A part from the agricultural sector, the manufacturing sector too has been affected significantly by the pandemic. The World Health Organization (WHO) has classified the COVID-19 pandemic as a global health crisis, highlighting its impact on various sectors, including manufacturing.

With the advent of new technologies like automation and robotics, the manufacturing sector is witnessing a shift towards digital transformation. This shift is aimed at improving efficiency, reducing costs, and enhancing productivity. The Indian manufacturing sector, in particular, has been at the forefront of this transformation.

New farm motors to save power

The State Energy Department has launched a campaign to promote the use of energy-efficient motors in the agricultural sector. The department has partnered with the leading manufacturers of farm motors to provide discounts and incentives on the purchase of these motors. The initiative is expected to save a significant amount of power and reduce electricity bills for farmers.

Jagan to inaugurate Mana Badi Nedu-Nedu phase-1 on August 16

Leader of the Opposition N Chandrababu Naidu on Sunday addressed a press conference at Gannavaram, Prakasam district, where he claimed that the TDP had been working on the project for over two years, through the Bhainsalapur, Cemmanadiyal-valampotha-uyyakondan-pattinam alias Raddupadi, Banaganapalli, SreeSubramanya, Kottilakuncha, Soujana, Cemmanadiyal, Vallaparam in Visakhapatnam, and SreeSubramanya villages included in the project.

The TDP leader said that the inclusion of these villages would result in the establishment of 12,000 residential colonies, as part of the Mana Badi Nedu-Nedu programme.

He added that the TDP had already set up 6,000 colonies in various parts of the state, with the help of the government.

The TDP leader also highlighted the importance of such colonies in providing affordable housing to the people.

He further pointed out that the TDP government had taken several steps to ensure the development of the rural areas, including the establishment of agricultural universities and the promotion of allied industries.

The TDP leader also thanked the farmers and the laborers for their contribution to the state's development.

He concluded by saying that the TDP government would continue to work towards the betterment of the people, and that the Mana Badi Nedu-Nedu programme was a testament to that.

Mizoram government crisis

The Mizoram government crisis is back with a vengeance as the Congress government, after a 4-year rule, lost its majority in the Assembly, and the opposition Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) with its allies has emerged as the single largest party in the Assembly with 36 seats out of 50.

The Congress, which ruled the tiny northeastern state for the last four years, has been left with only 24 seats in the assembly.

The situation has worsened for the Congress government after a section of the party leaders led by former chief minister Lal Thanhawal joined the BJP.

The Congress is now likely to be forced to either resign or face a trust vote in the Assembly.

The Congress government lost its majority in the assembly after two members of the party, including a minister, joined the BJP on Saturday.

The two defectors, who joined the BJP, are J. Biren Singh, who is the chief minister, and Lal Thanhawal, who is the former chief minister.

The two defectors were among the 11 Congress MLAs who had joined the BJP earlier this month.

The Congress government had been in power since 2018, after it won the assembly elections with a narrow margin.

Babul Supriyo, a former TMC minister, is upset after being ousted from the Modi cabinet. The TMC has configured Babul's unpopularity with the BJP's poor performance in recent state elections. Babul had it rough with the BJP's state-level unit as well. He was not on good terms with the state chief Dilip Ghosh and, indeed, the state unit of the party. Often he would make public utterances that would make him unpopular with the party's supporters. Babul may try to throw his support behind the TMC in the 2019 general elections, but he lost the 2018 Assembly elections by 50,000 votes.

A month ago, it seemed another story of talk without action might be repeated. But for the first time in almost a year, something tangible has emerged from the GST Council meeting.

The council approved a one-time automatic quarterly GST rate cut of 2 per cent on more than 450 items. This is a significant step in simplifying tax rates and making compliance easier for small and medium enterprises.

The rate cut will be effective from October 1, 2021, and will apply to more than 450 items, including food products, clothing, footwear, and medical equipment. The move is expected to boost consumer demand and help small businesses.

This is a welcome development after the prolonged COVID-19 pandemic, which has hit small businesses hard. The rate cut will help reduce their tax burden and make it easier for them to compete with larger players.

The GST Council is a high-level body that provides guidance and recommendations to the Finance Ministry on tax policy matters. Its recommendations are usually followed by the Ministry in its budget proposals.

The one-time rate cut is a significant move in simplifying tax rates and making compliance easier for small and medium enterprises. It is a positive step towards creating a fairer and more efficient tax system.

UNION MINISTER FOR ROAD TRANSPORT AND HIGHWAYS Nitin Gadkari has ordered a fresh panel to open one side of the 1.6-km long Border Tunnel to traffic.

This is the first road tunnel in the Mahakali Ganga corridor that will drastically improve connectivity between Tapovan and Kuttunke.

The 1.6-km long tunnel is being built on the New Delhi-Dehradun expressway, the NH-58.

For now, the road service is not only missing over the 9.1-km-long IED corridor without endangering traffic, it is also completely out of service, raising serious challenges to the small businesses to operate in the corridor.

They are impacting the delivery of essential services, like food, logistic services, and afflicting their competitors in the domestic and international market, said a local merchant.

We urge the government to open this road tunnel at the earliest, sooner than later.

The Centre centre releases for filling anti-dumping applications

The government has simplified the rules for filing the anti-dumping applications seeking anti-dumping duties, approximately 100 complaints are pending with the authorities, according to a note outlined in the Defence Production's (DIPP) website.

As per the simplified procedure, all exporters, importers, producers and domestic users that are required to provide detailed data will have to save cost-power, instead, all such producers will be required to file basic information, such as domestic prices, in a format prepared and circulated by DIPP.

The Dontor General (DGTR), is the purpose of determining injury margin may lead to the initiation of anti-dumping duties.
