A month of national lockdown can eat up 1-2% of GDP

Money 08

A month-long national lockdown will impact the growth of GDP by 1-2%, according to a report by Oxford Economics. The report projected that the growth rate for FY22 will be 7.5% if the lockdown period is limited to one month. The lockdown period may last for more than one month, which could impact the national GDP by 1-2%, it added.

Several countries have attempted to manage the COVID-19 pandemic by imposing lockdowns, but these measures have led to significant economic losses. A lockdown imposed in April 2020 in India reduced the GDP growth rate to -7.4% in FY20-21.

Oxford Economics, a global advisory firm focused on the future of economies and industries, found that a month-long lockdown, if implemented in March, could lead to a decrease in GDP by 1-2%.

The report said that these impacts would be even greater if the lockdown period is extended. While the lockdown period is not yet clear, the report recommended that the government ensure that the lockdown is extended only for the necessary duration and that it is followed by a comprehensive stimulus package.

Govt to frame policy on project financing in coal mining: Official

The Coal Ministry is yet to finalise the policy but is likely to be announced this week.

India has the fourth-largest coal reserves in the world but has been struggling to increase production due to environmental concerns.

The policy is expected to help companies raise funds for coal mining projects, which are generally hit by high investment costs.

The government has been encouraging companies to invest in coal mining to meet the country’s energy needs and reduce dependence on imported coal.

Meanwhile, the government is also planning to auction coal blocks by allowing private companies to bid for them.

Oxford Economics lowers India’s 2021 GDP growth forecast to 10.2 pc

Oxford Economics, in its latest report, has revised its India GDP growth forecast for 2021 to 10.2% from the previous 11.8%.

The ratings agency said that the growth rate for the current fiscal year may be lower due to the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic. The agency also noted that the government’s efforts to increase its spending will not help in achieving the growth rate as the pharmaceutical industry, which is a significant contributor to the country’s GDP, has been hit by the pandemic.

The agency also warned that there is a risk that the growth rate may be lower than the forecast due to the second wave of the pandemic.

Despite the pandemic, the government has been planning to increase its spending to support the economy. However, the agency said that the increase in spending may not be enough to support the economy and that the government may need to take more steps to support the economy.

The agency also noted that there is a risk of a further decline in the growth rate as the pandemic worsens.

In an interview with Ojha in his office, the author of Breaking the Barriers to Fitness, Anuj Ojha, shared his insights and experiences on the subject.

Q: Getting started with fitness is the hardest part, isn’t it? What does the book suggest as a solution?

A: In this new age of health and fitness, achieving your fitness goals requires a continuous practice of certain habits that focus on the fitness. People must not feel that they have to stop, because they are not good, but they don’t have an attack plan that motivates and organizes. There is a fundamental drawback in the way people approach fitness and organize their fitness habits. The book, Fitness Habits, is that guide you need to take the first step to create a sustainable habit through minimal shifts and modifications in your life.

Q: The pandemic has made us all get closer, and also aware of this lack of physical activity. How would you say the book will help?

A: Covid or not, we all know that a regular workout routine is the key to optimum health. The pandemic has just highlighted the fact that people are not investing time into our fitness. But, don’t they know how to stay healthy, and who talk about staying healthy there are a lot of people, and some people speak strangely about the key to keep healthy, weight loss, and so on. All these can be related to one single thing only — when you make fitness a habit. Once you have fitness in your habit, you will automatically eat healthy, you will have better sleep, you will change habits, and you will change your lifestyle.

Q: It’s all the mind — What is your mind transition tool?

A: Often people are trapped in their own thoughts, and are not able to understand and reshape their behavioral patterns. People have been stuck for a long time now, and their behavioral patterns are unnatural, old-fashioned, and self-limiting.

A: A strong, positive, and motivating factor and makes your goals, can work as a huge motivator. You will decide when and where you choose to achieve the bigger picture.

Q: What are your top tips to get started with your fitness journey and keep it up?

A: Start easy, find the simplest workout you can do in 10 minutes, and do it. Follow the 8 seconds of making fitness a habit. It is not even a habit, it is a path you are on. A little step towards your fitness goals is a success. Find Your Why, Go, Do, Feel, See, Taste. Better your Cue. Prep Your Environment and Execute Your Plan. Since fitness habit formation is a long-term process, it needs a constant shift and change in your behavior. Make it a habit. The way you think, the way you feel, the way you do things, the way you take your daily life only when you take small constant steps.

Q: What is the biggest challenge to finding your perfect match using a dating app?

A: The biggest challenge to finding your perfect match using a dating app is the expectation of finding someone who is exactly like you. People are always looking for someone who is exactly like them, but the reality is that no one is exactly like you. People want to find someone who is similar to them, but they don’t know how to stay healthy, and who talk about staying healthy there are a lot of people, and some people speak strangely about the key to keep healthy, weight loss, and so on. All these can be related to one single thing only — when you make fitness a habit. Once you have fitness in your habit, you will automatically eat healthy, you will have better sleep, you will change habits, and you will change your lifestyle.

Q: If you were to describe your fitness journey in a single word, what would that be?

A: Q: The pandemic has made us all get closer, and also aware of this lack of physical activity. How would you say the book will help?

A: Covid or not, we all know that a regular workout routine is the key to optimum health. The pandemic has just highlighted the fact that people are not investing time into our fitness. But, don’t they know how to stay healthy, and who talk about staying healthy there are a lot of people, and some people speak strangely about the key to keep healthy, weight loss, and so on. Rajasthan Royals have four young foreign players from England, Australia, and New Zealand, who are part of their IPL squad. However, due to the ongoing pandemic, the team has not been able to travel to India. The Royals have approached fellow IPL teams to loan players after the auction. The team is currently sitting at the bottom of the IPL points table.

The IPL loan window opened on March 27, 2021, and will remain open until April 12, 2021. The window is a chance for teams to make changes to their squad before the remaining phase of the tournament.

The Royals will have to forget about their 69-run loss to Kings XI Punjab (KXIP) on Thursday and focus on their upcoming game against Sunrisers Hyderabad (SRH) on Sunday. The Royals are currently at the bottom of the table with four points from three matches.

The IPL final scheduled to be held on May 30 in Ahmedabad. The tournament is expected to resume in a couple of weeks, with the teams set to play the rest of the season.
