CDS Rawat, his wife, 11 others killed

IAF chopper
crashes in TN,
Gr Capt Singh
lone survivor

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The country was stunned on Wednesday when first Chief of Defence Staff (CDS) General Bipin Rawat, his wife, and 11 other military personnel were killed after the helicopter carrying them crashed in Coonoor in Tamil Nadu. Rawat is survived by two daughters.

Group Captain P Chauhan, the commander of the helicopter, was killed along with Brigadier L Lidder and Lt Colonel Harinder Singh (both serving in the CDS staff) and five security personnel. The rescue team retrieved all 14 passengers from the helicopter.

"With deep regret, it has now been ascertained that General Bipin Rawat, Mrs Madhulika Rawat and 11 other persons on board have died in the unfortunate accident," the IAF said in a tweet.

Group Captain Varun Singh is the sole survivor of the crash and is being treated for severe burn injuries at the military hospital in Wellington. Incidentally, Singh won the Shaurya Chakra in August for his courage in handling a Tejas fighter aircraft after it was hit by major technical issues during a sortie last year.

Incidentally, Rawat had survived a helicopter crash on February 3, 2015, in Dimapur, Nagaland when the Cheetah helicopter met a mishap. He was a Lt General at that time.

Bodies of Rawat and his wife will be consigned to flames on Friday at Delhi Cantonment. Their mortal remains are expected to arrive in the National Capital in a military plane by Thursday evening. Rawat will be cremated with full military and State honours.

IAF chief VR Chaudhari, who rushed to Coonoor where the mishap took place, will accompany the body of the CDS and his wife to the national Capital. The Cabinet Committee on Security (CCS) headed by Prime Minister Narendra Modi reviewed the implications of the tragic event.

Following the mishap, the mandatory court of inquiry was ordered. Air Marshal will head the probe to ascertain the cause.

In 1963, a helicopter carrying top military echelon crashed in Poonch killing all the occupants, including the pilot. In 1993, a similar accident took place in Bhutan when an Indian Army commander and his wife were killed after his helicopter went down.

In the 1963 mishap, an Army commander, corps chief, IAF senior commander besides the pilot were killed after their helicopter reportedly got entangled in the overhead high voltage electricity and telephone cables.

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Russian-made Mi-17 V5 which crashed on Wednesday killing CDS Bipin Rawat and 12 others is seen as a sturdy machine that is meant to fly in the combat zone and has a capacity of 20 passengers.

However, at least five crashes involving the Mi-17 helicopter have taken place in as many years.

Known as the warhorse among the armed forces, this helicopter can also carry heavy load, including tanks and fly at a height of nearly 5,000 metre. At present, the IAF has nearly 140 such helicopters. The IAF started them inducting into service in 2012. The Government is likely to order a thorough technical review of the entire fleet, sources said.

The frequent crash of Mi-17V5 helicopter has baffled the experts since it is an advanced military transport helicopter. Manufactured by Russian Helicopters' subsidiary Kazan, the helicopter has onboard weather radar and is equipped with the latest generation of night vision devices.

It also has the new PKV-8 autopilot system and a KNEI-8 avionics suite. It can carry a maximum take-off weight of 13,000 kg and maximum payload weight of 4,000 kg and fly at a speed of 250 km per hour.

India had in 2008 signed a deal with Russia to induct 80 Mi-17V5 medium lift helicopters for strengthening its fleet for humanitarian and disaster relief missions and transport operations.

The contract was later expanded for delivery of 151 Mi-17V5 helicopters. The first batch of these helicopters came to India in September 2011. In February 2012, the IAF had formally Mi-17V5 helicopters from Russia to enhance its operational capabilities, including carrying troops and cargo to high altitude areas. The helicopter is fitted with a self-defence system against heat seeker missiles, heavily-armoured cockpit, vital systems and components.

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

As the security establishment is coming to terms with the implications of the air mishap involving Chief of Defence Staff (CDS) General Bipin Rawat, the top brass has to now prepare to hand over the CDS baton to a new person.

As the first CDS of the country, Rawat took charge in January last year. The Government selected him on the principle of first among equals as regards the three Services chiefs. He assumed charge as the Army Chief in 2017. He was to retire at the end of in 2019 when the Government appointed him as the CDS.

Present Army chief General MM Naravane is the senior most among the three chiefs as of now and the Government may appoint him as the CDS, sources said here on Wednesday.

The Cabinet Committee on Security (CCS) headed by the Prime Minister will take a call on the impact of this unprecedented event on the strategic and defence architecture, they said.

Elaborating upon the urgency to have a CDS in place, they said the Line of Actual Control (LAC) remains tense in Ladakh for the last two years and Pakistan might try to take advantage of the situation in Afghanistan by pushing battle-hardened Afghan militants into Jammu & Kashmir from across the LoC.

Moreover, China is making forays into the strategically important Indian Ocean region and flexing its maritime muscle in the Indo-Pacific region, posing a challenge to India's security interests, they said.

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Union Cabinet on Wednesday approved the funding and implementation of the ₹44,605 crore Ken-Betwa inter-linking of rivers project, which will address the water scarcity in the Bundelkhand region of Madhya Pradesh and poll-bound Uttar Pradesh.

The Cabinet meeting chaired by Prime Minister

Narendra Modi also approved the continuation of Pradhan Mantri Awaas Yojana (Rural) for another three years to provide financial assistance for the construction of the remaining 155.75 lakh houses under the scheme.

Briefing media, Information and Broadcasting Minister Anurag Thakur said the Ken-Betwa rivers inter-linking project will get Central support of ₹39,317 crore, covering a grant of ₹36,290 crore and a loan of ₹3,027 crore. This will pave the way for more such projects for interlinking of rivers in the country, he added.

The Ken-Betwa project involves the transfer of water from the Ken river to the Betwa river through the construction of the Daudhan dam (the Lower Orr project, Kotha Barrage) and a canal linking the two rivers (the Bina Complex Multipurpose project). The project will ensure annual irrigation of over 10.62 lakh hectares of land, drinking water supply to a population of about 62 lakh, and also generate 103 MW of hydropower and 27 MW of solar power.

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

Taking serious cognisance of the rapid spread of Omicron across the world, Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray on Wednesday directed the State health administration to increase the pace of Covid-19 vaccination so as to build resistance among the people against contracting the new variant of the coronavirus.

On a day when Maharashtra crossed a landmark of 12 crore single dose vaccinations and the total number of the people who have received both the doses touched 4.37 crore, no new case of Omicron was reported in the State on Wednesday. The total number of Omicron cases stood at 10.

Jab booster offers safety
against Omicron: Pfizer

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Laboratory experiments have found that Omicron variant of Covid-19 virus seems to dull the power of the Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine, but also hinted that people who have received a booster shot might be better protected, said a study.

Published online on Tuesday, the study found that antibodies produced by vaccinated people were much less successful at keeping the omicron variant from infecting cells than other forms of the coronavirus.

Scientists said the results were somewhat worrisome, but no cause for panic. The data suggests that vaccinated people might be vulnerable to breakthrough infections with Omicron, which is spreading rapidly in South Africa and has appeared in dozens of countries around the world.

But vaccines stimulate a wide-ranging immune response that involves more than just antibodies. So these experiments offer an incomplete picture of how well the vaccine protects against hospitalisation or death from Omicron.

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

President Ram Nath Kovind, Vice President M Venkaiah Naidu, Prime Minister Narendra Modi and leaders across the political spectrum condoled the demise of Chief of Defence Staff General Bipin Rawat and hailed his contribution to the armed forces as well as the country.

Kovind said it was deeply painful for him to learn of the loss of lives in the helicopter crash in Tamil Nadu. "I join fellow citizens in paying tributes to each of those who died while performing their duty. My heartfelt condolences to the bereaved families," he tweeted.

While Vice President Naidu said he was deeply shocked by the tragic death of Rawat, his wife, senior officials of the armed forces and others in the helicopter crash in Coonoor, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said he is deeply anguished by the helicopter crash in which "we have lost General Bipin Rawat, his wife and other personnel of the armed forces". "They served India with utmost diligence. My thoughts are with the bereaved families," the PM said.

Hailing Rawat as an "outstanding soldier", Modi said he was a "true patriot" who greatly contributed to modernising the armed forces and security apparatus. "His insights and perspectives on strategic matters were exceptional. His passing away has saddened me deeply. Om Shanti," he said in a series of tweets.

"As India's first CDS, General Rawat worked on diverse aspects relating to our armed forces including defence reforms. He brought with him a rich experience of serving in the Army. India will never forget his exceptional service," Modi said.

Congress President Sonia Gandhi and former Congress president Rahul Gandhi too condoled the death of General Rawat, his wife and others in the crash in Tamil Nadu and said it is an unprecedented tragedy. Sonia announced not to celebrate her birthday on Thursday and asked party workers to restrain for any kind of celebrations in the wake of demise of CDS, his wife and members of defence.

Expressing deep anguish over General Rawat's death, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said his untimely demise is an irreparable loss to the armed forces and the country. "His untimely death is an irreparable loss to our armed forces and the country," the defence minister said.

Singh said General Rawat had served the country with exceptional courage and diligence. "As the first Chief of Defence Staff he had prepared plans for jointness of our armed forces," he said.

Home Minister Amit Shah said it was "very sad day" for the nation as "we have lost our CDS, General Bipin Rawat Ji" in a very tragic accident. "He was one of the bravest soldiers, who has served the motherland with utmost devotion. His exemplary contributions & commitment cannot be put into words. I am deeply pained," Shah said.

Several politicians, including senior ministers, also condoled the loss of lives in the chopper crash.

Union Minister Nitin Gadkari said India will always remain grateful to General Rawat for his impeccable service to the nation at the most crucial moments.

"We are in agreement with the Government regarding our demands. We will decide about suspending the agitation after the meeting tomorrow. No decision has been taken yet on calling off the agitation. Another meeting of SKM will be to be held on Thursday at 12 noon," Chaduni said.

Another core committee member, Yudhvir Singh said, "The ball is now in the Government's court and a final decision will be taken on Thursday.

In a statement, the SKM said a consensus has been achieved on the Central Government's draft regarding farmers' demands. "Consensus has been reached on Government's fresh proposal. Now, a formal communication signed on the Government's letterhead is awaited. The SKM will meet again tomorrow at twelve noon, at Singhu Border, to take a formal decision thereafter to lift the morchas," the SKM said in a statement.

The Centre in its second draft agreed that cases lodged against farmers during the protests would be withdrawn with immediate effect by Central agencies. The States governments-Uttar Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Himachal Pradesh, Haryana and Madhya Pradesh have agreed to withdraw cases against farmers. It will also appeal to other State Governments to withdraw the cases against them.

The Centre said as far as compensation is concerned, the State Government's - Uttar Pradesh and Haryana have agreed on this issue.

The farmers had also underlined the need for financial compensation (to the families of the, reportedly, more than 700 growers who died in the protests) along the lines of that offered by the Congress Government in Punjab; the State has given Rs five lakh and a job to a family member.

The Centre has assured that electricity amendment bill would not be tabled in Parliament without consulting farmers groups. It also assured that the minimum support price would not be reduced.

It is expected to be implemented in eight years with state-of-the-art technology.

"The project will be of immense benefit to the water-starved Bundelkhand region, spread across the States of Madhya Pradesh and Uttar Pradesh," an official statement said. The Ken-Betwa project will benefit the districts of Panna, Tikamgarh, Chhatarpur, Sagar, Damoh, Datia, Vidisha, Shivpuri and Raisen in Madhya Pradesh and Banda, Mahoba, Jhansi and Lalitpur in Uttar Pradesh.

"The project also comprehensively provides for environment management and safeguards. For this purpose, a comprehensive landscape management plan is under finalisation by the Wildlife Institute of India," the statement said.

The I&B Minister said PMAY has been extended beyond March 2021, and till March 31, 2024. The total target is to construct 2.95 crore pucca houses.

Maha ready to nip Omicron in bud...

Having taken stock of the threat posed by the new Covid-19 variant Omicron, chief minister Uddhav Thackeray - who presided over the weekly Cabinet meeting - directed the state health administration to speed up the process of the Covid-19 vaccinations in the state, saying that building immunity among the people through vaccination was the only way to check the rapid spread of Omicron in the state.

"In view of the rapid spread of Omicron across the world, we have to take utmost precautions to check the spread of the Covid-19 variant in the state. Apart from enforcing the Covid-19 protocols strictly, it is necessary for the state health administration to increase the Covid-19 vaccinations to fight the Omicron," he said.

In his briefing on the rapid spread of the new Covid-19 variant across the world, the chief minister said that there was a record 45 per cent increase in the spread of Omicron during the last 12 hours. "Omicron has now spread to 54 countries. France is recording 40,000 Omicron cases every day, while the number of daily cases in Germany was around 50,000. Australia is also reeling under the Omicron wave and the country is on an average 7,000 new cases every day".

"In the United States, the pandemic situation has deteriorated once again and the situation currently being witnessed there is akin to the one that prevailed in November 2020. Everyday, more than one lakh new cases are being recorded. In South Africa, there has been a rapid increase in the number of Omicron cases during the last weeks. In fact, the number of cases is doubling there," Uddhav told his Cabinet colleagues.

the total number of passengers who arrived at Mumbai, Pune and Nagpur airports since December 1 was 46,590 (7930 from at-risk countries and rest 68,660 from other countries), while the passengers whose RT-PCR tests have been done are 8925 (7,930 from at-risk countries and 995 were other countries). Similarly, RT-PCR positive and samples sent for genomic sequencing was 11 (nine from at risk countries and two from other countries).

"Additionally, field surveillance of all international passengers who have arrived since 1st November is underway.

"Through airport and field surveillance, 64 samples have been sent for genomic sequencing. Results of 52 are awaited so far," a statement put out by the State Health department said.

In a related development, State Health Minister Rajesh Tope said that the state government was making all efforts to bring down the RT-PCR test rates at the Mumbai Airport to Rs 2,000 from the prevailing rate of Rs 5900. "I intend to announce the reduced RT-PCR rates by tomorrow evening," Tope said.

The minister said that on Monday the state government had further reduced the rates charged by the private laboratories for the RT-PCR test to Rs 350 per person. "At the Mumbai airport the rate charged for RT-PCR is high, in excess of Rs 5,000 per person. The government will make efforts to bring down to Rs 2,000," he said.

Giving details of the crash on Wednesday, officials said Rawat, his wife Madhulika, his staff, and the crew were killed when the helicopter crashed in Coonoor just around noon time.

The CDS was enroute Defence Service Staff College (DSSC), Wellington, to deliver a lecture later in the afternoon. He landed at Sular airbase near Coimbatore at about 11-30 a.m. after flying from New Delhi. The Mi-75 took off from there for Wellington at about 11.45 a.m. and it is feared the helicopter burst into flames shortly before it was to land at Wellington helipad. The flying time between Sular and Wellington is about 40 minutes. Reports from the ground indicated the helicopter crashed in apparently foggy conditions after colliding with some jackfruit trees.

Tamil Nadu Chief Minister M K Stalin, who left for Coonoor, expressed shock over the incident. Defence Minister Rajnath Singh briefed the Prime Minister about the crash and the IAF chief was asked to rush to the mishap site.

Elaborating upon the site of the mishap, sources said the helipad at Wellington is located in a bowl or valley surrounded by hills. At this time of the year cloud cover and rains pose a challenge for landing helicopters, they said. However, the court of inquiry will find out the truth, they said adding the black box or data recorder of the helicopter was recovered. The lone survivor will be able to help the investigators to pinpoint the causes leading to the tragedy.

They also said nearly all the victims suffered serious burn injuries after the helicopter crashed near a hill top before it was to land five minutes later.

Initially, villagers carried out the rescue efforts by trying to douse the strong flames as the nearest road head is nearly three km away. In fact, all the passengers had to be carried up to the road head in makeshift stretchers and then rushed to the military hospital at Wellington. Sources said the DNA test was carried out to correctly establish the identity of the victims before going public.

Rajnath will make an official statement in both the houses of Parliament on Thursday. Earlier in the day on Wednesday, he visited the residence of Rawat in the national Capital and spoke to his daughter.

Later, Army Chief General M M Naravane also visited Rawat's official residence here and met the family. Rawat's other daughter was expected to land in the Capital from Mumbai later in the night. Navy chief Admiral R Hari Kumar also rushed to New Delhi from Mumbai.

Reports from the accident site referring to officials there and local eyewitnesses in the Kateri village said the helicopter was flying at a low altitude in the foggy conditions when it crashed into a valley here, before falling through trees. Fire engulfed the helicopter by the time it landed on the ground.

Although it brushed a house during its fall, there was no human casualty or injury since the inmates were not at home. The building suffered damage in the episode. Two persons, who were ablaze, fell down from the helicopter, Perumal, an eyewitness said. The crashed helicopter in the forest area reduced trees to pieces of logs and ashes due to resultant fire, even as the local people turned first responders to try and save the injured. However, they could not help the victims due to the raging flames and informed the authorities.

The accident site was a scene of despair with flames from the helicopter engulfing the wooden logs resulting in billowing smoke and personnel scurrying to douse the fire, including using buckets and water hose. The mangled and burnt remains of the helicopter were strewn along the site, even as rescue services personnel were seen carrying bodies in stretchers to be transported through waiting ambulances. Meanwhile, Chief Minister Stalin in a tweet said, "I am deeply shocked and disheartened on hearing the army chopper with CDS General Bipin Rawat and 13 others has met with an accident near Coonoor. I've instructed the local administration to provide all the help needed in rescue operations even as I'm rushing to the spot."

Given this scenario, the Government cannot afford to leave the CDS post vacant for long, they said. Till the Government takes the final decision, Deputy Chief of Integrated Defence Staff will look after the affairs of the institution of the CDS.

The CDS is the single point advisor on military affairs to the political leadership.

The idea to have such a post was first mooted by a committee headed by then Home Minister L K Advani in the aftermath of the Kargil war in 1999.

Difference in perception amongst the armed forces and lack of political consensus saw the CDS proposal put on the backburner for nearly 20 years. The NDA regime in its new tenure starting 2019 gave a push to the proposed institution.

Soon after taking over Rawat went about working on having theatre commands to pool resources of the three armed forces besides streamlining critical procurements to maintain operational readiness.

‘DPCC spent over ₹478 cr since 2015 to tackle air pollution’

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Delhi Pollution Control Committee (DPCC) has spent over ₹ 478 crore since 2015 to tackle air pollution in the national Capital, according to Government data obtained through an RTI application.

The reply to the RTI application filed by social activist Amit Gupta revealed that the pollution control body has so far spent ₹ 467.97 crore from a green fund set up in 2008 on several projects to reduce air pollution levels.

It said the money has been utilised for grant of subsidy to battery-operated vehicles, e-rickshaws, odd-even drive, maintenance of the bio-gas plant at the Delhi Secretariat, operating online air monitoring stations, study on real-time source apportionment, installation of smog tower, salary of environment marshals and other miscellaneous expenditure.

The DPCC said it spent ₹ 10.58 crore from environment damage compensation collected on installation, operation and maintenance of continuous ambient air monitoring stations; research and study projects, procurement of instrument for air laboratory, installation of recycle unit in government schools, setting up of noise monitoring stations, air pollution monitoring and honorarium for oversight committee.

However, it did not reveal the expenditure incurred under each head.

The reply to another RTI application filed by Gupta had revealed that the DPCC spent Rs 12 crore from The Air Ambience Fund set up in 2008 on the implementation of the three phases of the odd-even car rationing scheme between 2016 and 2019.

Collected through the Department of Trade and Taxes, the Air Ambience Fund gets 25 paise from the sale of each litre of diesel in Delhi.

A total of Rs 547 crore has been collected in the fund since March 2008. Of this, Rs 527 crore has been spent on green activities.

The government utilised only Rs 59 crore till 2015. In the last seven years, it has used Rs 468 crore from the fund.

Favourable wind speed improves Delhi air quality

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The national Capital's air quality improved on Wednesday due to a favourable wind speed with the 24-hour average air quality index (AQI) reading 237 at 4 pm.

Neighbouring Faridabad (188), Ghaziabad (229), Greater Noida (154), Gurgaon (185) and Noida (186) also recorded improvement in their air quality.

An AQI between zero and 50 is considered 'good', 51 and 100 'satisfactory', 101 and 200 'moderate', 201 and 300 'poor', 301 and 400 'very poor', and 401 and 500 'severe'.

The Ministry of Earth Sciences' air quality forecast agency SAFAR said the improvement in the air quality was "higher than expected, implying that (air pollution) control measures are yielding results".

Moderate wind speed is likely to increase ventilation over the next four days, it said.

However, a gradual decrease in temperatures will lead to a drop in the mixing height -- the vertical height in which pollutants are suspended in the air -- in the coming days, it said.

The mixing height reduces on cold days with calm wind speed.

Mahesh Palawat, Vice President (Meteorology and Climate Change), Skymet Weather, said moderate wind speed will help improve the air quality further.

Cold northwesterly wind will commence from Friday after a Western Disturbance affecting the hilly region recedes, causing the minimum temperature to drop by two to three degrees Celsius, he said.

NDMC, EDMC teachers protest outside Delhi BJP HQ over pending salaries

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

A large number of teachers belonging to two municipal corporations of Delhi on Wednesday held a protest outside the headquarters of the Delhi unit of BJP in the national Capital, a union leader said.

The teachers of North Corporation and East Corporation gathered in front of the Delhi BJP headquarters at 14 Pant Marg and raised slogans, and demanded release of salaries "due from September to November", Shikshak Nyay Manch Nagar Nigam, chief, Kuldeep Singh Khatri said.

"Hundreds of teachers from both NDMC and EDMC, protested outside the Delhi BJP hq from today morning. But, we will not budge from here until someone from the Delhi BJP unit comes and meets us. We need a way out of this crisis. We are struggling without our salaries," he said.

The other demands of protestors, include, release of dearness allowance (DA) and house rent allowance (HRA), the union leader added.

Teachers of civic-run schools have also protested in the past over salary issues.

Recently, doctors of NDMC-run hospitals had threatened to go on strike over the issue of due salaries. Resident doctors of Hindu Rao Hospital had gone on a strike for a few days, but had later called it off after the civic authorities had announced that due salaries have been released.

TMC opens first Haryana office in Gurugram

PARVESH SHARMA ■ GURUGRAM

In view of an expansion in Haryana over the next few months Mamata Banerjee-led Trinamool Congress (TMC) inaugurated its first office in Haryana's Gurugram on Wednesday. Party's Rajya Sabha MP and Haryana In-charge Sukhendu Sekhar Roy and newly inducted Haryana leader Ashok Tanwar were present on the occasion.

Addressing the media after the opening ceremony the party leader said the Party will fight Municipal Corporation and Assembly elections all across the State to work for people.

They said the party will open a party office in each of the 22 Haryana districts and begin membership programs by the end of March 2022. Later this year, the party will choose where it will have its state headquarters.

Former Congress leader Ashok Tanwar told the media that the Congress party in Haryana have no political mileage and is included in wrong politics and even the party encroached on the Gurugram party office land while the BJP built his office with the help of black money.

"In the next few months, TMC will emerge as a major party in the state and are confident to make government over here. The party will work for the people of the state. The party will not make any coalition in the future as well," Tanwar said.

According to Roy, Gurugram is the hub of industries and corporates which is very close to the national capital, and therefore the party decided to start functioning from there.

"It is an opportunity to the people of Haryana that if they want real progress in the state so they must elect Mamta Banerjee's led TMC government in Haryana. Ashok Tanwar who has deep roots in Haryana politics will play a major role to address problems and working on the ground," Roy said.

Roy, who has a responsibility for the party's development in Haryana and beyond Delhi said, the party will put all its best efforts to expand its political theory in the state.

Court irked over plea passing off suicide as road accident for ₹50 L compensation

New Delhi: A Delhi court has expressed displeasure over a plea filed by an Uttar Pradesh-based man seeking compensation of ₹50 lakh by passing off the alleged suicidal death of his wife as a road accident.

Rajeev Yadav had moved the court seeking hefty compensation, asserting that a high-speed truck hit his wife Pooja Yadav when she was going to the temple at 11:45 pm in October 2018 at Gautam Budh Nagar in Uttar Pradesh.

Denying relief, Motor Accident Claim Tribunal (MACT) Presiding Officer Kamini Lau said that Yadav attempted to make money over the dead body of his wife by filing the claim petition by passing off her suicidal death as that of a simple motor accident. The Presiding Officer said that Pooja had married Rajeev five months prior to her death and was regularly complaining to her parents regarding the harassment and torture meted out by him.

Lau noted that Yadav's role in the death of his wife is already under scanner before a criminal court in Uttar Pradesh and that the claim plea was filed before a Delhi court in a blatant attempt to create a defence in the dowry and abetment to suicide case.

Separate isolation area for Omicron +ve patients: Govt

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE ■ NEW DELHI

Treading cautiously in the backdrop of two dozen Omicron cases detected from various places across the country, the Centre on Wednesday told the States that such patients would be treated only in designated Covid facilities with separate isolation areas.

"It has to be ensured that no cross infection takes place and adequate precautions are taken by healthcare workers in these facilities to prevent transmission among other patients and healthcare workers," Union Health Secretary Rajesh Bhushan said in a letter to States and union territories (UTs). Bhushan advised them to regularly review and ensure that samples of positive cases of international travellers and their contacts as well as from emerging hot spots are promptly submitted to INSACOG labs for genome sequencing according to protocol.

Further to contain spread, it is imperative that states and UTs follow a mission mode and focused approach of quickly tracking primary and secondary contacts of positive cases and facilitate testing for them, he said.

In the latest weekly Covid-19 epidemiological update, the World Health Organization (WHO) said that given the predominant circulation of the Delta variant in many countries, it is too early to draw a conclusion on the impact of the new Omicron variant on the global epidemiology of Covid-19.

The global health body further highlighted that while several crucial questions about Omicron remain unanswered, more data will continue to emerge in the coming weeks.

At the same time, WHO has also presented an update on the current situation on four key issues on Omicron — transmissibility, clinical severity, risk of reinfection and the potential impact of the vaccines.

The WHO said that in South Africa, where the new variant of concern (VOC) was first reported, fresh Covid-19 cases have continued to surge.

As many as 62,021 new cases were reported between November 29 and December 5, a 111 per cent increase compared to the previous week. More significantly, the country has reported an increase in the test positivity rate from 1.2 per cent the week beginning November 7 to 22.4 % in the week beginning December 2.

Meanwhile, India reported 8,439 Covid-19 positive cases on Tuesday, taking its toll to 3,46,56,822. The count of active cases declined to 93,733, the lowest in 555 days, according to the Union Health Ministry data. The death toll due to the disease rose to 4,73,952, with 195 daily deaths being recorded.

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Congress President Sonia Gandhi on Wednesday hit out at the Modi Government over issue of price rise, farmers' demands and tension at the borders, and said her party will insist on a discussion in Parliament on challenges facing the agriculture sector and the border situation.

Addressing party MPs at the meeting of the Congress Parliamentary Party (CPP), Sonia also expressed deep anguish over the killing of 14 civilians in Nagaland, and said justice for families should be ensured at the earliest. She also raised the issue of suspension of 12 Rajya Sabha MPs, terming the move as "outrageous", and said it is unprecedented that they have been suspended for the remaining period of the Winter session.

"It violates both the Constitution and the Rules of Procedure and Conduct of Business in the Council of States, as Mallikarjun Kharge ji has explained in his letter to the Chairman of the Rajya Sabha," she said, adding that they all stand in solidarity with them.

Congress MPs of both houses of Parliament including former Congress president Rahul Gandhi were present during the meeting in the central hall of Parliament. Sonia said it was extraordinary that Parliament has not been given an opportunity so far to have a discussion on the challenges the country continues to face on its borders.

The Congress chief said the Government has finally repealed the three farm laws, even it was done "undemocratically just as their passage last year was pushed through without discussion". She said it is the solidarity and tenacity of the farmers, their discipline and dedication that has forced an "arrogant Government to climbdown".

Saluting the farmers for their achievement, Sonia remembered the sacrifice of over 700 farmers in the past 12 months and called for honouring their sacrifice. "We are firm in our commitment to stand by the farmers in their demands for a legally guaranteed MSP, remunerative prices that meet the costs of cultivation, and compensation to the bereaved families," she said.

Raising the issue of price rise, she said, "I cannot understand how and why the Modi Government is so insensitive and continues to deny the seriousness of the problem. It seems impervious to the suffering of the people."

She also termed the steps taken to reduce petrol, diesel, and cooking gas prices as totally insufficient and inadequate and said government has passed on the responsibility for duty cuts to financially strapped state governments instead. "And all this while, the Centre persists with huge public expenditure on vain glorious projects," she said, while making a veiled reference to the central vista project.

reaching the level of double-dose vaccination announced by the Government for the end of the year.

On the Nagaland incident, she said, "The Government expressing regret is not enough! Justice for the families of the victims has to be ensured at the earliest. Credible steps must be taken to prevent the recurrence of such ghastly tragedies".

Opp leaders extend support to suspended RS members, hold dharna

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Continuing with their protest in and out of Parliament, top Opposition leaders on Wednesday sat on a dharna in Parliament complex and extended their support to the 12 suspended MPs of the Rajya Sabha. While the entire Opposition benches boycotted the proceedings of the House, the Trinamool Congress which has expressed a strained relationship with the Congress in recent days, some of its MPs made it to the upper house post lunch session when a Bill was also passed.

Naidu said the leader of the opposition and the leader of the House have been suggested to sit together and resolve the matter so that the House is allowed to function smoothly.

When Congress Rajya Sabha member Anand Sharma objected to the suspension of MPs in the current (255th) session for their conduct in the previous session that concluded on August 11, Rajya Sabha Deputy Chairman Harivansh said due procedure was followed in obtaining the prorogation order of the President of India for the last session of the House.

Among the leaders who participated in the protest along with the 12 suspended members were Leader of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge, Jairam Ramesh, K C Venugopal besides SP leader Akhilesh Yadav and AAP leader Sanjay Singh. The MPs have been sitting in protest in front of Mahatma Gandhi's statue against their suspension, which they term as undemocratic and against the rules of procedure of the Upper House.

Twelve Rajya Sabha MPs, including six of Congress, were suspended on the first day of the Winter Session on November 29 for the remainder of the session for their unruly behaviour during the last day of the Monsoon Session of Parliament in August. The other members suspended are from the TMC, Left parties and Shiv Sena.

The proceedings were adjourned till 12 noon as Opposition members kept protesting for the revocation of suspension of 12 MPs, even as Leader of Opposition Mallikarjun Kharge offered to cooperate. Chairman M Venkaiah Naidu rejected a notice submitted by two members, including Congress leader Deepender Singh Hooda, for suspension of business so that a discussion on farmers' issue can take place in the House.

Hariavansh noted that under Article 83 of the Constitution, Rajya Sabha is not subject to dissolution, unlike the Lok Sabha which may be dissolved or which may continue for five years from the date appointed, whichever is earlier. The last monsoon session was adjourned sine die on August 11 and prorogued on August 31.

Post lunch when there was no Opposition except the presence of TMC, the House passed The Assisted Reproductive Technology (Regulation) Bill, 2021, which was passed by Lok Sabha on December 1. The Upper House also passed The Surrogacy (Regulation) Bill, 2020 with amendments. The proposed bill was earlier passed by Lok Sabha, but Rajya Sabha had referred it to a Select Committee. It will now go back to Lok Sabha for approval.

Replying to a discussion on both the bills taken up together, Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya said that most of the recommendations of the Select Committee have been incorporated in the surrogacy bill. Both the bills seek to curb unethical practices related to issues like sex selection and exploitation of surrogate mothers. The provisions include both monetary penalty as well as jail terms for violations.

Support small shopkeepers in neighbourhood: Varun Gandhi

New Delhi: Continuing to criticise his own Government, BJP MP Varun Gandhi on Wednesday said "economic policy mismanagement" along with "corruption and price rise" has forced a large number of "small producers and shop keepers" to shut their business and shops.

The three-time BJP MP from Pilibhit, UP, said it is time people "back small shopkeepers and businesses" rather than the multinationals.

The MP appealed to people to support small shopkeepers in the neighbourhood by "purchasing from them instead of Amazon and Walmart."

In a tweet, he shared a news report item that spoke about government's policies leaving small businessmen on the street with a washout business.

The BJP MP who has been attacking the center and the UP Government on a range of issues said "at the time of global recession they (small producers and shopkeepers) were the ones who took care of the country's economy."

"Due to corruption, inflation and economic policy mismanagement, a large number of small producers and shopkeepers are forced to close their businesses. Support them by doing shopping from small shopkeepers in your neighbourhood instead of Amazon, Walmart. At the time of global recession they were the ones who took care of the country's economy," said Varun who is leaving no chance to rip out government's political and economic policies.

The PFI is also under the scanner of the ED for alleged money laundering during the riots. The PFI is also facing another PMLA case for allegedly routing about Rs 120 crore to fuel anti-CAA riots in the country. The PFI claims to be working for the marginalised minorities and Dalits but has been allegedly indulging various inimical activities and is facing criminal probes from multiple agencies including the NIA.

Researchers favour high-tech forest rescue service to monitor fire outbreaks

ARCHANA JYOTI ■ NEW DELHI

Underlining that the key to combating wildfires is early detection, a team of researchers has favoured high-tech Forest Rescue Service of Rhineland, Germany-type system to monitor fire outbreaks in the Odisha's Simlipal Biosphere Reserve, where such mishaps are becoming a regular feature.

The Rhineland Germany fire alert system uses satellite technology and aerial photography to ensure forest maps at a scale of 1 : 25,000 giving minute details of all significant components such as water reservoirs, fire breaks and fire lines. "This helps the authorities to minimize the losses," said the researchers whose study is published in the Current Science.

Outbreaks of fire are not a new thing in this reserve in Mayurbhanj district, which is one of the largest in Asia and home to a plethora of rich flora and fauna. However, in early those years, the Reserve experienced a prolonged dry spell, exacerbated by a below-average monsoon in the previous year, accompanied by widespread fires within the reserve. The specific cause of the fires that occurred in early 2021 has not been yet established.

Keeping in mind this particular 2021 case, the researchers said, "An important measure is to build fire-fighting reservoirs like underground cisterns or natural water reservoirs within or near the forested areas, since water is the primary means to fight forest fires."

The authors of the study included Arghya Chakrabarty, Debaditya Mukhopadhyay, Krishna Giri and Gaurav Mishra from Jorhat based Rain Forest Research Institute.

Presently, pointed out the researchers, "The Forest Department uses fire-fighting maps at a scale of 1 : 50,000 using the Universal Transverse Mercator (UTM) geographic coordinate system. However, with advancements in satellite technology and aerial photography, more detailed district maps at a scale of 1 : 25,000 or 1 : 10,000 may be used."

Also, detailed emergency and deployment plans can be effective to control fire outbreaks. In general, reduction in wildfire induced losses is only possible through consideration of the overall climatic scenario of the country.

Spread over 5569 Km2, the reserve is home to 94 species of orchids, 42 species of mammals, including the melanistic tiger (Panthera tigris), 29 species of reptiles, 231 species of avian fauna, 12 species of amphibians and more than 3000 floral species.

However, the only source of ecological vulnerability is forest fire as evidenced by the recent wildfire which lasted for over two weeks and affected over one-third of the total area under the reserve.

Also, edaphic factors, geological conditions and climatic parameters maintain the thin line between a controlled fire and a wildfire.

Climatological shifts as characterized by changes in temperature, humidity, rainfall and wind velocity combined with fuel accumulation magnify an annual controlled fire into a destructive wildfire, noted the researchers.

Biden’s two-day ‘Summit for Democracy’ is mainly aimed at countering China’s rise

US President Joe Biden’s global initiative, the Summit for Democracy, is a two-day affair beginning December 9. He wants the summit of 100-odd countries to commit to opposing authoritarianism and corruption, besides respecting human rights. Aware of its inconsistent democratic record, the United States also proposes to scuttle criticism of the summit by focusing on free media, free and fair elections and strengthening democratic reformers. However, stitched into the summit’s agenda is President Biden’s larger geopolitical objective. The rallying together of over 100 “democracies” is for him to send a message to China on two counts. One, register the summit as a symbolic global opposition to China’s “authoritarianism”. Two, bind the summit behind the United States in a maze of common, “democratic” interests to counter China’s rise. China has already sought to politicise the summit by declaring itself a democracy by saying there is “no fixed model of democracy; it manifests itself in many forms”. It even organised an “International Forum on Democracy” to upstage the American exercise. The fact that China, a one-party country with a rubber stamp Congress, controlled media and devalued human rights, can stolidly claim allegiance to democracy reflects two things. One, that China is bristling because, like Russia, it is excluded from the summit while bete noire Taiwan has received the invite. Two, China is well aware of Biden’s geopolitical narrative behind the summit. Even before the summit begins, a debate is raging on the politics behind the US exclusion/inclusion process while finalising the invitee list.

The US was careful not to publicise any criteria for selecting countries, but the inclusions and exclusions expose the politics. Taiwan’s case, for example, drives the point home. It is a democracy no doubt, but the US does not recognise Taiwan and it is there because China is not. Pakistan, whose human rights record is frequently questioned and its army’s interference in the functioning of the elected Government is well noted, is in. It is being explained that the US considered Pakistan’s inclusion a must because India was invited. In the case of Africa, Latin America and Europe, too, the politics of exclusion prevailed. Having said that, the US got one thing right. Democracy is on the defensive and authoritarianism is on the rise. The summit proposes to rectify the pattern, but its approach is debatable. Focusing on fighting corruption or simply opposing authoritarian traits is not the way; strengthening and defending democracy is. Democracy needs to be defended on its own merits, and not by countering authoritarianism. This is a matter internal to democracy. Democracy is primarily under threat from its own regimes, with civil liberties being devalued, freedoms and rights trampled upon, and dissent quelled. These practices need to be reversed first. The summit would do well to focus more on extracting a commitment from the “democratic” invitees — or help those who are faltering — to re-learn to uphold liberty, open governance, dissent and participation.

Ah Taj!

The brackish Yamuna’s toxic gases are impairing the white marble, a study says

Back in the day, Rabindranath Tagore wrote: “Only let this one teardrop, this Taj Mahal, glisten spotlessly bright on the cheek of time, forever and ever.” Unfortunately, however, nothing remains forever and one day Taj, too, would be wiped off the face of time. And if the modern-day Governments don’t wake up, it could be sooner rather than later. Yes, it is sad but true that the Taj is dying a slow death; not a natural death but due to the pollutants and toxins present in our environment. Generally, industrial and vehicular pollution are seen as the culprits for the white marble turning yellow and the corrosion but a new study suggests that it is not just industrial units that harm the iconic structure but also the Yamuna on the banks of which the Taj Mahal stands. Major damage to the marble is being caused by the toxic gases emanating from the Yamuna. It may still look good in pictures but an almost black river flows behind the monument and its stink can’t be missed even from a distance. Published recently in the International Journal of Environmental Science and Technology by four conservation experts, the study suggests that hydrogen sulphide released from the polluted waters has a more corrosive impact on the monument than the sulphur dioxide emitted by Agra’s factories.

The Taj Mahal is a must-visit for tourists. It is a money-spinner for the Government, yet no one ever cared about the river that flows near it and its foul smell has for years been corrupting the breathtaking experience. The majestic Mughal architecture is among the ‘New Seven Wonders of the World’ and a signature monument of India. Its claim to fame is the white marble which lends it a magical look. The gas from the Yamuna is slowly but surely discolouring it. The finding assumes significance as the initiatives to protect the Taj from being affected by pollution have largely been concerned with tackling industrial and vehicular pollution, while the Yamuna’s pollution didn’t get as much attention until five years ago. Crores of rupees have gone down the drain with no result. It is high time to clean the river, which will not only mitigate the damage to the monument, but also give a new lease of life to its fauna. The pollution can be controlled by treating the sewage water entering the river but, before that, political will is needed to weed out corruption for checking pollution.

It was an albatross around Pak’s neck

Helping to separate the eastern wing from the rest of Pakistan was a blunder for us as Bangladesh can prove to be a launch pad for terror

PRAFULL GORADIA

A number of Indians have written articles celebrating the country’s joint victory with Bangladesh in 1971. I have no quarrel in principle with commemorating any triumph, including one on the cricket or hockey field. Although a victory over Pakistan is an intra-sub-continental affair and therefore rather like a para-civil war and not an international triumph. We have not enjoyed such an achievement since Chandragupta Maurya defeated Seleucus, the appointee of Alexander the Great over Bactria in 317 BC.

That is a quibble contrasted with the blunder of helping to separate the eastern wing of Pakistan from the rest of the country. International realpolitik would have suggested that the eastern wing with a majority of the country’s population was a millstone around Pakistan’s neck. First and foremost, the population of the eastern wing was larger than the western’s. Two, the Bengalis appeared prouder of their language than their religion, whether Islam or Hinduism. In fact, Bengal was a reluctant applicant to Pakistan. Fazlur Rahman and Sir Abdul Rahim were negotiating with Sarat Bose to keep the province united to be a third separate dominion over and above Hindustan and Pakistan. Jinnah was encouraging them because a Muslim-majority dominion would mostly side with Pakistan, especially with a Muslim Premier, forever. The Communist Party was also backing this third opinion.

What East Bengal — now Bangladesh — meant to Qaid-e-Azam Jinnah is reflected in the fact that he had never visited it before March 19, 1948. When he did, he addressed the Dhaka University only to tell its students that Urdu would be the sole national language of Pakistan, angering his audience. On March 21, he warned a large crowd at the Dhaka Race Course against what he called the forces of subversive conspiracy bent on destroying Pakistan’s unity. Feeble protests were heard from the crowd. Far louder voices of protest were to be heard only days later. The Qaid had through his Dhaka speech set East Bengal on a course that was to lead, over the next 24 years, to the breakup of Pakistan and the rise of East Bengal as the independent republic of Bangladesh.

Moreover, Ayesha Jalal, the Cambridge scholar who has authored a volume titled The Sole Spokesman, called East Pakistan a rural slum, meaning worthless except for growing rice, which the locals ate, and raw jute with no mills to weave it until later. And, of course, in the Sylhet district there were some tea plantations. But it must be said that the jute and tea earned some hard currency in foreign exchange, more than what the western wing earned in 1947-48. Nevertheless, the tall, fair west Pakistanis looked down upon the easterners as dark, short and inferior. The least one did was to look upon the New Medinawalas (Aligarh University students) where the sub-continental ‘brotherhood of Islam’ were to gather. In that potential fortress of Islam, could one momin look at another momin of the east with such contempt? Yet he did until he was rid of the dark, short brother/sister in 1971, in his heart of hearts

THERE HAVE BEEN HIGHS IN INDO-BANGLADESH RELATIONS IN BANGABANDHU’S TIME AND SIX BSF MEN’S HEADS ON BAMBOOS WERE THE LOWEST. WHEN MORARJI DESAI CAME TO POWER IN 1977, HE SAID, ‘WE HAD ONE PAKISTAN BUT INDIRA GANDHI HAS GIVEN US TWO’ good riddance.

West Pakistanis were smug besides being contemptuous. One example was Field Marshal Ayub Khan, at the peak of his power, amalgamating all of west Pakistan into one province with Khan Saheb, the brother of Frontier Gandhi, as the Chief Minister. He called it west Pakistan. Instead, he should have subdivided east Pakistan into, say, four provinces. So that the eastern wing would have united to vote for the Awami League in 1971 and won all the seats except two and be in a position to vote out the whole of the western wing. The crisis had thus begun with Mujibur Rahman claiming to be the Prime Minister-in-waiting. How could short, black people rule over the tall, fair people? The western wing considered this an abdominal thought and therefore sent Lt General Tika Khan to devastate the Bengalis.

In the late 1990s and during the regime of Begum Khaleda Rahman, Bangladesh awarded India with six chopped heads of its Border Security Force personnel on bamboos like shikared animals across the border.

Indians were so dreaded that they took the beheaded heads of their soldiers with equanimity! There have been highs in Indo-Bangladesh relations in the years of Bangabandhu and these six heads on bamboos were the low. When Morarji Desai came to power in 1977, he said that “we had one Pakistan but Indira Gandhi has given us two”.

Our relation with Dhaka appears to be warm since Prime Minister Narendra Modi came to power but recently Bangladesh rewarded India by desecrating 92 temples there and killing a few local Hindus. It is possible that the mischief was resorted to by one or more terrorist groups and had nothing to do with the majority party, the Awami League. Nevertheless, the rioting proved, once again, that Bangladesh can prove to be, from time to time, a haven and launch pad for terrorism. What did India gain by freeing Bangladesh from the yoke of Islamabad? If not infiltrators, terrorists?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TIES WITH AN OLD ALLY COULD HELP

Sir — Russian President Vladimir Putin’s recent visit to India to meet Prime Minister Narendra Modi will bolster up the economic ties and improve the defence infrastructure, giving stimulus to the ‘Make in India’ initiative. The two countries have remained distant from each other in the last two years which created a jinx in the bilateral relations between them. India was partly left alone to deal with emerging threats from China and increased dependence on the US as a compulsion. The differences remain obvious between US President Joe Biden and PM Modi despite much hyped diplomacy.

The formation of the Quad to counter Chinese expansion in the Indo-Pacific region and US alienation from Afghanistan had enabled China to foster a close bond with fledgling Taliban and Pakistan to display its hegemony towards India and Taiwan and other Quad nations. Russia, an old ally of India, has always stood the test of time which it has proved time and again. India, on the other hand, is one of the largest importers of Russian weapons. One hopes that bilateral relations between the two vibrant leaders PM Modi and President Putin will grow and benefit the interests of both the nations.

BRIBERY NEEDS TO BE ERADICATED

Sir — Corruption is a worldwide bane that affects different stratas of the nation. Almost five per cent of the Gross Domestic Product (GDP) of developing countries is drowned by the menace of corruption. The developed nations are reeling under the onslaught of corrupt practices of their administration. Education, health, economy and law are but a few spheres of a nation that have crumbled due to excessive corruption. It is common knowledge that corruption in a Government structure is a hurdle on the path of development and progress.

American author John Steinbeck has rightly said, “it is not just power that

Vaccination is the best bet yet

In the wake of surging cases of the Omicron variant in India, the Indian Medical Association (IMA) warned of another wave of infections and urged the Government to announce additional doses of the vaccine for those who urgently need it. The National Technical Advisory Group on Immunisation (NTAGI) has not made any recommendations so far. The emergence of the Omicron variant reminds us that the pandemic is not over and that the vaccination programme cannot continue without reviewing the situation. Many countries have scaled up administration of booster shots. Many countries are using vaccines different from the ones used for earlier doses of vaccination as booster shots. However, India needs to analyse the data before taking a decision on this. If mixing up vaccines gives better results, the Government will have to acquire additional vaccines.

A decision on whether children should be included in the vaccination programme is yet to be taken. The Serum Institute of India that manufacturers Covishield, has not released the trial data of vaccine for children. The Government needs to ensure that adults are vaccinated with two doses before rolling out vaccines for children. Booster shots must be incorporated into the current vaccine programme. Steps must be taken to speed up the second dose of vaccination. Booster shots need to be given to those who need it without further delay. We must learn lessons from the havoc the pandemic created and take preventive measures in time.

corrupts, but the fear of losing the power that corrodes the corrupt”. It can be said that power doesn’t corrupt people, but people corrupt power. Bribe is a chronic problem and deeply rooted in our system. It won’t go away easily, but if we wish to see a corruption-free India, the issue of bribes has to be settled. The youth has an important role in acting as a catalyst of change because it is an age where the mind is generally free of corrupt ideas. One also cannot undermine the role of parents and teachers in inculcating the right values in young minds.

OCEANS ARE NOT DUMPING GROUNDS

Sir — It is distressing to note that sewage water flowed into the beautiful Marina beach during the recent incessant rains in Chennai and turned the blue waters to a brownish hue. Not only the Marina, oceans worldwide are constantly under the threat of adulterations and, in fact, have been reduced to ‘rub-bish dumps’ with millions of tons of litter ending up in the sea. According to the United Nations Environmental Program, up to 12.7 metric tons of plastic make their way into the oceans in a year.

We need to serve as educators and ambassadors of a lifestyle in the water. Needless to say that waterways are crucial for the existence of human beings. Together we must develop a passion for the ocean and have the moral obligation to keep it clean and safe. Said the renowned Dutch painter Vincent Van Gogh, “The heart of a man is very much like the sea, it has its storms, it has its tides and in its depth, it has its pearls too.”

HYBRID IMMUNITY
COULD BE THE KEY

VIKAS BHATIA

Omicron has about 30 mutations and is many times more transmissible than the Delta variant

The human body can ward off many infections on its own with its innate immunity. Besides, it develops immunity against contagions after exposure to them. Some pathogens have the potential to cause severe disease, disability, and even or death. Vaccines help the body develop robust immunity against such contagions. During the last two years, SARS-Cov-2 has claimed millions of lives. India too suffered a devastating second wave that affected millions of people across the country. Post this wave, India now has a huge proportion of the population that has developed what we call 'hybrid immunity', a combination of immunity developed after exposure to the viral infection and vaccination. Studies show this form of immunity can provide greater protection against COVID-19. In fact, it has also been observed that people who were exposed to the infection and then took one dose of the vaccine also have developed a fairly good level of immunity against the virus. Recent national serosurvey shows that more than 80 per cent population of the country, including children, have antibodies against COVID-19. The vaccination statistics show that more than 85 per cent of adults have received the first dose of vaccine and more than half the country's adult population is now fully vaccinated. This hybrid immunity in the population can protect it against severe disease caused by the virus, including new mutants such as Omicron. The Omicron variant, which was first reported in South Africa, is now present in more than 40 countries.

The variant has about 30 mutations and is said to be many times more transmissible than the Delta variant, which caused the severe second wave in India and other countries. The Omicron variant has become a cause of great concern across the world, with many countries imposing restrictions and taking severe measures to contain its spread. India too needs to be cautious. The initial evidence suggests though the virus is highly transmissible, it is not causing severe disease or death. It is so far causing a milder form of the disease with symptoms such as cold, cough, and mild fever. But we cannot let our guard down. Countries have been finding innovative ways to protect themselves. For example, in Germany, one cannot enter a restaurant until fully vaccinated. People across the world have also realized the importance of following personal protective measures such as wearing masks, maintaining a safe distance, avoiding overcrowded locations, and sanitising their hands regularly. If the past viral outbreaks are anything to go by, we find that a virus dies its natural death provided we keep ourselves safe and be patient till it does. I strongly feel that we can win this battle against this deadly virus if we fight it collectively. So, while the government is doing its job by providing vaccines free of cost to the population, preparing the healthcare infrastructure to deal with a sudden surge in the number of patients, and screening those who can be possibly infected, it is the duty of people to take both the doses of vaccine and follow COVID-appropriate behaviour to avoid rapid spread of the disease.

Mayawati and her committed votebank

BISWAJEET BANERJEE

Mayawati is working to stitch a social umbrella that will include Brahmins, Dalits and Muslims. It would be a mistake to dismiss her in this election Campaign activities have now gained momentum in Uttar Pradesh where elections are slated for early next year. Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath is visiting the districts and making direct communication with the public. Prime Minister Narendra Modi is inaugurating projects and Union Home Minister Amit Shah along with BJP national president JP Nadda is making forays into different areas. Leaders of different opposition parties have also started working on their strategy to counter the ruling BJP government.

After Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath, the focus is on Akhilesh Yadav who is also drawing massive crowds wherever he is going. People wait for hours, even till midnight, to get a glimpse of Akhilesh. Even Congress national general secretary Priyanka Gandhi is drawing good crowds enthusing hopes among the party mandarins that Congress may spring a surprise in this election.

In all election surveys, Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) is being given the number three position after Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) and Samajwadi Party (SP). Congress is being projected as the number four party in every election survey. Despite, BSP being projected as a third position no one can rule out the importance of Mayawati in UP politics. The political pundits believe that rejecting Mayawati in these elections would be a great mistake as she and her party can still prove to be a dark horse in this election.

Recently, many senior leaders deserted BSP, and the majority of them joined Akhilesh's party and the rest, BJP. This has not affected Mayawati as she claimed that those who left BSP had gone alone, thus signifying that the cadre is still with her. Bahujan Samaj Party has a committed a vote bank of over 20 per cent. Mayawati wants Muslim votes in UP. The party has successfully carried out Brahmin Sammelans across the state. She is insisting on maintaining the old base of Dalit and Brahmin votes in BSP. In such a situation, BSP can surprise everyone at the Hustings.

In various election surveys conducted in the state, BJP has been projected to get 41 to 44 percent of the votes, while SP, as per surveys, is likely to get 32 percent votes, followed by BSP (15 percent), Congress (6 percent) and others also six percent. In terms of seats, pollsters have projected that BJP would get 241 to 249 seats and SP's share would be between 130 and 138 seats. The surveys say that the BSP may end up getting between 15 and 19 seats and the Congress between 3 and 7 seats. All the election surveys have given more or less the same projections which show that there would be a direct contest between SP and BJP. The surveys have ignored BSP.

These surveys have not amused Mayawati as she contends that such sur-

WHAT HAS MADE THE BSP LEADERS CONFIDENT IS THE GROUND SUPPORT THAT THE PARTY ENJOYS. THEY HAVE A POINT BECAUSE THE BSP'S VOTE SHARE HAS REMAINED ALMOST THE SAME DESPITE THE BJP WAVE. IN THE 2017 ELECTIONS, THE BSP GOT THE HIGHEST 22.7 PER CENT VOTES AFTER THE BJP, WHEREAS THE SP GOT 21.8 PER CENT VOTES IN THAT ELECTION

(The writer is Political Editor, The Pioneer, Lucknow edition. The views expressed are personal.)

veys do not affect her party. She has also demanded that Election Commission should ban such surveys because she believes that they are being carried out to influence some parties' fortunes. She alleged that a large amount of money exchanged hands during these surveys. According to leaders close to Mayawati, the voters of BSP do not participate in the election surveys and they keep silent and are supposed to throw surprises in the elections. The think tank in BSP believes that UP elections would witness a direct contest between BJP and BSP, not SP as projected by many surveys. The belief in Mayawati's camp is that BSP will give a tough fight to BJP on every seat.

What has made BSP leaders confident is the ground support that the party enjoys. They have a point because BSP's vote share has remained almost the same despite the BJP wave. In the 2017 elections, the BSP got the highest 22.7 per cent votes after BJP, whereas SP got 21.8 percent votes in that election. Similarly, in the Lok Sabha elections held in 2019, BSP had won ten Lok Sabha seats with 19.26 percent votes. Samajwadi Party that on the other hand contested election as an ally of the BSP got 17.96 percent votes and could win only five seats. Even evaluation of the previous results shows that the vote share of BSP in the 2012 assembly elections was slightly above 25 percent. This was 5 percent less than the party's 30 percent votes polled in the 2007 elections when Mayawati had formed the government in UP. This 5 percent shift in vote share in 2012 led SP to get 224 seats and Akhilesh Yadav was sworn in as Chief Minister while BSP's seats came down to 80. In the 2009 Lok Sabha elections, the party got 27 percent votes and 20 seats. So, in terms of vote share, the BSP has been consistent.

In the case of Samajwadi Party, Akhilesh Yadav has stitched caste alliances with small parties. Rumours are that many senior leaders from BJP, including some Cabinet rank ministers, are likely to leave the party and join SP. Akhilesh's alliance with Om Prakash Rajbhar Suheldev Bharatiya Samaj Party (SBSP), Mahan Dal of Keshav Prasad Maurya, and Apna Dal (K) of Krishna Patel in eastern UP and Rashtriya Lok Dal (RLD) of Jayant Chaudhry in western Uttar Pradesh would pay a rich dividend. There is a belief among SP leaders that despite Prime Minister Narendra Modi withdrawing the contentious farm bills, the Jats will support the RLD which in turn will help the Samajwadi Party.

But, what could prove detrimental for Akhilesh is his relations with his uncle Shivpal Singh Yadav. Despite extending an olive branch and waiting for his 'bhatija' to announce seat-sharing with him, Shivpal was cold-shouldered by Akhilesh. It is no secret that Akhilesh does not have political acumen that his father Mulayam Singh Yadav has. Akhilesh is not suave as his father and does not have the appeal all over the political spectrum, again like his father. The alliances he had made are not natural alliances and are made more for electoral gain. Take the example of Mahan Dal or Apna Dal, which are basically Kurmi caste-dominated parties. The Kurmis and Yadavs, both intermediary castes, are at loggerheads at the ground level. Similarly in western UP, Jats and Muslims generally are not on the same page. Muslims are SP's vote bank while Jats had voted for BJP and RLD in previous elections. In this election, will the Jats and Muslims vote jointly?

The BJP leaders are seeking votes on the basis of work being done by both the Yogi and Modi governments. They are emphasizing the virtue of 'double engine' government. The Congress is trying to find a toe hold in UP. The focus is on Priyanka Gandhi. The enormous task before her is to build a party structure at the ground level. In this scenario, it is not prudent to ignore BSP. Mayawati is working to stitch a potent social engineering umbrella that will include Brahmins, Dalits and Muslims. She has the confidence that she will be able to bring all dominant caste together. In this scenario, it would be a mistake to dismiss Mayawati in this election.

Menstrual leave: Pathologising gender rights

Is menstrual leave a symbol of care for women or a concealed propaganda to make them look inefficient to be employed in demanding jobs?

KG SOFI UTTAM DINESH CHAKRABORTY

(Sofi Dinesh and Chakraborty are assistant professors at Amrita University, Kochi, and Jaipuria Institute of Management, Lucknow, respectively. The views expressed are personal.)

Gendering human rights has become passé in India. However, female teachers' demand for of menstrual leave every month in Uttar Pradesh has raised eyebrows. The teachers say poor public transport and those filthy toilets in schools add to their woes during the periods. Last year, food delivery company Zomato announced up to 10 days' paid 'period leave' per year for women and transgenders, kicking off debates about gender equality and ghettoising women.

Suffice to say, umpteen dimensions have been discussed about menstrual or period leave recently. Even a Menstruation Benefits Bill, 2017 is in the pipeline. A menstrual period leave enables the working women the option to take paid or unpaid leave from their workplace if they are unable to attend to their work because of this biological norm. The need for this kind of a policy emanated from the fact that some women undergo a condition called dysmenorrhea or extreme pain during first few days of their menstrual cycle, which also debilitates their productive efficiency.

Such leave is not new in India. Kerala had granted menstrual leave to its female students as early as 1912. A leave policy to help women during their menstrual cycle first came up in Russia in the 19th century but it was later withdrawn in 1927 because it brought with it issues of gender discrimination. In 1947, Japan's labor force brought a law that provided menstrual leave to its women workforce, but the necessity for such a law is still highly debated in Japan. It is still debated whether menstrual leave is a symbol of care and concern for women at workplace or a concealed propaganda to make women look inefficient to be employed in high demanding jobs.

In India where talking about menstruation is still considered a taboo, will a menstrual leave policy benefit its intended stakeholders, that is women? Will working women from non-metropolitan areas be able to shed their inhibition and talk to their male bosses menstrual leave? In a country where even the media shies away from advertising napkins, how can policy makers expect women to talk openly about availing menstrual leave at their workplaces? These are pertinent questions that call for paving the way for social and attitudinal change.

It is good to see people, especially employers, opening up to the idea of talking about a taboo topic like periods and extending empathy to women employees in the menstrual age. Showing empathy to women employees who genuinely undergo physical discomfort during first two days of their menstrual cycle can be considered as an act of humanitarian concern and definitely, it has nothing to do with feminism. It is also highly subjective since women differ in their physical discomfort during their menstrual cycle with few of them undergoing extreme mental and physical agony, and a lucky few do not have any obvious physical discomfort at all. At the same time, providing period leaves only widens the gender gap and also deepens the level of discrimination against the fairer gender at workplace.

Women in Indian culture have always been portrayed as a symbol of endless patience and courage. Homemakers are a poignant testimony to the above statement. They in particular have never let their menstrual cycle come in the way of their duties towards their families. Empathy from family members during their menstrual phase is the only support they seek at such times. However, the idea of offering period leaves to women is not a solution to the myriad problems that women encounter at their workplaces. In that respect, men too have their share of psychological and physiological worries that need similar empathetic considerations.

If corporates really want to show that they care for their women employees, they should stop bringing policies that promote gender discrimination and gender bias. Alternatively, corporates can make their employees more empathetic towards women issues by making them aware of the mental and physical stress that haunt women during their menstrual cycle and motivate them to be more compassionate towards women during their difficult times. This calls for bringing up a culture where subjects like periods are not treated as a taboo and women feel uninhibited to speak about it in their workplace. This is a highly subjective issue, each woman needs a different treatment during this time, and period leave is not an umbrella solution and not mandated too. It should be dealt in an organised and organic manner so that the real sense of women empowerment can be translated into reality in Indian society.

Tense N-talks with Iran to resume today in Vienna

AP ■ BERLIN

The European diplomat chairing nuclear talks between Iran and world powers says negotiations in Vienna will resume Thursday. Enrique Mora said Wednesday on Twitter that the parties to the 2015 Vienna accord will meet in the Austrian capital after consulting with their governments in recent days.

European diplomats had urged Tehran to come back with "realistic proposals" after Iran's delegation last week made numerous demands that were deemed unacceptable by the other parties to the accord — Britain, China, France, Germany and Russia.

The United States withdrew from the agreement in 2018 under former U.S. President Donald Trump. His successor Joe Biden has indicated that the U.S. is willing to return, and American diplomats in Vienna are being briefed by other powers.

The Vienna accord, formally known as the Joint

Comprehensive Plan of Action, was meant to rein in Tehran's nuclear program in return for loosening economic sanctions against Iran.Following the U.S. decision to withdraw and reimpose sanctions, Iran has ramped up its nuclear program again by enriching uranium beyond the thresholds allowed in the agreement.

Tehran has also restricted monitors from the U.N. atomic watchdog from accessing its nuclear facilities, raising concerns about what the country is doing behind closed doors.

But Russia's top representative expressed hope that an agreement could eventually be reached at the talks.

Mikhail Ulyanov tweeted that contacts with the United States and Iran "prove that both sides are very serious" about reviving the deal, though he added that "their visions of relevant ways and means differ."

"The task of the negotiators is to overcome these differences. It's feasible in the light of unity of purpose," he said.

Australia joins US in diplomatic boycott of Beijing Olympics

AP ■ WELLINGTON, NEW ZEALAND

Australia will join the United States in a diplomatic boycott of the Beijing Winter Olympics over human rights concerns, Prime Minister Scott Morrison said Wednesday.

As it did following the U.S. announcement on Tuesday, China responded furiously, saying no Australian officials had been invited to the Olympics and "no one would care about whether they come or not."

Morrison said it should come as no surprise that Australian officials would boycott the event after the nation's relationship with China had broken down in recent years.

"I'm doing it because it's in Australia's national interest," Morrison said. "It's the right thing to do."He said Australian athletes would still be able to compete. As well as citing human rights abuses, Morrison said China had been very critical of Australia's efforts to have a strong defense force in the region, "particularly in relation, most recently, to our decision to acquire nuclear-powered submarines."He said his government was very happy to talk to China about their differences."There's been no obstacle to that occurring on our side, but the Chinese government has consistently not accepted those opportunities for us to meet," Morrison said. Rights groups have pushed for a full boycott of the games, accusing China of rights abuses against ethnic minorities. The U.S. and Australian decisions fall short of those calls but come at an exceptionally turbulent time for international relations and have been met with a barrage of criticism from China.

Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Wang Wenbin denounced Morrison's announcement as "political posturing," but did not directly threaten the "resolute countermeasures" it vowed to exact on the U.S. "China has not invited any Australian government officials to attend the Winter Olympics, and no one would care about whether they come or not," Wang said at a daily briefing.

Suspect in killing of Saudi journalist arrested in France

BY SYLVIE CORBET/ NICOLAS VAUX-MONTAGNY PARIS ■ AP

A suspect in the 2018 killing of Saudi journalist Jamal Khashoggi was arrested Tuesday in France, according to a French judicial official. The official said the suspect was being held on the basis of a Turkish arrest warrant.

He requested not being named in accordance with the French justice system's customary practices.French radio RTL said the Saudi national, Khalid Aedh al-Otaibi, was arrested at the Roissy airport near Paris as he was trying to board a flight to Riyadh.

Al-Otaibi was one of over a dozen Saudi officials sanctioned by the US Treasury in 2018 over Khashoggi's killing and dismemberment at the Saudi Consulate in Istanbul in 2018. He was also mentioned in the declassified US intelligence report that said Saudi Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman had "approved" the operation that killed Khashoggi. The report used an alternate English transliteration of his last name.

Biden-Putin talks yield no breakthrough in Ukraine tensions

BY AAMER MADHANI/VLADIMIR ISACHENKOV WASHINGTON ■ AP

President Joe Biden and Vladimir Putin were still far apart after two hours of talks on the escalating crisis caused by Russia's massing of tens of thousands of troops near its border with Ukraine.

Biden delivered a simple message during Tuesday's video call with Putin: invade Ukraine again and face painful sanctions that will do resounding harm to your economy. Putin had his own blunt take, according to his foreign adviser Yuri Ushakov, telling the U.S. president that "the Russian troops are on their own territory, and they don't threaten anyone."

With no immediate breakthrough to ease tensions on the Ukraine question, the U.S. emphasized a need for diplomacy and de-escalation, while issuing stern threats to Russia about the high costs of a military incursion.Biden "told President Putin directly that if Russia further invades Ukraine, the United States and our European allies would respond with strong economic measures," U.S. National Security Adviser Jake Sullivan said. He added that Biden said the U.S. would also "provide additional defensive material to the Ukrainians ... and we would fortify our NATO allies on the eastern flank with additional capabilities in response to such an escalation."

White House officials made clear that Biden is not interested in putting U.S. troops in harm's way defending Ukraine. But Sullivan added that potential efforts to bolster regional allies could lead to additional deployments of U.S. troops to eastern European NATO allies.

A top US envoy, Victoria Nuland, said a Russian invasion of Ukraine would also jeopardize a controversial pipeline between Russia and Germany known as Nord Stream 2. She told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Tuesday that if Russia invaded, "our expectation is that the pipeline will be suspended."

Scholz replaces Merkel as German chancellor

AP ■ BERLIN

Center-left leader Olaf Scholz became Germany's ninth post-World War II chancellor on Wednesday, opening a new era for the European Union's most populous nation and largest economy after Angela Merkel's 16-year tenure. Scholz's government takes office with high hopes of modernizing Germany and combating climate change but faces immediate challenge of handling country's toughest phase yet of coronavirus pandemic. Lawmakers voted by 395-303 with six abstentions to elect Scholz — a comfortable majority, though short of the 416 seats his three-party coalition holds in 736-seat lower house of parliament. That's not unusual when chancellors are elected, and some lawmakers were out sick or in quarantine.

Merkel, who is no longer a member of parliament, looked on from spectators' gallery as parliament voted. Lawmakers gave her a standing ovation. Scholz, 63, Germany's vice chancellor and finance minister since 2018, brings a wealth of experience and discipline to an untried coalition of his center-left Social Democrats, the environmentalist Greens and pro-business Free

Opening new era

Democrats. The three parties are portraying combination of former rivals as a progressive alliance that will bring new energy to country after Merkel's near-record time in office.

"We are venturing a new departure, one that takes up major challenges of this decade and well beyond that," Scholz said Tuesday. If parties succeed, he added, "that is a mandate to be reelected together at next election."Scholz, an unflappable and supremely self-confident figure who in past has displayed an ability to put aside setbacks quickly, cracked a smile as he was elected and as he was formally appointed by President Frank-Walter Steinmeier.

20 Bangladesh students sentenced to death for brutal 2019 murder

WORLDAGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE ■ DHAKA

Bangladesh sentenced 20 university students to death on Wednesday for the brutal 2019 murder of a young man who criticised the government on social media.

The battered body of Abrar Fahad, 21, was found in his university dormitory hours after he wrote a Facebook post slamming Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina for signing a water-sharing deal with India.

He was beaten with a cricket bat and other blunt objects for six hours by 25 fellow students who were members of the ruling Awami League's student wing, the

Bangladesh Chhatra League (BCL). "I am happy with the verdict," Fahad's father Barkat Ullah told reporters outside court after the verdict. "I hope the punishments will be served soon."

Prosecutor Abdullah Abu told AFP that the remaining five perpetrators were sentenced to life imprisonment.All those handed death sentences were between 20 and 22 years old and attended the elite Bangladesh University of Engineering and Technology alongside Fahad.

Three of the defendants are still at large while the rest were in courtroom. A lawyer for the defendants said the sentence would be appealed.

RBI keeps interest rates unchanged at record low

PTI ■ MUMBAI

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Wednesday kept borrowing costs at a record-low for the ninth consecutive time as it decided to continue supporting economic growth amid uncertainty over the impact of the Omicron strain of the coronavirus on the economy.

The six-member Monetary Policy Committee (MPC), which has paused rate changes since August last year, unanimously decided to keep the benchmark repurchase rate at 4 per cent and voted 5-1 to retain its accommodative policy stance as long as is necessary, reflecting a continued bias to support economic growth given that inflation was not a big worry.

The reverse repo rate -- the level at which it absorbs excess cash from lenders -- was kept unchanged at 3.35 per cent.

It kept the GDP growth projections unchanged at 9.5 per cent for the current fiscal and retained the inflation forecast of 5.3 per cent for the full year. While the Indian economy has literally hauled itself out of one of the deepest contractions in April-June, it is not yet strong enough to be self-sustaining and durable.

"Given the slack in the economy and the ongoing catching-up of activity, especially of private consumption, which is still below its pre-pandemic levels, continued policy support is warranted for a durable and broad-based recovery," Governor

Shaktikanta Das said. "Our motto is to ensure soft landing that is well-timed."

There, however, has been no guidance on the rate trajectory.

RBI had slashed the repo rate by a total of 115 basis points (bps) since March 2020 to soften the blow from the coronavirus pandemic and tough containment measures. This is on top of rate cuts to the tune of 135 bps since the beginning of 2019.

The central bank struck to its principle of 'gradualism' since the downside risks to a durable growth trajectory have clearly increased due to the spread of the new COVID variant Omicron.

On inflation, the central bank took comfort from the excise tax cuts in petrol and diesel and the steps taken by the government to moderate prices in food categories such as edible oil and pulses.

Das said the central bank will continue rebalancing liquidity conditions and will use VRRR (Variable Rate Reverse Repo) auction as the primary tool for liquidity management, shifting away from the fixed reserve repo rate.

The RBI will raise the amount of cash it absorbs through the 14-day VRRR to Rs 6.5 lakh crore on December 17 and subsequently to Rs 7.5 lakh crore on December 31.

At the same time, the auctions will have a higher proportion of 28 days vis-a-vis the primary tenor of 14 days.

Excess cash in the banking system hovered at around Rs 9.2 lakh crore, close to a record high.

Retains growth forecast for current fiscal at 9.5%

Mumbai: The Reserve Bank on Wednesday retained the GDP growth forecast at 9.5 per cent for the current fiscal but cautioned that the economic recovery is not yet strong enough to be self-sustaining and durable.

In an address after the three-day meeting of the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC), RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das said managing a durable, strong and inclusive recovery is the central bank's mission.

"We need to be persevering, patient and persistent in our efforts. We also need to be aware, alert and agile to the new realities confronting us. Our efforts over the past one year and nine months have given us the confidence and a head start to face the challenges that lie ahead," he said.

Das, whose tenure as the Governor was extended by three years recently, further said the Indian economy is relatively well-positioned on the path of recovery but it cannot be immune to global spillovers or to possible surges of infections from new mutations, including the Omicron variant.

According to him, incoming information indicates that consumption demand has been improving, with pent-up demand getting reinforced by the festive season. PTI

Fitch cuts India GDP forecast for FY22 to 8.4%

New Delhi: Fitch Ratings on Wednesday cut India's economic growth forecast to 8.4 per cent for the current fiscal year ending March 31, 2022, saying the rebound after the second wave of Covid infections has been subdued than expected.

Fitch, which had previously forecast a GDP growth of 8.7 per cent in 2021-22 (April 2021 to March 2022), however, raised the economic growth projection for the next financial year (FY23) to 10.3 per cent from previously forecast 10 per cent.

The economy had contracted by 7.3 per cent in the 2020-21 fiscal as restrictions imposed to curb spread of coronavirus pummelled business activity.

"India's economy staged a strong rebound in 3Q21 (July-September 2021) from the Delta variant-induced sharp contraction," Fitch said in its Global Economic Outlook (GEO).

The GDP rose a sharp 11.4 per cent when compared to the preceding April-June quarter when it had slumped 12.4 per cent.

"However, the bounce was more subdued than we expected in our September GEO. The rebound in the services sector was weaker than hoped for," it said.

Nevertheless, business surveys and mobility data point to activity growing robustly in 4Q21 (October-December 2021).

Growth in the manufacturing sector is constrained by ongoing supply shortages, but the supply bottlenecks are expected to ease in the coming months. PTI

Overarching policy priority now is supporting growth, says RBI Governor

Mumbai: Reserve Bank Governor Shaktikanta Das on Wednesday defended the central bank's more-than-anticipated dovish stance wherein the MPC unanimously voted to continue with an accommodative policy, saying "our overarching policy focus and priority now is supporting growth" amid the threat of a third wave of Covid-19 and the legroom a cooling inflation print offers.

The comments came after the RBI's Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) left the key policy rates unchanged for the ninth time in a row.

The repo rate was left at 4 per cent, which was on expected lines, while the reverse repo, which has been the effective policy rate since the pandemic hit in March 2020, was surprisingly kept unchanged at 3.35 per cent despite the central bank preparing the market for a much-needed and delayed rebalancing of the liquidity overdose for quite sometime now.

The policy move was predicated on the belief that if the Omicron variant of the coronavirus triggers a third wave of the pandemic in India, it can easily upend the fledgling recovery.

Retail inflation is likely to ease to around 5 per cent next fiscal on the back of government measures to ease supplies, reduction in fuel prices and prospects of good crops, Das said.

For FY22, retail inflation is pegged at 5.3 per cent and should inch down to 4 - 4.3 per cent by end-FY23. PTI

Cyber security, frauds main concerns with digital currency: RBI

Mumbai: As the RBI moves ahead for the launch of the central bank digital currency (CBDC), Governor Shaktikanta Das on Wednesday marked out cyber security and digital frauds as the main challenges in the new system.

Deputy Governor T Rabi Sankar said there are two types of CBDCs - wholesale and retail - and a lot of work has happened in the former while the latter was termed as a "complicated" aspect which will take time.

The RBI had earlier this year announced that it has started work on the CBDC, in line with other major central banks of the world which are looking at a fiat digital currency. According to a report, the RBI is looking to start with pilot exercises on the same front by early next year.

"Main concern comes from the angle of cybersecurity and possibility of digital frauds. We have to be very careful about that," Das told reporters in the post-policy interaction. PTI

Retail inflation expected to ease to 5% next fiscal on Govt measures: RBI

Mumbai: Retail inflation is likely to ease to around 5 per cent next fiscal on the back of government measures to ease supplies, reduction in fuel prices and prospects of good crops, the Reserve Bank of India said on Wednesday.

For the current fiscal year to be ending on March 31, 2022, retail inflation is expected to be around 5.3 per cent, the RBI said.

The reduction of excise duty and VAT on petrol and diesel will bring about a durable reduction in inflation by way of direct effects as well as indirect effects operating through fuel and transportation costs, RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das said while announcing the bi-monthly policy decision.

"The inflation trajectory is likely to be in line with our earlier projections, and price pressures may persist in the immediate term. Vegetable prices are expected to see a seasonal correction with winter arrivals in view of bright prospects for the rabi crop. Cost-push pressures continue to impinge on core inflation, though their pass-through may remain muted due to the slack in the economy," Das said. PTI

RBI to soon float paper on reasonableness of charges on transactions via digital payments

Mumbai: With a view to make digital transactions more affordable, the Reserve Bank of India will soon come out with a discussion paper on the reasonableness of charges on transactions through digital mode.

Observing that concerted efforts by all stakeholders have led to a significant increase in digital payments in recent years, RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das said there have, however, been some concerns on the reasonableness of various charges incurred by customers for digital payments through credit cards, debit cards, prepaid payment instruments (cards and wallets), Unified Payments Interface (UPI) and the like.

Entities involved in providing digital payment services incur costs, which are generally recovered from the merchant or customer or is borne by one or more of the participants, he said while unveiling the bi-monthly monetary policy.

While there are advantages and disadvantages of customers bearing these charges, they should be reasonable, he added. PTI

A BUTTERFLY WILL STILL BE BEAUTIFUL

‘I think I used to be a romantic at heart, now I am a realist’, ruminates legendary writer RUSKIN BOND, in a tête-à-tête with KHUSHBU KIRTI

There are those days, when you're a nerdy kid reading Delhi Is Not Far and you're laughing at the little anecdotes when you suddenly start imagining that you're talking to the author of the book that you're perusing. You start, in your little head, framing what you'd want to know about the world of reading and writing by the maestros. No? Just me?

Well. That happened. Might I add, not that it wasn't clear already, that it was a huge deal, an honour for me to converse with one of my biggest idols. I don't have to specify how we've all grown up reading short stories by Bond (now that sounds even cooler on him). I wanted to ask him so many questions but time was limited, of course. However, one always wonders... A writer, as legendary as Ruskin Bond, who carries a plethora of experience in his store, who has lived the most important movements of the Indian literary world and has seen from Progressive writers to the Chayavadi poets — what would go in his mind?

"I've been writing for 70 years and, you know, writers come and go," Bond chuckled.

In his soothingly gruff voice, he continued, "There was not a particular era, per se. Some of the writers reflected the times they live in, in their writings. Some reflect the society in their works — between the two world wars, Independence struggle, partition, and so on. R K Narayan and Mulk Raj Anand, for instance, in the colonial period, have spoken of those times."

"Now, of course, we have a lot of new writers who've grown up in independent India," he added.

On asking him what changes he had noticed in the contemporary writers, he cogitated, "Now, many writers publish works in English and regional languages. I've seen more people want to write. When I went to school in the 1920s, there was no great interest in becoming a writer by profession. We didn't have publishers then, either. Only in the 1980s did we start having genuine publishing industries, so now we have more and more writers wanting to make a living out of writing."

Young people want to write, now people want to become celebrities through writing. That could partly be the attraction. In my time, we didn't have visual media so writers were only known by their names. Nowadays, anyone can be a celebrity."

This reminded me that in one of his novels, Bond had mentioned 'this world is for publishers, and not writers'.

He paused before answering, "Yes, and I wrote that in 1960s. I was young (laughs). Now, publishers are dominant, have gone multinational, and have become commercial. In the past, small publishers often looked at good quality."

Now everybody works on a big scale. Publishers also take up big names. So, it is not so great for an author who is good but writing on a small scale. Although there are more publishers today, writers still face same problems."

On the same lines, the declaration of death of the author by the post-structuralists is old news. On asking for the veteran writer's opinion on who occupies the center of totality in today's literary world, he responded, "Today's literary world is hampered by political conflicts that affect the entire world. Writings have become transient in nature. A lot of things are happening in the world. A lot of works, thus, get outdated quickly because current events are very transient."

Bond, who has been recog-

The Padma Shri and Padma Bhushan awardee tittered when I asked him if he considered himself a romantic at heart. "Yes, I believe you're right. But more so in my 20s and 30s, now I have edged towards realism more. I have become a bit like Hardy (Thomas Hardy)."

Bond had once written the most beautiful of quotes — And when all the wars are done, a butterfly will still be beautiful.

There have been so many interpretations of the same. I feel he wants to say that after all the negativity, one would come back home to positivity. And so, I asked him if that was the reason why stories are important to him. Since, no matter what, fairy tales and fables remain evergreen and beautiful because they remind one of a great childhood and past.

In response, the Sahitya Akademi Award winner explained, "Yes, that is 100 per cent true. Stories are extremely special. And I am not only talking about writing... I have been an avid reader and have spent my life reading more. More than a writer, I am a reader. Just last week, I stumbled upon some stories by O Henry, the American writer. And those stories are so fresh, you know. He talks about all walks of life... You can't live without stories."

While writing poetry, I reach what William Wordsworth called the 'moment of transcendence'. Since Bond has been writing regularly throughout, I wanted to know if writing had become like meditation for him.

"Oh, yes, definitely," he chimed in. "It's something I try to do every day early in the morning. Writing is a passion for me. If I stop for even two or three days, I would start wondering if something is wrong with me. I hope I continue this."

Bond was one of the speakers at the Tata Literature Festival Live this year. As Bond sweetly adds, "Jai Tata Lit Fest kil"

Every day, almost 93 per cent of the children around the world under the age of 15 breathe or are exposed to toxic air. This is no surprise considering the pace at which the toxins are being released in the environment. The elderly and children are vulnerable to environmental hazards and air pollution is one of the most life-threatening among all of them.

Children, however, are exposed to air pollution even before they are born. There is an alarming rise in the number of pregnancy complications due to bad air quality including slowed foetal growth, delayed lung expansion and lower birth weights that is linked to more number of premature babies in the present scenario. This is due to the exposure of the mother to various air pollutants while being pregnant.

The impact of air pollution on the children can be related to certain high-risk health issues. Some of them are:

- Respiratory/Asthmatic issues
The major cause for an alarming rise of respiratory issues in children is definitely the pollution from vehicles, particularly from the traffic in the metro cities. Though there are strict rules from the government to regulate pollution being expelled by the vehicles. Infants and children who are exposed to this develop severe respiratory and breathing issues including cough, pneumonia and even mortality at times. Therefore, extra care while travelling and minimising the exposure in densely polluted areas is essential.
- Complications due to lower immunity
Studies by Stratford University prove that lower immunity of an infant is directly linked to the complications from the exposure of the mother to various air pollutants during

POISON IN THE AIR

The growing pollution in the environment can severely impact the health and growth patterns of children and infants, says DR SRIKANTHA ing pregnancy. This results in premature birth, even before their lungs are fully expanded. They are therefore more prone to pneumonia, breathing issues etc. They can also later develop fatal illnesses like lung cancer and other pulmonary disorders.

Stagnant physical and mental growth

One may wonder how a child's growth is related to air pollution. But a child's growth is affected and can be limited due to health issues arising from various factors of air pollution. They can become mentally and emotionally drained as they will be restricted to the four walls of the house or hospital, wherein, childhood, the golden time in a person's life, is not experienced to the fullest.

Neurological and cardio-respiratory issues

Early exposure to air pollution for infants can result in severe neurotoxic issues even decades after exposure. Changes in the autonomous function of the organs results in drastic neurological imbalance of the heart, brain and other vital functions of the body. Almost 90 per cent of the children, particularly in the metro cities of India have been diagnosed with neurological complications that are connected to the various air pollutants.

We should take the blame for what is happening right now. During our childhood there were more trees and less smoke, more open places and less concrete jungles, lesser factories in highly populated areas and lesser vehicles on roads. Although we cannot rewind and bring all these to the present, as responsible citizens, we can contribute to help bring down air pollution by using public transport, walking wherever possible, burning less fossil fuels and creating awareness among others.

NOT A LOVE STORY FOR AGES?

At a time when marriages don't last, ABHISHEK BACHCHAN and AISHWARYA RAI's marriage stood the test of time even though they did not have a publicised 'love story for the ages'.

Abhishek recently appeared on The Ranveer Show podcast as he recalled his first meeting with Aishwarya, "I was working as a production boy and was sent to scout for locations in Switzerland. They were also shooting there for Aur Pyar Ho Gaya. It was the first time I interacted with her. And whenever she talks about it, she jokingly says, 'I couldn't understand a word of what you were saying' due to my Boston accent.

It's just that no one really thought of bringing these things together and creating a story out of it. There is immense love for sports in our country and the same goes for glamour, too. The combination of the two proved lethal which explains the success of Inside Edge.'

Global motto: Zero-carbon sources

KOMAL KUMAR SINGH gives his views on the changing energy politics, China's dominance in manufacturing supply chains, and joint efforts between India and the United States in the energy transition

What is the goal of the energy transition?

The energy transition is the way of transforming fossil-fuel-based energy sources to zero-carbon energy sources. Wind energy, electric vehicles, and solar energy are a few examples.

This has become a global motto in recent years. All worldwide leaders in business and government are sharing their energy transition plans for their companies or countries.

According to IERA, the goal is to transfer the global energy sector from fossil fuels to zero-carbon energy sources by the second half of this century.

The bottom line is to provide affordable, reliable, and increasingly sustainable energy.

What are your thoughts on the energy transition?

Just as the smart phone changed the landscape of communication, the energy transition will change the landscape of energy. It will provide world easily accessible clean energy.

Simultaneously, it will change global energy politics. The world will no longer be reliant on oil-producing countries such as Saudi Arabia.

It will provide a variety of energy options at competitive prices. Many parts of the world are still in need of electricity. It will change as a result of the energy transition.

How do you envision India's energy transition?

Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi announced on the country's 75th Independence Day about energy-independent by 2047. India's government established a road map and has achieved significant progress in the energy transition during the last few years. India has encouraged the widespread use of energy-efficient LED lighting in most homes, and driven an explosion in the use of renewable energy sources, led by solar power, among other things. India came in fifth place in the Solar Country Rankings, ahead of the United Kingdom, France, and Italy.

India will achieve energy independence solely through an energy transition.

What role may India play in its energy transition?

According to the Wall Street Journal, China presently manufactures 75 per cent of all lithium-ion battery cells. The same China continues to dominate the solar panel supply.

As indicated previously, energy transition is lowering reliance on oil-rich countries, but on the other hand, China is getting control of the manufacture and supply of renewable energy equipment for world demand.

India is home to highly skilled workers who support industries in Southeast Asia, the Middle East, and elsewhere. In terms of manufacturing, India is a low-cost powerhouse for the global market. Automation and digitalisation are expert fields in which India has a large pool of IT workers. Partnership between India and the United States in which high-end technology from the United States is combined with skilled labour and low-cost manufacturing from India can provide an alternate supply chain.

What is the outlook for the oil and gas industry?

With the global population expected to touch the nine-billion mark by 2040, the International Energy Agency IEA's annual study predicts that global energy demand will more than double from today. And along with other accessible renewable energy sources, oil and gas will continue to be in demand.

Major oil and gas companies have already stated plans to cut carbon emissions and are actively pursuing it. Companies are reviewing its strategies and supply chain to compete in the new market dynamics. The oil and gas industry will continue to work on lowering overall operating costs and investing in cleaner energy.

On a December Evening, SRM University-AP observed its 1st convocation conferring degrees to 294 undergraduates. Dignitaries across the world joined together to embrace the special moment on December 1 at the SRM University-AP campus in a hybrid mode. Dr Andrew D Hamilton, president of New York University, graced the event as the chief guest. An honorary doctorate was awarded to the guest of honour, Dr S e t h u r a m Panchanathan, the director of National Science Foundation, USA.

Dr Hamilton expressed his greatest admiration towards the new university and its first batch of students. Being associated with established heritage universities all his life, he expressed his utmost joy to be a part of a nascent university full of promises and potential to create a long and illustrious history. The achievements of the past three years are an active example of the limitless possibilities that SRM University-

AP nurtures. He also gave his opinion saying that this era is in critical need of higher education. Similar to the story of Robert Louis Stevenson, universities have the responsibility to 'punch through darkness', and SRM University-AP must be one of the vanguards. "It is extraordinary to see so many laurels to be brought by the students amid COVID-19 and a worldwide pandemic," opined Dr Hamilton extending an open invitation to SRMAP fraternity to visit NYU and be a part of it.

In his speech, Dr Panchanathan expressed his sincere gratitude upon receiving the honorary doctorate. In his advice to the graduating batch, he presented a mantra of six C's to follow in life to be worthy of honour and respect. First, a great journey begins with 'curiosity'. To propel towards progress, you must foster curiosity and never cease asking questions. Second, you must always find the 'courage' to stay positive. Trust your abilities and embrace your failures making those into stepping stones towards success. Third, true success can never be achieved alone. It is always a 'collaborative' game. Fourth, effective 'communication' is the key. Get people excited about what you are doing and accelerate the development with your expertise. Fifth, 'commitment' is the essence of success. Be a life-long learner and dedicated to excellence. Lastly, 'compassion' is the factor to bind all these together. Dr Panchanathan encouraged the graduands to learn these mantras by heart, and success will find them in life.

President of SRM University, Dr P Sathyanarayanan, mentioned that the education system in India is going through a transformation with the newly enacted National Education Policy-2020. SRM University-AP aims to be the vanguard of this transition. After the successful introduction of academics, SRMAP embarks on an even more ambitious challenge of extending its research wings to add value to society. "I am proud to confess that despite being a nascent university, SRM University-AP has created a niche for itself through its research projects funded by the Government of India and reputed industry giants," asserted Sathyanarayanan, congratulating the faculty for their incessant support and guidance to the students. "Above all, I extend my love and appreciation to my dear graduands who are joined here to receive their degrees," added Dr Sathyanarayanan.

England out for 147 on Day 1

AP ■ BRISBANE

England captain Joe Root won the toss, opted to bat and lost opener Rory Burns on the very first delivery of the Ashes series, a late swinging yorker from Australia pacer Mitchell Starc.

It set the tone for the opening two sessions Wednesday, which were more like open season for Australia's pace bowling pack.

Pat Cummins took the last three wickets and finished with a five-wicket haul in his first innings as Australia captain. The England innings finished with ominous thunder and lightning starting to the west and south of the Gabba.

Heavy rain and bad light combined to prevent any further play on Day 1.

The overcast conditions rapidly grew more gloomy for the visitors after Starc's early strike, with Josh Hazlewood dismissing Dawid Malan (6) and Root (0) as England slipped to 11-3 in the sixth over.

When Cummins took his first wicket — star allrounder Ben Stokes (5) caught low at third slip by Marnus Labuschagne four balls after the first drinks break — England was reeling at 29-4.

Opener Haseeb Hameed defied the attack and helped

England to 59-4 at lunch, but was out for 25 early in the second session when he edged a Cummins' delivery that moved away off the seam and was caught by Steve Smith at second slip. Ollie Pope and Jos Buttler settled the innings, combining in a 50-run stand to staunch the flow of wickets before both were out in their 30s.

Buttler played an expansive drive for his fifth boundary to reach 39 but was out next ball from Starc, edging behind to Alex Carey as England slumped to 112-6. England added six runs before Pope (35) top-edged an attempted hook and was caught by Hazlewood diving forward near the fine-leg boundary, giving allrounder Cameron Green his first test wicket.

Cummins had Ollie Robinson (0) caught behind and Mark Wood (8) caught at short-leg and the stadium lights were turned on before he had Chris Woakes (21) caught in the deep by Hazlewood to finish off the innings.

Cummins returned 5-38 from 13.1 overs, with Starc and Hazlewood taking two wickets apiece.

Sajid's bowling leads Pakistan past Bangladesh in 2nd test

AP ■ DHAKA

Offspinner Sajid Khan ended with a match haul of 12-128 as Pakistan broke Bangladesh's stubborn resistance to secure an innings and eight-run victory in the rain-hit second and final test on Wednesday.

Bangladesh was forced to follow-on after being wrapped up for 87 in the first innings and was bowled out for 205.

With the light gradually fading, Bangladesh's last-wicket pair of Taijul Islam and Ebadot Hossain resisted for 34 balls to raise a hope of salvaging the test.

But Sajid broke the partnership, dismissing Taijul leg-before to help Pakistan win the game.

Sajid claimed 4-86, the fourth-best individual total by a Pakistani bowler in an innings, to follow up his first-innings 8-42.

Pakistan declared its first innings at 300-4 after only 63.2 overs were possible in the first three days because of rain and bad light.

The third day was entirely washed out and only 6.2 overs were possible on Day 2.

Resuming on 76-7, Bangladesh was quickly dismissed for 87 and Babar Azam forced the follow-on. Fast bowlers Shaheen Shah Afridi (2-31) and Hasan Ali (2-37) then got into act with the new ball, leaving Bangladesh 25-4.

But Bangladesh raised a bit hope as Mushfiqur Rahim and Liton Das combined for 73 runs in 25 overs before Sajid rattled the stumps of Liton for 45.

Shakib Al Hasan joined Mushfiqur Rahim and added 49 runs before the latter was run out for 48 after trying for a risky single. Shakib and Mehidy Hasan then frustrated the Pakistani attack and Babar came to bowl, getting the breakthrough with his offspin as Mehidy went for sweep.

Australia and UK join US in diplomatic boycott of Beijing Games

PTI ■ CANBERRA

Prime Minister Scott Morrison said Wednesday Australia will join the US in a diplomatic boycott of the Beijing Winter Games over human rights concerns.

Morrison said it should come as no surprise that Australian officials would boycott the event after the nation's relationship with China had broken down in recent years.

"I'm doing it because it's in Australia's national interest," Morrison said. "It's the right thing to do." He said Australian athletes would still be able to compete.

As well as citing human rights abuses, Morrison said China had been very critical of Australia's efforts to have a strong defense force in the region "particularly in relations, most recently, to our decision to acquire nuclear-powered submarines."

He said his government was very happy to talk to China about their differences. "There's been no obstacle to that occurring on our side, but the Chinese government has consistently not accepted those opportunities for us to meet," Morrison said.

Rights groups have pushed for a full-blown boycott of the games, accusing China of rights abuses against ethnic minorities. The US and Australian decisions fall short of those calls but come at an exceptionally turbulent time for international relations and have been met with a barrage of criticism from China.

British Prime Minister Boris Johnson said Wednesday no UK government minister will attend the Beijing Winter Olympics, calling it "effectively" a diplomatic boycott.

Johnson was asked in the House of Commons whether the UK will join the United States, Australia and Lithuania in a diplomatic boycott of the Winter Games in February over Beijing's human rights record.
