alone, in the absence of precautions, protect one from deadly contagions like COVID-19?

Even as lakhs of devotees throng the Kumbh Mela venue every day in Haridwar, with practically non-existent observation of the COVID-appropriate behaviour including face masks and social distancing, Uttarakhand Chief Minister Tirath Singh Rawat kicked up another controversy by saying that the Coronavirus won't infect the pilgrims. The corollary to his logic: The devotees are "our own people" (read Indians) spread over a "vast open area" and "Ma Ganga's blessings will ensure the devotees' well-being". His reasoning flies in the face of all expert warnings and empirical evidence — the authorities detected 1,701 COVID-19 cases between April 10 and 14 at the congregation. Rawat's pearls of wisdom sprang forth when some sceptics dared to compare the largest human gathering in India to the Jamaat at the Nizamuddin Markaz, which was tainted in April last year as the "hotspot" and "epicentre" of the COVID-19 cases in Delhi and across India. He said the Kumbh was different because the Tablighi event was organised in a small enclosure, with several overseas attendees and when the Markaz was held, neither was there much awareness about Corona nor were any guidelines.

Coming from a Chief Minister who had tested positive for the viral infection on March 22 before winning the battle against it in early April, it seems that some people, and unsurprisingly the politicians, have so thick a skin that they don't learn any lessons from even personal experiences. India is currently being battered by a rapidly spreading second wave of the pernicious virus and here we are, throwing all sense and caution to the winds amid a sea of humans. One shudders to think of what may happen at the Kumbh if the virus spreads like wildfire and when these lakhs of asymptomatic devotees head back to their homes all across India and unknowingly become the delivery agents of the contagion. Experts have already warned that such a large gathering in the midst of a raging pandemic can prove to be catastrophic and severely impede India's fight against the deadly disease that has claimed millions of lives globally. Yes, Mr Chief Minister, the matters of faith can't and shouldn't be ignored but can these be subservient to the right to life and the joys of good health? That really is the question.

Socio-economic divides in 2021

As a nation, we must tear down all the obstacles that impede the participation of women in the economy, even those of the mind

BINDU DALMIA

Along expected lines, the post-COVID economic data point to a widening of three pre-existing divides: The gender divide, increasing asymmetries between the incomes of the rich and the poor, and an increasing rural-urban digital divide. As each of these inequalities are subjects that need targeted policy interventions, the focus in this post is on the World Economic Forum's Global Gender Report 2021, wherein India has slipped to the 112th ranking among 153 countries.

India, home to 0.65 billion women, has widened its gender gap from 66.8 per cent a year ago to 62.5 per cent this year. The decline is seen on multiple sub-index parameters, like the labour force participation falling from 24.8 per cent to 22.3 per cent; the share of women in senior managerial positions being as low as 14.6 per cent; estimated earnings being one-fifth of men; the political empowerment index has regressed by 13 per cent where in ministerial berths for women have declined from 23.1 per cent in 2019 to 9.1 per cent.

Gender equality is a basic human right enshrined in our Constitution and its achievement has multiplier socio-economic benefits. India is committed to the timelines of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) set by the United Nations which place gender parity at the heart of bringing a gender perspective to all development initiatives. However, the COVID-triggered economic stress will defer the timelines for achieving the SDGs by 2030.

The post-pandemic policy initiatives require increased gender-specific budgeting and recovery strategies: The Modi Government's flagship schemes that positively impacted women during the first term are an outcome of closely aligning with the Gender Responsive Budgeting (GRB) norms of the 'UN Women'. The GRB is a globally followed "best practice" among nations which allocates fiscal expenditure with specific gender perspectives. Though the Magna Carta of Women (1999) required that the Governments allocate at least five per cent of the GDP to address gender issues, the amount allocated towards women's welfare has stagnated in recent years. The Union Government releases the 'Gender Budgeting Statement' consisting of two parts. The first part reflects women-specific schemes in which 100 per cent allocation is only for women. The second part reflects pro-women schemes in which 30 per cent of the allocation is for women.

In the recent years, while some schemes have achieved transversal benefits like the Jan Dhan Yojana, DBT and MNREGA, specific gender-targeted schemes have made significant improvements in the socio-economic living conditions of women. However, the funds allocated for the GRB are limited to less than five per cent of the public expenditure, and shrink to about one per cent of the GDP, making it necessary to significantly increase these budgetary outlays. The NITI Aayog estimates that India will have to increase its gender-specific spend by an additional 6.2 per cent to comply with the SDG targets.

Upskilling women to adapt to the changing nature of jobs: The job market has undergone a tectonic shift since COVID, so the nine-to-five model is no longer the future. Deloitte's research shows that economic contraction is nudging companies towards hiring experienced freelancers.

Data point to the fact that this gig work model has found a growing traction, with 78 lakh women who had earlier dropped off from work have sought to revive their careers as the WFH concept has opened the floodgates for those who hold professional degrees combined with robust work experience. Therefore, while automation will displace many jobs, it will also create 90 million flexi-jobs in the next 10 years, according to the Boston Consulting Group.

Second, as self-employment and micro-entrepreneurship is expected to grow at an annual rate of 17 per cent and projected to reach $455 billion by 2023, State and cooperative banks must readjust their models to disburse loans at lower rates for priority sector lending to women because the data show that women have stronger saving habits and lower non-performing loans than men. As most women lack collateral and credit history to access formal lending, we need innovative ways to build credit history.

How much has gender inequality stunted India's economic progress? The lack of equal ownership of land, access to formal credit, the unfamiliarity of women with the latest technologies, high educational dropout rates as well as inequitable household and unpaid workload distribution have impeded Indian women's economic prosperity.

Gender inequality has, therefore, translated into enormous notional capital losses for India. The economic impact of achieving optimum levels of gender equality in India is estimated to be $700 billion of the added GDP by 2025. The IMF estimates that equal participation of women in the workforce will increase India's GDP by 27 per cent. There is clear evidence: "When women do better, economies do better. That means we must tear down all obstacles that impede the participation of women in the economy, even the subconscious obstacles of the mind."

GOOD DECISION TO CANCEL BOARD EXAMS

Sir — It would ease the minds of students and their parents that the CBSE exams for Class 10 have been cancelled and those for Class 12 were postponed to minimise the risk of infection. It was a wise and welcome move needed at this point in time when we are fighting a second wave. It reflects the priority given to the health and safety of students and keeping them out of harm's way.

The exams by State or other boards, now in progress or scheduled to be held in the coming weeks and months, too should be either cancelled or put off for the simple reason that it will aid in mitigating the pandemic and minimising morbidity and mortality. A picture can be drawn only if there is a canvas or a wall. The preservation of life is of paramount importance. The considerations of safety override all other concerns. It is true that education is vital for students to be able to unlock their potential but treating examinations as the be-all-and-end-all of students' existence is not done.

The "real exam" the mankind is currently taking is the continuing pandemic. We cannot afford to do badly in this life-and-death exam. The sole question that bears on our existence and is far from academics is how best we can respond to the once-in-a-lifetime global public health crisis and get through it. Our handling of the COVID-19 pandemic must be based on strategies defining how best we can adapt by modifying our behaviour and way of life and availing the benefit of vaccination to achieve population immunity in order to survive.

SERVE THE GREATER GOOD

Sir — Do we need to be "Faster - Higher - Stronger", the Olympic motto, or should we just try to be okay and healthy? The Olympics may yet be cancelled completely after having been delayed a year, says Toshihiro Nikai, the secretary general of the Liberal Democratic Party.

The 2020 Olympics were postponed because of the COVID pandemic and the 2021 version will have few people in the stands as overseas spectators have been

Respect our jawans

The Cooch Behar violence may or may not have been fomented by the TMC but West Bengal Chief Minister and party chief Mamata Banerjee has created a flutter by accusing the Central Industrial Security Force (CISF) of wrongdoing — that the security force intentionally shot down four people in her serious allegation. Over and above, she has put the blame at the doorstep of the BJP and Home Minister Amit Shah by charging him with "genocide".

The CISF personnel were apparently targeted by a rampaging mob of over 500 men, banned and many of the local citizens aren't interested or actually want it cancelled. Any spectators who would attend will only be allowed to clap and not cheer which seems a rather sad, paler version of the event. The first priority for most countries is to get citizens vaccinated, stop the spread of the virus and then start on an economic recovery rather than watching two weeks of Olympians and para-Olympians doing the best they can. Considering how many have already died and will still die, it is probably best to commit all resources to the medical world and stay safe at home. I know a number of Olympics competitors will miss their one opportunity but that may be the cost they have to pay for the safety of the majority.

STICK TO COVID PROTOCOL

Sir — The second wave of COVID-19 is ravaged by a rumour that a boy of theirs was shot dead by the police, so goes the common version. It is said that when things went out of control, the CISF men fired at the mob. A very unfortunate incident that should not have taken place in the first instance if everybody had a good head on their shoulders. Here, neither the mob nor the police can be blamed.

On the other hand, Shah has accused Mamata of provoking the people. Caught between the two political bigwigs are the CISF and the Election Commission (EC). It is a mockery of democracy that the constitutional bodies and paramilitary forces are ridiculed and berated by politicians every now and then. Our paramilitary personnel are steadfast on their duties but our politicians have scant respect for them. Let us face the truth — these entities work against all odds. The security forces have a thankless job — no encomiums for doing a thing right. But one mistake, even if inadvertent, can turn things topsy-turvy. Ditto with the EC.

aging India, making the lives of poor, daily-wagers and migrant labourers very difficult. One of the main reasons for the fast spread of the pandemic is the elections being held in five States where COVID protocols are not being adhered to by the public or leaders.

Adding to the woes are the large congregations of people at religious events and places. It is advisable that after the completion of elections there should be no more elections, to local bodies or other bodies as these will only aggravate the situation. We all must act responsibly at this stage; else we will lose our battle against Coronavirus. The cases are rising exorbitantly and taking precaution is the only thing that is in our hands.

AN INVESTMENT FOR PEACE

SNEHA GAUTAM

Art can serve as an excellent means of self-expression. Curating an art collection that reflects one’s personality and taste is indeed an extremely fulfilling experience. When one looks at an artwork from a vantage point, beyond its financial aspect, s/he tends to delve deeper and reflect upon its inherent attributes of mystery and philosophy. This, in turn, will help achieve further clarity and give one the confidence to keep adding art works to one’s collection. The World Art Day is observed on April 15 to make people realise that one of the most important roles of art is its ability to trigger introspection and the mirror it holds up to society at any given point of time. Acquiring and being in the presence of art is also about breaking one’s perception and engaging with the work of visionary artists. The art one chooses to display at home or the workplace will most likely be a topic of discussion, so it makes sense to carefully pick and select the work that resonates with one’s mind and aligns with one’s philosophical ethos. The pandemic and the subsequent lockdown also have a positive side when looked at from the aspect of being in the presence of art and the effectiveness of creative expression in our daily lives.

Before the pandemic brought most of the world to a standstill, the World Health Organisation had published a report enlisting the various beneficial effects of art on the health and well-being of individuals. This report encouraged many firms to use art as a medium to boost the morale of their employees during the pandemic. With movements and social interactions largely restricted, art gave countless people a way to look inwards and thus proved to be a means of cathartic relief and helped people in staying optimistic during these tumultuous times. It is exactly in a moment of crisis that art consoles us with hope and reminds us that we are not alone. It’s a proven fact that looking at art triggers the human brain to release the feel-good hormone, Dopamine, and initiates a chemical reaction within that is similar to the feeling of euphoria. Hence, one can easily imagine the far-reaching and therapeutic effects of art. Carefully, surrounding oneself with hand-picked creations can play a deciding role in influencing our mood and have a calming effect. It is widely known that colours affect us and certain hues are largely associated with catalysing the onset of different moods. Thus, inevitably, the colour composition of an artwork a person selects will affect him/her. The advantages of being around art are so well-established that a complete art therapy field has been recognised. It helps individuals explore their creative side, arm their perceptions with the thought of the artists, process and present their ideas in a unique way. The fact that museums display artworks as a visual treat for visitors reflects the fact that Governments have recognised these benefits and thus they promote art. People invest good sums in masterpieces made by various renowned artists so as to broaden their horizons and increase their joy.

If these reasons are not convincing enough for someone to actively collect art work, then the originality factor would definitely inspire him/her to do so. This way, one can be assured that the artwork s/he has decided to collect or which is already in one’s possession will be uniquely his or hers. Another important aspect while collecting art is the connections one can forge within the art world with like-minded people. Collecting artwork is a passion for many and certainly adds value to one’s life. Currently, technology has definitely eased how enthusiasts can learn and explore the techniques of seminal artists from the past and contemporary ones, too. Virtual exhibitions and online auctions are also tools that can help one make decisions regarding acquiring artwork that will add a soothing presence to one’s mental space.

Engineering a better future for humankind

In this age of unprecedented technological revolution, genetic engineering is fast occupying the centre stage

In this age of unprecedented technological revolution, genetic engineering is fast occupying the centre stage. Susan Hockfield, a Professor of Neuroscience at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), says that virus-powered batteries, protein-based water filters, cancer-detecting nanoparticles, mind-reading bionic limbs, computer-engineered crops, and so on, have the potential to overcome some of the greatest humanitarian, medical and environmental challenges of our time. These are going to be next generation products that have the potential to reshape our lives. For instance, the discovery of products like aquaporin to purify water for our use that functions like a parking lot that permits only cars identified with a specific transponder to enter, is nature’s marvel. All these frontier technologies have inputs of genetic engineering.

Genetic engineering has come a long way since 1971, when two scientists, Berg and Jackson, created the first molecules of a recombinant DNA. Many milestones have been accomplished since then to make genetic engineering almost child’s play in the hands of a molecular biologist. But gene therapy, which genetic engineering promised, has been fraught with pitfalls despite a multitude of methodologies. As a result, inherited disorders resulting from aberrations in one’s genes could not be treated by replacing or correcting a faulty gene. Correcting the gene in its specific location was an issue and when this was overcome by employing viruses, our immune system would play the spoilsport apart from other issues that sprang up. Ever since the failure of the Jesse Gelsinger trial for the cure of a rare metabolic disorder called ornithine transcarbamylase deficiency syndrome, (OTCD) in 1998, gene therapy was left gasping for breath amid stringent regulations. This is where a serendipitous observation of bacteria having the ability to specifically target the DNA of viruses to inactivate the invader, provided the breakthrough to overcome many of the pitfalls of the earlier methodologies.

CRISPR and GENE editing: CRISPR technology is a simple yet powerful tool for editing genomes. It allows researchers to easily alter DNA sequences and modify gene function. Its many potential applications include correcting genetic defects, treating and preventing the spread of diseases and improving crops. The CRISPR-Cas9 can do the job easily and precisely as CRISPR is a part of the bacterial immune system and germs, too, can get sick from viruses. Bacteria fight them by chopping their DNA or RNA with CRISPR sequences and then remember them by pasting their DNA bits into their own genome, allowing to ward off any future infections. These genetic scissors, whose use for targeted modification of genomic DNA was perfected by Jennifer Doudna and Emmanuelle Charpentier, have given a new life to genetic engineering and gene therapy. Both these scientists were the recipients of the Nobel Prize in Chemistry in 2020.

The use of CRISPR-Cas9: Many diseases that were incurable through traditional means can now be treated easily, thanks to genetic engineering. There are ongoing clinical trials using

APART FROM MEDICAL APPLICATIONS, IT IS BEING USED TO GENETICALLY MODIFYING CROPS TO MAKE THEM RESISTANT TO VIRUSES, MAKE LEANER PIGS, HELP YEAST MAKE BETTER BEER, MAKE MOSQUITOES INFERTILE AND SO ON. IT IS ALSO POSSIBLE TO RECREATE AN EXTINCT SPECIES, SO A ‘JURASSIC PARK’ COULD ACTUALLY BE A REALITY IN THE FUTURE

Sinha is a former IFS officer and Pai is Assistant Professor, Amity Institute of Virology & Immunology. The views expressed are personal.

CRISPR-based approaches to treat monogenic inherited diseases such as sickle cell anemia, childhood blindness and so on. It holds the promise to treat many other diseases such as cancer, autoimmune disorders and polygenic genetic disorders in future.

Apart from medical applications, it is being used to genetically modifying crops to make them resistant to viruses, make leaner pigs, help yeast make better beer, make mosquitoes infertile and so on. It is also possible to recreate an extinct species, so a ‘Jurassic Park’ could actually be a reality in the future.

Research is also underway for the use of CRISPR gene editing that could make us less vulnerable to pandemics, cancer, Alzheimer’s and other diseases. Mammals have a gene known as p53 that encodes the proteins that suppress the growth of cancerous tumours. Humans and most other mammals have only one copy of this gene, whereas elephants have 20 copies, and they almost never get cancer. Hence, research is ongoing to double this gene in human beings.

Up till 2020, over a dozen clinical trials were underway for a disease called acute myeloid leukemia, super-high cholesterol and baldness. The thrust of the ongoing research is to study how bacteria developed an immune response to ward off new viruses.

Coronavirus: COVID-19 jobs, like many modern vaccines, have also gained from the advancements in genetic engineering.

Bits of the SARS-CoV2 genes have been pasted onto the adenoviral DNA backbone, some of whose own genes have been knocked off to accommodate the foreign gene. When this vaccine is delivered, the adenovirus carrying the SARS-CoV2 will enter the human cell, it will pretend that it produces the SARS-CoV2 protein but will itself be unable to replicate and make a person sick. This creates a temporary SARS-CoV2 protein factory in our bodies to prime our immune system and prepare it to tackle any infection with the real SARS-CoV2 virus.

Hopes and pitfalls: Ever since Herbert Boyer and Stanley Cohen patented the recombinant DNA technology that they developed in 1972, and Boyer co-founded Genentech, the world’s first biotechnology company in 1976, genetic engineering has been the subject of intense debate beyond the scientific arena, involving lawyers, journalists, politicians and the public at large.

Since then, genetic engineering has come through the moral issue of man playing God, with a possibility to determine the fate of the evolution of all species on planet Earth. It is generally agreed that genetically engineered organisms will not be released into the environment. Many countries, including India, have put in place ethical committees at various levels that oversee and approve research that involves the use of genetic engineering. Even routine laboratory experiments which only aim to demonstrate cloning experiments to students in biology laboratories also need mandatory approvals of the institutional ethical committees or relevant boards. Though there are already products of genetic engineering in the market like vaccines, pest-resistant crops and genetically-engineered mosquitoes, debate continues on the ethical and moral issues surrounding genetic engineering and gene therapy. Thankfully, its fruits are slowly blossoming for larger public good.

Fortunately for humankind, in 2015 at the NAPA international conference, a consensus quickly developed that it would be bad to completely ban germ line gene editing.

The CRISPR inventor, Jennifer Doudna, herself summed it up: “We wanted the scientific community to hit the pause button until the social, ethical, ecological and philosophical implications of germ line editing could be properly and thoroughly discussed ideally at the global level.”

It was concluded at the conference that though it was too early to do germ line editing safely, but someday it would happen and the goal should be to provide prudent guidelines. This holds the key to the future of this marvelous invention.

Arrest the COVID wave as lockdown is not an option

Any congregation, be it election rallies, religious or social gatherings, must be immediately banned if the pandemic is to be controlled

There is a familiar sense of dread in the air and a feeling of déjà vu. That is because, what we are witnessing right now is a rerun of last year and at vastly alarming proportions than before. The new strain of the Coronavirus is creating havoc across the country and straining the existing healthcare system once again.

Railway stations and bus depots are getting packed once again with migrant workers trying to catch a public transport back home. Once gain, we can see motley groups of migrant workers silently trudging back home with all their worldly belongings on their drooping shoulders. Thankfully, this time the exodus on foot does not seem to be as major as the last time because the trains and buses are still running. Messages of total lockdown are constantly being shared by State-level Ministers, even as the Centre is maintaining that localised containment is the best solution to effectively bring the pandemic under control.

The only fact emerging from this second wave sweeping the nation is that India has failed to take lessons from the total lockdown and the first COVID wave that hit it last year. As the experts rightly point out, somewhere towards the beginning of this year, when the active cases across the country started to come down drastically, the Government and citizens alike, threw caution to the winds. The best example of this was the number of weddings which took place in the last couple of months or the long queues outside restaurants for a seat at the table. People, tired of being stuck in the house for almost a year, forgot that masks and social distancing are going to be a part of our everyday existence for a long time to come. From weekly bazaars to shopping malls or airports, not to forget the recent festival of Holi and the Maha Kumbh in Uttarakhand, everywhere there is a massive crowd to be seen.

It was only a matter of time before the contagion started spreading exponentially. This explosion of cases that we are witnessing now was imminent and new studies suggest that the virus strain is much more infectious, even though the mortality rate could be lower.

What, therefore, needs to be done before India shuts down again for business and a year of irreparable economic damage is registered? First, as the Prime Minister has been saying, “track, trace and isolate.” India, in the last two weeks, has again got back to ramping up its testing infrastructure to identify the patients. However, the strategy should not have been discarded or taken lightly in the first instance. It took a while to set up centres testing for COVID across the country and there were instances of mandatory negative reports before anyone was allowed free movement across borders. The creation of micro-containment zones to stop the spread of infections was also an effective tool, thereby leaving the larger area open for economic activities. It is time to revisit these lessons learnt last year.

Any congregation, be it election rallies, religious or social gatherings, must be immediately banned if the pandemic is to be controlled in any manner. It is a mockery of the citizens’ patience and persistence if local lockdowns are imposed in some cities or districts thereby curtailing free movement, while thousands congregate to celebrate the festival of democracy, or mammoth religious events like the Kumbh Mela. There has to be political will cutting across party lines to immediately priorities public health and prevent the spread of the contagion by voluntarily calling off any public rallies in the remaining phases of elections. The migrants have already started to trickle back into their towns and villages from the big cities, bringing with them unknown variants of the virus. Any mass spread of the pandemic in rural belts and smaller towns may cripple the backbone of India. Any amount of night curfew or complete lockdown may not be able to contain the spread of the disease if a sizeable chunk gets infected.

India has achieved a great feat by vaccinating over 10 crore people in 86 days since the exercise began. However, vaccine shortages are being reported from across the country. First the Central Government should ensure that all States, down to the last district, get the appropriate number of vaccines and are prepared to face any life-threatening conditions due to the jab.

It is an established fact now that the new variant of the virus may make the vaccine less effective even though the mortality rates are still within control. India was one of the largest suppliers of vaccines to the world and it is time the focus shifts to domestic use. As we read this, there are five more vaccines awaiting the Government’s nod in order to be introduced into the market. Speedy approval and speedier delivery of the Sputnik V vaccine in India could go a long way in saving lives. The Government needs to rethink its vaccine strategy and provide financial support to private players to ramp up production. Plus, based on vaccine availability they should allow every willing person to start taking the jab. All the facets of this deadly disease are still unknown, however, last year’s knowledge and the preventive shield of the vaccine are always reliable options.

WPI inflation spikes to over 8-year high of 7.39% in Mar

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The wholesale price-based inflation shot up to over 8-year high of 7.39 per cent in March on rising crude oil and metal prices.

Also, the low base of March last year, when the data was computed with a low response rate due to the nationwide lockdown, contributed to the spike in inflation in March 2021.

The WPI inflation was 4.17 per cent in February 2021 and 0.42 per cent in March 2020.

This is the third straight month of up-tick seen in the wholesale price index (WPI) based inflation.

“The annual rate of inflation stood at 7.39 per cent (provisional) for the month of March 2021 over March 2020,” the Commerce and Industry Ministry said.

Such a high level of WPI was last recorded in October 2012, when inflation was 7.4 per cent.

Inflation in food articles in March was 3.24 per cent as prices of pulses, fruits and paddy hardened.

In pulses, it was 13.14 per cent in March, while in fruits and paddy, inflation was 16.33 per cent and 1.38 per cent, respectively.

In vegetables, the rate of price rise softened to (-) 5.19 per cent, against (-) 2.90 per cent in the previous month.

Inflation in the fuel and power basket was 10.25 per cent in March, against 0.58 per cent in February on higher fuel prices.

In manufactured products, inflation was 7.34 per cent.

“The prices of crude oil, petroleum products and basic metal substantially increased in March 2021 as compared to the corresponding month of last year. Also, due to nationwide lockdown, the WPI index for the month of March 2020 was computed with a relatively low response rate,” the ministry said while releasing the WPI data.

Citi to exit consumer banking biz in India, to focus on institutional segment

PTI ■ MUMBAI

American banking major Citibank on Thursday announced exiting the high visibility consumer banking business in India as part of a global strategy.

The consumer banking business comprises credit cards, retail banking, home loans and wealth management. The bank will be exiting the segment in India after more than three decades.

The bank has 35 branches in the country and employs approximately 4,000 people in the consumer banking business.

On Thursday, the bank announced exiting from the consumer banking businesses in 13 countries, with its global CEO Jane Fraser attributing the decision to an absence of scale to compete in these geographies.

Contours of the exit were not immediately known and the proposed exit from the consumer banking business will also need regulatory approvals.

“There is no immediate change to our operations and no immediate impact to our colleagues as a result of this announcement.

In the interim, we will continue to serve our clients with the same care, empathy and dedication that we do today,” Citi India’s Chief Executive Ashu Khullar said.

“... the sharpened strategy announced today will strengthen our ability to bring the full global power of Citi to our institutional clients, reinforcing our leading positions across corporate, commercial and investment banking, treasury and trade solutions, as well as markets securities services,” he added.

Citi had entered India in 1902 and started the consumer banking business in 1985.

From a social perspective, the consumer bank had extended loans of Rs 27,911 crore to agriculture, affordable housing, renewable and MSMEs (Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises) as of March 2020.

Of that amount, Rs 4,975 crore was extended to weaker sections as part of Citibank India’s priority sector lending obligations, as per a release issued by the bank last year.

Markets extend gains to 2nd day as banks, financial stocks rally

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Sensex and Nifty closed in the green after a volatile session on Thursday as investors accumulated banking, finance and select IT counters despite an unabated rise in COVID-19 cases.

A recovering rupee and positive global cues also propped up the bourses, traders said.

After gyrating 877 points during the day, the 30-share BSE Sensex ended 259.62 points or 0.53 per cent higher at 48,803.68.

Similarly, the broader NSE Nifty advanced 76.65 points or 0.53 per cent to 14,581.45.

TCS topped the Sensex gainers’ chart, climbing 3.67 per cent, followed by ONGC, ICICI Bank, HDFC Bank, Dr Reddy’s, HDFC, Axis Bank and HCL Tech.

On the other hand, Infosys was the biggest loser, dropping 2.65 per cent after its March 2021 quarter earnings missed market expectations.

The IT services major had on Wednesday posted a 17.5 per cent rise in net profit to Rs 5,076 crore for the March quarter, and announced up to Rs 9,200 crore buyback offer at a maximum price of Rs 1,750 per share.

RBI sets up RRA to streamline regulations and reduce compliance

PTI ■ MUMBAI

The Reserve Bank on Thursday set up the second Regulatory Review Authority (RRA 2.0) with a view to streamlining regulations and reducing compliance burden of regulated entities.

Reserve Bank of India Deputy Governor M Rajeshwar Rao has been appointed as the Regulations Review Authority, the central bank said in a statement.

The RBI had set up a

Regulations Review Authority (RRA) initially for a period of one year from April 1, 1999, for reviewing regulations, circulars, reporting systems, based on the feedback from public, banks and financial institutions. The recommendations of the RRA enabled streamlining and increasing the effectiveness of several procedures, simplifying regulatory prescriptions, paved the way for issuance of master circular and reduced reporting burden on regulated entities.

Amazon announces $250 mln fund for small, medium businesses in India

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

E-commerce giant Amazon on Thursday announced a USD 250 million (about Rs 1,873 crore) fund that will focus on digitising small and medium businesses, and driving innovation in the areas of agri-tech and health-tech in India.

“Small and medium sized businesses are often the engine and the lifeblood of economies and I think it’s true in India as well. And we are very passionate about trying to enable acceleration of SMBs in fuelling innovation and the economy in India,” Amazon Web Services CEO Andrew Jassy said.

Building on last year’s announcement, Amazon is announcing a new USD 250 million Amazon Smbhav Venture Fund, Jassy, who will take over as the CEO of Amazon Inc later this year, said during the second Amazon Smbhav event.

He noted that Amazon intends to help inspire more SMBs to be able to build brand new businesses.

FY22 prospects uncertain, insurers wish for an insurance cover

IANs ■ CHENNAI

Insurance is basically a business based on uncertainty of events. Curiously, the general insurance industry officials while hoping for a growth, are uncertain about the prospects for FY22, as they are faced with negative consumer sentiment; the reduction in cash flow due to withdrawal of long-term motor policy; lower investment yield and muted growth owing to economy affected by Covid-19 pandemic.

The 34-member Indian general insurance industry closed last fiscal with 5.2 per cent growth with a premium of Rs 198,734.68 crore up from Rs 188,916.61 crore logged in FY20.

“The uncertainty is high owing to the Covid-19 pandemic. The consumer sentiment is negative.

The health insurance portfolio will continue to do well. The motor insurance business should do well if the economy doesn’t deteriorate further. Some sport utility vehicles (SUV) have waiting periods,” Roopam Asthana, CEO and the Whole Time Director, Liberty General Insurance Ltd told IANS.

HAVE A SAFE JOURNEY

Urgent travel plans amid the pandemic? Here are a few things to keep in mind while booking your tickets

India is a land of varied culture and one of the best ways to explore its beauty is by experiencing a train ride. As soon as you enter a train station, you are greeted by the site of multiple vendors selling their products, different types of trains entering and leaving the platforms and people running back & forth to drop/receive their relatives. To match the needs of modern times, trains in India are equipped with CCTV cameras, bio-toilets and internet connectivity, ensuring the highest level of comfort to passengers. Though all this may excite you to hop on the train right away, much of the train travel experience has changed due to COVID-19.

With the pandemic not willing to take a beating, Indian Railways had to come up with a certain set of rules to promote social distancing and keep a check on the spread of infection. Because of this, the glam and charm of the train journeys are not what they used to be. That means a ban on entry of hawkers selling food, fewer pit-stops in between to take a joy ride, etc, are the new normal. Even after knowing all this, if you have urgent travel plans and have chosen 'train' as your medium for the ride, there are a few things you need to do or know while booking your ticket.

PLAN YOUR TRAVEL AHEAD OF TIME

COVID is not a hoax and shouldn't be considered otherwise. If you wish to stay at a hotel in your chosen destination, you should scan through the COVID protocols and go with the safest option. It's also recommended to go for off-season dates (weekdays) to avoid mixing with the heavy crowd. Further, you should map the places you wish to visit and be prepared to tackle the infection like a champ.

NO MORE 'UNRESERVED TRAVEL' FOR YOU

To avoid overcrowded trains and minimise the spread of infection, trains no longer allow unreserved travel. Reserved bookings are the only way to board the trains without security saying 'no entry' to your face. So, make sure you have a confirmed train ticket to travel to your destination.

GO THROUGH THE COVID PROTOCOLS

To ensure the safety of its citizens and passengers, several state governments have updated their COVID protocols. For instance, the Tamil Nadu government has made it mandatory for train passengers from several Indian territories to register online a few days before coming to the state. You should check all the guidelines listed by your chosen destination to avoid breaking any rules and spoiling your journey.

SHARE YOUR COMPLETE ADDRESS

Earlier, there was no need to share your address details while booking train tickets. But now with COVID hovering over our heads, the risk of an outbreak/new red zone is quite imminent, even on trains. So, passengers have to provide their correct and complete address details to the Indian Railways so that they can trace them when needed.

GET YOUR RT-PCR TEST DONE

As more and more COVID+ cases surround our country, Indian Railways have requested passengers to get their RT-PCR tests done within 72-96 hours of boarding the train, which guarantees that a person is safe to travel (after getting a negative result), without posing a health risk to other passengers. The listed timeline varies from one Indian state to another. It's recommended that a passenger gets familiar with the rules laid by the chosen destination to avoid any trouble.

The COVID pandemic has indeed introduced a few roadblocks in the train travel industry. But as we try to overcome these and prepare for a post-COVID world, passengers have to carefully follow the rules laid down by the government. So, whether you are travelling for work or pleasure, just make sure to remember the above details while booking your train ticket to experience a safe journey ahead.

'Busy exploring shades of myself'

Actor KRITI SANON shares that no set or film is like the other

Kriti Sanon is the busiest bee of tinsel town currently with more than six films in her kitty. What makes these even more interesting is the range of her films in terms of their genres. From a horror comedy to an action film, the actor will be seen leading multiple genre films.

Talking about having so many different genres in her lineup Kriti says, "My work is so exciting because no set, no film is like the other. Doing such varied genres is helping me explore different shades of myself as an actor."

She adds, "From Bhediya being a horror comedy to action in Ganpath, mythology in Adipurush and an entertainer like Bachchan Pandey, I have many genres that I am working on right now which makes all the work even more exciting and interesting. It does also keep me on my toes."

Sanon has a bag of big budget films in her lineup for which she has been shooting non-stop for a while with all safety measures being taken as per government guidelines. She has been shooting in Arunachal Pradesh for Bhediya with Varun Dhawan, which is a horror comedy.

She will be seen playing Sita in Om Raut's mythological drama Adipurush with Prabhas. She has also signed an entertainer film Bachchan Pandey with Akshay Kumar and the drama - Mimi, which will star her as the solo lead. The actor also has a quirky comedy, Hum Do Hamare Do with Rajkummar Rao and her first action film, Ganpath.

'I am proud'

VIN DIESEL opens up about what makes his Fast & Furious franchise so popular globally. He says that people feel they've grown up with the saga

"I think the greatest difference is when the first film came out, you had no idea who these characters were. You had no idea what world you were entering when you came into the theatres to see this movie. Now, people feel that they have grown up with this saga. People feel like this is their franchise," said he.

Fast & Furious 9: The Fast Saga also stars John Cena, Michelle Rodriguez and Dwayne Johnson. The film is directed by Justin Lin. Diesel stressed that each time the makers embark on a new chapter they always thought of how to reach higher.

"How do we dazzle the audience or engage the audience even more? As John (Cena) articulated these are characters that are very familiar to the moviegoer, and the moviegoer has their own relationship with this family of characters that live in the saga. I will just say there is a familiarity," said Diesel.

He added: "I remember when the cast members used to say the release of Fast And Furious is like a holiday the world expects to see it every two years."

Fast & Furious 9 is the penultimate film in the franchise, and the next part will be done in two films. As of now, it has been decided the two-part tenth film would wrap up the series.

"When my daughter heard that ten would be the last, broken into two films, she started crying and I can't tell you how bad I felt. I tried to console her but she just didn't want to hear that this world saga could finally have a finale," Diesel, whose real name is Mark Sinclair, said.

He finds it incredible that the fans can finally have a look at the ninth installment.

He said: "It feels incredible to be a part of something that will bring the world together again. There is something I think we as society never anticipated we'd be losing by not being able to be entertained together as a community."

"There is something special that happens when people see Fast And Furious in a packed audience with your family, friends and your loved ones, and you can feel the rumble of excitement and you can feel the emotions in the theatre building," he said.

"To be a part of the return to the theatrical experience is something so right, and I feel so proud of. To do it with my family that has been doing it for two decades is a dream come true," he concluded.

KUSHAN MITRA

Recently, I got my hands on the Refreshed BMW 6-series, it takes this very nice sportback sedan to another level of refinement. Driving it in the 630i M Sport trim is extremely engaging. I have always liked BMW's two-litre turbocharged petrol engine with the 30i moniker and 250 horsepower. This particular one, running the longer-wheelbase variant of the 5-series platform, will go up against the recently refreshed E-Class sedan from Mercedes-Benz. Honestly, in this segment, the Mercedes wins out, not because it is the better vehicle but because of the badge value. The E-Class is the standard luxury sedan of choice for the companies and governments alike. It is the car, once you hit a certain age, that you want to be seen in.

But, as the title of this piece suggests, I have a preference for BMWs. While I am not alone among automotive writers here because other than a few dastardly misses with exterior design, they are all very engaging to drive, and we will not get into the mad-cap super-sedans that all the German companies put out. But sitting behind the wheel of the 6-series, I realised why I really enjoy driving a BMW even bumper-to-bumper traffic in the city. I love BMW's iDrive system, and one major reason is because it has been most consistent in terms of functionality among all the luxury car manufacturers. I experienced this system over a decade ago, there has been a consistency to the way it functions.

There has been no sudden dramatic change between generations of the iDrive system. Although it has come a long way from the very basic system that I first experienced on the E65 7-

Why I like BMWs

More than performance, BMW has always been on the ball when it comes to their infotainment system — the fabled iDrive series years ago, the fact that the click-wheel, despite touchpads and touchscreens being added over the years, and the button layout on the centre console added in the third iteration of the system, remain the same. Of all the infotainment and car control systems of any manufacturer, I can find my way around the iDrive system just by feel. While it was called 'iDrive' because the 'i' was then in vogue, thanks to Apple. I must admit that the system, like iOS, has evolved without drama over the years.

On top of that, BMW's integration with iOS is among the most comprehensive of any carmaker and over the years, they have taken out the kinks. For example, BMW was the first carmaker to have wireless connectivity for Apple CarPlay. And initially working one's way through the menus to connect an iPhone through CarPlay could take a reasonable amount of time even if you knew your way around the system. On cars like the 6-series that run the eighth-generation iDrive system, it takes under 30 seconds. Honestly for the life of me I do not understand why other luxury carmakers haven't done wireless connectivity as yet, particularly since every new iPhone or even mid-spec Chinese Android phone has wireless inductive charging and all cars come with a wireless charging bay.

There are many good reasons to choose a BMW, after all, they are great to drive like this 630i is. And while the large kidney grilles on some of the latest cars such as the X7 and the forthcoming 4-series may not be to your aesthetic choices (they do look better in real life than on the wide-angle handout photos), BMW's iDrive system is strangely enough, becoming a top reason to choose the car, because just like the driving, it really does bring a smile to your face.

DON'T BELIEVE IN A B&W WORLD: VIDYA

Actor VIDYA BALAN shared a monochrome picture on social media, saying she does not believe in a black and white world except for a picture.

Vidya posted the picture on Instagram, where she is seen sitting on a chair dressed in a black outfit. She completed her look by leaving her long hair open with a middle parting.

"I don't believe in a black and white world, except for a picture maybe," she wrote as the caption.

JLO AND ALEX RODRIGUEZ BREAK UP

Singer JENNIFER LOPEZ and baseball star ALEX RODRIGUEZ have officially ended their relationship. The two called off their engagement.

"We have realised we are better as friends and look forward to remaining so. We will continue to work together and support each other on our shared businesses and projects," they jointly said in the statement.

They said they "wish the best for each other and one another's children."

TIME TO DETOX

Fasting is an effective way to get rid of accumulated toxins from the body. AISHWARYA DWIVEDI shares a few tried and tested weight loss techniques which you can try this Navratri

Be it any religion or any ritual, they always have a logic behind it. Navratri usually falls on the time of season change, when our immunity is low and we are most likely to fall sick. This time is best for detox and fasting is an effective way to get rid of accumulated toxins from the body and mind. So here are a few tried and tested weight loss and detox technique, which you can try this Navratri.

STAY HYDRATED

To achieve a healthy weight loss, keeping yourself hydrated is must. Also, water plays a key role in suppressing your appetite. One must drink at least three to four litres of water. This really works if you are trying to lose fat off your belly. Other ways to stay hydrated during Navratri is to have coconut water, more of water-based vegetables and fruits like muskmelon, watermelon, cucumber, etc.

One interesting recipe you can try is trying the latest trend: Nature's natural cereal. In a bowl, combine all your favourite fruits like watermelon, papaya, pineapple, pomegranate, grapes and add coconut water into it. Top with ice and chia seeds (optional). Avoid including bananas and mangos.

Another drink which can be included is by taking one bowl of your favourite cut fruit like strawberry, watermelon, mango with one bowl of ice and half bowl of milk, water or yoghurt whichever is appropriate as per the fruit and making a slush or frappe. Sounds tempting, isn't it?

Tip: Avoid packaged fruit juice or coconut water as they contain sugar. Try opting for natural things.

DON'T STARVE OR SKIP MEALS

Most people tend to skip meals expecting a faster result. But this lowers metabolism and hampers your digestive system in the longer run. One must have three to four balanced meals even during Navratri. Fruits like apple, watermelons, dry fruits like almonds and raisins, roasted foxnuts are excellent snacks. Eat them whenever you feel hungry. Cucumber and yoghurt, especially homemade, is a great snacking option as well.

EAT SAGO (SABUDANA) KHICHADI

Sago (sabudana) is a rich source of carbohydrates and calories, but if taken in right and small quantity, it is very wholesome, provides energy, prevents digestion issues and aids muscle growth. So here is one such delicious recipe of sabudana khichadi:

INGREDIENTS

- ▣ Sabudana (soaked overnight): 100 gm
- ▣ Peanuts: 20 gm
- ▣ Green chillies (chopped): 3-4
- ▣ Coriander (chopped): 20 gm
- ▣ Red chilli as per taste (optional)
- ▣ Rock salt as per taste
- ▣ Desi ghee: 1-2 tbsp

METHOD

- ▣ In a non-stick pan, heat desi ghee.
- ▣ Now shallow fry peanuts until crispy and keep them aside in a bowl.
- ▣ In the same ghee, now add chopped green chillies and saute for one to two minutes. Now add sabudana (washed three to four times after being soaked overnight or minimum for three hours.)
- ▣ Saute the sadudana for three to five minutes and keep stirring so that they don't turn sticky.
- ▣ Add rock salt as per taste. You can also add red chillies as per taste.
- ▣ Finally after cooking for five to seven minutes on low flame, garnish with chopped coriander and peanuts.
- ▣ Serve with cucumber salad and fresh yoghurt.

AVOID SUGAR

The most important thing while considering detox or weight loss is to completely skip sugar. Honey or jaggery can be used as a substitute when required. Try to avoid sweets as much as possible. So think twice before having lot of prasad.

TRY SAMAK RICE AND BOTTLE GOURD KHICHADI

Barnyard millet or samak grain is a good source of protein, carbohydrate, fiber and micronutrients (iron and zinc). It also has high content of fibre which helps to keep the body feeling full. This stops the urge to consume more food and avoiding high calorie intake. Bottle gourd aids weight loss, helps in digestion and reduces stress. So here is a delicious one pot recipe combining these powerful ingredients to make a scrumptious meal.

INGREDIENTS

- ▣ Bottle gourd (small): 1
- ▣ Samak rice: 1 cup
- ▣ Desi ghee: 1tbsp

- ▣ Water: 5-6 cups
- ▣ Green chilli: 4-5
- ▣ Rock salt and red chilli powder as per taste
- ▣ Coriander

METHOD

- ▣ In a pressure cooker, add desi ghee.
- ▣ After ghee heats up, add chopped bottle gourd, green chillies and cook on a medium flame until soft for five to seven minutes approximately.
- ▣ Now add salt and red chilli as per taste.
- ▣ After bottle gourd turns soft, wash samak rice and add. Saute for two to three minutes.
- ▣ Now add luke warm water and garnish with coriander.
- ▣ Pressure cook until one whistle.
- ▣ Serve with cucumber and raita.

Home-made pastries are becoming a new trend in India. It has become a form of expression, a stress relief exercise and most importantly a display of skills. As a beginner, whether you're trying to treat your loved ones after dinner or you want to impress your friends on social media, you can't afford to go wrong with a pretty cake.

Before you decide to go into a kitchen, start with the list of baking tools you must have. We'll help you set up a baking kit for beginners. For those who already own these tools, the list may provide motivation that you need to prepare the yummiest pastries or cakes. Building your essential baking toolbox starts here:

PASTRY BRUSH

This tool is one of the most important and has uses more than you can realise. It can be used to grease a pan before pouring cake in it, to coat dough with melted butter or egg wash or to paint milk on the top of pie crust. This is a must-have.

MEASURING CUPS

Baking is all about accuracy, so having a full set of measuring cups and spoons is a must. One

Bakers gonna bake

Whether you're trying to treat your loved ones after dinner or you want to impress your friends on social media, you can't afford to go wrong with a pretty cake. Here are top 10 pastry tools every home-baker should have type of cup for measuring isn't enough for baking. You will need both dry and wet measuring cups to precisely measure all the ingredients you're putting in your recipe. Most measuring spoons sets have a tablespoon, ½ teaspoon, and ¼ teaspoon, while most measuring cups come in sets with ½ cup, ⅓ cup and ¼ cup.

WHISK

Whisk is used to beat together a few eggs, but it is used for other things too. In particular, it's one of the best to thoroughly mix various ingredients but it is also great for stirring together a homemade custard.

BAKING PAN

From flat baking trays for cookies and loaf tins for breads and loaf cakes to square tins for brownies and round tins for classic sponge cake, the baking pans come in different sizes and shapes. Non-stick aluminum baking pan is better than a glass one. While glass one looks more stylish and presentable, aluminum has high heat conductivity so that you cook evenly.

STAND MIXER

An electric stand mixer is expensive, but once you use it, you'll wonder how did you ever manage without it, especially when you make things like marshmallows, they require beating for 10 or more minutes. It makes your cooking easier, takes off the physical load and saves a lot of time. Most importantly, it gives a better result in the final product.

ICING SPATULA

It is needed to evenly spread the cream all over the cake. It comes in different sizes and is needed as per the size/height of the cake. If you don't have an icing spatula, you can use the back, straight edge of a large knife to smooth your butter cream and then clean up the bottom of your cake plate with a paper towel. Next, take a freezer bag and fill it with your icing. Push the icing into one corner and twist the bag.

METAL BOWLS

Baking often necessitates frostings, caramels, and creams, which can be finicky if they're not kept at a steady temperature, are too warm. A frosting might not whip properly, for example, if ingredients are too warm. Metal bowls are really helpful as they are a better conductor of heat than glass.

SERRATED KNIFE

This is the best knife for cutting a cake in half or thirds. It will help maintain a smooth, precise cut that's perfect for when you want to add a flavourful layer of fruit jam or fluffy buttercream to a pastry or a birthday cake.

PASTRY BAG DECORATING KIT

If you want to decorate your pastries with rose petals or a basetweave to the top, then you'll need some pastry decorating tools. This kit contains six different shaped tips and two reusable nylon bags, which are more eco-friendly than disposable plastic bags because they can be used over and over again.

GEL-BASED FOOD DYE

Gel-based food dye is used to create vibrant pastries and cakes. You should avoid water-based dyes found in little tubes at the supermarket as these dyes are so weak they'll produce pastels in place of bold, saturated ones. Natural dye is great too, but don't expect the same results.

BUCKWHEAT (KUTTU ATTA) KADHI

WHAT YOU NEED

- Sour yoghurt: 250 gm
- Buckwheat (kuttu atta): 1 tbsp
- Curry leaf: 5-6
- Black cardamom: 1-2
- Black mustard seeds: ½ tsp
- Green chillies (slit down the middle): 1-2,
- Ghee: 1 tbsp
- Himalayan pink salt (sendha namak) as per taste

METHOD

- Hand beat the sour yoghurt and buckwheat flour together ensuring there are no lumps.
- Heat ghee in a kadhai. Once hot, add curry leaves, black mustard seeds, black cardamom and green chillies till the ghee is fragrant.
- Turn off the flame.
- Slowly pour in the yoghurt and buckwheat while whisking continuously. This is done to avoid the yoghurt from splitting.
- Put it back on low heat while continuously whisking. Add salt. Keep whisking till bubbles appear, that means the yoghurt has been cooked.

- Cook it till the desired consistency, some like their kadhi thin and runny, while some like it thick. Do keep in mind that this will keep getting thicker as it cools down.

- Adjust seasoning and serve hot.
