Kaleshwaram water begins flowing uninterruptedly

VENKAT RAM REDDY LAKKADI
■ HYDERABAD

Chief Minister K Chandrababhan Naidu has expressed his delight at the completion of the Kaleshwaram project as per the fast-tracked schedule, with the pumping of water now going on uninterrupted as planned. The Chief Minister congratulated officials of the Water Resources Department, working agencies and those of other departments involved for their efforts in completing the project on schedule.

On Tuesday, the Chief Minister visited the Laxmi Barrage constructed at Medigadda - the starting point of the Kaleshwaram Lift Irrigation Project. The Chief Minister, along with his wife Shobha, Ministers and other leaders, paid floral tributes to the Godavari waters.

KCR then recounted his experiences during the construction of the project and instructed the officials concerned to fill the tanks and reservoirs this summer with the water stored now at the full level at all the barrages. He wanted officials to prepare project-wise operational guidelines and implement the same. He exhorted officials to complete all other major projects in the state with the spirit in which the Kaleshwaram project was completed.

While recalling the run-up to the Kaleshwaram project, KCR observed: "The Telangana farming community has faced hardships for decades. We have resolved in the initial stages that once Telangana State is formed, farmers should get adequate water supply for two crops and that will be the result of getting Telangana State. We have planned a strategy of constructing a barrage at a point after river Godavari and Pranahita joins so that more water for more time can be pumped. After a technical survey was done by the WAPCOS, it was decided to construct a barrage at Medigadda point. We have estimated that with 16.17 TMC storage capacity; if the barrage is constructed on a 100 MTs height, water can be pumped for 7 months in a year. Whatever we planned is happening as it is now. 16.17 TMC of water is stored at a height of 99.7 meters. Constructions have happened as we planned. Pumping of water is also happening without any problem as planned. From Medigadda Point, water is stored till 54 km in Pranahita and 42 km in Godavari Rivers. Barrages are brimming with water and they are looking like the sea. Water from Medigadda will reach Yellampalli, Mid Manair, LMD, Mallanna Sagar, Kondapochamma Sagar, Baswapur and Gandhamalla Reservoirs every year, come what may!

JOEBILATION!

■ WASHINGTON

Back when the election was tightening and just a week away, Joe Biden went big.

He flew to Warm Springs, the Georgia town whose thermal waters once brought Franklin Delano Roosevelt comfort from polio, and pledged a restitching of America's economic and policy fabric unseen since FDR's New Deal.

Evoking some of the nation's loftiest reforms helped Biden unseat President Donald Trump but left him with towering promises to keep. And he'll be trying to deliver against the backdrop of searing national division and a pandemic that has killed nearly 400,000 Americans and upended the economy.

Such change would be hard to imagine under any circumstances, much less now.

He's setting out with Democrats clinging to razor-thin House and Senate control and after having won an election in which 74 million people voted for his opponent. And even if his administration accomplishes most of its top goals in legislation or executive action, those actions are subject to being struck down by a Supreme Court now controlled by a 6-3 conservative majority.

It's not going to be easy, says Kamala

■ WASHINGTON

US Vice President-elect Kamala Harris on Monday acknowledged the challenges that lie ahead after January 20 when Joe Biden will be sworn in as the 46th President of the United States, saying it is not going to be easy.

We're going into Wednesday knowing that we're ready to do the work, and we've got a lot of work to do. It's not going to be easy, Harris told reporters at Martha's Table in Anacostia here on Monday, observing the National Day of Service. As we have discussed, Joe has outlined our plan for recovery, and in particular relief for working people, for families. And there is a lot to do. Some of them say that ours are ambitious goals, but we do believe with hard work and with the cooperation and collaboration of the members of the United States Congress that we can get it done, Harris said in response to a question. Asked if she felt safe going to the inauguration, she said, I am very much looking forward to be sworn in as the next vice president of the United States and I will walk there to that moment proudly with my head up and my shoulders back. Kamala Harris and the future Second Gentleman of the US Doug Emhoff participated in a service event at Martha's Table in Anacostia on Monday, packing food into plastic bags which will be distributed. The couple were seen packing bags with the list laid out for them two potatoes, two oranges, a macaroni and cheese, etc.

Vijayamma, Sharmila appear before Nampally court

INKESHAF AHMED
■ HYDERABAD

Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister YS Jaganmohan Reddy's mother YS Vijayamma and his sister YS Sharmila on Tuesday appeared before the special sessions court for the trial of MP and MLA cases at Nampally in a case registered against them in the year 2012 for conducting a road show in violation of election code at Parakal in Warangal district.

The sessions judge of the court directed the other accused in the case former Konda Surekha and her husband Muralidhar Rao to appear before it on January 27 of this month. Both YS Vijayamma and YS Sharmila told the court that they had come from Bengaluru to attend the proceedings of the court.

COVID-19 TREATMENT

Govt to reimburse government employees up to Rs 1 lakh

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

All the State government employees, both serving and retired, as well as their dependants, undergoing treatment for Covid-19 are eligible for reimbursement of medical expenses up to Rs 1 lakh if they were admitted to a hospital as in-patient as an emergency case. That is, the ceiling on reimbursement amount for the Covid treatment is limited to Rs.1 lakh, Principal Secretary, Health, Medical and Family Welfare, Telangana, S A M Rizvi stated in a memo issued on Monday.

In November 2020, Director of Medical Education Dr. K Ramesh Reddy had written a letter to the State government to provide clarification on the issue of sanction of reimbursement amount to government employees who were treated for Covid-19 at private hospitals.

The State government has clarified that all State government employees, retired employees, and their dependants are eligible to avail of reimbursement of up to Rs.1 lakh.

Sabita: Call on reduction of syllabus soon

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Education Minister Sabita Indra Reddy indicated on Tuesday that the state government would soon take a call on whether to reduce the syllabus for various classes. She indicated this during a meeting with representatives of the managements of schools and colleges here on Tuesday.

Pothireddypeta celebrates White House post for son of soil

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

A festive atmosphere prevailed in Pothireddypeta village of Huzurnagar mandal in Karimnagar district as news reached the village of the appointment of a son of the soil as the speechwriting director for United States President-elect Joe Biden.

Villagers are on cloud nine after hearing the news about Cholleti Vinay Reddy's appointment.

Vinay Reddy's father Narayana Reddy, a doctor by profession, had migrated to America in 1970. Vinay Reddy was born and brought up in America.

However, the family has not completely cut its roots from Telangana and still owns three acres and a house in the village of Pothireddypeta. Narayana Reddy, who did his schooling in the village, pursued MBBS in Hyderabad. He and his wife Vijaya Reddy visit the village every six months and meet relatives and old friends.

Police cut short Cong 'Chalo Raj Bhavan' rally

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

There were tense moments in parts of the city on Tuesday as the TS police cut short TPCC's 'Chalo Raj Bhavan' rally, led by its president N Uttam Kumar Reddy, demanding withdrawal of the new agricultural laws as well as regulation of diesel and petrol prices.

Several senior Congress leaders, including Jeevan Reddy, Komati Reddy Venkat Reddy and V Hanumantha Rao, took part in the rally. The Congress leaders said that the new agricultural laws posed problems to farmers. The farm laws should be immediately scrapped, they demanded.

The Centre had been breaking the back of the common man with the frequent hikes in diesel and petrol prices, they said.

TRS MLAs join BJP-RSS Ayodhya fundraisers, raise eyebrows

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

In a curious turn of events which has created ripples in political circles, at least two TRS MLAs have donated money in response to a fund raising drive launched by the RSS, BJP and the VHP for the construction of Ram Temple in Ayodhya.

TRS MLA from Andhole constituency Kranthi Kiran, known to be close to TRS chief and Chief Minister K Chandrababhan Naidu, surprised everyone in Andhole when he joined a rally organised by the RSS, BJP and the Vishwa Hindu Parishad and collected donations for the construction of Ram Mandir at Ayodhya. The incident, which took place on Tuesday, raised quite a few eyebrows as Kranthi Kiran hails from CM's home turf --undivided Medak district.

Not just Kranthi Kiran, a large number of his supporters too joined the rally and collected donations by going from house to house. The MLA himself chipped in with Rs 11,111 as his personal donation.

Another TRS MLA from Parigi constituency Koppula Mahesh Reddy too donated Rs 1,11,111 for the construction of the temple.

6 villages plunge into darkness as KCR chopper lands at Kaleswaram

RAJESH JAIN NIDARKAR / SRINIVAS KARENGALA
■ JAYASHANKAR BHUPALAPALLY

Six villages of Telangana -- a state that prides on its 24/7 quality power supply in all its districts -- have been plunged into darkness as faceless babus, blindly following orders from heartless superiors, uprooted without notice nearly 50 electric poles to make way for the overnight construction of another helipad, where Chief Minister K Chandrababhan Naidu landed during his visit to Kaleshwaram project on Tuesday.

By the time we went to the press, reports were clear that it would take a minimum of 48 hours to restore power supply to these villages, which are now akin to those haunted by Kala ratri.

Officials of the Jayashankar Bhupalapally district uprooted 48-50 electric poles that they felt were causing obstacles to the construction of a better helipad (in addition to the existing one there) for Tuesday's visit of Chief Minister K Chandrababhan Naidu (who had gone there on an inspection to the Kaleshwaram Project).

The officials apparently gave precedence to the CM's visit, regardless of the inconvenience caused to farmers, many of whom had parted with their lands for the irrigation project.

The district officials, who had been making arrangements for the CM's visit for the past one week, did not inform, let alone consult, the villagers regarding the indefinite spell of darkness in which they have to live till power supply is restored.

Told to raise funds, AP BJP unit finds the going tough

MARTHI SUBRAHMANYAM
■ VIJAYAWADA

A communique by the BJP central leadership has landed the party's Andhra Pradesh unit, which has just about started gathering steam, in a fix.

The BJP central leadership has placed the responsibility of mobilising funds to meet office expenses and sustain their activities squarely on the state units.

The communique said that the party's central leadership would not release funds to state units to meet office or election expenses and advised them to mobilise funds on their own. Accordingly, it is understood to have given a ball-park figure on how much the units should generate.

According to BJP sources, the party's central leadership has decided to suspend the financial support to units in states where the party is not in power.

Hitherto, the central leadership used to meet the polls expenses of units too, apart from daily and recurring expenses like rent, salaries for office workers etc.Regarding unforeseen expenses, the practice was the party leadership would meet the expenses first and later claim for reimbursement.

Desecration of idols takes political colour!

In a state like Andhra Pradesh, it is definitely very hard to draw the attention of people with just an ideological strength base, some theories and plausible preaching! But it's very easy to reach sections of its people as protagonists of religion, region and caste. Political parties often choose to go for a blame game against their rivals, hoping to get political fruits. It's a two-pronged strategy to get political mileage and put detractors on the defensive.

Political rivalry between the YSRCP and the TDP in Andhra Pradesh has now assumed religious overtones, following police 'findings' with regard to the string of incidents involving desecration of shrines, mainly idols in Hindu temples. The finding that the 'miscreants' included political activists has given ammunition to both parties, which are out to fix each other.

The Ramatheertham incident, which took place in Vizianagaram had, sent shock waves across the state, jolting the administration to action. For many years, agent provocateurs did not whip up religious passions, though caste conflicts have at times resulted in fury and flames disturbing social harmony. Even during the surcharged atmosphere post demolition of the Babri Masjid at Ayodhya in December 1992, the state was by and large peaceful, unlike several states that witnessed widespread and spontaneous 'reactions' to that infamous incident.

But now the YSRCP has launched a political tirade against the Telugu Desam Party, which is paying back

For many years, agent provocateurs did not whip up religious passions, though caste conflicts have at times resulted in fury and flames disturbing social harmony. Even during the surcharged atmosphere post demolition of the Babri Masjid, the state was by and large peaceful the ruling party in its own coin. So, observers see a distinct possibility of polarisation of votes on the basis of religion during the upcoming bypoll for the Tirupati Lok Sabha constituency. The bypoll has been necessitated by the sudden death of present member belonging to YSRCP Balli Durgaprasad Rao. BJP has jumped into the poll fray without consulting Jana Sena, its friendly party headed by actor Pawan Kalyan, causing embarrassment to the latter. BJP's proposed Rath Yatra against 'growing attacks on Hindu temples all over the state' has increased political heat. Probably influenced by the widely perceived reason for BJP's rise at the Centre, almost all right-of-centre parties are falling back on out-right Hindutva or Hindutva-like ideology to impress voters and grow their individual vote banks.

M D RATNA KUMAR
Senior Journalist

AP DGP Gautam Sawang's 'confirmation' that some TDP and BJP leaders were involved in the attacks on temples has drawn severe condemnation from various quarters, including the two parties. Interestingly, the same DGP had previously brushed aside the argument regarding possible political conspiracy and asserted that the attacks were the handiwork of 'senseless miscreants'. Naturally, YSRC cadre across the state welcomed the 'startling revelations' of the DGP, though others question the propriety of the DGP's disclosure of the 'findings' much before the completion of enquiry by SIT. In retrospect, how can the DGP blunt opposition leaders' taunt that he should shed his uniform and join YSRC?

The lack of surveillance cameras in many temples has complicated matters for the authorities. Still, the Government appears to be vigorously trying to nab the culprits. What happened in the case of the demolition of Babri Masjid in December 1992? Will people have faith in a system if an organised crime could not reach the stage of punishment?

The YSRCP, when it was in the Opposition, had expressed its displeasure at the functioning of the Police Department after a youth attacked then opposition leader YS Jaganmohan Reddy with a sharp knife (used in cockfight) at Visakhapatnam airport. To lay it on thick, Jagan then evinced no interest in getting treatment from local doctors under the supervision of AP police citing his apprehension that the police might do harm to him. Jagan then travelled to Hyderabad for treatment in the neighbouring state. Earlier, in another incident, he had warned AP police personnel at the same airport of 'dire consequences'. He squatted on the runway along with other leaders protesting the behaviour of police towards him.

Coming back to the imminent polarisation ahead of the Tirupati bypoll, it appears that BJP is strategically pushing its hidden agenda to delete the very concept of Special Category Status from the minds of people. What the saffron party is trying to wish away is that in 2014 it was then BJP prime ministerial candidate Narendra Modi who made the crucial announcement regarding SCS on the hallowed soil of Tirupati during campaigning for the General Election. It is a different matter that BJP leaders, including Modi, may become voiceless if people call them out during campaigning tomorrow. Meanwhile, it pays for the saffron party to take an aggressive stand on its Hindutva agenda in AP. For, the emergence of 'ruling classes' such as Reddy, Kamma & Velama have changed the political dynamics in the state, with religion receding to the background.

V-P: Attract youth to farming

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Vice President M Venkaiah Naidu on Tuesday called for measures to prevent agro brain drain and attract educated youth to take up farming as a profession.

He opined that the future of Indian agriculture lies in the hands of technology-driven farming practices powered by well-informed and modern-minded farmers.

The Vice President made these remarks while virtually inaugurating the National Dialogue on 'Indian Agriculture Towards 2030: Pathways for Enhancing Farmers' Income, Nutritional Security and Sustainable Food Systems' organised by NITI Aayog, Ministry of Agriculture and Food & Agriculture Organisation (FAO).

Expressing concern over the increasing lack of interest in farming among the educated youth, Naidu opined that changing socio-economic milieu, increasing agri-input costs and diminishing returns have turned agriculture into a less preferred profession among the youth.

He called for establishing strong lab-farm links and farmer-industry interaction to turn the farmers into agri-entrepreneur. Creation of business incubation centres' would also be a step in the right direction for aspiring farmers in this field, the Vice President added. Stating that agriculture input costs have gone up significantly, Naidu urged the policymakers and other stakeholders to work towards reducing the input costs. Towards this end, he also suggested promoting organic farming in a big way.

Stressing the need to move away from chemical farming, he said organic farming is beneficial for all-the farmers, the consumers and the environment. He called for making organic agriculture a mass movement not only for a wealthy nation but also a healthy nation.

Termining agriculture as the sod of India, the Vice President said that it is critical not only for our food security but the economy and the livelihood also "Agriculture is the pillar of India's ecology, culture and civilisation", he said.

They dared Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao to adopt a resolution on the floor of the state Assembly against the new agricultural laws.

The protesting leaders, who were rounded up, expressed their ire at the police for disrupting their peaceful agitation. The Congress leaders' rally, taken out apparently for laying lay siege to the Raj Bhavan, was broken up by the police near the Telugu Talli fly-over. The Congress leaders had set out for the Raj Bhavan from the State Assembly via NTR Marg. The police whisked them away to various police stations.

Even in the districts local Congress leaders demonstrated.

Thirupathi Reddy, Vinay Reddy's grandfather, served as the sarpanch of Pothireddypeta village for 30 years. While Narayana Reddy migrated to the US, his elder brother Raji Reddy and younger brother Prabhakar Reddy are settled in Hyderabad.

Cholleti Kishan Reddy, a close relative of Vinay Reddy, expressed happiness over the appointment of Vinay Reddy as Biden's speechwriter.

The entire village, in fact, is elated after hearing the news, he said, wishing that the son of the soil brings more accolades to the village by achieving higher positions. Vinay Reddy, who was born and brought up in America, had visited the village in his childhood.

According to a post from the Moritz College of Law, of which he is an alumnus, Vinay Reddy served as Biden's chief speech writer during his second term as Vice President to Barack Obama, as deputy speechwriter for the Obama-Biden 2012 re-election campaign and was also the speechwriter for the Biden-Harris transition.

His prior speechwriting stints also included with the US Environmental Protection Agency and US Department of Health and Human Services.

The additional Public Prosecutor of the Court, Banala Ajay Kumar, represented the authorities concerned in the case.

The Parkal Police had invoked sections 188 and 391 of IPC and section 127 of the Representation of People's Act.

The MLAs, who belongs to TRS, which is currently locked in a vicious fight with the BJP, chanted 'Jai Sri Ram' and urged people to donate for the construction of the Ram Mandir.

The incident comes at a time when the BJP and TRS are fighting bye-elections in Nagarjunasagar, Municipal elections in Warangal and Khammam and Graduates constituency elections in six undivided districts in the state. Many wondered whether this was a personal decision of the MLA or if the TRS has decided not to oppose the fund raising drive of the RSS-BJP-VHP. Kranthi Kiran is engaged in a bitter war of words with actor-turned-politician from Andhole Babumohan. Babumohan, who was sitting TRS MLA from Andhole from 2014 to 2018, was denied party ticket for 2018 Assembly polls. He was replaced by journalist-turned-politician Kranthi Kiran.

The central leadership has rung down curtains on this practice too.

According to a communiqué from central leadership to state units where the party is out of power, the latter were asked to meet their own expenses and also the expenses for the next elections to the Assemblies and Lok Sabha.

For the BJP AP unit, this would be a rather difficult task, especially after bifurcation of the State as many industrialists from AP have made Hyderabad their base. The BJP AP unit is dependent on donations from these industrialists.

The industrialists who have business interests in Andhra Pradesh have long had a "working relationship" with either the YSRCP or the TDP. It's not known how they would respond to donating funds to the BJP.

By themselves, the BJP leaders in AP are not financially strong. In fact, 80 percent of the party workers and leaders, including the party's MLCs and ZPTCs, are from the upper middle classes. Only a few leaders are from the business class.

Two BJP MPs from AP — Satyanarayana Chowdary and CM Ramesh — have the ability to raise funds, but they are lukewarm to the idea, given the fact that they have not been given any prominence in the party. Incidentally, Satyanarayana Chowdary funded the TDP poll expenses in 2014 and also prior to that. After he crossed over to the BJP, a function hall he owns in Vijayawada is being used to run party activities.

TG Venkatesh, another MP, is lending financial support to BJP activities in Kurnool district.

No other political leader has been making a notable financial contribution to the party activities. The general feeling among BJP AP leaders is that mobilisation of funds in the State is not going to be easy.

A senior party leader who wished to remain anonymous admitted to receiving orders in this regard but ruled out mobilisation of funds to meet the out of turn expenses.

She said that managements should first take steps to start classes for students. She outlined the precautions to be observed while re-opening educational institutions. The minister wanted the institutions to take steps to transition to classroom teaching for all classes in phases.

The representatives of private educational institutions put forward their 14-point charter of demands before the minister for consideration. Among other things, the representatives of managements told the minister that it had become very difficult for them to run the schools as many parents defaulted on payment of tuition fees. Some schools suggested the government to impose minimum attendance rule and conduct the academic year till June. Later, speaking to media, she said that CM had given clear instructions that schools should conduct classroom teaching, while adhering to COVID-19 precautions.

51,997 healthcare workers vaccinated

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

On the third day of the Covid vaccination drive in Telangana, 51,997 healthcare workers reported Adverse Events Following Immunisation (AEFI) with three of them requiring hospitalisation.

"All the admitted healthcare workers are stable. The nature of the adverse events was pain at the injection site, redness, nausea and giddiness.

sions and cover 73,673 healthcare workers on the third day of the vaccine drive.

The Kaleshwaram Project has redrawn the Irrigation Map of the Telangana State. Taking inspiration from the Kaleshwaram Project, works on Tupakulugudem Barrage, Dummugudem Barrage of the Sitarama Project are being completed speedily. We want to complete all these projects quickly and put an end to the farmers' hardships once and for all in the state and this is our aim."

Giving the rationale for completing the project in record time, he said: "We have taken up construction of the Kaleshwaram project as a yagnam. Thousands of workers toiled 365 days even in the hottest 50 degrees temperatures. The officials have solved the problems like the land acquisition, crossings with a lot of knack and presence of mind. I am very happy that the project, which is of immense help and need to the farmers, has become operational. It is a matter of satisfaction that the dreams of Telangana farmers have been realised and a solution to the drinking water problems is reached," the Chief Minister said.

6 villages plunges into...

Unlike in the case of urban areas, where at least in posh localities consumers are informed ahead of the planned shutdown, the officials did not have the courtesy to inform the simple villagers in advance. Nor did they give any indication to the villagers about when power supply would be restored.

Because of the sudden disruption in power supply, bore wells remained non-functional, causing hardships to farmers. Irrate villagers denounced the official apathy and recounted their sacrifices for the Kaleshwaram project. The sarpanches of the affected villages have urged the government to take stern action against those responsible for plunging the villages into darkness. The CM arrived here on Tuesday by a chopper to inspect the progress of the Kaleshwaram project.

Initially, the TS Transco officials had removed the electric poles near the site for the new helipad and moved them to a faraway place. But the district officials, seeking to be more loyal than the king, felt that even the relocated electric poles could pose problems to the landing of the CM's chopper and therefore took a unilateral decision on Tuesday morning to remove the poles altogether without notice to the affected villages.

As a result, Annaram, Chandrupalli, Naagepalli, Maddulakunta, Palluga, Kuntlam and Dubbagudem villages are now in pitch darkness all of a sudden.

The district officials had previously set up a helipad at a spot en route the Kannepalli pump house. However, on a private site near Gundam tank, the officials built overnight a new helipad. The reason for abandoning the old helipad was not made official.

Residents of the affected villages bemoaned that they had been languishing in darkness because of officials' carelessness and thoughtlessness. They demanded that power supply must be restored immediately.

Some of the Kaleshwaram project oustees in other villages too had to languish in darkness on Bhogi festival day, says residents of Mallanasa Sagar.

People of Vemulaghat, one of the displaced villages, had to spend in darkness for 48 hours since the Bhogi festival. A resident of Vemulaghat, Hayatuddin said that the contractors caused damage to the power lines supplying power to the village. It had become a habit for officials and contractors, he said.

Hayatuddin alleged that officials had been neglecting development of infrastructure like roads, power supply and water supply, causing inconvenience to people. Local people's representatives complained that panchayat raj department officials and district authorities were negligent with regard to matters impacting displaced persons in several villages.

A resident of Mahadevpur village, Gudala Srinivas said that the CM, during his visit, would shower sops on the villages. Still, people reeled under darkness as officials removed the electric poles near the helipads. The officials should not cause inconvenience to people just to be in the good books of the CM, he suggested. He wanted the government to take severe action against the officials responsible. A resident of Kaleswaram village, Letakari Rajababu said that disruption in power supply was an example of how the villagers had acted in haste (in parting with their land) without any foresight. The residents of the village faced many inconveniences due to disruption in power supply.

A resident of Annaram village, Manchineella Durgaiah said that destroying the electric poles on account of the CM's visit was "a shameful act". The officials removed the electric poles to ensure safety of the Chief Minister, but ignored people's woes. Farmers in Annaram, Pusukupalli, Chandruvelli, Ippalipalli, Maddulakunta and Kuntlam suffered problems due to disruption in power supply at a time when paddy transplantation is in progress. Farmers had to postpone paddy transplantation because of the disruption.

Rates fixed, but vendors sell their veggies at higher price

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

Even as the market committee here has been releasing the rate list on a daily basis, vegetable vendors continue to charge a higher price than the approved rates of fruits and vegetables. The prices of vegetables which started to rise have been given a further push with vendors at city markets choosing to ignore the prescribed price list. At rythu bazaars in city, most of the vegetables were being sold at a price higher than that is scribbled on the board at the market. If some vegetables cost Rs 2 more, others were being sold at almost Rs 10 more than what the bazaar authorities had fixed.

Vendors, however, argue that they were forced to increase the prices as the rates fixed at market were not fetching for them. The vendors are selling the vegetable at Rs 5-10 extra per kg than the fixed price written on the signboard by the Agriculture Department which is a clear violation of the rule.

Last year between March to December, the Agriculture Department had collected Rs 16,350 as penalties from the vegetable vendors at Mehdiapatnam and Rs 29,000 from the vendors at Erragadda Rythu Bazar. It has been observed that the Rythu Bazaars' vendors at Alwal, Kukatpally, Mehdiapatnam and Erragadda are looting the customers. They are selling tomato at Rs 15 whereas its fixed price is Rs 10, Potato at Rs 35 instead of Rs 31 and Carrot at Rs 35 in place of Rs 25. "We are paying good enough amount for vegetable arrivals and labour charges. The rates prescribed by the market committee will not get us even our investment," said a vendor at Erragadda Rythu Bazar. According to the Rythu Bazaar officials, if any complaint is received from the customer, the vendors are given an oral warning for the first time. If such a vendor repeats his violation for a second time, then his weighing machine is impounded. If repeated for the third time, the vendor is asked to leave the market. The Mehdiapatnam Rythu Bazaar officials said, "Whenever we get a complaint against the vendor, the concerned Rythu Bazaar Supervisor takes strict action against the violator." "We have not received any complaint this week," said an official at the Erragadda Rythu Bazar. "Last month we have received many complaints against the vendors for selling vegetables at extra costs and we have taken prompt action and collected Rs 29,000 as penalties from them," he said. A customer at Alwal Rythu Bazar said, "The vegetable vendors generally sell the vegetable for more than the actual price written on the signboard. When they are reminded why they are charging Rs 5 extra per kg, they always start a heated argument and threaten the customer."

Customs Department says 'info nil' about seized gold

DURGA PRASAD SUNKU
■ HYDERABAD

Hyderabad Customs Department in an RTI reply to an activist denied providing data regarding the seizure of the gold and other valuables termed 'nil'. The activist who was disappointed over the reply is planning to go for first appeal. "There is lack of transparency and accountability in the Customs Department," he alleged.

An RTI activist Robin Zaccheus sought reply from principal commissioner of Customs Department regarding the number of cases booked by the officials and details about the valuables seized by the officials in last five years from 2015 to 2020. Robin also asked for the details about the public auction of seized valuables, which are under the custody of Hyderabad Customs. In an RTI reply, the officials of the Customs Department stated, "Information about the valuables seized and others is NIL." Sharing the idea behind filing the RTI petition regarding the seizure, Robin told 'The Pioneer', "Recently, we have witnessed that 103 kgs of gold which was in the custody of CBI officials in Chennai has been missing. Subsequently, the High Court of Tamil Nadu directed the Crime Branch, Crime Investigation Department (CB-CID) of the state to investigate into the case. The investigation will be conducted by an officer of the rank of Superintendent of Police in CB-CID." In this backdrop, Robin has filed an RTI petition seeking reply from the Customs Department of Hyderabad regarding the seizure of valuables. Robin said that the Custom officials boast about their gold seizure once in a week and we are clueless about what happened to the seized gold. Usually, they should conduct public auction but they haven't done it so far. After the reply from the RTI, my suspicion has strengthened, Robin added. Commenting on the reply, Robin said, "There is lack of transparency and accountability in Hyderabad Customs which has come to fore through their reply. It further raises lot of suspicious of corruption in the department." Sharing his future course of action, Robin said, "I am planning to go for a first appeal and will fight till they release those details."

Min: Attendance not mandatory even after reopening of schools

PNS ■ HYDERABAD

There are concerns among parents about sending their kids to school whenever physical reopening is permitted by the state government. The concern of 'missing out on education' if the child does not join back is amplified due to the rumour mills of the social media. However, Education Minister Sabitha Indira Reddy assured that, physical classes will not be mandatory after reopening of educational institutions, when a delegation of Hyderabad School Parents Association (HSPA) members met her to discuss several issues faced by parents during the Covid pandemic. The Minister also assured that the parents can send their children to schools only if they are willing, otherwise they can attend online classes. She also assured that attendance will not be compulsory and students will not be detained for shortage of attendance. Also all the teaching and non-teaching staff of the schools must undergo Covid test and only the non-infected staff must be allowed to attend school. HSPA believes that when judiciary is not willing to start physical hearings, it is not good to start physical classes for students. The children would more prone to virus and their safety and security is at risk if the physical classes are started. The HSPA also brought the issue of filing criminal cases against parents on the complaint of St Andrews school and also submitted that they are continuously violating GO No 46 and RTE Act and removing students from schools on the pretext of shortage of attendance in online classes. The Minister assured that she will speak to the DGP and request him to look into the issue and also book cases against private schools who are violating rules. The HSPA also requested the Education Minister to expedite constitution of Fee Regulation Committee and decide the fee to be collected by the private schools. Also direct the private schools to give break-up of fees collected by them instead of showing entire fee as tuition fee.

Hyderabad has highest Covid positivity rate in the country

ANUSHA PUPPALA
■ HYDERABAD

Hyderabad city has the highest positivity rate, compared to other cities in the country, reveals a serosurvey by the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR). The second highest positivity rate was reported in Chennai, followed by Delhi.

According to the survey, Covid positivity rate among 2,073 people from Hyderabad whose blood samples were tested for Covid antibodies was 18 percent. This is much higher than the average positivity rate among the 10,427 people who took part in the serosurvey. Herd immunity 'does not seem to be in sight' and that an effective vaccine might be required to control Covid, according to the survey. Findings of the first-of-its-kind cohort serosurvey in India, 'Insights from a Pan India Sero-Epidemiological survey for SARS-CoV-2', have been published on the pre-print database Medrxiv. According to the report, a person may continue to have immunity for up to six months against the same strain of Covid, after being infected with Covid. The serosurvey was conducted in June 2020 at the Institute of Genomics and Integrative Biology and was held in other institutes between July-September. The report shows that antibodies to NC antigen are well maintained over three months, neutralising antibodies start to fall. There is a decline in antibodies to NC antigen, while neutralising antibody levels remain stable after the initial decline after six months. The persistence of antibodies is likely to confer protection against reinfection with the same strain at least for six months.

Centre likely to hike Kisan aid

■ HYDERABAD

The Pradhan Mantri Kisan Samman Nidhi Yojana (PM-KISAN) will bring smiles on faces of farmers, thanks to the Centre as the cash assistance of Rs 6,000 per annum is likely to be increased to Rs 10,000 per annum. However, it has not been officially announced.

The Union Ministry of Agriculture has sought the views of the States on the decision to increase as per the verbal instructions of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. A letter was also sent to Telangana and Andhra Pradesh in that regard. However, the Centre has decided to remove the farmers, who are currently paying income tax from the list of Kisan Samman beneficiaries' list. The decision will benefit a large number of farmers, it is learnt.

Currently, the Kisan Samman scheme is applicable only to those farmers, who own five acres of agricultural land. However, this limit will be increased in the revised guidelines. Union Minister of Finance Nirmala Sitaraman will present the Union Budget on February 1, 2021. During that time, Kisan Samman will gather the views of all the States and release new guide-

In all, 51,17,791 families in Andhra Pradesh and 34,81,656 families in Telangana are on the beneficiaries' list.

The Prime Minister is taking other crucial decisions in the agriculture sector to achieve the goal of doubling the income of farmers. As part of this, the Kisan Samman scheme was launched for farmers. Right now, the scheme provides financial assistance of Rs 6,000 to farmers.

The Central government is depositing money into farmers' bank accounts in three instalments at the rate of Rs 2,000. In this budget, the Modi government has decided to provide more financial facilities to farmers. Among them is a proposal to increase PM Kisan assistance, said a senior official with key responsibilities in the agriculture department.

A recent survey conducted by the Central government found that small farming families are also struggling to make their ends meet as there is no income. The Centre has identified the need for more financial assistance as the con-

The recipients should also mention to the healthcare provider, if they have fever, if they have a bleeding disorder or are on a blood thinner and also if they are immunocompromised or are on a medicine that affects your immune system, it added.

The fact sheet also says that if a person is pregnant or plans to become pregnant or is breastfeeding she should tell the healthcare provider before taking the jab.

COVID-19 vaccination resumes in Mumbai, Pune after 2 days

PNS ■ MUMBAI

After a gap of two days, the COVID-19 vaccination drive resumed in Mumbai and Pune on Tuesday morning, but unlike the first day, there was hardly any rush of beneficiaries for taking jabs in the metropolis.

A doctor at a vaccination centre in Mumbai said the response was slow in the morning, but the process was gradually picking up.

The inoculation drive resumed at nine centres in Mumbai and 28 centres in the neighbouring Pune district, officials said.

The Maharashtra government had suspended the inoculation process on Sunday and Monday due to some problems in the Co-WIN app, created by the Centre for managing registration for the vaccination.

On the first day of the vaccination on Saturday, only 1,923 out of 4,000 registered beneficiaries got the doses in Mumbai, as per the BMC.

On Tuesday, the vaccination process started around 9 am at all the centres in Mumbai, as per BMC officials.

However, unlike Saturday, there was hardly any rush of registered beneficiaries at the vaccination centres.

Shah praises role of Delhi Police during pandemic

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Tuesday praised the role of the Delhi Police during the coronavirus pandemic and said the police force has been providing exemplary services to people of the national capital. He also said that the police force tackled the north-east Delhi riots last year and brought back peace to the city.

"Be it tackling the northeast Delhi violence, or the lockdown announced after the outbreak of coronavirus, or the unlocking process, or the movement of migrant workers, the Delhi Police has provided exemplary services to the people," Shah said at an event held at the Delhi Police headquarters here.

The minister said the Delhi Police has a very large area of responsibility as various key installations come under its jurisdiction that include Rashtrapati Bhavan, embassies of a large number of countries, headquarters of many key organisations, science centres, among others.

14 migrant workers, baby girl crushed to death by truck

PNS ■ SURAT

Thirteen migrant labourers and a year-old-girl from Rajasthan who were sleeping by the roadside in Gujarat's Surat district were among 15 dead after a dumper truck ran over them on Tuesday, police said.

Those killed include eight women and a migrant worker from Madhya Pradesh, police said. While 12 of them died on the spot, three died during treatment at a hospital, police added.

Except for the 19-year-old worker from Madhya Pradesh, all the other deceased were from villages in Banswara district in south Rajasthan, police said.

The tragedy took place near Kosamba village, around 60 km from Surat, police said. The truck driver, who apparently lost control over the vehicle after hitting a sugarcane laden tractor, has been booked under sections of the IPC and Motor Vehicles Act, police said.

The truck driver and the vehicle's 'cleaner' were also injured in the accident and are being treated at a hospital.

The truck ran over the migrant construction workers on the Kim-Mandvi road shortly after midnight, Surat

SP Usha Rada said.

The truck driver lost control over his vehicle after dashing against the tractor and veered off the road onto the pavement where the workers were sleeping, she said.

"The truck was on its way to Mandvi from Kim. The driver lost control of the vehicle after it hit sugarcane hanging out of the tractor trolley coming from the opposite direction.

"The truck's front window pane shattered on impact, which blocked the driver's vision. The truck then veered off the road and crashed into the sleeping labourers," she said.

Three workers injured in the tragedy are being treated in a nearby hospital, the police official said.

The deceased were identified as Rahul Mahida (19), Manisha Mahida (19), Vanita Mahida (17), Sangeeta Vasunia (27), Champa Panda (16), Naresh Panda (25), Rajila Mahida (25), Vikesh Mahida (27), Shakan Vasunia (21), Mukesh Mahida (25), Lila Mahida (22), Anita Mahida (40), Dilip Vasania (20), Shobha Vasania (23) and one-year-old girl Tejal Mahida.

Except Rahul Mahida, a native of Madhya Pradesh, all other victims were from Rajasthan, police said.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi announced that ex-gratia of Rs two lakh from the Prime Minister's National Relief Fund would be given to the next of kin of each person killed in the accident and Rs 50,000 would be given to each injured.

India chased down 328 in the final Test to end Australia's 32-year unbeaten run at the Gabba, Brisbane. BCCI President Sourav Ganguly and Secretary Jay Shah tweeted within minutes of each other to make the announcement of a bonus.

"Just a remarkable win...To go to Australia and win a test series in this way...will be remembered in the history of Indian cricket forever...Bcci announces a 5 cr bonus for the team...The value of this win is beyond any number...well done to every member of the touring party," Ganguly tweeted.

Girl sexually abused by 38 still undergoing counselling: Cops

PNS ■ MALAPPURAM (KERALA)

A 17-year-old girl, who recently disclosed that she had allegedly been sexually abused by 38 persons, is still undergoing psycho-social counselling, police said on Tuesday.

The girl was being counselled at the state-run Nirbhaya Centre here and there was no plan to send her back home, considering her safety, the police said.

Based on the girl's disclosure in November last, a total of 29 cases had been registered so far and 20 persons arrested in this connection, a top police official said.

"We have registered 13 and 16 cases separately. Of the total 40 accused, 20 have already been arrested and we are on a hunt to trace 20 more accused," district police chief Abdul Karim U told PTI.

Of the arrested 20, 15 went out on bail and five were remanded, he said.

He said mother was the lone close relative the victim had and it was not safe to send the girl back home.

"The victim continues to undergo counselling at the Nirbhaya Centre. If higher-ups seek any report from us in this regard, we will object to sending her back home to join her mother due to safety reasons. We take into consideration her mental condition also," the officer added.

The teenager's ordeal came to light during a counselling session at the Nirbhaya centre recently, police said.

The girl had been sexually abused in 2016 when she was 13 and then a year later.

After the second incident, she was sent to the Child Home and allowed to go with her mother about a year ago.

According to the police, the girl was missing for sometime after she was released from Child Home and was traced to Palakkad in December last and brought to the Nirbhaya centre.

‘Farm laws designed to destroy agriculture’

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Centre's new farm laws are designed to "destroy" the agriculture sector, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi alleged on Tuesday and asserted that the only solution to the farmers' issue is to repeal the legislations. At a press conference, Gandhi also released a booklet highlighting the "plight" of farmers in the wake of the Centre's three farm laws.

He alleged that the laws will put the entire agriculture sector in the hands of "three to four crony capitalists".

The Centre's new farm laws are "designed to destroy" the agriculture sector, the former Congress chief said.

"I support the protesting farmers 100 per cent and every single person in the country should support them as they are fighting for us," he said.

There is just one solution that these three laws will have to repealed, Gandhi said when asked about the impasse in talks between the government and the protesting farmers.

MoE announces relaxation in admission norms for NITs

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Ministry of Education on Tuesday announced relaxation in admission criteria for NITs and centrally funded technical institutions by waiving off requirement of 75 per cent marks in class 12.

"Considering the decision taken for IIT JEE (Advanced) and in line with the decision taken for the last academic year, it has been decided to waive off the 75% marks (in class 12 exam) eligibility criteria under Joint Entrance Examination (Main) for the next academic year 2021-2022 in respect of NITs, IIITs, SPAS and other CFTIs, whose admissions are based on JEE (Main)," Union Education Minister Ramesh Pokhriyal 'Nishank' tweeted.

In the wake of COVID-19 outbreak, the Central Seat Allocation Board (CSAB) had last year relaxed norms for admissions into National Institute of Technology (NITs) and Centrally Funded Technical Institutions (CFTIs). As per the relaxation, NITs will admit undergraduate students based on their performance in Joint Entrance Exam-Mains (JEE-Mains) and will discount the class 12 board examination marks in selection process.

Climate change may intensify floods

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Future climate change will cause an uneven shifting of the tropical rain belt -- a narrow band of heavy precipitation near the Earth's equator -- leading to increased flooding in parts of India, a new study warns.

The study, published in the journal Nature Climate Change, examined computer simulations from 27 state-of-the-art climate models, and measured the tropical rain belt's response to a future scenario in which greenhouse gas emissions continue to rise through the end of the current century.

According to the research, a northward shift of the tropical rain belt over the eastern Africa and the Indian Ocean could result in "intensified flooding in southern India," and may impact global biodiversity and food security by 2100.

The scientists, including those from the University of California (UC) Irvine in the US, said this "sweeping shift" of the rain belt was disguised in previous studies that provided a global average of the influence of climate change.

SC seeks report from panel on cleaning of river Yamuna

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court Tuesday sought a report from a committee, set up by the NGT, on its recommendations for improving the water quality of the Yamuna river and the extent to which the authorities have implemented them.

The NGT, on July 26, 2018, had constituted the monitoring committee comprising its former expert member B S Sajwan and former Delhi chief secretary Shailaja Chandra on the cleaning of the Yamuna and had directed it to submit an action plan in this regard.

A bench headed by Chief Justice S A Bobde took note of the submission of amicus curiae and senior advocate Meenakshi Arora that the NGT-appointed panel has been monitoring the cleaning of Yamuna water.

In the proceedings conducted through video conferencing, the bench, also comprising Justices L Nageswara Rao and Vineet Saran, asked the committee to submit its report on recommendations made by it for improving the quality of water of Yamuna and the extent to which they have been implemented.

Earlier, the top court had taken suo motu cognizance of contamination of rivers by effluent in the country and had decided to take up the pollution of Yamuna river first.

Gabba forever!

The 2020-21 Australian tour will remain etched in the memory of Indian cricket fans as long as they live

One month ago, editorials across newspapers were bemoaning the state of Indian cricket. An almost full-strength Indian cricket team was bowled out for 36 runs in Adelaide and, despite drawing the white-ball matches three-all, many feared the worst in the forthcoming Tests. After all, India's talismanic batsman and captain Virat Kohli was headed home to be with his wife for the birth of their first child. Injuries had begun to take their toll even before the first match and, given Australia's strict two-week quarantine rules, flying in replacements at a moment's notice was actually impossible. Foreign commentators, always quick to slam India, predicted a whitewash. Yet, somehow in an incredible show of resilience and extraordinary leadership and batsmanship by stand-in captain Ajinkya Rahane, India won the second Test at Melbourne, the best possible gift they could have given Indian cricket fans heading into the start of the new year after what had been a truly woeful 2020 for almost everyone. In and of itself, that was a great story of redemption, coming back from Indian cricket's worst moment in contemporary history to win handsomely. Many compared that moment to the heroics of VVS Laxman and Rahul Dravid at the Eden Gardens two decades ago. But that was a simple redemption story; this play needed a third act. An act that began with the first match of the new year in Sydney, where a brave Indian second-innings rearguard performance prevented the hosts from winning the Test.

But the play ended in Australia's fortress of the Gabba in Brisbane, a ground where the home team had not lost in over three decades. And India playing essentially their second XI, giving a part-timer Washington Sundar — who had not played a first-class match in three years — his first cap and boasting a bowling line-up with just five caps among them. On top of that, a young batting line-up was facing an experienced Australian pace battery and a spin bowler playing his hundredth Test. India's heroics at Melbourne and Sydney were commendable, but most Indian cricket fans thought that a draw at the Gabba would be a great result. The last Test of the Border-Gavaskar Trophy series will remain etched in the minds and memory of the cricket aficionados as the ultimate decider that tested the resilience, composure and physical fitness of the players. The young and largely inexperienced Indian team battled it all in this Test series, within themselves and with the world outside: Issues with facilities, racial slurs, losing key players at crucial junctures, injury after injury, issues with bubble life for multiple months et al. However, the actions of one of India's former heroes, Rahul Dravid, in shaping this new Indian team under his tutelage as the coach of India's 'A' team must not be dismissed. There was a sense of resilience in this team that 'The Wall' himself would have been proud of. Not only did Washington Sundar and Shardul Thakur play the most unexpectedly pleasant seventh-wicket partnership, keeping India in the game in the first innings, Shubman Gill, Cheteshwar Pujara, the senior man whose body faced blow after blow, and finally Rishabh Pant, the Delhi boy whose abilities have been openly questioned and in whose perseverance in the team many allegations of favouritism have been thrown at India's management, a young India found its new cricketing heroes. This is more than a redemption story, this is more than a coming-of-age story; this is an epic, a story for the ages. The Indian cricket team's grit and determination, particularly by a group of inexperienced young men is a story for the ages. When India won the 2011 World Cup at the Wankhede Stadium, they got an open-top bus ride through Mumbai and while COVID-19 protocols might mean that this team cannot get one, make no mistake, they truly deserve it.

Remove Chinese hamlet

The Govt, Opposition trade barbs over reports of a village having come up in a disputed area of Arunachal Pradesh

Even as India and China are locked in a bitter border standoff in eastern Ladakh for over eight months, and both the countries have held several rounds of military and diplomatic dialogue in order to resolve the standoff but without making any significant headway, reports have emerged that China has built a village comprising 120 houses five km inside the disputed territory in Arunachal Pradesh. The provocative development, which ostensibly pertains to November last year, was detected by satellite images taken by Planet Labs. This is the same area where the People's Liberation Army (PLA) had detained five locals last year. The village is on the banks of the Tsari Chu river in the Upper Subansiri district and China has all along disputed India's ownership claim over the area. It is feared that China wants to maintain pressure on India by opening several fronts along the 3,488-km Line of Actual Control (LAC), stretching from Ladakh in the west to Arunachal Pradesh in the east. The development has understandably rung alarm bells in India's security establishment and the Opposition has also rolled up its sleeves to take on the Government. Congress leader Rahul Gandhi trained his guns on Prime Minister Narendra Modi on the issue of national security after the development was reported. "Remember his promise — 'Mai desh jhukne nahi dunga'," Rahul wrote on Twitter. Randeep Surjewala, another Congress leader, also slammed the Prime Minister, asking: "...Where is the '56-inch chest'?" Returning the fire, BJP president JP Nadda said that the scion, his party and family had repeatedly lied on the issue of China: "When will Rahul Gandhi, his dynasty and the Congress stop lying on China? Can he deny that thousands of km, including the one in Arunachal Pradesh he is referring to, was gifted by none other than Nehru to the Chinese? Time and again, why does Congress surrender to China?" The BJP chief added: "Does Rahul Gandhi have any intention to cancel the Congress party's MoU with China and their Communist Party? Does he intend to return the Chinese largesse to trusts controlled by his family? Or will their policies and practices continue to be dictated by Chinese money and MoU?"

For its part, the Government has "taken note of the construction" along the border and ramped up its infrastructure development projects. The Indian security establishment maintains that the coming up of this village is in violation of several agreements between the countries. The pacts clearly say both countries to "safeguard due interests of their settled population in the border areas" and "strictly respect and observe the LAC". This piece of land was apparently under Chinese occupation since 1965 but, as disputed territory, no country should change the status quo as per international law. "If this is true, it is clear that the Chinese have altered the status quo by converting a disputed area into a permanent settlement of Chinese nationals. What does the Government have to say about these startling facts?" Congress leader P Chidambaram said. If the Government's claim that it is Indian territory is correct, it should unequivocally take up the matter with Beijing and get the settlement removed. Earlier on June 15-16, 2020, Indian and Chinese troops had clashed on the Galwan valley ridges at a height of nearly 14,000 ft; at least 76 Indian soldiers were reportedly injured in addition to the 20 dead. Indian intercepts also revealed that the Chinese side suffered 43 casualties.

Indefensibility of amorality

Though only three US Presidents have been tainted with the blot, Donald Trump is the only one who has faced two impeachments

BHOPINDER SINGH

Impeachment is essentially symbolic, but the sort of sticky symbolism with a moral dimension that stands the test of time. History books that transcend time and lives bear the impeached person's name with an unflattering asterisk of transgression. Only three Presidents of the United States (US), out of the 45 that preceded Joe Biden, were tainted with this blot, with Donald Trump going down in posterity as the unique one, with two impeachments! The Constitution of the US describes acts that are deemed "treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanours" to be impeachment-worthy. Beyond the legality of formal conviction in a classic justice sense, impeachment is tantamount to abuse of public and constitutional trust, with possible intersection of legal criminality, subsequently. But the man whom the usually reserved Dalai Lama suggested had a "lack of moral principle", i.e. Trump, remains brazen and unrepentant.

Others like Richard Nixon, who had faced a near-certain prospect of getting impeached, had resigned from office just before impeachment. The other two impeached US Presidents, Andrew Johnson and Bill Clinton, had in hindsight considerably less deleterious and violative portents to democracy as compared to the ingloriousness of Trump's acts. Andrew Johnson, arguably a racist himself who had succeeded the colossus of democracy, Abraham Lincoln, was impeached for a technicality of violating the Tenure of Office Act when he removed a federal appointee without consulting the Senate. History reflects that impeachment as more of a partisan act that seized upon an unacceptable presidential action but perhaps not warranting the burden of impeachment. Similarly, Bill Clinton had perjured himself by lying to the investigators about his relationship with Monica Lewinsky, as also encouraging the White House staff to toe the said line. The undeniable dereliction and misconduct was perhaps still short of breaching the high rails of "treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanours". The fine difference was illustrated by a rival Republican Senator, Susan Collins, who agreed that Clinton had conducted himself disgracefully, but perhaps short of a crime, when she still voted against the impeachment by stating: "In voting to acquit the President, I do so with grave misgivings for I do not mean in any way to exonerate this man." Bill Clinton was visibly, and admittedly, embarrassed and repentant.

Trump was, on the other hand, first impeached for the abuse of power and obstruction of Congress. He had allegedly pushed Ukraine to snoop into the commercial affairs of his ultimate nemesis, Joe Biden, and therefore enlisted a foreign power in corrupting the democratic elections. Trump had also withheld military funds from the Ukrainians in order to coerce them to do so. But Trump's misdemeanours had continued with his denialist approach by further ordering the Executive Branch to not comply with the Congressional subpoenas for the trailing documents and testimonies. However, unlike the bipartisan expressions that surrounded the Clinton or Nixon build-up, Trump had managed to polarise and divide the nation into extremities that ensured that, barring one Republican Senator, all had acquiesced blindly to Trump. The second Trump impeachment was unprecedented in its seriousness of accusative import, "incitement for insurrection". The self-interest of Republicans, which was in play to defend Trump during the first impeachment on partisan lines, was equally visible in the second impeachment, with 10 Republican Senators disassociating themselves from supporting Trump, owing to worse consequences in repeating their partisan decision. The Joint Chief of Staff had issued an internal memo that sought to remind the unified fraternity of their sole fidelity to the Constitution and alluded to the potential disruption of the Biden inauguration as "against the law" — further suggesting the graveness of the unconstitutionality that Trump was accused of.

The weight of the 10 Republicans who bolted out of the Trump bandwagon is much more than its arithmetical significance, as it is about the assertion of bipartisan courage, democratic values and basic common sense. In many ways, this internal dissenting note has allowed the Republicans of absolve and permanently cleanse themselves of Trumpism, post-January 20, 2021. While the impeachment process was rushed through the last days of Trump's presidency, its necessity is contextualised to the public healing of the shame of "coup" and offering a restorative opportunity and agenda for bipartisan politics hereinafter. The singular Republican who had yielded to the dictates of his personal conscience in voting against Trump's first impeachment, Mitt Romney, noted evocatively in Trump's second "coming" that there must be "meaningful consequences" when a President incites an attack against the Congress and, more importantly, against all known tenets of democracy.

Opinions now abound that the new President, Biden, need not federally prosecute Trump and sustain the divisive and inflammatory 'Donald Trump show' to linger, irate passions and sustain dangerous rumours. Trump's descent into indefensible infamy and notoriety that had toyed with reckless ideas like attacking Iran before elections, imposing quasi-martial law or actually triggering social unrest by insisting upon his allegations of "fraudulent elections", "can't play in the hands of these people", "elections that were stolen" and suchlike, has already brought the US to the unthinkable brink of anarchy and civil war. The isolation of Trump among his own party leaders and ostensible loyalists has shifted gears from private murmurs behind closed doors to open calls for introspection within. The triggers for the much-needed course correction have not been the legality, but the loss of morality, surrounding Trump's indefensibility. In a shifting sign of times, Republican leader Mitch McConnell had freed Republican Senators from toeing any party line and, instead, urged them to "vote with their conscience"; the subliminal writing on the wall for Trump is unmistakable. Indeed, Trump will be expected to continue his slanderous rants, unsubstantiated falsehoods and desperation to retain the centre-stage but the loss of moral high ground for the Republican Party, going forward, will drop Trump from the only political anchor that sustains his relevance. It is not the electoral triumphs, unchallenged dominance or legality in the court, but the diminishment of morality as captured in this symbolic impeachment that ended a destructive streak and individual.

BJP's poll gimmick

Sir — The decision of the Central Government to observe the birthday of Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose that falls on January 23 as "Parakram Diwas" from now on is a political stunt with an eye on the forthcoming West Bengal Assembly elections. It is a move to appease voters in West Bengal. Netaji is our real hero who fought for the freedom of the nation and floated the Azad Hind Fauj to fight for India's independence. The Governments latest move reeks of dirty politics as the BJP or the NDA Government did not have time to remember Netaji during the last six years. But the people of Bengal are wise enough to not fall into such traps and vote judiciously on the basis of the work done and schemes floated by the Government.

We, as responsible citizens, must rise to the occasion and show the door to such politicians and parties. The BJP must stop fooling and misguiding people and should concentrate on real issues like unemployment, malnutrition, poverty, illiteracy, health and so on.

Pride justifiable, but don't go overboard

This refers to the editorial 'Diaspora power' (January 19). It is heartening that President-elect Joe Biden has appointed as many as 20 Indian-Americans in the US Administration, with 17 of them at various positions in the White House — 13 out of 20 also happen to be women. Leading the charge is, of course, Vice-President-elect Kamala Harris. But from finance and management to health, law to Press relations, foreign policy to national security, those who trace their roots to India have found space.

This is indeed a reflection of how well the Indian-Americans have done in that country. It also reflects their talent and acumen and, more importantly, none of these appointments have raised any eyebrows. But even as India takes justifiable pride in the achievements of these individuals, it is important to remember that all those who are in the new administration are American citizens. Their first loyalty is to the US Constitution and American national interests as defined by the President who has appointed them. Yes, their presence will enhance understanding of India in the administration and is symbolic of close ties. But these individuals have their own

Audience verdict is final

Sir — It refers to the editorial 'OTT Tandav' (January 19). It seems that such controversies serve the interests of both the film makers and political parties as these give the much-needed publicity to a web series and also help the political parties in polarising society. The films, as well as serials, are called the mirror of society, reflecting exactly what's happening. The flip side is that moviemaking is a professional line where the raison d'être happens to be the business alone.

The fact that every movie or serial has to undergo scrutiny as per the guidelines laid down by the Information and Broadcasting (I&B) Ministry before release notwithstanding, one or the other controversy keeps raising its ugly head every now and then. It is really disappointing and shows that such controversies are politically motivated. We, as audiences, should use our wisdom to judge what is offensive and what is not.

Respect the Tricolour

Sir — It is very unfortunate that every year after the Republic Day and Independence Day celebrations, hundreds of flags are strewn on pavements and streets and people keep stomping on them. We must remember that the national flag is our pride and we must respect the symbol of democracy, freedom and brotherhood.

Similarly, we must respect our national anthem and national song. It is often seen that even when the national anthem is being played on radio or television, many people don't stand up to pay respect. They are busy talking on their mobile phones or chatting with their friends. The Independence Day and Republic Day represent the true spirit of independent India and mark the patriotic fervour of all Indians who celebrate these events with great enthusiasm. By disrespecting our national symbols like the Tricolour, we inadvertently disrespect our freedom fighters, our Constitution and our nation.

Unite for the sake of the nation

It is high time the Opp stood united and formed a strategy to keep the Govt on its toes in the Budget Session

KALYANI SHANKAR

The forthcoming Budget Session of Parliament is likely to be a boisterous one, with a lot of controversial issues expected to be raised by the Opposition. Although Parliamentary Affairs Minister Pralhad Joshi has stated that the Narendra Modi Government is ready to face all the issues, the Opposition is sharpening its knives. This Parliament session is important as it is the first one of the year. Though it is being held amid the COVID-19 pandemic, all protocols will be in place to protect the members. The Parliament session will commence on January 29 and conclude by April 8, with a recess of 20 days between February 15 and March 8. President Ram Nath Kovind will address the customary joint session on January 29. This will be followed by the placing of the Economic Survey the next day and on February 1, the Union Budget will be presented by Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman. It will be her third consecutive one. Budget making in the middle of a raging pandemic is a difficult process and breaking the age-old tradition the Finance Ministry will not print the Union Budget for 2021 and will go paperless. All eyes are on the Government as the Budget would shed light on how the Centre allocates the funds to different sectors. Almost all the pillars of the economy are affected and it is going to be a challenge to balance revenue and expenditure. Sitharaman has promised to build a “stronger economy” and stated that the Budget will be an unprecedented one, as never before in living memory has a Government faced a situation “where tax collections are struggling to keep up with the budgeted number” and “the demand for goods and services is sluggish.”

The Opposition has enough ammunition to attack the Government with, including the COVID vaccination drive, the ongoing farmers’ agitation, the struggling economy, China’s aggressive postures, price rise, the job loss scenario, the continuation of the Citizenship (Amendment) Act (CAA) agitation, the plan to construct a new Parliament building, allegedly at a budget of ₹20,000 crore and so on. A senior Congress leader claims that though the political parties stayed away from the farmers’ agitation but in Parliament, they will be vocal about their support to the growers. The Opposition plans to question the Government on employment generation, reverse migration, the border impasse with China and Indo-Pakistan relations, the Government’s handling of the pandemic and the vaccination drive that was kicked off on January 16. Plus, weak States would seek more financial assistance to deal with the pandemic and the Health Ministry and other important sectors need more allocation of funds. The Finance Minister has said: “The Budget would take note of all the inputs received from the health sector to take this forward.”

The Government is also getting ready with some key legislation like the Personal Data Protection Bill, pending Bills from last year, including the DNA Technology (Use and Application) Regulation Bill, the Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens (Amendment) Bill, the Medical Termination of Pregnancy (Amendment) Bill and the Dam Safety Bill.

However, the big question is whether the highly divided Opposition will be effective in cornering the Government in Parliament? There is no leader tall enough to unite them, although Congress chief Sonia Gandhi tries to hold a meeting before the Parliament session each year. However, the Congress is undergoing a crisis with a section of leaders questioning the Gandhi family. The party has bought time with the promise of an AICC session in early 2021. According to senior Congress leader Anand Sharma, there will be floor coordination. There are speculations that the non-BJP non-Congress Opposition might unite under Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) chief Sharad Pawar.

Though the BJP is close to getting a majority in the Rajya Sabha, the strategy is to divide the Opposition to get even controversial legislations passed. That was how the NDA Government managed to get legislation like the triple talaq, the CAA, repeal of Article 370 in Jammu and Kashmir, passed. The Opposition should change its strategy of walkouts, rushing to the Well of the House and so on and instead focus on participating in debates and raising issues so that the Government is forced to answer questions. The lawmakers should fulfil their duty of scrutinising the Budget and keep the Government on its toes. The way a responsible Opposition would function is to use the Question Hour, Calling Attention Motions and debate on the President’s address to hold the Government accountable. On its part, the Government, too, should take the Opposition into confidence. Sadly for the nation, both believe in confrontation. With elections to five States on the horizon, all the parties will play to the gallery. It is a matter of concern that the country lacks a strong and vigilant Opposition because a vibrant democracy needs one. The Opposition parties should show a united face in Parliament. When the late Rajiv Gandhi won 403 seats in 1984, the Opposition with a dozen vocal leaders, highlighted the Bofors Scam successfully, which led to his ouster. So it is not the numbers that matter but the strategy to deal with the Government that is important. It is high time the Opposition stood united and formed a strategy to keep the Government on its toes.

A tricky situation

Islam does not allow conversions for the sake of marriage. One has to convert out of love for the religion and not for any other reason. But still forced conversions take place in India and Pak

BISWAJEET BANERJEE

LUBNA NAQVI

Forced conversions are not new in the subcontinent. Reports regularly pour in from India as well as Pakistan about illegal conversions of women/girls through force, deceit or other methods which are in contravention of the law of the land. The issue was highlighted after the Uttar Pradesh (UP) Government brought a legislation termed the Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Ordinance, 2020, that is meant to stop forceful conversion of women/girls from other religions to Islam, which the Right-wing sympathisers call the “Love Jihad Act.” Around the same time in Pakistan, a report claimed that about 1,000 women/girls are converted to Islam every year in the country.

It is the minority community which faces the brunt of an interfaith marriage, when it goes wrong. In India, Muslims who are in a minority, account for 15 per cent of the population while minority Hindus make up 1.60 per cent of the total population of Pakistan. Likewise, the Christian population comprises of 1.59 per cent of the total population of the Islamic Republic. Both the countries are facing the problem of conversion of non-Muslim women/girls. Sometimes this change of faith is coerced and many a time it is by mutual consent. But in both the cases sparks fly, creating a law and order problem.

Human Rights activist and advocate in Pakistan’s Supreme Court, M Shoaib Ashraf says: “There is no law to stop forced conversion in our country. But it is also true that Islam does not allow conversions for the sake of marriage. This is considered exploitation of the faith. One has to convert out of the love for the religion and not for any other reason.”

However, the Indian Constitution upholds that the right to marry is a component of the right to life which comes under Article 21. It states: “No person shall be deprived of his life and personal liberty except according to the procedure established by law.”

Delivering a historic judgment in the Hadiya and Shefin Jahan case, Justice DY Chandrachud of the Supreme Court of India said: “The choice of a partner whether within or outside marriage lies within the exclusive domain of each individual. Intimacies of marriage lie within a core zone of privacy, which is inviolable. The absolute right of an individual to choose a life partner is not in the least affected by matters of faith. The Constitution guarantees to each individual the right to freely practise, profess and propagate religion. Choices of faith and belief as indeed choices in matters of marriage lie within an area where individual autonomy is supreme.

“They form the essence of personal liberty under the Constitution. Matters of belief and faith, including whether to believe, are at the core of constitutional liberty. The Constitution exists for believers as well as for agnostics...Matters of dress and of food, of ideas and ideologies, of love and partnership are within the central aspects of identity...Society has no role to play in determining our choice of partners.”

The courts in both the countries are working effectively to protect the rights of citizens when it comes to forced conversions. Recently, while hearing a case pertaining to a 14-year-old girl who had converted, the Lahore High Court gave a judgment that religion is a matter of heart and conviction and the court cannot adjudicate on such matters.

“DESPITE THE JUDICIARY PROTECTING THE INSTITUTION OF MARRIAGE AND PRIVACY OF A PERSON, THE ISSUE OF INTERFAITH MARRIAGE HAS BEEN USED BY POLITICAL PARTIES AND ORGANISATIONS IN BOTH INDIA AND PAKISTAN TO FURTHER THEIR PERSONAL INTERESTS. THIS SITUATION EMERGES AS A BLOT ON A CIVILISED SOCIETY AND SHOULD END AS IT OFTEN LEADS TO VIOLENCE AND RELIGIOUS CLASHES”

While delivering the verdict the court said: “What one believes in his or her heart is not a judicial matter.” These decisions hold good when an interfaith marriage carries the purity and virtue which the institution of marriage espouses. However, incidents of forced conversions are galore and sometimes they take a political hue.

On August 21, the Meerut police recovered the bodies of Priya and her daughter Kashish. They were allegedly killed by Shamshad. Priya, a divorcee, befriended Shamshad on a social networking site where he impersonated himself as Amit Gurjar — a Hindu. When Priya came to know about the truth she protested. In another case the Budaun police arrested Asif who posed as a Hindu man called Rajkumar and befriended Neha. A year later he allegedly killed her when she came to know of the truth.

But then, there are cases of true love where a person converts to another religion freely or wants to marry out of their own community/religion of their own free will. For instance, take the case of Muskan (Pinki) who married Rashid in Dehradun in July 2020. They duly informed the Superintendent of Police as required under the Uttarakhand Freedom of Religion Act, 2018. But both Rashid and Muskan were arrested under the new law when they paid a visit to Moradabad in UP. Muskan was pregnant at that time and later she alleged that she lost her baby because of police atrocity.

In the last two months, as many as 86 people have been named in 16 First Information Reports (FIRs) since the notification of the new Ordinance in the State. Out of these, 79 are Muslims, who have been slapped with charges of enticing a woman/girl and forcing her to convert to Islam. In one case 26 people, including five women, were booked in Etah for allegedly converting a 21-year-old woman by force. In Mau, 16 people have been named in an FIR whereas in Sitapur, 14 were booked in another such incident.

However, in Pakistan there is no law to stop forced conversions. “In the absence of legislation explicitly banning and criminalising forced conversion from minority religions to Islam, the affected families (mainly Hindus, Sikhs and Christians) have to use other laws, including those against kidnapping, forced marriage, child marriage and rape of minors to penalise the offender,” says Tahira Abdullah, a social activist.

Ashraf says that in the absence of a law in Pakistan, if the victim claims she has converted on her own, there is little that can be done to prove her wrong. “We cannot determine what is behind the consent. If a girl from a poor family converts to marry a man from a rich background, there is no way to know whether she has converted out of love or if she has been lured. But this should also in a way be considered an unlawful thing as some form of coercion has always been used,” he says.

Jibran Nasir, advocate and lead campaigner at Never Forget Pakistan and trustee Elaj Trust, says: “Young girls are kidnapped and converted and video messages are circulated in which the girl says that she is happy after being converted. We argue in court that girls do not necessarily scream or shout, for us to know that it is a forced conversion. Forced conversion is a crime whether one who is coerced openly admits it or not.”

The coerced conversion, especially of young Hindu and Christian girls in Sindh and Punjab province in Pakistan, continues unabated in absence of explicit laws criminalising it. According to data

Reopen schools for younger children soon

By cutting off or limiting access to education, the pandemic has worsened existing inequalities and hampered the economic growth of poor families

SURESH KUMAR

Nearly 10 months after the nationwide lockdown began, India is now in the process of reopening its schools, albeit, in a phased manner, with all COVID protocols in place. However, most States that have decided to reopen schools are only allowing grade 10 and 12 students to attend classes. The younger children are still confined to their homes and online classes will continue till it is deemed fit to open all schools fully, from nursery to grade 12.

It is a sad fact that many children from vulnerable communities in India depend on schools for one square meal a day. The Mid-Day Meal (MDM) scheme was the reason many went to school. The closure of schools hit underprivileged children the most, because not only were they hungry, they did not have a smartphone, laptop or internet connection to continue their education online, unlike their privileged counterparts.

According to a study by Oxfam India, as many as 80 per cent of Indian students were unable to access online schooling during the lockdown and many might not even return to classrooms when they eventually reopen for everyone.

Many of these children were the first in their family to attend school and get an education. Their parents and grandparents never got a chance to do so because of various socio-economic reasons. By cutting off or limiting access to education, the pandemic has effectively worsened existing inequalities and hampered the economic growth of low-income families. In a country where over half the population is below the age of 25, lack of access to education is a deterrent which will prevent children from becoming contributing and productive members of society.

Government data suggest that despite having 600 million internet users, only 20 per cent know how to leverage the same. If one glances through the latest National Family Health Survey (NFHS), over 60 per cent women in 12 States and Union Territories have never used the internet, which begs the question: How will their children study online? The absence of digital literacy programmes in the country is a glaring gap, which came to the forefront once the schools shut down and education went online. According to a Telecom Regulatory Authority of India survey, Bihar — a State where child trafficking for sex and cheap labour is rampant — has the lowest number of internet subscribers in the country with just 32 people in every 100 having access to it.

Yes, the lockdown was announced to curb the spread of a highly contagious virus. But even as India began to “unlock” in phases, schools continued to remain shut. Earlier, daily wage earners, who were working in the informal sector, with no social security went to work knowing that their children were safe at school. Now, because of the pandemic, their children accompany them to work sites. They are picking up the trade. They are struggling like their parents and their chance to build a different life is being snatched away from them. In addition to this, their parents no longer have steady jobs. Hence, they are struggling to make ends meet, are no longer being paid and are having to resort to borrowing funds from moneylenders, friends and other family members.

Several organisations which are working against child labour have reported that moneylenders are charging alarmingly high interest rates. They also report that several people are having to borrow money for their daily needs such as food and water. A lot of these people are extremely poor and are suffering from some form of debt bondage. They are mostly Dalits, who have spent the majority of their lives in servitude and salvery.

They often borrow money but are unable to pay the same back and, therefore, have to “work off” the debts. Often this means that their child is also put to work. Take the example of 12-year-old Rahul from Gaya, Bihar, who has been completely deprived of any learning opportunity in his village since the pandemic began. As a result of the same, he has fallen into the trap of child trafficking. Before the pandemic began, his father, under duress, gave consent to a trafficker, because of which Rahul was employed in a bangle factory in Jaipur. He was lucky enough to have been rescued (in Jaipur) before being taken to the factory. He and 29 other minors from the same district were rescued from a luxury bus that was engaged in transporting children all the way from Gaya to Jaipur. All the 30-odd students were enrolled in different schools and were regular with their classes before the lockdown was imposed. Now they remain unoccupied, bored and vulnerable to predatory traffickers.

The United Nations’ policy brief on the impact of COVID-19 on the world’s education system points to the fact that the closure of schools and other learning spaces has impacted up to 99 per cent of students in low and middle-income countries. It warns that the effects on child labour and trafficking could be enormous. According to the International Labour Organisation (ILO), 152 million minors worldwide are involved in child labour, of which 73 million are involved in slavery, bonded labour, dangerous work and sexual exploitation. It is feared that in poorer countries, many children will completely lose their connection to education and will not return to school at all, as they have to contribute to their family income. They have started believing that their family can no longer afford to educate them and most of the time this is true. India has the highest number of child labourers. According to the Census 2011, there are 10.13 million child workers. The ILO’s 2016 data indicates that there are 23.8 million child labourers in India. Schools and programmes for children, such as protection centres or youth clubs, are also currently failing in their function as early warning systems. The pandemic has effectively hidden from sight occurrences of domestic violence in families as well as attempts by local child traffickers or moneylenders to recruit children as workers. The focus must now be to ensure the safety of students and teachers. All stakeholders must put in place protocols for reopening of schools even for the younger children. There has to be an extensive assessment on the learning loss and a well thought out plan to bridge the gap and schemes to retain students. The Government will also have to arrange for funds required to equip both schools and students in rural India to continue their learning journey.

Need to leverage Indian IT industry's prowess: Trai

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Increasing R&D investment to expand technology development capabilities and leveraging Indian IT industry's prowess to serve requirements of Indian and global telecom players can help in moving towards Aatmanirbhar Bharat (self-reliant India), Trai chairman PD Vaghela said on Tuesday.

Speaking at the 15th India Digital Summit, Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (Trai) Chairman PD Vaghela outlined some of the steps that can be taken to make "speedy progress and to make India self-reliant" in the telecom space. "We need to increase investment in research and development (R&D), this is very important...To be self-reliant in the technology space, which is critical for economic and statistical perspective, we need to transform from consumer to producer of technology," he said.

To upgrade and expand technology development capabilities, investments need to be made in the complete ecosystem, including research, innovation, standardisation, product development, testing and certification, he added.

This requires a complete overhaul of the existing practices and policies and industry-academia linkages need to be established, he said.

"The commercial research innovations standardisation and product development need to be incentivised. Such innovation can also focus on meeting developing countries' requirement in the most effective manner and this will open vast market for such products for India," he added.

Vaghela said India's IT industry capability can be leveraged to build, operate and maintain software products that can serve Indian as well as global telecom industry, at a reasonable price.

"We all know that the maximum value addition is in the technology development, designing of products and services over the life cycle.

Keeping in view India's strength in these areas, global companies have already started to establish their R&D centres in India. India has potential to be a global leader in telecom software development and servicing space," he added.

Government and regulators can play a major role in encouraging digital innovation and incentivising the development of digital technology for the benefit of society, he noted.

Vaghela said there is a need to push indigenous telecom products in India amid the booming growth in mobile and fixedline broadband as well as rise of Industry 4.0 and digital automation.

India has launched a series of market reforms in the last few years that form the foundation for enhancing India's appeal as a manufacturing base. With the skill base in India that includes telecommunication also and the scale of domestic market and technology orientation, India presents an attractive option for global manufacturers," he added.

Highlighting the growing consumption of data, Vaghela said the role of data centres attains equal importance towards becoming self-reliant in the digital space. "...While India has taken a major leap in the digital space during the last six-seven years, a lot is required to be achieved. And we all have to work together. This is one area where we can become self-reliant very fast if the government, industry and academia come together and come out with solutions to the some of the challenges, which we are facing," he added.

PNS ■ MUMBAI

Equity benchmark Sensex soared 834 points on Tuesday, tracking strong gains in index majors HDFC twins, ICICI Bank and Reliance Industries amid an upbeat trend in global markets.

The 30-share BSE index ended 834.02 points or 1.72 per cent higher at 49,398.29. Similarly, the broader NSE Nifty surged 239.85 points or 1.68 per cent to 14,521.15.

Bajaj Finserv was the top gainer in the Sensex pack, rallying around 7 per cent, followed by Bajaj Finance, HDFC, L&T, ICICI Bank, Sun Pharma and NTPC.

On the other hand, Tech Mahindra, ITC and M&M were the laggards.

According to Binod Modi, Head-Strategy at Reliance Securities, having seen massive pullbacks in last two trading days, domestic equities witnessed sharp rebound mainly led by strong cues from global markets.

"Positive statement from Janet Yellen about possibility of acting big to support economy bolstered confidence among investors globally," he said.

US President-elect Joe Biden's nominee for treasury secretary, former Federal Reserve chair Janet Yellen is calling on Congress to do more to fight the recession to avoid an even worse downturn.

In the testimony prepared for her confirmation hearing on Tuesday before the Senate Finance Committee, Yellen said more aid is needed to get coronavirus vaccines distributed -- key to ending outbreaks -- to reopen schools and help families struggling with job losses stay fed and housed.

Elsewhere in Asia, bourses in Hong Kong, Seoul and Tokyo ended with significant gains, while Shanghai was in the red.

Stocks exchanges in Europe were also trading on a positive note in early deals.

Meanwhile, the global oil benchmark Brent crude was trading 1.22 per cent higher at USD 55.42 per barrel.

New car registrations sank by 23.7 per cent, or 3 million vehicles, to 9.9 million units, according to new figures released Tuesday by the European Automobile Manufacturers Association. It said lockdowns and other restrictions "had an unprecedented impact on car sales across Europe." Profit at Chinese state industry rises with virus recovery

PNS ■ BEIJING

Profit at state-owned companies that dominate China's banking, oil and most other industries rose by as much as 25% last year as the country recovered from the coronavirus pandemic, the government said on Tuesday.

Total revenue for national-level companies rose 2.2% over 2019 to 30.3 trillion yuan ($4.7 trillion), according to Peng Huagang, secretary general of the State-Owned Assets Supervision and Administration Commission.

Speaking at a news conference, Peng said profit rose 2.1% to 1.4 trillion yuan ($215 billion).

The ruling Communist Party has built up such "national champions" over the past two decades, but their monopolies and multibillion-dollar subsidies prompt complaints by the public that they are a waste of money and gouge consumers with high prices.

Peng's agency oversees 97 companies directly under the Cabinet including PetroChina Ltd, Asia's biggest oil producer; China Mobile Ltd, the world's biggest phone carrier by number of subscribers, and Industrial and Commercial Bank of China Ltd, the world's biggest bank by assets.

SASAC companies also dominate air travel, insurance, securities, shipping, internet access, power generation, construction, nuclear power technology and coal and steel production.

Chinese industries benefited from the economy's relatively early reopening starting in March after the ruling party declared victory over the virus that emerged in the central city of Wuhan in late 2019.

Total economic activity rose 2.3% in 2020, possibly making China the only major economy to grow while the United States, Europe and Japan struggled with rising infections. Growth accelerated to a two-year high of 6.5% over a year earlier in the three months ending in December. Profit at 24 national-level state companies rose by more than 25% over 2019 and two had profit of more than 100 billion yuan ($15.4 billion), Peng said, without identifying them or giving other details.

India asks WhatsApp to drop move for changes in privacy policy

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Indian government has asked WhatsApp to withdraw the recent changes in the privacy policy of the messaging app, saying unilateral changes are unfair and unacceptable.

In a strongly worded letter to WhatsApp CEO Will Cathart, the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology said India is home to the largest user base of WhatsApp globally and is one of the biggest markets for its services.

The proposed changes to the WhatsApp Terms of Service and Privacy Policy, without giving users an option to opt-out, "raise grave concerns regarding the implications for the choice and autonomy of Indian citizens," it wrote. The ministry asked WhatsApp to withdraw the proposed changes and reconsider its approach to information privacy, freedom of choice and data security.

WhatsApp had on January 16 delayed the introduction of the new privacy policy after user backlash over sharing of user data and information with the parent company, Facebook Inc. Stating that Indians should be properly respected, the ministry said, "any unilateral changes to the WhatsApp Terms of Service and Privacy would not be fair and acceptable." With over 400 million users in India, the changes will have a disproportionate impact on the country's citizens, it said.

It asked WhatsApp to provide details of the services provided by it in India, categories of data collected and permissions and consents sought.

Also, WhatsApp has been asked to explain if it conducts profiling of Indian users on the basis of their usage, as well as explain difference between the privacy policy in India and other countries.

WhatsApp has also been asked to provide policy on data and information security, privacy and encryption.

It has also been asked to detail data sharing with other apps and if it captures information about other apps running on the mobile phones of the user. Besides, complete technical architecture and server hosting data of Indian users have been asked to be furnished along with details of access to a third party.

The changes "enable WhatsApp, and other Facebook companies, to make invasive and precise inferences about users which may not be reasonably foreseen or expected by users in the ordinary course of assessing these services, the ministry said.

The updated terms would enable WhatsApp to collect "highly invasive and granular metadata" such as time, frequency and duration of interactions, group names, payments and transaction data, online status, location indicators as well as any messages shared by users with business accounts. "The collection and onward sharing with Facebook companies, of sensitive personal data of individuals portends an ecosystem where any meaningful distinction between companies and WhatsApp will cease to exist," it said.

"This approach has the potential to infringe on core values of data privacy, user choice and autonomy of Indian users," it said.

WhatsApp had earlier this month begun asking its 2 billion users worldwide to accept an update of its privacy policy if they want to keep using the popular messaging app.

the big Screens!

Sejal Kumar

One of India’s top YouTubers, Sejal Kumar has made a name for herself for her vlogs and lifestyle videos. In 2018, she starred in Engineering Girls, a web-series in which she shares the screen with Krithika Avasti and Barkha Singh.

She says it was a very interesting experience for her to be a part of a full-fledged production. “I’ve always produced my own content and being directed by someone else was a great learning experience. I was really honoured to be a part of a Timeliners production. It was great working with Barkha and Krithika, they have more acting experience than me and we got along very well, they helped me figure out a lot of things.”

The 27-year-old content creator says that she is on the lookout for big productions. “YouTube is my first priority, but I’m always on the lookout for interesting projects that suit me. I’d love to do more such projects!”

Ravi

Ravi Teja is another young YouTube content creator who’s made his recent foray into movies with Kiran Abbavaram’s Sebastian P.C 524. He says that in YouTube, the crew is smaller, there’s no time restriction, and you’re fully aware of how the script is. In bigger productions, two minutes of content can take up a whole day. Speaking on what got him started on his journey, he says “YouTube was a way to gauge the Telugu audience’s response to us as content creators. We experimented with genres and styles to see what worked best, while making a name for ourselves in the community. Movies make me really happy, though.”

Ravi makes a choice based on his comfort with his audience. He says that if he had to choose between movies and YouTube, he’d pick the latter! “I’d choose YouTube, it’s easier to communicate with the audience and to understand what they expect of us, and they’ll tell you if they don’t like the content. So I like that open communication that only YouTube can provide.” He hopes to do more movies and has a lot of exciting projects lined up!

Udbhav Raghunandan

The man behind the Chicago Subbarao persona Udbhav Raghunandan, does not attempt to draw a line between content creation and filmmaking. He makes a distinction between them, but believes at their core, they share the same goal. “For me, at a basic level, it’s all different forms of storytelling. Through my YouTube channel, I tried to tell stories woven around my experiences.” The main differences he notices from his entry into films is the convenience of being able to focus on just acting, without the pressure to write scripts and get editing done as he would for YouTube.

There might be similarities that overshadow how different both forms of media are, but when it comes down to it, big productions are a completely different ballgame from YouTube creations. “For movies and web series, we narrate stories at a bigger level for a longer time. It boils down to the writing. To grab viewers attention, there has to be compelling writing. In YouTube, I tried connecting with my audience in a much shorter span of time. When they relate to it, it becomes shareable content that will reach more people.”

When asked what he would choose between YouTube and movies, he said “YouTube was a stepping stone for me to get into movies. I never wanted to be a YouTube content creator, but it just happened.”

Though his dream was always to be in the movies, he does not undermine YouTube’s power as a platform. “Whichever medium, content should be the priority. There should be effort behind it, and subscribers or the audience should not be taken for granted.”

Sri Vidya Maharshi

The actress who rose to fame with witty, relatable content on ChaiBisket’s GirlFormula says that it was a very organic process for her along with other YouTubers. “Having a bunch of videos online can easily help as a portfolio, secondly you have your own dedicated viewership who will come to a movie because they want to watch you.” On a practical level, she says, her YouTube career helped her understand a lot more things about movie-making than a newcomer would have. When asked about how she adapts to the difference in responsibility, budget and timeline, she says, “I think it depends on how much you believe in the role, I’ve had to let go of a little bit of my inhibitions to really get into the character someone else has written for me.” She’s working on a web-series for now, taking it slow and figuring out how the film industry works, as she says she’s only worked with friends so far. “I’m not very medium-specific, I’m fine with whatever platform, as long as there’s scope for me to present myself in the best way possible,” she says.

Harsha Chemudu

Known by the moniker Viva Harsha, this actor/comedian is one of the best known Telugu internet personalities. He speaks in detail about how Youtube has reached content saturation. Harsha shot to fame for his role in the 2013 Viva video by Sabarish Kandregula which would be fresh in your memory if you’re above ten years old.

The video was just the right mix of funny, relatable and clever, so in the initial boom of YouTube, fresh Telugu content was received very well. The YouTube star says that his goal was to be an actor right from the beginning. “We had a lot of scripts ready, we don’t know why we chose to do Viva or why it took off the way it did.” He explains how the huge increase in the amount of content out on YouTube is leading to lesser quality.

His advice to those planning to explore content creation: “Don’t plan to make a viral video, it can’t be predicted. If the content is good, then it will make its way around, it’s like magic, it just happens.”

The YouTuber has gone on to play pivotal roles in several films including Colour Photo, Bhanumathi & Ramakrishna and also has a talk show to his credit.

Healthy side of hemp

Unlike popular belief, hemp does not have psychotropic effects. In fact, its seed has many healthy benefits, says ROHIT SHAH nitric oxide in the body. It is a gas molecule that makes blood vessels relax and dilate, which leads to controlled blood pressure and a reduced risk of heart disease. According to Pub Med, increased arginine intake coupled with decreased levels of C-reactive protein (CRP) and high levels of CRP is linked to heart disease in the majority of people.

Helpful in skin disorders

A balance of omega-6 and omega-3 fatty acids in the human body are significant to the immune system and hemp seeds are a good source of these fatty acids with about a 3:1 ratio of omega-6 to omega-3. Hemp seed oil relieves people from dry skin, itchiness, inflammation and thus, reduces the need for skin medication.

A source of plant based protein

Plants often lack the amino acid lysine which is why complete protein sources are rare in the plant kingdom. Hemp seeds are considered a complete protein source as they provide all the essential amino acids and contain high levels of arginine and glutamic acid.

Helps control stress and anxiety

Cannabidiol or CBD is considered a cannabinoid which is leaf extract of the cannabis plant. CBD is known to have benefits on stress, seizure disorders, anxiety and pain relief. (The writer is the co-founder and CEO of Hemp Horizon)

Unlike popular belief, hemp does not have psychotropic effects on the human body. In fact, its seed has many healthy benefits and is actually 33 per cent protein. The small, brown seeds are rich in fibre, protein, and healthful fatty acids, including omega-6 and omega-3s. Their antioxidant properties may reduce symptoms of numerous ailments in addition to improving the health of the heart. The nutritional power and hardness of hemp seed could significantly address the global protein needs and starvation problems.

Raw hemp seeds are one of the richest sources of complete protein as it is packed with 33-37 per cent pure digestible protein. Only algae such as marine phytoplankton, AFA blue-green algae and spirulina exceed hemp in protein. Additionally, 47 per cent of a hemp seed is composed of good fats, a vital composition of omega-3 and omega-6. Here are a few benefits of hemp seeds:

For Carry and me personally, when the YouTube vs TikTok row happened, it was such an emotional moment but then we didn’t take defeat and created Yalgaar as a retort. We decided that this year, it will be no different and we will not shy away from being our most authentic selves and fuel the spirit of those who seek some motivation to go the unconventional way with our track Vardaan. I hope this track inspires listeners to heal and get back on track with their lives, as in the end, it’s all about rising above the storm like a warrior phoenix!”

Varun is boxer Ghani

After being shot for 25 days so far, Varun Tej's next with debutant director Kiran Korrapati is going into a non-stop mode, with the fresh schedule set to go on for a couple of months in Hyderabad from February 15, finds NAGARAJ GOUD

Actor Varun Tej's next with debutant director Kiran Korrapati, where he plays a boxer, has been titled Ghani — after his character's name in the film. Varun's cousin Ram Charan unveiled the first look and title by taking to his social media pages on Tuesday. "Very nice and packs a punch!! Happy Birthday @IamVarunTej!! All the best team," Charan wrote. Flaunting a chiselled athletic figure, Varun is seen punching a boxing bag with concentration at the extreme end of the motion poster.

A joint production venture between Allu Venkatesh and Sidhu Mudda, the title is a sports drama with commercial bells and whistles. The supporting cast is stacked up with the likes of Jagapathi Babu, Suniel Shetty, Upendra, Nadiya and Naveen Chandra while Dabangg 3 girl Saiee Manjrekar is making her Telugu debut with the project. Having resumed last November after the COVID-19 induced break, Kiran has shot the project for 10 days and is now gearing up for a lengthy schedule (before the pandemic struck, Kiran shot for 16 days in Visakhapatnam, where the story is set).

"The next schedule starts from February 15 and will go on till April 25, witnessing close to 85 percent of the film being wrapped up. Hyderabad and its surrounding areas will host this leg of filming. Kiran wanted to commence the fresh schedule this month but with Varun testing positive last month, he postponed the schedule. The actor, in the meanwhile, has started shooting for Anil Ravipudi's F3," a source close to the unit tells us.

The source adds that the remaining portions of the film will be filmed in NCR region and north eastern India towards the end of May in a schedule of 15 days, calling it a wrap for talkie portions.

"The makers, however, are yet to decide on where to film a couple of songs." The film will storm into the cinema halls this July. "It is mounted on a lavish scale and is Varun's biggest budgeted till date," the source ends.

Kamal undergoes leg surgery; will be discharged in 4-5 days

Actor-politician Kamal Haasan on Monday underwent a leg surgery at a Chennai hospital and is doing well, his daughters Shruti Haasan and Akshara Haasan said in a statement on Tuesday.

The Makkal Needhi Maiam chief had on Sunday said he would be undergoing a follow-up surgery on his leg.

Shruti and Akshara took to Twitter on Tuesday to update followers on the veteran actor's health following the surgery, which they said was a success.

"We would like to begin by thanking you for your overwhelming support, prayers, and genuine concern regarding our father's recent medical procedure. We are happy to inform all of you that the surgery was a success!" the statement read. The surgery was performed at Sri Ramchandra Hospital in Chennai.

Shruti and Akshara said the doctors, attendees and the hospital management are taking good care of their father.

"He is in good spirits and working towards speedy recovery. He will return home in four to five days. After a few days of rest and recuperating from the surgery, he shall be ready to interact with people as always."

The Haasan sisters expressed gratitude to people for the love and blessings showered on their father.

"We are grateful that your good energy will be a big part of your speedy recovery," the statement concluded.

On the films front, Kamal's next releases include Indian 2 with Shankar and Vikram with Lokesh Kanagaraj.

RRR's climax shoot kicks off

It looks like the filming of SS Rajamouli's much-anticipated RRR has reached the fag end, as the maker on Tuesday announced that the climax portion shoot has begun. "The CLIMAX shoot has begun! My Ramaraju and Bheem come together to accomplish what they desired to achieve... #RRRMovie #RRR (sic)," the director posted on Twitter.

His lead actors — Jr NTR and Ram Charan — used the terms "super excited" and "highly charged" to describe shooting for the sequence, whose filming is going on at a specially erected massive set in Hyderabad. According to a source, Rajamouli has hired a stuntman Solomon Raju to design the whole sequence with emotional tones. Raju trained the fighters for more than 100 days so that Rajamouli will not lose time on the sets. The rehearsals of Raju with his team have been recorded and Rajamouli picked the best sequences to incorporate into the film, the source adds. Set in 1920s pre-independent India, RRR, a production venture of DVV Danayya, revolves around the fictional exploits of two real freedom fighters Komaram Bheem (played by NTR) and Alluri Seetharama Raju (Charan). The likes of Ajay Devgn, Olivia Morris, P Samuthirakani and Irish actors Alison Doody and Ray Stevenson are essaying significant roles.

Was under tremendous pressure to send Krack directly to OTT last year: Malineni

Director Gopichand Malineni is smiling. His film, Krack, released amid other films like Master, Red and Alludu Adhurs emerged as the Sankranti winner. The box-office share is steady despite the 50 percent occupancy rule and COVID-19 concern. But a day before the release — on January 8th — things were far from rosy as he understood that the film will not have a smooth release the next day as producer Tagore Madhu's financial issues with some distributors meant that the release had to be held back until the second show. While Malineni doesn't want to delve into what exactly transpired, he wants no director to go through the pain he endured. "NV Prasad, Vamsi (of Sithara Entertainment) and Damodar Prasad stood by me during this 24-hour window, offering me a great deal

Malineni also remembers that he was under tremendous pressure to sell the film to OTT platforms from last March to October last year. "I always believed that Krack was ideal for the big screen as it's filled with mass elements. It is the reason why at one point I even tweeted that 'Krack in theatres only'. The film is the biggest hit of Ravi Teja's career while running only to 50 percent occupancy," he beams.

He points out that the likes of VV Vinayak, Trivikram, Harish Shankar, Boyapati Sreenu, Vamshi Paidipally, Surrender Reddy and Anil Ravipudi rang him to appreciate the film post the release. "Even megastar Chiranjeevi garu phoned me and spoke well about the film. He added that my son looks like a dead ringer to me," Malineni lets out a smile. The director's son played the role of Ravi Teja and Shruti Haasan's son in the film.

He assures that Krack 2 will be made definitely but his next commitment is for Mythri Movie Makers. Is it true that Balakrishna will spearhead it? "I've penned a story in the lockdown and it is on a level higher to that of Krack. As far as the casting goes, I will give the details probably after a week or 10 days," he shares, adding that there are multiple Hindi personalities who are interested in the remake of Krack. Will he direct it as well? "It depends on who I get as an actor and which production house is attached to it. Actors like Akshay Kumar, Ajay Devgn and Ranveer Singh fit the lead part."

Adipurush motion capture begins

The on-sets work on Adipurush, starring Prabhas and Saif Ali Khan, commenced with motion capture technology in a studio setup in Mumbai on Tuesday.

With the film involving a lot of VFX shots, director Om Raut, it is believed, is conducting a test shoot before he launches the film in Mumbai on February 2. Most Hollywood tentpole movies are shot using motion capture technology.

Commenting on the latest development, Bhushan Kumar, who is jointly producing the film along with Krishan Kumar, Om Raut, Prasad Sutar and Rajesh Nair, said in an official statement, "At T-Series, we have always encouraged new ideas and concepts and this coupled with cutting edge technology, paves the way for the future of filmmaking. Om and his team are creating an entire world of Adipurush with the latest technology, commonly used in international cinema but will be explored in Indian filmmaking for the first time. We are proud to bring to our audiences — Adipurush."

Speaking about the project, Raut had said last year, "It is the story of Prabhu Ram. It's one aspect of the epic saga; it's my screen adaptation of the epic. There are too many preparations underway. Fortunately, the research is already in place. From a historical point of view, the notes are already there. But when you do a screen adaptation, there's a lot of research from authenticity, technology points of view. A lot of storyboards are happening, asset creation, designing the characters as we speak."

The likes of Kriti Sanon and Keerthy Suresh are rumoured to be in the race to bag Sita's role.

To be filmed in Hindi and Telugu, the project has been scheduled to release on August 11, 2022.

WONDER DOWN INDIA

India does winning talk, pull off historic Test series win Down Under

PTI ■ BRISBANE

They say heroes are ordinary people doing extraordinary stuff. If one wanted to see a Live demonstration of it, Gabba was the place to be where Australia's cricketing pride and invincibility was torn to shreds by a bunch of Indian rookies who didn't seem to care for either history or reputations.

A target of 328 lay in front of them and with all the broken bones and bruised bodies in the dressing room, it would have been perfectly understandable to chase a draw to retain that coveted Border-Gavaskar trophy.

But they wanted more and that's precisely what they walked away with.

So what if their regular captain was on paternity leave? So what if their pace spearhead and premier all-rounder were out injured? So what if the crowd in Sydney had caused some mental scars with their racist chants?

So what? Asked a lot which had seen adversity of a more intense kind in their personal lives. They knew all about it and on the field, they showed how to stand up to it.

On Tuesday, a minefield of talent called Rishabh Pant (89 not out off 138 balls) channelled his inner Mad Max to scare the daylight out of the Australians with his breathtaking strokeplay. He couldn't care less for the history that the home team had not lost at 'Fortress Gabba' in the past 32 years.

He was out to change it. Coach Ravi Shastri knew how momentous it was. He would know, he was part of the ride and he made no bones about it.

"It is the toughest tour ever. Nothing surpasses this. After 36 all out, this is unreal," Shastri said, admitting that at the end of it all, he had tears in his eyes.

If Shastri's intense declaration reflected his flamboyance, stand-in captain Ajinkya Rahane's reticence shone through in his response.

"I looked good because everyone contributed," he said.

The highlights package of Pant's battle with Nathan Lyon can be enjoyed repeatedly in times to come as he demolished the 100-Test man in company of debutant Washington Sundar (22), who hooked the world's best fast bowler, Pat Cummins, for a six.

No one moved from their seats as Pant cut, drove, and paddle-swept to make a statement to his detractors while gifting India one of their finest overseas wins during the dying moments of the final session with an off-driven boundary.

While Shubman Gill (91 off 146 balls) announced his arrival on the global stage, Cheteshwar Pujara (56 off 211 balls) surpassed all the pain barriers en route his slowest Test fifty that held the game in balance for Pant to launch a final assault.

The Australian team wouldn't feel too good about not being able to win a Test match with an opposition that was finding it difficult to field a fit first XI a day prior to the Test match.

Add to it, the visitors were also left quite hurt by the racial slurs directed at the likes of Mohammed Siraj and Jasprit Bumrah by the crowd during the Sydney Test.

The series will be remembered for ages and the impact that Ajinkya Rahane's team had on the cricketing fraternity and the fans in general will be written in golden words when a fresh history of Test cricket after 2000 is written.

In terms of relevance, a series win without Virat Kohli, Mohammed Shami, Ravindra Jadeja, Ravichandran Ashwin and Jasprit Bumrah not being available at various points, is zillion times more significant than the 2-1 win in 2018-19 when the opposition didn't have Steve Smith and David Warner in their ranks.

First time, people celebrated draws, became empathetic to players with limited abilities and believed in their team.

The stands were near-empty at the Gabba thanks to the Covid-19 crowd restrictions but make no mistake that Test cricket seemed well and truly alive and kicking.

With its beautiful ebbs and flows, the fifth day was witness to three separate schools of batsmanship, so very dissimilar to each other.

Gill, who is now going to be the "Real Deal", was free-flowing in his stroke-making with his "beside the line of the ball" technique as he rode the bounce to hammer home the advantage and briefly make India favourites to win the battle.

The two sixes off Mitchell Starc — a slash over backward point and a thump over deep mid-wicket — will be the ones for the keeps.

The disdain while thrashing the Australian bowlers would have made even Sachin Tendulkar and Virat Kohli proud.

India have now got Kohli's heir apparent and the 21-year-old is here to stay for the longest time.

Pujara, on the other hand, saw the Australian try out the menacing short ball tactic. He took a few on the helmet, a few more on the chest and other parts and a painful one on the knuckles but remained unfazed.

Gill and Pujara showed that there are multiple ways to skin a cat.

If Pujara was ready to duck, sway and cop body blows off Josh Hazlewood and Cummins, showing the art of survival, Gill, on his first tour of Australia, was ready to be the intimidator by bringing the pull shot out of his repertoire.

The duo, during its 114-run stand, showed that very contrasting styles can co-exist without conflict even as fans of both genres argue who has the more appropriate approach for the format.

Even Pant with his cavalier ways would have added his two cents to the debate on various styles.

But for the uninitiated, the three distinct schools can be suitably deconstructed — Pujara's was more of investing in an LIC policy with safe returns while Gill's approach, with his collars-up, was akin to mutual funds and Pant would most likely play his game in high-stakes stock market where winner takes it all but at times at a heavy price.

While the final day performance is sure to hold a special place but the story of this match won't be complete without a more than honourable mention of what Shardul Thakur and Washington Sundar did on the third morning and afternoon.

Had that partnership not been there, it wouldn't have been as easy for India as it seemed in the end. Thakur and Washington gave hope of a fight, Pujara, Gill and Pant, with their performances, honoured that fight.

Coach Ravi Shastri was once panned for his "best travelling Indian team" comment but after January 19, very few would disagree that this is the "toughest Indian team on road".

Biggest moment of my life: Pant 'Never ever underestimate India'

PTI ■ BRISBANE

After playing a key role in India's breathtaking and successful run chase in the series-deciding fourth Test against Australia, Rishabh Pant on Tuesday called the historic win as the "biggest moment" of his life.

"This is one of the biggest moments of my life now, and I'm happy that all the support staff and all my teammates supported me even when I wasn't playing," Pant said at the post-match presentation ceremony.

India did not play Pant in either the preceding ODI or the T20 series. But the young wicketkeeper-batsman made an impression in the Test series, playing a combative 97-run knock in the second innings in Sydney and again here on Tuesday.

"It's been a dream series. The team management always backs me and tells me, you are a match-winner and you have to go win the match for the team. I keep thinking every day that I want to win matches for India, and I did it today," Pant said.

India skipper Ajinkya Rahane initially struggled to find words but gathered himself to praise his courageous teammates.

"It means a lot to us. I don't know how to describe this, but our boys showed a lot of character and determination after the Adelaide Test," Rahane, who led India in the absence of Virat Kohli, said.

"I'm really proud of each individual." Australia captain Tim Paine graciously admitted that they were outplayed by the Indians.

"We were here to win the series, but we have just been outplayed by a disciplined and tough Indian side who fully deserve the series win. We have to look back over a lot of things, and we'll go through it as a group.

"We have been outplayed by a better side this series," he said.

PTI ■ BRISBANE

Outplayed by an inexperienced and injury-plagued India, a shocked Australia head coach Justin Langer on Tuesday said one massive lesson that he has learnt from the setback is to "never ever, ever underestimate" the "really tough" players from that country.

A visibly shaken Langer lauded India for the lion-hearted effort to win the Border-Gavaskar Trophy 2-1 despite playing with a second-string side, especially after being decimated inside three days in the series-opener in Adelaide. That loss included India's lowest-ever Test score of 36 in the second innings.

"It was an incredible Test series and in the end there is always a winner or a loser. Today Test cricket is the winner. It's gonna hurt us big time. India deserved full credit. They have been outstanding but we have learnt lessons from it," Langer told Channel 7.

"First, you can never take anything for granted, second never ever, ever underestimate the Indians. There are 1.5 billions Indians and if you play in that first eleven you got to be really tough, don't you?"

Langer said the fightback after the Adelaide debacle was nothing short of remarkable especially after injury-forced ouster of big players like Jasprit Bumrah and Ravindra Jadeja.

India found new stars such as Shubman Gill, Washington Sundar, Shardul Thakur and Mohammed Siraj among others who surprised the Aussies with their never-say-die spirit.

"I can't compliment India enough. They haven't gone away after that first Test match which we won in three days, bowled them out for 30 odd. For them to fight back like they did is amazing, credit to them. The big lesson for us is that you can't take anything for granted. India never got away," he said.

An amalgamation of fascinating life stories that scripted one of the most memorable moments in the history of Indian cricket.

The men who humbled Australia in their own backyard, defying odds and naysayers, are not the ones staring from the billboards in manic metro cities but shy, quiet and unassuming characters from the suburbs and the hinterlands.

These are strong character artists of an author-backed film rather than mega stars with bulging biceps of 200-crore pot-boilers.

Pioneer Sport presents back stories of the magnificent bunch which gave Indian cricket 'a win to remember' for ages to come.

RISHABH PANT

Rourkee has always been known for its finest engineering college, now an IIT

Delhi in wee hours of morning on weekends to attend training at the famed Sonnet Club and before the crack of dawn rest at the Gurdwara before heading to the ground. He played an IPL game days after his father Rajendra's sudden demise.

MOHAMMED SIRAJ

Son of an auto-rickshaw driver from Hyderabad's Lancer. He lost his father during the tour but decided to stay for the team and miss the last rites. He got a maiden five for in his debut series and was all choked up while dedicating the feat to the memory of his father. The youngster handled racist abuse from Australian fans with the same resolve.

NAVDEEP SAINI

Son of a bus driver from Karnal, he used to play tennis ball matches for ₹1000. Delhi first-class player Sumit Narwal brought him for the Ranji Trophy nets where then captain Gautam Gambhir picked him for tournament-proper. It was met with stiff resistance from none other than Bishan Singh Bedi who protested that a player outside Delhi domicile was being picked. This led to Gambhir putting his foot down and he never misses an opportunity to remind the detractors what Saini seemed capable of even at that time.

SHUBMAN GILL

The heir apparent of Virat Kohli was born in a Punjab village called Fazilka to an affluent farmer family. His grandfather had prepared a pitch in the farming field for his dearest grandson before his father decided to shift to Mohali so that his son's cricketing ambitions got wings. He was a member of the India U-19 World Cup team. Recently, on his Instagram account, he had voiced his support for ongoing farmers' protest.

CHETESHWAR PUJARA

The man from Rajkot is not very expressive but has dealt with adversity because of a strong mental make-up largely due to his coach and father Arvind Pujara. He lost his mother while playing junior cricket but never wavered from his goal despite the tragedy. Those hits on the body and knuckles in Brisbane on Tuesday will be the medals he would like to wear all his life.

SHARDUL THAKUR

He comes from Palghar and as a 13-year-old had hit six sixes for his school Vivekananda International Borivali in a Harris Shield Match. Who is the most celebrated alumni of Vivekananda International? India's white ball legend Rohit Sharma. Both Shardul and Rohit have had the same childhood coach — Dinesh Lad, whose son Siddhesh also plays for Mumbai.

WASHINGTON SUNDAR

The name Washington was his father's tribute to his own mentor PD Washington, who had funded his studies and kits when he was young and faced financial hardships. A month after PD Washington's death, his own son was born and he named him Washington Sundar.

We are all overjoyed at the success of the Indian Cricket Team in Australia. Their remarkable energy and passion was visible throughout. So was their stellar intent, remarkable grit and determination. Congratulations to the team! Best wishes for your future endeavours.

—PM NARENDRA MODI

A historic cricketing triumph scripted in Australia! Congratulations to India's talented young cricket team for winning the hard-fought test series. The team showed exceptional skills and resilience. The nation is proud of their achievement.

—PRESIDENT RAM NATH KOVIND

EVERY SESSION WE DISCOVERED A NEW HERO. Every time we got hit, we stayed put & stood taller. We pushed boundaries of belief to play fearless but not careless cricket. Injuries & uncertainties were countered with poise & confidence. One of the greatest series wins! Congrats India.

—SACHIN TENDULKAR

WHAT A WIN!!! Yessssss. To everyone who doubted us after Adelaide, stand up and take notice. Exemplary performance but the grit and determination was the standout for us the whole way. Well done to all the boys and the management. Enjoy this historic feat lads. Cheers @BCCI

—VIRAT KOHLI

Khushi ke maare pagal. This is the new India. Ghar mein ghuskar maarta hai. From what happened in Adelaide to this, these young guys have given us a joy of a lifetime. There have been World Cup wins but this is special. And yes, there is a reason Pant is extra special.

—HARBHAJAN SINGH

Test cricket's heart is beating strongly! That was an extraordinary win @BCCI & a fantastic series to watch. Aussies not lost at The Gabba since 1988. Wow

—STUART BROAD

What a Test match! The depth of Indian Cricket is scary. @RishabhPant17, sweet number 17. Well played young man. #testcricket at its very best

—AB DE VILLIERS

Only issue with India beating Australia in such an INCREDIBLE manner, is that the Test was played in Brisbane. A city that doesn't deserve an event so good! Rolling on the floor laughing. Pant — the boy who turned into a man today in Australia, in cricketing terms!

—KEVIN PIETERSON

The Greatest Test series win of all time ... Well done #India you have just shown the way for England to get back those Ashes back later in the year ...

—MICHAEL VAUGHAN

Remarkable. Injuries galore, absent players, & beating Australia at their fortress at the Gabba. This has been the most remarkable test series victory I've watched in my experience. India's depth of talent, heart and character must forever lift an entire nation. Congratulations.

—IAN BISHOP

Congrats to the Indian cricket team @BCCI! That's one of the best series wins I can ever remember on Aust soil & to do it after being bowled out for 36, plus a depleted squad-shows tremendous character, resilience, courage & belief. Just fantastic @RaviShastriOfc @ajinkyarahane88

—SHANE WARNE

One of the greatest test series wins ever. Congrats India and well played Australia, what a series #INDvsAUS.

—GOOGLE CEO SUNDAR PICHAI

He was an opening batsman back in 2016 during U-19 days. But his talent as an off-break bowler came to fore when Rahul Dravid and Paras Mhambrey told him to focus on his bowling in order to make the next grade. But batting remains his first love and India now has a ready replacement of Ravichandran Ashwin as and when required.

T NATARAJAN

From the remote village of Chinnappampatti in Tamil Nadu, the son of a daily wage labourer at one point in time couldn't buy bowling spikes. And then IPL riches came along but he never forgot his roots.

He has built a cricket academy in his native place and helped talented but needy cricketers. His child was born during the IPL but he will now get to see him for the first time in next few days and live to tell a tale.

AJINKYA RAHANE (CAPTAIN)

The everyday man on that Mumbai local train travelling from Mulund to Azad and Cross Maidan. Rahane is someone who had a black belt in karate as a teenager, and honed his skills under former India batsman Praveen Amre.

Did you know that Rahane's first ever first-class match was in Pakistan and not India? It was in Karachi where Quaid-e-Azam champions Karachi Urbans met Ranji Trophy champions Mumbai.
