World's largest Covid vaccination drive begins

PM to launch campaign via video conferencing today at 10:30 am; Vardhan says it is beginning of the end of coronavirus pandemic

PNS ■ NEW DELHI
Prime Minister Narendra Modi will flag off the first phase of the pan-India rollout of world's largest Covid-19 vaccination drive on Saturday at 10:30 am via video conferencing.

The drive involves two vaccines — Covishield and Covaxin — developed by AstraZeneca-Serum Institute of India and Bharat Biotech respectively.

A day before the vaccination drive against coronavirus, Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan on Friday said the step is "probably the beginning of the end" of Covid-19. The Drugs Controller General of India (DCGI) had earlier this month approved Oxford Covid-19 vaccine Covishield, manufactured by the Serum Institute, and indigenously developed Covaxin of Bharat Biotech for restricted emergency use in the country, paving the way for a massive inoculation drive.

This vaccination programme will cover the entire length and breadth of the country, with a total of 3006 session sites across all States and UTs which will be connected virtually throughout the exercise.

In the first phase, priority groups and healthcare workers, both in Government and private sectors, including ICDS workers, in all-around 100 beneficiaries will be vaccinated at each of the session sites. Adequate doses of both vaccines have been already delivered across the country. India, which reported first Covid case late January last year is currently the world's second worst-hit country with over 1.05 crore cases and over 1.51 lakh deaths. Over, 213,000 cases are currently active.

The phased rollouts will initially vaccinate one crore healthcare and two crore frontline workers, followed by around 27 crore senior citizens and people with co-morbidities like diabetes, hypertension, organ transplants, etc. In all, 30 crore people are going to be inoculated by July this year.

Speaking at the 146th India Meteorological Department foundation day, Vardhan cautioned that even if the vaccination drive is on, there should not be lowering of guard and people must follow Covid-19 appropriate behaviour.

"Tomorrow is an important day...It is the last phase of the battle against coronavirus. I say, this is probably the beginning of the end of Covid now which is going to start tomorrow," Vardhan, who is also Science and Technology and Earth Sciences Minister, said.

Farmers-Govt talks inconclusive again

Govt asks unions to create an informal group to discuss finer points of the laws

RAJESH KUMAR ■ NEW DELHI

The ninth round talks between the farmers and the Government on Friday again failed to end the stalemate over the farm laws. While farmers insisted on the repeal of the laws and legal guarantee of the MSP, the Government asked them to be more flexible in their approach and expressed willingness for necessary amendments.

However, both sides have agreed to continue the dialogue despite the Supreme Court constituting a committee to mediate on the issue.

The next round of talks will be held on January 19, the day the court-appointed committee is likely to start consulting stakeholders to end the impasse. This was the first meeting after the Supreme Court stayed the enactment of farm laws until further orders and appointed a four-member committee to resolve the deadlock over farm laws.

In the meeting that lasted for nearly five hours, including a lunch break, the Government requested unions to create an informal group to discuss finer points of the laws so that a way forward can be found in the wake of the Supreme Court's direction.

Besides their major demands, unions alleged police repression on people associated as well as not associated with the ongoing protests, NIA raids on transporters and arthiyas in Punjab who are supporting farmers' protests and were providing logistic support for the agitation.

The farmer representatives have also raised questions on the cases that have been lodged against the farmers and urged the Government to address this and prevent it. During the meeting, the Karnal incident where agitating farmers ransacked the venue of Manohar Lal Khattar's "kisan mahapanchayat" came up.

"Talks took place over three farm laws in a cordial atmosphere and detailed discussions took place on some issues, but couldn't reach a decisive stage. We suggested they can form an informal group of people who can understand the laws better and prepare some concrete proposals, detailing what are farmers' expectations and what clauses are problematic for them, which the Government can consider with an open mind," Union Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar said after the meeting with the farmer leaders.

The President made the contribution to the Ram Jannabhoomi Teerath Kshetra Trust set up by the Government to look after the construction and management of the temple.

"President Shri Ramnath Kovind ji contributes ₹5,00,100 for the construction of Shri Ram Temple in Ayodhya," said Champat Rai, general secretary of the trust.

A delegation comprising Vishva Hindu Parishad's international working president Alok Kumar, Teerath Kshetra Trust treasurer Govind Dev Giri, and temple construction committee head Nripendra Misra met the President on Friday to seek his contribution.

TMC rebel MP Shatabdi to fly to Delhi to meet Shah today

Roy criticises party leadership for bias, hints at announcing big decision today; likely to join BJP

SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ KOLKATA

Bengali cine star-turned Trinamool Congress MP Shatabdi Roy on Friday said she was going to Delhi where "it may not be out of ordinary to meet big politicians" like Home Minister Amit Shah.

Roy on Thursday set off ripples in the party ranks after posting a cryptic Facebook message dropping hints about a "decision" that she might take by "2 pm on January 16".

In Delhi, Amit Shah met senior BJP leaders from West Bengal to discuss strategy for the coming Assembly elections. Sate BJP chief Dilip Ghosh and senior leaders like Mukul Roy and Kailash Vijayvargiya were among those who called on Shah.

Even as Bengal BJP spokesperson Samik Bhattacharya said that senior politicians were welcome in his party if they changed their ideology, Roy came out more vociferously on Friday condemning her party leadership for partisan ways.

"There is no point approaching the topmost TMC leadership with one's issues as there is no surety that they will be redressed ... besides you do not know whether you will get chased for this or not," Roy said hours after resigning as the chairperson of Tarapeeth Development Authority.

She was asked as to why she was not taking up her issues with Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee.

Reacting to the matter, senior party MP Saugato Roy said, "Shatabdi has nothing against the Chief Minister ... and all other issues can be addressed ... though I think she will not quit the party."

Whether the three-time Birbhum MP would be joining the BJP on Saturday was not made clear by her but the actor-turned politician considered close to senior Bengal Minister Subroto Mukherjee said she would "take a decision in Delhi."

On whether she would meet Amit Shah, she said, "I can't say because it is not out of ordinary to meet big politicians like him." Earlier she said, "If I take a decision, then I will let you know at 2 pm on the 16th of January."

Her Thursday Fan Club post reads: "It feels as if some people do not want that I go to you. I am not informed about many programmes. If I am not informed, how can I go? This is causing me mental anguish."

Roy, who was available for comments to the media outside her residence, however, could not be contacted by senior leaders like Sudip Bandopadhyay and Derek O'Brien over telephone, party sources said.

J&K calm but can burst with rage any time: N Command

Lt Gen says J&K situation may flare up as Pak using terror as state policy

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

Sounding a word of caution on the prevailing situation in Jammu & Kashmir, GOC-in-C, Northern Command Lt Gen YK Joshi on Friday said the internal situation in J&K, which is stable and under control, has the propensity to flare up at any time.

Interacting with the media persons after paying tributes to the "bravehearts" of the Indian Army on the occasion of Army Day in the Northern Command headquarters in Udhampur, Lt Gen Joshi also claimed that Pakistan has not relented from using terror as an instrument of state policy. Additionally, he went on to say, "We have seen the Chinese belligerence on the Line of Actual Control (LAC). They have tried to alter the status quo which has been contested with resolve and courage by the Indian Army."

"Thirdly, the internal situation in J&K, which is stable and under control, has the propensity to flare up at any time," he said.

Elaborating, Lt Gen Joshi said, "There is also the collusion factor with threats ranging from supplying weapons to sharing of operational practices and so on."

Referring to the prevailing security scenario, the Army commander said that the relentless operations on the Line of Control backed with a robust multi-agency grid in hinterland has forced the deep state in Pakistan to recalibrate its approach to handle this situation.

He said, "The terrorist networks across are trying hard to abet recruitment by extensive use of social media."

The recent District Development Council elections have conveyed the resolve and will of the common people to shun separatism and embrace democracy, he said. Commenting on the situation in Jammu & Kashmir, Lt Gen Joshi said the abrogation of Article 370 and improvement in governance have been major game changers that helped in restoring the faith of the common people in the institutions of the Government.

Sisodia unveils fellowship scheme for artistes

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia inaugurated Delhi Government's Art, Culture and Languages Department's flagship cultural scheme to support artists, street theatre and performing arts fellowship at its launch programme on Friday.

"This is the first time that in our country such a unique scheme of cultural presentation of over 450 artists has been launched in Delhi. This will create a taste for art and culture amongst the people of Delhi. There will be live art performances on the streets as we have created this fellowship to give an opportunity to the artists to express their art," Sisodia said.

This fellowship has been started by Sahitya Kala Parishad under the Department of Arts, Culture and Languages and the launch happened at Delhi Secretariat.

Overall, 500 artists from diverse backgrounds such as theatre, music, dance and fine arts have been selected for this fellowship, with 500 more to be added to the roster in the future.

"Artists from Delhi, over the past few years, have been asking me to promote street art in Delhi. They pointed out that though there are concentrated cultural hubs like Mandi House, we need to expand culture to all parts of the city. To give a platform to street artists to showcase their art," Sisodia said.

The deputy chief minister also said that while travelling abroad to Europe and to other progressive countries in Asia, there is a thriving street art culture wherein artists from all backgrounds take their art to public spaces.

"I saw guitarists, and mime artists abroad performing on the streets. When I spoke to them, I realised that they all have day jobs but do this in their spare time. It is their intrinsic relationship with art that fulfils them, and why they perform in public spaces over the weekends," Manish Sisodia said.

Sisodia said that India has a tradition of an extremely rich culture. "We created this to give that opportunity to those who have talent in Delhi. Our government schools in Delhi remain vacant in the evening. We have decided to give these artists that space in the evenings to refine their talent, and where they are trained," he added.

Sisodia congratulated the fellows and the team members. "We had envisioned this dream a year ago, which got side-lined because of the pandemic. I am happy that all formalities of the fellowship are out of the way, and now it will go out in the public — taking art to the streets," he said.

These artists will perform in a team of 10 every week at various public places in Delhi. Each team will be unique because each team includes artists of different art forms. Teams of these artists have been trained by eminent theatre experts.

Rahul, Priyanka protest outside LG's residence

Demand repealing of three anti-farmer agricultural laws

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Delhi Congress led by senior Congress leaders Rahul Gandhi and Priyanka Gandhi on Friday staged a protest outside Lieutenant Governor of Delhi Anil Bajjal's residence demanding to repeal the three anti-farmer agricultural laws "arbitrarily" passed by the Centre. Addressing thousands of party workers, Rahul Gandhi said that the BJP and its core team are harming the interest of the farmers through these three anti-farmer agricultural laws.

Rahul said that these laws have not been made to help the farmers, but to destroy them, as they are meant only to help and benefit big Corporates.

Gandhi said that the Congress party is standing by the farmers to protect their interest, and will continue to support them, till the anti-farmer laws are rolled back. "The Narendra Modi government earlier tried to take away the land of farmers, when it brought the land acquisition Act and the Congress party stopped them at that time.

Now the BJP and their two-three friends are once again attacking the farmers and have brought these three farm laws," he also alleged.

The Congress is taking out protest marches at all state capitals in the country and will gherao Raj Bhawans.

The protests come on a day the government is holding the next round of talks with leaders of farm unions to end the deadlock over their agitation.

NITHARI MURDER CASE

Pandher acquitted due to lack of proof

STAFF REPORTER ■ GHAZIABAD

The Ghaziabad Central Bureau Investigation (CBI) court on Friday convicted Surendra Koli in the 12th case of infamous Noida's Nithari murders. However, Mohinder Singh Pandher was acquitted due to lack of proof.

The sentence will be heard on January 16. The Court had already sentenced Surendra Koli to death in 11 cases of Nithari case.

In this case, the CBI had submitted a charge sheet against both the accused for kidnapping, murder and rape. In the absence of strong evidence, the special court acquitted Moninder Singh Pandher.

The CBI advocate JP

Sharma said that the court of Special CBI Judge Amit Veer Singh in the 12th case of Nithari case was under consideration.

"Seeing the arguments and evidence of both, the court has convicted Surendra Koli while Moninder Singh Pandher survived due to lack of evidence," said Sharma.

He said that on 12 November 2006, a girl living in Nithari had left her home to clean the kothi, after which she did not return home.

"The family searched for her but did not find the daughter but complained to the police but the police did not register a report. After this, the matter came to light after several bodies were found in the drain behind the house of Moninder Singh Pandher," he said.

Closed mines to be developed as source of water conservation

STAFF REPORTER ■ RAIPUR

Chhattisgarh Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel has told Collectors to prepare an action plan to develop closed mines in their districts as sources of water-conservation, incorporating employment-oriented activities.

In a directive issued to the Collectors, Baghel has said that all the 'abandoned mining sites' should be identified and the action plan prepared within a month.

The expenditure incurred in this work can be arranged from the allocation available under MGNREGA, DMF, CSR, Environment and Infrastructure fund and other departmental schemes, he added.

Baghel has said that mining of coal, iron ore, bauxite, dolomite and limestone in the state for decades has left these sites to be abandoned after the depletion of these minerals. Accidents are taking place in the abandoned mining sites, causing loss of life and property.

The Chief Minister, while referring to the Kenapara coal mine in Surajpur district, has said that coal mining was stopped here from 1991 due to depletion of coal reserves by SECL.

With necessary renovation of this abandoned mining site by the district administration in collaboration with SECL, it has been converted into an excellent source of water conservation.

New opportunities for income growth of the surrounding villagers have been created here with the beginning of activities like fishing and providing facilities such as boating and floating restaurants.

Baghel wants the Collectors to start renovation of mining sites in their districts before April 1 and says efforts should be made to complete the work before the rainy season so that the collection of water can begin during monsoon.

Sewage treatment plans being set up on banks of rivers

STAFF REPORTER ■ RAIPUR

Sewage treatment plants are being established on the banks of Mahanadi, Sheonath, Kharun, Arpa and Kelo where domestic waste water flows into the rivers, the Chhattisgarh Environment Conservation Board (CECB) said on Friday.

The CECB said as per a directive of the National Green Tribunal (NGT) for establishment of effluent treatment plants within the premises. If the industries violate it, either they are shut down or power supply is snapped.

In addition, such plants will be set up on the major drains, it said in a statement. CECB further said that the water pollution has been effectively controlled by installing effluent treatment plants in all the industries having water affluent as a by-product. Continuous monitoring is done to test the water quality of natural water sources.

All the regional offices ensure that all the established industries in the state, mainly using water, establish effluent treatment plants within the premises. If the industries violate it, either they are shut down or power supply is snapped.

If necessary, legal proceedings are initiated, said the statement.

The water released from the industrial area of Bhanpuri, Urla and Siltara in Raipur district is not affecting the quality of drains and Kharun river water. Most industries are involved in air pollution and there is less release of water.

Natural water sources mainly of rivers Mahanadi, Sheonath, Kharun, Arpa, Hasdeo, Kelo, Shankani-Dankani, Mand and Indravati are regularly collected for testing. The reports confirm that the water in the key rivers is fit for drinking after traditional treatment.

Cong observes Kisan Adhikar Diwas, marches to Raj Bhavan

STAFF REPORTER ■ RAIPUR

The Chhattisgarh Congress observed a Kisan Adhikar Diwas on Friday and marched to the Raj Bhavan in Raipur against the three new farm laws as well as hike in fuel prices as part of its nationwide protests.

Scores of Congress workers and leaders, led by state unit President Mohan Markam, staged a protest at the party headquarters.

Addressing the crowd, Markam accused the Modi government of forcefully imposing the anti-farmer law on 'annadata' (farmers) while more than 62 crore farmers across the country were against the legislation.

With the 'black law', Prime Minister Narendra Modi wants to help his few industrialist friends, he alleged.

He asserted that the Congress will keep fighting until the Centre repeals the laws.

After the protest, the party workers took out a rally towards the Raj Bhavan. Markam reached the Raj Bhavan by driving a tractor. A delegation of Congress leaders led by Markam met Governor Anusuiya Uike and handed over a memorandum addressed to President Ramnath Kovind against the farm bills and hike in fuel prices. The delegation included Rajya Sabha MP Chhaya Verma and senior MLAs Satyanarayan Sharma and Dhanendra Sahu.

Honest State poll officials get EC shield ahead of polls

RAJESH KUMAR ■ NEW DELHI

Ahead of the upcoming Assembly polls in five States, the Election Commission (EC) on Friday stepped in to protect officials assigned to the election duty to ensure free, fair and impartial elections. Taking note of victimisation of the officials on flimsy grounds after the election is over, the Election Commission (EC) on Friday said States and Union Territories will need its approval before initiating disciplinary action against the chief electoral officers and other officers up to the joint chief electoral officer during their tenure and also up to one year from its expiry.

the office of the Chief Electoral Officer for proper discharge of his/her duties.

In a letter addressed to the cabinet secretary, DoPT secretary, chief secretaries and chief electoral officers of all States and Union Territories on Thursday, the EC said it has noted some incidents of "victimisation" of CEOs and additional, joint, deputy and assistant CEOs in the post-election period.

The Commission has noted some incidents of victimisation of CEOs, Addl/Joint/Deputy/Assistant CEO in the post-election period. Many a times they are targeted for political vendetta by charging them with disciplinary cases on flimsy grounds for their earlier tenures in the State Government after the completion of their tenure. An environment of fear is created to convey that the upright, steadfast and sincere officers can be taken to task at any time, on the flimsiest of the grounds," the EC noted. It said in such a scenario, these officers are not only "demotivated but also their morale is greatly reduced, which severely affect their efforts to ensure free and fair elections." "Left to go unfettered, it causes a situation where officials are reluctant to join as CEOs and those who are inducted face the uncertainty of fair treatment in post-election phase," it observed.

"Commission is sanguine in the expectation that all concerned shall strictly adhere to this regimen in letter as well as in spirit," EC said in a communication sent to Cabinet secretary, all state/UT chief secretaries, DoPT secretary

The preparations for the Assembly polls in five States—Tamil Nadu, Kerala, West Bengal, Puducherry and Assam are on. The terms of the assemblies in Tamil Nadu, Kerala, West Bengal, Puducherry and Assam will end on May 24, 2021, June 1, 2021, May 30, 2021, June 8, 2021 and May 31, 2021 respectively.

The Commission designates a CEO for state and union territories in consultation with the respective governments. Chief electoral officers are essentially an extension of the Commission in the states and union territories to carry out multifarious election related functions of the Commission. Once appointed, the CEO comes under direct control, superintendence and discipline of the Election Commission and remains on deputation to Election Commission.

LAC crisis: No one should test patience of India, says Army chief

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Sounding a note of warning to China, Army Chief General MM Naravane on Friday said no one should test the patience of India. He, however, reiterated that the nation is committed to resolve the current impasse through dialogues.

He also said a "befitting" response was given to China when it tried to change the status quo at the Line of Actual Control (LAC). Addressing the Army Day parade, Naravane said a "befitting response" was given to the "conspiracy" to make unilateral changes on the border and that the sacrifice of the Galwan heroes in eastern Ladakh will not go waste.

"We are committed to resolve disputes through talks and political efforts but no one should make any mistake of testing our patience," he said.

"I want to assure the country that the sacrifice of the Galwan heroes will not go waste. Indian Army will not allow any harm to the country's sovereignty and security," the Chief said.

Twenty Indian Army personnel including the commanding officer were killed in a brawl with the Chinese troops on June 15 last year in the Galwan valley. It marked the most serious military conflicts between the two sides in decades.

Though it suffered casualties in the hand-to-hand combat that day, China is yet to disclose the number of its soldiers killed and injured. Reports indicate that more than 35 Chinese soldiers were also killed in the clash.

Stressing the point that India favoured talks to resolve the dispute leading to disengagement and de-escalation at the LAC now on for the last nine months, Naravane said eight rounds of military talks were held between India and China to bring the situation under control.

"Our efforts will continue to find a solution to the current situation on the basis of mutual and equal security, basis of mutual and equal security," he said.

Referring to cross-border terrorism from Pakistan, the Chief said the neighbouring country continues to provide a safe haven to terrorists.

More than 300-400 terrorists are ready to infiltrate, he said.

"There was an increase of 40 per cent in the ceasefire violations last year which is the proof of Pakistan's sinister plans. There were also attempts to smuggle weapons using drones, he added. Naravane said more than 200 terrorists were killed by the security forces in Jammu and Kashmir in different operations last year.

On the issue of modernization, he said the army is taking concrete steps. Outlining some of the procurements undertaken in the last few months in the backdrop of the stand-off at the LAC, Naravane said under emergency and fast-track schemes, the Army procured equipment worth about ₹5,000 crore and signed contracts worth ₹13,000 crores in the last year under capital procurement.

Covid vaccines only for those above 18, says Health Ministry

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Contrary to the approval given by the country's top drug regulator which said that Hyderabad-based Bharat Biotech's Covaxin could be administered to those above 12 years of age, the Union Health Ministry, in a recent communication, has said that both shots are recommended and approved for people above 18 years of age.

Sources said that the Ministry, in a letter issued on January 14, provided comparative details of the two vaccines - Bharat Biotech's Covaxin and University of Oxford-AstraZeneca's Covishield which is being manufactured by Serum Institute of India - approved by Drug Controller General of India (DCGI).

The factsheet has details of the vaccines, which will be distributed to cold chain points and vaccination centres for ready reference.

However, in the letter, the Ministry says that both vaccines are recommended and approved for people above 18 years of age. This contradicts the earlier DCGI approval which said that Bharat Biotech's Covaxin could be administered to those above 12 years of age.

The Health Ministry's letter - under the subhead 'Precautions and contraindications for COVID-19 vaccination' reads: "1. Authorised age group: Under the EUA, COVID-19 vaccination is indicated only for 18 years and above. 2. Co-administration of vaccines: If required, COVID-19 vaccine and other vaccines should be separated by an interval of at least 14 days. 3. Interchangeability of COVID-19 vaccines is not permitted: Second dose should also be of the same COVID-19 vaccine which was administered as the first dose."

EC ready to share voters' list with Govt for job plan

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Election Commission (EC) will extend "full assistance" to the Government in identifying targeted beneficiaries at the polling station level for the Covid-19 vaccination drive, but wants health authorities to delete the data once the inoculation exercise is over.

The EC after detailed deliberations, wrote back to the home secretary on January 4, saying it has decided to render "full assistance" in the vaccination drive. But asked the government to ensure that the data is strictly used for the limited purpose for which it has been sought, the sources said.

On December 31 last year, Union Home Secretary Ajay Bhalla wrote to Chief Election Commissioner Sunil Arora requesting the commission's help in identifying people above 50 years of age at the polling station level. On the issue of data security, the home secretary wrote that the Government is complying with the current best practices for ensuring cyber security. He has assured the poll panel that the data will be used only for the purpose of vaccination, the sources said.

The commission also said that the data should be deleted by health authorities once the vaccination exercise concludes, they said. Some senior EC officials will be in touch with nodal officers of the Union home ministry and the Union health ministry to settle day-to-day issues, the sources said.

Last month, officials of the Union health ministry and the Niti Aayog had met the EC top brass seeking their help in the distribution of COVID-19 vaccine given the poll panel's robust network at the booth level. The letter by the home secretary is a follow up to the meeting, the sources said.

According to guidelines for the COVID-19 vaccination drive, the latest electoral roll for Lok Sabha and assembly elections will be used to identify the priority population over the age of 50 years. Twelve identity documents, such as Voter ID, Aadhaar card, driving licence, passport and pension document, will be required for beneficiary identification.

According to the government, the shots will be offered first to an estimated one crore healthcare workers, and around two crore frontline workers, and then to persons above 50 years of age, followed by persons younger than 50 years of age with associated comorbidities.

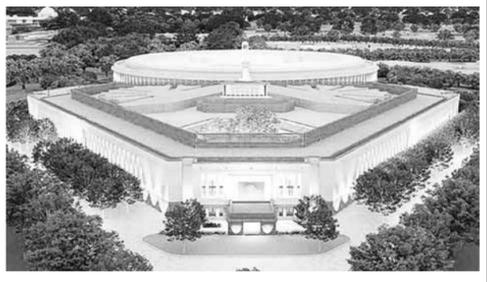

However, pregnant and lactating women should not be administered the shots as they have not been part of any anti-coronavirus vaccine clinical trial so far, the health ministry said. "Interchangeability of Covid-19 vaccines is not permitted. Second dose should also be of the same Covid-19 vaccine which was administered as the first dose," the letter written by Manohar Agnani, Additional Secretary in the Ministry.

According to the officials, 95 per cent of the 1.1 crore doses of Covishield vaccine purchased by the Government have been delivered and shipped to nearly 60 consignee points across India in last two days. Similarly, of the 55 lakh doses of indigenously developed Covaxin of Hyderabad-based Bharat Biotech ordered by the Centre, the first tranche of 2.4 lakh doses have been dispatched to 12 States.

Construction work of new Parl building starts

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The construction work of the new Parliament building started on Friday, a day after 'Makar Sankranti', considered auspicious.

submitted an affidavit that it would not start construction, demolition and tree transplantation until the court gave its judgment.

"Excavation work has started at the site where a sufficient number of labourers have been engaged to ensure that the project is completed on time", officials said. The site of the construction is adjacent to the existing Parliament, which was completed in 1927.

The new building is being constructed by Tata Projects Ltd. The project is estimated to cost Rs 971 crore. Tata Projects Ltd. said despite the 35-day delay in the commencement of the construction work, it is confident that it will be able to deliver the project on or before time.

The project was scheduled to start in December last, but construction and demolition at the site was put on hold while legal challenges to the project were pending with the apex court. On December 7, the Supreme Court allowed the ground-breaking ceremony to take place after the government Parliament building on December 10 last year.

Earlier this week, a 14-member heritage panel gave its approval to the new Parliament building while also giving the go-ahead to the Central Vista redevelopment project. The Supreme Court had asked the Centre to seek prior approval from the panel and other relevant authorities before starting the construction of the new building.

The construction work could not start earlier as the government had assured the Supreme Court that no construction or demolition work would commence till the apex court decided the pending pleas on the issue.

CBI conducts searches in ₹340-cr bank scam

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The CBI on Friday conducted searches in connection with investigation of two separate cases related to bank fraud involving an amount of about ₹340 crore.

The agency has registered a case on a complaint from State Bank of India (SBI) against a private company Naftogaz India Private Limited based at Delhi/Noida and others including its CMD and unknown public servants/persons for causing an alleged loss of about ₹219.81 crore to SBI.

"It was alleged in the complaint that the said accused firm has cheated the SBI by way of diversion of bank funds, fraudulent transactions, criminal misappropriation, submission of false stock / debt statements etc.," the CBI said in a statement.

In the complaint, the SBI alleged that the company was incorporated in 2005 starting as EPC contractor for exploration, drilling, extraction and production of mineral oils, natural gas and petroleum products. The alleged fraud came to light when Forensic Auditors submitted a report on February 18, 2020 for the period April 1, 2010 to March 31, 2014.

Searches were conducted at three locations including Delhi / NCR at the office and residential premises of the borrower company and other accused persons, it said.

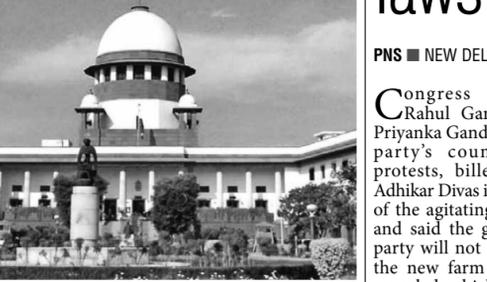

The other case was registered on a complaint from Punjab National Bank (PNB) against a private company Hari Har Overseas Private Ltd, Narsing, Karnal (Haryana) engaged in rice milling activities at Karnal and others including its directors/guarantor and unknown public servants/persons for causing an alleged loss of about ₹121.75 crore to the bank.

SC seeks reply from Centre, 61 firms on PIL duty evasion in iron ore exports to China

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court has sought responses from the Centre and 61 iron exporting firms including Essar Steel and Jindal Steel & Power on a PIL seeking a direction to the CBI to register an FIR and probe the alleged duty evasion by them in exporting iron ore to China since 2015.

has been taking place as these companies have been exporting them without paying 30 per cent export duty.

A bench headed by Chief Justice S A Bobde took note of the submissions of lawyer and PIL petitioner M L Sharma that the companies be prosecuted for alleged evasion of export duty by declaring wrong tariff code to export the iron ore under the Foreign Trade (Development and Regulation) Act, 1992.

"Issue notice," said the bench which also comprised Justices Justices A S Bopanna and V Ramasubramanian.

The PIL said the ministries of commerce and finance control and regulate the export policies and decide as to under which Harmonized System (HS) Codes each good will be exported.

It said the government had set up a firm with the name of KIOCL to use low grade iron ore and export them under the "duty free Tariff HS code 26011210 which is exclusively prescribed for KIOCL."

The PIL said under Foreign Trade (Development and Regulation) Act, 1992, "tariff HS CODE NO. 26011100 was prescribed to export "all other kind of iron ore" subject to payment of export duty at the rate of 30 per cent."

The firms were wrongly allowed to export iron ore using the tariff code being used by KIOCL and as a result crores of rupees have been cheated by them, it said.

Won't relent until farm laws are repealed: Rahul

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Congress leaders Rahul Gandhi and Priyanka Gandhi led the party's countrywide protests, billed Kisan Adhikar Divas in support of the agitating farmers and said the grand old party will not relent till the new farm laws are repealed which invited sharp reactions from Union Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar.

On the day when yet another round of talks between the Government and farmers unions remained inconclusive, Rahul alleged the Prime Minister Narendra Modi does not respect farmers and wants to tire out those protesting against the new agriculture laws.

Tomar hit back at Rahul for his remarks against Prime Minister Narendra Modi and said even the leaders of his own party do not take the Gandhi scion seriously and laugh at his remarks. Addressing the media after the meeting with the farmers, Tomar said Gandhi's statements and actions are laughed at even within his own party.

"The Congress manifesto in 2019 itself had promised these reforms and therefore, Congress chief Sonia Gandhi and former Congress chief Rahul Gandhi should tell us whether they were lying then or are lying now," said the Agriculture Minister.

Sitting at Jantar Mantar protest site, Rahul alongwith his sibling and party general secretary Priyanka said farmers will not relent till the laws are repealed. The duo was joined by party MPs in their demonstration against the legislations. "The talks are being held only to delay. PM Modi thinks he has the power and will tire the farmers out, but he is mistaken," Rahul Gandhi said talking to media.

Congress has been demanding a repeal of the farm laws, alleging that they are against the interests of farmers and farming and are aimed at helping only the "corporate friends" of the BJP. The three farm laws, enacted in September last year, have been projected by the government as major reforms in the agriculture sector that will remove middlemen and allow farmers to sell anywhere in the country.

The party on Friday demonstrated protest at State capitals cross the country and at places like Lucknow protestors were also detained. Massive protests were also reported from Kolkata, Jaipur.

Climate change-induced temp behind low diet quality, malnutrition among children: Study

ARCHANA JYOTI ■ NEW DELHI

More than traditional causes such as poverty, inadequate sanitation and poor education, it is the climate change-induced higher temperatures which is majorly contributing to low diet quality and malnutrition among young children in many parts of the world, researchers have found after assessing diet diversity among one lakh kids under five in 19 countries.

"Certainly, future climate changes have been predicted to affect malnutrition, but it surprised us that higher temperatures are already showing an impact," said lead author Meredith Niles, an assistant professor of Nutrition and Food Sciences at the University of Vermont and a fellow at the university's Gund Institute for Environment.

The study published in journal Environmental Research Letters, found that the negative effects of climate - especially higher temperature - on diet diversity are greater in some regions than the positive effects of education, water and sanitation and poverty alleviation - all common global development tactics.

Of the six regions examined - Asia; Central and South America; North, West, and Southeast Africa, five had significant reductions in diet diversity associated with higher temperatures.

Researchers focused on diet diversity, a metric developed by the United Nations to measure diet quality and micronutrient intake. Micronutrients, such as iron, folic acid, zinc, and vitamins A and D, are critical for child development. A lack of micronutrients is a cause of malnutrition, which affects one out of every three children under the age of five. Diet diversity is measured by counting the number of food groups eaten over a given time period, as per the study.

The researchers found that on an average, children had eaten food from 3.2 food groups (out of 10) - including meat and fish, legumes, dark leafy greens and cereal greens - in the previous 24 hours. By contrast, diet diversity in emerging economies or more affluent countries such as China have been more than double this average (6.8 for children 6 and under).

"Higher rainfall in the future may provide important diet quality benefits in multiple ways, but it also depends on how that rain comes," said co-author Molly Brown of the University of Maryland. "If it's more erratic and intense, as is predicted with climate change, this may not hold true."

"Diet diversity was already low for this group," said UVM co-author Brendan Fisher. "These results suggest that, if we don't adapt, climate change could further erode a diet that already isn't meeting adequate child micronutrient levels."

The researchers had used 30 years of geo-coded temperature and precipitation data, and socioeconomic, ecological, and geographic data.

The disturbing findings does not bode well for the future generation with a UNICEF report already pointing out that some 144 million children worldwide are stunted by malnutrition.

SCBA ex-president urges SC to resume normal functioning

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

Senior advocate and former SCBA president Vikas Singh has requested Chief Justice of India (CJI) S A Bobde that the Supreme Court, which has been hearing cases virtually in view of Covid-19 for past several months, resume "normal functioning" at the earliest.

"Recent turn of events have created a situation whereby the interests of the Bar are being neglected and the Bench is taking unilateral decisions with regard to the functioning of the institution," he said.

Bar and Bench are the two main pillars on which the system of justice stood, the former Supreme Court Bar Association (SCBA) president said in a letter to the CJI on Thursday.

Singh said: "In my view when the entire country is opening up, of course with sufficient safeguards, I see no reason why the Supreme Court which is the foundation of our democratic polity should not resume full normal functioning by putting in place sufficient safeguards for the said opening."

"While the judges and the court staff are completely protected being away from the areas where the lawyers, litigants and media come, till date no effort has been made to even think of a method where by the number of people entering the Court is restricted and normal functioning of courts starts on that basis".

He added that the largest stakeholders in the functioning of the Supreme Court were the litigants for whose benefit this entire institution had been created and while the issue of the pandemic was looming large in this country, the litigants could not be ignored by the non-functioning of the SC in a proper manner.

While pointing out the band-width issues for allowing mentioning, he also said that any technological shortcoming could not be an impediment in this vital activity.

Sasikala faction, ADMK merger chances brighten

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ CHENNAI

Possibilities of VK Sasikala (the jailed former aide of late Jayalalitha) joining hands with the AIADMK led by Chief Minister Edappadi Palaniswamy and his deputy O Panneerselvam got brightened on the auspicious occasion of Pongal which was observed with gaiety across Tamil Nadu on Thursday.

The initial signals of such a scenario came from S Gurumurthy, Tamil Nadu's leading political commentator and chief editor of Thuglak, the popular magazine launched by late Cho Ramaswamy. Sasikala who has been convicted for four years in a disproportionate wealth case will come out of the Bangalore jail anytime after January 27, according to S Pandian, her lawyer.

"If there is a realignment of forces and there is unity, it is always good. But the final word is with the party leadership," said Vaigaichelvan, former Minister and AIADMK's spokesman.

Termining the Dravidian political parties and other fringe parties as the major threat faced by Tamil Nadu and India, Gurumurthy said it was the responsibility of all patriotic people in the State to ensure the defeat of the DMK and its allies. "The DMK is an embodiment of corruption, favoritism, communalism and anti-nationalism. Though the AIADMK too is corrupt, it has got certain positive characteristics. The AIADMK is nationalistic as envisaged by party founder MGR and his chosen successor Jayalalitha. But the DMK is a family owned enterprises which has made corruption its hallmark," said Gurumurthy while addressing a public meeting held late Thursday evening to mark the 51st anniversary of the magazine Thuglak.

He said he was borrowing the words of Arun Shourie who asked all non-Congress political parties in 1989 to come together to defeat the Rajiv Gandhi Government. "Those were the days when the Government at the Centre was enmeshed in corruption charges. Military deals involving purchase of Bofors, HDW ships, Scorpene sub marines and the Fairfax controversy were plaguing the Rajiv Gandhi led Government. The opposition parties were divided and were confused over aligning with the rival parties. It was then that Arun Shourie who was the editor of Indian Express told then that their house was in fire and not to waste time waiting for Ganga water to douse the flames. Shourie told them to make use of even drainage water to douse the fire," said Gurumurthy.

He explained that his friend Rajinikanth opted out of the political race only because of ill health. "You should remember that we don't have an alternate leader to take over from Rajinikanth if there is more deterioration in his health. We cannot afford to lose Rajini," said Gurumurthy.

What stood out in his speech was the comments he made about judiciary. "Most of the judges, from trial courts to the apex court, are having allegiance to the persons who appointed and promoted them. The case involving former IT minister and DMK leader Dayanidhi Maran is an ideal example.

A judge belittled the findings that the nation has lost hundreds of crores because of the private telephone exchange set up by Maran in his Chennai home misusing his official power. But the judge asked the former minister to pay up Rs 1.5 crore and disposed of the case," said Gurumurthy.

ED grills Eknath Khadse for 7 hours in land scam

TR RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

The Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Friday grilled senior NCP leader and former Minister Eknath Khadse in connection with a questionable land deal in Pune, for seven-long hours.

Khadse—who was to have appeared before the ED on December 30, but had sought time to do so because of his indisposition—arrived at the investigation agency's office at 11 am. After a seven-hour-long grilling, he stepped out of the ED's office at around 6 pm.

Talking to media persons after the first round of questioning, Khadse said: "I cooperated fully with the ED today and will continue to do so even in future. I have replied to all their questions and provided all evidence required in the matter. I will continue to provide whatever information they require from me."

Sixty-eight-year-old Khadse, who had quit the BJP and joined the NCP on October 23, had said soon after joining the Sharad Pawar-led party that "if the BJP unleashes ED against me, then I will release CDs against the BJP leaders".

Responding to the ED's summons, Khadse had earlier said: "The land in the MIDC deal has been transferred in the name of my wife. I have absolutely nothing to do with this land deal. Earlier, the Anti-Corruption Bureau, Pune, the Anti Corruption Bureau, Nashik, Income Tax department and a judicial committee headed by retired Bombay HC judge Dinkar Zoting, had looked into the allegations against me. Now the ED has summoned me for questioning. I will appear before it," Khadse had said.

It may be recalled that on June 4, 2016, Khadse had resigned from his post as the State Revenue Minister over irregularities in the purchase of a plot of land at Bhosari in Pune district.

65-year-old man booked for raping 2 minors in Pilibhit

Pilibhit (UP): A 65-year-old man has been booked for allegedly raping two sisters at a village here, police said on Friday.

An FIR was lodged against Satnaam Singh (65) on the charge of rape on Thursday after a probe into it by Circle Officer Pramod Kumar, Superintendent of Police Jai Prakash said. The two girls, aged 15 and 13, worked at Singh's place and were allegedly raped by him for a year, police said.

The victims' family alleged that they have trying to lodge a complaint in this regard for the past one month but police did not listen to them.

They approached officials at Purnanpur tehsil and informed them about it after which an FIR was registered on Thursday. The SP said a probe has also been ordered against the area SHO for not taking the case seriously. The SP said in their complaint, the girls' family did not give any date of the incident and alleged that they were being raped for the past year. PTI

New bailey bridge to restore traffic on Jammu-Srinagar highway

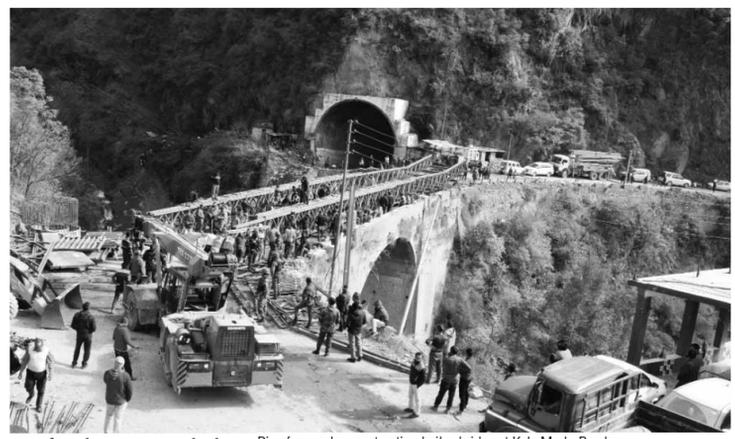

MOHIT KANDHARI ■ JAMMU

Vehicular traffic and movement of security convoys, which remained suspended along the 300-Km long Jammu-Srinagar National Highway since January 3, is set to be restored from Sunday with the completion of 120-foot-long, 40-ton bailey bridge near Kela Morh in Ramban district in a record time of three days.

After the mandatory testing of the bailey bridge the road link would be thrown open to rush essential supplies to the Kashmir valley. Braving intense cold wave conditions, men and machinery of the Border Roads Organisation (BRO) are working round the clock to complete the job at hand.

Chief Engineer of Project Beacon of the Border Roads Organisation, Brigadier IK Jaggi along with Deputy Commissioner Ramban, Nazim Zai Khan Friday supervised the bridge construction work on ground zero.

Briefing media persons Brigadier IK Jaggi said "More than 50 percent of the work on 120 foot long, 40 ton bailey bridge has been completed and the left over work is expected to be completed on January 16. After mandatory testing the local authorities are hoping to throw open the road link for movement of traffic on January 17.

Brigadier IK Jaggi said, "we had launched the construction work of the 120 foot long bailey bridge at the location on January 14 and by Saturday evening we will complete the task". He said, due to the collapse of the retaining wall of the existing bridge a 28 meter long gap was created. He said, "we have covered the gap using a 120 foot long span as it is considered safe to restore the link".

"we have put all the resources available for completing the bridge". "Work is going on war footing as all men and machinery have been put to use. We are sure that by tomorrow evening the Bailey bridge will be completed and ready for traffic" he added.

construction of Bailey bridge is nearing to completion at Kela Morh and a trial run would be conducted tomorrow before starting the movement of vehicles on the bridge.

He said that the construction of Bailey bridge is going on round the clock and Border Roads Organisation (BRO) has completed more than 50 percent of bridge launching work till early Friday morning.

Due to prolonged suspension of traffic movement on the strategic highway the common people are facing many hardships. Convoy movement of security forces was also affected due to suspension of traffic.

Initially, the traffic on the National Highway was suspended on January 3 following a fresh spell of snowfall. After remaining closed for six long days the traffic was partially restored on January 9 to clear the rush of stranded vehicles and essential supplies. A day later the traffic was suspended again after a retaining wall of a bridge collapsed near Kela Morh in Ramban district on January 10.

NCP MIN RAPE CHARGE ROW Pawar softens stand, says let the law take its course

TR RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

In what came to his party's Minister accused of rape Dhananjay Munde, NCP chief Sharad Pawar on Friday softened his stand over the accusation of rape made by a woman against Dhananjay Munde after two more political leaders alleged that the woman was trying to honey trap them, and said that the police be allowed to investigate the matter.

Ruling out indirectly any possible action against Munde at the party level, Pawar said: "Since allegations have been made against the woman who has complained against Munde, we have come to a conclusion that the police be allowed to do a comprehensive probe into the matter. We are confident that the police will do a good job. Hence we will not interfere in the probe. All we have suggested to the government that ACP-level be woman be asked to conduct the probe".

On Thursday, Pawar had termed the charges made by a woman were "serious" and said that he would take a call on the issue, after consulting his senior party's important colleagues. "The charges are serious...the matter is with the police...it is also in court...they will decide, however, we as a party would have to decide on it. I will speak to my colleagues and decide," Pawar had said.

Alluding to his yesterday's comment, Pawar said: "Yesterday when I had commented on Dhananjay Munde issue, I said that the issue was serious. But by then, certain facts were not in the public domain. I came to know that there was a similar complaints against the same lady by different political party leaders," Pawar said.

In effect, Pawar was referring to the statements made by BJP leader Krishna Hegde and MNS leader Manish Dhuri, who had come in indirect support of Munde by claiming that the woman who had made allegations of rape against the NCP minister had tried to "honey-trap" them.

In a related development, Maharashtra's Home Minister Anil Deshmukh said: "Law will take its own course. Everyone is same before law...santri' or 'mantri'...the matter would be investigated as per law".

Munde has been accused of rape by a singer Renu Sharma, with whose sister Karuna Sharma the minister has admitted to have been in a relationship and sired children.

After Pawar distanced himself from the controversy by saying that the charges against Munde were "serious", Munde had on Thursday received support from an unexpected quarter, as Hegde and Dhuri trained their gun on the woman who had accused the minister of having raped her sister.

"Renu Sharma has been calling me, messaging me and coaxing me since 2010 to have a relationship with her. This harassment went on to the point of stalking. Through my sources I found out that she is a dubious person who is setting up a honey trap. I totally avoided meeting her," BJP leader Krishna Hegde had said in his complaint lodged with Senior Inspector of Amboli police station Kamte.

On his part, MNS leader Manish Dhuri had said separately: "The woman (Renu Sharma) who has now complained against Munde had obtained my telephone number. She used to follow me. She tried many times to get to close to me. Having realised that she had honey trap several influential people, I tried to distance myself from her.... If I had got involved with her, I would have become another Dhananjay Munde".

Meanwhile, having come under fire various quarters, Renu Sharma - who has accused Munde of rape - said that she would take a step back if all wanted her to do so.

Kerala to offer 2 million jobs in 5 yrs: Min

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ KOCHI

The CPI(M)-led LDF Government in Kerala would create "at least" two million jobs for the unemployed people in the State in the next five years, according to Thomas Issac, Minister of Finance.

Presenting the fifth and last budget of the Government led by Pinarayi Vijayan in the State assembly on Friday (Kerala goes to the polls to elect a new legislative assembly by April 2021), Isaac said despite the non-cooperation from the Centre, Kerala has done exceedingly well in the last five years.

"The changes that has happened in the global employment market and the superb expertise gained by Kerala in controlling the Covid-19 pandemic has helped us to address the problem of unemployment. We are opening a digital platform in February 2021 to launch the massive employment generation programme. This would be a trend setter for the rest of the world," disclosed Issac in his record-breaking budget speech which he read out in 3 hours 20 minutes.

All people in the State would get a minimum monthly pension of Rs 1600, said the minister. "Every household would be given laptops and free internet connection. Poor sections of society would continue receiving food kits free of cost. The government would generate eight lakh jobs in 2021-2022 itself. Those desiring to set up business ventures would be given loans to buy computer and allied instruments for their office work.

The minister who has a Ph D in changing life style of coir workers in the State has allocated Rs 112 crore for the coir sector in the State. "We will create two lakh jobs in agriculture sector. We will also make Kerala free of fallow land," said Issac.

There are no new taxes in the budget proposals. The minister has promised soft loans to all homemakers in the State to buy smart gadgets to simplify and minimise their workload in kitchens.

Mumbai cops seize 345 kg ganja worth ₹5.2 cr, arrest 1

TR RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

In a second major drug haul in less than a week, the Mumbai Police on Friday seized 345 kilograms of Ganja (marijuana) worth around Rs 5.2 crore and arrested one person in connection with the seizure.

Six days after the Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB) seized 200 kilograms of ganja and imported drugs like "OG Kush" (a strain of cannabis indica) in raids conducted in Mumbai's north-western suburbs, the Mumbai police raided a small flat at Chandivali's Sangarshnagar locality in north-east Mumbai and seized huge quantity of drugs.

Acting on a tip-off, the Mumbai police raided a small flat in building no. 10 of the Slum Redevelopment Authority complex at Sangharsh Nagar area of Chandivali and seized 345 kilograms of Ganja (marijuana) worth around Rs.5.2 crore.

"After examining the CCTV footage in the area, we have arrested one - Ashok M. Metre (39). We have arrested him and booked him under the NDPs Act," Deputy Commissioner of Police (Zone 10) Maheshwar Reddy said.

Following the seizure of drugs, the Saki Naka Police are keeping a close watch on the illegal activities in the area.

Friday's was the second major drug seizure in less than a week. On January 9, the NCB personnel had seized 200 kilograms and arrested three persons Karan Sajmani, a British national, and two others Rahila Furniturewala and Shaista Furniturewala.

The drugs, seized from Khar and Bandra areas in north-west Mumbai, included ganja, imported contraband like "OG Kush" (a strain of cannabis indica), and curated marijuana. Some of the seized drugs had been sourced from the United States.

Subsequently on January 12 (Tuesday), the NCB arrested Ramkumar Tiwari, one of the brothers who own "Muchhad Paanwala" shop at Kemps corner in south Mumbai in connection of cannabis-related drugs seizure.

A day later, the NCB arrested Maharashtra Minister Nawab Malik's son-in-law Sameer Khan in connection with a drugs case.

Sameer's arrest came at the end of a day-long questioning of him in connection with a drugs case in which three arrests, including that one of the owners of famous "Muchhad Paanwala" shop, have been made so far.

Sameer was placed under arrest by the NCB after it questioned him in connection with a google pay transaction of Rs 20,000 between him and one of the arrested accused Karan Sajmani, a British national.

Earlier on Tuesday, the NCB had arrested "Muchhad Paanwala" shop's co-owner Ramkumar Tiwari was arrested in connection with the same drugs case. The NCB said that it had seized "half a kg of cannabis-related drugs" at a warehouse in Mumbai. The allegation is that it was Sajmani who provided drugs to Tiwari.

Started in 1977, Muchhad Paanwala is one of the most famous paan shops in Mumbai, which is frequented by celebrities and which takes orders on its web site.

Privacy matters

You wouldn't want anyone else seeing what you do online, would you? But they already do

WhatsApp's new privacy policy is in essence providing Facebook a way to monetise messages on the messaging app. At one level, it makes sense since users of the messaging app are getting a free service, and Facebook's algorithms go through your messages just like Google's algorithms go through every email you send and receive on Gmail. And most of us do use Google's service for email and the tech giant's search for everything and we post about our lives on Facebook and Twitter, so to suddenly cry 'wolf' about the new privacy policy does little but to expose our hypocrisy. Could Facebook and WhatsApp have handled it any better? Yes, they should have; many Indians will migrate to other messaging platforms and apps over the coming weeks and some of them, at least for now, assure privacy. But with applications like Facebook, Twitter and WhatsApp, there is something called the 'network' effect; it is difficult to use a service that few of your friends and relatives use, so while many people will download Signal and maybe even use it for some discussions that they'd rather nobody else sees, WhatsApp is unlikely to suffer much in the long term other than a bruised ego. It is more than likely that many groups, after discussing the new privacy policy threadbare with huge doses of misinformation, have gone back to their regularly scheduled "Good Morning" and "Good Evening" messages.

At a level, this comes down to our understanding of privacy as a people. In such a crowded country, the concept of personal privacy as understood in the western world does not simply exist. If one is really concerned about privacy, they should probably use better hardware devices, the iPhone for example, instead of Chinese-brand Android devices and pay for better messaging and email services. There has to be a realisation that there is a price for 'free services' because, as the saying goes, "You can't have your cake and eat it too". There is a cost to privacy when it comes to technology and when notions of personal privacy are so limited to begin with, teaching Indians about the need to keep things private is a difficult task. In many western countries, for example, it is a given that without the permission of a guardian, the pictures of children cannot be published; in India we do not think twice before doing such a thing. Remember, Indian cricket player Virat Kohli and his actor wife Anushka — among the most photographed couples in the country — had to very recently make an appeal to the paparazzi to refrain from taking pictures of their newborn daughter. The simple issue was the pesky photographers who often cross the fine line between the demands of the "profession" and intrusion of privacy. On the other hand, citing the case of the western world, is the instance of Hollywood actor George Clooney, who sued a member of the paparazzi brigade and his publication for climbing over the walls of the actor's villa and clicking photos of his child. Privacy is a luxury in a crowded nation and if we want it, we have to pay for it, such as living in a large house with a boundary wall. If we want luxury on the internet, we have to be willing to pay!

Virus shadow over R-Day

No chief guest at this year's parade; the number of attendees as well as pageantry scaled down, too

The devastating Coronavirus pandemic has upended all our lives and nothing is the same again. Not the global economy, nor the way we socialise, nor the education and the healthcare systems nor the way we work, conduct business or even celebrate. If there has been a major disruptive force in living memory, it is the outbreak of the accursed virus. And now, in a historical first since 1966, India will celebrate its Republic Day without a Head of State as the chief guest to showcase its military prowess to. The pesky virus has ensured that British Prime Minister Boris Johnson, who was supposed to attend the iconic Republic Day parade, had to bow out after he announced a fresh lockdown in the UK over the new strain of the Coronavirus that has affected thousands of people there and reared its ugly head in India, too. The complete lockdown for England's 56 million people could last until mid-February, hence the Prime Minister was needed back home. This was supposed to be Johnson's first bilateral outing after the UK's departure from the European Union in December. But the contingency back home needed his urgent attention, so he had no choice but to cancel his visit that was expected to bind the Indo-UK relations even closer. The trip to New Delhi was being seen in the diplomatic circles as the UK's post-Brexit tilt towards the Indo-Pacific region, in which India is an important player. In fact, on December 15, UK Foreign Secretary Dominic Raab, who visited New Delhi as a prelude to Johnson's trip, announced a closer collaboration with India on an enhanced trade partnership, and he also met Prime Minister Narendra Modi to discuss a 10-year roadmap for a new era in the UK-India ties. Apart from trade, the two democracies are also seeking closer collaboration on tackling the Coronavirus pandemic, climate change, enhancing defence cooperation so that they can better address key issues like terrorism and maritime security.

A disappointed India, which had been "looking forward to Johnson's visit", tried to fill the gap on the dignitary podium by approaching leaders in neighbouring countries like Sri Lanka and Bhutan, but lockdowns and various COVID-related issues made it impossible for others to step in. As it is, the parade this time had been restricted to a limited few from the masses instead of the thousands who used to throng it earlier. Even the marching contingents will be fewer and they will sport face masks and face shields, and the general distance between members in each of the contingents has been expanded from two to three feet. Even the number of dignitaries will be less and only a limited number of people will be invited; and they too will be seated far apart in order to maintain social distance. The highlight of the parade this year is expected to be the felicitation of the "Corona warriors". A few hundred people who have been in the frontline from the field of medicine — such as staff nurses, paramedics, doctors and sanitation staff — have been selected and they will be given certificates of appreciation on the occasion to show the nation's appreciation for the work they have been doing in battling the virus. This whittling down of the pomp and show that is usually associated with the R-Day parade makes one wonder why we never thought of this before? Each year, India spends hundreds of crores in organising the mega event. So this begs the question: Where is the justification in a poor country like India spending so much money on impressing the world's leaders when millions are dying of malnutrition and living below the poverty line in the nation? Would this money not be better spent on ramping up our healthcare and educational infrastructure? Or skilling the nation's beti and fighting crimes against women? If we can decrease our disease and hunger burden and increase our per capita income, it would really be something to showcase to the world. Else, we should adopt the Gandhian principle of leading a simple life.

Anatomy of Uttarayana

Makar Sankranti is an event of the sidereal solar calendar while Uttarayana is a matter of tropical solar reckoning

PRIYADARSHI DUTTA

Makar Sankranti marks the Sun's entry into Makar raashi, identified with the sign of Capricorn. The reference here is merely to the apparent motion of the Sun resulting from Earth's yearly revolution. Annually, there would be a dozen such Sankrantis, because of the Sun's transit across 12 signs of the celestial zodiac. No other Sankranti enjoys religious significance, though each of them marks the beginning of a new month in the sidereal solar calendar. In India, several States like Tripura, Assam, West Bengal, Odisha, Tamil Nadu, Kerala, Punjab, Haryana and so on follow a sidereal solar calendar. Several other States like Maharashtra, Gujarat, Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh-Telangana in addition to the Hindi-speaking belt follow the luni-solar calendar.

In the luni-solar calendar, the months are based upon a lunar cycle of 29-1/2 days, resulting in a year length of 354 days. Therefore, it has to be adjusted against the solar year by insertion of intercalary month (Adhimasa) every three years. The luni-solar calendar, besides being expressly followed in several parts of India, is also implicit to the solar calendar because of its religious significance. All Hindu religious festivals including vrats, parvas and most jayantis are determined as per the 354-day lunar calendar. This results in a drift of dates for religious festivities and austerities (within a bracket of 25 days) vis-a-vis the Gregorian calendar.

Why is Makar Sankranti celebrated with such great fanfare even in parts of India where the writ of solar calendar does not run? This is due to a belief that Makar Sankranti marks Uttarayana (literally meaning sun turning north). Uttarayana is a function of a tropical solar calendar like the Gregorian calendar. Tropical calendar has zero connection with zodiac background. It stands on four pillars — Vernal Equinox (March 21), Summer Solstice (June 21), Autumn Equinox (September 21) and Winter Solstice (December 21). In the two equinoxes, the day and night are of equal length all over the world. In June solstice, the day is longest across the northern hemisphere, shortest in the southern. In December solstice, the day is shortest in the northern hemisphere and longest in the southern. This interplay of 'light and shadow' is due to the fact that the axis of Earth's rotation is inclined to the plane of Earth's revolution at 23.5°. As a result, different zones of the globe receive direct light whereas others pass into shadow. This, in the extreme, results in six months of day and six months of night between one equinox to the other in alternating polar zones — the Arctic and Antarctic.

In winter, the sun travels low across the sky in the northern hemisphere. On December 21, the declination is the least and the Sun is directly overhead the Tropic of Capricorn (23.5° S) at the local noon. The trend is, however, reversed on the morrow of Solstice. The Sun, figuratively speaking, turns northwards. Thus, as per one belief, December 22 should be the real Uttarayana. A common factor, coincidental at first sight, is the name Capricorn. On December 21, the Sun is overhead the Tropic of Capricorn, an imaginary line; and on January 14 it enters the Sign of Capricorn. However, we realise that it is more than mere coincidence when the same thing is repeated in the summer. While on June 21 the Sun is directly overhead at the Tropic of Cancer, it enters the Sign of Cancer on July 16. The gap is 24 days.

Now, 24 days seems to be the new common factor. What explains this 24 days' time lag that links the name of a tropic (an imaginary line) with a constellation? The secret might lie in the factor called "precession of equinoxes" or "axial precession" called ayana-chalan in Sanskrit. The axis of the Earth is not exactly stable but describes a conical motion. This motion, similar to the wobble of a spinning top, results from the Sun's rotation, goes round the entire zodiac. The amount of precession is 50" (less than 1/60th of one degree, when one segment of zodiac is of 30 degrees). We get the seasons from the Sun, not from the zodiacal background. Thus, measuring seasons from the zodiac signs by ignoring the effect of precession (the Nirayana calendar) is not the best way. The sidereal or Nirayana year (365 d 06 hrs 09 m 10 s) is 21 minutes longer than tropical year (365 d 05 h 48 m 46 s). A sidereal year, therefore, would disengage from the seasons twice as fast as Julian calendar (which assumed year length to be flat 365 d and 6 hrs) did before being reformed by Pope Gregorian XIII in 1582. "The difference between the sidereal and the tropical year is 20.4 minutes," says Bal Gangadhar Tilak, "which causes the seasons to fall back nearly one lunar month in about 2,000 years, if the sidereal solar year is to be taken as the standard of measurement" (The Orion, P.19). This would explain the mystery of the lost 24 days. Possibly two millennia ago, the Sun went overhead in the southernmost tropic when it entered the sign of Capricorn. In the ancient times, Uttarayana and Sun's entry into Capricorn would have coincided. That is no longer true. Tilak (1856-1920), however, hinted at a different possibility on Uttarayana. Known as a tough politician, he was also a noted Sanskrit scholar who found time to delve deep into Hindu astronomy to reconstruct Vedic history. It is reflectgravitational pull acting differently at the equator from the poles. The conical motion would be complete in 28,500 years during which the North Pole would point at several different stars — like Thuban, Polaris and Vega. During the same interval the point of the equinox, where the plane of revolution intersects the plane of rotation, goes round the entire zodiac. The amount of precession is 50" (less than 1/60th of one degree, when one segment of zodiac is of 30 degrees).

in his books like The Orion, or, Researches Into The Antiquity of the Vedas (1893) and Arctic Home in the Vedas (1903). In his book, viz., The Orion, the author says that Uttarayana is susceptible to two meanings. Tilak states: "It might mean 'turning towards the north from the southernmost point' or it may indicate 'the passage of the Sun into the northern hemisphere, i.e. to the north of the equator'. If we adopt the first meaning, Uttarayana and the year must be held to commence from the winter solstice while, if the second interpretation is correct, Uttarayana and the year must have commenced with the vernal equinox." Citing the Rig Veda, Tilak says: "The facts that the central day of annual satra was called vishuvan, the Vasant or spring was considered the first of the seasons and the agrayaneshitis or the half-year sacrifices were required to be performed every Vasant (Spring) and Sharad (autumn) clearly show that the second interpretation is more likely to be correct (The Orion, P.22)."

Tilak, thus, maintained that Uttarayana was the vernal equinox (March 21). He further believed that the six-month period from vernal equinox to autumn equinox, when the Sun moves along the northern latitude, is Devayana (way of the gods) in the Rig Veda and from autumn equinox to vernal equinox Pitrivana (way of the dead ancestors) as mentioned in the Rig Veda.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Ensure accountability

Sir — The Government must frame stringent laws to hold politicians accountable for corruption in the country. It is often seen in cases of corruption or malpractices in any Government department that the officials are usually taken to task by agencies like the CBI and ED while politicians belonging to the ruling dispensation, who are no less involved in the fraud, walk away scot-free.

Our politicians, with their unchecked involvement in corrupt practices, have tarnished the reputation of our country. Over the past four decades or so, we have seen many cases of corruption. It will not be an exaggeration to say that most of the politicians are corrupt to the core and are involved in the dirty game of power and money. They have unaccounted money stocked in foreign banks or assets disproportionate to their income.

It is high time for all political parties to think about this serious issue and join hands for making legislations that are more effective in curbing corruption by the politicians.

India should provide vaccines to poor nations

As India is all set to launch the world's biggest vaccination drive on Saturday, many countries look towards it with hope.

Apart from inoculating millions of countrymen, India should also provide the COVID vaccine vials to its neighbours and poor countries across the globe, either free of cost or on concessional rates. India's commitment to serve humanity is second to none and we, as a nation, have always helped those in need.

It's beyond doubt that the chariot of self-reliant India is touching new heights everyday and the days are not far when we will become the torch-bearer of humanity and development. The manufacturers of the vaccines — Bharat Biotech (Covaxin) and Serum Institute of India (Covishield) — should take the lead and work out a plan with the Centre for exporting the vaccine to Bangladesh, Nepal, Bhutan, Pakistan, Sri Lanka, Afghanistan and so on. This will go beyond their realm of Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) and be a true service to the mankind. We, as a nation, cannot fail those who look towards us for help during the COVID crisis. India must tread cautiously and care about its global image. If the immunisation drive turns out to be successful, India will set an unprecedented example in the world's history. It will emerge as the world leader and its reputation will increase manifold.

The Opposition parties and leaders, who have unequivocally criticised the Modi Government during the initial phase of vaccine development, should also rise above politics.

Accept demands in toto

Sir — The Modi Government must immediately repeal the three farm laws that are the bone of contention between the Centre and the farmers. Although the Supreme Court has put a stay on these legislations but the farmers are not contended and the situation can turn volatile anytime.

The cultivators are not ready to settle for anything less than revocation of the laws and a legal guarantee on the Minimum Support Price (MSP). The NDA Government must realise that 70 per cent of the rural households still depend primarily on agriculture for their livelihood. They also constitute a large proportion of the BJP's vote bank and if they turn against it in the next elections, it will severely mar the party's prospects of making it to the power corridors. Farmers are a peace-loving community and their leaders have clarified that the tractor rally on January 26 will take place only at the Haryana-Delhi border.

Army is our pride

Sir — On Army Day, we must remember those who choose to die for the nation. The sad part is that today's youth doesn't know about the stories of courage and valour that have shaped India's destiny saved us from enemies. Those who are ignorant about their past cannot shape their future.

It's time to remember our heroes like Field Marshal KM Cariappa, who was the first Commander-in-Chief of the Indian Army and all the Param Vir Chakra (PVC) awardees like Major Somnath Sharma (first winner of the PVC), Naik Jadunath Singh, Lt Rama Raghoba Rane, Company Havildar Major Piru Singh and many others who made the supreme sacrifice for the nation. India's history is incomplete without its military history and our soldiers are our real heroes. We are safe because they are guarding our borders and fighting our enemies. We must pay our tribute to them on such occasions.

A shot at halting the virus' march

Vaccines take over six weeks to provide immunity. So it will be vital to continue with COVID protocols during the vaccination period and beyond

RAJINDER DHAMIYA

India begins its first phase of the COVID-19 vaccination drive from today. History is being created as it marks an important milestone in the pandemic's trajectory which began almost a year ago when three students returning from Wuhan were found to be COVID positive in Kerala. Since then, we have lost more than 1.51 lakh people and over 1.05 crore individuals have tested positive in India. The year 2020 was indeed a long one as lives were lost and livelihoods vanished as business closures, job losses and salary cuts became the norm. Politics overtook science in many countries and they eventually paid the price in terms of preventable deaths and sickness just because of a delay in instituting Corona protocols like masking, social distancing, hand hygiene and restriction of movement. As I had highlighted previously in these columns, the cold and pollution resulted in a surge in Coronavirus cases in India and globally, too. However, many mathematical models have been proved wrong in terms of hypothetical projections of the number of cases as well as the timelines of the pandemic's trajectory. Experimental therapies were tried in order to save lives, some of which failed to generate scientific evidence while others were withdrawn fearing more risk than benefit through their use. The learning curve continues as the contagion rages on and new mutations are being reported from different parts of the globe, keeping science and scientists on their toes. Consequently, physical distancing has led to social isolation for many, especially the elderly and vulnerable populations like people with disabilities and comorbidities. This has resulted in significant mental health issues. Social isolation is indeed a major risk factor not only for the psychological repercussions it has but also for those suffering from ailments. The approval of two Coronavirus vaccines and their rollout from today is a major step towards combating the pandemic in India and may be the beginning of the end of the COVID-19 outbreak. Covaxin and Covishield will be used during the initial phase of the inoculation drive and a priority group of three crore people will get the shots. The vaccination programme will use Co-WIN, an online digital platform developed by the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, which will facilitate real time information of vaccine stocks, storage temperature and individualised tracking of beneficiaries for the shot. This digital platform will assist programme managers across all levels while conducting inoculation sessions.

This drive is a welcome step in the right direction and the Coronavirus shot is indeed a gift for mankind in the midst of this humanitarian crisis. Vaccines have historically saved lives from many deadly diseases in the past. A vaccine for the Coronavirus becoming available in less than a year seemed impossible at one time. However, it has become possible because of global efforts and collaborations by scientists and nations. Consequently, these shots have been developed in record time and have shown remarkable efficacy with safety. But India's vaccine campaign poses a major challenge in getting a substantial number of the population inoculated in view of scepticism and the undercurrent of vaccine hesitancy. So far these jabs have protected people from getting the virus, thereby preventing morbidity, hospitalisation and subsequent mortality. This is important not only for countries like ours with an inadequate and inequitable public health system but also for nations with a robust health infrastructure.

It is widely understood that a person protected by a vaccine or a natural COVID-19 infection acts as a dead end for the virus' transmission and an unprotected person who has not been inoculated or had the infection becomes a facilitator. We need most of the population to be vaccinated to break the chain of transmission. The shot will prevent the disease for sure in most of the vaccinated people but whether it will prevent the spread of the virus is still unclear. There is evidence, though not strong, that some of these shots do prevent the spread of the virus. Epidemiological methods reveal that we need at least 60 to 70 per cent of the population to be immunised either through jabs or natural infection to halt the transmission of the virus and develop "herd immunity." So how do we tackle these challenges with the vaccine rollout now becoming a reality? First we need to vaccinate as many people as possible by allaying fears and convincing citizens about the benefit of the vaccine not only for them but also for the community. The vaccine needs to be made as easily available as possible, keeping priorities in place. Plus, the importance of concise communication to the masses cannot be underestimated as is highlighting and stressing scientific facts over misinformation and myths prevalent on social media. It must also be anticipated that people may become complacent during the vaccination drive or after getting the shot. All vaccines take at least six weeks to provide immunity. So it will be critical to continue with all COVID protocols like before during the vaccination period and months or years after completing the two dosages of the shot. We will need to continue the new normal with all public health measures in place along with lasting change in our behaviour. The shot is here but we will have to live with the virus even after this. Vaccines will save lives and livelihoods but the virus is here to stay.

Curb regulatory overreach

Neither the legislature nor the judiciary should be allowed to frame and pronounce punishment disproportionate to the crime as compared to other contextual offences

ABHAY RAJ MISHRA

Since time immemorial, human civilisation has maintained social order by framing rules and regulations which are implemented through various mechanism of imparting justice to people. Justice by its very nature represents something that is just and right. What is just may depend on the context but being fair, impartial and right is essential to the idea of justice. Professor Henry Sidgwick, a 19th century British jurist known for his ethical theory had opined that the best indicator of a nation's political success is to see how it administers justice.

In primitive societies punishment was targeted to evoke fear by subjecting offenders to brutality. This was supposed to act as a lesson and deterrent for others. However, with development and social evolution, punishment is now a subject of human rights with greater focus on reforming the wrongdoers, instead of tormenting them.

India as a welfare State has also adopted a reformative approach where the primary aim is to rehabilitate the offender. For instance, then IG (Prisons) Kiran Bedi took her reformist vision to Bihar Jail in 1993 and initiated a programme for the welfare of the inmates in the notorious prison, totally transforming the conditions inside Tihar. The reform policy had several aspects like changing prisoners' attitudes through education, meditation and yoga; imparting vocational skills; making the prison administration accountable; involving prisoners through mobile petition boxes, various panchayats and daily mass sabhas; providing a better diet and improving living conditions; assisting addicts through drug addiction centres and undertrials through legal aid cells. Similarly, the introduction of the Model Prison reforms by the Government in 2016 was a major step which brought uniformity in laws, rules and regulations governing prisoners.

However, there remains a major gap when it comes to the structure and uniformity of sentencing guidelines. Despite this being raised by various committees from time to time, neither the legislature nor the judiciary has issued any structured sentencing norms. The Malimath Committee on Reforms of the Criminal Justice System that was set up by the Ministry of Home Affairs, in its report submitted in 2003, emphasised the need to introduce sentencing guidelines in order to minimise uncertainty in awarding sentences. A few years later the Madhav Menon Committee, too, reasserted the need for a sentencing policy in India. In 2010, the then Law Minister stated that India was planning to establish a "uniform sentencing policy" on the lines of the guidelines followed in the US and the UK. However, no progress has been made in this direction till date. Instead, the recent amendments proposed in the Cigarettes and Other Tobacco Products (Prohibition of Advertisement and Regulation of Trade and Commerce, Production, Supply and Distribution) Act, 2020, (COTPA 2020) signal a movement in the reverse direction.

COTPA 2020 amendments prescribe new excessive penalisation for petty street vendors or hawkers selling tobacco products. Exemplifying this is a seven-year imprisonment or a fine of ₹1 lakh for violations which involve immense subjectivity. Further, these violations are proposed to be made cognisable offences, which means police officers have the unilateral power to arrest these vendors, without a warrant or permission of a court and a bail will require appearance in front of a Magistrate.

These violations include selling tobacco products to a person below 21 years of age and selling tobacco within 100 meters of an educational institute. Even selling loose cigarettes, which has been an age-old system, is going to abruptly become a crime attracting a jail term.

In a country where an 18-year-old is a legal adult with the right to vote or marry, this is regulatory overreach. A section of these petty retailers sell their goods on foot and we don't have a fixed definition of educational institutes which can vary, from a school to a private tuition centre. This proposal makes petty retailers look like heinous criminals who will be subjected to the whims and fancies of local police officers, many of whom can be compulsively corrupt.

Compared to other sentences and imprisonments prescribed under the Indian Penal Code (IPC), these are disproportionate and excessive. For instance the law prescribes a maximum punishment of six months' jail for sale of adulterated drugs (IPC 275); up to six months in prison for rash or dangerous driving (IPC 279); maximum two years for rioting (IPC 147); three years for extortion (IPC 384); three years for voluntarily causing hurt with a dangerous weapon (IPC 324); five years for voluntarily throwing acid (IPC 326B) and seven years for kidnapping (IPC 363).

This move has rightfully caused widespread consternation among small retailers who are being made to look like criminals. The potential social harm caused by the sale of a bidi or a cigarette to an 18-year-old adult with fundamental rights to make informed choices, does not equal to the acts of kidnapping or throwing acid or even sale of adulterated drugs which can kill or maim. If tobacco is a legal product with the Government earning hefty revenues, how can selling it to lawful adults become a crime? This raises pointed questions on the process behind the framing of such rules. Is it the poor quality of research by bureaucrats drafting such proposals where they did not compare this with other existing provisions? Or is there an emotional overdrive to control tobacco consumption too fast? These retailers also sell other items of daily consumption like tea, water, juices, soft drinks, biscuits, savoury items and confectionary besides tobacco products. Their presence on every street corner forms the very character of India's urban retail activity and is a sign of self-reliance and microentrepreneurship among people at the bottom of the pyramid.

The critics of the Government might draw controversial conclusions and say this is a larger move to attack unorganised retailers and kill micro retail activity to benefit large business groups or networks seeking organised retail activity. NGOs might even term it a bid by foreign firms to push more international tobacco into India through smuggled and illicit products at the cost of Indian tobacco farmers. However, this is a clear case of loss of balance that legislators and the judiciary need to maintain while framing sentencing guidelines. Neither the legislature nor the judiciary should be allowed to frame and pronounce punishment, which is disproportionate to the crime as compared to other contextual offences. Otherwise the belief of the people in the rule of law will erode.

In the past there have been instances of disproportionate sentencing being overturned by the judiciary. In the Soman vs. State of Kerala case, 2012, the Supreme Court reversed the imprisonment sentence imposed on the accused by the High Court, who was a liquor retailer charged with selling spurious alcohol which eventually led to the death of six people. Here the Supreme Court observed that: "Giving punishment to the wrongdoer is at the heart of the criminal justice delivery, but in our country, it is the weakest part of the administration of criminal justice." The court cited the need to consider a combination of three factors while directing the quantum of sentence: Proportionality, deterrence and rehabilitation, among which the principle of proportionality assumes highest prominence. A sentence must be commensurate with the seriousness or gravity of the crime. Here, the seller was the last and the weakest link in the supply chain of adulterated liquor comprising of an illicit manufacturer, the distributor and finally the retailer. Hence the court felt that reduction of the sentence from five years of imprisonment to three years was a fair decision.

While there is no debate on the harmful effects of tobacco and an ongoing reduction in its use should be pursued, shockingly disproportionate draft rules make a mockery of the system and create a legal paradox, thereby raising questions about the law-making procedure in the country. Such rules, affecting the livelihoods of many, need more debate and should be reviewed by expert committees comprising of judicial experts, socialists and industry representatives, before being put up for public review. If allowed, these will adversely affect the sense and sensibilities of judges who will have a dilemma while pronouncing sentences, given their disproportionate nature as compared to other crimes.

Biden holds promise for US-Taiwan relations

At the diplomatic level, Taiwan works as a major bargaining chip for the US to deal with an increasingly aggressive China which they deal with functionaries of other countries.

While the latest development has elevated US-Taiwan relations to a new height, it is still to be seen whether Biden follows the trend or reverses the trajectory of bilateral engagement that has been achieved under the Donald Trump era.

Some experts, diplomats and commoners are speculative that the Biden Administration could backpedal US-Taiwan relations and instead favour China. Their apprehensions are not without a reason, as they cite a statement made by Biden in the US Senate in 2001 when he said that "Washington is not willing to go to war over Taiwan's unilateral declaration of independence."

However, it would be unfair to form an opinion about his foreign policies just based on some isolated statement. It is pertinent to recall that Biden had supported the Taiwan Relations Act in 1979. Even in 2020 he was among the first global leaders to congratulate Taiwanese President Tsai Ing-wen on her reelection and said: "You are stronger because of your free and open society. The United States should continue strengthening our ties with Taiwan and other like-minded democracies." Biden has also supported US legislations providing arms and defence equipment to Taiwan under the outgoing President Donald Trump's Administration.

We should also keep it in mind that Biden had used strong words against China during his election campaign. He termed the communist nation a "thug" and even accused Trump of being too soft on China. Further, in an article published in a journal, Biden said: "We're a Pacific power, and we'll stand with friends and allies to advance our shared prosperity, security, and values in the Asia-Pacific region," and "that includes deepening our ties with Taiwan." This, in turn, makes it aptly clear that Biden is fully conscious of the changing geopolitical, security and economic environment largely due to China's expansionist tendency.

Furthermore, some appointments made by Biden should indeed be viewed as a good signal for the East Asian nation. For instance, Antony Blinken, the Secretary of State-designate, has held talks with Taiwanese diplomats and in a tweet, Blinken mentioned that "stronger economic relations between the US and Taiwan will support our shared democratic values and our common commitment to regional peace and stability."

At the same time, the existence of Taiwan as an independent and vibrant democracy is also in the interest of the US for various reasons. First, Taiwan's geo-strategic location in the South China Sea (SCS) prevents Beijing from dominating sea trade routes. China controlling Taiwan would embolden Beijing to establish its dominance over the SCS and eventually it would pose a serious threat to East, Southeast Asia and the US. China can further assert its territorial claim more aggressively against the Philippines, Vietnam and some other countries in the region.

Second, Taiwan is one of the leading export-based economies in the world. Taiwan succumbing to China would only accentuate Beijing's imperialist tendency. Third, at the diplomatic level, Taiwan works as a major bargaining chip for the US to deal with China. Fourth, while the recent attack on the Capitol Hill in Washington has bemused several countries across the world, the disappearance of Taiwan as an independent country would prove to be a big blow to the idea of democracy.

Taiwan can contribute significantly towards promoting the emergence of a strong supply chain free from the clutches of China. While Taiwan runs leadership training courses for the officials of the Pacific islands, its timely medical support to the rest of the world and its success in controlling the spread of COVID-19 have won the hearts of the international community.

But Taiwan could have certainly helped immensely had it been a member of the World Health Organisation.

The global perception about China has changed significantly in recent years as Beijing has become more repressive internally and aggressive internationally. China's repressive measures against peaceful protestors in Hong Kong and its attempt to cover up the outbreak of the contagion have finally ended the delusions about China's peaceful rise. It is all because of these factors that there exists a strong bipartisan understanding among US leaders about strengthening ties with Taiwan.

Now, the time has come when not only the independent existence of Taiwan should be a global concern, but efforts should also be undertaken to enable it to contribute to world affairs in an effective manner. For its pursuance, the US should take initiatives to sign the Free Trade Agreement with Taiwan, which in turn would propel other countries to institutionalise their economic ties with it. The process will eventually not only reduce Taiwan's economic dependence on China, it would also integrate Taiwan into the regional and global economic groups.

The US should also take initiatives to include Taiwan into the Quadrilateral Security Dialogue (QUAD). Since the East Asian country has fostered a strong relationship with India, Japan has already expressed its concern for the independence of Taiwan and Australia is facing an assertive China, Washington can explore the means of providing a role to Taiwan in this QUAD grouping.

While it becomes logical for the Biden Administration to sustain the momentum of the bilateral relationship, only time will tell if this transition leads to anticipated transformation.

Just days before the US Congress certified President-elect Joe Biden's victory in the 2020 presidential election, Secretary of State Mike Pompeo lifted the long-standing restrictions on dealing with Taiwan. These "self-imposed restrictions", which were introduced decades ago to appease the mainland Chinese Government were declared "null and void" by Pompeo on January 9.

This allows US officials to engage with their Taiwanese counterparts on the same footing with

Capitol rioters included highly trained ex-military and cops

Washington: As President Donald Trump supporters massed outside the Capitol last week and sang the national anthem, a line of men wearing olive-drab helmets and body armor trudged purposefully up the marble stairs in a single-file line, each man holding the jacket collar of the one ahead.

The formation, known as "Ranger File," is standard operating procedure for a combat team that is "stacking up" to breach a building — instantly recognizable to any U.S. Soldier or Marine who served in Iraq and Afghanistan. It was a chilling sign that many at the vanguard of the mob that stormed the seat of American democracy either had military training or were trained by those who did.

An Associated Press review of public records, social media posts and videos shows at least 21 current or former members of the U.S. Military or law enforcement have been identified as being at or near the Capitol riot, with more than a dozen others under investigation but not yet named. In many cases, those who stormed the Capitol appeared to employ tactics, body armor and technology such as two-way radio headsets that were similar to those of the very police they were confronting.

Experts in homegrown extremism have warned for years about efforts by far-right militants and white-supremacist groups to radicalize and recruit people with military and law enforcement training, and they say the Jan. 6 insurrection that left five people dead saw some of their worst fears realized.

"ISIS and al-Qaida would drool over having someone with the training and experience of a U.S. Military officer," said Michael German, a former FBI agent and fellow with the Brennan Center for Justice at New York University. "These people have training and capabilities that far exceed what any foreign terrorist group can do. Foreign terrorist groups don't have any members who have badges." Among the most prominent to emerge is a retired Air Force lieutenant colonel and decorated combat veteran from Texas who was arrested after he was photographed wearing a helmet and body armor on the floor of the Senate, holding a pair of zip-tie handcuffs. Another Air Force veteran from San Diego was shot and killed by a Capitol Police officer as she tried to leap through a barricade near the House chamber. AP

Amid cacophony since Capitol siege, key officer stays silent

Washington: In the week since a mob laid siege to the U.S. Capitol, the House has impeached President Donald Trump.

Dozens of people have been arrested nationwide over participation in the riots. Politicians and business leaders are loudly condemning the violence.

Twitter and other social media sites have banned Trump and thousands of other accounts.

Yet amid all the noise, a Capitol Police officer hailed as a hero for confronting the insurrectionists and leading them away from Senate chambers has remained silent.

Officer Eugene Goodman isn't saying whether he thinks he saved the Senate, as many of the millions who've viewed the video believe.

In fact, Goodman isn't saying anything at all publicly — not to reporters, not on social media. And he's asked the force's union, bosses, family and friends to help him maintain his privacy and not publicly discuss the events of January 6.

But the video speaks volumes.

Goodman, a Black man facing an overwhelmingly white mob, is the only officer seen for a full minute of the footage, shot by reporter Igor Bobic of HuffPost.

Goodman stands in front of the rioters, walks backward until he reaches a collapsible baton lying on the floor, and picks it up.

"Back up ... Back it up!" he yells, keeping his eyes on the mob. AP

More than 100 individuals arrested for Capitol Hill riots, says FBI

Washington: US security agencies have arrested more than 100 individuals for their criminal activities in last week's siege of the Capitol and are monitoring "an extensive amount of concerning online chatter" ahead of President-elect Joe Biden's inauguration on January 20, FBI Director Christopher Wray said.

The violence on January 6 by outgoing President Donald Trump's supporters temporarily halted the counting of Electoral College votes and resulted in the deaths of five individuals, including a police officer.

"We and our partners have already arrested more than 100 individuals for their criminal activities in last week's siege of the Capitol and continue to pursue countless other related investigations," Wray said during a meeting with Vice President Mike Pence.

"And those help not only prevent those individuals from any effort to repeat that kind of activity but also should serve as a very stern warning to anybody else who might be inclined to try to engage in that activity," he said.

Wray also said that law enforcement was aware of and monitoring "an extensive amount of concerning online chatter" ahead of President-elect Biden's inauguration next week, but added that authorities were having to sift through "what's aspirational versus what's intentional."

The FBI, he said, is looking at individuals who may have an eye toward repeating that same kind of violence that was seen at the Capitol Hill last week.

"I mean, from January 6 alone, we've already identified over 200 suspects. So we know who you are, if you're out there, and FBI agents are coming to find you," he said. PTI

Rare sedition charge gains interest after Capitol attack

New York: A Civil War-era sedition law being dusted off for potential use in the mob attack on the US Capitol was last successfully deployed a quarter-century ago in the prosecution of Islamic militants who plotted to bomb New York City landmarks.

An Egyptian cleric, Sheikh Omar Abdel-Rahman, and nine followers were convicted in 1995 of seditious conspiracy and other charges in a plot to blow up the United Nations, the FBI's building, and two tunnels and a bridge linking New York and New Jersey.

Applications of the law making it a crime to conspire to overthrow or forcefully destroy the government of the United States have been scant. But its use is being considered against the mob that killed a police officer and rampaged through the as early as Inauguration Day, raising the specter of the Senate trying the previous president even as it moves to confirm the incoming president's Cabinet.

GOP leader Mitch McConnell, who says he's undecided, is one of several key senators to watch, along with Democratic leader Chuck Schumer, who is set to take the Senate reins as his party reclaims the Senate majority.

Others to watch include GOP senators up for reelection in 2022 and several Republicans who have publicly backed impeachment. AP

GOP senators in spotlight as 2nd impeachment trial looms

Washington: For a second time, Republican senators face the choice of whether to convict President Donald Trump in an impeachment trial. While only one GOP senator, Utah's Mitt Romney, voted to convict Trump last year, that number could increase as lawmakers consider whether to punish Trump for his role in inciting a deadly insurrection at the Capitol.

Whatever they decide, Trump is likely to be gone from the White House when the verdict comes in. An impeachment trial is likely to start next week,

Biden announces $1.9 trillion Covid stimulus plan to revive US economy

Washington: US President-elect Joe Biden has announced a USD 1.9 trillion coronavirus relief package to tackle the economic fallout from the pandemic, including direct financial aid to average Americans, support to businesses and to provide a boost to the national vaccination programme.

The relief package, announced on Thursday, includes USD 415 billion focused on combating the COVID-19 pandemic, over USD 1 trillion in direct aid to individuals and families and USD 440 billion in assistance to businesses.

It includes USD 1,400 in additional stimulus cheques to Americans, an extension for key unemployment programmes from mid-March to the end of September and an increase in weekly additional unemployment assistance from USD 300 to USD 400 and increasing the federal minimum wage to USD 15 an hour over time.

Biden's proposal also sets aside USD 20 billion for a national vaccination programme and USD 50 billion to scale up coronavirus testing.

"It's not hard to see that we are in the middle of a once-in-several generation economic crisis within a once-in-several generation public health crisis. A crisis of deep human suffering in plain sight. And there is no time to wait," Biden, who is set to be sworn in as the 46th President of the US on January 20, said in a televised address from his hometown, Wilmington in Delaware.

"We have to act and act now. This is what the economists are telling us. More importantly, it is what the values we hold in our hearts as Americans are telling us. A growing chorus of top economists agree that, in this moment of crisis, with interest rates at historic lows, we cannot afford inaction," he said. PTI

Indonesian divers find parts of crashed plane's black box

Jakarta: Divers found parts of the cockpit voice recorder on Friday as more personnel joined the search for wreckage and victims from an Indonesian plane that crashed last weekend in the Java Sea with 62 people on board.

The aerial search for the crashed Sriwijaya Air jet was being expanded as well, said National Search and Rescue Agency mission coordinator Rasmay, who uses one name.

More than 4,000 search and rescue personnel are supported by 14 airplanes, 62 ships and 21 inflatable boats. They are using an underwater metal detector and remotely operated vehicle to search for human remains, the cockpit voice recorder and more wreckage. AP

Biden picks familiar faces for top roles at FEMA, CIA

Washington: President-elect Joe Biden is nominating New York emergency department commissioner Deanne Criswell to serve as the Federal Emergency Management Agency administrator and has tapped former CIA deputy director David Cohen to return to the agency in the same role he served during the Obama administration.

The picks, along with a trio of other new nominations confirmed to The Associated Press by the Biden team, come as the president-elect is putting a premium on experience, and perhaps familiarity, as he looks to fill out top positions at federal agencies with less than a week to go before his inauguration.

Criswell, who also spent more than five years in top posts at FEMA during the Obama administration, is the first woman nominated to head the agency, whose primary responsibility is to coordinate responses to major disasters inside the United States that require federal attention. Nancy Ward served as the agency's acting administrator in the early months of the Obama administration before his pick, Craig Fugate, could be confirmed.

Cohen, who was deputy CIA director from 2015 to 2017, has traveled the world for years tracking money flowing to terror groups, such as the Islamic State group, and other bad actors on the international stage. AP

North Korea holds huge military parade as Kim vows nuclear might

Seoul: North Korea rolled out developmental ballistic missiles designed to be launched from submarines and other military hardware in a parade that punctuated leader Kim Jong Un's defiant calls to expand his nuclear weapons programme.

State media said Kim took center stage in Thursday night's parade celebrating a major ruling party meeting where Kim vowed maximum efforts to bolster his nuclear and missile program that threatens Asian rivals and the American homeland to counter what he described as U.S. Hostility.

During the eight-day Workers' Party congress that ended Tuesday, Kim also revealed plans to salvage the nation's economy amid U.S.-led sanctions over his nuclear ambitions, pandemic-related border closures and natural disasters that wiped out crops. AP

Iran's Guard holds ballistic missile drill amid tensions

Tehran (Iran): Iran's paramilitary Revolutionary Guard forces on Friday held a military exercise involving ballistic missiles and drones in the country's central desert, state TV reported, amid heightened tensions over Tehran's nuclear program and a U.S. Pressure campaign against the Islamic Republic. In the first phase of the drill Friday morning, the Guard's aerospace division launched several surface-to-surface ballistic missiles against simulated enemy bases, state TV reported. AP

Another video showed a father crying, asking for help to save his children buried under their toppled house. "They are trapped inside, please help," he cried. Thousands of displaced people were evacuated to temporary shelters. The quake was centred 36 kilometres (22 miles) south of West Sulawesi provinces Mamuju district, at a depth of 18 kilometres (11 miles), the US Geological Survey said.

The Indonesian disaster agency said the death toll climbed to 34 as rescuers in Mamuju retrieved 26 bodies trapped in the rubble of collapsed homes and buildings.

The agency said in a statement that eight people were killed and 637 others were injured in Mamuju's neighboring district of Majene.

It said at least 300 houses and a health clinic were damaged and about 15,000 people were being housed in temporary shelters in the district. Power and phones were down in many areas.

West Sulawesi Administration Secretary Muhammad Idris told TVOne that the governor's office building was among those that collapsed in Mamuju, the provincial capital, and many people there remain trapped. AP

At least 34 dead as Indonesia quake topples homes, buildings

Mamuju (Indonesia): A strong, shallow earthquake shook Indonesia's Sulawesi island just after midnight, toppling homes and buildings, triggering landslides and killing at least 34 people.

More than 600 people were injured during the magnitude 6.2 quake, which sent people fleeing their homes in the darkness on Friday. Authorities were still collecting information about the full scale of casualties and damage in the affected areas.

There were reports of many people trapped in the rubble of collapsed homes and buildings.

In a video released by the National Disaster Mitigation Agency, a girl stuck in the wreckage of a house cried out for help and said she heard the sound of other family members also trapped. "Please help me, it hurts," the girl told rescuers, who replied that they desperately wanted to help her.

The rescuers said an excavator was needed to save the girl and others trapped in collapsed buildings. Other images showed a severed bridge and damaged and flattened houses. TV stations reported the earthquake damaged part of a hospital and patients were moved to an emergency tent outside.

Ugandan Prez reported leading in early election results

Kampala (Uganda): Uganda's electoral commission said on Friday that President Yoweri Museveni led in Thursday's election based on results from roughly a third of polling stations, receiving 65 per cent of ballots while top opposition candidate Bobi Wine had 27 per cent. Final results are expected Saturday afternoon.

Wine, a popular singer-turned-lawmaker half the president's age, alleged that the vote in the East African country was rigged. "Whatever is being declared is a total sham," he told reporters, while there was a heavy police presence near his home. AP

Nepal approves AstraZeneca's India-made Covid-19 vaccine for emergency use

Kathmandu: Nepal has granted emergency approval for AstraZeneca's India-made Covishield vaccine against the novel coronavirus that has claimed nearly 1,950 lives in the country. The decision to grant the approval for the vaccine was taken on Friday, Nepal's Department of Drug Administration (DDA) said in a statement.

"Conditional permission has been granted for emergency use authorisation of Covishield vaccine against COVID-19 in Nepal," the statement said. Drug major AstraZeneca has partnered with the Pune-based Serum Institute of India (SII), the world's largest vaccine manufacturer, for the supply of the vaccine to the Indian government and also to a large number of low and middle-income countries.

The vaccine, developed with the University of Oxford, is made from a virus which is a weakened version of a common cold virus (adenovirus), that has been genetically changed so that it is impossible for it to grow in humans. PTI

CORONAVIRUS PANDEMIC & ITS ECONOMIC CONSEQUENCES

India took 'very decisive' steps: IMF MD

PTI ■ WASHINGTON

IMF Managing Director Kristalina Georgieva has praised India for taking "very decisive" steps to deal with the coronavirus pandemic and its economic consequences and asked the country to do more this year to support an accelerated transformation of the economy.

Participating in a global media roundtable on Thursday, the chief of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) predicted a less bad outlook for India in the upcoming World Economic Update due to the steps taken by it. "When I called on everybody to stay tuned for January 26, that applies very much to India. You would see a picture in our update that is less bad. Why? Because the country actually has taken very decisive action, very decisive steps to

At the same time, she said that one of the aspects of India's reforms that are still lagging is on gender equality deal with the pandemic and to deal with the economic consequences of it," Georgieva said. The IMF is scheduled to release its World Economic Update on January 26. Talking about India, she said it was a very dramatic lockdown for a country of this size of the population with people clustered so closely together. "Then India moved to more targeted restrictions and lockdowns. What we see is that that transition, combined with policy support, seems to have worked well. Why? Because if you look at mobility indicators, we are almost where we were before Covid in India, meaning that economic activities have been revitalised quite significantly," she said. "What the government has done on the monetary policy and the fiscal policy side is commendable. It is actually slightly above the average for emerging markets. Emerging markets on average have provided six per cent of the GDP. In India, this is slightly above that. Good for India is that there is still space to do more.... If you can do more, please do," Georgieva said. According to the IMF Managing Director, 2021 is the year to use that space. "But use it wisely in a more targeted manner and to support an accelerated transformation of the economy. Because what we see is amazing how much faster structural change takes place. And policymakers ought to be leaning forward in this environment to support this structural transformation and to cushion the impact it has on those

Equity indices sank deep into the red on Friday as concerns over stretched valuations and a bearish trend in global markets triggered across-the-board selling. Investors preferred to book profits at higher levels despite a good start to the earnings season, traders said. The 30-share BSE Sensex slumped 549.49 points or 1.11 per cent to finish at 49,034.67. The broader NSE Nifty tumbled 161.90 points or 1.11 per cent to 14,433.70. Tech Mahindra was the top loser in the Sensex pack, shedding 4.35 per cent, followed by HCL Tech, ONGC, Asian Paints, UltraTech Cement, HDFC and HUL. Only four Sensex components closed with gains — Bharti Airtel, ITC, Bajaj Auto and Bajaj Finance, spurring up to 3.84 per cent. During the week, the Sensex advanced 252.16 points or 0.51 per cent while the Nifty rose 86.45 points or 0.60 per cent. Global equities were on the backfoot on Friday even as US President-elect Joe Biden unveiled his widely-anticipated USD 1.9 trillion stimulus package as investors fretted over possible tax hikes and higher interest rates. "Markets began circumspect amidst weak job data in the US even as Joe Biden unveiled details of the $1.9 trillion rescue package. Friday's afternoon trade saw profit taking in IT stocks despite the biggies putting out positive commentary with large deal wins as MCAP to GDP crossed 100 per cent, leading to volatility," said S Ranganathan, Head of Research at LKP Securities. Sector-wise, BSE oil and gas, IT, realty, capital goods, utilities, energy, power and consumer durables indices fell up to 2.43 per cent, while telecom rallied 3.68 per cent. In the broader markets, the BSE midcap and smallcap indices skidded up to 1.25 per cent. Elsewhere in Asia, bourses in Shanghai and Hong Kong ended on a positive note, while Seoul and Tokyo were in the red. Stock exchanges in Europe were also trading in the negative territory in early deals. Meanwhile, the global oil benchmark Brent crude was trading 1.77 per cent lower at $55.42 per barrel.

Farm Bills have potential to represent significant step forward for agri reforms: IMF

PTI ■ WASHINGTON

The IMF believes the farm Bills passed by the Indian Government have the potential to represent a significant step forward for agricultural reforms, but a social safety net is needed to protect those who might be adversely impacted during the transition to the new system, a spokesperson of the global lender said here. Gerry Rice, Director of Communications at the International Monetary Fund (IMF), said the new measures will reduce the role of the middlemen and enhance efficiency. "We believe the farm bills do have the potential to represent a significant step forward for agricultural reforms in India," Rice said at a news conference in Washington on Thursday. "The measures will enable farmers to directly contract with sellers, allow farmers to retain a greater share of the surplus by reducing the role of middlemen, enhance efficiency and support rural growth," he said. "However, it is crucial that the social safety net adequately protects those who might be adversely impacted during the transition to this new system," the spokesperson said responding to a question on the ongoing protests by farmers against the laws in India. This can be done by ensuring that the job market accommodates those that are impacted by the reforms, he said. And of course, the growth benefits of these reforms will depend, critically, on the effectiveness and the timing of their implementation, so need to pay attention to those issues as well with the reform," Rice said. Thousands of farmers, mostly from Punjab and Haryana, have been camping at several Delhi border points, demanding a complete repeal of the three farm laws and legal guarantee of minimum sup-

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has projected the Indian economy to contract 7.5 per cent in the current fiscal while the National Statistical Office (NSO) estimates the contraction at 7.7 per cent. Virmani further said that India can't become 'Aatmanirbhar' with the 20th century Direct Tax Code (DTC). "There is a need to simplify direct taxes and indirect taxes for MSMEs. We can't have 21st century Aatmanirbhar with 20th century DTC... We need 21st century Direct Tax Code," he said. The eminent economist also emphasised that there is a need of 15 per cent uniform GST rate for 75 per cent of goods and services. Noting that production-linked incentive (PLI) was actually a very good scheme, Virmani said the government should promote employment generating exports.

Exports enter positive zone after 2 months, up marginally to $27.15 bn in December

At the interbank forex market, the rupee opened at 73.07 and hit an intra-day high of 72.99 and a low of 73.15. It finally finished at 73.07, lower by 3 paise to US dollar. On a weekly basis, the rupee has appreciated by 17 paise or 0.23 per cent. The dollar index, which gauges the greenback's strength against a basket of six currencies, rose by 0.16 per cent to 90.38.

SHORT CIRCUITS

RANDEEP HOODA
Portraying a super cop like Avinash Mishra in my debut web series Inspector Avinash is exciting as well as challenging at the same time. I am thrilled to start the year with this series, a cop-thriller based on real events. I am looking forward to present a thorough entertainer to the audience with this one.

MAANVI GAGROO
Third season of web series Four More Shots Please is feeling extremely positive. After receiving so much love for season two, it almost feels like we owe this season to our fans. Apart from that, having lived through lockdown and not seen each other for so long, there's been a beautiful sense of togetherness that's crept in.

YASH TONK
It feels great to be back shooting in a television show again. Set in the traumatic backdrop of pre-Partition, Kyun Utthe Dil Chod Aaye narrates the story of three young women who dared to dream the impossible in the 1940s. My character Lala Brij Kishore is an innocent yet aggressive person, who is at odds with everyone.

SIDHARRTH SIPANI
If you are disciplined with your work, everything eventually falls in place and you are happier. You need to follow your passion and do whatever makes you happy. Everything gets easier with time. There are days when your body gives up, you have sleepless nights but you need to keep going on. Don't ever give up, that is the only way.

SELENA GOMEZ
My Spanish single titled De Una Vez is the beginning of something I've wanted to explore for long. I hope you love it as much as I do.

CONVERSATION 45 MINUTES

The increasingly unsustainable use of marine resources for economic activities, fishing, boating, tourism etc, has hurt the health of our oceans, seas and coasts. However, the wake of Coronavirus and the lockdown has turned out to be an opportunity to revive the marine ecosystem. To throw light on the varied and vast marine ecology, Sony BBC Earth has brought a show called Blue Planet Revisited. The two-part series celebrates marine life from all corners of the globe, exploring the challenges facing the ecosystems and wildlife in two key locations — Australia's Great Barrier Reef and the Bahamas. As the breeding season gets underway, the series focusses on the action following whales and their calves, turtles and their hatchlings and the scientists who know our oceans best. It is packed with insight and spectacle. Incredible shark dives in the Bahamas. The underwater dawn chorus of the Great Barrier Reef, home to 600 different kinds of coral and more than 1500 species of fish.

To build relevance around the show through her expertise, the channel reached out and on-boarded Nayantara Jain, Executive Director of Reef Watch Marine Conservation — one of India's oldest and only organisations committed to protecting India's coasts and oceans. Excerpts:

THE DEEP DIVE

Marine biologist NAYANTARA JAIN feels that shows like Blue Planet Revisited are needed to dispel myths around animals and help people explore marine life. By TEAM VIVA

Can you tell us about your journey as a marine biologist and what led to resource marine conservation India?

I learned how to scuba dive when I was 16. I think a lot of what drove me towards learning diving was the incredible nature documentaries that I've watched before, like the original Blue Planet and Oceans and all the BBC documentaries, narrated by Sir David Attenborough. Watching them really inspired me to learn how to dive. And once I started diving, because I was very passionate about it that I became a scuba diving instructor. After working as a scuba instructor for a few years, I realised how our life on lands were impacting the ocean and especially coral reef ecosystems. That's when I became very passionate about conservation, and that's what led me to study marine biology and then work with Reef Watch.

Tell us about the various initiatives undertaken by Reef Watch Marine Conservation India?

We have two sort of key field placements. One is in the Andaman Islands, and the other on the coast of Karnataka, to the West coast of India. In the Andaman, we work a lot with coral reef restoration and conservation. So, we have various ongoing projects where we are looking at different ways to regrow and repair the damaged reef areas. In another mainland, on the West coast, the work that we're doing is to do with injured and stranded marine megafauna, like sea turtles, dolphins and even whales. We have a lot of them on our ports, even on the mainland, and a lot of them often get stranded on land, either dead or sometimes alive and injured. So, we have a project where we look after the injured or ill megafauna that come up to our coast and study the ones that was wash up dead.

What is your take on the show Blue Planet Revisited? Do you think shows like these help people understand oceans and its life better?

Yes, and this is one of the main reasons I am associated with the channel, to talk about this show, because my own journey began very much with shows like these. A lot of what I knew before I did my masters on the subject, a lot of what I knew about the ocean and the animals that live in it came from shows like this. Such shows also help dispel a lot of myths and bring things into the right perspective for a lot of people. One of the episodes of the show is about sharks. I believe they are one of the most misunderstood animals on our planet today... so many people are terrified of sharks. I was just telling somebody earlier that when I worked as a full time instructor, the question I was asked most frequently was, 'are there sharks in these waters and are they going to attack me?'

Shows like this and nature documentaries teach people a lot about these animals. They teach them which animals are dangerous and which ones are not. They create a lot of excitement and curiosity, leading to more people exploring these spaces in real life. It's wonderful to have such shows. One of my greatest dreams is to make a documentary about India's coast specifically.

Can you tell us about some of the astonishing encounters in your journey underwater? What keeps you going in this field?

One of my most memorable diving experience ever, was when I got to do something very similar to what they have shown on this show about the sharks in the Bahamas. A few years ago I got to dive in Galapagos Islands, which is another sort of shark sanctuary we have on our planet today. So, I got to dive with hundreds of different species of sharks. And, I could see these really powerful, magnificent beings swimming around me — I can never forget that moment in my life. So, it was really cool to see something similar like that on a particular episode of the show.

What is the future of our islands and marine world, especially in India?

I've been working as a diver and then as a conservationist for the past 10 years. Over the years, I have seen a lot of damage to our oceans. Areas that boasted of a lot of sharks are completely fished out of it now. I've seen a lot of coral reefs being degraded over the years. There's an increasing amount of litter and plastics on our coastline and waters. It is very concerning, but the silver lining here is that I've seen a surge of young children concerned about the environment. They get in touch with me, wanting to be marine biologists or wanting to come and volunteer with the organisation or know how they can organise a beach clean-up in their city. Indians are coming in to learn how to dive and surf and just interact with the ocean more. This is really encouraging. Right now, the interest of youth in all of this is rising and if more people connect with the ocean and want to preserve it, things can change for good. We still have coral reefs in the Andaman. We still have sharks in our ocean, we still have whales in the sea, and we can have sea turtles along the coastline. So, this is really the time for us to act. If we as a society realise the importance of a healthy ocean and come together we can bring about a change.

(The show airs on January 23, 9 pm on Sony BBC Earth.)

STUDIO TALK 30 MINUTES

THE GREY STORY

The investigative documentary, What Killed Maradona?, is a celebration of the astonishing talent of a flawed football icon and the influences that led to his demise

Genius, legend, addict. A lifetime of highs and lows. For decades it was drugs that kept him playing but wrecked his life off the pitch. Diego Maradona rose from street urchin to become a footballing god. But he was never to see out his later years, dying at just 60 years old. The cause of death was given as a heart failure, but what really killed Maradona?

After his untimely death, What Killed Maradona? pieces together the extraordinary life of a man who was addicted to drugs off the pitch, but who also relied on a cocktail of pharmaceuticals to maintain his world-beating performance on the pitch. It also reveals how this lethal lifestyle, that began when Maradona was just a child, eventually became the perfect prescription for his death.

Maradona's story is one of genius and trauma, from the humblest of beginnings in a Buenos Aires shanty town where he would play football with his friends for hours on end, to becoming a football superstar known and feted around the world.

But his poverty-stricken childhood left him at a disadvantage and despite his prodigious talent on the pitch throughout his junior playing career, Maradona received treatments to build up his physique, which had been hampered due to his impoverished background. His younger years were filled with constant medical intervention.

As a foretaste of the controversy that would later engulf his life, Maradona's infamous 'hand of God' goal came against England, as he led his country to victory at the 1986 World Cup in Mexico, as well as to a place in the final, four years later. He broke the world transfer record joining Italian club Napoli for £6.9m but as Maradona's income rose, so did the pressure to support a growing number of dependents off the pitch, as well as the intense fame and adulation of his fans. He started to show the signs of addiction to alcohol and cocaine, as well as prescription medicines.

A preliminary autopsy, widely reported by Argentine media, reveals pulmonary oedema caused by heart failure, but the lifetime of pressure, addiction and abuse of his body have all helped lead him there.

Issac John, Digital Head, APAC - Discovery, said, "It's been our constant endeavour to make the sports fan experience immersive sports stories that showcase both, the hardships and glories of being at the pinnacle as well as the not-so-often talked about aspects of stardom. The show is one of those stories that presents the greyer shades of a legend whose game inspired the dreams of many of today's superstars in the world's favourite sport of football."

With testimonies from those who knew him best including Jon Smith football's original super-agent, who represented Maradona; Fernando Signorini Maradona's former trainer, and Giuseppe Bruscolotti, former captain of Napoli and teammate of Maradona, the show reveals how this lifestyle led to his untimely demise.

(The show is streaming on discovery+.)

My journey has been special: Kiara

Actor Kiara Advani made her Bollywood debut in 2014 with Fugly, which was a no-show at the box office. However, she was later seen in hits such as M.S. Dhoni: The Untold Story, Lust Stories, Kabir Singh and Good Newwz. The actor cannot name a particular role as gamechanger in her career, but credits all her work for the success she enjoys today.

"For me, I think every film mattered, right from my first because that is what gave me my first step into the film industry. People also say Kabir Singh and Lust Stories but every film has been a turning point in my life. So, I can't think of just one film, my entire journey has been special," Kiara said.

The actor, whose latest release is Indoo Ki Jawaani, has a string of releases coming up. She will be seen in the Sidharrth Malhotra-starrer Sher Shah, Bhool Bhulaiyaa 2 with Kartik Aaryan and the star-studded Jug Jug Jeeyo.

Actor JAVICIA LESLIE talks about carrying the mantle as the new Batwoman, the importance of the character being a lesbian and having a conversation with her mother about her sexual orientation

When Javicia Leslie moved to Los Angeles, she frequently rode down the popular Sunset Boulevard to view the row of erected TV and film billboards for inspiration. As an aspiring actor, she often parked underneath her favourite ones to study before an audition.

For years, Leslie made this her routine in hopes of one day seeing her image on full display in Hollywood. Her dreams ultimately became reality when the 33-year-old actor — who starred on CBS's God Friended Me and Carl Weber's The Family Business on BET+ — recently saw a billboard of herself donning the black-and-red Batwoman suit.

Leslie will star as the caped crusader on CW's Batwoman, which premieres its second season on January 17. She succeeds Ruby Rose, becoming the franchise's first Black actress to portray the superhero, and will be featured as an avowed LGBTQ+ central character.

In Batwoman, Leslie plays the role of Ryan Wilder, who spent years as a drug runner while dodging Gotham police. Her character has lethal hand-combat skills but is viewed as a kindhearted person who lives in a van with a plant. In a recent interview, Leslie spoke about carrying the mantle as the new Batwoman, the importance of the character being a lesbian and having a conversation with her mother about her sexual orientation.

◆ What compelled you to study for your roles under billboards?

I needed that visual to remind myself of what the end goal was and what I really wanted. It just motivated me. It was fun. Sometimes, I'd study until I fell asleep. Like I had to wake up and drive back home.

◆ So this is something you manifested?

I feel like everything I'm living right now, I've spoken into existence. From the very beginning to the detail. Even with Batwoman, I did an interview in May and was asked what role I wanted to do next, and I said, "I want to play a superhero." ... The following month, I got the audition. I didn't even know they were looking to cast a new Batwoman. So, I truly believe in manifestation.

◆ What does being DC's first Black female lead superhero mean to you?

I always just remind myself that my purpose isn't for me. My purpose is to empower other people. God brought me here for a reason. He put me in this position for a reason. With that, it's nothing to fear because I know this will empower someone to see a Black female superhero. You don't get to see it often. It's so epic. I grew up on Batman and Catwoman and the Joker and Penguin. Now, to see blackness in that, I think it's very inclusive and empowering.

◆ What's the importance of this character to be a lesbian?

It's important to have representation in general. Fans of DC represent everyone, whether it's about race, whether it's LGBTQ. I think what I love so much about my show is that every character is really a great representation of every-

◆ Before telling your mom about landing the Batwoman role, you informed her about your sexual orientation as a bisexual. How was that conversation?

I never had a fear of talking to my mom about anything. It's to the point where I don't have to talk about a lot of things. She already gets it. She already knows. So when we had a conversation, she was like "I am your mother. There's nothing you can tell me that I didn't already know." She's my best friend, very supportive.

◆ How did your character Ryan endure being homeless?

That may seem like the bottom to some people, but that was the top of what she's been through. To even have her own van and take care of herself, that meant something to her. She comes from foster care and abusive foster homes and people not caring for her. The one person that cared about her was murdered in front of her. I think what may seem like nothing to someone else is a lot to her. She holds onto and cherishes it.

◆ How did your character's circumstances mold them?

I think that if there is anything that roots the darkness in her, it's probably a little bit of revenge. The vengeance she has for the ones that killed her mother. That is enough. How can you truly fight for what's good if you can't forgive? How can you truly be on the right side if vengeance is what empowers you?

◆ What do you want people to take away from your career so far?

There's so many times where I could have said "This is hard" and walked away. But you must keep going. One of the things I live by is that if you follow your passion, you'll find your purpose. I think God puts passions in us for a reason. ... You must find your purpose in anything you want and speak it into existence. Then you need to have the work ethic to support it.

Filmmaker SUDHIR MISHRA feels that films these days are judged like political essays with no regard to the craft of storytelling

Filmmaker Sudhir Mishra feels films these days are judged like political essays with no regard to the craft of storytelling.

"There is a lack of political understanding yet everything is about politics. Films are judged like political essays. Cinema has no place. Craft has no place. What is happening?," Mishra tweeted on Friday.

"Cinema is, plucking an idea out of the air, about apparently nothing but then it becomes about so much more. About your life and mine. About your world and mine," he added.

Mishra entered Bollywood as a director with Yeh Woh Manzil To Nahin in 1987. He added strokes of diverse stories on the cinematic canvas, with Hazaaron Khwaishein Aisi, Chameli, Inkaar, Khoya Khoya Chand and Calcutta Mail, over the years, besides the OTT-released film Serious Men and the web series Hostages.

His most recent project Serious Men was an adaptation of Manu Joseph's eponymous book. The film featured Nawazuddin Siddiqui, and narrated the story of a father who wants to create a bright future for his son.

Meanwhile, the filmmaker had shared that the pandemic has left an everlasting impact on his life. "I don't know this whole experience of the pandemic. I've lost a bit of my swag. When I saw myself terrified, holding my father in my arms and running towards an ICU, and then watching him die, that has done something. I don't know what exactly. It will show in my next (project)," he said earlier.

Amit salutes soldiers on Army Day

Actor Amit Sadh, who plays Kargil war hero Major Deependra Singh Sengar in a forthcoming web series Jeet Ki Zid, offered his best wishes to the brave officers of the Indian Army on the occasion of Army Day on Friday.

"Every Indian soldier is a shining example of valour and courage. They are the sole reason that every Indian citizen can sleep peacefully. There is nothing that can even come close to the selfless work our Indian Army does to protect us. I offer my best wishes and salute the brave officers of the Indian army. I feel honoured to have essayed the role of Major Deependra," said Amit.

The series, which also features Amrita Puri and Sushant Singh, is directed by Vishal Mangalorkar and produced by Boney Kapoor, Arunava Joy Sengupta and Akash Chawla.

The makers of the show got expert help from Special Forces consultants and mission choreographers Colonel Ashok Galoth and Major Arjun Galoth on the show.

"I am a part of a project which shows the dedication and sheer will of the Indian Army. I am glad that the makers reached out to us and took our suggestions to help create this show. It was indeed a fulfilling experience," said Colonel Ashok Galoth. Major Galoth shared that Major Deependra's story is not only an "inspiration for us, but for the entire world." He added, "We have helped the team in our own little way with the basics of our routine, but the actual credit goes to the ones who thought of creating an entire web series on such an inspirational story."

(The series is slated to premiere on January 22 on Zee5.)

Important to pick varied roles: Swara

Actor Swara Bhasker says picking roles that span across genres has always been important to her.

"Picking roles that span across genres and varied character graphs has always been important to me. Whether it was as the sultry Shanoo (Rasbhari), the amiable Beanie (Bhaag Beanie Bhaag) or now the freespirted Mausam in the horror comedy Aapkey Kamrey Mein Koi Rehta Hai, I've enjoyed portraying all," Swara said.

The actor will soon be seen in the horror comedy which also stars Sumeet Vyas, Naveen Kasturia, Amol Parashar and Ashish Verma.

"I think this show will hit the right notes of laughter and unexpected drama," Swara said about the series, the trailer of which released on Friday.

Her co-star Sumeet said, "Horror comedy is a genre that I've really come to enjoy — be it as an actor who is playing a role in the narrative or for that matter — even watching such stories. It was fun to work with such great artists for this project and I believe that the comedy of errors for these four friends and their newly acquired, unexpected roommate who is a ghost will make for a fun watch."

Naveen feels the "bite-sized series is a melange of fun, comedy, horror, and entertainment. In the midst of content that is heavy on crime and drama, this will leave you with goosebumps and a healthy dose of laughter."

The series shows the journey of four friends in their newly-rented apartment that is haunted. The show, directed by Gaurav Sinha, will release on MX Player on January 22.

Inexperienced attack keep Oz in check

Debutants Natarajan, Washington shine as Australia score 274/5 courtesy Labuschagne ton

PTI ■ BRISBANE

The incredible underdog fairytale of Thangarasu Natarajan got better with his twin strikes on debut headlining a commendable effort from an inexperienced Indian bowling attack, which reduced Australia to 274 for 5 despite a stylish hundred from Marnus Labuschagne on the opening day of the final Test here.

The Indian attack, with a collective experience of 3 Tests and 10 balls and 11 wickets in its kitty, was pitted against the injured Ravichandran Ashwin and Jasprit Bumrah.

After 87 overs, the two Tamil Nadu rookies Natarajan (20-2-63-2) and Washington Sundar (2-4-63-1) could hold their heads high for a lion-hearted effort on a good batting pitch in the absence of the injured Ravichandran Ashwin and Jasprit Bumrah.

If tall off-spinner Washington set up a nice little trap to get rid of Steve Smith (36 off 77 balls), Natarajan forced centurion Labuschagne (108 off 204 balls) and Matthew Wade (47 off 85 balls) to miscue their pull-shots after a 113-run stand which threatened to put India in a spot.

At stumps, Tim Paine (38) and Cameron Green (28) had added 61 runs for the sixth wicket and the visitors would need a few quick wickets to keep the first innings total within a manageable range.

The distance between Palayampatti, a non-descript village in Tamil Nadu's Salem, to Australia's modern city Brisbane is 9035 km on a google map.

But add the hardships of a daily wager mother trying to put

Shardul Thakur hugs Washington Sundar after he dismisses Australian opener Marcus Harris on Day 1 of fourth Test at Gabba food on table, being called for suspect action early in his career, not being privileged enough to get a paternity leave (his daughter is already three months old), it's a million miles emotionally that Team India's favourite Nattu has traversed.

Getting Labuschagne, who was on a rampage, with a short delivery ensured that Australia didn't finish the day with a score close to 350.

For someone, who was supposed to be a net bowler, India's Test Cap No 300, did well enough on the first day despite not exactly being a natural. He also knows that he doesn't have the express pace to trouble batsmen (his average speed is 130 plus).

He bowled full during his first two spells and made the length shorter when the ball got old and that's how he induced Wade and Labuschagne to go for those pull shots.

Nobody would have blamed a Natarajan or a Shardul or "leader of the attack" Mohammed Siraj (19-8-51-1), all of whom toiled manfully throughout their multiple spells in a battle of unequals.

The inexperience was palpable as Thakur (18-5-67-1) bowled a lot of full pitched deliveries which Labuschagne pounced on in the second and third sessions during an innings that had nine boundaries.

If all the injuries weren't enough, Navdeep Saini (7.5 overs) now seems to be in trouble as he has sustained a groin niggle moments after his skipper Ajinkya Rahane dropped a dolly at gully when Labuschagne was on 37.

By far, Australia's most consistent batsman in the series, Labuschagne batted in two gears during the day.

In the first session, he faced 82 balls and sedately moved to 19 but in the next 113 balls, scored another 82 runs to reach his fifth hundred in 195 balls.

He trusted the bounce, hit some lovely drives and was also ready to pull anything that was short.

During his partnership with Smith, the former Australian skipper was the aggressor but Washington, a specialist batsman till 2016 and now a front-line off-spinner, with the help of his seniors — skipper Rahane and his deputy Rohit Sharma — laid a beautiful trap.

Washington had bowled three maiden overs prior to lunch and the fidgety Smith, who is always looking to get a move on, fell for the leg trap that scans. The 28-year-old Saini had bowled five balls of his eighth, and the innings 36th, over during the second session when he had to walk off the field because of the pain. With this, his further participation in the match, which began this morning, has been thrown into serious doubt.

"Navdeep Saini has complained of pain in his groin. He is currently being monitored by the BCCI medical team," read a short statement from the BCCI on the one-Test-old bowler's condition. "Navdeep Saini has now gone for scans," added a brief update that came after the initial note. PTI

Brisbane: The injury-plagued Indian team took another hit on Friday when pacer Navdeep Saini was forced off the field during the fourth and final Test due to groin pain and taken for was set for him.

Rohit stationed himself at short mid-wicket for a whiplash that Smith plays on the on-side.

They were banking on the extra bounce that they had seen

Washington generate with the white ball.

The plan worked as Smith flicked one straight into Rohit's hands just few minutes after the lunch.

Labuschagne disappointed at not getting 'big score'

PTI ■ BRISBANE

A fifth Test hundred in his kitty against a "very disciplined" bowling attack but Australia's Marnus Labuschagne was still disappointed man on the opening day of the fourth Test here as he was not "big" enough for him. Australia ended the day 274/5, thanks largely to Labuschagne's 108 off 204 balls. The 26-year-old said he should have done more.

"...I think, I am definitely disappointed not going on and getting a really big score, which would have put us in a better position as a team," Labuschagne said at the virtual post-play press-conference.

"Any Test century, it doesn't matter who it is against or against what opposition, you want to make sure you are scoring hundreds and probably for me (it was) today it was disappointing that (I) did not end up making that a really big hundred," he stressed.

However, he credited the Indian bowlers for being disciplined early on and hardly giving away any scoring opportunities.

"...Indian bowling attacks, they are very disciplined and doesn't matter who is bowling, they are very planned, they are very strategic and we saw that today with their bowling attack."

"They were disciplined early and did not give us many of those scoring opportunities in the first session," the right-handed batsman said.

Siraj abused by Gabba crowd, called grub

PTI ■ BRISBANE

India fast bowler Mohammed Siraj was targeted for abuse by a section of the crowd on the opening day of the fourth Test, a newspaper here reported, claiming that he was called a "grub" by some spectators.

The reported incident happened a few days after Siraj was racially abused by spectators at the Sydney Cricket Ground on the third and fourth day of the drawn third Test. That had led to an expulsion of six people from the stands and an unreserved apology from Cricket Australia to the visiting team.

On Friday, a report in the Sydney Morning Herald quoted a spectator as saying that a section of the crowd at the Gabba targeted Siraj.

"The guys behind me have been calling — shouting — both Washington and Siraj grubs," a spectator named Kate was quoted as saying by the newspaper.

"It started targeted at Siraj and it was a chant similar to the SCG one (in which fans sung to the tune of Que Sera, Sera but substituted the lyrics with Que Shiraz, Shiraz).

"But this time it was Siraj. I suspect it's not a coincidence that it's Siraj being targeted post the SCG stuff."

According to the newspaper, at one point, a man in the crowd was heard yelling, "Siraj, give us a wave, give us a wave, give us a wave. Siraj, you bloody grub."

Injured Hanuma Vihari on Friday left for India after being ruled out of the ongoing fourth Test in Brisbane. Vihari has sustained a grade 2 injury during the final day of his match-saving 23 and will now require rest, followed by intense rehabilitation which rules him out of England series. BCCI/Twitter

Sundar ready to bowl 40-50 overs

PTI ■ BRISBANE

Washington Sundar, prior to his unexpected Test debut on Friday against Australia, had bowled over 285 overs in first-class cricket and after dismissing Steve Smith, the Tamil Nadu off-spinner is ready to bowl 50 in an innings if that's what the side wants of him. India's T20 specialist off-spinner was asked to stay back by the team management after the white-ball series to help as a net bowler but injuries to key players, including senior pro Ravichandran Ashwin, landed him in a mouth-watering duel with Smith which he won hands down.

Arjun Tendulkar makes debut for Mumbai senior team

PTI ■ MUMBAI

Budding left-arm pacer Arjun Tendulkar, who is the son of iconic former batsman Sachin Tendulkar, made his Mumbai senior team debut on Friday in a Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy match against Haryana, which the hosts lost by eight wickets here.

In the Elite E League group clash played at the suburban BKC ground, Mumbai made 143 after opting to bat first, a target which Haryana overhauled in 17.4 overs.

Arjun had an off day with the ball as he returned with rather unimpressive figures of 1/34 in the three overs that he bowled.

He dismissed Haryana opener Chaitanya Bishnoi (4) cheaply after he edged a delivery to wicket-keeper Aditya Tare to claim his maiden wicket for the Mumbai senior team.

Incidentally, his legendary father's last Ranji Trophy game was against Haryana back in 2013.

Arjun didn't get the chance to face a single delivery when Mumbai batted as the team was bundled out in 19.3 overs. Haryana then rode on one-down Himanshu Rana's blazing unbeaten 75 off 53 balls to chase down the target with consummate ease.

The 21-year-old Arjun has now qualified for the IPL auctions, as he has made his debut for the Mumbai team.

Tendulkar junior was added to the Mumbai squad, along with another pacer Krutik Hanagavadi, by the Salil Ankola-led selection committee, after the BCCI permitted a total of 22 players to be selected.

Root puts Eng ahead

AFP ■ GALLE

England captain Joe Root hit an unbeaten 168 as his side built up a lead of 185 over Sri Lanka on a rain-hit second day of the opening Test.

England were 320/4 when rain halted play in Galle. Root and Dan Lawrence, who scored 73 on his Test debut, built a 173-run partnership after the tourists resumed the day on 127/2.

Root, who is batting with Jos Buttler (7), hit his 18th Test ton and kept up the pressure on the home bowlers despite losing overnight partner Jonny Bairstow for 47 early in the day.

"I think the things could happen very quickly as the game moves forward, generally does here. It is really important that we make the most of this first innings lead that we have got now," Root told reporters.

"We will be really ruthless. I have spoken about this ahead of the series and make it count and put them under pressure. That way try and bat just once."

After a full opening day in the empty stadium in Galle, rain started falling just before the start of the second day and wiped out the final session.

Root started the day on 66 and passed 100 soon after lunch with a single off Dilruwan Perera. He raised his bat and hugged Lawrence. It was the star batsman's highest Test score in more than a year after going through 2020 without a century and said he felt "good" to make it count.

Pak drop Masood, Haris for SA Tests

Karachi: Six players, including Shan Masood, Haris Sohail and Imam-ul-Haq, from the recent New Zealand series were axed as Pakistan's new chief selector Mohammad Wasim on Friday announced a massively overhauled 20-member squad for the two-Test home series against South Africa.

Wasim rewarded several top performers of the domestic season and included nine uncapped players in the squad, which will be trimmed to 16 players ahead of the first Test.

Top scoring batsmen Saud Shakeel, Kamran Ghulam, all-rounder Agha Salman, left-arm spinner Nauman Ali, off-spinner Sajid Khan and fast bowlers Hasan Ali and Tabish Khan — all got call-ups for the series beginning on January 26 at the National Stadium here.

The selectors also upgraded young batsman Abdullah Shafique to the Test squad although he was selected for the New Zealand tour as a specialist T20 player. Similarly, the selectors have also called up pacer Haris Rauf, another T20 specialist for the two-Test series.

The selectors also dropped six players from the dismal tour of New Zealand with Wasim insisting that fast bowler Naseem Shah was not in the Test squad because he had an injury.

Other players dropped from NZ tour include experienced pacers, Mohammad Abbas and Sohail Khan.

Wasim, insisted that selectors would follow a horses for courses policy now and the squad had been picked keeping in mind the conditions in Pakistan for the SA series.

Test squad: Babar Azam (C), Mohammad Rizwan (VC), Imran Butt, Abdullah Shafique, Abid Ali, Azhar Ali, Fawad Alam, Sarfaraz Ahmed, Saud Shakeel, Kamran Ghulam, Agha Salman, Hasan Ali, Shaheen Shah Afridi, Tabish Khan, Haris Rauf, Sajid Khan, Nauman Ali, Yasir Shah, Faheem Ashraf, Mohammad Nawaz.
